There have also been rumblings of dissatisfaction with E. A. Lancaster. K.C., M.P. There is some foundation for the rumors, as Mr. Lancaster is not the most popular man in the riding; he is, however, a hard worker and an out-and-out Conservative, and when the time comes it is pretty safe when the time comes it is pretty safe betting he, will be the nominee of the party for the next contest. He is already at work in the county, and spent the past few days in the western section. The name of David Allan, the past county president, has been mentioned as a possible opponent in the convention, but Mr. Allan is not likely to stand, the he would be a strong man. On the other hand the Liberal ranks are in disorder. The appoint-ment of the census enumerators has caused considerable dissatisfaction, the township organizations having been given no say whatever. Moreover Welland D. Woodruff, who has been looked upon as the only candidate likely to make any sort of a run has never been nominated. It is questionable if he would now accept, as he accompanied the protesting delegation to Ottawa when the terms of the procaster or any other opponent of the treaty in a county made up so largely

Humber Parkway and Boulevard Scheme

An entirely new note has been struck in civic affairs in Toronto by the offer of the Home-Smith Syndicate to dedicate a parkway and boulevard up the Humber River in connection with the development of real estate the syndicate controls in that district. Washington, June 10.—(Special.)

President Taft has thoughtlessly, no another man make a dollar, or who wants to hog everything himself, belongs in mid-Africa.

The emphasis laid upon this fact is one of the finest features of the Home-Smith proposal. Nobody who has not been up the Humber River to Dundasstreet can guite realize what a heavy street can quite realize what a beautiful region exists so near the city centre. Pictures convey some faint impression of the lovely vistas, but "it is not the soft magic of streamlet and to incur their displeasure are amazed and disgruntled that the chief executive should presume to light a fire in their rear. Pact Will Kill Preference Laurier the Wet Blanket (Away From Home) The London Standard calls Laurier the wet blanket of the conference. Laurier, needless to say, was entirely opposed to it (Harcourt's proposal for a standing committee), as he has been thruout the conference to almost any suggestion for closer imperial union and concerted action.

LAURIER AND CONTINENTALISM

Patient as English-speaking Liberals have been with Sir Wilfrid Laurier's indifferent disposition towards imperial concerns, there is a limit even to their endurance. Plenty of evidence can be found that among his most loyal supporters runs a strong undercurrent of dissatisfaction with the attitude the Canadian premier has assumed during the pending imperial conference. To put it mildly, it has created a deep feeling of disappointment to have the Dominion presented as averse to that form of co-operation which involves no infringement of national autonomy. In so interpreting Canadian sentiment Sir Wilfrid Laurier has not only no warrant, but cannot avoid being conscious that he is countering the convictions of the vast majority of Englishsufficed to transform Sir Wilfrid Laurier from an imperial to a continental statesman, how much further will he be prepared to go should the agreement be approved by parliament and congress? While at previous conferences he strongly maintained the principle of full local autonomy, he was entirely receptive to proposals which, without infringing that principle, made for closer imperial union. That policy was generally recognized as sound at the present stage of the empire's development. But Sir Wilfrid has now extended his opposition to include purely consultative action, and Mr. Fielding, his minister of finance, protests against any discussion in the United Kingdom of the reciprocity pact from its imperial side. Yet, at earlier conferences, the Canadian premier advocated the establishment of an imperial preferential trade system, a scheme which can be carried out only by the doubtless again be regaled by eloquent rhetorical periods descriptive of his own undying devotion to the cause of imperial unity, while as a born and experienced opportunist, he will present himself to the opponents of imperialism as the wet blanket of the conference. But fine words butter no parsnips, and Liberals and Liberal newspapers in the English-speaking provinces are gradually realizing that flowery orations do not count for much when they come to measure up with active influence and its result. President Taft announced that Canada and the United States were at the parting of the ways and urged reciprocity because it would detach Canada from the imperial band of British states. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has let it be clearly seen that he is ready to assist that endeavor and to prepare the way for the entry of Canada into the continental band of American states which the president is

London Globe: "Even apart from the unfortunate speech in which Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated that Canada would stand apart from Britain in the event of war, his remarks at the conference have been singularly jejeune and unconvincing. He has not troubled to argue for his viewa; he simply made the bare statement that Canada was perfectly happy and contented with things as they are. It is quite evident that his heart and perhaps thought are elsewhere. We fear he is an unwilling guest. * * We don't feel that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is a very felicitous interpreter of Canadian feeling at the present time."

Unhappily, foreign powers maintain the right to treat the whole empire as beligerents." whole empire as beligerents."

The News: "Laurier deprecates the imperial government sharing the control of the foreign policy with the Dominion, fearing that such joint control might lead to divided counsels, and would certainly commit to a resulting war any dominion which had been consulted. Here conflict arises immediately with the autonomy of the Dominions."

A Great Imperialist

Dr. Sproule: "Is the war referred to war in any part of the empire or in Canada only?"

Sir Wilfrid Laurier: "War everywhere. WHEN BRITAIN IS AT WAR, CANADA IS AT WAR; there is no distinction. If Great Britain, to which we are subject, is at war with any nation, Canada becomes liable to invasion, and so Canada is at war."

It has been, it is, it shall be, our unalterable determination to meet and carry out every duty which is implied by the title of British subject.' Nay, more—not only will Canada fulfil every obligation which is implied by that title, but I think I make bold to say that we will rise to every sacrifice that may be needed in order to maintain unimpaired the rank and status which is occupied by Canada in the British empire, and the rank and status which is occupied by the British empire thruout the world."

The much heralded return of William J. Lindsay, who acted as stock selling agent for the defunct Farmers' Bank, has at last come to pass. Saturday morning, while police court was still in progress, he walked into Inspector of Detectives Duncan's office and gave himself up to face the charges which have been laid against him in connec tion with the bank.

He is charged with conspiring with the provisional directors, J. R. Stratton, M.P., C. H. Disconsolate because he was told by money to buy clothes, John Dai Tak, a 13-year-old Chinese lad, hanged himself in his bedroom over his uncle's laundry at 657 West Queen-st.

When his uncle went up stairs at 1 o'clock on Saturday morning, he found the boy hanging by a rope taken from a tea chest, which he had passed thru a stovepipe hole over the doorway. The uncle cut the dead body down and went to the east end of the city and notified a relation of the deceased's. When they arrived at their home they tried to revive the boy, and, seeing their efforts were of no avail, summoned Dr. Killoran, who, on seeing the body, pronounced life extinct. The chief coroner is investigating, but it is unlikely that an inquest will be held. The father lives in Vancouver.

And the second control of the second control showed in the first, Sullivan's sugastic showed in the tally column in the following manner: Byrne flew out to Auld, but McGuire's offering was thrown to the fence by Pully, Dinny taking second on the error. Moran singled, scoring McGuire. Acheson's perfect throw of Downing's hit was muffed by Auld, Moran scoring. Massey's snap throw to Auld caught Downing off the bag, retiring the side. Two runs on one hit.

The Dufferins broke into the run column in the fourth on Pictor's single and stole and Nevins' single. On the throw to the plate to get Picton, Downing returned the ball fast to McGuire, naling. Nevins. The decision, tho very fair, Sacused a great road from the Dufferin Supporters. Two hits. One run.

Sharpe's crew evened up matters in the next innings. After Grogan was retired, Englert to Baldwin, Sharpe single and stole, and scored when Englert forziefd hits hils-wise: Massey doubled over Byrne's head, and Pictor scratched a single to left. Nevins' roller to Downs allowed Massey to cross the plate. Acheson worked a nice single in this innigs, but it did not develop into run-getting, as to Grogan fanned for the third out. Young Man, Go Right Ahead and Propose! We will set you up in a Snug Little Home-the Easy Way-just as soon as you like Once upon a time-before the Adams' "Charge-Account" Plan came into existence-it was a real hard thing to get a home together; it was nursed as a dream of future possibilities only. It used to be that young men on salaries put off "popping the question" because they hadn't enough money to furnish a little home for the bride.

But this store has solved the problem of furnishing homes for those whose incomes are limited, and now-a-days, with our simple little-at-a-time payment plan-men propose when they only have a moderate salary to consult.

IN ST. AUGUSTINE'S CHURCH. Wedding of Mr. Harold Beatty to Miss Lois Duggan. Augustine's Church was the scene of one of the prettiest weddings

riage was solemnized if Ann Lois, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Henry Duggan, to Mr. Harold Eastwood Beatty, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Beatty, "Oakdene," Isabella-street. The church was beautifully decorated with pink and white peonies, hydrangeas and palms, and made a perfect setting for the soft pink and grey combination of the attendants' gowns. Rev. Fred Plummer, the rector of the church, performed the ceremony, and Mr. Thomas Reed played the wedding music from Lohengrin softly thruout the service, Mrs. Frank Mackelcan singing the bridged solo during the signing of the register. The little bride looked lovely in her beau-tiful wedding gown of duchess satin. The open panels were outlined in beads, showing an underdress of beaded chiffon, the bodice and sleeves of baby Irish lace and the long court train fastened with a broad bow of white satin. Her veil, which was of Brussels applique, was crowned with a wreath of orange blossom, and she carried a shower bouquet of thy-of-the-valley and orchids. Miss Helen Mumford, Montreal, an aunt of the bride, was maid of honor, and the bride's two sisters, Miss Mildred and Miss Vivian Duggan, were the brides-maids. They were dressed alike in gowns of pink marquisette, the border being of roses and grey maiden hair fern. They wore hats of grey satin trimmed with pink satin ribbon and roses, grey shoes and gloves, and carried baskets of pink and white sweet pea. The best man was Mr. Arthur E. Dalton, and the ushers, Mr. Austin Suckling, Mr. Stanley Beatty, Mr. Heber Smith, and Mr. Sydney Duggan; to each the groom presented a pair of initialed gold cuff links, and Ella Leacock, Prof. Mayor, Miss May Perry, Mr. George Dickson (New York). on Romaine Dean, a pupil of the public school.

On June 6 the lower grades of the school were having their photographs taken, and Dean, with a number of scholars, was standing with his head out of the window. Stubbs claims that he told the children to come in, but none of them heard him. Harry Reid and Harry McCombs, who were also looking out of the window, swore they did not hear the principal. Stubbs grabbed Dean by the coat-tail to pull him in. In doing so his head struck the window sash, and his nose the window-guard board.

Dean endeavored to ascertain the reason he was handled so roughly, with the result that he was struck in the face by the principal, being left with a bruised cheek and a black eye.

The boys stated that Stubbs threw Dean to the floor, tramped on him with one foot, choked him with one hand, and pummeled him with other. The magistrate reserved decision till Thursday.

Some Tangible Evidence Facts Regarding Weight of Bread

When people pay 5 cents for a little 12-ounce loaf, as they unwittingly do at times, they are paying 10 cents for the legal standard loaf that Lawrence sells for 5 cents. In other words, they pay 20 cents for what Lawrence sells for 10 cents. Their "small bread" loaves are no better quality than my regular loaf; so why should anyone pay twice as much for it as he needs to pay for

Lawrence's Home-Made Bread

Did you ever weigh your bread to find out how much you were getting for your money? Below is the unsolicited evidence of one of my customers, who weighed his bread every day, and brought me a slip showing the results. Here are his figures:

Monday, May 29 Tuesday, May 30 Wednesday, May 31 Thursday, June 1 Friday, June 2 Saturday, June 3 1 loaves 1 loaves 2 loaves 4 loaves 5 loaves	9 9 12 12		41/2 41/2 10 1	ounces ounces ounces ounces

These figures show the liberal weight I put into my bread. I not only give full weight, but I give the finest quality of bread of any baker in the city. If you don't believe it, order a trial loaf.

MAJORITY MINISTERS FAVOR CHURCH UNION

Methodist Conference Delegates Anxious For Union With Presbyterians and Congregationalists.

At the continuance of the church union debate at the Methodist confer-ence on Saturday morning, Rev. Peter ence on Saturday morning, Rev. Peter Addison declared that divisions on such questions then under discussion was a shame and a disgrace to Christianity. He urged that the entire body of Methodists walk on broader lines, consider the glory of Christ, rather than the mere spread of Methodism. He declared that if church union is decided upon, the church will hold, with even a firmer grip, the essentials of Cartistianity, but the less essential with even a firmer grip, the essential of Christianity, but the less essential points must be overlooked to attain the great end in view.

