A. A. G. Lt. Colonel Thompson, Halifax, has been appointed camp commandant at Aldershot. This appointment has been made necessary on account of the units assembling at the camp. Captain H. H. Bligh, 66th P. L. F., has been appointed D. A. A. G. at Aldershot.

Last week about three hundred officers taking a course of instruction in military drill came to Aldershot from Halifax, St. John, etc., and are continuing their course here. Grounds were laid off for them at Aldershot on the site where the Hussars formerly pitched their tents.

Dominion Atlantic Railway will issue special Excursion tickets at single fare for round trip for Natal Day Horse Races at Halifax Tickets good going on any train Tuesday and Wednesday, 20th and 21st June, good to return on any train June 22nd.

Rev. A. W. West of Washington, Ohio, preached in the Kentville Baptist Church on Sunday last, giving very pleasing discourses at both services. In the evening there was a very large congregation. Mr. West spoke most feelingly of a return to his native land and the magnificent work done for liberty and the right, and the noble response of the young men to the call.

Mr. West has come to this country to spend his vacation with relatives here and has under consideration the call from the Kentville Church. Special music was rendered in the evening including a beautifully rendered cornet solo by Mrs. Roblee of Lower Granville whose husband is at Aldershot and, a solo by Sergeant Gordon Vincent with a male quartette chorus.

FOR OVERSEAS CONSTRUCTION

GIGANTIC steam shovels weighing sixty-five tons each, capable of eating up the earth at the rate of 150 to 200 cubic yards an hour, and self-propelling extension track pile drivers, are part of the equipment recently purchased by the Government for Col. C. W. P. Ramsay, of the Canadian Overseas Railway Construction Corps. This plant was selected by Col. Ramsay's colleagues in the Engineering Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway and is being prepared by that company at the request of the Government for shipment abroad. The Canadian Overseas Railway Construction Corps has already built many miles of track at strategic points and is all the while engaged in surveys for further construction. The work has often to be done under fire, and though there have been so many narrow escapes there have been no serious casualties. Out of the non-commissioned officers and sappers that enlisted on the foundation of the Corps 18 have already received commissions in the Royal Engineers, a remarkable tribute to their efficiency, while Col. Ramsay and Major Harvey have been mentioned in dispatches. The splendid work of these Canadian engineers has been highly appreciated by the allied commanders.

CANADIANS FOUGHT GALLANTRY IN BIG BATTLE AT HOOGE

Ottawa, June 16—How the Canadian troops gallantly and successfully assaulted the enemy position and regained lost ground is told in the Eye-Witness official report from the front today. The brunt of the fighting fell upon the Highlanders from Montreal, Toronto and the West, along with the Western Ontario Battalions, all of them attached to the First Division.

The successful assault by the Canadians resulted in our lines being established practically in the same position as before the big fight at Hooge. Three German officers and 150 men were captured.

The casualties among Canadian officers in the last fortnight total 395.

The following Eye Witness report reached the Minister of Militia from Canadian Headquarters at the front today:

"About midday on June 6th, the enemy opened a violent bombardment on the left sector of our defences. In the afternoon four mines were exploded directly under our front line system at Hooge.

"The companies of our 28th Northwestern Battalion holding this section, suffered severely and the remnants of the garrison were unable to hold the Germans in check when they launched an attack immediately after the explosion.

"The enemy occupied our front line but all his attempts to advance beyond this point were defeated by machine gun and rifle fire directed upon him from our support trenches and strong points.

"Simultaneously with this attack the Germans attempted to seize trenches further to the south, but were everywhere repulsed with loss. At one point of the front a small party of the enemy succeeded in entering one of our advanced trenches but was quickly ejected, leaving behind one badly wounded man.

"During a bombardment of our lines a large German mortar shell weighing over sixty pounds pitched on the parapet and fell into a trench held by our Fifth Western Cavalry Battalion. A Lance Corporal, Ray A. Edmonds, of this unit, dashed forward and picking up the bomb pushed it back over the parapet.

"A second or two later the missile exploded. By his prompt action Edmonds undoubtedly saved the lives of several comrades.

"Following the attack on Hooge, artillery duels occurred daily.

"On the 12th all our batteries combined in a bombardment of the positions captured from us on June 2nd. The fire was continued until dusk, and was resumed at midnight with increased intensity.

"At one o'clock in the morning, of June 13th, an attack was delivered by our infantry.

"On our left, the Western Ontario Battalion bombed us to our original line, although encountering considerable opposition, while two of our Scottish Battalions and a Toronto Battalion, in a magnificent advance rushed rapidly forward until they had recaptured the whole of the high ground known as Mount Sorrel and Observatory Ridge. About 150 wounded Germans including three officers, were taken prisoners.

"Assisted by our supporting battalions, our troops entrenched themselves on the approximate line of our original front trenches which had been almost obliterated by the German bombardment of June 2nd. The length of the front recaptured was over 1,500 yards. Several attempts at counter-attacks by the German infantry were frustrated by our artillery fire.

Get Real Tire Economy!

