Two Freight Trains Crash Near Brantford

G. T. R. SUFFERS $25,000 LOSS BY COLLISION

Westbound Engine Smashes Into Standing Freight Near Station.

TELESCOPES FOUR CARS

Engineer Silent Regarding Cause of Mysterious Wreck.

Brantford, Aug. 24. — Damage, amounting to $25,000, is estimated to have been caused when a westbound freight crashed into the rear of a standing freight train a half mile east of the Grand Trunk Railway station here at 6:10 o'clock this morning. The responsibility for the wreck has not been fixed, the whole affair being more or less of a mystery. Miraculously enough no one was hurt beyond a few scratches to several of the two train crews.

Engineer Green, in charge of the engine which crashed into the standing freight, refused to make any comment. His engine was very slightly damaged, but four cars on the rear of the standing freight were telescoped and damaged beyond repair. One was the caboose and the other three empties. The westbound train was heavily laden, several of the cars being loaded with stone, giving added force to the impact.

CROWN ADJOURNS CHICKEN STEALING CASE THURSDAY

Police Seek Owners of Birds Bearing Letter "S" on Copper Leg Bands.

In order to gather more evidence, the crown was granted an adjournment of a week in the case of Albert and William Robinson, charged with having stolen goods in their possession, in police court this morning. The two prisoners, who are cousins, were arrested at a wholesale produce plant, with 30 chickens and 2 turkey hens in their possession a week ago.

Police are seeking the owners of the birds. The turkeys have copper bands, on which is engraved the letter S, on their legs. Among the chickens are a number of Buff Orpingtons and Barred Rocks.

According to the police, Albert Robinson stated he obtained the birds in three different places. William, they say, has a police record in Hamilton. The two men came from Hamilton a short time ago.

DESTROY FURNITURE IN PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS

Vienna, Aug. 23.—Several thousand unemployed persons, dissatisfied because the government had rejected or delayed its answer to their demands, today unhinged the doors of the parliament buildings and entered, wrecking the furniture. The police drove them out, using their side-arms freely. Fifty of the demonstrators were taken to the hospital.

Fresh demonstrations are feared tomorrow.

REPORT GRAVE DISORDERS IN ST. AUGUSTINE, FLORIDA

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 23.—Reports received here by telephone tonight said grave disorders were occurring at St. Augustine. Auto Comes Off Second Best in Tiff With Lamp Post

WHEN Nathaniel Currie of Glencoe, driving a small roadster bearing license No. 205-934, traveling north on Richmond street at a fair rate of speed, endeavored to rein in his trusty steed near the corner of Dundas street Thursday afternoon, the brakes evidently refused to grip and the vehicle took a dive across the street on to the sidewalk, colliding with one of London's ornamental lighting standards, breaking the globe at the top of the post.

The auto suffered considerable damage as a result of its contest with the lamp-post.

LABOR TO MEET IN CITY IN 1923

Delegates Favor London For Annual Dominion Congress Convention.

Premier King's Answer to Nova Scotia Miners Causes Debate.

Montreal, Aug. 24.—The city of London, Ontario, is scheduled as the seat of the 1923 convention of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress advance indications showed here today as a result of a canvass of the delegates to the present congress.

Withdrawal of troops from the mine strike areas of Nova Scotia precipitated a hot debate at this morning's session of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress.

The question followed the reading of Premier Mackenzie King's telegram to Tom Moore, to the effect that these troops would be withdrawn "just as speedily as may be possible in the opinion of the authorities by whom they have been requisitioned."

"That's the answer of a slick politician," roared Delegate Watson, of the miners' union. "We ought to have the demand from the government that the troops be withdrawn immediately. The government only intends to remove the troops when convenient. That means they will be kept there until the strike is over. If any trouble or rioting occurs, it will rest upon the shoulders of the federal government. We ought to send another resolution to the government demanding the immediate withdrawal of the troops."

Secretary Draper pointedly remarked that he considered Premier King's telegram was couched in courteous and sympathetic language. He considered that when a request was made by congress to any government, and a courteous reply was received, that congress should accept it as such.

"The prime minister had done all he could under the circumstances, as provincial governments were quick to resent any interference by federal authorities in provincial affairs. Furthermore, the provinces had wide powers under the British North America Act which could not be violated."

William Varley, Toronto, defended the miners against the charge that they were radicals. The whole trouble lay with the British Empire Steel Corporation and Premier Mur-

J. L. Decarie, chief jurist of the court of special sessions, who heard the evidence.

French francs also sank to the year's lowest level, being quoted at 7.76 each.

COSGRAVE ACTS AS TEMPORARY LEADER OF DAIL

Mulcahy Directs Final Phase of National Army's Campaign.

TO FILL POSTS SATURDAY

Dublin, Aug. 24.—Dublin began to recover somewhat today from the shock caused by the dramatic death of Michael Collins, and plans went forward for the meeting of the new Southern Parliament on Saturday, when the ministerial changes necessitated by the sudden removal of Collins and Arthur Griffith, are expected to be made.

Meanwhile William T. Cosgrave is acting as the head of the provisional Free State government, and Richard Mulcahy, as chief of staff, is directing the final phase of the national army's campaign against the irregulars.

The absorbing question of who is to succeed Collins is voiced on all sides and, besides Cosgrave and Mulcahy, the names of Kevin O'Higgins, minister of economic affairs; Gen. O'Connell, assistant chief of staff, and Gen. Gerald O'Sullivan, are frequently mentioned.

ASK WHO IS LEFT.

London, Aug. 24.—Michael Collins' sudden removal from the arena of Irish affairs is given considerable space in the morning newspapers today.

The editorial writers generally ask who is left to carry on the policy for which Collins and Arthur Griffith stood, but only the Daily Chronicle suggests the possibility of the British government again taking a hand in Irish affairs.

"The horror in Ireland is still our responsibility," says the Chronicle. "If the process of disintegration continues, all civilized opinion would thrust upon us the duty of standing by the forces of law and culture. It would be a distasteful task for us, but how could we shirk it?"

"There is the possibility that the treaty with Britain was killed with Collins," says the Daily Express, and the Daily Telegraph, while trusting that the magnitude and gravity of the occasion will raise up a new leader, cannot disguise its fear that the situation will become generally worse.

The Daily Mail declares that anarchy and murder are again in the ascendency in Ireland, and believes Gen. Collins paid the penalty of his policy of liberating the rebels once he had captured them.

The Daily Herald, Labor organ, would have the British "refrain from further inflaming the Irish strife by comments and accusations, for Ireland at this time is a terrible object lesson in the futility of force—but it was the British who began the use of force."

The more general editorial opinion, however, is that the Irish people have had their lesson, and that if for the moment there is no strong directing hand, new forces have come into being that are urging Ireland along the road to peace, and that until convinced that patriotism and political capacity are dead, Ireland cannot and will not despair.

DEMAND NATIONAL STRIKE BE CALLED IN AMERICA

Sioux City Trades and Labor Assembly Favor Drastic Action.

Sioux City, Iowa, Aug. 24.—The Sioux City Trades and Labor Assembly today passed unanimously and without debate a resolution demanding that the executive council of the American Federation of Labor call a national strike.

The movement originated in Omaha according to union officials here, the central trade union of that city passing a resolution on July 24 declaring that "labor faces a condition bordering on slavery," and favoring a national strike. Union officials say similar resolutions have been passed by labor bodies in Detroit, Denver, San Francisco and other large cities.

SECOND VOTE TAKEN BY SAILORS

Cleveland, Aug. 24.—Ballots for a second strike vote of members of the sailors, firemen's and cooks' unions on the Great Lakes have been sent to members of the three unions in the Cleveland district, according to E. J. Sullivan, local agent for the sailors' union. The result will be known in ten days, he said.

The Lake Carriers' Association recently announced an advance of $15 a month, effective September 1, for all unlicensed men, but took no action regarding a three-watch system and an eight-hour day. Today's ballots ask the membership if they still wish to strike on these two points. The first ballot, union officials say, was largely in favor of a strike.

WRECKED AT NIAGARA FALLS

HERBERT WILSON OPENS DEFENSE

Attempts to Prove Cox Did Not Want To Be Taken Alive.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 23.—With the declaration that Herbert Cox, formerly of London, Ont., slain in a sensational attempted jail-break some weeks ago, announced as he entered the Bridge of Sighs in his attempt to fight his way out, that "he would rather be dead than come back to jail," the defense of Herbert Wilson, charged with the murder, opened.

The remark of Cox was made to Rey Rankin, a turnkey, who accepted $1,000 from Wilson to open the bridge door. He turned the money over to the authorities. According to Rankin's statement, made on the witness stand in Judge J. Perry Wood's court today, Cox said he did not want to come back alive. Rankin further testified that he saw an object that resembled a gun in the hand of Cox as he entered the bridge. He also testified that he did not see Wilson near the bridge at the time Cox entered.

The state, represented by District Attorneys Fitts and Clark, rested their case during the day. Their witnesses sought to prove that Wilson shot Cox thinking the latter had informed the officers of the attempted escape. Other witnesses called by Attorneys Paul Schenck, Richard Kittrelle and Leo Silverstein, Wilson's counsel, substantiated Rankin's testimony.

John D. Wilmot, a turnkey in charge of the tank where Wilson was confined on April 9, testified he never saw a weapon in Wilson's possession, and said on the day of the shooting word came to the tank that Wilson was wanted in the jail office to answer the telephone. Wil-

M'KENZIE TO TALK OVER COAL STRIKE

Solicitor-General Arrives to Participate in Nova Scotia Conference.

North Sydney, N.S., Aug. 24.—The arrival here of Hon. D. D. McKenzie, solicitor-general in the federal cabinet has added to the interest in the coal strike peace negotiations which have been going on at Sydney for two days.

Following an interview with Premier Murray of Nova Scotia, Hon. Mr. McKenzie sent a telegram to Premier Mackenzie King advising him of the conference and saying, "I am fully assured that there is no necessity of sending military assistance to the civil authorities at either Sydney mines or north Sydney, and am giving these gentlemen the assurance that nothing would be done by way of sending military forces to either town while matters remain as they are at present.

ASK MINERS TO RETURN.

Altoona, Pa., Aug. 24.—Union leaders today were notifying their 45,000 miners in the central Pennsylvania field to return to work immediately, while operators were rushing plans that will mean production of 30,000,000 tons of coal a year. This activity followed the signing of an agreement last night. Both sides today heralded the agreement as a victory.

HOOKS STURGEON 5 FEET LONG IN OTTAWA RIVER

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—A 45-pound sturgeon, measuring 5 feet in length and 18 inches in breadth, caught in the Ottawa River, immediately before Lake Deschenes Rapids, by Joseph Simard yesterday. This is one of the largest fish that has been taken out of the Ottawa in this vicinity in many years.

Multitudes Pay Impressive Tribute To Collins

DRAPE COFFIN IN TRI-COLOR.

Dublin, Aug. 24.—Draped in the beloved tri-color flag of Ireland, the coffin containing the body of Michael Collins, the slain chief of Ireland's Free State government, was landed here early today from the steamer Classic, and later borne through the streets amid an impressive tribute from the assembled multitude.

General Collins' body was met at the dock by large throngs of mourners, including Richard Mulcahy, chief of staff and other prominent representatives of the army. The body was taken on a gun carriage preceded by a band of pipers to St. Vincent's Hospital.

Prayers were said as the procession passed in silence, broken only by the distant crack of sniper's rifles in various parts of the grief-stricken city. The cortege was flanked by a line of Dublin guards marching in slow time, with the muzzles of their revolvers protruding from the holsters. A detachment of civic guards in blue uniforms followed. They were the only unarmed uniformed men in the procession.

Immediately behind came an armored car bristling with rifles held at all angles, comprising an incongruous ending to the mournful procession. Several men who were wounded in the fighting near Bandon, County Cork, Tuesday night, in which Collins lost his life, had accompanied their beloved leader's body on the sea voyage to Dublin. It was arranged to remove the body from St. Vicent's Hospital with an impressive ceremony to the city hall later in the day, in order to give the thousands of sorrowing men and women an opportunity of seeing for the last time the features of their national hero lying in state. Tomorrow the remains will be taken to the pro-cathedral, where a high requiem mass will be held preceding the funeral at the Glasnevin Cemetery on Monday.

From midnight last night crowds had been gathering at the north quay to witness the arrival of the Classic, which docked at two o'clock this morning. Scenes typical of the nation's sorrow marked the progress of the coffin from the steamer through the long avenue of troops with reversed arms to the waiting gun carriage.

Regular officers draped the plain oak casket in the Free State colors and placed it on the wooden platform built on the 18-pounder gun carriage.

The members of the provisional government and deputies of the Dail Eireann, together with the members of the headquarters staff immediately followed. Then came the throngs of bare-headed men and women, many of them making no effort to restrain their tears.

Among the little band of fighting men who made the last stand with Collins, and who followed the body of the slain hero through the Dublin streets with lowered head and tear-blinded eyes was a boyish figure wearing a ragged civilian coat and a tweed cap. Across his shoulders he carried a machine gun, the same gun with which, he said, he had afterwards poured a hail of lead into Collins' attackers. After the procession was dismissed, he told an interviewer in a shy and diffident manner and in a voice often choked by emotion a vivid story of the fatal ambush.

Why Bronner Went To France For London Advertiser

IF YOU WANT the real "inside" on Canadian politics and political tendencies, the place to get it is from a cracker barrel in a country store.

HUMAN NATURE in France is the same as in Canada.

MILTON BRONNER has just returned from a trip through the farming districts of France. He has been visiting and gossiping with the peasants. He tells you in a series of four articles what their attitude is on world affairs, world affairs which eventually will affect you.

The first article appears today in this paper.

LONDON HUNT ENTERTAINS 500 FROM TOWNSHIP

REVIVE YEARLY CUSTOM

Members of the London Hunt and Country Club acted as hosts to more than 500 farmers of London Township at the Kennels Wednesday afternoon, giving an at home in appreciation of the privileges granted the club members by the farmers.

The reception committee was composed of Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon, chairman; Sir Adam Beck, Col. I. Leonard, John I. A. Hunt and Ernest Weld. Among those who assisted the committee were Mrs. J. E. Smallman, Col. Morgan, Mrs. Morgan, Miss Leonard, Mrs. A. H. M. Graydon, Charles Hunt, John E. Smallman and Douglas Weld.

Both the hosts and the guests were greatly delighted because of the success of the affair.

After a program of races had been run off a hotly contested baseball game between the east side and west side of the township, was played, the easterners winning by the score of 10 to 7. Malcolmson, Kennedy and Fowler were the batteries for the west, and May and Gardner for the east. The eastern team was captained by Elmer Sage, and the opponents by F. Malcolm. The players were picked from three first-class township teams. Arthur Johnston umpired.

Refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon.

In the evening the visitors, both old and young, indulged in old-fashioned and modern dances. The London Harpers and the Lombardo Orchestra furnished the music. Among those who participated in the dancing, especially the square dances, was John Guest, an old resident of the township.

The party dispersed at 10:30 o'clock, every one of the farmers and the committee declaring the event to be one of the most enjoyable they had attended this season.

The prize-winners in the various events were:

100-yards dash—E. Bamford, F. Kennedy, E. Lawson.

Three-legged race—Bamford and Springett, Walter and William Day, Parkinson and Guest.

Egg and spoon race—Miss Birrell, Miss Springett, Miss May Breen. There was a large entry in this race.

Boys under 16 years—Thomas Smith, Billy Gray and Leonard Brennan.

Girls under 16 years—Annie Birrell, Annie McClary, Gladys Hudson.

Open race, ladies, 50 yards—Mrs. W. J. Shoebotham, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Gordon Hilson.

Prizes were presented by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon, who made a few appropriate remarks regarding the outing.

For 35 years the London Hunt Club has been given many privileges by the farmers of the district. Not the least friction has arisen during all those years. Prior to the war, events of this nature were held annually, the last one being held in 1913.

Wednesday's affair was a revival of the practice.

The farmers' committee was composed of Alex May, Lew McClary, H. Ralph, Fred Gough, Elmer Sage, Chester Winter, John Guest, F. Malcolm and L. Farncomb.

Sir Adam Beck was unavoidably absent.

CLEAR LABATT'S ON BEER CHARGE

Magistrate Gorman Finds No Evidence of Beverage Being Over-Strength.

Unlabeled Bottles Fail To Reveal Proof of Manufacture.

Special to London Advertiser.

Sarnia, Aug. 24. — The charge against the Labatt Brewing Company of London, on delivering for sale beer of greater strength than 2½ per cent to T. J. Johnston, local restaurant and poolroom keeper, was dismissed by Police Magistrate Henry Gorman in the city police court today, after several adjournments of the case had been granted. Crown Attorney F. W. Wilson prosecuted, and J. M. McEvoy, K.C., London, defended.

Four unlabelled bottles were produced in court with certificates of analysis from the provincial analyst, showing greater than 2½ per cent strength. Chief of Police W. J. Lannin gave evidence of seizure, corroborated by Detective James Byrely.

T. J. Johnston, the proprietor of the raided premises, called as a witness for the prosecution, stated that he had a supply of over-strength beer purchased prior to May, 1921, from the Labatt Company. As "some of the boys" wanted a drink, he took half a dozen bottles from his home to the store, which he placed in the refrigerator with other beer of 2½ per cent strength. The cold brought the labels off the bottles, and witness could not swear whether the four bottles produced in court were Labatt beer purchased prior to prohibition enforcement or not. Witness said he also had beer purchased from the British American Brewing Company.

The defence called no witnesses, although there were on hand a number of the company's employees from London who brew, bottle and ship the beer. Counsel for the defense claimed there was no evidence on which to bring in a conviction. The company was a reputable one, established for many years, and was trying to keep the law.

The magistrate said he thought the witness Johnston must have some means of identifying the over-strength beer in the ice box, but held that no case against the defendant company had been established, and dismissed the charge.

GAS FIRMS HOPE FOR PLENTY COAL

Hamilton, Aug. 24.—Delegates attending the 15th annual convention of the Canadian Gas Association here at the Royal Connaught Hotel made an announcement that will be heard with satisfaction by gas consumers in Canadian municipalities. They stated that, though there was a serious shortage of coal, they are confident that sufficient will be obtained to operate the gas plants.

It was admitted that the situation was serious, but not alarming. Mayor Coppley tendered an official welcome to the delegates. At the business session which followed the opening ceremony, some interesting papers of a technical character were read to the delegates.

The gross earnings for the week ended Aug. 21, 1922, amounted to $2,090,160, while from Jan. 1, 1922, to date, they amounted to $66,833,246.

REFUSE TO SELL POTATOES.

CLAIM NO NEED FOR RATIONING FUEL IN LONDON

Merchants Assert City Has No Right to Interfere in Distribution.

OBTAIN LEGAL ADVICE

Mayor Wilson Agrees Appointment of Controller Not Necessary.

Acting on expert legal advice, coal dealers of this city declared Thursday morning that they will brook no outside interference with their fuel deliveries this winter, maintaining that they are best qualified to handle the situation in London.

While willing to assist the city by all co-operation possible to deliver municipally purchased coal to city homes, they declare that they will oppose any system whereby their own supplies are to be rationed out by any city official.

The dealers reiterate their pledge that they will distribute their coal supplies equitably in London this winter, and consider this pledge sufficient without having a local fuel controller direct them in their duties.

According to Legal Advice.

According to the legal advice obtained the city has no right to interfere with the distribution of coal, excepting in the case of war or similar emergency. The 35 dealers of London assert that such an emergency does not exist in London, and resent any published statements which may tend to produce a fuel panic throughout the city.

While not desiring publicity, for obvious reasons, London fuel merchants declare that the situation in this city next winter will be handled impartially by them, and no fireless homes will be necessary. They point out that no fuel will be delivered by them to customers whose bins already contain a reasonable supply of coal, and, therefore, there is no necessity for any official rationing system being inaugurated.

Mayor Cameron Wilson is in accord with the dealers on the rationing point, and stated Thursday that appointment of a local fuel controller has not been officially considered at the city hall. He stated Thursday morning that reports on the coal situation look more favorably now than in several weeks, and that optimism prevails for London in this regard.

