HUGE POTATO YIELDS

Seed From Northern Ontario
Outyields All Others.

How to Lower Mortality of Young Lambs—Best Methods of Caring For Both Ewe and Lamb Explained.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

PLANS are being carefully evolved by the Department of Agriculture to continue experiments, begun last year, which it is expected will have far-reaching results for the potato industry in Ontario. The investigations which officials of the Department are making are thorough and extensive, and consequently somewhat slow. But it is confidently believed that within a few years potato seed grown in Ontario will be in great demand not only by other parts of the Dominion, but by many districts of the United States. This, it is anticipated, will be a distinct boon to the farmers of the province.

The two-fold program which was inaugurated last year of certifying a high standard of potato seed and making a survey to detect diseases is to be carried on on a much wider scale this coming season. Reports from the various inspectors have now been compiled by the Department, and the statistics are of considerable interest to the progressive and up-to-date agriculturist. The two foundation varieties which the Department is showing—Irish Cobbler, the early seed, and the Green Mountain—have been the subject of widespread discussion. There has been much difference of opinion as to which is the better for general table use. The reports for last year clearly prove that the Green Mountain is the best variety for the general farmer. Seed of these two varieties from three different sources—Northern Ontario, New Brunswick and Old Ontario—has been experimented with and planted in clay and sand in nearby districts in different parts of the province. These are the following average yields per acre:

Irish Cobbler—Northern Ontario, 153.4; New Brunswick, 148; Old Ontario, 127.

Green Mountain—Northern Ontario, 177.5; New Brunswick, 137.3; Old Ontario, 167.3.

The general average per acre on the different plots was:

Irish Cobbler planted in sand, 151.5, and on clay, 126.1, which shows a yield of 25.4 bushels more to the acre from seed planted on sand.

Green Mountain planted on sand, 169.3, and 153.2 bushels planted on clay, a yield of 16.1 more bushels per acre from seed planted on sand.

The results when the yields from all sources for Irish Cobbler are compared show the average number of bushels per acre was 142.1, and Green Mountain, 161.4 bushels. Thus it will be seen that the Green Mountain gave the larger yield, being 19.3 bushels per acre ahead of the Irish Cobbler variety.

With Ewes at Lambing Time.

The two main factors contributing to a satisfactory lamb crop are the proper feeding and care of the sheep during the six months previous to lambing time together with care and detailed attention given to the flock during the lambing period. Plenty of exercise coupled with a sufficient amount of the right kind of feed to maintain the flock in good thriving condition will usually result in the birth of active, rugged lambs for which the mother will have a liberal supply of milk.

Provision should be made for a few small pens located along the warmest side of the building. The ewe to lamb is much safer separated from the main flock and in cases of difficult parturition, weak lambs, ewes disowning their lambs and numerous other difficulties that may arise they can be looked after a great deal more satisfactorily when confined in small enclosures. It not infrequently happens that a ewe has difficulty in delivering her lamb; this is more common in the case of young ewes with their first lamb. When the lamb has come forward far enough so that the nose and front feet are in sight and the head is unable to pass through the ewe should be assisted by gentle pulling on the forehead. If this fails smear the inside of the vagina well with linsed oil, this has the effect of softening and allowing the opening to stretch and will, unless the case is a very severe one, give relief. No action should be taken until it is reasonably certain some assistance is needed and before investigating the hands should be perfectly clean and disinfected.

Lambs may be born weak and apparently lifeless, not particularly in case of difficult delivery. These may be revived by quick action on the part of the attendant. First remove the phlegm from the mouth, then hold the mouth open and blow gently a few times to start lung action. Next lay the lamb on its belly and gently beat it on the sides next to the heart just back of the shoulder.

CONDITIONING HORSES

Must Start Four to Six Weeks Before Spring Work Begins.

Time Now to Build Hotbeds—How to Construct It, Ventilation and Watering Most Difficult Problems, Injure Early Vegetables.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

THE experienced farmer knows the importance of having his horses in the best possible condition to stand the strenuous work of spring. Upon his horse power depends, in no small degree, his success in getting his seed sown early in a well-prepared seed bed in the proper tith to bring best possible returns, for early seeding and a deep, fine seed-bed mean more bushels in the granary in the fall.

The actual practice of conditioning for spring work should commence from four to six weeks before the land is likely to be ready for the plough or cultivator. All changes in feeding should be made gradually. Straw in the roughage ration should gradually be replaced by hay until finally nothing but good quality hay is being fed. Careful feeders generally save their best hay for the spring work. The horse that has been getting little or no grain must not be immediately put on a full ration. Commence with a small feed, say half a gallon of rolled oats or, at most, twice per day and gradually increase this as spring draws near until the horse is approaching full feed. While the horse is still on a small ration the percentage of roughage fed to the whole ration may be continued large. That is, a full feed of concentrates is not necessary until work begins but something approaching a full feed should be reached just before seeding opens.

