Lloyd George's Inspiring Speech.

LLOYD GEORGE AT THE GUILD-HALL.

LONDON, April 27. (Through Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—It was a distinguished assembly which gathered to-day at the Guild-hall on the occasion of the presentation of the freedom of London to Lloyd George. All the representatives of the Overseas Dominions and India attended, as well as Lord Curzon, Lord Milner, Right Hon. Arthur Henderson, many peers of the realm and members of the Commons. The Premier was given a hearty reception upon his arrival, and was applauded to the echo as he rose to address the audience. He began his speech by emphasizing the growing superiority of the British over the enemy. "We shall never forget the days of financial panic at the beginning of the war, but British credit survived, despite many contrary predictions." Referring to the Army, he said, "I remember the dark, dreary days when our gallant fellows in shattered trenches had night and day endured the mockery of the Germans; how they stood in the way. The way in which the British infantry stood to the guns of Napoleon one day was one of the epics of military history; their descendants stood to greater guns for days and nights, and weeks and months and they never flinched. It was the greatest story in the world. They never broke, and only those who have met and talked with them can realize what they did. The story will never die. Our gratitude is due to the brave, little man who led them through all those months and never lost heart, Lord French. When I took the job to organize the resources of Great Britain I did it in order to give those brave men a real chance to fight, and, thank God, they got it, thanks to the efforts of the manufacturers and the workmen. Don't let us forget the women, who by hundreds and thousands flocked to the factories and asked what they could do to help their gallant kinsmen in the field. They have done all they could, and the story is now a very different one. The future of the country," said the Premier, "would depend on how much the politicians had learned." The Premier continued: "The submarine is the worst problem we have to meet, and we mean to do it. It is essential to victory to us that we should do so. This problem has worried us for at least two and a half years, since the Germans determined to sink all craft indiscriminately. But they have brought America in, and I am perfectly satisfied with the balance." Lloyd George next outlined the steps taken by the Government departments to deal with the food problem. He said, "Farmers were now cultivating ten per cent. more land than they did before the war. The farmer has been given a guarantee, so has his laborers. I am not going to say the war will continue through 1918, but we must take no chances. We have taken too many. If Germany knows that by holding out until the end of 1918 she can win by starving us, she will hold out. But she also knows that the longer she holds out the worse it will be for her, since peace might come much earlier. We are taking steps now for the harvest of 1918, and not a minute too soon. Three million fresh acres of land are being put into cultivation, and even without a ton of food being brought from abroad, no one can starve us. But all must help. You have your rations, keep to them. Oats and barley are very good food. I was brought up on them." Turning to the question of shipping, he said, "The cutting down of imports last year was not adequate. In addition to having a million and a half tons last year, new arrangements were now being worked out to stop additional six million tons of imports, arrangements were being made whereby ultimately imports would be cut down by over ten million tons yearly without interfering with any essential industry. Furthermore, we are going to have all the timber we can. We are making arrangements by which we can get most of our minerals worked in the mines in Britain. We shall be getting four million tons of ore in addition to what we are getting now out of this country by August next. Our blast furnaces will be adapted for that purpose. You know what ten million tons of imports mean. If this had been saved a year ago, there would now have been a year's supply of wheat in the stores of this country. There are eighty-five million bushels of wheat in Canada, I would not say for the asking, but for the fetching. It ought to have been here. I believe about twenty or thirty million bushels of this wheat had to go to the United States for lack of another market. We must cut down our food until we discover a method of destroying this ocean bacillus. That has got to be done, but it is not all. We are of political sagacity, not even if the five were put together. The people are realizing that there are more things in heaven and on earth than the political philosophy of any of these parties. That is one illusion that we have seen disappear in the lurid fires of war. When after the war reconstruction begins, I hope and trust and pray that we are not going to give in to the pigeon holes of a party for dust-laden precedents and programmes. Let us think out the best methods for ourselves, in the face of searching facts of which we knew nothing before the war. We are a thousand years older and wiser since the war. The experience of generations has been crowded into just a few winters, and we should be unworthy of the great destiny to which Providence has called this generation if we threw away all that for the sake of formulas framed before the flood." "There is no sphere of statesmanship," he continued, "which there is greater need for revised ideas than our attitude towards the great Commonwealth of nations of the British Empire. In the past, we have treated it as an abstraction, a glorious abstraction, but still an abstraction. War has shown us all that the Empire is a fact, nay a factor, the most potent factor to-day in the struggle for human liberty. We sent a hundred thousand men to France in August, 1914. They turned the tide of history. The Dominions and India contributed a million men that transformed our ideas regarding the reality and beneficence of the British Empire. The world can't afford to let it be broken, but the choice must be between immediate concentration and ultimate dissolution. Things cannot remain where they were. It may be said that the shadowy character of relations between us and the Dominions was great, that the territories east have produced this real cohesion. That was all very well before they made those great sacrifices. They have now established their claims to a real partnership. Henceforth an effective partnership must be the only basis of co-operation. If our action brings them into trouble as it has, and it costs them millions of precious lives, they must henceforth be consulted before the act. Our colleagues from the Dominions and from India have not taken part in a mere formal conference, they have had a real share in our councils and in our deliberations. They came here with fresh minds, having viewed the conflict from different peaks. Minds running in the same course for a long time are apt to get rutty. You require fresh minds to lift the cart out, and we have had such a mind. We have had war decisions of a most far-reaching character in which our overseas colleagues assisted us. Great problems regarding submarines, shipping and food, as well as military decisions, have all been reviewed. We have been taught by war the real value of the Empire. One of the first real duties of the statesmanship of the future will be to take the necessary measures to aid in the development of the stupendous resources which we possess. We have decided that in the future it is the business of British and Dominion statesmen to knit the Empire in closer bonds in the interest of trade, commerce, business and the general intercourse of affairs. We have considered this problem and decided in order to develop our enormous territories in future, it is necessary that exceptional encouragement should be given the products of each part of the Empire. We believe that a system of preference could be established without involving the imposition of food burden. We believe it can be done without that, and of course with food scarce and dearest, this is not the time to talk of putting additional burdens on food; but for the purpose of preference that will not be essential, if we can secure that by other means, particularly by taking measures which other lands have taken for improving communications between one part of their Dominions and the other. By these means the products of one's country inside this great Imperial Commonwealth can be brought more freely, more readily and more economically to the markets of the other. Lloyd George, referring to Ireland, said it must be converted from a suspicious, surly, dangerous neighbor to a cheerful, loyal comrade. If we are to have a well-knit and powerful Empire, this is essential for the peace of the world. Ireland was a menacing prospect on the horizon. If he appealed for a settlement of the Irish question it was because he knew from facts driven into his mind every hour that in America, Australia and every part of the Empire it was regarded as essential to speedy victory. Therefore he appealed to the patriotism of every man to sink everything for the purpose of solving this problem. We must concentrate upon the task of subduing, suppressing and defeating the worst enemy we have ever encountered, he said. In conclusion, the Premier referred to the position in India. Germany's greatest disappointment in this war, and she had many, has been in India, said the Premier. Germany expected the forces of Britain absorbed upon the task of suppressing these. What did she find? Enthusiasm, loyalty, help. I think India is entitled to ask

Smart Blouses!

