When you see an automobile coming, get out of the way. You may feel as though you are not getting your rights, but there is a certainty that you will live to enjoy the rights which you have got.

PROF. ALRIO GINE gave an exhibition of feats of strength before a large crowd on Wednesday evening from the band stand. The professor will give a further entertainment in the Music Hall on Seturday night,

The attendance at the Canadian National Exhibition is jumping at the rate of 100,000 a year. In 1909 it was 750,000 and in 1910 despite the unfavorable weather it was 837,000. This year only continued wet weather can keep it from reaching the million mark.

In another column will be found a report of the marriage of Miss Caroline B. Barnes, of Vancouver, daughter of the late S. D. Barnes of Watford. The Guide-Advocate joins the many friends of the bride in this vicinity in wishing her much happiness.

THE Seed Commissioners Department at Ottawa reports the likelihood of great shortages in nearly all kinds of grass and clover seeds this year. This means profitable prices to those having clean seed for sale. Everyone having reasonably clean fields of clover should save the second crop for sale. Careful hand weeding should be practiced.

In order to meet the demands of their steadily growing business the Sterling Bank of Canada announce an issue of $1,000,000 of additional capital, which will be offered to shareholders on record August 7th in the proportion of one share of new stock for every share of old held on that date. The Sterling Bank, owing largely to its conservative management, has made very steady and substantial progress during the past few years, and it has been evident for some little time past that if it were to keep pace with the development of its business it would find it advisable to secure additional capital. The Sterling is the third bank to announce an increase of capital during the past week. The Bank of Montreal and Bank of Toronto have also given similar notice to their shareholders.

An information has been laid before August 7th in the proportion of one share

An information has been laid before An information has been laid before T. B. Taylor, J. P., by W. S. Fuller, Town Clerk, against James Phair and Victor Bowers for being drunk and disorderly and using blasphemous and obscene language on the streets on Tuesday night last. The case will be heard this (Thursday) afternoon at 2 o'clock. Exhibitions of rowdyism have been sltosether to prevalent on our streets, lately hibitions of rowdyism have been alto-gether too prevalent on our streets lately and we are glad to see that some one has made a move to bring offenders before a Justice of the Peace. The several breach-es of the peace that have occurred dur-ing the past few weeks show that a con-stable is necessary to look after the peace and welfare of the town, and the Council should arount one at one and Council should appoint one at once and not depend upon private citizens to lay complaints against ofienders.

A BRAVE rescue from drowning was made at Hillsboro on Saturday last when Reginald Brown, the 16-year-old son of Mr. A. G. Brown of town, saved the life Mr. A. G. Brown of town, saved the life of Frank Littleproud, a 13-year-old Inwood boy. It appears that some of the boys who are camping at Hillsboro got into deep water while bathing and young Littleproud got beyond his depth and sank. A cry for help from his companions brought some of the other boys on shore to the rescue, and Reginald Brown risched in without, removing his clothes wide-Advocate. It is like a letter from home." While Edward Lambe was raking hay recently on the farm of Reeve Spearman, Jura, he noticed a small animal hopping jura, he noticed a small animal hopping away, which he captured. Its body was the size of an ordinary mouse: its fore legs very short, hind legs three inches and tail seven inches long. It had the appearance of a small kangeroo, and hopped around on its hind legs. John P. Grigg, Mayor of Stettler, Alta., who came back to his old home in Caradoc township on a hurried business trip, says the West will produce a banner harvest this year and all expect the grain yield to break the record. At present only about two per cent of the land in the great and vast west is yet under crop, and it is hard to conceive just what will happen in the grain markets of the world when some sweet day the balance of the boundless fertile prairies are occupied and under cultivation.

To School Graduates.

