REAL IRISH WELCOME FOR ROYAL GUESTS

CANADA NEEDS MORE REAL OPTIMISM AND FAITH, SAYS HANNA

President of the Canadian National Railways "Never Saw Conditions More Favorable At This Time of Year."

Toronto, June 22.—"What we need in Canada at the present time is a little more real optimism and faith in our God-given natural resources," declared President D. B. Hanna of the Canadian National Railways today. "I have seen crops mature for 35 seasons, and in all my experience with conditions in the western provinces, I never saw conditions look more favorable at this time of year.

"I look for a crop like the bumper crop of 1915, which had a record-breaking yield of 350,000,000 bushels of wheat in the western provinces," said the C. N. R. president. "Present conditions would certainly point to a yield of 300,000,000 bushels of wheat at least."

REV. JOHN ELDER IS ELECTED MODERATOR LONDON PRESBYTERY

Ministers Hold Session At Port Stanley.

RAIN SPOILS SPORTS

Rev. Mr. Bartlett Declines the Call To Mount Bridges and Komoka.

The summer meeting of the Presbytery of London was held in St. John's Church, Port Stanley, on Tuesday, the sessions commencing at 10:30 a.m. Rev. John Elder of Melbourne and Riverside was elected moderator, and Rev. J. M. Crawford of Westminster, the retiring moderator, was cordially thanked for his services.

Rev. J. A. Gale, formerly minister of Hyde Park and Komoka, and now of the Paris Presbytery, was present, and was invited to sit as corresponding member.

Notice was received from the Presbytery of Algoma that Rev. Charles W. Shelley had been deposed from the ministry, and from the Presbytery of Brandon that Rev. W. Nichol, formerly of Brandon, had been restored to the ministry. Rev. Mr. Bartlett declined the call to Mount Brydges, Caradoc and Komoka.

The commissioners to the General Assembly, recently held in Toronto, reported, and were unanimous in their judgment that it was the greatest church parliament they had ever attended. Appreciation was expressed of the wonderful devotional spirit manifested throughout all the sessions, and of the fine action of the assembly in giving to Mrs. Knox $1,000 in recognition of the splendid service of Mr. Knox to the church in the department of religious education in Canada and beyond.

Rev. Dr. McCrae, the interim moderator, presented a unanimous and enthusiastic call from First Church, London, to Col. William Beattie, D.D., C.M.G., of Ottawa. The call was signed by 505 members and adherents of the congregation, and the stipend is $3,000, with holidays. A large delegation, consisting of Messrs. G. H. Gillespie, Col. C. M. R. Graham, C. G. Jarvis, Ed Reid, Archie MacPherson, H. Bapty and John Stuart, appeared in support of the call. Mrs. (Dr.) Hughes, another member of the delegation, was unable to be present. The presbytery cordially sustained the call and forwarded it to Dr. Beattie. The induction will take place in September.

Rev. D. C. MacGregor reported that Rev. S. W. K. Harris, B. A., formerly of Bristol, Que., had been appointed assistant minister and director of religious education for one year, by the session of St. Andrew's Church. The presbytery will arrange for his induction in September and his name will be added to the roll.

Before adjournment the presbytery passed a cordial resolution of fthanks, expressing appreciation of the fine practical and generous way in which the First Church had remembered the family of their late pastor, Rev. W. J. Knox, B.A.

The presbytery adjourned at 1 o'clock to attend the annual picnic. Dinner and tea were served in the pavilion on the heights to about 75 ministers, elders and their wives, and a very delightful social time was spent.

Owing to the severe electric storm in the afternoon the usual sports, for which full provision had been made, had to be called off.

The next meeting of the presbytery will be held on September 20 in the First Presbyterian Church, London.

ALLIES OFFER TO MEDIATE BETWEEN GREEKS AND TURKS

Paris, June 22.—French, British and Italian ministers to Greece sent a joint communication to the Government in Athens yesterday, extending an offer of mediation on the part of the Allies between the Turks and the Greeks.

The proposal will be examined by the Greek Government upon the return to Athens of Premier Gounaris, who is at present in Smyrna, but who is expected at the Greek capital soon.

MINISTER OF LABOR RESIGNS.

Rome, June 22.—Arturo Labriola, minister of labor, has submitted his resignation to Premier Giolitti, and the Giornale D'Italia states it has been accepted.

WHAT HAPPENED TO THE TRAIN?

Quebec, June 22.—A man named Fortin of St. Germain, Drummond County, was crossing the railway track at that place last night with a cart load of dynamite. He was struck by the Ocean Limited from Montreal, and an explosion resulted, blowing the man, beast and vehicle to pieces.

AIRMEN ADVOCATE PERMANENT STAFF

Would Have Civil and Military Flying Under One Head.

Camp Borden, June 22.—The night session of the Canadian Air Force Association continued until 2:30 a.m. The chief points under consideration had regard to an amendment of the present organization in the following directions:

The appointment of a permanent head of the Canadian Air Force; the formation of the nucleus of a permanent staff, and the placing of all flying operations, both civil and military, under the new head.

Sir Willoughby Gwatkin, inspector-general, and Major-General MacBrien were greatly pleased with the keenness shown in the discussion. Much emphasis was laid on the importance of university training and the need of obtaining university students in the force, and the question of an air force school for boys was discussed at length.

A longer period of training was favored with higher pay to attract the best type of recruits. It was conceded that aerial mail work should be left to commercial companies. Commercial lines, it was thought, succeeded best as auxiliaries to existing systems of transportation. Flying, it was stated, had been of signal use in the forestry service.

RANEY SHOULD ORDER BREAD PROBE, SAYS ALD. JOHN BRIDGE

Believes His Department Is Responsible For Action in the Matter.

Ald. John Bridge, president of the local Chamber of Commerce, who has declared war on local bakers, alleging that 12 cents per 24-ounce loaf of bread is an exorbitant price, is not satisfied with the stand taken by Attorney-General W. E. Raney, who has refused to empower a commission to investigate the bread situation in London on the grounds that he has not authority to do so.

"The provincial authorities usually exercised every care to protect provincial rights, and we look to the Drury Government, or the attorney-general's department, to protect the rights of Londoners, and the people of Ontario generally in the matter of bread prices," declared Ald. Bridge to The Advertiser today. "The attorney-general's department, in my opinion, should justify its readiness to part with rights hitherto held by this department."

"The board of commerce is practically an extinct body, and I certainly think that it has no power at the present time to investigate the cost of living or to appoint judicial bodies for the purpose of taking evidence in such matters. If the board of commerce has not the authority, which Mr. White, the secretary, says it has not, and the attorney-general's department has not the authority, then to whom are the people of Ontario to look for protection?

"It is up to Mr. Raney to get into action, and provide the answer. We don't care who does it, but we believe that the attorney-general's department is still responsible."

C. N. R. COAL DOCK DESTROYED.

Fort William, Ont., June 22.—Fire of unknown origin last night destroyed one of the loading towers at the Canadian National Railway coal dock, Port Arthur. The loss is estimated at $15,000.

The steamer John B. Sherman, owned by the Inter-Lake Steamship Company, was tied up at the coal dock, but was moved out before any damage was done.

QUEEN MARY

Despite threatened dangers of the visit to Belfast, Queen Mary refused to be separated from her royal spouse on the tenth anniversary of their coronation.

More Births At Springbank Zoo

Mrs. Golden Pheasant Hatches Four Striplings and Mrs. "Silver" One.

The population at the Springbank zoo was increased by one Tuesday, when Mrs. Silver Pheasant, whom regular visitors to the zoo missed last Sunday, was delighted to view a little fellow picking his way through the shell of the egg, upon which she patiently sat for hours. The proud mother faithfully guarded her infant prodigy.

To make matters more interesting at the zoo, Mrs. Golden Pheasant, a distant relative of the Silvers, announced the arrival of four offspring, and this quartet has survived all trials, it being regarded as very difficult to rear them in captivity.

General Manager E. V. Buchanan of the public utilities commission, who is on the alert for a pair of white swans for the Springbank zoo, learned with interest today that four cygnets were hatched recently by the royal swans at the St. Thomas zoo. He has suggested that in a few weeks' time, when the young ones can care for themselves, a deal be put through with the Flower City, whereby some of the junior pheasants may be traded for a pair of the St. Thomas cygnets, thus adding royal swans to the variety of fowl at Springbank.

A pair of Australian black swans donated to the zoo by Mrs. Ronald Harris, are expected to arrive here in a few days.

COALITION SQUABBLE ONLY A MILD CRISIS

Anti-Waste Group Will Demand Reduction of Addison's Salary.

London, June 22.—(By Canadian Associated Press).—The future of the coalition Government of Premier Lloyd George is still being treated as a mild crisis and several political events are being used by the press to keep it alive. The principal of these is not Lord Salisbury's letter advising Unionist members of Parliament to hold themselves free from any binding obligations to the Government, but the action of anti-waste group, who have registered an opinion that the Government's reply to their memorial demanding economy is wholly unsatisfactory. More will be heard of this tomorrow, when the House discusses the salary of Dr. Addison of £5,000 per annum as a minister without portfolio. His appointment, the Times says, "is a scandal and not merely a constitutional curiosity."

Premier May Yield.

The Express says that the premier will yield to glamour and announce Dr. Addison's removal from office at the end of the session, but the Daily Mail declares the appointment will be stoutly defended. In this connection a portion of the press is inclined to see significance in certain social celebrations in which coalition Liberals and the Independents are jointly concerned. The Daily News perceives a growing atmosphere of Liberal conciliation.

KING GEORGE APPEALS TO ALL IRISHMEN TO FORGIVE AND FORGET

Belfast, June 22.—"I speak from a full heart," said King George in his speech formally opening the Ulster Parliament here today, "when I pray that my coming to Ireland today may prove to be the first step towards an end of strife amongst her people, whatever their race or creed.

"In that hope I appeal to all Irishmen to pause, to stretch out the hand of forbearance and conciliation, to forgive and to forget, and to join in making for the land which they love a new era of peace, contentment and goodwill.

"It is my earnest desire that in Southern Ireland, too, there may ere long take place a parallel to what is now passing in this hall: that there a similar occasion may present itself and a similar ceremony be performed."

FLAMES DEFEAT FATHER'S EFFORT TO SAVE GIRLS

Brockville Home Scene of an Early Morning Tragedy.

OIL STOVE THE CAUSE

Ex-Soldier Badly Burned in Saving Wife and Three Children.

Brockville, June 22.—Dorothy, aged 14, and Phyllis Marion, aged 4, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Elliott, were burned to death in a fire which this morning destroyed their home, a frame building, at the corner off Amy and Ormond streets.

Mrs. Elliott awakened at 5:15 o'clock and went downstairs to prepare the breakfast by means of a coal oil stove. She lit the stove, but it blew out. Without turning off the flow the woman returned upstairs to resume her dressing, and on going back to the lower floor found the kitchen in flames. Her screams awakened her husband, who went downstairs and attended to the removal of his wife and the youngest child, Albert, aged 2 years, from the house. When he attempted to go upstairs he found the stairway in flames, and was unable to proceed. He then tried to reach the upper rooms from the roof of a veranda, and succeeded in getting George, aged 9, and Stanley, aged 7, from their room. As he reached Phyllis, aged 4, he was overcome by the smoke at the same time as he heard Dorothy, aged 14, calling him. Elliott slipped and fell from the veranda and the two children perished in the flames, their badly charred bodies were found when the fire was put out. The elder girl was born in Peterboro, where her parents formerly resided, and the younger girl here.

Elliott went overseas as bugle-major of the 156th Battalion and is now bugle-major of the Brockville Rifles. One other daughter, Florence, is employed at the General Hospital, and was not in the house. The father was severely burned about the face and arms in his efforts to rescue his children, but will recover. Coroner Dr. W. E. Harding has opened an inquest.

NO REDUCTION IN FREIGHT RATES AT PRESENT TIME

Railway Commission Watching Result of Wage Cut Negotiations.

Ottawa, June 22.—Freight rates will follow wages down at just about the same rate as retail prices follow the cost of raw products. The railway commission is naturally watching with interest the efforts of the railway companies to reduce wages, and the result of the negotiations which will come to a head on July 1 will have much to do with any action which the commission will take in the matter of amending existing rate schedules. Whatever the result may be, however, the board will undoubtedly permit a period of "readjustment" before ordering a cut in rates.

At the recent hearing of the appeal of the city of Toronto against the telephone rates, Hon. Dr. Reid, minister of railways, frankly predicted a decrease in wages after July 1. Whether such reduction will eventuate or not remains to be seen.

On July 1 increased passenger rates go back to normal. Pullman rates remain at their present exorbitant standard, and no change in existing freight rates is due.

Split Into Zones.

It is claimed that under existing freight rates Canada is being split into a series of zones, and that in certain cases traffic is being driven north and south, even in the face of duty and exchange. The live stock industry, for instance, is said to be on the point of ruin.

Nevertheless it is predicted that rates will not follow wages downward immediately, but that a period of reconstruction will be allowed. In the meantime the projected inquiry into discriminatory rates is hanging fire.

Mackenzie of Toronto was the winner of the sword of honor at the Royal Military College in the session just ended, and he also won the Governor-General's silver medal. The Governor-General's gold medal was won by G. K. Crowe of Guelph, while the Governor-General's bronze medal went to T. W. Vrooman of Walkerville.

FINE GARDEN PARTY. — The garden party held on Monday evening at 113 Waterloo street was a great success. One of the many features was the music given by the Salvation Army Band No. 3.

KING GEORGE V.

Accompanied by Queen Mary, the King presided at the state opening of the first North of Ireland Parliament in Belfast today.

No Address of Welcome For London Babes

City Will Not Emulate Detroit, Says City Clerk Baker.

London is not likely to emulate the city of Detroit, which now presents the registrant of every birth there with a certificate, which includes an address of welcome to the little newcomer. The city seal is impressed upon the certificate, and the new, idea, according to the authorities in the City of the Straits, who are sponsors, is that it encourages birth registration. Complete registration of births assists materially in compiling figures and percentages of disease and death rates, it is pointed out.

The certificate, which is suitable for framing, points out the value of birth registration in years to come to establish age of the person concerned, for working papers, jury service, voting, and for passports. It also says: "The department of health welcomes you to the city of Detroit. We hope you will grow up to be a fine, strong citizen. We shall do all we can to make this possible. You have made a good beginning by having your birth registered at the department of health."

City Clerk S. Baker, who handles birth registration here, is not in favor of inaugurating the scheme here. "Birth registration is well attended to in London," he informed The Advertiser. "I do not see any value in this new idea. A parent who registers a baby simply does his duty, and to welcome the child will not help or hinder him from doing so, in my opinion. How many parents care to receive a stereotyped address of welcome on a printed card? Very soon, in about six months' time, it would be as old as the hills."

SINN FEINERS ARE OVERWHELMED BY AMERICAN LABOR

Attempt To Secure Boycott of British Goods Utterly Fails.

Denver, Col., June 22.—Sinn Fein sympathizers, supporting a resolution calling for boycott against British goods, were overwhelmingly defeated today in an attempt to have the convention overthrow a ruling made by President Samuel Gompers, which prevented reconsideration of their proposal.

The convention then disposed of the Irish question by adopting a mild resolution expressing sympathy for the Irish Nationalist cause.

STATE OPENING OF NEW PARLIAMENT AN EPOCH IN HISTORY OF IRELAND

PROCEEDINGS OF CONFERENCE TO BE MADE PUBLIC

Meighen Fights Shy of Meeting During Next Year.

MEET AT OTTAWA

Majority of Premiers Favorable To Gathering in Canada in 1923.

London, June 22. — By Gratton O'Leary, Staff Correspondent, Canadian Press.—That the conference of prime ministers is not going to arrive at any conclusions without passing through sharp controversies is evident from verbatim reports of the proceedings of yesterday's sessions. Thus, while Gen. Smuts, premier of the Union of South Africa, made a characteristic plea for disarmament, and strongly advocated a conference with the United States and Japan respecting the problems of the Pacific, the Right. Hon. William H. Hughes, Australian prime minister, who followed Gen. Smuts, leaned heavily towards the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, advocated naval expenditure upon a per capita basis, and concluded by deprecating the need for a constitutional conference.

Marathon Orator.

Right Hon. W. F. Massey, prime minister of New Zealand, who is the marathon orator of the conference, made a lengthy speech, and although he avoided specific declarations, made it clear that on the most important questions he was on the same side as the Australian premier.

The Canadian prime minister, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, is still to be heard on these subjects, and, while he has admirably kept his own counsel so far as the press is concerned, it is a practical certainty that he will be an ally of Gen. Smuts, particularly on the question of the Japanese alliance. What the position of Premier Lloyde George will be remains to be seen, but the weight of opinion here indicates that he will fall in with the idea of disarmament and conference on the Pacific question.

No Conference In 1922.

The only thing yesterday's sitting made clear was that a constitutional conference would not be held next year. Premier Massey urged strongly against it, on the grounds that he was faced next summer with general elections; Premier Hughes, as already noted, is strongly against a conference being held at all, while Premier Meighen, who is also confronted with an election next year, will urge delay. When the conference is held, Ottawa is not unlikely to be chosen for the gathering. Gen. Smuts, who told Hon. N. W. Rowell in South Africa last fall that he strongly favored Canada, will, it is understood, advocate Ottawa, on the ground that it is more easily accessible for delegates than that of any other overseas capital, and also that the holding of the conference outside of Great Britain will in itself demonstrate to the world the striking character of the British commonwealth.

In an interview with the Times, Lord Milner favored the conference being held in Ottawa, and it is improbable

LAZINESS NO EXCUSE FOR BAD FAITH

Montreal, June 22.—Laziness is no excuse for bad faith, Judge Lebouff declared in the circuit court here, and condemned 26 students to pay promissory notes which they had given M. Lymburner of the Institute Des Cours Pratiques, on the understanding that he was to provide books, etc., for instruction by correspondence and lectures. The court found that the institute had carried out its bargain, but that the students had been too lazy to read the books and follow the course of study laid down, and thus had missed a good opportunity to acquire valuable knowledge.

King George and Queen Mary Celebrate Tenth Anniversary of Their Coronation by Attending Brilliant and Spectacular Event in Belfast—Great Welcome Accorded Their Majesties During Their Stay in North of Ireland Capital—No Untoward Event Marks Visit.

Belfast, June 22.—King George and Queen Mary departed from Belfast for London in perfect safety at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Belfast, June 22.—Their Majesties King George and Queen Mary, journeying from England for the occasion on the tenth anniversary of their coronation, presided at the state opening of the Ulster Parliament here today. It was first time in nearly twenty years that Ulster had had an opportunity of receiving the sovereigns of the British Empire, and its welcome helped make the occasion a memorable one.

The ceremony of the opening was similar to that attending the inauguration of the British Parliament at Westminster, and was a brilliant spectacle. There was but little room in the city hall, where the function took place, for those having cards of admission, but it was a distinguished assembly that watched an event regarded as marking an important epoch in Irish history. Sinn Fein and Nationalist members of the parliament did not participate in the exercises.

Coronation Anniversary.

The visit of the King and Queen to Belfast was looked upon as of the fitting observance of their coronation anniversary. The King had not been in Belfast since he came here in 1902 as the Duke of York, and he and his consort were given a right royal welcome today. The people of County Down, on the south side of the Lough and County Antrim, on the northern shore, vied with each other in extending greetings.

An even noisier welcome awaited their majesties as their yacht steamed past the shipyards, where the cheers of thousands of workmen mingled with the shrieks of siren and whistle. King George and his consort stood on the bridge of the steamer and acknowledged the greetings.

Royal Salute Fired.

As soon as the King and Queen set foot on the dock the royal salute boomed out, announcing that they were on Irish soil, and the crowds that lined the long street leading to the city hall strained at the barrier walls of soldiers and police to catch a glimpse of the approaching procession. The wait was short, for with the exception of the formal reception by Viscount Fitzalan, lord lieutenant of Ireland, and Lord Pierrie, who appeared in behalf of the city, there were no ceremonies at the dock. A squadron of police headed the procession, and the carriages of the royal pair were followed by those of officers and dignitaries. The escort of honor was chosen from the Tenth Hussars.

Vigilant Guard.

On each side street was stationed a force of nearly 6,000 regular troops, standing shoulder-to-shoulder and separated from the crowds by a heavy railing. In other parts of the city police kept vigilant guard against untoward incidents.

Arriving at the city hall, the King and Queen were met by the lord mayor and members of the Belfast council, and the sovereigns proceeded at once to the council room, where the ceremonies immediately began.

When they were completed, the King and Queen were entertained at luncheon by Sir James Craig, the premier of Ulster, after which they were driven once more through the flag-decorated streets to Ulster Hall.

UNION JACKS REMOVED.

Belfast, June 22.—During the night four Union Jacks which had been hoisted over the municipal building in Londonderry and banners bearing the words "God Save the King," were removed in accordance with the declaration made at the time of his election by the Nationalist Lord Mayor O'Doherty, that no emblem of any description would be permitted during his term of office. Union Jacks included in the decorations in the northwestern part of Londonderry also were torn down during the course of the night.

BRIGHT SUNSHINE WELCOMES THE ROYAL PARTY

Belfast, June 22.—King George and Queen Mary, who will today be present at the state opening of the Ulster Parliament, arrived in the harbor of Belfast shortly before 8 o'clock this morning. Their yacht, escorted by a flotilla of warships, made a quick trip across the Irish Sea from Holyhead during the night, and reached here more than three hours before it was expected. The weather, which was fine yesterday, changed suddenly during the night, and there was a steady drizzle this morning which threatened to mar the day's pro-

RUSSIAN PASSENGER BOAT IS BLOWN UP

Bolsheviki and Mansheviki Place Blame for Tragedy On Each Other.

Stockholm, June 22.—Most of the passengers and crew of the Red Prougher, one of the largest steamers plying the Volga River in Russia, perished one night last week following a terrible explosion on board. The steamer was totally destroyed by fire.

Among the dead were the Archbishop of Nizhni-Novgorod and several professors from the University of Kazan.

The Bolsheviki and the Mansheviki are charging each other with responsibility for the explosion. The Mansheviki assert that ti was significant that there was a party of Bolsheviki secret police aboard the steamer and that all of them escaped.

NO COMMUNISM FOR BRITISH LABOR PARTY

Brighton, England, June 22. — The British Labor party, at its conference here today, rejected a proposal introduced by the radical wing to allow the Communist party to affiliate with the Labor party.

TUESDAY'S RAIN WAS OF GREAT BENEFIT TO THE FARMERS

Weather Man Hit Safely At Critical Stage of Game.

WILL HELP CROPS

Oats Especially Will Benefit by Kindness of Jupiter Pluvius.

Once again the weather man apparently has hit safely at a very critical stage of the game. Tuesday's downpour of rain has proved of the greatest benefit to the farmers and the country at large, more so in fact than at any other period this season.

Oats were particularly short up to the present as a result of the continued dry spell, and Tuesday's deluge will not only increase the length but add materially to the quality.

Fall wheat now in the ripening stage is passing through its critical period. Moisture was needed in the worst manner, and the rain will increase the yield considerably and better the quality.

The hoeing crops as well were badly in need of adequate moisture, and potatoes, corn, etc., will be greatly improved.

Hay will be affected to a certain degree, although the period is far advanced and little or no difference will be noted in the yield. Haying has been so remarkably early this season that most farmers are said to have it cut and stored by now.

The latest reliable fruit observances points to an average yield of apples this season. In most sections of Western Ontario cherries appear to be scarce and will, from present indications, drop below the average. Plums also have failed to show the results of last season. From present observation the peach crop of the western counties is not coming up to expectations. That the yield will fall below the average is greatly feared in most districts.

Strawberries were estimated to have been generally just a trifle above the average, despite the mysterious blight in some localities, also noticeable near London, but raspberries stand out alone as the one big bumper fruit crop of 1921. In every section of Western Ontario this berry is shaping well and a yield well above the average is promised.

EVERY HORSE, COW, CHICKEN, SPEAR OF GRASS, IN MIDDLESEX RECEIVING HONORABLE MENTION BY CENSUS MAN

W. C. Fitzgerald, under whose supervision the census of East Middlesex and a part of the annexed district of London is being taken, expressed deep admiration today concerning the speed and accuracy displayed by every member of his staff of 32 enumerators.

"It is really amazing to me," said Mr. Fitzgerald, "how splendidly the men are proceeding with the work. A few of the returns are already in my office for checking up, but we will not be entirely completed for a few days yet. The census work of the county is much more complicated and tedious than in the city. We must account for every horse, cow, chicken, or other stock on the farm, as well as recording minute particulars relative to crops and so forth. As a matter of fact, this section of the report occupies on the average an hour's time, that is if the farmer has anything worth while at all. Then also the county enumerators lose much time in travel. As the city census taker goes from door to door, our men are compelled to travel a considerable distance from one farm to another."

Not unlike many of the residents of the city, a number of the farmers appeared at first to regard the census man with suspicion, and frequently unguarded hostility, intimates Mr. Fitzgerald, until they were assured that they were not conducting another tax assessment survey.

"We followed close on the heels of the income assessors," he said, "and some of the people naturally were reluctant at first to believe that we were not merely dropping in to check up possible discrepancies in the first report. However, generally the work is proceeding very well indeed."

CHANGES COMPLETED AT FAIR GROUNDS

Swine and Sheep Pens Moved to New Addition.

SPACE FOR EXHIBITORS

Programs Will Be Ready by First of the Month.

Preparations are already in progress for the Western Fair opening of 1921.

