Mr. E. M. MacDonald (Pictou) expressed his hope and conviction that the Senate would throw out the naval bill if it was forced through the House by closure.

Sir Edmund Osler said, under rules properly administered, a session of parliament should not last more than two months. There was entirely too much talking, and the great majority sale on certain Tuesdays during above of the si period via Sarnia and Northern Nav-chamber of the speeches on both sides of the were mere rubbish. He had igation Company, and are good re-turning two months from date of and during that time not more than twelve speeches had been delivered which were worth crossing the hall to hear. His idea of a "hideous purgatory" would be to sit another teen years in Parliament and be obliged listen to the speeches. #### MR. PROUDFOOT'S GRAVE CHARGES.

Specific charges of corrupt and improper conduct has been laid against Sir James Whitney and Hon. W. J. Hanna by the member for Centre Huron, Mr. Proudfoot.

The charges have been referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections by order of the Prime Minister. The Opposition asked for a reference to a Royal Commission of two judges. The refusal of the Public Accounts Committee to permit Mr. Proudfoot to ask questions bearing upon the transaction which is the basis of his trusted to deal with our neighbors, accharges, made it doubtful whether the majority of the Privileges and Elections Committee would allow sufficient

It has been acknowledged by the Prime Minister that Hon. Mr. Hanna accepted a campaign contribution from Mr. George C. Taylor, of Taylor, Scott & Co., while that firm were under contract with the Government. It is now further alleged:

1. That this sum was given on the understanding that the company's working purposes. financial claim against the Government would be satisfied.

2. That Mr. Hanna manipulated the opening and granting of certain coal the closure resolutions have been tenders, and that there were grave ir- adopted in the House of Commons. regularities in connection with the purchase of certain self-feeding stok-

4. That the condition was laid down that the flat would not be used for three months, and that in the meantime the Provincial Secretary endea-Taylor withdrawing all the charges made by the said Taylor.

5. That in November, 1911, when the election was approaching, Mr. Taylor again brought pressure on the Government and succeeded in having his claim referred to an arbitrator, although the officials of the Government reported that it was wholly unfound-

6. That the arbitrator was appointed on Nov. 18, 1911, and made his award has sailed again for England, now his on Nov. 24, 1911, granting the firm

Mr. Hanna in the House affirmed his innocence of every charge except that of the election contribution. He said he had been pursued for a year and a half by the accusations with regard to the coal tenders and self-feeding stokers, and he alleged blackmail.

Privileges and Elections Committee. Conservatives and Liberals should weigh the evidence impartially. Public opinion should also demand that no upon his support of the Laurier Govevidence be suppressed.

THE CALIFORNIA ANTI-ALIEN LAW.

Newspapers in the United States are discussing the law that has just been passed by the legislature of California prohibiting the Japanese and Chinese from holding real estate. So far as the Oriental races are concerned the law is one with which we have nothing to do. Whether it is wise policy to try and keep out the Japanese from California is for the people of that state to say. Whether or not the law is in conflict with the treaties made by the United States with Japan is for the Federal Goverment to decide. More than that, it is difficult for people in these eastern parts, where there is no danger of an overflow of an undesirable Oriental population, to realize the importance of this question to those who live on the Pacific coast. The arguments are not all on one side. But while the new law is intended apparently, to apply to the Japanese and Chinese, these races are not mentioned in it. We have not seen the entire bill, but the following summary is given by California correspondents of the New York press and may be assumed to be correct:

"As amended the measure provides that an alien may hold land for one year, or in case of a minor, for one year after attaining his majority, but at the end of that time the property escheats to the state unless the owner has become or has Powers going to do about it?

a citizen of the United States. An alien gaining land by inheritance may hold it for one year only under the same conditions.

All property owned ly an ailen shall be sold or disposed of within three years from the passage of the act, unless declaration of intention made, and leases shall run for not more than five years. Those in force when the act is passed shall be declared void at the expiration of five years.

The provisions of the act are not to apply to property acquired prior to 1894, but the provisions do apply corporations where the majority of the stock is held by aliens."

