POLITICIANS AT SEA NEW YORK ELECTION

Newspapers Forecast Elects Hearst, But McClellan Is Favorite

Tammany's Nominee Backed at Odds of 2-1 to 1 to Win, But the "Yellow" Candidate's Admirers Are Many-- Jerome's Victory Conceded on All Sides, Colonization on Tremendous Scale Unearthed--More warrants than Ever Issued.

(From Our Own Correspondent.) New York, Nov. 6--On the eve of election the situation may be fairly described as chaotic and one guess is probably as good as another. There are men who bet on the Republican candidate, Ives, getting, of course, five or six to one for their money. Their argument is that Hearst and McClellan will split the Democratic vote that Ives will slip in between them.

As a matter of fact, if Ives got the full Republican vote he would be elected. But he won't. In the first place the organization is not sincere in supporting its candidate. Then many Republicans will vote for McClellan with the idea that it is the only way to beat Hearst.

Also the notion that Hearst will draw only from Tammany is very fallacious. He will get thousands of Republican votes from the same class of men who will change their Tammany allegiance to vote for him.

Hearst Hailed as a Demagogue. The Hearst people are extremely confident. The demonstrations for him in the last week have been remarkable. He has been hailed in some quarters as a demagogue. Men have fought fiercely to get a glimpse of him. The other night when he passed down the Bowery through cheering thousands, standing in his carriage bareheaded, the central figure in a lane of red fire, he was acclaimed as the angel who comes to deliver us and many kissed the sleeve of his coat.

This form of "Hearstism" as it has been called, has been most pronounced. Last night Madison Square Garden held perhaps the biggest crowd of its history, and the streets for blocks about were packed that it was only by the energetic work of the mounted police that serious accidents were avoided.

Hearst did not intend to speak at the garden, but the 20,000 persons there wouldn't listen to anything till he appeared. He left the box where he was sitting with his wife, once Millie Wilson, of the Casino chorus, and came to the front of the platform. For twenty minutes there was pandemonium.

Newspapers Concede Hearst's Election. The newspaper canvasses give Hearst a plurality, except the Tribune, which elects Ives, a forecast not taken seriously. Notwithstanding all this, your correspondent hazards the prediction that a very different story will be revealed when it comes to the actual placing of the ballots. McClellan will probably be elected, although possibly by a greatly reduced plurality. He got 62,000 plurality when he was elected last time and he will do with 20,000 this time.

There are nearly 2,000 election districts in the greater city, so it will be seen that it is pretty close figuring when it comes to a matter of ten votes a district. The election of Jerome seems a reasonable certainty now.

The polls open at 6 o'clock in the morning and close at 5. Usually the result is known by 7 o'clock. This year it may possibly be so close that the result may be in doubt very late.

If Hearst is defeated by a small plurality he will undoubtedly contest the election, and raise the cry "counted out!" This may lead to all sorts of trouble.

The forecasters at the headquarters of the several majority candidates differ widely as to the vote tomorrow. At Tammany Hall an authoritative announcement was not made, but men who were close to Murphy gave three figures to their friends: McClellan, 230,000; Hearst, 115,000; Ives, 150,000. It was said, however, that the worst poll against Tammany, taken by Tammany men, showed 230,000 for McClellan, 200,000 for Hearst, and 150,000 for Ives.

Jerome's Election About Sure. On all sides, even by Tammany Hall, the election of District Attorney Jerome is conceded.

At the Hearst headquarters they were not so timid about making forecasts. The Hearst men had all sorts of estimates, the favorite one being 30 per cent. of the total vote for Hearst, with Ives second and McClellan, third. Shearn they conceded would not run as well as Hearst, but the worst that could happen to him was to run second.

CIVIL SERVANTS TO PAY FULL FARE

No More Cut Rates When Traveling on Business of the Government

THE BAVARIAN WRECK

Marine Department Has Word That Allan Liner Will Be Floated Tomorrow--Channel More Than Two Miles Wide Where She Went Ashore--Old Documents Transferred to Archives.

Ottawa, Nov. 6--(Special)--Civil servants traveling on government business will hereafter not avail themselves of cut rates on railways. The Intercolonial and the Canadian Pacific, where it competes with the I. C. R., give a special rate to government employees. Therefore, when going on government business in that part of the country officials have availed themselves of the reduced rate. A circular is being issued by the deputy ministers despatching the men and orders that the full fare be paid and charged up. The railways are "fit" that much. For civil servants going on vacation or on personal business the cheap rates will still be available.