He has received invoices covering fifty cars of Ohio lump coal which has left the mines for London, and unless confiscated before crossing the Canadian border should reach here this week. It will cost about $14 per ton laid down in city cellars.

In addition, a supply of Pocahontas coal has been ordered by Mayor Wilson.

Ald. John Ashton is of the opinion that there will be no coal shortage here this winter, declaring that despite the strike, there will be a supply, as the miners do not work full time in summer months.

"There will be lots of coal this winter," he stated Thursday morning. "The miners only work 200 days in the year. I know, because I was a miner myself at one time. There is not much coal mined during the summer months, so the strike will not hold things up much."

Miners Take It Easy.

PEASANTRY OF FRANCE LOOK TO NEXT ELECTION

Hope to Turn Out of Power Reactionary "Bloc National."

OPPOSE ANOTHER WAR

Correspondent Discusses Question With People in Heart of Country.

Written Specially for The London Advertiser by Milton Bonner.

TOURS, France, Aug. 24.—The peasant farmers of France—the people who feed the country and create its real wealth and who, in the last analysis, have to supply the men for the army—are against militarism, against big armies and navies, against big taxes. Moreover, they are looking forward with keen expectancy to 1924, when they will elect a new Parliament and have a chance to turn out the present reactionary "Bloc National." They think the radical parties of the Left will come into power, cut the size of the army, shorten the term of enforced service in its ranks, reduce naval expenditures, and make a serious endeavor to reduce taxation.

I didn't gather this information from armchair theorists or propagandists in Paris, who don't know what the peasants are thinking. I went away from big cities and walked the highroads, talking to the peasant farmers, to the dwellers in the tiny villages, to the chance passersby on the turnpikes, to the village schoolmasters, to the old women who served me a cup of coffee in the little wayside "debits," where the farm laborers gather to sip their wine and play a game of "manille" before resuming tasks which keep them occupied in the fields until long after 9 o'clock at night.

Proclaimed Democracy.

The section of France I chose for my investigations was the very heart of France, that section which has always been called its garden spot—Touraine. Here the French blood is least adulterated by infiltrations from other races. Here, in the old days, France of the monarchy found its supreme expression. When the great revolution flamed up, it was the peasants of Touraine who helped proclaim the birth of democracy and destroyed many vestiges of royalty. Touraine helps supply the bread and wine of France. My walks took me past endless fields of golden wheat. On all the terraced hillsides were growing the white grapes from which is made vouvray—the golden wine of Touraine.

It is a rich country, despite the fact that it has been cultivated for more than 2,000 years. Endless manuring and ceaseless labor have kept the fields fertile. And they are such tiny fields compared to our Canadian holdings. A farm has 5, 10, 15 or 20 acres, but every inch of it is made to produce something. And the melancholy fact is the people one sees at work on these little farms are mostly the old and middle-aged. The young men went away to the war and never came back; were so multilated they can't work on a farm, or else got the fever of restlessness in their blood and went to the cities.

I didn't find much worship of the glory of war among these simple, kindly, hospitable, industrious folks. They are sick of war. They are aghast at the very idea of another conflict. And they would never dream of it again if they could just be sure that the German neighbor was also henceforth devoted to the ways of peace and industry.

Represent Interests.

I got my first "slant" on the situation from a village schoolmaster whose name I suppress because his frankness might cost him his job. This little man, who had to study hard at technical schools before getting his post, is paid a pitifully inadequate salary. The pinch of poverty showed in his shabby clothes, his cotton shirt, his rough shoes. He was 44 when the war broke out. He went away as a soldier, while his wife, a school mistress in the same village, undertook his classes as well as her own. He told me the middle-aged schoolmasters of France were radical almost to a man. The younger men, as the result of revulsion against war, were mostly Socialists. However, he said they outgrew that as they grew older. He predicted a smashing defeat in the next election for the coalition of the parties of the Right, which now govern France. These parties represent the vested interests, the banks, the captains of industry, the profiteers, the old aristocracy, the militarists. He thought after the next elections, Heriot, the brilliant radical mayor of the great city of Lyons, would form the government. My schoolmaster said many of the farmers were reticent as to politics, but he noted great signs of uneasiness and dissatisfaction among them because of what went on in Paris. He added this significant remark:

"If any French government in a moment of criminal lunacy were to order another mobilization of the army, I tremble to think what would happen in the countryside."

Now come with me while I chat with Adrien Metiver, who cultivates ten acres near Fourchette, a village some miles away from the town of Amboise. It takes him a little time to straighten his figure from the furrow in which he is digging. You see, he was born in 1850. He fought the Germans in the war of 1870 at Gravelotte. "It was hell," he says. He was at the disaster of Sedan, but though wounded in the leg and shoulder, managed to escape. After the war he returned to his village, where he has dwelt ever since.

Opposed War.

"What do I think of the situation? Well, not too bad. We manage to live. Before the war we were happier, because we were not sad for those who are gone forever, and we hadn't the taxes we have now. I had only one son. He left wife and children to serve in the army. He was badly wounded and made a prisoner. While he was away we did our best to pull together—myself, the old mother, the young mother and the little ones. Eh bien, we did not do so badly."

"How about the danger of another war?" I asked.

He raised his toil-gnarled hands to heaven, a look of bewilderment on his face. He could only breathe a shocked and incredulous "Oh!"

I told him it was sometimes said France was heading for another war. Hence her army, estimated at 800,000 men.

"Le bon Dieu l'voudrait pas—the good God would not wish it."

"But why such a big army?"

"I don't know. You say 800,000? I don't know. I can't think. Nobody, nobody at all wants war. Our people don't want to go away from their homes again, to leave their little farms and the peaceful work and the quiet hours in the evening with their loved ones."

He shook his gray head.

"C'est pas possible, pas possible—It isn't possible, not possible."

And his old wife, who had busied herself digging up weeds, echoed him vigorously—"C'est pas possible."

With sweet old world courtesy, thinking to get away from a disagreeable subject which conjured up nightmares, the old woman suggested I accompany them to their home, a white little stone cottage, half cut inside the limestone cliff. There we could have a bottle of white wine—"bon, tres bon."

Peasants of France Opposed to Sport of Mars

TOURS, France, Aug. 24.—The hard-working peasants of France have hopes of defeating the reactionary "Bloc National' now in power in Paris, which they claim represents the vested interests, old aristocracy and militarists.

The cut shows a typical French peasant, with Audrivey Metivier as insert.

Claims Living Costs In St. Thomas Highest In Canada

RAILMEN PROTEST WAGE CUT.

WINDSOR, Aug. 24.—The cost of living in St. Thomas is higher than anywhere else in the Dominion of Canada, according to evidence submitted by J. Jukes, one of the St. Thomas representatives of the Pere Marquette Railway shopmen to the board of conciliation investigating the wage dispute between the railway and employees yesterday afternoon.

The evidence touching upon the cost of living was brought out when the shopmen explained how the cessation of Sunday overtime by the railway last January had greatly affected their standard of living and had chopped their annual income $500 or more in some instances. The men are putting up a strong argument to show cause why the Sunday overtime should not be renewed. Exceptionally heavy evidence in this connection, and also that dealing with the cost of living, was taken Wednesday and continued this morning. Until it has all been submitted there is absolutely no possibility of any decision being reached for several days.

Clothing, rents and foodstuffs, the evidence of the shopmen showed, were greatly in excess of any other center in Canada, and the board at the conclusion of the afternoon session seemed unanimous in its acquiescence of the shopmen's argument in that direction. So detailed is the evidence that not even the price of stew-meats, and the manner in which it is displayed by the butchers in the St. Thomas stores have been overlooked by the shopmen in pressing their claims.

It is expected that the case of the shopmen will have been presented in full by the time this afternoon's session concludes. Tomorrow the court will take up the case of the clerks', through A. J. Ayearst, St. Thomas, general chairman of the clerks' organization on the Pere Marquette system. The side of the railway will be handled by Mr. Klump. The clerks' case will not conclude until Saturday.

DROPS BOTTLE OF WHISKEY WHILE BEATING HIS DOG

Pedestrian Attracts Attention of Queen's Avenue Residents by Brutality Towards Canine.

There is a popular song about a man and his dog which is familiar to Londoners, and residents of Queen's avenue are wondering if the subject of this ditty visited their neighborhood Wednesday night.

About 9 p.m., a man was seen proceeding east on Queen's avenue, leading a dog on a leash, and the noticeable feature was the fact that he roundly abused the canine, and dealt the animal several blows. By this means the attention of many Queen's avenue residents seated on their varandas was attracted.

In the midst of one of his tirades against the dog, the man lunged forward to deal a blow, when to the surprise of the spectators a suspicious looking bottle slipped out of his coat pocket, and crashing to the pavement, spilled the tea-like contents, which smelt like Scotch.

The dog was temporarily forgotten, and the spectators refuse to repeat the oration delivered by the owner when the accident occurred. He left the scene in a rage, but the dog, which meekly followed his master, was not concerned in this latest outbreak.

FRACTURES HIS ARM.

CHATHAM, Aug. 23.—While at work on a strawstack on his farm on the 12th concession, Dover Township, Charles Martin suffered a fracture of his right forearm. He fell head first, but managed to turn over before he hit the ground. He was brought to the city, and Dr. Elgie set the fracture.

LAUNCH REALTY BOARD IN SARNIA

London Realtors Join Windsor Association in Organizing New Branch.

On Tuesday night Messrs. Renwick, Palmer, Brown and Campbell of the London, and Lundy and Simmers of the Border Cities Real Estate Boards met in the chamber of commerce rooms at Sarnia to assist the Sarnia real estate men to form a board.

After a banquet tendered by the men of that city several of the visiting realtors outlined the work and aims of the organization, and the Sarnia men enthusiastically decided to form a board at once.

Many cities in the province now have formed such an organization, and its ethics readily tend to promote a friendly spirit amongst realtors, and is of great assistance to the community in which it has been formed.

Several of these boards are about ready to form a provincial organization and to petition the Legislature for a license law and fee that will guard reliable realtors, owners and purchasers of real estate against unscrupulous dealers.

SAYS KITCHENER OILING APPARATUS AT FAULT

Special to London Advertiser.

KITCHENER, Aug. 23.—As a result of the numerous criticisms passed by prominent citizens regarding the oiling of the streets which caused a serious motor accident here yesterday, Chairman Massell of the garbage and sprinkling committee of the city council, stated today that the fault lay with the apparatus which is being used for spreading the oil on the city streets.

He declared it is obsolete and inefficient, and will be replaced next year. The road foreman states that the men operating the apparatus are also at fault in not properly operating the machine.

COAL MEN OBJECT TO INTERFERENCE

because there is not such a demand for coal in hot weather. They are getting lots of coal out of many of the mines right now despite the strike. If it comes to an emergency, people can let their fires down winter nights, same as we did twenty years ago. Burning furnaces continuously all winter is just a new idea."

The coal dealers of London have unanimously expressed the opinion that if the public takes a safe and sane attitude of the situation, and instead of clamoring for an extra supply of fuel, will bear with the dealers they will in this way assist them to put forth their best effort in obtaining coal for London hearths.

SEEKS LIGHT ON WAR PENSIONS

Col. Dubuc Questions Secretary of Board On G.W.V.A. Charges.

Alleged Body Acted Contrary to Intentions of Parliament.

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—(Canadian Press)—Col. Dubuc, a member of the royal commission investigating G. W. V. A. charges against the pensions board, had a series of questions to ask when the commission resumed its hearings today. Col. Dubuc's queries were particularly directed towards the clearing up of points in doubt as to the pension board's policy. One question by Col. Dubuc gave rise to considerable discussion.

"A C. E. F. man is discharged A1 in June, 1920," said Col. Dubuc. "In August, 1920, he develops a disability, which he can prove was incurred on service. Is he pensionable?"

"If he can prove that it was incurred on service or aggravated during military service he is pensionable," replied John Patton, secretary of the pension board.

Col. Dubuc followed with another question.

He asked whether a C. E. F. man discharged A1 before September 1, 1920, with a disability becoming apparent between September 1, 1920, and September, 1924 — a disability which the man could prove was incurred while on service—would be pensionable.

Mr. Patton: "In the light of future events, we would assume that the military documents were wrong. If the board has evidence that the documents were erroneous the board will give him the benefit of the doubt. It is a question of fact."

"No," commented Col. Dubuc. "It is a question of interpretation. I should like 'yes' or 'no,' whether the man is pensionable."

Mr. Patton: "Under the circumstances you relate the board would pension the man. It is a question of fact in each case to be considered on the evidence presented."

The point arose as to 1920 and 1921 amendments to section 2 of the pensions act having been made applicable to ex-service men of the C. E. F. "It is not alleged," declared H. R. Bowler, counsel for the G. W. V. A., "that the pensions board broke the law in any manner, shape or form. We do not raise the question as to whether they were legally right. We say that the board acted contrary to the intentions of parliament and of assurances given."

BRITISH MAINTAIN GUARD OVER JEWS

Graves of Soldier Dead Mark Country Around Jerusalem.

JERUSALEM, Aug. 23.—This is the greatest Moslem feast of Bairam, and Palestine and Syria present scenes of unusual gaiety and animation.

The two countries are really one. Only the artificial division to suit the ideas of British and French mandates make them two. The people are the same.

Aleppo, by the extraordinary French agreement with Mustapha Kemal of Angora, is now deprived of all its hinterland and all its trade, and it must either die or be returned to the Turk again.

The crops are being reaped, the barley cut, and the fields are resplendent with flowers. One can see prototypes of Ruth and Naomi in every field, cutting the corn with the sickle and gleaning afterwards as they did in Biblical times, on the southern slopes of Bethlehem. This scene probably had been painted a hundred times by American and European artists, but they have never got it quite right. For the women of the East squat on their heels to reap, using the left hand to hold the sheaf, and the right to use the sickle. In pictures Ruth is always shown as gracefully bending, but no Arab ever bends. In the East no one ever walks where he can ride, or stands where he may sit, or sits where he can lie down. This is the land of true repose.

Cultivation Primitive.

The Arab custom is to have three great blocks of arable land, and to cultivate them, one every third year, leaving the other two great fields lying fallow. They use the same primitive methods of cultivation as of old; a camel yoked with a donkey to pull the wooden plow, and the sickle as the only instrument of husbandry.

Jerusalem is a perfect kaleidoscope of color. Jews with long side curls and brightly-colored robes, not yet accustomed to their new-found liberty, slink along the pavement with downcast eye; young, bold, self-assertive Zionist Jews in white shirts open at the throat; Russians in white blouses; defiant, contemptuous Arabs, with their flowing white headdresses; Moslem women shrouded in black veils, and passing them the modern young women of Jerusalem in cheap silk stockings and high-heeled shoes.

Odd Mixture Seen.

Up and down the street the picturesque Palestine Gendarmerie and upon their grey Arab ponies, or talk to the town police in khaki and black astrakhan fez. It would be hard to find such a strange mixture of races even on the east side of New York. The sober British infantry or garrison artillery, smart and elert, take up positions along the Jaffa road to see the pretty girls go by. As usual Tommy Atkins is quite inconspicuous, and it is difficult to believe that he alone allows all these warring races and creeds to meet and pass in peace. He keeps the peace in all the Near East now. Were it not for him many lives would be in danger.

Not far distant from the ancient capital is a different picture. In the fields of Beersheba, Gaza and the Mount of Olives, the traveler sees 10,000 crosses marking the graves of the British soldier dead, to whom the subject races of the Holy Land owe their redemption.

Europe Must Import More Than Half a Billion Bushels Wheat.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Europe must import 582,000,000 bushels of wheat this current year—27,000,000 bushels more than last year—department of commerce experts announced today.

This is due to an estimated decline of 156,800,000 bushels in European wheat production from the phenomenal yield of last year.

The engineer stated that the weeds have now been burned out to save future misfortune.

WILL CONSIDER ROMNEY RATES

Natural Gas Tribunal To Grant Hearing To Kent County Residents.

Consumers of Three Companies Want Decisions On Disputed Points.

Special to London Advertiser.

CHATHAM, Aug. 23.—The first municipality to make a request before the natural gas tribunal is Romney Township in Kent County. The request, which has been forwarded to the tribunal, will probably be heard in this city.

The request for a hearing is based on three rate applications affecting the three companies which supply gas to the residents of that township. The Union Natural Gas Company, it appears, has voluntarily recognized an old franchise calling for a 15-cent rate. In reducing the rate to 15 cents, the company does not admit that it is legally compelled to do so, but urges the municipality, under the terms of the new act, to apply for a hearing at which a decision will be made as to whether the franchise was one "granted primarily for the purpose of taking gas out of municipalities to other municipalities." The dispute centers around section 2, sub-section 1, of the 1922 gas act.

The second application is on behalf of consumers of the Southern Ontario Gas Company in respect of an old franchise with the Glenwood Company. The third application is from subscribers of the Beaver Company.

The latter franchise does not set a rate, and the consumer still pays 45 cents. The tribunal will be asked to set a rate that is fair and just to the interested parties.

DIES OF INJURIES.

A BOX FOR THE REMAINS.

SCOTS RALLY AT LAKESIDE PICNIC

United Caledonian Societies of Middlesex and Elgin Frolic At Port.

Inter-County Tug-of-War Proves Outstanding Feature of Outing.

"Hoots, mon, it was yin grand and glorious day," was the general opinion at the picnic of the United Caledonian Societies of Middlesex and Elgin Wednesday, when, with the flourish of many a braw tartan and the skirling of the bagpipes, the clans gathered for the time of their lives.

Nothing so stupendous or so successful has been known at Port Stanley in way of Scotch picnics since the old steam lines from London to the lake was replaced by the present electric system.

The day saw a revival of the old Elgin County Caledonian picnic, which at one time was the gala day of all the year, for Scotchmen from all the western part of the province.

It is but a short time since the movement for a revival of this annual picnic was put under way, but already Caledonians in all parts of Western Ontario are coming together to stand in union behind it, and as huge and successful as was Wednesday's outing, it is to be considered only a small beginning of the annual picnics which are to follow.

The outstanding contest of the day was waged between the Caledonians of Middlesex and Elgin in a tug-of-war, an event watched with an amount of enthusiasm on the part of spectators which amounted almost to a frenzy of excitement.

Win Tug-of-War.

Under Captain Tom Robson, the Middlesex hefties carried the rope, and in addition to cash prizes, the silver trophy awarded by the London Free Press, which becomes the property of the team retaining it for three years.

"A draw" was the referee's decision for the wrestling match held on the green, in which Peter Laing and Ernest Goddard, both of St. Thomas, were the exhibitors. There was no lack of enthusiasm on the part of spectators here. It would seem that many of them were watching a wrestling match for the first time, and were amazed to find themselves so intensely thrilled. Although Goddard was judged to be heavier than Laing, what he thus gained, the other made up in agility, so that the pair were about as evenly matched as possible, and to the very last second of the exhibition each was successful in frustrating the attempt of the other in getting him with both shoulder blades to the ground.

There were twelve classes in the baby show, giving ample scope for many youngsters to enter the class of the prize-winners. At the close of the show each entrant was presented with a set of pins, that he might keep as a souvenir of his first Caledonian picnic.

Cheered into first place by the audience, Margaret Wray of 103 Beaconsfield avenue, London, was the champion baby of the day, carrying off the silver cup awarded as a trophy.

Represent Many Cities.

Chicago, Cleveland and other American cities were represented in the dancing contests, but it was Londoners and St. Thomasites who carried off a goodly quota of prizes.

A somewhat outstanding figure, however, was Campbell Griggs of Flint, Mich., not more than 12 years old, yet having a chestful of medals numbering 104.

Miss Jessie Charleston of Chicago, who did some clever dancing, bore medals to the number of 74, while another heavily bemedalled dancer was Miss Margaret McIvor of Cleveland, Ohio.

For a time rain threatened to put an end to the dancing contests, but although it was almost 8 o'clock before the final awards were made the fair weather held good to the finish.

A contest in the playing of the bagpipes was held for the first time this season, and brought an unexpectedly large number of contestants, both boys and girls.