Do not let your diplomas make fools of Do not let your diplomas make fools of you. Do not imagine that because you are educated that it will be degrading for you to engage in any of the avocations of life. Education is a good thing. An educated farmer ought to be a better farmer than one without education. An educated carpenter ought to be a better mechanic than one not educated. Education, however, without practical everyday common sense does not accomplish much. Education which fills its possessor with false pride, that leads him to elevate his collegiate nose to all labor outor with false pride, that leads him to elevate his collegiate nose to all labor outside the professions is poor stock in trade. Education is just as honorable in its shirt sleeves working at some of the useful trades, as it is in broadcloth, talking in a pulpit or loating in a clientless lawyer's office. When you get over the "threshold of life" and out in the "ocean of time" you will be crowded out of the procession by some hustling, practical, hard working fellow who never saw the inside of a high school or college building. It is true manhood or womanhood, sterling integrity, indomitable pluck, and hard work, and not diploma Latin, French or German, that makes the wheels go round and the world move. go round and the world move

Women suffering from any form of illness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established this confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Never has she published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the aundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience

Out of the vast volume of experience which Mrs. Pinkham has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge needed in your case. She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. The states of Kansas, Michigan, Wisconsin, Mississipi, New Jersey, New York and Illinois have abolished by statute the public drinking cup, and other states are preparing to fall in line. In Canada public feeling against the "cup of death" is steadily gaining in strength.

The pope, in view of the increased cost of living, has issued an encycli-cal to Roman Catholics with a view to help the working and salaried classes. The pope has decided to abolish the obligation to hear mass on the days of St. Joseph and St. John the Baptist and Corpus Domini, which henceforth will be solemnized on the nearest Sunday. Catholics must continue to attend mass on Sundays, Christmas, New Year's, Twelth Day, Ascension Day, Assumption Day, All Saints' Day, Feast of the Conception, of St. Peter, and of the Conception of St. Peter, and the Co on the days of St. Joseph and St. the Conception, of St. Peter, and of

"Remember the Maine," is no longer a popular slogan in the United States. Indeed, it is evident that the intelligent people of that country would like to forget the rallying cry of which the disgraceful attack upon Spain was made possible. It is now but too evident that the battleship Maine was wrecked by an internal explosion. "Remember the Maine" should serve as a warning against rash conclusions and precipitate and unjust action based upon them.

One day last week, the family of J. H. Alexander, Essex, saw a big spotted snake in the yard after the chickens. They raised an alarm and J. C. Dease went gunning for the viper. Hearing a great fluttering of birds in an apple tree, he discovered the snake wound around a limb, helping itself to a young robin from a nest in the branches. Throwing up a clod he attracted its attention, so that when its head swung round he shot it off, cutting off the head and that part of the robin not already swallowed. The sinuous body then unwound itself and dropped to the ground.

It is loaded with a bullet made of a chemical composition, to which is added enough powder to propel it. The bullet explodes and causes a thick cloud of vapor, which is evelopes the victim, makes it impossible for him to see, renders his breathing difficult, and he finally falls into a swoom that lasts from ten minutes to a half hour. It is believed that the new pistol will be of importance for policeman, as they may be able to overcome rowdies or even unmanageable crowds effectively without manageable crowds effectively without killing anybody. It will also be a boon to editors as they will be able to put chronic kickers to sleep and have them quietly removed from the office while in a comatose state.

PURIFIED HIS BLOOD

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Healed Mr. Wilson's Sores

When the sewers of the body—bowels, kidneys and skin ducts—get clogged up, the blood quickly becomes impure and frequently sores break out over the body. The way to heal them, as Mr. Richard Wilson, who lives near London, Ont., found, is to purify the blood. He

ESKIMO FAMILY LIFE.

A Glimpse of the Home When White Guests Are Present.

The usual sights on entering an Eskisite you a steamer-like berth covered with skins—the sleeping quarters of the family; underneath, or in front, sit one or two women, busily sewing; to the right, a man making hunting gear. Never will you find an Eskimo family idle. All occupants are naked to the waist, sometimes only covered with a loin cloth. Along the wall on either side burn several lamps. These lamps with the oil of the seal, whale or walrus; along the edge is placed a litthe purpose of the wick in our lamps. The lamps do not smoke, and, besides flluminating, throw a great heat Above the flame hangs a piece of blub-ber, to replenish the oil, also a teakettle.

