While London's water supply has now returned to a normal condition, there is still a possibility of river water from the north branch of the Thames being turned into the mains, if the approval of the board of health is given to the plan, according to Philip Pocock, one of the members of the public utilities commission.

"Although the Springbank reservoir is full to the brim, and our sources of supply are standing up well, we have not enough water by any means. The city is growing rapidly, and there is a steadily increasing demand for water," he said.

No reports are available yet on the analysis made of water taken from this source. Says Prices Will Two Big Problems Are Left Tumble But Wages Will Remain Same

Tom Moore Alleges Persistent Profiteering in Necessities.

Ottawa, July 2.—Quoting statistics to prove that there had been persistent profiteering in food, clothing and other necessities, Mr. Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, speaking at the opening of the convention of the Quebec Provincial Council of Carpenters in Hull City Hall today, declared that prices will tumble and must tumble, but that present wages to workers should remain the same. In support of his contention, Mr. Moore declared that the actual increase in the cost of making a pair of 1.015 moore declared that the actual increase in the cost of making a pair of 1:01s over 1914 was 13 cents, while the retailers were asking $10 to $12 for bcots that sold in 1914 for $5. The price of bread, he declared, had advanced 7 and 8 cents a loaf over the 1914 cost, while the actual cost of latter producing bread had only increased five-eighths of a cent

Scathing Editorial Comment He quoted the prices of other necessities to the same effect.

"Even when prices take the big tumble that is sure to come, the manufac-turers can afford to pay the present wages and still make handsome profits," said Mr. Moore.

For Final Settlement to the Convention — Favors the League of Nations and Woman Suffrage.

San Francisco, July 2.—Framed after days and nights of struggle with clashing interests and opinions, the resolutions committee draft of the Democratic platform, leaves two questions for final settlement on the floor of the convention hall.

These are prohibition enforcement upon which no agreement could be reached by the committee, and the Irish question. The plank adopted by the committee on this subject was not considered strong enough by the Sinn Feln faction who have served notice that they will seek to have the plank rewritten to include a flat declaration rewritten to include a flat declaration for diplomatic recognition of the Irish Republic. The preamble sends greetings from the Democratic party to President Wilson, and "hails with patriotic pride the great achievements for country and the world wrought by a Democratic administration under his leadership."

The reverend gentleman's method of dealing with vice has all the grand originality and simplicity characteristic of great minds. It was by this and similar methods of reform that the Puritans succeeded so well in eradicating the natural depravity of the human heart; in fact, simply by passing acts of parliament they succeeded in turning a whole nation of sinners into a nation of saints.

The unveiling of the monument in the Lorne avenue school grounds on Sunday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock promises to be one of the most interesting ceremonies held in the city for some time. This monument is of rough stone into which a bronze tablet has been set, bearing the names of 23 Lorne avenue school boys who died in the service of their country. The monument represents months of loving labor on the part of the Lorne Avenue Mothers' Club, and the pupils of the monument represents months of the lorne Avenue Mothers' Club, and the pupils of the ceremonies with the contempt they deserve.

But, in order that this method of reform may be carried to a logical conclusion, I beg to point out that, according to the most reliable statistics, the greatest number of sins and misdementations are committed in private houses; therefore it is really necessary for any self-respecting community to either abolish private houses altogether and substitute communal dwellings where the inmates can be under constant supervision, or else it should put a policeman or a plain clothes detective into every house.

ment represents months of loving labor on the part of the Lorne Avenue Mothers' Club, and the pupils of the school, who raised the money to make its erection possible. It stands at the side of the school in a pretty green plot surrounded by shrubs and flowers, and will be seen for the first time by the public on Sunday, when the concealing flag is removed.

Rev. G. Q. Warner will officiate at the unveiling ceremony, and special addresses will be delivered by W. J. Snelgrove, principal of the school, Col. Reason and Col. W. G. Coles. Suitable music will be furnished by the G. W. V. A. Band, and it is expected that he Great War Veterans will attend in a body.

DOMINION DAY WELL SPENT BY LONDONERS

Theatres All Draw Large Crowds.

Sunday At Local Unadel.

A though extra cars were added to all the cattering on Wednesday to handle halfo yerowds. Port Stanley undoubt-proved the real Mecca for the people of London and the surrounding district on July 1. Special trains leaving and series of the steps, even during the earliest hours.

