

FRENCH INDICTMENT OF GERMAN TREATMENT OF PRISONERS

Woodrow Wilson Declared to be the Most Hated Man in Germany

"MAN MOST HATED IN GERMANY TO-DAY" DECLARED TO BE WILSON

Re-election of U. S. President is Viewed With Varied Sentiments by the Press of the Warring Nations - Satire From London Journals - France and Japan are Satisfied

By Courier Leased Wire.

Amsterdam, N. Y., Nov. 11.—(New York Times cable).—"The man most hated in Germany," is The Tageliche Rundschau's description of President Wilson. It declares that for a long time its readers bombarded the editorial offices with protests when it endeavored to expose the president's methods. "But now all that is changed," says the paper. "When we enumerate the men most hated in Germany, Wilson's name comes first."

London, Nov. 11.—(New York Sun cable).—"The Daily Sketch announces the United States election returns with the following headlines: 'President Wilson is president still. Most accomplished writer of notes heads poll. Berlin scribes must polish up their pens for fray.'"

Extracts from the article follow: "Mr. Wilson has been re-elected president of the United States. We can now look forward to a long continued interchange of polite notes and the value of human life and human rights between Washington and Berlin. Until March, 1921, a president who is too proud to fight, will voice the opinion of the American nation in all the great international questions facing the world's rulers during that time."

"On the progress of the European war the result will not have the slightest effect. The outcome of the gigantic electoral struggle leaves things as they were. The Berlin letter writers can polish their pens, which will be the only weapons they need to defend their outrageous breaches of international law against the indignation of the people of the United States. After Col. Roosevelt's strong anti-German declaration at meetings in support of Mr. Hughes, this news must cause a sigh of relief in Berlin."

Japanese papers express approval of his election.

Opinion prints a full page cartoon depicting Uncle Sam standing at the South Ferry with Brooklyn bridge and skyscrapers as background, watching a woman labelled "United States' national honor" sinking in the water with a caption quoting Uncle Sam saying: "I shan't be a minute. I've just got to pop over to the polling booth before I try to save you."

London, Nov. 11.—The Manchester Guardian attributes President Wilson's success to the dallying of a sufficient number of the progressive votes which Roosevelt gained in 1912.

"It seems a small thing," this newspaper continues, "but it may indicate a new epoch in American political life. The progressive movement has entirely independently of foreign politics. Many Progressive votes given to Wilson are given with the mental reservation that they will not go again to a Democratic candidate unless Wilson confirms faith of the Progressives by consolidating what is still only tentative. If he does he will have established himself as the ablest statesman since Lincoln, and he may be destined to play a part in the achievement of peace which will give him a place in world history."

Paris, Nov. 11.—The newspapers while printing the news of the American election in a prominent position, express little opinion as to the result. What comment there is, is sympathetic to President Wilson.

CRITICAL POINT IS REACHED

In the Battle Between Rumanians and Gen. Von Mackensen.

By Courier Leased Wire.

New York, Nov. 11.—The London correspondent of the Tribune cabled last night as follows: "Today's Russian official report on the fighting in the Dobrudja region of Roumania contains one of the surprising messages of the war."

"Our cavalry and infantry detachments," the statement reads, "have occupied the station of Durareva, three versts (two miles) west of Tchernavoda. We are fighting for possession of Tchernavoda bridge."

A probable interpretation is that Mackensen's troops have succeeded in crossing the Danube at Tchernavoda, and are now battling with the Russians for possession of that part of the great bridge that spans the marshes on the west bank of the river. If this be true, the battle between the Entente forces and Mackensen has reached its most critical point.

INDICTMENT OF FRENCH GOVERNMENT AGAINST ATROCITIES OF THE HUNS

Systematic Ill Treatment of Prisoners is Common, Some Compelled to Dig Themselves Into the Ground For Shelter - Russian Prisoners Carrying Typhus Germs Scattered Through Camps

By Courier Leased Wire.

Paris, Oct. 26.—The case of the French Government against Germany in regard to the alleged mistreatment of French prisoners of war, is set out in detail in a volume of one hundred pages which has just been issued and which will be distributed abroad. The book sums up reports of the Spanish embassy in Berlin, of delegates from the international Red Cross Society who visited German prison camps, of doctors and nurses who were interned in these camps and of testimony given under oath by crippled soldiers who have returned to France.

The volume includes photographs received from private sources and sketches from German illustrated papers. The French Government contends that the following accusations have been proved:

Theft from French prisoners; killing of wounded prisoners; execution without formality of civilians arrested on the pretext of sniping; transportation of prisoners in foul cattle cars with healthy, sick and wounded crowded together indiscriminately, without food or medicine; insults and violence to prisoners by German soldiers on their arrival in Germany; attacks upon French prisoners by women at Erfurt with knives, sticks and scythes, tolerated by the escort; splitting upon and whipping prisoners; by civilians and kicking of prisoners by young German recruits as they filed through Torgau; great ravages in nearly all prison camps by tuberculosis developed by neglect of most elementary hygienic precautions; spread of typhus among British and French prisoners by mixing them with infected Russians; general prevalence of rheumatism in all prison camps as the result of dampness; enforced labor of prisoners of war on military works, such as trench digging, manufacture of arms and munitions; insufficient food, shelter and clothing.

At Wittenburg, according to the sworn testimony of the returned soldiers, the German authorities abandoned the typhus stricken camp to all comers, which were left on the exterior. A narrow gauge railroad was used to shove into the camp the prisoners' rations and coffins. Two thousand French soldiers are stated to have died of typhus at Cassel.

The section of the book which deals with the enforced labor of the prisoners of war, charges that 1,500 French prisoners were forced to work in the Krupp Works at Essen. Several thousand, it is also asserted were sent to Courland province in Russia, where they were employed in building strategic railroads. In some ammunition factories Frenchmen were compelled to work, it is alleged from four o'clock in the morning until eight o'clock in the evening.

The book concludes with a declaration by the French Government that it has not or will not resort to measures of reprisal. The only modifications in the treatment of German prisoners are, the government says, the reduction of rations and pay to the equivalent of the German ration and pay as the withholding of the privilege of liberty on parole, in reply to the same measure applied to Germany.

Photographs of German camps are offered to show the prisoners in mid-winter with only tents or dugouts for shelter. It is charged that during the first winter in Germany large numbers of prisoners were obliged to dig themselves into the ground for shelter or to construct mud huts and the Spanish ambassador is quoted in support of this accusation. It is admitted that some improvements on these conditions have been made in certain camps.

In regard to the question of nourishment, French surgeons and nurses, who have returned to France after periods of captivity in Germany, report that the insufficiency of food coupled with other privations has resulted in the spread of tuberculosis and other diseases such as erysipelas, scarletina and gastritis. The latter sickness are reported to be very frequent in the camps of interned civilians and particularly among children.

Crippled soldiers returning to France from the camps of Langensalza, Cassel-Viederwehren and Wittenburg, report that Russian prisoners, carrying typhus contagion were scattered through these camps starting an epidemic. They accuse the German doctors of brutality, to nurses as well as neglect typhus patients. Men, who died of the disease during the night were said to have been left lying among the other prisoners until morning. "During the painful epoch of the epidemic," the Spanish ambassador is quoted as reporting, "everything was lacking, including beds and medicine."

BRITISH STORMED GERMAN TRENCHES

Attack Made on Front of 1,000 Yards With Much Success.

By Courier Leased Wire.

