unrestricted submarine warfare might be disregarded as a vital danger by the entente nations.

Peace Proposals Shams.

The prospects of using the entire force of the allies were very bright said Lloyd George, in discussing the united command of the entente armies in Prance. He sounded a note of warning during his address as to Germany's peace proposals, saying that the Prussian autocracy did not intend to bring the war to an end, "until its basket is as full as it can hold."

Winnipeg, Saturday, May 25.—Following three special meetings of the city council yesterday, the trouble between the city and the civic departments—firemen, waterworks, electricians and teamsters—seems to have been practically settled. The dispute regarding the civic strikers was settled on the basis of the report of the citizens' committee of one hundred, which was as follows:

1. Striking employes to be reinstated under wage schedules already agreed upon by city council's special committee and representatives of civic employes.

2. Negotiation on all future disputes and provision for conciliation and arbitration by board of enquiry.

3. No strikes, pending the report from such board of enquiry.

Which gave new heart to our people."

The premier read a report which he had just received from the admiralty "as regards the meeting of enemy submarines—that it was going on satistactorily. That, said the premier, is official language. Since the beginning of the year, he added, the naval staff had been confident that the allied have ever sinking more enemy submarines than the enemy was able to build.

We have reached the position," said Lloyd George, "that we are sinking German submarines faster than they can build them. We are building merchant ships—that is, the allies as a whole—faster than they can sink them."

Record Destruction.

The premier said that from data at present available the admiralty held the opinion that in the month of April there was a record destruction of enemy submarines. When it came to the increase in shipbuilding, the month of April was the record since the ruthless submarine warfare commenced. For the first time the output exceeded the losses and that, he said, was not a bad record for a government whose faults were so freely advertised.

Lloyd George said the submarine was still a menace, but that it no longer was a peril. As a means of inflicting injury it was still formidable, "but as a danger which can cause the winning or the losing of the war we can rule it out." The failure of the submarine has been recognized by the Bombs Dropped on Airdromes

The premier said that the alies were on the eve of a great German attack, and that those who knew best what the prospects were felt most confident about the result. He said he felt happier than at any time during the war over the prospects of making the most effective use of the entire forces of the alliance. He had tried repeatedly to achieve unity of command, and now that had been accomplished. It was really incredible that the government had to fight every inch of the way for unity against potent influences. But unity was now a fact, and it had added mightly to the strength of the allies. The commander of the allies armies, General Poch, was one of the most brilliant of war strategists.

"He is a man of dynamic energy and profound knowledge and experience, confidence and affection of the allied soldiers of every army."

Next Few Weeks is Race.

"For the Germans, as well as for us, the next few weeks will be a race between Hindenburg and President Wilson," said Lloyd George, and the Germans are straining every muscle to reach the goal first, on the eve of American help becoming available for the allies.

"This is not a time to organize campaigns to harass men in charge of the Mationalist party, he added, had nothing to do with it. The premier said it was not relevant to assert that England had treated freach the goal first, on the eve of American help becoming available for the allies.

"There are two types of extremists," Lloyd George continued. "The extremist who is trying for peace when there is no peace is not a real friend of peace, but an enemy of peace. THRU VIADUCT RAILING

The Bloor-Danforth viaduct was walked over and inspected with considerable interest by large crowds of citizens yesterday and many comments were heard as to when the big undertaking would be completed and when the street cars would commence to run and the viaduct open for motor and vehicle traffic. Yesterday on the Rosedale viaduct two little boys, aged 6 and 8 years, were seen to wriggle thru the arches of the concrete railings. One of the little boys remarked: "I got thru the hole and I didn't fall down." The boys were warned away by a passerior.

Kew Gardens also was crowded with picnic parties, and many children were gathered around the swings. The damage was slight. swings.
Scarboro Beach Park was uncomfortably crowded, many people leaving early, afraid that the cars would not be able to get them home on time. A conspicuous feature of the east end yesterday was the absence of firecrackers.

WHEN THE STOMACH IS WRONG LIFE SEEMS TO BE A BURDEN

Indigestion Comes With a Debilitated and Run-Down Condition of the System and Can Be Cured Through Enriching the Blood.