It was stated in the department of marine and fisheries today that the small steamer Bavarian, which went ashore opposite Groses Isle Station, will be removed about Wednesday. The accident is causing much regret among the officers of the department, but the cause is not attributed to any fault of the ship channel. Only recently Hon. Raymond Prefontaine had the route and found the channel in excellent condition.

Channel Two Miles Wide. The marine officers say that it seems, in spite of every effort for minimizing danger of navigation ships will run ashore, and in most cases at a point of least danger. The channel where the Bavarian was damaged is more than two miles wide. The pilot says that it was on account of one of the buoy lights being out that the accident occurred.

In the Canadian archives report just received from New York says: The steamship from Riddan Hall of more than 400 volumes of original despatches and the answers to them, dating from 1791, to the archives. These records were sent by Lord Minto and they are naturally much prized. He also sent a series of despatches relating to Prince Edward Island, Vancouver and British Columbia. A mass of correspondence between the provinces, original instructions from England to government and other interesting documents. These papers are all well preserved and it is quite marvellous how over a century of time could affect them so little.

GALLERY ELECTION PETITION RESULT OF FAMILY QUARREL

Friends of Dr. Guerin Charged with Bringing it on for Revenge--Sensation I Evidence Money.

Montreal, Nov. 6--(Special)--In the St. Ann's election case today, sensational evidence was given by Patrick Murphy, one of the principal witnesses, who said he had been given money by the candidate personally to influence voters by treating them.

In polling day he said the "gang" went on a strike and would not vote till they were given money. Then he was given funds to satisfy their demands.

The protest against Alderman Gallery's election as M. P. for St. Ann's, Montreal Irish constituency, is said to be the result of a family quarrel among the Liberals of the district. The quarrel was started by provincial election, when Alderman Gallery ran his brother-in-law, Alderman Walsh, against Hon. Dr. Guerin, a member of the Liberal cabinet. The Liberal defeated, and for the supporters of the doctor have since been after Gallery.

EQUITABLE ASSETS CUT DOWN $15,000,000

Report of New York State Superintendent of Insurance Submitted--That Mysterious Loan.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 6--A special despatch from New York says: The final report of Francis Hendrick, state superintendent of insurance upon the condition and affairs of the Equitable Life Assurance Society has been published. The report has been made by examiners of the department and is addressed to Superintendent Hendrick. It deals chiefly with the financial condition of the society. In regard to the $655,000 fund carried by the Equitable in the Mercantile Trust Company the report says that the records of the company at one time to that account. In these transactions Mr. Hendrick shows that former President James W. Alexander without the authority of any committee, assumed on behalf of the Equitable Society obligations amounting to more than $2,000,000 of which the Henry B. Hyde estate, Louis Fitzgerald, Marcellus Harvey and others were personally responsible. Mr. H. Hendrick in his final report makes a reduction in the total amount of the Equitable assets of about $15,000,000.

ONTARIO COUPLE AGREED ON DEATH BEFORE DISGRACE

Philander Burkholder Killed Wife and Baby, and Then Himself.

Letter of Man to Family Reveals Cause of His Desperate Deed--Declares After Confession Woman Made to Him No Other Course Was Left to Them.

Hamilton, Ont., Nov. 6--(Special)--Philander Burkholder, the Saltfleet township farmer, who killed himself after slaying his wife and seven-week-old baby, left a letter explaining the reason for his terrible deed. The message, which was found in his house, read: "Dear Friends, I have committed a fearful deed, but it seemed the only way out of a bad job. My wife made me a confession and then we decided rather than disgrace our friends and relations, I was to kill them and myself. It was an awful deed, but I said I thought I could do it. Then followed details as to the manner in which the killing was done. Burkholder concluded: "Good bye, everybody, and tell my poor old mother not to sorrow over it, because God will forgive me under the circumstances. I leave all my property after we are buried to my brother Frank. He is to pay off all my debts and try to pay for the place. Good bye, Frank, and father and mother, for you have taught me the ways of truth and righteousness always."

