Battle Began Monday.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 31.—In a brief telegram received yesterday morning, Kuropatkin says the general advance of the Japanese began yesterday at noon, the Russian outposts falling back upon the main lines. The heaviest fighting was taking place when his despatch was sent from a point ten miles southeast of Liaoyang, where the Japanese seem Liaoyang, where the Japanese seem to be concentrating for their main blow. The Russians suffered principally from the shrapnel fire of the Japanese artillery. The Japanese selected the Mikado's birthday for the decisive battle, and it will not be surprising if to-day is also signalized by a grand assault on Port Arthur.

Sakharoff Reports

St. Petersburg, Aug. 31.—A despatch from Gen. Sakharoff, dated from Liaoyang at 10 a.m. yesterday,

"The main Japanese attack is being directed against the Russian centre and right, where the Russian losses have been the heaviest. The Japanese posted numerous artillery within range of all the Russian positions during the night: A hot fire was opened at 5 a.m., and by nine o'clock the Japanese were close to the Russian positions.

"The Japanese shrapnel fire inflicted considerable losses on our troops at several points. Lieut.-Col. Pokatieloff, commanding a battery of General Sakharoff also reports that a large Japanese force is advancing northward along the Taitze Riven Valley, west of the railroad.

Toronto, Aug. 31.—Yesterday the particulars in the election protests against the return of A. G. McKay, Liberal, North Grey, and C. N. Smith, Liberal, Sault Ste. Marie, were filed at Osgoode Hall.

In the former there are nearly 300 charges. There are six clauses in which Cap Sullivan figures—in having made agreements with James T. Nelson and others in Buffalo, by which, for a money consideration, their active influence was secured and that the respondent engaged Sullivan as an agent in spite of his record in the law courts. McKay or his agents are charged with having agreed to secure immunity from proagreed to secure immunity from pro-secution for voters violating the fish-cry laws, and of obtaining leave for them to catch fish during the closed season, or having the closed season extended. Money Mentioned Freely.

McKay, or Frank Gallagher, Leon Mulley, John McCarty or John Freeman are alleged to have given sums of money for votes. McKay and George Ferguson of Owen Sound are alleged to have promised employment to six voters; the respondent, either personally or through John Frost, is said to have advanced money to Albert Muir with the intent that it be used in bribery; and that he also, or his agents, was guilty of permitting payments of money through others than his appointed front. er than his appointed agent. Payment of hotel and traveling bills for workers and speakers are alleged. Vote Was a Bribe

In the Soo matter, the principal allegation against Mr. Smith is that the Government vote of $250,000 to the Lake Superior Consolidated Company was really to influence the electorate in his behalf. Thomas Johnston, Thomas Hunt and John Mullin make the protest.

It is alleged that boats of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company and trains of the Algoma Central and trains of the Algoma Central Railway conveyed voters with the object of influencing votes; that officers of the former company conspired to intimidate the auditor, J. C. Ramsey; that respondent offered the position of jail surgeon to four doctors; that Messrs. Conmee and Bowman deposited with James Reilly, William O'Brien, George Sutherland and others about $2,000 for placing in bets; that the respondent, as a printer, is disqualfied because he held Government printing contracts; that men brought into the riding by that men brought into the riding by the Ontario Liberal Association were given control of the local organiza-tion; that the said association pro-vided funds for corrupt expenditure; that a long list of voters, names given, were personated; that Washington Walker was promised land for his vote.

WEDNESDAY, AUG. 31.

THE FARMERS AND THE TARIFF

Under the Laurier administra tion no sensible attempt has been put forth to secure a larger out side market or more effectively protect the home market for the Canadian farmer. While the United States tariff has not been reduced one jot in our favor, our own tariff has been deliberately cut down in the interests of the Yankee farmer. Indian corn was made free by Mr. Fielding solely that the United States article might drive out the Fly Paper, Insect Canadian product, or at least reduce the price. The result of this operation has been very marked.

Just so long as we taxed United Paris Green, Bug States corn there was a possibility that the Americans would take their tariff off our barley. The two things, corn and barley, it will be observed, would balance. Immediately the duty was removed from corn the Americans took no further interest in the barley questher interest in the barley ques-tion, and the consequence is that through the action of our own Government the corn producer of Ontario West is injured, while the barley producer of the East, who at one time sold $2,000,000 worth of bar ley per annum to the United States, is permanently excluded from his nearest market. Now the United States, and cannot send of the Canadian market. They send nearly $2,000,000 worth of their animals here, great quantities of breadstuffs, of fruits, of seeds and roots, and half a million dollars' worth of vegetables.

