BUNTING MUST GO

When Mr. Wragge of the Toronto Grey and Bruce railway answered Archibald Forbes' violent attack upon himself and his road, by simply publishing the fact that Mr. Forbes had applied for a pass and had been refused, the lecturer lost caste, and retired from the field of action in worse disorder than any routed battalion whose woe he had ever sketched with graphic pen.

But not warned by previous failure he has once more prostituted his journalistic privilege to serve private ends. Early last week he applied to Mr. Barker, manager of the Northern railway for a pass for his bookkeeper and five others from Toronto to Gravenhurst and return.

On Thursday therefore the conservatives who find Mr. Bunting's livelihood had the pleasure of reading the subjoined extract from a Mail's editorial on the Pacific junction:

The present general manager (of the Northern and Hamilton and North-western), a Hamilton lawyer, who had but little experience in railway management, was placed in the position he now occupies mainly by the Hamilton and Northwestern people, and he is naturally expected by them to assist in furthering their designs.

Mr. Barker was a lawyer. It is true and held a very high position in the ranks of the profession, and for eight years he was the solicitor of the Great Western and had become an expert in railway administration.

For hypocrisy and cant the Globe's article of Saturday on "One Day in Revere" is the best we have seen for many a day. It's very like what that pious sheet the London Advertiser used to read. If the Globe wants to stop Sunday work let it begin at home, and if it wants to stop Sunday trains go for Joe Hickson, not indulge in vain generalities.

GOING TO OCCUPY WHOSELAND. The Ontario government have at last adopted the course that The World has all along urged, viz., to take possession of the disputed territory and administer it. Courts are to be established, courts houses built, magistrates, constables and other officers appointed, disputed titles settled, the timber protected, and municipalities organized.

Mr. Burden having been connected with the press of the eastern end of the province and Mr. Pattullo with the Woodstock Sentinel, Mr. Burden has already been over the disputed territory in an official capacity, his report on the situation there presented to the Ontario government not long ago being a well-prepared document.

Now that the government have adopted this aggressive line, they must keep it up vigorously. They must be especially careful in their appointments in the disputed territory. There must not be a shadow of "carpet-bagging" or "carpet-baggers."

Now that Mr. Mowat is sending a commission up to Wholesand, people are asking what is Sir John Macdonald going to do. Will he send up a bigger one? And will he send up a second and a bigger set of carpet-baggers? If he does there will be more officials in Wholesand than people. There will also be lots of fun. It is very amusing but a paradise for horse-traders. For the horse stealer will be surely be caught when a domestic detective and a provincial peeler are on his track.

The marriage business is at a dead-lock in Nova Scotia. It appears that in issuing the commission to Lieut.-Governor Richey the dominion government omitted to warrant him as deputy governor to sign marriage licences. As a consequence since the date of his wearing in the only way the business has been able to get on has been by the old-fashioned method of publishing bans. As can be well understood our countrymen and countrywomen in the province by the sea are sorely old torpid enough to take kindly to this antiquated order of things, and, therefore, petitions are pouring in from impatient lovers in all directions to have the omission rectified.

Too much attention cannot be paid to the despatch from British Columbia announcing that Chinamen arriving in that province are afflicted with a deadly Asiatic disease, whether it is true cholera or not is of little actual importance. The disease prevails, unfortunately not only among the new arrivals but also among the celestials working along the line of the Canadian Pacific railway. Both the dominion and the local authorities have already been too lax, or else at the first sign of the breaking out of the disease in Asia, they would have taken measures to protect our ports. The evil, however, is done now, and vigorous measures must at once be taken to prevent any further contagion, and to stamp out what now exists. One step must be the establishment of a rigid system of quarantine. In the meantime the British Columbia members of parliament will have a good point to make against both political parties for not heeding their words of warning during the last session.

London, Ont., is a queer place. It encourages the salvation army and condemns it in the same breath. We read in the local press that the army extended its thanks to the city for the use of the city hall in which it held its meetings for several months and that the chief members of the army have been punished for disorderly conduct on the streets. It is a strange city where an alleged disorderly body is officially sided and abetted. Apropos of the fines recently inflicted on the two leading warriors it may be mentioned that one at least of their number has thought better of his original intention to go to a dungeon cell rather than fork out and has forked out. It is also stated that Capt. Shirley (Shouting Annie), of the salvationists, is obtaining signatures to a petition asking the mayor and council to repeal any by-law which may conflict with the movements of the army. It is evident that securing the city hall for their meetings has convinced Shouting Annie and her friends that with a little energy they may become a privileged order. The ratapatties, however, will probably have something to say to that.