Our Ladies' Dept. is now displaying a remarkably choice selection of Blouses in Crepe de Chine, Silk and Georgette crepe. These Blouses are distinctly characteristic in style and illustrate Fashion's latest fancy in sleeves and collars, the former are all long with dainty cuffs, while the latter are very deep and quaintly cut.

The new surplice neck is very much in evidence and the entire stock is as charming and up-to-date as it can possibly be.

The leading colors are Flesh, Coral and Blue, but there is a wide choice of lovely colors, also Black and Black and White.

Firemen's Delegate Resigns.

The Firemen's Union met last night. The resignation of Mr. F. J. Woods, President and Delegate of the Union, was read and is herewith appended. Mr. William Whelan succeeds Mr. Woods as head of the Union with Mr. William Dicks as Secretary. After brief discussion on the question of increased wages a deputation was appointed to interview shipowners.

St. John's, Nfld., April 27th, 1917.

Dear Sir,—I wish to resign from the position of President and Delegate of the Firemen's Protective Union.

This course which I have now taken has been brought about by the absence of that support from members, which is at all times necessary for the success of the body. Although I am leaving the scenes of labor which often were productive of pain and worry to me, because I could not attain in good measure the objects of my endeavour, viz., better pay and better conditions for the firemen of Newfoundland, yet I am consoled by the thought that on looking through the years past which I have spent as your official head that I did my duty to you always and ever.

While regretting to have by circumstances been compelled to take this step, still I have fond hopes that the day will soon arrive when you shall begin to realize as men should, the mistakes which have brought you to-day to a position which is by no means an enviable one.

Wishing success to the Union and expressing my desires that it may soon take its place as a body capable of demanding its rights with dignity and respect, and hoping that the light of unionism as it should be, will soon be lighted that it may clear the atmosphere that we may all see our true position.

I remain, obediently yours,
F. J. WOODS.

William Whelan, Esq.,
Sec. Firemen's Protective Union.

C. I. B. Sports

The annual sports of the Church Lads' Brigade, will take place on next Tuesday evening at their Armoury. This popular event has always been looked forward to with much interest and this year's promises to be no exception. The programme of events will surpass all former occasions, as, in addition to the regular series of various kinds of races and jumps there will be a tug of war and relay race between teams from the Regiment and the Brigade. Those who are taking part in the sports have been training hard for some time past and an enjoyable evening is assured those who attend.

SUNLIGHT SOAP.

The CLEANEST fighter in the World—the British Tommy.

THE British Soldier is used to having the best. His whole equipment, from his service cap down to his boots, is the best which the British Government can procure. So, too, when he buys soap, he buys the best—SUNLIGHT SOAP. He knows that it is the speediest and most effective in action. He knows that he could not obtain the same results with cheaper soaps, just as he could not obtain the same results with a cheaper rifle, a cheaper bayonet, or a cheaper pair of boots.

Our Boston Letter.

BOSTON, April 18. Boston Harbour is full of the romance and mystery of the sea. From towering Minot's Light which seems to rise from the ocean's bed to flash its warning rays over the rocky reaches of Massachusetts Bay to Fort Independence there is an indefinable charm about every shoal and headland, every plunging ship and murky quay.

At night the harbour is at its best. Mystery seems to brood amongst the shipping. It may be a clumsy barge wallowing at the end of the tow-line or some stately merchantman bound in from the Far East, the feeling of romance and witchery is ever present.

Passing the grim and forbidding Nix's Mate, a cluster of shoals against which the sea relentlessly pounds we repress an involuntary shudder when the islet's sinister legend is recalled. Somewhere in the 17th century a pirate ship called the Nix entered Boston harbour for the purpose of executing its rebellious mate. Stopping at a large and picturesque island a boat put off with the doomed mate aboard. A gallows was erected and the unfortunate man was swung into eternity. Before his execution, however, the mate is said to have cursed the captain, the ship and the island.

Calling upon Heaven to witness his prophecy, he declared that the island which was the scene of his murder would gradually be washed away until nothing but a few shoals remained. Needless to say the prophecy came to pass and whether the legend is true or false very little remains to-day of what was really a large island three centuries ago.

As we approach the upper entrance of the harbour the chief point of interest is the great navy yard which in these piping days of war is full of activity and life. A few of Uncle Sam's dreadnoughts ride at anchor with here and there a destroyer, or torpedo boat thrusting its saucy nose in the pathway of our vessel. Near the same vicinity lie the great German ships, now a part of America's merchant marine, looming dolefully amid the cluster of craft of every rig and size. The splendid machinery of these huge vessels was crippled by their crews before war was declared. Acting on orders from Germany the officers caused the ships to be disabled to prevent them being of immediate use to the Americans. Mechanical experts have declared that it will take at least two months to repair the damage wrought by the desperate Germans.

Past the Hoosac Tunnel docks and the great Charlestown bridge we swing toward Boston proper. What memories of other days crowd upon the thoughts. What stirring scenes the imagination conjures up as we watch the English-like city with its towering spires and crooked streets. Far to the right the granite shaft of Bunker Hill recalls that immortal night in Charlestown when the minute men engaged in deadly combat the soldiers of King George. And the old State House hidden amid the towering granite piles of what then was King Street is a silent witness to the desperate street fight which began the revolution. The mind's eye penetrates the mists of the years and brings back for a moment vistas of the old regime. We see again the dainty ladies in laces and old brocade tripping the stately minuet with bewigged and powdered officers while afar off the bugle blows its summons to the men in buff and blue to strike for liberty or death.

