Deaf and Dumb.

We beg to direct the attention of our readers to th following Poem, published originally in Charles Dick-ens' Household Words, not merely for the beauty of the thoughts and the maternal tenderness which breathes m every verse-aithough in both of these respects it is in our opinion a gein of its kind-but in order to enlist the sympathies of the Christian public, and of Chris-tian parents in particular, in behalf of the poor Deaf-nutre. Sad indeed must be his lot, doomed to a life-long soundlessness—deaf alike to the melodies of nature and the summer of the life to the melodies of nature and soundlessness-deaf alike to the melodies of nature and the sweet music of affection's voice! Shut out from communication with his kind, except through the im-perfect channel of natural signs-destitute of language perfect channel of matural signs—destitute of language —ignorant of his natural signs—distitute of language —ignorant of his nature and destiny—literally, 'with-out hope and without God in the world''' What more deserving_object of charity could possibly claim our sympathy and aid' and how can we better aviesace our sympathy and extend our aid than by contributing to the support of such Institutions as make the instruc-tion of the deaf and dumb their special care? Most of tion of the deaf and dumb their special care? Most of our readers are aware of the existence of such an Institution in the city. We understand that it is in efficient operation, though embarrassed for want of finds. The public are freely invited to visit, and judge for themselves of the advantages it confers. We trust our readers will avail themselves of an opportunity of doing so, feeling assured that they will be both edified and delighted, and that they will cheerfully contribute their mile to the good cause.—Comt] will, and serves so to confirm the right and present those who do not prudently look forward to the conflicts and dangers of future life, and so give up themselves fully to "grow in grace and in the knowledge of Christ," but sink into carelessness and lukewarmness of spirit. In this case, the oil of the lamp burns out, and there is no supply in the vessel, because their hearts are withdrawn from the influence of God. Thus the principle of spiritual life perishes, and death uts off the possibility of restoration forever.

3. The eternal union of Christ with his faithful church is represented under the

ical language the covenant relation of Jeho vah and the Jewish people is frequently mentioned in the Old Testament, and some of the most striking passages of the prophets, expressive both of tenderness and reproof, are founded upon it. There are also predictions in the Old Testament of the union of the evangelical church with Christ, that spiritual church, composed of believers of all nations, which was to succeed

We had entered upon a consideration of the probability of a Divine message-and the reception, that probably it would meet with on the part of men. Several persons were enumerated-making together the Dramatis personae of a protracted conversation. There exists no necessity that these all should be introduced at this time: suffice that we call the attention to the peculiar views of Cain, as expressed in opposition to those of Evangelist.

Evan .-- I still reiterate my former state ments, viz : That the efforts of intellect are immeasurably inadequate to discover a Deity-and so to appreciend Him as to love and reverence, and obey Him-I repeat that faith in the testimony of a reliable witness alone can apprehend Him. Between matter and spirit, things seen and things not seen, there is a chasm which intellect cannot, and which faith alone may span.

Cain-1 assent not. Let me reply : I look on your material structure. I see before me a beautiful piece of organized matter. But that matter in its every movement is controlled by an unseen spirit : the organized matter I can see-the immaterial spirit I cannot see : yet I assume that it exists, for I perceive its operations. The organized matter I have no doubt, will be dissolved : every particle that composes it will be separated : in not one of these particles is there life, or motion, or thought-yet, taken as a whole, perceive life, and motion, and thought whence do they proceed? Not from the organized matter-not from any one atom of that matter,-then they must proceed from

Shall we Return?

It has been said to me, and to the Methodista of this place, by a certain Minister of the Church of England, " That the Methodists ought to recurn to the Church, because John Wesley never wished his followers to separate from it." That he is not singular in this belief and wish is evident from the recent systematic effort made in England to effect a return, but without success. It is true, Mr. Wesley never separated nor did he wish his people to separate from the Church, but as the Church would not receive him with but as the Church would not receive him with prayer may be realized, so that the Establish- We do not assume responsibility for the opinions of cor he could not in conscience separate himself from ment may be as a church should be " a congregration of faithful men where the pure word of that faith which had been life from the dead to God is preached and the sacraments duly adminhimself and to thousands through his instrumenfality,-therefore the Church separated both him and them, and as he believed it to be his duty. being directed by the Spirit and Providence of God to vary not from the ' Worship and Doctrines' but from the laws and orders of the the Church. " The cause of his separation," he tells us, "arose first while my brother and I were at Oxford, for our endeavouring to be real Christians. It was increased abundantly when we began to preach were excluded from preaching in the Church." Now I think-it evident, that as Mr. Wesley could never return to the Church unless he could be allowed to vary from it as he did, and that with God's approval and manifest blessing in the conversion of thousands of sinners to God, he could never wish his people to do what he could not and did not do himself, that is return to the Church. The grand question then to be settled is, "Will the Methodists fall back from the advances they have made towards primitive Christianity, or would the Establishment advance to overtake them?" If the Methodists fall back. then Methodiam exists no longer as it is, and must be annihilated or merged in that of the Church, and if the Church advances, then the Church ceases to be what it now is, and must be built up anew, after the model of John Wesley's ism; but the former cannot fall back while the spirit of its founder animates it, and while God is with us as it was with him in the conversion and salvation of precious souls, and it is certain that the latter will not, as has been lately proved in England.