All the swine and shepe pens and 120 feet of the cattle barns have been moved to the new addition of fthe fair grounds purchased last year by the fair board on the extreme west, and this will give much greater space both to the exhibitors and the visitors. They have also moved the storage building to where the swine pens formerly stood, and this will now be taken up by the machinery exhibit and incidentals. Nearly all inside space has already been snapped up.

Something entirely new on the program this year is the boy and girl calf competition, and the only thing that would hinder this is the fact that many people out of town are objecting to having their boy or girl away from home for a full week, but negotiations are now under way whereby they will be looked after and suitable places found where they may stay, by the local Y. M. C. A., at a reasonable rate.

The programs are now being prepared, and will be out early in July, and the billboard advertisements are completed and will be sent out for placing on the 1st of July.

The roofing of the agriculture and horticulture buildings is now under way.

The material for the dog prize list is now being prepared, and the prospets are for the biggest and most successful exhibition ever held.

CHOSE WRONG SPOT TO MEET FRIENDS

John Mayhorne and William Johnston "Pinched" On G. T. R. Property.

John Mayhorne, colored, and William Johnson, white, sat on the Grand Trunk tracks, near Egerton street, last night, waiting for friends. Before the objects of their sojourn arrived, Grand Trunk constables tapped them on the shoulder and bade them accompany them to a cool cell. In court this morning the pair said that they were citizens, and had work to do this morning. They were allowed to go, but were told that in future, they were not to make a date to meet anyone on railway property.

Lillian Sokolski, whose husband was sentenced to Burwash for ill-treating her, is being held on a vagrancy charge until the police communicate with her parents in Chatham to arrange for her being sent home.

Two Small Boys Entertain Fans

Stage Battle at Tecumseh Park—One Scared and Other "Dassent."

During the lull in the storm which curtailed the baseball game between Hamilton and London, at Tecumseh Park Tuesday afternoon, two "white hopes," who have not yet passed their entrance exams, staged a bout, which provided the fans in the stand with extras to make up for the four innings of baseball which they were cheated of by one J. Pluvius. One of the contestants is a vendor of "peanuts, ice cream and pop," and his long white coat, and similarly hued cap, aided by his excellent footwork added to the fun provided.

His opponent wore a short-sleeved shirt, of blue, and not handicapped by a long coat, he succeeded in scoring a few points on the white-coated one. The scrap took place at the south end of the stand, behind the bleachers, where the fans crowded for ringside seats. The most humor was provided by the fighters manoeuvring about, unmindful of deep puddles of water caused by the recent rain, each accepting the advice of numerous companions, who formed a circle about the pair.

Finally, dancing in the puddle, no doubt, gave the two principals cold feet, or fear of a constable arriving on the scene may have been the cause, but at any rate, they suddenly stopped the bout, shook hands, and the white-coated youth was soon busily engaged dispensing ice cream cones to the fans. No one was injured during the brief encounter, but according to spectators, Carpentier and Dempsey will have to exert themselves if they are to show anything not included in the Tecumseh Park scrap.

COLD STORAGE TOO EXPENSIVE, SAYS EXPERT

Boxing Apples Has Never Paid in Ontario, Declares Graham.

TORONTO, June 21.—Speaking from 34 years' experience, R. L. Graham of Belleville, Ont., told the special fruit committee of the Ontario Legislature at the Parliament Buildings here this afternoon that cold storage plants were costly, and it was difficult to make them pay their way. He referred to a number of cold storage plants in Eastern Canada, only one of which had paid a dividend.

Hon. Manning Doherty, minister of agriculture for Ontario, who was present, asked Mr. Graham as to the probable cost of operating a 10,000-barrel cold storage plant, and was informed that it would cost at least between $4,000 and $5,000. He said he thought $20,000 or $25,000 would equip a warehouse with such moderate facilities as was contemplated by the committee in improving Ontario's fruit exporting.

Boxing apples in Ontario had never proved a paying proposition, Mr. Graham said, because few packers were skilled in the work. Barrels were used in Ontario and Nova Scotia for shipping apples, but growers on the Pacific coast never had used barrels in shipping their product.

The committee was informed that President D. B. Hanna of the Canadian National Railways, had offered to place the whole resources of the National Railway system at the disposal of the committee in any effort to improve the fruit-growing industry.

W. J. Bragg, M.L.A., for West Durham, presided at the conference. Among others present were Sir William Mulock, who is personally interested in ascertaining what are recognized to be proper methods of precooling apples; W. T. R. Preston, Port Hope, Ont., and a number of Eastern Ontario fruit growers.

COAL SHIPMENTS UNUSUALLY LIGHT

Railway Official Is Apprehensive Regarding a Serious Shortage.

OTTAWA, June 21.—C. R. Moore, superintendent of car service for the Grand Trunk Railway, this morning made some serious statements before the railway commissioners about a prospective shortage of coal for next winter. Mr. Moore, after saying that he wished it understood at the outset he was not making prophecies, but his predictions, based on actual figures, showed that from January 1 this year to May 21 Canada imported from the United States 836,000 tons of coal less than in the same period one year ago. Moreover, last winter was a very light winter on coal, he said, and the snowplows of the Grand Trunk Railway were hardly once in use the entire season.

MOTION WAS VOTED DOWN.

LONDON, June 21.—The House of Lords today voted down the motion by the Earl of Donoughmore that the Government should determine forthwith what amendments it was prepared to propose to the Irish act, and authorize negotiations calculated to terminate the deadlock.

STATE OPENING

ceedings. In spite of this, however, crowds began to gather along the line of the royal progress soon after daybreak. Pipers marched back and forth and kept the people in good spirits until the arrival of the soldiers, who were assigned to guarding the street over which the sovereigns would pass.

Four aeroplanes circled over the royal yacht as it neared the harbor.

King George and Queen Mary stepped ashore at 11:30 o'clock. By that time the rain had ceased and the sun had appeared.

NO DECORATIONS IN SINN FEIN PART OF BELFAST

BELFAST, June 21.—Belfast tonight is beflagged and festooned for the coming tomorrow of King George and Queen Mary, when the King will formally open the first session of the Parliament of Northern Ireland. This will be the first time that the monarchs have visited Ireland since they went to Dublin a decade ago. The King has not been in Belfast since he came here twenty years ago as Duke of York.

Decorations are being displayed all along the royal route from Donegal quay to the city hall, where the Parliament is to be opened, and thence to Ulster Hall, where loyal addresses are to be presented in the business district in Ballymacarret street, on ships in the harbor, on the docks of the big shipbuilding companies, and, in fact, wherever Protestants predominate. But in the Falls road, the Short Strand, Old Lodge road and other Nationalist and Sinn Fein quarters there is no bunting to break the monotony of the drab grey buildings, for the Nationalists and Sinn Feiners are ignoring what is considered by other parts of the population as one of the greatest events in the history of their country.

Gaily Decorated.

High street, Castle Place and Donegal Place, through which the royal procession will pass on its way to the city hall, and city hall square itself and Bedford Place and Franklin street, through which the King and Queen will proceed on the way to Ulster Hall, are one great mass of color, in which the Union Jack and the Orange of Ulster predominate.

The greatest precautions have been taken to insure the safety of the royal visitors along the route over which they will pass, which will be lined by at least four thousand troops standing shoulder to shoulder with bayonetted rifles at present arms. The troops will be reinforced by some 1,000 members of the Royal Irish Constabulary.

Heavy beam railings have been erected on posts driven several feet into the pavement along the line of march. It would take great pressure to break down these railings.

Roofs Prohibited.

In the city there is a strong force of auxiliaries and also a battalion of men from Scotland Yard who, by tonight, will know virtually every person that is to occupy a window or a seat in the grandstand to view the procession tomorrow.

The use of roofs to view the procession has been prohibited, except in the case of a few favored spectators.

SENDING MORE TROOPS.

LONDON, June 21.—More troops are to be sent to Ireland, according to a statement by the secretary for war, Sir Laming Worthington Evans, in the House of Commons today in reply to a motion for adjournment of the question of the need of adequate protection for officers in Southern Ireland as evidenced by recent murders.

"Extra battalions," said the secretary, "went last week, and more are going as quickly as possible. It is necessary to support the troops in Ireland who are doing duties which are often distasteful to them, with the full might of England. Therefore all troops available should be sent to their support."

VILLAGE IS BURNED.

DUBLIN, June 21.—The burning of virtually the entire village of Knockroghery, near Roscommon, by armed men, was reported here this morning.

The village contained about 50 houses, only three of which were left standing, the report stated.

The people of the village rushed from their houses in terror amid a fusillade of rifle and revolver bullets and ran through the fields. Later the children and aged persons found refuge in a Presbytery, which the raiders attempted to burn, but failed. The village is a mass of smoldering ruins.

DIVORCE SITUATION SERIOUS IN WEST

Pastor Declares Court Decision Has Greatly Increased Evil.

WINNIPEG, June 21.—Divorces and mixed dancing received severe condemnation in the report of the social service and evangelical committee at the Methodist conference today.

"Since the privy council decided last year that the Manitoba courts could grant divorces," stated Rev. Andrew Stewart of Wesley College, "I venture to say that divorce in Manitoba has increased tenfold and even fiftyfold. This is a serious state of affairs.

Rev. Mr. Stewart advocated the establishment of courts of domestic relations, rather than divorce courts, the extreme of which should be the settlement and resumption of marriage obligations.

WOUNDED IN QUARREL.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., June 21.—Dr. Frank S. Cotter, 60 years old, was transferred from the county jail to a hospital tonight for treatment of wounds he received Monday night, when he became involved in a family quarrel at Vicksburg, near here, and during which he shot and killed Robert B. Thompson of Kalamazoo.

DEGREE FOR FOSTER.

OTTAWA, June 21.—Right Hon. Sir George Foster, acting prime minister, left today for Lewiston, Maine, to receive the degree of LL.D. from Bates College. From there he will go to the Matapedia Valley for a fishing trip. He will be absent about a week.

N. HURON LIBERALS CHOOSE CANDIDATE FOR FEDERAL HOUSE

F. F. Pardee, M. P., Exposes Duplicity of Tories in a Fighting Speech.

CONVENTION IN WINGHAM

William H. Fraser, of Morris Township, To Be Banner Bearer.

[By Staff Reporter.]

WINGHAM, June 22.—William H. Fraser, R. R. 2, Morris Township, will be the Liberal candidate in the riding of North Huron in the coming federal elections. By a majority of one, when 91 votes were cast on a second ballot, Mr. Fraser received the nomination over Hugh Hill of Colborne Township at the Liberal convention held here on Tuesday.

The convention was the largest, the keenest, and the most enthusiastically optimistic gathering held in this riding during the past decade. The large auditorium of the town hall was filled almost to overflowing by eager men and women delegates from all parts of the riding.

Applaud Pardee.

A splendid reception was given to F. F. Pardee, M. P. for West Lambton, who traveled nearly 150 miles for the express purpose of addressing the meeting. As the speaker stepped to the platform he was greeted by a storm of applause, which from time to time broke out anew as he flayed the Meighen Government and these one-time Liberals whom he claimed had betrayed the party.

While he expressed sympathy for the men also who with the greatest sincerity did as they believed was right when the Union Government was formed, he said, "I hold that the mandate of that war-time Government was completed when the armistice was signed, and now I believe that any Liberal who remains under the standard of that Government is no longer a Liberal, but a Tory steeped in Toryism."

He told of the subterfuge used by the Meighen Government to hold these men. The generals of the Tory party knew that to keep the reins of power it must hold its Liberal members at any cost, he continued. During the dead of the night they met and agreed to call their organization the National Liberal and Conservative party.

Tory Hypocrisy.

"I tell you there is nothing Liberal about it. Do not be fooled," he warned, "because they have chosen to make free with the word "Liberal." It is but a blind, for they have not the simplest intention of adopting Liberalism.

"Today you can put in down that the Meighen Government is nothing but the well-worn, threadbare Tory party, bearing not the slightest resemblance to our party."

Everywhere, he said, people were waiting for an opportunity to oust a Government that is obsolete. Only about one out of every ten persons countrywide is a friend to the Meighen party. The majority held by the Government is dwindling rapidly, and the party leaders know by signs infallible that the people are waiting the opportunity to evict them.

The Liberal Policy.

Dealing with the question he stated that the attitude of the Liberal party towards this great issue was the same now as in the past years. That attitude has always been, he said, the "Greatest good for the greatest number."

This would mean, he continued, a downward trend in the tariffs to give lower prices in essential commodities for the masses rather than greater protection to still further enrich the already wealthy manufacturer.

There was, he said, a greater need for reciprocity today than at any time in the past. This conditions had been accentuated by the recent action of the American Government in raising the tariff wall still higher.

"Because of their actions the markets of the United States have been virtually closed to the Canadian farmer. It prohibits our produce almost absolutely."

Markets Essential.

"We cannot ship our cattle to Great Britain because of an embargo. The door is absolutely barred. Yet markets in the time of falling prices is more essential than ever. What are we to do unless we get the embargo removed and the tariff wall torn down?

"Now there is a clause, a suggested clause, in the permanent United States tariff providing that to countries ready to grant reciprocity to the United States they can grant reciprocity," he gave this as the answer.

"The Tory party will say: 'If the United States builds a high wall against us we, too, will build a high wall.' That is ridiculous. Did you ever hear of a man who could live by trading knives from one pocket to another? Did you ever hear of a nation which lived by trading just with itself?

Must Meet Big Debt.

"It will be impossible to pay off our big debt without selling our goods to others. If any one believes we can live without selling to foreign countries that person should study economics." It was the manufacturers who really benefitted by the high tariff, he said. "Truly, the Government will collect a small amount in a 45 per cent protection, but the Canadian manufacturer profits when he raises his prices 45 per cent and you pay.

"Hugh Guthrie has said: 'Watch out for the Liberals. It is a free trade party. They will ruin every manufacturer in the country, and with them the home markets.'

Cannot Be Done.

"Well, free trade may be a Liberal idea, but, sir, if any man today, I don't care to what party he belongs, with our huge national debt and tremendous fixed yearly expenditures, were to say Canada could stand against a nation of 187 millions and throw down entirely the bars while they kept theirs and go on, he is not sound; it cannot be done. We have got to continue as a nation.

"Does anyone say that Canada is ready to lower her bars absolutely? There must be a tariff, but I say that those who benefitted and can afford it should bear the burden. The load must be lifted from the backs of the people."

Mr. Pardee touched briefly on the National Railway tangle. He did not lay the blame at anyone's door particularly, but he did say that the present government had never advanced one single constructive idea for reducing the deficit. Its one idea was, he claimed, to spend as much as they liked and make it up in the tariff.

A Foolish Policy.

The Merchant Marine came in for considerable attention. Despite the fact that the harbors of the world were filled with ships at anchor and with no freight to fill them, the minister of marine and fisheries had brought in a program to spend many millions more in building ships, with no returns in sight.

The government the country over was carrying out non-essential construction work at a huge cost to the people, disregarding the financial condition of the treasury.

"Despite their promises to revise the tariff, the budget recently brought down showed no changes were made except an increase in duty on foodstuffs and a greater protection for the rich man," he said.

Mr. Pardee spoke briefly in relation to the U.F.O. movement. He made a plea that the United Farmers and Liberals should march side by side avoiding three-cornered fights as much as possible. The Liberal ideals were much nearer to the U.F.O.'s platform than the Tories, so he could not see what could be gained by fighting which gave only succour to the common enemy.

The speaker expressed great pleasure at the success of the meeting. As well as being large, the gathering was widely representative. There was a generous sprinkling of women and young men present.

Twelve Nominated.

Altogether twelve candidates were nominated, including one woman, Miss Elda Hazelwood of Wroxeter. The others were: Hugh Hill of Colborne Township, Charles Garrow of Morris Township, W. H. Fraser also of Morris, Popelstone of Blyth, William Lane of Wingham, Isaac Hetherington of Colborne, J. R. McNab of Dungannon, M. G. Cameron, K.C., of Goderich, A. Hyslop of Brussels, John McNab of Grey, and W. H. Robertson of Goderich.

They all withdrew excepting those named, Hugh Hill, W. H. Robertson and W. H. Fraser. Mr. Robertson was eliminated on the first ballot. On the second Mr. Fraser was declared elected when the vote stood 46 to 45.

Mr. Fraser is one of the best known farmers in Morris Township and he has always been an outstanding Liberal. Twice he carried the Liberal standard in elections for the provincial House.

In 1918 he was elected in a by-election by a 1,200 majority after being in the fight only a week. In 1919 he was defeated when he fought in a three-cornered fight. He was born in Morris Township 52 years ago. He served as township councillor for six years and as reeve one year.

AIR FORCE NEEDED DECLARE AVIATORS

Would Work With Naval and Military Units When Needed.

CAMP BORDEN, June 21.—The convention of the Canadian Air Force Association, which opened here this morning, is attended by 30 delegates, representing provincial branches of the association from British Columbia to Nova Scotia.

All the speakers emphasized strongly the necessity for an air force, working in close harmony with the naval and military forces.

Recruiting was discussed, and the concensus of opinion seemed to favor longer periods of training, with certain increases of pay, in order to attract the highest type of men to the force.

In commercial lines, the air force board believes the best results can be obtained by running air routes as auxiliaries to present transportation systems.

POLICE SEIZE LIQUOR.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., June 21.—Smuggling of liquor, supposedly by vessels in from the fishing grounds, came to light here today. One hundred cases of whiskey, gin, brandy, and rum, some of it labelled ar originating in the French islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, off the Grand Banks, was seized by the police.

About 125 members of the Kilworth Methodist Sunday School motored to Springbank Tuesday and held a very successful outing, although somewhat marred by the appearance of rain.

Mr. Story, a returned missionary from Bolivia, South America, gave an interesting address on the missionary work and the habits of the natives.

MORE POW WOW OVER STANLEY ST. PAVING

City Council Will Likely Meet On Monday.

JOB ABOUT FINISHED

Paving Gang Will Move Equipment On Thursday.

The Stanley street pavement, with the exception of the street railway track allowance will be completed by civic workmen Thursday night, weather permitting, and according to City Engineer H. A. Brazier, all equipment will then be moved from the job, unmindful of the fact that there is nothing but earth between the rails. However, the matter will not be allowed to drop at this point, Ald. G. A. Wenige informing The Advertiser today that he is requesting Mayor Little to call a special meeting of the city council for the purpose of reopening the discussion.

"What can you do?" queried Ald. Wenige, when informed that surfacing the pavement will be done Thursday. "I hope they do take all their equipment away from the job. The London Street Railway will have to pay the costs of bringing it back to pave between the tracks, and not the citizens. We are going to get it paved."

"The street railway company will have to pay to bring the paving equipment back," said Ald. G. B. Drake, who also sponsors paving the street railway allowance. "If Ald. Wenige succeeds in getting a meeting called we will go to it. The city engineer is all right, as he has to do as he is told."

City Engineer Brazier states that the paving equipment will be removed to the surfacing job on Maitland street north and from there to Bruce street later. He stated that he is obeying instructions from the city council, in leaving the pavement 18 inches on either side of the Stanley street car tracks.

Ald. Wenige informed The Advertiser today that if his request for a meeting is granted the city council will likely sit to discuss the matter on Monday evening next.

St. Thomas, June 22.—The coroner's jury investigating the death of the 2-year-old son of Charles McCallum in Aldboro Townshop found that the child was murdered by the mother, Mrs. Edith McCallum, while she was temporarily deranged mentally.

Crown Attorney McCrimmon will take no action until the mother's condition is improved. It is stated today that her chances of recovery from her self-inflicted wounds are bright, but it is doubtful if she will ever be normal mentally.

TO PREPARE FOR DISTRESS DURING WINTER MONTHS

Social Service Council Will Hold Meeting Next Tuesday.

On Tuesday evening next a general meeting of the local branch of the Social Service Council will be held at the Y. M. C. A. to discuss plans for alleviating distress occasioned by probable unemployment next winter, announced T. D. McCullough, secretary of that body, today.

Last winter the council expended untold energy in this movement, and the work is to be continued again this year, and it is feared that the need for the same will be greatly increased.

That the same policy will prevail as before is not considered improbable at this moment; all the various organizations of the city interested in relief work co-operating together through the medium of the council.

CITY MAY DREDGE AT BATHING CAMP

"Old Swimmin' Hole" At Valley Has Become Too Shallow.

Owing to the shallow condition of the River Thames north branch at the end of Maitland street, where the north branch bathing camp is situated, dredging operations will have to be carried out in the near future in order to make "the 'ole swimmin' hole" what is used to be. Children of the district are now using the three feet of water in the river at this point as a wading pool, and if funds can be obtained dredging operations, at comparatively low cost, will be instituted in the near future.

After Two Pair Guinea Hens

Further Additions Promised Springbank Zoo.

T. W. McFarland of the public utilities commission announced this morning that he is angling for two pairs of guinea hens for the Springbank zoo, and hopes to obtain them in a few days. One pair is of the white speojes, which is rare, while the others are the ordinary type. Commissioner McFarland is also conducting negotiations to obtain a peair of peacocks for the zoo.

An inclosure has been erected on the north side of the road passing through the zoo to house water fowl. This inclosure surrounds the small pond opposite the bear pen. Plans have also been prepared for an aviary to house all species of Canadian birds, the structure being of such a size that the birds may fly in comparative freedom with conditions as near as possible to their natural habitat. It will cost about $1,000 to construct this aviary.

At present lack of funds prohibits carrying these plans into effect, and according to E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the public utilities commission, also prevents extensive additions to the zoo family. "One of these days we are going on a search for new animals and fowl," he declared to The Advertiser today. "We will see what we can obtain at the Detroit zoo on Belle Isle. The parks board is justified in taking such a trip, just as well as members of the board of education see justification in sending a delegation to Montreal to inspect boilers."

City Briefs

A. O. F. DELEGATE.—Alexander Woonton was elected as the delegate of Court Pride of Dominion Monday evening, to attend the high court convention in Hamilton the latter part of August.

ADDITION TO POWER STATION.—The public utilities commission has taken out a building permit for a brick and concrete addition to the hydro power station on Cabell street, estimated to cost $31,000. Hyatt Bros., local contractors, were awarded the contract for this job some time ago.

ISSUE WRIT.—The Price Iron and Steel Company of Chicago, through its solicitors, Meredith & Meredith, has issued a writ in the supreme court against Morris White and William White, trading under the name of M. White & Son, for $1,384.78, the balance alleged due on the price of goods sold and delivered.

INSPECT McEWEN FARM. — After visiting Byron Sanatorium this morning, the delegation of Wentworth agriculturists, 40 in number, who arrived in the city last night, journeyed to the farm of Col. McEwen in the same neighborhood. Following an inspection of the splendid sheep, horses and cattle there they proceeded on their return trip to Wentworth County.

LIONS ORGANIZING HERE.—A new club will be launched in London Thursday, under the name of the Lions' Club of London. International officers and also officers of the Canadian clubs already organized will be present at a dinner at the Tecumseh at noon. Louis Livingston, district governor for Ontario, is now in the city completing the preliminary work of organization. Clubs in Ontario are located at Toronto, Hamilton, Oshawa, Windsor, Wallaceburg and Chatham.

SANITARY INSPECTORS INVESTIGATING WELLS

While the city drinking water in London taps is of the highest standard of purity, that found in local wells for the use of residents who have not taps, is declared by a local public health official to be impure and dangerous to the consumers.

One sample from a city well, recently analyzed at the Institute of Public Health here showed a very great amount of colon bacilli to be present, which exposes consumers to typhoid fever, and it was recommended to be closed by Dr. J. Slack, who examined its contents chemically.

Other wells of the city are in a similar state, and sanitary inspectors are now subjecting them to a rigid investigation.

If you require a messenger boy, don't put a card in your window, but use an advertisement in The London Advertiser. An advertisement of fifiteen words will only cost 30 cents.

HALF A DEGREE COOLER TODAY

The mercury in the thermometer at the local weather bureau climbed almost as high today as is did Tuesday, falling one-half degree short of the season's record. However, 91½ degrees Fahrenheit today has proved plenty warm enough for Londoners, and thunderstorms in the offing promise relief in a few hours.

PROPERTY WILL BE REGISTERED IN THE PLAINTIFF'S NAME

Strathroy Woman Called To Order by Mr. Justice Masten.

Hon. Mr. Justice Masten, at the supreme court this morning, in the case of O'Neil vs. Chittick, decided that a transaction whereby Victory Bonds and real estate belonging to the plaintiff were registered by the defendant in his name and the name of the plaintiff, cannot stand. He commented that everything that was done by the defendant had been done honestly, and gave the defendant a lien on the plaintiff's house for $368, which he had paid for repairs.

Elizabeth O'Neil of Strathroy was suing George Chittick to have the bonds and the property put in her name alone. Several times during the case she had to be called to order, and when in the witness box she talked too much instead of answering the questions, and was instructed by the judge to answer them, she snapped: "I am answering the question."

The defence was that a number of times an offer had been made to her to have the bonds and the property registered in her name alone, but she had refused. The defendant had attended to her interests for a number of years. When the repairs were being made to her house, it was said, she boarded the man who was making the repairs. She admitted that she had done this, but said that she had not ordered the repairs.

The following cases were adjourned until the next court on consent of counsel: Frederick P. Betts, trustee of the last will and testament of Dr. Henry A. Betts vs. John J., Jessie and Annie C. Shields, an action for the possession of certain lands in the Township of Mosa. The London Housing Commission vs. Charles Harvey, an action for an order of eviction of the defendant from 508 Beatrice street. Louisa Wort vs. Francis Wort, an action for $1,325 pay for housekeeping which the plaintiff claims the defendant, her father, owes her for five years' work.