A short distance further south we reach another T wharf otherwise known as Snow's wharf. It is more famous than the old fish pier in that it was the scene of the Boston Tea Party when the enraged Colonists threw King George's choicest Canton brew into the waters of Boston Harbor. A brass tablet commemorates the event with the following lines of Oliver Wendell Holmes:—

"Oh ne'er was mingled such a draught,
In palace, hall or arbor
As freedom brewed and tyrants quaffed
That night in Boston Harbor."

This part of the harbour is one of the busiest sections of the waterfront. Here assemble the great fleet of Southern merchant vessels which bring to Boston fruit, rum and molasses and take back cargoes of tourists and Yankee notions. It is interesting to watch the fleets of windjammers from Nova Scotia and Maine ports, their decks piled high with lumber and their white sails making a pleasing contrast to the dingy hulls of the wallowing tramps and lighters.

The Commonwealth docks, erected a few years ago have taken on a military aspect. Sentries now patrol all the approaches and every craft or pedestrian is held up by Uncle Sam's boys in khaki. The fish trade which has its centre here has reached enormous proportions but the strike of the Gloucester crews has tied up the great fleet of yacht like vessels which made these docks their headquarters. An effort is to be made by the Government to bring about a settlement of the strike because of the scarcity and high cost of foodstuffs. With an ocean teeming with fish and war casting its black shadow over the land, it seems criminal to prolong the struggle.

The future of the port of Boston seems a very rosy one from the present outlook. The shipbuilding plans of the Government may restore the great merchant fleet of fifty or sixty years ago when Yankee clipper ships sailed circles around any other kind of craft afloat and made of the young American nation the first maritime power in the world.

To Weak Men and Women—How to Restore Health and Loss of Vitality

Here is an excellent prescription to mothers and fathers and even young children suffering from nervous exhaustion, nervous dyspepsia, convalescence from illness or overwork and sleeplessness.

Go to your nearest druggist and ask him for a bottle of Zoetic, a sure, quick, reliable tonic—a blood maker and a nerve food.

Zoetic is compounded in Canada from food and tonic essences, and is a new and improved combination of glycerophosphates, fine odorless and tasteless Cod liver oil, essence of pure beef and the best procurable tonic wine.

Zoetic with this wonderful formula has permanently cured thousands of nervous breakdowns and, as a preventative to consumption, the action of Zoetic upon the lungs is such, as if taken in time, will miraculously, but surely ward off this dreaded disease.

Zoetic is exceedingly pleasant to take and may be had at any Druggist anywhere in Canada.

Put cranberries through the meat-chopper before cooking them and they will not require straining afterward.

Pricking nutmegs with a pin will show whether they are good—all will spread about the puncture if they are. It saves many slices of dried bread to have the loaf brought to table on a bread board and each slice cut as desired.

As hot weather comes on and potatoes are less appetizing, it is well to take pains to make them attractive to the eye.

When you powder the baby take a piece of absorbent cotton, dust the powder on it and use it as you would a powder puff.

Daylight Saving.

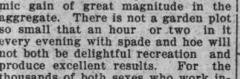

The Importers' Association have endorsed unconditionally the decision of the Board of Trade and will add their recommendation to that of the latter body, to be presented to the Legislature, in favour of the adoption of daylight saving.

When the House, already regrettably late, at last meets, one of the first duties that may be expected to occupy its attention is the enactment of this measure. It should pass with little difficulty. The a priori considerations in favour of the innovation have been so strikingly borne out by the experience of the European countries, that we could not do better than follow their example. This year there is an added advantage that was not so apparent before and that is being taken note of in America—the useful gain of an hour or so of daylight every day to the host of amateur gardeners that the exigencies of the foot situation have called into existence. Apart from the saving of light and fuel, the hygienic benefits and all the other good points the scheme has been found to contain, this particular result will prove an economic gain of great magnitude in the aggregate. There is not a garden plot so small that an hour or two in it every evening with spade and hoe will not both be delightful recreation and produce excellent results. For the thousands of both sexes who work indoors all day to more health or so occupation can be imagined. In this respect the example set by Mr. Duder, in offering his land to his employees for cultivation, is an admirable one, and we have heard of its being followed by others. Too much cannot be done in this direction, and we hope that the movement will not be limited to meeting a present emergency. Whether the cause be the engrossing demands of the fisheries or not, there is no doubt that there is neither the amount of agriculture in the island nor the taste for it that there should be. Acres and acres of good land lie fallow for the want, not of time, but of inclination to cultivate them. This applies particularly to small lots. Anyone who has returned after travelling in England, the States or Canada cannot fail to be struck by the contrast we offer with those countries, where every possible piece of land appears to be utilised where practicable. The war has taught many lessons and among them two of the very greatest value, one, that from the ground which the Creator gave if the world gathers almost all its sustenance and wealth; the other, that mankind, through custom and nothing else, has for centuries wasted in sleep precious hours of light which it was meant to occupy usefully. It will be well for us to learn these lessons as thoroughly as others are doing.

The Prime Minister's Speech.

Lloyd George never talks without saying something. In his speech at the Guildhall yesterday he said a great deal, conscious that the whole world listened to him. If only as a summary of the great effort the United Kingdom is exerting the speech is worth reading. Doubtless Germany will not be permitted to read it, but the rest of the world will. It is not sugar, but a bracing tonic, with the sharp sting about it that most tonics have. Chief interest lies in his statements about agriculture and shipping, the two first matters of the day outside of those purely military. Three million fresh acres of land have been put under cultivation, and farmers and labourers have been given guarantees. Three or four times the number of ships available last year will be in 1917; if the sinking continues at the present rate, there will be more tonnage in July than in March past. These are heartening words. They may possibly leak through somehow into Germany, where the precise tone of their utterance cannot fail to make an impression. They will not believe them, of course, but it will not console them to have it even suggested that our shipping is being replaced faster than it is destroyed. And this is not to take account of what America can do. There is incitement to further effort but no excuse for pessimism in the speech. "Do not want anyone to feel that things being all right, there is nothing more to do." After all, there were few who did not know that much remained to be done, but very many who needed to be assured that things were all right. Action and confidence summarise his great speech, and they are precisely what the present temper of the Allies demands.

Prohibition Cases

The charge against a shop-keeper for selling Beef, Iron and Wine, contrary to the Prohibition Law, was continued in the Magistrate's Court today before Judge Morris. The manufacturer, who sold the stuff to the defendant and who was summoned as a witness, was again unable to appear through illness, and the case was postponed till Wednesday next.

