IN THE SNOW.

Monah Putnam stood in the broad

porch of his father's ample farm house

and looked out over the winter landscape, so very much of which belonged

to his own patrimony, and a proud man

he was.

"Proud he always was, and of all that

pertained to him, including his own feet

and what he deemed his other personal attractions; but just at that moment he was prouder of his big horse and his new sleigh than of anything else. Truth to tell, they were both good of their kind

and Monah knew it.

He knew, too, that almost any girl in the valley would be glad to try the first

new sleigh and behind that sleigh

was, with him, Monah.

There had been make-believe storms,

mere whims, before, but no sleighing;

and now the snow had been coming down all the previous night and had not ceased yet though there were signs of that it was beginning to drift.

"Won't be first to tell it's packed," he said, as he took the reins and sprang in,

"I'll see what Sophie Williams'll say to

it."

It was a brief and brisk little drive

down the road, and then he pulled up in front of just such another farm house

as the one he had left. Not precisely before the door, for that space was already occupied by a somewhat diminutive but not antiquated-looking 'cuter,' with arch-

ing swan necks in front, and provided with only a black, rustic-looking Canadian pony, that looked as if he would have been little more than a good meal

for Monah's equine favorite.

The young man could only give a glance at the pony, however, for there was on the porch stood Sophie Williams

herself, almost invisible through her

fur and wraps, but, for all that, un-deniedly the prettiest, sweetest, and most independent little piece of creature in all Cherry Valley.

Brief enough was Monah's greeting

before he had announced that he had come to take his fair neighbour out for a sleigh ride, pointing, as he did so, to the undisputed attractions of his new establishment. Sophie would have liked, it might be, something more of humility in Monah's manner, but she looked at horse and sleigh, and she was almost ready to forgive and accept.

In a moment more she would have done so and sent her pony back to the

stable, but the evil genius made him

say his mouth.

Editorial Notes.

The indictment and conviction by a Brooklyn jury of John McKane, for interfering with the election laws of the state of New York, has led people to have an idea that the cause of political morality can be enforced if only some one will take the initiative and by force of law take political matters out of the hands of "boss rule."

McKane was chief of police of Greenwald, a suburb of Brooklyn, and ran the whole town to suit himself, carrying matters with so high a hand that it worked a cure and lodged the perpetrator for a term of years in the penitentiary.

The following particulars are given of his being sentenced:

New York Feb. 19.—McKane gets six years in Sing Sing prison.

The imposition of this sentence today by Judge Bartlett was a great surprise generally, it being expected that the jury's recommendation of mercy would induce Judge Bartlett to be more lenient.

When sentence was pronounced McKane turned heavily pale and clutched the railing before him. Tears rolled down his cheeks. Counsel for McKane had made motions for new trial, arrest, judgment, suspension of judgment and for twenty days to prepare exceptions for a stay, but all were denied by Judge Bartlett. Then Col. James, who was followed by E. L. Shepard for the State, who asked that a long sentence be pronounced. McKane then stood up and said in a trembling voice that he was not guilty and never did anything wrong in his life. In passing sentence Judge Bartlett said: "I am not in a hurry to discharge the recommendation of the jury for mercy. Nevertheless, I cannot overlook the gravity of defendant's crime. The fact that he is an intelligent man who exercised wide authority and who knew what the law was. This aggravated the offence."

When sentence was pronounced McKane had to be assisted to a seat, he was so greatly affected. An uproar followed in the court room. The officers and judges vainly tried to restore order. The lawyers endeavored to talk to the court, but they could not be heard. A squad of policemen finally cleared the hall. McKane was taken to jail by the sheriff.

While the sheriff with McKane was trying to work his way through the immense crowd that filled the court room, McKane was surrounded by his Gravenstein adherents. The sheriff, his deputies and the police could not clear the way for McKane, so great that they could not get through. McKane raised his hand and called out "Clear away, boys!" "All right, chief," the crowd shouted back in thunderous tones and in a minute the throng had fallen back, forming a passage to the street. The crowd kept up a continuous shouting as McKane was driven toward the jail.

McKane's lawyers said they would apply some time today to a Supreme Court judge for time to prepare exceptions on which to base a motion for a stay.

Obituary.

The death of Lord Governor Carvell, of P. E. Island, took place in Charlottetown on Wednesday morning last after a long illness.