The Ottawa Government has been asked to consider this situation. It has been urged to bear in mind that if the United States will take nothing from us, our best policy is to treat that country with its own medicine. All the farmers' deputs tions, however, have been sent away from Ottawa. How different it is with deputations of another kind! The Standard Oil Company merely names the tariff legislation that it requires in order to enable it to strengthen its monopoly and to squeeze more out of the Canadian farmer, and the law is at once proposed. A rich American syndicate suggests the bonus or bounty it needs, for producing its iron or steel, and the bonus is granted out of the pockets of the despised farmers without delay. There is more for the Standard Oil monopoly and for other Yankee institutions than for the Canadian farmer under the present regime. It is interesting to note what the farmer has to stand. Everybody remembers that the taxes were once too high, and that they were to be reduced under the Laurier regime. Here is the scale of taxation as it was and as it is:

And it is safe to say that the imposts laid upon him have been doubled since the Laurier Government came into office. In the sever years for which the record is published there have been collected $68,258,543 in taxes more than would have been collected in the same period had the Tory scale of taxation continued.

The mortgages in this country ag gregate $110,000,000. In seven years the Laurier Government has extorted from the Canadian people over and above the needs of the pub lic service, enough money to pay half of the mortgage indebtedness of the country, and to leave in the hands of the mortgagors a balance of $13,000,000 towards the next in stalment. In spite of this gigan-tic extortion the Ministers are not satisfied. They must needs concoct a new scheme by which the peo ple of Canada will be deliberately taxed $150,000,000 in the interests of a railway project that could be sup plied for one-tenth the amount.

Those who do not behave will get a cake of rice, which must last them seven days. For the deserving it is the ration for but four days, and they get with it also a little horse meat and potato or pea sauce. The labor is compulsory, but not severe, and the prisoner gets part of his earnings, though it amounts to little. Merry Divorce.
Recently a wortey couple of Zurich, who had been married for several years, decided to get a divorce, and no sooner had the court annulled their marriage than they proceeded to show their friends how rejoiced they were at the news. The two principals went arm in arm to a leading hotel, where they ordered a supper for several guests, and a few hours later a merry party assembled there and did not break up until after midnight.

Those present say that the gentleman who had just been freed from his wife and who, by the way, paid for the sup-per was wonderfully gallant to her during the entire evening, paying her more attention than any other woman, and that she, too, seemed just as happy as though she had just been mar-

Quaint Story of Victor Hugo.

In the diary of Sir Montstuart Grant Duff the following story is told regarding Victor Hugo: An ardent admirer once said to Hugo: "The nation has never treated you quite properly; no street has been called after you; there ought to be a Rue Victor Hugo." "That will come, my children; that will come," said the master. Then another disciple took up the running and said: 'A street! That indeed would be nothing; a whole quarter of the cfty should be called after you." "That will come, my children; that will come," said the master. Thereupon a third disciple joined in: "Paris should cease to be Paris, and be renamed City of Victor Hugo." "That will come, my children; that will come," said Hugo serenely.

Reflected Light.

A dead white surface has decided advantages for reflecting light over a looking glass or a bright surface. Good white blotting paper reflects back 82 per cent of the light cast upon it. Many persons are under the impression that looking glass must be a better redector than paper or whitewashed surface because with looking glass a strong shadow can be cast, while from dead surface no heavy shadow is obtained. The reason is not so much that the reflected light is less from the dead surface, but that the reflection is concentrated in the case of the looking glass. With paper or whitewash it proceeds from a vast number of points.

Curious Advertisements. Some of the Japanese tradesmen in the smaller towns of Nippon have a curious way of advertising their bus ness. On their right forearms they tattoo figures—the shoemaker a shoe, the woodcutter an ax, the butcher a cleaver. Underneath these emblems are such inscriptions as "I do my work modestly and cheaply," and "I am as good at my trade as most of my fellows." When they are looking for work they bare their arms and walk

The people of Burma believe that the ruby is a kind of fruit which will ripen if you give it time. They say that most rubies do not ripen simply because they are not allowed to do so. If you want to "ripen" the ruby in your ring, according to the Burmese idea, you must take your ring and lay it in the sun for one month with-out disturbing it at all, and at the end of that time it will be "ripe" and good to eat.