The winners were: Donald Ellis, St. Thomas; William Webster, London, and Gladys Brown, London.

Was Oldest Woman.

The award for the oldest woman on the ground went to Mrs. Catherine Wonnacott of St. Thomas, aged 88 years, while the oldest Scotchman to be found at the picnic was John Lawson of Wilton Grove, aged 85 years.

The following were the line-ups in the tug-of-war:

Middlesex—Capt. Tom Robson, Herbert Baldwin, London; Charles Waldon, Granton; Alton Westman, Granton; John Riley, Thorndale; Cliff Elliott, Bryanston; Charles Dean, London (spare).

Charges Police Hold Up Traffic Needlessly

COMPLAINING that the officer on duty at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets often holds up traffic, by taking several minutes to direct inquiring motor tourists to various destinations, Ald. O. I. Cunningham is attempting to devise a system to eliminate this nuisance.

"I have seen inquiring motorists hold up a whole string of autos while the traffic officer directs them," declared Ald. Cunningham. "I have also seen the cop on the corner waste several minutes of motorists' time, holding up traffic while he gave some driver a setting out for not turning the corner right. Such action is nonsense. The constable should either take the number of the offending motorist at once and summon him to court or else let him go."

DEPARTMENT REPORTS BIG POTATO CROP IN DISTRICT

Up to Present Tubers Remain Free of Late Blight and Rot.

With empty coal bins staring them in the face, and prospects that exceedingly high prices will prevail this winter for fuel, householders in London may be cheered by a report that all indications point to a heavy crop of late potatoes throughout the district, and that moderate prices for tubers will prevail during the coming months.

According to the local department of agriculture, the crop everywhere in Middlesex, on light ground and on heavy clay, promises to be bountiful. Nowhere is there indication of late blight or other serious disease which too often works havoc in the potato fields.

The acreage is about average, they report.

The department officials, however, are a trifle worried over the present weather conditions. Heavy, hot, murky weather is not favorable to potatoes at this stage of their growth, they declare, for such conditions are favorable to the development of blight. They are hoping that rain and a clearer atmosphere will come soon.

DISMISSES CASE AGAINST DRIVER

Magistrate Warns Bus Operator to Observe Traffic Rules.

Charge Laid by Employees of Street Railway Company.

Bus operators won a victory in the transportation war, in which they are opposed by the London Street Railway Company, when the case of Earl Boyd, charged with passing a street car on the left-hand side, was dismissed by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon in police court this morning.

Owen Hooper, motorman on the Ridout car which Boyd is alleged to have passed, stated that while the car was taking on passengers at the corner of Horton and Ridout street, Boyd passed the car on the left-hand side and proceeded over Ridout street bridge. His car was facing west on Horton street at the time, he declared. He did not see a Normal car at the "Y" at this corner.

His conductor, Reginald Young, gave similar evidence.

Boyd's version of the affair was that the Ridout car had taken on passengers and had started when he passed. He admitted passing on the left-hand side of the car, but said that he did so when the street car was on Ridout street. At this point all traffic passes the street cars on the left side, as the cars run on the right-hand side of the road just before crossing the bridge into South London.

One of the passengers in the 'bus, Edward Morgan, stated the Ridout car had started when the 'bus passed it.

In dismissing the case, Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon warned Boyd to observe the traffic rules carefully at all times.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

WORDS which flow fresh and warm from a full heart, and which are instinct with the life and breath of human feeling, pass into household memories and partake of the immortality of the affections from which they spring.—Whipple.

TOMORROW'S DOINGS.

FRIDAY—Kiwanis Club holds luncheon at Tecumseh House, 12:15 o'clock.

Court of Revision meets at the City Hall, 7:30 o'clock.

BANK CLEARINGS for the week amounted to $2,187,142.

MAUD FRANK, through her solicitor, A. R. Douglas, has issued a writ in the county court against Thomas O'Hagan, claiming damages, which, she alleges, she received when O'Hagan ran her down at the corner of Richmond and Bathurst streets on May 26. Both parties are residents of London.

MISS V. GOLDING has taken out a building permit to construct a 1½-story brick veneer dwelling on Wellington road at a cost of $3,500. This makes a total of 84 permits for buildings issued at the city hall this month, and the aggregate cost of the work involved is $120,495.

MRS. S. J. FRANCIS, of 376 Ontario street, through her solicitor, A. R. Douglas, has issued a writ in the county court against W. R. Simpson and Stanley Coyle, of London, for damages alleged to have been sustained as a result of a collision with the defendants' auto at the corner of Maitland and Dundas streets on December 27, 1921.

SLEEPING IN A BOX-CAR at the race track on the G. T. R. cost Jack McDonald of Point Edward $10 and costs in police court this morning. McDonald admitted he had stolen a ride from Sarnia to London. His trip made him sleepy, so he parked himself in an empty car for the night. However, constables discovered him before morning. He admitted he had a little money with him.

WHEN W. G. THOMPSON failed to offer any evidence in defence of a charge of driving a car not bearing a license marker in police court this morning he was fined $10 and costs. According to Motorcycle Officer Gavin Monahan, Thompson was very abusive when he stopped him for not having a marker on the rear of his car. When the officer went to look for the front marker, Thompson tried to drvie away, the former stated.

HERBERT POWELL, arrested for driving a truck for hire, pay or gain, without having the necessary chauffeur's license, was dismissed in police court this morning, when he proved h ewas only driving the truck for the driver while the latter read a newspaper. He was employed by the same company as the driver, but as a machine operator. He had had a license other years, but did not take one out for 1922 as he was not driving. He was warned not to drive another truck until he had taken out a license.

J. W. CUNLIFFE, salesman for the London Housing Commission, reported Thursday morning that he has sold 41 dwellings, erected by the commission on Pine Lawn survey for prospective seekers of homes in this city. There remains but one civic owned house on Pine Lawn to be sold, and it is likely that a purchaser will be located for this building in the near future. In addition to these sales, Commissioner Cunliffe reports that of fourteen houses constructed on Garfield avenue by the commission, five only remain to be sold, and, despite the fact that he will be out of a job when these go, Mr. Cunliffe is on the alert for purchasers.

Motormen Stage Wordy Battle As Passengers Patiently Wait in Cars

The passengers on Richmond car No. 114 and Ottaway car No. 112 were treated to a "small time" vaudeville act staged by the motormen of the two cars Wednesday afternoon, at the corner of Ottaway avenue and Wellington street.

When each one claimed the right of way, and refused to go into the "Y," after holding a wordy combat in the middle of the road, they retreated to their respective cars and waited, and the passengers waited. But neither one moved. The motorman on the Ottaway car getting a little bolder, drove right up to the Richmond car, with the idea of pushing it off the rails, but it never moved. Another wordy battle followed between the two motormen. After threatening one another by considerable hand-waving and shaking of fists, the Ottaway car backed into the "Y," and the Richmond rambled on her way, well satisfied that she had won.

EXPECT WESTERN FAIR TO BREAK RECORDS THIS YEAR

Secretary A. M. Hunt Files Largest Single Entry for Horse Show.

If fair weather holds, Western Fair officials are confident that the 1922 Western Fair will set a record for success.

It is being found necessary to refuse applications of would-be exhibitors, since practically all the outside and every inch of the inside space is taken.

Thursday an application was refused a Walkerville firm, which asked for a hundred square feet in the auto show, which incidentally promises to be one of the best features of the exhibition.

In the horse show, the largest single entry on record for any year has been filed. One exhibitor has asked for space for 25 horses, which is believed to be the largest single entry on record.

Letters have been sent from the office of the secretary, A.M.Hunt, announcing to exhibitors that space in the buildings is now ready for those who wish to start preparations, and all the extra help is being marshaled for the work, which is steadily increasing.

PARKING AT ANGLE TRAPS MOTORIST

Uninformed City Hall Visitor Comes in for Strenuous Time.

The new city bylaw permitting angle parking of autos on certain downtown streets presents its difficulties as a London motorist will testify. Thursday morning he drove up to the city hall, and not noting the fact that angle parking is in vogue there, stopped his car parallel to the curb.

While in the city hall transacting business several other motorists drove up and, observing the parking regulations, placed their cars at right angles to the curb, thereby surrounding the auto which was not properly parked.

When the owner of the latter vehicle put in an appearance he was confronted by the problem of extricating it from the midst of the others. After attempting in vain for 15 minutes to manoeuvre his car out into the road he gave his task up in disgust.

Finally, in desperation, the enraged motorist, pushed the other cars out of the way by muscular effort, then pushed his own auto into clear space by the same method, and drove away hot, tired and peeved, determined that next time he came to the city hall he would become a disciple of angle parking.

WILL HURRY WORK ON DUNDAS STREET

City Engineer Closes Road Between Hale Street and Limits.

Dundas street east, between Hale street and the city limits, will be closed for paving operations Thursday night, thereby necessitating all traffic meant for that street from Ashland avenue to the city limits taking a detour via First and Oxford streets, City Engineer H. A. Brazier announced Thursday morning. This means that all tourists entering London via the Governor's road must make a detour, until further notice, of almost one mile.

Mr. Brazier promises to rush the job so that this important thoroughfare will not be closed long. Prior to Thursday night, motorists could detour via Hale street, but the paving job has advanced to such a degree that this intersection must be closed.

Concreting on the north side of Dundas street in the new paving area was completed Wednesday, and two cement mixers are now engaged in this work south of the street car tracks. Grading has been completed on the entire section, and London Street Railway gangs are working nights in an effort to keep ahead of the city engineer's gangs in laying new rails for the pavement.

COMMENCE WORK ON HAMILTON ROAD

Detour Via Trafalgar Street and Gore Will Be Made When Concreting Starts.

Construction work on the new asphalt pavement on Hamilton road, from Egerton to St. Julien streets, was commenced Thursday afternoon, according to an announcement made by City Engineer H. A. Brazier. No difficulty is expected to be experienced with regard to the rails of the London Street Railway Company on this thoroughfare, owing to the fact that they are comparatively new, and will not require relaying.

However, the city engineer points out that these tracks must be elevated to conform with the new pavement, and also paved, but the London Street Railway Company will do this work as expeditiously as possible, with funds advanced by the city on terms of interest.

Mr. Brazier states that Hamilton road will not be closed to traffic for a few days, because the preliminary work will not necessitate such action. However, when grading and concreting is commenced, motorists will be required to make a detour via Trafalgar street and the Gore.

Less Than Half of Winter's Coal Supply in Bins of City Schools

The coal strike is making itself felt in the school circles of this city. Although in other years the bins of every school were piling high with fuel at this time of the year, much less than half the necessary winter's supply has been installed so far this summer.

It is the custom of the school board to secure a full supply of coal in the early part of the holidays before the janitors at the various schools start their summer house-cleaning. This year janitors will be forced to contend with drifting coal dust all through the year.

The board of education will be quite content in view of existing circumstances if one-half the necessary coal is secured by the first part of the winter. The members would then live in hopes that the difficulties in the coal fields would be cleared away before the partial supply is exhausted.

Some coal has been placed in every school of the city, and a further supply is gradually being received. The board is worrying but little over the situation, as the contractors have given no intimation that they will not be able to fill their contracts.

SENDING ENGLISH TEACHER TO CITY

Authorities Choose Miss Guitton in Exchange For Miss Justin.

For the first time since the plan for an interchange of school teachers was effected between England and Canada, a representative of the profession in England is to come to London.

Within the next few days Miss Lillian Daisy Guitton, of the Beckenham public school, who is already in Canada, will arrive in this city to replace Miss Myrtle Justin, of the Wortley road school, who has gone to England to teach.

Miss Guitton, according to the records sent in advance, is a very accomplished person. Besides holding a full teaching certificate significent of wide experience in the schools of England, she has won distinction in English literature as an academic subject. She also holds a certificate as a teacher of physical training, of singing and of dancing. She also plays the piano well.

It is expected that during the year she will spend in London the interchanging of ideas, which is bound to follow will prove of great value to herself and to the profession as a whole in this city.

It is not known as yet what grade Miss Guitton will teach, but it is certain that Inspector V. K. Greer and the teachers of the city will do everything possible to meet any preference which she might express, and to make her stay as pleasant as possible.

There is a possibility that a second teacher from England will come to the city staff this year, while it is expected that several more London teachers will go to England.

OPERATE GASOLINE-DRIVEN COACHES ON C. N. R. LINES

Railroad Will Exhibit Improved Mode of Travel at Toronto Fair.

A gasoline-driven car, owned by the Canadian National Railways, passed through the city via the G. T. R. Wednesday on its way to the Toronto Exhibition.

The car, which is one of three possessed by the C. N. R., was built in Wabash, Indiana, and will seat 38 persons, and can easily go 40 miles an hour. It traveled from Wabash to Toronto under its own power in charge of an engineer and conductor.

After being shown at the Toronto Exhibition, it will be sent to Ottawa for service on one of the branch lines of the C. N. R. The other two coaches are at present being used for a similar purpose, as officials find them more economical in some parts than a regular train.

CYCLIST HAS ANKLE HURT WHEN STRUCK BY MOTOR

When Lottie Hughes of 712 Harriet street, Flint, Mich., cut a corner at Ridout and King streets, while driving auto bearing Michigan license number 497-102, at 5:20 p.m. Wednesday, she knocked John McAlpine of 43 Blackfriars street from his bicycle, according to the police. McAlpine sustained a sprained ankle and a grazed wrist. His bicycle was smashed. The driver was taken to the police station by Constable Percy Last, and later released. Dr. Cameron Wilson attended McAlpine.

ANGLERS PICNIC AT POND MILLS

Western Ontario and Game Protective Association Have Gay Time.

Pond Mills was the natural selection of the Western Ontario Fish and Game Protective Association for the scene of their annual picnic held Thursday.

Nearly three hundred were in attendance. The grounds were gayly decorated with bunting and flags, and members had gathered bunches of pine branches to make the setting even more picturesque.

The single men and women waged a contest in the form of a basebal game, in which the victory went without much difficulty to the ladies with a score of 14 to 6.

Chris Pink's quartet and Vita's orchestra provided the musical side of the program in splendid style, and a corn roast wound up the evening's entertainment.

Stephen Grant has returned to his office after spending ten days' vacation in Muskoka. Mr. Grant reports that his holidays were most enjoyable, and he is now ready to plunge into assessment problems for another year.

Eleven Londoners Commence Two-Week Canoe Trip to Georgian Bay District

"We hereby agree that after we touch the French River we will not shave for a period of two weeks," was the gentleman's pledge taken by eleven Londoners a few days ago before setting out on a canoe trip to Georgian Bay.

The party, consisting of W. E. Saunders, Jack Cole, Clifford Fairless, George Copeland, W. Christianson, E. J. Jenkins, W. Walker, George Sinclair, A. C. Deacon, Allan Talbot, and D. Patterson, left Toronto, Monday, with a full month's supply of provisions, and everything necessary for the various moods of Georgian Bay weather.

Down the French river to Georgian Bay and back the Severn river will be the route of the trip, which, if all goes well, will take two weeks. On the journey the party plans to visit some of the hunting lodges, which are located at many points along both rivers.

W. E. Saunders, the well-known London naturalist, has chosen the task of picking out the camping sites, but the deepest secrecy is being maintained about the identity of the cook. Each of the party when questioned refused to admit that he himself intended to fill that responsible position or to divulge the name of the chef.

The canoers' expect to be back in the city by September 4, and if the trip proves a success will probably be taken again next year.

FIRE DESTROYS WEST SIDE HOME

Midnight Flames Raze House North of Mount Pleasant Avenue.

Neighbors Try To "Rescue" Youth Who Was Safe At Springbank.

Spectacular flames which attracted attention from all points of view in the city, destroyed a small frame house, the property of Frederick Ashton, on Victoria avenue, a street running north of Mount Pleasant avenue, and a short distance east of the cemetery, last midnight. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Mr. Ashton, who is employed as a crossing watchman on Colborne street for the Grand Trunk Railway, was on his way home from work when the street car he was riding on was passed by the fire trucks. The other members of the family were also absent from home at the time, including a son who was at Springbank.

Neighbors who were under the impression that the boy was at home in the house made frantic endeavors to enter the burning building just a few minutes before the missing youth arrived upon the scene.

The neighboring house caught fire, but the flames were extinguished by the firemen, who had responded to an alarm sent in from Wilson avenue and Alexander street.

The house was only partly insured and the loss will be considerable as furniture, and other contents were destroyed.

Law Greater Than Guns.

IT MAY not be generally known, but it is a fact that the London, England, policeman is nearly always unarmed. The London police force is rightly regarded as the greatest in the world. It can handle traffic better and quicker than any force in the world, and do it with fewer mishaps. When cities on this side of the ocean decide to send some of their force away to study traffic handling the point selected is London, England.

When it comes to following crime to the last degree there is not a force on the face of the earth that has a finer record for devotion to duty. The maintenance of the law is the greatest thing in the life of the London policeman.

The fact that the London force is for the most part unarmed was brought out in some questions asked in the House of Commons following the murder of SIR HENRY WILSON.

LIEUT.-COL. ARCHER-SHEE asked the home secretary, MR. SHORT, if he was aware that the police on special duty outside SIR HENRY WILSON'S house were unarmed, although it was known that his life was threatened?

"The police outside SIR HENRY WILSON'S house were unarmed," replied the home secretary, "by their own desire. Arms are provided in every police station, which they take when they choose on special occasions, but it is not thought right to compel the police to carry arms when they do not wish to do so."

"Are the police to be armed now?" asked a member of the house.

"I think the house will remember that the question of arming the police has more than once come up," replied the leader of the house. MR. CHAMBERLAIN, "and the police themselves have never wished to carry arms and have felt themselves better protected among the community when the community knew that they did not carry arms. But, of course, the special circumstances of the present time and the events which are proceeding must lead to a reconsideration. I do not say necessarily a reversal."

In the WILSON case it will be recalled that three of the police engaged in the pursuit of the assassins were shot and wounded, but undeterred by this incident their comrades continued the chase and effected the double capture, barehanded, with the exception of their trusty bludgeons.

A prominent detective of New York in referring to the matter says that if the New York force followed a like plan they would have to recruit an entirely new set of men each year, and then there would be mighty few applicants. He further adds that the London policeman has been able to go unarmed because there is more general respect for the law in England even among crooks. The Bobbie is the personification of the law over there, and is obeyed, not because he is a policeman, but because he is the law.

Movies and the Farm.

A CORRESPONDENT, writing to The Advertiser, puts in a claim for fairer treatment of farmers and farm life in the movies.

The writer claims, and with some reason, that most of the pictures showing farm life depict a party of joy-riders taking refuge at a farm, where the men wear thin chin whiskers, and one suspender, and are altogether ridiculous figures.

There is some degree of truth in this, as very often ridiculous pictures of farm residents are placed on the screen. To this there can be no special objection, as the same thing can be said of many of the scenes showing city or town life.

Back of all this, though, is the viewpoint of the men who are making moving pictures and financing them. Are they doing it in order that the public may be better educated, or given a true idea of conditions in every part of the country? Are they going to produce films in order to show people of the cities how processes are carried on in the country? That is a very doubtful question, because in the very beginning we have to take into account that the moving picture business is run with the idea of making money. If they cannot attract enough people to their performances to run at a profit they must simply close up the doors. For that reason the first consideration must be that of getting pictures that the people will go to see, and continue to go and see. The average routine of the work-a-day world can have little place in these productions. There must be something of the out-of-the-ordinary, perhaps a glimpse into a sort of life that some people imagine they would like to follow. If it suits the purpose of the producer to have a farmer with whiskers on his chin he is going to have farmers with whiskers on their chin. If more people will come to have a look at the variety with one brace across their shoulder and a straw in the mouth, then that is the sort of farmer that stands the best chance of living in the picture. It may be a sad commentary on human nature, but the crowds like to see this freakish individual rather than the clean-cut farmer of this country.