Jedediah Sisson Carvell was born in Newcastle, in this province, in the year 1822 and 29 years later, in June, 1851 he married Alice Caroline, the second daughter of Thomas Hanford, of this city. He was elected Mayor of Charlottetown in 1877-78 and a year later was called to the senate of Canada, where he remained for ten years and in September, 1889, when he was appointed Governor of Prince Edward Island. He was a prosperous merchant while in business and held the position of Spanish Vice Consul.

MONTREAL, February 11.—Rev. Dr. Douglas, LL. D., who has been ill for some time, died yesterday afternoon, death being caused by a general breaking up of the system. For some years the doctor has been in poor health and was advised to rest. This he refused to do and continued to attend to his various duties up to a few weeks of his death. Though completely blind, he was one of the most eloquent preachers in the Methodist church as well as one of the best read theologians. For a number of years he was Principal of the Wesleyan theological college in Montreal, and besides his duties as principal, the doctor was well known as a writer and lecturer on theological subjects. He made himself prominent in connection with the equal rights agitation and delivered several lectures throughout the country on the subject. Dr. Douglas was 71 years of age.

Many old friends will learn with regret of the sudden death of Mr. John Livingston, the founder of the Sun and several other New Brunswick papers. His death took place in Montreal on the 10th February, after a few days of illness of pneumonia. He was eighty-one years of age. He leaves four sons and four daughters to mourn their loss. His remains were interred in Mount Royal cemetery, Montreal, the chief mourners being the four sons of deceased. A number of personal friends were present to pay their last respects to their departed friend.

A meeting of business men was called on Monday evening to take into consideration a communication from Mr. W. F. Hatheway, President of the St. John Board of Trade, to John Niven, Esq., in reference to the recent remembrance of the Montreal Star and its true remarks.

The property of reorganizing the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association was discussed as the best means of complying with the wish of the St. John Board of Trade, and it was suggested that an addition might be made to the name by adding—and Board of Trade of Newcastle. The members present were unanimous in their expression of opinion as to the advisability of reorganizing the Association and it was on motion unanimously

A vote of thanks was passed to the Chairman, and to Mr. J. D. Creighton for the use of the room, and the meeting adjourned.

While the M. & M. Association was in active existence and met regularly, much interest was taken at the meetings in the discussion of public matters of interest, and the influence of the Association used to the purpose of furthering the interest of the people of Greenwald, and it is hoped that the Association will be well attended and the Association reorganized. All former members will receive due notice.

Mr. Mitchell's Reminiscences.

The first instalment of Mr. Mitchell's reminiscences, as published in the Toronto Evening News, appeared in the St. John Telegraph of Monday last. In referring to these reminiscences the Montreal Star pointedly and truly remarks:

"Hon. Peter Mitchell has not added lustre to his reputation by the publication of an Ontario paper of his political reminiscences. The whole aim of Mitchell's statements are to belittle the statements of men, who, according to Mitchell's own account, refused to yield to his importunities for help."

We understand that Mr. Mitchell now claims that these reminiscences were published without his authority, and that a lengthy disclaimer was sent by telegraph to the Montreal Star on Saturday last, but such disclaimer will not relieve him from the onus of attacking a dead statesman with whom while Minister of Marine and Fisheries he always professed, judging from his [Mr. Mitchell's] speeches on the subject, to be in friendly relations. He is bound in the closest accord, and only ventures to assail his former leader when no reply can be made. He has gained for himself no credit by pursuing this course.

Senator Howland is expected to be the next lieutenant governor of P. E. Island. Mr. Russell has returned from his trip to the camps of Messrs. Ritchie on the Little Southwest. He reports from 33 to 44 feet of snow in the woods.

Mr. S. Harrison, of New Mills, Restigouche, was in town yesterday afternoon. He left for home by express last night. The band boys were all after him, remembering his many kind words to them when at New Mills last summer.

General Intelligence.LIFE IN A LUMBER CAMP.

THE DANGERS WHICH BESET THESE STUDLY TOILERS.

Recent Events Recall an Accident That Caused Years of Pain and Suffering—How the Victim Regained Health and Strength.