Once hard work has begun the grain or concentrate ration must be gradually increased and the roughage proportionately decreased. The more severe the labor the smaller the proportion of roughage and the larger the proportion of concentrates should be. From eight to fourteen pounds of oats per day according to weight of animal, should be enough for the average farm horse just before seeding starts and something in the neighborhood of one pound to one and one-half pounds of roughage per day during the "conditioning" period that their muscles become hardened and that their shoulders gain the power of resistance to prevent galls and sore later on. Preparation for the spring work should be a fleshing and hardening process, and it cannot be accomplished without good feeding, grooming and regular light work in harness. When heavy work begins, gradually increase the grain feed up to from ten to fifteen pounds daily according to the weight of the horse, and the hay to such an extent that the animal is getting a total ration of grain and roughage of from two to three pounds per hundred pounds of horse, this depending on condition and amount of work done. Always give plenty of pure water, mostly before feeding grain if possible.—Prof. Wade Toole, O. A. College, Guelph, Ont.

Starting Early Plants.
Growers desire to have vegetables as early as possible, and for this reason it is necessary to start plants like cabbage, cauliflower and beets in hotbeds. Others like tomatoes and peppers have too long a season of growth to ripen a sufficient amount of the crop to make it pay. This method gives us from four to six weeks start.

Hot beds should be on the south side of a fence or building. Obtain good fresh manure, turn twice to get fermentation well started. Put it in a pile about eighteen inches to two feet in height, and a foot larger each way than the frame, being careful to tramp it thoroughly. To do this put it up in layers of six inches. Then put on the frame, which should be eighteen inches at the back and twelve inches at the front, facing south. Put in four to six inches of soil and put on the glass. Air every days for the first four days to get rid of the gases generated by the fermentation. The soil is then raked

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Brought Quick and Permanent Relief

103 Church Street, Montreal.

December 10th, 1917.
"I was a great sufferer from Rheumatism for over 16 years, I consulted specialists, took medicines, used lotions; but nothing did me good. Then, I began to use "Fruit-a-tives"; and in 15 days, the pain was easier and the Rheumatism was better. Gradually, "Fruit-a-tives" overcame my Rheumatism; and now, for five years, I have had no return of the trouble. Also, I had severe Eczema and Constipation, and "Fruit-a-tives" relieved me of these complaints; and gave me a good appetite; and in every way restored me to health". P. H. MCHUGH.

and made ready for sowing. The seed is generally sown in rows three inches apart, about 10 seeds to the inch. When the seedlings are showing the first true leaf they are transplanted to other beds, the plants being set two inches apart each way. With cabbage, cauliflower, beets and lettuce, this one transplanting is all that is necessary. Tomatoes, egg plants, pepper and such plants require two transplantings, the last one four inches apart each way, or into four inch clay pots or quart berry baskets.

Ventilation and watering are the two most difficult problems in hotbed management. Ventilation should be given whenever possible. Even on stormy days the sash should be lifted even if it is only the thickness of a lath that is placed under it. Many growers use a piece of lath three inches long. This gives them three different distances of ventilation, and it may be laid on the glass when not in use, and will be always ready. Always have the opening away from the wind. You should also ventilate after watering to prevent scalding.

Water carefully, only give what the plant requires, especially in the early season, and only in bright days, in the morning. The plants must be dried off by night. As the plants grow the watering will, of necessity, be often, but care and thought should be used at all time.—A. H. MacLennan, Vegetable Specialist.

The Call Of The Blood.
(Montreal Herald.)

As illustrating the meaning of "the call of the blood," President George B. Cutten, of Acadia University, Nova Scotia, relates that in the early days of the war, when the Nova Scotian Highland Brigade was being recruited, a meeting was held at Stony Island, a small settlement at the extreme southwest of Nova Scotia. Recruits were bidden to come forward to sign the roll. A young man came down the aisle, and directly behind him a little grey-haired woman. Reaching the front of the hall, the woman faced about. "Neighbors," she said, "that boy's grandfather stood with Nelson on the deck of the Victory at Trafalgar. I'd have been ashamed of him if he had not been the first man up." Take another Canadian illustration. A mother's only child—a young man at College—enlisted during the first days of the war. "It must have been hard to let him go," someone said to the mother. She looked him in the eye and replied: "I held that boy in my arms as I waved 'Good-bye' to his father when he sailed for South Africa. Could I have let him do less than his father?" As the president says, a nation with such women is unconquerable; annihilation is conceivable, but surrender—never.

The Value Of Advertising

Says John Wanamaker: "If there is one business on earth that a quitter should leave severely alone, it is advertising. To make a success of advertising, one must be prepared to stick to it like a barnacle on a boat's bottom. He should know before he begins it that he must spend money—considerable of it. Somebody should tell him also that he cannot hope to reap results commensurate with his expenditures early in the game. Advertising doesn't jerk; it pulls. It begins very gently at first, but the pull is steady. It increases day by day and year by year, until it exerts an irresistible power. It is likened to a team pulling a heavy load. A thousand spasmodic, jerky pulls will not budge the load, while one-half the power exerted in steady effort will start and keep it moving. There are three ways to make advertising pay, and these are the only ways. There are no others. First, is to keep at it; second, is to keep at it; third, is to keep at it."