Motoring is two things—a pleasure and a business. One might say it was used sixty per cent. for entertainment and forty per cent. for commercial purposes. Yet no matter whether you use your car to get orders or ozone, your greatest economy will be the reduced cost of mileage.

No accident ever held an automobile but what the tires were forced to play a part in it. And no accident ever was averted but what the tires had a say in that, too.

If you will drive fast, If you will make those sudden stops, If the city will water splash, If rain will make muddy roads;

Why then—the possibility of skidding will always be with you, unless you figure on those elements of danger when you buy your tires. When you think of how to avert danger in motoring you immediately think of

A Trip Over the Canadian Rockies

Trying to describe a trip over the "Rockies" is something like what the poet says about painting the rainbow:

"What a beautiful lines we would paint
 To paint with rainbows varying hues,
 Unless to mortals it were given
 To dip his brush in dews of Heaven."

So to describe the "Rockies" the writer would like to dip the pen in the forms and shades, and colors, and shadows, and reflections, of all the marvellous wonders of creation, for here they are all depicted, mountains reaching far up in the clouds with everlasting snow, ties upon ties, range upon range, of all heights, and wonderful coloring.

Roaring cascades are seen careering down the cleft fissures, tumbling over glaciers, and ending in the limitless depths far below our sight, with an alarming rush and roar. Up and up, and up, we climb, among never ceasing wonders of rocky formation, at the foot of which are seen smooth tracts of delicious green verdure, and sparkling stretches of water, extending for miles, at the base of the mountains, and reflecting in their blue depths, all the varied shades and coloring of the piled up mountains, with the snowy peaks, looking like solid icebergs, gleaming white like crystal, and tinted with all the rainbow shades. Far down as tints are reflected and reflected, one can see these forms and we feel up in mid air, gazing on a new enchanted world.

Our train circles narrow ledges over over cliffs, darts in and out of holes in the solid rocks, loops the loop, and describes circles, till we see our engine opposite us, apparently on an entirely different track, but we catch up, and straighten out again, and climb more heights and pass through narrow cuts, the walls rising straight up, hundreds of feet on both sides with crests thickly wooded against higher sharply cut peaks.

The highest of these peaks is "Sir Donald," a gigantic mountain, completely shutting out the view of the sky.

The "Three Sisters," high peaks of nearly uniform height, appear and disappear, as we turn and wind in and out along this wonderful feat of engineering.

Two more sharp peaks "Caste and Pollos" stand out like great Sentinels against the sky guarding the road to the "Rockies".

Many short bridges are passed over, all of them guarded by a well armed official in khaki, "one of our passengers thinking to be friendly, called out a pleasant greeting, to one of these tall sentinels but was met with the silent, stoney stare of the British soldier.

If the traveller wishes to stay off, in these formless regions, amid these scenes of perpetual ice and snow, there is an hotel looking out on the "Great Glacier" a huge mass of sparkling ice, extending far as the eye can see, and as yet unexplored by the foot of man; fissures of emerald green can be seen, and great cavities show in the distance. An Alpine "Chalet," hangs in the air, from a protected spot, waiting for the summer tourist, and as our train speeds on, behind all these wonders the sun is setting, peak after peak is touched with the rosy hue, all colors of the rainbow gleam on the "Great Glacier," the fissures look deep and dark, as rapidly the sun sinks out of sight, "the twilight shadows deepen, and soon the darkness shuts out from our sight, the wonderful mountain but leaving us with an ever abiding memory of the bright sun-lit day, spent in the midst of this most marvellous work of creation, the Canadian Rocky mountains.

ALICE E. WEBSTER,
 June, 1916.

CANADIANS ARE AVENGED FOR A GERMAN SLANDER

The Montreal Star Office, 17 Cocksbur Street, London, June 15—It has been another proud day for Canada in England, and best of all came the news to me yesterday that the ground round Ypres has been regained with comparatively light cost.

In several places we attacked the Germans who held former Canadian trenches from the German side, so carefully was the surprise planned and carefully aided by the artillery. Imperial officers comment on the fact that fresh Canadian drafts from new divisions, some of whom had never had experience in actual shell-fire or hand to hand fighting before, have been in this severe counter-attack.

The Pall Mall Gazette adds to its editorial expressions appearing in practically every paper the following:

"Our Dominion troops have for the second time made history of an imperishable kind in one corner of Belgium which has escaped the pollution of a German conquest. Just over a year ago the first use of poison gas effected a breach in the Allied lines at Ypres, which it fell to the Canadian Contingent to hold as best they could against an overwhelming army, until the ruptured front could be strengthened and reorganized."

"In that three days' conflict Canadians made for themselves an everlasting name in the annals of the war and proved that no matter how mechanical engines of destruction may be developed, it is human valor and constancy that must give the final turn to the scale."

"In the events of this month upon the same area the lesson has again been that of the supreme defiance to which the human spirit can rise against all the forces of material intimidation."

"Canadians, like their comrades last year, had to face an experience without parallel in warfare. The trenches were assailed by a bombardment so intense as to suggest a sheer obliteration of everything in its way. The shells fell so thickly that it seemed impossible that room would be left for an unscathed man."