The following cases have been settled out of court: T. F. Kingsmill vs. G. T. R., an action for damages for goods alleged to have been destroyed in the Grand Trunk freight sheds' fire last year. Hodgins vs. Thomson, an action for the price of a tractor and other farm implements alleged to have been sold and delivered. Charles John McCaffrey vs. Hubert and Joseph McCaffrey, an action for possession of a farm in Biddulph Township, upon which the defendants reside.

SHE WHO HESITATED WAS WALLOPED

George Minhinnick, 266 Egerton street, assaulted his wife because she refused to clean up some polish which, he claimed, was spilled in the kitchen, and after finding him guilty, Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon, in police court this morning, decided to adjourn the case a few days.

Alice Minhinnick, his wife, said that on Sunday afternoon she misplaced the tin of polish and that he ordered her to put it where it belonged. As she was preparing supper she did not do it at once, and so he called her names. She feared that he was about to strike her and told him that if he did he would be a "dog." Then she says he grabbed her wrist and wrenched it. She grabbed the stove damper in defence and lightly tapped him on the arm, she says. She admitted that she was not afraid of hurting him. She ran into the dining-room and he chased her, she stated.

"He threw me down in the dining-room and tore my hair down," was her declaration. Mrs. Minhinnick then ran out of the house and called the police. Three of them arrived.

Mrs. Bessie Dow, the complainant's sister, saw Minhinnick pull his wife down on the floor, but did not see any blows struck.

Mrs. Minhinnick said that she had been beaten several times previous to the Sunday row.

Albert M. Judd acted for the wife and G. N. Weekes for the husband.

Minhinnick's story was that he just grabbed his wife's wrist very lightly, and that she hit him with the damper, making a blue mark on his arm. He added that the polish was plastered all over the kitchen, and that he was not buying polish for that purpose. He ran to the dining-room to prevent a call being put in for the police, and his wife was on the floor, having tripped on the carpet, was his alibi.

PROCEEDINGS OF

that the British Government will object.

Make Proceedings Public.

The idea that the present gathering partakes of the nature of a cabinet council was shattered yesterday by the decision to make the proceedings public. Credit for this step is largely due to Hon. Mr. Meighen, who, at the initial meeting on Monday, made a strong plea for publicity. He said: "If the conclusions be sound and are to be acted upon, they must be accorded not only general support, but intelligent support throughout the countries we represent. Therefore it is essential that we fully inform the public of our proceedings. The problem is not a simple one, but I venture to suggest that it is better in the long run to err on the side of publicity rather than on the side of secrecy."

At today's sitting the delegates will be treated to a detailed review of the foreign policy by Earl Curzon, foreign secretary.

KINGSCOTE BEAT LOWE.

Wimbledon, June 22.—Major A. R. F. Kingscote, the British Davis cup team star, defeated F. Gordon Lowe, the veteran British player, in straight sets, 6—2, 6—3, 6—3, in today's round of the British grass court championships.

Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, United States women's singles champion, defeated Mrs. Arthur C. Green, 6—3, 6—2.

Which Does Most Harm To Women, Drinking or Smoking?

London Clergy Not Anxious To Express Opinion in Matter—T. D. McCullough Says He Doesn't Drink or Smoke and Therefore Cannot Speak From Experience.

"I couldn't say myself, I have never smoked cigarettes, nor do I drink whiskey, so I can't saff offhand just which has the worst effect," replied T. D. McCullough, secretary of the Social Service Council, when asked today if he agreed with Paul B. Johnson, United States representative from Mississippi, who has introduced a bill in Congress to make it illegal for a "female person" to smoke cigarettes in public, claiming that the same is "more injurious than whiskey."

"I hate to express an opinion on the matter," said Rev. A. C. Bingham, Egerton Street Baptist Church, "but possibly if a woman does not drink, but smokes instead, then I suppose the smoking is the most injurious. However, God, in my opinion, has set up no double standard. What is right for a man is necessarily right for a woman. Nevertheless it is regrettable that a woman should render herself liable to public opinion by smoking out in the open. It displays a certain undoubted laxity. So much for the moral issue. Physically, I don't know exactly just what effect smoking would have on the feminine constitution. I do not doubt, however, that a strong, robust man, working in the open, would suffer little or not at all from smoking, whereas a woman smoking as she would, no doubt, in the secrecy of her home, would be more susceptible to injurious results."

Rev. M. Kelly.

"Has this representative's stand been correctly reported?" questioned Rev. M. Kelly, president of the Ministerial Alliance, "In any event I question very much if much can be achieved by legislation. It seems to me that the only manner in which the evil can be corrected is at home. It is the breaking down of the home life that is unfortunately causing many similar problems today."

"Naturally, I disapprove of a woman of any age smoking, but I would rather say nothing at this moment on the smoking issue," declared Mrs. May R. Thornley of the local W. C. T. U. "We are having our convention in October, when all matters of this nature will come up."

Hasn't Seen Any.

"Personally I have not noticed any cigarette smoking among the ladies," advised Rev. W. J. Ashton, "but, of course, there may be considerable of which I am totally unaware. I do not consider it fair, nevertheless, for this party to criticize an entire school or college just because possibly two or three indulge. I do not believe that cigarette smoking is prevalent to such a degree among the students as has been alleged. Personally, I should like to witness cigarettes eliminated entirely, even for the men as well."

"I can't say that I have noticed any women smoking. I do not know of any," asserted Rev. T. A. Symington. "As regards legislation, I doubt its ultimate effect. However, I know but little on the subject."

A Difficult Matter.

"It is certainly going to prove to be a difficult thing," says Rev. John Agnew, "to impose a fine upon an adult for smoking cigarettes. As yet the cigarette evil has not become so apparent in Canada as over the border, but to my mind is making tremendous headway, and so efforts should be made to correct the evil among juveniles. Personally, at this moment, I do not believe that the law is rigidly enforced among the young people, and I should like to see increased activity by the police in this respect.

"We do our best in the Sunday schools, but are greatly handicapped by the fact that so many adults, and good people, too, use the cigarettes regularly, and so what can we say to the youth regarding taking an example from their elders."

LONDON RECEIVES CHEAPEST POWER

Pays $20 Per Horsepower—Other Cities $28.

Regarding the announcement from Toronto that a 10 to 30 per cent reduction in power rates had been granted by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission to Chatham, Sarnia, St. Thomas and Windsor, in Western Ontario, while London has been neglected, General Manager E. V. Buchanan of the public utilities commission explains that these cities pay higher rates than London, and hence the reduction.

"The cost of power in these cities is considerably higher than in London," he stated to The Advertiser. "With this latest reduction, their rates are yet higher than what we pay. No other municipality in Western Ontario receives hydro power cheaper than London. We pay $20 per horsepower, while the others are assessed $28."

PROPOSE CENTRAL POLICE BUREAUX FOR THE DOMINION

Montreal, June 22.—At the convention of the Association of Police Chiefs of Canada, which will be held in Montreal beginning July 4, Capt. Emile Trudel, chief of police for Quebec City, and former president of the association, will put forward a plan for the establishment of central bureaux of police information in every province of the Dominion, it was announced today. The plan will include the opening of a central bureau in the most important city of each province, with a competent staff, where all police records, rogues' galleries, finger-print records, and a host of minute but important details would be kept handy.

GOMPERS' OPPONENTS ADMIT SPLIT AMONGST LEWIS' SUPPORTERS

Veteran President's Friends Claim Majority of Nearly 10,000 Votes.

Denver, Colo., June 22.—The John L. Lewis boom for the presidency of the American Federation of Labor today took a slump. Under instructions from their executive board, the delegates of the Ladies' Garment Workers switched their 941 votes from the mine workers' president to Samuel Gompers. Three delegates of the United Mine Workers, commanding 1,596 votes, were also reported to have deserted their leader for Gompers.

While the Lewis supporters admitted that their own delegation would be split, they claimed sufficient votes had been pledged by the metal trades, the road organizations, the machinists' union, and the carpenters' and joiners to elect their candidate. Their lineup gave them approximately 20,000 of the 38,554 votes in the convention.

Veteran Chief Confident.

Gompers' supporters were claiming the railway carmen, railway clerks and electrical workers—three of the largest railroad organizations. The boilermakers, all the printing trades, and the federal employees' unions, the building trades organization, with the exception of the carpenters' and molders' unions, were also listed as supporting the veteran labor chief.

The Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers and the mine, mill and smelter workers have definitely been placed in the Lewis column.

The Gompers boomers declared they were sure of at least 30,000 votes—nearly 10,000 more than needed to win.

This diocese has been vacant since the death of Rt. Rev. Father Pascal in July, 1920. Two other names are mentioned. Rev. Father Proudhome, of St. Boniface, Man., and Rev. Father Daley, C.S.S.R., St. John, N. B.

ANCESTRAL HOME PRESENTED TO FIELD MARSHAL HAIG

London, June 22.—(By the Canadian Associated Press).—Bemorsyde, near Melrose, Scotland, the ancestral home of Field Marshal Haig, and from which he takes a part of his title, has been purchased by public subscription, and has been formally handed over to him. His lordship, in a moving letter of thanks, says:

"An old dream of mine, rather than a hope, has been realized in this gift."

ANOTHER INCOME TAX INSTALMENT DUE JUNE 30TH

Mounted Police Will Guard Government Money.

June 30 is the date set for the second partial payment of the income tax, and as a precautionary measure to guard against possible attempt by gunmen, local or otherwise, to carry off the proceeds, members of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police will again be stationed at the local tax office. Sergt. Birtwistle of the Windsor company of the force, who was in charge of the police stationed here at the time of the last collection, will arrive in the city Friday, bringing with him one man. Another trooper will be sent from the Ottawa squadron, making a force of three who will remain on duty here until after the receipts have been carefully placed away in banks.

Although most people who were assessed small sums paid up completely at the last collection, there is quite a sum yet to be paid in partial payments, although the last total of $3,000,000 will hardly be reached. In submitting checks for payment, the local officials draw attention again to the strict necessity for all persons to have them marked at the bank before presentation. Unmarked checks will no longer constitute a legal payment, and will render one liable to prosecution for nonfulfilment of the provisions of the income tax act.

IRISH REPUBLIC HAS REGULAR 'SUB' SERVICE TO UNITED STATES

New York, June 22.—Two submarines, flying the "Irish Republican" flag, maintain a regular under-sea passenger service between this country and Ireland for officials and agents of the "Irish republic," according to Capt. B. J. Shanley, wounded veteran of the 69th Regiment of New York. He is also secretary of the New York Council of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic.

Eamonn de Valera, "president of the Irish republic," arrived in this country in 1919 in an Irish submarine, Shanley declares, and left secretly for Ireland several months ago in the same fashion.

Several other Irish diplomats have patronized the same line, he says. The line is still in commission and "functioning regularly," although he refused to give any details about the present whereabouts of the vessels. There are others available for the same traffic in case of any rush of business, he asserted. Daniel O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, who disappeared from the United States after he had been given until June 6 to reship for Ireland as a seaman by the department of labor, is said to have returned to Ireland by the submarine route.

POLICE CAPTURE THREE.

Belfast, June 22.—The police in the Upper Falls district of this city, hearing firing in that area today, pursued eight men they suspected and captured three of them, who were found to have ammunition in their possession.

Soldiers, with machine guns, were occupying vantage points in the Falls district.

COMPLAINS ABOUT CHILDREN PLAYING IN VICTORIA PARK

Grouchy Citizen Also Annoyed by "Spooners."

A local citizen, residing in the vicinity of Victoria Park, has complained to General Manager E. V. Buchanan, of the public utilities commission, that people are making a nuisance of the park, playing tennis and walking around, destroying the grass. He further complains of the noise of children gamboling in the park, and the presence of the young couples "spooning" in the evening. Skating rinks for children in the winter-time at Victoria Park were also a bone of contention with him.

Manager Buchanan pointed out to this complainant that his property has increased about 500 per cent in value over its original cost, because of the beauty of the park, where in more distant property had increased only about 100 per cent. He explained to him that the money of all ratepayers was invested in the park, and that they are justified in utilizing these pleasure grounds.

"All that is the mater with you is that your children have grown up and you are getting old," commented Mr. Buchanan to the "grouch." "Possibly you would like conditions as they were at one time with certain parks in Scotland, when only the aristocratic persons living in the vicinity were allowed inside, while the children of the poorer parents gazed in through big iron gates at the more fortunate ones having a good time."

The citizen stated that he would not like to see such conditions, even if they were contemplated. Manager Buchanan advised him to sell his property if conditions were so disagreeable to him, as there is no other solution in sight.

TORONTO BURGLARS ARE SENTENCED

Toronto, June 22.—After having pleaded guilty to five charges of housebreaking and theft, Richard McGill and James McGill were sentenced by Magistrate Cohen this morning to seven years and six years, respectively, in the penitentiary.

Summing up the evidence, Crown Attorney McRuer pointed out that in all eleven houses had been broken into, goods to the value of approximately $15,000 had been stolen, and only about $4,000 worth of property had been recovered. From one house on Carleton street alone jewelry to the value of about $10,000 had been taken. A number of shanks of rings had been found with their diamond settings removed.

U. S. WILL WELCOME CANADIAN AMBASSADOR

Tribune Declares, "We Have Same Interests as Our Northern Neighbor."

New York, June 22.—By Canadian Press.—The United States will be pleased to see a Canadian minister at Washington, says the Tribune today, commenting on Lloyd George's reported statement before the imperial conference.

The new Canadian minister will apparently be a member of the diplomatic corps, on the same footing as the minister from other American or European states, the Tribune says, and concludes:

"Whatever the nature of the change in Canada's external relations, the United States will be pleased to see a Canadian minister in Washington and a United States minister in Ottawa. We have the same broad interests and the same world points of view as our northern neighbor. It is to the interest of both nations that they should be brought into still closer economic and political co-operation."

POLICE PREVENT ANY DEMONSTRATION OF WELCOME TO SIMS

One Thousand Patrolmen Line Piers, Mounted Men Patrol Streets.

New York, June 22.—One thousand policemen were stationed about the piers of the White Star Line early today to prevent any untoward incidents in connection with the arrival of Rear Admiral Wm. S. Sims on the Olympic.

The officers formed a cordon about the docks and held back the crowds that gathered to express their approbation or disapprobation of the remarks made recently in London by the admiral, who denounced Sinn Feiners who have been carrying on propaganda against Great Britain in the United States.

From the pier at which the Olympic landed to the Pennsylvania railroad station, where a train was waiting to bear the admiral to Washington to explain his utterances to Secretary of the Navy Denby, the streets were guarded by patrolmen. Mounted police were on hand to form a bodyguard during the trip. At the station a heavy guard was on duty to prevent any demonstrations.

The Olympic steamed into the harbor at an early hour this morning and long before she passed out of quarantine crowds began to gather at the piers. Many United States citizens who were favorably impressed with the London address, were on hand to send forth a rousing cheer as the admiral stepped ashore. There were also many Sinn Fein sympathizers, who hoped to disrupt the reception.

A navy cutter drew alongside the steamer at Quarantine and offered to take the admiral ashore, but he declined, saying he preferred to remain on board and land a the dock.

Was First Ashore.

Admiral Sims was the first person to step ashore. He entered an elevator a few feet from the end of the gangplank, and descended to the main floor of the pier, where he stepped into an automobile with Rear Admiral Ruse, commandant of fthe third naval district. Flanked by police, he drove away, stating he would take the first train for Washington.

There was scarcely anyone on the docks. From the handful of persons who had gathered there came neither cheers nor taunts. Among those who met the admiral was his brother. The admiral was dressed in mufti. Indeed, during the voyage he wore his uniform only at dinner. Mrs. Sims accompanied him home.

He chatted with newspapermen on the way up from quarantine and seemed in the best of humor. On her way to the pier the Olympic passed a steamer, whose passengers lined the rails. Across the stretch came the sound of cheers for Sims.

No Demonstration.

The admiral told newspapermen the cable from Secretary Derby, ordering him to return, had been greatly delayed. Shown cartoons of himself, the admiral smiled, and said he might have something to say later.

There was no demonstration outside the pier, nor on the way to the Pennsylvania station, where only a handful of persons were gathered.

At the station, however, there were a few boos and cheers, and one woman was seen parading with a banner bearing the picture of a jackass—apropos of the reference made to jackasses reported to have been made by Admiral Sims in his London speeches. The woman was not troubled by the police.

KEEN INTEREST SHOWN IN SECOND POLO MATCH

British Team Handicapped by Injury to Major Barrett.

London, June 22.—Great Britain's polo team today faced the United States challengers in the second match of the series for the international cup. The first game, played last Saturday, was won handily by the United States players.

Reports were current last night that Major Barrett, the No. 2 on the British team, was suffering from an injured hand, and might not be able to play today. Lord Dalmeny was ready to step into his place in case Major Barrett could not continue the contest. Capt. Milburn, leader of the United States team, who was playing under a severe handicap on Saturday, due to an injury to his back in the preliminary games, profited by the rest which followed the opening game, and was reported this morning to be in splendid condition.

Interest in the series of games was in nowise diminished because of Saturday's defeat for the British team. The crowd of spectators at the Hurlingham field promised to be at least as large as that which witnessed the initial contest. Members of the royal family, however, did not plan to attend, as they did on Saturday, and the game began without ceremonies which usually attend the opening of an international match.

MINERS TO TRY OTHER TACTICS

Hodges Intimates That Wage Question May Be Made Political Issue.

BRIGHTON, Eng., June 21. — Frank Hodges, secretary of the Miners' Federation, speaking today on the coal strike, at the labor party, charged the Government with playing "an unhappy part" in the crisis.

Continuing, he said: "It may be we shall have to bend and bow to the inevitable forces around us, but, believe me, with the type of manhood that is in our ranks we shall never rest content until we have achieved politically what we have failed to achieve industrially."

BEACHVILLE THEFT QUICKLY CLEARED UP

Money Taken From Till by Boy Found in Grass.

WOODSTOCK, June 21.—The grocery store of Fred Lowes of Beachville was broken into last night and the till rifled of its contents. High County Constable Fred Hill was notified this morning of the robbery, and at once set out on the case. One hour afterwards he had arrested Ernest Karn, North Oxford, and recovered the money, which the boy had dropped in the grass at the approach of the policeman, and shortly after Karn was in Woodstock jail on a remand of a week.

Entrance had been gained by breaking in a window of the store. The trip to the store had been made to and from the store on a bicycle.

BROWN IS HELD ON A SERIOUS FRAUD CHARGE

Alleged To Have Defrauded Sarnia Man Out of $19,300.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

SARNIA, June 21.—As the result of the co-operation of Sarnia and Port Huron police, Donaldson Brown, one of two stock salesmen who are alleged to have defrauded Captain William Forbes out of $19,300 in a fraudulent stock sale, is now lodged in jail, having been apprehended and brought back to this city from Des Moines, Iowa, by Sheriff Harrison A. Maines. Arraigned in police court, Brown refused to plead, waiving examination, and was bound over to the circuit court. He is now in jail, after failing to furnish bail of $12,000.

The arrest of Brown in the Iowa city followed upon the heels of clever sleuthing by Sheriff Maines, and the Sarnia authorities who tracked the alleged salesman to Des Moines after he had received a tip as to his whereabouts.

Brown is charged with having sold stock to Captain Brown in the Producers' Terminal Company, Limited, of London, Ont., fraudulently representing himself as an authorized salesman for the company. Four hundred shares at $50 per share were taken bp Captain Forbes. Two notes for $5,000 and one for $10,000 were given in payment, later the $10,000 note was discounted by the salesman when it was split into notes of $2,324 each.

FIGHT OVER IRISH QUESTION IS BITTER

Sinn Fein Sympathizers in A. F. of L. Demand Boycott of Great Britain.

DENVER, June 21.—A bitter oratorical fight over the Irish question was precipitated on the floor of the convention of the American Federation of Labor late today, and was at its height when President Samuel Gompers adjourned the convention until tomorrow.

The debate started when the resolutions committee reported a substitute for the four resolutions introduced by Irish sympathizers. The substitute ignored the effort to initiate a boycott again British-manufactured goods and imports.

The committee's report disposed of the Irish question by asking the convention to reaffirm its sympathy for the Irish cause, by urging recognition of the Irish republic, and by urging trial and punishment for British army men guilty of atrocities in Ireland.

Boycott or Nothing.

No sooner had the committee's report been read, when Cornelius Foley, a delegate from the Barbers' Union, took the floor, reading a telegram from Harry Boland, secretary to Eamonn de Valera, "provisional president of the Irish republic," which said: "The American Federation of Labor is looked on to do something for Ireland. We want the boycott or nothing."

Mr. Foley declared that "there is only one place where we can hurt England, and that is in her pocketbook."

Christian M. Madesen of the Chicago Federation of Labor, then moved to amend the committee's report by adding a clause calling for a boycott by the American labor against British-made goods and British companies as long as the British Government maintains "its barbarous and destructive policy in Ireland."

Point of Order.

A point of order was raised that this could not be introduced, because it was part of resolutions already rejected by the committee. President Gompers sustained the point of order and adjourned the convention, while several delegates were struggling for recognition of the chair.

The resolution reported by the committee reaffirmed the action of the Montreal convention in supporting the Irish people in their struggle for freedom and for recognition of the Irish Republic, and also proposed a campaign to bring about the trial and punishment of the British regular and auxiliary forces "guilty of atrocities" in Ireland.

The boycott resolution, which was eliminated by the committee's report, was introduced by Irish sympathizers as the "official resolution of the Irish Republic." It was also responsible for the split among the delegates, as many of them opposed such action, claiming that a boycott would work against the interests of the organized workers of Great Britain and her colonies and dominions.

Samuel Evans, personal representative of Frank P. Walsh, is here directing the fight to have the boycott adopted.

The convention went on record in the afternoon session as favoring total exclusion of Japanese and other Orientals from the United States. The executive council was instructed to take steps to prevent the modification of the Chinese exclusion act, and to work for a definite policy calling for the total exclusion of Japanese.

CANNOT PROBE BREAD PRICES

No Power To Conduct Investigation, Says Deputy-Attorney-General.

TORONTO, June 21.—This province has no longer any power to conduct an inquiry into the price of bread, such as is demanded in London, Ont., according to a legal opinion by Deputy Attorney-General E. Bayly. In London, Hon. W. E. Raney has been accused of "side-stepping the requested inquiry into prevailing bread prices."

In writing to John Bridge, president of the London Chamber of Commerce, in reply to a letter of inquiry on the subject, Deputy Attorney-General Bayly says:

"I do not think that this Government has power to order an inquiry such as you suggest. The board of commerce act and the fair prices act of the Dominion seem to me to have taken over almost everything in the way of food prices, etc.

"While I am well aware of the fact that in some necessities of life there must exist understandings which are probably illegal, yet the two statutes I have referred to and criminal code, section 498, seem to me to remove almost every vestige of power which the province might formerly have possessed."

BERRIES DOWN TO TEN CENTS A BOX

Large Quantities of Fine Fruit Offered At Brantford.

BRANTFORD, June 21.—The strawberry market here today was almost as large as that of last Tuesday, when record low prices were set, but the lowest today was ten cents a box by the crate. Cherries are starting to come in, quoted at $1.75 a large basket.

Left at Oke's garage at Ancaster by two young men, whose identities have not been traced, Dr. Gamble's motor car, stolen some days ago, was brought back to Brantford today.

At the Kiwanian luncheon here today the speaker was Prof. M. A. Mackenzie of the University of Toronto, managing director of the Penny Bank, who spoke on "Thrift and the Penny Bank."

It was announced here today that Commandant and Mrs. Urquhart of St. Catharines will follow Adjutant and Mrs. Condie at the local Salvation Army citadel, and that Captain Bridges of Kitchener would come here to act as police matron, in place of Mrs. Condie.

NO WAGE CUT FOR RAILMEN DOMINION DAY

Reduction of Twelve Per Cent Not Effective July 1.

TORONTO, June 21.—There will be no wage reduction on the Canadian railroads on Dominion Day, according to the brotherhood chiefs, who returned to Toronto today from the conference held in Montreal with the railway executives. The railways receded from their announced intention, the delegates said, and will not put into effect on July 1, the twelve per cent wage reduction intended, as a result of the conference.

The brotherhood representatives took the ground at the conference that they could do nothing with the proposed reduction until the big railway gathering in Chicago on July 1, dealing with the official award of the United States labor board, recommending a reduction in wages of twelve per cent on the railroads in the United Stattes.

If the award is accepted by the United States railwaymen the Canadian brotherhood representatives will be summoned again and will reopen negotiations with the Chicago award as a basis. If the award is not accepted by the Chicago gathering, the conference begun at Montreal will be resumed in the hope of an amicable settlement being arrived at.

FINED $500 FOR OPERATING BOOK ON HORSE RACES

Windsor Merchant Had Too Many Boys Hanging Around His Store.

WINDSOR, June 21.—Nathan Cohen, proprietor of the Border Cities Cigar Store, was fined $500 or three months in jail when he pleaded guilty before Judge Gundy in police court today to a charge of operating a handbook on the horse races.

Chief Thompson stated that Cohen was carrying on an extensive business. The raid, he said, was prompted chiefly by complaints of parents of the boys and school teachers who said that their boys were "hanging around" the cigar store and losing their money on the horses.

Shortly after he had reported the theft of 39 cases and two kegs of whiskey from his home at 3 o'clock this morning, George Doumachelle, 17 Hanna street, Windsor, was placed under arrest by Windsor police on a charge of unlawfully keeping liquor for sale. Doumachelle denied the charge when brought before Judge Gundy in Windsor police court today, and was released under cash bail of $2,000.