London, Aug. 30.—(C. A. Not Taken Seriously. London, Aug. 30.—(C.A.P.)—The Financial News says it must be ad-mitted that the Grand Trunk has mitted that the Grand Trunk has made a very auspicious beginning in the new half year. It had been anticipated by the market that the revenue statement for July would show a not increase of something between £4,000 and £10,000 instead of a net decrease over the whole system of £8 100. £8,100.

The Financial Times says there is The Fihancial Times says there is yet reason for crediting the Grand Trunk authorities with endeavoring not altogether unsuccessfully to reduce the ratio of expenditure. That the market will not take the disappointment very seriously is shown pretty well by the fact that quotations only declined from 4 to 4 on tions only declined from \( \frac{1}{2} \) to \( \frac{1}{2} \) on balance. It should not be forgotten that the rather serious falling off in receipts has been considerably mitigated by the fact that the period of comparison has recorded a total gross advance of £124,000 for 26 working days at this time against

JUMPING UP

Is a great deal harder than jumping down. And yet people who have been for years running down in health expect to jump back at once. It takes years generally to make a man a confirmed dyspeptic, and he cannot expect to be cured in a few days.

Time to Stacke In Australia. Builders and contractors in Australia have hit upon a successful plan to oblige their employees by allowing them to stop during working hours and have a smoke.

At 10:30 in the morning the whistle blows or the bell rings, and the foreman calls out, "Smoke!" Instantly all work is stopped, and the men take out their pipes and smoke for about five minutes. At 3:30 in the afternoon they are allowed to smoke again. The time so lost is made up by the extra energy with which the men work after they have had a smoke.

The Stingless Bee Apiculturists have been experiment-ing to determine whether a comparatively rare stingless bee that is a na-tive to North and South America could be bred to replace the common honey-bee. The former, according to the investigators, was found to use no wax in the construction of the nests, and the honey stored by them is greatly inferior to that of the common honey-bee. The domestication of this species apparently does not look very promising.

**************** HOSE BROKE

The firemen were called out this orning at eight o'clock to the corner of Adelaide and King Sts., to a burning barn owned by Mr. Green, drayman, the former driver of the mail wagon.

Mr. Green was burning up some old brush at the side of his barn, and the fire spread to the building. He was working around the barn at the time and noticed the fire when it caught. He got his horse out of the stable and sent in the alarm. One line of hose was laid and the fire was extinguished before much damage was done-$50 would cover the damage to the building. There was some more hose-break-ing at this fire. Two lengths of nose, which were damaged by the re ent explosion of chemicals in 'the hall, gave way, one or them bursting and the other leaking. The accident caused some delay at the fire and if this were to happen at 2 big fire the results might be scricus for the owners of property in danger. When the firemen returned to the hall they tested all of the hose by increasing the pressure and stopping up the ends. Two more lengths broke in the test. The firemen have in all about 2,500 feet of hose and the underwriters require them to have 3,000 feet. The Council how-ever have ordered more hose, which will arrive here shortly.

And if the heaven have new," remarked Miss advocates of manual training and of domestic science were contesting all the time with those who believed in the old education. The fight was not a display of opposition to the new education, but appeared to be merely a discussion of the time that could be beneficially devoted to manual training and domestic science. The great question was how to arrange it so as to have time for all the subjects."

Miss Aylesworth visited friends in prandon and Miami, and had a glorious boliday. The trip has done her a world of good and she looks splendidly healthy. Miss Aylesworth is very much enamored with the west.

was played on Tecumseh Park last evening, between two local rinks, skipped by G. J. Peace and W. Anderson. The stakes were four neckties and ten ends were played. The players a little late in starting, and as a result they had to finish their game by lamplight. A lamp was produred and placed near the kitty so that the bowler who stood in the dark had nothing but a little light across the kitty to bowl to. Mr. Peace says there is some good bowling by lamplight and some players play better this way than in broad daylight and possibly if even the lamp were done away with it would not make much difference to some of the rinks. Mr. Peace's rink won the neckties. The following was the score—

A MISTAKE

Through some mistake a couple of children recovering from scarlet fever were taken from the isolation hos pital before the statutory six weeks had expired. Complaint was made to Medical Health Officer, Dr. Hall, and he at once had the house where they were taken, quarantined. The law requires that six weeks shall expire before scarlet fever patients shall be allowed to come in touch with the public. Dr. Hall's prompt action is to be commended.

