That are Made to Distribute Large Quantities of Desirable Merchandise

JULY 26th JULY 25th

RECORD-BREAKING Clearance of Regular Lines and Odds and Ends-some of the most remarkable values we have ever offered. We are making strenuous efforts to clean up all balances of stock earlier than usual this Summer, which accounts for the liberality of the reductions. We do not exaggerate; we are not given to the use of high-sounding adjectives, but when we tell you positively, as we do here, that the values offered in this two days' sale are altogether extraordinary, great in magnitude, and of far reaching importance to you and all other women, we do so after laying the goods on our counters and giving you our assurance that they bear out the truth of our assertions.

The savings in each instance speak in magaphone tones: Here are the Goods. Take time to read each item.

BARING THIRD AT FORT ERIE.

BUFFALO, July 23.—Childs, the driver of Leits J., winner of the 2.14 pace, the first event on the card of the Grand Circuit at Fort Erie this atternoon, was fined $250, and the judges declared off all pools on the race. The Assessor and Blue Line were made equal tavorlies, and the former won the first and third heats, with Blue Line the second.

After Leita J. captured the fourth, fifth and sixth heats, Driver Childs was called into the stand and the judges announced the fine and the declaring off all pools, claiming the driver did not try in the early heats.

The King George V. stake, $10,000 purse, for 2.16 trotters, was won by the Lexington mare Tenara, a rank outsider in the pools, the public installing Uncle Biff favorits.

Dago F. had no trouble in disposing of his field in the 2.15 trot. Frances Graham, driven by Geers, was the contender, Baring was third, being 3 2 4 in the summary:

2.14 pace, $1000—Leita J. 4 4 3 1.11; The Assessor 12 1 2 2 8 Blue Line 2 1.23 3. Biettle BARING THIRD AT FORT ERIE.

Well! well!

Our Tory contemporary, after calling Sir Wfifrid Laurier a Separationist, an Annexationist, a would-be smasher of Empire, and other things of a like nature, now calls him an Imperial Federationist. Says the Heraid:

"Sir Wilfrid Laurier is on record as an outspoken advocate of this very policy of centralization and the setting-up of a representative Council or Parliament of the whole Empire."

"Now it must be clear from the foregoing that . . . Sir Wilfrid must be regarded as one of the wicked Centralizers."

Hereafter we will not hear so much about Sir Wilfrid's alleged Separatism. Repentance and conversion though late are always acceptable.

FIRE AT SING SING. Convicts had chance for riotous demonstrations.

Ossining, N. Y., July 21.—Another fire at Sing Sing prison to-day gave the mutinous convicts a chance for more rictous demonstrations.

The blaze started in a clothing shop and the prison fire brigade extinguished it after a hard fight, without outside aid. It was the second fire in the prison buildings this week not withstanding the fact that the guards had been doubled since $150,000 worth of property was burned up there two days ago.

While the guards and the "trusties" detailed to fire duty were attacking the flames more than a thousand prisoners, locked in their cells, raised a chorus of yells that sounded high above the noise of the slarm.

OXFORD yells that sounded high above the noise or the alarm.

The men at work in the building were marched out in good order and the blaze was extinguished after most of the con-tents of the shop had been tossed out of the windows and drenched with water.

DEMAND OF SWISS GUARDS At Vatican rejected, and several expelled.

ROME, July 24.—Throughout the day yesterday the Vatican was in a veritable state of seige, as the outcome of a muthy of the Swiss Guards, whose demands were flatly rejected. Three of the leaders in the movement were expelled from the Vatican. Four others left last night and twelve have requested leave to depart for their homes in October. Those who left were accompanied to the gates of the Vatican by their comrades. At the moment of separation they cried "Vive Caribaid." Some of them joined in singing the Marsellaise.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 24.—Taking their lives in their hands, iteservation Constable Arthur Alexander and Frank Glassbro, hackman, formed a human chain in the rapids, ten feet above the American Falls, at six o'clock last night to rescue as fox terrier which fell into the river sixty feet above the cataract. The rescue was accomplished at imminent riek of the lives of the two men, while a hundred spectators looked on in terror. Once Glassbro look his footing on the slippery river bottom and was nearly carried over the trink. When the animal was brought ashore a woman member of an auto party, in a car bearing a Michigan license, took the animal saying, "I'll take him back to Michigan as a souvenir."

CANNEL COAL

The Cook at one of our leading Clubs, not getting satisfactory results from the various Coals supplied her, the Lady Superintendent finally gave her a sample of CANNEL COAL to try. After one day's use of this Superior Fuel, a full supply was ordered, with the most gratifying results ever since.

At this Club, meals are ordered at all times from the opening until the closing of the Cafe and must be served at once. Under such conditions not only a quick, but a reliable fire is needed, and CANNEL COAL "fills the bill." The Coal is handled carefully and intelligently, with the result that only a little more than half as much is used as of other Coals. A combination of satisfaction and economy is obtained which cannot be secured from other Fuels.

Arrested on suspicion. Some days ago it was reported that a man had passed a worthless $10 note in a store on Upper Water Street. A two dollar note had been raised to ten dollars. Deputy Sheriff Scriven and Jailor Mitchell took the case up, and as a result Visit Waverley.

Waverley is one of the most lovely villages in Nova Scotia, and of its beautiful spots none is more attractive than the head of Lake William, where the Wilson's grounds are situated. There, or Saturday, July 26th, will be held a Trangle of the wave and they found an Italian, who was eating his supper. He was placed under arrest. A trunk was near him, and in it was found a quantity of the transfer for the restoration and adornment of their church.

22-24 Barrington St. CITY GIVES REAL TREAT To the Summer School of Science with concert at Public Gardens.