OTTAWA CITY COUNCIL MADE ILLEGAL GRANT

LUNCHEON WITH THE PRESIDENT

Prince Louis and Nephew Guests at Informal Affair at White House

ADMIRE ROOSEVELT

Washington, Nov. 6--Lunching with the president at the White House, Rear Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg kept his special train waiting three-quarters of an hour this afternoon while the president engaged him in a long personal conversation. The White House luncheon was not on the programme and was an entirely personal compliment to Prince Louis and his nephew, Prince Alexander, a midshipman on the Drake.

In the morning Prince Louis visited Mount Vernon, making the trip down the Potomac river on the dispatch boat Dolphin, commanded by Commander John Gibbons, who will soon go to the British capital as naval attaché of the American embassy.

Leaving the embassy about 8:30 o'clock the prince, accompanied by his personal staff and Captain Ryan, the naval attaché of the embassy, drove to the Washington navy yard. There he was given a rear admiral's salute of thirteen guns and was welcomed by the commanding officer, Captain Leutner. On the boat landing to meet him was Mr. Bacon, the assistant secretary of state, and at the gateway to greet him as he came over the side was Commander Gibbons. On board the Dolphin was a party of about fifty, including Rear Admirals Evans and Brownson, Rear Admiral Caproni and his staff, the captain and the commanding officers of the British squadron.

Flying the pennants of Rear Admiral Prince Louis and Rear Admiral Evans the Dolphin got under way promptly at 9 o'clock. At Mount Vernon the party was accompanied by the superintendent of the grounds, who conducted them through the home of the first president. As they came to the tomb each person bore his head uncovered and reverently stood in silence for a few moments. It was a simple but impressive tribute.

Upon returning to Washington the prince was presented with an ivy plant, a sprout from the plant which grew about the tomb of Washington. "I shall treasure it as a souvenir of this interesting morning."

Lunched With President.

The prince went first to the British embassy to take leave of the British ambassador and then to the White House, where he was while in Washington, and a few minutes later, accompanied by his nephew, Prince Alexander, went to the White House to dine with the president.

Before his departure for Annapolis, Prince Louis said to the correspondent of the London Morning Post: "I have thoroughly enjoyed my too brief visit to Washington and I appreciate the kindness of the president and his family this afternoon. The president is sending to King Edward a letter of cordiality and kindness that have been shown us by the president, members of the cabinet and officers of the army and navy. I came to America as the commander of a British squadron, simply to make a friendly visit, and the great cordiality with which we have been received I take not as personal to myself but rather as a compliment to the British navy and as indicating the mutual respect and good-fellowship that exists between the Great Britain and the United States."

High Opinion of Roosevelt. "As a seaman I was much impressed with the American fleet as it lay at anchor off Annapolis. Its appearance, the smartness of the officers and the discipline of the men, all gave evidence that the vessels were in the highest state of efficiency. And equally impressive was the review of the cadets which showed the thoroughness of their training and the magnificent esprit de corps that prevails there."

He had long looked forward to knowing the president and he was good enough to give me that opportunity at a dinner at the White House on Saturday. I was greatly impressed with his personality, his intellectual strength, his comprehensive knowledge, his democracy but at the same time his dignity. He looks what he is--the material rule of a material people, determined, courageous, bold. I am only sorry that I cannot see and know more of an extraordinary as well as a very charming man.

"The simplicity but at the same time the dignity at the White House was very pleasing. It was exactly the house and the surroundings that one conceives to be in keeping with republican institutions. There was never extravagance nor ostentation, but everything was in such quietude and so perfectly arranged that it was delightful. I shall always remember with pleasure my dinner at the White House and the very interesting conversation I enjoyed with the president.

"This is the first time, I believe, that a British admiral has been received by the president at Washington. No one should like to see an American president received by the king in London. Such a meeting would be peculiarly appropriate as both the king and President Roosevelt have rendered such distinguished services to the cause of the world's peace. I am sure nothing would give greater pleasure to the British people than to welcome the president of the American republic on British soil."

SUSANNA GEARY'S HEAD IDENTIFIED BY MOTHER

Finding of Mrs. Dean, the Nurse, will Complete Clean Up of Suspects.

Police Have a Clue to Woman's Whereabouts and Expect to Get Her Today--Dr. McLeod Not in Boston Yesterday, But His Case will Come Up Friday--Friends Say His Defence will be an Alibi--Grand Jury Will Take Up the Case This Week.