You are cordially invited to take off your things and stay awhile. This means disrobing to the same extent, for the air is foul and the temperature that of a Turkish bath. If you come during meal time, which is at any hour of the day, you are cordially invited to partake; you decline and no offense is given. If the meal consists of frozen fish, blubber or something they know the white man abhors, some joker will especially entreat you to join his dish and then there is a great laugh all around. The Eskimo loves to laugh, play practical jokes on his friends, respond in wittielsm, and is of a happy, childlike disposition. Treachery, stealing and lying are practically unknown among them, the two latter only since some of them have imitated the white man. I am not including the Siberian, Greenland or Labrador Eskimo.—Captain F. E. Kleinschmidt in Pacific Monthly berley's Early Days. There are as many stories of I. D. B. -1. e., illicit diamond buying—in South Africa as there were of smuggling in England a century ago. Louis Cohen tells of some of the dodges in his "Reminiscences" of Kimberley's early days. "Dogs were enlisted in the traf-fic and used as carriers. John D. Rockefeller says "wealth is a burden." This is no doubt true, but there are many people hereabout who will take pleasure in practicing the scriptural injunction to bear one another's burdens if John will only send along a portion of the load.

ILLICIT DIAMOND BUYING. Dodges the Traders Worked In Kim-

The Dominion elections and the Fall Fairs will have to divide up the honors this year. The big pumpkin and the reciprocity argument will both claim the attention of the electors next month, but there will be a few "small pumpkins" who will go into hiding after Sept. 21st.

Why does one say "a maider lady" and "a widow woman?" We speak of the fair maiden lady, the beautiful and witty maiden lady then of the wise widow, the merry widow, the charming widow, the grass widow, and a dozen other varieties of widow, but never the widow lady. Why is this? Does lovely woman cease to be a lady when she becomes a widow.?

A New York magistrate has decided that mothers-in-law should not visit their children in law longer than 10 days at a stretch. He says that while mothers in law are more or less necessary institutions it was possible for them to become an evil through failure to use discretion. He adds that mothers-in-law are constitutionally bossy though there may be a few exeptions.

question of a child's age arose. This delicate problem has just been solved by an American line in a manner that would make the author of the Book of Proverbs look to his laurels as a shrewd judge. By careful computation it is ascertained that the average height of five-year olds is 41 inches and accordingly a mark was painted at that height from the floor in their cars. Hereafter there can be no insinuations regarding the veracity of parents who desire to save the money. If dispute arises the youngster is marched up to the fare height mark and the answer is obvious.

New Zealand is the country of freak legislation. Recently the Chinese there were found to be doing a great deal of the laundry work. In New Zealand a laundry is a factory within the meaning of the law. A New Zealand law-maker discovered that he could settle the question of Chinese competition with women laundresses by a slight change in the interpretation clause of the Factory Act. An amendment was therefore drafted and printed and sent with the utmost seriousness and good faith to the Crown Law Office for consideration. It contained a provision in these words: "For the purposes of this act (the Factor-

WESTERN FAIR.

Reputation of the Great Exhibition will be More Than Maintained this year.

All Canada, particularly the Province of Ontario, has a warm place in its heart for the Western Fair, partly because it is the pioneer big annual Exhibition of the Dominion and has set a pace for other shows of a similar character, but mainly for the reason that it is always a good Fair, that it lives up to its advertising, and can be relied on, no matter what others are found wanting.

That this year's Wastern Fair, to be held in London, Sept. 8th to 16th, will surpass in every respect all others of the past there is every reason to believe. For the directors have been harder at work than ever before, and are spending more money than in any previous year to make the Fair of 1911 the best yet.

The Western Fair is noted as the live

The Western Fair is noted as the live stock exhibition per excellence of Canada; indeed it is safe to say that no other stock exhibition per excellence of Canada; indeed it is safe to say that no other fair excels it in this respect. As an exhibition of agricultural, horticultural and dairy products, the Western Fair has no superior, and the promise of abundant crops of all kinds encourages the belief that the display in all these departments will be numerous and varied.

The Western Fair is essentially the people's fair. It was originated and has been conducted through a long series of years for their edification and entertainment, and that they appreciate the efforts that have been made in their behalf is shown by the vast throngs that each year pass through the turnstiles at Queen's Park, London. Intending Exhibitors cannot get in their applications for space in the various buildings too soon, Reduced rates on railways.

A Sure Road to a Happy Old Age.

This describes in a few words the Canadian Government Annuities Scheme. That this "sure road" is available to all residents of Canada who are over 5 years of age irrespective of sex, health, age or worldly position, is worthy of consideration. Parents may begin the purchase of Annuities for their children, or children, who have prospered, may find in this scheme a safe way to provide an income for fathers and mothers who have not been so fortunate in life as they. On the other hand, people who have a limited income can increase that sum substantially by the transfer of their capital to the Government for the purchase of an Annuity.