RICH COPPER FIND REPORTED AT LE PAS

THE PAS, Man., June 21.—(By Canadian Press.)—A hill of copper sulphides, measuring eighty feet above the water level of Lake Athapapuskow is reported found by two prospectors, Billy Baker and E. Patten, who have arrived here with samples of their discovery.

Patten is of the opinion that it is one solid mass of sulphide throughout the hill. The samples shown here are high grade, and miners think it is running to 20 per cent copper, with small gold and silver values.

HELD AS MURDER SUSPECT.

ST. CATHARINES, June 21.—Sam Gorkiwik, an Austrian, is under arrest here as a suspect in connection with the hold-up and murder of Peter Wovoda in a store at Port Weller, a short time ago. He is being held on a charge of vagrancy.

SAYS BECK MUST BE HARNESSED TO BE SAFE

Premier Drury Makes Caustic Comment On Power Minister.

BARRIE, June 21.—Premier E. C. Drury addressed a large gathering at Wasaga Beach, Georgian Bay, this afternoon at the annual picnic of the Simcoe County branch of the United Farmers of Ontario, although he was still suffering from sore throat. He dealt with the finances of the province at some length and defended the provincial treasurer's handling of the province's money. He took occasion to refer to the timber inquiry, and give Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, former minister of lands, forests and mines, a "jab" for his criticism of the commissioners. He characterized it as "amazing impudence."

The premier said that as a result of the timber probe already nearly $100,000 had been voluntarily paid to the Government by the smaller operatives in back dues, and so far only the smaller men had been dealt with. The big companies were still to come, the premier said.

Premier Drury did not hold out hope of a reduction of expenditure in the future, "because," he said, "things left undone during the war have to be done now."

The Chippewa Canal development had added enormously to the debt of the province, he said, and he claimed that it should have been begun when construction costs were low or held back until they went down. The estimates had jumped from the original ten million to $44,000,000 and the cost would eventually reach almost $60,000,000.

"When we attained power," the premier said, "$14,000,000 had been put into it and we simply had to go ahead; and even at its present cost it will prove an undoubted success, because by nearly doubling the fall it will double the power available from Niagara."

Referring to Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, Premier Drury said the hydro knight was like Niagara itself, "a great service, but one which has to be harnessed to be safe."

BANKERS CHASE BOLTON BANDITS

Posse Is Searching For Armed Robbers in Woods.

BRAMPTON, June 21.—Five armed bandits attempted to hold up a motor car in which officials from the Imperial Bank at Bolton Village were conveying money to a branch of the bank at the village of Palgrave this forenoon, and in an exchange of revolver shots the bandits were chased into a nearby bush and the car proceeded on its way with a punctured tire as the result of the attack. J. P. Warbrick, manager of the Bolton branch of the bank, and two clerks, H. Shore and E. Wilkinson, were the party attacked. The attempted robbery took place about five miles from Bolton, near the village of Cedar Mills.

The sheriff of Peel County and the chief of police of Brampton were notified by telephone and posses were organized to try and capture the bandits.

It was not stated how much money Manager Warbrick had in the car.

William Ward & Sons, Limited, Factory, King Street, London, Canada.

Born When Canada Was Nine Years Old

Nine years after confederation the house of William Ward & Sons was founded.

United, the provinces of the great Dominion were just falling into their stride of prosperity. Canada was even then showing signs of the promise that has since been fulfilled.

The firm of William Ward & Sons soon caught up the pace of prosperity, and marched side by side with the progress of Canada.

Like many other successful Canadian industries, the birth of William Ward & Sons was humble enough. But the country was young, opportunities were many, and a manufacturing wholesale and jobbers' business was gradually established and built up, until today the name of William Ward & Sons is known by cigar and tobacco men from coast to coast.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble, Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation, and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk)—is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Advt.

WILL NOTIFY JAPAN REGARDING ALLIANCE

Situation Regarding United States To Be Made Very Clear.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Japan will be notified before the expiration of the present month of the purpose of Great Britain to renew the treaty alliance between the two nations, according to information obtained here today from an authoritative source.

It is understood that the state department has been kept fully informed of the plans of the British Government, and that it has been given assurances that in the renewal of the treaty every precaution will be taken to guard against the inclusion of anything inimical to United States' rights.

According to information received here while the imperial conference, now in session in London, will deal with the subject of the renewal of the treaty, discussion will be with the purpose of enabling the representatives of the dominions and colonies of Great Britain to express their own views upon the general subject, with special reference to its relations to the United States and suggest amendments.

The British Government itself is expected to propose one amendment, which would make it plain that Great Britain would not take up arms against the United States in the event of hostilities between this country and Japan.

The British position has been that the present treaty makes this plain, but to avoid any doubt, it is said, it is now proposed to make a specific declaration in treaty form by the mention of the United States by name.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

LABORERS WILL BE HARDEST HIT BY WAGE CUTS

Entire Increase Granted Last Year Will Be Wiped Out.

BIG CUT FOR CLERKS

Forty-Six Per Cent Reduction To Be Made by the Railways.

MONTREAL, June 21.—Office staffs in railway headquarters are busy this week completing the reclassification of wage schedules which will be presented to Canadian railway employees probably this week for acceptance as of July 1.

Maintenance of way and shop crafts will probably not receive their definite schedules until next week, however, as the matter of their wages is still under advisement by the United States Railway Board, and no decision is expected for a few days. When it comes it will have to be made to conform with Canadian schedules before the unions receive their advice. They have already been notified, however, that the revision is pending, and is expected to become operative the same time as other reductions. Canadian schedules vary very slightly from those over in the United States, and so far as the running trades are concerned, there is slight difficulty in working out the reductions which are proposed.

Difficult To Decide.

The clerical staffs present a more complex problem. The advances granted last July, and which are now to be cut by approximately 46 per cent, were not destributed on a percentage basis. Owing to the lack of uniformity in clerical labor, a lump sum equal to 20 per cent of the total payroll was handed over to the department heads and apportioned as was considered most equitable. In the downward revision a similar policy has to be kept in mind, and the procedure is necessarily much slower than in the case of trades where the reduction is on a straight percentage basis.

The Heaviest Cut.

Common labor will receive the heaviest cut from a relative standpoint. The entire increase of 8½c an hour which was granted last year is scheduled to be wiped out. Freight truckers' average pay will range under the new schedules about $97 per month and track laborers at approximately $77. Sectionmen are expected to receive about $3 a day under the revision. According to the running trades, it is declared the new schedules will provide an adequate livelihood. The last averages taken in Eastern Canada show the following results, the figures having been obtained by taking ten men from each branch of labor at random from various roads.

Will Be Lowered.

Ten passenger engineers averaged $311 a month; ten freight engineers averaged $286 per month; ten passenger firemen averaged $223; ten freight firemen averaged $206; ten passenger conductors averaged $285; ten passenger trainmen averaged $205, and ten freight trainmen (brakemen) averaged $190. These averages were struck before last year's 20 per cent increase was granted. The new reduction will still leave the schedule 8 per cent higher than they were when these wages were earned.

Some important revision is likely in the wages paid to clerical help joining railway staffs. The existing schedule is upwards of $100 per month, and is likely to be revised to $70 per month for the first six months and $80 for the second six months. Employees in this class are usually youths and young women under 20 years of age.

MAY MAKE ARRESTS IN PT. STANLEY CASE

Furnishings Taken From Tug Now in Possession of Authorities.

ST. THOMAS, June 21.—On a search warant sworn out by Hugh Payne, watchman on the tug Oriana, the bunks, life savers and other paraphernalia of the sister tug Iona were found away from the latter vessel yesterday and were placed in custody of the St. Thomas authorities today. Mr. Payne saw the stuff being removed from the vessel and identified it as belonging to the Iona. The Iona was recently sold by the sheriff to Aiken and Thomas, Port Stanley, and they claim that tug furnishings were in the boat when they made the purchase. So far no arrests have been made.

Lightning Burns Barn.

Lightning striking the barn of Dan Plain, near Shedden, this afternoon, burned the building to the ground with a calf and the season's crop of hay. Partly insured. Mr. Plain's misfortunes have been serious of late. His son was recently killed by a M.C.R. train, west of the village and a house was destroyed by fire with furnishings of a tenant a couple of weeks ago.

Lamont and Mrs. Frank Whitefield, St. Thomas, William of the department of the interior, Ottawa, Frank and Walter of Detroit. The interment will be at New Dundee tomorrow.

FOSTER SEES NEED OF HOUSE CLEANING

Too Much Waste At Ottawa Admitted by Acting Prime Minister.

OTTAWA, June 21.—(By Canadian Press.)—In a statement issued today, Acting Prime Minister Sir George Foster states that substantial savings have been and are being effected by the reorganization of the Canadian civil service, now in progress. In a single year, he claims, the saving in the department of printing and stationery totals $450,000, that in the customs and inland revenue will amount to $750,000, and in the post-office department to $1,000,000.

Sir George states that there is a widespread demand for elimination of unnecessary administrative expenditure, and that this can only be effected by cutting down the staffs. He says that "imported efficiency experts" have nothing to do with retirements or readjustments, acting merely in an advisory capacity.

MORRISON PEEVED AT PEOPLE'S PARTY

Need Not Look To U. F. O. For Any Help, He Says.

TORONTO, June 21.—J. J. Morrison, secretary of the United Farmers of Ontario, is quoted in an interview in an evening newspaper here as saying that the adoption by the Halton U. F. O. Club of the name "Halton People's Political Party" for political purposes was intended to be nothing more than a show of courtesy to Premier Drury, who represents that county in the Legislature.

Secretary Morrison is quoted as saying that Halton County farmers need not look to the U. F. O. for any assistance or co-operation as a result of their action.

"They are always at liberty to do just as they please," Mr. Morrison said, "but as soon as they cease to conform to our rules they set themselves aside."

South Perth, Hon. Peter Smith's riding, had taken a similar step, Mr. Morrison remarked, but he was confident that there was no general desire among the farmers to follow Premier Drury's preference for the word "People's."

"Of course," Mr. Morrison said, "any association may choose any name it likes at any time, and if Halton and South Perth farmers think worse of their action at some future date they will be welcomed back as 'United Farmers.'"

According to the brief dispatches reaching Sydney from the "bottom of the world," strange birds of immense size, seals and gorgeous emperor penguins inhabit the land beyond Tierra Del Fuego, the area of which has not yet been computed.

STANLEY HALLAM IS SENTENCED TO YEAR IN REFORMATORY

Former Essex O. T. A. Officer Guilty of Assault and Robbery.

CHATHAM, June 21.—In the county court late this afternoon on charges of assault and robbery, Judge Stanworth sentenced Stanley Hallam to one year in the Ontario Reformatory, and William Hallam to six months. Both men were formerly officers enforcing the O. T. A. in Essex County.

After one hour and forty-five minutes deliberation, the jury in the King case, in which the defendants were charged with conspiring to rob, and with the shooting of Frank Cornish, returned a verdict of "not guilty." The jury returned to the court room at 11:35 last night and on the submission of their verdict they were dismissed by Judge Stanworth.

Lengthy addresses were made to the jury by O. L. Lewis, counsel for Theodore King, and R. L. Brackin for Frank King. Col. H. D. Smith summed up for the crown after the adjournment for supper. The case aroused considerable interest throughout the county, several hundred farmers being present throughout the case.

A complete search will be made immediately.

ASK REDUCTION OF DEMURRAGE CHARGE ON CARS

Decision Is Reserved by Railway Commission After Hearing.

OTTAWA, June 21. — The railway commission was occupied today by the application of many organizations for the reduction of demurrage charges on freight cars.

The applicants contended that prewar conditions now prevailed and that as there was now no shortage of cars the penalties under the demurrage roles could not be justified. It was further contended that should the penalties be retained they should be drastically amended. A penalty after two days' demurrage to five days' grace before any addition to the ordinary rate of $1 per diem was made was suggested. The railways opposed any interference with the present rules. They claimed the cost of car construction had not declined; neither had the cost of maintenance and labor and the penalty clauses were as necessary now as before to prevent delay in unloading.

Without Penalty.

The general feeling seemed to harden toward two days' demurrage without any penalty charges, and thereafter a graduated daily increase in the amounts charged. The board reserved judgment.

C. R. Moore, superintendent of car service for the Grand Trunk Railway, presented a serious outlook on the coal situation. Canada had imported less coal this year than during the corresponding period last year with the prospects of one of the biggest harvests in the history of the country there would have to be an extra importation of coal.

Case Is Settled.

Shipments of alcoholic liquors from Quebec to points where no prohibition law against importation was in force, having been refused by the Canadian and Dominion Express Companies, the firm of J. B. Letellier & Company of Quebec asked the commission to direct these companies to accept and deliver such shipments. The commission had previously ruled that as the Scott act was in effect in Quebec City no shipment of liquor could be made thereafter.

That commission has, however, withdrawn its ruling, and it is now in order for the express companies to handle wet freight, until the result of the Scott act vote in Quebec City is known.

The case before the railway commission, therefore, was settled by mutual consent.

"Policyholders Month"

The Canada Life Man

1. He points the way to success for the young man.

2. He stops the busy city man and persuades him to think of the real objects in life.

3. He urges the farmer to protect the home.

4. He pays a Widow's claim and finds the money is sorely needed.

Each year the Canada Life sets aside a Special Month for calling upon Policyholders where that is possible.

The present month may bring the Canada Life Man to you, but the large number to be seen may make this impossible in your case.

Our Mission

To keep the home together; to afford means to bring up the children and give them a chance in life; to clear off a mortgage or other obligation; to protect personal and business interests generally—that is the great need which it is our mission to fill.

Finding this need all around him, the Canada Life man tries to fit the plan of insurance to the individual need, just as the experienced lawyer is expected to give the best advice to his client or the physician the best course of treatment to his patient. His sympathy and advice are indeed very important factors in his success.

Our Representatives are trained for special service.

For instance

You may not be fully informed as to what your life insurance will do for your home, or your personal and business interests.

Your Canada Life policies may require to be altered to suit new conditions.

You may wish to arrange to have your life insurance paid as a monthly income, or you may require new policies adjusted to your partnership or business interests.

Group insurance on your employees should perhaps be engaging your attention.

All these subjects are part of the special training with which the Canada Life man is furnished for your benefit.

A Suggestion

Why not, without the slightest obligation, consult our nearest representative, or write to the Home Office of this old, tried Company, which has abundant evidence of success, is experienced in life insurance, pays large dividends to policyholders, and safely and sanely manages the business entrusted to it by the public?

BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES.

"Friendly co-operation with the United States is for us a cardinal principle dictated by instinct quite as much as by reason and common-sense," said Mr. Lloyd George at the first meeting of the conference of British premiers. The prime minister of Great Britain rejoiced that the United States showed such a desire for the limitation of the growth of armaments, and said that any overtures from that direction would be most willingly met. The British desire, he declared, is to work with the great republic in all parts of the world for stability and peace on the basis of liberty and justice.

There is no doubt that these words of Mr. Lloyd George are in the nature of a preamble to the discussion of the disarmament question. No one believes that the people of the United States, taken as a people, have any other desire but that of friendly co-operation with the British in taking steps to safeguard the peace of the world, but mixed with the pure gold of this honest desire there is an alloy which invariably makes its presence known when opportunity offers. This alloy is not an integral part of the American people, and can always be detected as a separate unit which is in no way representative of the country. It is therefore a comparatively easy matter to assess it at its true value.

We do not hesitate to assert that if any proposal for the limitation of armaments were submitted to popular vote in any part of the world, it would receive unanimous approval, for the maintenance of powerful fleets and standing armies places on the shoulders of the people burdens which they could very well do without. The greatest obstacle to be overcome is the jealousy and distrust which one nation bears to another. To eliminate this there is only one remedy, and that is the freer intercourse of one country with another. This can only be brought about by the systematic discussion and amicable adjustment of international problems.

We frequently speak in a more or less vague manner about "the foreigner," forgetting that in the eyes of "the foreigner" we ourselves are "foreigners." It is also too much the custom to blame the alien for all the ills that afflict a country, when quite frequently it is the country itself which is at fault. It nations would only cease to seek for scapegoats on which to place the blame of their own crimes and blunders, and set about removing the causes which led up to these disasters, some real progress towards permanent peace would be made.

One of those incidents which tend to a better understanding between the nations is the dedication at Sulgrave, Northamptonshire, England, of Sulgrave Manor, the ancestral home of the Washingtons. This historic home has been restored to the state in which it existed three centuries ago, and was opened with due ceremony, the Marquis of Cambridge, brother of Queen Mary, giving the principal address. The memory of Lincoln was recently honored in the mother country, and now tribute has been paid to Washington. These are outward and visible signs that the bonds between the English-speaking nations of the world are being drawn closer and closer, and it is in this direction that the principal avenue of peace lies.

NORWAY AND PROHIBITION.

Although Norway is supposed to be a "dry" country, no fewer than 23,795 persons were arrested last year for being drunk, and 34,000 other arrests were made for Sunday misdemeanors traceable to the effects of intoxicants. This condition of affairs in Norway illustrates the fact that it is one thing to pass a law and another thing to enforce it; but legislation that is more honored in the breach than in the observance brings any system of administration into contempt, making it a byword and a reproach.

There was a time not so very many years ago when the inhabitants of the "Land of the Midnight Sun" were considered the most sober people in the world, whose favorite beverage was sour milk, and who set an example to other peoples by their industry and frugality. Now, it is said, in spite of the prohibition laws, foreign brandies, whiskies and other alcoholic liquors are being sold quite openly anywhere. The sale of spirits in all towns is illegal, except on medical grounds.

The topographical formation of Norway is peculiarly favorable to the carrying on of an illegal traffic in wines and spirits. Deep, dark and narrow fiords indent the coast for miles; frowning cliffs pierced by tortuous caves are found on every hand. These wild and rugged features make ideal places for the running of a cargo of French brandy or Scotch whiskey, and the North Sea is at all times filled with fishing vessels, which would furnish very convenient carriers for the smuggled stuff. Norwegian and Swedish trawlers pursue their calling quite close to the British and French coasts, and steam fishing boats from Grimsby, South Shields and Aberdeen let down their nets as near to the Norwegian shore as the law will permit. Therefore the transfer of "wet goods" from one country to another without the authorities being any the wiser would be a matter of little difficulty.

But how is it that the people of Norway have an illegal thirst of such magnitude? Is it one of the effects of the great war? In days gone by, when the hardy Viking carried on his piratical enterprises on those northern waters, at all times finding a safe harbor in the lonely fiords, he was a roving blade who in season and out of season drank copious draughts of ardent liquor out of horns about a yard long, and it may be that the Norwegians have revived the spirit of their Viking ancestors.

Another reason for this rapidly acquired taste for strong waters may be traced to the circumstances that enormous quantities of pickled herrings and shiploads of salted cod were sent to Norway during the war, and it is well known that as thirst generators these edibles cannot be beaten.

One can very well understand that in a country so wild and rugged in its features, and so thinly populated as Norway, that the enforcement of the prohibition laws would be a matter of the greatest difficulty. It would take an army of policemen and detectives out of all proportion to the small size of the population, and the people cannot all be policemen, as there would then be no one to arrest unless they arrested themselves, and in this case their occupation, like that of Othello, would be gone.

This Gilbertian situation is not likely to arise, however, but unless some drastic measures be adopted the population of Norway may soon consist of two main classes: those who get drunk and those who arrest people for being so.

A TREATY FOR PEACE.

Why did the Japanese Crown Prince come traveling to England just now? It is pretty plain that Japan, building a powerful navy and rich from war gains, wants Britain's friendship. Probably we shall soon know something of her terms.

The only proper basis for a renewal of alliance between Britain and Japan should be that the United States come in, too, and that the first clause of their contract be a resolve to disarm and to constitute a Peace League in the Pacific. For Japan's own good, no government should give a shadow of encouragement to her fire-eaters to drag her on into the career pursued lately by Germany. The world at large wants no more war, and must protect itself against such folly.

With the Russian and German autocracies overthrown, the menace of a general war in Europe seems to be pretty well disposed of. The Bolsheviki have no railroad or factory or financial organization, nor any chemical or other preparation to make modern war on a great scale, especially so far from home as in the Pacific. The best fleet that Russia ever sent out was destroyed by the Japanese and has no successor now. Only the Teutonized militarism of Japan looks dangerous for the security of the world. All nations look to Britain, Japan and the United States to disavow further aggrandizement, to give strong guarantees of their pacific intentions, and the one satisfactory guarantee is a steady reduction of armament.

SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH.

Baron Edmond de Rothschild, administrator of the Eastern Railway in France, has given a donation of 10,000,000 francs for the purpose of encouraging students to devote their lives to scientific research, and for the development of science in its application to industry and agriculture.

For a number of years, but more particularly since the war, the matter of scientific research has been receiving the attention of the various civilized nations, and the exigencies of the war itself brought out many discoveries which are now being turned to economic use. The United States has established research bureaux and voted large sums towards this object, and for some time efforts have been made to induce the Canadian Government to take similar steps. The time may not be opportune for the establishment of an institute of scientific research in Canada on the scale contemplated, but this does not prevent the subject being pursued in some degree in every college laboratory in the Dominion.

The stipulation made in connection with Baron Rothschild's gift, that a certain proportion of it is to be devoted to the development of science in its application to industry and agriculture, is particularly interesting, and reminds us of what Dr. Saunders, the discoverer of Marquis wheat, said in regard to applied science at the graduation dinner recently held in this city. Applied science, as he pointed out, is in reality the employment of the best methods in agricultural production and in the manufacture of commodities. It is, in other words, the getting of the best results from the latest methods.

When all is said and done, it is in the laboratory that many of the greatest boons which mankind enjoys today had their origin. Scientific research may be called the art of finding out things, and no advance can be made unless this is done. The march of progress stops when knowledge becomes exhausted.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A New Zealand visitor states that London is the most beautiful city in the Dominion; but, of course, it does not take a visitor from the antipodes to tell us this.

The Dominion Department of Agriculture has issued a warning to farmers to fight the corn-borer. The corn-borer is not a profiteer; it is another kind of an insect, which, if it had its way, would abolish profits of every description.

A Brantford man has got married on the eve of serving three years in Kingston penitentiary. This must be the bonds of matrimony, we sometimes hear about. The judge extended his sympathy to the bride, and in one sentence disposed of the groom.

In spite of happenings at Simcoe and Walkerton, it is the opinion of those of us who can recall incidents of their school-days that striking teachers are not so common as they used to be. Sparing the rod was the exception and not the rule a generation ago.

The inspector for the Board of Health seized some meat the other day which was so putrid that he declares if it had been eaten by anyone it might have resulted in the death of the consumer. Apparently the state of this meat was even higher than the price they are charging nowadays.

"Do you speak English?" "No, I am deaf," is the reply which was received by one of the census enumerators. This reminds one of the farmer who was asked by a neighbor if he did not think his pigsty had an offensive odor. He replied that he did not think so. "Then you have no ear for music," was the unexpected comment.

The housewives of Hamilton are up in arms against the street railway company for smashing their dishes. This, they allege, is owing to the shocking condition of the car tracks in certain parts of the city. Those family jars must be bad enough, but London has something just as bad when the cars are running on Wellington from Horton street to Clark's bridge.

LETTERS

THE COSTS OF WAR.

Dear Mr. Editor,—Let me express my appreciation of your editorial, "A Utopian Idea," in Friday's paper.

Too many seem to lose sight of the fact that any movement towards the abolition of war and the establishment of a permanent world peace, must be an international movement, the basis of such a movement being a mutual confidence growing out of a better understanding of each other by the peoples of the world.

The error madeb y the American Federation of Labor seems to be that of confusing cause and effect. War is not "made or not made" by declaration. The declaration is an act of war, one act among many. It is the official recognition that war exists, but the war was there before the declaration of it. Conflicting purposes between nations, distrust and fear, are among the causes of war. When these reach a certain pitch, preparation of armaments begin, and unless in the meantime something occurs to remove wholly or partially the cause actual warfare becomes unavoidable.

These considerations indicate in a measure the line our activities toward a permanent world peace should take. If we would abolish war we must remove or sufficiently reduce the causes as to make them impotent. The magnitude of the task is not to be wondered at, for it is probably the biggest task man ever set his hand to do. It is no small thing to substitute mutual confidence for the mutual distrust, fear, greed, hatred, now apparent in a degree among the nations. Nevertheless, there is much to encourage us. The people of the world have seen war recently as history never revealed it to them. It has been stripped of its glamor and glory even for the humblest. Books like Homer Folks' "Human Costs of the War," have revealed to thinkers the startling fact that our civilization could not stand another war between first-class powers. The cause of peace would be helped greatly by a wise and careful publication of the real costs of the last war, and the inevitable result of another great war. The encouragement of education in all lands, according to the needs and capacity of each people, especially of such subjects as will lead to a better understanding of each others problems. A world-wide crusade against sickness and disease, such as is already taken up by the various governments, represented at the league of nations, and aided by the Red Cross peace time activities. The establishment of national integrity, A great measure of this has been attained politically. Nations to whom a treaty is a "scrap of paper" will not be indorsed today. Yet in financial and commercial relations there is room for improvement. If the strong would win the confidence of the weaker people they must cease to exploit them. Yours truly,

J. W. SMITH.

OTHERS' VIEWS

LENIN TURNS TO CAPITAL.

[Toronto Star.]

