EXPECTS WELLS WILL PROVIDE SUPPLY NEEDED

Manager E. V. Buchanan Predicts Drillers' Efforts Will Be Successful.

FINISH WORK BY JAN. 1

Utilities Official Does Not Think Lake or River Water Required.

It is with the utmost satisfaction that General Manager Buchanan views the remarkable progress achieved by the well-drilling experts employed by the Ohio Well Company of Massillon, Ohio, who are probing beneath the city of London for a probable supply of fresh water.

By Jan. 1 at the most, the drillers, Manager Buchanan expects, will have completed their operations, and will be in a position to prepare their report for the city. "They are now on their second series," Mr. Buchanan declared on Thursday, "and if everything proceeds as favorably in the future as in the past, they should conclude their investigations by the end of this month."

Need 1,000,000 Gallons Daily.

"I am convinced as well as they are," continued Mr. Buchanan enthusiastically, "that their efforts will be crowned with success. As a matter of fact it stands reasoning that the Ohio company would have not commenced their second survey had they not been favorably impressed. Their profit depends upon the actual location for the city of a source of a million gallons of water a day, and it is my belief that had they regarded the situation hopeless after their first survey they would have abandoned the project and gone back to Ohio."

Predicts Abundant Supply.

"There are those who opposed this undertaking from the start," explained the manager, "and do yet, I suppose. Some wanted us to use river water or lake water. One thing is certain. The result of this undertaking, at an unusually reasonable cost to the city will be the means of deciding definitely and for all time to come whether there is any available water near the city. After that, it will be the question of tapping the River Thames or Lake Erie. Personally, I am convinced that we have a supply beneath London, which, coupled with what we now have, will put London on easy street for years."

ASKS PREMIER TO REMEMBER DEBT

Langley Claims His Stand Made Martin Government Possible.

Ottawa, Dec. 15.—Hon. George Langley's resignation from the Martin government and the legislature was demanded by Premier Martin, because Mr. Langley in July was charged with attempting to interfere with the course of justice in Redberry, and according to the correspondence between the premier and the former minister of municipal affairs, tabled in the legislature today.

The premier's charge against Mr. Langley was that he had endeavored to influence the decision of Thomas Murray, the magistrate appointed to investigate charges of bribery against Corporal William Sulaty, a provincial police officer.

Premier Martin, in a letter addressed to Mr. Langley, Sept. 28, says: "I find now that you went to Prince Albert on Sept. 25 last, after Thomas Murray had been instructed to hold the inquiry, with the avowed intention, according to your letter to him, of endeavoring to influence him to favor Sulaty. I have no alternative but to ask you to let me have your resignation forthwith. I am sure that on reflection you yourself will recognize how impossible it is for you to remain a member of the government."

In a reply written Sept. 30, Mr. Langley submitted his resignation, and asked that it take effect Nov. 30. On Oct. 6 Premier Martin wrote that he could not comply with this request, and again requested Mr. Langley's resignation to take effect immediately. After further correspondence the premier agreed to make no announcement of the resignation until Oct. 29.

Under date of Oct. 4, Mr. Langley wrote to Premier Martin, in which he severely criticized the premier. In the course of this letter he asked Premier Martin to remember his obligation to him, stating that a general idea prevailed "that but for my action, assisted by others, at the grain growers' convention in Moose Jaw in 1919, the government would today be no Martin government."

COAL MINE OWNERS MAY REDUCE WAGES

Montreal, Dec. 15.—A meeting concerning the revision of the wage schedule now existing in the coal mines of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick is being held in Montreal today. The miners who will be affected by whatever decision is reached belong to District 26 of the United Mine Workers of America. The men are at present working under an agreement that should have expired on Nov. 30. The amount of the reductions to be asked by the coal companies would be substantial. Representatives of the miners have announced they will object to any reduction.

Several officials of the British Empire Steel Corporation are attending the meeting, including Roy Wolvin, president, D. H. McDougall, vice-president, and Alex. McNeill.

COMMISSION TO STOP GERMAN COAL EXPORTS

Berlin, Dec. 15.—According to the Tagesschau Rundschau, the reparations commission has sent to the German government a note tantamount to an order for complete prohibition of the export of German coal to neutral countries.

Bomb Store as Rioting Victim Dies in Belfast

IRISH GUNMEN RENEW SNIPING IN BELFAST

One Man Wounded in Attack Made by Concealed Persons.

EXPECT TREATY MAJORITY

Collins and Griffiths Confident New Pact Will Be Ratified.

Belfast, Dec. 15.—Sniping was resumed in the vicinity of Marrowbutte and York streets last night. The police fired on the concealed gunmen. The only casualty reported was the wounding of one man.

A shop was wrecked by a bomb after it had been closed for the night. One of the men wounded in Tuesday's shooting died this morning.

As the Daily Express met in Dublin today it was declared by supporters of Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith that they and the other signors of the Irish peace agreement now felt certain of an ultimate majority in favor of the treaty. They declared no prominent person in any part of Ireland had yet protested against their action in signing an agreement with the British cabinet. Mr. De Valera's objections were stated to be to certain details of the treaty, which, he thinks, would have been improved if it had been resubmitted to him and the Dail cabinet before it was signed.

The general impression in Dublin today was that Lord Carson's speech in the House of Lords last night had helped Collins and Griffith in their day in the Dail for the treaty's ratification. It was pointed out in this connection that Lord Carson had pictured the British action toward Ulster in a light that bore out the prediction of Michael Collins in his famous speech at Armagh last September, when he said that Britain would use Ulster as long as it suited her purpose and then throw her overboard. As to Mr. De Valera's position with regard to the treaty, it is asserted that when the government's proposals were submitted to the Dail cabinet on Sept. 2, certain objections were made which Mr. De Valera does not think were adequately met in the final draft. The secret session is occupied with a discussion of these points, and it was said after last night's adjournment that the members had got no further along in their discussion than they were when the public session was concluded early yesterday afternoon.

Premier-Elect Amused at Various Forecasts At Cabinet

NEWMARKET, Dec. 15.—Canada's premier-elect is as secretive as the late Lord King. "I haven't said a word to any body about my plans for a cabinet," he declared yesterday. "I am very good at keeping my own counsel, and anything that has been published regarding possible cabinet members is mere guesswork."

Mr. King laughed heartily at newspaper comment shown him forecasting cabinet appointments. "It is really funny," he observed. He did not know anything at all about the qualifications of one gentleman who was prominently mentioned for a certain post.

"That is the first newspaper I have seen for a long time," he said, when the latest edition was handed to him.

FREIGHTER GROUNDS DURING SNOW SQUALL

Chatham, Mass., Dec. 15.—The freight steamer Schuylkill, bound light from Boston to New York, after finishing a voyage from Pacific ports, struck on Stone Horse Shoal in a snow squall early today. She was apparently hard aground when sighted by the Monomoy Point coastguards, who went out to her. Seas were rough. There are about fifty men aboard.

The Schoedack sent out radiograms saying that soundings from the vessel showed 12 feet of water on the port side and 15 feet on the starboard side. Assistance was asked for. The coastguard cutter, Fishnet sent word that she was putting out at once, and would arrive about noon.

LABOR GAINS SEAT IN BRITISH HOUSE

Thomas Naylor Wins From Coalitionist-Liberal in By-Election.

LONDON, England, Dec. 15.—(Canadian Press Cable)—The by-election in the southeast division of Southwark resulted yesterday in the return of Thomas Naylor, the Labor candidate. His vote was 6,561, while Owen Jacobson, the coalition Liberal, got 2,636 votes, and Ernest Doot, the Independent Conservative, received 2,397 votes. The seat was formerly held by a coalition Liberal, who was elected with a majority of about 4,000 over Naylor, the winner of the present election.

The southwest division of Southwark has a Labor majority on the borough council which makes the result in the present election less distressing for the government.

Jacobson, the coalition Liberal, said he lost "owing to the extraordinary conduct of the Independent Liberals, who evidently conspired with the party, consisting of men like J. R. Clynes and Arthur Henderson, and the extreme communists."

JAIL-BREAKERS FOILED AT ST. JOHNS, QUEBEC

Montreal, Dec. 15.—Following the discovery of a plot to attempt an escape from St. Johns, Que., jail on Saturday last, and still another attempt set for Tuesday night, four of the more dangerous characters in the institution were taken to the Bordeaux jail last night by a special squad of the provincial police. The prisoners are Laventure and Frasier, awaiting trial on a charge of murder.

A search of the prisoners and their cells revealed the presence of a saw, made from the blade of a table knife, and several pieces of wire, which it is believed, were to be used for some purpose in connection with the proposed break.

FRENCH PARLIAMENT APPROVES OF BUDGET

Paris, Dec. 15.—After a session lasting twenty hours, the Chamber of Deputies at 7:45 o'clock this morning, voted approval of the new budget. The budget provides for the expenditure of 25,140,000,000 francs, and receipts of 24,827,000,000 francs.

The government originally demanded 24,922,000,000 francs in receipts, and the finance committee had proposed 24,953,000,000 francs.

GERMAN PRESS ABANDONS HOPE OF NEW CREDIT

Dr. Rathenau Returns From London With No Promise of Moratorium.

GLOOM SEIZES BERLIN

Government May Have To Pay Reparations From Reichsbank's Gold Reserve.

Berlin, Dec. 15.—Dr. Walter Rathenau, on his return from his recent trip to London, brought back no concrete proposals for, nor any promise of, either a loan or a moratorium. Neither did parleys with authoritative British financial quarters afford any tangible basis upon which the German government would be warranted to base the conclusion that it will be granted any great measure of positive relief with regard to its reparations obligations.

This, in effect, was the admission made yesterday by cabinet officials, who declined to enter upon any discussion of the present stage of the deliberations which have been going on since Dr. Rathenau's return. A special credit commission, consisting of nine leading industrialists, financiers and economists, appointed by Chancellor Wirth, held a conference with Dr. Rathenau and the chancellor last night. No official communiqué was issued following the meeting, but it was said a statement would be given out later.

"The reparations issue," said one of the under secretaries, "is a fragile plant which calls for the tenderest nursing. We cannot discuss its growth at this moment without exposing it to the possible vicissitudes of a cold blast from across the channel, or a hoar frost from over the Rhine. So long as things are in abeyance we prefer not to indulge in comments or speculations."

The German press continues in a state of gloom. "In the absence of official information from official quarters, continues to paint the situation as steeped in gloom. It warns the public to be prepared for the worst. Officials of the ministry of railways are also reticent, although they have been frequently called in for consultation since Dr. Rathenau's return. Newspaper editorial writers are already contemplating the possibility of a government being compelled to take recourse to the Reichsbank's gold reserve in order to fill out the 500,000,000 marks due Jan. 15 on the reparations account."

KING RETURNS WAGER CHECK

Toronto, Dec. 15.—A dispatch from Newmarket, Ont., to the Star, says that John Bain, chief publicity agent at Ottawa for the Conservative party in the recent campaign, will have his check for $1,000, which he sent to W. L. MacKenzie King to honor a bet made before the elections, returned to him uncashed.

"Mr. Bain offered to bet me that the government would have the largest number of seats after the election, and I merely wanted to show him that he could not bluff me that way," remarked Mr. King yesterday. "I don't want his money, so I am returning the check for $1,000 which he sent me."

WOMAN DISGUISED AS MAN HELD FOR THEFT

Boston, Dec. 15.—Police inspectors who arrested an alleged automobile thief yesterday, found that instead of a young man they had taken into custody a woman.

Further, they learned that the woman, Ethel Kimball, in her guise as a young man of smart appearance, had married Louise Ackler of Somerville, on Nov. 23. The name she gave was James Hathaway.

The discovery of her sex was made when, after the captive attempted to escape, one of the officers started to strike her, and the captive cried: "Officer, you would hurt a woman, would you? With tortoise shell glasses, hat and overcoat removed, it was plain that the prisoner was a woman."