Revolution of 1848.

The French Revolution of 1848 is sometimes called the second revolution, the first having been that of 1789, resulting in the establishment of a republic, which was followed by the empire under Napoleon I, and this in turn by the restoration of the Bourbon dynasty. The revolution of 1848 resulted in the abdication and banishment of King Louis Philippe, the proclamation of a Republic, the election of Louis Napoleon as president, and later the establishment of the empire, with him as emperor under the title of Napoleon III. This revolution was not accompanied by extensive military operations, but there was heavy fighting in Paris, in which several thousand persons were killed.

Freedom of the Seas.

During the war between Spain and Holland, in the latter part of the sixteenth century and early in the seventeenth century, both these powers acted with so much rigor toward ships of every other nationality conveying goods to belligerents that England felt compelled to enter a strong protest. The resistance provoked by England led to the first use of the term "contraband of war" when the treaty of Southampton was drawn up between England and Spain in 1625.

A Message of Cheer.

Rev. Philip Cook, of Chicago, was one of the party of Y.M.C.A. workers recently torpedoed in mid-Atlantic. As soon as he could reach a cable office he sent this unique message to his wife: "Acts xxvii, 41-44." The brief reference is to the vivid account of the shipwreck suffered by the Apostle Paul, the conclusion of which is the sentence, "And so it came to pass, that they escaped all safe to land."

An Oily Fruit.

A new fruit containing a large percentage of oil has been discovered in the region of Torreon, Mexico, and is known by the name of chichopoxtle. Experiments show that 25 per cent. of its contents consist of oil of great value in industrial pursuits requiring a lubricant of high quality. It is proposed to introduce the cultivation of this fruit upon a large scale.

Eggs Spoiled.

Enough eggs are lost through spoilage and deterioration at the present rate of production in this country to supply two eggs a day to any army of approximately 5,000,000 soldiers. The value of these wasted eggs amounts to $122,735,500 a year.—Thrift Magazine.

Mackensen Was Interned.

An Ignominious Ending To His Military Career

ONE of the best known of the German generals is Marshal Mackensen, the youngest of Germany's marshals, whose work was confined to the eastern area and who was usually called upon when sledge-hammer blows were necessary against Russia. Mackensen was in command when the Germans overwhelmed Roumania. He was never employed in the west, so far as the British and French were concerned. There is a curious story that his name comes from some Scottish ancestors, Mackenzie, and that he objected to fighting against those of his own flesh and blood. But the remarkable result is that he alone, though the most successful of Germany's commanders, is now suffering internment in Austria.

The arrest of Mackensen was accompanied by certain picturesque circumstances which, apart from the particular trouble, would have been unusually impressive. He was in an elaborate special train with all his staff and a great retinue, dressed and decorated as in the days of their supreme success. As the train pulled up at Budapest station many German officers in mufti, who had been waiting on the platform, entered the saloon cars and informed the marshal and his officers of the trouble ahead. The station had been surrounded by Hungarian troops with one-half dozen machine guns. The engine was detached from the train, and a Hungarian major informed the marshal that he would be given ten minutes to decide whether he would proceed to the Hungarian Parliament to discuss particulars of his internment or be arrested forthwith.

Punctually at the expiration of the allotted time Mackensen decided to accompany the major to the Parliament, where he was received in state by Count Karolyi and informed that, according to the treaty concluded by Hungary with the Entente General d'Esperey, Hungary was obliged to intern him and his army. Mackensen made vigorous protests, urging that he had received instructions from the German Armistice Commission to the effect that the armistice concluded in the west was posterior to that concluded by Hungary with Gen. d'Esperey. According to this treaty, he urged, he had the right to be repatriated with his entire army fully armed. But his contentions were disregarded and he was forthwith interned.

At a similar time Vienna several hundred officers and men of Mackensen's army were awaiting orders. A British colonel who asked one of the men if he spoke French was greeted by a chorus of replies in that tongue from a company of troops from Alsace-Lorraine, who seemed perfectly delighted with the prospect of going home. They showed the colonel, to the intense annoyance and displeasure of their own officers standing by, how they had removed all German emblems from their uniforms. Their joy was destined to be short in view of the decision to intern Mackensen and his army, though at that time they were so uncertain as to what would happen that they desired to show themselves in the public gaze in Vienna, being in this respect so different from the thousands of Mackensen's troops who passed through the city in the dead of night in order to avoid contact with the public.

Whatever may be the present circumstances of Mackensen's army, the marshal himself can hardly regard his fate as unpleasant, as he is interned in a castle and park some 17 miles from Budapest on the beautiful estate of Count Karolyi.

