Uncle Hiram on City Life.

Yes, it's lively in the city, when they've got their electric lights. And the people soon get wrinkles from their stavin' out o' nights; they've got shows and things to keep 'em from a-gittin' lonesome.

There is always somethin' doing to make city people sad; if it ain't the sausage famine, why you'll hear the water's bad; when the strikers stop the street cars, then the folks is to pay.

Oh, it's quiet in the country, and there's few uncommon sights. And God's moon and stars up yonder have to do fer electric lights.

Sheep Notes. For good mutton both ewes and lambs need grain.

Never will run down rapidly if the lambs can't get any long.

It is claimed that the second crop of clover is better for the sheep than the first.

In selling sheep in a mixed lot the buyer will be sold with the inferior.

Thrift in sheep is generally secured when people think enough of them to take care of them.

If the second growth of clover is sown in many cases it will pay to save it for the sheep.

By a long line of careful breeding, the ram possesses the power of firmly impressing his characteristics on the offspring of the common ewe.

The man who considers no question but that of first cost will never make much of a mark as a sheep breeder.

As a rule those that are best satisfied with feeding sheep are those who have same to market each year.

Exceptional good quality are not as likely to become hereditary as indifferent or bad ones.

The Household. A MOTHER'S EXPERIENCE. A mother who had more than her share of worry and work in caring for an invalid husband and two delicate children would sometimes find her powers flagging as she looked on faithfully endeavoring to perform the apparently endless duties of the day.

When becoming sensible of this extreme weariness, she would quietly put aside her work, setting the iron on the fire to heat marmalade, perhaps, so there would be no time wasted, and she would say to her 7 year old boy:

"Now, Henry, make me feel that I must rest a little while, and she wants you to wake her in just ten minutes. Don't let me sleep any longer than that; 10 minutes will be quite sufficient."

And the little man, sitting as still as a mouse where he could note the gradual relaxing of his mother's features, would faithfully follow the hands of the clock until they marked the appointed time, when he would awaken her. Refreshed, she would go cheerfully to work again. And this was how she accomplished an amount of work that made her the wonder of friends.

Her example might be followed with profit by all of our capacities in which we can train ourselves, that of being able to sleep readily is the most valuable. It is a habit that can be acquired, and once acquired will add years to the life of man or woman.

The letter, in particular, the best plan when the energies are felt to be failing is to just turn aside from everything and rest. While a 10-minute nap might not be sufficient in all cases, it should not extend over half an hour. For some singular reason a long sleep in the daytime rarely overcomes tiredness.

If you're hard to follow advice like this when you're overworked with tasks and every minute seems precious, try to do so in the most comfortable way. It is all the difference between doing the work with a feeling of depression and cheerfulness, and doing it with cheerfulness and vigor.—Boston Advertiser.

WOMAN AND LOVE. One of the hardest things for most women to learn is how to love wisely. There are many women who "love not wisely but too well," and there are many who "love not at all." When a woman loves too unreservedly, too openly, she takes from love its delicacy, its loveliness, its romance, and she makes herself commonplace, says the Pittsburg Observer.

How is it that a young man who is very much in love with a young woman will soon find that his affections for her are on the wane? Often it may be his own fault, yet too often it is the young woman's fault that brought about this condition of things. It is a woman comes of the high plane that a man sets her on, she injures herself, and though she may love, she herself cannot appreciate the efforts that brought her commendation in his eyes.

HEALTHY WOMANHOOD. "Alcohol the worst; remove all compression from the vital organs, hang the weight of clothing from the shoulders instead of the waist, use beef or its juices for food, with plenty of vegetables—lettuce, celery and green things instead of starchy foods, like potatoes and macaroni, and you will literally create the race."

This is the prescription of Dr. Robert Sangreoni to build up healthy womanhood, and, therefore, a healthy race. In the fight against tuberculosis the doctor is waving a standard with a twofold device. He declares coarse the main cause of that disease and beef the main cure. He advocates the complete abstention of "the instrument of torture," as he styles the corn, but as a compromise he dictates that if it must be worn it shall not be assumed till the age of twenty-five when the organs have attained normal development.

HOW TO AVOID COLDS. The inside and outside skins of the body are so much in sympathy, and so are their organs, that if the outside order of the one is sure to react upon the other, and this is especially true of the alimentary canal and lungs as a whole. Overeating when tired, overeating in connection with over-exertion, including in things known to disagree, are among the causes; for taking cold is ordinarily nothing but a successful attack from without on an attack that succeeds simply because the skin, which resists, is not properly supported from within, or lacks tone itself.

One should "keep moving" when wet or chilly, and not stand on a street corner or elsewhere without taking deep breaths. The lungs used in this act as a pump to drive the blood along. This practice, with the other, will reduce to a shadow the liability of having to undertake the unwise quest periodically.—The Youth's Companion.

GOOD TASTE IN DRESSING. It isn't always the woman in the most expensive gown who looks the most beautiful. Women of good taste do not care to wear any thing that is around them—their clothes, looks, pictures, music and little trifles of the house.

It is well to have high ideals in all things and to cling to them as close to them as you can without going bankrupt. One good, tailor-made gown is worth forty ordinary and frumpy ones.

Most women who have money at all have two many gowns, and these are usually fancy ones without practical individuality. It is the same way with jewels. One fine brooch that looks like no other brooch in the world is vastly better than a ton of tin rubbish.

"Women who get into the habit of using a bureau drawer by a pressure of the knee," says a doctor, "do not realize the harm that may result from this practice. I have known many serious cases of water on the knee that were cured in this way."

Sure Cure for Sick Stomach. Such maladies as Nausea, Sick Stomach, Cramps and Colic yield instantly to Polson's Nervine, and if you suffer periodically from any of these complaints, just keep Nervine handy and take a few drops in water for quick relief. A large 25c. bottle of Nervine is a constant and vigorous in any household, and will save great suffering and big doctors' bills every year. Do you use Nervine? Try it. Hamilton's Pills don't gripe.