London, Nov. 11.—12.35 p.m.—The war office announces that German trenches over a front of 1,000 yards on the Somme front were stormed last night by the British.

The announcement follows: "Last night the eastern portion of Regina trench (on the northern end of the Somme front) being a continuation of the length of trench captured by us in our successful assault of Oct. 21, was stormed and captured on a front of 1,000 yards, in spite of a heavy enemy barrage. The new trench has been joined up with the old line and the position secured. Prisoners of 1,000 regiments were taken.

"On the remainder of the front there was no change."

MONTANA ELECTS WOMAN DELEGATE TO CONGRESS

Miss Jeanette Rankin, Republican, is Assured of Election.

By Courier Leased Wire.

Helena, Mont., Nov. 11.—Latest returns to-day assure the election to congress of Miss Jeanette Rankin, Republican.

"I knew the women would stand by me," said Miss Rankin when she was assured that she had been elected as the first woman in congress. "The women worked splendidly and I am sure they feel that the results have been worth the work. I have been deeply conscious of the responsibility and it is wonderful to have the opportunity to be the first woman to sit in Congress."

"I will not only represent the women of Montana, but also the women of the country, and I have plenty of work cut out for me."

Suffrage leaders sent messages saying that her election was significant of a great victory for the women of the country. Miss Rankin is small, slight with light brown hair. She is a graduate of the University of Montana and of the School of Philanthropy of New York City.

MACKENSEN STILL RETREATS

Bulgars Flee From Province of Dobrudja—Large Fires.

London, Nov. 11.—A Bucharest despatch as forwarded from Rome to the Wireless Press reports that Field Marshal Von Mackensen's retreat in Dobrudja is continuing and that the Bulgarian population is fleeing from Dobrudja to Bulgaria.

The despatch says great fires have been observed in the direction of Rothernava and Constantza between the Black Sea and the Danube and that it is thought possible these towns have been set on fire preparatory to their evacuation by the Teutonic forces.

By Courier Leased Wire.

London, Nov. 11.—The Russian bombardment of the Roumanian Black Sea port of Constantza is said by Reuter's Petrograd correspondent to have inflicted great damage. Reservoirs of benzine and naphtha were exploded and the resultant fires, fanned by the wind, spread rapidly and burned for two days. There were no means of controlling the flames, as the Roumanians had destroyed the fire apparatus when they evacuated the town.

The Bulgarian artillery batteries were inflicted and heavy losses were inflicted on the garrison. A German aeroplane, which attempted to bombard the Russian squadron, was brought down. The pilot and observer were captured.

ROAD BUILDING THEORY TRANSFERRED FROM OFFICE TO FIELD

For the first time in the history of road building in America, theory of construction was transferred from the inside meeting place of engineers to the field of practice upon the highway by 300 engineers and contractors when they came together recently at Paris, Ill., to witness the manner and method by which a monolithic brick road is built. The method of laying brick in the green concrete was demonstrated in detail by the execution of every step from the preparation of the roadbed to the completion of the pavement. The machinery used and method of performing the work upon the construction was credited to Engineer W. T. Blackburn and Contractor Alan Parrish, under whose supervision the exhibit was displayed. Among the spectators were members of highway departments of seven states, while representatives from universities numbered more than two score. Editors of engineering journals especially displayed great eagerness in observing details of construction about which they have written in the past so approvingly. Others present were those deeply interested in the economic problem of road building that is now so acute with every user of the highways. All of these visitors expressed a deep appreciation for this unusual opportunity and particularly for the economical methods strongly apparent. The convictions which will be carried back to various sections concerning economy in road building as expressed by many of those present will save to the country 7 thousands of dollars, as a thing seen is believed to be without doubt or foreboding.

The blouse, of plain and comfortable cut, is in coat style; the long sleeve finishes with a link cut of the material cut bias, and the pocket in the lower part of each front, of course, was designed to please a manly boy. From the pocket attraction we turn to the belt, in contrasting color, held in place by the extended strap of the pocket. The collar may have a row or two rows of braid, but it is well set off by the tie in matching color.

The straight trousers are of smart cut, fitted with a pocket in each back and under each front. Any mother can make this little suit from the clear directions of the pattern.

If washable materials are preferred, striped and plain galates, linen, Indian Head and the like are very desirable. Serge, homespun and wool mixtures are the standbys among other fabrics.

The pattern, No. 7363, is cut in sizes 2, 4 and 6 years. To make in the medium size you will require 2 1/2 yards 36 inch material for making and 1/2 yard 26 inch contrasting goods. You may obtain the pattern by sending 10 cents to the office of this publication.

Silver Securities

From now forward silver stocks will command greater interest among securities buyers.

The absorption of the white metal by Europe is proving a material factor in keeping the price of the metal close to the 70 c. mark, but the prospective buying promises to establish materially higher figures. A country-wide boom in silver securities seems inevitable. It should parallel the interest in copper during the past two years.

And, pursuing the policy that enabled our clients to take full advantage of the sensational movement in coppers, namely directing attention to these issues before the great investing and trading public fully appreciated their possibilities, we recommend the silver situation be closely studied.

More, we suggest the immediate purchase of Tonopah and Cobalt securities.

THE SITUATION

For the first time in a lengthy period, the Germans have been able to score quite a success in the Volynia region. After successfully repelling seven fierce assaults, the Russian centre was forced to fall back to second line trenches over a front of more than two miles.

The German war office regrets to report that the Russian bearing shows no signs of going into his hole this winter. The Dominion Government has taken drastic action on behalf of the purchasing public. All trade combinations to raise prices are prohibited.

WHY THE GRITS HAVE DEPLETED ELECTION TALK

There can be no doubt that a few weeks ago the Grit manipulators had made up their minds to force a general election. They have that power for a further extension of the life of Parliament can only take place with the consent of the Opposition.

It was true that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, on a previous occasion, had exclaimed in time novel fashion, that he would not attempt to open the door of office with "that bloody key" (war time contest) but then Sir Wilfrid in his day has said so many things and afterwards swallowed them bolus bolus, that anything calculated to stultify his previous stand did not count.

Hon. Mr. Graham and the other wire-pullers, made the clear intimation that there was to be a contest and with one notable exception, the Ottawa Free Press, all the Liberal papers which had previously declared that a contest during hostilities would be a "shame" and "disgrace" dutifully fell into line.

"The situation has materially changed" eh? In what way? Had our sapient cotem on Oct. 23rd, received private advice that the conflict was at an end?

As a matter of fact, what the Expositor and other Grits then thought was that the time was ripe for a contest from their standpoint and under the circumstances previous professions might go hang; they were fed up with the results of the Provincial contest in Manitoba and British Columbia and like Montez Cristo, thought that the world was theirs, or at least the Canadian portion of it.

Later the sounding of the Liberal tom-tom has ceased in a most marked way. Why? The reason is not far to seek. It is in the language of the street that Laurier "spilled the beans," just as he dished his party over the reciprocity fad.

His flat refusal of Sir Robert Borden's offer to join in a Parliamentary committee to stimulate recruiting and to help in the general cause of the Empire, came as a distinct shock to his supporters in Ontario and in every other Province outside of Quebec. More than one Liberal paper protested, and even the hidebound Hamilton Times, expressed the view that he had made a mistake.