May we be allowed to state what we think the Church would have to advance, and what the Methodists would have to fall back from to obtain the return so ardently desired.

improvement in the position of the funds of the Society. They had a very pleasing aspect as regarded the first portion of the of income than on former occasions, which was to be ascribed mainly to the promptness of the friends in the country to make the response which they so creditably did, to the appeal of the Committee for early remittances. They had now received between £5.000 and £6,000 more than on former occasions, at the same period of the year.

They did not feel that they were trespassing too much on the kindness of the friends, in still urging them to bear in mind that, if they withheld contributions when they were actually in possession of them, they really did an injury to the Society and increased its difficulties ; for it had to pay interest for £8,000 of borrowed money. The day would arrive, he hoped, when the receipts should, in some measure, quadrate with the payments. He wished to congratulate the on the general aspect of the cause, so far as they could form an estimate of it, as to its

THE LADIES' connected with the Wesleyan Sc-ciety and congregation in St. John's, purpose (D. V.) holding a BAZAAR, early in the ensuing Au-turn, for the purpose of raising funds for the comple-tion of the Church now in course of erection. By means of this advertisement the ladies of St. John's would appeal for help to those friends in the Provinces who may be willing to co-operate with them n the great work for our Divine master in which they ire engaged .-the erection of a commodious and suit-able Sanctuary for the worship of Almighty God-and they earnestly hope that this appeal may not be unavailing, but that the hearts of very many may be disposed to sid in the accomplishment of an object so desirable-and one which they fervently pray will bring great glory to God. Contributions may be for-warded by the lst of August-(directed to the Rev. T. Harris, St. John's Newfid.) to the Wesleyan Office. January 22.

A Gentlemen's Toilet

A Gentlemen's Toilet Is incomplete without a bottle of Clirchugh's Tricopher-ous. The following is one of the many flattering ten-timonials received in favour of this agreeable compound. New York, Doe 1at, 1855. Mr. Clirchugh-- Deer Str I most cheerfuily acknowledge the great benefit derived from the use of Tricopherous as applied under your own superintendence. My hair was grey, I had been nearly baid for several years, and when I sought your advice was just recovering from a sweete stack of erysipelas; after six months attendance, my hair was not only restor-ed to its original thickness, but not a grey hair was, or is yet to be seen, aithough three years have passed since they. I will be glad to satisfy any one that you may refer to me. I am, Ac., J. Moss, West 20th Street, New York. De Agents in Halifar, G. & MORTON & CO.

On Seeing a Dial on a Gravestone in a Graveyard.

BY HUGH MILLER. Gray dial-stone, I fain would know What motive placed thee here , Where darkly opes the frequent grave, And rests the frequent bier. Ah ! bootless creeps the dusky shade Slow o'er thy figured plain : When mortal life has passed away, Time counts his hours in vain.

As sweeps the clouds o'er ocean's breast, When shricks the wintry wind, So doubtful thoughts, gray dial stone Come sweeping o'er my mind. I think of what could place thee here, Of those beneath thee laid, And ponder if thou were not raised In mockery o'er the dead.

Nay, men, when on life's stage they fret. May mock their fellow men ; In sooth, their soberless freaks afford Rare food for mockery then. But ah ! when past their brief sojourn, When Heaven's dread doom is said. Beats there the human heart could pour Light mockeries o'er the dead ?

The fiend unblest, who still to harm Directs his felon power, May ope the book of grace to him Whose day of grace is o'er ; But never sure could mortal man, What'er his age or clime, Thus raise in mockery o'er the dead. The stone that measures time.

Gray dial-stone, I fain would know What motive placed thee here, Where sadness heaves the frequent sigh, And drops the frequent tear. Like thy carved plain, gray dial.stone Grief's weary mourners be ; Dark sorrow metes out time to them, Dark shade marks time on thee.

I know it now : wert thou not placed To catch the eye of Him To whom, through glistening tears, earth's gat Worthless appear, and dim ? We think of time when time has fled, The friend our tears deplore ;] The God whom pride-swollen hearts deny, Grief humbled hearts adore.

Gray stone, o'er thee the lazy night Passes untold away ; Nor were it thine at noon to teach. If failed the solar ray. In death's dark night, gray dial-stone, Cease all the works of man ; In life, if Heaven withholds its aid, Bootless these works, and vain

Gray dial-stone, while yet thy shade Points out, these hours are mine-While yet at early morn I rise, And rest at day's decline. Would that the sun that formed thine, 🐐 His bright rays beamed on me, That I, wise for the final day, Might measure time like thee!

HAIR!

It imparts a richness and brillanoy, cleans, ornaments, invigorates, embellishes, removes dandruff, relieves head-ache, and has probably been used for restoring and pre-venting the failing off of the hair with as much success as any article ever known. It has stood the test of time and use, and all can rely upon it... ABI:AM A. TRAUL Fisq. Rotterdam, N.