Boston, Nov. 6--The identification today of the head which was recovered yesterday in a leather bag from the bottom of the harbor as that of Miss Susanna A. Geary, removed all doubt as to her being the victim of the dress suit case tragedy. The mother and sister of the chorus girl, after serving themselves for the ordeal, declared the face to be that of Susie. The authorities, sure of their ground as far as the identification is concerned, continued today the accumulation of evidence against the four men who are being held for the crime, and also kept up the search for Mrs. S. Dean, for whom a warrant has been granted in connection with the case.

It was expected that what material the police had collected would be presented at the initial session of the November grand jury today, but after a consultation with the police officials, District Attorney Suggs decided to wait a few days. There will be no session of the grand jury until after election day, but possibly the case will be taken up Wednesday. The police are anxious to obtain the extradition of Louis W. Crawford and William Howard, now being held by the New York authorities, and unless an indictment is returned against them in a few days, the authorities will ask for a bench warrant on which to base requisition papers on Governor Douglas.

What new evidence the police may have obtained today they kept carefully concealed. Morris Nathan, the girl's lover, still remained in the hospital, although it was announced that he had sufficiently recovered from the state of collapse which followed his arrest in Pittsburgh, to be arraigned in court.

At a late hour tonight it was reported that the police had obtained a clue to the whereabouts of Mrs. Dean, and that her appearance was expected tomorrow. Dr. Percy D. McLeod, of the Back Bay district, who was arrested last Friday night, was not in the city today. He will be arraigned in the municipal court next Friday.

(Boston Herald, Nov. 6). Dr. Percy D. McLeod, after consultation with his counsel Saturday night, decided to stay at his Back Bay home until the matter is disposed of. There he denied himself yesterday to all except some old patients and some of whom called to express their sympathy.

Later in the day he had a consultation with Charles H. Innes, his counsel, and then went to his home. Mr. Innes, on the other hand, had a very busy day of it. His actions would lead to the belief that McLeod intended to make a hard fight for his liberty and his reputation, and while he said last night that he had not had a soul with his defence will be, it is understood that it will be a general denial, setting up that at the time when he is alleged to have been operating on the girl he was engaged elsewhere. This will make it necessary for the state to substantiate the statements of Crawford and Howard, something friends of Dr. McLeod think it will be unable to do.

This morning the grand jury will meet to take up the work of the month, and the case will be one of the first reported. It is probable that before noon indictments will be found for the men under arrest in New York, for Dr. McLeod, for Mrs. Mary Dean, alias O'Brien, alias O'Brien, and perhaps for two or three others not yet under arrest or being publicly named.

It is possible that an attempt will be made to indict everybody connected with the Bishop office, including Mrs. Babcock in fact, the statement of the police would indicate as much, but she will make a hard fight. Ten years ago--to be exact, in November of 1896--she was indicted in four secret counts, but the government was unable to convict her. In the present case she feels that it is her chance of conviction is even more remote than in the former matter, and that that reason will make a determined fight.

Speaking for her last night, a close friend declared she had not the slightest idea of leaving her Newton home because of the case.

POLAND FLIES THE RED FLAG AND DEMANDS HER FREEDOM; CONDITIONS BETTER ELSEWHERE

Reports received from many points indicate that the situation throughout the Russian provinces is improving. The first train out of Odessa since the disorders began arrived yesterday at St. Petersburg, having taken thirteen days to accomplish the journey.

The struggle for autonomy in Poland has been revived and flags bearing the Polish coat of arms are flying from many buildings--preliminary to further action. Count Witte has having trouble in organizing his new Cabinet and has taken up his residence in the palace in St. Petersburg, so that he may be at the Emperor's elbow when his majesty returns, which is expected to be very soon.

The text of the imperial manifesto concerning Finland has been made public and has caused great rejoicing in Helsinki and other cities of Finland. Despatches to the London morning papers tell of great distress in Kishineff, in the Caucasus and other places that have been the centres of disorders.

Odessa Threatened With Ruin. Odessa, Nov. 6, 6:50 p. m.--Fresh disorders were reported at 3 o'clock this evening in the suburb of Dalnii Melnik. Troops have been dispatched there.