The London Advertiser attempts to make a point relative to our suggestion to increase the license fees of druggists. It says: "Certainly, make the druggists go to Parkdale, and the street railway companies will arise and bless you." We do not fear that if the druggists were to show at Parkdale the street railway company would reap much greater benefit than they do now, when the shows are located at such an awkwardly situated spot as the corner of College and Lumsley streets. As far as Parkdale is concerned if only community would take the druggists at a cheaper rate than the city, the city can afford to bid it take them and welcome.

For hypocrisy and cant the Globe's article of Saturday on "One Day in Revere" is the best we have seen for many a day. It's very like what that pious sheet the London Advertiser used to read. If the Globe wants to stop Sunday work let it begin at home, and if it wants to stop Sunday trains go for Joe Hickson, not indulge in vain generalities.

According to the London Free Press, Mr. Clarke, the delegate who brought up the London lottery swindle in the masonic grand lodge at Ottawa, "was most effectively set upon" by the grand master, who "preemptorily refused to receive such a motion, as no official information had reached him or the grand lodge of any masonic lottery having been run by either lodges or masons." This seems to be carrying the thing pretty far. Mr. Spry after all is only a mortal, notwithstanding the grandiloquent and exalted titles with which he is addressed, the cabalistic jewels with which he is decked out, and the costly gold lace of the spon that curstains his masonic robes, and being but mortal probably reads

"THE ROYAL READERS" (SPECIAL CANADIAN EDITION.)

The CENTRAL COMMITTEE to whom the several competitive Series of Readers were submitted, having recommended our Special Canadian Series of THE ROYAL READERS as being FIRST IN ORDER OF MERIT OVER ALL COMPETITORS they are now AUTHORIZED by the HON. A. S. HARDY, Acting Minister of Education, for use in the High and Public Schools of Ontario ON AND AFTER AUGUST 1, 1888.

The ROYAL READERS, Special Canadian Edition, is the ONLY NEW SERIES for which a CERTIFICATE has been granted by the EDUCATION DEPARTMENT which entitles them to be used in our Schools on and after AUGUST 1, 1888.

Nearly a score of years have elapsed since our Firm prepared the existing Series of Authorized Canadian Readers. The wonderful activity of those twenty years in Literature, as well as Science, has rendered necessary an entirely new Series of Readers specially prepared to meet the advanced requirements of Canadian Schools, but which at the same time shall in no wise disarrange the existing order and in many other ways the transition from the existing series to the new series has been facilitated. The grades of the books themselves will be found continuous from the Primer to the Fifth Reader. In the selection of the Lessons the claims of industry, sobriety and Christian Morals have been most carefully considered.

The rare literary quality of the selections can perhaps be best seen from an examination of the Synoptical Table of Authors appended to the Fifth Book. The precious gems of the older English literature will be found in new settings of that refined and brilliant criticism for which the last twenty years have been so remarkable. In our selections we have very many other recent but less accessible studies of the great masters in literature. Our own native literature has received frequent recognition. The Notes represent the results of the most recent research—Scientific and Literary—and are brought up to the day of publication. The pronunciation of all difficult words is indicated. Questions, suggestions and analyses are appended to the 3rd, 4th and 5th Books and will be found invaluable to Teachers and Students preparing for examinations.

The series contains about 450 illustrations of the highest artistic merit, topographical descriptions are accompanied by special maps and plans; and the entire mechanical execution of the Readers is of the very highest quality.

Table with 2 columns: Book Title and Pages. First Book Part I - 36 Pages, Part II - 72, Second Book - 224, Third Book - 288, Fourth Book - 352, Fifth Book - 520.

As the demand for these Books will in all probability tax our energies to supply promptly on re-opening of the Schools after the next Holidays, we beg to notify the Book Trade that all orders for the NEW ROYAL READERS will be filled in the rotation in which they are received. To prevent disappointment they will please order early.

the papers and hears what the people say. "Officially," however, he knows nothing. Grand lodge should have purged itself of the lottery swindle, and those who took part in it. But the grand master declared that he knew nothing of it, one of its chief promoters sat in the grand lodge un molested, and, according to the London Free Press, Mr. Clarke of Smith's Falls, who had the audacity to bring the matter up, "was most effectively set upon."