"It was to that conclusion apparently that the Germans had arrived, for when they advanced to reap the harvest of their artillery they were taken aback to meet with a desperate resistance from the remnant of groups still occupying the ground."

Canada's Salutory Vengeance

"The fierceness with which the Canadians fought for every position, even against hopeless odds, has been described in terms which must have brought fresh pride to the hearts of their countrymen, and the news to-day showing that the territory so hardly wrested from them has been regained and consolidated, puts a seal on a chapter that will not be readily eclipsed for its revelation of intrinsic qualities, both of old and new warfare."

"Canadians had more than an ordinary incentive to make their retrieval a thorough success, since German bulletins had excused the fewness of prisoners taken by them by saying that the enemy did not stay to face their infantry."

"Such an aspersion upon men who fought to the last gasp giving a fair measure of Teutonic chivalry, and Canadians have taken a salutory vengeance for the base and cowardly falsehood."

A VOICE FROM P.E.I.

Big Changes Predicted in Fiscal Policy of Warring Nations

It is not often that we hear from our Sister Province by the sea, Prince Edward Island, on the questions of trade and fiscal policies. When the whole of Canada, particularly the Western provinces, was greatly wrought up over the changes proposed in 1911, we do not remember having seen many references to the attitude of the papers of the people of the "Province by the Sea," on the questions at issue.

Apparently the editor of the Charlottetown "Guardian", from whom we quote below, is a close student of economic history, and while his views may not find favor in the West, it will be interesting to our readers to know how the minds of some of their fellow citizens by the sea are working with respect to trade questions.

The following article from the Charlottetown "Guardian" of a few weeks ago, indicates the views of a large school of economists:

"The old Manchester school of politicians was all powerful in its day. It was the outcome of the rise of the middle classes to political power in Britain, in England more particularly. Up till 1830 the middle classes in England had practically no say in the government of the country. Then they made their voices heard and influence felt. The middle classes in Britain represent, for the most part, the middlemen in business, the men who make their living by purchasing the products of the factory and reselling them to the retail shopkeepers. So long as the markets of the country are protected the middlemen are restricted to a legitimate percentage of profit. Labor demands a fair wage and the consumer will not pay more than he can afford, or at all events buy more than he can afford, and so prices are kept reasonably moderate, commensurate with the just remuneration of labor. The Manchester school of politicians set themselves the task of cutting the price of labor, and the only way they could do so successfully was to bring in the products of foreign labor, and this was done through unrestricted importations into Great Britain of the surplus products of foreign manufacturing. The middlemen in Great Britain have prospered and waxed mighty as the result of this policy. All the millionaires nearly of the last fifty years have been middlemen who bought in the cheapest market and sold in the dearest. Many of the British industries have gone to the wall because of the encouragement of cheap foreign-made goods, and Germany gained the financial strength she enjoyed through protecting her own workingmen's labor while undermining the labor of the British workman. One of the outcomes of the war will be to bring the British workman into his own, to do away, practically for ever, with unrestricted free trade, and to substitute therefor fair trade on a basis of tariff reform. This is assured. Cobdenism is on its deathbed and will not survive the war. Mr. Joseph Chamberlain was the prophet of the new school of tariff reform, and his prediction will as assuredly come true as his prediction of the action of a great war such as the present."

It is difficult to see from this distance how the Charlottetown editor can find support for his arguments. The war has shattered the records of many prophets, and it is a bold man to-day who would make any sweeping predictions about fiscal or other political questions now. It is safe to say,

NEW ROSS

Automobiles are the order of the day. The road made last year and repaired this makes travelling much easier between here and Chester and many very many are taking advantage of it.

The trial not of morals, shews us how things are slipped over when John Barleycorn wants the road, magistrates, lawyers, witnesses, and judges are often found in the boat with him. He is a greater enemy than even the German spy or the submarine for he murders both soul and body degrades man and woman bringing them to the level of the brute.

The tooting of the horn of the automobile can be heard every day in fine weather, owned by John S. Murphy and driven by careful Joe.

however, that the fiscal policy of Great Britain will be the cause of much searching of mind during the years following the war, and there is no doubt that revenue necessities will be such that the old policy of free trade will have to be departed from in many respects.

"MADE-IN-CANADA" AND THE PRESS

Annual Convolve of Newspapermen Discuss "Made-in-Canada" Campaign

At the recent annual meeting of the Canadian Press Association, held in Toronto, considerable discussion took place regarding the "Made-in-Canada" idea, and the big campaign which was launched a year ago. The newspaper proprietors and editors present were almost unanimously in favor of the "Made-in-Canada" idea.

"Industrial Canada", the official organ of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, expresses its appreciation of the assistance rendered by the members of the Canadian Press Association. It says:

"The members of the Canadian Press Association deserve and have received the thanks of Canadian manufacturers for the whole-hearted and vigorous support which they gave and are still giving to the "Made-in-Canada" policy."

"When the newspapers, with splendid unanimity, took up the "Made-in-Canada" cry, supported it vigorously and put it into practice, they performed a distinct national service and in addition benefited themselves, and according to the degree which they continue their support with the welfare of the country and their own interest be assured."

