SONGS WHICH HELP TO SAVE SOULS

Singing a Prominent Part of Present Campaign

New Hymns are Becoming Popular—Mr. Haffner Tells Some Incidents in Connection With Them.

If there is one feature which stands out more than another during the simultaneous campaign of the past week, it is the powerful song service which has been conducted in connection with all the meetings.

It is not an unordinary thing to pass people on the street who are humming some of the most catchy. All classes are affected. A rather amusing though pathetic case was witnessed on Union street Saturday evening.

Mr. Haffner, who is leading the singing in the Centenary group and who has had a broad experience in evangelistic work, is a great believer in the power of song to lead men to Christ.

In response to a request Mr. Haffner mentioned some interesting incidents in connection with some of the hymns with which he is familiar.

One day Mr. Alexander was standing at a bank counter in Liverpool and while waiting for the clerk he unconsciously wrote all over the blotter before him, "Pray Through."

Another hymn which has been instrumental in leading men to Christ is the one entitled "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?"

The hymn No. 48, "Thou Mother I'll Be There," does not seem to have much in it, but Mr. Alexander claims it has been instrumental in converting more people than any other.

Riots Followed Meetings Held All Over the Country to Protest Against the Suffrage Bill.

BERLIN, Feb. 13.—Demonstrations by the Socialists throughout the kingdom after mass meetings today to protest against the suffrage bill, resulted in serious affrays between the demonstrators and the police at many places.

At Halle, after the close of the meetings, about 2,000 Socialists attacked the police, who drew their sabres and wounded many.

At Cologne, the Socialists returned in a body from the suburban meetings, the police in attempting to divert the crowds into the side streets, used their side arms.

ST. JOHN, N. B., FEBRUARY 14, 1910.

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY.

The fourteenth of February is widely observed as an occasion on which good wishes should be extended, and compliments passed to friends and acquaintances. Today the observation generally takes the form of a distribution of cards of greeting, and, on the part of the rising generation of highly colored monstrosities conveying suggestions anything but complimentary to the recipients. The original meaning of the celebration has been lost to a large extent, and rarely is to be found an adherence to the old custom of making useful gifts to one's acquaintances by friendly visit. Yet indeed the true nature of the observance of St. Valentine's Day has always been more or less uncertain. There were many saints by the name of Valentine, or Valentines. One, a teacher and martyr of Rome, was headed by Calpurnius on February 14th; another, Bishop of Terni, performed many miraculous cures and gave his life for his faith. He too suffered on February 14th, and from this martyrdom of one or both of these the observance of St. Valentine's Day now comes. There is a contention that our word Valentine is derived from the old French "valentinus" which this day, set apart by ancient custom for the exchange of vows of love, is obviously appropriate enough.

A NOTABLE SERVICE.

The evangelistic campaign could be regarded as a marked success if it accomplished nothing more than make possible such a meeting as was held in the Centenary Church on Saturday evening. Perhaps to those who have shared in the enthusiasm of other cities there was nothing remarkable in a gathering of two thousand men and women for the purpose of singing gospel hymns. But to St. John folk who know their town, the event was truly inspiring. In this city, where the love of music is general, congregational singing is deplorably poor. People who can sing, won't sing, and stand in stolid silence at their own church services, worshipping by proxy means of paid choirs. It is easier to build a fire of wet wood than to make the musical people of St. John open their mouths. Yet on Saturday evening they got busy. Nearly all of them sang—and they sang not as an unorganized crowd peering any old way, but as one vast chorus under capable leadership. Such music, such subdued enthusiasm and such earnestness has never previously been heard or seen here. Verses after verses were sung with a heartiness, and a depth of expression which, to those sadly cognizant of the muteness of the ordinary congregation, was indeed a revelation. And the people meant it, too. They were not out for fast notes, nor were they impelled by any passing religious fervor. There was everywhere strong evidence of a sincerity of purpose, a yielding to the power of music. The immense congregation responded as one voice to the demands of the conductor, old hymns became new, new ones grew familiar, and to the simplest melodies there was given a charm of expression which could not fail to impress even the most unimpressive. It was in many respects the grandest musical event in the history of St. John—and better is still to come.

