LONDON, FRIDAY, JULY 19. 1907 THE WATER QUESTION.

Interest in the water question has been overshadowed by the Dundas street disaster. Doubtless many have forgotten the "mail-order" vote, by from the citizens. It was probable have been small as they do not see the logic of the commissioners' device, but attention to the horrors of this week, of armaments, which the conference the vote will be more than eyer inde- as a whole has not taken kindly to, elsive as a test of the sentiment of the these are minor matters, but even if

The figures given on the ballot paper and the statements made by the commissioners in their circular letter, are wholly misleading, especially with regard to the independent scheme. They have made it appear that the latter is costlier than either the Komoka or the river filtration scheme, by giving the impression that all the charges of the high-pressure service will come out of the general tax rate. If the commissioners had been more intent upon giving the public the facts, than in making a special plea for their own plan, they would have stated that the bulk of charged against the property-owners enjoying its protection. When confronted with this, they reply that "It is possible," that a part of the cost might be levied on those directly benefitted. Their insinuation that it might not be possible to levy a surtax on payers directly benefitted. The city council may fix the proportion which Coal, tons..... 1,517,303 the high-pressure district shall pay Coke, tons. . . . . 199,227 for superior fire protection, just as it fixed the special tax rate for London West as a condition of annexation.

The "mail order" expedient is only losing time, when no time should be lost in finding a permanent remedy. The Komoka scheme having been rejected, the commissioners should have allowed ratepayers to pronounce upon the alternative schemes. If all of these were in turn rejected-and the expense of polling is nothing compared with the gravity of the questionthe board would have had some pretext for bringing forward the Komoka scheme again

The British delegates at first hesitated to agree to the proposition, as it is understood to have been Britain's policy to close all her enemy's ports with her warships simultaneously with a declaration against a European power. King Edward's influence is credited with the withdrawal of British objections, his majesty being desirous, it is supposed, to thus demonstrate the sincerity of his friendship for France. #### BRITISH COLUMBIA MINING.

Speculatively inclined people of this province have of late been so interested in the developments around Cobalt and the indications at Larder Lake that they appear to have forgotten the mining districts of British Columbia, where in the past not a little Ontario money has been invested. Yet, according to the report for last year of the Minister of Mines for that province, the development of its great mineral resources is making satisfactory progress. For the year the total output was $24,980,546, which is an increase of about 10 per cent over the preceding year, and close upon 140 per cent in excess of that of a decade ago. We fear to die, but journey far For help to pass our time away; Because the moments drag we fret. Yet dread the end to which we haste: We view the past with keen regret. And still the precious present waste.

We sigh at night for day to dawn, Though we may never, all our lives, Bring back a moment that is gone, Or keep an hour when it arrives: Impatiently we watch and wait For pleasures that shall briefly last, And, having won them, add the great Day of their coming to the past.

Are strange and long that stretch ahead, And sit regretting wasted days When youth and youth's fond hopes are Yet, even as we voice regret For those glad seasons hurried through, We nurse impatience and we fret For next year and for something new.

How strangely prodigal we are Of that which we should dearly prize! We scheme and plan to journey far To pass the time that quickly flies; We dread the silent end we know But, great and small, and high and low, Through all our days we hurry there.

DON'T CARE A FIG.

The clause "I don't care a fig," is a case of mistaken identity. The proper expression is, "I don't care a fico." The word "fico" means a snapping of the fingers to denote contempt. Shakespeare used it in its proper significance when he wrote, "A floo for the phrase!"

Keene Deserves to Win.

A prominent turfman at Brighton today said that while much has been printed this year about the almost phenominal success of Jas. R. Keene, little has been said about how deserving Mr. Keene is, from a strictly horsey standpoint. Mr. Keene breeds horses primarily for racing in his own colors. Some seventy foals come to this great Kentucky farm each season. Few of these are sold as yearlings or, in fact, not until they have been tried out under colors and found wanting. With half a dozen stallions, a hundred or more brood mares and the young ones to be cared for at the farm until the spring of their first racing, the expenses connected with the breeding establishment alone must go far above $10,000 a year, to say nothing of interest on the investment. The expense of the racing stable is almost as big, so that Mr. Keene must win something like $200,000 a year to meet all expenses. Also it is pointed out that the lean years come to Mr. Keene, as to all turfmen, and it takes the profits of three or four years of success to equal the losses of a lean one.

Will Clean-Up "Kosher" Shops.

A determined band of "new women" among the daughters of Israel, on the east side, has taken up a fight against what has been pronounced one of the greatest and most dangerous evils of that crowded section—unclean shops that crowded section—unclean shops that sell foodstuffs—and since it succeeded, yesterday, in getting the support of the Jewish rabbis it is practically certain of success. The "kosher" shops are to be attacked first.