In reopening the debate, Rev. Dr. Hinks had no hesitation in saying that those in favor of uniting showed enthuaziastic optimism and he intimated that sooner or later those opposed to the measure, including himself, would have to give way to the majority. Delay did not appeal to the imaginations on the greater number and from the very outset it appeared as the 90 per cent. of those present favored unity with the Presbyterian and Congregational bodies, without delay. Dr. Hinks compared the proposed union with marriage. He claimed that marriage should not take place until the groom and bride were impatient for union and unhappy for marriage. Such he claimed should be the feeling of the church before any agreement of the kind entered into. Such a union should be considered not from a standpoint of financial gain, but for the glory of God. Dr. Hinks said that it was impossible to hurry. God and that only in His time would church union be brought about. Delay was often more glorifying to the creator than hasty actions, which, Dr. Hinks deciared, often resulted in delaying the clared, often resulted in delaying the

"The tomb in Harleigh Cemetery, about a mile southeast of Camden, connected by trolley, is as nearly perfect for a resting place as it would be possible to find; a winding roadway on a hillside, thru dense trees, leads directly to where it stands, secluded, built into the slope, and with a view a little farther on of a more open space, with a beautiful willow and other large trees, and a good-sized pond. At the time of this visit, about 5 p.m., the sun pierced here and there thru the trees and lighted up the pond below more brilliantly. The perfect stillness was most restful, being only broken by acceptable music from the native birds."

King Edward's "Crime." The new French Premier, M. Monis, is the proprietor of a brandy of which he is very proud. The story goes that once when King Edward and the late Ceneral Galliffet were dining together Monis brandy was served, and King Edward drank his portion off at one gulp. Galliffet, connoisseur, stared. "Sire." he exclaimed, "you have committed a crime!" King Edward laugh-ed. "Why?" he asked. "Erandy like that," was the reply, "should be savor-ed. You should lift it gently, pass it under you nose, enjoy the aroma, and then put it back on the table." "And after that?" the Kink asked. The play was unusually good—quite equal to mid-season form. The tournament was notable for the number of old-timers playing. All the old players were on the green.
The prizes are exceptionally costly, and do great credit to Secretary Huestis' taste in selection.

Many of the sames in the preliminary round were as hard-fought as if they were finals. That of Rev. Cayley of St. Simons against the veteran Wigmore of Canadas was tied on the last end, the rev. gentleman winning out with his final bowl. Dr. McKenna (Gr.) and Loughead (K.B.) were 14-all at the fifteenth end, and had to play an extra end, the Granites winning out. Dr. Moore (Can.) was in his old form and trimmed Henderson (Oakland) 24 to 8, with an end to play. Champion Barker of St. Matthews lost to Dalton of Granites, 16- to 7, with an end to spare. McEwen of Weston swamped Hutchins of R.C.Y.C., 27 to 6, and two ends to go. The newcomers, High Park, led by Hy. Martin, were only defeated on the last end by Marks (Alex.) by a point, 11 to 10. The following are the scores:

In opening the tournament, President Norman Brown welcomed the players with a few remarks. Their reception showed the great esteem in which the Granites' presiding officer is held by his fellows. In the games of the first round the ax fell on many favorites. Knowles' crack rink lost in the last end to Skip Douglas, R.C.Y.C. whose bowling was superb. THE HOUSE OF FRANK BRODERICK & COMPANY HAS GROWN FROM A LOCAL TO A NATIONAL INSTITUTION

Fifteen Years

IFTEEN YEARS of progressive tailorcraft have created a demand for Broderick's made-to-order clothes, a demand that now extends from Coast to Coast. To keep pace with the rapidly increasing business, more capital has been secured to provide wider production facilities, greater floor space, enlarged workshops and to enable the firm to save middlemen's profits by buying for cash direct from the mills. The business will be conducted in future by a joint stock company chartered under the name of Brodericks Limited.

Subordinate Agenoles Everywhere

OR the purpose of serving out-of-town customers, and particularly those living in the Northern Mining Centres and in the Great West, a letter order system has been established, whereby a copyrighted measurement chart, style book, samples and complete information will be sent on application; also in every prosperous Canadian city and town subordinate agencies are being created, so that by these means Broderick's distinctive garments, exhibiting the latest styles, the most modish and exclusive patterns, unsurpassed in quality and workmanship, will be brought to the door of the most remote. An order by mail ensures an absolutely perfect fitting, stylish and serviceable Broderick suit.

Supervision

RODERICKS LIMITED have a complete executive staff of experienced department heads under the supervision of Mr. Frank Broderick, President of the new company, who has no superior as a cloth expert. His cloth judgment has been the foundation of the success of the House of Broderick. He visits yearly the best looms of Great Britain in order that his Canadian patrons may have the newest weaves and the latest designs, patterns and modes. By buying for cash direct from the Old Country weavers the middleman is eliminated and the cost of production reduced. This additional saving Brodericks Limited share with their

UNNATURAL MOTHER HALED BEFORE COURT

Threatened to Kill Child, and Is Jailed in Default of Sureties to Keep the Peace.

MONTREAL, June 10.-A threat made in court to kill her own son just as she stepped of the witness stand, caused Mrs. Jas. Brennan to assume the role of accused forthwith. The father had been before, Mr. Recorder Weir, for beating the lad in the street the previous night, and the mother had been called to give evidence. When she heard the sentence of $50 or two months, she burst out:

"Two months; what do you think of that? I will kill that brat." Constable Pelletier immediately arraigned the woman, who was required to give two bondsmen in $500 each to keep the peace for a year. As she was unable to do this, three months was the alternative, and the parents both went to jail later in the day.

ANOTHER OFFERING Hoberlins Announce Big Event in Made-to-Order Clothes.

News that will be welcome to thousands of citizens comes to-day in the statement that the big tailoring firm of Hobberlin Bros. & Co., will hold their annual one-day June sale on Wednesday of next week. This is an annual event at the big tailor shops, and is eagerly looked for by our citizens. It is estimated that the savings to customers in the one day total over $5,000. The firm state that owing to the building operations they are now entangled with, that the range of suitentangled ings to be disposed of are the very cream of the looms. English and Scotch fabrics, from the foremost makers, and they range in price from $20, $22 and $25. No line to be offered is worth less than $20 in original value, and as high as $25. All the newest summer styles represented in the as-semblage. Coronation shades, browns, tans, silver greys, mission greys, plain and fancy effects in cheviots and wor-steds. Remember not a single suiting in the lot to be offered ever sold less than $20, while hundreds of lines have been included that are $22 and $25. ACQUIRE GARDEN THEATRE. It is now known for a fact that ouple of Americans who have been have had as their object, the acquiring of theatre interests here. These parties, it is learned, are in-terested in theatres which cater to the best class of citizens rather than the t ansient or tourist traffic. Their houses on the other side are situated in the best residential localites, somewhat similar to the Garden Theatre in Cleveland.

They have chosen the Garden Theatre on College-street in this city, and it is understood have secured either an option or lease for a term of years. From what we can learn, it is their intention to put on a class of pictures such as were recently put on by Howe at the Royal Alexandra. They propose putting on travel scenes, and representations of performances as pro duced by the best opera companies, with full orchestra accompaniment by high-class musicians

It is known that the Morgan, Guglately, and it is understood that the magnates have come to a decision that they can combine without being charged with causing any "unreasonable restraint of trade.'

The contemplated copper merger is to establish in the copper industry a financial organization similar in pur-pose to the $1,100,000,000 Steel Trust. In order that it should not arouse legis-lative investigation, however, or be liable to federal prosecution along the lires of the government suits against the oil and tobacco trusts, its central corporations will be linked together by "gentlemen's agreements," which are not recorded in the charters of holding companies or the minutes of directorate meetings.

Guggenheims Come In. Chief among the corporations to be affiliated in the merger is the American Smelting and Refining Company the capital stock of which was increased from $100,000,000 to $115,000,000 by a vote of the stockholders on January 5, last.

The various mining interests of the Guggenheims, according to the present plan, are to be reorganized so that those which deal with anything else than copper will be handled independently. $22,000,000 Guggenheim Exploration Company, for example, holds large stock interests in both the $25.000,000 Utah Copper Company and the $25,000,000 Yukon Gold Company.

Independent Companies. Most important of the companies out-side the Guggenheim circle of control which have been invited to come into the merger, and which it was said practically agreed to accept the offer, is the Amalgamated Copper Company.

U. S. Export Trade Will Make a Record

Expected That Two Billion Dollar Mark Will Be Crossed for First Time.

WASHINGTON, June 10 .- Some remarkable records are likely to be made in the export trade for the fiscal year which ends with the present month statistics of the department of commerce and labor furnish a basis for a rough calculation of the trade for the full fiscal year and these suggest that the exports of raw cotton will aggregate not far from $600,000,000 in value; iron and steel manufacturers, approxi mately $250,000,000; meat and dairy products, $150,000,00; breadstuffs, $125,000, 000; copper, $100,000,000; mineral oil, $100,000.000; wood and manufactures thereof, $90,000,000; leather and manufactures thereof, over $50,000,000; agricultural implements, over $40,000,000 tobacco and manufacturers thereof, over $40,900,000; cotton manufactures, approximately $40,000,000; and coal, over $40,000,000 for absolute exports, excluding that going into the bunkers of vessels engaged in foreign trade. of vessels engaged in foreign trade, which will amount to approximately $20,000,000, making the coal carried out of the country over $60,000,000 in value. These large increases, coupled with those of less important articles, suggest that the figures for domestic ex ports this year will almost certainly cross the $2,000,000,000 line, and this for Four hundred and fifty men are needed to operate the National City Bank, of New York. Forty messengers carry the drafts and general business of the institution thru the city; roomsful of clerks sort checks and drafts and keep the records of correspondents' accounts; a special department keeps filed away the information relating to the tens of thousands of individuals and enterprises that have applied to the bank lor loans.

the day this financial plant is never stopped. A small force of clerks goes on at the end of the regular working day, and stays until midnight. From midnight until 8 o'clock half a dozen clerks are sorting the mail receiving then a great part of all that comes in from out of town. There are from three to five thousand out-of-town letters every day, containing from fifteen to twenty thousand checks. They must be ready at 10 o'clock for presentation at the Clearing House, or the clients of the banks will lose a the clients of the banks will lose a full day's interest on their money. In an institution that has presented total demands as great as $75,000,000 in a single day at the Clearing House carelessness or delay in handling checks and drafts might easily mean a daily loss of hundreds or even thousands of dollars. The daily interest on $10,-000,000 at 4 per cent. is over a thousand

Banks Haven't Enough Funds to Go Round-Comment on Wallstreet Market.

Playfair, Martens & Co., comment on the financial situation as follows: "Bad news out is good news," so the saying goes. The Tobacco and Standard Oil cases are out of the way as effecting market sentiment. No legitimate industry will be destroyed, but the grasping and all powerful mon-opolies have found a master in the shape of the law, and that is some-thing to inspire confidence in the business situation. The "one man power" is no longer a menace in the United

Much capital of a bearish nature has been made of the Steel investigation, but thus far it has proved nothing outside of a smart temporary setback seems to exert very little influence upon United States Steel stock. The cut in prices of steel bars by the various steel companies has failed to prove demoralizing in either the steel market or the stock market; and steel manufacturers are optimistic and quite generally express belief that the readjustment of price will stimulate busi-

Money is by no means easy in Toronto. Notwithstanding the fact that large sums have recently been shipped from New York to Canada, funds are exceedingly hard to get on call loans. It is not a question of security with most of the banks, but lack of sufficient funds to go round. Considering this condition, the activity at the present time is remarkable. The market has again demonstrated its tendency to reach higher levels whenever any encouragement may be had. Sympa-thizing with the bigger market in Wall-street practically the whole list has been buoyant, with strength centered principally in Sao Paulo, Rio de Janeiro, and the milling stocks.