The expensive toy balloon of communism is fast collapsing in Russia. The admissions lately made by leaders of the Government organization leave little wind in it. Krassin, the soviet trade representative, is now acknowledging that communism was never accepted by the principal element in Russia, the peasantry, and that it is being abandoned where it was accepted. "They never have been and they never will become communists," Krassin says of the peasants. That much has been known before, but not acknowledged by the Soviet leaders. The Russian peasants alone have not had food and clothing in anything like adequate quantities since Lenine and Trotzky went to Petrograd, and they have been so much opposed to regarding these possessions in the communist spirit that they have fought and killed soldiers of the Red army who attempted to seize it for the common cause. The cities, where communism flourished, have been kept supplied with such rations as have been afforded them by purchases for gold. Lenine and Trotzky began the regime of communism by putting down capitalism. The result has been that Russia has had nothing but gold to exchange for goods required for her people. The peasants produced only for themselves. The factories failed under the management of the workmen. Even such raw materials as could be got ready for export could not be sent abroad because of the failure of the transportation system. So, as Krassin says, Soviet Russia up to the present has paid for everything in gold. But that cannot go on forever. "Our gold must come to an end," he says. "There therefore remains only the granting of concessions." In other words, the Soviet turns back to the reviled capitalists. It has to if any but those who have never ceased to be capitalists, the peasants, are to live. Communism nears the end of its slender resources.

THE IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.

[Times of India.]

A means for the regular participation of the dominions in the control of the foreign policy of the Empire seems necessitated and to that the higher organization of Imperial contributions towards the cost of naval defence and a means for dominion participation in the control of the general naval forces of the Empire seems an inevitable parallel. There are many such problems, and how an elaboration of the British Imperial system in accordance with them can be accomplished will be for the conference and the constitutional conference following to discover. Many have tried to devise on paper an Imperial constitution and have come against insuperable obstacles. But the politics of Britain and the political system and political life of Britain we can understand only by Britain itself. They are wrapped in conventions based on convenience and perhaps the progress of constitutionalism in the Empire will proceed on similar lines.

MODEST TINO.

[New York Tribune.]

Constantine has gone to Asia Minor to supervise the new Greek offensive against the Turkish Nationalists. He says, without any undue modesty, that his immediate objective is Angora, Mustapha Kemal's capital. But before leaving Athens he boasted in a proclamation that he was going to Asia to accomplish the "supreme national aspirations" which the Greek people cherish, which include the restoration of Greek control of Constantinople, Thrace and a large part of Asia Minor. Greece, under Tino, was one of the most troublesome elements the Allies had to deal with in the first three years of the war. The pro-German inclinations of the royal house contributed largely to wrecking the Entente's Balkan policy. A very modest Greek success might serve British interests to some extent. But a real Greek victory would contribute nothing to the Near Eastern settlement which the peace conference aimed at, but which the Sevres treaty utterly failed to attain.

IN FAVOR OF SMOKE.

[Los Angeles Times.]

If this is to be made a smokeless world, it will have to be accomplished without the aid and consent of the editors. A recent query on the subject was addressed to 13,000 publishers and newspapermen of the nation. Of the nearly 8,000 answers thus far received 7,393 were of the belief that an anti-tobacco crusade was futile and inadvisable. More than 90 per cent were emphatic in the belief that the sentiment of their community discouraged any special war against tobacco. "If a man wants to smoke let him do it." That is the opinion of 96 per cent of the editors of America, according to the returns thus far received. It would seem that that ought to settle it. But wait till we hear from the sharp-nosed lady reformers. They have made their minds up differently.

FEMININE FASHIONS.

[Boston Transcript.]

There is, perhaps, cause for congratulation over what the world has escaped because the idea of the fashion engineers were not put into effect in the days of the crinoline and the bustle. Had men governed by technical minds become the arbiters of fashion in the mid-Victorian era, the girl of today might have been debarred from leading that active life which is a standardized and most efficient method of preventing waste of health. America might still be the land in which croquet was familiar and tennis was unknown, because the styles when the grandmothers were young permitted the languid pursuit of the one and prevented participation in the other. And all this time, instead of the conservation of dress goods, there would have been reckless waste. Much valuable material was needed for the construction of frills and furbelows in the age of crinolines.

NOT ON THE RECORD.

[New York Times.]

The Hon. Edmund Burke O'Hara, rising to a question of privilege, said: "Mr. Sepaker: The attitude of Irish-Americans has been grievously misrepresented. It is not true that they have seized upon the unfortunate speech of Admiral Sims in order to show that they hold their allegiance to Ireland above that to America. They have no wish to defy public opinion or to seek to intimidate Congress. The charge that they would set themselves up as a dictatorial and terrorizing minority in American politics is false. They are American citizens before they are Irishmen, and they desire that the policy of the Government of the United States as respects Ireland shall be only that which wisdom, dignity and safety may indicate. Our readers will look in vain in the Congressional Record for this speech. It was not really delivered in the House of Representatives. But wouldn't it be a good thing for the Irish cause if it had been?

POETRY

MARCHING INDIANS.

[Amy Lowell.]

The moon lives in Cuzco—
It was the Partridge who told him so—
In a temple builded of jointured stone
On an emerald-studded silver throne.
So the fox set out for Cuzco with his tail held high to keep it out of the dust.
Tramp! Tramp! Tramp!
What is that noise approaching him?
Quick, behind a stone,
And he watches them come,
The soldiers of the great Inca,
Copper spearheads running like a river of gold along the road,
Helmets of tiger skins, coats of glittering feathers,
A ripple of colors from one edge of the way to the other.
Feet of men cadenced to the swing of weapons.
So many bows, and arrows, and slings, and darts, and lances,
A twinkling rhythm of reflections to which the army advances,
And a rainbow banner flickering colors to the slipping of the wind.
They pass as water passes, and the fox is left behind.

THE LAND OF BEGINNING AGAIN.

[Frankford State Journal.]

I wish that there were some wonderful places
Called the Land of Beginning Again,
Where all our mistakes and all our heartaches,
And all our poor selfish grief,
Could be dropped like a shabby coat at the door,
And never be put on again.

I wish we could come on it all unaware,
Like the hunter who finds a lost trail,
And I wish that the one woman our blindness had done
The greatest injustice of all
Could be at the gates, like an old friend that waits
For the comrade he's gladdest to hail.

We would find all the things we intended to do,
But forgot and remembered too late,
Little praises unspoken, little promises broken,
And all the thousand and one
Little duties neglected that might have perfected
The day for one lese fortunate.

It wouldn't be possible not to be kind
In the land of Beginning Again:
And the ones we misjudged and the ones whom we grudged
Their moments of victory here,
Would find the grasp of our loving hand clasp
More than penitent lips could explain.

For what had been hardest we'd know had been best,
And what had seemed lost would be gain;
For there isn't a sting that will not take wing
When we've faced it and laughed it away;
And I think that the laughter is most what we're after
In the Land of Beginning Again.

SUCCESS.

[Seattle Post Intelligencer.]

We gather the gold and store it,
And the whisper is heard, "Success,"
But tell me, ye cold white sleepers,
Is that achievement the best?

We struggle for power and win it,
But lo! like a fleeting breath
It is lost in the realms of silence,
Whose ruler and king is death.

The glory is most, in the doing,
And not in the trophy that is won.
The house that is built in the shadows
May shine in the rays of the sun.

Perhaps in the ultimate judgment
The effort alone will avail:
Carry on, weary, exhausted pilgrim,
The faint-hearted only will fail.

IF.

[New York Herald.]

If Youth could have they wisdom, Age,
Without the bitterness,
If Youth could read on sorrow's page
And learn but tenderness;
If Youth could love down through the years
And loving, love again;
If Youth could smile out through the tears,
And smiling, feel the pain—
How happy then our mortal lot,
How small our misery,
If Youth could learn what Age forgot,
And still a youth could be.

THE ULTIMATE.

[Arthur H. Folwell in Leslie's.]

There was a man in our town,
And wondrous wise was he;
You couldn't stump him anywhere
On Relativity.

And when he'd told us all there was,
(Perhaps a trifle more),
Comparing notes, we found we knew
As little as before.

LOVE'S WAGES.

[Martha Haskell Clark, in Good Housekeeping.]

The wages of Love are small, so small
You scarce might know they were paid at all.
A glance, a smile, or the clasp of hands,
The coin of a heart that understands;
A name soft whispered, a lingered kiss—
The wages of Love are paid in this.

But oh, the magic such coin can buy—
The waking joy of a dawn-flushed sky,
Drudgery speeding on skylarks' wings,
Songs in the heartbeats of common things;
And firelit shadows of evening blent
With peace and comfort and all-content.

The wages of Love are small, so small
One scarce could say they cost at all,
Yet lives are lonely, and hearts still ache
In bitter lack for the wee coins' sake;
And many a silk-clad life of ease
Would barter its purse of gold for these.

SPANISH DOUBLOONS

BY CAMILLA KENYON

After my meeting with Capt. Magnus in the forest, Lookout Ridge was barred to me. Crusoe and I must do our rambling in other directions. This being so, I bethought me again of the wrecked sloop lying under the cliffs on the north shore of the cove. I remembered that there had seemed to be a way down the cliffs. I resolved to visit the sloop again. The terrible practicality of the beautiful youth made it difficult to indulge in romantic musings in his presence. And to me a derelict brings a keener tang of romance than any other relic of man's multitudinous and futile strivings.

The descent of the gully proved an easy matter, and soon I was on the sand beside the derelict. Sand had heaped up around her hull, and filled her cockpit level with the rail, and drifted down the companion, stuffing the little cabin nearly to the roof. Only the bow rose free from the white smother of sand. Whatever wounds there were in her buried sides were hidden. You felt that some wild caprice of the storm had lifted her and set her down here, not too roughly, then had whirled away and left her to the sand.

Crusoe slipped into the narrow space under the roof of the cabin, and I leaned idly down to watch him through a warped seam between the planks. Then I found that I was looking, not at Crusoe, but into a little dim inclosure like a locker, in which some small object faintly caught the light. With a revived hope of finding relics I got out my knife—a present from Cuthbert Vane—and set briskly to work widening the seam.

I penetrated finally into a small locker or cubbyhole, set in the angle under the roof of the cabin, and, as subsequent investigation showed, so placed as to attract no notice from the casual eye. I ascertained this by lying down and wriggling my head and shoulders into the cabin. In other words, I had happened on a little private depository, in which the owner of the sloop might stow away certain small matters that concerned him intimately. Yet the contents of the locker at first seemed trifling. They were an old-fashioned silver shoe-buckle, and a brown manuscript book.

The book had suffered much from dampness, whether of rains or the wash of the sea. The imitation leather cover was flaking off and the leaves were stuck together. I seated myself on the cabin roof, extracted a hairpin, and began carefully separating the close-written pages. The first three or four were quite illegible, the ink having run. Then the writing became clearer. I made out a word here and there:

....directions vague....my grandfather....man a ruffian bu....no motive....police of Havana....frightful den....grandfather made sure....registry....Bonny Lass....

And at that I gave a small excited shriek which brought Crusoe to me in a hurry. What had he to do, the writer of this journal, what had he to do with the Bonny Lass?

Breathlessly I read on:

....thought captain still living but not sure....last....Benito Bon....

I closed the book. Now, while the coast was clear. I must get back to camp. It would take hours, perhaps days, to decipher the journal which had suddenly become of such supreme importance. I must smuggle it unobserved in my own quarters, where I could read at my leisure. As I set out I dropped the silver shoe-buckle into my pocket, smiling to think that it was I who had discovered the first bit of precious metal on the island. Yet the book in my hand, I felt instinctively, was of more value than many shoe-buckles.

Safely in my hammock, with a pillow under which I could slip the book in case of interruption, I resumed the reading. From this point on, although the writing was somewhat faded, it was all, with a little effort, legible.

THE DIARY.

If Sampson did live to tell his secret, then any day there may be a sail in the offing. And still I cannot find it! Oh, if my grandfather had been more worldly wise! If he hadn't been too intent on the eternal welfare of the man he rescued from the Havana tavern brawl to question him about his story. A cave on Leeward Island—near by a stone marked with the letters B. H. and a cross-bones—I told the captain, said the poor dying wretch, we would not have no luck after playing it that low down on Bill! So I presume Bill lies under the stone.

Well, all I have is in this venture. The old farm paid for the Island Queen—or will, if I don't get back in time to prevent foreclosure. All my staid New England relatives think me mad. A corpra gatherer. A fine career for a minister's son! Think how your father scrimped to send you to college—Aunt Sarah reproached me. Well, when I get home with my Spanish doubloons there will be another story to tell. I won't be poor crazy Peter then. And Helen—oh, how often I wish I had told her everything! It was too much to ask her to trust me blindly as I did. But from the moment I came across the story in grandfather's old, half-forgotten diary—by the way, the diary habit seems to run in the family—a very passion of secrecy has possessed me. If I had told Helen, I should have had to dread that even in her sleep she might whisper something to put that ferret, her step-mother, on the scent. Oh, Helen, trust me, trust me!

December 25.—I have a calendar with me, so I am not reduced to notching a stick to keep track of the days. I mark each off carefully in the calendar. If I were to forget to do this, even for a day or two, I believe I should quite lose track. The days are so terribly alike!

My predecessor here in the copra-gathering business, old Heintz, really left me a very snug establishment. It was odd that I should have run across him at Panama that way. I sounded him on the question of treasure. He said placidly that of course the island had been the resort of Edward Davis and Benito Bonito and others of the black flag gentry, and he thought it very likely they had left some of their spoils behind them, but though he had done a little investigating as he had time, he had come on nothing but a ship's lantern, a huge iron kettle, and the golden setting of a bracelet from which the jewels had been removed. He had already disposed of the bracelet. The kettle I found here, and sank in the spring to keep the water clear. (Where it still is. V. H.) Evidently old Heintz knew nothing of the Bonny Lass. This was an immense satisfaction, as it proves that the story cannot have been noised about.

Christmas Day! I wonder what they are all doing at home?

December 28.—Of course, the cave under the point is the logical place. I have been unable to find any stone marked B. H. on the ground above it, but I fear that a search after Bill's tombstone would be hopeless. Although the formation of the island is of the sort to contain numerous caves, still they must be considerably less plentiful than possible tombstones. Under circumstances such as those of the mate's story, it seems to me that all the probabilities point to their concealing the chest in the cave with an opening on the bay. It must have been necessary for them to act as quickly as possible, that their presence from the ship might go unnoticed—though I believe the three conspirators had made the crew drunk. Then to get the boat, laden with the heavy chest, through the surf to any of the other caves—if the various cracks and fissures I have seen are indeed to be called caves—would be stiff work for three men. Yes, everything indicates the cavern under the point. The only question is, isn't it indicated too clearly? Would a smooth old scoundrel such as this Capt. Sampson must have been have hidden his treasure in the very place certain to be ransacked if the secret ever got out? Unless it was deeply buried, which it could have been only at certain stages of the tide, even old Heintz would have been apt to come across it in the course of his desultory researches for the riches of the buccaneers. And I am certain placid old Heintz did not mislead me. Besides, at Panama he was making arrangements to go with some other Germans on a small business venture to Samoa, which he would not have been likely to do if he had just unearthed a vast fortune in buried treasure. Still, I shall explore the cave thoroughly, though with little hope.

THE SILVER LINING

By Fullerton Waldo.

THE MAN HIMSELF.

Machines can never push men off the map and out of the market.

"Things never yet created things"; man still remains the master of his own inventions.

We look round us on buildings built of stone, on girders and rails of steel, on a seeming permanence of pavements, roofs and pillarings—and we think of these as the things that are immortal.

But it is not so. The steel and iron and stone are the perishable fabric; and what shall live forever is the spirit of man.

Abraham Lincoln was struck down; but Abraham Lincoln lives in a hundred million lives.

Theodore Roosevelt "passed away"; but Theodore Roosevelt still is imminent in the hourly thoughts of an innumerable company of his countrymen.

As I pen these words I look at a framed letter, in which his life with a thrilling contact touched my own. I say to myself, "For all the mistakes of the human, fallible man he was, this influence, like radium, is endless, inexhaustible."

Kipling called Cecil Rhodes:

"This power that wrought on us and goes Back to the Power again."

Dr. Wilfrid Grenfell, the happy saint of Labrador, speaks of a man who was but "a stick with a collar on."

Which puts one in mind of what Dr. Johnson said when they showed him a cane that had gone quite round the world. "Yes," he said, "and it's only a stick after all, isn't it?"

You and I, born to a place and a purpose upon earth, have no business to drift and dawdle, to "muddle through somehow." We are as Bacon told us, the architects of our own fortunes.

The machine has its own function, but it cannot rule a man. God only can do that.

WILLIAMS—CLASSEUS.

An interesting wedding took place at St. Mark's rectory at 9 o'clock on Monday night, when Miss Retta Nellie Classeus of Amsterdam, Holland, became the bride of Mr. Benjamin Albert Williams of this city, formerly of London, England. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. L. Beverly, the bride and groom being attended by Miss Vivian Tuckey and Mr. James K. Cronin.

McGUGAN—CAVERHILL.

ILDERTON, June 20.—A pretty home wedding was solemnized on Saturday at 7 p.m. at "Springdale," the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Caverhill, when their daughter Ida Belle became the bride of John McGugan of Lobo. The ceremony was performed by Rev. N. A. Campbell. The bride was given away by her father amid the strains of a wedding march, violin and piano, played by her brother Albert and sister Florence. The bride looked lovely in her wedding dress of georgette with satin and pearl trimming, and veil caught with orange blossoms. The bride's going-away suit was of nigger brown with hat to match. The groom's gift to the bride was a lovely Isabella Fox stole, to the pianist, a pearl pin; to the violinist, a pair of monogramed cuff links. The happy couple will reside on their farm, Nairn road.

OSBORNE—WALDEN.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Walden, fourth concession, Huron, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday, June 8, when their daughter Mildred was united in marriage to Mr. Ernest Osborne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Osborne, twelfth concession, Huron.

The ceremony took place under an arch of evergreens and snowballs banked with ferns and was performed by Rev. Mr. Gomm of Pine River, assisted by Rev. A. V. Walden, cousin of the bride. Miss Wilhelmine Griffith played the wedding march, and Miss Nora Gomm sang "Oh Promise Me" during the signing of the register. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked lovely in a gown of crepe de chine with overdress of georgette, beautifully embroidered. Her Juliet veil of tulle was caught with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of sweet peas and lily of the valley, and wore the groom's gift, a gold wrist watch.

The groom's gift to the organist was a pearl bar pin. After the ceremony supper was served on the lawn to about eighty guests, the table decorations were pink peonies and orange blossoms. The bride received many beautiful gifts. The happy couple have settled on the groom's farm, twelfth concession.

JONES—SIMSON.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Simson, Wolfe street, was the scene of an exceedingly pretty wedding on Tuesday evening when their daughter Irene became the bride of Mr. S. Floyd Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Jones, Wolfe street. The marriage service was taken by the Rev. John Gibson Inkster of Toronto, and throughout the service an orchestra played softest bridal music. The bride, who was unattended, was given in marriage by her father, and was lovely in her wedding robe of ivory satin, the court train lined with shell pink georgette. The veil of filmy tulle was fastened to her dark hair with coronet of pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of orchids and Ophelia roses, and her only ornament was a beautiful platinum wrist watch, set with diamonds, the gift of the groom.

The house was beautifully decorated with a profusion of roses and peonies, while on the stairway roses and marguerites were used most effectively.

A buffet supper was served, the bride's table being artistically arranged with bud vases of Sweetheart and Ophelia roses.

For traveling the bride wore a smart suit of navy with small silk hat of blue and silver. Later the bride and groom left by motor for Toronto, to take the boat for the St. Lawrence and the Saguenay, spending some time at Murray Bay on the return trip.

McPHILLIPS—McFEE.

A wedding of great interest to Londoners is that which was held in Our Lady of Mercy Church, Sarnia, at 10 o'clock this morning, when Mary Isabel McFee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McFee of Sarnia, became the bride of Mr. John Ralph McPhillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McPhillips of this city, the Rev. Monsignor J. P. Aylward officiating. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

The color scheme was yellow, white and green. A very pretty effect being obtained through the arrangement of white and yellow daisies and oak leaves. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin, played by Mr. D. Laforge. Her wedding gown of white taffeta was beautifully trimmed with Chantilly lace, and she wore the conventional bridal veil, and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and sweet peas. A rainbow trio of bridesmaids attended her, presenting a pretty picture in their organdy frocks of green, yellow and orchid, trimmed with old lace, and carrying graceful bouquets of marguerites. They were Miss Margaret McFee, sister of the bride, Miss Marion Crawford and Miss Alleen Gahan of Grimsby. Master Douglas Tobin was a quaint trainbearer, accompanied by a charming little flower girl, Miss Margaret McKenna. Mr. Harold McPhillips, brother of the groom, acted as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Kenneth McFee of Sarnia, brother of the bride, and Mr. Verne Ford, Mr. Edward Dignan and Mr. Louis Pocock, all of this city. About 150 guests were present at the wedding.

The mother of the bride wore a lovely gown of navy georgette, trimmed with Chantilly lace, a handsome metallic sash and becoming hat, while the mother of the groom wore grey Canton crepe, beautifully embroidered in black and a black hat.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Victoria street, the house being attractively decorated. Later in the day Mr. and Mrs. McPhillips leave for Toronto and a trip up the lakes, the bride traveling in a suit of navy tricotine, heavily embroidered, and a hat to match, and on their return will reside at the St. George Apartments, this city. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful vanity case; to the bridesmaids, pearl bar pins; to the flower girl, a pearl pin; to the ring-bearer, a signet ring; to the best man, a chased platinum collar pin, and to the ushers, gold cuff links.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Dignan and family, Mr. and Mrs. McPhillips and daughters, Angela, Ellenor and Marjorie, and Mr. Phil Pocock of London.

AT CUPID'S CALL

BY MAY CHRISTIE.

VIII.—EVE'S "CAREER"

Eve leaned back luxuriously in the New York taxi and cast a coquettish eye upon her escort Julian Vandaveer.

"Whew! I'm so glad and thankful to be back in town. The country bores me stiff. I felt I couldn't stand it for another moment. Oh, how I hate the cows and chickens and the simple life!" Thus spoke Eve.

Julian Vandaveer eyed her quizzically.

"And the rustic, backwoods lover—how is he?"

Eve made a little face.

"I'm terribly fed up with him. He's such an—an idealist. I have to strain every nerve to live up to him—and the effort wears me out. Juliian, dear, believe me, I'm a wreck."

Julian smiled.

"A very pretty wreck," commented he. He flung a careless arm about Eve's waist and drew her closer to him. "I haven't seen you for six days, my dear. What about giving me a kiss?"

Eve sat up and favored her amorous cavalier with a glance that was intended to be severe.

"Julian, you know I hateto be pawed about. You men are all the same. You weary me."

"Oh, do I, indeed?" said Julian huffily, preparing to withdraw the encircling arm, and moving a trifle away from Eve. "If that is so, perhaps you won't care to dine with me tonight??"

"Dear, foolish boy! I'm simply crazy over you—you know it!" rejoined Eve, with alacrity. "There isn't anyone in the whole of this big city that I'd sooner spend an evening with. Why, Julian"—here the crafty Eve decided that flattery must be applied with a lavish hand—"There isn't anyone that doesn't seem dull and stupid to me in comparison with you. You literally spoil me for all other men." She put up a little hand and touched his cheek. "Dear Julian!"

He caught her in his arms and kissed her.

After a few breathless moments Eve extricated herself.

"Now, tell me all the news," said Julian. "You—you're so clever, Eve!"

"Oh, no, I'm not!" replied that young woman, candidly. "If I were truly brainy I wouldn't be in the position that I'm in today. I should be writing books or plays, or making a big hit on the stage—or something of that sort, you know."

"You're clever enough for me, little girl!" responded Julian, ardently. He made some show of returning to the kissing game. But Eve, the dexterous, switched his thoughts into fresh channels.

"What about this job you said that you were going to land for me? I'm dying to hear all about it! You do think of the cleverest, most unusual sort of things, Julian dear."

"The night club secretaryship, you mean?" He glanced sideways at his pretty, pert companion. He had his own axe to grind. "Well, how would you care to take it on?"

"What—what would my duties be?" faltered Eve, assuming a sudden coyness and simplicity that was foreign to her nature. "Oh,Julian, dear, I'm not a pushing, forward sort of girl—I shrink from all publicity——"

"Rats!" interrupted Julian, rudely. "You're the exact type for the particular job in hand! Don't be an idiot, Eve!"

Eve's temper—always of the slumbering volcanic kind—showed every simptom of disturbance. But the determined young woman crushed it down. Julian should later pay—financially—for his churlishness. She would see to that!

"Tell me about the work," she pleaded artlessly.

Julian unbent.

"I'm not exactly certain of the usual duties of a night club secretary, but I do happen to know the requirements of this special job. They want a lady"—he began to tick the essentials off on the gloved fingers of his left hand—"who is pretty, charming and refined, who dances exquisitely, who under all circumstances will be an ornament to the place, and who can converse easily and naturally with all clients, habitues and newcomers. She must dress well, look well, feel well and talk well. She must be amusing, witty, bright. She must make the shy feel bold, the stupid clever. The grumpy, grouchy man she must transform into a merry soul. She must warm up the place by her radiant, sympathetic presence. She must be the magnet to the needle."

Eve stopped him with a laugh.

MRS. ELIZABETH KENT, MacDONALD COLLEGE.

CHERRIES.