Major Rose who Commands the Black Watch Band when they visit

Major Hugh Rose, who is in charge of the Black Watch Bend's visit to Canada, is the senior Major of the famous Regiment, and a most talented officer with a very distinguished war service. He received his first commission twenty years ago as Lieutenant in the Regiment. He was Captain of his Company in 1890, and promoted to his present rank in 1991. He took part in the Soudan Expedition in 1884-85, and was present at the action of El Teb. He received the Egyptian medal and clasp, together with the bronze star. The Black Watch had also some very hard fighting at the Battle of Temai. It was on this occasion that Lord Wolseley, on receiving news of the gallant fight, telegraphed "Well done, old comrades of the Black Watch!" Major Rose will accompany the Band when they visit Chatham on Monday afternoon, September 12th, at the Opera House. It is expected there will be a large number from outside, as reduced fares have been secured on all railroads.

Arthur Stringer, in his new book Lonely O'Malley," which he has just completed at his summer home in Cedar Springs, Ont., returns to the field of his earlier success, and writes of those small boys, of their sprightly adventures and their strange joys and sorrows, made familiar to readers of "The Loom of Destiny." "Lone-ty O'Malley" is the humorous hiograly O'Malley" is the humorous biogra-phy of a small Irish-Canadian boy whimsical, isolated, inventive, mis-nievous, yet altogether loveable chievous, yet youth, who is forever getting trouble, and forever tearing his admirers between laughter and tears. ## Prescription: New Mexico. By One Year PHILLIPS Copyright, 1904, by

The first joint encampment of reguars and organized state militia was over. The national guardsmen were fast deserting Camp Young, Howard, Ky., for home and mother's pies. All morning troop trains had pulled up to the platforms, received their burdens manity and, skirting the placid Ohio, puffed away through the green and gold of the Muldraugh hills, bound for Louisville and the north.

The First battalion, Fifth Michigan infantry, consisting of four companies of stalwart khaki clad fellows from the nterior towns of the state, swarmed on to their train right willingly. Now, as the wheels slowly revolved, the men in the tourist sleepers waved cheerful goodbys to the soldiers still lining the tracks. They sang, too, smile compelling ( refer on the depth and sticklness of Kentucky mud or on the profane uncertainty of their re-enlistment as guardsmen.

Back in the Pullman the dozen officers of the battalion were little quieter in demonstrating their satisfaction. Sword belts were unbuckled and flung aside, service blouses and campaign hats stacked in vacant sections. Sandwiches were shared indiscriminately among the members of the happy

There was one who sat apart, an overcoat wrapped about his tall figure, although the sunlight was warm over-Unseeingly he gazed out the window, a smile on his lips. It was a grave, sweet smile, not without a certain tolerant cynicism in it, as one smiles who can enjoy a joke on him-

Most men in the shoes of Captain John Stewart, commanding Company K. Fifth infantry, Michigan national guard, would have smiled not at all, Sighs, deep and dolorous, would have been their offering. But when a man fights his way up from a foundling's crib through successive stages of news-boy, farm laborer and college student to a place at the bar of his county misfortunes mildly amuse.

Stewart was unceremoniously dragged into the hospital tent the last day of camp for examination.

There had been questions, a thumping of back and chest with the surgeon's little hammer, and divers applieations of the stethoscope. Then the activity was relaxed, and the bluff old doctor, who had known and liked Stewart for years, delivered himself.

"You're a sick man, captain; sicker than you know. Lobe of the right lung's affected. It isn't consumption yet, but it will be if you don't get out of that infernal Michigan Stay up there three mouths, and you're sure of a nice military funeral. Go to Now Mexico or Arizona for a year, and you'll die some time, but it'll be of old age or anything else but con-sumption."

The pallor on Captain Stewart's cheek deepened a trifle. "I have a cousin down in the Oscura mountains, New Mexico, keeping books for a min-ing company. I could go there," he said quietly. He had felt the doctor's verdict before it was uttered.