BUFFALO, June 10 .- (Special to The sunday World.)-On account of a misunderstanding in the schedule, by which today's game was transferred to Buffalo, a Saturday afternoon crowd away below the proportions of an ordinary week-end attendance, turned out to see the Bisons and Maple Leafs line up this afternoon. Evidently the fans did not understand that the Herd and the Leafs were to skip to Buffalo to-day for a game here, and a field meet, in addition to an aviation exnibition at a local beach, had the tendency to keep the attendance down. Manager Joe Kelley sent Lush in to warm up, with a view of defeating the Bisons, and Kocher will back him up. For Buffalo, Manager Stallings sent Stroud and Corridon out to warm up. He decided on the latter to pitch. Killifer will back him

Big Days With the Horses at Outdoor, Canada's Best Early Summer Exhibition -Some of the Prize-Winners.

GALT, June 10.-Galt's annual horse show in many respects is the best held in Canada, and in saying this no reflection is meant on Cobourg's fash-ionable turnout. Galt's show is older than Cobourg's and the town has the advantage of being a better horse cenadvantage of being a better norse centre. Then a more picturerque, better chosen spot for a horse show could not be chosen than that of Galt. Entries are always good, both in numbers and quality, while the management leave little or nothing to be desired. This year the attendance on each of This year the attendance on each of the three days was exceptionally large and the show was of extra merit. Toand the show was of extra merit. Toronto had a large contingent present, both of horses and visitors. Motoring to Galt, if the weather be fine, has evidently become a pleasant occupation—a kind of vogue in fact, for there

Prize Winners. Nearly all the stables represented at the Canadian show in Toronto are represented here, with not a few additional. Sir Henry Pellatt has scored several times, so, too, has Hon. J. R. Stretton, but perhaps the most note. Stratton, but perhaps the most note-worthy incident was the defeat of Miss Wilks in the Canadian-bred harness Wilks in the Canadian-ored harness class by A. Yeager of Simcoe. Hugh S. Wilson's Ennisclaire representatives had eminent success in the hunting classes, Mr. Hume Blake having to be content with seconds and Irving Milne's crack, that was so successful in Toronto, third. Here it should be mentioned the hunters are put to a practical test. They not only have to jump on the flat, but are required to ride up and down and along the top of a steep grass-covered bank. Galt is noted for its standard-breds and roadsters. It is not to be wondered, therefore that the classes devoted to therefore, that the classes devoted to these types were exceptionally strong. They were grand in fact. Miss Wilks, of course, was in evidence, but she was by no means as successful as usual, Burns & Sheppard (Toronto) and William J. Crosson (Cobourg) both beating her in one class on the first day, as well as A. Yeager, as already mentioned, in another. James Cromarty, the worthy, clever and ever-courteous etary of the show, was on the job saddle horses, and carried off several well deserved prizes. J. C. Dietrich, another owner of Canadian fame, was also a good deal in evidence, but with roadsters, Ed. Warren and Aemilius Jarvis, both of Toronto, figure among the prize winners in the saddle classes. An especially interesting exhibit was the somewhat novel unicorn class, in which the three competitors were placed like this: A. Yeager first, Hugh S. Wilson second and Miss Wilks third. It is to be feared the judge had a leaning to the hackney rather than to the trotter. But the trio made a spanking display and one could not help reflecting how much preferable grass and the open were for a horse show to the glaring artificial light of night and tan bark.

The attendance was not all that was expected the success of the success of the first day. ed, but still there was a good crowd. Toronto 'exhibitors were again very much to the fore, among them being Sir Henry Pellatt, second in fours and singles over 15.2, and first under 15.2. Hume Blake was first in lightweight hunters and Ed. Warren second. Hugh Wilson made a clean sweep in the jumping classes. Irish Lady cleared of ft. 3 ins. in the high jump. The ground was slippery. W. J. Langdon deserved better than third in the roadster class. Miss Wilks won with her roadster pair, Oakum Belle and Maze. A. Yeager was first in single harness over 15.2 and third in fours, the Ennisclaire farm (H. C. Cox) being first in the latter class with a remarkably good-looking, high-stepping, well-man-nered quartet and perfect appoint-ments. Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., was first in the amateur pairs, with R. A. Lister & Co. of Toronto second. T. A. Cox of Brantford, a pony expert of renown, was easily first in the pony class, with Miller & Millan of the same

First, ours is essentially a dia-mond business. mond business.

Second, our associate diamond cutters are always on the spot in Antwerp to buy the snaps in rough stones, that are constantly to be had for cash. Third, our sorting of stones is done by an expert, and when we sell a stone as perfect, you will find it strictly so.

Fourth, we buy as cheap as the cheapest buyers, and as we sell nothing but diamonds, we must treat the public right, as we have no side lines to depend on.

Polo on the Cheap.

Another determining factor of the match was the lack of good mounts by the English players. Captain Lloyd, the English commander, played six of the eight periods with two ponies, and Lieut. Edwards was astride three of his horses in the last period. What these visitors would have done with a string like that, which pawed and stamped at the American stable, and which outgaloped the visitors' mounts on every occasion, can only be conjectured.

The New York despatch above carries small consolation to the many Canadian horsemen and polo enthusasts, who hoped to see the world's nampionship cup return to the old

If the English team had been beatn solely thru the superior work of their adversaries, it would only have been fair sport, but that their defeat should have been arrived at thru some preventible cause is most humiliating.
It was understood in Canada that no expense was to be spared in makng the English team perfect; the first thing we learn is that they were so short of ponies that the same mounts went into the game as often as three times, facing on every occasion absol-utely fresh American horses.

Why the English were so negligent in not providing their team with ponies is hard to understand. Surely it was not on the score of poverty. We re-alize that the American team and its ackers are multi-millionaires, but England is not so poor a country that she could not spend money sufficient to uphold her position in international

BOWERY" ROBERTSON DEAD.

OTTAWA, June 10—Alex S. (Bowery) Robertson, for many years one of the foremost of Canada's lacrosse players and the mainstay of the defence of the Capital team, died at his home here this morning after an illness of several months from tubercular trouble. The funeral takes place on Monday afternoon at 2.30. He was in his 39th year, and is survived by a widow and two young children.

"Bowery" Robertson began his athletic career in the early nineties, graduating from the old Ottawa lacrosse team to the Capitals, with whom he played until 1907, when he retired from active participation in the game, but remained on the executive of the club. As a referee he was also noted within retent years. Deceased was esteemed as one of the most gentlemanly lacrosse players in the Dominion. He was in private life an active worker in Presbyterian Church circles.

Lacrosse fans will learn of his death with regret, as "Bowery" was one of the best liked players in the game.

other scorers and perhaps result in atters not getting credit for hits to which they are fully entitled. There was such a play at American League Park the other day. With Hogan of he Browns on second and two out Clarke hit a grounder toward short. The ball touched Hogan on the trouser leg, went on to Johnson, who threw Clarke out at first. The moment the ball touched Hogan's clothing Umpire Evans called him out for being hit by a batted ball. The general supposition was that Hogan was called out for interference, but such was not the case. He tried to avoid being hit by the ball. Evans himself is authority for the statement that he called Hogan out for being hit, and therefore Clarke is entitled to a base hit. Incidentally an odd phase of the play was that two men really were retired on it. Hogan was out when the ball touched him, and Johnson had the ball in Chase's hands before Clarke arrived at first. It was no fault of Evans or anybody else, but it so happened that there were four out in that innings. Evans tells of a case in the west in which Harry Wolter was a victim of circumstances twice. Twice the fiest Highlander knocked a grounder, and each time reached first as soon as the thrown ball reached there. It happened in each case that the first baseman dropped the throw, but that Evans had ruled Wolter safe, not on the strength of the muffs, but because he had beaten the ball. Yet errors were charged to the first baseman in the scores and the hits not given to Wolter, hits to which he was entitled. was that Hogan was called out for in-

Ottawa's Opinion of Tecumseh.
Ottawa Journal: Looking over the two sucsesses of the Tecumsehs it does look as if Querrie, for the second time in four years, had picked up a winning aggregation, his team at present having it on anything in the big circuit, unless the Nationals can come back, or the Torontos show much better form than they have exhibited to date.

The Indians, by their two victories on foreign fields over the Nationals and Shamrocks, displayed everything that goes to make up a winning twelve. Querrie, in his game against the Shamrocks, showed that his home had the ability to bore in, while his defence, even if he has had to break in a couple of new men, is every bit as strong as last season.

Two victories out of six matches away from home is a big lead, and while the season has just opened, it will make the other teams step their prettiest to overhaul the red-shirted athletes.

CARL MORRIS, HEAVYWEIGHT

Most Likely Looking White Hope, According to His Pugilistic Mentor.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Joe Jeanette, the colored heavyweight who has been engaged to teach Carl Morris, the original "White Hope," a few things about boxing and who has been training Morris for deveral weeks in Oklahoma, returned to this city yesterday.

"I think Carl Morris is the most likely looking white heavyweight in the world to-day," said Jeanette. "He is a natural fighter, and has a great right hand, in which he packs a terrific wallop. He has the making of a great fighter. In fact, of all the white hopes' that I have been engaged to teach (and I have had lots of experience in that line) this fellow, Morris, is about the most promising. He is very quick to learn things, and once he is told something, or given a pointer, he never forgets it.

"I predict that Morris will beat Jim" gets it. "I predict that Morris will beat Jim gets it.

"I predict that Morris will beat Jim Flynn when they meet at Tulsa on July 4. They are scheduled to fight fitteen rounds, but I don't think the contest will last that long. This fellow, Morris, has improved wonderfully, this trainer. Con Reilly, who brought out Joe Choynski and many other great ones, has been developing him and get.

Reilly began to train Morris the latter weighed 315 pounds. Now he weighs 240 pounds, and that is just about the weight at which he ought toffight.

"I've been training with him for five weeks now, and I think he's about as game a man as ever drew on a glove. H. loyes to fight, and really wants to get a crack at the hard ones. It was he who insisted that his manager, F. B. Ufer, the millionaire oil man, match him with Flynn. I rarely make predictions, but here's one that I will make: 'Morris will beat Flynn when they meet on July 4."

Jeanette will return to Oklahoma next week with his manager, Dan Mccottele. He came to New York because he was homesick.

Experience has proved the necessity for some such action as this, remarks The Boston Transcript, unless the army is to be satisfied with inferior horses. A. D. Melvin, chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, has prepared a bulletin which traces the deterioration of the American horse. Beginning in colonial days, when there was no other means of transportation, Mr. Melvin shows how the railroads, the electric cars, and the automobiles have gradually lessened the demand for good saddle horses and have turned the attention of breeders to the draft horse. Likewise, the fencing in of the great plains of the west has practically caused the tough and hardy cow-pony to disappear, and even in Virginia, formerly noted for its hunters, only one-tenth as many are bred as formerly. In other words, as Mr. Melvin points out the United States is traveling the > Civil War was at its height, the federal government bought and captured nearly 210,000 horses. The army required about 500 new horses every day. Formerly the United States Government was required by congress to purchase horses by advertisement in the open market, from the lowest bidder. The specifications were neces-sarily lax, and as the price of horse-flesh went up, the standard deteriorated. In recent years that government has paid from $100 to $150 for a horse, only about half of which represented horse-flesh, and the balance the profits and expenses of the contractor. The latest contract price for cavalry horses, as a result of the policy of the U.S. war. dept. to better the grade of its horses, has been $183.75 for cavalry norses, and $213.75 for artiflery horses.