Laurier by adding one more to his already long list of blunders, put the kibosh on the election program and the faithful have been exceedingly mum on the subject ever since. They realize that in an appeal to the electorate under such circumstances, they would not stand one chance in a thousand.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Unofficial figures say that Wilson carried the popular vote by over 400,000. Small wonder that Woodrow will smile.

The Chicago News is authority for the statement that "nothing takes the starch out of a stuck-up girl like an unexpected kiss." Just try it on the next one and see.

Wu Ting Fang is to be the next Minister of Foreign Affairs in China. He'll need more than one of the latter to successfully get away with Japan.

Mrs. Lovejoy of Newark, N. J., who both chews and smokes celebrated her 100th birthday the other day. It is believed that if she hadn't contracted these two habits she might have attained to a green old age.

The German war office regrets to report that the Russian bearing shows no signs of going into his hole this winter.

The Dominion Government has taken drastic action on behalf of the purchasing public. All trade combinations to raise prices are prohibited.

The British Admiralty is taking stringent steps to smother the new submarine activity on the part of the foe. It is believed that the under-raft have bases at Ostend and Zeebrugge and both these places yesterday were raided by a large squadron of aeroplanes.

The Monthly Meeting Was Enthusiastic.

At the Women's Hospital Aid meeting on Friday morning, there was a great deal of enthusiasm, and the congratulations were many, over the unqualified success of the Rummage Sale and Talent Tea which took place last week.

Friends had been dubious of getting contributions after the great amount of clothing and other things that had been sent to Northern Ontario and to the Belgians but, as it turned out there were never so many things sent in before, and the members extend their grateful appreciation and thanks to all who remembered to help in keeping "the home fires burning."

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

Body Is Shown To Have Doubled Its Membership In Past Year.

HAS BEEN SUCCESSFUL

Officers Elected For the Coming Year, Ladies On Executive.

To have more than doubled its membership in the past year is the proudest record ever by the Brantford Horticultural Society, as evidenced at its annual meeting last evening, when it was shown in a year to have increased its membership from 224 to 521, with every hope of reaching the thousand mark by the end of the year 1917.

The usual business of the association was transacted, including the submission of reports and the election of officers. Acting upon the suggestion of Col. H. F. Leonard, the board for the first time appointed ladies to the executive. Mrs. Wm. Watt, Mrs. Marquis and Miss Perley being those so honored.

President's Address. Chairman E. B. C. Kilmer pointed out that the membership of the society had more than doubled, increasing from 224 to 521. He also extended hope that the coming year might see the present figure again doubled, pointing out the numerous advantages offered by the society to its members in the way of means for beautifying the homes of the city.

The speaker advocated the placing of shrubs on the grounds of the public institutions of the city for their beautification; also the seeking of the co-operation of the various women's organizations in this work.

Director's Report. The report of the directors reviewed the work of the society during the past year, the purchase of 28,000 bulbs imported from Holland, $400 worth of shrubs from Canadian nurseries, and $25 worth of gardening books and horticultural magazines; the annual competition for lawn, garden and window boxes. Hope was extended for the doubling of the membership of the society with in the next year, as it was believed that with the active co-operation of all members, a roll of 1000 could be reached.

The financial statement showed that the actual cost of premiums supplied to members was $1.15 for each last year's membership, and $1.00 membership. Other expenses, including prizes, postage, advertising and other details served to bring the total expenditure per member up to $1.78.

Financial Statement. The annual report of the treasurer showed total receipts of $938.76 and

THE DOOR TO HEALTH. Is Through the Rich, Red Blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Actually Make.

The blood is responsible for the health of the body. If it is good, disease cannot exist. If it is bad, the door is shut against good health. Disease is bound to appear in one form or another. If a person is afflicted with rheumatism or sciatica, another with anaemia, indigestion, heart palpitation, headaches or backaches, unstrung nerves or any of the many other forms of ailment that comes when the blood is weak and watery. There is just one certain, speedy cure—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They make new, rich, blood, and this good blood strengthens the whole system and brings good health and happiness. Thousands owe their present good health, some, life itself, to the pills. Miss Devina Lalibert, St. Jerome, Que., says: "Last year I seemed gradually to grow weak and run down. I did not sleep well, had a poor appetite, and grew pale and generally languid. I consulted a doctor who told me I was anaemic, and gave me a tonic. This I took faithfully for some time, but it did not help me, and I appeared to be growing worse, and finally I was hardly able to go about the house and almost wholly incapacitated for work. While in this condition a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I got several boxes. It was not long after I began their use when I could see and feel improvement, which first manifested itself in an improved appetite and better rest at night. From this on the improvement was rapid and I was not long in regaining perfect health. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a real blessing for all weak girls."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Election of Officers. The election of officers was then proceeded with. Mr. I. S. Armstrong nominated Mr. Kilmer as president, advocating the continuance in office of the present officials, whose work had been greeted with such success in the past year. Mr. Kilmer, having for two years past occupied the chair desired that a new president be named but he was unanimously re-elected to his present office. Mr. I. Sleath was appointed first vice-president and Mr. I. S. Armstrongs second vice-president. Nominated for the position of secretary-treasurer once more, Mr. H. S. Tapscott declined the nomination, owing to the increasing amount of work developing upon that office. He was, however, re-appointed.

The board of directors were appointed as follows:—Thos. Stewart, T. A. Cowan, Mrs. Marquis, Mrs. Wm. Watt, Miss Perley, Geo. Kirkby, R. Rowe, J. Thresher, M. Schwartz.

Messrs. A. K. Bunnell and H. F. Leonard were appointed auditors of the association.

The president, first vice-president and secretary, together with one of the ladies of the executive, were designated to attend the convention of the Provincial Horticultural Association at Toronto.

The business of the evening being then concluded, Mr. John Thresher was called upon to address the gathering, which he did most capably, delivering an instructive address upon the subject of the care and treatment of flower bulbs, which was received with appreciation by all his listeners.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR, THICK WAVY, FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Immediate!—Yes! Certain! That's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant, and appears as soft, luscious and beautiful as a young girl's after an application of Danderine. Also try Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few minutes you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be, after a few week's use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing, all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful. You can surely have pretty, charming, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25-cent bottle of Knovitch's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and try it as directed.

DODGE BROTHERS
WINTER CAR

Nothing can ever disturb the demand for this car.
 Not for a month, not for a week, not for a single day.

Having only one car to build Dodge Brothers have been able to build it better and better.

But in the sense of radical changes, it is the same car to-day it was when they designed it.

And still the demand goes on growing greater and greater under conditions, no conditions inside the industry, seem to slow it up a particle.

The people want the car more intensely at this moment than they ever wanted it before.

This is in the face of the fact that production is at the highest peak it has ever reached.

And in the face of the further fact that the sales—in 22 months—have been more than 78 million dollars.

You can find out why this is so from what people are saying about the car all around you.

For months and months they talked particularly of its performance.

Now you will hear even greater emphasis laid on its economy.

You will hear that with thousands of cars in use, Dodge Brothers dealers have practically no use for repair parts.

You will hear that the cost of maintenance is practically nil.

This, too, is true in thousands of cases.

You will hear that the car consumes an unusually small amount of gasoline and oil.

This is literally true of every Dodge Brothers car, under all conditions.

You will hear that it is very difficult to find Dodge Brothers for sale at second-hand anywhere.

You will also hear that the second-hand price is only a little lower than the first price.

Both of these things are true—not in one city, nor one state, but all over the Union.

You do not hear people talking about the price of the car.

But you do hear them talking about the price of the kind of a car it is.