If I Had Known—

By
MAY BELLEVILLE BROWN

(Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Why don't you ask Carol Thurston to join your Merry-makers?" Aunt Loretta Fox asked Marianna Marks. "She's as young as a lot of your members, and she's never been in anything but the Ladies' Aid and the Patriotic Sisters."

"No, indeed," replied Marianna, with a toss of her auburn head. "She'll have to stay with the Ladies' Aid or else organize a League of Old Maids. She was born one anyway."

"Stuff and nonsense!" exploded Aunt Loretta. "Carol never had a chance. Her mother made her into an old woman before she was through with her teething ring. We older women can't help her, but she might catch the habit of being young from you."

"The Merry-makers wasn't organized to do missionary work!" sniffed Marianna, as she frowned away. Carol felt a bit wistful when word of the Merry-makers reached her. It was the first organization in Siloam Center which aimed to combine pleasure with profit and work. But she was very busy just then, as the Ladies' Aid was arranging a living calendar, and the Patriotic Sisters struggling to put a bust of Lincoln on the public library. "You are so much younger than the rest of us was the stock phrase which urged her on to effort in these societies."

Carol was thirty-two. True, that should not be considered old, but she had been the child of age, and whatever her masterful mother had thought or read or been, Carol shared with her. The only appreciable difference made in her life by the death of her mother was that all of Mrs. Thurston's old friends felt free to levy upon the daughter's time.

"The Merry-makers gave a progressive dinner last night," Aunt Loretta was making a morning call upon Carol. "You know—started with soup, that was at Fanny Bonner's, and had one thing at each house until they wound up with ice cream and cake at Marianna's."

Carol, a pretty picture in her pale blue chambray, as she sat peeling peaches on her shady back porch, flushed a bit. "They seemed to be having a good time when they passed here," she replied, adding to turn the subject. "We have only five dollars more to raise for our Lincoln bust, Aunt Loretta."

Banks' help. She knew that it would mean many hot evenings drilling restless children and decorating the church.

An automobile passed her with Edward Lindsay at the wheel. It shot ahead to the church door and stopped to let out a passenger, and Aunt Loretta had told her that he was to take Marianna Marks out to Crystal Spring that evening.

There was every probability that Edward Lindsay, however often he might meet Carol Thurston, would never take time to look at her with the seeing eye, but fate took a hand, with one of those happenings which wreck the nerves of a driver and which happen so often that the tale is almost too hackneyed to repeat.

Little Joy Nelson, who lived next door to Carol and who worshipped in her shadow, espied her in front of the church, and darted across the street, crying, "Miss Carol! Miss Carol! Miss Carol!" Just as the engine clashed and the wheels moved, the child rushed in front of the car, halting for a paralyzing moment, in the teeth of danger. Lindsay reversed, with a sickening sense that the act was futile. Then a slender figure stooped within his vision, and dragged the little body free of the wheel, which stopped the next second, just where the child had halted.

Then white and panting, Lindsay faced a blue dimity angel of deliverance, herself breathing a little hurriedly, as she stood with her arm about the frightened child. "I can never thank you enough!" he stammered. "But you took a risk—the car might have struck you, too, miss—"

Carol looked gravely up into his face—it was a likable face, with clean-cut features, steady gray eyes, and dark hair, graying a bit at the edges. "I am Carol Thurston," she replied simply. "Joy is my little neighbor and I would take a greater risk than that for her, any time."

"I am Edward Lindsay," he informed her. "Won't you let me take you both to your destination?" "We are here already," smiled Carol. "I am to help Mr. Banks prepare for our annual harvest home, and Joy is one of the Sunday school pupils."

Edward Lindsay lingered. The drive to Crystal Spring, in Marianna Marks' bracing company, did not allure. Just now, as he looked at the quiet young woman before him, with her smooth blond braids wound about her head, and her blue eyes both grave and smiling, he felt a sudden desire to help Mr. Banks.

"I used to be pretty good at that sort of thing," he suggested. "College theatricals, you know, and then I taught school for three or four years. I would be glad to help Mr. Banks sometime—if you—if he needs me. I shall ask him tomorrow."

TOOK CARE OF TURKS.

Important Task Was Given to Gen. G. N. Cory.

The allied officer who arranged the carrying out of the terms of armistice with Turkey was a Toronto man, Gen. G. N. Cory, D.S.O., son of Mr. Chester D. Cory. Not long ago Gen. Cory was appointed chief of staff of the British army in the Balkans and as such he was the envoy sent to Constantinople to arrange the carrying out of the terms of the armistice with the Turkish Government. He went to the capital of the Turkish empire on a destroyer and was received by an imposing guard of honor and conducted in a Turkish automobile to the leading hotel of the city.