Such a crowd was never known to tave travelled over the road in one of the provided were borrowed from the G. T. Contario Since august, 1914, they have been stationed in the West-tave travelled over the road in one of the provided in Windsor, St. Thomas and London. For over a year Commandant Square with the additional service many thousands of people were handled with only the greatest difficulty. The lake-side, always popular on this particular holiday, was rendered mare so by the fishermen's celebration, which provided many and divers attractions.

In spite of the immense crowds which spent the day at Port, that resort was forced to share honors with Springbank. The sun was still low in the sky when people by the hundreds watted at Richmond street for the cars which provided a frequent service throughout the day.

As the first of July belongs primarily to the resorts in the vicinity of the

WOICE OF THE PEOPLE

WORALITY AND THE PARKS.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I read that the vicar of St. James's Church has made the statement that a good deal of improper conduct goes on late at night in some of the public parks; he therefore recommends that the parks should be closed to the public after a certain hour.

The reverend gentleman's method of dealing with size and some magent and some might have imagined in an isolated hamlet reigned in London through the afternoon everywhere except in the vicinity of the ball park, the whirring of a large aeroplane above the city. A few flags flown from residences and stores, but only a very few, suggested the patriotic significance of the holiday.

Large pienics under the auspices of the United Farmers of Ontario drew good representations from London to Grand Bend, Strathroy and other district points. There were many picnics at Port Stanley and Springbank, and the steam railroads reported a heavy traffic out of town.

IN THE GREAT WAR

In fact, simply by passing acts of parliament they succeeded in turning a whole nation of siners into a nation of saints.

Some evilly disposed persons claim that they succeeded chiefly in creating a nation of hypocrites; but as these same persons do not hesitate to attribute the same result to the prohibition act, we need only regard their arguments with the contempt they deserve.

But, in order that this method of reform may be carried to a logical conclusion, I beg to point out that, according to the monument in the Lorne avenue school grounds on Sunday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock promises.

SIR ADAM SHOCKED

Not at Hydro Earnings, But Short Circuit in His Office.

When a private telephone in his ofsion line Sir Adam Beck received a shock of 550 volts Wednesday. He was holding the receiver of a Bell telephone instrument at the same time. The shock knocked both telephones from his hands.

While some reports of the accident indicated that the hydro chairman had had a narrow escape from electrocution Sir Adam was inclined to minimize the seriousness of the affair, and expressed surprise that any notice had been taken of it.

A REBUKE TO OTTAWA. The Unionist and Conservative elements will get no satisfaction out of the results of the Manitoba provincial elections held this week. Despite subtle influences that were at work the Norris administration received the largest number of votes accorded to any section or party and has by far the largest single delegation in the Legislature. With the additions that may to upset the equanimity of a saint. Probably be made to the party by deferred elections and the support that is likely to be given by some of the other elements, Hon. Mr. Norris should be able to carry on the good work that he has been doing during his first term of office.

It is not so long ago that the Conservative for a generation. The vote there for a few years semed to be at the complete disposal of the party managers, Roblin and Rogers. How weak was the domination of these two party politicians was seen in the downfall of Roblin that they set at work will affect the fortunes public mind with its vocabulary, together with and the retirement of Rogers. Yet the influence of their party friends for a generation to come. Roblin and Rogers together made politics to stink in Manitoba and the purification process is not yet completed. And this Hon "Bob" Rogers is the man who now stands as the acknowledged leader of those who seek to revive the old Conservative party and he is backed by such a staunch and respectable Conservative paper as the Montreat Gazette.

REAL SPORTSMANSHIP. [St. Thomas Times-Journal.]

If anything were needed to show at once both the British love for outdoor sports and the number of young Englishmen who were crippled during the war, it could be found in the action of the British National Lawn Tennis Association in so modifying the rules of the game that a one-armed player, when he serves, may toss the ball from his racket instead of with his hand. Commenting on this, the Youths' Companion says that to put a disabled player on ar equality with competitors who are whole is the very flower of sportsmanship.