AN AWAKENING.

The action of the M.P.A.A.A. in suspending and professionalizing those hockey players who have openly violated the principal rule of amateurism will be commended by all true followers of sport. The only regret is that for various unfortunate causes, this action was not taken years ago. Had it been New Brunswick hockey might now be at a higher standard. This habit of engaging players on salary, and lying about the facts, has been going on far too long. It has not been the monopoly of any one team or league, but has been general throughout the province, and it might be added that those teams which offend least, have been the ones with the poorest backing. The number of professional players in most clubs have been limited only by the available cash. While there may have been some teams strictly amateur in so far as their own members were concerned, these have been so few that professionalism may be said to have been general. Under previous administration the M.P.A.A.A. appeared to be an extremely uncertain organization. The new officers have taken a step which raises the status of the governing body to its proper place, and it is to be hoped that the sentiment which has led to this latest move will be sufficiently strong to insist on the exclusion of professionalism not only from hockey but from all other sports.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

FINANCIAL DIAGNOSIS

"If my husband very ill, doctor?" "Oh, no, only about a hundred dollars worth."

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

Have you absolute repose of mind or? If you have you are one in a hundred. Or maybe a thousand would be closer. For it sometimes seems to me, my repose of mind is a nervous little girl who sits with the girls of today. "More repose of mind, Ruthie, more repose of mind," an old aunt of mine used to say to me when I was a nervous little girl who sat with the girls of today. And though I had but a vague idea of what the words meant at the time, I used to make up my mind that it must be something very objectionable if Aunt Susan urged it, and that I would take care never to have it. But I've changed my mind now. I sat beside a girl in a car yesterday. She was talking vivaciously to her companion in a voice that for a wonder was fairly well modulated. To judge from the fragments that floated my way, she was saying, rather interesting things. She sat well, way back in the seat, erect, and with her feet squarely on the floor instead of crossed in the undignified fashion so many of the young girls of the present day affect. Her appearance and manner might have been perfect but for one thing. She wore a tiny locket on a little gold chain and continually as she talked she twisted and twirled and tossed and played with the chain and its trinket. Never for an instant did the restless motion cease. Just a mannerism? Well, I don't know whether to measure sure nerve force by inches or pounds or volts or bushels, so I can't tell you exactly, but I'm pretty sure that it was entirely disproportionate to the time gained. Now do you understand me, and a contrite repose of mind with languidness. It is just as far from that as it is from dignified and nervous haste. The anemic, listless girl who never moves quickly and is too lifeless toidget, does not possess repose of mind. Repose of mind is the result of perfect physical energy and vigorous health and mental liveliness and strong passions all in perfect harmony and under perfect control. All the energies combined make white. All the energies combined make balance from which comes the perfect repose of mind. And now I'm wondering what Aunt Eliza would say if she knew that her small niece who used toidget from her back chair and back again were actually writing an "Repose of mind."

Household Hints: Dried lemon peel sprinkled over coals will destroy any disagreeable odor in the house. Hot biscuits, generously buttered and spread with currant jelly are delicious served with game. Waterless slices of bread, spread with caviare, sprinkled with lemon juice and salt, make tasty sandwiches. Lace washed in skimmed milk should not be rinsed in water, but should be ironed while still damp with the milk. A better iron rest than the ordinary metal stand is a greibrock, as it does not cool the iron so rapidly. Combs will warp and break if washed with water. They should be cleaned with a good, stiff, dry tooth-brush or nailbrush. Use paraffin paper which lines biscuit boxes to polish flatirons. It is also a good lining for the cake tins. Clean copper by rubbing it with lemon juice and salt, make tasty sandwiches. The door should be closed very gently. Shredded chocolate coconut, which is bought already prepared, makes a tasty addition to different kinds of salad. For spring suppers sliced oranges and shredded coconut, put into a dish in alternate layers, is very appetizing. A delicate jelly is made of gelatine flavored with grape juice and served with blanched nuts and whipped cream. Though steam heat is cleaner generally than a furnace, it will soil the curtains and walls much more, especially if the radiators are placed close to the wall or under the windows.