> On the fourth day the most noticeable incident was the defeat of Mr. Hildreth's crack three-year-old Zeus, by R. T. Wilson's somewhat uncertain performer, Naushon, who on the second day finished behind Mr. Belmont's Priscillian after making the pace for five of the six furiongs. This day he ran true for the whole mile and durther reduced the record in doing so, which now stands at 1.37 4-5. Mr. Hildreth twice suffered defeat, in the first case by Mr. Belmont's Vesthouse and in the second by King Avondale, his Rose Queen not only running second but being claimed for $885 after being entered for $500. This was the first exercise of the new rule to claim a horse out of a selling race Eveny day was a great day at Montreal and the fifth was one of the best. It was notable for the fact that Harry Giddings' great colt St. Bass covered himself with the greatest glory yet by running against foreign-breds and beating them. It is true he only carried 103 pounds to Stanley Fay's 122 pounds, but the latter has two years the best in age. St. Bass' gameness was most apparent, for he had to fight all the way, only winning by a head from the fleetfooted light-weight Ganogue, who in turn was but a nose in front of Stanley Fay. The mile was run by St. Bass in 1.40, which con-tinued on would mean 2.05 for the King's Plate distance. Mr. Belmont's Priscillian won another race, beating Plate Glass, the horse that forced Morris Lathrop, having squandered $2,000,000 resolved to kill himself. He changed his mind when he is told by George Trevor, father of his betrothed, Carla Trevor, that a loan of $500,000 is necessary to save Trevor from ruin.

Trevors' Morris to his surprise, Jack Millington, who has been called back to New York, pleads with Lachrop and Trevor to be left on the big copper deal that has nearly ruined the latter. Millington is introduced to Rita Ortega. Morris and Carla quarrel over Rita Ortega, Morris refusing to reveal the Spanish girl's originor her hold on hink The engagement is broken. Mr. Trevon seems to recognize in Rita's photograph a resmblance to someone he had known long ago.

At Trevor's instance, Lathrop takes him to see Rita. The old man is over-come by a picture of her unknown mo-ther the girl shows him, and when the produces a pair of daggers, also once her mother's, he tries to kill himself. Continued From Last Sunday

How Uncle Tom's Cabin Came to be Written

Centenary of Harriet Beecher Stowe Recalls Famous Slavery Story-Where She Obtained Her Material-How the Book Was Written.

If any book is entitled to be called the great United State's novel that book is "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Not that it excelled on the score of literary merit, but it handled a great national question whose human interest was almost more than international. June 14th is the centenary of its author. On that date in the year 1811 was born in the Town of Littlefield, Connecticut, Harriet Beecher, daughter of the Reverend Lyman Beecher and sister of the famous Henry Ward Beecher.

Mrs. Stowe, when quite a little girl, acquired a taste for reading, and used to hunt among her father's old ser-mons in the garret for something lighter in mental diet. "Twas a joyous day when she discovered a copy of "The Arabian Nights." We may imagine that this stimulated her imagination. Anyway she always excelled in composition, and at the school exisn when she was but twelve years old she was the author of one of the compositions chosen to be read to the admiring parents and friends who were present. The subject was more fit-ted for the capacity of her theological father, "Can the Immortality of the Soul be proved by the light of Nature?" Her father, who was present, was astonished to learn that the work was that of his little daughter.

Successful Story Writer. Altho it was long before she pub-lished her first book, her success in composition broadened into a facility for turning out rapidly saleable short stories. Many times after her marriage to Professor Stowe, when money to pay housekeeping bills was scarce, she would say to her governess: "Now, Anna, if you will keep the babies, and attend to things for one day, I'll write a piece, and then we shall be out of this scrape.

Avoid Extremes There are two reasons why the story teller should not overdraw his charac white nor paint his villain too black. The first is, that in real life no human being is wholly noble or wholly evil; the second is, that this biased method sacrifices contrast—the contrast of qualities in the same person, a source of vitality and power. It is at once a blunder on the side of naturalism,

Dampness is Greatest Enemy o Jean Jomelli Gives Some Useful Instrument-Special String Hints in "Musical America."

At the end of every season I receive The Violin World published, some a bundle of letters reading generally time ago, several interesting sugges- as follows: "I am not well satisfied tions for players. We quote the following from the article:

"With the warm weather invariably comes a penetrating dampness that is fatal to almost any violin, and especility to an old one. The resisting power of a violin is in inverse ratio to its age and soundness. If you must play in the summer, in the country, in the city or at the seashore, select a new violin, soundly built, and not subject to variation in tone. Nothing so affects a violin as dampness, and a delicate instrument seldom shows its best tonal qualities in summer.

"In warm weather, even a sound new violin should be carefully kept. Get a case as nearly air-tight as possible, wrap the violin in some cioth which will not absorb dampness easily, and place the case any place but on the floor under a window. Do not wrap, the violin in chamois skin, for that attracts dampness; a piece of silk or tightly woven cloth, or better, a bag made especially for the purpose, and which may be purchased from any violin dcaler, will serve the purpose better.

"Even thus protected the violin should not be left unopened for any length of time. Dampness will penetrate almost any case, and so the instrument should be taken out and dried (by being played) on clear days. Whenever it is possible the instrument should be left in its case on rainy days.

The Thief a Prodigal Son.

Jesus informs us in the pathetic story of the Prodigal Son, recorded in Luke in the world of sin, which is to the lowest ditches of dissipaof the sheriff the dying han detacts.

I am dying; I have but a few moments to live. I feel the blood in my veins is being frozen by the icy hand of death, sinking to the lowest ditches of dissipabit with my last breath I testify to you I know this man whom you are about to execute for the crime of murder, and I swear to you'he is innocent; in other words, 'he hath done nothing amies.'

I ask would a stranger bear such a witness if he there and then for the first upon his shoulders, the ring upon his time saw the supposed criminal? Even finger, and shoes upon his feet, declaring "this my son was dead and is alive again, he was lost and is found." Here, necent in the words "He hath done I believe, is a perfect picture drawn by ments certifying that Christ was in-

Here we have the thief recognizing Jesus as the Lord, tayor of the thief having been baptized the third having been baptized the conditions of the cross returned to his Father's house. thief recognizing Jesus as the Lord, which proves he was incrossession of a knowledge that the natural man could not obtain. First Corinthians 12, 2, distinctly says that no man can say that Jesus is the Lord but by the Holy Ghost. This is supported by 1st. Cor. 2, 8, 14, where it shows the natural man receiveth not the things of the spirit of food neither can he know them. And, further, that the carnal mind treats as foolishness the things of the spirit. Yet the parson would have us believe that this carnally-minded criminal had in list possession the most sacred knowledge respectively.

Permit me to draw your attention to the gospel as recorded by St. Mark, 18th chapter, 18th verse, where you will read these words: "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." You will now permit me to draw you attention to the story of the thief on the cross as recorded in Luke 2-29, to 48. The average parson takes the position that here upon the cross the thief first saw or heare of Christ, and was there and then converted: thus proving that conversion on the death-bed or the gallows is supported by scripture. This allegation we deny, and from the record will bring strong evidence to prove that the thief was acquainted with Christ and the gospel and that he was a baptized believer, enjoying the knowledge that can only be obtained by those who obey the gospel.

Now to the story. "And one of the malefactors which were banged railed on him saying, Toost tho not fear door seeking than a sying, Dost tho not fear door seeking that a sying, Dost tho not fear door seeking that a sying, Dost tho not fear door seeking that a shappit to be a lawyer were presenting it to a lury to obtain a verdict, and while I may not be able to give the day and the polity in the polity. Baptism Precedes Salvation.
Fifth point: Jesus now speaks to the thief. He says: "To-day shalt thou be with me in Paradise." If you will consult Luke 16, 24, Luke 23, 43, 2nd. Corinthians 12, 4. "Abraham's bosom." so the Jews styled Paradise, the place where the souls of good men remain from death to the resurrection. When Abraham's children meet in Paradise they know each other. This is the seat of happy spirits in their separate state between death and the resurrection. (Wesley's Notes. Whatever your preconceived ideas may have been with regard to this statement made by Jesus to the thief, you will admit that His declaring that He would meet him on that day in Paradise is admit that His declaring that he meet him on that day in Paradise i tantamount to saying he was saved, o born again; or, in other words, has obtained the remission of his sins, anwas accepted as a child of God.

The Baptized Can Do No Wrong! prima facie evidence that he had never been baptized. Let us see how this will work. Suppose you have a watch. No other watch has the same number as work. Suppose you have a watch. Nother watch has the same number as yours. Perhaps your wife's picture is engraved on the case, or you may have other marks of identification. I am seen in your bedroom; your watch is gone; I am arrested. The watch is found in my pussession. I am found guilty by the judge. Before the sentence is passed I request the privilege of making a statement. I go down into my pocket and draw therefrom a well worn paper and hand it to the judge. He reads thereon the certificate of my baptism having occurred 25 years ago, whereupon I say: "Judge, is not this positive proof that I did not steal that watch?" For all the parsons declare that the thief could not have been baptized because he was a thief. The fact is supported by scripture, that people after baptism very frequently do wrong. In support of this I submit the following. Ephesians 4. 28, Paul is writing to the Church and says: "Let him that stole steal no more." Evidently some of the church members had "Let him that stole steal no more." Evidently some of the church members had been stealing. Second Peter 2, 12 to 22, we read of awful crimes being committed by those who had been members of the church. We are told that they had eyes full of adultery and that cannot be right way." We read in John 6, 66, that when Christ presented to His followers the doctrine of the Lord's Supper it caused a general apostacy and it would seem from the reading that a great many our deeds, but this man hath done nothing amiss." Second link. "This man hath done nothing amiss." How did he know that Christ was immaculately pure if he had met Him there for the first time? Let me illustrate;

A sick man is taken from the train, hurried to the hospital. The physician hurried to the hospital. The physician hurried to the hospital. The physician hurried to the hospital to the windless of the wallowing in the mire." And so, if it can be proved that the thief was one of those who had arostacized, it would be but the scriptural way of saying that he acted like ways of the words. the sow when she returned "to her wal-lowing in the mire," or, in other words, that he would return to the old ways of his former life.

If language is a science to convey losses there is baptism by immersion for the remission of sins, and the thief submitting to it and receiving pardon according to that law. Let us see. Here is the fountain which we will call the baptismal font. The blood referred to is tpylified in the water. He plunges beneath the flood showing it to be immersion. He washes his sins away, therefore, baptism is for the remission of sins.

his sins away, therefore, paptism is to the remission of sins.

But where did they get the subject matter upon which they wrote this hymn? You will find it in Zachariah 13, 1, and by the way, right in the hymn book this quotation is given at the top of the page and reads as follows: "In that day there shall be a fountain opened, to the house of David and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem for sin and for uncleanness." If my hearers will read earth has the right to separate them, making one essential to salvation and the other, a non-essential. Christ never came to preach, and suffer, and die to establish non-essentials, and hence it is written: "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." Therefore, we take the position that the thief in order to be saved was not only required to believe, but to be baptized for the remission of his sins, thus making his faith alive by his works. For we are informed as stated in last Sunday's lecture that faith without works is dead.

The Thief in Hymnology.

Having proved baptism to be essential to salvation from a Bible standpoint, and admitting the thief was saved, we are compelled to believe that he was a baptized member of the church prior to the crucifixion. Now we will go to the good and popular sectarian hymnbooks:

"There is a fountain filled with blood Drawn from Immanuel's veins "Ard singers plunged beneath that thood branched Repentance.

Before closing permit me to cite to you another doctrine which is voiced in one of their popular hymns. It reads as follows:

"While the Lamp of Life holds out to burn the vilest sinner may return."

Let us reduce this to practical life. I have buildings on my land valued at the vilest sinner may return."

Let us reduce this to practical life. I have buildings on my land valued at should may buildings are policy. THE WORLD AT LARGE AND SPORT IN GENERAL & H. J. P. GOOD

Affairs of the Day

Divorce And Its Effect. Cardinal Gibbons, head of the Ronan Catholic Church in the United States, has been indulging in some plain speaking regarding the errors of the day. In his view the five greatest evils confronting. America are:

"Mormonism and divorce, which strike at the root of the family "An imperfect and vicious system of education, which undermines the religion of our youth." "The desecration of the Christian Sabbath, which tends to obliterate in our adult population the salu-tary fear of God and the homage "The gross and systematic elec-

'Lastly, the unreasonable delay in carrying into effect the sentences of our criminal courts, and the numerous subterfuges by which criminals evade the execution of the laws."