In short, wherever you find a Dodge Brothers car, you will find it surrounded by friends.

You will find it running from morning to night, in an atmosphere of good will.

No ill will anywhere, good will everywhere—good will that grows out of its good work.

No one knows the value of this good will any better than Dodge Brothers know it.

No one counts more on it, nor works harder to deserve it, than you who guarantee when you buy one of Dodge Brothers cars—the great good will that all the owners feel towards it and the high value which Dodge Brothers place on that good will.

It will pay you to visit us and examine this car.

The gasoline consumption is unusually low. The tire mileage is unusually high.

The price of the Touring Car or Roadster complete $1,100 and Freight from Detroit.

The price of the Winter Touring Car or Roadster complete including regular mohair top is $1,350. Add freight from Detroit.

Music and Drama

THE GRAND
 An audience of fair proportions witnessed with enthusiasm the performance at the Grand Opera House last evening of "Sex Against Sex" as presented by the May A. Bell Marks stock company in a most capable fashion. The theme of the drama is one which holds the interest of all enthralled until the final moment, while abounding at the same time in scenes and episodes of genuine comic merit, which were particularly well enacted. The leading role was again in the most capable hands of Miss May A. Bell Marks, with a strong cast, proved to be among the best the company has ever produced in this city. A matinee this afternoon and the evening performance draw the engagement of the company in the city to a close.

To The Grave

The funeral of the late Mr. J. Sillis whose lamented death occurred so suddenly on Wednesday, took place yesterday afternoon from his late residence, 134 William street to Mount Hope cemetery. The regular funeral service was at 2.30. He spoke from the text, "Be ye also ready."

The ball-bearers were four sons, one son-in-law, Mr. H. Creasor, and one grandson, Chester Sillis. The floral tributes were very beautiful. Mr. Sillis was born in Berkhamstead, Hertfordshire, England, and came to Canada 45 years ago. He and Mrs. Sillis would have celebrated their golden wedding next August. He was an earnest Christian man of simple tastes, a true husband and father, kind and loyal friend and fine type of citizen.

MOTOR CARS FOR WOMEN

Autos Are Now Built Expressly to Accommodate Lady Drivers.

"The advent of the woman motor car driver and enthusiast is one of the most important developments that has occurred in the automobile business in recent years," was the comment of John N. Willys, President of Willys-Owens, Limited.

"In fact, the active participation of women in any proposition is a noteworthy event, as Adam and other millions of men since his time have acknowledged."

"To make a motor car which could be driven with equal facility by men or women, has long been the aspiration of automobile engineers and by any member of the family, and a wonderful field of new prospects is opened."

"As long as the usefulness of the automobile for the woman of the house stopped for the day with the departure of the man for his business duties, the field was restricted; but build a car which could be operated by any member of the family, and a wonderful field of new prospects is opened."

"While they could not possibly appreciate the far-reaching effect of women motorists would have on the whole industry, a few instinctively felt that once automobiles were refined and simplified so women could drive, they would become personally interested in motor cars and the market would be increased just so much."

"To appreciate just how this method of reasoning on the part of the motor car manufacturer has worked out, just stop where you are and watch the procession of machines passing by."

"You will notice more women driving automobiles to-day than ever before. On the busiest streets, on the boulevards, in the small towns, and on the country roads far from home you will find women—thousands of them—driving all kinds of motor cars with as much confidence and skill as any man."

"The automobile has brought greater contentment into the lives of women than possibly any other thing in recent years. It has shattered the shackles of custom which kept them in the narrow confines of the home, entirely dependent upon men, and has opened up a new world filled with a welcome variety of constantly shifting scenes and new wholesome recreation, self-confidence, convenience, independence, joy, pleasure and contentment."

"The fact that the automobile means so much in the daily lives of

"In fact, the active participation of women in any proposition is a noteworthy event, as Adam and other millions of men since his time have acknowledged."

"To make a motor car which could be driven with equal facility by men or women, has long been the aspiration of automobile engineers and the incentive to automobile manufacturers to spend millions of dollars in experimental work."

"As long as the usefulness of the automobile for the women of the house stopped for the day with the departure of the man for his business duties, the field was restricted; but build a car that can be operated by any member of the family, and a wonderful field of new prospects is opened."

"While they could not possibly anticipate the far-reaching effect women motorists would have on the whole industry, a few instinctively felt that once automobiles were refined and simplified so women could drive, they would become personally interested in motor cars and the market would be increased just so much."

"To appreciate just how this method of reasoning on the part of the motor car manufacturer has worked out, just stop where you are and watch the procession of machines passing by."

"You will notice more women driving automobiles to-day than ever before. On the busiest streets, on the boulevards, in the small towns, and on the country roads far from home, you will find women—thousands of them—driving all kinds of motor cars with as much confidence and skill as any man."

"The automobile has brought greater contentment into the lives of women than possibly any other one thing in recent years. It has shattered the shackles of custom which kept them in the narrow confines of the home, entirely dependent upon men, and has opened up a new world filled with a welcome variety of constantly shifting scenes and new experiences—a world of better health, wholesome recreation, independence, confidence, and contentment."

"The fact that the automobile means so much in the daily lives of women, is the reason why their ideas and preferences are one of the most important factors to be considered in marketing motor cars."

"It has only been within the last year or so, however, that motor car manufacturers have appreciated this fact, but now they are spending millions of dollars in advertising to carry the message of their car direct to the women of the nation."

100,000 CARS MADE IN FIRST 22 MONTHS
Dodge Brothers Establish Remarkable Record for Progress in Short Period.

Dodge Brothers recently turned out car No. 100,000, and the event was celebrated at the big plant in Detroit by taking motion pictures of the final assembly of the car.

Dodge Brothers have been reticent in making public production figures, and with the exception of those in the trade who were close to the situation hardly anyone realized that this concern had had such an astonishing growth. Dodge Brothers produced their first car on a commercial basis on Dec. 4, 1914, and by reaching 100,000 now in less than two years they establish an entirely new record in the motor car industry.

The concern is now producing on a large scale and the 60 odd acres of floor space of the plant are being added to by the construction of new buildings.

The evidence of the great growth of the company is further emphasized by the fact that when the drawings for position in the automobile shows of 1916 at New York and Chicago were made recently, Dodge Brothers were found in fourth place in the industry in volume of business. This was an advance in one year from eighth place to fourth place.

Car No. 100,000 is going to have quite an eventful time. It was shipped to the Henshaw Motor Co., of Boston, which had applied for the car months ago. There will be a public reception at which many officials will welcome the car, and it will be escorted about the city by the Dodge Brothers' car received in Boston. It is the latter which has earned the name of "Preparedness Car," by its trip through New England in the interests of proper preparedness.

FIXED CARS HE DISLOCATED

Ingenious Knave in New York Had New Scheme of Money-making.

Quite recently patrons of a well-known New York restaurant, who were in the habit of leaving their cars unattended outside, discovered the methods of a new kind of practical joker—new because he was practical.

It appears that almost every day someone would have trouble in getting his car started. After he had tinkered for a few minutes an obliging mechanic would stroll up, prefer his aid, and have the engine running in no time.

Two actors happened to compare notes one day and found that this incident had occurred to both of them. They immediately became suspicious, and on leaving the restaurant saw their man working on a car a short distance down the street. By quick action one of them pounced on him and caught him.

