ACCLAMATIONS GIVE SEAT TO 10 LIBS. AMONG UNIONISTS

Latest Nomination Returns Do Not Materially Change The Line Up—Grain Growers' Man Retires For Calder.

Montreal, Nov. 20.—Ten supporters of Sir Wilfrid Laurier were elected by acclamation in the province of Quebec. They are: C. H. Bolvin, Shefford; Dr. Deslauriers, St. Mary's; Hon. Jacques Bureau, Three Rivers; J. E. Provost, Terrebonne; Dr. Beland, Beauce; O. Brouillard, Drummond and Arthabaska; J. E. Fontaine, Hull; H. A. Fortier, Labelle; L. J. Gauthier, St. Hyacinthe; L. Pacaud, Megantic.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—Reports of nomination returns received up to noon today do not materially change the lineup of candidates. The number of Liberal acclamations in Quebec is reduced by one by the announcement that Papineau, the Laurier candidate in Beauharnois, is not included in the list of those elected by acclamation. Unionist acclamations still number eight, including Hon. Mar. Burrell, secretary of state, who is unopposed in Yale. Thompson (Conservative-Unionist), is elected without opposition in Weyburn, Sask. The other six supporters of Union, who will not have to fight for their seats, are: Hon. W. S. Fielding, Queens-Shelburne; Levi Dauphin (all ex-members of the House); John McMartin, Gengarry and Stormont; F. J. Johnston, East Mountain, Sask.; and Maharg, Maple Creek, Sask. The last named was originally named in Moose Jaw, but he retired in favor of Hon. J. A. Calder, who is now opposed by a Labor candidate.

Quebec Acclamations.
Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Quebec supporters elected by acclamation in addition to Hon. Dr. Beland of Beauce, who is still a prisoner of war in Germany, are: George H. Bolvin, Shefford, 43-44 P.; Dr. Deslauriers, St. Mary's; Hon. Jacques Bureau, ex-M. P.; Three Rivers; J. E. Provost, Terrebonne; O. Brouillard, Drummond and Arthabaska; Dr. Fontaine, Hull; H. A. Fortier, Labelle; L. J. Gauthier, St. Hyacinthe and Rouville.

Some Nominations will not take place in the Yukon until December 31. It has been decided to defer nomination and election day in Nelson constituency, Manitoba, due to the circumstance that they would number impossible to post the proclamations up to the present time. Owing to a mid-season frost, the boats cannot travel on the rivers this cannot be done until the rivers freeze and then the boats will be able to reach far distant points. The constituency extends from the Pas to the shores of Hudson's Bay.

At the Provincial assembly of acclamations has caused some surprise in both camps. Until very recently it was expected that they would number at least 50. At Unionist headquarters it was claimed that many of the straight Liberal and Labor candidates, more particularly in the West, are straw men who will be easily defeated. Liberals on the other hand make the same assertion in regard to the Unionist candidates in Quebec and Ontario. In the majority of cases they will lose their deposits. The large number of three and four seat constituencies has occasioned considerable surprise, and at the headquarters of both parties an effort is being made to put the names of the probable electors on the list of candidates.

GREEK ARMY CORPS FIGHT FOR ENEMY AGAINST ITALIANS
25,000 Men Who Surrendered to Bulgarians Now Part of Udrine Force.

Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy, Sunday, Nov. 18.—(By Associated Press)—Information is trickling across the Piave from the Italians in Eastern Venezia, now overrun by the enemy. According to these reports, Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary has visited Gorizia and Udine, and King Ferdinand of Bulgaria has passed through Gradisca and Palmanova.

The garrison at Udine, the former Italian headquarters, is said to be made up of Turkish soldiers, who are using the church of Santa Maria as one of their barracks. The invaders have raised five flags—Austrian, German, Bulgarian, Turkish and Greek. The last flag represents the Greek division which went over to the Bulgarians at Kavala and Port Ruppel, and which some reports put among the enemy divisions operating on the Italian front.

Early in September, 1916, the Fourth Greek Army Corps, with headquarters at Kavala, surrendered to the Bulgarians. Its strength was reported to be 25,000 men, and these were later transported to Germany.

BOCHE MASSES MELTED BEFORE HAIG'S BARRAGE

Stupendous Artillery Fire Killed Attack Before It Could Get Started.

London, Nov. 20.—Via Reuters' Ottawa Agency.—Reviewing last week's operations on the British front, Reuters' correspondent at British headquarters in France says:

"Throughout the week the artillery has been most active, when it was evident the Germans were preparing for a serious effort to recover some lost positions. We have now direct observation over the plans of Belgium. Shell-fire frequently rose to intense drum-fire and the bombardment of the German line was seen in the form of numbers for an attack which never materialized. In spite of all this preparation it was a little on the morning of the 19th that the Germans had been seen to be moving forward. A stupendous barrage, however, melted away the attack before it could get started. Very few of our ever-advancing posts had an opportunity to fire a shot. The great German effort failed before it had fairly begun. The British have carried out a neat job of fighting, and the result of the German effort was that with our main line unshaken we had gained a little on the morning of the 19th."

PACIFIST ELEMENT AND ANTI-WAR CROWD ROUTED AT BUFFALO LABOR CONVENTION

American Federation Overwhelmingly in Favor of Supporting Govt's War Moves.

Buffalo, Nov. 20.—The overwhelming defeat of the pacifists by the supporters of President Gompers at the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor was followed today by the rapid disposal of many independent resolutions upon which the anti-war party had been expected to show fight. Resolutions relating to labor supply to meet war conditions were adopted after brief debate. The creation of an emergency supply commission connecting with the federal department of labor, provided for in a resolution offered by a western delegate, and the report of the executive council on the proper distribution of labor were covered jointly in a report from the resolutions committee.