Full particulars may be obtained concerning this Scheme by addressing the Superintendent of Canadian Government Annuities, Ottawa. Postage free.

Notes From Red Deer, Alta.

In reading of convention in East Lambton nominating Dr. C. O. Pairbank Petrolea as a liberal candidate for the next election, I am reminded that the late D. J. Campbell, Edmonton, then a partner of Campbell Bros., Wattord, was the secretary of the Reform association when Mr. Fairbanks, Sr., ex.M.P., was in the zenith of his power. D. J. had a great grip in the riding and did his work faithfully. The Union boys played their part in life well, no small amount of the credit must be given to the late Duncan Campbell, Warwick, who worked hard while teaching there. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell while in Watford and other places were hospitable and had the good will-of every person at heart.

We had abundance of rain here the last two or three weeks and the crops are looking well.

Your correspondent will be pleased to have any of the Watford Guide readers drop in to see him while in the West. I always remember many of the former school teachers in E. Lambton. Mr. White who taught in Watford, Mr. Dunsmore, now of Strathroy, Mr. R. Deathly Cramps, Stomach was Bloated Bad Case That Proves Cramps and Stomach Disorders are Cured Fast by Nerviline.

"The distress I suffered from cramps last summer was so severe I thought it meant death," writes P. R. Emerson, of Guys Hill, P. O. "I was doubled up with pain and in such bad shape I couldn't walk a hundred feet. I remembered having Nerviline on hand and took half a teaspoonful in sweetened water. In five minutes I was well and my stomach derangements disappeared entirely."

NERVILINE

For cramps, flatulence, diarrhoea and disorders of the stomach and bowels, Nerviline knows no equal—one million bottles used every year—fifty years on the market that's proof enough of its merit. Large bottles, 50c., trial size. 25c. Alf dealers or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

Two Sufficient. Mr. Austen Chamberlain tells an excellent story against himself. When he left his Alma Mater he traveled on the continent for some months, and then returned to Birmingham with the intention of devoting himwith the intention of devoting himself seriously to politics. He had been at home only a few days when he met his old nurse, who inquired what vocation he thought of pursuing. "Oh," he said, in reply, "I'm going in for politics!" "For politics," was the exclamation of the old lady. "Oh, Mr. Austen, I should have "Oh, Mr. Austen, I should have thought two in the family, your father and Mr. Richard, enough to have in politics! Why don't you go in for something useful?"

The Parrot and the Nut.

Brutes are able to compare and dis-Brutes are able to compare and distinguish: A parrot will take up a nut and throw it down again without attempting to crack it. He has found that it is light; this he could discover only by comparing the weight of the good nuts with that of the bed, and he has found that it has no kernel; this he could only discover by what philosophers would dignify with the grand title of a syllogism—namely, "all light nuts are hollow; this is a light nut, therefore the nut is hollow."—Max Muller.

The Lisenchanting Phonograph. The Lisenchanting Phonograph.

The best story I have heard recently is that told of a well known Oxford don who was asked to speak into a phonograph. A little later the machine was turned on again, and he was requested to listen to his own voice. The don then turned to the assembled company and said, "It is strange that through this machine I am made to speak in a peculiarly bumptious and affected manner."

The Drama.

The drama, in the only sense in which it is worth talking about, had its origin in Greece immediately following the defeat of Darius and Xerxes, about B.O. 460. Its birthplace was attens, and its fathers were Aeschylus and Aristophanes—Aeschylus of tragedy and Aristophanes—Aeschylus of tragedy and Aristophanes of comedy. When the Greek and Roman civilization went into eclipse under the black cloud of northern barbarianism, the theatre, as with nearly everything else, became extinct, but during the middle ages acting was in a measure resumed in the form of the "Moralities," or Moral Plays of the Ecclesiastics, and it was from such plays that the modern drama was slowly evolved.

Sand as a Fire Extinguisher. Sand as a Fire Extinguisher.

Why are pails of sand kept hanging in some buildings? It is the usual thing to see hanging in large buildings — museums, factories, offices-rows of pails containing a liquid which can be used for extinguishing the flames in case of fire. It is quite common nowadays to see also a pail of sand hanging with the others or in a place by itself. This sand is for use in case of fire caused by an accident to the electric wires, bringing about what is known as "a short circuit." If water were used it would spread the electric current and probably increase the damage, but sand, properly used, very quickly, extinguishes the flames.