He was the obliging mechanic, and after his arrest it developed that he had deliberately disconnected portions of the car's electrical systems, and then had collected substantial rewards from puzzled owners for services rendered in starting the machines.

Judging from a bulletin from the Automobile club of Maryland, the trick has been played before elsewhere.

"With the opening of the theatres, the club will again have unformed watchmen stationed at them, whose duty it will be to assist members and friends in locating a suitable place for the parking of their cars, and informing them of the requirements of the law with regard to dash lights burning, proper position of rear license tags, etc."

"They will also record the time of arrival and departure of the cars, their contents, extra tires and any defects in the way of leaking radiators or gasoline tanks, flat tires, etc., will be noted on a tag and fastened to steering wheel of the car."

"They are instructed to give motorists any assistance required in getting their cars started. This service is absolutely free, tips being entirely optional with the members, but they must not be solicited by the watchman."

In very big cities it is doubtful whether such a service could be given by the club, except at high cost. There is no reason, however, why the theatre and restaurant managements should not provide it for a nominal fee.

"THE MARKS SOLDIER"—A DELIVERED

The Tense Nature Vividly Portray Words Said V Slackers

A Good Soldier of Jesus Christ
I Timothy 2:2
I have chosen for our lesson the evening these familiar words of the great warrior saint of days gone, namely the Apostle Paul. He was seeking to hearten young Timothy for the arduous work of the missionary ministry by drawing lessons from the Roman legions who for the Emperor and for their country were ever ready to "endure hardness." This war has called in prominence the soldier and we have given time and money as a new before to the making of count and the ideals for which our country stands.

Lessons From the War
This war has emphasized the necessity of preparedness. One of the best bulwarks for peace, sure in the preparedness of a nation's war. If Britain had been ready when this war broke out it is doubtful if it would ever have come to pass. It was because Germany knew that she was ready and that the other nations were not ready that she struck when she did. By her attack and despicable spy system she knew exactly the resources of the other nations and she knew that she was in a position to do a deadly body blow to France and to greatly weaken the other nations arrayed against her. No sooner had this war opened than it was born in upon us as a people with tremendous emphasis that Germany was ready and we were not ready. When the call to arms was sounded in Germany every man and woman knew his or her part and they proceeded with accuracy to fulfill every soldier and every civilian knew his place. It was like a military machine working with clock-like precision. The will of one man who was at the head of the military machine, Emperor William. To fulfill his mandate to carry this war to a victory his armies, 70 millions moved as one. There has been nothing in history like it. What they call fighting for the preservation of their Fatherland we call a selfish war of aggression without any just cause. But England has learned to her sorrow to her humiliation that Germany was ready and she was not ready. We are learning that there is a great difference between men who are willing to fight and men who are fit to fight. Think of the company of rejected men, battalions of them, who have been rejected as unfit for military duty. Just in every carpenter's shop you

"THE MARKS OF A TRUE SOLDIER"—A FINE SERMON DELIVERED BY REV. BROWN

The Tense Nature of the Present Crisis Vividly Portrayed and Some Plain Words Said With Regard to the Slackers

A Good Soldier of Jesus Christ—II (Timothy 2-2) I have chosen for our lesson this evening these familiar words of that great warrior saint of days gone by, namely the Apostle Paul. He was seeking to hearten young Timothy for the arduous work of the gospel ministry by drawing lessons from the Roman legions who for their Emperor and for their country were ever ready to "endure hardships." This war has called into prominence the soldier and we have given time and money as never before to the making of men who can fight for the defence of country and the ideals for which our country stands.

Lessons From the War This war has emphasized the necessity of preparedness. One of the best bulwarks for peace, surely is the preparedness of a nation for war. If Britain had been ready when this war broke out it is doubtful if it would ever have come to pass. It was because Germany knew that she was ready and that the other nations were not ready that she struck when she did. By her intricate and despicable spy system she knew exactly the resources of the other nations and she knew well that she was in a position to deal a deadly blow to France and to greatly weaken the other nations arrayed against her. No sooner had a deadly body blow to France and to greatly weaken the other nations arrayed against her. No sooner had this war opened than it was borne in upon us as a people with tremendous emphasis that Germany was ready and we were not ready. When the call to arms was sounded in Germany every man and woman knew his or her part and they proceeded with accuracy to fulfil it. Every soldier and every civilian knew his place. It was like a vast military machine working with clock-like precision to execute the will of one man who was at the head of the military machine, Emperor William. To fulfil his mandate to obey his call, to answer his summons, 70 millions moved as one. There has been nothing in history like it. What they call fighting for the preservation of their Fatherland we call a selfish war of aggression without any just cause. But England has learned to her sorrow and to her humiliation that Germany was ready and she was not ready. We are learning that there is a great difference between men who are willing to fight and men who are fit to fight. Think of the great company of rejected men, battalions of them, who have been rejected as unfit for military duty. Just as in every carpenter's shop you will find shavings on the floor, so in the making up of a great army such as we have to-day there is bound to be rejections. This is an expense and a delay the Government cannot avoid. It takes time and patience and millions of men and money to build up an efficient army. When we think of the terrific toll of life and the great waste of material that this war has meant we can rest assured that when the war is over England will never allow herself to be found napping again. International diplomacy will we trust insure peace without the tremendous armament we have to-day. But be that as it may the nation must be ready, must be kept ready for any emergency. Preparedness for war is a necessity for peace.

The Seriousness of the Situation is slowly coming home to us as the war drags on. It is to be feared that after all that has been written, after all that has been said that there are millions literally millions in our empire to-day who have not taken it seriously. It is to them like a dream when one awakes. It has not come home to them seriously. They have given no sons to battle, they have suffered from no financial loss, they have made no contribution to it of money worthy of this great cause. They have prayed little for victory and some have not only not prayed they have not even thought seriously of it. Those of you who have served as recruiting officers, will know the truth of my statements in this connection, and because this is the case fathers have no aspirations for their boys to be soldiers. They are held back from going and because men do not think of the seriousness of the situation, they are held back from enlisting. Those who do not see the country danger and the appeal of the Motherland in the meantime goes unanswered.

The Sacredness of the Soldier's Office Another lesson that this great war has taught us is the sacredness of the soldier's work. Goings back to the days of the Crusades we find that the work of the soldier men that was counted as that of the priesthood. We recall how Peter the Hermit left behind him his rosary and his monastery, his all and went forth leading his faithful followers in a vain endeavor to wrest from the hands of the cruel and insatiable Saracens the tomb of our Saviour. That was counted as holy war, but it was not in it with this one. It ever a holy war was waged, it ever a war appealed to good men this is the war of history. It would be indeed a strange thing to see men fighting for such a sacred cause as this. I am not now justifying the war of the crusaders I am simply trying to learn some lessons from it and one is the sacredness of the soldier's office. You will recall how one by one they were inducted into this office, as knights of the cross. Prolonged vigils preceded the taking of the communion and after this sacred rite had been partaken of then piece by piece the armour of the soldier was given to him and last of all the cross, the holy emblem of the crusades. This clad in his armour and bearing his cross the crusader went forth to his duty and he went forth to it with the blessing of the church upon him and without fear or reproach, with the consciousness that he was obeying the call of duty, "stern daughter of the voice of God" in the soul of every man. So should it be with us to-day. The calling of the soldier is a sacred calling and he who does not so regard it does not understand it.

