FOUR DEATHS IN FIRE FOR WHICH IS PROBABLE
But Circumstances Would Indicate That the Tragedy of an Ancaster Township Home Was an Accident.

THE DEAD.
PHILIP VANSICKLE, 52 years.
HARRY, his son, 21 years.
HELETTA, daughter of Philip, 46 years.
ANCASTER, Ont., Jan. 31.—(Star Special).—Was the fire which destroyed the home of aged Philip Vansickle, his son, son-in-law and daughter at Jerseyville, 18 miles west of Hamilton, Saturday morning, only a terrible accident or has the tragedy even a more sinister meaning?

It is the sole question discussed through the whole countryside around the little hamlet known as the Jersey settlement, where the death occurred, which lies two miles west of Jerseyville,
a station on the G.T.R. to Brantford.
The theory that the deaths were due to accident is generally accepted.

At 2 o'clock Friday afternoon Sixth Vansickle, who lives almost opposite the burned house, who saw the blaze, his sister, the old man, his father, and Martin, his brother. He worked in the adjoining barn, which were used jointly by the old man and his sons with Harry. When they stopped at 7 o'clock on Saturday morning they went into the house.

It is now stated, however, that a recent conference of the big guns of the party at Ottawa decided that a gathering of representative party men from each of the provinces will be convoked during the latter part of the year.

RECOVERS ONE BODY.
Meanwhile Bert had reached the house. He rushed to the east end and around to the north corner, where the old man's room was situated on the ground floor.

At this juncture Seth, who had been called by Peter, came up. Together they pulled the body thru the window, throwing in pails of water to keep back the smoke. It was two late; the man, aged and infirm, was dead. The body was carried to the carriage house and there returned to the burning building. They strove to force their way in thru the east door, but were driven back by the heavy black smoke and tongues of flame which were fanning by the air, lit thru the broken door and window.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(Special).—V.

in England is considerably mixed. The Liberal ministers, after hesitating whether to challenge a fight with the lords by a dissolution, either on the budget or on some other program, have decided on sticking to office, carrying certain non-contentious social reform measures for two or three years, disregarding the evidence of growing dissatisfaction and the by-elections and making an attempt to carry bills which the lords will be turned out without a dissent.

ELOPES WITH AN "APOLLO" AND PAYS HIS EXPENSES

Pretty Montreal Girl and Willing Mate Headed Off at Port Huron and Deported.

PORT HURON, Mich., Jan. 31.—(Special.)—When immigration authorities at Port Huron stopped Miss Jeanne Bourque, aged 24, and Hugh Lawrence, aged 20, they put an end to an elopement which involved the usual order, the woman in this case running away with the man.

The couple declared stoutly that they were married and gave another name to the officers, but finally broke down and said that they were bound from Montreal to Detroit.

Other girls, however, took a fancy to Lawrence. Miss Bourque determined that she should have him all to herself, and finally succeeded in persuading him to start with her to Detroit, she paying all expenses.

WHO WILL LEAD LIBERALS OF SIR WILFRID QUIT?

Question of Succession is Gossiped About, Since Suggestion That Premier May Follow Earl Grey.

OTTAWA, Jan. 31.—(Special.)—The story in The Sunday World emanating from Montreal that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is making ready to vacate the premiership was much discussed today by the politicians who remained in the capital over Sunday.

That some such a move is contemplated was admitted by many to be quite likely, but one eastern member expressed the firm opinion that Sir Wilfrid will die in harness. It is beyond question that Sir Wilfrid is in better health to-day than he has been for some years. He has taken the best care of himself and by a rigorous diet has regained much of his strength; moreover, he has ceased to worry over matters of state. But he is not robust and his weight is growing old in him now past 67. He may elect to hold on, but the British peerage, with the prospect of spending his remaining years in the Government House, would seem to be alluring.

If the chief minister live in office till the eve of the next election, he would then be 71 and no one could tell what might happen if Sir Wilfrid appealed again to the people after the present Parliament has expired. There he would undoubtedly continue his firm hold on Quebec, the west is growing, and after the next decennial census will have a greatly increased representation, with the prospect of being in the position to completely offset the huge Liberal majority in Quebec.