The further hearing of the case in which a medical practitioner was charged with giving a prescription for a bottle of rum to a man, also took place today. The defendant, after examining the patient, prescribed alcohol for him, owing to his weak physical condition, but gave him a particular instruction as to how to use it, though the instructions were not adhered to. The patient, a witness for the prosecution, gave evidence which agreed in tenor with that given by the defendant. The counsel engaged had some cross-firing over relevant and irrelevant matters and the prosecution had an occasional passage-at-arms with the Judge over the rules of evidence. The case was adjourned until Thursday next in order to give the prosecution time to get testimony as to whether or not alcohol is a stimulant in this or any other particular case.

Could Not Lift Stick of Wood

Would Almost Faint From Severe Pain in Back—Doctors Could Not Get the Kidneys Set Right.

Benton, N. B., April 28th.—A great many people suffer the results of deranged kidneys and do not understand the cause of trouble or the way to obtain cure. The writer of this letter suffered excruciating pains in the back and in vain his physician tried to cure him. For some reason or other his medicines did not have the desired effect.

Mr. Otts' brother was a merchant selling, among other medicines, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and he heard his customers telling about how they were cured of kidney derangements by their use. This led to Mr. Otts putting them to the test, with the splendid results reported in this letter.

Mr. E. C. Otts, Benton, Carleton County, N.B., writes: "I am glad to let you know how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered from my kidneys, which at one time were so bad I could not lift a stick of wood without getting on my knees, and then would almost faint from the pain in my back. I consulted a doctor about it, and he gave me some medicine, but it did not help me. My brother, who is a merchant, and carries all your medicines, advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and he had three boxes of your pills, and he cured them. I can certainly recommend Dr. Chase's Pills and Ointment."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills one Pill a dose, 25c. a box, 5 for $1.00, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

The Opera.

On Tuesday and Wednesday nights of next week, Maurice Johnston's charming opera, "The Magic Cup," will be staged by the pupils of the Christian Brothers' Schools in the Casino Theatre. The Director, Prof. Hutton, and the good Brothers have given considerable time and attention to the preparation of this opera, and the splendid orchestra will add considerably to the enjoyment of the evening. The performance is under the distinguished patronage of His Excellency the Governor, and His Grace the Archbishop. Tickets are on sale at the Atlantic Bookstore and intending patrons would do well to procure them without delay.

Here and There.

INCREASED STIPENDS.—Within the past few months a number of city clergymen have received a substantial increase in their annual stipends, which in view of the high cost of living was badly needed. What of the poor struggling outport clergyman? Is there anything going to be done for him?

MACHINE GUN FOR CARBONAR.—The people of Carbonar will be given the privilege of seeing one of the machine guns captured from the Hun by the Newfoundland Regiment on October 12th, as the war trophy was forwarded there yesterday and will be exhibited in the recruiting station now in charge of Sergt. Smith.

C. C. C. BAND ADULT DANCE TO-NIGHT AT 8.30.—There will be a short Dance for Adults in the C. C. C. Hall to-night after the Children's Ball, beginning at 8.30 to 11.45. Tickets—Ladies', 40c.; Gent's, 50c. Double, 80c.—apr28,11

ASSAULT CASE.—A young teamster was before court today for assaulting a clerk. The defendant stated that he gave the complainant a punch between the eyes because he went around and said that he (the teamster) was too "stunned" to drive a horse and run into a street car. Judge Morris, who presided, held that the public stum was not justifiable and fined the teamster 15 or 16 days.

NOTICE.

Persons intending to engage in the manufacture of refined cod liver oil shall apply immediately to the Department of Marine and Fisheries for the necessary application forms, which must be renewed from the first day of May in each year.

The Government have appointed as Inspectors Messrs. E. G. Coyell and M. B. Simonsen, who will visit all factories during the season to instruct and advise manufacturers in the best methods of refining cod liver oil; and it shall be the duty of all persons engaged in the said business to carry out the rules and instructions issued by the Inspectors aforesaid, otherwise they shall be guilty of a violation of the rules governing this industry, and in addition may have their Licenses cancelled.

The attention of those interested is directed to the following New Rule which will be strictly enforced:—

No package other than a new oak barrel made especially for refined cod liver oil, a tinned lined barrel, or a butter oil cask, shall be used to contain refined cod liver oil.

Now that the police are not so overtaxed with Water Street duty it would be in the interest of decency if they would pay a visit to that section who need them sending in their orders at once, as a single day will often mean the difference between securing what is needed and not doing so. At all the appointed stations there is more this season Sutton's Peas and Beans will at the present rate of going soon be unobtainable.

More Pay Demanded.

BY MASONS, IRON WORKERS AND FIREMEN. WHAT ABOUT FIRE DEPARTMENT?

The Bricklayers' and Masons Union have decided to ask for an increase over last year's rate of wages, feeling compelled to take this step owing to the high cost of living. During the past winter there was scarcely anything doing in their line of work. Their rate of pay now is $4 per day and they ask for $5, the increase to take effect on Monday next. Employers, including the A.N.D. Co., at Grand Falls and the Bell Island Companies, have been acquainted by the Secretary of the Union of the new scale of wages.

It is understood that iron workers in the city, including blacksmiths and cooperatives, will demand more pay shortly in a body. Their proposed new scale of wages will be submitted to employers shortly.

The firemen engaged on the S. S. Thetis quit work yesterday. They were getting $37 a month and a promise of a bonus at the end of the year. They don't like the bonus idea but want $45 a month. The matter yet remains unsettled.

We hear also that the Firemen of the Constabulary are thinking about seeking an increase collectively. Their present salaries are only miserable pittance to support families on in these strenuous times. It must be remembered that the members of the Fire Department are the custodians of the lives and property of the community and are ever ready to answer all calls at all hours and to risk their lives in all emergencies. Notwithstanding their long hours of duty and the responsibility confided in them, they are very much underpaid, whereas they should be amongst the best paid civil servants. Because of this unfair treatment meted out to our protectors, it is really surprising that the Fire Brigade is not totally disorganized. On the contrary, however, on a visit to the different stations the marked discipline of horses and men is apparent. Both the Government and Civic Board, who contribute jointly to the upkeep of the Fire Department, made "pie-crust" promises last year to raise the pay of these over-worked and underpaid officials, who are now receiving $40 a month, which, all things considered, is a grave injustice.

The attention of those interested is directed to the following New Rule which will be strictly enforced:—

No package other than a new oak barrel made especially for refined cod liver oil, a tinned lined barrel, or a butter oil cask, shall be used to contain refined cod liver oil.