Ans.—If you are not a cook, Turpentine, I advise you to learn the art, as it is something every girl should be proud to know expendently when asking the is something every girl should be proud to know, especially when asking the questions contained in your letter, which rather indicate your future fate. Now for the answers: It is not necessary. Show your pleasure by your appreciation of the evening. 2. "Yes, certainly," or similar assent. 3. "No thank you" is not "slamming" if said in a way that is not unkind. 4. No, with the exception of flowers, fruit, books or bon-bons.

Requests. Some time ago one of the boxites filled a request for me for crocheted edgings, and among the patterns sent was one of clover leaves (at least I call it the clover leaves (at least I call it the clover-leaf pattern). It is the daintiest thing, as the little leaves are held together by a single crochet chain. I wonder if someone could tell me how it is gone, as it remains a puzzle to me how to reproduce the pattern. Please send the directions to Miss Grey, who has my address—and if possible, and not asking too much, a wee bit of the pattern crocheted to go by, as I unravelled the other in trying to work it out. the other in trying to work Immediately on the resumption of the game London pressed, and after a grand piece of combination play Richardson, London's left back, who was playing in grand form, drove the ball to Jimmy Green, who in turn passed to Leigh, the outside left, who beat Toronto's backs and sent the sphere into the net with a daisy cutter of a shot which the Scottish goalie was unable to save. On the kickoff Scottish immediately settled down to business and got a free kick in London's penalty area, McKellar of Scottish taking the kick and driving the ball with terrific force into goal, but London's goalie. Whitworth, who was playing a magnificent game between the sticks, cleared in a remarkably fine manner.

Ultimately by good play on the London's halves part the sphere was sent into the Scottish territory, and Parkins Junior had another try for goal, sending a splendid shot into the opposing goal, but Smith miraculously saved. Mid play ensued with London carrying the ball later on into Scottish ground. Leigh receiving a pass and sending the ball into the net, but that play was ruled offside. No more scoring took place in this half, and when the whistle blew the score stood London City 1. Toronto Scottish 0. The First Session.

The first conference—numbered but a few score bishops. While the number of sees has grown tremendously since that date, the small attendance at the first conference was largely due to the misgivings entertained both within and without England. The ritualistic controversy was raging bitterly at that time, and despite the assurance of the late Archbishop Longley of Canterbury that no declaration of faith would be required, and that the conference would be merely for brotherly counsel, many distinguished churchmen, including the late Archbishop Thompson of York, abstained from attendance.

Abstained from attendance.

Had One-Quarter.

The attendance of bishops from the United States at the first conference was 19 out of the total of 76, and America has played a large part in the subsequent conferences of 1878, 1888, 1897, and 1908. The present conference is the session due in 1918, but postponed on account of the war.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, Archbishop Davidson, who will preside over the conference as primate of all England, has enjoyed a long and distinguished career in the church, throughout which he has held to a remarkable degree the close confidence of the crown, the prime minister, and his brother bishops. Associated with him in the control of the conference will be Right Rev. Theodore Woods, bishop of Peterborough, and Bishop Montgomery, who has recently completed a tremendous task as secretary and moving spirit of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel.

Conference Program.

The proceedings of the Lambeth Conference will commence on Friday, July 2, with a day of quiet spiritual preparation at Fulham Palace under the guidance of Bishop Gore. On Saturday all will go down to Canterbury, where they will be solemnly received by the archbishop, sitting in the historic marble seat which bears the name of St. Augusture's chair. archbishop, sitting in the mistoric marble seat which bears the name of St. Augustine's chair.

The first Sunday of the conference will be marked by a great service in Westminster Abbey, at which the dean of the abbey will preach. Monday, July 5, the conference will formally assemble at Lambeth Palace in the library, built in the seventeenth century by Archbishop Juxon. They will delberate in full session until July 10, when they will split up into committees for the private consideration of subjects allotted to each. The full conference will meet once more on Monday, July 20, and continue in session until the first week of August, at the conclusion of which an encyclical letter will be published.

Hope for Unity.

The place of honor upon the agenda is given to "Relation to and Reunion with Other Churches." It is hoped in many quarters that a decisive step forward will be formulated and carried out toward a definite scheme for unity. It must be remembered that not only are largely efforts being made between the state of the tentative efforts being made between the members of the great Protestant denominations, but that there is good hope of closer relations becoming estab-

of Nations Union, the organization through which Sir Robert Cecil and his colleagues are endeavoring to popularize in England President Wilson's conception of the new international organization. On the other hand, important personages in the church, both lay and clerical, have resented any effort to commit the church as a whole to a political policy, whatever may be its caims to rest upon a basis of Christianity.