The two parties will have to play largely to this vote and the side that makes the highest bid will get the support.

At the present time Saskatchewan is overwhelmingly Liberal, Alberta is about evenly divided, and Manitoba and British Columbia lean strongly Conservative. Sir Wilfrid may gain this support, but a new man with a reconstructed policy appealing to the west beyond doubt on the side of the government.

Opinions Too Ingrained. Sir Wilfrid is too old now to change his views. Mr. Fielding, who is sixty, is also well set and would, it is thought, hold Quebec together. Then there is Lemieux, who is understood to be in training, but will the English Liberals stand for another French-Canadian Premier? It is not known if Mr. Sifton, of whom it is said he has more influence with the prime minister than any other politician inside or out of the cabinet.

Mr. Sifton possibly could not hold Quebec, but he would come out of the province with greater support than Fielding, and there is to an English-speaking premier, Sifton, with a policy adapted to the needs of the west, might be the man Sir Wilfrid has in his mind.

If there is to be a complete reconstruction it ought to come within a year or two, it would be folly to wait till the eve of a general election. Sir Wilfrid outside could be the adviser of the new chief and could see the Dominion Government that he dropped into the Government House as governor-general.

McBride Forced More Out. The resignation of F. W. Morse as vice-president and general manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific continues to be discussed here. When it was first made known that he had stepped down it was said that it was because the government had absolutely refused to deal with the story now is that it was Premier McBride who forced Mr. Morse from the management of the transcontinental road.

Mr. Morse is not the smoothest man that could be named for a post of this description and of late it is said he became so obnoxious to the British Columbia Government that they refused to conduct negotiations with him and on one occasion at the request of Mr. McBride Mr. Wainwright was dispatched west to deal with the government.

To-morrow the commons will discuss the academic question of the conservation of the natural resources of the Dominion, on a motion placed on the order paper by R. L. Borden.

NEW YORK BANKS STRONG

$113,000,000 Added to the Cash in the Vaults. ALBANY, N.Y., Jan. 31.—Increased strength of the general banking institutions of the state under the new reserve laws, which go into effect tomorrow, is shown in a statement issued today by Clark Williams, state superintendent of banks.

It should be appreciated, that the strength of the general banking institutions of the state has been augmented by the addition of one hundred and three millions of dollars to the store of cash in their own vaults, and thirteen millions of dollars to that held on deposit with other banks.

"The reserves of our state banks and trust companies are now sufficient to meet any demands that might be made upon them for which a proper reserve would be adequate protection."

BIG FIRE AT GANANOQUE BURGLARS ARE ACCUSED

Grand Opera House and Turner's Block Destroyed, Perhaps in Attempt to Conceal Crime.

GANANOQUE, Jan. 31.—(Special.)—Burglars are blamed for having caused a fire early this morning which completely destroyed the Grand Opera House and the Turner Block, involving a loss of more than $100,000.

At 3.30 flames were seen bursting from the front windows of Joseph McCauley's restaurant in the Turner Block, King and Stone-streets, a gas blow-out, but the firemen responded promptly and soon had five streams playing. Prospect for a gas blow-out of King-street looked so certain that Kingston was telephoned for assistance and about 40 minutes an engine and a truck arrived at Kingston Junction, a message was sent countermanding the call.

While the origin of the fire is not certain, the discovery that Walter Abbott's jewelry store had been burglarized during the night leads to the position that the burglars broke into the restaurant for something to eat to conceal their crime.

Two men are said to have driven into an hotel shed about midnight, and left about 3 o'clock.

The fire gutters are: W. G. Rogers, owner of the Grand Opera House, a concrete block building, erected this year ago at a cost of $30,000, insured for $50,000; proprietor of the butcher shop; loss $25,000; W. Y. Boyd, owner of Turner Block, a three storey brick building, loss $25,000; Clifford Sine, druggist, loss $15,000; insurance $8000.