McMurdo's Store News

SATURDAY, April 28, 1917. Our stock of Sutton's Peas and Beans is moving out rapidly and we would emphasize the wisdom of those who need them sending in their orders at once, as a single day will often mean the difference between securing what is needed and not doing so. At all the appointed stations there is more this season Sutton's Peas and Beans will at the present rate of going soon be unobtainable.

We wish to remind our customers again that we are now well off for D.D.D. ordinary strength. Price $1.30 a bottle.

When Freiburg, which is an "open town," though not an undefended one, suffers from bombardment by a fleet of British airplanes, the Germans use, in describing the deeds of women, children, and a few other non-combatants that follow, exactly the same terms and manifest exactly the same indignation which we become familiar with when the Germans themselves begin this form of warfare in both France and England.
 The only reason for our criticism these characterizations and for failing to share the resentments expressed is that the Germans long since lost the right to protest against anything of this sort that the Allies may do. That however, does not settle the matter, except for the Germans. In other nations the subject of reprisals in kind, and especially in this kind, is still open to discussion.
 Such reprisals have only one justification. When they can be made or treated in such a way as to prevent the original offender from repeating a brutal or cruel act, then they are not to be condemned, though even the subject of reprisals is deeply to be regretted by any belligerent that aspires to fight in accordance with the laws of war and to keep the rights of war as near as possible to the irreducible minimum. But when expected from a reprisal is an effort on the part of the enemy to revenge hisself still more savage—when there is no injury by the infliction of injuries reasonable expectation that he will be frightened or subdued by his own sufferings and losses—then reprisals in kind simply start a rivalry in which the nation of better intentions and greater decency is sure to be beaten, and the excuse for them becomes tenuous to the disappearing point.
 The punishment imposed on Frieburg for the sinking of British hospital ships is a form of "justice" that is entirely too "wild," since it falls on people who did not participate in the crime committed and were responsible for it in a degree hardly measurable.—N. Y. Times.

Lloyd George's Inspiring Speech.

 that the loyal myriads should feel not as if they were a subject race in the Empire, but partners in the nation.
 All these questions require bold statesmanship. Timidity or faintheartedness, abhorrent in peace, is fatal in war. Britain faced the problems of the war with amazing courage. She must face the problems of peace with the same great spirit. I thank you, Lord Mayor and Council of this great city, not merely for the personal honor but for the encouragement coming from seeing men who once fought each other, working side by side for the great end. May that comradeship endure not merely to triumphant victory, but until the devastation of the war has been repaired and the fruits of a glorious victory have been gathered.
 At the luncheon following the ceremony conferring the freedom of the City upon the Premier, Lloyd George said, I do not want anyone to feel that things being all right there is nothing more to do. That is one of the real difficulties. Exaggeration causes panic. On the other hand, if things are painted in their true colors, and we begin saying we shall pull through with an effort, people will say let somebody else make the effort; I will do the pulling through.
 Success is assured only if everyone does his share. The men who put party victory before war victory are few. Nevertheless sometimes you feel that party here. I am not going to make an application, but those who think all party feeling is so completely submerged, that we can sail over the whole ocean with impunity have only got to watch. They will see here a little swirl, there a jagged rock. We will endeavor to avoid them and we will bury them, but if we find them impeding the nation's navigation, there is enough explosive temper in this land to blow them up and fetch the cargo safely through.

Book Friends.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

Is there anything in the world more marvelous than our sense of the reality of people? Do you ever know, by the way, a serial that was superior, or even equal, to the original book. Compare "Little Women" and "The Men" "Sentimental Tommy" and "Tommy and Grizel" "The Semi-Serial The Only Good Serial." To my mind there is only one class of serial that is an artistic success and that is the semi-serial in which the characters that were the central figures in the first book appear as background characters in the second. Take for instance Margaret Deland's "Awakening of Helena Ritchie" and its semi-serial "The Iron Woman." Really, when you stop to think of it, of all the faculties of enjoyment and interest that have been given us, we could at least spare this strange power to lose ourselves in the lives of these people who never existed. Other friends may be too busy for us, may forget us or turn against us. These friends never will fail us.

Did you ever know, by the way, a serial that was superior, or even equal, to the original book. Compare "Little Women" and "The Men" "Sentimental Tommy" and "Tommy and Grizel" "The Semi-Serial The Only Good Serial." To my mind there is only one class of serial that is an artistic success and that is the semi-serial in which the characters that were the central figures in the first book appear as background characters in the second. Take for instance Margaret Deland's "Awakening of Helena Ritchie" and its semi-serial "The Iron Woman." Really, when you stop to think of it, of all the faculties of enjoyment and interest that have been given us, we could at least spare this strange power to lose ourselves in the lives of these people who never existed. Other friends may be too busy for us, may forget us or turn against us. These friends never will fail us.

Remember that it was somebody in a book? It is especially wonderful to me to find how slight a character can have this reality to us. In one of Margaret Deland's latest books there is a "Kate" who does not actually appear in the story at all. One of the characters has been in love with her ten years before the book opens. She is referred to occasionally by him and by the other people in the book. That is all. And yet I had a self conceived idea of what Kate looked like and such a powerful sense of her existence that I found myself wondering, as I finished a chapter, what she thought of the things that had happened in it. When "The Door Is Shut In One's Face," I have really suffered positive homesickness sometimes when I laid a good book down for the last time and knew that the door had been shut—however gently—in my face and that I couldn't know what happened to those dear friends of mine, what further adventures befell them, whether they were happy though married. The "Newcomers" is one such book. "Little Women" is another. All books for which the public have insistently (and usually with unsatisfactory results) called for a serial, are such books.

Everyday Etiquette

"While going to the street car I met a boy friend with whom I am slightly acquainted. We had quite a conversation while waiting for the car. Should he have paid my carfare when entering the car?" asked Maude.

"You should have paid your own carfare; but if he handed it the money to the conductor, you would make yourself too ridiculous by arguing the matter," was her mother's reply.

people who would rather help the bank accumulate a surplus than have one of their own. The banks do not encourage the reckless and indiscriminate use of the promissory note unless there is some collateral in sight besides a mission oak dining table and a solemn promise.

Some men prefer to give a promissory note to some life insurance company, so that when they die and pass hence their wives will have nothing left but a fragrant memory. Others would rather sign a note for a near relative who is in poor health and may never be able to collect the interest. Any kind of note, however, is equipped with ball-bearing running gear which causes the interest dates to whirl around the tract faster than the winner of the 3.02 pace.