The healthy glow disappearing from the cheek and moaning and restlessness at night are sure symptoms of worms in children. Do not fail to get a bottle of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator; it is an effectual medicine,

Cause, Rush of Blood, Fullness, Dizziness.

J. T. Chetland, the well-known raliway engineer of Hamilton, found the strain always resting upon men of his occupation vastly intensified by a tendency of the blood to rush to his head, and often at times when clearness of vision and great steadiness were demanded. Finding some diffichity in bending—a stiffness with pain having settled in his back, it occurred to him that his kidneys might be at fault. "This was a happy idea, for by it I not only got rid of the pain but many other troubles as well. I took a full dose of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and was glad to note that some obstruction of the kidneys, which I had lately noticed, was at once relieved.
The flushed appearance of my face gave way to a more rational color and there was a perceptible improvement in my appetite. Dr. Hamilton's Pills certainly act splendidly upon the

TROWBRIDGE

A Lesson as to Circumstantial Evidence

ciation, 1911. Trowbridge, a girl of twenty-two, had been tried before Judge Griffiths, and the evidence had proved her guilty beyond a doubt. The charge was grand larceny, though it was afterward changed to receiving stolen property. Some goods had been missed from a store. A woman was seen to take them and had been followed. She was tracked to an apartment house, where she was lost. Among others the apartments in which Miss Trowbridge lived was searched, and the articles-some lingerie-were found between the mattresses of her bed.

Miss Trowbridge had captured both judge and jury by her innocent and modest appearance, but the evidence was so strong against her that it was impossible for the twelve jurymen to acquit her. The judge gave her the lightest sentence the law would allow-two years in the penitentiary. But even so light a sentence was a horror to one who had been carefully reared and well educated. After it had been pronounced the prisoner, having been embraced by her mother, turned to George Whitcomb, to whom she was engaged to be married and on whose face were written horror and indignation.

"Cheer up, George!" she said. "You and I know that I am innocent. Two years will soon pass, and then we will be reunited." "It's horrible!" was his only reply. When Judge Griffiths left the court room at the end of a day's work he thrust from his mind, as was his custom, the scenes of the day. A happier scene to come took their place. In a few days would occur a birthday to his daughter, a girl just emerging from her teens, and her father was thinking of giving her a present of some article of jewelry. On his way home he stopped at Benkard's, the principal jeweler of the town. There he looked over various articles until his fancy was caught by a bracelet, a golden serpent with two ruby eyes. He asked the price, but found it to be greater than what he had laid out for his purpose. The salesman showed him others, which he examined approvingly, but always returned to the snake with the ruby eyes.

"I wish it," he said, "for my daughter, whose twentieth birthday comes around in a few days. But I'll not decide today. Perhaps I'll come in to-

When after Judge Griffiths' departure the clerk put away a dozen or more articles that he had been showing the judge he missed the bracelet. Frightened, he looked over every article on and in the case, thinking that he might have overlooked it, then on the floor to see if it had been dropped. The bracelet was not to be found.

One thing was certain—the bracele had been taken. The salesman report ed that while showing goods to an minently respectable appearing gen tleman a bracelet had been lost. A member of the firm questioned him closely, but got no further information than has been given here. The sales man had recently been given a position on trial. He was very anxious to make sales, and both he and his em-ployer considered that his anxiety in respect had momentarily dive his attention from what every salesman must constantly be on the watch for-theft.

A week passed and nothing had been heard from the missing bracelet. Then one day an anonymous note in an evidently disguised hand was received at Benkard's. It was as follows:

"On Wednesday, the 7th of June last, was in your store looking at some lewelry. I stood near a case at which a gentleman was examining different articles. I saw a lady standing at the same case. She picked up several articles, looked at them, examined the tags attached to them and put them down. While the salesman was intent on his customer she took up a bracelet, held it-in both hands and examined it closely. She wore loose flowing sleeves, and while the salesman was examining the tag on a brooch for the purpose of learning its price she dropped the bracelet into one of her sleeves

"The young lady was evidently not common thief. At any rate, she was handsomely dressed. Curiosity led me to discover whom she was and what her object might be in stealing the bracelet. She went directly from the store, hurrying as soon as she reached the door. I followed her and saw her get on a trolley car. I boarded the car myself and left it when the thief left it. Passing off the main street, she turned into a residential avenue stopped at a stone front dwelling and entered with a latchkey.