The First mark of the true soldier that I mention is that he must be a true man, a lover of truth, a lover of righteousness, a man of honesty. As such he must love a square deal, he must stand for it, he must stand against anything that is not a square deal. He must be a man of truth, he must be a man whose pledge given he must be faithful to it. The soldier is the embodiment of the state and the state does not stand by its word in the days of chivalry of the honored nations of the earth. Such then is the first mark of a true soldier, the mark of truth. I put it first because I conceive of it as so important that it comes first in the make-up of a model soldier for it is elemental and fundamental, basal to the making of a man wherever his place in society may be but especially is this true of a soldier.

Word and Bond To the christian knight (going back to the days that are over) his word was as good as his bond. No one was counted worthy of knighthood in the days of chivalry of which Tennyson sings, who was not so regarded. Character is founded upon truth. If a man is not a true man through and through then he is not fit to be a soldier. He is not stand for the defence of the truth and how can he do this if he is not a man of truth. Paul in describing his soldier in the sixth chapter of Ephesians portrays him as "stand therefore having your loins girded about with truth." Truth was to be his support, his undergirding, his stay. That means that he must be a man of honour, a man of his word, a man of principle, a man to be trusted to be relied upon, a man whose word was as good as his bond.

A Broken Word "Think for one moment what a broken word had meant for the world. It has precipitated this world-war. It plunged continents into blood and tears. All this carnage and sorrow is traceable to man, to a nation with a broken promise. A solemn pledge taken was cast aside to suit selfish ends and we know too well the consequence of this. Polonius' advice to his son before he went from home to college is indeed worthy of repetition. "To thine own self be true and it must needs follow As night the day thou canst not then be false to any man!"

A man who does not love the truth, speak the truth, live the truth, follow the truth and stand ready to die for the truth is not fit to be a soldier. "Cheer up brother Latimer, play the man for we shall this day win such a light in England as shall not go out," said one who was willing to die for the truth. A second mark of the true soldier is PURITY.

This virtue calls our attention to one of our greatest national dangers to-day, which is the danger of impurity. The moral leper is abroad in the land. The despoiler of virtue is here as he is to be found in all our cities. Surely if there is a man to be despised, if there is a man for whom a hot hell waits, it is for the man who preys upon the innocent and the weak and casts unsuspecting souls over a precipice from which few ever rise again. Sin carries with it its own punishment and to-day we have not only the white plague to battle the skill of the best physicians, we have also the Red Plague, which is even commoner and more deadly than the White Plague. It has come to be a great national problem in the land to the south of us, and I have in my possession now a letter from England, from one of our own boys, who was a member of this congregation, who was telling me in his last letter of just visiting a large number of our own Canadian men who were incapacitated for service because of their own folly. It is time to speak of this and to speak plainly. Every man who is living in impurity, who has thereby lifted himself for active service, today is fighting for the Germans, for he is incapacitating himself for active service and so is playing into their hands, for he is relieving the pressure that otherwise might be brought to bear upon our enemies if he were ready.

Sir Galahad, Tennyson's pure-hearted Knight could say, and say truthfully: "My strength is as the strength of ten, because my heart is pure." That is no poetic license, it is literal truth. The man who is going to hit hardest in this war, who is going to stay the longest at his post of duty, who is going to be the most efficient in the ranks is the pure hearted, clean-lived man. Oh, what we need to-day as a people is pure homes, pure mothers, pure fathers, pure childhood and pure manhood and womanhood. Then we will see our nation saved, otherwise we will see what other nations have seen who have followed in the paths of sin, premature national degeneration and decay. Then we will see our nation saved from those forces which are certain to degrade us, to drag us down and in the end defeat us. We may legislate against impurity, (and it will help some to legislate) but we can go on legislating against it until the crack of doom, but we will never purify the stream until we make pure the fountain and the fountain of all is the home. The school comes out of the home, the factory, the church and the army. All comes from the home, therefore if we purify the home, if we uplift the home we save the nation. Make a soldier boy to-night facing the future, would give all that he has if he could blot out the stains of the past.

"Turn backward, turn backward, O time in thy flight, Make me a child again just for To-night!" It is good poetry, but it is impossible to turn time backward, as impossible as it is to turn the water back that has gone over the dam. We rejoice in the noble record of our army. That none of the gross crimes perpetrated on the helpless by our enemies have been charged against our men. We thank God for this. Our men have conducted themselves well. To you all I would say, be pure, if you would serve well your country and the cause we have espoused.

III. Another mark of a true soldier is COURTESY. And when I say courtesy I do not mean that veneer we sometimes meet with in polite society, which people learn out of books. I do not mean any foolish way of shaking hands or of pronouncing words. A man may know how to greet the king and may know the correct thing to do under all circumstances, who nevertheless is not counted a courteous man as I understand it. I love to think of our Master as the most courteous, as the most gentlemanly, as the most companionable of men. Think, for example, how courteously he approached the sinful woman, how deftly he dealt with her case, how winsomely he drew her out until he laid bare her sin in such a way that she turned from it and lived again a new life. One of the most noted alum workers to-day, a woman still young, who is exerting a most helpful influence upon the young people of her day, especially those who have come under great temptation and who have fallen under it, was led to a new life through the courteous approach of a Christian gentleman in Paris, France. He approached her on the street and said something to

British Plantation Rubber Is Saving Canada Millions

Low Prices of Rubbers and Overshoes Due to Britain's Control of Situation

Here in Canada many of us have fallen into the truly Anglo-Saxon habit of considering the "Mother of Parliaments" slow and a bit behind the times. The present price of rubber, when its cause is revealed, affords one of the many proofs that such an opinion is away off the mark. Thanks to great rubber plantations established, in the face of criticism and ridicule, many years before in her tropical Dominions, Great Britain at the outbreak of the war held a firm and tightening grip on the world's supply of raw rubber—a grip reinforced by her dominating navy. From 60% in 1914, the production of these plantations has grown this year to 75% of the whole world's output, leaving only about half the requirements of the United States alone to come from all other sources.

The result has been that the needs of the Allies, enormous though they are, have been plentifully supplied, while Germany has been reduced to registered mails and the "Deutschland" in desperate attempts to mitigate her rubber famine. Neutrals have been allowed all the rubber they want, at prices actually lower than before the war, so long as they prevent any of it from reaching the enemy, while Canada and other parts of the Empire have an abundant supply at equally favorable Government-regulated prices.

In this foresight and generosity of the British Government lies the reason why rubber alone, of all the great staples, has not gone up in price—why rubbers and overshoes, in spite of increased cost of fabric, chemicals and labor, are as inexpensive as ever, while shoes are costing several dollars a pair more. Wearing rubbers or overshoes through this winter to protect these expensive shoes is more than practical thrift—it is grateful patriotism, for in thus saving leather we make it easier for the Government to secure the absolutely necessary supplies of this alarmingly scarce material for our soldiers.

LAWS WHICH PUNISH INANIMATE OBJECTS

Many Such Exist in Various Countries of the World—Novel Customs and Traditions.