Fashions and Fads

Black and deep blue velvet have been constantly reverted to as becoming contrasts in Paris neckwear. Some of the white velvets which are being seen at southern resorts have the fringe faced with black. Handwork more elaborate than ever before is shown to advantage on coats and gowns of wash materials. Not only are new, exquisites and gendines sewn with beads, but also the velvets, satins and broadcloths. In a handsome pair of beaded suede slippers, the openwork design is partially filled in with the beads. Some of the theatre bags are of gold or silver net work, with a great raised flower on tarnished metal. The mixtures are to be more in evidence than they have ever been before. Hip yokes with plaited skirts blow them are very much in evidence in the newest gowns made for the south. Adaptations of their usian blouse will be seen in many of the school frocks for young girls this spring. Large silver buttons are the fastenings on a smart separate coat of small shepherd plaid in black and white. Gause with a contrasting color for lining is resorted to often for elaboration in both gowns and coats. Velvet in black and deep rich tones is very much in favor for formal gowns in color, are an effective adjunct to many a costume. Narrow bands of fur are being used for the collars, cinchilla for bracelets and sable for blouses being the usual choice.

ENGLISH RAILWAY SYSTEM IS A SOURCE OF WONDER

Canadians Smile at the Diminutive Cars and Think They are a Joke—How Speed, Safety and Efficiency are Secured—Everybody Gets a Seat.

(By Joseph F. Clark.) When a Canadian lands in England, and leaves the boat to take train for London he can see no sign of a train anywhere that he does see is a long row of bob-tail street cars, and when somebody tells him that this is his train he suspects that somebody is putting up a joke on him.

metal support. Supported in every two or three feet of its length in this way no rail could possibly spread, and one could almost believe that even if it broke both ends of the rail would be held in place. The only objection one can see to this method of laying rails is its cost. Yet if this cost should be faced elsewhere, why not in Canada and the United States, where each year the weight of engines and freight cars grow greater.

One frequently sees a single passenger coach divided into three compartments. Each compartment is of the same size and you will reach your destination as rapidly in one as in the other. There are differences, in the first class compartment the upholstery is of the finest material, in the second unattractive in its color scheme. They will tell you that only fools and foreigners intend to travel in the third class, that is not quite true. Yet, about all you get for your money when you travel in the third class is a measure of exclusiveness. The system is a concession to class distinctions.

CONNAUGHT NOT A HAPPY CHOICE Victoria Colonist Would Prefer One of Common People as Governor.

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 12.—The Colonist (Conservative) has an editorial suggesting that one of the common people would be a better governor-general for Canada than a brother of King Edward. It says:

"The London Chronicle seems to be in doubt as to whether the Duke of Connaught would strike the imagination of Canadians in the position of governor general. We are inclined to think he would not. We are inclined to doubt the wisdom of sending one of the royal family to Rideau Hall. The Canadians are a very democratic people and while they would appreciate the presence among them, as governor-general, of the brother of the King, he would not in point of fact belong, as the saying is, 'No matter how kind and gracious he might be, he could not bridge the gulf which separates royalty from the general public.'

"Canada," writes the governor general who will be something else than official figurehead to the state. It wants men who, like Earl Grey, are in touch with the feelings and aspirations of a growing community, which has not only the feeling of the common people, and the knack of bowing a royal duke would be likely to be a failure as governor general, not because of anything personal to himself but because Canadians would hardly know what to do with royalty, for after all we are just everyday people who are busy making a country."

WHERE SHE WOULD SHINE. A "maid" furnished to "stars" and leading women by the management of English theatres is called the "dresser." She is generally a "sister" and is an original personage with entertaining qualities of her own. "Do you always go in for Shakespeare, my dear?" asked one of those dressers of Ellen Terry at one of her London appearances. "Oh, no! Sometimes I play in modern pieces," was the actress reply. "Do you now? But I suppose you get in Shakespeare when you can't get more of it?" Now I don't really like to see you in a real good play like 'Woman and Wine'."