There is something to be said, though, for the letter of our correspondent that there might be a plot worked out in which various operations in farm life would receive prominence and justice, and in this way give to the people of the cities a correct idea of life on the farm. If such a plot can be hatched, well and good, and there should be some room for it. The old plots are getting fairly well worked out in spots. The poor girl who suddenly marries a rich man, and blossoms out in untold beauty, has been with us for some time; the lover that gets run over by a train, and blown up by a bomb, and shot so many times that he must look like a gravy strainer has also pranced around for us a good many evenings; the man who has been foiled by the villain, and in order to get justice must reach a point a hundred miles away in ten minutes is no stranger, while the millionaire's son has donned overalls many times in order to go to work in a factory and win the girl he loves.

Now, if our correspondent has a great stretch of imagination, and can supply the plot whereby farm life can be correctly depicted, perhaps while the young man from the next farm comes around to pay attention to some of the girls on the premises, we dare say there will be a ready sale for the idea, for it must keep some of the producers sitting up nights wondering what under the sun to turn to next in order to get the people to continue coming in through the front door and depositing their money in the coffers of the showhouse.

Big Hearts and Little Folks

THOSE citizens of London, who enjoyed the opportunity of viewing two thousand cheering, happy children board London and Port Stanley trains Tuesday morning and start out for a day's fun at the lakeside, experienced a thrill which comes to those who have been young, and still have a warm spot in their hearts for the younger generation.

They could not help but hearken back to the days when they were boys, and although they may not have enjoyed such a trip as that afforded London's youth Tuesday, they recalled the time when they had good times, and boys were boys.

The two thousand future citizens who journeyed to Port Stanley Tuesday had a real good time at games and bathing in Lake Erie, and it was a tired throng that returned to London early in the evening. Thanks to the tireless efforts of Major G. Mel Brock, his staff of city playgrounds supervisors and representatives of Mothers' Clubs of London, the children were restrained from getting into too much mischief, and accidents were avoided.

All persons interested worked to make the kiddies' outing a success, and much credit is due to them. Of those who made the cash contribution necessary to carry each youngster to Port Stanley and return for ten cents only, only the best can be said.

These eight big-hearted businessmen do not desire publicity, but it is only right that their fellow-citizens should know who the children's benefactors are, and The Advertiser takes pleasure in publishing their names. They are as follows: PHILIP POCOCK, SIR ADAM BECK, JOHN I. A. HUNT, E. S. LITTLE, JOHN BRIDGE, RAY LAWSON, BERT SPITTAL and LIEUT.-COL. W. M. GARTSHORE.

Although they may not realize the fact, this little act of kindness on their part will undoubtedly prove far-reaching in its results. A community is no bigger than the men and women who go to make it up, and this outing goes to show that London possesses citizens big in heart and vision. It is nice to possess money and be human enough to use it in the right way.

The memory of Tuesday's fun will remain long in the minds of the fifteen hundred future citizens who made merry to their heart's content, on Lake Erie shores, and has already boosted London in their estimation as a good city in which to live.

Such generosity for the children's sake has also set them a splendid example, and some day, a few years hence, these very girls and boys will be tempted to provide a similar entertainment for youngsters yet unborn.

The big day staged Tuesday has become an annual affair, and is a creditable movement for any community. With a citizenship of the calibre represented by the eight generous Londoners behind this movement in 1922 there is no doubt but that this pleasure trip for the kiddies will become a permanent annual event for the Forest City.

LITTLE 'TISERS

Will the Golden Rule work in this age and generation? Try it out and see.

Picnic speeeches are getting longer, while the days are getting shorter.

They've got the seedless orange and the thornless rose, but the room is still open for the man who wants to bring out the brayless donkey.

A young man who was held up on the road near Chatham the other night says he never saw a revolver look so much like a stove pipe before.

And now we have with us again that greatest deceiver of the season, viz.: that piece of red netting that is tacked over the baskets of green, hard peaches.

Dealers say there is a demand for a good five-cent cigar. And just to think that during war years vain, foolish man used to saunter in and ask for 'em wrapped in silver at 25 cents a throw.

In England they had a wedding where the ceremony was performed by a woman, and all the guests were women. The only man present was the groom. They can supplant as hard as they like, but they can't have a wedding without a man.

A new orchid just discovered has been taken in hand by the botanists, and will henceforth be called the sophrolea-liocattleya. Just think what might have happened if the flower had fallen into the hands of some ignoramus who didn't know what to call it.

A new machine digs a conduit, removes the earth, and lines the walls with cement as it goes along. It is capable of building water mains, sewer mains, conduits and tunnels for any purpose, doing the work of a large number of men in a very short time. The only excavation necessary is an opening large enough to lower the machine to the depth desired for the tunnel. At last we've got a machine to do our dirty work.

Back-benchers in attendance in the Hamilton police court on Saturday last gasped when they heard JAMES ALLWOOD'S drunk record. He had paid $1,570 in drunk fines since the end of 1919, the magistrate reminded him, and he was back again. He was given another thirty-day stretch, and doubtless in thirty-one days will be drunk again, and the performance will have to be repeated. There is a good deal of nonsense about this kind of performance, says The Brantford Expositor. Short sentences can do nothing to help a drink addict, and the state has no right to benefit financially from a victim of disease. Some day we will have separate institutions for inebriates, where they will be kept in a helpful environment until there is reasonable hope that they have been cured.

When we speak of something taking place in the stone age, we generally think of hundreds and thousands of years ago, when men and women used to make their homes in caves, and when also men used to make their wives obey by the use of a club and strong arm practice generally. But now the explorers come along and tell us that right in our own British Columbia this stone age stuff was being carried on not more than a century ago. The discoverers have been unearthing old community sites, mounds and graves along the coast and in the interior. Stone and bone tools were in common use when white explorers visited the North Pacific. Stone hammers and axes discovered in B. C. are almost identical with those found in Europe. Old shell mounds on the Fraser and Thompson Rivers reveal many things formerly used by the men of the Stone Age.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

By Digby Phillips.

NO. 304—HOW THE WIDE-HEAD WRITES.

What feature of handwriting is it that corresponds to the physical indications of the wide head?

You will remember, perhaps, that the short wide head, particularly the type that is rather flat in the back, indicates a person who does not readily get the sympathetic viewpoint toward others, the person who is naturally aggressive and combative, who has perhaps more than the normal human instinct toward cruelty.

The nearest indication to this in handwriting is the heavy hand, which considered without regard for modifications, may denote one or more of the elements of coarseness, domination, materialism, boldness, roughness, aggressiveness, muscularity, grossness, selfishness, self-centeredness and lack of sympathy.

It is exactly the same as in the case of the wide head, the elements of character indicated by which may also be vices or virtues according to the manner in which the individual allows his character to express itself.

TO THE EDITOR

WHY NOT GIVE FARM LIFE A FAIR SHOW IN THE MOVIES?

Why not give farm life a fair show in the movies? is a question that is often asked by the country people. The city man is admonished to go back to the land. He goes to a moving picture show in which the farm is pictured as a place where a party of joy-riders take refuge when something happens to their car. The farmer is a ridiculous figure, with chin whiskers and one suspender. The general tone is one of contempt for country life, of ignorance and flippancy. To help the movement for better pictures, the writer, the authors with a plot, take a boy out of the city into the country and describe his experience in learning how to farm. The story need not be too serious. There is plenty of room for fun in the mistakes which a city boy will naturally make in learning the care of animals as well as the numerous other things that are to be done on a farm. Show the plowing, the seeding, the harvest, the threshing, the pruning and spraying of fruit trees, and the gathering of the fruit; the farm animals, their care and use. There is an opportunity for displaying many beautiful and interesting pictures to the city boys and girls.

Do not waste cleverness in contriving and inventing freaks, but tell the story naturally. Bring in the country school and the various recreations of country life. I am sure that city boys and girls, yes, women and men, would be charmed by such childhood. Others would receive a real knowledge of a life with which they were not acquainted with.

The fault of many of the authors of films is that they are always after something freakish and unnatural, and neglect the things that are natural and simple. If they want to point out a moral they usually depict some gloomy scene of crime, some household blasted by the father, or worse still, the mother hankering after some other woman or man. They call these "problems," neglecting the problems of making a living and furnishing the house, buying boots for the children to wear to school. In my way of thinking, the best way to teach morality is to show the better way, the normal domestic life, the every day joys and sorrows of the home. Other industries beside that of farming could be described. Take the building of a house with all the stages shown, for instance, the digging out of the cellar, laying the foundation, the work of the brick layers, carpenters, plasterers and painters. Weave these things into a story with plenty of human interest. Scenery is usually shown in too hurried a way. Time should be allowed for the eye to rest on the pictures, so as to properly take in the beauty. At present most of the shows are exciting love scenes, which prove nerve-wrecking to grownups, but more especially to children, much as the effect of a glass of firewater to the unfortunate beginner. They might be made restful and stimulating, and not emotional only.

BESSIE.

THE PRICE OF PROGRESS.

Editor Advertiser:

Sir,—The passing of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, the great inventor of the speaking telephone, and tireless experimenter in the field of applied science, once more impresses upon us the great debt we owe to the pioneer worker and investigator in every field of useful endeavor. He often worked alone, and was, besides, the butt of ridicule of the vulgar as well as of even educated men of contracted vision and little originality. Think of the patient, original, fearless men who brought out such inventions as the locomotive, the steamboat, the sewing machine, the trolley car, the internal combustion engine, the telegraph, the electric light, the reaping machine and self-binder.

These and many others have simply revolutionized the world's work, brought the ends of the world almost together, and placed the luxuries of life, as well as things formerly unknown even to the wealthy, within the reach of all.

It is just the same in the realm of science and scientific discovery. Take astronomy as an example, and think of the imperishable work done by the earlier investigators in this fascinating field. Their instruments and methods were crude compared to ours, yet how splendid a heritage of knowledge and achievement they bequeathed to us.

It might be interesting to take a concrete case by way of comparing the modern with the earlier methods of observation. Take the now simple method of observing a star transit, one of the vital problems in practical astronomy, as the first case.

The modern or American method was introduced about 25 years ago, I think. In this method the sidereal clock is made to record its beats automatically on a large revolving disc or time scale. The disc is revolved uniformly once a minute by the clock mechanism. On the same frame are two electro-magnets controlling the recording pens. A light cross of wires is delicately pivoted in a metallic frame to which is attached a bent glass tube containing mercury. One arm of the wire cross is attached to the bottom of the clock pendulum by a strand of spiders' web. As the pendulum swings right and left another arm plunges into the mercury, and in which dips a wire from the poles of a battery. This "make and break" is so arranged that at every alternate beat of the second pendulum the first recording pen is brought sharply down upon the disc, making a small, round dot. In order that successive rings of dots may be made upon the same disc, the mechanism is mounted upon a miniature railway track, and by an ingenious device between the 58th and 60th seconds of each minute the disc moves away from the pen. The second electro-magnet controls a pen that, by means of a key, is under the control of the observer. How simple now is the taking of a star transit when this ingenious magnetic arrangement is used with a modern transit instrument? The observer has merely to watch until the star selected for observation is bisected by the central "wire," when he depresses the key fixing the time of the transit to say, 1-100th of a second.

Now, how did the earlier observer attack the same problem? To begin with, his telescope and mountings were much inferior. His pivots were not perfectly cylindrical, nor the same size to 1-1000th of an inch. The line of the axis was seldom exactly at right angles to the line of collineation of the lenses. Even the mounting of the focus ring bearing the "wires," where of all places mathematical accuracy would seem to be demanded, was seldom rivaculate. After laborously setting up his telescope in the plane of the meridian so as to avoid the level azamuth and other errors, the observer selected a star near the meridian Then having entered the hour and minute from the sidereal clock face in his notebook, he commenced at the proper interval to audibly count the clock beats, as under the steady rotation of the earth the star approached his first meridian "wire." At some definite moment, presumably between two consecutive clock beats, the star will be bisected by the wire, and this is the time he wishes to fix accurately to the nearest 10th of a second. His clock beats will only give him seconds, so he must make a mental estimate of the 10th. Accordingly, he watches the star closely, using all his mental alertness to note its position at the close of the beat before the transit and the one after, and mentally dividing the second into ten equal parts he estimates how many of these preceded the passage of the wire. These he adds to the time entered already in his notebook as the time of the transit of the first wire, and without experiencing the least confusion in all these trying mental operations or once losing his clock beat count, he does the same for the remaining wires, usually five or seven in all. Then by taking the mean of all the time entries, he eliminates as far as possible the errors due to the "personal equation." How laborious all this was, and how it drained the mental equipment of even the best observers almost to the breaking point? Yet it was just by such clumsy methods, along with superb patience and perseverance that the earlier astronomers were able to bequeath to us such a priceless heritage in this fascinating field of science.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

TODAY'S word is SIMULACRUM.

It's pronounced sim-u-la-krum, with accent on the first syllable.

It means an image, something formed in the image of a being or thing, a phantom or shadowy likness of something, a vague and unreal semblance, a mock appearance, a sham.

It comes from Latin "simulare," to simulate, feign or pretend.

It is used like this: "Some people consider Canada's political parties both so lacking in any real policy today that they feel a contest between them at the polls is a mere simulacrum of an election of a generation ago."

DIAGNOSIS.

A man was fixing his automobile.

"Trouble?" asked a pedestrian.

"Some," was the laconic answer.

"What power car is it?"

"Forty horse."

"What seems to be the matter with it?"

"Well, from the way she acts, I should say that thirty-nine of the horses are dead."

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

HERE WE HAVE ITEMS OF LOCAL AND DISTRICT INTEREST AS RECORDED IN THE ADVERTISER OF 1897.

AUGUST 24, 1897.

WEATHER — Mostly fair and warmer.

The "housewarming" at Chalmers Church last evening was a pleasant affair, enjoyed by a large gathering. Members of the young congregation were out in full strength and were joined by many well-wishers from other churches. Solos were given by H. Ruthven McDonald, Miss Wright and Miss A. Templeman, and an instrumental by Mr. W. H. Hewlett. Rev. Messrs. N. J. Clark, J. G. Stuart, M. P. Talling, Robert Johnston and Thomas Wilson each gave interesting addresses.

George Stinson and George Terry are making preparations to start for the Klondike gold mines in the spring.

W. H. Beatty of Wilton Grove, leaves today to attend the New York State Fair at Syracuse, where he has been appointed one of the judges of sheep.

Rev. T. W. Charlesworth has resigned the pastorate of the Maitland Street Baptist Church. He made the announcement on Sunday to his congregation, who received it with surprise and regret.

There is room for much improvement at Tecumseh Park with very little expense to the management. After every baseball game the crush of bicycles, carriages and pedestrians going through the only exit, is very unpleasant and might easily be avoided if a gate were placed on the west side of the grounds near the bicycle stands.

DR. BISHOP'S ADVICE

WHOOPING COUGH RISK

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

MOST people think whooping cough is a mild disease which all children must have.

Ask any physician whether it's a mild disease. He'll tell you that its consequences are serious and far-reaching in many cases. He will warn you to keep children who have not had the disease from exposure to it.

Whooping cough is very contagious and the infection is most virulent in the earlier stages of the disease before the characteristic whoop becomes noticeable.

As is well known, whooping cough begins with the symptoms of an ordinary severe cold—sneezing, coughing and watering of the eyes. It is then that it is most contagious True, it generally is impossible to know it from an ordinary cold, but in any case it is undesirable to be exposed to it, for colds are contagious, too.

Not only the actual deaths from whooping cough are to be feared. Those who survive the disease itself often suffer serious after-effects. The paroxysms of coughing strain the heart, which may be permanently damaged. There is also the danger of other infections becoming superimposed upon the whooping cough infection—tuberculosis, for instance, or pneumonia.

PARISH PRIEST SHOT IN PROTON DIES OF WOUNDS

Rev. Father Clohecy Signs Second Statement, Accusing John Cosgrove.

DEAF MUTE HELD IN JAIL

Makes No Comment When Informed of Pastor's Death.

OWEN SOUND, Aug. 23.—Rev. Father Clohecy, parish priest at Dundalk, died at 2 o'clock this afternoon as a result of being shot by John Cosgrove at the door of St. Patrick's Church, Proton Station, on Saturday evening.

Until 2 o'clock this morning, when a severe hemorrhage commenced, his condition was almost hopeful, but with the internal bleeding that continued all morning he gradually sank and expired twelve hours later. Dr. Carter and Dr. McWilliams of Dundalk were in attendance and secured a signed statement from the priest who knew that his end was near.

Signs Statement.

This statement was to the effect that the fatal shot had been fired by John Cosgrove, a deaf mute of Proton, while Father Clohecy was at the door of his church. This was the second statement signed by Father Clohecy, the first having been given to High Constable Pembroke, but at a time when there were still hopes that he might recover. A coroner's jury was impaneled by Coroner Martin tonight, and after viewing the remains adjourned for a week.

John Cosgrove, who is in jail here charged with shooting with intent to kill, will come up for a preliminary hearing on August 30, when the charge will be enlarged to murder. The news of the death of the priest was made known to him, but apparently it made little difference to him. He made no observation on the matter when given an opportunity with paper and pencil.

The whole of the Proton district is wrought up over the murder. The priest, an exceptionally high type of citizen, was one of the founders and mainstays of the Children's Aid Society of the county. He took an active part in social and other work outside his own church. He had the respect of every one who knew him, and his death under such circumstances has cast a gloom over all.

John Cosgrove, accused of the crime, is a deaf mute, and it is claimed, has an uncontrollable temper. He has expressed no regrets for the act, but maintains a moody and almost dejected attitude.

FUNERAL PLANS NOT MADE.

HAMILTON, Aug. 23.—No arrangements have been made yet for the funeral of Rev. Thomas Clohecy, who died today at Proton.

Father Clohecy was born in Hamilton, the son of the late Thomas Clohecy, a well-known harness dealer. He received his early education here and after graduating from St. Jerome's College, Kitchener, was ordained a priest in St. Mary's Cathedray here on Aug. 5, 1911. For a time he was stationed at St. Patrick's Church here, later being transferred to St. Basil's Church, Brantford. About eight years ago he was transferred to Dundalk. One brother, Bernard of Hamilton, and three sisters, Sister St. Bernard, Sister Angelica, Hamilton, and Mrs. Burns, Toronto, survives.

Man Estranged From Wife Makes Dramatic Attempt To End His Life

PONTIAC, Mich., Aug. 23.—Ransom E. States, 24, of 138 Winder street, Detroit, who made a dramatic attempt at suicide last night when his estranged wife refused to drop her divorce action after a conference in the office of A. Floyd Blakeslee, Oakland County prosecutor, was released today from the Oakland County jail.

She rushed out to Mr. Blakeslee screaming:

"He has taken something."

"Kiss me good-by," implored States, writhing in agony on the floor and reaching toward his wife. She refused.

A physician administered an emetic and States was taken to the county jail, where he was held merely as a "guest" until his complete recovery this morning. The would-be suicide resisted the efforts of the physician, insisting that "he had nothing to live for."

M'NEIL SCORES PENSION BOARD

Claims Intentions of Act Violated by Commission On Several Occasions.

Counsels Clash Over Production of Files For Use of Veterans.

OTTAWA, Aug. 23.—Presentation of the case of the Great War Veterans' Association, in their charges against the board of pensions commissioners, got under way at today's sittings of the royal commission presided over by Col. J. S. Ralston, C. G. McNeil, Dominion secretary-treasurer of the Great War Veterans' Association, was on the stand during the whole of today's sitting and will continue his presentation of the veterans' case tomorrow.

At the opening of today's proceedings a clash occurred between the Great War Veterans' Association counsel, H. R. Bowler, and Dr. Gordon Henderson, counsel for the pensions board, over the production of files now in the possession of the pensions board.

The G. W. V. A. asked that individual files of pensioners being dealt with before the commission be placed in the commission's custody. This was requested as an assurance that files would be present when needed, Mr. Bowler declared.

After Dr. Henderson had objected to the Great War Veterans' Association being allowed to go "on a fishing trip," it was agreed that the files should be available to a representative of the Great War Veterans' Association, a representative of the pensions board being present at the same time.

Mr. McNeil in his evidence quoted from Hansard and committee reports to show that Parliament and the successive committees had intended that a man who had served in an actual theatre of war should be considered fit at enlistment. The pensions board, he declared, had seriously violated the intentions of the act, and case after case had been found which also violated the assurance given by the pensions board to returned soldiers in respect to the matter of disabilities and their attributability to service.