There are many symptoms of indigestion, such as acute pain after eating, belching of wind, nausea and vomiting, bloating and pains in the region of the heart, a dread of food for the misery it causes. Dieting and the use of pre-digested foods may give ease, but can't cure—they only further weaken the stomach. The work of digestion depends upon the blood and the nerves, and the only way to cure indigestion is to tone up the stomach through the blood to do the work nature intended it should do. The very best way to cure indigestion is through a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which renew the blood, strengthen the nerves and enable the stomach to do its work with ease and comfort. Neglected indigestion means prolonged misery, and a more difficult cure. If you have any of the symptoms of this trouble try the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at once, and you will be gratified with the results.

Very gladly then I continued the use of the pills, and in less than three months I was as well as ever I had been, able to eat a hearty meal, and to feel that life was not married at this time and one Sunday evening on the way to church with my intended husband I was taken with a bad spell on the street. He took me to a drug store, where the clerk fixed up something to take, and my intended got me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. By the end of the first week I could feel some improvement from the use of the pills, and I attacks of rheumatism, and the use of the pills cured this as well as the indigestion. It is now over a year since I took the pills, and in that time I have had no return of the trouble."

I had not been taking them long when I felt somewhat improved. This improvement continued and after taking ten boxes I could eat and digest all kinds of food and felt better than I had done for years. EVERYBODY HAPPY FOR THE HOLIDAY Great Crowds at All Places of Amusement Yesterday.

SPENT THE DAY OUTSIDE

Business Reached Record Size Until the Rain Came.

There were more vacant houses in Toronto yesterday than there have been in many, many months. And the reason?—everybody was out for the holiday. All morning the weather was so fine and looked so promising that mother and father and the family "obeyed that impulse," they got out and they let the home fires go out, too. Even the dog and the cat were put out, and then as the dark clouds began to creep over the western horizon the folks were very much put out. Eventually the umbrellas were put up, the people put up with the new conditions, everybody put for home and the babies were put to bed. If it hadn't been for the unwelcome rain and the threatening clouds the number in attendance at the parks, on the Humber, at Scarboro Beach and the Island would have mounted to a May 24 record, but as it was yesterday's crowds were away above the average and of course far ahead of last year, when the weather was not suitable for outings of any kind.

By 11 o'clock yesterday morning it was impossible to rent a canoe or rowboat on the Humber or at the Island, and the most annoying thing about it for many was the fact that it was a perfect day for boating. If the weather hadn't been quite so nice the people would not have been so disappointed. The ferry boats to the Island were working to capacity before noon, and long before that the street cars offered standing room only and very little of that.

No Accidents.

Best of all and in spite of the fact that more than 200,000 people were carried by the cars and boats, that the rivers and lagoons were crowded with all manner of craft, not a single accident or fire had been reported up to a late hour last night. "It was the biggest afternoon we have ever had," said Fred Hubbard, manager of Scarboro Beach Park, last night. "If it had not been for the rain I think the day ould have been a record." Figures for the afternoon showed that 25,000 people had passed thru she gates and the evening crowd was calculated to be nearer 30,000 making a total of approximately 55,000 for the day. There was calculated to be nearer 30,000, making a total of approximately 55,000 for the day. There were ten booths selling tickets, the largest number ever employed, and at certain periods of the day it was necessary to open office windows and sell from them.

Over at the Island.

Walter Garwood, manager of the Toronto Ferry Company, did not have his figures complete when interviewed. "We have had about 45,000 people" he said early in the evening.

ed. "We have had about 45,000 people," he said early in the evening."9000 of which went to the ball game. If the rainshad kept off the number would have been far greater. All our boats were employed and the service was quite up to the mark. I understand that all the small boats at the island were rented by noon and so far I haven't heard of one accident."

There was a land office business at the Humber. "It's the best afternoon we ever had, and the day would have been a record one is it hadn't rained." said I. N. Devins, owner of one of the boathouses. "The day was perfect, the river was crowded, and we had everything out that would float by 1.30."

This is the story neard in every quarter. The lake boats had a big day, the trains carried more than the usual holiday crowd, the theatres were well filled in the afternoon, but sold out at night; many a happy family picnicked in the parks, and all the highways leading to and from the city and more motor car traffic than has ever been recorded.