Always Contributes to City Poor But Conceals Identity

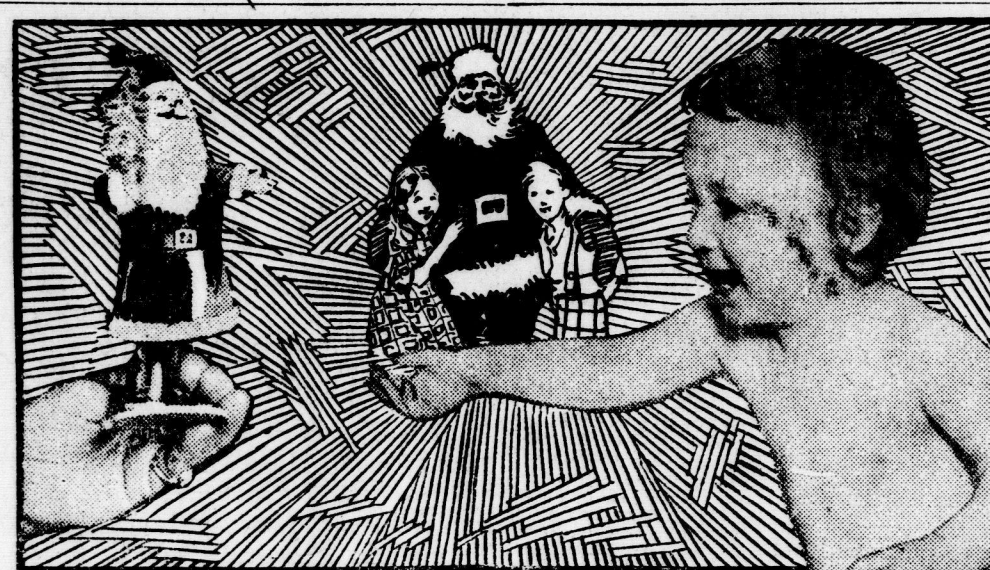

Who is the strange, anonymous person, who on Thursday morning, sent to J. W. McCallum, city license and relief inspector, a $20 bill to help give the poor of the city and kiddies in the rescue homes a better Christmas?

For fourteen years Mr. McCallum has been asking the same question. He is as wise today as he was 14 years ago, when the first donation arrived. With a most uncanny regularity this benevolent person sends along his $20 bill about the same date. There is absolutely no indication as to who is the donor. It comes in a plain envelope through the post. It comes from the city. That is all that Mr. McCallum knows.

The donor seems determinedly bent on evading detection. The wording of the letters, setting forth the division of the money is always the same, as is the amount. These are the only points of similarity.

Mr. McCallum has the fourteen messages in his possession, and an examination of them revealed the fact that no two of them were written on Play Santa Claus For Little Tots Like This!

SUPPOSE NOBODY CARED!

ON CHRISTMAS MORN

SHE needs you so much, this little girl. She earnestly believes in Santa Claus. And doesn't he bring gifts to all good little girls, whether they are rich or poor?

Her mother has been ill for a whole long year with a dread disease, from which there is no hope of cure. Four times she has bravely undergone a serious operation, but all to no avail, and now, as Christmas approaches, she lies dying.

Perhaps she won't live even until Christmas Day! Her little girl doesn't understand very well. She's too small to appreciate the meaning of death. But she knows something is wrong, when people go whispering about the house, and she isn't permitted even the faintest whisper of a cry.

She wonders often why her mother doesn't take her in her arms as she once did, and why her mother's face is so pale and drawn. She hasn't traveled too far away from the world whence she came to remember the beauty of it, and she sometimes wishes she could fly away there with her mother, where they two could be warm and happy again.

Her father goes out to work every day, but he hasn't much of a job, and the doctor's bills make it very hard for him to keep them all from misery.

The little girl hasn't very much to wear—just a few cotton rompers, which somehow don't seem to be warm enough now that the cold creeps 'round the little house. And it's awfully, awfully miserable, when you can't have your mother's arms about you, or warm clothing, either.

But there are other arms which can reach out and comfort this little girl, if they only will. They can't bring the same love as mother's arms, but they can bring silver and gold to buy warm clothing for her by subscribing to the "Goodfellows' Christmas Cheer Fund."

Who will be the first to do it?

AWARDED JUDGMENT FOR $1,000 AND COSTS

Ottawa, Dec. 15.—Judgment for $1,000 and costs was given in favor of J. A. Christine, who holds a lease on the Gladstone avenue rink here, and who sued Doy Bros. for $25,000 for damages, resulting from a garage being placed in the rink.

The award was made at the close of the hearing in supreme court yesterday. Sir William Mulock, who was on the bench, announced that the $1,000 was for wrongful exclusion, thereby ruling that Christine's lease on the rink entitled him to the premises in dispute. A garage in a building adjoining the rink was an infringement upon his lease, plaintiff claimed.

DECIDE AGAINST REPRESENTATIVES

Catholics Will Not Name Successors to Drs. Tillmann and Brown On School Board.

Father M. A. Brisson, superintendent of separate schools of London, informed The Advertiser on Thursday morning that he has forwarded to the Hon. Dr. Grant, minister of education, a copy of the communication that was sent to the local board of education with respect to Roman Catholic representation on the latter body.

The letter reads as follows:

Dec. 13, 1921.

W. A. Tanner, Secretary Board of Education:

Dear Sir:—In reply to your communication of the 7th inst., with reference to our nominating representatives to the board of education to succeed Dr. W. J. Tillmann and Dr. Claude Brown, I am instructed by the R. C. S. S. board to advise you of the following resolution passed at a meeting held Dec. 12:

"Be it resolved, that in view of the anomalous position of Roman Catholic representatives in the matter of secondary education and of the utterly undemocratic character of the representation given to separate school supporters, the R. C. separate school board of London does not consider it advisable to name any further representatives to the high school board of education."

Yours truly,

M. A. BRISSON.

FINDS CHANGES MADE IN PLANS FOR 17 HOUSES

Civic Commission Will Investigate Deviations From Specifications.

EXPECTS LIVE MEETING

Question of Relaying Pine Lawn Roofs To Be Considered.

The housing commission has learned during the last couple of days that material changes were made in the seventeen Garfield avenue houses, built by the commission as well as in those erected at Pine Lawn.

Members of the commission gleaned this from the contractor, H. G. Wilson, and will go into the matter thoroughly at its meeting tonight at the city hall.

It will be the last meeting of the year, and it promises to be a regular field day. The contractors on the Pine Lawn Houses, Messrs. Layman and Willis, the contractors on the Garfield avenue houses, H. G. Wilson & Son, and the architect for all, H. H. McBride, have been invited by the commission to attend the meeting.

It is understood that Contractor Wilson is pressing for a settlement of his account, and that this has brought about the revelation that the Garfield avenue houses were changed.

Claims Plans Altered.

The full details of the changes will be revealed at the meeting tonight. To The Advertiser, Mr. Wilson said that there were several alterations made in the plans, the principal alteration being in the roofs, as was the case in the Pine Lawn houses. Mr. Wilson says that the change in the Garfield avenue houses resulted in an increase in the cost of the contract. It is believed that there were also a number of other changes, more or less important. It is said that the plumbing work was altered so as to cut the cost of installation, but the exact details are not known.

The commission will likely come to some definite decision as to what will be done in regard to the Pine Lawn roofs. This has been hanging fire for some time, sort of putting off the inevitable, in the opinion of some, though with snow on the roofs, it is doubtful if anything can be done before spring.

Decline To Relay Roofs.

When the contractor and architect declined to relay the roofs within the time specified by the commission, the decision was made that the commission would have someone else do the work, but any steps in that direction have yet to be taken.

Considerable money, owing to the contractor and architect, is being held back, and it is the avowed intention of some of the commissioners to fight off any payments whatsoever until the jobs are completed to their satisfaction. The whole matter will likely be reviewed before the commission's adjournment, as this session will be its final bow for the year.

GREAT WELCOME GIVEN TO KING IN NORTH YORK

Premier-Elect Declares It the Proudest Moment in His Life.

DAWN OF HAPPIER DAY

Liberal Chieftain Laughingly Admits Possibility of a Coming Surprise.

NEWMARKET, Ont., Dec. 14.—Hon. Wm. L. Mackenzie King, premier-elect, received an enthusiastic reception when he returned to his own constituency of North York this afternoon to thank his supporters for their votes and to confer with his friends.

Mr. King made the trip from Toronto in a private car of the Metropolitan Railway, and was met some distance out of town by Mayor Eaves and a party of prominent Liberals who boarded the car to greet Mr. King. After leaving the car the party was soon the center of a rapidly-growing crowd, and when they reached Foresters' Hall the building was already filled to capacity.

After reaching the platform amid the shouts of the big crowd, Mr. King said: "I am sure you will believe me when I say that this is the happiest moment of my life."

"I am equally sure that if my dear mother and father had been spared to witness this moment they would have said it was the greatest in their lives."

"And I am also sure that if my grandfather had been spared to look upon this gathering he would have told us it was the proudest moment he had ever known."

Dawn of Better Day.

"We have the struggles of a great many years rolled into one overwhelming victory," said the premier-elect, amidst cheering. "It is a victory for the Liberal principle, a victory for the return to responsible government in the true and broad sense of the word, and the victory which I believe is going to mark the dawn of our brighter and happier days in our Dominion."

The Liberal chieftain heartily thanked his audience for the hard work they had done, which resulted in the great victory he referred to.

"Nobody could look at the returns," he said, "without remarking upon the fact that not only every Liberal in the riding must have come to the polls on election day, but hundreds of farmers and Conservatives who had decided to support the Liberal policy must also have been brought out by the enthusiastic workers."

"The eyes of the Dominion are on North York, and have been on North York since December 6," he said. He remarked upon the fact that in nearly all the congratulations received, mention had been made of the history-making results that had been worked in North York. The Liberal leader jokingly expressed doubts as to his proper position at the moment.

Mr. Clark of Lennoxville, expressed the hope that Mr. King would get a wife now that the election was over.

"You don't hope that any more than I do," said the premier-elect. "I may surprise even you."

After the laughter following this confession had subsided, Mr. King remarked that he must not forget to thank the fathers and mothers who had christened their children after him. He noticed Mr. Deaton and Mr. Wilder, grandfather and father respectively, of two little embryo Liberals who were born on the sixth and given the name of the premier-elect.

Applies For Naturalization After 64 Years Spent in Canada.

HARRISTON, Dec. 14.—Adolph George Schab, 80 years of age, a resident of Moorfield, a nearby village, has made application to Judge Spotton to become a naturalized Canadian citizen. Although Mr. Schab came out to this country from Alsace Lorraine in 1857 he had never taken out naturalization papers, and when he presented himself before his honor he stated that despite his advanced age he was anxious to become a naturalized Canadian because his sons were all Canadians. Judge Spotton will forward the recommendation in the usual way to Ottawa.

"I think that both of us are to be congratulated," he said to Mr. Doison. "There are a large number of young Mackenzie Kings all over the country by now, and I really don't see that there is any necessity of my getting married," remarked the premier-elect. Howard Cane expressed the constituents' great pleasure at Mr. King's presence in the riding.

Mr. King got down from the platform and went among those present shaking hands. He later went to Aurora, where he was given another welcome. Mr. King promised his Newmarket audience that he would return to North York following his swearing-in.

CHIPPAWA MAY CAUSE $4 JUMP IN HYDRO RATES

Big Canal Expense Will Not However Deter Industrial Prosperity.

FINAL COST WILL DROP

Many Experts Believe Sinking Fund Should Be Deferred.

The Chippawa Canal, having involved the province in expenditures equivalent to $110 per family, which will grow to $180 per family, it is a matter of prime importance whether hydro rates can be charged which will take care of the entire burden without deterring industrial prosperity.

The latest estimate of cost is $55,000,000 for a generating capacity of 275,000 horse-power, and of $80,000,000 at a later date, for a maximum canal capacity of at least 550,000 horse-power.

The first two generating units, giving 110,000 horse-power, should both be in operation next month. But it would be reasonable to postpone the payment of interest on the cost of the canal and first five units, out of rates, until all the five units, with 275,000 horse-power, are in operation, which will be a year hence.

What would be the lowest rates obtainable then?

Proves Simple Problem.

It is a simple problem in arithmetic. With interest at 6 per cent on sixty-five million dollars and operating costs and depreciation at 2 per cent—which is an exceptionally good but feasible showing—the rate will work out at $20 per horse-power at Queenston. If sinking fund be added from the start, the rate will be $23 per horse-power.

When the canal is working to maximum capacity and meeting aside a sinking fund, the rate may be brought down to $13 per horse-power, including sinking fund provision. But years will pass before the plant is brought to maximum capacity or a market is available for so immense a block of power as 550,000 horse-power.

For practical purposes, it is better to confine attention to the problems to be faced during the next four or five years when the hydro Niagara system, with a generating equipment and a market for only one-half the Chippawa Canal's maximum capacity, will have to carry the entire cost of the ditch.