There he was waited upon by the Grand Vizier, Izzat Pasha, as head of the Turkish Government, and Gen. Liman von Sanders, the German commander-in-chief of the Turkish armies. Subsequent to arriving at a final settlement Gen. Cory took possession of the battleship Goeben. Gen. Cory was at one time on the headquarters staff of the Third Division. He has been in the British army since he was twenty. He is a graduate of Bishops College School, Lennoxville, and of the Royal Military College, Kingston. On his graduation he was gazetted to the Second Battalion, Royal Dublin Fusiliers, then stationed at Orifolia, India. When the South African Boer war was threatened his regiment was ordered to South Africa in 1897, and he was in the first engagement at Dundee. After the retreat of Ladysmith the regiment was refitted and left that place on the last train out, as did Gen. French, now Field Marshal French.

Subsequently the then Lieut. Cory was appointed adjutant of a mounted infantry regiment under command of the present Gen. Gough, and served throughout the war. He was mentioned in despatches twice and received the D.S.O. for "skill in handling his troops." He has the Queen's Medal with seven clasps and the King's Medal with two clasps. Gen. Cory comes of good fighting stock. His father served with the 13th Hamilton Regiment at Ridgeway. His grandfather was a surgeon with the Prince Edward County Regiment in the rebellion of 1837, while in the war of 1812 his grandfather, upholding U. E. Loyalist principles, served with a battalion from the same county.

When the war broke out Gen. Cory was a major. He has since been decorated with the Mons medal, the Russian Order of St. Anne, the Greek Order and made a Commander of the Bath by His Majesty King George. The latter honor having been personally conferred upon him only a few months ago at Buckingham Palace. Gen. Cory was several times mentioned in despatches and promoted to his present rank about a year ago. He is now in London, England, and expects shortly to visit Canada.

Miller's Worm Powders were devised to relieve children who suffer from the ravages of worms. It is a simple preparation warranted to destroy stomachic and intestinal worms without shock or injury to the most sensitive system. They act thoroughly and painlessly, and though in some cases they may cause vomiting, that is an indication of their powerful action and not of any nauseating property.

Then it Seemed Fainter. While waiting for a train home from the city one night Jones grew restless, and looked about for something interesting. His eyes fell upon a slot machine, and he promptly inserted a penny.

"I have often wondered," he remarked aloud, in the manner of all truly thoughtful men, "where the profits on these machines—"

Here he grasped the handle with a firm and masterful grip. "Where the profit on these affairs—" So saying he shook the machine. "I have often wondered," he continued, giving it another vigorous shake, "where the profit— Hang the thing!"

Then one of the porters came up and told him that the machine was out of order, and Jones realized at last where part of the profit came from!

Bull Bulletin. Henry Clews, the New York banker, tells a good story on a broker friend who was advised by his physician to spend a few weeks in the West.

For some time the broker had been affected by a nagging fever, which the doctor thought would disappear under the influence of a dry climate. The physician, desiring to keep in touch with his patient, suggested that the latter should telegraph him a daily record of his temperature, taken morning and evening. To this the broker agreed, and at the end of the first day in the West, he sent the following telegram: "Temperature bully. Opened 97, closed 101!"

Relief from Asthma. Who can describe the complete relief from suffering which follows the use of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy? Who can express the feeling of joy that comes when his soft and gentle influence relieves the tightened, air tubes? It has made asthmatic affliction a thing of the past for thousands. It never fails. Good druggists everywhere have sold it for years.

If a woman is nervous or has dizzy spells, suffers from awful pains at regular or irregular intervals she should turn to tonic made up of herbs, and without alcohol, which makes weak women strong and sick women well. It is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Druggists sell it in liquid or tablets. Send 10 cents to the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package. Then, for the liver and bowels nothing is so good as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. These are little, sugar-coated pills, composed of Mayapple, leaves of also, root of jalap—things that Nature grows in the ground.

CHATHAM, ONT.—"As a girl I was wonderfully helped by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I had become all run-down, weak and nervous. I suffered with terrific headaches, also suffered from suppression and pain. My mother gave me 'Favorite Prescription,' and so completely regulated my condition that I have never had any trouble since. There is nothing so good for girls or women who suffer as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."—Mrs. Wm. Mason, 126 Wellington Street, E.

with a remedy, as with everything. Zam-Buk enjoys an enviable reputation amongst remedies. Why? Because it justifies the claims made for it. Not only does Zam-Buk cure skin troubles and injuries quickly and permanently, but the quickness with which it ends pain and irritation makes it the most popular remedy wherever it is used.

Then, too, Zam-Buk is the best preventive of blood-poisoning. Applied to an injury as soon as sustained, it destroys all germs and prevents festering. Zam-Buk is best for eczema, piles, rashes, boils, pimples, ulcers, burns, cuts and scalds. All dealers, 50c. box.

Curious Customs and Cancer.

In parts of China where the head is shaved by public barbers the razors used are often dull and full of nicks, and the irritation of this scraping often causes cancer. Chinese men suffer from cancer of the pharynx and esophagus due to their habit of eating very hot rice, which is thrown into the mouth forcibly with chop sticks. Chinese women eat after their lords and masters, when the rice is cold, and they never have this kind of cancer. In India much cancer is caused by the chewing of betel nuts. In some parts of the country women do not chew the nut, and are free of cancer of the mouth. In Kurdistan, India, the natives wear baskets filled with hot coals across their abdomens to protect them from the cold, and more than 50 per cent. of all the cancer in that region forms in the abdomen and groin, while in other countries such cancers are very rare.