Mormonism has not as yet made any reat headway in Canada, and therefore we can dismiss it somewhat summarily, but there are those who are advocating the establishment of a divorce court and therefore in that subject we are deeply and vitally inter-ested. "The reckless facility," says the Cardinal, "with which divorce is rocured is an evil scarcely less de-lorable than Mormonism. Indeed, it is in some respects more dangerous than the latter, for divorce has the sanction of the civil law, which Mor-monism has not. The law of divorce is a virtual toleration of Mormonism in a modified form. Mormonism consists in simultaneous polygamy, while the law of divorce practically leads to

"Each state in the union has on its statute books a list of causes, or rather pretexts, which are recognized as sufficient ground for divorce a vinculo. There are more than twenty-five auses, most of them of a very trifling character, and in some states divorces are granted on a slight pretext if a person resides there but six months. In Reno and other cities of Nevada the sidence limit for obtaining a divorce is but six months, and the pretexts which are recognized in those cities

"It is painfully manifest that the cancer of divorce is rapidly spreading over the community and poisoning the fountains of the nation. Unless the evil is checked by some speedy and heroic remedy the very existence of family life is imperilled. How can we call ourselves a Christian people if we violate a fundamental law of Christi-And if the sanctity and indissolubility of marriage do not constitute a cardinal principle of the Christian religion, we are at a loss to know what

'Allow the imagination to picture to this rock of scandal and the number of families that are cast adrift on the ocean of life. Great stress is justly laid by moralists on the observance of Sunday. But what a mockery is the external repose of the Christian Sabbath to homes from which domestic peace is banished by intestine war; where the mother's heart is broken the father's spirit is crushed, and where the children cannot cling to one of their parents without exciting the jealousy and hatred of the other And these melancholy scenes are fol-lowed by the final act in the drama when the family ties are dissolved and the hearts that had vowed eternal love and union are separated to meet no more. If persons contemplating marriage were persuaded that once united they were legally barred from entering into second wedlock they would be more circumspect before marriage in the choice of a life partner and would be more patient afterwards in bearing yoke and in tolerating each other's infirmities."

. Germany And Britain. His Majesty the Emperor of Ger-nany is encouraging the entente cordiale between his country and Britain with a vengeance. The other day when walking with some high muck-a-mucks in a park at Hamburg, the kaiser turned to them and said, "This park must be changed in such a as to make it more acceptable to Engish tastes, because the English people have the highest appreciation for natural beauties, and understanding better than any one else how to lay out lovely And the high muck-a-mucks promised to carry out his majesty's orders. That King George is prepared to do his share towards bringing about happy relations between the two countries is proven by his speech at the recent unveiling of the Queen Victoria

when he said: "It is a

mon English tongu Emotional Religion Our friends the Methodists have been declaring against revivalism. Coming from such a quarter the declaration is remarkable, for the majority of people had thought Methodism was practically the fount of the movement. However, it is well to be set right and to know that the orthodox Methodist Church does not believe in latter-day revivalist tactics. It is hard to believe that sane and intelligent people ever did. Emotional religion is nervedestroying and mentally weakening. It is spasmodic or emotional religion that revivalism encourages and begets. Here and there good may result, but it is safe to say there are vastly more backsliders than there are steadfast adherents. Ministers should be the best able to say whether revivalism is helpful or not If it is, then church membership should largely increase, judging from the number of penitents and confessed converts who stand up at revival meetings. The Wesleys were undoubtedly revivalists and they begot Methodism, but their methods were net of the shrieking, comic opera kind that makes a mockery of steadfastness and belittles Christianity. Modern re-vivalism is a little better than the siang-slinging that used to find popular favor, but still it is doubtful if any permanent good is done by the spasms their methods a happy way of living in luxury and ease. THERE IS GREAT POWER IN SMILES AND LAUGHTER.

O this is to be an editorial on smiles and laughter and what they mean to us human beings.

In many business offices you see a sign that reads, 'Keep on Smiling." The idea in that sign is not based upon knowledge of the power that lies in a smile, but rather it is the kind of sign that might have been hung above an Indian tied to the stake, ready for torture.

When the business man hangs up a sign "Keep on Smiling" he does not mean that he is going to smile continuously, but that he is NOT going to weep. It means that he intends, in spite of hard times, hard competition, grinding monopoly, high prices, high rents, high taxes and high interest rates, to keep up his courage and, metaphorically at least, "keep on smiling."

The smile of "business" is the least important and the least pleasant of all smiles. It is at best a make-believe smile, a money-getting smile, a smile intended to beguile and overcome rather than to communicate spiritual happiness to another.

But even the business smile is better than none. And as all of us actually do hypnotize ourselves and make ourselves better by thinking that we are better, so perhaps the improved methods of business, the greater honesty and self-respect among business men today as compared with shopkeepers of old may be due to the introduction of the permanent smile into business methods. When a big concern gobbles up a little one -as the Steel Trust gobbled up Tennessee Coal and Iron-there is no doubt that all of the negotiators smiled most persistently. At least, the Steel Trust gentlemen smiled, and if you must be skinned, it is as well to have the work done by a smiling skinner.

Enough about the business smile-least important of all and least pleasing.

What is the most beautiful and most wonderful smile that you can conceive? Please stop for a moment and answer that question before you read the answer given here.

Man Is the Only Animal That Laughs or Smiles-And the Smile Reveals the Developed Soul of Man.

Then there is the smile of the callow young man who has just been accosted by a young woman too good for him. His smile is positively sickening in its dreadful complacency -yet it has its own sticky beauty. And there is the smile of the girl that accosts him-poor thing! she believes that in him she has Bayard, The Cid, Ben Franklin and Little Rolló rolled into one.

Very beautiful is her seraphic smile and very pitiful. Would that it might last! This world, luckily, is full of smiles of all kindsthey are the ball bearings that make life possible. That smile and the answering smile on the mother's face are both, of all things of this world, perfect and beautiful. The baby's first smile is his real entrance into human life. Sorrowful surprises have awaited him here in this world of giants and wonders that suddenly surrounds him.

His little legs have been tied up, he has been thrust into clothing, often choky and prickly. More than once his system has been convulsed by terrible agony, as important to him as the Martinique eruption. Sour milk has made him feel that the cosmos was shaking on its foundations. bitter disappointments. A baby smile is such a complete thing. His little face goes all to pieces. His cheeks and even the top of his little bald head are wrinkled with pleasure. Frankly he reveals tha full extent of his pink, toothless gums. He smiles all over-mouth, face, head, tongue, legs, arms and wriggling body. A smiling baby is simply one happy smile—and such a baby is the prettiest thing that exists between the North and South Poles, without a

Laughing and smiling are keys to human nature. Study a man's laugh, watch him smile There are frank smiles, sour smiles, crafty

Study them and learn to know them. Laughter describes character. The loud laugh sometimes does betray a vacant mind, but sometimes it tells of superabundant health or of another nationality. A laugh natural and pleasing in an African might surely indicate intoxication in a certain type of white man, and the charming laughter of Italy or Southern France might mean insanity in some cold Northern being. Remember also that smiles and laughter tell not only of different characters in different men, but tell also of the condition of the individual.

smiles, cruel smiles, tired smiles, sickly smiles.

Keep track carefully of your children as they smile and laugh. Fewer smiles, less hearty laughter in children, are serious dan-

If your little boy or girl comes home from school with the tendency to laugh and smile gradually diminishing, take the child from school, for no schooling can make up in your child for the loss of the mental happiness that laughter reveals. The child too tired to laugh and smile freely is much too tired to studyremember that—and if the boy or the girl for any reason seems less inclined to smile, find out the reason and do away with it.

Remember that laughter is a real and important remedy for illness—the greatest remedy for illness. The greatest medical authorities will tell you that laughter actually keeps off apoplexy and other troubles that come from excessive pressure on the blood vessesls. The moment a man laughs, pressure on the blood vessels ceases and if a man were threatened with rupture of any artery or vein, not all the doctors in the world could do as much for him as hearty laughter.

Remember also that laughter is vibration, and that vibration destroys disease germs.

Put the germs of disease on a glass, shake them hard enough and long enough and you kill them all. It hurts them to be bumped against each other or against solid matter, just as it would hurt you.

If you were living in the chest of some great giant and that giant laughed often and shook you almost to pieces you would die. You are the great giant, the germs of disease live in your chest and your various membranes. When you laugh often you shake them to death. Thus the good people that advocate Christian Science, faith cures, mind cures, etc., and make cheerfulness and laughter part of their faith are really fighting real disease without realizing it.

Smiling expresses and develops the soul of

You can learn as much about a man by watching him smile as in any other way. In anger man becomes brutal, the animal comes to the surface, and you see little of the man hidden by the animal. In tears all men seem weak and foolish. Weeping with the majority of men is a lost habit. We no longer express emotions as they were expressed in the old days, in the famous song of Roland, for instance, when "One hundred thousand men fall to the ground fainting," as they see the dead body of Roland.

Smiles and laughter carefully studied will tell you more about a man than any other study, except possibly the study of man in a serious, concentrated mood, the mood that tells whether it is really a man or only an imitation that you are studying.

Laughter makes life cheerful, drives away the blues; only, like all happiness, it is contagious. Cultivate contagious happiness, and thus fight contagious disease.