Average Rate Paid at Niagara Falls

The average rate paid at Niagara Falls by the hydro municipalities today is $12. A jump to $20 for the first instalments of Chippawa power would be serious. But not so serious as may appear at first sight.

A lot of power the hydro has had to buy to meet the ever-growing demand is costing $18, and the last block of 8,000 horse-power, which was secured last week, is costing $22. That price includes an allowance for exchange with the United States. The cheapest power is coming from the Ontario Power Company and is costing $9. Un-der present conditions, therefore, with no one suffering, some blocks of hydro power are costing nearly two and a half times the cost of O. P. power.

All hydro power is pooled, and the average rate about $12. The same process should apply to Chippawa power. If Chippawa's 275,000 horse-power at $20 is pooled with the present supply of over 300,000 horse-power at $12, the cost of all the hydro power in the Niagara system will be $16 on the bus bar. In other words, the pooling process brings down the cost of Chippawa power by $4 per horse-power, but increases present hydro rates at the Falls by $4 per horse-power.

Boosts Rate to $17.44.

The present average rate of $12 at Niagara becomes $17.44 when it reaches the distribution system of the Toronto Hydro Commission. The cost of local distribution is very heavy, owing to the need for more than one station, and for underground work, so that the cost is increased from $17.44 to $35.48 per horse-power. But as much of the power is used several times over, thanks to the difference in peak loads, the actual average cost to the consumer is brought down to $21 or $22 per horse-power. An addition of $4 per horse-power at Niagara will not mean quite so much to the Toronto user of power, owing to some of the energy being used more than once, but it might mean $24 or $25 power.

Could Stand Increase.

Industry would have no occasion for alarm even if the rate went up to $30 per horse-power. The T. E. L. rates now work out to $35 or $40 per horse-power, and many businessmen are glad to pay that price, even though their competitors may be paying less. The more time half that much for hydro power, in Montreal a few very large consumers get power as cheap as do hydro customers here, but the average runs close to $40 per horse-power.

The conclusion of the whole matter is that Chippawa power, for the first 275,000 horse-power will cost $8 per horse-power more than the present average price of $12 at Niagara Falls, and when brought down to $21 or $22 per horse-power, will boost hydro rates at the same point to about $16, or by one-third.

Yet the rates payable by hydro customers in the principal market will still compare favorably with those now charged by privately-owned plants.

The cost of hydro power, including Chippawa current, will be well below one-half the cost of the only alternative, namely, steam power. And there never will be occasion, as fearful persons have imagined, for the province to amortize up to twenty millions of the cost of the Chippawa Canal in order to get hydro rates down to a commercial basis.

MAN AND WIFE ADMIT FORGERY

KITCHENER, Dec. 14.—(By Canadian Press.)—John Petch and his wife, of Linwood, near here, pleaded guilty before Judge Hearn in county court today to a charge of forgery. The pair admitted signing the name of a man named Hutchinson to transfer records of the Canadian Pedigree Association. The transgression was in connection with making out papers for "Main General," a pedigreed stallion. Lack of knowledge of procedure and law in the matter seemed to be at the bottom of the illegal act. Sentence was suspended by the court.

BARBER FINDS NEW MEANINGS IN MOUSTACHES

Revises His Philosophical Views On Customers "With"
and "Without."

BEARDS SHOW GENTILITY

Real Hard Men Now Always Known by Clean Shaven Faces.

"At one time when one declared that moustaches were the most masculine adornment of man, that statement was likely to be taken at face value. But nowadays if anyone seriously makes a crack like that I'm off him for life. Moustaches, I claim, are now the most feminine attribute of a man."

It was "Doc" Allons at Fred Merdell's popular barbering emporium in the basement of the National Billiard Hall, who was speaking, and he is one who actually regards his trade seriously. To him it is ever as much a profession as the dentist's playful havoc is, "of course," continued the speaker, as he deftly extracted a blackhead from his interested customer, "you must admit, upon reflection, that moustaches are purely masculine in character."

"There is one exception, however," he hastened to add, between dexterous flicks of the shiny blade, "there is no notable exception, the bearded ladies in the circus. They are the exception to prove the rule. They just look manly."

Professors Considered.

"We'll just regard the college professor for a minute. Deprive him of his moustache and beard, and how would he look? I leave it to your own imagination. There's nothing to it. He just simply wouldn't pass in a crowded Oxford car as any college dude. And everybody believes that college professors are supposed to be just a trifle old womanish as it were. It's the beard, I say."

It even affects their voices. I can't explain myself. It may be that it is a matter of psychology or something 'high-brow' like that, but just as soon as a man commits a beard, he softens his voice, becomes gentler, and in fact, all other things being equal, becomes a gentleman."

"I'm not trying to hand you something," emphasized the handsome barber, as his customer, escaping from the

Only Parents May Give Orders To Minors To Buy Cigarettes

THAT only the parents or a guardian may legally give a note to a minor for the purpose of buying tobacco, was the decision handed down by Deputy Police Magistrate P. H. Bartlett, in the case of Isaac Abramson, who was charged in police court Thursday morning with selling cigarettes to a minor.

A note was produced in the case, which the defendant claimed had been written by the minor's sister. The defendant pleaded ignorance of the law, but with no avail. Abramson was fined $10 and costs or ten days. The information was laid by Police Constable F. Tomblin.

chair, now seemed reluctant to leave, but willing to hear more. "I know that I am not springing the original crack when I repeat that a true gentleman must have something feminine in his make-up, or at least those qualities we generally associate with the women more than with their burly half-gentlemen, quiet demeanor, sympathy, good breeding, tact and what not."

Acted With Chaplin.

"But I remember seeing a bearded giant in one of Charlie Chaplin's films that didn't act, or even at the best, look like a gentleman. In fact he was a fireman," ventured the customer, who had determined to cut his lunch-hour in half to hear the finish.

"Well, as far as that goes, even firemen can be and are gentlemen," he laughed, an attack upon a second customer. "In the case you speak of, the movie dude didn't have his beard properly trimmed. That explains that, but as I remarked once already, there are exceptions to every rule. But let us confine ourselves to the question of moustaches for the moment. You know as well as I do that the so-called 'eyebrow' moustache makes a man look like a regular dandy, if not actually foolish."

Something Was Wrong.

"As proof of that, there was a bird in here yesterday, a regular patron of mine in fact. The minute he stepped down those stairs I knew there was something wrong with him. There was something missing from his face. It was his moustache. He had in place a two-day's growth of hair under his nose."

"Shave, sir," says "L."

"Just my beard," he says, "and trim the moustache."

"Where is it?" I questioned. Then he broke down and confessed. You see he had not been married long and his young wife who had never seen him without his cr-d-adornment suggested that he shave it off. He finally agreed for a safety razor forthwith."

Wife Turned Pale.

"Hot dog! when he stepped from the bathroom with his naked face his wife turned ghastly color and became positively ill. In fact she wept all night because her husband had changed. He was not the toff she married. He looked cruel and wicked and a real hard egg."

"Nothing he could say or do would help. I can't bear to look at you," she screamed. In desperation I nearly drove him to the corner bootlegger.

"And there you are," concluded the massage expert, in his best convincing manner, as both the first and second customer fled up the stairs for air.

WEST LONDON SCHOOL NEEDS MANY REPAIRS

Mothers' Club Calls Attention to Unfavorable Conditions in Building.

FIRE ESCAPES SECURED

Emergency Exits Installed
After Strong Agitation by Trustee (Mrs.) Hunt.

At last the new fire escape promised for the West London Public School has been placed in position. An announcement to this effect was made Thursday by W. A. Tanner, secretary of the board of education.

Although it was several months ago that the board's attention was called to this necessity, it was only in recent days that the addition was made.

It was not long since, at a meeting of one of the committees, that School Trustee Mrs. John L. A. Hunt called attention to the fact that nothing had been done. She was told that the fire-escape had been ordered in August last. It was then that she threatened to have the fire chief take a hand in the matter.

It is this school that requires so many expenditures from time to time to keep it in repairs. The Mothers' Club have time and again registered strong protests relative to the unfavorable condition of the school and the recent report by the medical officer of health did not refer in glowing terms to the London West school.

While the 1921 board of trustees recognized that a new school was necessary, they were compelled, they explained, to have the question in abeyance until next year owing to lack of funds.

GIVE CONCERT IN AID OF CHILDREN

London Oddfellows Hold Successful Entertainment and Christmas Tree.

Oddfellows' Hall, gaily decorated, Wednesday night, was the scene of a charming Christmas festival, and what the Oddfellows of London, under the auspices of Dominion Lodge No. 48, gave a delightful concert and Christmas tree on behalf of the Children's shelter.

The brilliantly adorned tree weighed down with gifts, from which good St. Nicholas, impersonated by Joseph Sanders, distributed the presents, was placed in the midst of the room, and its decorations, chosen to blend with those of the room, lent an atmosphere of good cheer and Christmas spirit.

The concert part of the program was supplied by the London Conservatory of Music, who donated this assistance for the occasion. Among those taking part were: Soprano soloist, Miss Madeline Schriber; reader, Miss Francis Williams; classical dancer, Miss Marion Smith; Scotch dancer, Miss Josephine Fitzgerald; bagpipe selections by Miss Helen Brown.

The most interesting part of the program was the Nativity play, presented under the direction of Miss Topley-Thomas. Included in the cast of the play were: Miss Francis Williams, Mother Mary; Beth Harkness, Mary Fenton, Helen Fenton, Three Shepherds; Marshall Stapleton and Margaret Gilbert, Angels.

THE BANK CLEARINGS for this week were $2,954,114, and for the corresponding week last year, $3,251,142. A decrease of $267,028.

No Appetite

Nervous exhaustion leads to distaste for food. The nerves of the stomach are weak, digestion fails and you become generally upset and out of sorts.

The secret of complete restoration is in getting the nervous system fully built up.

Mrs. R. Cheney, 208 Richmond St., Chatham, Ont., writes:

"I was troubled with indigestion, which caused me many sleepless nights. I would be in terrible distress at times, and would get no relief for two or three hours. For sixteen months I ate nothing but Shredded Wheat biscuits, as I dare not eat anything else. I did not know what to do, as I had tried so many different remedies, as well as doctor's medicines, without gaining permanent relief. Finally I got some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and while on the second box noticed that I was improving. I continued the treatment until I am now fully restored, and have returned to my regular diet. My husband has also taken Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with splendid results, so we are glad to recommend it to others."

FORM NEW ORANGE LODGE IN LONDON

Returned Veterans Inaugurate Organization To Be Known as 'Pro Patria.'

An important addition was made to the number of Loyal Orange lodges in London Wednesday night when a new lodge was formed in the district Orange Hall, Market Lane. The inauguration ceremony was performed by District Master Wor. Bro. Dr. S. J. T. Bean and County Master Joseph Carson.

The new lodge has an interesting program mapped out for the coming year. The new organization will be a unique one in fraternal circles in that it will be known as a traveling lodge. Its purpose will be to visit the other nine lodges of the city one each year, conveying fraternal greetings, as well as receiving and imparting fellowship.

This idea originated with the many returned men, of which the lodge is mostly composed, who at some time or other belonged to orange affiliations in the field.

The name selected, "Pro Patria," is worn on badges of Canadian regiments, and the new lodge has set as its ideal that of the soldier, who was overseas, "For Our Country," this being the translation of "Pro Patria."

The first visit of the new lodge will be to Beaver Lodge in January.

HAS NO POWER TO ACT

That the county of Middlesex should establish in London an office for its school attendance officials or else should render the London officer power to act for them in the suburbs, is the suggestion of Dr. George S. Weir, London's public school attendance officer.

Dr. Weir is in receipt of a communication from the provincial authorities in Toronto relative to children who are residents of the suburbs, but who work in city industrial and business concerns. It is not an unusual thing, he says, for the Toronto department to take up these questions with him.

"Although I have no authority to act," he explained to The Advertiser Thursday, "it appears that the Toronto inspectors and officials hold me responsible. Quite recently as an example, one of the factory inspectors dropped into one of the local industrial plants and found a child working contrary to certain regulations. Although the child lived outside the city the matter was brought to my attention direct from Toronto."

"As I seemingly am held responsible for them while working in the city I should have some authority to act. On one occasion I suggested, for example, to the authorities at Knollwood Park that I serve their interests in the city free of additional salary. My offer was refused."