The it cannot be said the people were altogether care free yet it is were altogether care free, yet it is arue they were as much so as would be possible in war time. It was the lirst holiday of the summer and the majority took advantage of it to get out somewhere—anywhere as ng as it was away from the regular routine. Many, to be sure, spent the day in the garden or cut the lawn, and perhaps a few donned overalls and gave the verandah a coat of

"Within the Law."

One of the most noted of dramatic successes, "Within the Law." has been given a screen version which is even more compelling than the speaking version. It will be presented for the first time in Toronto at the Grand Opera House next week, when the popular playhouse will inaugurate a limited summer season of the silent drama. The play, in brief, presents the power of the man with money to wield the law against the weak and ignorant. It leans towards the belief of many that the so-called courts of justice have given place to courts of favor, where the cleverest man with the most money wins. During the picture week at the Grand, a matinee will be given every day when all seats will be twenty-five cents. At the eve-

London, May 24.-Today being Em showed itself capable of enduring the severest tests applied by a world wide severest tests applied by a world wide war.

The Daily Telegraph says: "The keynote of the British system as applied to Canada and Australia, and afterwards to South Africa, was that the empire meant a partnership of self-governing peoples. We protected subject populations instead of exploiting them, and all are as self-determined as the British themselves. It is just because we are a community of self-governing peoples that the British Empire holds out today, confident, safe, resolute and strong, as a defender of civilization."

The Telegraph goes on to say: "Nothing since the Brest treaty has so affected the outlook as that magnificent burst of military ardor which is sending thousands of American soldiers to our side. The adhesion of the mighty western republic is so overwhelming in its significance that we may well thank God and take courage. Moreover, France and Italy are more closely conjoined with Great Britain than they ever have been, and the empire stands undismayed and undefeated." and other public works have relied on his coy and uncertain disposition, and he has justified the confidence reposed in him—if it may e said to repose. In the great war the services of the mule have been heroic. He has not been unworthy stories told of the army horses would fill a book, and many a soldier weeps when his faithful charger is done in.

BIG IRISH FUND GROWS STEADILY

Nearly a Million Dollars is Raised to Fight Conscription.

DELICATE SITUATION

Dillon and Devlin May Have Trouble to Adjust Matters.

Dublin, May 24,—The anti-conscription fund, which in less than a month has grown to nearly $1,000,000, bids fair to become one of the most important factors in the development of the internal political situation. It is the largest fund ever raised in Ireland for a political purpose and, being in control of the Mansion House conference, that body finds itself in a position of greater financial power any nationalist political organization. This opens many dangerous possibilities to which the moderate leaders in Dublin have devoted anxious attention during the past 48 hours. A considerable proportion of the subscribers to the fund are moderate Irish men and women, who, while objecting to the forcible application of conscription, are firm supporters of the war and equally firm opponents of Sinn Fein and everything for which it stands. But should the representatives of this moderate opinion attempt to restrain their extremist attempt to restrain their extremist colleagues, it is evident that a situation might arise where the resignation of the moderates would be inevitable. Serious problems regarding the control of the fund then might be presented.

The resignation of the moderate delegates to the conference would be regarded as a tremendous victory for the Sinn Fein and Sinn Feiners may the Sinn Fein and Sinn Feiners may do all in their power to embarrass their nationalist opponents. This is the reason the situation in which John Dillon and Joseph Devlin find themselves is one of the most delicate in the history of Irish politics.

Unionist critics are quite alive to the situation and are doing their utmost to make capital for themselves by pointing out a moral to the

RESIDENTS ARE SHOCKED BY SUPPOSED AIR RAID

Residents in the vicinity of Bathurst street and St. Clair avenue experienced quite a shock early yesterday morning when a "bomb" from the sky fell in the front lawn of 1490 Bathurst street and buried itself deep in the turf. The concussion when the object struck the earth was sufficient to wake the people in the surrounding houses, and they scrambled forth to find shelter from the "air raid."

A few minutes later some small boys, who were also on the job, discovered a terrifying looking object buried about 14 inches in the lawn. It had a heavy casing with a wire and rubber insulation attached to it. Everyone was quite sure it was a borhood. The men of the district, however, were uneasy about the object's presence, and so armed with spades they set out very carefully to extract the object from the lawn.