Cherries are 80 per cent water, on the average. A full cup of them stoned makes a 100 calory portion. They are acid, with a relatively small sugar content, except the very large, firm and sweet varieties. A fine spirit, called marashina, is distilled from cherries, and cherries are preserved in it and used for flavor and decoration in rich desserts. A rich syrup preserving the flavor of marashina, but not fermented is now to be had also. Sweet cherries can be dried in syrup and candied, and form a very wholesome and delicious sweet, of great use in making pretty desserts of fruit cup or jelly. White candied cherries are especially good.

To can sweet, white, red or black cherries, whole, wash, stem and pack the cherries, stoned, if preferred, in sterilized jars and cover them with a syrup made from two and a half cups of water to each pound of sugar, boiled ten minutes . Sterilize the filled jars in boiling water fifteen minutes and seal.

For cherry conserve use the small sour, juicy cherries. Stone them and let them stand over night in three-quarters of a pound of sugar to a pound of cherries. For each two pounds of fruit next day use a pound of raisins, the juice of an orange and the rind cooked separately until tender. Spice with cloves and cinnamon and ginger, or omit these spices, as preferred. Add half a pound of chopped nuts for each two pounds of fruit and boil gently for an hour.

Fresh cherries can be deliciously used in tapioca. Cook the tapioca until transparent in the double boiler, sweeten it, and stir in a cupful or more stoned cherries. Cool and serve with cream and sugar.

Filling for cherry pie should be thickened with a little arrowroot or corn starch. As with fruit pies, it is much better to heat the fruit with sugar and a little thickening, and use it hot than to cook the filling with the crust.

Personal Health Service

(By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D., Noted Physician and Author.)

AUTOBOYOGRAPHY — PSYCHOLOGICAL MISTAKES.

Discipline is a good thing for a boy. Sometimes punishment tempered with reason is a good thing for him. But woe to those parents who deceive children in the attempt to command obedience.

One of the harmful statements parents make to children is "Johnnie, if you don't stop that I'll whip you," or "Mary, I won't speak again!" Johnnie soon discovers that no whipping follows, even though he fails to stop, and Mary cannot help wondering why mother keeps right on speaking about it in spite of her promise. Youngsters have a way of thinking over such affairs for themselves, and it is natural for them to conclude that if father and mother can make statements so easily about small matters and then not carry them out, why, one must take their assertions about important matters with a grain of salt.

Another mistake which some parents indulge in is the bogey man myth, or the good fairy and bad fairy myth, or any other myth involving the notion of reward or punishment from some wholly imaginary source. Every one of these familiar deceptions tends to alienate the child's true affection and respect for the parent who deceives him.

The worst of all the statements parents make to their own children is the one about the stork, for that story is told, not for the child's best interest or welfare, not because it can do anybody any good, but purely for the purpose of helping the parent to evade a sacred duty. It is a misstatement that has far-reaching disastrous effects upon the psychology of the child, for if mother and father can practice that kind of deception how can a child put confidence in the revisions of the yarn which mother or father may feel impelled to make later on? Think it over, fathers and mothers, and I hope to goodness you'll give your own children a fair start and never fear to tell them the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. Think it over, potential parents, and resolve right now that if God does bless you with children you will not play them false. It is sad indeed to feel that there should be any such wall of deception erected between mother and daughter or between father and son.

I tell you it is a glorious feeling for a fellow to know that his dad has never willfully or intentionally deceived him in the smallest circumstance. It must be a wonderful happiness for a girl to know that her mother has never told her anything but the truth.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

A Lost Washer.

My 3-year-old girl swallowed an iron washer, about the size of a nickel, two weeks ago. I have been worried about it. She says her stomach hurts. Is it too large to pass out of the stomach? How can we determine whether it has? (Mrs. B. D. C.)

ANSWER—It has no doubt passed from the bowel in the feces. Foreign bodies swallowed are usually passed in forty-eight hours or less. Perhaps the child's imagination is influenced by your anxiety. X-ray pictures would demonstrate the presence of a metal object.

An Eye Tooth

The other day in biting on some hard candy I broke off a piece of an eye tooth that had been filled. I swallowed the piece. Is there any danger in this? (W. O.)

ANSWER—Usually no danger is involved in swallowing such articles accidentally. It is better to avoid cathartics and eat such food as potatoes, squash, turnips, bananas, to produce bulky feces which will cover the foreign body so that it may be ejected from the bowel without difficulty.

Is Cancer Curable?

I quote the following from a news item:

"If every person would go to a reputable physician as soon as there is any evidence of cancer in his system the cancer would be 100 per cent curable," declared Dr. ——— in speaking on cancer. . .

"Dr. ——— stated that cancer is not inherited, infectious or contagious, and that it is painful only when the victim is near the end."

Can you subscribe to that? (G. P. R.)

ANSWER—Many victims succumb to cancer who might have been saved had they consulted reputable physicians in the first place, instead of flirting with death in the guise of an alleged "cancer cure" or a quack purporting to "take it out by the roots." Of course surgery, and surgery without dangerous procrastination, is the one chance for the cancer victim. Cancer is not heritable or communicable, so far as is known, and in some cases pain is not a feature of the early stage, or indeed pain may be absent throughout the course of cancer in certain situations.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

Great designs are not accomplished without enthusiasm of some sort. It is the inspiration of everything great. Without it no man is to be feared, and with it none despised. —Bovice.

Slocum, and Seamatress Maiden.

Dear Miss Grey,—Just a note to let Slocum know that I was glad that she was pleased with the bead work. Seamstress Maiden, I received your letter and am glad you liked the ring. I wish I was with you some evening when you go to the lake for a dip. Will write both of you later on. Please write again, Yank. PRAIRIE ROSE.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have never written before, but do enjoy your page so much. I wish you would please send me a sachet bag, for which please find my mite. I haven't seen a letter from Alarm Clock for quite a while. Did you get tired waking us up, Alarm Clock? Best wishes to you all. GREEN EYES.

Ans.—Am mailing you a sachet, Green Eyes. Many thanks for the mite.

Crippled Fingers—Am forwarding letter. Thank you for inclosed stamps for S. C. H.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am a new member of your family. I do not feel at all strange with you, having read with interest so many letters of the Boxites. I enjoy the discussions on books. Ralph Connor, Gene Stratton-Porter and L. M. Montgomery are some of my favorite authors. I wonder if any of the Boxites could tell me how to cold-pack beans and corn, and may I have a sachet and the S. F. P.? Inclosed please find mite for S. C. H., and self-addressed envelope. I will sign myself. MRS. L. E. PANT.

Ans.—Can any of the housekeepers give Mrs. Pant this information? Am mailing a sachet and patterns. Thanks for mite.

Has Quilt Patches.

Dear Miss Grey,—I received my sachet and I thank you very much. I have a little baby brother, 8 months old, and another 3 years. If anyone could give us clothes for them, we would gladly pay the postage. I am forwarding a letter for Lonesome Bess for you to forward. If anyone wishes some quilt patches, I can give them some. I close now. A CLIMBING ROSE.

Ans.—Have forwarded your letter to Lonesome Bess.

Attention, Amethyst.

Dear Miss Grey,—I see by Saturday's paper where Amethyst wants a leghorn hat. Well, I have one she might have; it's a large one, with a large crown. I wore it with some buckram inside the crown to make it smaller, and it is quite yellow, but perhaps it could be bleached. So if our friend thinks she would like it, my address is with Miss Grey. I remain, WILLING TO HELP.

Dear Cynthia Grey,—We have been reading your corner of the paper for a long time, and enjoy it greatly. Will you please send us two of Thistle's sachet bags, and some comic recitations? We would like to correspond with Carrot Top, if she will write first. Our address is with Miss Grey. What do you think of this writing? Inclosed find mite for hospital fund, which we think a grand idea, and a recipe for chocolate fudge. Sincerely, WILKESPORT CHUMS.

Chocolate Fudge.—Two cups sugar, three-quarters cup of milk, four teaspoons cocoa, one tablespoon of butter; boil this mixture until it threads, and then and one teaspoon of vanilla. Let cool for five minutes, then beat until creamy.

Ans.—Am mailing you sachets and recitations. Thank you for mite and recipe. You write very well.

Wants Clothes.

Dear Miss Grey,—Like many others, I am coming for help. If some kind person has any old clothes of any kind that they don't want, will they kindly send them to me, as I would be very thankful? Please find inclosed 25 cents for S. C. H. I think Sunbeam is offering some. I will pay postage on any. I think I'll close now, thanking you for your valuable space. I remain, truly yours, ONE IN NEED.

Ans.—Thank you for the hospital mite.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am coming to your cosy corner for help. Will you kindly send me a stocking-foot pattern and a sachet bag if you have any? I am inclosing self-addressed envelope and mite for S. C. H. Thanking you beforehand for S. F. P. and satchet bag. May I come again? JUNE BUG.

Ans.—Thank you, June Bug, for hospital mite. Am mailing a sachet and S. F. P.

Attention, Red Wing.

Dear Miss Grey,—In answer to Red Wing's letter offering that perennial vine, is it possible, do you think, for her to give me just a little piece? I have not anything to give in exchange this year, but if she will wait until next spring I will give her poppies, single petunias, and also the great California beans, for which I have to thank both you, Miss Grey, and Maple Leaf. They are growing fine. They are not quite tall enough to hide behind yet. I would like to know the age of Maple Leaf. It has just struck my brain that perhaps she is a 14-year-old, and if that is so, more thanks to her for giving them to me. Say, Miss Grey, how many hairpins should I wear, and if a girl smiled to me, should I correct her; also how far should I lace my button shoes? Please answer my questions, as they are very important to me. Where is dear, kind, little Genevieve? Has she finished her French translation? I hope she received good marks; I did the last time I tried—I got 20 (minus). I am not working very hard this summer, so am staying around the house and gardening. I want a little bit of that vine of Red Wing's so badly. When my garden is in bloom I will send a photo of it. I think very much the same as Red Wing about flowers being like people's lives. Do you notice also how some names suit people? The truest name which described a person was the one Ima Hog called herself. You sure are a hog, Ima, to write like that. I would like to spank that schoolmarm who wrote about the young farmers. Well, I must go to hoe my Maple Leaf beans, and hope to soon be hoeing that Red Wing vine. Yours, as before, SUSSEX.

Ans.—Many thanks for hospital mite.

Dear Miss Grey,—It is over a year since I paid a visit to your Mail-Box, though I always read your Page every day. I am inclosing 25c (a shinplaster) for two packets of the purple beans sent in by U. E. L. I have not any help to give just now, but will write again later. I see someone has taken my pen-name, July, so I will sign as the ORIGINAL JULY.

Ans.—Am mailing you seeds. Many thanks for plaster.

Yours Truly.

Dear Miss Grey,—Just a line, as I see by yesterday's paper that you have some sachets on hand, so will inclose 10c for one. Would also like a package of the flowering beans sent in by U. E. L. Will send mite for same. YOURS TRULY.

Ans.—Am mailing sachet and beans. Thank you for hospital mite. We would be pleased to hear from you from the West.

Dear Miss Grey,—I thought I would just drop in for a few minutes to say "hello" to everybody. How do you all like this hot weather? I think it is great. Now for a question: Does anyone know how to remove mold from maple syrup? We have quite a quantity of it, but it has gone moldy. I would be so grateful to anyone who could tell me what to do with it, as it is a shame to throw it out. I will sign, MAPLE BUD.

Ans.—Can anyone give Maple Bud the information she desires?

Wants Addresses.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am waiting for your addresses, Pussy Willow and Huron County Lass. Say I believe I know you, Oxford Trixie. Well, I won't say so much this time, and will ring off, hoping that this escapes the W. P. B. May I have a sachet bag? JACK.

Ans.—Am mailing you addresses, Jack, but I haven't either Jonah's or Ima Flirt's on file. Am also sending a sachet.

Sympathetic Mother,—Kindly send in your name and address, as there is a letter awaiting for you.

Nothing Very Strong.

Dear Miss Grey,—Will you kindly send me the following: E. M.'s address, so I can send her slips and receive my quilt patches; also Aunt Nannie's, so I can send her something nice once in a while, poor, dear soul; also Apple Face's, as I may be able to help her. I pity the poor woman from the bottom of my heart. Married life is not always a bed of roses; single bliss is sometimes the best. But the dear children—they are rays of sunshine. I will send mite next time. Hubby and I gave our all to the welfare campaign. Well, it's for a good cause, truly.

I guess I will keep to the name of Mother Pearl this time. It's as good as any name, and is true, as my name is Pearl. I also have the recipe of various wines. I am making dandelion wine myself. Poor men, they cannot get anything very strong these days. Ha! Ha! Bye-bye, with thanks. MOTHER PEARL.

Ans.—Thank you, Mother Pearl, for inclosures. Am mailing you addresses.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have enjoyed your Page so much and wish to thank you for the many helpful things it contains. Perhaps it would help someone to know that ivory paste, made from ivory soap and a small quantity of kerosene oil added to the water, is a splendid solution for cleaning varnishd woodwork. I am inclosing a small mite for S. C. H. May I have a sachet and cinnamon vine bulb? Thanking you, I am, your sincerely, WANITA.

ANSWER.—Am mailing you a sachet, but there are no bulbs left. Thank you for hospital mite, Wanita.

Leafless Maple.

Dear Miss Grey,—Just a few lines to let you know I received the seeds O. K. and was pleased to get them, for which I thank you very much.

Isn't this beautiful weather we are having? I am so glad it is getting warmer, for it was cold so long.

Miss Grey could you tell me what would take iron rust out of a pink georgette waist without taking the color our. I am sending in a stamped envelope and would you send me two sachets for my sister and myself. Well, I guess I had better ring off for this time, perhaps I can be of some good next time. I remain as ever, LEAFLESS MAPLE

ANSWER.—Salts of lemon will take the rust out, but also the color. But couldn't you pink it again. Am mailing sachets as requested.

June Bride.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am sending fourteen more packages of perennial pea seed, as I saw by the paper the other day the ones you had were all sent out. I am inclosing 25 cents for hospital fund. Would you please send me a sachet, also snapdragon or scarlet runner seed?

It is so nice to have the good old summer time back again. I was out for a long motor ride yesterday, and enjoyed it so much. Excuse writing, as I am writing this holding baby. I have to make every minute count these busy times, as I am a farmer's wife, and there is so much to be done on the farm this time of the year, but I would not want to live any other place. I think the farm is an ideal place to bring up children.

With good luck to the S. C. H. fund, will sign as before, JUNE BRIDE.

Ans.—Am mailing you seeds and a sachet, June Bride. Thank you for sending seeds, also for hospital mite.

Wants Clothes.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have read your paper for a long time, but never before thought I would like to write to you. I, like many others, am coming for help. I am a girl going to school, and wear out many clothes and shoes, so would be grateful to anyone who would send me some middies or slipper stockings, or anything like that for a girl 14 years of age. You may think I am greedy, but I thought it would help my parents. My mother is away now, and would like to have them when she comes home. I live on a farm, and am kept busy, as we keep six cows, to be milked twice daily, and have five or six calves to feed. I was just sitting out on the front step doing my home work, and decided I would write, so I tore a page out of my scribbler and took out my pencil and started.

I want to say a word to you girls who like to go to dances. Do you ever think of the home not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. I used to like to go to dances, but I stopped and accepted Christ as my Saviour, and never regretted it, and you won't either, girls. When I grow up I am going to be a missionary, and trust many of our other young people will be.

I think I had better close, as this is very long for a first time, so good-bye and good luck, Miss Grey and readers. HELENE.

Attention, Avon.

Dear Miss Grey,—Am returning crochet patterns. Many thanks for the same. Would like to get a couple of patterns suitable for pillow-slips, if you have them. The stamps inclosed are excess postage sent me for foilage slips, which with the inclosed dime are for hospital fund. Hope slips go to destination in good condition.

Saw where Avon (I think it was) wished a root of Sweet Mary. Can supply same, but think perhaps September would be a better time to move, but as it is hardy might be moved now. If she has not got one, will send when she thinks best. With best wishes for success of Mail-Box, I will sign as before, RIBBON GRASS.

Ans.—Thank you for hospital mite. Am mailing patterns.

Paulina Lisle.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have been an interested reader of the Mail-Box for some time past, but never seemed to be able to get up enough courage to write. I hope I may be a welcome visitor. Like others, I am coming to you for help. I see by Saturday's paper where "Lonesome Bess" has a pair of new black laced high-topped shoes, size 4, which she will send to anyone wanting same. Now I would like to get these shoes very much, so will you please send me Lonesome Bess's address in the inclosed envelope? I sincerely hope I am not troubling you too much. I greatly enjoy reading the discussion on books. I am a great lover of flowers, music and reading. My favorite authors are: May Agnes Fleming, Mary Roberts Rhinehart, Eleanor H. Porter, Louisa M. Alcott, Mrs. C. T. Meade, C. M. Montgomery, and oh, a host of others. I wonder if any of the readers could supply be with the words of the following songs? "Roamin' in the Gloamin'," "In the Gloaming," and "Missouri Waltz." Thanking you for your trouble, I will now close with a few hints.

To remove fruit stains from tablecloths, used camphor. Pour it over blotting paper.

Pure chloroform will remove paint, grease and other stains from colored garments.

To remove perspiration stains on white goods or under-garments, dampen with a little Lux on piece before putting in soap and water.

Linen that has become yellow may be bleached snow white if soaked in buttermilk a short time; rinse and hang in sunshine.

Please criticse my writing, and tell me how I may improve it. Hoping to see my letter in print. PAULINA LISLE.

Ans.—Your writing is careless, but that fault can be easily remedied. Am mailing you address. Thank you for hints.

THE POOR LITTLE PRINCE.

Part Two.

It was soon after the puppy came to the palace that a great change came over everything. Troublesome times came to the kingdom where little Prince Philip's father was king, and many of the oldtime customs had to be done away with. So it was that little Prince Philip was allowed to play more than he ever had been before. What wonderful times he had with his puppy.

Now, would you believe it, this puppy the prime minister had given him, was a magic pup, and it was quite gifted in many ways? Imagine the little prince's surprise one day in the garden when he was asking himself what to name the puppy, and up spoke the pup itself, saying, "Just call me Jingle."

"Jingle," exclaimed the little prince. "What a queer name for a puppy—and what a queer puppy you are to talk! I never knew puppies could talk."

"Neither they can," Jingle confessed. "But I am a magic pup from fairyland. The fairies saw how lonely you were here, and they took pity on you and sent me to the prime minister so that he could give me to you for your birthday."

"I am grateful to the fairies. I am sure," said the little prince.

The prince and the pup didn't spend all their time talking. Even though the pup could do magic things he was a pup and he could play like any other dog.

So the days passed, and the pup grew both in size and wisdom. When Jingles was full-grown he was the largest dog in the kingdom, and the most powerful. How wise he was no one knew but Prince Philip.

Suddenly one day the discontened people of the kingdom decided to make the king and his family prisoners and burn down the castle. The fairies sent a messenger to Jingles and he quickly warned the little prince.

"What am I to do?" asked the little prince.

"Jump onto my back," Jingles invited and Prince Philip obeyed.

Over the wall jumped Jingles, the little prince hanging firmly to his neck—and at that very minute the angry mob of people were gaining entrance to the castle grounds. What was to become of the poor little prince and his royal family? That remains to be seen.

Dear Peggy,

You angel child of course I'd like to come,—but how do you s'pose poor old Doug is going to get along in the meantime? He is such a helpless sort of man, you know, when it comes to doing housework!

I've been nearly killing myself with work lately,—can you imagine it? And as a result my hands are all rough and red. Or rather I should say they were rough and red, for they're smooth and white now. And the reason? Why, my dear, I just rubbed on a little Campana's Italian Balm for a few days! That certainly is the duckiest stuff.

In haste,

Marie

RAIN SAVES HAMS FURTHER HUMILIATION AT 6-0 COUNT

J. PLUV. DECIDES 6--0 IN THE SIXTH IS ENOUGH FOR HAMS

Tribe Had Just Added Last Three Runs When Torrent Fell.

GUILMAN WENT TO MEET IT

Had the Top of the Batting Order To Get Rid Off As Game Is Called.

London had just added three more runs in the sixth to the three smackers they had gathered in the preceding frames when rain fell in torrents and chased the teams to the dugouts with the score standing 6 to 0 in favor of the Wetzel gangsters, for the second game of the series with the Tigers.

When the crowd and the teams had waited the regulation 30 minutes, nothing but water polo could have been played on the diamond, even if J. Plu had weakened by that time.

Mister Guilman had six innings to show what he could do as an animal trainer, but he was on the way up when he met the rain coming down.

Wild Pitch Helps.

One wild pitch let O'Rourke to third in the third canto, but outside of that none of the Hams got a chance to get over and exchange repartee with Stutz until the fifth. They nabbed two hits in the first, and three more scattered over the third, fifth and sixth frames. Pinto was in the tightest pinch in the fifth, when Purcell walked, and Laabs hit to deep right. Gullman brightened things up for a moment, when he whiffed, but Devon's charity trip made the old sacks strain with the unaccustomed load of Hams. Patsy O'Rourke found himself in the position of being able to win a game for himself, but the best he could apparently think of at just that moment, though there were several other more likely alternatives, was to swing, and swing hard, which he did. The force of the ball nearly carried big Pinto to second base, but he squeezed it and pegged Purcell out at the plate, and Curry completed the double at first past Patsy's funny-bone.

Tecs Grab Two In Two.

The Tecs had grabbed two in the first two frames. In the first, Stutz singled, was sacrificed along to second, stole third, and came in on Kuhn's single to left. Malmquest tripled to start off the second, and was scored on Walter Shay's sacrifice fly to left. In the fifth, Shay singled, and Cairns banged one down at Claire. Pinto smacked one down at Gullman, who got Shay at third. Stutz laid down a choice to second, and Pinto was nailed there, and Gullman unlimbered a wild pitch, on which Curry romped home. Vandyke popped out.

The standstorm which had been going for two innings obscured everything but the ball for the London batters in the sixth. Kuhn was safe when O'Rourke pegged wild to first. Malmquest singled to left. Walter Shay lifted his second sacrifice fly of the game to center, scoring Kuhn. Gullman felt lonesome with only two on the sacks and walked Curry. Malmquest and Crichlow both came in on Pinto's single to right. Stutz was all set, and wet as well, when the umps suddenly decided that it was rain making so much noise, and called the game.

NOT LIVELY BALL, BUT POOR HURLING

It isn't a "lively" ball that is causing the burlesque slugging matches in the major leagues this year, says Eddie Collins, captain and second baseman of the Chicago White Sox.

Eddie's opinion is worth while. He has been one of the leading hitters of the American League for many years and is up among the leaders again this season.

"I never have seen such weak pitching since I first became a member of the Athletics," declares Collins. "I can't say whether the new pitching restrictions are to blame for all this home run hitting, but I'm sure that the quality of pitching is far below the former standard."

TENNIS FINALS.

QUEBEC, June 21.—Mrs. Hansombody, Quebec, this morning defeated Mrs. Beaupre, Quebec, in the finals of the women's tennis championship of Qubec. Mrs. Beaupre won the first set by 6—3, but her opponent took the next two by 6—2 and 5—4.

Over 60 Pairs at Thistles Today in Scotch Doubles

More Clubs Represented This Year Than Last.

The Scotch doubles of the Thistles, which start this morning at 9 o'clock, always bring together the best two-some talent in the western part of the province, and this year's event hasn't fallen down in that regard.

Most of the pairs here today have met before, and it means better and closer competition.

The entry list did not quite reach the 72 limit set, but more clubs are represented this year, indicating the increasing popularity of the event.

The draw, as published Tuesday, goes for today in both the 9 a.m. and 11 o'clock starts.

Minters in Post-Season Game at Windsor Is Report

Two Teams Will Play Pick of River League.

WINDSOR, June 21.—Post-season baseball is already in the air, and it is going to be a bigger show when it comes along at the end of the season than anything yet seen this year in Windsor or the other Border Cities.

Invitations have been sent to the four teams on the Canadian end of the Michigan-Ontario league for the two leading teams of the four to play at Windsor at the end of the season, against the two best teams in the Border Cities League.

There will be a schedule drawn between these teams, and it also will include the winner of the Tri-County League, and perhaps another good one or two from the neighboring counties.

London, Hamilton, Brantford and Kitchener all want to come to Windsor for post-season ball at the ending of the Michigan-Ontario League schedule, and at least two of the teams will get the opportunity.

It is very early yet to say exactly which teams will take part in the post-season series, but the series has been planned and preliminary negotiations have been completed.

RUGGLES AND CIVIL SERVICE PLAY TONIGHT

Win for Ruggles Will Tie Up First Rung Position.

The Manufacturers' League scheduled for last evening was postponed because of wet grounds.

The Ruggles and the Civil Service will play this evening and if the former team wins the G. T. R. and the Government men will be tie for first place.

WOLVES' NEW HURLER LETS VEHICS DOWN WITH THREE HITS

Allows Only One Hit After the First Inning—Aces Down Hurons.

BAY CITY, June 21.—Bay City made it two in a row from Flint, and ran their string of straight victories up to five Tuesday by winning 4 to 3. Halm, a southpaw secured from the Terre Haute Three-Eye League Club, pitched his first game for the Wolves and turned the Vehics back with only three singles. He allowed but one hit after the first inning. Two of Flint's runs were due to errors by the Wolf infield. After trailing for three innings, Bay City fell on Shurlow in the third, three singles, a double and a triple resulting in four runs. McDonald replaced Shurlow with the score tied, but Kelly, the first man to face him, doubled over third to drive in the winning run. After that McDonald was effective, allowing but two hits. It was Flint's seventh straight defeat.