It is likewise recognized that some of the most important elements of the Episcopal Church in the United States are divided over the question of the League of Nations. In fact, the conference has seldom had put before it a topic of such wide and vital political interest.

The subjects mentioned by no means

The subjects mentioned by no means The sixth Lambeth Conference apart from its ecclesiastical aspect, will bring to bear upon these problems the most distinguished gathering of cosmopolitan intellectuality.

The conference will close with a sol-be of closer relations becoming establed before long between the Anglican number and the great churches of LARGE CROWDS ENJOY GOOD ished before long between the Anglican communion and the great churches of Eastern Christendom,

"The Christian Faith in Its Relation to Spiritualism, to Christian Science and to Theosophy," is a subject calculated to promote thought and produce words with a vengeance. It will be difficult to find a more burning topic than this, and one in which the mind of the average man and woman stands in greater need of guidance.

The problem likely to produce the sharpest controversy, is the position of women in the counsels and deliberations of the church. Though the promoters of the conference foresee that this question may bring out some extreme utterances, they recognize that modern conditions, particularly the political enfranchisement of women and the extensive sphere they have occupied industrially and commercially during the war, all necessitate definite action by the church.

League of Nations.

Another topic pregnant with controversy is the discussion of Christianity in its relation to international politics, more especially to the League of Nations. Many important dignitaries of the Church of England have lent their names and their voices to the League of Nations Union, the organization through which Sir Robert Cecil and his colleagues are endeavoring to popularize in England President Wilson's conception.

Premier Makes Definite Announcement That He Will Retire Shortly-Meighen or White Likely To Take the Leadership.

Ottawa, July 1.—(By Canadian Press).

—With the announcement of the retirement of Sir Robert Borden definitely from the leadership, and with the consequent necessity of naming a new chieftain, together with the all-important future policy of the party to be discussed, the caucus of Government followers following prorogation here today will go down to posterity as one of the most momentous and significant in the federal political history of Canada.

Standing out with the retirement of Sir Robert Borden was the choice of a new name for the party. There were many suggested, but the honor of being the sponsor for the successful one went to Hon. J. A. Caider, minister of immigration and colonization, whose choice of "The National Liberal and Conservative Party, to be commonly known as "The National Party."

It was decided that the supporters of the Government and his pride in its record. It was decided that the supporters of the Government should unite them-selves into a party to be known as the Conservative Party. The policy of the party, which had been considered and tentatively approved at previous meetings, was finally adopted and is now given to the public. At the forenon meeting the prime minister addressed the caucus at some length. He reviewed the circumstances which led to the formation of the present Administration; he emphasized the supreme purpose which brought together men who had formerly opposed each other in the political areas; he dwelt upon the fulfillment of its pledges and he described the conditions which confronted members and supporters of the Government upon the conclusion of peace.

Auditor's Report to the Shareholders.

In accordance with sub-sections 19 and 20 of section 56 of the Bank Act, 1913, 19.93d; July I beg to report as follows: The foregoing balance sheet has been examined with the books and vouchers at the Head Office, and with the certified returns from the Branches, and is in accordance therewith. I have obtained all needed information from the officers of the Bank, and in my opinion the transactions coming under my notice have been within the powers of the Bank. I have checked the cash and verified the securities of the Bank, at its chief office, both on the 31st cash and verified the securities of the Bank, at its chief office, both on the 31st of May, 1920, and also at another time during the year; the cash and securities of one of the Branches have also been checked, and in each case they have agreed with the entries in the books of the Bank with regard thereto. In my opinion, the above balance sheet is properly drawn up so as to show a true and correct view of the state of the Bank's affairs, according to the best of my information and the explanations given to me, and as shown by the books of the Bank.

COL. HENRY COCKSHUTT, Brantford,

President and Managing Director, The Cockshutt Plow Co., Ltd. Director, Bank of Montreal.