"It is my opinion that either I should be allowed this additional power, or else some better arrangements could be made by the county. People keep coming to me in place of going to the county men, one of whom lives at White Oak while the other lives somewhere in London Township. This also is a great inconvenience to those people who have to travel to these points from the suburbs to seek working permits."

C. P. R. TO PUT ON EXTRA TRAINS FOR CHRISTMAS

Special trains will be put into operation on the Canadian Pacific Railway running west out of Toronto from Dec. 23 to Jan. 3. One will leave Toronto at 3 p.m. and another at 6:15 p.m., stopping at all points along the line.

Extra coaches will be put on to all other regular trains to handle the Christmas traffic.

So far no excursion rates have been authorized, and it is expected that the regular rates will prevail.

GIRLS' CANADIAN CLUB MEMBERS HOLD DEBATE

Opposing Sides Champion the Cause of Free Trade and That of Protection.

FREE TRADE PARTY WINS

Organization Decides To Devote One Meeting Monthly
To Study of Politics.

Members of the Girls Canadian Club made their debut as speakers on economic subjects on Wednesday evening at a meeting held in the Wellington street Y. W. C. A. residence, when they discussed free trade vs. protection, from the economic rather than the political side.

Two speakers, Miss Marie Ball and Mrs. Frieda Steven, championed the cause of free trade, Miss Gertrude Bugler and Miss Christine Welch advancing arguments in favor of protection. As each speaker concluded, her arguments were skillfully summed up by the capable young president, Miss Gladys Baldwin.

While admitting that all spoke forcibly and logically, the consensus of opinion was that the free trade side had won by weight of arguments.

Free Exchange Profitable.

Six points for free trade summed up the speeches on this side as follows:

1. Free exchange is as normal and preferable between nations as between individuals.
2. Protection is merely a temporary need, but the more protection industries get, the more they want.
3. (a) Whether it is better to have manufacture of a high degree of efficiency, or protect those of inferior quality?
- (b) Workmen are not protected against improvements in machinery which render labor superfluous.
4. Under a system of protection each industry resorts to wire-pulling in order to increase the tariff in its favor.
5. Absence of foreign competition is not the best thing to promote efficiency of our industries; protection does not give us diversity of industries.
6. The only commodity a workman has to sell (his own labor) is not protected from cheap labor. There is no duty on the price of more bulky nature.
7. Import duties usually cause increase not only in the price of imported goods, but also similar goods manufactured in the country.

Protection Promotes Variety.

The following is the summation of the arguments in favor of protection:

1. Protection is really a kind of warfare between nations.
2. Protection to infant industries promotes a great variety of industries and checks over-specialization.
3. If we were a nation of farmers exchanging goods with a manufacturing nation, there would be greater cost of transportation as the articles farmers have to sell are of more bulky nature.
4. A great variety of industrial workers in a country offer a more profitable market at home for the farmer than a foreign market.
5. If a country has more imports than exports, it is necessary to send out the gold of the country to pay the difference.
6. Protective duties, if accepted as a military necessity, should be considered as a supplementary expense to the war budget, and not as a national revenue.
7. A communication was read from the extension committee of the Y. W. C. A., asking for representation from the Girls Canadian Club on the committee. The president and secretary, Miss Baldwin and Miss Kennedy, were appointed to act.

The club decided to devote one meeting a month to study of parliamentary procedure, and to make group study of Canadian authors.

BOARD CANNOT MAKE COMPANY PRODUCE BOOKS

Statement Made At Hearing of Bell Telephone Rate Application.

EVIDENCE ALL HEARD

Vice-President of Northern Electric Company Claims Decrease of Business.

OTTAWA, Dec. 14.—(By Canadian Press).—At the close of the third day devoted to hearing the Bell Telephone Company's application for permission to increase, before the railway commission here, it was announced this evening that most of the evidence was in and that argument would probably commence after tomorrow morning's session. During the morning the cost of living was discussed as it affected the advisability of the Bell Telephone Company effecting a reduction in wages.

The afternoon session was taken up by efforts to secure information regarding the Northern Electric Company, 50 per cent of whose stock is held by the Bell Telephone Company.

J. D. Hathaway, vice-president of the Northern Electric Company, was the principal witness this afternoon. He asserted that his company's business had steadily fallen during the present year from 64 per cent of capacity in January to 25 per cent in October. The last dividend had been paid in March, covering the first quarter of 1921.

When G. R. Geary, K.C., representing Toronto, was proceeding to question the witness as to his company's business standing, Glyn Osler, K.C., counsel for the Bell Telephone Company, objected to such information being divulged. It would be valuable to competitors, he said, and must always be regarded as confidential.

Mr. Hathaway, he contended, had merely been brought before the board as a responsible officer of the company, and not as a witness.

Board Not Competent. Assistant Chief Commissioner McLean ruled that it was not competent for the board to compel a production of the Northern Electric Company's accounts.

R. A. Reid, appearing on behalf of the attorney-general of Ontario, questioned the witness relative to the annual statement of the Northern Electric Company for 1920. He said that their reserve for depreciation was shown at $3,383,416, while their paid-up capital was only $8,000,000—"an unheard-of reserve."

He also criticized the fact that the Indians Protest Depiction of Tribesmen As Villains

BY JAMES W. DEAN.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Canadians will soon be vilified on the screen. The supply of Chinese and Indian villains will have run thin.

James B. Leong and Quan Foo have organized a new motion picture company at Los Angeles to produce four pictures a year. This company is an outgrowth of the organization which produced "The Lotus Blossom" to show the Chinese as they really are and not as they usually are pictured in films made by Caucasians.

Cherokee Indians, having accumulated great wealth in oil lands, have turned to eradicating the stain of villainy placed upon Indians by the cinema.

The Cherokees met at Okmulgee, Okla., raised a fund and appointed a committee to see that Indians become heroes and heroines in books, plays and films.

The Indians said that Monte Blue is a member of their tribe and that he plays the part of Danton in "Two Orphans," recently filmed by D. W. Griffith. Chief Roan Peters referred to history to show that Danton was a radical that sent hundreds to the guillotine.

The assembled braves appointed a committee to negotiate with Blue to induce him to forego all roles displaying him in an unfavorable light. The Indians will recompense him for any financial loss he might suffer by such action.

All of this is an extraordinary commentary on civilization.

Natives of Africa and India several months ago asked producers to stop sending them films showing white women in phases of character contrary to the conceptions established by missionaries, religious and commercial.

There's a puzzle for the producer. If he makes villains and adventures and low characters of Americans he presents them in unfavorable aspect to the eyes of Americans. It would be a valiant thing to send to other countries only such films as display Americans in virtuous, heroic roles.

There are villains among the Indians. There are villains among the Chinese. And there are plenty of them among Americans. It would be a valiant thing to send to other countries only such films as display Americans in virtuous, heroic roles.

Chief Commissioner Carvell, however, contended that this was a wise precaution on the part of the Bell company; the stock at present, he said, might be very much depreciated.

Mr. Reid thought it was most essential to discover whether the Northern Electric Company was piling up such large reserves at the expense of the Bell Telephone Company users. Why was the Northern Electric Company prospering while the Bell Telephone Company needed to increase rates in order to continue its business?

"Chief Commissioner Carvell remarked that Mr. Reid seemed utterly to have forgotten that individuals had the right to get together and do business."

Louise Lorraine appears in Hoot Gibson's latest picture.

Myrtle Lind supports Art Acord in "Winners of the West."

There are villains among the Indians. There are villains among the Chinese. And there are plenty of them among Americans. It would be a valiant thing to send to other countries only such films as display Americans in virtuous, heroic roles.

BROTHERHOODS TO HEAR LIVE TALK

The writings and addresses of the noted speaker, James Foster Wilcox, are full of sayings that grip the imagination and hold the attention. He will be at his best Thursday at the London Brotherhood mass meeting in Askin Street Methodist Church.

Many pastors and their men are looking for a working program. The brotherhood program is Dr. Wilcox's specialty. He says:

"A real man desires a man's job." The church that is simply a pastor's field and not the Lord's force, does not grip men.

No man desires to join a church simply to "sit and sing."

Let the church plainly state: "We are not here to play, to dream, to drift; we have hard work to do and loads to lift."

Men are saying to the church without a program, "nothing doing; use me or lose me."

Hang out this sign: "Men wanted by this church to assist in carrying out a program of service for God and humanity."

In these days of unrest, the people of this continent are trying to find a cure for socialism and anarchism. Socialism is the reaction of the human soul which has been bound to superstition and ignorance. It is not a faith upon which we rely, but a disease. It cannot be cured by deportation, but must be eradicated by teaching true Christianity."

The brotherhood of man depends on the manhood of the brother.

Success in Christian work depends on thinking, feeling and doing, and while all are important, we often fail in the doing."

ACTION AGAINST CITY DISMISSED

Damage Suit of Robert Heard Discharged by County Court Jury.

DRIVING TOO FAST

Because they thought that Wesley Heard was driving his father's automobile at too great a rate of speed on the night of Nov. 24, 1920, when he crashed into a street flusser owned by the City of London, standing close to the curb on Waterloo street between Bathurst and Horton, a county court jury dismissed the action of Robert Heard for damages to the extent of repairs to the car.

The verdict also meant the dismissal of the action of Miss Gladys Slater for $500 damages against the city. Miss Slater was riding in the automobile when it struck the flusser, and was thrown against the windshield. Her nose was cut, leaving a permanent scar.

The jury could find no negligence on the part of the city.

In dismissing the jury from further attendance on the court, Judge Macbeth thanked the members for their careful attention to all cases that had come before them. He agreed, he said, with all decisions they had given with the exception of one, which was not the present case.

Y. W. C. A. Secretary Resigns Office

Praises Efficiency of Associates; Building Fund Invested in Victory Bonds.

Two resignations were regretfully accepted by the board of the Y. W. C. A. at the December meeting held Wednesday afternoon, that of the energetic and efficient general secretary for the past three and a-half years, Mrs. J. R. Henderson, and of Mrs. Leila Parker, traveler's aid secretary who has found her health unequal to the strain.

In tendering her resignation, Mrs. Henderson paid warm tribute to the "faithful and intelligent work" of her associates on the staff, declaring that any association might be proud of departmental secretaries of such fine type and efficiency as those identified with the local organization. "I have the satisfaction of knowing that as I am leaving, the internal affairs of the association are in splendid condition," he said.

Mrs. Henderson stated that she is remaining in the city for the present, has made no plans yet, and is looking forward to enjoying a rest after her busy life as general secretary of the rapidly developing association.

No successor has yet been considered, either for Mrs. Henderson or Mrs. Parker.

Buyers Victory Bonds. Looking forward to the building some day, the association has accumulated by donations specifically for building, legacies for the purpose, and other means the sum of $5,000 as a nucleus of the building fund. It was decided by the board to invest this in Victory Bonds for the present.

A nominating committee to report to the annual meeting in February with regard to names for vacancies on the board was appointed as follows: Mrs. A. G. Calder, convener; Mrs. Archibald Graham and Mrs. Charles T. Glass, representing the board; Mrs. F. P. Betts and Mrs. Sherwood Fox, the association outside.

The Liberal Party.

Several suggestions are coming that the Liberal party should be reorganized to take in all the various factions that for one reason or another have traveled off at various angles in past months.

There is no great need for any such move.

The battle was fought on well-defined lines. There were those who would not support Hon. W. L. Macdonald King, and there were those who gave him undivided support.

Now that he has won the premiership on a fair basis, there is no need for him to go, hat in hand, to the various camps of insurgents. The door is open to all classes who believe in Liberal principles to come along and identify themselves with the Liberal party.

It is broad enough to take in many who are at present on the outside on platforms that are simply divided from Liberal thought by varying degrees of interpretation.

That sort of a reorganization can very easily take place, but there is no need of a tearing down of porches and a rearing of door hinges to let in a crowd who simply want to be identified now with the winners.

Leader of the Opposition.

In the election just closed there were three officially recognized parties, viz., Liberals, Progressives and Conservatives. When the house at Ottawa is called to order there will be three groups in, with three leaders, unless some other arrangements are made in the meantime.

Will it be possible to recognize more than one as the leader of the opposition? If so, how many leaders can be recognized, and how many can be paid?

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, as premier of the Dominion, introduced the practice of paying a stated salary out of the Dominion funds to the leader of the opposition. Previous to this there had been no recognition that such a person existed in an official way. Sir Robert Borden was the first person to receive this allowance, as previously he had carried on, part of the time at his own expense.