"After the war the United States will perhaps be the richest country in the world. That means that Canada will have along the 4,000 mile boundary a number of competing industrial centres which will have immense supplies of money, huge organizations and great numbers of skilled employees. At the present time the chemists and technical experts of the United States are using their utmost ingenuity to perfect devices and processes which they hope will make their country the leading manufacturing nation of the world, and it is with their powerful neighbor that we must compete. In the coming industrial battle Canadian manufacturers will have to fight geography, they will be handicapped by lack of capital and in almost every way they will be placed at a disadvantage with manufacturing firms of the United States. Consequently, it is not of supreme importance that the "Made-in-Canada" campaign should be supported vigorously?"

In the last nine months the value of the goods imported into Canada for consumption was $302,000,000. For a similar period of the preceding year, the value of goods imported into Canada for consumption was $298,000,000. Consequently, since the "Made-in-Canada" campaign was started, our purchases abroad have diminished by $4,000,000 and it is reasonable to claim that the "Made-in-Canada" campaign is responsible for at least a part of this decrease.

While it is too early to make bold statements regarding the ultimate effect of the war on the fiscal policies of Great Britain, the Budget recently brought down in the British House of Commons may well cause concern in the minds of those who have always been stout defenders of the policy of free trade.

A goodly company went to the challenged meeting of Liberals and Liberal-Conservatives held in Chester from here.

There seems to be a great deal of drunkenness on our streets lately. Some leaving shams behind them. We ourselves met a mere boy whose tongue was thick and his face looking like an old toper of 60 years. Who sells the booze?

Why did not those papers reach us? This is nearly election time, was that the reason.

Rev. W. A. Hubaud preached in the Parish Church, morning and evening on Ascension Day and in St. James in the afternoon.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Election Day.

The electors expect to end the 34-year-old Government today.

From all parts of Kings Co. come cheering reports of victory for Kinsman and Spidell. The County has defeated both Wickwire and Campbell in past elections is ready to do the same today if the people are allowed to give free expression to their opinions.

A story has been freely circulated in some sections that Mr. Campbell's pledge on the three questions asked of him by the Provincial Temperance Alliance, had been sent to Kentville for publication and it had been refused. We desire to say that this is only one of the many election dodges that we have never seen Mr. Campbell's pledge and consequently could not refuse to print it. We have asked officers of the Alliance for such a pledge if given, to publish in this issue and after considerable inquiry have learned that Mr. Campbell had positively refused to give his answer to the Alliance, preferring to stand four square with Mr. Wickwire in his policy so well known to the people of Kings.

Fair minded people have shown considerable disgust at the great furor and flare of headlines which the Liberal papers made over the seizure of rum at Canning. The prompt denial of the Conservative Club of Ward One of any knowledge or complicity in any form whatever nailed the story as one blazed forth to make political capital and not for any good or temperance motives. Kinsman and Spidell stand for law enforcement in Kings Co. or elsewhere whether against Grit or Tory and are not seeking to inflame the people or use a half page in glaring headlines to tell about the seizure of rum from Liberals who are strong party workers, one lot of which was seized at Canning before the Baxter raid and was destroyed at Kentville yesterday by the constables. The Town and County officials to enforce the N. S. Temperance Act are doing a great and good work and the Provincial Constables from Halifax are acting with them we believe fair and impartially and the Conservative party unitedly stands behind their good work. The individual efforts of a few Conservatives who may be wedded to their idol, drink, cannot be entirely controlled though emphatically condemned by the Party.

In what way have the Liberal candidates signified their desire to enforce law or pledge themselves to the Temperance Alliance, as nearly all the candidates, of both sides, have done in the Province. Both Wickwire and Campbell have disregarded the communication from the Alliance to which Kinsman and Spidell gave their pledge and Mr. Campbell refused to sign it though urged at considerable length to do so.

This reveals where the party stands in Kings County and pressure has been put on Mr. Campbell by his party leaders to make him repudiate his former temperance principles.

LET YOUR ANSWER BE EMPHATIC TODAY

Vote the Straight Ticket Kinsman and Spidell

Why should the people of Nova Scotia vote to retain in power the Murray-Daniels government?

Should they vote for them because they have given away all the Crown lands of the Province?

Should they vote for them because they have put the most valuable coal mines into the hands of monopoly?

Should they vote for them because they have tied up millions of dollars worth of valuable coal seams with speculators and promoters who refuse to develop them?

Should they vote for them because they have destroyed the gold mining industry of Nova Scotia?

Should they vote for them because they allowed the rural population of the Province to disband and emigrate because of the bad roads?

Should they vote for them because they have given all the valuable foreshores to speculators and thus debarred the inhabitants of the sea shore from cultivating and fishing oysters and catching lobsters?

Should they vote for them after 34 years of road administration and the expenditure of several millions of dollars the highways are in a worse condition than they were in 1892?

Should they vote for them because every year of their administration they have expended over $530,000 more than the revenue of the Province, which ever expenditure is now added to the public debt of Nova Scotia.

Should they vote for them because they operate the public fairs of Nova Scotia in the interests of the few rather than for the benefit of the people as a whole?

Should they vote for them because their administration has given to their friends every natural resource and valuable privilege known to the government?