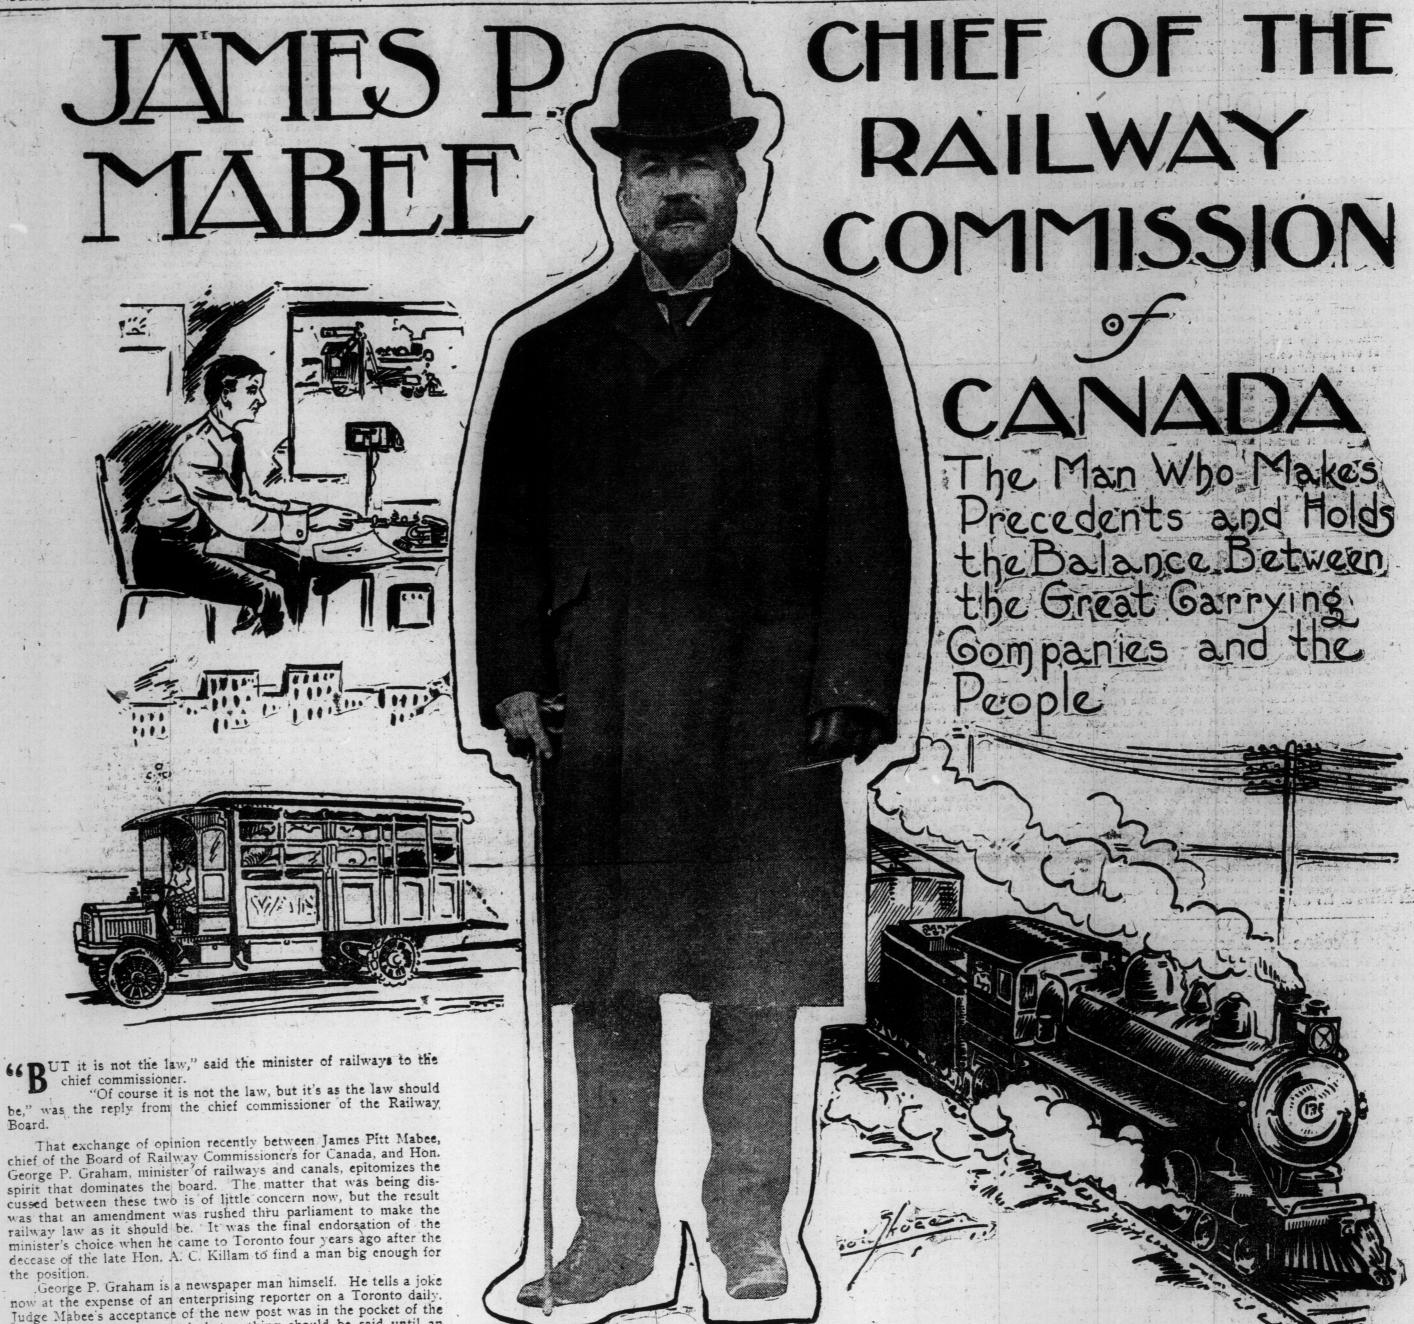

Man is the only laughing, smiling animal. He will survive all the other animals, snarling and biting, and one day this earth will be itself a smiling planet from east to west and from pole to pole, all the way around. Nature will smile at man and man at nature, and we shall be civilized.

Let us smile and give others cause for smiling-while we wait for the day of real and future civilization.

Remember, also, that there is a time not to smile, that there is a kind of smiling that is harmful and out of place. That will supply the subject for another Sunday editorial ser-

On the way, to the train Mr. Graham was intercepted by the reporter, who remarked diplomatically: "It is too bad that Mabee won't accept the chief and the railway commission superseded it. Designed at first to "Yes," replied Mr. Graham laconically, "I wonder what we'll Two days later the appointment was announced. Right Hon. A. J. Balfour once said in the British House of Commons, "The measure of a man is the measure of his opportunity." Opportunities have come to Judge Mabee and he has met them. From the time he began to practise law in Stratford until he was appointed one of His Ma esty's judges he was always on the move. alert, eager and progressive. Three years after he received His Majesty's patent Judge Mabee retired from the bench to become chief commissioner of the Railway Board. As each opportunity presented itself he seized it, and having seized it, he made good,

When he came into the responsibility he now assumes a number of vexatious questions were before the board. He tackled them with the same avidity that a dog does a dinner. He went at them

At Osgoode Hall late one afternoon in summer a lawyer was looking for a judge to hear an application for an injunction. He crossed the threshold of that sainted pile as Judge Mabee passed out, evidently in a hurry "There is the man I would like to get," he remarked, "he would see the point in a minute."

The Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada has been a development from an experiment to an institution. The prototype was found in the British Railway and Canal Traffic Board and the Interstate Commerce Commission. The rapid growth of the country consequent upon the revival of trade in 1896 brought in its wake problems that were too much for the old railway committee of the privy council. The demands of the country were too much for its capacities, and an independent tribunal was necessary. The decision of the government to appoint a commission to undertake the work of regulation was based on a sound principle, and the railway committee passed out of existence as a quasi-administrative body, regulate differences between the railways, to arbitrate between the . great carriers of the country and the municipalities, to adjust freight tariffs, its scope soon extended to the express companies and now affects telegraph and telephone rates, charges for electric power and even controls the amount of power that may be exported. The railway commission is essentially a people's court. The procedure is simple and costs are rarely involved. John Smith of Brown's Corners, who has a grievance over a farm crossing, has the same status as he whose property is damaged to the extent of millions. The commission is no respecter of persons. Yet there is a simple dignity attached to its sittings. In Owen Sound on one occasion the spectators grew enthus astic over a statement by a high railway official. Applause followed. "Order, order," cried the chief. "This is a court of law, we cannot allow such a demonstration. We de not wish to be technical, but applause or signs of disapprobation

'Judge Mabee has a stomach for work," said a man who knows, to The Sunday World. "He is at his desk early and late."

The democratic methods of the board are eloquently told in the statistics given by the secretary. Applications to the number of 3921 were received during 1910. Of these 491 were of an informal nature, and 3856 were disposed of without the necessity of a public hearing. So, too, 892 accidents were investigated and reports were made regarding 331 crossings. Once a year the chief commissioner, Judge Mabee, takes a trip acress the continent. Sometimes the party is made up of two or three other commissioners. They tour the west in a way that would put the political campaigner to shame. The official car "Acadia" is an office. The large dining-room serves for a court room, where none is available in the town, or often a freightshed is so dignified.

The farmer who has a grievance, the local merchant who thinks the freight rate is excessive, the rancher who has had cattle killed, all come before the board and lay their complaint. Even handed, speedy and satisfactory justice is meted to all alike. Here is a sample of a few informal cases adjusted last year: 1071. Excessive rates charged by the Grand Trunk Railway on ice shipped in car load lots from Mildmay of Glencoe, Ontario; 1073, Canadian Northern Railway Company, not removing temporary posts placed in the North River at Shawbridge, Quebec; 1092, poor train connection between St. Hyacinthe Junction between Quebec, Montreal & Southern Railway and the Intercolonial Railway; 1093, loss of goods in transit and difficulty in obtaining redress from railway companies; 1126, flooding of farm, due to Grand Trunk Railway Company, putting in a fourteen-inch pipe thru roadbed east of Jarvis: 1131, Blocking of crossing by New York Central Railroad, near Huntingdon, Quebec; 1142, Intercolonial Railway for unjustly relieving a telegrapher of his position at Petit Rocher, N.B.

Excessive whistling of locomotives, (long distance telephone charges and the like are among other questions decided by the members of the commission every day. But it must not be assumed, however, that Judge Mabee's court runs to absurdities. A man often asks for what is unreasonable; when he starts, his imagination multiplies his grievances, and the practised sense of the chief commissioner is called upon to draw distinctions that would tax the wisdom

"The fact is," said Mr. Graham last summer, "if the chief commissioner finds a case for which there is no precedent, he makes

The estimates for 1911-12 for the commission amount to $193. coo, and the money is well spent.

Theologians are divided now over the question whether humanity is to cherish the Divine man Jesus, or the Divine in men—Christ. Surely we should be able to reconcile both views, seeing that humanity is evolving, and that there are men in every stage of development. Huxley said he could conceive of men as far beyond Shakspere in evolution as Shakspere was beyond a black beetle. In all the eternities that have rolled away in the past some men must have reached a transcendent stage of development. Our greatest Laureate well expresses the thought:

For the the Giant Ages heave the in the world would be useless. It has to do with the statement I quoted last week that "Nature consciously prefers that matter should be indestructible under organic rather than inorganic forms, and that she works slowly but incessantly towards the realization of this object—the evolution of conscious life out of inert material."

In this way we become cooperators with Nature in working out her plans. Science has never quite recognized Man's partnership with Nature. Usually man has been regarded as a helpless I know it is with exceeding difficulty product of the great scheme by science, I know it is with exceeding difficulty or as something apart and foreign to that the idea of spiritual evolution as well as physical evolution forces itself into the minds of those who are guide and controller of the mightly forces of Nature is a conception accustomed to think only of the outside of life, and in some dim vague way take all the rest for granted.

There is a quite general impression in the state of Nature is a conception almost confined to the archaic philosophies. That it is advanced and perfected men who now guide the destinies of Nature would be regarded as incubation. There is a marvellous concretion of cosmic energy in its amount of wisdom even in the title of metaphysical aspects, their division amount of wisdom even in the title of inetaphysical aspects, their division the late Prof. James' book, "Varieties about Darwin's theories, their uncertainty about the degree of conscious gestion that there should or could be life in separate elements, and, as a varieties is almost a blasphemous one necessity, the scornful rejection of to some minds. that is to say, with one of the semiintelligent forces of the kingdoms. I am constantly astonished at the persistence of our Christian teachers, parsons, missionaries, professors of all sorts, in inventing and endeavoring to maintain the belief in false gods. I have never met anyone of any religion who believed in any but one God; but Christians always insist that there evil one as a maleficent demon. And is a different God for each religion.

power and we will be more powerful to meet these ills if we know something of their nature. Do you know, for instance, that there are three kinds of sunstroke and that they must be differently treated?

The three forms of sunstroke are the true sunstroke itself, that which is very like it, heat prostration, and heat, or thermic, fever. Sunstroke is what its name indicates. The victim is struck down by the heat of the direct rays of the sun. Heat prostration, or heat stroke, as it is sometimes called, is the effect of the heat upon a weakened constitution. Heat, or thermic fever, is a brief, raging fever with a temperature that has sometimes reached 112 degrees. Is is followed by unconsciousess.

In cases of sunstroke the face is red and the skin dry. In heat stroke the patient's skin is cold, his face pale and the pulse beats are

For some reason—possibly a lack of other material—discussion in the motor press has again swung round to the usefulness or desirability of the accelerator pedal. Some people—chiefly, I should imagine, those who have not consistently used the device—argue that it is unnecessary. Others favor its fittting in a form which renders it inoperative until the driver passes it down; and there are yet others who wish it to be operative, normally and put out of action by being depressed. As to the value of the accelerator pedal I believe that automobile opinion is overwhelmingly in its favor. But the division of thought as to whether it division of thought as to whether it should accelerate or decelerate—the should accelerate or decelerate—the terms are used in connection with the driver's foot action—is confusing and, ready sold their output of the 1911 mod-terms are used. The now universal "gate" is arranged by each designer to suit his individual convenience or whim, or purpose. The result is con-fusion in the most important functions of driving, and as in moments of emerall controlling functions are exercised by instinct, the driver of a car the control of which is different to the one with which he last has been familiar, is likely to commit a grave blunder-open the throttle instead of closing it, or pull the brake lever for a couple of precious seconds instead of pushing it. I cannot conceive any real utility in this diversity. It is not essential to the efficiency of any engine, or car, that its control should be functioned differently to others. It ought to be possible for the Institution of Automobile Engineers to discuss the matter and arrive at a standardised system of control operations which the manufacturers in the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders can accept and embody in their designs.