The committee recommended that the incoming executive council take up with the presidents of all affiliated organizations and the proper government officials any questions that may arise in connection with labor supply during the war.

A socialist delegate declared that this was another effort "to tie the hands of labor, merely providing a 'face' to a conference that had already been beneficial to labor and the country."

The report of the committee was adopted unanimously.

BRITAIN AND U. S. TIGHTEN LINKS OF WAR EFFORT AGAINST HUNS

Anglo-American Leaders Taking Stock of Resources—London Press Commends Lloyd George.

London, Nov. 20.—Chancellor Bonar Law said in the House of Commons today, in response to a question, that the British Government had information to the effect that President Wilson had sent a cablegram, asking Col. House and Gen. Bliss to attend the first meeting of the inter-allied war council.

Lord Reading, the lord chief justice, will preside, with Andrew Bonar Law, British chancellor of the exchequer, and Oscar T. Crosby, assistant secretary of the American treasury, at the table beside him. The military and naval heads of both governments and officials representing other departments of war work will be grouped together. Premier Lloyd George planned to be present for the purpose of answering questions. The general work of the meeting constitutes the taking of stock of the resources and needs of both countries and, to some extent, of the continental allies. A variety of reports and photographs and curious sightings were on the scene early in the day.

CRISIS-PERIL PASSES.
London, Nov. 20.—The reception of Premier Lloyd George's speech in the House of Commons by the morning newspapers justified the assumption that the storm which lately threatened a crisis has passed, not only without damaging the premier's hold on the country, but perhaps even strengthening it. It is conceded, even by his opponents, that the speech was in the premier's best manner, and was a parliamentary triumph. Editorial encomiums flow freely from his supporters, while the comments of hostile critics lack the fierceness of previous denunciation.

The Daily News, which has been hostile to the premier's policy, recently yesterday concerning the military council contrasted startlingly with its previous attitude. It said that the council is only to be a body concerning which everybody is agreed. The report of the sensational talk in Paris.

Ingenious Says Post.
The Morning Post, another critic, objects again to the premier's proposal. It says it is a "face" to a conference that had already been beneficial to labor and the country."

The Graphic says the speech failed utterly to clear up the situation, and offers have to be gone over again before a new jury. Dulude is in Notre Dame hospital in a serious condition, having swallowed a box of 12 pills.

WILD SABBATH IN BERLIN AS MOBS BATLE WITH POLICE

Socialists "Mix It" With the Authorities and Latter Use Firearms.

London, Nov. 20.—Serious rioting took place in Berlin last Sunday, according to dispatches received by the Wireless and the Exchange Telegraph Company from Amsterdam.

The message to the Exchange Telegraph Company says that the rioting between the mob and the police was very fierce, and that there was a heavy casualty list as the police used their firearms. The Wireless Press says the military and police were called upon to oppose the progress of the Independent Socialist demonstration which followed, the police were forced to fire with their rifles and revolvers, and the organizers of the meeting responded with firearms and knives.

The German press, the dispatches say, have been forbidden to publish details of the affair. No newspapers have arrived in Amsterdam from Berlin.

MOVING TROOPS FROM RUSS LINE FOR FRESH BLOW

Hindenburg Probably Planning To Divert Strokes of the Allies.

MAY HIT AT BULGARIA
Significant Transfer of Heavy Forces Being Made by the Germans.

London, Nov. 20.—A telegram from Maastricht, Holland, to Amsterdam, as forwarded by Central News, reports a great movement of troops with artillery on all roads leading to the Flanders front. These troops evidently are from Russian front, the dispatch says.

Copenhagen, Nov. 20.—Reports from several sources in Germany bear out the assumption that, taking advantage of the situation in Russia, the German Government is making a transfer of troops from the Russian front. It is part of them appear to be going to Italy, where the front is too narrow to permit of the use of great masses, and a blow by Von Hindenburg at another point in the way of a diversion may perhaps be expected. Some troops are reported to have been moved to the western front, but this is not necessarily significant, as Field Marshal Haig's pounding tactics necessitate frequent reliefs from exhausted German divisions.

German newspapers, with suspicious frankness and avidity the prospect of an offensive on the Saloniki front, but have never a word about the obvious chance of a smashing blow at Rumania in an effort to end the resistance of that nation. As for Italy, if the Austrians and Germans find the reinforced Italian army too hard a nut to crack, they may be tempted to divert some of their forces to the defense of a strong line for the purpose of seeking to force a decision on some other selected front with the bulk of their strategic reserve.

With him at the hotel in which he was living under an assumed name was Prince Yousouf, who figured in the assassination of the Monk Rasputin.

FOUR ASSAULTS BY TEUTON INVADERS BROKEN BY FIERCE ITALIAN DEFENCE

Furious Struggle Continues In Mountains of Northern Italy, With Defenders Holding Their Own—Berlin Says Italian Efforts Fail.

Rome, Nov. 20.—The struggle between the Austro-Germans and the Italians on Monte Tomba and Monfenera, in the mountainous region of Northern Italy, continues, it was officially announced today by the Italian war department. The invading forces were driven back four times when they attempted to take the Italian positions on the Monfenera Spur.

UNSUCCESSFUL, SAYS BERLIN.
Berlin, Nov. 20.—(Via London).—Strong Italian counter-attacks against positions captured on the northern slope of Monte Tomba, on the mountain front near the Upper Piave, were unsuccessful, the war office announces. Heavy firing continues in this sector.

Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy, Monday, Nov. 19.—(By Associated Press).—The correspondent today made a tour of 40 miles along the Piave front, visiting Zenson, Fagaro and the Segna Mill, where desperate fighting has occurred, and the Duke of Aosta, commander of the Third Army guarding the Piave line, whose men turned the Austrians into the river, and re-established the solidity of the Piave front. At the moment the duke was issuing an order to his army congratulating them on their glorious achievement.

An officer from the general staff headquarters accompanied the correspondent and although the headquarters of the Third Army were reached at an early hour the duke was coming out to proceed along the front. He held in his hand a war map, which he consulted with his aides before giving directions for the route to be traveled.

It was a striking picture as the duke stood there, studying the map. He is tall, of athletic build, with grey hair and moustache and face bronzed by exposure. He wore the service uniform, high command, with boots, spurs and great coat edged with black fur. He acknowledged cordially the greetings of the correspondent's party, and a colonel of his staff explained conditions along the Piave line. Everywhere, the colonel said, the enemy had been thrown back, except at the brink of the river at Zenson, where a few men were huddled in the bushes unable to go forward or backward and were being slowly cut off by the Austrians. The Segna Mill, the rout of the enemy was complete, being accomplished on Friday night and Saturday. This confirmed previous information and added permanency to the effects obtained.

Courage and Confidence.
The officer to the duke of the duke's address to his men. It is an inspiring document, breathing encouragement and confidence. "Soldiers of the Third Army: To enemy has attempted to pass our defenses on the Piave, but his audacity has met with defeat before your heroic lines and he is driven back, leaving in his hands a great number of prisoners and machine guns. My soldiers, your commanders greet you as the victors of this glorious exploit, and convey to you the grateful acknowledgment of the country. With all our hearts we join our efforts for the country, for liberty."

Driving Wedge.
If the invaders have captured Monte Tomba, as is claimed by the Austrians, they are within a few miles of the plains behind the Piave. The Italians are defending each position but the Germans have advanced several miles here within the past few days, and seemingly are attempting to drive a wedge between the Italians in the region of Asiago and those along the Piave. Monte Tomba is the western end of the Piave, six miles northwest of Vidua. The Austro-Germans are exerting very strong pressure on the Italian front, and are reported to have brought up Austrian troops from the eastern front and are reported to have General Von Below's army to this sector. Apparently the Anglo-French reinforcements have not yet reached the Italian fighting zone, and from Italian headquarters it is announced that these troops could be used between the Piave and the Brenta, where the pressure of the invader is strongest.

Attack Around Asiago.
Around Asiago the Italians have been successful in offensive operations. Defeated in strong efforts to cross the Piave between Vidua and the Adriatic, the Austro-Germans have ceased their attempts. The artillery fire along the river, however, is very violent.

Premier Kerensky is reported to be at Lugno 20 miles south of Petrograd, where two army corps loyal to the committee for the salvation of the revolution, which are opposed to the Bolsheviks, are stationed. The Bolsheviks now hold the upper hand in the city, but it is indicated that the question of food supplies now overshadows the political situation. Telegrams received in London show that the food problem is most pressing, and that the menace of famine has brought about a cessation of hostilities between the opposing factions, at least for the moment.

DYNAMITE BOMB IN NEW YORK FACTORY

Thousand Lives Imperilled by Apparent Deed of Germans.

New York, Nov. 20.—The lives of more than one thousand women who were working overtime in an eleven-story building in west Two Hundred and Fifty-eighth street were endangered by a bomb containing eight sticks of dynamite, equipped with fuse and percussion, which had been placed near the elevator shaft on the tenth floor. The fuse bore indications of having been lighted, but had burned out before the sparks reached the cap.

The police today said the bomb was powerful enough to destroy the elevator shaft and stairway.

Secret service men found that on the fifth and sixth floors of the building is a factory where uniforms for the army and navy are being manufactured.

LONDONER, ENLISTED IN WEST, REPORTED WOUNDED IN FRANCE

REMAINDER OF CITY ELIGIBLES, FOUND FIT BY MEDICAL BOARDS, ORDERED INTO C. E. F. SERVICE BY TRIBUNALS—CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS GET SHORT SHIFT.

In order to dispel the impression, which during the past few days appears to be coming general, that the city tribunals were granting exemptions on the most trivial grounds, the members of these tribunals have requested that certain phases of the question in this respect be given wide publicity.

In the first place the members of the tribunals state that 75 per cent of the men who have been allowed exemptions are men in medical categories B, C, D or E. The tribunals were given definite instructions to exempt temporarily only, all men found in these medical categories.

As a result the tribunals have been able to exempt only a small number of men who represent as above stated about 75 per cent of those who have been exempted when they grant exemption to B, C, D and E men.

When the tribunals receive their daily allotments of 25 cases it is the general rule to find that the first 10 or 12 cases are automatically exempted for a time at least until such time as that category may be called.

Those men in Category E, medically exempted, will all likelihood never be called, but others may.

Call D Men Back. If a man is not secured in the first class it is fully expected Category D men will be called for medical examination.

The records of the city tribunals show that the majority of the exemptions granted to farmers on bona fide claims that less than 5 per cent of their land is available for military service have been granted exemption.

A feature in connection with the decisions of the tribunals is the fact that conscientious objectors are not receiving consideration. Quite a number have appeared before the tribunals, but not one has been granted exemption on conscientious grounds.

A young man appeared before the tribunal at the county buildings today when they finally get around to him from fighting.

"What is your religion?" he was asked.

"Well, I was baptised in the Anglican Church, but don't belong to that religion," he replied.