After much skilful manoeuvring it was gently lifted from its resting place and gingerly carried down to the city hail and turned over to the detective department. Here it was examined by the officers, but no decision was arrived at. It was a myster and skilled the city of the city hail and turned over to the detective department. A new regulation received by the Toronto military authorities from Ottawa Thursday afternoon states that from now on the military medical boards wil consist of only two members instead of three members. It is expected that the new regulation will aid greatly in relieving the shortage of Army Medical Corps doctors. It will also release a number of the doctors for other special military service.

met together to perform a very grateful duty in recalling the heroic deeds of the men of other days, to whom Canada and the empire were so much indebted. Speaking of the "cruel and devastating war" in which the British Empire and her alites are engaged.
Mr. McPherson said that, "the same if indomitable British spirit, which inspired men in days gone by still beats stoutly in British breasts and will continue to do so until a glorious victory is achieved.

Congratulations were extended by the speaker to Hon. Dr. Cody upon his acceptance of the portfolio of minister of education, and he expressed his pleasure at being associated with 'aim as a colleague in the government of the province. He recalled the fact that the educational system of Ontario as it stood today owed its foundation to another eminent divine, the late Rev. Dr. Egerton Ryerson.
Mr. McPherson said he believed that in the new minister of education the poople of Ontario were to have one who would carry that system forward to a fuller and wider development, putting it on an equality with whatever was best in the educational affairs of the world.

Canada's Development.

Hon. Dr. Cody referred to the sigminance of linking the memory of all the veterans of the past with the veterans and heroes of the present war. He pointed out that all the wars and military disturbances of Canada in the past had marked stages in the development of Canadaan nationhood. The war of 1812 had determined that the British flag was to float over the northern half of the continent. The affair of 1837 ushered in the age of responsible government; the Fenian raid of 1866 hastened confederation. The first Northwest Rebellion, in 1870, brought in the Province of Manitoba, and opened the eyes of the country to the possibilities of western Canada. The Northwest Rebellion of '85 brought the rest of Canada still closer to the west and opened the way to bringing in the two great prairie provinces. The war in South Africa marked the beginning of the new conception of the British Empire. The present great war brought Canada almost to full stature of nationhood and responsibility.

The British Empire stood for certain responsibility. The British Empire stood for certain The British Empire stood for certain great ideals supreme in civilization: justice, good faith, freedom and sense of duty. The best memorial for those who had fallen was a Canada, purer, cleaner, more united, in which ideals of public service prevailed and where God was feared.

God was feared.

Rev. Father Minehan and Major Canon Dixon also spoke. Father Minehan compared the building up of the British Empire as compared with the ancient Roman Empire, pointing out that the empires built in the past with the idea of subjugation uppermost had fallen away, but the British Empire was founded with the idea of freedom ever to the fore and that was the ever to the fore and that was the secret of its greatness.

FOR USE OF SOLDIERS.

The old lacrosse grounds and clubhouse are to be used as a place of recreation by the soldiers who will occupy the new St. Andrew's College Hospital. The mayor stated Thursday that there would be no objection raised by the city, and the government would doubtless have no hesitation in paying the city a fair rental. While the old clubhouse needs some repairs, they could be made for a small sum, and the grounds themselves, except for the old cinder path, are in splendid condition.

H. B. TERRY NOT DEFAULTER.

Henry Brereton Terry, Bradford, had his name erroneously included in the list of Military Service Act defaulters, published in The World on Saturday morning, last. The inclusion of the name of H. B. Terry in the list of defaulters published was due to the fact of his being furnished by the registrar with an order for railway transportation to Toronto which the railway authorities refused to honor. On his writing to the registrar another transportation order was sent, and the soldier duly reported at Exhibition Camp. The authorities there granted him two weeks leave to go back to his home town and help in the seeding operations.

chicks hatch, and make sure there are no mites.

Double up—Have the chicks come out several broods at a time and double up the chicks, giving 15 to 18 to each hen.

Cooping—Small "A" coops to accommodate one family are good. Where hens agree, larger coops or colony houses may serve the purpoze for several hens and their broods. Keep the broods away from the general flocks. Move the coop frequently. Don't let the hen out when the chicks are small, and especially early in the morning.