Corrigan and Co., dry goods, insured. Teger Hockey Club rooms. Prof. Jackson's studio. Colonial Theatre, on top floor of Turner building.

A.O.U.V., Canadian Order of Foresters, lodge rooms. Walter Abbott's loss by burglary is $25,000.

"Its Only a Cold, A Trifling Cough."

Thousands have said this when they caught cold. Thousands have neglected to cure the cold. Thousands have filled a Consumptive grave through neglect.

Never neglect a cough or cold, it can have but one result. It leaves the throat or lungs, or both, affected. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the medicine you need for all throat or lung complaints, relieving or curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, Sore Throat, and preventing Pneumonia and Consumption.

It has stood the test for many years, and is now more generally used than ever. It contains all the lung healing virtues of the pine tree combined with Wild Cherry Bark and other pectoral remedies. It stimulates the weakened bronchial organs, allays irritation and soothes the inflamed membrane, and helps to dislodge the morbid accumulations. Don't be humbugged into accepting an imitation of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, and price 25 cents.

"Mrs. J. Brewster, Grafton, N.S., writes:—'Two winters ago I suffered severely with a very bad cold and asthma, and very often thought I would choke, and very much frightened. My husband bought me a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and it gave me almost instant relief. It can recommend it to anyone having the least kind of a cold.'"

FIRE AT SCHREIBER

SCHREIBER, Jan. 31.—During one of the wildest gales ever experienced in this part of the county, fire broke out in the roof of the Queen's Hotel here about 7.15 Friday night, and in less than two hours the hotel, together with the whole business block adjacent, was reduced to ashes. Only the presence of a thick stone wall between the hotel and store occupied by the Schreiber Trading Company and post office, aided by the efforts of a volunteer fire brigade with the assistance of the C.P.R. fire hose, saved the latter building from destruction also. As it was the trading company's store and stock was badly damaged by fire and water.

The following is a list of the buildings and places of business destroyed: Queen's Hotel, partly insured; H. E. Parliament, barber shop, insured; Schreiber Drug Company, drugs, total loss, insurance unknown; D. McCauley, billiard and pool room and tobacco store; A. Strachan, jeweller, loss $6000; insured; P. McCauley, bakery and confectionery store; J. H. Beamish, general merchant, loss $45,000; insurance about $35,000; E. J. O'Brien, merchant tailor, loss and insurance unknown; residence of P. K. C. McCauley lived over the pool room and lost all his furniture. The Schreiber Trading Company's stock is damaged to the extent of $8000, covered by insurance.

BISHOP'S DIET OF FISH THRIICE A DAY, TWO YEARS

Bishop Reeve Describes Life in the Mackenzie River Country of the Far West.

Before an audience that nearly filled the theatre of the physics building, Bishop Reeve, in the third of the university Saturday lectures, told of the vast and marvelous country lying in the basin of the Mackenzie River. The bishop spoke with authority, for, as Principal Hutton pointed out, he had been 28 years in the region.

It was a vast district, covering upwards of half a million square miles. The climate was cold but not changeable. Snow lasted from October to May, and the ice about a month longer, the Great Bear Lake was only free from ice about one month in the year.

The means of access to the region was by rail to Edmonton, thence by stage or freight wagon, or perhaps by Red River carts or ox-team to Mackenzie Landing, which is now a flourishing incorporated village with three churches and a large hotel.

From this point it was possible to proceed by steamer, either to the west up the Athabasca, and Lesser Slave Rivers or north by the steamer Midland Sun, 120 miles down stream, to where navigation was impeded by the rapid of the Fort Smith portage.

The winter mode of travel by dog team was also touched on, and the great difficulties to be overcome in the way of rough ice on the lakes was plainly shown in the excellent slides which with the lecture was illustrated. The bishop thinks that if the north pole is to be reached it will not be by this mode of conveyance, but thru the air. On a 800 mile journey in winter he had averaged 23 miles a day.