TEMPERANCE BALLADIES V. COMMON BLUNDRIES. To the Editor of The World. Sir: "Alcohol is not an element of evil," so says your correspondent Orthos. This is a striking illustration of the frequent misapplication of terms in dealing with the question of temperance. No sensible man who understands the meaning of words will speak of alcohol as an element of evil, but it is correctly referred to as an agent of evil. One of the great authorities whom your correspondent quotes (Gladstone) speaks of it as "worse than the combined evils of war, pestilence and famine." Fire is not an element of evil. It is an element of nature which if directed and applied to a proper use becomes a valuable agent. Let it be misapplied as by the hand of incendiary and it becomes an agent of disaster and ruin.

Orthos writes some high falutin' sentences, having nothing to do with a license to sell liquor, much less can we find authority in the teachings of Christ for granting a popular and affluent bootman a legal patent to deal out a popular poison to the destruction and ruin of many of his unassuming patrons. That final pronouncement of your correspondent's letter reads well, Mr. Editor, but the "final abolition of un-just barriers of the world's progress" surely mean not only the refusal of Haslam's license but the total abolition of the manufacture and sale of all intoxicating liquors. Toronto, July 14, 1888. W. BURGESS. [This must end this controversy.—Ed.]

From all I can learn, nothing would I think be more satisfactory to a majority of your citizens, and to men generally, than that Mr. Bain should be deprived of the office which he has so unworthily obtained and a better man put in his place. O.M. TRAVELER. Lindsay, July 13, 1888.

Fast Time on the Grand Trunk. From the Montreal Gazette, July 13. The U. T. R. special fast train, which is booked to leave Toronto at 8:30 a.m. and arrive in Montreal at 7 p.m., made an exceptionally fast run yesterday. Leaving Toronto an hour and a half late, it arrived in this city sharp on time, making thirteen stoppages. Even better time might have been made had that a freight engine without the Westinghouse brake was put on between Belleville and Brockville and had brakes had to be used. Deducting an hour for these stoppages, which is considerably under the mark, it made the run of 338 miles in eight hours, being slightly over 41 1/2 miles an hour.

FOUNDING AND MOULDING

The Extensive Works of the Bolt and Iron Works...

The annual stockholders' meeting of the Bolt and Iron company...

After an inspection of the new buildings the gentlemen assembled were called to order...

Mr. A. Livingston announced that the earnings of the company would allow the payment of a dividend of ten per cent...

The directors were nearly all elected, and upon being made full powers were given to the manager, Mr. Livingston...

It was also voted to open the stock-books for the sale of the treasury stock remaining in the hands of the company...

As this company has had such great success in the past, and is at present crowded to the utmost capacity...

which compels the running of both establishments, and which bids fair to be one of the largest iron works in the world...

The Dominion Bolt Works company's principal building, situated upon the banks of the Humber and fronting on the great lake...

It is a large one-story, 129 x 353 feet, three high, fire proof iron building, supported in the centre by 42 10-inch iron columns...

The building covers a space of 45,752 square feet, with store-house storage of 12,305 square feet, the cost having been $30,000 for the bare building...

which does not include the cost of the engine house and boiler room. Under this roof can be seen either erected or in course of erection 175 bolt making machines...

Some of these machines are of a very large capacity and require the attendance of several hands. To drive this large number of machines about 2 miles of belting and four lines of main shafting, in all over 1000 feet in length, are required...

which is run by a 45 foot 22 inch two-ply belt, assisted by 150 feet of 20-inch belting, the power being supplied by a handsome Corliss low pressure, 150 horsepower engine, made by Messrs. Inglis and Hunter...

the steam generators being two (100 horse power each) steel tubular boilers with improved smoke consumers. Aside from these bolt making machines a large number of small blast furnaces, supported by brick chimneys, are constructed and which are also used in the manufacture of bolts...

The G. T. railroad has laid a side track in front of the building, capable of holding a full train of cars and which is to be further extended so that coal cars can be run direct to the door of the building and be carried to the bins by tramways. This will cause a saving to the company of $8000 per year on their coal bill...

Not long will the bolt works remain alone upon the Humber, as the construction of two new factories will be commenced alongside of the above building. The ground has been purchased and the erection of the new paper mills 50 x 300 feet and 3 stories high; also the new foundry and machine shop building 75 x 200 and 60 x 300 feet. The foundations are now being laid for the new rolling mill by the Bolt company and it is expected that before long another first-class building will have been erected and as these buildings are to be erected immediately the prospects of Humberton for the brick trade, these firms will employ in all about 1200 men, and it appears an assured fact that a small town will be erected in the Humber district before people generally are aware of the vast improvements now taking place in this section.