Unless there is legislation not ineluded in this act to the contrary, the alien law will apply to Canadians and all British subjects just as much as it does to the Japanese. Under its year, unless he is a citizen of the United States. If there are any British subjects holding land in California which has been purchased or leased since 1894, they will have to get rid of it inside of one year, or it will be confiscated.

Of course, a regulation of this kind ought to suit the opponents of reciprecity, who desire "no truck with the Yankees." But the worst of it is that it will not apply to any extent to boast of the superior enforcement of the small man who was the chief opject of solicitude on the part of those ultra loyalists. This class of Canadians will not be buying California lands. The parties to be affected are he corporations, the manufacturers, the banks, and the wealthy men of the ountry. For these there will be no nvestments in California. And these are the only classes that could be cording to the anti-reciprocity people. Well, the question can be left to time and President Wilson to settle. We do not expect that Mr. Borden will have any such bill passed through the Canadian Parliament. To be consistent, he ought to do so. There are a number of alien corporations that have branch factories here. Legislation that would compel them to sell out to Canadians ought to be encouraged from a Conservative loyalist point of view. But no one need worry about this. "No truck with the Yankees" is only a campaign cry, not intended for

GAG LAW PASSED.

By a majority of 35, all the Nationalists present voting with their allies,

It is a triumph for Mr. Rogers, but what of Mr. Borden? He had declared from the hustings that unless Parliament gave "IMMEDIATE" assent to or two. 3. That when these matters were laid his naval proposals he would dissolve

Mr. Borden has been credited in some quarters with a desire to fulfill mons have often noted Sir Wilfrid not, his promise has been broken, and freedom of debate has perished with to constant use of the dictionary is

It is now open to the Government to force the naval bill through the apt illustration and rhetorical House of Commons. In so doing, its gestion. For example, when closing the vored to procure a letter from Mr. gift of Dreadnoughts will be robbed of any grace which it might have had in British eyes. But for Mr. Borden's tergiversation Canada's contribution to Imperial naval defence would have taken a shape which would have represented the unforced and almost unanimous will of the Canadian people. Now it is the product of mean party exigencies, and the act of a faction, not of a people.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER'S FARE-WELL.

Sir Charles Tupper, in his 93rd year, nome. There is pathos in his remark that he will probably never see Canadian shores again. As the sole surviving father of Confederation, he has become almost a legendary figure.

It is to be regretted that Sir Charles last public utterance before leaving the country should have been intensely partisan, but it is even more to be regretted that he should have abandoned his own patriotic attitude of four years The charges are now before the ago. Today he expresses approval of the Borden contribution and upbraids Sir Wilfrid Laurier for opposing it. Four years ago he upheld the Canadian navy idea and felicitated Mr. Borden ernment on that question. On Nov. 27, 1907, he wrote to Mr. Borden as fol-

The compact Sir Charles referred to was the Canadian navy resolution of March, 1909, unanimously adopted by the Canadian House of Commons.

That compact has been destroyed, and the "fearful responsibility" rests upon the Borden Government.

Sir Charles' farewell words might have been more appropriate.

Helping an Oversensitive Child

The mother with an oversensitive little girl should check the trait in its first manifestations if she wants to save her daughter much unhappiness and have her live a wholesome life. Let her say pleasantly, "No, you can't go to the party with sister because all the girls are older than you—but come along to the kitchen and help me make cookies." And if there is any whining or tears, treat it like sickness, put the little girl to bed and leave her there until she can show a smiling face to her family. Smiles as easily become a habit as tears, you know.

The adult with sensitive feelings is pretty well past reforming, but not quite, though it is not a pleasant job. Still—if you have such an one in your immediate family circle, you might try laughing her out of her nonsense and absolutely disregarding it, especially when it interferes with the legitimate comfort and pleasure of others.

Be Accommodating

To be accommodating does not require any great sacrifice. It does not unselfishness. All it means is showing the small courtesies which cost so little, the thoughtfulness in trifles, which are no strain on our resources, and yet mean so much to the recipient.