It was again the case of a philosophic radical called to actual power, and when confronted with sedition power, and when confronted with sedition power, and when confronted with sedition power. As Secretary for India, Mr. Morley had to face in the northwest a condition which was one of acute incitement to riot, and, in a few cases, of overt, acts of violence. # A Steady Trade is most important to every baker. A business in which the receipts and profits vary every week, while the expenses remain the same, is a source of great anxiety to any business man.

No baker can hope for a steady and increasing business unless the quality of his bread is uniformly superior to that of his competitors. He can have no more valuable asset than the reputation that his bread is the "best in town." Any baker can win this reputation for his bread by using only "FIVE ROSES" and "HARVEST OUEEN" FLOURS.

These flours are made from the very highest grade wheat obtainable and are superior to ordinary bakers' patents in every way. They will not lose, but make, trade for any baker who uses them, as they make the very sweetest, most wholesome and most nutritious bread. Regular and ever increasing custom can be obtained by any baker who lets his customers know that he uses "FIVE ROSES" and "HARVEST QUEEN" only.

Fifteen for the Boys' Mile-Dick Grant in the Five-Mile.

With Longboat reinstated, interest is considerably heightened in the C. A. A. U. meet. His race with Daly will be a great one, and though Longboat is the favorite, J. J. Daly can also run four miles in good time. Perhaps next to this rate the Linden-Bonhag walking race is the one attracting feature. Both men are confident of their ability 2 and will make it a close contest. Linden is anxious to redeem his performance at Athens, and Bonhag is just as anxious to hold his title. The five-mile race will be another very close contest. Coley will be on hand to uphold his title, and there will be Jack Tait, Fred Young and Nelson Boylen from the city Y. M. C. A. to wrest it from him. Milton Green. the Indian, is likely to be with the At Philadelphia-Cincinnati-Philadelphia front bunch; and Dick Grant, an oldtime Harvard champion, will be right there. In fact, all the good five-mile

Another feature will be the bicycle race between Will Morton, ex-Canadian short distance champion, and R. F. McCarthy, the Stratford man who won that title on Dominion Day at Waterloo. The Canada Cycle and Four Canadian Shooters in Thoney, McCarthy, and Lou-Motor Company have put up a piece of silverware for this event.

There's never a race but there's an Indian nowadays. The newest addition is Calvin Hill, an Oneida lad, entered by the Oneida Club. He will be out for scalps in the boys' mile, and he will do things, too, if he runs as he has been doing. There are fifteen entered for this race.

"These Indians have a good deal to celebrate, for they are further advanced in their civilization than any other tribe in the United States. They have more money than any other tribe except the Osages of Indian Territory, who came into a lot of it when a claim was paid to them by Uncle Sam last year. They are progressive and are not dying out, as some people claim many tribes are. I am inclined to think that this dying out business is a fiction, for the Indians of the tribe I live with are prolific. They marry or farming. COBALT NEWS.

Mr. Frank Loring, manager of the Tretheway mine, who was in the city yesterday attending the Foster shareolders' meeting, stated that during the last three months there had been more prospecting of Cobalt properties and more development work done than during the entire previous history of Cobalt. As a result many new veins had been discovered and mine mana gers now knew best where to work. What is regarded as an important strike in the Larder Lake district is reported. It takes the form of a 20foot vein of copper in the northeast arm of the lake, running through Cameron. The claim is also said to have good value in gold. Mr. Doran, of the Foster mine, who has returned to the city, reports that development work is proceeding satis-factorily. It has been decided to issue statements twice a month showing the amount of work done.

Manager Drummond, of the Niptssing mine, has sent a reply to the striking miners, saying that he cannot accept their schedule. The mine managers have approved of a uniform

"What is wanted in the Larder Lake district is better roads," says Mr. Geg. Stevenson, who has just returned to the city after a trip to that region. The properties he visited have large quantities of ore ready for shipment, but they cannot get the ore away because of the condition of the roads. At Bucke Township the dust lies four feet deep, which makes shipment almost impossible. One road is used by no fewer than ten mines, but the one company declines to put gravel down to suit the others, and so it is being left alone. The opinion in the district is that it is high time the Government was looking to the roads. Mr. Stevenson says that during this year there has already been shipped from Cobalt more ore than there was all last year, and he thinks that if the roads were attended to the record for the twelve months would be greatly improved.

FRANKLIN'S THEORY OF MAT-

More than a hundred years have elapsed since Benjamin Franklin, employing a phraseology now superseded, put forth a theory of matter. It was pronounced-"a delusion" by the physicians of the nineteenth century, but the scientists of the twentieth century, according to Sir Oliver Lodge, may be forced to rehabilitate it as the only means of issue from the labyrinth in which all physical study is now involved. Stripped of technical verbiage and put briefly, the Franklin theory is that electricity and matter in combination form a neutral substance, which is the atom of matter as we know it.