With other graybeards I recline beneath my fig tree and my vine, when sounds the evening bell; we gossip, and we're all agreed that this old world has gone to seed, that nothing now is well. "The children of these modern days pursue their idle, trifling ways." "Old Gaffer" Griffin cries; "they scoot around in motor cars, turn right to day, smoke rank cigars, and dance, dad bing their eyes." And ever since the world was new, this sort of mournful howl came from the ancient bore; no doubt old Noah talked that way, when he reposed, at close of day, beside his houseboat door. I well recall when I was young, how every village Solon flung this kind of bunk around; we youngsters were a ribald crew; when we grew up, the graybeards knew, in prison we'd be found. No doubt the tired and crippled steed, so old it cannot chew its feed, regards the colt with scorn; why does it gambol and cavort? Why does it run and kick and snort? It should be powing corn. The old man's tired of play and fun; his eyes are on the setting sun, sad thoughts disturb his soul; so he assembles at the store with other graybeards, three or four, and springs his rigmarole.

THAT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURE RHEUMATISM.

Harold D. Bertram Had Inflammatory Rheumatism and One Box of Dodd's Kidney Pills Cleared It Out of His System.

Southampton, Ont., April 27th.—(Special.)—That rheumatism is caused by disordered kidneys and that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it is again proved by the case of Harold D. Bertram, a young man well and favourably known here. He had inflammatory rheumatism for two months. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him. "The doctor said my trouble started with the gripe," Mr. Bertram states. "My hands and feet were badly swollen and the doctor did not seem to be doing me any good. My grandmother, Mrs. G. Grasser, advised me to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. I took one box of them and I haven't been bothered since. I am clear of the rheumatism." That Mr. Bertram's trouble came from his kidneys is shown by his other symptoms. He had stiffness in the joints, was tired and nervous, and there were flashes of light before his eyes. He had a dragging sensation across the joints, was always thirsty and felt heavy and sleepy after meals. Rheumatism is caused by uric acid in the blood. Cured kidneys strain the uric acid out of the blood. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure the kidneys.

WEEK-END NOTES.

(L. C. M.)

O Daughters of Empire, good and true, A humble tribute I pay to you; For the time, and the toil, and the care you gave To comfort our soldiers and sailors brave.

Two hundred and four thousand dollars is the cash value of what has been earned and donated by the Ladies' Patriotic Association, since they began their good work in the autumn of 1914. Truly a handsome amount, and truly a splendid showing, and a record of which the entire population of Newfoundland might feel proud. But when we bear in mind that the total sum is the product of women's work, then we begin to see how great must their task indeed have been, and with what patient perseverance they must have toiled. And yet it has all been done in a seemingly quiet and unostentatious manner; and beyond the regular notices of the press, there has not been any "flourish of trumpets," nor "shouting from the housetops" about it. The ladies have simply worked, and plodded on; and by systematic rules, and constancy of purpose, intensified by woman's devotion, they have accomplished this great feat, and have thereby been the means of dispensing blessings indescribable upon thousands of our soldier sons, and upon thousands of our sailor lads. Many of those dear lads have fallen, and will not come back to tell of the comforts which they derived from the work of these ladies; but they shared in them all the same, and the memory of what they have endured, will be sweetened by the remembrance of what our women at home did for them. These lads sleep far away, but they are still our own. In foreign soil were made their graves, and near the restless ocean's waves, they gave their all, they did their best. They paid the price, and now they rest.

This large sum of money which our ladies have presented to the Patriotic Fund, is the gift of the whole country; and every hamlet has had a part in the work. From North, South, East and West, the parcels and packages have come in; and by young, middle-aged and old, the work has been done; and thus it is that the offering is of, and from, all the people, and from every class within our fair land. But if we merely look at it in the light of dollars and cents we see only the commercial aspect of it, and we materialize the ideal and the motive of the work. The motive which has underlain this good work, and which still underlies it, is the feature which one wishes to look at; for it is here that the beauty of it all is seen. The thoughts and feelings which promoted our good women to undertake this task at once elevate it above, and beyond, all monetary and commercial values. The devotion of a woman's heart has been behind it, the love of a mother has been in it, the hopes of a maiden have inspired it.

and the sanctity of our homes has consecrated it. These are the principles that impart true value to the work of the Women's Patriotic Association, and which raise it to a place which dollars and cents can never reach. As collateral it has done untold good; but in that higher sense to which we refer, it has done even a greater good.

We may not know the toll and the care nor the time which our women have devoted to their task in this direction. We cannot know it; but we thank them none the less, for they have done a work that has brought joy to thousands of hearts, and comfort to thousands of lives. Their reward will be greater than titles and renown, and it will outlive the things of time and sense. Within the hearts of the people will they live, and within the shrine of affection will they have their most durable monument. From many a trench and from many a cot, and from many a battle field, the prayer of the suffering has gone up; and in these prayers, and in these emotions will be found in the years to come, that true reward which all such work is sure to receive.

In closing, then, we thank the ladies for what they have accomplished, and we feel confident that every one who reads these notes will add a sincere Amen to this expression of gratitude.

Toil on O Daughters, nor stay your hand, In your work for the boys of Newfoundland;

But cut and sew, and finish and pack, Till the war is over, and the boys come back;

And a thousand hearts shall say as one, O, mothers, and sisters, and sweethearts, "Well Done!"

Milady's Boudoir.

"MAKING UP IN PUBLIC"

Years ago it was considered bad taste to do any part of one's toilet outside one's boudoir, but in these days we see women powdering their noses, applying lip sticks, and "fixing" their hair in almost every public place.

Wherever we look we see them holding up a tiny mirror while they painstakingly powder their faces; and, horrors of horrors! yes, rouge their cheeks and lips. When they have completed this process they complacently go their way, no blush of embarrassment showing through the artificial complexion.

If true art is to conceal art, then they are very artistic, for the result is as glaring as the breach of good taste. Of course no one is deceived—no one could be but a blind man, and it isn't done for him: There is a monotonous pink and white sameness in women's complexions—they are neither blondes nor brunettes any more, nor pale nor rosy faces, but a tiresome procession of whitewashed noses and evenly rouged cheeks.

And the men—what do they think of it? Why they laugh at it, not too respectfully, and they resent it as a breach of good manners, and they are more embarrassed by the spectacle than the girl herself.

There is no doubt that women do these things to make themselves attractive and win the admiration presumably of men. If they are only making themselves odious and ridiculous, isn't that reason enough for attending to those details in private?

Your Boys and Girls.