Every shopper knows the difference between the accommodating clerk who never finds it too much trouble to show his stock, and the one who unrolls each piece of goods reluctantly. Every employer knows the difference between the worker who stays ten minutes over time without seeming to discover that he is being imposed upon, and the one who wants to know concerning every extra service "what there is in it" for him. In most housethere is in it. for him, in most house-holds there is the accommodating member, who somehow or other can do errands for the others in the family without going out of his way, and the others who find it inconvenient to carry a message or give an order at the grocer's.

The accommodating persons is invariably popular. The man who risks his life to save another man may not be in the least lovable. Although capof sacrifice, he may be gruff and exacting and extremely selfish in the daily routine. But accommodating daily routine. But accommodating people are helpful and generous in the small things of life. And it is of small things, after all, that life is made up. The big emergencies, calling for heroism or great self-sacrifice, are comparatively rare.

Pirate Fans Expected to See TO BEAT PITTSBURG Gibson Arrive on Crutches Cardinals Could Only Touch But George Surprised Them

SCORE or more curious ones haunted the platform at Union station for over an hour yesterday afternoon, says the Pittsburg Dispatch, hoping to get a glimpse of Catcher George Gibson, the Pirate catcher who was injured in St. Louis on Sunday and who had been sent home to recuperate.

According to advices from the Mount City, Gibby was appear in the role of cripple; crutches were mentioned; and it was even hinted that he would have to be carried on a stretcher.

This wasn't the case. When the train, which was over an hour late, appeared, Hack left without assistance. With the aid f a walking stick he made splendid progress and appeared as though there wasn't much wrong with him. . A colored porter, learning the ball player's identity, bustled around and eemed worried because he couldn't lend some service. WOULDN'T TAKE A CHAIR "Ah'll get you a roller chair, Mistah Gibson," he chortled "Ah see that ou-all cain't walk. Jes' wait a minute and Ah'll fix you-all up."

"Get me a chair, will you?" exploded Gibby; "well, I guess you won't! I never rode in one of those things yet, and as long as I am able to crawl around, I never will." around, I never will."

Dr. F. M. Storer, of Wilkinsburg, a friend and neighbor of the injured receiver, was on hand to lend his assistance. Still, Gibson needed little help; he declined all proffers of ald and walked to the street unaided. There he entered Dr. Storer's automobile and was driven home.

Hack isn't at all pessimistic concerning his hurt. He declares that he will be all right inside of a few days. "It is only a sprain," he explained, "and if

HURT WHEN HE GOT IT.

"But Gee! it hurt when I got it," continued Gibby. "I was going so fast that I couldn't stop myself; and when my spikes caught in that dratted canval I believed the leg had been broken. I dropped to the turf and laid there for I believed the leg had been broken. I dropped to the turf and laid there for een broken, I was so glad that I wanted to jump over the grandstand." The big catcher is anxious to get back in the game as soon as possible. He lieves the Pirates have a splendid chance this year; and because he is going right now, he wants to render all the assistance that lies in his power. "St. Louis is playing good ball," he said, "and we had to go our best to defeat them on Sunday. O'Toole had lots of stuff while I was catching; what developed after I left is, of course, unknown to me."

It was the first big workout of the season and probably the largest crowd that ever turned out to watch a bunch of players practice in London.

Took Things Easy.

The players did not loosen up to any extent. The pitchers tossed up a few slow ones to the batters, and the outfielders were kept busy gathering in the cutfield Clickenger the Real Thing.

A DUNLOP TRACTION TREAD TO-DAY

ORDINARY NON-SKID TO-DAY

Get To-morrow's Use

From To-day's Tires

Features that apply not only the day you buy the tires—but six months after—are the only features you ought to pay for.

With ordinary non-skids the tread is bound to wear smooth sooner or later—usually sooner—because there is no size to the non-skidding surface.

It is different with Dunlop Traction Tread. When you buy this tire you get the biggest anti-skidding surface in the world. The wear on Dunlop Traction Tread corrugations is but the slightest, and it's no greater in the centre of the tread than on the sides.

Thus with Dunlop Traction Tread you get the benefit of the traction grip all the way down with the wear.