The charges against the pensions board had only been made in a last effort to secure proper treatment for the returned soldiers in this regard.

USE INSURANCE TO BUILD CREDIT

Many Businessmen Follow Practice, Declares Stanley Edwards of Denver.

Experts Discuss Life Policies As Commercial Assets At Toronto Convention.

TORONTO, Aug. 23.—Life insurance as a business asset was discussed by experts at this afternoon's session of the life underwriters' convention here. Other subjects were industrial insurance, inheritance taxes and agency building.

An address on "using life insurance by business individuals, partnerships and corporations to build up credit," was given by Stanley Edwards of Denver, who stated that 90 per cent of the world's business was done on credit.

"The bulk of life insurance business is based on the instinct of family protection," he stated; "the other part of life insurance is based on faith and hope, that is credit or confidence."

Mr. Edwards pointed out that the one-man business needed credit insurance more that the partnership or corporation needed it because it was equally less able to comply with collateral loan requirements. The speaker stated that concerns carrying sufficient insurance protection on the life of the directing head could often obtain loans at a lower rate of interest than they could if there were no insurance policy.

An address on "Protecting Bank Loans by Life Insurance" was delivered by H. W. Manning of the North American Life Company, who stated that insurance was a gauge whereby banks might determine the extent of a man's ability to pay. Mr. Manning gave figures to show that inquiries as to life insurance carried were widely made by banks and trust companies, and in conclusion urged the necessity of a closer co-operation with bank managers.

The underwriters at their annual banquet tonight were addressed by Judge Charles J. Orbison of the Indiana Superior Court, who urged that life insurance should be the basis of every estate.

STEFANSSON SAILS ON NEW EXPEDITION

VANCOUVER, Aug. 23.—Another Stefansson expedition to Wrangell Island sailed from Nome, Alaska, yesterday, according to a special dispatch from Nome to the Vancouver Province today.

Last summer Stefansson sent a party to Wrangell Island, raising the British flag formally to claim sovereignty over the domain which is rich in fur and minerals.

Since September last year nothing has been heard of the expedition. The ship which left Nome yesterday is carrying them fresh supplies and reinforcements, comprising three white men and a party of Eskimos.

The Teddy Bear should be back in Nome within three weeks.

HONOR MEMORY OF GEOGRAPHER

Authors and Historians To Dedicate Memorial Building To David Thompson.

MONTREAL, Aug. 23.—More than 100 Canadian authors, historians and others interested in the early exploration of the Canadian West are assembling next week at Lake Windermere to take part in the opening of an interesting building dedicated to the memory of David Thompson, the first man to explore the Columbia River from its source to the Pacific, and the first white man to establish a permanent building in Southern British Columbia.

It is on the site of this building, originally named Kootenae House, that a museum in the traditional Hudson Bay architecture of loghouse with bastions and stockades, has been erected by the Canadian Pacific Railway, in co-operation with the Hudson Bay Company, to serve as a memorial to the geographer and surveyor, who, more than 100 years ago, drew the maps which are the basis of the railway and government maps of Canada today.

Diaries Revive Name.

For many years the memory of David Thompson has almost been forgotten, till it was revived through the publication of his diaries and narratives of his explorations by the Champlain Society. This fascinating volume immediately restored him to his rightful position, and such authorities on the history of this continent as Prof. Meany of the University of Washington, Seattle, do not hesitate to acclaim Thompson as the greatest geographer of the past century connected with the American continent.

The formal opening of the memorial fort on August 30 will be accompanied by a picturesque pageant in which many old-timers and delegates from four tribes of Indians of the Pacific slope will participate.

L. G. Armstrong of Montreal, who conducted the celebrated Hiawatha Pageant at Desbarats, Ontario, is directing this pageant, which will reproduce historic incidents in the explorations of David Thompson and Father DeSmet, who served among the Kootenay Indians at Lake Windermere, in 1847. Two of the war canoes used in the Champlain tercentenary celebrations have been shipped west for this pageant.

Will Stage Stampede.

Following the pageant the Indians will conduct a stampede. The four tribes represented are the Flagstone, Kootenay Plains, St. Eugene Mission and Shuswap. Many interesting works of Indian art have been collected for the memorial fort, which will serve as a museum for local antiquities and Indian handicrafts.

Sir Augustus Nanton will represent the Hudson Bay Company at the celebration, while Col. J. S. Dennison will represent the president of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The Canadian Authors' Association will, at the same time, hold a campfire meeting in which the president, Mr. J. Murray Gibbon, Bliss Carman, Isabel Eccleston MacKay, Madge MacBeth, Onoto Watanna (Mrs. Frank Reeve), Frederick Niven, Evah McKowan, Robert Watson, Lawrence J. Burpee, W. T. Alison, W. S. Wallace and J. B. Tyrrell, the editor of the David Thompson volume for the Champlain Society, are expected to participate.

Bliss Carman will arrive in Montreal on Friday and leave for the West on the Trans-Canada. After the celebration he plans to canoe down the Columbia River from Lake Windermere to Golden, spending two or three weeks in the Canadian Pacific Rockies.

In Montreal a local group of those interested in David Thompson will hold a meeting simultaneously at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of Aug. 30, at Thompson's grave in Mount Royal Cemetery. This grave has hitherto been neglected, and is not marked even by a stone. The Canadian Historical Association is anxious to erect a small monument to mark the explorer's last resting place. Dr. W. H. Atherton, George Ham, W. D. Lighthall, Pemberton Smith, Norman Rankin, H. Hodkisson, W. Ormiston Roy, George Clarkson and A. W. D. Hais of "The Last Post," are among those who are expected to take part in the Montreal ceremony.

DEBATE RADIALS ON WATERFRONT

TORONTO, Aug. 23.—Mayor Maguire announced, following a conference with Sir Adam Beck today, that there being still a willingness shown by the parties to confer on the waterfront radial right of way agreement, a further conference would be held tonight in his office.

The participants will be Mayor Maguire, Sir Adam Beck, R. Home Smith, chairman of the harbor board, and P. W. Ellis, chairman of the Toronto Transportation Commission.

GRANT LABOR PARLEY TO MARCONI OPERATORS

The men have named Thomas Taylor of Toronto and he has been appointed.

The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company has been asked to select its representatives.

The dispute arises from the company's desire to cut wages by 15 per cent.

OFFICIALLY OPENS HIGHWAY ENTRY

HAMILTON, Aug. 23.—Marked by an interesting ceremony, the Hamilton entrance of the Toronto-Hamilton highway was officially opened this afternoon, and also the local link of the Niagara-Hamilton road. Rain interfered with the attendance to some extent, but despite the efforts of the weatherman there were hundreds of interested citizens present. Scores of motor cars followed the government officials and local party as the tablets on the five local bridges were unveiled and silken tape was cut, opening the cement strip.

RANEY FAILS TO VISIT ST. THOMAS

TORONTO, Aug. 23.—Pressure of work made it impossible for Attorney-General W. E. Raney to go to the United Farmers of Ontario picnic near St. Thomas today, as was previously announced.

RS. GRENFELL TELLS OF WORK

rites About Fisher Folk Met During Coasting Trip.

ife of Labrador Doctor Visited London On Recent Furlough.

Pushing northward along the deso- te coast of Labrador, Dr. Wilfred T. renfell is aiding isolated fishing mmunities with a $1,000,000 fund. is wife, in an article written ex- lusively for The London Advertiser, escribes human interest phases of he journey.

BY ANNE GRENFELL.
Wife of "The Labrador Doctor."

ABOARD THE HOSPITAL STEAMER STRATHCONA, OFF THE COAST OF LABRADOR, Aug. 23.—I want you to meet some of the folk—honest, simple, nice - mannered — whom we've met during the first fortnight of our return trip to the North.

In almost our first port of call among the large group of patients to come on board was James Alcott, late of his majesty's marines, and now after the long subarctic winter suffering with incipient beriberi, a paralysis of the nerve ends due to the continued lack of certain essentials of diet.

He came ostensibly to be treated for his legs, but he admitted shortly that his real trouble was due to the loss of his horse—the only one of the village.

Alcott had been overseas, and come home fired with the idea that if a man were to live decently in North Newfoundland he must have remunerative work both summer and winter.

He had therefore put all of his savings of the long years of war, $250, into the purchase of this beast, thinking that by owning it he could make just the difference between prosperity and "scrabbling along."

But oats are dear, so spring found Jim with an even balance sheet, the horse having eaten up exactly what he had earned.

Five days before our arrival the animal had wandered away over the hills, carrying with him the entire bank account of our friend. Though the sympathy and services of the whole village had been enlisted and the surrounding country searched for miles, not a trace was to be found of the missing Bucephalus.

Alcott seemed grateful for the "treatment and advice" my husband gave him for his illness, but we well knew that a dose of salt on the tail of the erring quadruped would have been worth a whole pharmacopeia.

OUR NEXT friend was a cheerful woman from Drawbucket Cove, who came on board accompanied, or rather propelled, by her "man."

She informed the doctor that her "legs was fair warped with rheumatics," but her husband amended her diagnosis by "reckoning that she be too heavy amidships for the depth of her keel."

She was known in Drawbucket as Aunt Sally.

She reminded my husband that two years previous, when she had come to him on the steamer to have a "wonderful bad tooth hauled," he had found her "a trifle peckish," and practically ordered her down North some 150 miles to a hospital for a short restcure, away from her ten children and other burdens.

With implicit confidence in his judgment she had boarded the first northgoing mail steamer—to find it packed far beyond its capacity, not a bunk to be had, nor an inch of space under cover to be claimed.

She had therefore slept two night on deck in the rain.

When she arrived at the hospital she was admitted on the strength of a letter from the doctor.

The only available bed, however, was between two post-operative ladies, who, according to Aunt Sally, "spent the day bawling something shockin'."

With nightfall the "nippers" added to her discomfort.

Morning found a courteous but firm Aunt Sally standing before the doctor-in-charge as he made his early rounds.

"I 'lows I'll be getting along home, doctor," she confided. "I fancies I could do with a bit of a rest."

* * *

BENJAMIN PATEY of Little Cat Arm was closeted in the hospital below decks for a long time with the doctor, and when he came up the companion his face looked a trifle white under the sunburn.

His friends jeered at him for having "kept t' doctor such a spell," but a grunt was substituted for his usual grin, as he climbed somewhat awkwardly over the side into his punt, and started rowing off to his home, three miles from where our ship lay at anchor.

I heard later that he had had a tumor removed from his back and had allowed himself an extra hour off from the fishery so that he might be sufficiently rested to navigate the homeward journey quite alone.

* * *

IF FRIENDS IN Canada entertain any doubts as to the usefulness of the clothing they so generously send to the North for our fishermen, I wish they might have seen the little drama which took place in the course of some eleven hours at Middle Harbor Round.

We dropped our anchor at about 5 o'clock in the evening, and according to the modest custom of the steamer, blew a resounding blast on our siren, whose well-known voice has warned the isolated coves and inlets for over 20 summers that "the hospital ship be in port, with t' doctor aboard."

Soon punts and rodneys were approaching us across the still water from every quarter—boats bearing the strangest freight, here a startled "dicky bird" whose head only was visible out of the enveloping brin sack held resolutely between the knees of some old woman, there a few precious eggs tied up in a napkin, still further off the supercilious profile of the family goat—all being brought to exchange for badly-needed clothing.

These people have no money, and in any case, no clothing is ever sold. One lad of 12, who goes by the overpowering name of Theophilus Bursey, when asked his errand said he wanted "a bit of clodin," as he was "nigh naked to the world."

On being asked if there were nothing he could give in return which either the ship or one of the hospitals could use, so that his own self-respect might be preserved, he "lowed he might get a few billets of wood for the ship's fires."

"Very well, then. They must be four feet long and split once." And my husband went below to see the row of patients waiting attention.

No more was seen of the boy during the long evening, but at four in the morning, just as our engineer was getting steam so that we might reach the next port by breakfast, a boat bumped our side and the face of Theophilus rose over the rail, sleepy but victorious.

Below him in his punt were 100 fine birch billets.

"Why didn't you bring those off last night?"

"Well, sir, when you spoke to me in the evening I didn't have none cut, so I just sawed and split 'em all night—sure there was a fine moon. I'd have been off sooner, but it seemed I had to finish a hundred for ye."

SHOWERS POPULAR GIRL LEAVING WILTON GROVE

A happy affair was given at Summervale Farm, Wilton Grove, when Mrs. Joseph Pittaway and her daughters gave a surprise party and handkerchief shower in honor of Miss Jessie Elliott, daughter of Mr. George Elliott, Wilton Grove, on the eve of her departure to train at John Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md. The guests, numbering 60, enjoyed games on the lawn, which was attractive with Japanese lanterns. A fancy hoop, to which the handkerchiefs were attached, was presented to the guest of honor by little Miss Marion Pittaway and Master George Withron, nephew of Miss Elliott. Solos by Miss Jean Maitland of London, and Mr. John Grieve of Wilton Grove were enjoyed, and Miss Margaret Grieve acted as accompanist. A dainty lunch was served on the lawn. The guests then wished Miss Elliott success and happiness in her new career. Miss Elliott, who is a popular young lady, will be greatly missed by her many friends.

DON'T SQUEEZE BLACKHEADS--DISSOLVE THEM

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make the pores large and cause irritation — then, too, after they have become hard you cannot get all of them out. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and secretions from the skin and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of peroxine powder—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has disappeared, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition. Anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should try this simple method.—Advt.

WITH THE BRIDES

McKERACHER—McKERNAN.

On Tuesday at 12 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. W. G. Sherlock, 770 Queen's avenue, the marriage was quietly solemnized of Frances McKernan, youngest daughter of Mrs. Annie McKernan and the late William McKernan, to Alexander McKeracher of the Y. M. C. A. staff of St. Thomas. Rev. David Rogers of St. Thomas performed the ceremony. The bride, who was given in marriage by her mother, was gowned in cream canton crepe trimmed with Spanish lace and hat to match. She carried a bouquet of lilies and sweet peas. Miss Alice Northwood of Windsor, who acted as bridesmaid, wore a grey taffeta gown, trimmed with silver lace and touches of rose, and carried roses and white asters. Her hat was a French leghorn with a scarf of rose, and tiny ostrich feathers. Mr. James R. Carr of St. Thomas was groomsman.

After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served and Mr. and Mrs. McKeracher left on an afternoon train on a honeymoon. The bride traveled in a grey tailored suit, with a mauve hat and scarf. Upon their return they will reside in St. Thomas.

WATSON—ADDY.

Londoners will be interested in the following account, which appeared recently in the Retford, Gainsborough and Worksop Times, England:

Sheffield musical circles were much interested in the wedding which took place on Tuesday, August 1, at St. Augustine's Church, of Miss Zoe Eileen Addy, the poular violinist, who has played several times at concerts in Retford Town Hall, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Addy of Ranmoor, and Dr. Earl Macbeth Watson, only son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Watson of London, Ontario. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. F. Mitchell and Mr. C. H. C. Biltcliffe played delightful organ music.

Given away by her father, the bride looked charming in a dress of heavy silver lace girdled at the low waist line with silver cord and a chain of orange blossoms. The underdress was of white silk, with ninon sleeves, finished with silver tassels. Over her veil of tulle with a ruched edging she wore a Russian coronet of silver leaves and orange blossoms. She wore a pearl and aquamarine pendant, the gift of the bridegroom, and carried a bouquet of damask red roses.

She was followed by Master W. Nicholson, in white satin and carrying a white satin cushion, and little Miss Kathleen Nicholson, in a frilled frock of white georgette with a wreath of gold leaves on her hair, and carrying a posy. The senior bridesmaid, Miss Winifred Howell of Retford, wore a flame-colored dress of marocain, with inserted panels and sleeves of gold lace. Her gold lace hat was trimmed with a flame-colored flower, and she carried a bouquet of yellow tea roses. Dr. C. G. Imrie acted as best man.

During the signing of the register, Miss Pansy Moore sang "A Song of Thanksgiving" (Allitsen) and "Let the Bright Seraphim," and as the newly-married couple emerged from the church they passed under an archway of surgical instruments held by students of the Sheffield University, with which Dr. Watson is connected.

A reception, attended by 125 guests, was held by the bride's parents at the King's Head Hotel, the bride's mother being dressed in beige and orange brocaded charmeuse, with a hat of stone-colored georgette, and carrying a bouquet of cream roses.

SIMONS—LLOYD.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the Centennial Methodist parsonage, London, Saturday, August 19, at 2 o'clock, when Ethel M. Lloyd became the bride of James Simons, both of Glenwood. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. E. M. Thompson.

The bride, who looked charming in a gown of white satin and georgette, with applique trimmings and picture hat, was unattended.

Mr. and Mrs. Simons left on a motor trip east. On their return they will reside in Glenwood.

ANSWERS WERE CORRECT.

Dear Miss Grey and Boxites,—I saw in the paper where Sweet Briar and another Boxite, I can't remember the name, guessed the correct answer to my riddle. It wasn't as hard as it sounded. What do you think, Boxites?

Say, Miss Grey, I certainly think Calamity Ann thought of a splendid plan to make a recipe book. Well I must ring off, for I know Miss Grey always has the broom handy.

HAPPY-GO-LUCKY.

We are just waiting to hear more of Calamity Ann's suggestion, re the cook book. So far I have only received one vote against it, but it rests entirely with you Boxites, for it will be you who will have the work to do, not Cynthia this time. One would think I was an old witch, Happy-Go-Lucky, the way you speak of me always ready with my broom. Am I really that bad?

HEMORRHOIDS

Do not suffer another day with itching, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles or Hemorrhoids. No surgical operation required. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and afford lasting benefit. 60c a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Sample box free.

MAIL-BOX RULES.

1. Write on one side of paper only.
2. Sign name and address.
3. Inclose stamped envelope when asking for patterns, recitations, etc.

WANTS A SUNDAY DRESS.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have never written you before, but I would love to get a letter from one of the boxites, as I am very lonesome. I have neither a mother nor father, sisters or brothers. I would like to get a letter from May, also from Lilac, or anyone else who would like to write. I wish some of the Boxites would give me a dress, as I am very much in need of clothes. I am 16 years old, and live on a farm. I would like a dress for good, but would be glad to get one for every day, also any kind of clothes. I am trying to keep company with a young man. He comes to our place every Sunday, as I can't have him come during the week, as I haven't any clothes to wear, and I have just one dress, for Sunday. It is a voile. He wants me to marry him and have a home of my own. He is three years older than I am. Would you take him, if you were me? He has a farm, and is a nice young man, and I have known him for three years. I hope to hear from you soon, also from some of the Boxites.

MOTHERLESS AND FATHERLESS GIRL.

I am sorry for you alone in this world. I am sure some of the Boxites will help you by sending a few clothes. I know you must feel badly when you have no nice clothes to dress up in, when your best beau calls on you, but if he really loves you, and intends to marry you, and understands the position you are in, I know he will not mind if you have pretty dresses or not. You both are quite young to be thinking of getting married, especially yourself, as you are only 16. Don't you think you had better wait until you are older and know your mind better? I have placed your name on file, in case it is asked for.

SARDONYX'S BIRTHDAY.

Dear Miss Grey,—Just thought I would drop in for a few minutes and see how everybody is. I saw by the paper where Yellow Rose was wondering of I had a birthday this month. I sure have. It is the 28th of this month. I have one birthday present already. Will close with best wishes to the Mail-Box. What do you think of my writing? SARDONYX.

We all wish you a happy birthday, Sardonyx, although we are a little previous. I think you might have told us what your birthday present was. You received it early enough, didn't you? Was it too good to keep? You write a hand all your own, Sardonyx; it is not exactly careless looking, but it is not consistent. We will be looking for a letter from you on your birthday.

"Wear a Sardonyx, or for thee
No conjugal felicity;
The August born without this stone,
'Tis said, must live unloved and lone."

HELPS WITH WORK.