"The adventure interested me and I took pains to investigate as to who lived in the house. I learned that it was the residence of a prominent citizen. Describing the girl thief to those who were familiar with the family. I was told that I had described his only daughter.

"I found myself in an unpleasant po sition. To accuse a young lady, the daughter of a respectable and influential man of theft without corroborative evidence would be out of the question. To permit a theft without reporting it would be a violation of the duties of citizenship. After much thought I hit upon the following plan: I gave the facts to a detective agency and asked that it endeavor to put a man in the house with a view to making a search for the stolen property. It gave one of its best men the job, and by watching the house for some time he finally found the premises left in the care of a servant. Entering surreptitiously, he searched a room which he had taken pains to learn was the bedroom of the young lady I had seen at your store. He found the bracelet between the mattresses of her bed.

"Feeling that I have done even more than my duty, I leave the matter in your hands. If you will get out a war rant and search the second story back bedroom of 32 Warren street you will find your bracelet. At any rate, the detective saw it there less than an hour ago."

While Judge Griffiths was sitting on the bench-he had just pronound sentence on a criminal-a hurry call came over the telephone for h come home at once. He immediately, adjourned the court and, calling a cab, drove to his residence. Hastily entering, he found his family in a most distressing situation. The house was in the hands of officers of the law, who had in their possession the identical ruby eyed bracelet he had thought of buying for his daughter's birthday, present. It had been found between the mattresses of her hed.

nized a judge of the criminal courtidid not absolve them from doing their duty. Miss Griffiths was taken by them in a carriage to court, her father accompanying her, where a charge of larceny was made against her. Her father gave bail for her appearance for trial, and she returned with him to their home. to their home.

A mystery loomed up before Judge Griffiths. Not for a moment did he suspect that his daughter was gullty of theft. What puzzled him was that he had examined this very bracelet with a view to buying if. He was sure that he could not have taken it from the store by mistake. And if he had done so how could it have come between the mattresses of his daughter's bed? But the mystery was nothing to the terror with which the incident inspired the judge. Without an explanation his daughter must be tried convicted and sentenced to the peni tentiary. On just such evidence he had sentenced hundreds of criminals He went at once to Benkard's and was closeted with the head of the

On hearing the judge's errand, Mr. Benkard told him of the anonymous letter he had received and show-ed him another that had just come in apparently from a different person, au thorizing him to say to Judge Griffiths that it would be to his advantage to recommend to the governor of the state that a pardon be granted to Edith Trowbridge, whom he had sentenced to serve two years in state prison. This was all the information received on the subject, except that Benkard had recovered his lost property by acting on the advice of his first correspond-

For the first time the judge recalled the Trowbridge case. It was plain that some one interested in that case had planned an ingenious method of placing his daughter in the same post-tion as that occupied by the girl he had sentenced. Furthermore, he saw, at once that the scheme had been so droltly managed that there was little hope of exposing the perpetrators.

Whether the scheme had been worked in the interest of an innocent on guilty person the judge did not know. He had no evidence to prove that a scheme had been worked at all that could be satisfactorily presented to a court. He went at once to the governor of the state and laid the case before him. The governor yielded to his solicitations and issued a pardon for Edith Trowbridge.

As soon as Miss Trowbridge was free Judge Griffiths received word that the person who had worked up the case against his daughter would explain on a promise of immunity; The judge, glad to remove the obloguy that rested upon his child, acceded to the terms and soon after received a visit from George Whitcomb, who said to him:

"You convicted an innocent girl on circumstantial evidence. After the trial I saw you walk up the street and you, stood beside you at the counter, aw you look at the bracelet and heard all you said. When the clerk's back another article I saw an opportunity to steal the bracelet. To do so and make a plan for laving the theft at your door occurred to me. At the risk of you or some other criminal judge sending me where you sent Miss Trowbridge I slipped the bracelet into my "My object thus far was revenge upon you for sending an innocent girl, the girl I loved, to state prison. Then it occurred to me that my case would be stronger and my revenge greater if I could fix it on your daughter. A third idea was to show you the falli-bility of circumstantial evidence, and, lastly, I saw an opportunity to compel you to use your influence to secure the release of the girl you had wrongfully sent to prison.