Always Learning.

"The Allies suffered defeat after defeat, but from each defeat they learned something," said a well-known orator. "It's like the advice which the editor of the Cincinnati Sentinel gave to an unlucky wooer who had been rejected by seven girls in turn. The editor wrote: 'Unlucky Wooer—Go ahead. Don't be discouraged. Never say die. You might have learnt a lot by what you have gone through. Strikes us you must hold something like a record. Well, stick all your experience together and make love to the next girl who comes round and takes your fancy. If she don't reciprocate, try another. Remember, you only want one girl to say "Yes," and she'll probably last your life.'"

An Ancient Copper Foundry.

One of the most interesting discoveries by Egyptologists throws new light on the relative origin of copper and bronze in the Mediterranean countries. At Ortu Comidite, alongside some ancient copper mines of prehistoric age, a foundry has been uncovered with all the furnaces for smelting and moulds for casting just as it was abandoned thousands of years ago in the transition periods between the aged of stone and bronze. The methods then obtaining in the foundry industry as here demonstrated were most ingenious. — Family Herald.

Job for Santa Claus.

In Evansville there are still a few cavaliers too old to be taken by the draft. The other evening one called on a woman who, it might be added in an undertone, also was beyond draft age.

During the evening her small niece dragged in a dilapidated doll. "I'm going to have Santa Claus bring her a new dress for Christmas so she'll look better," she informed auntie and the cavalier.

The cavalier tried to be facetious. "You'd better have him bring her a new face," he suggested.

The woman laughed and tried a fling at wit herself. "I wish he'd bring me a new face, too," she giggled.

Before the visitor could make a rejoinder the wee niece took up the conversation. "Then you wouldn't have to paint your old one over any more, auntie," she calmly finished.—Indianapolis News.

Experience.

"It's a good thing to depose a general if he makes a bad mistake," said Representative Britton, apropos of the new French law for trying the high command.

"You might say that a general learns by experience, that he profits by his errors. But the French people evidently hold that the man who only learns by experience never learns at all.

"Experience," they doubtless say, 'is a brush which is given to us after we have lost our hair.'"

"Or again they say: "Oh, yes, experience is all right, but it doesn't seem to help us much. What's the good of knowing what the weather was like last night before last?"

United States Exports.

The United States exported 14.6 per cent of its wheat crop in the five years preceding the war, 1.7 per cent of the corn, 38.3 per cent of the tobacco, and 60.1 per cent of the cotton. In the three years before the war this country exported 1.1 per cent of its oats crop, 4.4 per cent of the barley, 2.5 per cent of the rye, and 0.5 per cent of the potatoes.

Proof that Some Women do Avoid Operations

Mrs. Etta Dorion, of Ogdensburg, Wis., says:
"I suffered from female troubles which caused piercing pains like a knife through my back and side. I finally lost all my strength so I had to go to bed. The doctor advised an operation but I would not listen to it. I thought of what I had read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and tried it. The first bottle brought great relief and six bottles have entirely cured me. All women who have female trouble of any kind should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

How Mrs. Boyd Avoided an Operation.
Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well.
"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARY BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

TRETTURE OF CAFE AU LAIT

Cafe au lait forms this smart trette that should appeal to many women. The supple waist has a large collar of beaver and the bell sleeves are edged with the same fur. Tassels of brown silk add an effective touch.

TO DETECT IMPURE MATERIAL

Silk, Linen, Leather, Among the Various Articles That Are Being Cleverly Counterfeited.

The "beware of imitations" line so common in advertisements is really a piece of good advice, observes a correspondent. An almost limitless amount of ingenuity is devoted to producing cheap substitutes for popular articles. In appearance they must rival the genuine, so it is well to know how their real quality must be tested. Nothing, for instance, is more satisfying to eye and touch than pure linen and most woman shoppers believe it has a distinctive "feel."

It has, but mixed with the linen of the next fabriccloth you examine may be mercerized cotton, treated with magnesia so that it counterfeits this "feel." An easy test is to hold the fabric up to the light. Along the threads of good linen tiny knots will show. Cotton threads are smooth. An infallible method is to soak a corner of the napkin in glycerin. If it becomes translucent it is pure linen; if it remains opaque it is cotton.

Short skirts make stockings a distinctly conspicuous feature of woman's dress, so the demand was greatly increased for silk substitutes. Some are made of wood pulp, others of artificial silk. Cotton, of course, is mixed with good silk, and a poor quality product is given weight by treating it with oxide of tin. Small particles of the metal are scattered through the fabric, which cut tiny holes or cause the garment to crack along a folded edge.