The theatre of the town of Akkerman, near Odessa, is in flames.

In view of the entire devastation of almost all the Jewish mills, shops and factories, the trade of Odessa is threatened with complete ruin and wholesale bankruptcies are feared, involving the international credit of Russia.

Some of the banks and all the shops have re-opened and the streets are being cleared of debris.

It is claimed in some quarters here that estimates higher than 20,000 killed and 5,000 wounded are exaggerations.

Text of Ozar's Finnish Manifesto. St. Petersburg, Nov. 6--Following is the text of the imperial manifesto concerning Finland: "By the grace of God, we, Nicholas II, emperor and autocrat of all the Russias, Grand Duke of Finland, etc., etc., in virtue of the law of the diet of April 23, 1809, command the opening at Helsinki Dec. 20 of an extraordinary diet to consider the following questions: "First--The proposals for the budget of 1907, provisional taxes and a loan for railway construction; "Second--A bill providing by a new fundamental law a parliament for Finland on the basis of universal suffrage with the establishment of the responsibility of the local authorities to the nation's deputies. "Third--Bills granting liberty of the press, of meeting and of unions. "We expect from all an exact execution of our will. (Signed) "NICHOLAS."

NEWFOUNDLAND SENDS PROTEST TO HOME GOVERNMENT

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 6--The government of Newfoundland has forwarded to the British cabinet a formal protest against American vessels hiring Newfoundland waters outside the three mile limit, or Canadian ports, to assist in taking her to Newfoundland waters, on the ground that this is an evasion of the letter and the spirit of the treaty of 1818, which accedes the inshore fishery privilege only to actual inhabitants of the United States. The British government has transmitted the protest to Washington.

CHATHAM MERCHANT ARRESTED FOR OBSTRUCTING SIDEWALK WITH COAL

Chatham, N. B., Nov. 6--(Special)--Town Marshall Buckley and some of the members of the S. Hoffman Company had a difference of opinion today in regard to the amount of sidewalk at their disposal while getting in their coal, which resulted in the arrest of Louis Hoffman.

It is said this morning and again this afternoon the marshal requested the Hoffmans, who had the whole width of sidewalk opposite their store piled with coal, to leave a passage for pedestrians. They refused to do, intimating that they knew their business, and finally Louis was marched off to the police station on the charge of obstructing the sidewalk, but he was only in there a short time when his father arrived on the scene, and he was set free. No doubt it will be the basis of an interesting law suit.

GERMANY ASKS FOR TRADE TREATY WITH UNITED STATES

Kaiser's Ambassador Presents Request to Secretary Root, Who, Fearing Rejection by the Senate, Asks for Outline of Conditions Before He Will Consider It.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Baron Spreck von Sternburg, the German ambassador, called upon Secretary Root today at the state department, and notified him officially that Germany was ready to proceed to negotiate a new trade treaty with America.

Secretary Root gave assurance of his earnest desire to do everything possible to avoid trouble. He wished only to be shown the opportunity to negotiate a treaty that would procure the approval of the United States senate.

Baron von Sternburg did not attempt to go into details in the presentation, but it developed that as soon as he could produce the basis of a treaty which the senate would be likely to accept, secretary Root would immediately refer the matter to tariff experts for approval.

Hampton, Kings Co., Nov. 4.—Between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock this morning the house and contents of the Hampton house, owned by Alexander McManus, baggage and freight belonging to the I. C. R. station, and occupied by the Brawley family, were totally destroyed by fire.

For about two hours the danger lasted, but as the last portion of burning wall fell outward, a down-pour of water was dashed upon it, and so quickly followed that smouldering embers and ashes were all that remained.

A few days ago the Brawley child had taken ill, and his mother and father had taken him to the grand father's farm at Pateck, where they were while their home was burning.

PRINCE LOUIS AS AN ELECTION ISSUE

Prince Louis of Battenberg probably never thought to figure as an election issue; yet he has become so to figure today in New York.

"Are you going to have Prince Louis of Battenberg and the English gentlemen with glasses in one eye fed at public expense by a man who has been defeated by a man who has been defeated in order to impress upon him the fact that you want your money spent in a different way?"

The prince-admiral's offence, according to Hearst, is that he is "a gentleman that married an English Princess and got his expenses paid by English taxpayers, and will arrive in New York."