Beyond Smith's Landing, the northern border of Alberta, there was little or no obstruction to navigation, and the traveler was furnished by the Hudson Bay Company with the luxury of new steamers, which had 16 or 18 state-rooms, and electric lights. This ran the Fort Resolution, the Mackenzie, and the Bear Lake where the Indians forage in great numbers in the summer.

The bishop also told of the long and difficult journey when he went with Fort Simpson in 1888, starting from St. Paul, Minn., by stage, wagon and steamer to Fort Resolution, where a village of less than 200 people. Thence the trip meant three months in an open boat, before Fort Simpson was reached.

The bishop spoke of the variety and beauty of the scenery and the vast mineral resources of the region. In the Hay River were the two Alexandra Falls, together higher than Niagara. On the Lower Mackenzie, near Fort Good Hope, the river narrowed for several miles and flowed between sheer walls of rock, "the narrows."

The dreary desolation of the Arctic Coast was spoken of, and the habits of the Indian and Eskimo described. Quite a number of the most beautiful slides were devoted to the animal life of the region. Wolves were numerous, but did not roam the wide wastes. Lynx were the pest of the hunter, robbing his traps. The musk-ox of the barren lands, he declared with quiet humor, was not, as sometimes supposed, the animal that laid the musk-ox. Two interesting slides were shown of a herd of bison, 50,000 and 60,000 reindeer. Fish was very plentiful. Three persons had caught 100 weighing in Lake Athabasca in the morning, but a diet of fish three times a day for two years on end was apt to pall on one, though this had been an actual experience of his own. Muskquitos were the worst pest of the country, and were worse the further north one went.

WHEN YOU CAN'T SLEEP. There is many a man and woman tossing night after night upon a sleepless bed. Their eyes do not close in the sweet and refreshing repose that comes to those whose heart and nerves are quiet. Some constitutional disturbance, worry or disease has so debilitated and irritated the nervous system, that it cannot be quieted.

Or again, you have, a sinking sensation, a feeling you are going to die; or perhaps, you wake in your sleep feeling as though you were about to choke or smother, and rest leaves you for the night. If you allow these conditions to continue for a short period even, you may begin to feel your health declining. If in the nervous and heart not acting rightly, and they can only so set right by the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. They soon induce health, refreshing sleep, and by restoring the nervous system, that it cannot be quieted.

Mrs. E. Nutt, St. Mary's, Ont., writes:—I can gladly recommend your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I was greatly troubled with my nerves. I was so bad I could not sleep at night without the lamp burning, but after taking four boxes of the pills I became all right again.

Price, 50 cents per box; 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Bouvier received with her daughter and wore a blue embroidered broadcloth gown with some handsome diamonds. Miss Youler looked very dainty in a coral broadcloth dress, while her two visitors were attractively attired. Miss Scripps wore a blue and white Dresden silk, and Miss Cam wore black and white. The large library and the room were decorated with roses, palms and narcissi. The polished table in the tea room was very prettily with its shaded candles and lace centre, on which stood a cut glass bowl filled with Killarney roses. The guests were attended by the Misses Foy, Traill, Spenser and Gray. Miss Bouvier brought her charming tea to a delightful close by a little dance in the evening. Among those present were the Misses Curtis (London, Ergo), Miss Warner, Miss Florence Dwyer, Miss Ethel Williams, Miss Norma Ferry, Miss Brock (New York), Mrs. H. Nerlich, and Messrs. Jack Durress, Harold Smith, John Walsh, Charles Chadwick and Will Parkinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Spottiswood celebrated their silver wedding at their home, 15 Augusta-avenue, on a very enjoyable evening was spent. The happy couple received many handsomely presented gifts, and a large circle of friends they have won in the few years they have lived in Canada. Both are from Dundee, Scotland.

Misses Nina and Gladys Hickling entertained about 50 of their young friends at their home on Brunswick-avenue on Friday night. A most enjoyable evening was spent.

Durham County Education. Approval of the effort made by the department of education towards raising the standing of public schools, and of the liberal grants, whereby trustees have been enabled to pay higher salaries to teachers than heretofore, was expressed at a public meeting at Bethany, Durham County, Friday.