Mr. James Fitzgerald, a prosperous and respected merchant of Victoria Road, a pretty little village in Victoria County, has for years suffered from the effects of a peculiar accident which happened him while in a lumber camp. To a reporter of the Lindsay Post, Mr. Fitzgerald said that when a boy in his teens he had a strong desire to spend a season in a lumber camp, and prevailed upon his parents to let him join a party of young men who were leaving for the woods fifty miles distant. It proved, for him, an unfortunate trip. One day while he was binding on a load of logs, the binding pole broke and he received a heavy blow on the elbow of the right arm. As there was no surgeon within fifty miles of the camp he was attended to by the best means his fellow-workmen could provide. After a few days, thinking he was all right, he went to work again. The exertion proved too much, for in a short time the pain returned, and continued to get worse every day. This, however, did not relieve him, and the pain had become chronic and at this time affected his whole arm, and partially the right side of his body. He thus suffered for years, unable to get any relief, his arm becoming withered and paralyzed, and he was forced to give up his farm and try various light commercial pursuits, and abandoned all hope of ever having the arm restored to usefulness. In the fall of 1892 he was induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for a trial. Mr. Fitzgerald's first order was for half-dozen boxes, and before these were gone he began to experience the beneficial effects. The pain from which he had suffered for so many years began to lessen. He procured another supply, and from that out the improvement was constant and rapid, and he not only recovered the use of his arm, but he is enjoying as good, healthy health as he did before the accident, seventeen years ago. Mr. Fitzgerald feels that the cure through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which have been the means of benefiting many others in his neighborhood, who had seen what they had done in Mr. Fitzgerald's case. For cases of partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, and all nerve troubles, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the only certain cure. They act directly upon the blood and the nerves, thus striking at the root of the trouble, and restoring the system to its wonted vigor. Sold by all dealers or sent post paid at 50 cents a box, or six for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ontario, or Scientifically, N. Y. Be sure all indications which some unscrupulous dealers may offer because of the larger profit from their sale.

NEWS NOTES.

KILL, Feb. 17.—Six of the men injured yesterday by the explosion of boilers on the cruiser Brandenburg died as a result of their wounds.

The island of Inishtrahall, Ireland, has a coasting keeper of the lighthouse and a family, in all about sixty inhabitants. The people depend on the mainland for their food supply. The past three weeks the sea has been running so high that it was impossible for a boat to effect a landing on the island. On Wednesday the crew of the Callad life-boat landed a supply of provisions on the island. They found among all the islanders only a handful of potatoes. One inhabitant had died of starvation.

New York, February 15.—A meeting of the anthracite coal producing companies was held in this city today. Managers of all the leading coal companies were present. Stove and chestnut coal were reduced to $4 per ton, a cut of 25 per cent. Broken coal will be sold for $3.60 and egg for $3.75 per ton. The total output for February, 1893, was 3,162,807 tons, but this month it will not exceed 2,500,000 tons.

It is believed now that the outrage committed by Emil Henry at the cafe of the Hotel Terminus on Monday night, when 24 persons were injured by the explosion of a bomb thrown by him, was part of a vast anarchist conspiracy. It is thought that the plot was prepared in London and that 23 men, among them Henry, were assigned to execute different parts of the plan.

Gloucester, Mass., Feb. 17.—Schoner Edward I. Morrison, which was wrecked on Race Point and lost with all her crew in the blizzard of Tuesday last, sailed from Rockport, Mass., on Monday afternoon with a cargo of paving stones. She was towed to sea by a tug and her captain told Captain Davis, of the tug, he had received word of the approaching storm, but was going to take his chances of weathering it. After the tug left the schooner bore off to the eastward, as if the captain intended to ride out the gale at sea. It is supposed he afterwards changed his mind and tried to seek shelter at Provincetown.

Several weeks ago a man named Fairman Terrio was exhibiting a two-headed calf in this city. Since that time he has been exhibiting throughout the various towns on the line of the W. & A. R., and while at Annapolis last week he became violently insane at times crawling around on his hands and knees. The authorities of the town took charge of him and he was placed in jail. His relatives in Bathurst, N. B., were communicated with and Constable Terrio of that place went to Annapolis and took charge of him. Last evening he was brought to the station by the constable, bound hand and foot. He was left at the station for safe keeping till this morning, when he will be taken to Bathurst.

Bathurst, N. B., Feb. 15.—Ex-Governor Daniel F. Davis, of this city, has received a letter from his son, who is stopping at Moore's lumber camp in Somerset County, giving particulars of a tragedy which recently took place there. Two men are located three or four miles from the camp, hunting and trapping during the winter. A few days ago two other hunters appeared on their territory and were treated as trespassers. An altercation arose and one of the hunters who had been on the ground from the first and one of the intruders through the head, killing him instantly, and then shot the other in the leg. Then the murderer walked to the wounded man and shot him through the heart. The murderer with his companion fled towards the State line, and as soon as the men at the lumber camp heard of the shooting they started in pursuit but at last accounts the fugitives had not been overtaken.