The by-law provides for a loan of $25,-000.00, a free site of from 2 to 3 acres of land, exemption from taxes other than the school tax and local improvement for a term of 10 years. The dimensions of the above plant will be 250 ft. by 60ft, three storeys high, and will have a capacity of 150 tires a day. The Company will manufacture automobile tires, motorcycle tires, truck tires, carriage tires, and rubber hose. It is estimated that the above plant will cost equipped about $100.000 will cost, equipped, about $100.000.

The Company expect to start the construction of their plant by July 1st, and to have same completed and equipped and ready for business by the end of this year. Special inducements are offered to automobile owners. The Guelph plant will be superintended by Mr. L. T. Vance, who has had 20 years' experience in the rubber tire business, and is the General Superintendent of the Batavia Rubber Company, who are manufacturing the Independent Tires for this Company, under contract, until the Canadian plant is completed. The Independent Tires Company of Toronto, Limited, has also secured from Mr. Vance all formulas used in making the compounds used in the Independent Tires, and has also secured the patents for Canada for the Security Tread, Non-skid Tire, which is giving every satisfaction. A great many prominent automobile owners of Toronto are using the Independent Tires at present, and recognize them to be the best tires they ever used, especially the Security Tread.

Mr. H. H. Hastings of Toronto, Promoter and General Manager of the Company, informs us that the Independent Tire Company is meeting with great success in the sale of their tires, and a large business is being developed. The increasing demand for these tires is very noticeable every week.

Full particulars with regard to the stock now being offered by this Company will be gladly furnished on application at 133 Bay street, Toronto. INSISTS ON VANADIUM STEEL Governmental recognition of the merits of Vanadium steel has come to light in the demand by Canadian officials that Vanadium, the same steel used in Ford cars, be used in the big bridge being built at Quebec, across the St. Lawrence River.

The great importance of Vanadium steel in bridge building lies in the fact that Vanadium does not become crystallized through vibrating. De-terioration of Vanadium is therefore almost impossible.

It was to secure the same quali that the Ford Motor Company adopted Vanadium as the steel to be used thruout the construction of Ford Model T cars. Vanadium will excel any steel in the world in tests for shock and traction, therefore it is especially to be desired in motor cars, which she made the objects of a con-siderable amount of vibration from the very nature of things.

Vanadium steel is an alloy found in Peru, which, mixed with the molten steel ,increases the stress of the best carbon steel 65 tons per square inch.

In any relation to this world's stage, muddleheadedness, as the principal quality in a stage-manager would not commend itself to the group of persons who required dividends from the theatre they happened to be financially interested in. And yet the real stage-manager of all the best shows that are put on, anywhere, is the most muddleheaded, albeit he is the most popular of directors, tho, curiously, thru him it is that big dividends accrue. His name never appears on the bill of the play-he is only sub-consciously recognized as having anything to do with the theatrical scheme, still no play is complete, no play is even possible without him, and we call him Cupid. Cupid is the wisest old-young godkin ever—and he chooses his instruments with all the breezy abandon arising out of his native assuredness. As always, he chose with unassailable wisdom when he picked Miss Percy Haswell to flit light-heartedly thru the story of "The Cottage in the Air." The bubble-comedy is written by Mr. Edward Knoblauch, and the muddle-headed stage-manager I have indicated stood close handy to throw in the essential hint when difficulties faced the playwright. The one invaluable suggestion he made to Mr. Knoblauch was to telephone to Miss Percy Haswell instructions to play the leading part in the comedy and this was fortunately arranged. Cupid, you see, knows all about these things, and had no difficulty, therefore, in selecting an absolutely perfect Princess Priscilla. Thereafter Miss Haswell was able to

Farcical Comedy by Kellett Chambers, This Week's Attraction at Royal Alexandra.

Miss Haswell's Offering

The American Widow

This week at the Royal Alexandra Theatre will be given up to those who never tire of laughing, and to those who like to see beautiful gowns properly worn. Miss Haswell has selected for the second week of her engagement "The American Widow," a farcical comedy by Kellett Chambers. When produced at the Hudson Theatre, New York, it was an immense success and was described by the critics as the 'laughing hit of the season." Owing to some copyright troubles the piece was withdrawn and has not been seen since. The piece, now that it has been released, will be well used by a prominent star next season, probably Miss Maxine Elliott.

"The American Widow" is a smart farcical comedy in three acts by Kellett Chambers. It tells the story and laughable adventures of a very fascinating widow. She has been married Fritzi, to conjure her away from her and pretty clothes that go with her gay father's court and they fly to seek, and succeed in finding "The Cottage and succeed in finding "The Cottage in the Air," a little idyllic spot, flowering the Air," a little idyllic spot, flower a proper time to elapse for her to marry a prop a proper time to elapse for her to marry him. BIRDS LIKE COLOR SCHEME.

A pair of swallows of Fleberbrunn, in the Tyrol, have stolen a number of tenkronen bank notes to line their nest. says a Vienna correspondent to The London Daily Mail.

The parent birds discovered that the notes are just the shade of blue to match their eggs, the tissue being tough but flexible and exactly the material that they needed. The nest and the missing notes were found when the swallows had abandoned it and it fell to the ground.

This fact has been equaled by that of an enterprising mouse in Dornbirn, which abstracted a number of 20-kronen (16s 8d) notes to the value of £8 of a delicate reddish brown shade from the cash drawer of a butcher, and, tearing them to pieces, adapted them to the purpose of making a nest for her family of seven. The butcher in his search for the notes, suspected and traced the mouse and found the nest under the boarding. He picked up the remains of the notes and returned them to the bank, where they were "We have not."

The Next Downtown Realty Movement

A little reflection given to the subject of downtown business properties results in the interesting conclusion that an extensive movement in Yonge-street real estate is very improbable. The reason is the scarcity of purchasable property close to the heart of the city. On Yonge-street from Queen south practically everything is closely held. The corner of Richmond and Yonge affords a good instance of this. On one corner stands the new Kent Building, which will hold down that site for another generation. The Simpson store is there to stay. The Confederation Life Building won't be moved, and the Hobberlin people on the opposite corner appreciate sufficiently the value of their corner as a business getter to not relinquish it in a hurry. At Queen and Yonge the present owners look like fixtures, except for the southeast corner, where some day a building more in keeping with the situation will have to be erected. Adelaide-street from Yonge over as far as Church is held mighty closely; first there is the Lumsden Building, taking for example the north side, then the Birkbeck Company's offices, the Toronto Electric Light Company's building and then the Home Life. All these are firmly established.

Then the squares of the financial district south of and on Kingstreet are possessed by financial houses, banks and brokers, and financial institutions realize fully the desirability of staying in one location as long as possible. The corners in the heart of the city that are likely to be the scene of important changes can be counted on the fingers of one hand. Inside property, altho not so well built up as the corners, is being firmly held. There are a few properties on the market, but most inside land is held at a figure so far above the present appraisement of downtown property and at a price impossible for present investors, that the only inference to be drawn is that the properties will be handed down thru the holding families as high income bring- Planning This Modern, Cosy Little Home Not an Easy

To sum up. While new buildings will always be making their appearance on Yonge, and the street will never be finished, downtown investors will soon have no opportunity of securing property on Yonge and at the big corners and must turn to property off the main thorofare or further north. The new movement is in fact apparent already.

Building a Bungalow

One would hardly think that so f.oor for bed rooms. Dormers and simple and innocent appearing a struc-tage in obtaining light and air and inture as that modern, cosy little home known as a bungalow would present many problems to one skilled in the art of planning. Ruskin says that "simplicity is the terminal point of all the stained siding or shingles laid it to fashion, the use of art brick turners are "and it is this year terminal." progress," and it is this very terminal point, complete simplicity, which is esential to appropriate and proper ap-pearance in the bungalow, that is so hard to get and still fill exacting own-

The first problem for a home builder to solve is whether or not he can really afford a bungalow. These little homes, the simple, are sometimes quite expensive to build. Take, for example, the average six-room house, one and one-half and two storeys in height. Such a house can be built as small as cover it, twice as much excavation for rooms in themselves cost practically the same as when placed in a twostorey house, and while there is a saving in the height of the chimney and sometimes a saving in the stairway when entirely omitted, which is not always the case, it does not take much of a mathematician to figure out, that a sixeroom bungalow would cost more than a storey and one-half or full storey six-room cottage. These facts have resulted in a new style of cottage known as the two-storey bungalow. Properly speaking, the original bungalow is but one story high with a low roof, so low that there is only a small attic space beneath it. A twostorey bungalow is not unlike what we have formerly called a storey and onehalf cottage, the principal difference being that a low spreading effect is emphasized, giving it a bungalow appearance, but at the same time providng considerable space on the second

Brick and Wood as Building Materials

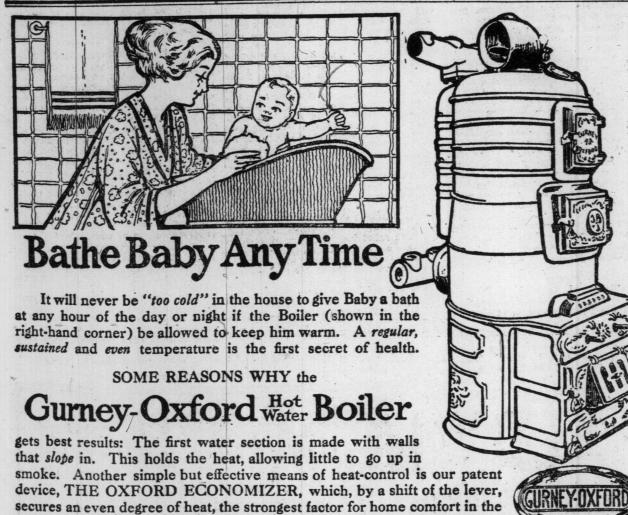

Toronto a City of Brick-built Homes

The buyer of real estate in Toronto is becoming a most discriminating person, and the man who buys in the suburb sizes up the conditions pertaining to his prospective purchase and looks more into surrounding circumstances than does the buyer of a downtown corner.

One of the things he enquires into is the restrictions both as to cost and manner of construction of the home which he intends to build upon his lot. In some districts only all brick buildings are permitted, in others may be built brick clad, rough-cast, and some times frame structures. The latter, while being cheaper on the first cost, has not the long life of the brick house, and Cement Work Begun on and suffers from comparison in many other waye.

Naturally in this city of extreme temperatures, the brick home is much more popular than other kinds, the impression being general that it is cooler in summer and more economically heated in winter. The popularity of the bungalow as a year-round home has increased the number of wood-built houses and has brought out many styles of building paper which the manufacturers claim make a frame house as well ventilated and easily heated as the brick structure. However this subject is an open question and the opinions of building experts still differ widely.

Toronto is far-famed for its streets of solid, comfortable, and prosperousappearing brick homes and the aver-

spite Zeus and Carillion and the hundred and ten to one, the theatre held goodly number of pretty girls with luxe," and a much larger amount to mammoth bunches of sweet peas and the principals. So why should they not laugh, and flirt, and smirk? The oses galore. The balconies fairly bubbled with feminine mirth, even the abode of the goddess being filled to overflowing. It was the last matinee of the regular season, and the matinee rassed to the point of pinkish blushes held attractions for all the girls, young and elderly alike. For there was the dance of the butterfly, the birth of the passion, and the demon's dance, or threatened to develop into a brilliant whatever you might call at the second to the point of pinkish blushes which crept up to the roots of her hair, but that only added a little extra but that only added a little extra but that only added a little extra but the point of pinkish blushes which crept up to the roots of her hair, but that only added a little extra but the point of pinkish blushes which crept up to the roots of her hair, but that only added a little extra but the point of pinkish blushes which crept up to the roots of her hair, but that only added a little extra bit of spiciness to the Thespian bowl of enjoyment. When this pinkiness the passion, and the demon's dance, or whatever you might call all those absurd perouettings of the female with her mother's dagger reclining in meek humilitude in her scarlet garter. I was pleased to note that the people who gave her the glad clap belonged to other members of the theatre-going whatever you might call all those scarlet, she began to enjoy other members of the theatre-going public than those wearing the lilies of the valley and sweet peas. For be it said in all emphasis that an appreci-ation which calls forth plaudits for such grotesque manoeuvrings certainly wavers in the cell of sanity.