A resolution to this effect, moved by W. H. McCarthy and Heber Preston, will be forwarded to the department. The meeting was addressed by J. J. Tilley, inspector of model schools.

Couldn't Get Ball. No one could be found that would give bonds for the liberation of Regina Ross and Patrick Connolly, two young men convicted of an assault on Mrs. Ruby Henson. As a result, when they appeared before Chief Justice Falconbridge at the assizes Saturday morning they were remanded till Friday for want of bondsmen. They may be then allowed out on their own bail.

Provincial Appointments. The following Ontario appointments are gazetted: Arthur Alexander of Barrie, Walter H. Gregory of Toronto, and Arthur A. Fraser of Cobalt, notary public, Archibald McKellar of Dutton, Elgin, bailiff, succeeding the late Malcolm C. Letch.

A Natty Little Suit.

REV. GEO. B. McLEOD.

Toronto, as his career shows, and Deer Park Church congregation are to be congratulated on their choice.

Mr. McLeod was born at Murray River, Prince Edward Island. As a boy he worked on a farm and at a trade and attended public school.

At an early age he determined to secure an education, but had no financial backing. A friend assisted him for one term in Prince of Wales College, Charlottetown, where he secured a teacher's license. Thereafter he made his way thru college and university without any aid from others.

Having taught for two years he returned to Prince of Wales College for a part of a term and prepared for matriculation into Dalhousie University, Halifax. The late George Munro, publisher, New York, had just given several valuable exhibitions and bursaries to the university, and Mr. McLeod with $50 in his pocket started for the university, hoping to win prize money sufficient to pay the expenses of an arts course. In this he was not disappointed, winning in open competition first honors in 1886, a cash prize of $120, and several smaller prizes.

He studied honor English literature under Dr. Alexander, now of Toronto University, and was graduated in 1888 as bachelor of arts, with first rank honors in English literature and his- tory, and as winner of the De Millé gold medal.

The three years following were spent on the mission field of the synod of the Maritime Provinces, and in the Theological Seminary of Princeton, New Jersey, where in addition to his theological studies he took the degree of M.A. in the study of philosophy under Drs. Patton and Ormond.

Miss Youler looked very dainty as pastor of a country congregation in Prince Edward Island, and was married the same year.

Three years later he returned to Princeton for post-graduate work, and in 1895 he was called to a small but exceedingly loyal congregation at New-castle, Ontario.

The last six years he has been pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Truro, N.S., probably the only Northern States congregation in the Dominion, dating from 1870. He ministers to large audiences, and his people are loyal and progressive.

A volume of his sermons, enlarged and carefully revised, was published in 1898 by William Briggs, Toronto, entitled, "Great Facts For Christian Living," with introduction by Rev. R. Douglas Fraser, M.A., editor of Presbyterian Sunday School Publications.

FOUR DIE IN FIRE

FOUR DIE IN FIRE. Foul play rumored.

east corner. Embedded in the heap of chairs, the body was bed-springs, indicating that he had gone down with his bed.

But the body of Harry was also found near this pile, the room he occupied was in the northwest corner of the building. Upon the back, stuck through the mattress, a buckle of his suspenders, but his watch was found under his own room.

Was he dressed? Did he awaken and seek to escape? Was he on the upper or on the ground floor when the floors fell? These questions are being earnestly but hopelessly asked.

Here is where his father begins to doubt. "The boy never slept with me," he says. "I was always sleeping alone. What was his body doing there?"

It is suggested that he went to warn the others, being awakened by the smoke. This does not satisfy the father.

Skills Are Missing. "The skulls of the two men are practically missing," he declares. "Oh, I don't think there is anything wrong. I feel it, he keeps repeating insistently until the thing becomes uncanny."

"I think there was a fight. Someone got in, and they fought it," he says.

"There was a will," he replies. "There was trouble over that. One of the family said that would fight it as long as there was a penny left."