"The Anglican Church does not object to a man's being a soldier," the tribunal member said.

"I don't believe in fighting," he replied.

In the first place the members of the tribunals state that 75 per cent of the men who have been allowed exemptions are men in medical categories B, C, D or E. The tribunals were given definite instructions to exempt temporarily only, all men found in these medical categories.

As a result the tribunals have been able to exempt only a small number of men who represent as above stated about 75 per cent of those who have been exempted when they grant exemption to B, C, D and E men.

When the tribunals receive their daily allotments of 25 cases it is the general rule to find that the first 10 or 12 cases are automatically exempted for a time at least until such time as that category may be called.

Those men in Category E, medically exempted, will all likelihood never be called, but others may.

Call D Men Back. If a man is not secured in the first class it is fully expected Category D men will be called for medical examination.

The records of the city tribunals show that the majority of the exemptions granted to farmers on bona fide claims that less than 5 per cent of their land is available for military service have been granted exemption.

A feature in connection with the decisions of the tribunals is the fact that conscientious objectors are not receiving consideration. Quite a number have appeared before the tribunals, but not one has been granted exemption on conscientious grounds.

A young man appeared before the tribunal at the county buildings today when they finally get around to him from fighting.

"What is your religion?" he was asked.

"Well, I was baptised in the Anglican Church, but don't belong to that religion," he replied.

"The Anglican Church does not object to a man's being a soldier," the tribunal member said.

In order to dispel the impression, which during the past few days appears to be coming general, that the city tribunals were granting exemptions on the most trivial grounds, the members of these tribunals have requested that certain phases of the question in this respect be given wide publicity.

In the first place the members of the tribunals state that 75 per cent of the men who have been allowed exemptions are men in medical categories B, C, D or E. The tribunals were given definite instructions to exempt temporarily only, all men found in these medical categories.

THE CONTEST IN LONDON; COL. COLES DROPS OUT.

THE contest in London has narrowed down to two. It was thought Col. Coles would remain in the field as the returned soldiers' candidate, making it a three-cornered fight, but he was not nominated on Monday, and that leaves George S. Gibbons, the Labor-Liberal candidate, and Hume B. Cronyn, the Union Government candidate, only in the field.

Both candidates are men of the highest character and ability, and therefore the contest will be between the principles they represent.

Mr. Gibbons has received the nomination of the Labor and Liberal parties, and Mr. Cronyn has been nominated as the candidate of the Union Government. Whether there is such a thing as a union government is open to grave doubt. The foundation stone of our elective system is the franchise act, and it has not had, so far as we know, the approval of a single Liberal. F. B. Carvell opposed it so strongly that, in order to pass it, the Conservative members in the House talked against time, and shut out the amendment he had prepared. Hugh Guthrie had joined the Government alone, without his colleagues, before the act was passed. Calder, Crerar, Rowell, et al. were not in the House. Therefore no Liberal voted for it, and no Liberal member of the so-called Union Government has even declared in favor of it.

The act was designed to prevent the Liberals, including those named, from being elected. Perhaps it will not work the havoc in the Liberal ranks intended. Everyone in Canada wants to win the war in true British fashion. Every Liberal wants to see Sir Wilfrid Laurier again premier if it can be accomplished by the means and methods he has favored all his life. He has fought the fight of a true, able, manly British subject, and sought to make Canada a united country. No fraud or corruption has found any place with him or under him. He set for himself and the party he led the highest standards. If any member of his government failed to measure up to those standards he dropped out. His position as leader of the Liberal party was to him a sacred trust. He consecrated the best that was in him to the service of Canada. He became the most conspicuous statesman in Greater Britain, easily the first citizen in Canada, and in every way qualified to stand side by side, the equal of any of them, with Lloyd George, H. H. Asquith, Viscount Grey, Arthur Balfour, Bonar Law, Winston Churchill, John Redmond, Edward Carson and many others of England's greatest men.

Canada is proud of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and it is likely that old Ontario, the banner province of Confederation, will send a majority of its members to the next Parliament supporters of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

There is no justice in the attempt to appropriate to either side all the loyalty. There are as many boys from Liberal families in Canada fighting for democracy as from Conservative families. As many of them have died for it. The leaders of the Conservative party in Canada have wrenched and broken the principles of true democracy by the franchise act. The voters in Canada, and on the field of battle, want a fair fight, and will resent the injustice of the Conservative leaders. If they have stolen the cornerstone of true democracy, a fair election act, by which the people will be justly represented, what would they not steal if again returned to power?

The Liberal and Labor men will continue united until the night of the 17th of December, and elect George S. Gibbons, their candidate, who will represent the true interests of Labor and democracy, and energetically support such prosecution of the war as will bring as early as possible a victorious peace.

AT THE BAR OF PUBLIC OPINION.

THE prisoner sat in the dock, nervous, but unashamed. Near at hand were grouped his friends of the trust company who had left the doors unbolted and the vaults unlocked, enabling him to commit the depredations of which he had been found guilty. The employees of the company were not facing a criminal charge; their offense was to be dealt with by the stockholders. The prisoner's counsel was pleading for leniency. He objected to his client wrongfully restoring the money which he had seized wrongfully. He was willing that the law should take steps to prevent the man or others like him from repeating the crime, but he begged that the past be forgotten and forgiven, and that no action be taken to part the prisoner at the bar from his ill-gotten gains.

The judge was impartial and just. In reply to counsel he said that while he did not wish to inflict punishment for punishment's sake, and while the open doors and vaults had been a temptation amounting almost to an invitation, he could not agree to counsel's suggestion. He would order that the full amount taken be returned to its rightful owners, but would suspend sentence on the prisoner because of the terrible temptation placed in his way by the employees of the trust company, although he was surprised and disgusted at the prisoner's men and at the fact that he had been wont to preach from the text: "To jail with all thieves."