The situation in the new house will be worth consideration. The payment of a salary to the leader of the opposition carries with it recognition of an official who is, to all intents and purposes, not responsible to the government, but whose duty it is to oppose the government.

Mr. Meighen, who under the old two-party system, and were he to find a seat, would draw pay as leader of the opposition, is in a different position now. In fact, any person who leads the Conservative party under the present standing in the house, will have to do so out of his own pocket, or out of some of the levies from the generous campaign fund the Conservatives drew from in the election just closed.

Facing a Problem.

This is a record of just a few things that happen as one man talks to another.

"A chap called at my house a few weeks ago and told me the place would look a lot better if it were painted. He pulled out a little book showing a house something like mine painted in certain shades. It looked mighty attractive. I asked the man how he happened to single me out as a prospect. In short, he had been laid off because there was not enough work coming in to keep the force going. Thrown on his own resources, he established a working agreement with a hardware man to supply paint. The painter told me he had enough work to keep going for two months because he got out door-to-door and asked for it. The result is that my house is painted, and I am pleased with it. The painter had almost two weeks' work—all because he got out and hustled."

Another one, a little different: "A new arrival called at the daily newspaper office. He wanted to go to work after being overseas for some years. He was a good mechanic, but didn't stick to what he did. The result was he had a few little wants ads. put in the paper. One stated that he wanted to wax and polish hardwood floors; another, that he was prepared to go to the house and repair furniture, and so on. The man was at work in less than three days, and today he has a good connection worked up that can be counted on to keep him busy. He could have called at employment offices, only to be told that there was nothing in his line. But went away from his life and found work. He had a willingness to work and some ability—his task was to sell them both, and he did it."

The third case was brought to notice in today's mail. It happened in one of the smaller cities of Western Ontario. "Young man, money all gone going through college; well equipped mentally as mechanical engineer, but no person wanted a mechanical engineer. So he got work by the day laying block flooring, and made a good job of it. Then the machinery arrived, and he superintended the setting of it up and the erection of the shafting. Today he's in charge of the plant."

Now, we know it's easy enough for a score of men to read these cases—every one of them genuine—and say "old stuff."

Old stuff? Yes, but good stuff, as well. We are willing to admit that even if men did exert all possible initiative, there would still be some unemployed at this season of the year, yet the fact remains that many a man has marketed his labor power when he started out in a different way to do it and was willing to make a start wherever the start happened to be.

Rats.

Statistics gathered show that rats destroy property and start fires in United States to the extent of $750,000,000 per year.

Efforts to rid a city of rats have almost always failed to a very large degree, because it is almost impossible to do away with conditions that are favorable to breeding them.

Dirty and poor sanitary conditions are the reasons for rats. Did you ever try to trap a rat in your house, in the cellar or around the barn? Rats will not wander into traps as mice will do. A real, old-fashioned, hard-shelled rat is a hard animal to trap. He is foxy and not easy to locate. He has been known many times to walk around traps that have been covered with oatmeal or sawdust.

A rat is not a safe proposition for a child or a woman to tackle. He will bite, and, if cornered, will turn and fight. If you know they are around your premises the best way is to thoroughly clean the premises and apply disinfectants. Rats hate cleanliness.

Our Luxuries.

The amount of talk that has been taking place on unemployment has caused some very careful people to investigate.

One Canadian claims that about $2 out of every $5 earned goes for luxuries. And this, of course, raises the question as to where luxuries end and comforts begin.

When you go on a camping trip you discard at least half the things you think very necessary at home. The pioneers of this country lived a simple life. They didn't have elevators, flivvers, movies, street cars, garbage collection service, and all the rest of it.

Once in a while they saw a circus. A hay ride, a sleigh ride, a church social and a few simple parties rounded out the year's amusement.

A five-mile walk wasn't considered as amounting to very much. Were they happier than we of 1921? Now, don't be in too great a hurry to say they were.

It's nice to see people getting the right kind of luxuries and the right kind of essentials. Education is the greatest combination of these two forces that we have. Better for all of us if we had more of it.

Now that the Christmas tree is at hand, and 10,000 bewhiskered Santas will be about to land, better be careful of fire. Christmas trees will burn, so will white whiskers.

Looking the whole thing over a week after, one is bound to conclude that Hon. Geo. E. Foster made a wise move. But why didn't he say in advance that he saw it coming?

Two newboys at Sarnia attempted to sell Hearst's papers. Prompt action was taken and the youngsters were shipped back across the river. United States may have room for Hearst, but Canada has not.

A contemporary discussed the question of whether statesmanship was on the decline in Canada, and concludes in the negative, because the editor had never heard of a statesman declining anything.

A Canadian Press dispatch carries the news that the Canadian navy, "consisting of the Aurora, Patrician and the Patriot, has gone to the West Indies to spend the winter in fine weather." "Nuff said."

The Kingston Standard has it all figured out that the Liberal win was a result of the good luck that has been following that party. So no doubt it was also a case of pure luck that the Allies won the war.

Honest, now, boys, don't you think you'd better lay off on this business of rushing every Liberal member of the house into the cabinet? Remember, we found fault with Meighen for having too many ministers.

In a whiskey raid in Boston 15 months ago a horse was seized. The government has kept him ever since at a cost of some hundreds in board. He was sold a few days ago for $58. Occasionally long ears grow on off cials.

It does seem strange and queer to see Toronto's majority candidates lining up and the name of Church missing. Toronto folks will almost need an added line on the ballot this year, saying: "This is your 1922 ballot."

Up Bruce way a man has shot a timber wolf. He didn't think there was anything unusual about this, as we've often heard that Johnny Hunter had to keep an axe by the door on winter nights when he was running off the Kincardine Reporter.

Considerable speculation was taking place prior to the election in regard to Hon. E. C. Drury going to Ottawa as leader of the Progressives. Mr. Drury is known to have had a preference for Ottawa prior to his entry into Ontario politics, but the chances are he prefers Ontario now, and is likely to remain in provincial politics.

Hamilton Chamber of Commerce is doing a good work in making it possible for children of foreigners past the usual school age to learn the English language. Good idea. Our interest in the foreigner in Canada has in the past been too much of the ten-foot pole variety. Our chief point of contact came when we pulled him into the police court or sent a brass-buttoned official to cleanse the deuce because he hadn't cleaned up his backyard. The Hamilton people are on the right track, but how far are they prepared to go?

Following the events of the Washington conference Japan is very much in the public eye. Japan has 57,000,000 population, but only 3,000,000 are allowed to vote. One of the conditions of having the vote is paying income tax of $150, but only 3 in 57 pay income tax. These facts are from a speech by Dr. G. E. Uehara, teacher of political science in Meiji University, Tokyo. He was dismissed for discussing universal suffrage, but reinstated because the students went on strike. Voters are increasing in Japan, but it is slow work.

A letter to the Montreal Herald recalls a rather notable election forecast made by Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux. The letter, signed by J. A. Burnett, a consulting engineer of Montreal, says: "It is manifestly very difficult to prophesy the exact returns of elections, and in this connection it is worthy of note that the Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, before November, made a forecast at Ste. Cyrille, P. Q., that after the elections it would be found that the Liberal party would gain 65 seats in Quebec and would gain 22 seats in Ontario. Remarkable to relate, the figures of today exactly confirm Hon. Mr. Lemieux's forecast, and this would appear to establish a record along these lines."

The Brussels Post hopes to see election loyalty last the year around. The Post has a high hope, and voices it as follows: "We wonder if the great outbursts of loyalty to Canada and patriotism to the British Empire that have been slopping over by many candidates and their deputy spongers during the past few months will continue, or now that the election is over and no more offices to win, will these delightful sentiments be allowed to droop and die? That a good share of it was only 'fix' is apparent from the fact that these declarations were not on the program of many until an election was in sight. What is needed is constancy. Canada is a land good enough to be cheered for and boosted 365 days in the year, and the old flag deserves our best laudations all the time, as it is worthy of our greatest efforts and warmest praise."

THE PROOF. "Has Jones any influence?" asked the party leader. "He must have," asserted his henchman. "If he hasn't, I don't know how he manages to make every street car stop for him."

HE WOULDN'T FORGET. The member of an anti-tipping association dined one night in a fashionable restaurant, and after paying his bill gathered up the change that had been brought upon a silver plate, and dropped it into his waistcoat pocket. As he rose to depart the waiter said in a low voice: "Surely you won't forget me, sir." "No, no," said he. "I'll write to you."

TOO MANY CLOTHES

[BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.]

IT IS a surprising fact, but true, that we have the tendency both in summer and winter to overclothe ourselves.

And it is careless dressing that gives pneumonia its best chance to infect us.

Overclothing oneself renders the skin oversensitive, so that when it is subjected to sudden exposure it is unable to stand it, and we "catch" cold.

Most people think that it is the clothing that bestows the heat by keeping the cold out. The fact is that the clothing regulates the amount of heat that escapes from the body. Of course, clothing does defend the body against the external influences of wind and weather.

Things, no matter of what material, possess more or less power of retaining a layer of air kept warm by our bodies. This layer of air varies according to the fineness and closeness of the weave of the material used. Thick garments of the same material are warmer than the thin, because they retain in their meshes a greater quantity of heated air.

Loose clothing is warmer than tight clothing, as also with shoes and gloves. With loose clothing, shoes or gloves, there is a larger layer of heated air between the skin and the material. The circulation of the blood is freer, too.

The material of the clothing should be such as to allow free perspiration from the skin. We sweat in winter as well as summer, but the sweat is in the form of vapor and is invisible. In outer clothing should be adapted to the changes of the weather, and mediumweight underclothing should be worn throughout the winter season. These are not comfortable in linen mesh underwear might wear lightweight underwear or silk over cotton.

Office workers, school children and those employed indoors during the day should almost always in a summer temperature wear a light summer "declothing" under such conditions is debilitating. It lowers the power of resistance, so that they can "catch" disease easily.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

[By Digby Phillips.]

NO 61—THE SET SMILE.

When you see a man or woman whose smile changes little and hardly ever vanishes from the lips, and which might either be described as a "set" smile or a "frozen" smile, be warned, be careful, but don't jump too quickly at conclusions.

The reason is that the set smile may indicate more than one thing, and before you know how to treat such a person you have to find out exactly what it may mean in the individual case.

Principally the set smile denotes a tendency toward affectation. You'll see it quite often among those who devoted their energy to establishing what they are pleased to consider their "social standing," or who have exaggerated ideas of the importance of their positions socially.

But the set smile is by no means confined to those who have social aspirations. It may denote a tendency toward other forms of affectation, and there is always about it some element of the desire to appear other than one really is and recognizes oneself to be.

In extreme cases the set smile often adopted cover to characteristics of malice and cruelty. Naturally, because the smile is the expression of opposite characteristics, and so is adopted as a "cover." The smile is "set" because it is not natural and spontaneous, and spontaneity of smile cannot be simulated when the mind is busy with other thoughts.

But an example of how easy it is in some quarters to misjudge a person, the set smile may be due merely to a preoccupied mind, coupled with an attempt to appear agreeable and interested.

WILLING TO CHANCE IT. (Boston Transcript.) "What?" said the indignant old gentleman. "You want to marry my daughter? Why, sir, it was only a few years ago that you were caddy for me."

"Yes, sir," the young man replied, "but I don't intend to let that stand in the way. I hope I have sense enough to realize that a very bad golfer may make a fairly good father-in-law."

Judiciously the money that has been earned by farming or manufacturing. The manufacturer, as a businessman, knows by investing the profits which have accrued in labor-saving machinery and improving his plant is of far greater importance and a larger factor in his business than placing such money in the banks at 3 per cent. The farmer, on the other hand, is apt to imagine he is doing a good thing if he is able to place some money in the banks instead of using that money to secure better machinery for the improvement of the soil, and thereby prospering to such an extent so as to be independent of the banks and look for a more profitable investment. Then, also, there are farmers. Indeed, I believe they form a large majority, who have a craze for expensive automobiles and other luxuries which their forefathers never dreamed of.

And as to the farmer having to work too long hours, which is not absolutely essential, I fail to agree. In my own experience I have found it to be a fallacy, for generally if there is anything that requires extra hours of labor, it is the hired man who needs it. Does it while the farmer is in the house reading politics or talking to his neighbor, of what he has done and what he intends to do.

If the farmer, in a general way, worked longer hours while the hired man worked regular hours we should have better conditions on the farm and more prosperity and less farm hands swelling the ranks of the unemployed in the cities.