"Some thought that the girls were getting too much. That was last spring. Then I believe there was another matter, by old Philip six weeks or so ago, and I was told at Christmas time that that made me mad."

Only the man's passionate belief in his doubt and declaration stands against the seeming certainty of all. But it is a matter of no earnest that it seems to bear weight.

Coroner to Probe. At least Coroner Farmer of Anchester opened an inquest at the scene Sunday morning, which will be continued at the village hall, Jerseyville, Wednesday.

"I do not think that there is any foul play," he said to The World at his house this afternoon.

"I can't say that it is an accident, either. I have heard many rumors. At least there is a state of affairs demanding further enquiry."

The jury empanelled to enquire into the cause of death is a curious one in that almost every man is related to the deceased and so are nearly all who are to be witnesses.

Charles Dymont, jr., Noah Brooks, Elmer Dymont, James Boyd, D. H. Kelly, Samuel Kelly, Samuel Kelly, Drake, Frank Raymond, Fred Charles Dymont, sr., E. L. Vansickie, William Baker, J. Johnstone, L. Kendall, and others.

The witnesses to be heard Wednesday are Albert Vansickie, Charles Vansickie, Peter Vansickie, Seth Vansickie, D. H. Kelly, Lemuel Vansickie, Edgar Vansickie, Wesley Vansickie, and the wife of Harry, F. Vansickie and Emma, wife of another Vansickie.

Dr. Gibson, who will perform the post mortem to-morrow.

The remains were turned over to Undermaster Swart of Jerseyville by the coroner.

Perhaps While Lighting Fire. Among the theories being put forward are that the fire was started by a light which was turned on by the inmates of the house.

The theory that the inmates might have been first overcome by coal gas is one which is being given much weight.

The intimate nature of the grief of the whole neighborhood is hard to realize until it is known that nearly everyone there is related. The settlement is the growth of two or three families of United Empire Loyalists, who settled at that spot as early as 1810.

Since then they have lived almost entirely to themselves, and the only frequent occurrence.

RADIUM AS A CURE

Paris Institute Announces 64 Successes in 62 Sufferers Cases.

PARIS, Jan. 31.—The impetus given in England in the last few days to the development of the uses of radium has drawn attention to the great work that has been done by the Paris Radium Institute, where Mme. Curie's superstitious tendency to the extraction of the wonderful substance from pitchblende and other materials.

The institute now possesses fifteen grams of radium valued at $86,000. Experiments in the hospital conducted with the institute have been so extensive in the last three years that Dr. Curie, in charge, says: "We in France are no longer in a period of expectancy. We are now in a period of certainty."

The institute reports 64 cures of surface cancer out of 68 cases treated. Hundreds of cures have been made of rheumatic affections, including tumours, some of great size. Thousands of birth-marks and scars have been removed.

The remarkable cures of chronic rheumatism, eczema and psoriasis have been recorded. It is expected that during the present year the laboratory will provide six times the quantity of radium above mentioned.

A recent departure is the application of radium to mineral waters, the efficacy of which will be vastly increased thereby.

Prof. Elliot unwrapped the mummy and sent sections of the mummy to the Royal College of Physicians, London, the president of which exhibited them to the pathological section.

LET CATHEDRAL BECOME MEMORIAL

appreciated and maligned until after his death. When his work has been recognized, the blurred and dimmed by the dust of the conflict of this world. So in many a case it required death to reveal the Christ spirit in a man's work of the devotion of his life.

In the refectory of Milan Cathedral the last supper painted by Leonardo da Vinci is dim with four centuries of age. It had been reproduced and been the inspiration both to painters and thousands. The influence of that great painter grows greater with the lapse of time.

It might be that the death of their beloved archbishop and dean would put an end to the petty, discordant, party differences and differences which had cast a shadow over the work of the archbishop's life with regard to his efforts to save the cathedral scheme for the diocese of Toronto. This shadow contributed to his loss of health and strength. It was a disappointment which was breaking his heart, but he stood by the scheme for a true cathedral for the diocese when many would have given it up, with a Christian's faith and an Englishman's pluck. With what result time would show.