"I wrote the note to Benkard & Co. and employed a detective to steal into your house and place the bracelet between the mattresses of your daugh-

New Home for Sterling Bank Contracts Awarded for Construction of Nine Storey Building on Poriage

Ave., Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, July 26.—(Special).—The announcement is made here by Mr. G. T. Somers, the President of the Sterling Bank of Canada, that the Board of Directors have decided on the erection in Winnipeg of a modern nine storey bank and office building to be situated on the corner of Portage Avenue and Smith Street.

The contract for the construction of the new building has been awarded to Carter-Halls-Aldinger Company, Ltd., and was designed by Messrs. James Chisholm & Son, architects. The new building will be of terra cotta and Minneapolis pressed brick, and the attractiveness of its design is sure to make it a distinctive addition to the many fine bank buildings that are already located in the commercial centre of the city.

John Bell, 14th con., Plympton, went back to his pasture Sunday afternoon to catch a horse with which to drive to church, but was surprised to find his best mare lying in the field with a broken ieg-

PRETTY CEREMONY AT TRINITY CHURCH LAST NIGHT-RECEPTION AT MR.

AND MRS. ANNABLE'S.

(Nelson Daily News.)

Nelson, B.C., July 25.—A very interesting ceremony took place at Trinity Methodist church last evening when Miss Caroline B. Barnes, of Vancouver, B.C., youngest daughter of the late S. D. Barnes. Watford, Ont., and R. K. Scarlett, city passenger agent for the C.P.R., were united in marriage by Rev. A. E. Smith. The bride was given away by Mrs. J. E. Annable while her daughter, Miss Nellie Annable, assisted. Dr. Wilmott B. Steed was best man.

Dressed in a travelling suit of navy blue serge, with chiffon apricot waist and tagal hat to match, and carrying a boquet of white carnations and smilax, the bride looked charming as she entered the church to the strains of the bridal march from Lohengrin. The bridesmaid also wore a navy blue serge suit, cream lace hat and carried pink carnations.

Lewis Roberts, the organist of the church, presided, and in addition to the bridal and wedding march played Elgar's "Salut D'Armour" during the ceremony. The wedding breakfast was served on beautifully decorated tables at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Annable, at which function appropriate references to the happy event were made by Rev. A. E. Smith, Dr. Steed and Lewis Roberts, to which the bridegroom suitingly responded.

Many valuable presents were received (Nelson Daily News.)

TRIED TWO DOCTORS WITH NO BENEFIT

Then Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Wrought a Lasting Cure.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made so many remarkable cures in serious cases that people are liable to over-look their value as a tonic for the blood and nerves in debility and general run-down conditions. That such conditions are the cause of much misery and unhappiness is fully known to those who suffer from them and the need of curing them is as vital as is relief from diseases with high sounding names. We commend the following statement to any one suffering from weak, thin blood, or shattered nerves. Mrs. Mae Macabe, Gleichen, Alta, says: "A few years ago I became run down, not seriously ill, but just tired and weak all the time. I consulted our family doctor, who gave me tonic after tonic with no effect. I gradually got weaker and weaker until I could not do my work. Then I went to another doctor who grave me to following the procusured was considered to the country were considered to the country who grave me to a consulter doctor who grave me to a consulter doctor who grave me and dealer was care of dealers. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made so tonic with no effect. I gradually got weaker and weaker until I could not do my work. Then I went to another doctor who pronounced my case one of decline, and recommended a warmer climate with complete rest. This I could not afford and I began to worry and fret, until I became a complete nervous wreck. One day while visiting a neighbor an old gentleman who was taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for partial paralysis recommended them to me. I sent out and got three boxes, but without much faith that they would help me, but before they were gone I noticed an improvement and I continued taking the Pills, constantly growing stronger, until I had taken seven or eight boxes, when I was completely cured. I could do my work as easily as ever I had done in my life, and the doctor told me that he could scarcely believe the change in me, as he had not had the least hope that I would be strong again. Now I always keep the Pills on hand and it I feel fatigued or weary take them for three or four days so as not to get run down."