"They're very much in love with one another."

SUBSTANTIAL HONORS FOR HEROIC SAILORS

"Remember the Maine" Agitated—Fears for Schooner—Killed His Own Child.

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 13.—Something more substantial than the honor of having done a brave deed will reward Captain Levi Jackson and his doughty crew of four men of their rescue on January 25 of the Korean secret agent Captain and Mrs. Heskell and the members of the crew of the six-masted schooner Marjie B. Crowder, after she was wrecked off Martha's Vineyard Island. A silver medal and check for $60 has been awarded to each by the Massachusetts Humane Society. It is hoped, too, that the "Remember the Maine" Agitation will also recognize their feat.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 14.—Attacked by a gang of negro women and men while protecting James Diggs, a 14 year old negro boy, from throning and lynching, James Baldwin, night watchman at the Annapolis County Jail, was severely beaten and narrowly escaped being killed here tonight. A GOOD THING When It Comes Along Don't Let it Get Away From You

"I really feel that it is hardly possible to say too much in favor of Grape-Nuts as a health food," writes a Chicago woman. For 8 or 10 years I had suffered from indigestion and chronic constipation, caused by the continued use of rich and heavy, greasy foods. My ailments made my life so wretched that I was eager to try anything that held out a promise of help. And that is how I happened to buy a package of Grape-Nuts food, in spring.

That ended my experiments. For Grape-Nuts I found exactly what I wanted and needed. From the day I began to use it I noticed an improvement and in a very few weeks my health completely restored. My digestive apparatus now works perfectly and my chronic constipation has been entirely relieved, and life is a very pleasant thing to me so long as I use Grape-Nuts once or twice a day. I have found by experiment that if I leave it off for a few days in health suffers.

FIVE CENT PIECE NECESSARY GOIN STANDS FOR MORE FIXED VALUES THAN ANY OTHER

Could Not be Eliminated in the United States—People Would be at Loss Without it

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13—Officials of the treasury department sometimes discuss the United States' cumbersome coinage and make suggestions to one another that this or that change might bring relief to the working forces of the department. Generally these discussions do not go beyond the inner circle where they originate, no change is made or even suggested seriously and the work of the mint goes on as before.

Recently, however, the fact leaked out that the five-cent piece or "nickel" had been under discussion and that that government might ask Congress to pass a law eliminating it from the national coinage. Small likelihood exists or ever did exist that such a move would be taken, but for a short space of time considerable anxiety developed in all parts of the country, lest the useful and popular nickel should disappear from the circulating medium.

The fact is the government could afford to dispense with almost any coin rather than the five cent piece. It stands for more stable value than any other. It is the price of a loaf of bread, it pays the cost of a ride in the street car, with the German buys his glass of beer and the American pays for the shining of his shoes. It is probably not too much to say that the disappearance of the nickel would prove a greater shock to the finances of the nation than almost anything that could happen.

The five cent coin for two generations at least has been the fixed price of so many things that the people would be at a complete loss how to proceed without it. True, hundreds of thousands of five cent pieces are lost each year, but that is due largely to the amazing ease with which the little coin is put. The use of business requires the coinage of a greater number of nickels than of any other coin. It has been said that its universal use as the price of a fare on the street car is the cause of its retention, but that can hardly be so, as it enters very largely into the price of many other things that it could not be dispensed with if the price of the coin were changed.

The nickel is extensively used in telephone calls. It was formerly more than now the open sesame of the popular slot machine, for which it does an still extensive duty. It is the price of admission to the fast multiplying picture shows in all parts of the country. The new fashioned boot shining and shoe changing business has gathered their daily harvest of these little coins. The soft footed boys in popular favor, deal mostly in nickels. Ice cream in summer, three for five cents, and the change is a myriad things in the pharmacy and the five-cent store requires this coin.