Artificial Brooding.

Compared the chicks come of the coop frequently. The tender stems should be gathered from the time they appear and before the fronds begin to unroll. Only the tender top portion should be utilized, as with asparagus. Wash the parts to be used and scrub with a hard brush to remove all the hairs, which if retained impart a hitter flavor.

Cut into pieces an inch long and boil for 40 minutes; pour off the water and season with butter, salt and pepper and serve with such dressing as customary with asparagus.

Another method is to cook as de-

Artificial Brooding.

Of artificial brooders there is quite a variety, both good and bad. Any brooder should provide a temperature of 90 to 100 degrees under the hover. It should have good ventilation, no draughts, and it should be easily cleaned.

Individual Brooders—So-called outdoor brooders are not always satisfactory, being too small and lacking ventilation. Indoor brooders are better, as the house accommodation can be made to suit conditions. Where there is too much wind for the lamp outside, try it inside the coop. The indoor electric hover gives the best of satisfaction. Cold brooders are satisfactory if not used too early and the number of chicks is limited.

Emergency brooders—There are times when even the best managed plant is short of brooder space, and emergency quarters have to be arranged. Sometimes the services of several broody hens can be utilized at such a time. This, however, cannot always be depended upon, and a lantern or a hot water bottle placed in a box and covered over with sacking will sometimes help one over a hard place. Small coal oil stoves and electric heaters may also be used for this purpose, or one can resort to the cold brooder.

Room or stove brooders—One of the best brooders for large quantities of chicks and especially when the chicks are all the same age, is the room or stove brooder. This is a small stove which burns coal and is produce satisfactorily. The trouble the coal satisfactorily. The trouble the coal and is produce satisfactorily. If less than 100 chicks are to be brooded the old natural means will answer if more, the artificial means are to be preferred.

Some hens never make good mothers. If the sitting hen is not suitable, transfer some of the eggs before hatching to one that is, if you have her.

Free from lice—Treat the mother hen for lice several times before the chicks hatch, and make sure there are no mites.

WILD FLOWERS SY Rachael R. Todd, M.D.

THE YELLOW WOOD SORREL. Oxalis Stricta.

"It seems the Eternal Soul is clothed in thee,
With purer robes, than those of fiesh and blood."

—Wordsworth.

Everybody loves the little yellow wood sorrel—such an airy, fairy, dainty little tramp! In the cool and shady places, hushed to the hum of bees and places, hushed to the hum of bees and butterflies, along the dusty, sunny waysides, where the darting dragon flies volplane their dazzling flight, on busy roadsides, in grassy fence corners, down by the twinkling brook, over in you half-swampy meadowindeed, where not may cunning, twinkling and ever happy wood sorrel be found?

comes. on a thin, thin hair-thin stem, and the whole clump is a marvel of dainty grace.

The fairy blossoms are pale yellow, five-petaled, just touched with a speck of red at each base, and the only fragrance is that of the woods.

Each plant may be so thick with its mass of yellow blossoms that the green leaves are almost hidden; and the blossoms persist well into autumn.

The leaves and root stems of the plant when bruised have a pleasant acid taste, and the name "sour grass" is often given, altho several other plants are also thus named.

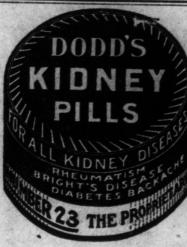

A pretty point about this wild thing is that in damp weather the blossoms keep closed, as they do at night. Yellow sorrel loves the sun.

And all frishmen love this plant because it is so reminiscent of their own dear Ireland. For this wild plant is often called the shamrock in this land, and sold by that name.

Another pretty member of the oxalis family is the white variety, oxalis acctosella. This is the shy member and loves to hide in mossy haunts and under sheltered banks and boulders. Its blossoms are white, just touched at the base with a faint pink or faintly streaked with purple. Quite as dainty as its sister, the yellow variety, it is yet not so common by any means, and it, too, is often called the shamrock.

SWISS CHARD.