Should they vote for them because they have a road organization that employs a high priced commissioner, a high priced deputy, well paid engineers inspectors and a horde of 9,000 road masters and paymasters, all of whom must be fed out of the trough before one dollar can get to the roads?

Should they vote for them because in the 34 years they have evolved a road system conceived, not for the improvement and maintenance of the highways, but for the purpose of keeping the treasury of the province in the hands of the present administration?

Should they vote for them because Premier Murray defied the courts and illegally paid $18,500 to one of his political friends?

Should they vote for them because Attorney General Daniels tried to get a slice of $75,000 out of a public transaction involving the security held by the people of the Province?

Should they vote for them because Premier Murray claims in other counties than Halifax that they enacted prohibitory legislation and at the same time because he states to the liquor interests of Halifax that the prohibitory legislation was enacted by the opposition?

Capt. Ralston Denies the Lies About Quarantine at the Aldershot Military Camp

The Oxford Journal thus reports an address of Capt. Ralston, who had 10 days off duty in connection with the elections in Cumberland.

Captain Ralston, dressed in khaki, was greeted with hearty applause on coming forward. He made an energetic speech. He was on a ten days' leave from his duties at Aldershot, and said he was proud of the men from Oxford and vicinity who had joined the 85th and 193rd Battalions. There was nothing in the stories of quarantine, bad food or bad water. The only objection he had was that he had to get up at 5.30.

He said that prosecuting the war, rather than elections, should be the chief business of the country.

A SPLENDID CAMP

Over Seven Thousand Men Under Canvas.

The Camp at Aldershot is a splendid one in every particular. Over seven thousand men are under canvas—"The Highland Brigade," six thousand strong, and the "American Legion Battalion" numbering over twelve hundred.

The camp presents a most picturesque appearance, with its three quarters of a mile of tents prettily situated on an elevation surrounded by wooded slopes.

The camp is most orderly and well-conducted. The men are splendid fellows and have received the highest praise for their gentlemanly demeanor both on the drill grounds and in town. The colonels and staff have just reason to be proud of the splendid type of manhood under their command.

The Saturday afternoon sports are proving popular. The bands of the different regiments add much to the pleasantness of Camp life.

SPECIAL TRAINS FROM ALDERSHOT

On Sunday and yesterday many special trains left Aldershot for different parts of the Province taking the men of the Highland Brigade home to vote and also the men of the 112th at Windsor.

FROM THE TRENCHES

The following is a letter from Harry W. Hiltz of the 25th Battalion, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Hiltz, Kingsport, a brother of the late Corp. Cliff Hiltz who lately gave his life for his country. The bright hopeful words of this brave boy are an inspiration:

In the Field
Dear Mother:
Received a letter from you some time ago and one today so will write a note now.

Don't worry about me being alone, every man that wears the King's uniform and stands shoulder to shoulder with you in the battle is a brother to you. I've seen a man though wounded himself take his own bandage and dress the wound of a comrade and its the feeling of brotherhood and the confidence you put in the men on your right and left that makes us laugh in the face of danger and death. Even if a fellow is killed what better death can he have or what happier death than to die with his boots on defending his home and laughing at the feeble attempt of Germany. I've seen death hundreds of times over here but I never saw a soldier die but he passed the Great Divide with a smile on his lips. Now mother don't want you to worry about me some day I'll come back and if I don't you can be comforted by the thought that I have done my duty as my records will show.

I'm sorry you have la grippe, I'm feeling tip-top, never had a sick day since I joined the army.

The weather is just great now and we won't be troubled with much rain until the rainy season starts in November.

Hope father has a good time fishing this summer.

Send that paper along as soon as possible.

Write soon.

Love, HARRY

SUMMER SPORT

While life in Kentville, especially during the summer season, is a real delight, yet to many of our citizens the beauties of their surroundings are not apparent to nearly the extent warranted, and this because of the sluggish condition of their physical system, brought about by a lack of any regular or intelligent method of exercise.

To enable one to enjoy life to its fullest extent, the body should be regularly, continuously and systematically developed by form of exercise best suited to the physical capabilities by which we have been provided by nature.

The game best suited to both sexes of all ages is Lawn Tennis. It combines the maximum of muscular development with the minimum expenditure of physical energy. It can be enjoyed with equal zest by the young, the middle aged and by those of mature years.

There should certainly be enough people in Kentville, still capable of reasonable physical effort, to form an aggressive lawn tennis association, to take up the threads of the old organization, and place it on a sound and permanent basis.

There is a real opportunity for doing good for the individual and the community.

We trust that it will only be necessary to bring the matter to the attention of our readers in this way in order that definite action may be taken.

THE NEW EDISON

Without any beating of big drums, Thomas A. Edison has made his greatest discovery—what he calls his favorite invention. He spent over $2,000,000 and four years perfecting it.