It was another scene when counsel for the employees pleaded before the stockholders of the company to take no action towards dismissing those who had been careless or worse. The plea

WE CANNOT FORGET!

Though Guthrie pleads, we can't forget
Pork, Profits and Flavelle,
The lack of the two former
Jogs our memory too well;
While the pointed way the latter
Keeps in the public eye,
While he holds on to his profits,
Will not let his memory die.

Knights of old went forth in armor
The wealthy class to rob,
But to supply the poor man's need,
Were ever on the job;
While this baron of the present
Lays for those who can't resist,
And if they make a protest as Guthrie,
He hits "the mailed fist."

So it is no use for Guthrie
To suggest that we forget
Flavelle and Pork and Profits,
They have caused us too much fret;
We will always have before us,
For ever and a day,
The memory of "the post cure" loot
The baron took away.

Tunnel the Alps with a carrot,
With a pin bore an artesian well;
Tasks that seem hurculean,
Yet we'd try them, and put up no yell,
In order that we might please Guthrie,
A man whom we esteem and admire;
But we can't forget Bacon and Profits,
And Flavelle, though Hugh pleads till he's tired.

November 17, 1917. THE OLD 'UN.

was put forth: "Forget, Forgiveably, Past Pilfering and Criminal Companionship," he urged. "These men have a new plan which they want an opportunity to try. Repose your trust in them again, and think of nothing but the new scheme. All regret that the first has been discovered."

But the stockholders in their thousands stood up and replied: "No. They placed our treasure directly in the path of the robbers. We cannot trust them again. The new plan may be good, but only those in whom we have faith will be given a chance to try it."

And the stockholders were Canadians from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

THE LATE GENERAL MAUDE.

BRITAIN has sustained a loss, the severity of which is hard to estimate, in the death of Gen. Stanley Maude in Mesopotamia. Since he took hold of the forces operating in that region victory has followed victory, and the advance has been steady. Much of the success is unanimously ascribed to the great ability of Gen. Maude.

The late officer has recently been likened to Kitchener, and it is said that a legend was growing up around him similar to that which haloed Kitchener's name. Commenting on this fact, the Literary Digest says:

"The Kitchener comparison suggests itself because of the striking parallel between the Bagdad campaign and Kitchener's Nile campaign to Omdurman and Khartum. As was Kitchener, so Maude was faced by the problem of advancing into a desert country along a river which must furnish his line of communication. As Kitchener, he had to create transport, hospitals, housing, sanitation, and water supply for his troops. As Kitchener, he was obliged to rely for munitions and supplies upon bases far overseas, with the additional menace of a hostile sea power to entangle the situation. As Kitchener, finally, he had to contend with an alien climate, in which white troops could work only during the cool months of the year. And Maude's solution of his diverse problems was startlingly like Kitchener's."

A Y. M. C. A. worker with the forces has this to say about the general:

"The Tommies adored him. They just worshipped him, the way they did Kitchener. When Gen. Maude passes by, every Tommy stands so stiff and salutes so earnestly that he quivers all over. They do it, I suppose, because they feel deeply about it, and that is the only way they can show him how they feel. He is a very silent man, with a wonderful face, clean cut and very strong. He drives his staff terribly, and when an officer makes a blunder the general gives it to him, I can tell you. They are all afraid of him—the officers, I mean. But at the same time they have implicit confidence in him."

This implicit confidence has been shared by the whole nation since the capture of Kut-el-Amara, and has been fully justified by succeeding events: Bagdad was taken and the Turkish army routed. Today the scene in that theatre of operations is one of the brightest in the whole landscape.

Gen. Maude has gone in the way he would have wished, leading his army to victory and helping to crush the forces which are working against humanity and civilization. He leaves his aims more than half accomplished, and other willing and capable hands will carry them on to the end. The thoroughness of his preparations will make easier the path of the man who succeeds him.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The rats came out, but the rats went back to Heligoland.

Liberalism and Labor stand together. They should make an unbeatable combination.

President Wilson's indorsement of Lloyd George's program should help the latter considerably at this time.

An American captain bluffs a submarine commander. Poker is one of the branches of education which Germany has neglected.

Wilhelm is getting modest. He intimates that the Teuton success against the Italians was due to a greater than he. "Me unt" will have to be changed to "unt me."

WELL, BUT IN DANGER.

In General Sir George Higginson's recently published Seventy-one Years of a Guardsman's Life, there is a good story of Boer Brumel.

The author had it from the late Lord Lyndhurst, who knew him well.

Someone, who no doubt, wished to disconcert him by allusion to his parentage, asked in the presence of some of his admirers: "Pray, Mr. Brumel, how are your good father and mother?"

"Thank you," was the reply, "quite well when I left them half an hour ago, but by this time they have probably cut their throats."

"Good heavens!" exclaimed several of the bystanders, "you must be speaking in joke."

"Not at all," he said with a quiet tone of appreciation of the motives of his questioner; "they were eating peas with their knives."

WAITING AT THE CHURCH,
By Vincent G. Perry.

It was Irene White's wedding day, and Irene was in tears. She had felt all along that she didn't mind taking this step, but now she knew she did mind, and the thought frightened her. It would not have been so bad, she told herself, if she had ever seen the man she was going to marry, but she hadn't, and there was Claude Roy, the man she had pledged to marry three years before at the commencement ball. It was partly to spite him that she was taking this foolish step, but it was hurting her far more than it could him, and after all she loved Claude still. She couldn't deny that.