When Mozart wrote his matchless requiem the composer said that his work was done and with a smile upon his face passed away.

Toronto was mourning the death of two great citizens. Their life work was widely divided, but many would be inspired by the example of their lives. One was the highest ecclesiastic whose life was a high light on the altar of the church. The other a layman whose work was in the world of finance, but whose last thoughts were for the welfare of others.

Looking back to that last scene in St. Alban's Cathedral on Wednesday afternoon with its purple carpet containing all that was mortal of the archbishop, the promise seemed to have been repeated to "Arthur Toronto," "My presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest."

Memorial services to children. At the children's memorial service at St. Alban's yesterday afternoon, Rev. Archdeacon Warren spoke from the words: "Well done, good and faithful servant, St. Matthew, xxv, 21. A week ago at noon the archbishop often been away attending the Lambeth Conference in England, and had always returned back obediently, but now he had taken a different kind of a departure. This time it was the departure of the heart of his soul. It was said by some that children should not be taught to regard the death of the archbishop as a tragedy. This was not true. Children were able to understand its significance. The late archbishop could be best remembered by the following his example of Christian conduct. They would be able to meet their life's end with the same calm courage that he had manifested.

It was remarkable how many different people were affected by the archbishop's death. The clergy and the communicants who had been ordained or confirmed by him felt the loss as a personal sorrow, such as his own. The archbishop's death was mourned by the church throughout the Dominion, as a sad and a personal sorrow. His life had exalted the ministry in the public mind, and no one would think of speaking sneeringly of the calling where the archbishop's memory dwelt.

As the young grew older they saw that play, dress and the outward appearance of things were unimportant compared with the value of the character. As a faithful servant of Christ the archbishop had left as his family's memory that of a character which would be an inspiration to all and righteous lives.

Rev. Canon Macnab said that a gentleman to whom the archbishop and the church were very dear had arranged for each member of the Sunday school, from the very youngest, to receive a portrait of the late archbishop next Sunday. He believed every one would appreciate this gift, and that the portraits would be an inspiration to them in their future lives.

At St. James' Cathedral. Solemn and impressive services memorial service held at St. James' cathedral yesterday morning when many tributes to the late archbishop were made by Canon Welch. The text was chosen from the 30th chapter of St. Luke's gospel and part of the 38th verse, "All Live Unto Him."

"Last week," said the speaker, "I gave closed over one to whom we all and the great friend to everyone. Since May 1, 1872 when he was solemnly consecrated to the high office which he laid down only a week ago he had tried on a great work and some of you may remember the bitter conflict that has now seen the two parties work harmoniously together, which condition would have been impossible 20 years ago."

Referring to the character of the late archbishop, Canon Welch said in part: "Those who have been in close touch with his life knew his life had been a pathetic struggle against increasing weakness, but he had always shown himself a modest, unobtrusive, shown his Christian gentlemanly courtesy since first meeting him 14 years ago. I have received from him nothing but kindness. 'No one knows how bitter was his disappointment in not having seen St. Alban's Cathedral completed. The great concourse of people at the funeral showed the respect held for him in the diocese and as we turned away from the grave we felt it closing over a life that had been faithful to his master and his church. He is not dead, however, but living unto God." The canon went on to speak of the activities of a man in this life and expressed a belief that even beyond the grave man continued to grow in the knowledge of God.

The anthems sung at the service were Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar" by Albert Hall, "Blessed is the Man" by the Laborer's Task is Over, "On the Resurrection Morn" and "God of the Living."

At St. Paul's. Rev. Canon Cody at the morning service in St. Paul's Church, paid an eloquent tribute to the life and work of the late Archbishop Sweatman. Speaking from the text, "Blessed is the Son of Man come not to be ministered unto, but to minister," (Matt. xx, 28), he said it is not those who have the most services who are the greatest, but those who give the most service. The greatness of the Kingdom of Christ is the greatness of service, and everyone who calls himself a Christian will be tried in point of greatness by this test.