The Lacrozes and the Sunderland Disaster. To the Editor of the World.

Sir: Suppose that the Geographic department from here to Canada, and by this time the press, have fully informed the public of the terrible calamity in Sunderland, by which nearly two hundred children between the ages of four and fourteen were crushed and suffocated to death in one mass. Here in England the sympathy is intense, from our ever sympathetic down to the lowest humbler child, and the press representing Montreal and Toronto cities, were invited to play in Sunderland on July 15, and as soon as we read of the accident we telegraphed to the mayor offering to cancel the engagement or fulfil it, and give the entire proceeds, not including hotel and traveling expenses of both Canadians and Indians, to any fund the mayor desired. The latter offer was accepted. Since then, another invitation has been sent to us from Houghton, five miles from Sunderland, which we have also accepted upon the same conditions. Will the press of Toronto and Montreal please copy this letter as it sent directly to each paper, and take up a suggestion I have made, where we go, the warmest expressions are heard toward Canada. As predicted, our visit is doing more to put Canada into the minds of the people than years of ordinary work. Cannot we in Montreal and Toronto raise subscriptions from among our schools, Sunday and day schools, and from other sources among the children, and send the mayor of Sunderland a Canadian contribution from Canadian children to show their sympathy? Every parent who has children must feel deeply for the dreadful bereavement in "our old home." I would suggest that the clergy of the various churches organize some system of collection, and that they control the funds, leaving their disposal to the mayor of Sunderland and the committee with him. Her majesty the queen has just given £50.

W. G. O. BERRIS. LONDON, June 21, 1888.

Canadian Banks in Chicago. The Bank of Montreal and the Canadian Bank of Commerce have begun suits in the United States circuit court at Chicago to recover $50,000 and $30,000, respectively, of J. D. Harvey, collector of internal revenue, for back taxes paid under protest. The banks claim they are only branches of banks in Canada, and that they have only limited capital at Chicago, and do business on it, and that their earnings, though very large, should only be taxed on their capital stock; but the commissioner of internal revenue has been assessing the earnings as part of the capital, and they object. They have paid the taxes, and have from time to time but only under protest.

An Elegant Blackguard.

The London correspondent of the New York Sun says: The Duke of Marlborough died of heart disease as he was about getting into bed on Wednesday night. He was one of the most respectable members of his distinguished family. He gambled a good deal, but he always paid up, even if he had to sell off the wonderful art treasures of the family to enable him to do so. He was not lucky, and he was wonderfully ignorant; but he made a very fair lieutenant when he was in Ireland. His son, the Marquis of Blandford, who enjoys the distinction of being one of the most elegant blackguards of the British nobility, succeeds to the title and to the hereditary pension of $25,000 a year voted to the first duke with the palace of Woodstock in the present member of the English commons the pension will not last long, but there are rich pickings about Woodstock, and the remainder of the Sunderland library, et cetera.

His present grace married Lady Alberta Hamilton, daughter of the duke of Abercorn, and has by her son and three daughters. For family reasons she condoned his adultery with Lily Aylesford, a case in which the Prince of Wales was prominently concerned; and she even forgave him for knocking her down at the breakfast table with a blow of the fist. It was only when she discovered his relations with a woman of low station, and found how irretrievable he was, that she celebrated the marriage with her husband. The divorce suit will become absolute in about three weeks, until when she will be duchess of Marlborough, retaining the title of her former title of Lady Alberta Hamilton, and going probably to Canada with her sister Lady Lansdowne. It is understood that the new duke intends to marry his present mistress, by whom he has two children. She also has two others, acquired earlier and more prominently, from whom his grace will perform the duties of a stepfather.