It does what no talking machine can do. It brings right here to Kentville in the original richness, volume and purity, the master music of the world. And the proof is that it can be played side by side with the original music, and trained ears cannot detect any difference. Hundreds of such public tests have been made—here's what the newspapers said of some of them:

"No one could tell which was the real and which the reproduced."—Brooklyn Daily Eagle

"He has succeeded in recreating the Human voice"—New York Telegraph

"The ear could not tell when it was listening to the phonograph alone and when to Mme. Rappold's actual voice. It was quite impossible to tell when the phonograph was singing alone"—New York Mail

"Unless one watched the singer's lips, it was quite impossible to determine whether Mr. Chalmers was singing or whether he was not, the recreation being exactly like his own voice"—Pittsburg Leader

Judge for yourself. Come to our store any day and ask to hear Anna Case, Marie Rappold, Thomas Chalmers and a score more singing through the Edison.

WORK STARTED ON TIDAL POWER

Work has been started on the Bay of Fundy tidal power project at Cape Split, N. S., by the Cape Split Development Co., Ltd., of Wolfville, N. S. P. Clarkson, formerly an electrical expert for the United States Government, in consultation with other eminent engineers is directing the work. A surveying party of eight are now at work. General Passenger Agent R. U. Parker of the Dominion Atlantic Railway, arranged for a test of the Clarkson current motor for the benefit of L. O. Armstrong, an official of the C. P. R., and two other gentlemen. This demonstration took place in the Gasperau River, below Hunter's Mill, in the presence of more than a dozen persons. The motor worked perfectly gradually developing more power as the water rose to a higher level, reaching its maximum of over two horse power when the water buried the top of the machine.

The same model, which is about 12 feet long and 2 1/2 ft. high, would develop 54 horse power at Cape Split in a current of nine miles per hour. Mr. Armstrong and the other members of his party were very enthusiastic respecting the demonstration. To a reporter he said: "I consider the trial a success. The model certainly worked well. The tides both ways can be utilized through this machine. I can see nothing in this trial that can be called a discouraging feature." Mr. Armstrong and party were shown over the proposed power site at Cape Split where they observed the phenomenal tidal currents, which it is proposed to harness to supply power to our towns and cities.

A SURPRISED MINISTER

"For many years I have been a sufferer from bronchial catarrh, and had despaired of anything like a cure. Judge of my pleasant surprise when I first used Hyomei, which brought complete relief. Hyomei has been a veritable godsend." Rev. Charles Hartley, Sardinia, Ohio.

Thousands of catarrh sufferers have given up in despair. They have tried stomach dosing, snuff, sprays and douches without success, and now believe catarrh to be incurable. But J. D. Clark, druggist, holds out hope to all distressed. He sells a remedy called Hyomei which is guaranteed for catarrh, colds, coughs, bronchitis, athma and croup. Hyomei pronounced High-o-mie) is medicated air, full of the healthy virtues of the mountain pines. You breathe in the delightful antiseptic air, and as it passes over the inflamed and germ ridden membrane, it always the inflammation, kills the germs, and drives out the disease.

A complete Hyomei outfit, including a hard rubber inhaler, costs but $1.00, and an extra bottle of Hyomei, if afterwards needed, cost but 50 cents. See J. D. Clark about it today.

CANADA'S NEEDED RECRUITS 500,000

The West Already Exceeded Their Quota

The Canadian West has raised more than its quota of the half million men for the war; the Canadian East is still far below the mark. Major G. H. Williams, who went to Ottawa from the Niagara district after a recruiting conference to discuss more progressive measures with the government, brought back a detailed statement of Canadian recruiting since the beginning of the war. Of the 334,209 men raised in Canada he gives this distribution:

London centre, with a quota of 46,100 raised to date, 28,213. No. 2 district, Toronto centre quota 86,000, raised 75,363. No. 3 district, Kingston and Ottawa, 53,000, raised 34,915. Province of Quebec, quota of 139,077, raised to date, 34,903. Maritime Provinces, quota 65,000, raised to date, 31,061. Manitoba and Saskatchewan, quota 60,000 raised to date, 68,888. Alberta, quota, 26,000, raised to date, 30,157. British Columbia, quota, 27,000, raised to date, 30,709. Alberta has exceeded her share by 4,157; British Columbia, by 3,709 and Manitoba and Saskatchewan, 8,888.

According to this the Maritime Provinces have raised less than half of their quota, and Quebec less than one-quarter. Our showing would be better, of course, if we received credit for the Maritime Province men who enlisted in the western provinces. That is to say, the West not only had its own young men and many of ours, but also a great number of settlers from the United Kingdom who were quick to respond to the call. It is due to these provinces to keep these facts in mind.

There is something radically wrong when Quebec lags so far behind in answering to the Empire's call. Bourassa and Laurier now have a solid Quebec but the Province is shameing the rest of the Dominion.

KARAKUL SHEEP BEFORE A BRITISH COMMISSION IN P. E. ISLAND.

(From the Family Herald and Weekly Star, May 17, 1916)

In the reclusive kingdom of Bokhara, a vassal state belonging to Russia, and situated in Central Asia, there thrives a breed of sheep, from which lambs of which are produced the famous and much-coveted Persian lamb skin.

Some idea of its commercial worth is obtained from the fact that, last year, the import value of the skins shipped to the United States amounted of $14,000,000!