After referring to the external incidents in Archbishop Sweatman's life, Canon Cody said of his personal character, that many a one can bear eloquent testimony. He was after the type of the great English gentleman, kind and courteous, always considerate and patient, dignified, yet not austere. He seemed to be modest and shy, avoiding display and saving his deepest side for those who knew him best.

His policy in the diocese was irenic, not political. He was a man of many times, and one cannot always do what is wise and right, but looking back over the past, it can be said with truth and deserving that the reasonable amount of harmony and peace that obtained lay largely to the patience, tolerance and reticence of him who has been pastor and bishop for these years. Much personal domestic sorrow came to him, which served to measure to bring him closer to the hearts of his people.

He performed his duty during one of the most interesting periods of our church and national life, when things were passing from state of stagnation to one of rapid growth and development. His first public work was that of confirmation. About 40,000 have been confirmed in this diocese during the bishop's episcopate. (He then established the bishop's office for organizing everything in documentary and statistical form for the proper conduct of the affairs of the diocese. In all matters concerning education he took a deep and constant interest. As chairman of the board of examiners for divinity degrees he brought to bear a ripe theological scholarship, and we owe a great debt of gratitude to him for his knowledge, sympathy and impartiality.

The greatest outstanding work of the general synod of the Church of England in Canada, and the necessary safeguards that were inserted in the constitution were the work of the bishop of Toronto.

In missionary enterprise he was alert and always willing to take a leap in the dark. When reviewing twenty-five years of his episcopacy some time ago he dwelt with great pleasure on the expansion of missionary work in the diocese.

In conclusion Canon Cody said that the late archbishop believed that the eminence in the Kingdom of Christ was gained by strenuousness of service and wished above all else that the diocese of Toronto should always stand prominent in missionary service because the Church of Christ seeks only to do the will of the Father, quoting finally the Divine Masquerade words from his famous charge many years ago. He said, "With all incompleteness of achievement I have the consciousness that I have never spared myself in devoting time and labor to the work of the church."

They might have wished at this time that he could have been spared, especially in view of the contemplated revision of the prayer book. Radical changes had been proposed, and would be proposed again, and in these the archbishop would have exerted a steady influence.

At the Church of the Redeemer. At the Church of the Redeemer, the hymns and lessons were appropriate to the occasion. At the morning service the congregation stood with bowed heads during the playing of the "Dead March in Saul."

In the evening the rector, Rev. J. James, preached on "Immortality," from Job, xiv, 14. "If a man died shall he live again."

He spoke of the yearning to know something of a life beyond, and the sadness that comes over us when we think only of the life that now is. He had this consciousness of the fact that death does not end all. "We bless God good-bye, but are in His arms." The recessional hymn was "Forever With the Lord."

The Furniture Sale Opens the February Programme

WE HAVE three conspicuous events in mind for February. The Furniture Sale, the Hosiery Sale and a Silverware Sale. And first in order comes the one of largest bulk and importance--The Furniture Sale.

This Sale of Household Furniture offers home-makers a clear saving of one-quarter the usual expense on nearly every kind of furniture in use. On some of it the saving is a full third. All the big furniture makers of the country contribute. Take serious thought of your requirements. Go over your house in mental review. Many vacancies and changes have been waiting for just an opportunity like this. Do not deny them their silent appeal now that the time has come. Buy Furniture at February prices and save the discounts.

The goods offered in this sale do not comprise a collection of extreme or unpopular designs, or furniture of inferior finish, and the designs are the most staple and standard in the trade to-day. As for prices--this brief list gives you a general idea which will be all you care to read about now. When you come to the store details will be self-evident and satisfactory.

Our February Campaign

WE OPEN a lively sale of Furniture to-day. On Saturday we commence the annual Sale of Hosiery. This event will be followed up by one of the biggest sales of Silverware ever planned in this city. We have a magnificent department in the New Building, and we intend to inaugurate it auspiciously. Keep these plans in mind and regulate your shopping profitably in accordance.