The most interesting part of the problem for ourselves, says Sir Oliver, is the explanation of matter in terms of electricity, the view that electric-Ity is, as Franklin seems to have supposed, the fundamental "substance." What we men of today have been accustomed to regard as an indivisible atom of matter is thus built up out of electricity. All atoms-atoms of all sorts of "substances"-are built up of the same thing. In our day, to put it more clearly, the theoretical and proximate achievement of what 214 Dundas Street. 674 Dundas Street. philosophers from Franklin's day to ours have always sought - a unification of matter-is offering itself to physical inquiry.—Current Literature.

CAUSE OF STAMMERING.

"Stammering is often more the re- Hurkett. gult of habit than from any defect of the vocal organs," says Professor B. L. Pavyer. "It is generally, if not always, caused by a spasm of the larynx, resulting from nervous contraction of the organs, thus refusing to permit a proper flow of the air current producing tone. People rarely or never stammer when singing, for then the attention is divided between words and music, the nervousness is momentarily forgotten and the Reid's building yesterday, one of the passage of the air current through searchers found a small, silver, openthe larynx is continuous and unobstructed.

Officials at Tokio Knew Fleet Was Going to Pacific Before the American

Washington, D. C., July 16. - War, between Japan and the United States has never been any nearer than it was before Japan astonished the world by opening fire on Russia. At no time, from that day to this, has the American Government wavered in its friendliness for the Government of the Mi-

The jingoes in America and the fingoes in Japan have talked war, but their efforts have been futile. The Government at Tokio, with rare good sense, has relied upon the administration of President Roosevelt, and Tie reliance has not been misplaced in the slightest particular. The rights of the Japanese to fair treatment in the streets of San Francisco were first championed by President Roosevelt in a message to Congress, and on the other hand, the Tokio Government consented in advance to the present law, which practically excludes Japanese coolies from the United States. The relations between the two Governments have never been disturbed in the slightest degree.

Japan Told of Fleet. These facts are worth knowing. It may surprise some people, but it should not, to learn that the intended movement of a large section of the Atlantic fleet to the American shores of the Pacific was communicated to the Japanese long before it was made public here. No objection has ever been made by Japan, and none could be made. The opposition party in Japan has seized upon the movement of the ships as a means of exciting popular hostility to the existing ministry. Here in America unthinking newspapers, and some not ordinarily "yellow," The question of the laying of a them by a professional Japanese agihave fallen into the trap laid for works food for discussion for a long ted by liberal American laws to stir up trouble in a way which would have City Engineer Graydon wanted to resulted in his arrest and deportation

In each country these elements are alike in that they are unpatriotic, because they are quite willing to sacrifice national interests to secure personal political ends.

It can be said on authority that there has been no time when Japan has assumed to question the absolute right of the ed to question the absolute right of the United States to concentrate its own ships on its own Pacific coast. We might denude the Atlantic of all warships and mass them in the Mediterranean, as a naval officer explained to me, without exciting the slightest comment of a diplomatic nature. There might be some surprise, but as for any international emotion, it would be impossible. The right of any country to dispossible. The right of any country to dispose of its warships as it sees fit is indisputable. The presence of the German ships in Manila Bay after Admiral Dewey had made himself master of the situation there broken for more than seven months. was not offensive. A tactless German com-mander came near to making trouble, but it was the man, not the fleet, which was by its home government, not by the convenience or fears of others. Most people do not stop to consider that a vessel of war is not intended to police its home territory. Its duty is always and the collapsed on the floor of the tory. Its duty is almost always abroad.

The dispatch of the battleships to the Pacific coast is a domestic affair pure and simple. The Japanese Government is not interested in this movement except in a desultory sort of way. If a Japanese naval officer, properly accredited, should like to go with a fleet around Cape Horn, which is unikely, he would be made welcome. Should a Japanese fleet choose to drop down to Hong Kong it would be received by honest English salutes. Should it progress to the Philippines and anchor in Manila Bay, it would be received in the same way. If a heavy Japanese fleet should anchor inside of the Golden Gate it would be a harbinger of peace not a herald of war. If there were today the slightest indications of war between the United States and Japan, the armor factories of Bethlehem and the navy yards at Brooklyn. Vienna, July 17.-A six days' murder trial at Salzburg, which has just been concluded with the verdict of guilty, is remarkable for the obstinate and consistent simulation of idiocy by the accused, a gardener of the Grand Duke of Tuscany, named Pluharz, who claimed to be the natural son of the Archduke Rainer.

To obtain money for the marriage with the daughter of the innkeeper with whom he lived, Pluharz enticed a young official of the postoffice named Muhlberger to his rooms in the inn, stunned him with a; hammer, strangled him with a cord, and concealed his body in a wardrobe. He afterward carried the body to a distant field, where it was ultimately found.

He was disappointed at not finding the keys to the postoffice on the body and gained nothing from the murder. When arrested a few days after the finding of the body, Pluharz at first endeavored to throw suspicion on the innkeeper's family, and then, during the preliminary examination at the end of last October, suddenly ceased speaking and broken for more than seven months.