Hearst, if elected, the inference is would refuse to receive the British admiral. It is true that the admiral and his officers might feel relieved by the refusal of the "journalist" to entertain them.

"The gentlemen who have agreed to spend the money to entertain the English Prince are now in office--and they are listening to you most respectfully. But if you come around and try to talk to them after election, can't you imagine the reception you will get?"

"The only question that you can settle is this: 'When the English fleet and the English prince arrive and eat the food paid for out of your pockets and out of the pockets of sailors, they will be received by the Mayor, George B. McClellan, the Gas Man, who has organized this entertainment.'"

while he addresses the cheapest element of the republic's population Prince Louis of Battenberg and his officers and ships are receiving from the better class of Americans, and from the American government, the heartiest welcome possible.

Joseph H. Choate, former American Ambassador to Great Britain, has been telling New York some plain truths. In a speech for Jerome M. Choate, who is a Republican, said:--

"I glory in the opportunity to signalize my return by appearing here tonight to advocate the cause of one of the bravest lawyers that ever opened his mouth in court and to urge his re-election to a great professional office that for the last four years he has filled with the rarest courage, fidelity and skill."

to religious prejudice on the part of the majority of those who took an interest in the League. It was, perhaps, as much due to the indifference that Catholics showed the organization itself. If they continue to stay away from public gatherings of all kinds they have no reasonable grounds for complaint if they are overlooked when it comes to selecting officers of an association or candidates for public favor."

FINLAND GRANTED HER FREEDOM BY CZAR

Manifesto Issued Abolishing All the Obnoxious Laws

Governor Had Fled, and 10,000 Russian Troops and Warships Faced the Finn Revolutionists—Desperate Conditions Continue in Baltic Provinces, Mobs Aided by Police and Soldiers, Massacre Jews by the Thousands and Destroy Their Houses.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 4.—The manifesto of Emperor Nicholas granting the demands of the Finns has been signed and despatched to Helsinki. It convoked the diet and abolishes the dictatorship, rescinds Governor Robrtkoff's illegal enactments, and annuls the manifesto of Feb. 1899, which provided for common legislation in the empire, and all the laws since enacted.

It announces that the extraordinary diet now convened is for the revision of the diet's elective bases. The ukase not only places the diet in the centre of the budget but gives it sweeping power to elaborate a new system of representation based on universal suffrage and for a report to the administration which will make it responsible before the diet.

The manifesto abrogating the illegal ordinance promulgated by Gov. Robrtkoff in pursuance of his policy for the Russification of Finland and including the military law of 1901 are expected to relieve the situation in Finland as they have been the principal cause of discontent among the Finns.

Trepoff Blocks Big Demonstrations. St. Petersburg, Nov. 5.—Sunday happily passed in St. Petersburg without disorders or bloodshed. The social democrats and revolutionists had planned a mammoth demonstration in connection with the funerals of those killed in last week's riots, and it was intended to form gigantic processions representing the various industrial organizations in the suburbs and flying red flags, bear the bodies of the "Martyrs" in state through the centre of the city, these processions uniting at the Kazan Cathedral where the passions of the crowds might be fired by revolutionary orators.

Horrible Massacre of Jews. London, Nov. 6.—The Odessa correspondent of the Standard, under date of Nov. 5, 5 p. m., sends further sensational accounts of the riots there. He says: "There have been more horrible massacres and fearful cruelties, by the rioters where these took place are now crowded by troops. Probably the total killed will number 3,000 and the wounded 15,000. In the suburb of Motovsk along 1,000 victims remained in the streets from midnight until noon, when the authorities hastened to collect and bury the bodies in great pits. Skulls were scattered about the private doctors attended more than 300 children of both sexes who had been horribly killed, with few exceptions, were unscarred."

Massacre of Jews Continues. While the news received from the province indicates that something like normal conditions are being restored in many regions, the situation continues grave in the Baltic provinces, the Caucasus, Odessa and other places in the south, where the outrages almost universally have taken an anti-Jewish nature.