Another argument which Mr. Turnbull puts forth is that farmers cannot now put prices for machinery while the prices of grain, hogs and cattle are so low. What about the time which is very long ago when cattle and hogs were high and grain was about three times above normal? Did the farmer not then save up a few shekels for a rainy day? Does he ever take any consideration how high prices of products of the farm increase the high cost of living for the struggling millions in the city, who have to live by the sweat of their brow, while he grows his own grain, cures his own apples, pears, peaches, plums and smaller fruit in abundance, which the rain and sunshine assisted by Mother Nature ripens to maturity without asking one cent in wages?

While writing in this connection, I am reminded of the health and quiet happiness enjoyed on the farm, as compared with the noise and grime and struggle for existence of the average city worker.

Long hours are not very burdensome to the city worker, it is true, but he has enough other grievances to more than counteract the benefits of short hours. Another thing I wish the farmer would get into his mind before he bemoans too much about long hours, is that his is not the occupation where long hours are worked.

I have in mind now a manufacturer who works in a general way longer hours than the average farmer. He may not be on the job till 8 or 9 o'clock, rather than the rule, because he has been working probably until 10 or 11 o'clock the night before, repairing machinery and improving the working conditions of his plant in general. I have repeatedly known him to work a noon hour at something that could not be done while the machinery was working of a larger staff, after the machinery was in action. This did not inconvenience the worker or affect his pay, but it helped the prosperity of the concern and built up a business for success. So, and built up a business for success, so, farmer to work long hours, why does he growl about it? However, and nevertheless, if he worked the time he would work he would have better men and greater prosperity.

I think it would help the farm labor problem to a very great extent if farmers were hired by the hour instead of by the month. JACK RILEY.

Stratford.

RELATIVITY

BY DR. WM. E. BARTON.

EINSTEIN has but emphasized an idea which was rather definitely in our minds before, that things are to be interpreted not as they may be assumed to be in themselves, but as they are in their relation to other things.

We do not know what that meta-physical abstraction, the German name of which, translated, means "the-thing-in-itself." We have never seen or known any such thing and we do not know that it exists anywhere.

Wherever we have any knowledge of existence, it is of things modified by their environment. There is not much of which we can say that it is "absolutely" thus or so. There may be some things that are absolute, but most things are relative.

And yet, it is well to remember that not everything is in a state of flux. There are some pole-stars of truth and right. We have not yet sailed past the north star, nor consented to substitute for it one which changes its place in the sky every hour.

There is a little fable, whose author is unknown to me, which I think states well some things that are flexible and some that are fixed:

It might have been that the sky was green.

And the grass serenely blue;

It might have been that grapes on thorns,

And figs on thistles grew;

It might have been that rainbows

Before the showers came;

It might have been that lambs were fierce,

And bears and tigers tame.

It might have been that cold would melt,

And summer heat would freeze;

It might have been that ships at sea

Would sail against the breeze,

And there may be worlds unknown,

Where we might find the change

From all that we have seen or heard

To others just as strange.

But it never could be wise, dear,

In hate to act or speak;

It never could be noble

To harm the poor or weak.

It never could be kind, dear,

To give a needless pain;

It never could be honest

To sin for greed or gain;

And there could not be a world,

Dear, where God is true above;

Where right and wrong are governed

By any law but love.

GREER OUTLINES RESPONSIBILITIES

Inspector Delivers Address at Lord Roberts Mothers' Club.

A number of the teachers joined with the members of the Lord Roberts Mothers' Club for the December meeting Tuesday night, to hear an address by Inspector V. K. Greer, on "Parents' Responsibility to Their Children."

"The object of life should be to leave the world better for the next generation," said Mr. Greer, declaring that the parent's obligation to the child is greater than the child's to the parent.

The child welfare movement has come as an important step in London, in the direction of making the world better for coming generations.

A warning was sounded against permitting children to be made timid by stories which frightened them, causing them to live in the shadow of fear. A certain amount of fear, however, he held, was necessary, in order to teach the child to protect themselves.

His advice was "See that the fear instinct is trained in the right way." Emphasis was laid on the importance of home training and example, and the need of patience, love and sympathy in training children.

In conclusion, the inspector declared: "The best education you can give is due the child."

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Detwiler, Mrs. P. Bryant occupied the chair. Mrs. V. Blackwell sang a solo, which was much appreciated.

It was decided to serve tea to the mothers at the Rectory street tables' office on Thursday.

Victoria Mothers' Club.

A real Christmas program was presented at the meeting Tuesday night by the Victoria Mothers' Club, including an address by Rev. W. Leslie Armstrong of St. James' Church on "The Christmas Spirit"; Christmas carols by St. James' choir; readings by Miss Bessie Hardie, and solos by Miss Campbell.

The club decided to donate $5 to the prevention of $5 to the children's shelter for Christmas treats.

The Mothers' Club is looking forward with pleasure to holding the next meeting in the new school on the third Tuesday of January.

In the Wortley Road M. C.

The proceeds of a bazaar held Tuesday evening in the Wortley road school under the auspices of the Mothers' Club will be used to buy a phonograph for the school.

The kindergarten room was gay with Christmas decorations, each booth attractively displaying its wares.

The following mothers were in charge of the various booths: Mrs. H. C. Spencer and Mrs. Geo. Mitchell, the cap and costume booth; Mrs. Chambers and Mrs. Vollick, the aprons; Mrs. Finch, Mrs. Peiter, Mrs. Hinton and Mrs. Quick supervised a miscellaneous booth; Mrs. A. Jarvis and Mrs. J. Wood were in charge of the baby stall; Mrs. Lane took care of the orange tree; and Mrs. Ney the fish pond. The lunch counter was in charge of Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Conley and Mrs. Johnston. Mrs. J. G. Steele was in charge of the attractive decorating, which lent a holiday atmosphere to the occasion.

During the evening an orchestra supplied excellent music.

CHRISTMAS CAKES

WITH THE BRIDES

VERY hostess wants something a bit special for tea during the holidays. Tea and toast and a fancy Christmas cake surely add much to the hospitality offered to the chance visitor.

In many families there are recipes that have been handed down from mother to daughter for these little cakes and the baking of the tea cakes was as serious a proceeding as the fruit cake itself.

These rules are all revised for up-to-date use, but the cakes have unusual charm and delicacy.

Drop Plum Cakes.

Three eggs, 2 cups brown sugar, 2-3 cup butter, 4 cups flour, 1-2 cup sweet milk, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 cup seeded and chopped raisins, 1-4 cup shredded citron, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon cloves, 1-2 teaspoon allspice, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-8 teaspoon salt.

Cream butter and sugar. Mix and sift flour, salt, baking powder and soda. Beat eggs with creamer and add dry and liquid ingredients alternately to first mixture. Add spices and fruit and mix thoroughly. Drop from the tip of the spoon onto a buttered and floured baking sheet. Bake in a hot oven.

Aunt Thankful's Seed Cakes.

The four-cup butter, 1-2 cups sugar, 3 eggs, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon nutmeg, 2 tablespoons caraway seed, 2 cups flour, 1-2 teaspoon soda, 1-4 cup boiling water, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons milk.

WITH THE BRIDES

SIFTON-MOWBRAY.

At 1 o'clock on Wednesday, Dec. 14th, at St. John's Church, Botany, the marriage took place of Tena, youngest daughter of Mrs. William Mowbray, to Harry L. Sifton of London, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Sifton of Ridgeway, Rev. George Weir officiating.

Only immediate relatives and a few friends witnessed the event.

The bride was lovely in a gown of canton crepe, with bodice of broadcloth, and veil of Brussels lace.

Miss Edna McPherson, Thameville, presided at the organ, Mrs. P. B. Mowbray, Hamilton, singing during the signing of the register. Following the service in the church, the guests drove to the home of the bride's mother, Saint's Harbour, Botany, where a tempting wedding dinner was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Sifton left to spend the winter in California and purpose returning home in the spring by the Canadian West. They will reside at 381 Grosvenor street.

COTTON.

Use cotton thread to mend all kinds of kid gloves. It can be drawn closer and will not cut the kid.

JUST FOR THE REST HOURS

BY MARIAN HALE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—For that hour of rest snatched between afternoon and the dinner engagement, for that delicious period of relaxation with some friendly book, just before the waking hours—a negligee in some soft restful tone.

More and more are clever women realizing the importance of garments worn in their hours of seclusion and rest. They must be the sort of garments which inspire with a sense of loveliness, yet which are simple.

The simple design of this negligee follows the neckline. Heavy silk stitching finishes the hem and sides.

The rooms were decorated with shaggy yellow mums, and the bride-elect was seated in the place of honor, under a wedding bell, from which she was showered with confetti. She was first presented with a bridal bouquet of clothes pins, with white streamers, to which were attached little gifts, by little Miss Lola Kidd. Following this a tiny man, in the person of Master Jack Gower, delivered to the bride-to-be a gayly-labeled suitcase, filled with lovely presents. Later in the evening a dainty buffet supper was served by the hostess.

Need So Great, Welcomes Help

W. C. T. U. Social Worker Busy Distributing Relief; Thorndale Plays Santa Claus.

"The need is so great this year, I haven't time for anything else just now but relief work, and plans for the Christmas dinner for our Mothers' Club."

The speaker was Mrs. Ida Harrison, social worker of the W. C. T. U., and even as she paused in the midst of her many duties to chat to a representative of the Women's Department of The Advertiser, she was called away to attend to the needs of two small boys who arrived with baskets.

The family the little chaps represented was practically destitute, and earlier in the afternoon Mrs. Harrison had told the boys to come with baskets to carry home food.

One laddie was wearing a pair of shoes many sizes too large for his small feet. Hadn't he any that fitted better? He confessed the ones he was wearing belonged to a big brother.

"Come back tomorrow and perhaps I can find you some for yourself," said Mrs. Harrison. Thereupon she drew attention to a sack, which, on punching, felt suspiciously like shoes and rubbers, a generous sack, accompanied by another of clothing, that had come in just before from a class of young women in Thorndale. Thorndale, just at that moment, was a very bright spot on the W. C. T. U. social department map.

The continuation class literary club in the Thorndale school had sent a letter, just opened, offering to provide for a couple of families for Christmas. And Thorndale village had asked to be allowed to look after ten families.

Last week Mrs. Harrison told the W. M. S. of the Hibernian Methodist Church about the W. C. T. U. social department and the needs this year. Along came a bag of potatoes from Hibernian on Tuesday, and with them a sack of clothing and warm quilts.

"Everything that we can get will promptly find a place," said Mrs. Harrison, as she drew attention to the newly-received treasure. "One mother has sent me in a note stating she has not known such need as the present in the past seventeen or eighteen years. A Christmas treat later on will be given for the younger children of the members of our Mothers' Club. Last year we had 112. I haven't any idea how many we will need to provide for this year. But that will be later after the supper for the mothers is past."

SAGE GREEN.

Sage green taffeta is a favorite medium for dance frocks this season. Perhaps because its delicate brilliancy takes so well to colorful feather fans and artificial flowers.

FANS.

There's quite a fancy this season for fans which, as they wave, flame with highly colored spaniels. The coming leather fan is also competing with the lovely graceful ostrich.

A VOICE IN THE DARK

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

"Oh, ho!" he cried, pointing a skinny finger. "So here you are!"

THERE they were, Nancy and Nick and Kip, standing helpless on their hands in the passage, with their feet sticking up in the air and the gnomes coming after them as quickly as they could for the Christmas toys.

"What had we better do?" asked Nick in dismay. "We can't help Mr. Pin Pin now."

"It's all my fault," sobbed Nancy. "Oh, I wish I hadn't forgotten! We'll never get back to Brownland! And who'll help Mr. Pin Pin dig the filthy stuff for the Christmas toys?"

"And think of the chimney-sweep and the toy-maker!" said a voice in the dark. "They'll have to be saved, too!"

Indians' Owner Does Not For the Proposed Boycott of the Minors

TRADING IS NOT AT ALL BRISK

Judge Landis Just Moseying Around.

"SHOPPING," HE SAYS

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Club owners of the American League were tied up in their opening season here today, while the lobby fans were gossiping on what possible action may be taken regarding the proposed boycott of the Class AA and Class A leagues.

James P. Dunn, owner of the Cleveland Club, declared a boycott would be unsuccessful.

Wrong Principle.

"I have never believed in boycotts in business," he said. "I do not think it would apply to baseball in the American League."