Blinds for a Lady's Toilet. Wash in rain water, if possible. It softens the skin and needs but little soap. Bathe the face and hands every evening with milk, and rub with lemon. This prevents sunburn. Do not pinch the hand up in hot moustiquaire kid gloves. The silk ones or lace will look as well, as fashionable and quite as comfortable. Do not lace unless you wish to suffer untold misery, or wear tight slippers or shoes. Wear slippers whenever you can, as they are always the coolest. Wash the front hair in soap and water every evening before retiring. This operation keeps it dry and gives it a crisp look, which effect is so much sought after, and if the hair comes uncurled it will not hang in ringlets over the forehead. Wear shields under the sleeves of every dress, and if you perspire much of the shoulders, place a square of light flannel next to the skin. This absorbs the perspiration and also keeps the body from the danger of sudden drafts. Do not use paint or powder if the weather is warm, for it is almost sure to be observed. A light application of rice powder several times a day will keep the face from becoming glossy, and will also cool the skin. Powder the hands and neck also. Fashion's Fables. Soft woolen suits are the best for picnic wear. Elbow sleeves, being the coolest, are worn on all the dresses this season. Delicate bathing-goggles of oil-skin are lined with pink or blue satin. Pink and blue polka-dotted stockings on a cream colored ground are much worn. Bracelets made of all manner of fancy woods and shells are much worn by young ladies. Large straw hats trimmed with French mill and caught by a silver dagger are fashionable. White birds look very jaunty when placed on the rolled English turbans, which are so popular at present. Bangs are worn very fluffy and almost down to the eyebrows. To make them fluff every evening in soap and warm water. Pale pink lawn dresses ruffled to the waist with white lace, the bodice and sleeves being also covered with the lace, make very charming dresses. They have the appearance of rosy clouds through white mist. Some very pretty and unique pins are made of silver in designs of sailors' knots, gold buttons, Louis XV. slippers, miniature bathing suits, canoes, tiny trees and tennis rackets. A girl must have at least a half dozen of them in the fashion.

TWELFTH DAY.

Notwithstanding the conspiracy of Moses Oates and the Editor of The World, in reference to the seventeen days' rain during the month of July, immense numbers of Ladies and Gentlemen daily visit our stores and purchase large quantities of BOYS' CLOTHING. The prices are so low that persons who come to our stores intending to purchase one or two suits, frequently buy as many as six to eight. Consequently our stock is being rapidly reduced, and persons requiring stylish, well made and good fitting clothing for their boys should lose no time but go direct to

COLLUSION AND FRAUD

"The Plaintiff has succeeded in establishing the collusion and fraud he has charged against the Defendants."—From Vice-Chancellor Ferguson's Judgment Gage vs. Gage and Canada Publishing Company.

IN HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE, CHANCERY DIVISION. W. J. GAGE, Plaintiff, vs. SAMUEL GEORGE BEATTY and CANADA PUBLISHING COMPANY (Wm. Campbell, Managing Director), Defendants. Other Directors and Officers are: James Campbell, W. Darling Taylor, Wm. Gordon, A. B. Lee, James Hain, Jr., John Lays.

NOTICE TO THE TRADE. Notice is hereby given that a judgment has been granted against the Defendants in the above matter. It was ordered that: 1. The Defendant company be restrained from selling the Copy Book in question. 2. Defendants pay to Plaintiff, Gage & Co., profits on all sales made by them of the Copy Book in question. 3. Defendants pay to Plaintiff damages as determined by the Master in Court. 4. Defendants pay full costs of the foregoing suit.

On rendering judgment the learned judge, Vice-Chancellor Ferguson, said: "After hearing all the evidence on the subject, and looking at the two books, and bearing all that was said, as I think could be urged on behalf of the parties respectively, I have no difficulty in arriving at the conclusion that the Defendants' book, in the form in which it is, and sold in the manner in which it has been shown to have been sold, is calculated to deceive the public." "And instead then into the belief that when they purchased the Defendants' book they were getting the plaintiff's book."

I do not think this case at all of a different kind, alleged to be a better one, being published with the view of its outpacing a rival book of fair competition in the market. The preparation of the books was, I think, a part of the scheme and I incline to the opinion that, on the merits, it is a case of collusion and fraud, and that the Defendants' book, in the form in which it is, and sold in the manner in which it has been shown to have been sold, is calculated to deceive the public."

The Defendants must have known this would be so, and I have no doubt they intended it should be so. The preparation of the books was, I think, a part of the scheme and I incline to the opinion that, on the merits, it is a case of collusion and fraud, and that the Defendants' book, in the form in which it is, and sold in the manner in which it has been shown to have been sold, is calculated to deceive the public."

After an attentive consideration of the subject I am of the opinion that the plaintiff has succeeded in establishing the collusion and fraud that he has charged against the defendants in this respect, and I think it my plain duty to express this finding in unambiguous, however strong the desire to avoid the necessity of so doing.

Notice is given to the trade that all persons selling or offering for sale any Hearty Copy Book other than that published by Gage & Co., will be held liable to damages.