That persons and animals have been and are still punished under the law for crimes is, of course, well known, but in a series of articles appearing in Old Penn. Dr. Walter Woodburn Hyde, Professor of Greek at the University of Pennsylvania, shows that it is by no means uncommon for organized society to punish inanimate things for crimes. Among the Kookies of India, for instance, it is decreed that if a man suffer death by falling from a tree, the relatives shall punish the spirit of the tree by cutting the tree to pieces and scattering the chips to the winds. A King of Cochinchina, is said to have become dissatisfied with the way a ship was sailing and to have ordered it publicly whipped; and within recent times in China fifteen wooden female idols were tried for the murder of an army officer, found guilty, publicly beheaded and in the presence of a great crowd thrown into a pond. According to ancient Anglo-Saxon law a sword cutler or other weapon with which a man was murdered was thought to be in disgrace and under the law could not be used again until the crime had been expiated. No cutler was allowed to sharpen the sword without a certificate stating that it had been freed of taint. In Norway, in recent times, such farm implements as sickles which had been used as weapons to kill a man were condemned to hang in the barn unused. In an old set of the municipal laws of Schleswig is a statute

EVERYBODY NEEDS PURE, RICH BLOOD

Pure blood enables the stomach, liver and other digestive organs to do their work properly. Without it they are sluggish, there is loss of appetite, sometimes faintness, a deranged state of the intestines, and, in general, all the symptoms of dyspepsia. Pure blood is required by every organ of the body for the proper performance of its functions. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood, and this is why it is so successful in the treatment of so many diseases and ailments. Its acts directly on the blood, ridding it of scrofulous and other humors. It is a peculiar combination of blood-purifying, nerve-toning, strength-giving substances. Get it today.

TO THE SOLDIERS, THE NURSES AND THE KNOCKERS

TO THE SOLDIER
On the battle fields of Flanders, On the battle fields of France, Men of Canada are mingled, Taking a hero's chance, To do or die for freedom, To do or die for the right, To crush in manhood's purpose The carnage of German might, Giving the best they could offer, Giving the best of their race, To "compete the soul of a monster" To bow to the Throne of Grace; To give Hope for a mighty Future, Free from carnage and lust, When the head of a Prussian Kaiser Is bowed in the humble dust, These are the men that suffered; These are the men that give Their lives for Christian Liberty, That you and the world might live.

TO THE NURSES
And many a Jack and Tommy, Whether Colonel or Troubadore, Thanks God for the Hospital Nurses Of the St. John's Ambulance Corp. And the greatest joy of their harvest, Ere they passed to that farther shore, Was the touch of human kindness From the St. John's Ambulance Corp. We have in our homes and factories Those that gave, and would freely give more For the use of that Holy Order, The St. John's Ambulance Corp.

TO THE KNOCKER
Yet we have some soulless mortals, Couldn't weep if the world was dead, When a quarter might save a comrade, They offer a piece of lead, We have them so small and shrunken Why a German would be disgraced, When a nickle might save a comrade They offer you paper waste, We have them with petrified conscience; They're really a manhood drug, When a nickle might save a comrade They give you an iron slug. — J. Harvey Clement.

News From Terrace Hill

(From our own correspondent) Mr. Pickles, Sr. who has been spending the summer with his son, Mr. H. T. Pickles, of St. Paul's Ave., started on his return journey to England, on Monday last. He sailed from New York on the Tuesday. A. T. Pickles accompanied his father to New York, spending a few days with a brother in that city. The proceeds of the musical evening, held at Mr. Watkins' last Tuesday evening, were about $27.00. The money is to be used to send Christmas cheer to the soldiers from the Hill. Those who have relatives serving in Britain or France are requested to send in their full names and addresses at once. Mr. Houghting, we understand, has purchased the brick residence adjoining the Methodist Church, on Dundas Street, and is moving into his new home this week. A handsome new Bible, Prayer Book and Service Book has been presented to St. James Church. The presentation was made through the Rev. of St. James Church from a Society in England.

THE STORY OF A MAN

Verses written by Pte. Richard Gordon Holmes, of the 8th Batt., Canadians, who lost both legs by a German rifle grenade in the trenches, March, 1916, now in No. 1 War Hospital, Reading, England. The verses were in commemoration of the death of Capt. Eddie, of the 8th (Winnipeg) Battalion, who enlisted in Penitence. Mrs. J. C. Watt, of 285 Dalhousie St., is a sister of the late Capt. Eddie, and Serjeant W. Eddie, also at the front, is a brother. Though your heart is torn with anguish And your body wracked with pain, Now you hope all seem to languish, And you wonder if you're sane, Do you remember Charles Eddie, who in the trenches fell, With seventy odd pieces of high explosive shell, Leg broken in three places, and his arm in several more, Thigh shattered, and through chest and back wounds more than a score, Now stretcher-bearers double, and now stretcher-bearers cry— Here lies a man who is a man—a man too brave to die. Then up they came, the dear old lads, the best in all the land, And work with might and main and skill, and strong and steady hand. Now the enemy was shelling, ves shelling with might and main, We could not move him from the trench, where he'd been gently lain; Now, did any hear him mutter? or did any hear him groan? The man who did a lie, that's a truth I'd drive straight home. No—a pleasant word for everyone, who passed him as he lay. And the way he smiled III never forget—Not to my dying day. At eve they gently bore him from the trench—the mud, the wet; But as they carefully carried him—his soul its Maker met. God alone knows all the anguish he bore without a white, But a cheery word for everyone through that long and weary time. Now I've told my story badly, but read it if you can, Not for the sake of the story, but just because of the man. And do the little you can, A patient smile to borrow, And live and die like a man.

A very pleasant evening was spent in music and games, and many good wishes were extended to Miss Benedict for every success in her chosen profession. The members of the Bible class met at the home of Pte. A. Money on Tuesday evening to welcome him home from overseas. Some interesting details of trench life at the front were given by Pte. Money. Several speeches were made and a very pleasant social time was spent by all.

Jess Willard is the Holder of World's Championship

Many of His Predecessors Were Champions of America Only—Fitzsimmons and Corbett Among Them

"Is Jess Willard champion of the world or only of America?" "Was John L. Sullivan a world's heavyweight champion?" "Did Corbett or Fitz hold the world's title?" Questions like these are asked every day of his life. Even the dyed-in-the-wool fight fans seem to be uncertain on these points. Boxing "authorities" disagree of opinion as to the world's title to Willard, Johnson, Burns and Jeffries but deny it to Fitzsimmons, Corbett and Sullivan. Here then, is a history of the world's title, as distinguished from the American and British heavyweight championships.

Away back in 1571 Jack Slack the English champion whipped a Frenchman named "Monsieur Pott" in what was the first international battle in which the championship was involved. By defeating the Frenchman, Slack may be said to have won the world's title, as there were no American fighters in those days.

The next bout with an international flavor was between Tom Cribb and Tom Molineux, an American negro, in 1810. The black man was entitled to the honors, but lost on a technicality. In the second bout Cribb was clearly the victor. As Molineux was the only American worthy of contesting his honors Cribb may fairly be said to be the holder of the world's championship, but when he retired undefeated that title lapsed, and his successors were only champions of England.

In 1860 John C. Hennes, an Irish-American who was recognized as champion of America, crossed the pond to fight Tom Sayers, the English champion for the world's title. The result was called a draw, so the world's championship was not decided.

The first bona fide modern world's champion was Jim Mace, who, after locking all the best men in England, came to America and whipped Tom Allen, the American champion, at Kennerly, La., in 1870. Old Jim was a sure-enough blow-in-the-bottle world's champion, for he bested all the good heavies on both sides of the pond.

When Mace retired Allen again claimed the American championship, and lost it in 1876 to Joe Goetz, who was defeated in 1880 by Paddy Ryan, from whom John L. Sullivan took the title at Mississippi City in 1882. But it was the American championship only that Sullivan annexed from Paddy. John L. fought a draw with Charlie Mitchell, but even if he had become world's champion, as Charlie was not champion of England.