Dunn also said he did not believe the American League would take any action to have the fine and suspension of Babe Ruth repealed or moderated by Judge Landis.

Landis himself was moseying around the lobby this afternoon. He said he was doing some Christmas shopping.

$12,500 Offer.

Jack Dunn, owner of the Baltimore International League Club, announced he had offered Louisville $12,500 for First Baseman Jay Kirtz, but that he was refused.

It was whispered about that Miller Huggins has signed, or will sign this afternoon, a contract to again manage the New York Yankees.

The St. Louis Browns announced they had secured Shortstop Chick Shorten from Detroit.

Seeking removal of the "stone wall," officials of the National and American Leagues in their respective meetings today proposed an amendment to the National Baseball agreement that would substitute the draft.

Resolutions to this effect were adopted by unanimous vote in both leagues, and submitted to baseball's advisory council for consideration tomorrow during the joint meeting of the two leagues.

The resolution in the National League was offered by Garry Herrman of the Cincinnati Club, as a substitute for the suggestion by Charles H. Ebbets of the Brooklyn Club, that the major leagues refuse to purchase players from any league not subscribing to the draft.

Mr. Ebbets' suggestion, it was said, did not meet with the approval of Commissioner Landis, who saw in the proposed creation of a condition of outlawing in the minors and dissection in the majors.

The advisory council is expected to settle the matter tomorrow.

In county championship rugby games Kent beat the Eastern Counties by 37 to 6 at Hford, and Leicestershire won from East Midlands by 11 to 10 at Leicester.

The Australian team was defeated by Lancashire in a Northern Union fixture at Warrington by 8 to 6.

The dates for the games involving the two alert teams and the Manhattans were settled yesterday. Convent Jack Greer with delegates from the teams arranged the schedule for Group 12 Intermediates and Group 13. The Glencoe dates were picked at a meeting called for that town by C. Best, convener. The groups will endeavor to supply their own referees from within their own group, thus saving expense in bringing referees from Toronto and vicinity.

Both London junior teams open here on Jan. 2. Alerts entertaining Drumbo, which team was put in the group at the last moment yesterday, and Manhattans hosts to Glencoe. However, Manhattans open the new Glencoe arena with the first game of that group on Dec. 30.

The Alert intermediates do not provide a home game until Jan. 13, and the Pan-Orleans are the visitors on that occasion. They play their first game at Ingersoll on the night of Jan. 4.

PRINTERS' LEAGUE. The lowly Nonpareils dropped two out of three games to the Picas yesterday afternoon by close margins. The Picas started out to win the three games, but fell away badly in the last game, when Cameron allowed some of the rooters to get his goat. As a result of yesterday's games the Nonpareils are the undisputed champions of the cellar position, while the Brewers, by winning one game on Friday can tie the Picas for the championship of the first series.

Yesterday's games were all closely contested, and had Joe Millett bowled up to form in the last game the Picas might have succeeded in carrying on. Their intentions of winning the three games, Bell and Cameron were the pick of the winners, while McIntyre and Dalton led the losers.

WANT TO RESTORE BASEBALL DRAFT

International League Officials Decide To Abide by Ruling For Seven Years.

New York, Dec. 15.—Baseball's advisory council, with Commissioner Landis as chairman, went into executive session here today. It attempted to fill the major order for restoration of the draft under conditions satisfactory to all concerned. The order was filed yesterday in the form of a resolution adopted unanimously by the American and National leagues, now in annual meeting here. Commissioner Landis himself is quoted as saying that he favored a universal draft rule.

The International League officials decided at their annual meeting today Monday, that nothing could be done to change the present arrangement and asserted it would live for the duration of Commissioner Landis's term of office, seven years.

The advisory council, however, has the authority under the rules that govern everything in the game, to amend the national agreement as the occasion arises from time to time. Among subjects for discussion of the joint meeting were a return to the seven game world's series, suggested by the American League, and the regulation forbidding world's series players from barn-storming. Some of the major league clubs, including the Boston Red Sox, the New York Yankees and the Philadelphia Athletics, are known to have been in the Junior Northern Hockey League.

McGILL RUGBYISTS TO PLAY DARTMOUTH TEAM

Montreal, Dec. 15.—McGill rugby footballers have been offered a date with the Dartmouth University football squad for 1923. Representatives of the Hanoverians were in Montreal today and conferred with the red and white rugby authorities regarding possibility of scheduled games after next season. According to officials of the Dartmouth Club, their season is booked completely for the 1922 season, but are keen to have McGill include among their list of competitors for the following season.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(By Canadian Press.)—Canada may furnish the United States turf with its leading rider for the 1922 season. Recent developments point strongly to little Chick Lang, son of a Hamilton, Ont., fish dealer, for that coveted honor. Also in the running is Marneil, whose father is an Italian cobbler in Newark, N.J.

Lang has started the local turf world by riding three winners on two successive days. He has won nine races within five days and heads the list here. Marneil, starting riding the same day with mounts not carefully chosen, has been lucky to get home in front just once. Marneil's record for the season is 119 winners. Lang's is 118.

Lang is more eagerly sought by horsemen than Marneil, because he brings a five-pound allowance in selling and claiming races and a three-pound allowance in handicaps. Lang has had his employer, James Collier, the owner who developed Rodriguez, Richey and L. Morris, busy selecting the most desirable mounts from among the many bids.

Marneil has virtually been forced to make his own engagements. He came to the city to look out for his own horse, until the return of his manager, Trainer Tommy Griffin, from California. Simons has Collier and Gannier to look out for Marneil, has necessarily been deserving of only third consideration in the Simons' establishment.

Arthur has refused $10,000 for Lang's contract. The youngster can ride at 38 pounds today. Unless he grows like a weed, he will be a light weight for at least four years more as a lightweight. Arthur has not decided whether Lang will be sent to Mexico with the division of the stable which is intended for racing at Mexico City during January and February. If he does there will be a gloomy army of Lang followers here.

There will be a few dates left open for the Alerts if they decide to enter a second junior team in the Northern League, that is dates on which both teams would be out of town or not playing. However, no decision will likely be made until late in the season. There might be only one team, even though there are over 35 candidates trying out. Such a team would easily pay its way, even if not accorded the support given to the junior team. As a matter of fact, the fans would probably get as interested in the doings of the Northerns as they would with the other three teams London boasts.

Jack Dempsey is unemployed because nobody cares to take just that kind of employment.

Hockey has become a highly entangled mess. Certificates, affidavits, residence rules, governing bodies with gill-edged legal trappings and all the rest of it leave little in the way of freedom for the players. By the time a hockey tourist gets familiar with all the openings and the ways around them he has a pretty good working knowledge of lawyer-jargon.

The International's answer to the old draft ghost seemed to settle matters, but the boycott threat will mean the resumption of the rumors of a huge baseball war with the minors lined up against the majors. It's a big question and has many angles, and they are all from the minors' side. Probably Judge Landis will find some way out that will follow the middle line of justice. If he does, the wisdom of his appointment will be justified.

Lang has had his employer, James Collier, the owner who developed Rodriguez, Richey and L. Morris, busy selecting the most desirable mounts from among the many bids.

Marneil has virtually been forced to make his own engagements. He came to the city to look out for his own horse, until the return of his manager, Trainer Tommy Griffin, from California. Simons has Collier and Gannier to look out for Marneil, has necessarily been deserving of only third consideration in the Simons' establishment.

Arthur has refused $10,000 for Lang's contract. The youngster can ride at 38 pounds today. Unless he grows like a weed, he will be a light weight for at least four years more as a lightweight. Arthur has not decided whether Lang will be sent to Mexico with the division of the stable which is intended for racing at Mexico City during January and February. If he does there will be a gloomy army of Lang followers here.

SPORT la CARTE

By C. S. G.

There will be a few dates left open for the Alerts if they decide to enter a second junior team in the Northern League, that is dates on which both teams would be out of town or not playing. However, no decision will likely be made until late in the season. There might be only one team, even though there are over 35 candidates trying out. Such a team would easily pay its way, even if not accorded the support given to the junior team. As a matter of fact, the fans would probably get as interested in the doings of the Northerns as they would with the other three teams London boasts.

Jack Dempsey is unemployed because nobody cares to take just that kind of employment.

Hockey has become a highly entangled mess. Certificates, affidavits, residence rules, governing bodies with gill-edged legal trappings and all the rest of it leave little in the way of freedom for the players. By the time a hockey tourist gets familiar with all the openings and the ways around them he has a pretty good working knowledge of lawyer-jargon.

The International's answer to the old draft ghost seemed to settle matters, but the boycott threat will mean the resumption of the rumors of a huge baseball war with the minors lined up against the majors. It's a big question and has many angles, and they are all from the minors' side. Probably Judge Landis will find some way out that will follow the middle line of justice. If he does, the wisdom of his appointment will be justified.

Now that Fred Stone is making a bid any control over ball players on the stage.

Hockey players are bound to be optimistic. They've always got the game "on ice."

Hornsbly has asked for $75,000 and a three-year contract. Of course he's been exposed to the hot California sun and there's more excuse for him than for Babe Ruth.

Connie Mack would probably tour Europe with his team only he realizes that there's enough possibilities of wars there already.

Ray Grove suggested Dempsey has moved to California. Willard has moved to California. Some smart movie director might get them to fight it out in a mob scene.

St. Louis Americans Trade 11 Players For One.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—The first of a series of baseball trades in the big leagues was announced today, when the St. Louis Americans traded eleven players for Dave Danforth, star left-handed pitcher of the Columbus team of the American Association.

The Browns will give up Emilio Palmero, Ray Saunders, second baseman, and six other players to be selected by the Cardinals within ten days. Three of the six to be chosen will be available for the 1922 season and the others in 1923.

GREAT MANUFACTURERS' SALE

An Unbounded Success

The compelling, dominating force of a big idea is back of everything that this store undertakes. For 69 years we have constantly and diligently pursued a well-defined, clean-cut purpose—to sell wanted merchandise at as low prices as well-trained workmen, such only as we employ in our own factory, can produce it. This manufacturer's sale, already being talked of as one of the greatest pieces of merchandising that this store has ever undertaken—is but an intensive link in the long chain of underselling events. The ability of this store—keen as a knife edge—to present to the people of London timely, wanted merchandise, is being demonstrated beyond doubt.

KRUPP'S ARMS PLANT IS BUSY DESPITE CHAOS

Birthplace Making Farm Machinery.

DETEST FRENCH HEARTILY

Germans Blame Their Neighbors For All of Present Conditions.

IN OTHER sections of The London Advertiser today you will read how the diplomats at Washington are trying to patch up the world. In this story, the sixth of a series, Whiting Williams tells what the plain workers of Europe are doing and thinking. He got his facts in a personal "pick and shovel" investigation.

[BY WHITING WILLIAMS.]

"WHEN I was a prisoner with the killed soldiers I got fatter than ever before—since," a young man working with the federal postoffice in Germany's Ruhr district, of which Essen is the center, told me. "And I ate more than I can afford to buy now. You see, we get only about 35 marks a day."

All over Germany the railway and postoffice employees, teachers, professors and clerks are having an extremely hard time to live, and many former army officers are getting almost nothing a week as apprentices trying to learn some useful occupation. The miners and other laborers have pretty much kept up with the cost of living. They have been getting about ten times as much as they used to—and that represents about the rise of the cost of living. They are constantly suffering, however, from the depreciating value of the mark.

Only Beer Normal.

"I understand that Germany has come back to normal and is very busy and prosperous"—this remark is general here in Canada. The fact is that the German manufacturer sells his goods abroad only because of the increasing worthlessness of German money. Its factories run only because it has not yet started to come back to normal. As yet about the only signs of Germany's return to normalcy are the placards on the restaurant walls:

"MUNICH BEER 12 PER CENT ALCOHOL AS BEFORE."

So far, every time Germany has attempted to put more value into the mark, things like that, her factories have begun to close! Some day—and not very far distant—Germany will have to face the music and try harder to set her financial house in order.

When she does she will probably strike much the same dose of unemployment that already has hit her neighbors.

All Hate French.

One thing all parties and everybody in them are agreed upon—all are filled with hatred for the French. They blame their nearest neighbors and oldest enemies for all the hard conditions of the peace.

"Of course, now since the armistice, we cannot make armorplate or shells as before," the guide explained, as he took us through the great Krupp works. I tried to get a job there, but failed. "We now have 50,000 instead of our war enrollment of 115,000 workers. There, you will see where we now make locomotives and farm machinery—over here, where we plan to make typewriters and sewing machines."