Dear Miss Grey,—I think I have been in your corner quite a bit. I am one of the readers of your interesting page. This is certainly lovely weather, isn't it? We are drawing in our oats, and I have to help the men, but I am not today. They wanted me to, but I said I did not feel like working out in the sun. I like to work outdoors better than inside. It is more healthy I have two brothers, but no sisters. I will close for this time. Inclosed find a mite. MISS MAYFLOWER.

You have been most faithful writing to us, Miss Mayflower. In your next letter, couldn't you tell us more about your farm and your pets? You must have some, haven't you? It would be very hot working out in the sun a day like today, but it is healthy out in the great outdoors. Did you get lazy and refuse to help, or didn't you really feel like working in the sun? I think you must have had a good book hidden away and wanted to read it. Thank you for the mite towards our fund.

NEW BOXITE BRINGS HELP.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am a new one to your Mail-Box. I am not coming for help, but to try to help. I have a few dresses and three pairs of shoes, No. 8, children's size. The shoes have not been worn very much, and will give them to anyone who will send postage.

Recipe for pepper hash: Three green peppers, 1 red pepper, 2 heads cabbage, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon of celery seed, 1 teaspoon mustard seed. Cut cabbage fine, sprinkle with salt and let stand two hours. Drain and add peppers and spices. Turn into jars, using enough good vinegar to cover well. Will keep in open jars without cooking.

FLOATING CLOUDS.

It is interesting to hear from someone who is offering help, as we have so many needy ones. Thanks, too, for the timely pickle recipe, which sounds like an excellent one. When I hear a tempting recipe my one desire is to try it out. Of course, if that were the case, I would be overrun, with pickles, jellies and jam, as I am continually receiving new ones.

A CURLY HEAD JOINS CORNER.

This is the first time I have written to the Mail-Box. I hope there is still a cosy corner left for me. I am 12 years old, and in Grade VIII. Don't you think that is pretty well? Although we live in the city I have lots of pets; among them are a faithful old dog and two pet hens, besides ducks. I hope I see my letter in print, as this is my first. I had better shut down for now. Inclosed find mite for S. C. H. P. CURLY HEAD.

Yes, we have been saving a little corner for you, Curly Head, so see that you keep it, and don't run off and leave it. You are getting on fine at school, little girl, and wish you success in the coming year. Don't you just love animals, especially dogs—they are such good friends? I like cats too, but they aren't always true—just like human cats. Thank you for the donation toward our fund.

Daddy.—Thank you for the postage, which has been turned into the mite-box. Did you receive the parcel of clothes yet?

"His collar, Watson. There was no collar in the bag last night. Shirt, socks, tie—everything except a collar. Why?"

"Was it the collar you were looking for in the cupboard?" said Bill eagerly.

"Of course. 'Why no collar?' I said. For some reason Cayley considered it necessary to hide all Mark's clothes; not just the suit, but everything which he was wearing, or supposed to be wearing, at the time of the murder. But he hadn't hidden the collar. Why? Had he left it out by mistake? So I looked in the cupboard. It wasn't there. Had he left it out on purpose? If so, why?—and where was it? Naturally I began to say to myself, 'Where have I seen a collar lately? A collar all by itself?' And I remembered—what, Bill?"

Bill frowned heavily to himself, and shook his head.

"Don't ask me, Tony. I can't—By Jove!" He threw up his head. "In the basket in the office bedroom!"

"Exactly."

"But is that the one?"

"The one that goes with the rest of the clothes? I don't know. Where else can it be? But if so, why send the collar quite casually to the wash in the ordinary way, and take immense trouble to hide everything else? Why, why, why?"

Bill bit hard at his pipe, but could think of nothing to say.

"Anyhow," said Antony, getting up restlessly, "I'm certain of one thing. Mark knew on the Monday that Robert was coming here."

CHAPTER XVIII

THE coroner, having made a few commonplace remarks as to the terrible nature of the tragedy which they had come to investigate that afternoon, proceeded to outline the case to the jury.

Antony did not expect to learn much from the evidence—he knew the facts of the case so well by now—but he wondered if Inspector Birch had developed any new theories. If so, they would appear in the coroner's examination, for the coroner would certainly have been coached by the police as to the important facts to be extracted from each witness. Bill was the first to be put through it.

"Now, about this letter, Mr. Beverley?" he was asked when his chief evidence was over. "Did you see it at all?"

"I didn't see the actual writing I saw the back of it. Mark was holding it up when he told us about his brother."

"You don't know what was in it, then?"

Bill had a sudden shock. He had read the letter only that morning. He knew quite well what was in it. But it wouldn't do to admit this. And then, just as he was about to perjure himself, he remembered: Antony had heard Cayley telling the Inspector.

"I knew afterwards. I was told. But Mark didn't read it out at breakfast."

"You gathered, however, that it was an unwelcome letter?"

"Oh, yes!"

"Would you say that Mark was frightened by it?"

"Not frightened. Sort of bitter—and resigned. Sort of 'Oh, Lord, here we are again!'"

There was a titter here and there. The coroner smiled, and tried to pretend that he hadn't.

"Thank you, Mr. Beverley."

The next witness was summoned by the name of Andrew Amos, and Antony looked up with interest, wondering who he was.

"He lives at the inner lodge," whispered Bill to him.

All that Amos had to say was that a stranger had passed by his lodge at a little before three that afternoon, and had spoken to him. He had seen the body and recognized it as the man.

"What did he say?"

"'Is this right for the Red House?' or something like that, sir."

"I said, 'This is the Red House. Who do you want to see?' He was a bit rough-looking, you know, sir, and I didn't know what he was doing there.

"Well?"

"Well, sir, he said, 'Is Mister Mark Ablett at home?' It doesn't sound much put like that, sir, but I didn't care about the way he said it. So I got in front of him like, and said, 'What do you want, eh?' and he gave a sort of chuckle and said, 'I want to see my dear brother Mark.'"

"Well, then I took a closer look at him, and I see that p'raps he might be his brother, so I said, 'If you'll follow the drive, sir, you'll come to the house. Of course, I can't say if Mr. Ablett's at home.' And he gave a sort of nasty laugh again, and said, 'Fine place Mister Mark Ablett's got here. Plenty of money to spend, eh?' Well, then I had another look at him, but before I could make up my mind, he laughed and went on. That's all I can tell you, sir."

Andrew Amos stepped down and moved away to the back of the room, nor did Antony take his eyes off him until he was assured that Amos intended to remain there until the inquest was over.

"Who's Amos talking to now?" he whispered to Bill.

"Parsons. One of the gardeners. He's at the outside lodge on the Stanton road. They're all here today. Sort of holiday for 'em."

"I wonder if he's giving evidence, too," thought Antony.

He was. He followed Amos. He had been at work on the lawn in front of the house, and had seen Robert Ablett arrive. He didn't hear the shot—not to notice. He was a little hard of hearing. He had seen a gentleman arrive about five minutes after Mr. Robert.

"Can you see him in court now?" asked the coroner.

Parsons looked round slowly. Antony caught his eye and smiled.

"That's him," said Parsons, pointing.

Everybody looked at Antony.

"That was about five minutes afterward?"

"About that, sir."

"Did anybody come out of the house before this gentleman's arrival?"

"No, sir. That is to say I didn't see 'em."

Stevens followed. She gave her evidence much as she had given it to the Inspector. Nothing new was brought out by her examination. Then came Elsie. As the reporters scribbled down what she had overheard, they added in brackets "Sensation" for the first time that afternoon.

"How soon after you had heard this did the shot come?" asked the coroner.

"Almost at once, sir."

"Were you still in the hall?"

"Oh, no, sir. I was just outside Mrs. Stevens' room. The housekeeper, sir."

"You didn't think of going back to the hall to see what had happened?"

"Oh, no, sir. I just went in to

HE GAVE HIS EVIDENCE CAREFULLY.

Mrs. Stevens, and she said, 'Oh, what was that?' frightened-like. And I said, 'That was in the house, Mrs. Stevens, that was.' Just like something going off, it was."

"Thank you," said the coroner.

There was another emotional disturbance in the room as Cayley went into the witness-box; not "Sensation" this time, but an eager and, as it seemed to Antony, sympathetic interest. Now they were getting to grips with the drama.

He gave his evidence carefully, unemotionally—the lies with the same slow deliberation as the truth. Antony watched him intently, wondering what it was about him which had this odd sort of attractiveness. For Antony, who knew that he was lying, and lying (as he believed) not for Mark's sake but his own, yet could not help sharing some of that general sympathy with him.

"Was Mark ever in possession of a revolver?" asked the coroner.

"Not to my knowledge. I think I should have known if he had been."

"You were alone with him all that morning. Did he talk about this visit of Robert's at all?"

"I didn't see very much of him in the morning. I was at work in my room, and outside, and so on. We lunched together and he talked of it then a little."

"In what terms?"

"Well—" he hesitated, and then went on, "I can't think of a better word than 'peevishly.'

"You didn't hear any conversation between the brothers when they were in the office together?"

"No. I happened to go into the library just after Mark had gone in, and I was there all the time."

"Was the library door open?"

"Oh, yes."

"Did you see or hear the last witness at all?"

"No."

"Would you call Mark a hasty-tempered man?"

Cayley considered this carefully before answering.

"Hasty-tempered, yes," he said. "But not violent-tempered."

"Was he fairly athletic? Active and quick?"

"Active and quick, yes. Not particularly strong."

"Yes. . . . One question more. Was Mark in the habit of carrying any considerable sum of moneytime. about with him?"

"Yes. He always had one $100 note on him, and perhaps ten or twenty pounds as well."

"Thank you, Mr. Cayley."

Cayley went back heavily to his seat. "Damn it," said Antony to himself, "why do I like the fellow?"

"Antony Gillingham!"

Again the eager interest of the room could be felt. Who was this stranger who had got mixed up in the business so mysteriously?

Antony smiled at Bill and stepped up to give his evidence.

He explained how he came to be staying at the "George" at Woodham, how he had heard that the Red House was in the neighborhood, how he had walked over to see his friend Beverley, and had arrived just after the tragedy. Thinking it over afterwards he was fairly certain that he had heard the shot, but it had not made any impression on him at the time.

"You and the last witness reached the French windows together and found them shut?"

"Yes."

"You pushed them in and came to the body. Of course, you had no idea whose body it was?"

"No."

"Did Mr. Cayley say anything?"

"He turned the body over, just so as to see the face, and when he saw it, he said, 'Thank heavens.'"

Again the reporters wrote "Sensation."

"Did you understand what he meant by that?"

"I asked him who it was, and he said that it was Robert Ablett. Then he explained that he was afraid at first it was the cousin with whom he lived—Mark."

"Yes. Did he seem upset?"

"Very much so at first. Less when he found that it wasn't Mark."

NO CAUSE FOR WORRY WHEN CHILDREN HAVE SUMMER COMPLAINTS

There is not a summer passes but that thousands of men, women and children are attacked by summer coomplaints such as diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps and pains in the stomach, cholera morbus, cholera infantum, etc.

In looking for relief you should not delay in getting a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, a remedy that has been on the market for the past 77 years, and has stood the test of time.

Mrs. Geo. Chapman, Sudbury, Ont., writes: "I am the mother of five children, and I must say they are seldom sick or in need of medicine. They are, however, sometimes troubled with summer complaint, diarrhoea, and such like, but I always find there is no cause for worry, as I just give them two or three doses, no more, of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and the trouble soon disappears. It is a remedy that all mothers should keep in the home for the children."

Frock Trimmings Work Magic

COPYRIGHT BY McCALL'S

JUST one solitary bit of trimming is all that's needed to change a dress into a creation, and here are some of the ornaments that turn the trick.

Cabochons of braid, beads or heavy embroidery are used to hold the graceful drapes of the newest frocks securely on one hip.

These are much more than merely fasteners—they are large and colorful and often have pendant fringes of braid or beads. Frequently they are the only touches of color on an otherwise somber dress.

The low waistline calls for girdles, too, and these are often most elaborate. Braid sewn into plaques or heavy embroideries of beads and braid are most favored for more elaborate costumes. Simpler dresses retain the low waistline with a sash of the material.

RASPBERRY MOUSSE

A MOUSSE is sweetened, flavored, stiffly beaten cream, frozen by being packed for four hours in ice and salt, using two parts ice to one part salt. The texture of the mousse is porous. It is a richer dessert than plain ice cream.

The following is a seasonable recipe, and later different flavors and fruits may be used in the proportions:

1 pint heavy cream
1 cup sugar
1-8 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon gelatine
1 tablespoon cold water
1 cup crushed raspberries
1 teaspoon vanilla

Soak the gelatine in the cold water until water is absorbed.

Beat the cream until stiff, add the sugar, salt and raspberries. Then add gelatine which has been dissolved by placing over hot water, and vanilla.

Pack into a wet mold, being careful that the mold is entirely filled. Cover with a piece of oiled paper, place cover tightly on the mold. Pack in ice and salt for four hours.

Radio Radiations

THE man who made modern radio possible is John Ambrose Fleming, professor of electrical engineering at University College, London, since 1885.

His invention of the thermionic valve in 1904 has extended the use of radio to all parts of the globe. It is considered the keystone of the arch of modern wireless telegraphy.

Before the development of this form of vacuum tube, wireless telegraphy was restricted to the use of crystals as detectors of radio frequency currents. Only short distances could be covered and signals could not be amplified. Radio telephony was not practicable.

Now, with the aid of this tube, thousands of miles have been covered in a flash. Flying airplanes, ships at sea, submarines undersea, have been able to communicate with land. Lives and property have been saved.

Before Prof. Fleming's invention, Thomas Edison had discovered that a burning electric lamp emitted a flow of electrons from the filament. Prof. Fleming experimented on this phenomenon until he found he could make use of these escaping electrons by inserting a plate in the vacuum. The plate, of nickel, was sensitized positively from a battery.

When he applied an alternating current to the tube, Prof. Fleming found the tube acted like a valve, allowing the current to pass only in one direction and shutting off the returning current.

This is the chief purpose of the thermionic valve—to catch the high-frequency alternating current transmitted through the ether and convert it to a direct current that could be heard through ear phones.

It was Dr. Lee De Forest of New York who interposed a zig-zag wire or grid between the filament and plate, to control the flow of electrons from the filament to the plate. This formed the starting point for further developments of the thermionic valve which have finally brought about the present three-electrode tube.

FURTHER popularity of radio may bring about the creation of private radio telephone "lines" throughout the world.

This would mean secret conversation between branches of a firm without the necessity of paying toll to a telephone company.

Plans for such kind of communication have already been considered by officials of some of the larger concerns of the country. Directors of the Midland Refining Company, with headquarters at Tulsa, Okla., have had this idea under consideration for some time.

The company has branches scattered through this field far enough apart to necessitate long-distance telephone conversations. It was found that calls between the Tulsa and Eldorado offices ran the company's monthly telephone bill to slightly less than $1,000. The possibilities of radio were apparent to the officials.

Their plan was to install a radio transmitting and receiving set in each of their branch offices, so that they could communicate without the cost that line telephone calls would bring them.

To secure secrecy in radio telephony for such business firms, special wave lengths would have to be assigned by the government. For this federal officials say they are not ready. Further development of radio, however, might make such arrangements possible.

When Radio telephony has progressed to such a fine state that tuning could be sharpened down to any given wave length, then secret communication will be possible.

Radio experts have declared this possible. In fact, some of them say tuning will be brought down to the fraction of a wave length, where it would be almost impossible for an outsider to listen in.

In such event, private and secret radio telephone "lines" will be possible.

COIN IN SLOT.

Drop a quarter in the slot and listen to a fifteen-minute concert by radio! That's the latest possibility afforded by the new science. A slot machine has already been invented for reception of radio concerts. It works on the principle of the telephone booth. Only it times itself. Fifteen minutes and another quarter is required to continue the concert.

In the Sunset of Life

A comfortable and happy old age, care-free and independent—such can be your recompense, too, through life insurance.

Canadian Government statistics show the need for this provision:

"Ninety-five per cent. of men at 60 are dependent upon their daily earnings or on others for support, and not one man in thirty who retires with a competency is able to retain that competency to the close of his life."

People are realizing this fact, and life insurance companies in Canada are beginning to pay out more money to living policyholders than they do in death claims, despite the thousands of death claims annually.

The present is the time to make provision for the future, so that the sunset of your life will not be overcast with shadows.

Any life insurance representative will be pleased to show you how to provide a sure income for your later years.

ACES STOP REIS' STRING OF SCORELESS INNINGS

Drive Submarine Hurler From Mound in Sixth and Even Series With 6--4 Win.

SAGINAW, Mich., Aug. 23.—Eddie Reis' submarine ball and his record of 36 consecutive scoreless innings, held no terrors for the Aces today. They stopped his string right off the bat, when Pike and Kirby doubled for a run in the first inning, and they drove him off the slab with two singles and three doubles, in rapid succession, in the sixth. The Aces won, 6 to 4, and evened the series.

Goldsmith pitched much better ball than the box score shows. Five of London's eleven hits were infield scratches and two of the four runs were gifts. On the other hand, Saginaw got only one scratch hit and earned every run.

After the Aces had scored a run in the first, London was handed two in the third. Reis got a hit when Karpus fell down, fielding his teasing slow roller. Gadsby sacrificed. Butler lifted to Kirby. Stimpson rolled to short, and when Elliott let Mills' perfect throw through his glove Reis scored, and Stimpson took second from where he scored on Schaefer's single to right.

Saginaw tied in the same inning on Karpus' single and Pike's triple over Carmen's head.

With Roseberry out in the sixth, Dodson and Elliott singled, and Mills, Robertson and Goldsmith doubled for four runs. "Doc" Bullard replaced Reis and retired the side, but made way for Malmquest to hit for him in the seventh. Haines finished up and gave only one hit the last two innings.

London scored in the seventh on a pass to Boyle, an out and Gadsby's double to left, on which Roseberry tried for a shoestring catch and missed. Stimpson beat a roller to short in the eighth, Schaefer singled him to third, and Mackey rescued him with a sacrifice fly. Churry, batted for Haines, singled with one out in the ninth, but that was all.

Cost Tidy Sum

ADAMS.

TWO pitchers, an outfielder and $10,000 cash is what the Chicago Cubs' management paid for Earl "Get-Two" Adams, shortstop for Wichita Falls in the Texas League.

Outfielder Art Weiss and Pitchers Keene and Freeman were sent to the Wichita Falls club as soon as the deal was closed. So was the $10,000 cash.

Adams, however, will not report to the Cubs until the opening of the 1923 season.

Adams was purchased from the St. Louis Cardinals shortly after the Texas League season opened. Since reporting for duty he hasn't missed a game.

He's 5 feet 6 inches tall, he weighs 163 pounds and his lightning speed on the defensive, as well as his effective stick work, have attracted the attention of many of the big league scouts.

HESPELER LOSES TROPHY.

SEAGRAM ELEVEN DRAW WITH ESSEX

LONDON, Aug. 23.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—High scoring marked the concluding day's play in the match between Norman Seagram's touring Canadian cricketers and the Gentlemen of Essex, the game finally ending in a draw. The Essex team completed its first innings today for the splendid total of 390, the highest score made against Mr. Seagram's team to date. The Canadians compiled 221 runs yesterday and in their second attempt today had scored 151 runs for five wickets when stumps were drawn.

TOMMY MURPHY HAS ANOTHER BIG DAY

Drives Peter Manning To 1:59 1-4 Mark and Wins Two.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Aug. 23.—Thomas W. Murphy, Poughkeepsie's reinsman on the grand circuit, drove Peter Manning (1.57¾), the world's champion trotter, to a mark of 1:59¼ at the Hudson River Driving Park this afternoon and piloted Hope Frisco to victory in "The Union" 2:16 trot, and Margaret Dillon to a win in the free-for-all pace. This equals the best time of the year on the grand circuit, made by Nedda at Toledo.

Hope Frisco and Margaret Dillon captured their races easily without competition.

Smart brushes in the stretch featured Brandywine's victory in two straight heats over Ethelinda in the Duchess two-year-old trot for a purse of $2,000. Wesley R. took the 2:14 trot by winning the last two heats in a sharp struggle from a large field.