Many complaints are heard about the lazy child, and many reasons are advanced for his lack of activity. But specialists who have devoted several years of child study to the problem agree that it is impossible for a healthy child to be lazy.

Rather it is the irresistible impulse to be up and doing that makes the healthy child so much of a nuisance to the people who wish to have everything quiet and orderly. The first thing to do when a child shows symptoms of "laziness" is to have him examined by a competent physician. In nine cases out of ten it will be found that the cause of juvenile inactivity is impaired health, if not actual disease.

When the child sits or lies about without caring to do anything, without even getting into mischief, there is generally something wrong.

Break macaroni or spaghetti into a wire sieve and then immerse it in boiling water, simply lifting it out when done. This method saves dish washing.

Just see what splendid, snowy white, delicious bread it makes!

Never in the history of the world did good bread mean so much to you as it does now. It helps to reduce the high cost of living by lessening the amount of expensive meats necessary, and is the cheapest, most nourishing and most extensively used food known. Decidedly you should have none but the best flour for your bread. That is why we can so heartily recommend

Cream of the West Flour

The hard wheat flour that is guaranteed for bread

None but the finest quality Western wheat, and unsurpassed facilities could produce such splendid flour for bread. You can see for yourself how rich it is in nutritious, body-building gluten. The gluten imparts the gas formed by the yeast, thus enabling your bread to rise right away up out of the pans, making splendid big bulging loaves, light and flaky and full of fine home-made flavor.

Cream of the West flour is guaranteed. If for any reason you are dissatisfied with it, return the unused flour to your dealer along with this advertisement (our guarantee). He will return your money, and we will repay him.

Ask our Domestic Science Experts for advice

Fewer little problems often arise in baking bread and pastry in spite of the most careful attention to recipes and directions. Bubbles or large holes sometimes appear in the bread for no apparent reason. The biscuits, you have to admit, are not always up to their usual standard. The steam pudding may become mysteriously soggy; obviously it is not the fault of either recipe or ingredients. The expensive fruit cake is burned on the outside and uncooked in the centre. Why? Our Domestic Science experts will gladly tell you the reason so you can avoid difficulties next time.

All you have to do to get our help is to write us a letter in your own words giving details of your baking problems. Give us the name of your dealer; also state what flour you are using. Whether you are using our flour or not we will promptly reply giving you the information desired. Write to-day. Address, Domestic Science Department, care The Campbell Flour Mills Company, Limited, Toronto, Ontario.

Get these famous books without expense

By long experience we have learned that it is well worth while to induce bread makers to try Cream of the West flour, for they find it so good that no other flour can take its place. That is why we offer these splendid books free to users of our flour.

In every barrel, 2 1/2 barrel or sack you will find a colored library card. Collect these cards and send them to us in exchange for such splendid books as "David Copperfield," by Dickens; "The Three Musketeers," by Dumas; "The Last Days of Pompeii," by Lytton; "The Talisman," by Sir Walter Scott; "Henry Esmond," by Thackeray; "The Woman in White" by Wilkie Collins; "House of the Seven Gables," by N. Hawthorne. Also a splendid list for boys and girls. Complete list of titles and instructions how to get books is printed on every card. Try our flour and get card.

Ye Old Miller's Household Book has, in addition to 1000 splendid recipes, an extensive medical department dealing with accidents, sickness, etc. No home should be without this valuable book.

If China Joins the Allies.

Steps in Which She Can Help us to Win.

(By Shi Gung Cheng, Late Private Secretary to the Minister of the Chinese Navy.)

Will China enter the war on the side of the Allies? The question would have seemed very strange had it been asked at the beginning of the war. China was not an organized State, and she had no interest affected by a European conflict.

But two years and a half of war have altered her relation to the rest of the world. The war, at the present day, is not a war between armies or even nations. It has become a struggle between ideals, and China can no longer remain indifferent to its issue. In protesting to Berlin against the illegal and inhuman practice of killing civilians on the high seas, China is not merely following in the footsteps of the United States; she has her own ideal to avow and her own role to play.

Her diplomatic rupture with Germany will reveal once again to the world that right has triumphed over wrong, and that the Teutonic Powers have rallied against them the whole civilized world. It is even conceivable that China will prepare to render military assistance to the Allied forces.

China has a standing army 800,000 strong, created and trained during the last decade under the direction of her late President, Yuan Shih-kai, when Viceroy under the old Manchou dynasty.

Strong and courageous, China's army will fight well if adequately equipped and under good command. Her reserve force is small, as her army has only recently been reorganized on modern lines. But, with good training and equipment, a large reserve can be created at no distant date. Meanwhile the Chinese Navy, though small and not up-to-date, might be useful in co-operating with the Japanese fleet to patrol the eastern seas.

There is another direction in which help could be given to the Entente Powers. The Chinese Government owns several munition factories, erected on modern lines. If properly organized and provided by the Allies with skilled labor they could produce large amounts of munitions.

China can render more vital assistance to the Allies with her man power, which can be utilized for auxiliary work. The French Government has already indentured 25,000 Chinese laborers for industrial and agricultural work. When I was in the interior of France a few months ago, after my visit to the British and French fronts, I saw several factories in which many Chinese were engaged in the production of munitions. A similar experiment could be made in this country, if the working population raise no objection.

Check to German Commerce.

One thing China can immediately do to help the Allies: she can suspend the remittance to Germany of the Boxer indemnity, which is exacted from China by the Powers as a punishment for China's delinquency in allowing the rebellion against the foreigners to spread. The share due to Germany is £500,000 a year, and since the war it has been regularly remitted to Berlin, in spite of the fact that Germany has been cut off from the Far East, both by land and on sea. The payment of interest and dividends to the German creditors of Chinese loans will also be suspended.

ed, if the expected diplomatic rupture is followed by drastic measures.

A check will also be given to the German commerce, which had been developed at a marvelous speed before the war. China has been regarded by Germany as the most promising land for exploitation, as she is the richest in natural resources and is the best developed industry. Nor would the advantages from China's entry into the war be all on one side. There is no doubt that in the future she is destined to come into closer contact with other nations, and her alliance with the mighty Entente Powers would secure her future against aggression and ensure the peaceful development of her industries.

Another point. If the great war is not to be waged in vain, some kind of world co-operation must survive the conflict. But a world co-operation will be a sheer illusion if it leaves out the Chinese, who represent one-fourth of the world's population. With their entry into the Entente Alliance any scheme formulated by the Allies for the maintenance of peace would cover every civilized race, and would have far greater hopes of success.