"The very thing!" replied the other enthusiastically.
So Captain Stewart went back to quarters, his decree of banishment hanging over him. He had no fear, for he felt the doctor spoke truly; a beneath the balmy southern skie would cure him. The affair of the lungs did not bother, but the affair of the heart! That was another st.

There was a girl—"there aiways is"

-Stewart told himself grimly, as the train bore him northward next day, and he smiled cynically at his own no-sition. "From every standpoint, it's the best thing possible for me that I'm going. I suppose it's human nature to be contrary, though, and no exi'e ever felt worse over leaving home than I do."

Delightful are the vagaries of love, the leveler. # EIGHT DOCTORS

And Many Remedies Failed to do a Cent's Worth of Good.

"About five years ago I was troubled with sore hands, so sore that when I would put them in water the pain would very nearly set me crazy, the skin would peel off and the flesh would get hard and break. There would be blood flowing from at least fifty places on each hand. Words could never tell the suffering I endured for three years. I tried everything that I was told to use for fully three years, but could get no relief. I tried at least eight different doctors, but none of them seemed to do doctors, but none or them seemen to do me any good, as my hands were as bad when I got through doctoring as when I first began. I also tried many reme-dies, but none of them ever did me one cent's worth of good. I was discourcent's worth or good. I was discoul-aged and heart-sore. I would feel so bad mornings when I got up, to think I had to go to work and stand the pain for ten hours, and I often felt like giv-ing up my position. Before I started to work mornings I would have to to work mornings I would have to wrap every finger up separately, so as to try and keep them soft and then wear gloves over the rags to keep the grease from getting on my work. At night I would have to wear gloves in bed. In fact, I had to wear gloves all the time. But thanks to Cuticura, the greatest of all great skin cures. After doctoring for three years, and spending much money, a small box of Cuticura Ointment ended all my sufferings. It's been two years since I used any and I don't know what sore hands are now, and never lost a day's work while using Cuticura Ointment."

Facts About Infants

A child cannot raise its head from the pillow before the second month. He cannot sit erect before the fifth

He cannot walk before the tenth month and should not walk before the twelfth month.

If these facts are borne in mind and mothers and nurses instructed as to just what a child can do and cannot do at certain periods of its early life, there will be less work for physicians and surgeons.

If the infant is allowed to sit or stand at too early an age the super-incumbent weight of the large head tends to exaggerate the physiological curves of the spine to the point where the condition may become a deformity,

The Lazy Girl.

The lazy girl will not obey the promptings of nature to use her limbs and faculties as it was intended that she should use them. She infinitely prefers to loll about, reading rubbishy books which make no call on her mental faculties, absorbing caramels or chocolates she does not require, thus starving her mind and overfeeding her body at one and the same moment. By doing this she tends to my on an excess of fatty tissue, which soon robs her youthful figure of any dainty charm it might possess, her digestive organs become deranged, her liver becomes sluggish and her complexion assumes a sallow tint that adds years to known it was such embarrassing work | har looks.

Garment Loops.

Loops for hanging up garments are always wearing out and breaking, particularly with children's cloaks and coats. To make a serviceable loop cut a strip of kid from an old glove, roll the process of coarse strips and sew it in a piece of coarse string and sew the edges of kid neatly together. This loop fastened securely to a garment will stand any amount of pulling with-out wearing or breaking.

DRY FEEDING SYSTEM.

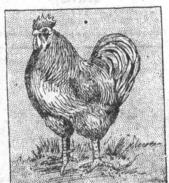

nereasing In Favor Among Breed-

The dry feeding system is meeting with increasing favor. Breeders who have tried one season of it claim that the egg production is increased and they have more uniform growth with the young stock, says Wallace's Farmer. The feed boxes are kept filled with a variety of grains, the grit box is full, and also a box of charcoal. From these the fowls take their choice, balancing their own ra-tions as they do in the summer time on free range.

It has not been very long since the farmer was censured for letting his poultry have the range of the feed yards, where was always a supply of corn, and of the barn, with its wheat and oat bin. It was a source of wonder to the town breeder that under such conditions the farmer's flock laid an egg, yet they continued to pay the Where there is a variety of grains it is not very different from the dry feed system if chickens are supplied with pure water, housed warmly in dry quarters and really have access to the feed bins. If they are supplied with grit and charcoal they will doubt-less lay as well as the fancier's fowls on dry feed and free range.