Enemy ran blockade and upset The city of Halifax gave the Summer School of Science a real treat last evening, when they entertained them at a concert in the Public Gardens. They sent them neat cards of invitation, and specially printed programmes of music. The Gardens was beautifully illuminated in their honor, and perhaps never before have they looked prettier. 1,500 people were pre-sent, and not only strangers, but citizens enjoyed the concert to the fullest. enjoyed the concert to the fullest.

Bandmaster Ryan and his splendid corps of musicians of the R. C. R. played a programme which showed their artistic work as musicians, among their numbers being "Masaniello," overture "I Pagliacei" and Bizets "L'Arlesienne," all most skillfully played.

But what the public appreciated to the fullest was their "Alpine Echoes," with duet for cornets and their lively encore number with vocal parts, which brought forth the heartlest applause.

The 66th P. L. F, under Bandmaster Carleton, also gave pleasure with their various numbers, which was all the more to their credit in being played on the same platform with such a spiendid organization as the R. C. R.

over a hundred men took part yesterday in the cleaning up of St. Margaret's Bay Road from the city to French VII. lage. The volunteer road-makers included men of many professions and trades. Pickaxes, shovels, rakes, iron bars, rock-breakers and everything to complete a road construction outfit were in evidence. From 2 o'clock to 6 the men all worked hard, and when they left for the city still were feeling tired, but by that time there were rows of stones alongside the road for eighteen miles. Holes that had been gaping wide are now filled with gravel, ratts that stretched in menacing lines are evened up in good shape, and bushes that overhung were cut away.

WAITING

Serene, I fold my hands and wait.

I rave no more 'gainst time or fate For lo! my own shall come to me.

I stay my haste, I make delays,

For what avails this eager pace

I stand awid the eternal ways, And what is mine shall know my face.

I wait with joy the coming years;
My heart shall reap where it hath sown,
And garner up its fruit of tears.

The brook that springs is yonder heights; So flows the good with equal law Unto the soul of pure delights.

The waters know their own, and draw

Armitage had resolved to play the part of an Englishman who understood no German, and he addressed the man sharply in English several times to signify that he did not understand. The Servian half turned toward his prisoner, the revolver in his left hand, while with the fingers of his right he felt laboriously for a lamp that had been revealed by the fitful flashes of the matches. It is not an easy matter to light a lamp when you have only one hand to work with, particularly when you are obliged to keep an eye on a mysterious prisoner of whose character you are ignorant, and it was several minutes before the job was done. "You will go to that corner," and the Servian translated for his prison-er's benefit with a gesture of the re-

"Anything to please you, worthy fellow," replied Armitage, and he obeyed with amiable alacrity. The man's ob-ject was to get him as far from the nner door as possible while he called help from above, which was, of course the wise thing from his point of view as Armitage recognized.

Armitage stood with his back against a rack of pots. The table was at his left and beyond it the door opening upon the court. A barred window was at his right. Opposite him was another door that communicated with the interior of the house and disclosed the lower steps of a rude stairway leading upward. The Servian now closed and locked the outer kitchen doors with

Armitage had lost his hat in the area; his light walking stick lay in the middle of the floor; his inverness coat hung wet and bedraggled about him; his shirt was crumpled and soiled. But his air of good humor and his tame ac-ceptance of capture seemed to increase the Servian's caution, and he backed away toward the inner door with his evolver still pointed at Armitage's

He began calling lustily up the narrow stairwell in Servian, changing in a moment to German. He made a ludierous figure, as he held his revolver at arm's length, craning his neck into the passage and howling until he was red in the face. He paused to listen, then renewed his cries, while Armi-

Any weakness in your back? Sometimes you experience pain and weakness without much suffering. Later weakness without much suffering. Later on the pain will surely come. The trouble can be stopped new by rubbing on Nerviline—ub it in deeply over the spine, and then put on a Nerviline Prous Plaster. In these remedies you will find wonderful and quick relief. They will spare you from an attack of Lumbero, which is the outcome of neglected pain in the back or side. "There is a thief here! I have caught thief?' yelled the Servian, now exasperated by the silence above. Then, as he relaxed a moment and turned to make sure that his revolver still cov-ered Armitage, there was a sudden sound of steps above, and a voice hawled angrily down the stairway: "Zmal, stop your noise and tell me what's the trouble."

It was the voice of Durand speaking

On the instant the re-volver roared loudly in the narrow kitchen, and Armitage seized the brass Author of "The House of a Thousand mu and flung it from him upon the thearth, where it fell with a great clat-ter without exploding.

It was instantly pitch dark. The Servian had gone down like a felled ox, Copyright, 1907, by the Dobbs-Merrill Co. several minutes passed during which the burly Servian struck his matches and Armitage, at the threshold, leaped over him into the hall past the rear stairs, down which the men were stumoling, cursing volubly as they came. Armitage had assumed the existence of a front stairway, and now that he was launched upon an unexpected adventure he was in a humor to prolong for a moment even at further risk He crept along a dark passage to the front door, found and turned the key o provide himself with a ready exit hen, as he heard the men from above stumble over the prostrate Servian, he bounded up the front stairway, gained the second floor, then the third and readily found by its light the room that he had observed earlier from the Below there was smothered confusion and the crackling of matches as Durand and Chauvenet sought to grasp the unexpected situation that confronted them. The big servant, Armitage halting German.

"Undoybtedly you will!" and something in the fellow's manner caused knew, would hardly be able to clear matters for them at once, and he hur-riedly turned over the packets of papers that lay on the table. They were caught, and he did not at once see any safe issue out of his predicament, but his plight had its preposterous side and the ease with which he had been taken claims of one kind and another against several South and Central American republics, chiefly for naval and military supplies, and he merely noted their general character. They were, on the face of it, certified accounts in the usual manner of business. On the back at the very outset of his quest touched his humor.