Fatal encounters between the soldiers and the populace, and anti-Jewish excesses are reported from many places in the provinces. Yesterday and today at Kremenchug twenty persons were killed and eighty injured. At Kutais a military train was in collision and nine soldiers were killed. After the collision the revolutionaries opened a hot fire on the train and the troops replied in kind. There

Secretary of State Ready to Resign if Treaty is Defeated, Havana Report

SQUIERS IS ATTACKED

Minister Denies He Ever Had Anything to Do With Alleged Annexation Plot.

Havana, Nov. 2.—Arguments over the Anglo-Cuban treaty have reached fever heat before the ressembling of the senate, which will decide the question. Both sides confidently claim a victory. A rumor is in circulation in Havana tonight that the secretary of state is ready to resign if he finds the measure doomed to be defeated. Despite the strong protests made by the allied business interests, the administration continues to support the treaty and the government organs keep up their attacks on all who have been active in opposition to it, particularly the United States minister, Mr. Squiers, against whom great bitterness is shown.

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—(Special)—Some Illinois capitalists who have interest near the Alaska boundary complain that the United States will lose a valuable strip of land fourteen miles wide and 200 miles long, containing rich deposits of gold, silver and copper.

It is known that Mr. Squiers has served formal notice that the passage of the treaty would be an effort to establish the line to the United States. This has had little weight with certain leaders whose policy is notoriously anti-American. Mr. Squiers' work at this juncture is made more difficult by continued publication about the alleged annexation plot which he is credited with having led.

KILGOUR SHIVES KILLED IN NORTH SHORE WOODS

Well Known Lumberman Fatally Wounded by Bullet From His Rifle

Lived Only a Few Hours—Trigger of Gun Caught in Bushes and Discharged, the Ball Entering Left Breast and Coming Out of Back—Suffered Fearfully, and Begged Friends to End His Life—Sent Farewell Message to his Wife and Children, and Asked to Be Buried in St. John Where He Was Born.

Campbellton, N. B., Nov. 5.—(Special)—A gloom was cast over Campbellton on Saturday evening when it became known that Kilgour Shives, one of the town's most highly esteemed and respected citizens, had accidentally shot himself that afternoon in the vicinity of Grog Brook, where he had gone to locate a warehouse for his supplies going to the woods.

Mr. Shives and John M. McLean left Campbellton Friday evening by train for the headquarters of the Restigouche & Western Railway, of which Mr. Shives was president, and that night slept in Mr. Ritchie's car at headquarters, leaving by train Saturday morning about 7 o'clock, and went out to the head of the trail a distance of about four miles. They then walked to Grog Brook, a distance of three miles, where there are several camps belonging to Mr. Malcolm. In order to cross the brook they swung a cedar log a short distance below, where the portage crosses and to reach the portage road after crossing the brook they went through the woods, where there was considerable underbrush, going up stream until they struck the portage road.

While this Mr. Shives, who had taken along with him his rifle, which was a new one, wished to test the sight of it, and fired three shots at a tree, after which Mr. McLean fired two, laying down the rifle without reloading.

Just before returning on the same road Mr. Shives reloaded the rifle and filled the magazine and he and Mr. McLean turned to the brook again where they had lunch at McKeown's camp. While at the camp Mr. Shives and Mr. Murray turned to the brook on the other side of the brook, and had a few minutes' conversation with Mr. Shives before fording the brook. Mr. McLean and Mr. Shives then proceeded through the bushes to the place where they had crossed in the morning. Mr. Shives was in the lead. Nothing of importance happened until Mr. McLean reached the brook, when he heard the report of Mr. Shives' rifle, which he in error had fired back a distance of fifty feet, and found Mr. Shives lying unconscious with the rifle by his side, and a rent in the breast of his coat on the left side.

Mr. McLean spoke to Mr. Shives and asked him if he was shot, and receiving no answer immediately ran to the brook and called for help. Mr. Brookman and Mr. Murray having heard Mr. McLean's cry for help soon appeared accompanied with others when Mr. McLean ran back to Mr. Shives' assistance and found that he had in the meantime slightly turned on his left side and had raised himself partly on his arm.

Mr. McLean supported Mr. Shives in this position until the others had forded the brook and came up, when a messenger was immediately sent to the headquarters of the railway, the nearest telephone communication with Campbellton to have medical assistance sent at once.

After having dispatched the messenger they proceeded to the camp and procured blankets and placed Mr. Shives upon them proceeded to carry him to Mr. Malcolm's camp, but on reaching the brink of the brook Mr. Shives, having become conscious and suffering great pain, requested not to be carried any further.