HORSES ARE AT TRACK FOR STRATFORD MEET

STRATFORD, June 21.—Race horse owners are already arriving in the city with their horses for the two-day race meet here on Friday and Saturday, July 1 and 2, and, favored with good weather, the meet should be a splendid success.

Mr. Luker of Exeter came in from Hamilton this morning with three horses which have been doing excellent work on the tracks this year. The Emblem and Topsy Todd are entered in the 2:17 trot and Oily Jim in the 2:30 pace. Many other good horses are expected within the next couple of days. Coventry of Woodstock has entered several horses in the running races. The locally-owned Prince Lucifer is also making good time in his trials at the local track. The free-for-all on the first day has been changed to a 2:17 pace or a classified race, as the horsemen so desire.

WILL GO TO ENGLAND.

TORONTO, June 21.—For the first time in fifteen years a team of Canadian cricketers will cross the Atlantic next summer and play on some of England's most famous fields. The team will be selected from the Ontario schools, Ridley, St. Andrews, Upper Canada ad Trinity College. The team will meet the English public schools.

AS YOU WERE

(BY SEE S. GEE)

Dempsey—Grim, cold, sneering cruel.

Carpentier—Innocent, sympathetic, smiling ad kind, apologizing to his sparring partners when he knocks them down.

Tender bit of contrast that, by some fight expert who must have gone out and taken one long look at the sad sea waves and went sobbingly back to his typewriter to pound that gem out.

The cue apparently, when reading this, is to spoil one of Carp's best pictures with tear stains—and then put your money on Dempsey.

The experts keep harping on the Frenchman's size, his seraphic demeanor and his poetic facade, to quote the sobby expert's descriptive matter, expressive of most of the expert opinion.

However, from the time David, a little bit weak as to chin, walked out at sunrise, fixed Goliath with an angelic stare, and proceeded to do the rest of the fixing with his little sling, until the present time, it hasn't been shown that the raw-steak eaters always get away without indigestion.

There are still a lot of people who believe that if Carpentier is right on July 2, he'll cause some of Dempsey's grimness to relax, put some tingle where all is now cold, and probably have to waste a lot of that same sympathy they accuse him of having on Jawn Dempsey. He might even smear the sneer off Jawn's Carnegie Library front.

The "rookie" rule departure from the M.-O. has been foreseen for some time. It goes down into the comedy column along with lady umpires, and with some of the early umpiring.

The clubs were using a rookie in every game, according to regulations, but always in the ninth with two men out.

Tonight's soccer game shows nothing so much as the progress soccer has made in London since the last two years. A few years ago nobody would have had the temerity to suggest that London could enter a team in an Ontario Cup game, and yet Public Utilities are going into tonight's game with an acknowledged chance to gain a victory.

This much has been done in two years. The next few years holds still bigger things for local soccer.

The man who rents opera glasses to the $5 seat fan, judging from the pictures of the fight arena, will make more money than either the fighters or Tex Rickard. It looks like a slanting mile from the gallery seats to the ringside.

The Pittsburg Pirates, who closed their home stay yesterday when they played Philadelphia, did not fare well with the eastern clubs on their first invasion of the west. Of the sixteen games played, Gibson's men won nine and lost seven.

DODGERS RAISE 1920 PENNANT THEN TRIM PHILADELPHIA 4—2

SIX ERRORS.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Boston defeated New York, 16 to 5 here today in their first victory of the season on the Polo Grounds.

ROUND THE KITTY

INTER-CLUB LEAGUE.

Lambeth was the scene of the opening games of the inter-Club League Tuesday, three clubs competing, and a most successful start was accomplished. The scores were as follows:

T. Hamlyn, Lambeth, 8.
J. Taman, St. Matthew's, 10.
W. Ryder, All Saints', 5.
G. Clark, Lambeth, 21.
R. D. Hillier, St. Matthew's, 17.
J. Carrothers, All Saints', 10.

The Sumner Trophy, which was donated by C. R. Sumner, jeweler, is a beautiful piece of silver, and it will no doubt help to make the competition as keen as any contest staged in this district. The next games will be played next Monday in this city.

ALERTS PROTEST THROWN OUT AT BRANTFORD

BRANTFORD, June 21.—The Alerts-Holmdale City League game of last Saturday was thrown out tonight at a protest meeting of the Brantford Baseball Federation and the Senior City League. Alerts protested the game on the grounds that the umpire had misinterpreted the infield fly rule, and as a result the Alerts team lost several runs. They got the small end of the score on Saturday. The City League assumed the blame for the whole trouble, and the game will be replaced.

(Well Has He?)

A man with a demon memory said yesterday that Delotelle hadn't lost a game to Hamilton since he first appeared in these parts.

P. U.'s Confident Of Win Tonight Against Scots

Clark and Smith, Two New Acquisitions, Are On Lineup.

Public Utilities are fit and ready to go into tonight's game against Toronto Scottish in the O. F. A. Cup game and are confident of a win over Toronto's best, even in the face of the fact that they have any illusions as to what kind of a team they are bumping up against.

They had a final session with the trainer last night, and had a little skull practice. Manager Tommy Hodkinson announced the line-up last night, which will be as follows:

Goal, Whitworth; backs, Hunt and Clark; halves, Ince, Bromhead, Short; forwards, Turner, Hazelwood, D. Smith; centre, Moore and Lee; reserves, Dennis, Ridley and Herring.

Dennis and Ridley have suffered injuries in the past games, from which they had not fully recovered.

No Alibis Ready.

Utilities are putting in their strongest line tonight, and if they are beaten, will have no long-winded alibis as an aftermath. They are confident that with any of the breaks they can defeat Scottish, and that kind of morale is a good part of the battle.

Utilities have two new men, who have shown up wonderfully well in recent workouts. Clark, who plays left back, is from Woodstock, and his transfer just recently came through. He's light, but is a handy defence man. Smith, playing centre tonight, is a brother of Jimmie Smith, suspended centre half, and is but recently out from the old country, where he played high class soccer. The rest of the Utilities team are well-known to the fans, and they know what to expect from them.

Neutral linesmen from the London and District Council have been asked to act.

RING EXPERIENCE WILL WIN FIGHT, SAYS EX-CHAMPION

And Carpentier Has More Than Dempsey, Opinion of Frank Slavin.

VICTORIA, B. C., June 21.—"I pick Carpentier to win. If there is a knockout in the fight, it will come inside of six rounds. If nothing happens before then, I believe that both men will be on their feet at the end of the twelfth round, and I believe that the Frenchman will have won the fight, but, of course, it will be impossible to give a decision in his favor owing to the laws of the state of New Jersey."

So thinks Frank Slavin, one-time heavyweight champion of the world, who fought in the days of bare knuckles.

Experience, in Slavin's opinion, will win the fight, and he says that Dempsey's advantage in weight, reach and punching ability do not constitute much of an advantage when one is stacked up against a shrewd fighting machine.

"In ring experience," Slavin says, "Dempsey is a younger man compared to Carpentier."

STARS TAKE LEAD IN 9TH, BUT ORIOLES SOON GET IT BACK

Newark Takes First of Series From Leafs—Bisons Blank Skeeters.

NEWARK, June 21.—Newark had little difficulty in solving the deliveries of Fullerton and Reis here today, banging out 19 hits, and defeating Toronto, 7 to 2, in the first of a five-game series.

WINTER'S RINK WINS H. J. HEINZ TROPHY

Defeated Dr. Rodgers, Who Won Second Event Trophy.

LEAMINGTON, June 21.—Ed. Winter's rink of this town won the H. J. Heinz trophy at the annual Scotch doubles bowling tournament here on Monday by defeating Dr. Rodgers' rink of Essex in one of the best bowled games witnessed here in some time. Mr. Winter is part of the rink that brought the London Mintee trophy to Leamington last year. Dr. Rodgers finished best in the second event. E. C. Drury, also of this town, skipped the rink, which won the special event.

Sixty-eight rinks participated in the tourney. Bowlers from London, Chatham, Ridgetown, Windsor, Walkerville, Amherstburg, Essex, Kingsville and Comber were present. Windsor and Walkerville were represented by twelve rinks, while five supported Chatham.

The ladies of the Methodist Church served supper in the basement of the church for the bowlers.

MINT PATTER

—By C. S. G.

Ten of them—and the Hams are here for one more day.

* * * *

For the last three frames there was a good imitation of a sandstorm in the Sahara. And the likelihood of runs for the Hams was just about as plentiful as water holes in that bit of landscape.

* * * *

The patter of calloused feet—three runs. Echo—The patter of rain drops.

* * * *

One of the first big drops nearly drowned "Doc" Shay, but he made second all right.

* * * *

Blake provided the fielding feature when he backed up against the signs for Calbert's long fly to left in the sixth.

* * * *

Stutz did the unusual when he threw to second to get Claire, instead of throwing to first for Blake, with two gone. Nothing much to it, except that it shows that Londoners are not taught to play machine-like ball.

* * * *

A sandstorm may throw the dust up, but it keeps the crabbing down. It's hard to say a hard-boiled mouthful when one has a mouthful of dust.

* * * *

It was a Hamilton down when Claire knocked down and fell on Curry's smash in behind second. The Ham shortstop got over there fast.

* * * *

The Hamilton club, according to Addie Richardson, has a quartet hitting over the .300 mark. On the evidence of the last two days, it's hard to believe, but Addie's honest.

* * * *

Up until June 13, "Micky" Corcoran was batting .362. Blake was swatting .320, O'Rourke was hitting .304, and Gullman, the pitcher, was hitting the even .300.

* * * *

Hughes, one of the best Hamilton bets, may start today. He's a youngster, but hurls a nice game, according to his record.

* * * *

George Maines would make an awful showing in a popularity contest at Brantford just now, or, for that matter, in Kitchener. The suspension of Orme has aroused the Brant fans, regardless of whether they pay or go through the fence.

The Expositor says:

"The blame for the move was passed around in the usual way. T. J. Nelson of the local club arrived in the city a short time later and questioned President Maines as to why the umpire had taken that action. George Maines stated that he had not been responsible. Glenalvin was directly under Maines' jurisdiction for that game, and Glenalvin stated that he had orders to take that action, so apparently George Maines was not the innocent which he represented himself to be.

"George Maines during the argument between George Orme and the umpire over the fines leaned out of the stand and ordered it would cost George Orme another $25. George Orme turned and started through the stands to give Maines an argument but Maines hastily made his exit from the stand, and Orme was stopped by T. J. Halligan of the Flint club.

"President Maines did not take any step toward Orme's suspension at the league meeting in Port Huron Sunday night, at which George Orme was present, and it is charged by local officials that he either deliberately tried to place the Brantford club in a hole by holding back the suspension until the last minute, or he feared to make the suspension announcement and face the wrath of the Canadian directors.

"President Maines is not in favor amongst the Canadian directors as a result of his actions in Port Huron. C. W. Kirkpatrick of Hamilton, who was in Port Huron, does not exactly fall in line with what Maines did. He openly expressed himself of that opinion to the president. President Tolton of the Kitchener club has a lot of things chalked up against Maines, and "Buzz" Wetzel had a run-in with him the last time they met in Canada. Apparently President Maines has a very difficult row to hoe for the next few months."

* * * *

Nothing like this ever happens in London. The team just wins, that's all, and the fans file out. "Buzz," you go and pick a fight today!

* * *

The Brants batting averages to date were given out today as follows: Stupp, 2b, .410; Rye, l.f., .362; Werre, 1b, .338; Hartline, c., .325; Edgren, p., .292; Wenstrom, r.f., .261; Orme, c.f., .277; Beecher s.s., .273; Cully, 3b, .265; Wanner, p., .259; Miller, c., .156; Morgan, 3b, .156; Berman, p., .143; Noonan, p., .059.

(We Vouch For This.)

London yesterday was held down to five hits, the lowest number this season. Tuff.

DEMPSEY TESTS HIS "CUCKOO" PUNCH AND DISCOVERS IT GOOD

Fights Like a Mad Man After Sparring Partner Evades Him a Little.

THEN COMES HIS PUNCH

Stops Fighting When He Thinks of the Way He Floored One of His Partners.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 21.—Jack Dempsey tested his knockout punch this afternoon, and Larry Williams, a veteran and experienced campaigner, fell a victim to it. Williams, before being knocked out, was floored by the champion.

Dempsey was fighting mad after he had boxed the first two rounds with the elusive Eddie O'Hare, the New York middleweight, because the shifty and fast-moving O'Hare seemed only to tantalize the champion. Williams slipped through the ropes for the third round. He seemed to be giving Dempsey a good workout, when all of a sudden the champion slipped over a left hook to the chin.

Williams stumbled backwards and sprawled to the floor. The round had not gone a minute when Teddy Hays, who was refereeing, called time so the dazed Williams could sweep the cobwebs off his dizzy brain. After a few seconds' rest they mixed it furiously again. The knockdown must have taken the fight out of Williams, for less than 30 seconds after they started again Williams was on the canvas completely knocked out.

After the knockout round Dempsey cut his boxing with Jack Renault to a round instead of boxing the usual two rounds. He went after Renault furiously, but the spectacle of seeing Williams lying flat on his face evidently had bothered Dempsey, because after boxing a round with the big Canadian heavyweight, he called to his handler that he had enough.

FAVORITES DELIVER IN FLINT TROTS

Rain Interferes With Completion of Opening Card.

FLINT, June 21.—Rain prevented the completion of the opening day card of short ship races at the Davison track this afternoon. A cloud-burst hit the track, and drivers and horses were so mud-bespattered that judges had difficulty in picking them out.

Peter Pater, favorite in the $1,000 stake for 2:24 trotters, lived up to expectations of his backers by taking the event in straight heats, with Binchler the runner-up each time. Snow's mount had the speed and was able to shake off the speedy Detroit nag each time challenged. Allie Clay, first choice in 2:24 pace, also delivered the goods, taking the event in straight reels. The winner was never able to lead, however, McBrine keeping on her heels most of the time.

RUSHING WORK ON FINE NEW HIGHWAY

Fifty Teams and Large Gang of Men Busy At Wabash.

WABASH, June 21.—Portions of the base line, where the new cement highway is being built, present a hive of industry.

Fifty teams and about twice as many men are busy drawing gravel, plowing, scraping and otherwise fitting up the road.

The large cement mixer has also commenced operations, and it is expected the highway will be ready for traffic in about three months.

Those having teams at work are receiving $7 a day, while men alone get $4 per day.

An abandoned five-passenger touring car was found near the village of Kent Bridge, and as yet no trace of the owner, driver or occupants has been found. The engine and tires are in good condition, but all identification marks, such as nameplates, license number, etc., were removed from the car.

The annual ice cream social of the Wabash Methodist Ladies' Aid Society took place last evening on the recreation grounds. At 5:30 a baseball game was played between Kent Bridge and Wabash, the score resulting as 8 to 6 in favor of Wabash.

After refreshments were served, an enjoyable program was given by London talent as follows: George Payne, humorist; Harold Payne, baritone soloist; Miss Lulu Martin, soprano soloist and Fred Fitzgerald, accompanist. Rev. F. Craik acted as chairman, and the proceeds amounted to about $215.

Wallace Burwell left this week to attend the session of the C. O. F. High Court in Niagara Falls, Ont.

BLINDNESS HANDICAP NOT AN AFFLICTION

Optimistic Addresses At Ontario Convention Being Held in Brantford.

BRANTFORD, June 21.—That blindness is not an affliction, but a handicap only, was emphasized in an address today at the annual convention of the alumni of the Ontario School for the Blind, at which about a hundred delegates are present, the oldest graduate being Askelon Leppard of Toronto, who went there in 1872, and who, with his brother, is a well-known Toronto businessman.

President Fred C. Johnson led the way in his address of optimism, and W. G. Raymond, local postmaster, and Sandford Swift, Toronto, librarian of the Canadian Institute for the Blind, were other speakers. Mr. Raymond suggested that the fiftieth anniversary of the school next year be fittingly celebrated. This evening the members held a dance at the school, at which the delegates are billeted.

SONG SERVICE AT NEWBURY.

NEWBURY, June 21.—A song service held in Knox Church Sunday evening by the choir was much appreciated by a large congregation. The service consisted of anthems and duets by the choir, assisted by solos from Mrs. H. Galbraith of Appin and Mr. Morrison of Alvinston. A short address was given by Rev. C. D. Farquharson. The collection was to be used in purchasing new books for the choir.

ANXIETY IS RELIEVED

British Leaders Were Afraid Other Colonies Might Follow Example.

LONDON, June 21. — (By Grattan O'Leary, Canadian Press staff correspondent).—Today's sittings of the prime ministers were chiefly taken up with statements by representatives of the various dominions. The speeches were of a preliminary and general character, and were guarded in their reference to matters over which there is likely to be controversy, the speakers preferring to reserve more specific observations and statements of policy until the subjects on the agenda come up for consideration.

That the conference is not likely to degenerate into a mere casual and academic debate, with the social side predominating, is evidenced by the fact that two sittings were held today, the afternoon session lasting well on to six o'clock. The most important event of the latter sitting was a statement by Premier Meighen on Canada's decision to have a Canadian minister at Washington.

Could Do Good Work.

While the official report on his speech this afternoon is not yet available, it is understood that Premier Meighen's remarks followed the general line of his speech on this subject in the Canadian House of Commons last session. He told the conference that this action of the Dominion of Canada is first of all based upon the need for a purely Canadian representative at the American capital, with a more intimate understanding of Canadian conditions and problems, and with a greater capacity for transacting business with more rapidity than is the case at present, having become essential owing to the ever-increasing business relations between the two countries. Moreover, he believed that in addition to the advantages to be obtained in a business way, the presence of a Canadian representative at Washington would be a step toward fulfilling Canada's mission of acting as the bridge which should lead to a greater friendship and better understanding between the two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon people.

Britishers Doubtful.

Premier Meighen's statement, the Canadian Press is informed, was heard by the delegates with interest and satisfaction. There is no disguising the fact, that notwithstanding statements by Lloyd George and others, the idea of a Canadian minister to the United States has had a somewhat disquieting effect in official circles here. It was not that objection was taken so far as Canada was concerned or that it was feared that it was a step in the direction of empire disintegration. What troubled British statesmen was that the example of Canada might well be followed by South Africa, Australia and New Zealand, and that the presence of so many British Empire ministers in a single capital might conceivably lead to differences of opinion and be productive of disturbing consequences and would also have the effect of destroying the appearance of the diplomatic unity of the empire in the eyes of the world.

Therefore the important and full statement of the Canadian case placed before the conference and the British people by Premier Meighen will go a long way toward clearing up misunderstandings Important Conference.

Despite the fact that it is being held in a hectic political atmosphere and at a time when Ireland, the miners' strike and the world situation generally are providing for the British Government one of the most difficult periods it has experienced since the war, the conference holds the centre of the stage here. The press is devoting columns to its deliberations and its possibilities and while it is probable too high hopes are based on its capacity to settle great and complex problems, a favorable atmosphere is being created for progress toward sensible conclusions respecting the most important subjects on the original agenda.

The three leading questions to be discussed, namely, The Anglo-Japanese alliance, naval and military defence, and arrangements for the main constitutional conference, are not likely to come up for some days. The alliance and the naval questions are practically entwined and are likely to be discussed at the same time. On both questions, Premier Meighen will undoubtedly take the stand already indicated in these dispatches.

BERRY SEASON MAY FINISH ON FRIDAY

TILLSONBURG, June 21.—Thursday or Friday will see the end of the strawberry season in this district, and the crop has been much below last year's. A large number of berries are being canned owing to cheaper sugar. The average price for berries has been ten cents, but they went up to two for 25 cents today, and it is very doubtful if the price will again drop before the season closes.

GARDEN IN DAYTIME, THEATRE AT NIGHT, POIRET'S PARIS PLAN

Chairs From Cellar by Trolley, Stage From Garage, Rubber Roof.

SPIRITS IN PLAYHOUSE

Mediums and Their Followers to Receive Revelations in Psychic Theatre.

Paris, June 21.—Blase Paris, now that the war restrictions are gone and lights are shining as brilliantly as in the days when the world's pleasure seekers paid it constant homage, is to have two new theatres, both along lines never before attempted here.

First Paul Poiret, whose fame has been confined hitherto to costume creations for American and French theatres, is embarking as a theatrical manager, but he will appeal only to a limited clientele. Poiret has a splendid garden near the Bois de Boulogne and has decided to use it as a setting for a theatre which he will install nightly beneath the trees surrounded by exotic blossoms.

During the day the garden will have the usual appearance, but 7 o'clock will see a transformation. Chairs will be brought from cellars by a trolley system. A portable stage will be wwheeled out from the garage, lights will be turned on and over all will be spread a rubber roof weighing nearly half a ton. Four hundred seats will be available, but none for critics, as Poiret intends presenting programs by new writers, as well as old favorites.

He has solved the problem of keeping his company in order by hiring a Russian director with Bolshevistic tendencies, but it is doubted if even he will be able to keep discontent from the ranks of the players, as Poiret has just announced that he does not think it a wise policy to strive for long runs and will limit his productions to ten nights.

When they tire of Poiret's efforts theatregoers can find a novelty in the Psychic Theatre, which is being financed by French spiritualists. Here programs will be devoted to spirit propaganda and all the music will be arranged with a psychological effect calculated to put the visitors in a mood to receive revelations from the choicest mediums available. Incense will be kept burning continuously and heavily-scented flowers will deaden the senses to all exterior influences.

Spiritualist societies already have listed a dozen plays dealing with psychic problems. In one where the role of a medium is necessary real spiritualism is practiced. With the lights turned low the real medium carries on a seance, but so far, probably owing to the presence of doubting Thomases or non-psychic influences, the hoped-for materialization has failed to arrive.

While Poiret's theatre will be costly enough to keep out the motley throng, the spiritualists have decided that the time has come to spread their propaganda and will let the crowds enter free as long as the police do not interfere with the movement.

PAISLEY TO ERECT A WAR MEMORIAL

Handsome Granite Monument Will Likely Be Unveiled in September.

PAISLEY, June 21.—After a deliberation of some weeks, the Paisley soldiers' memorial committee has decided on the form and site of the memorial which they will erect to the fallen heroes, and have accepted the design submitted by the McTosh Granite Company of Toronto, which will be of Stanstead granite and erected in the market square, overlooking the Saugeen River. It is planned to have the unveiling early in September.

Very successful anniversary services were held in Knox Church on Sunday. The speaker was Rev. Dr. Gandies, principal of Knox College, Toronto. Many came from the neighboring towns and districts. The morning theme was "The War, and the Outlook of the Church." The speaker gave impressive echoes from the world congress of missions, held in Geneva, Switzerland, where he was a delegate from Canada, and emphasized the need of using nationalism and denominationalism and standing together in unity to Christianize the nations of the world.

Last evening a lawn fete was held on Andrew Cormack's lawn, and was attended by upwards of 700 people. Music was furnished by the Paisley Orchestra, and a splendid program of songs and speeches was presided over by Hugh McKerracher. The total proceeds were $550.

The Borden Company have cheese factories in this district and have offered them free of charge to the patrons, and the offer has been accepted. From an authoritative source it was stated today that the factories at Ingersoll and Norwich will curtail production 50 per cent after July 10.

MURDER VICTIM CAME FROM MARION

HAMILTON, June 21.—It was learned unofficially here today that the name of the murdered Italian, known as James Saunders, whose body was found in a field near Crowland, Ont., last Saturday, is Nuzio Corazzo. It is said he had a wife in Cleveland, Ohio, and came to this city from Marion, Ohio.

The police say the motive for the murder could not have been robbery, as the deceased was unable to meet a judgment for $30 given against him in the division court here a short time ago.

YOUNG AUTO THIEVES MADE DARING ESCAPE

LINDSAY, June 21.—Two young men named Ryan and Bryan, who were accused of stealing an auto and were remanded to jail this afternoon by Magistrate Bradford after they had given unsatisfactory evidence in the case, made a bolt for liberty as they were about to be handcuffed, and succeeded in getting away.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

LIVE HOG PRICES JUMP THREE DOLLARS PER HUNDRED ON THE LOCAL MARKET ON WEDNESDAY

Expected To Go Higher Before Long—Hay Still Firm — Good Demand for Straw—Few Raspberries Are Expected Saturday.

Live hogs took a big jump on the local market Wednesday, selling at $12 and $12.25 per hundredweight, an advance from $9, and they are expected to go higher before long. Fat sows also advanced from $4 and $5 to $7 and $7.50, and the market is very strong.

There is quite a demand for straw, but none has been offered for several weeks. Hay is still hitting the high spots.

The butter and egg market is still firm.

A few cherries were offered at 20c per quart and 95c for a 6-quart basket, and two farmers were offering strawberries of fairly good quality at 17c, crate lots, and 18c a single box.

The rain of Tuesday is expected to have a great influence on the garden produce, and the late crop of strawberries for Thursday, and the first appearance of raspberries is looked for on Saturday.

Chicago, June 22.—Net upturns in wheat prices took place today as a result of generlly dry, hot weather. Bullish sentiment was also promoted by strength in the New York stock market. Selling, however, broadened out on bulges, and kept the market from becoming one-sided. Opening quotations, which ranged from ½c to 1½c higher, were followed by slight further gains, and then something of a reaction.

Corn hardened with wheat, opening ⅛c to ½c higher, and later scoring an additional advance.

Oats were firmer, reflecting the action of other cereals. After starting ¼c to 1¼c higher, the market continued to rise.

Regina, June 21.—Excellent growth and abundance of moisture throughout the province are indicated by the report on crop conditions issued by the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture for the week ending June 18. New Issue

Power House of Laurentian Power Co., Limited, on St. Anne River

A 15-year Bond yielding 7¼%

INVESTMENT sentiment in recent months has been steadily turning toward Hydro-Electric bonds. There is a marked preference on the part of the shrewdest investors for bonds of this type.