There is one vegetable not yet mentioned in this series and very little known to Canadians, that should really take a prominent place in the wartime garden, that is to say, Swiss Chard. It is a succulent vegetable, easy to grow, easy to cook, easy to can. No vegetable gives more bountiful returns for a small amount of labor or offers a greater variety of uses. A row twenty feet long planted about this time will give an abundant supply for a family of five for the whole season if only the outer rib's are cut each time and the remainder of the plant is left to grow.

ribs are cut each time and the remainder of the plant is left to grow.

With the price of asparagus out of reach of ordinary mortals, Swiss Chard is really an excellent substitute. It can be served as a hot vegetable with sauce, or as a salad with French dressing or mayonnaise. The young leaves can be cooked in the same way as spinach and the largest ribs cut in small pieces and cooked like celery. Or again, they can be cut in five-inch pieces, boiled for from twelve to fifteen minutes and chilled before serving.

Quite as dainty as its sister, the yellow variety, it is yet not so common by any means, and it, too, is often called the shamrock.

The most lovely of the family, however, is the violet wood sorrel, a plant quite often found here in our own High Park and near vicinity. The petals of the blossoms are deep rose in hue, turning darker and darker as they wither until they become a deep burning violet.

This variety has leaves of a rather coarse texture, and when found is all.

All told, On Monday there were $724 head, cattle, and trade was not any too brisk, heavy cattle holding steady, while other grades were from 15c to 25c lower. Cows were steady, and there was a ready sale for them all, while bulls were in good demand and prices well maintained.

Your Home Needs Hot Water Heating

Old fashioned heating methods are expensive, unsantiary, and unsatisfactory. Stoves and hot air furnaces are being abandoned. Real Estate men find it hard to sell houses that have not hot water heating because people will no longer put up with the inconvenience and inefficiency of old methods. Chicago Prices Rise Thru Delayed Planting in Many Districts.

Chicago, May 24.—Renewed unfavor-able conditions for planting brought about advances today in the corn mar-Unwelcome wet weather proved to be the dominating influence affecting the the dominating influence affecting the value of corn. Delay to planting was reported from a number of districts and it was said the result would be to defer the planting movement of grain. Important sections of Illinois and Ohio were particularly mentioned in this connection. One despatch from Ohio sent by a leading Chicago crop expert attracted especial notice. He asserted that the heavy rains had caused widespread retardation of seeding and that there was a large area yet to plant. On the other hand, good authorities said that barring persistent downpours there was still ample time. Bearish reactions, however, failed to last.

Outs sympathized with the advance of corn. Trade was mostly of an evening up character on the part of the shorts. Exporters were bidding, but they were much below a working basis, Lower quotations on hogs weakened previsions. Considerable of the selling appeared to come from outside packers.

The latter troops have been described as unfit for intensive action because of the for intensive action because of the "soft war" of recent months on the southern front.

GERMAN WOUNDED

Two Million Seven Hundred Thousand Maimed and Sick

New York, May 24.—More than 2.-700,000 wounded and sick men have been returned to the fighting front, and 692,000 soldiers have been discharged from the German army as unfit for further service, according to a report of the statement made in the reichstag by Surgeon-General Schulze as contained in The Berliner Tageblatt of April 24, a copy of which has been received here.

Most of the cases of sickness in the army were due to diseases of the organs of digestion, presumably a result of the quantity and quality of the food. Diseases of the respiratory organs and the nervous system came next in number. The surgeon-general said the health of the army was very favorable and that the tendency of the disease curve was to decline.

Surgeon-General Schulze added that the percentage of men discharged from hospitals as fit for further service was very high, but said the number of cripples at the present time was about 98,000. Excepting those killed, the deaths in the army were from 1 to 11-2 per cent, of the wounded.

ing military in nature it is not likely the details will be announced, altho it was arranged particularly to meet the contingency of possible military action in Russia.

Hopes are entertained that it will be the vorerunner of a permanent rapprochement with China and therefore, it is regarded as of great historical moment. Efforts will be continued to prepare for a financial and economic understanding concerning the development of China and, generally speaking, for the broad co-operation of the two great nations in the Orient.

The present accord between China and Japan is attributed to the non-oppressive and insistent tactfulness of Premier Count Terauchu. It is the first fruit of his belief, expressed when he assumed the premiership in October, 1916, that Japan and China have a common world destiny.