The Useful Orpington. The Orpington, the youngest aspirant for fame in the poultry world in England, is a composite breed that has been brought by careful crossing of GOOD TYPE OF ORPINGTON MALE. everal varieties of fowls with the object of producing a breed that would ombine first class laying and table qualities, writes T. B. Hutton in Westrn Poultry Journal.

The type is deep, short, broad and cobby in body and short on leg; tail rather short and compact; the back should be a nice U shaped curve; carriage bold and upright.

The Buff Orpingtons of the correct type are equal to the Dorking in amount and quality of fiesh and in some respects are superior. They lay on flesh and mature very easily and attain a reater weight.

My own experience after several ears' trying has been that the Buffs have proved themselves to be the most useful breed I have met with. They begin to lay in the early winter months and provide a constant supply of eggs throughout the winter.

Curing the Gapes.

I keep wheat scaking in a small bot-tle of turpentine. If a chick wheezes, nuffles and rattles as though it had a cold, this is the forerunner of gapes, says an Illinois breeder in American Agriculturist, When gapes are unusually violent and fatal a chick may begin gaping without showing these. In such case the chick is nearly always a goner. Carbolic acid will help him if anything will. Pour a little refined carbolic acid in a spoon, hold it over a lamp, and dense white fumes will soon arise. Hold the chick's head in these, drawing him away for a second or two to let him catch his breath. Don't let him get his bill in the acid. If you look at the acid in the spoon before you pour it back in the bottle you can often see the tiny red worms that the fumes made the chick cough up. Five cents' worth of acid will doctor dozens of chicks. If the chick is only coughing, two or three grains of the wheat or a tiny piece of asafetida may cure him. If he is still wheezing the next day repeat the dose. I never failed to kill a chick that I gave both carbolic acid and turpentine in one day.

Chickens and Bacteria.

Some German experiments are re-ported in which chicks were hatched out and fed in such a way and under such conditions as to exclude all bacsuch conditions as to exclude all bac-teria, says American Poultry Journal. The chicks ate well and regularly and apparently digested their food normal-ly. Nevertheless they did not gain in weight and died after about twenty weight and died after about twelfy days. Upon examination the droppings were found free from bacteria. Other chicks fed normally gained about three times their original weight during the same period. Part of the chicks used in the test were inequiated with interin the test were inoculated with intes-tinal bacteria from normal chicks, aft-er which they soon became strong and In the Squab Loft.

In the squab Loft.

It cannot too often be said that unmated pigeons in a loft can do more harm to the workers than can be estimated in a few words, says the Feather. Never allow unmated or nonworking pigeons to stay in the squab loft with the active producers. If you intend keeping any of the young squabs you grow for breeders remove them into a separate loft as soon as they are weaned and able to care for themselves.

When to Build a Henhous Poultry houses should never be built to late in the season that time will not permit them to be thoroughly dried before the winter season sets in.

THE ROCKING HABIT.

It is Bad For the Nerves and is Apt to Destroy Repose.

It seems a pity that so many women form the rocking habit. It does them no good, and it annoys other people onsiderably. It is purely a feminine habit, men being saved from it possibly by the fear that their dignity would suffer, probably because they do not have nerves in the sense that most women have them. Rocking and nerves go together as sure as fate. Not all rocking is bad. The slow rhythmic swinging back and forth of a mother with her child is one of the world's sweetest sights. It is the nervous habit of rocking hard and steadily while talking that one would like to protest against.

It would be an interesting computation, if one knew how, to consider how nany volts of precious energy go to waste in useless rocking. Some of the rockers will exclaim that they are so accustomed to rocking that it does no require any effort. But the energy is wasted just the same. Besides, rocking in this machine-like, ceaseless fashion is essentially inelegant. The author of "The Gospel of Leisure" denounced recking chairs as enemies of womankind. He found American women lacking markedly in repose, and without repose where is elegance? But few of us would be willing, however, to banish all of our easy, comfortable rocking chairs. A house entirely with-out them would look stiff and unhappy. But it might be well for women to take them a little more moderately. Their nerves and manner would gain vastly.-Indianapolis News.