The popular name of the sheep is Karakul, which means "Black Lake," the district of Bokhara in which they flourish. The skin of its young—which are killed from three to six days after birth—fetches at present from $12 to $18 each in the New York market. That price is upward in its tendency, and will increase, it is believed.

A most suggestive and promising attempt to foster this inquiry in Canada is worthy the attention of every enterprising farmer occupying soil favorable to the rearing of the Karakul and that applies to a large part on the Dominion, east and west. The idea of raising the Karakul on this Continent originated with a Dr. C. C. Young, a Russian by birth, who after several efforts to interest Great Britain in taking the initiative for the formation of a Karakul sheep farm in Canada, succeeded in gaining the support of the government of the United States, which provided him with a passport to Bokhara. President Roosevelt gave him every encouragement.

Dr. Young brought some 15 Karakul sheep back from a trip that cost him between $50,000 and $60,000. Selecting Texas for his first experiment, he was only able to produce a partial success. The climate did not possess the intensity of cold in winter essential to the rearing of young. That was in 1908. In 1913 the intrepid Russian returned to Bokhara and selected another bunch of the Karakul, and essayed the task of continuing the experiment.

Being Worked Out in P. E. I.

Fortunately he met with a sympathetic spirit in Mr. William Henry Tidmarsh, who bought out the Texas interest and had the experiment tried in Prince Edward Island. The result so far is such as to create a lively feeling of optimism that Canada generally the Eastern Canada in particular, is just the country most analogous to Bokhara for creating an industry that may grow to be a fitting companion to that of fox farming.

Bokhara is sub-tropical in summer. With its humid atmosphere it raises rice, tea and cotton. In winter, however, the cold nearly parallels our eastern condition, and, as the Texas experiment showed, that a milder summer was not the principal obstacle to productivity, it may be accepted as an established climatic fact that anywhere in Canada, where fox farming is successful, the raising of the Karakul for the skin of its young, will be attended with satisfactory results.

The origin of the breed is somewhat wrapped in mystery. One authority maintains that the curly lustrous fleece of the lamb is evidence that they are indigenous to a warm climate. But that is scarcely supported when it is added that the sheep thrives best in a severe winter, such as those of Afghanistan, Persia, and Khiva—the large breeding grounds of the tribe.

The bleaker the desert or the mountain, the healthier the sheep become. They are hardy rustlers and browsers, requiring little pasturage and practically no shelter. With a temperature far below zero, they make beds for themselves among the snows or the lee side of a hill, and grow fat.

Belong to Broad Tailed Family

Correctly speaking, they should be called Arabi, not Karakul sheep. They belong to the broad-tail class, their tails being triangular in shape and larger in some strains than in others. In the large Arabi strain the tails become so ponderous as to explain the ability of the Karakul to endure life under severe conditions, as the hump on the back of the camel affords it nutriment under harsh conditions.

The rams are horned, the ewes being usually hornless. The face is narrow, and, with the legs is covered with a short glossy hair. The wool is long and hair-like, varying in color from light gray to black.

The mutton from the newly-transported sheep is not so luscious as it becomes when Karakul rams are crossed with native ewes. It is believed, by Armour and Co., Fort Worth, Texas, that careful crossing will produce delightful mutton and Dr. N. K. Nabours, of Kansas University, thinks that there is, apart from the production of valuable fur, the possibility of establishing a new breed of sheep which will give a superior quality of mutton, and if that result can be achieved there is a large market at once for the cultivator.

Another authority—Mr. W. W. Birch—tried the breeding of broad-tails to Delaneys and Lincoln Delaneys. They produced, he says, a marvel in size and constitution. By August some attained a size as large as their mothers and went through a most severe drought well—in fact they gained vitality. There was absolutely no grass—on which to feed. They had to be contented with what they got in a burnt-over and cut-over timber country. They defied the cold snaps and when they were knifed the mutton proved to be wonderfully sweet.

Persian Lamb as Canadian Product.

The obvious deduction from this experiment is that if they can thrive under such conditions there is at once a new industry for the farmers in the stormy and biting conditions of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, as well as in British Columbia, Ontario, Quebec and Nova Scotia.

The care of the sheep is not difficult, and a pure-bred ram will serve approximately one hundred ewes.

Mr. Tidmarsh, in submitting evidence before the British Royal Commission on Natural Resources, Trade and Legislation of Canada in 1914, stated that since the breeding of the Karakul had been carried on in Prince Edward Island he was more than satisfied. They had on the farm there 100 full-blooded sheep, 200 Lincolns, 200 half-bloods, and 500 to 600 spring lambs.

They had also 21 sources of unrelated blood supply, upon which he hoped and believed to establish a very lucrative industry, and one of national importance to Canada.

Fox farmers on Prince Edward Island were asked to express their views before the Commission referred to as to the Karakul sheep farm, and without any variation they said the outlook for the trial was most gratifying.

The Commissioner for Agriculture in that Province stated that he believed that the experiment would grow to be one more great industry allied to that of wild animal farming.

Professor W. E. Cameron said that Dr. Young in crossing the Karakul sheep with English long wools such as Lincoln, Cotswolds, and Highland Black Face, had produced some very valuable Persian lamb skins. The outlook for the industry on the island was bright.