The fault had not been Claude's, she told herself. He was too good for her, that was the trouble, and she fully little thing that she was, had thought herself too brilliant to be the mistress of a wife, for he had entered the ministry against her wishes. Her frivolity had killed his love, she thought.

Perhaps that was why he wouldn't. Mabel Duran had always liked Claude and now that she was sure Irene was out of the way Mabel would marry him. Claude was too good-natured and easy going to escape a net such as Mabel was capable of weaving about him. Mabel was treacherous, even though she was beautiful and rich. Irene hated her, she thought. Claude wouldn't care for money, though, she was sure. Money without love was worthless, and that was what she was getting. It was to secure her uncle's fortune that she was marrying a cousin she had never seen, so she broke. New December Numbers of Columbia Records

When Lazaro sings "Laugh, laugh, Pagliaccio!"
It is more than words or song or acting. His "Vest la Giubba" is the breaking of a heart in music. Sorrow beyond words, hidden beneath a smiling mask to face the call of duty—what one of us has not sometimes laughed with Pagliaccio? Lazaro, Metropolitan Opera tenor, in this appealing record has made his singing live. 4920—$3.00.

THE records individually mentioned are only a few of the splendid Christmas list of Columbia Records. It includes many other operatic numbers, 22 new popular song hits, 14 whirlwind dance numbers, patriotic songs, fairy stories for the children, and a number of beautiful Christmas carols and hymns.

Stracciaris song of love and hate.
Love struggling with hate in dramatic melody—that is the theme of "Eriur" from Verdi's "Masked Ball." A song that requires much of the artist, and in this record Stracciaris, leading baritone of the Chicago Opera, has given of his art in full measure. 4921—$1.50.

Barrientos, crystal clear in Lakme's "Bell Song".
Soaring joyously through the bell-like notes of Delibes' lyric, Barrientos makes music more musical by the matchless cadence of her voice. A record in which the great soprano of the Metropolitan Opera surpasses herself. 49151—$3.00.

Patriotic Numbers
"It's a Long Way to Berlin, But We'll Get There" coupled with "So Long Mother" (A2383) 85c; are typical songs for "Our Boys," but they are no better than "When We Wind Up the Watch on the Rhine" and "The Old Grey Mare" (A2382) 85c.

The list also includes many striking, popular melodies such as "The Boat Things in Life are Free," and "For You a Rose" (A2390), 85c; also two selections from "Cheer Up" the New York Hippodrome's latest production, "Cheer Up Liza" and "Melody Land" (A2394) 85c.

JIMMY COON STORIES

By Dr. Warren G. Partridge.

JIMMY COON SHOWS OFF HIS BIG COUSIN.

After dinner Cousin Bruin said to Father Coon, "I'm awfully hungry, Cousin Coon. And I want to ask if there are any berries around here."

And Father Coon said, "Yes, the blueberries are very thick this year, and well all go for a picnic and pick berries."

And Cousin Bruin gave a very open smile when he heard there were lots of blueberries. And he showed all his big, lovely teeth when he smiled, and he chuckled "Cousin Coon, never in my life got all the blueberries I could eat at one time. Do show me those lovely blueberries at once."

And the little Coons had become friends by this time of day. Cousin Bruin was very friendly and kind. Some people had told untruths about Cousin Bruin, saying that he was a cross, and the would eat up the little people of the woodland. And the little Coons had become friends by this time of day.

And the Possum family was invited, and the families of Bobby Skunk, Ned Chipmunk, Catterbox the Red Squirrel, and Peter Rabbit.

It was a jolly party. At first all the little people of the woodland were afraid of Cousin Bruin, because he was so immense in size, and because his mouth was so big and his teeth were so big and sharp.

But Jimmy Coon ran under Cousin Bruin's big legs and jumped on his back and took a ride. And Jimmy Coon called his friends to one side and said: "Now you fellows must make friends with Cousin Bruin, for he's as gentle as a lamb. He doesn't eat up the little people of the big wood. He's friendly, and he's awfully jolly, and he loves to play."

And Jimmy Coon would chuckle and say: "Now look at Cousin Bruin when he smiles. He has 42 teeth and I have 40 teeth; but neither of us bite anybody, if they behave themselves."

And then all the little people crowded around Cousin Bruin; and they begged him to stand up on his hind legs and do tricks. And all laughed and cheered Cousin Bruin. And he became the idol of the party. And all the little people wanted to keep close to Cousin Bruin.

And Jimmy Coon spoke up: "We don't fear any enemies today. Cousin Bruin could swallow Mr. Red Fox, Mr. Wolf or Mr. Weasel at one bite."

most of the boys roll up their clothes and place them under their heads. I did not discover why the material doesn't rain over the side, but the next morning those suits never looked as if they had been pillows the night before.

When reveille is sounded the men rise and brush their hair, and the hammocks are "piped up" to the deck to be aired over the ship's rail until noon time, when they are "piped down."

Field Day Afloat.

Field day, which comes every Friday, rain or shine, is the day all things on the ship are thoroughly cleaned. Benches, tables, decks, brass cannons, everything already immaculately clean, is cleaned. How the tables and benches remain intact through the process of sea sand, holystone (common looking bricks to me) and salt-water, I can't understand.

Ans.—Perhaps some of our Fagettes will be kind enough to comply with readers' request. Just now there seems to be no piece at hand that would fill requirements.

Only a Mother Knows. Dear Miss Grey.—Thank you for the letter sent to Mr. Garrett O'Connor. Regarding the first contingent furlough home for Christmas, I got an answer from Ottawa that our dear sons are "very much needed at the front."