But to get to the gist of the matter. The women were there, ten of them to every man, and ten to every man ex-uded little bits of mirth and feminine appreciation of the cooing parts. Oh the untold joys of being a girl with all stage in royal purples are capable of much-waves his magic wand of delusion before the innocent eyes of the heroine, and utters in the most sigh-producing accents, "I luv yuh." When the curtain goes down on a scene like that, there are a few more tap-taps on diminutive white gloves, a number of hurried movements, as if to summon the purple hero back before the asbestos, and a whole spurt of girlish enthusiasm, which evinces itself in well modulated ohs and ahs, till one might well imagine the evincers of all these exclamations were under-studying the part of the violet-tinted hero himself. Then there are a few nibbles at the inevitable chocolates, a great buzz of epithets, and the orchestra lilts into "Every Little Movement." Ay truly, every little movement has a meaning decidedly its own. When in it! How to Save Money and Time in Housekeeping-No.1

OUSEWORK made easier, the cost of living reduced, the servant problem solved—these are the things which Prof. Charles Barnard believes can be accomplished by the application of scientific methods to the household. At his home in Darien, Conn., Prof. Barnard has for several years maintained a Housekeeping Experiment Station, and the investigations which he has made there show that the average household, as now conducted, is inefficient, wasteful, extravagant. In this series of articles he will explain how these evils may be corrected,-how any housewife may save herself time, labor and money. This first article gives some of the valuable results of Prof. Barnard's experiments in cooking, which, in almost every home, is one of the chief

JK housekeepers the reason for the high cost of living and most of them will at once place a large share of the blame on the expensiveness of fuel. Yet the truth is that fuel is not expensive. Considering the great amount of heat which a very little coal or wood or gas or oil will produce, fuel is really very cheap.

The trouble lies not with the cost of fuel, but with our inefficient and wasteful methods of using it. Ever since men and women learned to cook they have been producing heat in quantities enormously greater than is actually necessary to make their food palatable. It is not the heat ing gas and all the fires are in plain sight.

With the wood or coal stove the fire must be maintained by bringing a heavy together in a gas stove. In cooking with a coal stove the food is placed in utensils that stand on top of the stove or in the oven. Only in brolling does any utensil touch the fire. In cooking with a gas stove all the food is cooked in utensils that are in actual contact with the flaming one and all the fires are in plain sight.

The city cook with a gas stove or the rural cook with an alcohol stove places all three foods in one utensil and places it over one burner, thus saving a large amount of fuel, heat and labor. This utensil is based upon that fact that, when enough heat is applied to water to cause it to boil, steam is formed, and this steam can be used to convey heat from one place to another, and there compelled to give up the heat originally put into the water.

The steam cooker consists of two broads shallow pans, one fitting inside the other. A little water is put in the larger pan and the pan put over one burner. The raw potatoes, onions and codfish are put in the smaller pan side by side and this is placed in the water pan and the cover put on. Presently the water boils and its steam rises into the food pan. Gasoline can also used as a fuel in coeking, but it cannot be recommended because of the fact that if by any accident it takes fire it is very difficult to put out. Oil is open to the same objection, though, perhaps, in a lesser de-gree. Oil and gasoline when on fire cannot be

This is also true of oil. Denatured alcohol stoves are comparatively cool and give little radiant

We cannot buy better stoves or cheapen fuels. We can and must learn to economize the heat they give us. For instance, the menu for dinner may call for fresh codfish, potatoes and onions. With a wood or coal stove the cook may put the foods in three utensils and cook them alk at once on the top of the stove. She has a hundred times more heat than she wants and there is no chance for economy. escape and, meeting the relatively cold food, is condensed and turned back into water and in so doing gives up sufficient heat to cock quickly all three foods.

Here is the first road to cheaper cook ing. One burner supplies heat to several foods. The food cannot burn or scorch and needs no watching-thus saving labor. A larger steam cocker will use the heat of one burner to cook a regular dinner meat, vegetables, fruit and dessert. takes, a little more time, but time is cheaper than gas or labor. With the steam cooker a three-course dinner can be cooked in one utensil at a saving of 66 per cent in fuel, heat and Six different foods can be prepared at one-third less expense than is required to prepare them in the old ways.

Within the past few years a very ancient method of cooking used by the Indians, perhaps for centuries before Columbus landed, has been adapted to r ctical use in all our kitchens. It is founded on the fact that, if heat is applied to water or to a stone, the water and the stone may be insulated by some material which is a non-conductor of heat, so that the heat can be saved or conserved for hours and used in cooking food. This method of cooking is called fireless cooking and the appliances are called fireless cook stoves. A fireless cooker consists of a wooden chest, insulated so as to give off as little heat as possible. This chest is large enough to contain one or more metal utensils, the covers of which can be clamped down, making them practically

The raw food is placed in these metal receptacles and the heat is transmitted to them from radiators of stone placed above below. These radiators are, of course, first brought to a red heat on a coal or wood stove or over a gas or alcohol burner.

Once the food is in the metal holders and the heated radiators are in place it requires no further attention until ready to take out and serve. All kinds of food can be prepared to perfection in the fireless cooker, and there is no risk of scorching or burning. Daily experiments in cooking every kind of food and extending over two years have proved that in these new stoves we can conserve heat at an economy never before possible in any kitchen. They do not take the place of other stoves, for there must be an initial source of heat, and that means a fire of some kind. They supplement all stoves. They make it possible to save gas in the city kitchen and to use an expensive fuel like alcohol gas with economy in the country kitchen. Two burners of an alcohol bas stove urning twenty minutes enable us to roast chicken for three hours or cook a piece of cornbeef for ten hours, so that the proportion between the time the gas is burning and the time the cornbeef is cooking after the fire is out is as twenty is to six with Narrow Green Ribbon. Auto-Suggestion for Laying Hens

Bromerton, Wash., June 2.
UTO suggestion as applied to hens to increase their laying capacity is the subject of a remarkable report which C. L. Oliver, a poultry raiser of this section, will shortly forward to the Secretary of Agriculture at Washington.

Back View of a "Lucile" Evening Gown in White Chif-

fon. The Band of Bugle

at Foot Is Trimmed All Over

Mr. Oliver believes that when the marvellous results of his psychological experiments with laying hens have been scattered broadcast, with the authority and endorsement of the Department of Agriculture, the annual egg crop of the United States will be at least

For himself, as a reward for this great discovery, Mr. Oliver asks nothing. He feels certain of universal recognition as that benelactor of the human race "who made two eggs grow where one grew before," and has steadily refused to apply for steadily refused to apply for a potent on his system of spurring on the American hen to increased exertions at her specialty.

Briefly, Mr. Oliver's s. stem is this: First, every day, during one hour in the forenoon and one hour in the afternoon, he shuts himsel' in a darkened room adjacent to the boultry yard and concentrates his thoughts on his hens, mentally willing that they be indued with a desire to lay eggs.

Second, wice a day, half an hour after these periods of absent treatment, Mr. Oliver sets goin; a phonograph, which is a fixture in the poultry yard, and which proceeds to emit the most life-like imitation of a hen's triumphant announcement that she has laid an egg. Thereupon the laying hens hastily and thoughtfully repair to their nests, and the phonograph paean of triumph is turned off in order that each hen may give her undivided ttention to personal business.

Right here Mr. Oliver throws in a word of caution. The phonograph cackling should not be permitted to continue after the last hen is on her nest. Hens are by nature excitable, eager creatures. If the machine-made cackling is allowed to confinue, the hens are liable to imagine their duty accomplished and rush forth to join in the chorus. Third, the wisdom of the ancients in providing a nestegg—if nothing more than a porcelain doorknob—is recognized in the decorative scheme of the nesting coops. Each wall has its attractive oil painting representing the nest overflowing with fine, fat eggs. The ceiling is constructed as n inverted dome—which the hen recognizes as the large end of a new-laid egg. Piles of realistic china eggs 270 heaped in each corner.

Another word of caution: Owing to the professional suggestiveness of these decorations, hears of especially industrious natures have been known to lay unduly, and to pine away from lack of food and sleep.

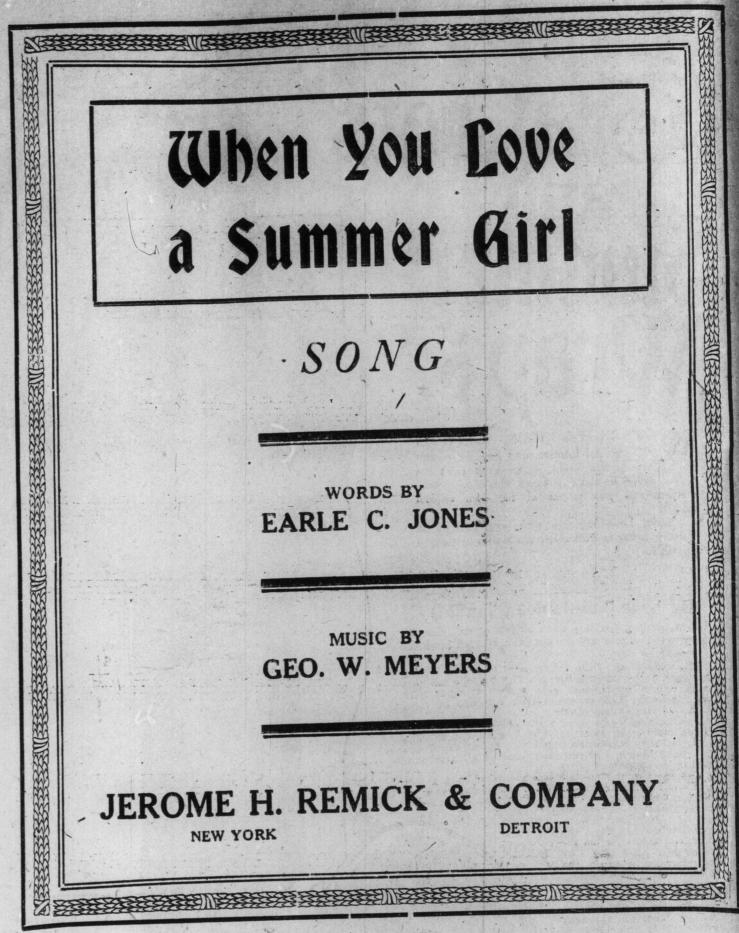

Fourth and last, Mr. Oliver urges the use of Gospel hymn records in the poultry yard phonograph each evening at roosting time. These hymns have a soothing effect on the iens, aranteeing a sound night's sleep to fortify them against he laying labors of another day.

loss, represents one of the most extravagant wastes of modern civilization. Not only does it greatly increase the cost of living, but by making our kitchens the most uncomfortable places on earth it saps the vitality of our wives and mothers and makes the servant problem dreaded. In the ordinary coal or wood-burning stove is a small box called the fire-box in which the fuel is burned. The stove is well designed and well made. It is fitted with dampers which, by controlling the rate at which the fuel burns, enable us to economize fuel. It often contains a water-back that economizes the fuel by using a part of the heat to warm the water used in the kitchen and bathroom. Such a stove enables the housekeeper to cook many different kinds of food at the same time.

NEW MINING METHOD.

There have been so many disastrous explosions of dust and gases in deep coal mines in various parts of the world, caused in many instances by the use of explosives in tearing the coal asunder, making it easy for the workmen to remove it with their tools, that a great effort has been made among engineers and mechanics to find a safer method of putting the coal in among engineers and mechanics to find a safer method of putting the coal in condition to be easily removed.

In Germany a system is being used that promises to go into general use. Instead of the powder or other powerful explosives being used, holes are drilled deep into the coal vein just as if blasts were to be inserted; but instead of the explosives that so often stead of the explosives that so often set off a lot of accumulated gas or dust, a pipe is inserted and a heavy pressure of water forced into the block of dry coal. The water finds its way into the crevices and produces others, into the crevices and produces others, and in a short time such a pressure has been brought to bear on the coal that it opens up and is ready for the men with their picks and shovels, and no dust or dry gas has been formed. It is stated this method is much safer, and is healthier, even more rapid, as there is no loss of time by the men waiting for a mine or shaft to clear itself of the poisonous fumes produced by the explosives.