What a Gas Range Means for You, Mrs. Housekeeper.

The gas range is a muscle saver and a step saver. Think of the many tons of coal you used in that coal range, and how you have had to handle it all twice; first, carrying it up out of the cellar; then, from the kitchen to the ash barrel.

No more soot to wipe away; no more ashes to cart away; no more wood to fetch; no more coal dust; no more smoke and no more reason why the kitchen cannot be kept as clean and as orderly as the parlor. The gas range means just this.

Saves 50 Per Cent. of Kitchen Cares.

Half of the labor in the house is caused by dust from the coal range. Every time it smokes, no matter how good the draught may be, clouds of ashes rise and settle on the furniture. It eliminates Hard Work.

Use a gas range and you will live better, you will play better, and you will work better because the use of the gas range eliminates the drudgery of carrying coal, ashes and the chopping of kindling, as well as the drudgery of cleaning up a lot of dirt, and, best of all, for the cook it makes it unnecessary for her to stand over a hot stove from two to three hours a day.

Wedding Bells.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at St. Patrick Church, City, on Tuesday, April 24th, when Mr. Michael J. Donovan led to the altar Miss Maggie Baird. The ceremony was performed by Very Rev. Father Remout. The bride looked charming in a dress of blue silk and hat to match and was attended by Miss Jessie Donovan and Miss Violet Byrne, sisters of the groom and niece of the bride, respectively, who wore dresses of blue silk and white hats. The groom was ably supported by Mr. William Squires, cousin of the groom, and Mr. William Callahan, brother-in-law of the groom. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to the home of the bride's parents, Hamilton Avenue, where they will reside in future, and were supper was served and dancing kept up until the wee small hours of the morning. The bride and groom received many useful presents which are too numerous to mention. We wish them many years of happiness throughout their wedded life.

Our Newfoundland Heroes.

(By H. H. Pittman, in the King's College Record.)

First in our Empire's story
The land that gave them birth—
The grey dawn of a glory
That spread through all the earth—
Adventurers, sea-rovers
Their fathers mocked at fear,
And still their spirit hovers
O'er the land their sons hold dear.

By chartless seas undaunted,
Through mountain waves of foam,
Fog-bank and foe ghost-haunted,
They dared to make a home,
Struggled, o'ercame with courage,
Suffered and wrought and died,
But left their soul a heritage,
That would not be denied.

From such are sprung our heroes,
Sons worthy of their sires,
In whom the dauntless spirit glows
With all its wonted fires,
Inured to deeds of daring,
No danger bade them stay,
Along the sea forth faring,
They kept their destined way.

The bugle call was sounding Across the friendly flood,
With pulses eager, bounding,
Blood answered call of blood,
And vying each with other,
Led forward hand by hand,
There sped to aid the Mother
Brave sons of Newfoundland.

Not driven like dumb cattle,
But as glad freemen go,
They proudly marched to battle
To tame a ruthless foe—
To greet and brute force wedded,
To rights of others blind,
A monster hydra-headed,
And bane of all mankind.

For plighted faith was broken
In which men put their trust,
The written word was taken Dishonoured in the dust,
And Might in shining armour—
A godless creed—would seek
With all its bliant splendour
To trample down the weak.

Their fathers fought at Agincourt,
Trafalgar and Waterloo,
Their sons have fought at Hardecourt, Suva and Caribou: ††
For England still is England,
And England's flag their creed,
England ever mother-land,
And England's need their need.

Yes, nobly fought and nobly died
For human liberty,
That through the round world, far and wide,

All peoples might be free,
Upon a sure foundation
Build righteousness with peace,
And haste the consummation,
When brutal war shall cease.

O, England of our fathers,
And England of their sons,
The dawning light now gathers,
And on the horizon runs!
And thou, my Country, hail all hail!
With joy salute the morn,
Since of thy blood and travail
Such breed of men is born.

†On the Somme front, France.
††The foremost advance on the Suva Bay front, Gallipoli, made by the Newfoundlanders, and so named because they wear the deer's head badge.

HISTORICAL NOTE.

The University of King's College was founded in the year 1789 by an Act of Legislature in the Province of Nova Scotia and owes its origin to the Royalists who left the British Colonies in America to settle in Nova Scotia. A Royal Charter, conferring upon the College full University powers, was granted by King George III. in 1802, which makes this the oldest Colonial University in the British Empire.

The College is run on the residential system, which is modelled on that of Oxford and is open to students of all denominations. It consists of four buildings with a large campus adjoining. The main College Building, a substantial structure of wood and stone, has stood the storms of over a century and has housed, for a time, hundreds of the most eminent men of the Eastern Provinces. The new Science Wing was built in 1912 and has up-to-date chemical and physical laboratories. The other two buildings are the College Chapel and the Library, which is one of the most valuable in Canada.

The Law School in connection with the College was established in St. John, N.B., in 1892.

The College is located on one of the prettiest spots in the pretty little town of Windsor which boasts about 4,000 inhabitants.

King's has an intimate association with Newfoundland, in that a series of three games of hockey were played between the team from the draft of the Newfoundland Regiment and the College team.

The Newfoundland boys won the first game in a score of 3 goals to 7; while King's won the other two games, the scores being 11 to 3, and 11 to 6, respectively. The games were thoroughly enjoyed by both teams and the best spirit of friendly rivalry prevailed.

ONE WAY TO SAVE MONEY, LADIES, is the knowledge that from the buying standpoint Ladies' Ready-to-wear Goods, in most cases, show much better values than purchases of the materials to be made up. It was not always so, but this is how the matter stands to-day.

Prices have been continually rising, with ever increasing prices of raw wool, and more lately tremendous advances in the prices of raw cotton.

OUR LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR GOODS are always booked up with the manufacturers at least six months ahead of the season, to catalogues and samples of goods which these manufacturers have made up and priced on materials generally booked up about six months ahead by them.

The retailer of Piece Goods would not be booking for his requirements as far ahead as a clothier, and as lately piece goods have had very large advances, it stands to reason that the later bookings of piece goods show poorer values than the made up goods. We have realised this in our buying. Our buying has been made a long way ahead, and we are giving our customers all the benefits of money saved by advanced buying. You can save a lot of money by buying from us

All Kinds of Ladies' Ready-to-Wear Goods.

This includes Blouses, Dress Skirts, Underskirts of all kinds, Shower Coats, Coat Coats, White Embroidered Cambric Night-dresses, Camisoles, Chemises, Combinations and Knickers.