Children and Chewing Gum. "The chewing of gum is generally re garded by the parents of children who are addicted to it as a pernicious hab-it," said a dentist. The constant exercise has a tendency to widen an otherwise narrow jaw and thus make room for teeth that show evidence of crowding each other out of shape. The constant chewing of gum for two hours every day is sufficient exercise to bring about a most desirable result in the dwarfed formation of a child's jaw. Even when no such treatment is necessary I see no reason why the children should be forbidden to chew gum. It can do no harm and may possibly do good in keeping the teeth white and clean."—Philadelphia Record.

Cheap Looking Cloths Will Spoil the Charm of Fine Dishes

Every woman of refinement loves to be the possessor of a liberal quantity of fine dining room and table linen. To achieve this desire it is necessary to use a great amount of discretion in the collection of her linens and in the care of them after they are collected. There is a pleasure in the possession of fine linens, even surpassing that in possession of fine glass or china, for, no mat-ter how fine the quality of the dishes may be, half the charm is lost when they are placed upon a cheap, sleazy or ill laundered cloth. Then again the durability of really good linen adds greatly to the pleasure of its possessor. Every dollar added to the amount paid for a really fine tablecloth is an economy, for its wearing qualities are increased at a greater ratio in linen than in almost anything else.

A tablecloth measuring two and a half yards and costing $5 will wear three times as long as one costing a dollar a yard. This is not the only advantage to be considered. The quality of the linen shows at a glance the difference between a cheap cloth and an expensive one. The patterns and designs are far more attractive, and there is a fullness as well as a body that adds greatly to the beauty of the cloth when laundered and causes it to hold its own when in use.—Table Talk

It was The Times which saved the world from one of the greatest catastrophes that could have occurred in modern Europe. All the world knows the story now, but the thoughts of the French scare sends a thrill through the chancelleries even to-day. It was Bismarck who, this time, was behind The Times—Bis-mark, the founder of the German Empire, who saved that Empire from itself and revealed to the correspondent of The Times the terrible plot which would have crippled France a second time. Jealous of Moltke, and perhaps honestly detest-ing his flendish conspiracy against a conquered foe rapidly regaining her strength, Prince Bismarck let Blow-itz know, and Blowitz, the Paris echo of the Voice of Europe, told it to the world. Those who remember the middle seventies remember yet the effect of the thunderbolt which The Times hurled against Count von Moltke. The Times has missed its chance sometimes. In 1892 its editor received a long letter forecasting the alliance of Russia and France, but, as nobody but the writer seemed to believe it, the editor kept it back— until 1897, when it announced, with the rest of the papers, that the Franco-Russian alliance was an es-tablished fact. If it has lost prestige in error, it has sacrificed itself, no once or twice, but many times, for peace and the welfare of the world One of the most graphic stories in journalism is of the French Minister who sent for The Times correspondent and shouted a challenge to England in his ears, who flourished nulist's face and declared that The - should pay for it." correspondent went—not to the tele-graph office, but to bed, and the world was no wiser the next morning for the angry scene of the night before, which, had it been known, alcertainly must have caused a

It is something, surely, to have recorded for 37,399 days the affairs of the whole world. It is something more to have been, through all these more to have been, through all these generations, a fearless critic of princes and kings and the enemy of the wrong. "We thundered forth the other day," wrote Captain Sterling in a "leader" which gave The Times its nickname, "an article on the subject of social and political reform," and The Times is "thundering forth" still.

Shakespearean commentators have wondered why the poet placed the scenes of "Hamlet" at Elsinore, in the Island of Zeeland, whereas the Danish Prince lived and died in Jutland. But recently the municipal authorities at Elsinore have discovered thorities at Elsinore have discovered in their archives that an English company was acting in their town in 1587 or 1588, and among the names of the actors are several of those who were acting with Shakespeare in London in 1589. Obviously, these actors must have talked about their adventures in Denmark, and so Shakespeare became well acquainted with Elsinore, and when he wrote "Hamlet" naturally placed the scene in a place which he knew by description rather than in a place of which he knew nothing.

Once the daughters of the Duchess of Connaught were voted intolerably slow and shy, says a society writer in The Liverpool Post, but in the cheery atmosphere of Ireland they have developed, and are new as lively and vivacious as was Princess Charles of Denmark, Indeed, the reyal family are chaffing the two girls on the subject, but it is not easy to get the better of Princess Margaret in a verbal bout. She announces that she is going to collect a brilliant hockey team for next winter, not only from the patrician, but from the skilled point of view.