From a letter from Mr. R. J. Copeland, President of Chemical Products, Limited, we summarize the following strong investment features of this issue:-Business Chemical Products, Limited, was formerly known as Chemical Products of Canada, Limited, manufacturing a varied line of pharmaceutical chemicals. This Company has been a leader in the production of many fine medicinal and technical chemicals. Its products achieved a national distribution, and a world-wide trade connection was established. To cope with the volume of business offered at home and abroad, expansion was necessary. Chemical Products, Limited, has taken over all the formulae, processes and rights of Chemical Products of Canada,

Property The property, comprising 255 acres, is situated at Trenton, Ont., on the Trent River Valley Canal. The trunk lines of the Canadian Pacific, the Grand Trunk and Canadian National Railways bound the property and are connected with it by sid-ings. Rail and water transportation is thus

Plant The main plant at Trenton, Ont., will be divided into five distinct units: 1.—Acid Phosphate Plant—annual capacity 75,000 to 100,000 tons. 2.—Sulphuric Acid Plant—with a capacity of 120 tons a day; 70 ton Nitric Acid Plant. 3.—Refined Nitrate of Soda, Epsom Salts and General Chemicals. 4.-Salicylates of allied derivatives, viz: Aspirin, Salicylic Acid, Sodium Salicylate, Oil of Wintergreen, Creosotinic Acid. 5.—Ammonia and Coke Oven by-products, including Salammoniac, Ammonia Carbonate, Liquor Ammonia, Aromatic Hydro Carbons and Whiting. Numerous allied industries will be located here, working in conjunction with the main

The Company's properties, including Land, Assets Plants, Railway System and working equip-ment will have, after completion of present financing and construction programme, a replacement value of $2,729,907.50, in addition to net working capital of $500,000; which will be equivalent to $189.40 per share of Preferred Stock outstanding. Although the Company is the successor of a business that has an established world-wide trade connection, it carries on its books no value for goodwill. A conservative estimate of the net earnings. Earnings allowing for only four principal products and not taking into consideration any profit from surplus sulphuric acid or other product, would amount to $1,483,688 net

These earnings are equivalent to over eleven times Preferred Stock dividends, and leave a surplus equal to about $18 per share of outstanding Common Stock.

Application will be made in due course to list both Preference and Common Shares on the Montreal and Toronto Stock Exchanges.

> An opportunity to realize the advance made in the chemical industry is afforded by our Descriptive Circular, which will be gladly mailed upon request.

"I can only remember coming out from New York on a certain train, be-cause I'd heard from some friend of the Anstruthers that they were expect-ing you, Helene. I wanted desperately to meet you, to talk with you, to put the quarrel right. I can recollect ar-riving—strolling along the roads—and then—it's all a blank."

CXIII-A HAPPY MEETING. I became deeper confirmed in my urmise. Travis Lloyd's mad wife had surmise. Travis Lloyd's mad wife had mistaken my poor Jim for her husband, had crept up behind him with some sort of weapon, and had—dexterously—stunned him. Probably once he was stunned she had inflicted other blows.

We didn't speak on the subject again that day. And pretty soon the taxi drew up before the control of We didn't speak on the subject again that day. And pretty soon the taxi drew up before Jim's home.

To my surprise, in the big drawing-room, I found not only Jim's mother waiting for us, but his father also! The latter actually kissed me, too!

"I want to welcome my new daughter-in-law," he said, gruffly, but with kindness in his voice. Then he turned to Jim. He held his hand out to his son.

Alice looked very woebegone through-out the journey. She directed the ma-jority of her remarks to Jim. Knowing that I had once been envious of her in that quarter—oh fatal confession!— she had evidently determined that she she had evidently determined that she would make me pay.
But it was no longer in Alice's power to make me jealous. I knew my Jim too well for that.

A car met us at the country station, and we drove to the house. It looked large and deserted, and the blinds were still drawn down in respect to the deceased master, which—though perhaps correct—was quite depressing.

correct—was quite depressing.

Alice burst into tears at once.

Alice burst into tears at once.
The servants were in the hall to receive her. She wept on the shoulder of her old housekeeper.
Thereafter she went straight to bed, I kept her company. She insisted that I sleep on a couch in the same room, for fear that ghosts might wander.
She was very superstitious. A definite fear that her husband would haunt the place had seized her mind. I tried to convince her to the contrary. And then, my efforts being. trary. And then, my efforts being of no avail, I said:

"Even if he did 'come back to earth'