Therefore, you are still getting what you can get from no other tire-what you paid for in the first place. It isn't sufficient that you look ahead when driving your car. Look ahead when buying your anti-skid tires.

"The Rainbow" a Powerful Drama. A. E. Thomas, author of "The Rainbow," which Henry Miller is bringing to the Grand tomorrow evening for one night only, has peopled his story with men and women who live and breathe through the three acts of the comedy. "The Rainbow" is a play with live matter in it, full of the healthy sort of emotion that reaches down into the hearts of audiences. Its characters are drawn from observations of life, not from memories of other characters in other plays. Every person in the story seems like an old acquaintance whom one recognizes and is glad to see. The play gives Mr. Miller a really wonderful role and he plays it with compelling sincerity and feeling, authority and humor. Moreover, Mr. Miller has staged the comedy with complete sympathy and un-

"I'd give a good deal for a glass of suds and a cracker right now!" said Mr. Shrimplin, speaking after a long silence. He tilted his head and took a comprehensive survey of the heavens. "Well, we're going to have a fine day for the hanging," he observed, with the manner of a connective survey.

he observed, with the manner of a connoisseur.

"Why don't they let no one see it?" demanded Custer.

"It's to be strictly private. I don't know but what that's best; it's some different, though, from the hangings I'm used to." And Mr. Shrimplin shook his head dubiously, as if he wished Custer to understand that, after all, perhaps he was not so sure it was for the best.

"How were they different?" inquired Custer, sensible that his parent was falling into a reminiscent mood.

"Well, they were more gay for one thing; folks drove in from miles about, and brought their lunches. Sometimes there was hoss racing in the morning, and maybe a shooting scrape or two; fact is, we usually knowed who was to be the next to stretch hemp before the day was over—it gave you something to look forward to. But, pshaw! What can you expect here? Mount Hope ain't educated up to the sort of thing I'm used to. A feller gets his face punched down at Mike Lonigan's, or out at the Dutchman's by the tracks; the whole town talks of it, but no one ever draws a gun; the feller that gets his face punched spits out his teeth and goes on about his business, and that's the end of it except for the talk; but where I've been there'd be murder in about the time it takes to shift a quid."

Toronto, April 24.—Serious and sensational charges were preferred by Mr. William Proudfoot (Centre Huron), in the Legislature last night against Sir James Whitney, prime minister, and Hon. W. J. cinnati mine of the Pittsburg Coal Company at Finleyville, Pa. where an explosion of fire damp yesterday killed many men and wrecked the mine. Eighteen bodies had been brought to the mouth of the principal opening this morning and from there trans-ferred to Monongahela City to be prepared for burial.

May Be Hundred Dead.

That the mine contains many more dead, even officers of the company admit while leaders of the rescue parties and some of the men who escaped from the workings are of the opinion that the fatalities will number close to 100. However, it will be impossible to determine the exact extent of the catastrope until the miles of main and cross entries have been explored, a difficult task when it is known that these are choked with fallen timbers and rocks. Rescuers this morning reported that the bodies of 21 mules had been seen, the majority of them having been killed by the explosion. Latest estimates of the dead are near the 100 mark, as it is known that 179 men went into the mine and about 79 are known to have made their escape.

Chinese Crew of British Ship Kick Over Traces at New York.

ONE MORTALLY HURT

[Canadian Press.] New York, April 24.-In a battle with New York, April 24.—In a battle with a mutinous crew of Chinese on the British freighter Gien McIvor, tied up at a Staten Island pier last night, one member of the crew was mortally wounded by revolver bullets, and one of a dozen private detectives who, with a score of policemen, were engaged in the fighting, was badly injured. The police took 37 Chinese prisoners, and locked them up at Staten Island headquarters. Island headquarters.

The trouble arose over the refusal the steamer's officers to allow the Chines shore liberty while the McIvor was in the The crew had given trouble all the (Continued From Page One.) "After the work had been started it was discovered that the parapet wall was unsafe. The roof was so con-911/2 structed that a great quantity of ice was precipitated at the jail entrance at times. Reconstruction of the roof and rebuilding the parapet wall cost the sum of $2,000, but that had nothing to do with the original estimate. Another little matter attended to entirely outside of the original estimate was the rehabilitation of the chief constable's quarters. This was done at the direction of Engineer Talbot. An Interruption.