The sure test for silk is to burn a bit of it. If pure scarcely a trace will remain, but a poor quality will leave one-third to one-half its weight in ashes. Beware of silk that has a hard feeling, or if it has a transparent look when held to the light. This means it is a mesh, filled in and weighted with metal.

Wool will disappear if boiled in a solution of caustic soda. If the fabric be mixed with cotton the latter will remain undissolved. This is a valuable test, for it is hard to tell what goes into some articles guaranteed as "all wool." Blankets offer a good field for the imitator, sheep furnishing but little of the fiber in some of those labeled "half wool." Specimens of such have been found to contain but 10 per cent wool. These are made of a mesh cotton, filled in by means of an air blast with scraps of waste wool. The result is a soft, fluffy covering, but little of it will remain after a first or second washing.

Shoe soles are made of ground leather scrap mixed with paper pulp and rubber. Cowhide is split into half a dozen layers and the source of many an expensive alligator handbag or pigskin leggings once wore horns—perhaps was the pride of some dairy.

Corduroy Kimonos.

Some new kimonos shown in some of the shops are a strange combination of style and fabric. They are Japanese kimonos made of corduroy. But when you come to think of it, wouldn't they be delightfully comfortable? Think of wrapping one of them around you some cold winter day when the necessary restrictions in coat make the thermometer lower than comfort calls for. That is probably what their makers thought of. And so although kimonos of blue and rose corduroy embroidered with silk chrysanthemums seem a bit of a strange combination and contrast still they are a delightful concession to the cold that is coming.

A Religious Struggle.

A wealthy English gentleman on reaching home detected a strange and disagreeable odor pervading the place. He asked the footman whence it came. "Well, you see, sir," said James, "to-day's a saint's day, and the butler, 'e's 'igh church, and is burning hincense, and the cook, she's low church, and is burning brown paper to hobviate the hincense, sir."

Modern Domesticity.

Mrs. Jones—The cook refuses to get up earlier than 7.30.
Jones—Ask her if she won't do it for a couple of days until I can rearrange my business.

that they constitute "graft" could be easily overlooked by us. Pencils we used before the war, marked "made in Bavaria" were certainly superior to any that are now obtainable at the ordinary markets of trade. If Peter will kindly put us in touch with that obliging official who can get "all he wants of them" we don't care a hang if some one does call us a grafter.

ON SATURDAY evening Spr. W. M.
Bruce, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bruce, Watford, arrived home on the 8:44 train from overseas. His arrival was heralded by the ringing of the town bell, and the reception committee and a number of citizens assembled at the station to meet him. Spr. Bruce enlisted in Lambton's 149 Battalion and was promoted to Cor-
He went overseas in the fall of 1916 and has been in active service since. He came home on the Cassandra, landing at St. Johns. His many friends are glad to welcome him home and proud that he has done his bit to preserve freedom and crush militarism.

retary of the local Hydro Committee, has received the following letter from Mr.
F. A. Gaby, chief engineer of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, regarding the application made by the Council for a reduction of rates to local consumers:

"We beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of March 5th in connection with resolution passed by your Council suggesting lower rates to consumers in Watford.

"In this connection we beg to advise you that the Commission have full details of your operation for 1918 and are very pleased with the success of your Hydro scheme so far, and the question of reduction in rates to a number of municipalities will shortly be considered by the completed, a very tasty lunch was served by the hostess after which the meeting was closed by the National Anthem.

Brooke township lost one of its oldest natives on Friday last when Mrs. Wm.
Greer passed away at the age of 78 years, 10 months and 16 days. Death was due to a stroke of paralysis. Her whole life was spent in the township. Her maiden name was Sarah Kelly she being a daughter of the late John and Esther Kelly of Brooke. She was married to Mr. Greer on January 7th, 1864, in St.
Paul's Cathedral, London, by the late Bishop Croun. Her husband predeceased her in April of last year. She leaves four sons and five daughters, namely,

ward, Imperial, Sask.; Harry, Arkona;
William, John, Daniel, Frank and George
Richardson, Brooke; Mrs. John Leach, Balcarnis, Sask.; Mrs. W. L. Clark, Montreal; and Mrs. C. L. Price, Toledo, Ohio. The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon from the family residence, lot 21, con. 14, to St. James' Church where the service was held by the rector, Rev. S. P. Irwin, and was very largely attended, deceased being well known and very highly esteemed by all. She was a life-long member of St. James church. Interment was made in the church cemetery. The pall bearers were William, John, Daniel, Frank and George
Kelly and D. Coristine.

Walnut Red Cross Society met at the home of Mrs. John Zavitz on Tuesday, Feb. 18th. It was decided to discontinue Red Cross work for the present, and all sewing and knitting are being prepared to be sent in to Headquarters. A cash balance of $175.46 was still in the treasury and it was decided to send $75.00 to buy reading matter and phonograph records, to be used by convalescing soldiers at the Red Cross Lodge, Carling Heights.
The remaining $100.46 is to be used for future Red Cross needs. A vote of thanks was tendered the President, Mrs. Dan Madlock, for her efficiency, both as a leader and worker in promoting the Red Cross cause.