Matters and moods change quickly in war-muddled Europe today. There seemed to be little or no hatred of England. Unfortunately the hatred of France is just what we might hope most of all to miss. For it seems to justify the fear of Germany which every French worker and citizen is all too quick to show.

That combination of fear and hatred, in turn, is behind that army of 800,000 French workers. That in turn is one of the problems of the disarmament conference.

(Instead of one coal miners' union, Germany has seventeen; Williams tells about that in tomorrow's London Advertiser.)

Mason-Contractors Conclude
Convention—Want War
Tax Eliminated.

Before terminating its seasonal meetings Wednesday afternoon the Mason Contractors' convention at the Hotel Tecumseh went on record as being of the opinion that present freight rates in the United States and Canada were exorbitant, and should be reduced as soon as possible.

This, with a resolution suggesting that all war tax be eliminated from the costs of building material, acceptance of the revised constitution in its entirety, the selecting of a place of meeting for the year 1922, and the election of officers, concluded the business of the convention.

The constitution as revised provides that the offices of first and second vice-president should be replaced by

PIMPLES ON FACE DIDN'T LIKE TO GO OUT

Those nasty little pimples that break out on the face and other parts of the body are simple indications that the blood is out of order and requires purifying.

There is only one way to get rid of this obnoxious skin trouble, and that is by giving the blood a thorough cleansing which can best be done by that old reliable blood medicine and when the blood is purified the pimples will vanish and you will have a clear, healthy complexion.

Miss Mary E. Flanagan, R. R. No. 2, Stella, Ont., writes: "I suffered for about two years with pimples and blotches breaking out on my face. The doctor said it was caused by bad blood. My face was so bad I didn't like to go out among a crowd of people. One day I was talking to a friend, and she advised me to get a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and try it. I just took three bottles, and there was not a blotch or pimple of any kind left. Some of my friends asked me what I had used and I said: 'Burdock Blood Bitters chased them.'" the election of a vice-president from each state and province represented in the United States and Canada to form an executive board.

Put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Advt.

Officers Elected.

The following are the new officers: President, M. R. Gillespie, St. Louis; Secretary, W. T. McGarvey, Cincinnati; general counsel, H. A. Fenton, Indianapolis; vice-presidents: Otto August Walhoff, Cincinnati; Ontario, H. Jennings, Toronto; Indiana, W. W. Wise, Indianapolis; Wisconsin, William C. Croening, Milwaukee; District of Columbia, Henry W. Shook, Washington; Missouri, G. T. Barry, St. Louis; Illinois, Fred Anderson, Springfield; Tennessee, Bush Sneath, Nashville; Kentucky, G. O. Thompson, Newport; Michigan, George Moore, Detroit.

Committees were appointed from the various cities to investigate the building codes in their territories and to exchange them with other cities with a view to obtaining a uniform code. The delegates will also urge upon all prospective builders the advisability of utilizing clay products instead of wood, as brick would be the cheapest before long.

A vote of thanks was extended by the convention to the London association, and to the hotel management for the hospitality that had been shown the delegates, and for the reception that had been tendered them.

EXTEND LECTURES TO BOYS ONE WEEK

Chamber of Commerce Decide To Continue Work Among Lads of City.

So successful was the chamber of commerce work among the organized boys of the city that the officials decided to extend the time one week.

Last week the organized groups were given instructive addresses by prominent Londoners on "How a city is governed and how it grows."

It was not thought at first that there would be much interest manifested in the movement, but since its inauguration it has taken hold on the boys, and all the meetings are well attended.

Monday night, W. R. Vendall addressed the St. Paul's Junior Tuxis and Y. M. C. A. boys; Tuesday, Edward Penny of the chamber of commerce addressed the Centennial Methodist Church Trail Ranger group, Gordon Philip, secretary of the chamber of commerce will address the St. Paul's Senior Tuxis group.

Officials believe that these lectures on municipal life from authorities on the subjects will greatly assist the boys in managing their own community council.

DEDICATE FLAGS OF GIRL GUIDE UNITS IN CITY

Dean Tucker Presides At Interesting Ceremony Held in St. Paul's Cathedral.

ELECT 1922 OFFICERS

Commissioner Mrs. Betts Presents Badges of Qualification.

Bright with its new interior decoration and brilliantly lighted, St. Paul's Cathedral was the scene on Wednesday night of an impressive ceremony, when Very Rev. Dean Norman Tucker dedicated the colors of seven Girl Guide companies of the city. The service took place immediately following the annual meeting of the London Council of Girl Guides, held in Cronyn Hall and presided over by Mrs. E. P. Betts, commissioner for the London division, as well as for the province. As the consecration hymn, "Just As I Am," was sung, the members of the color parties, who had been stationed in the center aisle during the first part of the service, advanced to the altar in procession, and through the chancel, hung with the colors of the units from London, which served overseas in the great war, and also the tattered old flags that saw duty in the rebellion of '85, and had been deposited by regiments stationed here long years ago. As the 21 guides grouped around the sanctuary, Dr. Tucker dedicated in turn the seven flags, in the words: "In the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost, we do dedicate and set apart this flag that it may be a sign of our duty towards our king and country in the sight of God. Amen."

The colors were carried back to the strains of the hymn, "Fight the Good Fight."

Influence of Woman.
In an address to the guides, who had rallied in full force from all the companies in the city, the dean dwelt upon the place and influence of woman in the "book of books," the place and influence of woman in the world. "Ice gives out cold, fire gives out heat, not because of effort on the part of the ice or the fire, but because ice is ice and fire is fire. So it is with the influence that a girl or woman exerts as a result of her character," said the preacher, urging the importance of character. Attention was drawn to the great influence for good exerted by women of the Bible, from the mother and sister of Moses, to the mother and grandmother of Timothy. Evil influence had also been exerted by such a woman as Delilah, who ruined the career of the great Samson.

"What was the place of woman in the sight of Christ, in the church? Equal with man," declared Dean Tucker. "In the rights, privileges, pledges and opportunities of baptism, confirmation in the holy communion, and in membership in the church."

"Two women were the turning point of the history of the world, Eve, through whose sin disobedience came into the world, and the mother, through whom Christ came into the world to crush the power of sin."

Woman's Place in Home.
In conclusion, the speaker drew attention to the large place women are now occupying in public life, urging upon his young hearers the importance of spending their time wisely, of forming habits of cleanliness, order, and fitting themselves for positions of trust. Notwithstanding this, however, he emphasized the point that woman's place of greatest influence is still in the home, her chief queenship in her own family.

"The flags which have been dedicated tonight are emblems of the value of every woman and girl in the sight of God, the emblem of the influence for good every Guide is expected to exert."

Rev. Denny Bright assisted in the service.

The companies having colors dedicated were: Y. W. C. A. Cronyn Memorial, St. Paul's, Knox, Barracks, St. John's, and St. George's. St. Paul's received a gift of beautiful colors during the day from the church wardens.

The program of the annual meeting included not only the annual reports and election of officers, but the interesting ceremony of enrolling captains, conducted by Misses (Mrs.) E. P. Betts, and presentation of a number of badges.

Mrs. Betts Again Commissioner.
Mrs. Betts was nominated by unanimous vote as commissioner for 1922, and the officers and executive re-elected by acclamation as follows:

President, Mrs. David Williams; vice-presidents, Mesdames C. Hall, B. Somerville, and a representative from the Salvation Army, to be named; secretary-treasurers, Miss N. Bullen and Mrs. George Ellis; committee, Mesdames E. B. Smith, E. H. Johnston, Hugh Shuttleworth, H. W. Auden, Fred White, P. Anderson, H. B. Westland, Ronald Harris, John Rose, Misses Macklin, Mary Moore, Kennedy, Taylor, Lackle and Evans.

The enrollment of officers then proceeded as follows:
"Can I trust you on your honor to do your duty to God and king, to help other people daily, thus keep the Guide law?" was question asked by Commissioner Betts of each candidate in turn, as she was presented by Staff Captain Helen D'Avignon.

The pledge made by each girl "on her honor," the commissioner declared, "I trust you on your honor to keep this promise." The Guide handbook was followed by the seal of the pledge, the captain's cross, pinned on by Staff Captain D'Avignon.

Those who had qualified for enrollment under the special instruction given in the past two weeks by Miss Alice Leef of Toronto were Mrs. Ruth Robinson, Miss Mary Show and Miss Doris Auden.

Bestow Citizenship Badges.

The work of a wedding presented from the Guides of Canada to Princess Mary was introduced by Mrs. Betts, who stated she had brought the matter to the attention of the Dominion committee. Mrs. H. D. Warren of Toronto, Mrs. E. B. Smith drew attention to the fact that all gifts may be in money that she may be able to give more hospital.

Possibly a Guides' gift might go to the Guide's Hospital just out of London, England. The proposal is that each of the 13,000 guides in Canada give a cent apiece.

Many complimentary things were said of the Guide Bulletin, the provincial organ issued by Miss Beth Pennington, in November, thus leading the way in Canada. On motion of Mrs. E. B. Smith, seconded by Mrs. David Williams, the London Council pledged support to the Bulletin.

Balance in Treasury.
A balance of $39.55 was reported in the council treasury.

The next event of special interest in the calendar of Girl Guidism in London will be a visit and address during the holidays from Capt. Winifred Hunt of Haverall College, Toronto, an authority on Guide work.

Mrs. Betts invited the London officers to meet Miss Alice Lee at tea at her home on Friday.

PREPARE 1922 BUDGET

AT TALBOT ST. BAPTIST

Arrangements for attending to the 1922 budget of Talbot Street Baptist Church were made at a gathering Wednesday night. Supper was served at 6:30, followed by a prayer meeting and business session. Comparative statements were presented by the officials, and Rev. Thos. Roy also showed how there had been a gradual increase in giving through plate collections, envelopes sent for missionary purposes. The "every member pledge" plan is being used, and the entire membership will be canvassed before the end of the year.

The sum of $240 per Sunday is the amount aimed at now, and those in charge are confident of securing it.

BAXTER'S ELECTION ASSURED.
Sydney, N. S., Dec. 15.—Leading the polls himself with an unprecedented majority of over 3,000, Robert Baxter, veteran president of United Mine Workers, District 26, stands assured of the election of his entire slate of officers by pluralities which exceed all expectations.

"DANDERINE"

Grows Thick, Heavy Hair

35-cent Bottle Ends All Dandruff, Stops Hair Coming Out

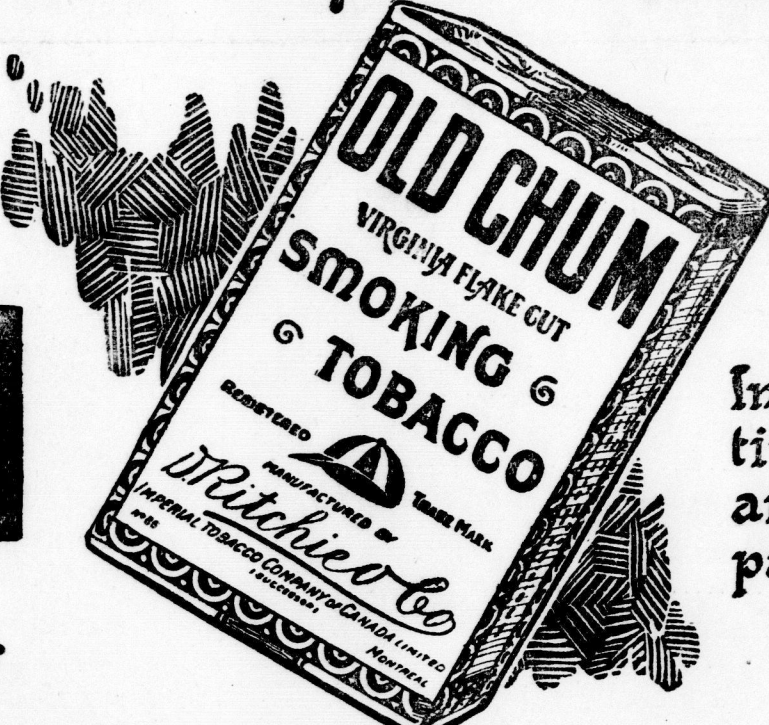

Ten minutes after using Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair, and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them, helping the hair to grow long, strong and luxuriant. An application of Danderine makes thin, lifeless, colorless hair look youthfully bright, lustrous and just twice as abundant.