Therefore I leave it in our Heavenly Father's hands to speed our dear brave boys home for a change and rest once more.

A SOLDIER'S MOTHER. Ans.—It was a pleasure to forward the letter. Re the Ottawa decision, one can only hope and pray and look forward, but there's no one but a mother, anxious day and night for her lad's welfare, who just understands what the delayed furlough means.

I have sent my "lonely" a couple of nice boxes, and he was indeed glad to get them. At least he said he was glad. "PEACE STOCKS"

BY CLARENCE J. HOUSMAN.

Whether peace is a matter of months or whether the war is not yet on its final stage, the probability remains that from now until the end peace reports will play an increasingly important part in the stock market. The agitation by political groups within the central empires for the cessation of hostilities may be serious or may be for home political effect; but the situation deserves attention from persons interested in market values who would look for stocks which may suffer least in the transition from war to peace, and which may have attractions in the market immediately succeeding.

We have had the prosperity boom as a neutral power. We have had market stagnation, occasioned by the growing realization of the immensity of the task in hand; and now the stage of regulation and Government partnership has arrived.

ALL MARKET TALK ONCE WAS OF WAR PROFITS. Taxation programs and the raising of billions was being handled by the "other fellow." Our entry into the war checked all that, although the extent of the change was not at once appreciated. It is probable that this country will be as severely wounded economically as the nations who have been in the struggle from 1914, but at least the primary effects of war participation are in plain sight. There is little doubt the volume of business done in the great fundamental industries will be large, but it will be done with every contract subservient to and in co-operation with Government needs. That point is well enough understood; but Wall Street likes to look ahead, and think of what may lie over the hill. The stock market has a habit of discounting and anticipating the future. One of the most absorbing games will be the effort to discount peace. If peace is to come by military decision, the outcome may be discerned some time prior to the actual end; but if it comes by economic collapse, the termination may be more sudden.

With this in mind it is possible to suggest some stocks which may be generally called peace stocks, although the characterization may not be absolute, or at least to choose some stocks which should stand the transition period more hardly than many others, and which should have speculative possibilities in the markets immediately following the conclusion of the war.

Among the "Peace Stocks" we mention: International Harvester Company of New Jersey; International Corporation; Advance-Rumely Company; American Agricultural Corporation; International Mercantile Marine; General Motors; Maxwell Motors, and Willys-Overland; United States Rubber; American International Corporation; Mexican Petroleum, American Smelting and Refining.

There has been no attempt to include all the peace stock possibilities in the foregoing. In selecting a list of stocks of this character there can be no thought of day-to-day, or even month-to-month fluctuations. The companies chosen represent values and possibilities that will be realized when the abnormal and distorted conditions of the present begin to pass and are succeeded by the great readjustment.

A LIFE INSURANCE POLICY EXPRESSES CHARACTER ONE OF THE THINGS THAT MAKE FOR TRUE SUCCESS.

"If you are going to be a businessman you have got to make a name for yourself that will enable you to borrow money when you need it; and when the time comes for you to borrow, whether you want money to discount your bills or must have it to tide you over the dull season, the bank will want to know what you have done to make your creditors safe in case your light should go out before the note is due. No wise man is going to lend you a dollar if you cannot convince him that you are provident, and you cannot convince him with your tongue; you must show him something in black and white. And there is nothing in black and white that will make a deeper impression than a first-class life insurance policy. It will do more to inspire confidence, and come nearer putting you on a level with businessmen of established credit than anything else you can buy for the same money."—Edward Leigh Pell in his new book, Secrets of True Success.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING.

It seldom pays in the long run to go out of your way or do something you don't want to do in the expectation of getting something for nothing. In order to get a cheaper rate many a man has bought an excursion ticket on account of some convention or public event and gone hundreds of miles out of his way to get the ticket stamped for return, incidentally incurring expense and consuming time that might as well have been spent in paying regular fare to the place he really wanted to go to. Many a buyer of merchandise will take a larger quantity of an article than he can profitably handle because of the allotment of a large discount. After he has sold three-fourths of the goods the profit still remains in the unsold fourth. And yet he must oftentimes sell the remaining fourth at a great reduction in price in order to dispose of it at all. It would have been a far wiser plan to buy the quantity that would probably sell out clean in the regular way, paying the price the quantity might warrant. The profit would have been larger in the end.

The inherent trait in human nature that tries to get something for nothing has fooled millions of people all their lives. Besides, following this will-o-the-wisp makes any man small to even himself.

THE UNITED STATES NOT IN THE WAR FOR PROFITEERING

For some time Wall Street has borne the reproach that this is a capitalistic war, managed in the interests of the profiteer, and with respect to this Housman has the following to say: "As to being a capitalistic war, only persons incapable of taking thought on any subject could possibly imagine it. Anyone who will stop to think what has happened to capital in the last three years, and who will yet say that capital wished the war to take place, must choose between two explanations: Either capital is abysmally stupid or it was seized with a suicide mania. As for the slander that the war is managed in the interest of the profiteer, that it is to be met by the challenge to labor to submit labor to regulation, as capital has submitted to regulation. And if you say that capital could not help itself, that is all the more to the point of our argument. Capital is quite helpless in this situation. It cannot strike. In the last analysis it is subject to total confiscation, on grounds of military necessity. It cannot dispute the right of the Government to regulate its profits, then to tax them, and to do anything else whatsoever that may seem expedient. If capital objects, that makes it all the simpler. The Government will take possession of it and administer it and, if necessary, consume it. But labor is a commodity of another color. You may commandeer a man's life, but you cannot commandeer his labor. You may propose to do it under the name of 'industrial conscription,' but everybody knows that you cannot do it really, because it isn't any more practical to make a man work than to go to every farm in the country and take the farmer's wheat. The only way you can get the farmer's wheat is to offer the farmer a price which will tempt him to sell, and the only way you can get a man's labor is to offer him a wage at which he will work. There are instances of scandalous profiteering. We admit it, and we are ashamed of it. But we offer the statement that the SPIRIT of capital toward the war does not warrant the assumption that the war is being carried on in the interests of the profiteer. We offer the further general statement that the farmer and the industrial worker will derive more permanent benefit from the war than all other classes put together. Food in relation to other things never will be as cheap as it was before; land never again will be so cheap; wages never again will be so low. What will happen to capital nobody knows. If the war lasts long enough there will be no private capital left. There will be only land, labor and socialism."—Selected.