Asked Men to End Sufferings. Here Mr. Shives spoke of his terrible sufferings and said he could not live, and requested them to end his sufferings. Gradually the pain subsided, and he thought the gun was discharged by catching in a twig, after which he gave Mr. McLean a number of private messages to his wife, among which was one that he should be buried alongside his father in St. John.

He referred to his family in a very feeling manner and spoke of the tender relations existing between himself and wife and every member of his family. He conversed with those about him for about 20 minutes when he complained of becoming weak, after which very little was said except about his sufferings. Gradually he became weaker and weaker he was carried to Mr. Malcolm's camp, where he complained of being cold.

All that could be done by willing hands in warming blankets and placing them about him was done. Mr. Shives continued to grow weaker and became unconscious about 4 o'clock. Dr. Lanam arrived about 5:30 and upon examining the pulse stated that he thought Mr. Shives was dying. He proceeded to dress the wound, and to the left of the left nipple, above and to the left of the left nipple, the course of the bullet being taken backwards and outwards, having entered the breast, coming out the back, just above the shoulder.

Mr. Shives lived about an hour after the arrival of the doctor, never regaining consciousness. The body was brought to town at 1 o'clock this morning and was taken to Undertaker Graham's rooms, where they were prepared for burial before the cessation of the day. ALLAN LINER BAVARIAN LIKELY A TOTAL LOSS

Now Lying Near Grosse Isle on Rocks and Big One Has Pierced Her Hull Flooding the Hold—Vessel Has a Bad List—Lighting Work Being Rushed—Pilot Says Gas Buoy Lights Were Out, Which Put Him Out of His Course.

Montreal, Nov. 5.—(Special)—The Allan liner Bavarian, bound for Liverpool with passengers, which went aground on the Wye rocks at Grosse Isle, thirty miles from Quebec, Friday night at 7 o'clock, from latest reports it is doubtful whether or not she will be a total wreck. Her passengers have been taken to Quebec and lodged at hotels at the expense of the Allan line. They will cross on the Virginia, sailing next Friday.

Fortunate that the big liner should have chosen them to light on. At first it was not feared that she was badly damaged, as she barely touched the rocks, and the water only came up into her one, two and three tanks to slight extent, the holds being dry. However, as the tide went down and the huge steamer settled a big projection of rock pierced her bottom and the water rushed in, forcing a bulkhead and interfering with the machinery. As the tide went out the steamer settled so much that it was feared she would turn turtle. However, at low water, beside having a bad list, she remained the same.

Gangs of men were dispatched when work was received here on a special train, and two lighters of more than 1,000 tons capacity were sent to the scene. Work of lighting was immediately commenced, and the agents are hopeful that they will be able to get the steamer off and float her to Quebec for temporary repairs, after which she will be taken to Halifax. The dry dock at Quebec is booked full up to Dec. 4.

It is unfortunate that the big steamer should have gone aground, especially as here is the culminating accident to one of the worst seasons the St. Lawrence route has had in many years.

The coroner's jury empaneled to enquire into the death of Charles O'Regan in a sparring exhibition on October 30, brought in a verdict Monday night, after being out about fifty minutes, to the effect that he came to his death as a result of a blow delivered unwittingly by Fred Northrop.

The witness examined was Stanley H. Taylor, a Telegraph reporter. He said he wrote the account of the bout for his paper. He would not swear that the account as a whole was correct, though in the main it was.

Coroner Berryman in his address went carefully over the evidence, holding that the boxes must have gone into the contest with more than friendly feeling.

Mr. MacRae, counsel for Northrop, addressed the jury. He said the boys had had the very best of feeling towards one another.

Northrop's preliminary examination is to begin next Friday in the police court.

I., November 6.—(Special).—The department of marine and fisheries will at once begin the erection at Cape Bear, a high promontory southeast of Kings county and half way between Georgetown and Pictou Island, of a Marconi tower to send and receive wireless messages from the winter steamers when crossing between Georgetown and Pictou.

Mr. Leary, Marconi expert, is on the island and will superintend the work which will be pushed to completion to be ready for the opening of the winter season. The tower will not be used for commercial business but in connection with the ships to aid in the improvement of our much-talked-of winter service.
