Budworth and John M. Burke, in their artistic specialities, were loudly applauded. The pantomine Pit-i Pat was very good. Mr. Sanford as clown is very funny. All the other characters were well represented. The Misses Barrett and Sanford in their Irish lilt were excellent, and Sam Collins in his Dutch characters was encored three times. The performance ended with a grand tableaux. Don't fail to go to night as it's the last night of the Ministres.

A Society which has for some time been in secret existence in Fredericton is brought prominently before the public in consequence of their having presented to one of their number, John J. Frazer, a congratual latory address on the occasion of his accepting the office of Provincial Secretary. The whole affair with the surrounding circumstances was very pleasant.