MRS. W. S. SHUGG, Sec.

Tuesday of last week the prevailing epidemic claimed one of Plympton's most highly respected young farmers in the person of James S. Helps, son of Mrs.
Henry Helps, London Road, in the prime of his young manhood in the 28th year of his age. Last week three members of the family contracted the flu, which in the case of the deceased, rapidly developed pneumonia. Another brother has also developed pneumonia.

Young Wilson, a mere boy when he was given sergeant's rank, after twice being wounded, took part in no fewer than sixteen engagements before he was nineteen years old, a record, it is said, not surpassed by any other soldier from the Dominion.

Peasley—Lucas

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lucas, Sutorville, was the scene of a pretty home wedding on Wednesday, March 6th, at three o'clock, when their eldest daughter, Pearl, became the bride of Mr. Frederick Peasley, a prosperous young farmer of Brooke. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. S. P. Irwin, B.A., rector of Christ Church, Sutorville, of which the bride was organist for many years. Mendelsohn's wedding march was played by Miss Edna, sister of the groom. The bridal couple were unattended, the bride being given away by her father, looked charming in a gown of white crepe de chene with pearl trimming, wearing the bridal veil held in place with orange blossoms, and carrying a bouquet of white carnations and bridal roses. Her only ornament was a pearl necklace, the gift of the groom. The bride's two little nieces, Merle Lucas and Lorna Luchman, acted as flower girls, Merle wearing pale blue crepe de chene and Lorna in pink, each carrying a string of pearls, the gift of the groom. During the signing of the register Miss Pearl Saunders, Watford, sang very sweetly,
"Because," after which the guests numbering about fifty, repaired to the dining room, beautifully decorated in pink and white, where a dainty luncheon was served. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and costly presents, among which was a mantle clock from the church and a substantial cheque from her father. The bride's travelling suit was navy blue serge with hat to match and black cone fur. The happy couple left on the seven train for Olston, Mich.
On their return they will reside on the groom's farm, 10th con., Brooke. They will be at home to their friends after April 1st.

Peopening Anniversary

The entire decorative atmosphere of a room may be unbalanced by a discordant color.

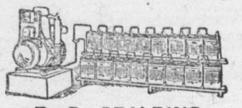

NOTHING freshens and brightens the home more than pretty wall coverings. But the decorative art must adhere to certain rules regarding harmony and contrast or your whole plan will be spoiled through the use of papers that clash with draperies, furniture, etc. Our method of showing papers will give you a perfect idea of how the designs will match up and how the papers will look on the wall. Come in and take plenty of time to inspect our stock thoroughly. We can help you in planning any decorative scheme which you may have in mind. Spring is the best time to paper. ARKONA

Mr. A. Higgins and D. McLean of Brooke, are visiting at Mr. Wes. Lucas'. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ross of Port Huron are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Ross.

Book your order for sugars now. Car to arrive next week.—Brown Bros.

Mr. Orville Huntley left last week for Toronto, where he has secured a position.

Mr. Harry Fair of Toronto spent last week renewing old acquaintances in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Pressey of Forest spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. T. Pressey.

A new shipment of D. & A. Corsets to hand, new Spring models.—Brown Bros.

Mr. J. Allan of Pt. Huron is visiting her sister Mrs. H. Ross.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Greer were called to Brooke on Friday owing to the death of the former's mother Mrs. Wm. Greer.

Pte. Walter Woolvet, who has spent the past two years overseas returned to his home here, last week.

There will be a Fanny Crosby song service in the Baptist church, Sunday evening, beginning 15 minutes to seven.

There was a good attendance of Public School trustees, teachers, scholars, parents and others at the School Fair meeting held here last Friday afternoon.

Field Secretary W. P. McDonald of Petrolia addressed the gathering and there was free discussion, quite a number taking part. The vote unanimous to organize a Fair for this district.

Mrs. Seymour Laupman of the Women's Institute under whose auspices the meeting was held, was appointed honorary president and Mrs. H. Rooks honorary vice-president.

An advisory board will be appointed by the Institute at a later meeting of that body, also an executive of three pupils from each of the schools in the district, and the chairman of these will be united in a central committee of management for seed distribution, the arrangement of the fall fair, etc.

Contests will be open in the raising of poultry, stock, garden stuff (flowers, fruit and vegetables), as well as of various grain plots. Cultivation will take place on the farms and plots of the children's own homes, and the boys and girls will be given helpful instruction at the right time.

Mr. McDonald regards the Arkona district as ideal for a first class School Fair and the interest shown at the inception meeting speaks well for the future of the undertaking. A flock of thoroughbred, egg-laying strain of hens will be secured by the Department for the district and seed with full instructions will be supplied free to the boys and girls of the H. F. The executive will be called by Mr. McDonald at an early date to arrange this and complete the district organization.