Professor Cameron, in explaining same to the commission the nature of the texture of the skin, supplied by the young of the Karakul dispelled some erroneous notions with respect to it. It is not true, he said, that the mother sheep is slaughtered in order that fine Persian lamb may be obtained from the unborn lamb. As a matter of fact the grade of fur on the market known as Persian lamb is taken from the young lambs of from three to six days old. The texture resembles Astrachan, but superior, in that the curl is not so open. The industry, in short, is one that presents no serious problem.

Karakul Good Foragers.

It has been pointed out by the promoters of the industry in Prince Edward Island that the sheep are contented, show no sign of any disease, and require a minimum of care. Like the ordinary sheep they can forage for themselves.

Given lake or sea atmosphere, Karakul farming can, no doubt, be made an easy adjunct to the general farming of the Dominion.

Several farmers have already inspected the work of Dr. Young, and but for the pressure brought to bear upon them by the Patriotic and Production Campaign last year would have started experimenting.

The farm at Prince Edward Island is not run, however, for the value of the skin. The promoters feel that commercially and disinterestedly their aim should be for some years to come to provide stock for the multiplication of Karakul sheep farms.

There is one obstacle to the promotion of the industry, which should not be overlooked, but which, with a closer commercial agreement with Russia may be overcome by negotiations between Ottawa and Petrograd. The trouble is the procuring of foundation stock. The undertaking is expensive in consequence of the stringent laws against importing from Asia, and which explains the immense sum that Dr. Young had to lay out in connection with his first journey to Bokhara.

It is, therefore, clear that farmers must depend upon the companies that are undertaking the domestic farming of the Karakul in order to overcome these difficulties. But the war, when over, may pave the way for quicker and freer export of the sheep. How soon that will be remains a secret which only more strenuous events will decide!

British Army Now Ready to Advance at Joffre's Order.

Paris—June 15—Great interest has been aroused here by a statement made by Bonar Law to The Matin that the British army was completely in accord with General Joffre and was prepared to move whenever the French headquarters staff saw fit.

The statement is accepted as a sufficient answer to the charge of British indifference to the French losses before Verdun.

The press expresses much satisfaction over Bonar Law's frank statement. From the outset here the military authorities have insisted that it would be playing Germany's game for the British to move before the psychological moment, and have scouted anti-British rumors as idle or malicious gossip. Bonar Law's statement will go far to reassure the people here.

USE

"Corona" Dry Arsenate of Lead

for Spraying Orchards and Potato Plants.

"CORONA" dry is not an experiment, it has been used by many of our leading farmers for years.

One pound of "CORONA" will do the work of from two to three pounds of Arsenate Paste, and be more effective because:—

It is a perfect, dry, fine white powder, and does not contain 50 per cent water.

It is pure and contains nothing but Lead Oxide and Arsenate Oxide, the only two chemicals essential of an Arsenate of Lead. It gives an even application, covers more thoroughly, and sticks to foliage longer.

It mixes easily and readily in water, no working up to prepare for the spray tank. No straining. It is only necessary to shake the proportional amount into the spray tank.

By using the same weight each time you spray, your mixture is always the same strength.

No sediment, no lumps, no water, never clogs spray nozzles.

Mobilize Resources of Canada

Hamilton, Ont., June 15.—The closing business sessions of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association were held today on board the steamer Corona, on a trip to Niagara, where the camp was inspected. Among the resolutions passed were:

"That the association would approve any scheme for complete and effectual mobilization of the entire resources in Canada of man and material, which should be placed unreservedly at the disposal of the country; that the government be memorialized to bring in legislation providing for daylight saving, with the least possible delay that the federal government be requested to remove the exercise duty on alcohol, under suitable regulations and restrictions, when employed in manufacturing processes; favoring preferential tariffs for closer economic union between the Allies;
 the development of inter-imperial trade and placing the products of enemy countries under such fiscal and other disabilities as will effectually restrict their sales in these markets."

It is also advocated that the government liberally encourage by subventions or otherwise the establishment of a shipbuilding industry in Canada on a permanent and profitable basis, and that a special committee press for action and work out details.

The association also recorded its belief that scientific and industrial research should be developed on a scale commensurate with Canada's resources.
 The following officers were elected: President, Hon. Colonel Thos. Cantley, president of the N. S. Steel Co.; first vice-president, S. R. Parson, Toronto; second vice-president, W.
 J. Bulman, Winnipeg; treasurer, George Booth, Toronto.
 An executive committee, covering all industrial districts in the Dominion, was also appointed.

Church Union Passes By A Big Majority

As was generally expected, the Presbyterian General Assembly at Winnipeg voted Wednesday to enter into organic union with the Methodist and Congregational churches, the majority as was also expected, being overwhelming.

For the first time in many years the assembly voted as the roll was called, each commissioner rising in his place and answering aye or nay. A new paper record of the vote, which was not officially announced in the afternoon, against. The east voted four to one for union, and the west five to one for union. In the east the total for union was 255 against 92. In the west the total was 143 for union and 30 against. The number absent or not voting was 117. There was no demonstration of any kind when the final decision was reached.