Most smokers would have their own were it not for the nickel, obnoxious as the domestic cigar is to many of them. The cigarette would cease to be the popular smoke if it is the price were not five cents. Shoe laces would either become a luxury at a higher price or require payment in pennies. Turn which way you will the five cent piece holds up at every turn as the most necessary coin of the realm. Its discontinuance would inevitably increase the cost of a thousand things of everyday life, which no dealer now has the daring to change because of riveted custom. There is no likelihood that the government will soon consider the elimination of this coin, as such action would result in a howl of disapproval nation wide.

CZAR'S BROTHER SECRETLY MARRIED Lady Has Already Been Divorced Three Times—Nichols Is Very Angry

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 13—An indignant flutter has been caused in court circles on its becoming known that Grand Duke Michael, the Czar's only brother, who until the little Czarevitch was born, was heir to the throne, has secretly married a lady, who during her adventurous career has been divorced three times. The Grand Duke's attachment for her has been known for some time and they have been frequently seen together in fashionable restaurants and resorts in Moscow, but a morganatic alliance was not suspected by the public until today, although it was apparently known by the Imperial family.

The Czar is reported to be very angry over the affair, and the Dowager Empress, who lately returned from Copenhagen, refused to see Michael when she arrived here. The Grand Duke is now commanding a cavalry regiment at Orel.

READY TO GO AHEAD WITH VALLEY RY. All That Is Needed Now Is Bond Guarantee

Proposed Provincial Aid With Federal Subsidies in Sufficient—Federal Conditions Can be Met

The proposed construction of a provincial guarantee of the St. John Valley Railway Company's bonds to the amount of $25,000 per mile is all that is needed to ensure immediate action toward the construction of the road, is the statement made by Major Chestnut of Fredericton, president of the company, upon his return from Ottawa on Saturday.

Mr. Chestnut went to the capital last week to ascertain the effect of the Dominion government agreement, as to the standard of the road and returns convinced that a line can be built up to the required conditions with the proposed financial aid. As soon as the provincial government passes the legislation required, the company is prepared either to arrange for the building of the road by a reputable construction concern or to undertake the work itself.

A Sun reporter conveyed this information to Premier Hays last night and asked for a statement of the government's intentions, but Mr. Hays refused to commit himself at the time, saying that he would probably be prepared to make a statement after he had discussed the matter with Mr. Chestnut.

It will be remembered that Mr. Hays last year offered to guarantee bonds for $25,000 per mile of the proposed road, if the Dominion government would agree to operate it and pay in rental 10 per cent of the gross receipts. Mr. Chestnut's proposition was that the Dominion government should guarantee the road to be built up to the grade of the existing road, which it would connect at Grand Falls. The question then arose whether a road of such a character could be built for the amount of the bond guarantee plus the authorized Dominion subsidy of $2,000 per mile. It was with regard to this matter that Mr. Chestnut went to Ottawa, and the assurances he received from the Dominion government, that construction under these conditions is practicable.

The present St. John Valley Railway Company consists of the leading men throughout the country, interested in the road and the public interest rather than with the idea of making money for the promoters. This company, he indicated, is not a speculative one, but is a public interest rather than with the idea of making money for the promoters. Methodist Meeting

Addresses by visiting evangelists were delivered at the weekly meeting of the Methodist ministers, which was held this morning in the parlors of Centenary Church. Dr. Chas. Flinders occupied the chair. Besides the city clergymen there were present Revs. Dr. Sykes, Dr. Geary, Dr. Rice and Rev. W. W. Brewer of Marysville. Reports of the churches for two Sundays were presented. A resolution of appreciation was passed to Rev. Dr. Borden, Rev. Dr. Andrews and Professor Watson for their kindness in assisting in the services in the city churches on missionary Sunday. Interesting remarks were made by the visiting clergymen. The evangelist referred to the success of the opening week of the campaign. It augurs well for future meetings. Dr. Rees said the people were showing a willingness to co-operate which is not always encountered.

Rev. Dr. Sykes in the course of his address said that he would return to his charge reordained and rebaptized as a result of his work here. The addresses were listened to with close attention, and at the close a vote of thanks was tendered the speakers.