Unlike most industrial companies for whose product a lessened demand now exists, the demand for the services of Hydro-Electric Companies is increasing because the use of their power is most economical and dependable. They have also benefited largely by their relatively small labor requirements and the fact that they have had no heavy inventories to mark down. A most attractive Hydro-Electric Security is that of the

Laurentian Power Company

6% First and Refunding Mortgage Sinking Fund Bonds

Due January 1st, 1936

PRICE 88½ AND INTEREST, YIELD 7¼%

Principal and Interest payable New York Funds

In addition to its safety, it combines two qualities now much in favor among investors:

1st—It is the obligation of a Company supplying an important urban area with electricity for power and lighting.

2nd—It is a long-term bond having a high call price, thus assuring the purchaser of the advantage of existing high money rates for a period of years.

The Company's earnings are on a very stable basis. One valuable contract with the Quebec Railway Light, Heat and Power Company alone assures a net revenue per annum of twice the interest charges, this contract does not expire until 1940, four years after the maturity of the Company's bonds.

The replacement value of the property is estimated at $1,000,000 more than the outstanding Bonds.

A large part of this issue has already been sold.

FOURTEEN HOMERS IN MAJOR LEAGUES, NONE FOR BABE RUTH

New York, June 22.—Fourteen home runs were divided evenly between the two major leagues yesterday. None was credited to Babe Ruth, who made a single and walked once in nine trips to the plate in the New York-Boston double-header.

Five homers were made in Philadelphia by the Athletics and Washington in a 15-inning contest. The sluggers were Gharrity and Miller of the Senators, and Galloway, Welch and Perkins of the Athletics. The other American League four-base hitters were Pennock of Boston and Hawkes of New York.

Three Boston National batsmen making homers against New York were Nicholson, Boeckel and Gowdy. Three were hit in the first Chicago-St. Louis game and one in the second. The hitters were Flack of the Cubs and Smith, Hornsby and Fournier of St. Louis.

TURF NEWS AND GOSSIP

[By Bert Collyer.]

OTTAWA SELECTIONS.

First race—Baronette, Superba, King Terry.

Second race—Odonovan, Josie Gorman, Plain Bill.

Third race—Morning Face, Get 'Em, Musito.

Fourth race—Chief Sponsor, Salvatelle, Sweet Bouquet.

Fifth race—Chasseur, Occasion, Fitzboodle.

Sixth race—Citizen, Brisk, Legacy.

Seventh race—Solid Rock, Little Ed, Sunduria.

LATONIA SELECTIONS.

First race—May Bodine, Marjorie McKay, Black Hackle.

Second race—Article X., Gentleman Jouette, Dorius.

Third race—Buddie Kean, Make Up, Bygone Days.

Fourth race—Bernice K., Rekab, Bet Mosie.

Fifth race—Brookholt, Ginger, Minute Man.

Sixth race—Miss Jemima, Flags, High Cost.

Seventh race—Wadsworths Last, Wave, Yellow Blossom.

Best bet—May Bodine.

Solid Rock. Isn't nothing more than a billy goat, but they've stirred him up until he's liable to take the best of them into camp. Seems to have found the right spot and the boys at the camp make him their special. You have the answer in your lily-white mitt. Little Ed figures right bang up. Sundurea just can't be worse than third. All this happens in the last race at Ottawa this afternoon.

Baronet only needs snug handling in order to drop into the one hole in the day's opener. Has worked impressively. Superba' and King Terry figure close up. Odonovan hasn't a thing to beat and should make every post a winning one in the second. This is the race they've been pointing Josie Gorman for. She ain't much. All over but the showing, the third. It's here they yank for a genuine pickler to clean out the "iron men" as Morning Face carries the wise kale today and only needs a ride. With fair racing luck Chief Sponsor will ring the bell in the fourth. Has just a little bit better than the whole world thinks and can run backwards to trim such company as he's in with today. Chassuer for mine in the fifth. Just one of the best horses at the track and as consistent as the sun. Set in the works. That's the advice from the track in regards to Citizen. Need I say any more?

Down at "Death Valley," the good word is May Bodine. She is one of the Milama sleepers. You all know what that means. Should be on the bill daily all the way in the first. Article X., of course, will rule favorite in the second, but may find it a pretty tuff job to trim Gentleman Jouette. With snug handling Buddie Kean will repeat the last winning effort. Seems to have the "edge" on his field in the third.

One best bet of the day—Solid Rock.

Best take-a-chance bet—May Bodine.

Best parley—Morning Face, Salvatelle, Legacy, to schow.

Hunch-players will be in the glory at Latonia this afternoon, backing it off the board. For instance, how does this one listen:

Buddie Kean, Bernice K., Brookholt on the limb. "Smart money" showed last night for Miss Jemina.

U. S. POLO TEAM RECOVERS TROPHY LOST IN 1914

Wins Two of Three Games in International Match At Hurlingham.

Hurlingham Polo Field, London, June 22.—The United States scored the first goal in the second of the international polo games here today between fours representing Great Britain and the United States.

The goal was scored by Louis Stoddard, playing at number one for the United States team.

Hurlingham Polo Field, London, June 22.—The United States today regained possession of the international polo trophy, defeating Great Britain in the second match, 10 to 6, and winning the series two matches to none.

The international match was for the best two in three games. The United States team won the first game, played last Saturday, by the score of 11 to 4.

By today's United States victory, the trophy, which the British team took home to England as a result of its victory at Meadowbrook in 1914, returns to the United States. The trophy is a cup which has been contested for since 1886. The match just concluded was the eighth international, of which each nation has won four.

Louis Stoddard, at No. 1, led the United States players in scoring, with four goals, but he was closely pressed by Thomas Hitchcock, Jun., at No. 2, with three goals. J. Watson Webb, No 3, came next, with two goals, and the remaining tally was made by Devereux Milburn, back and captain of the United States team. Honors were evenly divided between Lieut.-Col. H. A. Tomlinson, No. 1, Major Barrett, No. 2, and Lord Wodehouse, No. 3, of the British team, each scoring two of England's goals. Major Lockett, back, had an easy chance to score in the third chukker, but missed.

The full score of today's game was:

CARPENTIER'S CAMP SCENE OF MYSTERIOUS COMINGS AND GOINGS

Identity of Visitors Is Carefully Hidden From Inquisitive Early Birds.

Manhasset, N. Y., June 22.—Mysterious things occurred this morning at Georges Carpentier's training camp, and when an explanation was requested the answer came in a whisper: "It's a secret and we can't tell."

About 8 o'clock a big limousine stopped at the front gate of Carpentier's training quarters and the chauffeur hailed Trainer Wilson, and the latter came down and opened the gate. The machine pulled inside and three heavyweights stepped from it. To conceal their identity they pulled their coat collars about their faces and ran into the residence.

A few early birds, who hung over the fence, waited and watched. Soon they saw four men clad in bathrobes leave the back door and hasten behind the barn, where Georges does his training.

Noises sounding like the tattoo of fists upon a punching bag could be heard for a time. Then there was silence for twenty minutes. First one and then another of the robed figures filed into the house. The last appeared to be the challenger himself. Trainer Wilson followed them, carrying several pairs of boxing gloves.

Another half hour and the three heavyweights, still hiding their faces, entered the car and were whisked away.

JUVENILE COURT NEGOTIATIONS TO BE REOPENED

Social Service Council Will Call Meeting of Interested Organizations.

WILL HELP ENFORCE O.T.A.

Also Favors Closing of Victoria Park To All Vehicular Traffic.

Negotiations for the establishment of a juvenile court in London will be reopened here, following a decision to call together a representative committee of all local organizations, made at a regular meeting of the London Social Service Council, held last night. Jared Vining, convener of previous meetings for this purpose will be asked to call the committee together as soon as possible.

The subject was introduced by Rev. Matthew Kelly, who deplored the fact that Rev. T. D. McCullough, secretary of the council, would not allow his name to stand for the appointment of juvenile court judge here. "I would like this meeting to request Mr. McCullough to allow his name to stand, and that the matter be taken up at Toronto and have the court established," he suggested.

Up To City Council.

"The juvenile court here has been pigeon-holed, and we have gone as far as possible. It is up to the city council," suggested James Gray, who presided at the meeting. "We are willing to act with a committee from other organizations to get a juvenile court here."

"I don't understand at all why the city council should not take action in a matter so important as this," said Rev. D. C. MacGregor, "I suppose they have reasons of their own, but the citizens should know them. We ought to get action on this and insist upon it."

The council also went on record after discussion as opposed to autos being allowed in Victoria Park, and a committee composed of Rev. T. D. McCullough, Rev. Matthew Kelly and Harry Wray was deputed to wait on the Public Utilities Commission and urge that motor cars be restricted from entering the park.

"I believe it is absolutely wrong," said Inspector W. E. Kelly of the Children's Aid Society. "Cripples in autos can see the beauties of the park from the street without straining their eyes. A start could be made by prohibiting autos certain hours of the day. It is the most dangerous place in the city of London in the evening, and motorists are satisfied to stay away to avoid accidents."

Social Survey Report.

Rev. T. A. Symington: "People with autos should forego the park for those with a lesser sphere of recreation. It is a larger question than for the safety to children only. There are 35 miles of good pavements for the motorist." A report of the social survey of the city will be prepared in detail by September next, according to Rev. T. D. McCullough, who announced this fact at the meeting.

Progress in civic playgrounds was reported, and a resolution of appreciation of the keen interest taken in them by local bodies and citizens in general was unanimously passed by the council. The hope that a new portion of the city will be served by acquiring a new strip of land for playgrounds annually was expressed by those present, who heartily indorsed the wading pool installed this year at Thames Park.

Help Enforce O. T. A.

Delegates who attended the provincial Social Service convention at Peterboro recently reported that further assistance is to be given the authorities in enforcing the Ontario temperance act in future. "Not as detectives, policemen or spies," reported Rev. T. D. McCullough, "and not in criticism, but to assist all we can." They also reported that a strong committee had been appointed by the convention to investigate race track gambling in Ontario.

Secretary McCullough announced that Rev. Peter Bryce, formerly referendum director in Toronto, had been appointed Child Welfare director for Ontario, and that Alex. McLaren, former head of the rural life movement in the province, had been appointed field secretary for community centres. Both these offices are in connection with the provincial social service council.

VICTORIA HOSPITAL REPORT FOR MAY

Incurable Patients Will Likely Be Transferred to New Victoria Home.

Routine business largely occupied the attention of the Victoria Hospital Board of trustees at the meeting of the hospital trust Monday evening. The report of Superintendent Heard for the month of May, included the following figures: Number of patients admitted, 394; discharged, 426; births, 32; deaths, 16; number of treatments in the free dispensary, 443; cash receipts for the month, $16,242.42.

The superintendent was asked to prepare a list of incurable and indigent municipal patients who ought to be transferred to the Victoria Home for Incurables under new arrangements made by the city with that institution.

CONSERVATORY RECITAL.

The third of the series of recitals given by pupils of Charles E. Percy was held last night at the London Conservatory of Music.

Excellent work was done by both singers and players and the interesting numbers were given in a very musicianly manner, fine attention being given to details of technique, phrasing and tone.

Readings were given by pupils of Miss Topley Thomas.

The following artists took part in the program: Miss Doris Jenkins, Miss Adelene Mooney, Ripley; Miss Amy Trevithick, Alisa Craig; Miss Evelyn Hastings, Miss Muriel Lancaster, Mrs. J. Page, Miss Ruby Finlay, Miss Edna Skinner, Miss Lena Coates, Miss Gertrude Dumaresq, Miss Maybelle Sutherland.

AT A MOTHERS' MEETING

the wife of a noted New York divine said to her listeners, "Watch carefully your daughter's physical development. Mothers should keep their daughters well informed as to matters pertaining to health, and should see that nature is assisted, if necessary, to perform its offices."

Irregularities and pain are warning symptoms of some trouble, and mothers may depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to correct them, and restore the system to a healthy, normal condition.

PUPILS OF SUNDAY SCHOOL TRY EXAMS

The King Street Presbyterian Students Have Extensive Course To Cover.

Questions on examinations of quarterly review lessons, in which about 80 children attending King Street Presbyterian Sunday school will write on Sunday at 2 p.m. and Monday at 7 p.m. are as follows, with the best answers selected from those of pupils in various classes at previous examinations appended:

1. Give six tests of a Christian. A Christian abhors evil, serves the Lord, is given to hospitality, provides things honest in the sight of all men, is not slothful in business, and blesses but curses not.

2. What are the Bible rules for health? We must use our bodies so that they may be a fit temple for God. Whatsoever a man sows he shall reap. Bad health is generally the result of a breaking of God's laws.

3. What are the Bible teachings about work? Jesus said, "My Father worketh, and I work." Paul said, "If any would not work, neither should he eat. Our Lord Jesus Christ commanded that with quietness they work and eat their own bread.

4. What are the Bible teachings about poverty and wealth? Isaiah says, "Woe unto them that join house to house," that "they may be placed alone." Amos says "The Lord will not forget" those who "swallow up the needy" and "make the poor to fail." Jesus told the parable of the Beggar and the Rich Man.

5. What are the Bible teachings about education? God said, "Thou shalt teach thy children diligently." "Happy is the man that findeth wisdom. All things thou canst desire are not to be compared unto her. Length of days is in her right hand, and in her left hand riches and honor."

6. What are the Bible teachings about rest and recreation? God commanded his people to "keep a feast unto the Lord seven days in the year." "Keep the Sabbath Day to sanctify it." "In it thou shalt not do any work."

7. What are the Bible teachings about working with others? Just as "the body is not one member, but many," and as "all the members suffer" when "one member suffers," so all men should work together.

8. What are the Bible teachings of the family? "Mary hath chosen the better part," and Martha was "careful and troubled about many things." Paul from a child knew the Holy Scriptures. The family is the center of religious life.

9. What are the Bible teachings about making the neighborhood Christian? Jesus taught the parable of the Good Samaritan. The early Christians had all things in common, parted their goods to all men as every man had need. They daily in the temple broke bread with gladness, praising God and having found favor with all the people.

10. What are the Bible teachings about making the nation Christian? "Righteousness exalteth a nation." "Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers." "Render therefore to all their dues." "Owe no man anything, but love one another."

11.—What are the Bible teachings about making the world Christian? Isaiah says, "The spirit of the Lord shall rest upon him with wisdom and understanding, counsel and might, the knowledge and fear of the Lord." Acts says, "Ye shall be witnesses unto me unto the uttermost parts of the earth."

12.—What are the Bible teachings about making the social order Christian? We must preach the Gospel to the poor, heal the broken-hearted, preach deliverance to the captives, recover the sight of the blind, and set at liberty them that are bruised. Matthew says, "I was an hungered and ye gave me meat; I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink; I was a stranger, and ye took me in; naked and ye clothed me; I was sick, and ye visited me; I was in prison, and ye came unto me. Verily I say unto you, inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

FRANCES FAMILY TRACES LINEAGE TO NORMAN CONQUEST

Michigan, Ontario and Vancouver Descendants Hold Picnic At Springbank.

About 100 members of the Frances family attended a reunion held at Springbank Tuesday afternoon, when representatives from Toronto, Vancouver, Flint, Crosswell, Ratho, Kirkton and London attended. The outing proved to be a huge success, and the committee intend making it an annual affair.

John Frances gave a short address on the family tree, dating back as far as could be traced to the time of William the Conqueror, in the ninth century. He also stated that in 1066 members of the family went to England from Normandy, and this, as far as is known, is the year the English language sprang up. Several other members of the family also spoke.

A fine sports program was cut in two by the appearance of rain, and the tug-of-war, the feature for the afternoon, between the Canadian and American descendants, was also held up on account of the rain.

The officers for next year are: President, J. Frances; secretary-treasurer, E. Frances, and on the Canadian committee, B. Frances and R. Fletcher, and on the American side are, Rev. W. Frances and Mrs. Strathan.

PLAINTIFFS SECURE A TOTAL OF $1,050

Bert G. Gibbons and Wife Awarded Verdict Against Street Railway.

Bert G. Gibbons was awarded $300 and his wife, Minnie Hilton Gibbons, $750 damages and costs as a result of their $5,000 damage action against the London Street Railway Company at the supreme court today. This award was made by Hon. Mr. Justice Masten at the conclusion of the case Tuesday afternoon. The plaintiffs claimed that Mrs. Gibbons was badly shocked and injured last August, when Springbank car No. 27 collided with another car near Woodland Park and caused her to be thrown from her seat. Medical men and nurses described her injuries, the pain she suffered, and the attention she required. E. T. Essery, K.C., acted for the plaintiffs, and Ivey, Elliott & Ivey for the defendants.

Druggists Were Dined

Guests at National Drug Company's New Plant In Montreal.

The members of the Quebec Pharmaceutical Association, who recently met in Montreal to hold their annual meeting, were the guests of the National Drug and Chemical Company at a luncheon given at their new plant on De Courcelles street, Montreal.

The members of the association were shown from the top to the bottom of one of the most up-to-date plants in Canada. They saw Seidlitz Powders being made by a machine at the rate of 50 a minute; compressed tablets at 480 a minute; a hydrogen peroxide plant making two tons a day, machines filling six bottles at the press of a single lever, and many other interesting pieces of machinery.

After the luncheon, Mr. A. B. Evans, vice-president of the company, welcomed all the guests and called upon Mr. W. S. Kerry to propose the toast of the Pharmaceutical Association of the Province of Quebec; Mr. Vadboncoeur, the president of the Pharmaceutical Association, replied.

Mr. Chas. W. Tinling, vice-president and general manager of the National Drug Company, followed with an interesting and instructive address on the sale of "Made-in-Canada" goods and had the sentiment of his audience right with him from start to finish. He told how Canada was becoming poorer by the continual excess of imports over exports, and strongly advised the necessity of developing the sale of goods made in Canada, and also of purchasing more from Great Britain. Canada's best customer. His facts seemed to so impress the druggists present with the necessity for action that many expressed themselves as determined to throw their salesmanship behind the movement to support made-in-Canada goods.

Mr. J. A. Goyer proposed the National Drug Company, and Mr. Tinling, in replying, gave the credit for the company's wonderful success to the loyal support of the staff, which, including the various branches throughout Canada, now numbers more than a thousand people.

A baseball game between Miss Lee's and Miss Copeland's sides was the feature for the afternoon. Miss Lee's team won with a score of 18 to 5.

WENTWORTH DELEGATION

Visiting Farmers Banquet At Tecumseh House—Going To Byron Today.

Steadfast friendship for one another, and eagerness to co-operate together at all times characterized the tenor of the gathering at dinner at the Tecumseh House Tuesday evening of the Wentworth delegation of farmers and their guests of London and district, of which there were several.

On behalf of the city of London, Mayor E. S. Little extended his hearty welcome to the visitors from Wentworth County, and declared the lamentable fact that their visit could not be of greater length.

"London is the centre of one of the best agricultural districts of the country," declared the mayor, "and it owes its prosperity to its wonderful surroundings, and in turn the undoubted prosperity of the surrounding country is due largely to the pleasant relations that have always been maintained between the two. Despite our wonderful progress, nevertheless, we can look toward Wentworth County for many things. For example, you have established a farmers' section in your chamber of commerce, but we are working earnestly toward that end here, and I trust that in twelve months' time we will witness the establishment of a similar organization in Middlesex."

"Although we represent perhaps the smallest community," asserted John Bell, a member of the Wentworth County Council, "I may say that we have certainly one of the real big men of the country in the Legislature.

Farmer Must be Expert.

"I know that by now we all realize that the farmer of today must possess broadness of vision. He must, in addition, be an expert along many lines. He must be an expert breeder and feeder of stock. He must be an expert as regards soil and seed conditions. And above all, he must be a sort of weather prophet. Wentworth, I may venture to say, is a banner county, and for one thing we have at least a part of the good roads system of the province—all good roads radiating from Hamilton.

"The Ontario Government," declared Dr. Hugh A. Stevenson, M.P.P. for London, "is composed of Farmer and Labor members, and the latter is every particle as interested in the welfare of the rural districts as the farmer. I am pleased to say that in every instance the farmers have been ever ready to help us in our problems, and we certainly appreciate that fact.

"There has been considerable criticism of the present Government naturally, and many have asked, 'Will it last?' I say that it will last. A class consideration has been created for the farmer. He has a certain interest in the country—a vast interest—and it is expedient that he be represented on the floor of the House. If he is not represented there he will get no place, and in addition to this, you must support those members you send there.

Best Minister in Canada.

"We have fortunately the best minister of agriculture in Canada, who, as you well know, commenced his activity toward the removal of the cattle embargo fully a year before anyone else ventured to move.

"But we have a tremendous amount of work ahead of us yet. I am sorry to see the federal member from your county busy objecting to the good roads policy of Mr. Biggs, and all I can say to him is if he does not want good roads down in his county we'll be eager to have Wentworth's share up here in Middlesex. Good roads are essential to successful farming, and I want to have the London of the future in the same position as you say Hamilton now enjoys in that respect."

"We have many different organizations and parties whose objects is, I believe, the uplifting of mankind," declared John Currie, ex-warden of Middlesex. "But in my opinion there is no body but what can always learn something. All that is wrong with the world today is the great race for the almighty dollar. But I believe that the farmer of today is playing the better game than any other class of men, including the businessmen or those of the professions. The manufacturer has turned the key in the door and the laboring man won't work. There is lots of work in the country today if one has a mind to look for it. But you will find men refusing good wages. We hear them at this moment discussing whether they will accept a certain reduction. I speak now of the railroadmen. They are not playing the game. I hate to say it, but the professions are going on strike too. It's hard to say these things, but look for a moment at the public and high school teachers who have gone on strike, and I have even heard the ministers asking for more money also."

Co-Operation Great Advance.

"A tremendous step forward was noted," asserted D. A. Graham, "when the Niagara Peninsula Fruit Growers' Association was incorporated. Co-operation is the big thing of today. In Middlesex we have ten or twelve elevators throughout the county for buying and selling products. As yet they have not been linked together. However, we are working now toward that end, and I hope that the time will come when this system is province-wide, when we can buy and sell by carload lots."

"Another thing that we must look after is our markets. There is very little use for the farmer to attempt to make two blades grow where one grew before unless he has the market for the same. But, of course, the time will never come when he will refuse to produce. You couldn't blame him much if he did with present conditions. He is getting low prices and making little complaint. Why, at this moment it is not worth the labor to skin a bullock? And I understand harnessmakers and leather dealers have received notice that there would be no reduction in their price."

In his truly interesting manner J. Farrell, local representative of the Ontario department of immigration, outlined his work in this district and also previous activities in the old country.

"Our efforts," said the speaker, "have been crowned with success. With representatives from Australia and others of the Dominions striving to be heard, we experienced a hard struggle overseas.

Immigrants Fine Type.

"I may point out that many more would have been brought out had it not been for the lamentable coal strike which tied the shipping up for a long period. The past year, however, has easily exceeded our expectations, and in addition to this some of the finest type of immigrants that were ever brought to Canada came to Western Ontario. I would not say every one. We made a few mistakes as we had in the past and will in the future, But I challenge any person to contradict my statement that we were able to place more the past year on farms who remained there contented than any like period before. We have made a careful survey of the situation, and as far as we can estimate out of a total of 400 placed in the district, only four have returned to seek employment in the cities. There may be one or two others, but even then the percentage is remarkably small."

That the farmer respect his profession was the keynote of a brief address by J. Nichol, president of the Middlesex Milk Producers' Association. "Farming," stated the speaker, "is a noble calling, and certainly the basic industry of Canada."

E. Lee of Wentworth County presided.

The Wentworth delegation visits Byron Sanatorium today, and will visit as well the farm of Col. McEwen in the same neighborhood. W. G. Marritt, agriculture representative of Wentworth County, with office in Hamilton, is in charge of the tour.

SARNIA CONSTABLES TENDER RESIGNATION

Police Force Is Now Two Men Short of Their Normal Strength.

SARNIA, June 21.—The local police force is now two men under normal strength, as tonight Constables John Smith and Frank Norman, voluntarily tendered their resignations, effective immediately, and turned in their uniforms and equipment, having procured other positions in the city. In accordance with a decision reached at the last meeting of the police commission all constables are required to send in their resignations by the end of the month with the privilege of applying for reappointment, under the new order. It is not expected that more than four of the present remaining force will adopt this privilege.

There has been no dearth of applications for either the chief constable's job, or for patrolmen's positions. In the former case, the names of W. J. Lannin and W. H. Stringer, both members of the provincial police have been prominently mentioned, and applications have also been received from different parts of Ontario and from Saskatchewan, one from Saskatoon and one from Prince Albert.

BRANTFORD SHOOTING DECLARED ACCIDENTAL

BRANTFORD, June 21.—O. B. Ellis, who shot Archie Smith when the two men were out hunting a week ago, was exonerated by a coroner's jury at an inquest held here tonight. Death was declared as accidental. High Constable Fred Kerr noted that the two men were shooting groundhogs, and were using high-powered rifles, wholly unsuited for the nature of the country, where farmers were working and cattle were grazing.

GRAIN NEARLY READY TO CUT

Showers Were Worth Thousands of Dollars To Farmers.

ST. THOMAS, June 21.—Showers which fell in this district this afternoon and evening were worth thousands of dollars to the farmers. In many districts the ground was very dry and rain was badly needed. Splendid growth is being made, and much of the grain is so far advanced that cutting is likely to commence much earlier than usual.