WALL STREET CONDITIONS.

During the past week the 18 per cent installment on the $3,508,350,000 second Liberty Loan was paid with a smoothness and absence of any disturbance to money rates, which records a new achievement in financial operations. Call money rates did not vary from 4 per cent, while time loans were readily made with the supply of loanable funds greater than the demand. Notwithstanding the magnitude of the commitment to the Liberty Loan it is apparent from the ease with which the first 20 per cent has been paid, that the total payment will be effected without any marked disturbing incident. The federal reserve system has already proven its value to large money operations, and with its many and varied features of usefulness will be a factor of ever-increasing functional strength. The volume of trading in shares has, during the past seven days, shown considerable decrease, and probably this is due as much as anything else to the restrictions or supervision placed on short selling by the governing committee of the Stock Exchange. It was high time that some action was taken to curb the operations of a rapacious crowd, whose favorite role in the market is to tear down values by selling what they do not own in the hope of buying in at a profit-showing price. There are those who contend that short selling is not an evil but a benefit to the market, but the fact that, in critical times like these it is being practiced to an extent which called the attention of the governing committee to its operations by some members of the exchange as a nuisance and a menace to the standing of good reliable securities, answers the question fairly well, as to whether it is not simply a gambler's method of enriching himself by pulling down the value of many another's property. As with the animal who carries the name Bear, and who attacks by striking down, so with the short seller. He never builds up, nor does he help to construct values, but lives on his effort to destroy and pull down what others have developed into values.

No investor will surely look for any better opportunity for picking up very profitable stocks on any of the exchanges than is now available. There should not be one dollar of idle money in the country, and any money earning less than 5 per cent is not doing what could be done with it. It is intelligently handled. There should no longer hold back money which might be advantageously used in the industries of the country. Actual values as they exist should be recognized and availed of at present market prices, which in many cases are away below intrinsic worth. The market at the moment is resting after a long-continued falling trend. Now it is gliding along between narrow limits of change with an equanimity that foretells better things for the investor within a very short time. It is the investor's opportunity.

Knowledge of French to Aid Business Employees After War

Knowledge of French will be more than ever profitable accomplishment after the war. Nearly every large business will have closer relations with European connections and communication among citizens will be closer and more frequent. All young people in business who are able to speak French will therefore have a decided advantage when promotions and advancements are considered.

A number of large corporations especially large New York banks, have been for some time conducting regular classes in foreign languages. Conversational French in all such instances takes the lead. Newspapers now conducting a distribution of the Soldiers-Sailors Diary and Dictionary, have been pleased by the enthusiasm with which civilians as well as those in the military service seized upon the book. The new and clear Sound-Spelling Method of this book, a handsomely bound textile leather volume of perfect size, makes it especially popular.

Distribution in this city of the Soldiers-Sailors Diary and English-French Dictionary is being conducted exclusively by this newspaper. A coupon plan makes it easy for every reader to obtain the book as explained elsewhere in this paper.

DIRECTION, WILLIAM FOX
Star in "Durand of the Bad Land," playing at the Patricia Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

ALICE JOYCE

At the Majestic Theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

MAJESTIC
Alice Joyce in "The Fettered Woman" a picture of unsurpassed excellence is the leading screen feature at the Majestic theatre again today. It is the best Greater Vitaphone picture seen here in months, and it is saying a great deal. Patrons who saw this picture last night were lavish in their praise of it.

The following is a synopsis of the plot in "The Fettered Woman": In Anne's Bridge, a one time prosperous village, lies Angelina Allende's fortune. She and her father still live in the old estate, which comprises 3,000 acres of land on which he is trying to borrow money, as he has only $500 left in the bank, and his daughter is in college. An unscrupulous real estate broker refuses the loan, but suggests that if he could have Angelina the loan might be forthcoming. Ordered from the house the agent points to a rifle, and sneeringly suggests that the old man would be doing the community and his child a favor if he used the weapon on himself. An hour later Anne's Bridge is shocked by the suicide of Allende. This real estate broker seeks to force his attentions on Angelina, but she returns from college, but she loathes him. However, he induces her to go to New York on a pretense that a syndicate had prepared to buy her acres. His plan is to get her to sign away all title, and this get her in his power. With another man and a woman posing as his wife, they take Angelina to a cafe, where he attacks her in a private dining room. The other man interferes, and is shot. By the older people, and feared by the children whom she loves. She is terrified for summer boarders, but only vertices one, a young New Yorker attracted by the trout streams on the estate. Angelina is sent to a jail-bird bridge, she is shunned as a jail-bird, but she refuses him. On account of her prison record, which she keeps a secret. He learns that she has such a record, and then he returns to Anne's Bridge and finds he has removed the only barrier to their happiness.

This picture will be shown again today. Don't miss it.