"While the work was being carried successfully along, the county council took up the matter of joint buildings with the city. A proposition was made, but rejected by the city. While this matter was in abeyance, no further contracts were awarded. I had drawn up detailed plans and specifications, and was ready to proceed.

The "work was stopped entirely in the fall of 1911, but was resumed the following spring, when all hope of an agreement on a joint building had been panished. About then I left the city's

"As I have stated, the county author lies desired that an arrangement should be made to have me continue to take charge of the work, but this wish was not shared by Mayor Graham, who let the man who had been my assistant, a good draftsman, but not an experienced architect, take charge of the work. The building inspector was to assist him.

Money Was Sufficient. "It was then that the trouble started and I have no hesitation in saying that at least $10,000 has been squandered since then. When I was in charge the money did not give out, and I was not receiving a commission, as has been hinted, it was of no possible advantage to me to increase the cost of the oper-

REFUSE LICENSES TO HOTELKEEPERS IN LONDON ANNEX

Inspector Galpin Is Warmly Praised by Prof. Bowman and Chairman Greer.

Three City License Holders Notified That They Must Make Repairs.

It was decided at a meeting of the icense commissioners of London, held Wednesday afternoon, to grant 23 of the 26 licenses issued in the city prior to annexation, and to give the other hree holders three months in which to nake certain repairs to their houses demanded by the commissioners. If at the end of that time the requests are not made the licenses will be cut off. The applications for licenses made by Mr. James Homister, of the Homister House, Hamilton road, and Mr. W. Barnes, of the Barnes Hotel, Pottersburg, who came into the city with annexation, were refused.

Those given the three months' extension were: Mr. J. Young, of the Duke of York Hotel; Mr. W. Wright, of the Metropolitan Hotel, and Mrs. Walper, of the Walper House. All the shop licenses, including wholesale license, were renewed. A deputation from the temperance ocieties of the city, consisting of Rev Dr. McCrae, Rev. W. G. Riddiford, Professor J. H. Bowman, C. E. Finch and Mr. Charles Tupholme appeared before the commissioners to enter a protest against granting a license to any hote in the recently-annexed districts.

Most People Against It.

"We do not think a hotel on the Hamilton road is necessary, and as a vast majority of the citizens are against it, we have come to ask you o refuse to grant a license," said Rev.

Prof. James H. Bowman took the floor, and said that the delegates wanted to congratulate the commissioners on the way they did their work in London during the past year. "You have handled the affairs of the license department in excellent manner," said e, "and your inspector has been especially active. I do not think the newswork he does. We only wish that this board had jurisdiction over some other sections of the county, because we fee sure that some conditions which exi at present would soon be remedied. Says Some Are Bad.

"We have come here to prote against the granting of licenses either of the hotels in the recently-an nexed districts, because we do not thin they are necessary. If they are grant ed, you will have to cut off two othe notels in some other section of the city some hotels are bad; they have been ssociated with crime and trouble, and think you will do a good service

y cutting those places off.
Other members of the deputation poke briefly, and Mr. James Homister, roprietor of the Homister House, reied to Mr. Bowman. He asked him apologize for saying that his hotel any hotel, that he had been speaking of them generally.

Not a Black Mark. Mr. Homister declared that his hotel had existed for 80 years, and that during the 38 years he was connected with it not a black mark had been registered against it.

Chairman Greer thanked the deputa ion for attending and assured them hat all would be treated fairly. "London is fortunate in having man of Mr. Galpin's calibre for inspecor," said the chairman. "He has done etter work than some of us expected." During the year, Mr. Galpin collected $653 in fines, and ore man, who was fined, escaped from he city. During mal discussion the meeting an took place during ch the commissioners lamented the lack of hotel accommodation in London.

Those present were: Chairman Greer. Dr. Drake, Mr. Thomas Jones and In