In 1867 Jake Kilrain claimed the American title, alleging that Sullivan had forfeited it by refusing to meet him and went to France, where he fought a draw with Jim Mace, the English champion. Sullivan afterwards licked Kilrain, but that gained him no new honors, as he had never admitted Kilrain's claim of being American champion, and, moreover, Jake had not defeated the British title holder.

It was only the American title which Corbett took from Sullivan, and which Fitz took from Corbett. In 1898 Jim Jeffries defeated Peter Jackson, heavyweight champion of England and Australia, and in '99 Jeff defeated Fitz, and thus earned the right to call himself world's champion. That title went into the discard when Jeff quit, but Tommy Burns gained it by capturing the American title and following this by defeating Gunner Moir, the English champion, and Bill Squires, Australia's champion. Jack Johnson took the world's title by defeating Burns, and Willard took that exalted honor from the big dingie. And there you are!

Music and Drama

The Grand "September Morn"—LeComte and Flesher's tangioized musical comedy sensation, the most brilliant offering of the season, is scheduled for an engagement at the Grand Opera House next week for matinee and night with Wm. Moore, Maud E. Williams, Valere True, James Baber, Ruth Wilkins, J. J. Patton, Billy Murphy and forty-three helpers. The big beauty chorus is composed of the most attractive lot of girls that were ever gathered together in one company.

The production from a scenic and costuming standpoint is gorgeous. The dancing numbers embrace various dances which offer spicy moments of amusement and good wholesome entertainment. Many of these are new dance ensembles introduced for the first time in this country. It is bubbling over with song hits, including "Oh, You September Morn," the greatest rag time hit in years.

"WHEN DREAMS COME TRUE," "When Dreams Come True," which will be presented at the Grand Opera House, is a combination of melodrama, farce, music and dancing. The first act takes place on the deck of an ocean liner, bound from Havre to New York. The principal character, Kean Hedges, is a swift young American who has been entangled with a Parisian dancer, to the intense anger of his father in New York, who, hearing of the escapade, has cut off his son's revenue.

The fourth act, however, thus has found it necessary to go home in the steerage, where, of course, he is very miserable. But, in the first cabin there is a charming girl, who, unknown to herself, is being made use of by a woman smuggler to land a string of valuable pearls in America. The young man sees her from his place on the steerage deck, although he cannot approach her. Later they meet upon the deck in New York, and Hedges assists Beth to outwit the customs officers, thus earning her regard and the complications of their true love immediately begin.

SPECIAL SCREEN ATTRACTIONS COMING TO THE GRAND
Among the feature photo plays to appear at this popular playhouse during the coming week, will be seen, Lou Tellegan and Cleo Riggley in the popular success "The Victory of Conscience." Charlie Chaplin, the world's most famous comedian in what is declared by all critics as his greatest comedy success "The Count." Dustin Farnum, supported by an all star cast in the tremendously successful Paramount production, "The Parson of the Panhandle."
One of the most unusual incidents in the Jesse L. Lasky production of "The Victory of Conscience" which will be seen at the Grand on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday with Lou Tellegan, the famous romantic actor in a stellar role, is the attack of the Germans upon a handful of soldiers recruited from the gutters of Paris and commanded by a French priest.

In order to do this, the services of Francis de Jacquot, a French officer convalescing in the United States, were secured, and it was under his supervision that the battle scenes were filmed. The convent and fortifications were erected on the Lasky ranch, and field artillery was secured. The violence of the attack is shown in the most minute detail, first the explosion of heavy shells—then the searching rain of shrapnel and then the spray of machine gun bullets, followed by the rifle fire and charge. The brave defenders of the convent, although only performing their bits for the motion picture camera and the multitudes that see Lasky pictures on the Paramount Program, entered into the spirit of the affair and stood their ground until the last assault.

The timing of the firing was so arranged that during the taking of the scenes no one was severely injured. The exploding shell which wrecked the convent gate was aimed and fired by Mons. Jequegnot himself and as Miss Riggley as the Sister, fell across the dead body of her priest-soldier-lover, another shell was exploded, which with the setting sun in the background created a wonderful photographic effect.

WAR LECTURE BY RACEY

Mr. Racey's lecture has been described as a "black and white history," but it is more than that. The pen of the war correspondent—although he probably uses a typewriter these days—can paint a picture of a battle and describe tactics and strategy. But the cartoonist looks through battles and strategy to the underlying principles of the changing scenes of war, and in a few sketchy lines places the hidden meaning of the struggle plainly before the eye, in ironic vein, it may be, or as grim humor.

From the historical point of view as well as the humorous, "The War in Cartoon" forms a most interesting addition to the sum total of war history.—Montreal Star.

Mr. Racey will present his cartoons in Brantford, in aid of the Belgians, under the auspices of the House Committee of the Children's Shelter. This committee, has been very active on behalf of the Belgians, and anticipate a generous attendance.

Indian Economy

MANY careful people have found that Red Rose Tea is very economical—that it yields more cups to the pound. That is because it consists largely of Assam-Indian teas, which are famous for their full-bodied richness and strength. They make Red Rose Tea go farther.

THE MARKS OF A TRUE SOLDIER

The world is full of them. They have been not one whit behind any other men in advance of many. Their praiseworthy service, at St. Julien, Langemarck, Ypres and in the Somme, will never be forgotten. Bravery is a virtue absolutely essential to the soldier. But courage is needed not only on the battlefield, it is needed wherever duty is to be done. It is needed in the home and in business and in social life. How true it is that the fear of man bringeth a snare.

It always takes courage to do the right in the face of opposition. Beating the odds is something better than smug complacency, something better than self-interest, something better than self-protection, our boys are far from being afraid of the enemy. Of the essence of life is love and the essence of love is service, and the essence of service is sacrifice.

The last mark of a true soldier is patriotism. What is patriotism? It is something more, infinitely more than flag-waving. It is a passion to uplift. That was the kind of patriotism that characterized the life of Christ and that is the kind we must seek after. He saw his nation's need. He saw the need of the world, and he responded to that call.

And he is surely no patriot who will see his country bleeding to death and will not rise to help her either by going himself or by making it possible for some one else to go. True patriotism is more than national, it is international. It is something more than racial, it is international. It leaps over all artificial boundaries and takes in the whole world's need. The eyes of Jesus went beyond Palestine, beyond his own people to the peoples of all lands. He would help all and save all. Because Britain had the true patriotic spirit she is where she is to-day, and we must imitate this in our lives and seek to promote it wherever we can.

Intervention by his mother spoiled the romance and threatened the elopement of Frank Haskins, twenty years old, son of R. C. Haskins, president of the International Harvester Co., Chicago, and Miss Joy Gardner, eighteen, cabaret dancer at the Baltimore Hotel, Kansas City. Miss Louise Wise, of Wilmington, N.C., has been designated by her aunt, Mrs. Henry M. Flaggler, on the occasion of the announcement of the latter's engagement to Mr. Robert Worth Bingham, of Louisville, Ky., to assume most of the responsibilities of Mrs. Flaggler's great fortune of $60,000,000. Two thousand snakes—snakes with spider heads, snakes with tick heads, boa constrictors and hitherto undervalued varieties of reptiles, were landed last night on the United States Steamship Line pier, New York, by the crew of the steamer "Columbus". They were brought from Peru by the Harvard expedition.