Finvara was the winner of the first heat handily with a magnificent sprint in the last hundred yards.

Kitchener-Waterloo Refuse To Accept Toronto Softball Rules.

KITCHENER, Aug. 23.—Kitchener and Waterloo have definitely decided not to adopt the standard softball rules as suggested by the Ontario branch of the A. A. U. of C. The Twin City Softball Federation, which comprises five leagues containing a total of 32 teams, has decided to carry on next year under the rules which have been in vogue this year and proved satisfactory.

Kitchener plays a 60-foot base line game with a 36-foot pitching box. The 12-inch outer seam ball is also used, and the balk rule of hard ball is rescinded.

The main objections to the proposed standard rules were the shorter base lines, the longer pitching distance and the holding of a runner to the bag until the ball crossed the plate.

BLENHEIM BEATS DRESDEN

League Leaders Defeated 9—3 in Rousing Fixture.

BLENHEIM, Aug. 23.—Before the largest crowd of ball fans seen this year at a county league game Blenheim handed to Dresden, the top-notchers of the league, a 9 to 3 defeat. Two Blenheim players were injured in the game, J. Crosby sprained a knee and had to lay off. W. Riseborough injured his hand, requiring two stitches, but continued playing. For the second time this season Captain Bill Riseborough, Blenheim's shortstop, made a perfect batting average. Today one hit was a three-bagger, scoring a run, and another a two-bagger, scoring two runs. Harry Gray, Blenheim's pitcher, did splendid work on the mound, holding the Dresden heavy hitters to six scattered hits. He struck out six, walked three, hit one. He had splendid support. Goldy Gray, Dresden's clever moundsman, found the Blenheim batters the hardest he has met this year. Fifteen hits were gathered off him, every batter by one getting a share. He had nine strike-outs, walked one, hit none. His infield and outfield support was splendid. For Blenheim three-baggers were made by Riseborough and Rumble, and two-baggers by Riseborough and Seymour. For Dresden a three-bagger by McFadden, a two-bagger by Gray.

GORMAN AND ARNOTT DUEL IT IN SPRINTING EVENTS

Joie Ray, American Star, Shows His Class in Mile, But Is Beaten in 4:40—Meet Fine Success.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 23.—The athletic tournament held here today under the management of Alby Robinson was run off under ideal weather conditions, although a heavy shower about 1 o'clock held the attendance down to small proportions. The foot races, both sprints and distance events, were well contested, while the boxing bouts were fought out from bell to bell. While no records went by the board in the foot races, the spectators witnessed some classy running. Joie Ray, four times American champion, gave a fine exhibition in the mile run, and while he was not pressed at any stage, he did not loaf, and finished the last eighth with a fast sprint. He broke away in third position and after trailing for an eighth of a mile shot to the front and made his own pace from there to the tape. He finished out the mile in 4 minutes 38 2-5 seconds. He came back in the 440 race and was well up in the bunch for the first 200 yards. He then went round his field and was leading coming down the stretch. However, Shea of Hamilton overtook him 100 yards from home and beat out the American by 8 feet at the tape.

General's Race.

The five-mile race was a gift to Norman General of Brantford. The noted redskin was content to trail Snell of Toronto for the first mile. However, after that General led the procession. At three miles he began to leave his field, and at four miles, which was reached in 23:35, had over 300 yards on his field. From there on he drew away, and won by a quarter of a mile, with Snell of Toronto second and Scholes of Toronto third.

In the sprints the issue was between Perry Gorman of London and W. G. Arnott of Toronto. The Londoner won the century by inches, while in the 220 yards Arnott reversed the order, nipping Gorman right at the tape and winning by a nose.

In the three-mile walk C. L. Barnes of Toronto gave a fine exhibition and led from start to finish. His style, very much like George Goulding, caught the crowd, and his win was a popular one.

The 880-yard relay race brought out teams from London Collegiate, Hamilton Collegiate and Woodstock Y. M. C. A., and they finished in that order. The Londoners made every post a winning one, all members of the Forest City team leading at the changing station.

And Even the Babies.

The baby show, which was open to Oxford County babies, brought out a platform of mothers and babies—41 youngsters in all. All the contestants were presented with a basket of soap and cakes. The champion in this class proved hard to pick, and the judges, Charles Bailey of Toronto and Dr. Smith and Dr. Williams. E. W. Nesbitt and Fred Millman of Woodstock deliberated for some time before handing the championship, E. J. Coles' loving cup, over to Helen Jean, the twelve-months' old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Goodall of this city.

The summary:

100 yards: First heat—P. Gorman, London; R. Shea, Hamilton; H. Willard, Hamilton; time, 10 4-5 seconds.

Second heat—Westman, London; Phillips, Hamilton; time, 11 seconds.

Final—Gorman, London; Arnott, Toronto; Shea, Hamilton; time, 10 3-5 seconds.

One mile walk—C. L. Barnes, Toronto; Leash, London; Hull, Toronto; time, 24 minutes 21 seconds.

440 yards open—Shea, Hamilton; J. Ray, Chicago; M. Muir, St. Marys; time, 53 3-5 seconds.

880 yards high school relay race—London Collegiate Institute (Westman, Hunter, Wanless and Gorman); Hamilton Collegiate Institute (Thomas, Shea, Willard and McIlroy); Woodstock Y. M. C. A. (Rankin, Bremner, Studer and Malcolm); time, 13:39 4-5.

Elwood Hughes of Toronto was the third man in the ring when the boxers performed. The first class, the feature weights, brought out Alex. Burlie and Frank Teach. Teach was the best all the way, and was given the decision. It was a gruelling three rounds and the boxers mixed it in great style. Teach was a little too big for Burtie.

Charles Miller of the Broadway A. C., and George Barber of the Riversides, lightweight, boxed three rounds with Miller, getting the decision. The finish brought together Harry Hemming of Toronto and Patchell. The former had a shade in all three rounds, but Patchell was game and received the plaudits of the crowd at the finish.

Elwood Hughes was chief announcer and kept the different events chasing one another in good style, and no delays were experienced. The Ingersoll band furnished the music, while the first part of the program was given over to the Scotch bagpipes and dancing by the Campbell artists, while Miss Whitney's pupils did some splendid folk dancing.

HOCKEY STIRS TO LIFE IN INGERSOLL ICE CIRCLES

INGERSOLL, Aug. 23.—The course that will be followed here in regard to hockey for the coming season appears to be very much in doubt at the present time, although the ardent supporters of "Home-Brews" believe that at least one team will be entered in the O. H. A. However, whether it will be junior or intermediate cannot be said at the present time. Those who in the past have boosted for hockey believe that early organization should be effected, and it is probable that a meeting will be called in the near future to discuss the situation. Prospects are bright for the rural league, which last year was composed of some splendid country clubs.

Pick & Playgrounds Athletes Will Enter Saturday's Big Meet At Thames Park

CHANGE SCOING SYSTEM TO GIVESMALLER GROUNDS CHANCE

Preliminaries For rls' Dodgeball Competition Billed For Victo Park This Afternoon.

The playgrounds commie of the Public Utilities Commissioare busy whipping things into shaper the big display to be held at Than Park on Saturday afternoon. Chief upervisor Mel Brock gave out some ormation re the scoring, etc., whichmakes it look as if the competition l not be decided until the last mom. There was some dissatisfaction amgst the children of the different pgrounds last year because the memb of the smaller grounds felt that thedid not have a chance against tl larger grounds, particularly Thamesirk and Birketts, as each of these greds has a very large attendance to dw from, and also they each have swiming accommodation which the oth have not. At a meeting of the survisors held some time ago it was decid that the two large grounds Tham Park and Birketts, should each ind on their own feet. Riverview and strills will go together, as will also Temseh and Simcoe, and Lord Rober and Queens. The scoring in the seball will be as follows: Each game w will count 10 points and each tie 5. Irder, however, that the grouped groun will not have too much advantage, thcombined points of the different grou will be split in two. Thus if Rivervie and Bottrills win 6 and 7 games respecely, the group total that will count f the general championship will be 65 ints instead of 130. In everything lso, however, the scores of the "grps" will be bulked.

DR. WYLIE'S 4 WINS DOMINION TROPHY

Hartry of London Out in Fifth Round of Ontario.

TORONTO, Aug. 23.—After knocking at the door for several years, Dr. Wylie of the Ausholme Club, Toronto, was successful in his attempts to win the primary competition at the Dominion Lawn Bowling tournament, when he defeated George Bell of the Thistles, Toronto, this afternoon, in the final by 22 to 7, the last two ends of the match not being played owing to the unbeatable lead obtained by the Rusholmes. After the match President Tom Thauburn of the Dominion Lawn Bowling Association, presented the gold cup offered by the Dominion Rubber Company for annual competition to Dr. Wylie, and also prizes to the winners and runners-up. Rusholme is now on an equal footing with Riverdales in the struggle for permanent possession of the trophy, D. McDougall of the latter club, having won the event last year when the cup was first played for.

A. F. Webster of Queen City is the only Toronto rink left in the Ontario event, which has progressed to the semi-finals. The other survivors are Kerr of Woodstock, McEwen of Weston and Allen of Hamilton Victorias. The semi-finals in this competition will be played tomorrow morning.

TORONTO, Aug. 23.—The international sporting series between representatives of the Eastern Yacht Club of Marliehead, Boston, and Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto now stands three and one in favor of Skipper Norman Gooderham, with two to go. In a very light southwest wind this morning Gooderham brought Cara Mia home in the lead by four minutes and 54 seconds, but in the afternoon, in another light wind by south southeast, Skipper Charlie Adams won his first race of the series, when he practically led throughout with Cara Mia to finish in front by one minute and 27 seconds. The series so far has been a contest between the skippers, as the boats have not been close enough in the run home for the crews to show their ability. Both races today were four miles to the windward and return.

And He Bats .338

MARTIN J. McMANUS, now two-bagging it for the St. Louis Browns, is another one of those sand-lot meteors which every now and then flash out across the sky or sportdom.

Marty achieved his love after the horsehide in the Windy City behind the stockyards at the early age of seven, when he organized a neighborhood team of youngsters known as the "Athletics."

Today, at 21, he is making great time in the big leagues piling up an envious .338 batting average, "which is going some for a "stripling," as Chicagoans are wont to ruminate in speaking of him.

PICK SCOTCH AND ENGLISH ELEVENS

Saturday's "International" At Tecumseh Park Arousing Usual Interest.

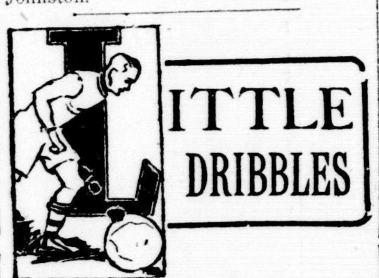
There's a flavor to international soccer that always gets to the most disinterested soccer fans, and when England and Scotland are drawn against each other, that is just unadulterated essence of soccer.

Saturday's big tilt at Tecumseh Park sees the pick of the London and district arrayed on each side, though of course much Irish and Welsh talent will be on the side lines to see the ancient rivals recall a lot of ancient history as well as play football. The kick-off is billed for 3:30 o'clock. No announcement has been made regarding keeping the spectators to the stands, but this arrangement was so satisfactory to both fans and players at the cup final that it will in all probability be followed again on Saturday.

The teams chosen to represent Scotland and England are:

England—Knowles; Ashton and Dennis (capt.); Thorne, Short and Astells; Taylor, Evans, Faulkner, Hazelwood and Angus. Reserves — Perkins and Nudds.

Scotland—Wilson, Croal, Whitelaw, J. Smith (capt.), D. Smith, McLenahan, Morgan (Midget), Peebles, McFarland, Milliken. Reserves—C. Lowney and H. Johnston.



LITTLE DRIBBLES

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 23.—Before the largest crowd of the season, at the Rovers' ground at St. Thomas, the W. O. R. and the Rovers met in a St. Thomas City League game, which ended in a scoreless draw. The game was very fast from start to finish. In the first half Jacques of the Rovers just missed scoring, and Taylor and Ridley, with fine combination, also threatened.

In the second half the W. O. R. had the balance of the play, Taylor skimming the crossbar with a fine drive, and following this Bancroft the Rovers' new goalie saved three hot shots in succession from Perkins, Ridley and Taylor, which came from Sammy Woods, who centered the ball with fine judgment.

Lathom was the outstanding star of the Rovers' team and saved his goal time after time in the second half. The W. O. R. tried desperately to score, and bombarded the Rovers goal with some hot shots, but the splendid goalkeeping put up by Bancroft saved his team from defeat. The game was clean all the way. Only one foul was given and that was against Gibbs of the Rovers.

Mr. Wilkins handled the game with great satisfaction.

A meeting of the London City Football League will be held in the Richmond House tonight, starting at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

ENGLISH CRICKETERS MAY VISIT CANADA IN 1923

TORONTO, Aug. 23.—That the current visit of the Canadian cricketers to England is doing a good deal to further competition between the Dominion and the old country is attested by the receipt of the following cable from Norman Seagram, who organized the Canadian team, and who is in charge of the present tour:

Provisional arrangements have been made for an old country cricket team to visit Canada next summer.

It was not expected when the present tour was undertaken that the Canadians would establish an extraordinary record of victories against the elevens engaged in the home of the game, but the junket of the Canadians and the prospective visit of the old countrymen cannot but result in benefit to the ancient game, especially in this country.

Life and Character Reading.

AUGUST 24.

The governing sign of this date is the double sign of Leo-Virgo. This person is on the cusp. The governing planet is the Sun, and the birthstone is a ruby or diamond.

These people have more tact than the Virgo or Leo persons and rarely offend or disturb. The heat of Leo is modified by the coolness of the earth, and there is not so much temptation to take offense toward unkind criticism as prevails in the signs when taken separately.

These persons are usually a very strong combination of Fire and Earth. But fire in this instance seems naturally turned to productive issues. These natives apparently realize that the Earth needs the sun and they focus its love and intelligence and do not play with and scatter their forces.

Metal workers, carvers, and silversmiths may look through the Want Ads and feel sure of finding better positions than they are now holding.

RAILWAY HEADS REJECT PLAN OF BROTHERHOODS

B. M. Jewell Declares Association Is Endeavoring To Smash Unionism.

CHALLENGE IS ACCEPTED

States Strikers Will Redouble Efforts—Confident of Success.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—A majority roup of the Association of Railway xecutives today rejected the proosal of the big five train service rotherhoods, that the carriers end ie nation-wide shopmen's strike by einstating the men with seniority nimpaired, and B. M. Jewell, offiial spokesman for the strikers, deared the association had closed the oor to peace, and voted for a lockut to smash unionism.

At the same time, splitting away rom the majority was a group of 25 ailroads, principally western lines, hich debated a new suggestion of e brotherhoods that individual ettlements be enforced. The minrity, while professing to stand with e majority in reaffirming the stand n seniority, still indicated that it esired to hear further regarding the ndividual settlement suggestion.

Mr. Jewell, who is head of the railay department of the American ederation of Labor, in an official tatement tonight said: "The Assoiation of Railway Executives has ow voted for a lockout to smash nionism on the railroads and to liminate collective bargaining from e industry.

"The 400,000 striking employees acept the challenge of the association. We will redouble our efforts, confient of success."

The peace plan submitted by the rotherhoods to the Association of ailway Executives was as follows:

"1. All men to be reinstated in the osition of the class they originally eld on July 19, 1922, and as many f such men as possible are to be put o work Sept. 1 at present rates of ay, and all employees who have een on strike to be put to work or nder pay not later than Oct. 1 next, xcept such men as have been proven uilty of destruction of railroad roperty or convicted of crime; orinary cases of assault and battery he result of personal encounters are o be disregarded.

"2. If a dispute arises as to the elative standing of an employee or mployees that cannot otherwise be djusted by the carrier and said emloye or employees, the matter shall e referred to the United States Raiload Labor Board, in accordance ith the transportation act of 1920 y the organization, the employees r the carrier in the interest of any mployee who may be aggrieved.

"3. No intimidation nor oppression hall be practiced or permitted as gainst any of the employees who ave remained or have taken service r as against those who resume serice under this understanding.

"4. All suits at law now pending as he result of this strike to be withrawn and cancelled by both arties."

POLICE RUSH TO SHOPS.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—As railroad xecutives gathered in New York toay to consider peace proposals by he heads of the transportation broherhoods acting as mediators in the hopmen's strike, trouble on the outhern Railway, principal sufferer om trainmen's walkouts during the ast few days, began to clear away.

SHOW BEAUTIFUL FLOWERS AT GALT

Special to London Advertiser.

GALT, Aug. 23.—The annual exhibition of the Galt Horticultural Society opened this evening in the Queen's Square skating rink with a large attendance and the Kiltie Band in attendance. This year's flower show is one of the best ever held here, the weather having been very favorable for flower growth and the result is a magnificent display of cut flowers, with asters and gladioli as the feature, potted plants and fresh and canned fruit.

One of the features is the children's department, in which vegetables, flowers and bird houses are displayed. With the show in the skating rink, there is more room to display the exhibits and thereefore the show is proving much more entertaining to visitors.

In appreciation of their good work, at a recent fire at its plant, the Galt Malleable Iron Company has donated $25 to the firemen's benefit fund.

Fruit was very plentiful on the local market today at the following prices: Peaches, small baskets, 50 cents; plums, 30 and 50 cents; apples, 20 cents; pears, 40 cents; elderberries, 25 cents.

While playing ball on the school grounds at Hespeler, Dutch Hergott was struck in the neck by a batted ball and rendered unconscious. His condition is not serious.

8 PLAYGROUNDS ATTRACT 16,663

With 16,663 happy boys and girls attending the eight city playgrounds during the past weeks, it is proven beyond a doubt that the popularity of the grounds is not diminishing even in the sultry weather of August.

Thames Park received the best patronage, when 3,565 girls and 4,940 boys made merry on its spacious flats. Birkett's was second, with 1,249 girls and 1,767 boys.

Games were played by a total of 39,935 boys and girls, showing that no inactivity prevailed at the grounds. The swimming pools, five in number, were patronized by 17,827 young bathers. A total of 2,618 parents visited the playgrounds during the week.

The funeral took place this afternoon to Tara Cemetery.

ASK CO-OPERATION HERE.

John L. McGuire, president of the London Trades and Labor Council, who is attending the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress in Montreal, wired E. S. Little of the local Chamber of Commerce Thursday, that there was every possibility of bringing the Dominion Congress to London in 1923, and he asked for the co-operation of the chamber in bringing it about.

Complying with his request, Mr. Little sent the following wire to Tom Moore, president of the Dominion Trades Congress:

"I have much pleasure, on behalf of the directors and the members of the London Chamber of Commerce, in inviting the Dominion Trades Congress to London for its 1923 convention.

"London labor boasts of conditions in this city, and we will be glad to co-operate with you in making the convention a success."

BRITISH LEGION WINS PRESTIGE

Ex-Service Men Consulted Now On All Legislation Concerning Them.

LONDON, Aug. 23. — Ex-service men here do not believe in doing things by halves. They are sure out for the whole hog and they mean to get it. They have pooled their finances, centralized their organizations and chosen the best leaders they could obtain.

Major J. B. Brunal Cohen, M. P., took charge of the attack in Commons, and in the constituencies all over the country members of the House were submitted to a veritable bombardment at the hands of the rank and file. Now, it is a rare, fine branch the Legion has in the House of Commons, and if its members do not see eye to eye with the government they say so. As Sir Edward Marley Samson, chairman of the Association of Local War Pension Committees, put the case a few days ago: The whole history of war pensions in this country was one perpetual struggle to secure justice from the state, and there was the greatest necessity for an independent organization like the British Legion to act constantly as a watchdog over every action of the ministry.

Veterans Reorganized.

From the point of view of pensions Great Britain has fared well. Today no question affecting the ex-service man comes before the country but what they are consulted, and the following are some of the more important national bodies on which the legion has secured direct representation:

Government standing joint commitee on ex-service questions.

Central advisory committee of the ministry of pensions.

Special grants committee of the ministry of pensions.

Rural industry intelligence bureau.

United service fund.

People's league of health.

National council for combating venereal disease.

Overseas settlement committee.

Within the course of the past few months also, the legion has obtained the right to appoint members to sit upon all tribunals.

If any serious criticism can be levelled at the legion, it is that the organization is inclined to pass too lightly over the claims of the physically fit ex-service man in concentrating on solving the problems associated with the physically unfit and their dependents. But this is primarily the object for which the movement was conceived. Week in and week out, notwithstanding governmental schemes to train and educate the disabled industrially, leaders of the ex-service movement have badgered the government to promote legislation, and, possibly with a view to placating particular interests and shelving at least for a time any serious consideration of the subject, they have appointed a select committee to inquire into and report on the whole question of the employment of the disabled.

After Jobs Now.

"We have got our pensions as a statutory right, and now we are out to get the statutory right of employment for our disabled," is the present attitude of Legionaires. There is a divergence of opinion amongst the employers as to how far this is practicable. They are not averse to helping the movement voluntarily, but when it comes to receiving workmen who, through disabilities, are unable to compete with the average workman, and at the same time paid equivalent wages, the idea isn't relished. They are prepared to put strenuous opposition. In some quarters the question of a grant from the exchequer in respect of men so employed has been suggested. The King's honor roll of employers of ex-service men, started two years ago, the Legion contends, has been killed by the employers, who have taken advantage of the trade depression to repudiate their obligations, and they therefore are leaving nothing to chance. They have prepared their own scheme, which is the scientific allocation into industry of disabled men by means of legislation, and it is one which they are straining every nerve to convince the governmental select committtee is the most effective and equitable. It provides that every business and undertaking employing wage earners to the number of 20 or more shall employ a definite percentage of disabled men, and a committee composed of employers, employees and disabled men shall deal with the question of that percentage.

Equality in Wages.

Industries where work is essentially female labor, would be exempt from compulsorily employing disabled men, and, unless they employed the equivalent number of war widows, should be required to pay a certain sum annually in proportion to the number of disabled men they would otherwise have to employ.

The wages of disabled men would not be less than the normal trade union rate except where the special rate is fixed, and no man to be dismissed without one month's notice.

In view of the fact that there are approximately a million ex-service pensioners in the United Kingdom, it will readily be seen that the scheme, if carried to fruition, will have farreaching effects.

Whatever may be the conclusions and recommenadtions of select committee, it is evident that the Legion intends to exert the influence it can to force the issue in the House of Commons.

MAGISTRATE BLAKE HEARS MANY CASES

Brantford Court Is Scene of Several Minor Trials.

Special to London Advertiser.

BRANTFORD, Aug. 23. — Many cases were slated for the attention of Magistrate Blake in the police court this morning, most of them being of minor importance and were dispatched with short consideration.

Edward Sears pleaded guilty to charges of being drunk in a public place and of having liquor in an unauthorized place. He was fined ten dollars, without costs, on the first count and $100 and costs on the second.

W. A. Green was charged with obtaining credit by false pretences. The case was adjourned for a week to enable Green to make restitution. The case of Alexander Farrell and Thomas Money, Jr., charged with a breach of the liquor transportation act, was once more adjourned for a week, and Thomas Manoogian, charged with the theft of some lumber by G. T. R. Constable Weller, was held over until Friday.

J. R. Porter appeared before the magistrate, charged with a breach of the motor vehicles act. Porter was allowed to go with a warning. Gordon O'Herron, John Bridge, John Gimoly, John A. Compson, Sharkey Husson and Jack Isaacs, were all slated to appear before the magistrate for neglecting to pay their poll tax. Some of the offenders paid out of court and no action was taken, and the others will be given an opportunity to follow suit.

The case of Herbert Henhawk, charged on the complaint of Newton R. Marshall with assault and doing actual bodily harm, was adjourned until Friday, the defendant paying the cost of this morning's activities in the case. Marshall alleges that Henhawk struck him over the face with a blacksnake whip and his face was badly lacerated.

The local labor bureau has received a call for a number of union bricklayers for out of town work, but so far have not been able to supply the demand. The industrial concerns in the city are taking on a few men every two or three days, but the demand for industrial labor is not very great as yet.

Game Warden Kerr, of Hamilton, is in the city today investigating a number of reports to the effect that some men have been fishing in the Grand River with the use of nets. The use of nets is contrary to the fisheries act and, if caught, the men will appear in police court to answer the charge.

ray, who had given the company a charter when it could not get one anywhere else. This company was compelling its miners to work under conditions that no human should.

Unanimous indorsation of a resolution favoring the rigid enforcement of the marking act was then given, as routine business was resumed.

REJECT BROTHERHOOD PLAN.

MONTREAL, Aug. 23.—War's evils, international unionism's virtues, the conspiracies of employers to throttle workers' organizations, and the stupidities of the British and American governments, were the keynotes of fraternal delegates' addresses to the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress at its session here today.

Samuel Gompers, veteran president of the American Federation of Labor, who was introduced by Tom Moore, president of the congress, as a "man whose years of service as leader of organized labor are greater than the ages of many delegates here," pleaded the cause of the international trades union.

Employers, he said, cared little whether their employees were Protestants, Roman Catholics, Jews, Infidels or Negroes, so long as they remained apart and worked cheap. Labor then should take its lesson and organize, heedless of creeds or races.

The arraignment of the British government, particularly upon its peace policy, the denunciation of all the "allied governments' reconstruction policies, because they were based on hatred and suspicion," were enunciated by W. Carter, M.P., fraternal delegate from the British Trades Union Congress.

Labor, he concluded, had a greater problem than the mere fight for better wages and conditions of employment. They had to fight the greatest problem of all times—war.

Victory on the industrial field alone, the winning of higher wages and better conditions served to nothing if the manhood of the unions was to be slaughtered on the battlefield.

While Mr. Gompers recited the winning fight labor was making in the United States against ruthless, unscrupulous and "stupid" employers, Mr. Carter painted a sombre picture of conditions in England. There, more than a million and a half men and women, able and anxious for work, but who could not get it. The British Employers' Federation had just ended a successful battle against the miners' union—the strongest labor union in the world—and the miners were now working under "the most revolting of conditions." Expert miners received less than $2.50 per diem, and were given but three days work a week—a total wage of some $7 or less.

Each individual union was being singled out for attack by the employers.

Trade Depression Threatens to Close Down British Movie Industries

London, England, Aug. 24.—Canadian Press Cable.—The cinema trade threatens to close down for a short time on account of the quiet season and also because the chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Robert Horne, declines to give relief from the entertainment tax.

The movie industry here is in a bad way at present, partly owing to the general trade depression and partly due to the slackening of the public interest in the movies.

The authorities, however, seem determined to find new avenues through which to impose the entertainment tax. The people who propose renting front windows to spectators of the great procession that is to be held in connection with the guild celebration now going on, which occur only once in twenty years, have been warned that they are liable to the tax.

A demand for income tax was made this year from the spectators of the competitions at the annual shoot of the National Rifle Association at Bisley. The tax was to have been levied in connection with the fee for admission, but everyone was admitted free.

GIVES FAREWELL PARTY.

CHATHAM, Aug. 23.—Captain Charles Squarebriggs of the Salvation Army Hostel, who leaves to take over his new duties at Sault Ste. Marie on Saturday next, was the guest of honor at the Rotary Club today. On behalf of the club Vice-President W. M. Gray expressed regret at his departure. A suitable reply was made by Captain Squarebriggs.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—Wheat values took a downward slant here today in sympathy with lower quotations at Liverpool. There was rather a general local and commission house selling at the start, but support was lacking and the market showed rather an easy undertone. Export demand at the seaboard was reported as very slow on account of the weakness in exchange. The opening, which ranged from ⅝c to 1½c lower, with September at $1 01¼@1 01½, and December at $1 02⅞@1 03, was followed by a slight advance all around, then by somewhat of a reaction.

Continued dry and hot weather in the Southwest, and the confirmation of severe deterioration in the crop by the government weekly weather report, gave the corn market a firm undertone during the early dealings. Buying by a local professional was mainly responsible for a sharp upturn at the start. After starting ⅛c to ½c down, with September at 60½c, the corn market scored gains all around, then underwent somewhat of a setback.

Oats followed other grains. After opening unchanged to ¼c lower, with September at 31⅝@31¾c, the market rallied slightly, then settled around the initial range.

DECLARES LOYALTY TO FARMER PARTY

Drury Outlines Political Ideal in Address in East Peterboro.

HAVELOCK, Aug. 23.—For the first time since he became head of the Ontario government, Premier E. C. Drury spoke in East Peterboro today to 1,000 persons at the U. F. O. picnic at Havelock. He discussed the controversy with J. J. Morrison over his broadening-out policy, and he termed it unfortunate. He denied that he was any less loyal to the farmers' interests than was his "good friend, J. J. Morrison."

His political ideal he outlined as a union of urban and farming interests into one party, and he declared he was sure that the political ideas he was espousing at the picnic would meet with equal favor in urban centers. His broadening-out, he hoped, would have a national scope. The failure of the old parties had been in not recognizing agriculture as the basic industry of the country. He did not agree with the suggestion of the secretary yesterday that the government should be conducted without an opposition, which the premier said was the eyes of the whole people. He strongly defended the policy and administration of the government, and declared he was not afraid to face the electors when it became necessary.

Morley Smithson, U. F. O. director, presided. Other speakers were F. A. Brethen, M.P., and E. N. McDonald, M.L.A.

How I Got Rid of Burning Feet

And Pains From Corns and Bunions Without Soaking, Powders, Plasters, Etc., After Suffering Indescribable Foot Misery for 20 Years.

Prof. F. T. McIntyre, well-known world tourist and lecturer, says: "For years I was compelled to wear shoes two sizes too large, to be able to walk with any comfort at all. I tried soaking my feet in medicated baths, powders, plasters and foot-treatments galore, but the burning, callouses, and soreness refused to go, while the pains from corns and bunions continued to torture both mind and body, which upset my entire nervous system. One day, very fortunately, I met a lady from Egypt who gave me a little box of Gypsy Foot Relief, which she said was a secret from the desert. After using it a short time, the awful burning stopped, the callouses came off in chunks, leaving the skin of my feet clean and smooth, while the pains from corns and bunions seemed to disappear as if by magic. From that time, I said a joyful goodbye to over twenty years of indescribable foot misery. I would not take a hundred thousand dollars to again go through those years of agony. Now I feel like telling every foot sufferer to get a box of the wonderful Gypsy Foot Relief."

Note—Gypsy Foot Relief, referred to by Mr. McIntyre, may be applied in a minute, without fuss or bother. Sure, quick relief comes three minutes later, or the makers give back the small amount you pay. It is sold in this city by Cairncross & Lawrence, Robt. J. Childs, Sumner Drug Co., Standard Drug Co., Liggetts and other good druggists. —Advt.

DUBLIN MOURNS DEATH OF FREE STATE LEADER

Awaits Body of Michael Collins With All Flags Half-Masted.

FUNERAL TO BE MONDAY

Opinion Prevails That Richard Mulcahey Will Succeed To Chief Command.

DUBLIN, Aug. 23.—The general opinion is that Richard Mulcahey will now assume chief command of the Free State army. The wires connecting Cork and Dublin have been cut, and details of the ambush and death of Michael Collins are still lacking here.

The people of Dublin testified to their great grief throughout the day, business being practically suspended and flags were half-masted on all public buildings.

The body of Michael Collins on its arrival here tomorrow night will be placed in the mortuary of St. Vincent's Hospital, pending its removal to the city hall Friday, where it will lie in state until Sunday afternoon. Then it will be taken to the pro-cathedral where a solemn requiem will be celebrated at 11 o'clock Monday morning. After the ceremony in the pro-cathedral interment will take place in Glasnevin Cemetery.

FALLS FIGHTING TO LAST.

CORK, Aug. 23.—Michael Collins fell fighting to the last what seemed at first an overwhelming force of rebels who ambushed his little party in a wild mountain road between Macroon and Bandon.

The commander-in-chief of the Free State army had been visiting Cork, and, accompanied by the members of his headquarters staff, left at 6 o'clock Tuesday morning to inspect the military positions south of Cork. He was escorted by a light armored car and a lorry carrying soldiers. Altogether the party is believed to have numbered about a score, including Gen. Sean O'Connell, commander of the bodyguard, and Major-Gen. Dalton, commander of the Free State troops in Cork. A dispatch rider preceded the large touring car with Collins and other officers; then followed a whippet armored car, while an ordinary open tender brought up the rear. The party visited nearly all the posts to the south of Cork occupied by the National army, among them Skibbereen, Rosscarbery and Clonakilty, at each place the officer commanding was interviewed, and the party was enthusiastically greeted. Owing to the interruption of communication by the main road the party towards evening took a roundabout route for Cork from Bandon. Bealnablath, which is eight miles from Macroom, lies to the south of the main road on the south side of the river Lee, in a hilly, rugged district. While proceeding by road near this village at 6:30 in the evening the party was ambushed by about 200 irregulars.

Taken by Surprise.

The battle opened with a few shots fired by the attacking forces; the Nationals were taken by surprise, and one of the first bullets nearly struck Collins' car before it stopped, missing him only by an inch or two. The Nationals hastily dismounted, and General Collins himself assumed leadership. A hail of bullets sweeping the road left him quite unmoved, his first thought being for the safety of his men, whom he ordered to take cover at the fences on both sides of the road.

At the very outset the dispatch rider in front was badly wounded in the lungs, and under the direction of the commander-in-chief, was removed to temporary safety. Then the Free State forces settled down to reply to the fire, and the fact that they were faced by far superior numbers did not daunt either Collins or his officers, and within a few minutes the attack developed into a grim engagement fiercely contested.

Every man of the ambushed party had been tried repeatedly and had proved his bravery and coolness in action, and all of them showed steadiness in the battle, which lasted close to an hour. It was in the very last stages that Michael Collins was killed. It is asserted that the careful, well-directed fire of the ambushed party took heavy toll, a large number of the rebels being killed or wounded.

Rebels Defeated.

For 45 minutes the only casualty on the side of the Free State was the dispatch rider. The fighting was nearly ended and the rebels were on the point of retreating, defeated, despite their overwhelming numbers and advantageous position, and the firing had become less intense, when suddenly Collins fell. It was obvious that he had been mortally wounded, but notwithstanding this he still fired from the ground and encouraged his men by unflinching bravery.

In a feeble voice the commander-in-chief asked for Major-General Dalton, and Dalton and General O'Connell, both greatly distressed, comforted their dying chief; they whispered a few prayers and recited the contrition before the leader passed away. His body was removed under fire to the armored car.

The rebels were now in retreat, leaving many dead and wounded on the field. The Free Staters were obliged to leave the touring car, taking their dead chief's body in the armored car, which reached Cork about midnight.

COLLINS' FUNERAL HELD.

CORK, Aug. 23.—Grief over the death of Michael Collins is immeasurable; the entire city is shocked, while resentment in the Free State army was so strong that the commanding officers had difficulty in restraining the men when the news first reached here at midnight. When troops arriving from the north learned of the tragedy officers and men alike gave way to tears, as did their comrades in Cork last night.

Early today great crowds wended their way to the Shanakiel Hospital, in the suburbs, and long before noon the hill was packed with people, while streams moved along all the roads leading to where the body of the late commander-in-chief reposed. The military procession accompanying the body to the steamer, which will bear it to Dublin, was most impressive. The chief pallbearer was Major-General Dalton, in whose arms Collins died, and to whom he said: "Let the Dublin brigade bury me."

The funeral ceremony was brief. The hearse moved down through the ranks of the troops and proceeded over Wellington Bridge, through Washington and Patrick streets to the quay, where the body was put aboard the steamer. All along the way there were evidences of the great sorrow of the people.

BELIEVE SMASH OF PLANE FRAUD

Believe Similar Crashes Involving Same People Occurred Elsewhere.

So Far No One Has Been Able To Locate Machine.

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 23.—That an aroma of fraud surrounds the supposed smashing of an airplane near the city Friday evening is indicated by the fact that similar smashes, involving the same people, are reported to have occurred in other places, and that in these similar cases efforts have been made to obtain money, fraudulently, it is thought.

A letter received Wednesday by Chief Armstrong from Chief Constable R. W. Phillips of York County has led the authorities to believe that there was something suspicious about the airplane smash. Constable Phillips inclosed a clipping from a Toronto newspaper in which the local mishap had been printed and he asked for information regarding the whereabouts of the stranger who called himself "Major Murray."

"One of the county constables reports that this is the same man who reported a very similar accident to his airplane in Aurora," Constable Richards wrote. "He tried to get financial assistance in Aurora and said he was on his way to Camp Borden."

The stranger, who appeared in this city and reported the wreck followed similar tactics. He explained that a cylinder head in his engine had blown out near this city and he had been forced to make a bad landing, resulting in further damages to the airplane and the breaking of his mechanic's arm. He visited a local bank and made inquiries about communicating with his New York offices for the purposes of obtaining funds. The bank management agreed to make the arrangements, but up until Wednesday noon, the stranger had not returned. So far, no person has been able to locate the wrecked 'plane, although dozens of curious citizens have scoured the countryside in automobiles. Nor has any information been received as to what became of the injured mechanic.

A "Major Murray," comparing with the stranger who came here, is reported to have called on acquaintances in Ridgetown Sunday and Monday.

GETS THREE MONTHS FOR SHARE IN WHISKEY THEFT

TORONTO, Aug. 23.—Glen Chambers, formerly of Palmerston, was given three months in jail by Judge Widdifield for his share in the theft of a barrel of whiskey from W. N. Tilley's house on the night of July 17.

He had acted as a lookout for Ludgate, Griggs and Ferguson, who went into the cellar and rolled out the barrel. While they disposed of it he waited in a rooming house down town and received only $12 of the $100 he had been promised, the explanation being given by his confederates that the whiskey had turned green and had to be sold cheap.

He said that he had met the other three in a poolroom where Ludgate had suggested the theft. Chambers was arrested in Detroit.

EXPECT TO SETTLE DISPUTE WITH C.N.R.

Amicable Agreement Without Conciliation Board Is Predicted.

OTTAWA, Aug. 23.—There is a remote possibility that the Canadian National Railways and their employees, with whom they are in dispute as to wages, may come to an amicable agreement, without the necessity of the continuation of the board of conciliation.

At the conclusion of the session of the board this afternoon, at which A. E. Crilly of Montreal, presented the brief for the company, both he and A. R. Mosher, for the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees agreed to a round table conference which will be continued tomorrow morning.

In presenting the railways side to the dispute, Mr. Crilly sought to justify the proposed reduction of wages to the lower paid employees of the Canadian National Railways by showing that the wage rate today was 45 per cent higher than it was in 1917, while the cost of living at present was only 15 per cent higher than in that year.

BLACKHANDERS THREATEN MONTREAL MUSICIANS

MONTREAL, Aug. 23.—Prominent musicians of this city are being terrorized by a black-hand gang which is sending them death threats. In most cases the threats came in characteristic black-hand letters, which are pinned to the front doors of musicians' homes.

Never Again Will Tony Flirt With Canadian Mounted Officer's Wife

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Tony de Foro, 34, of 22 Mulberry street, is today sitting in jail reflecting upon the suddenness of former members of the Canadian Northwest Mounted Police. De Foro had been soundly punished and afterwards arrested for misconduct toward a woman visitor in the monkey house in Bronx Park.

The incidents leading to the arrest were related to the magistrate yesterday by Thomas Davies of Montreal, the former "mountie," who gave de Foro the beating. Davies is now a mounted patrolman of the mounted force. He and Mrs. Davies are in New York on a vacation.

Sunday, according to Mr. and Mrs. Davies, they visited Bronx Park. Mr. Davies remained outside the monkey house to smoke while Mrs. Davies, a handsome woman of 20, watched the antics of the animals. She was approached, she testified, by de Foro, who pinched her. She went outside and told her husband. Then she returned to the building, while her husband watched de Foro. When the latter approached Mrs. Davies again, the Montreal policeman got into action. After a time de Foro was fanned back into consciousness and found himself under arrest. The magistrate held him without bail for probationary investigation.
