CHIVALRY TO WOMEN.

This is said to be a progressive age. True, great strides are being made every day in the industrial and commercial world, which in itself is to be commended, and should be a source of satisfaction to people in general. Business is the chief theme of the hour, and everywhere men are entering into spirited competition with their fellows in the mad race for riches, fame and power. Everywhere people are scheming and manipulating with every energy they possess to get rich in the shortest possible time. Can it be that man is becoming absorbed with this seemingly all-important struggle to the sacrifice of the more gentle and manly side of his nature? The question is prompted by the evident tendency of the times in the matter of man's treatment of the gentler sex.

It is a noticeable feature of the present life, that the women of today do not receive the honor, the respect, or even the common courtesies which were tendered them in times past, and it is no surprise to find people wondering if the days of chivalry have gone by. The argument may be advanced, as a reason for this almost disrespect on the part of man, that women have forfeited their claim to chivalrous attention, through entering into competition with men in the business world. To men of finer instincts this is not worthy of even consideration. It may be, and no doubt is, in the majority of cases, the result of necessity more than inclination—often the necessity caused through man's neglect.

The Roman Catholics of Australia have set a laudable example to the outside world in the matter of chivalry to women. Their latest device is the establishment of a new order of knighthood by Archbishop Carr, to be entitled "The Order of the Knights of Our Lady of the Southern Cross."

It is to appeal to the imagination of young Australian Romanists and to have for its objects:

1. To advance the honor due to women.
2. To promote the faithful fulfillment of the Christian duties of marriage.
3. To shield and preserve as far as might lie in their power female innocence.
4. To suppress indecency in words and actions.
5. To advance the cause of Christian chivalry by preserving women from being treated with open disrespect.

The entire scheme is warmly regarded by everyone all over the commonwealth, and it is safe to say that this world would be infinitely better if more such societies were formed.

THE NEW USURY LAW.

One of the most important of the new measures passed by Parliament at its recent session was "An Act respecting Money-lenders." This statute was instigated by the revelations made not so long since in both Toronto and Montreal on the subject of usury. It was found that poor people in Toronto were paying as much as 120 per cent. for accommodation, while in Montreal the exactions were much higher. The position of affairs was such that when a person got into the toils of a money-lender, it was all but impossible to get out. With the high interest, and the fines, borrowing was borrowing in earnest. Parliament has striven to meet the situation, and the Act relating to money-lenders is the result of its efforts. The prime feature of this law is the declaration that no money-lender shall stipulate for, or exact, on any negotiable instrument, contract, or agreement concerning a loan of money, the principal of which is under $500, a rate of interest or discount greater than 12 per cent. per annum. Should the 12 per cent. rate be imposed, and a suit be entered for recovery, the rate drops automatically to 5 per cent. from the date of the judgment. The 12 per cent. rate applies not merely to future contracts, but to past contracts that have matured and have not been settled. Thus the party who has borrowed at a higher rate than 12 per cent., but has not paid, although the money is due, will from the date of the passing of the Act, namely, July 13, pay no more than 12 per cent. for the money. Should there be a suit 5 per cent. is the rate after judgment has been delivered. Those provisions knock out the 120 per cent. loans, and give the borrower a chance to get out of the books of the lender. But there is another feature of the law which is highly important, namely, that devised to make evasion difficult, if not impossible. It is declared that when there is a suit concerning a loan by a money-lender where the amount does not exceed $500, and it is alleged that the rate of interest charged is more than 12 per cent., including all charges, except taxable conveying charges, the court may reopen the transaction, and take an account between the parties, and relieve the debtor of any obligation to pay the sum which is in excess of 12 per cent. per annum. Should the court find that the rate of interest, then the court may order the creditor to refund, and may, in addition, alter the contract so as to make it conform with the law.

CELESTINS

The new regulations ought to put an end to usury. They follow very closely, although not in all particulars, the English system, which gives the courts extensive powers. There may be loopholes whereby a higher rate than that authorized may be exacted. But the borrower is not without a remedy. He may allow the claim against him to reach the courts, and then the lender, if he has overcharged, will be forced to refund the amount that has been taken, and will be in danger of a fine not exceeding $1,000, or of imprisonment for a term of not more than one year.—Mail and Empire.

Better Than Spanking

Spanking does not cure children of bad-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box 4, Windsor, Ont. will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child; the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

A Man of Affairs.

Collector (angrily)—Your master seems never to be at home. Faithful Retainer—He's a busy man, sir. He's that busy Ol' thinkin' he'd find it hard to spare time to attend his own funeral, sir—unless, to be sure, they put it off till he was dead, sir.

Weeds For Weeds.

Fred—So you are really going to marry that young widow, eh? Joe—Yes. Fred—She tells me you have promised to give up smoking. Joe—Yes, sort of mutual sacrifice, as it were. She agreed to give up her weeds if I would give up mine.

TO CATARRH SUFFERERS

Hymel Cures by Breathing Medicated Air.

The popularity and increase in the sales of Hymel are unique in the annals of medicine. Such astonishing cures have been made by this remedy that its sale is steadily increasing every year. The complete Hymel outfit costs but $1.00 and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hymel. The inhaler lasts a lifetime, and if one bottle does not cure an extra bottle of Hymel can be obtained for 50 cents. It is the most economical of all remedies advertised for the cure of catarrh, and is the only one that follows Nature in her methods of treating diseases of the respiratory organs.

Breathe through the inhaler for a few minutes your times a day, and your catarrh is cured. That's all. If you cannot obtain Hymel of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write to-day for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hymel Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

THE PROBLEM

By Dr. A. W. Thornton.

I know a conflict rages now, about creation's plan; We try to "reason out" the cause of earth, and sky, and man. The Book, the Garden, Serpent, Sin, and Christ and Heaven and Hell, Have given place, in modern times, to what we buy and sell.

What of the change? What the result? A thoughtful person asks. Are men the better fitted for life's trials or life's tasks? Are men growing richer in those things that make for lasting good? Or mean, and coarse and sensual, for lands, and clothes, and food?

I know not how to answer this—and yet, perhaps, I might; Evil sometimes seems dominant; sometimes what's good and right; Earth's first transgressor heard of; Man, who'd bruise the serpent's head; Heard, too, the curse, "In sweat of face, thou surely shalt eat bread."

We question the reality of promised help or grace; The cure is too apparent in our toiling brother's face.

We hear, on every hand, about "the rich man, richer grown." The poor grow poorer—day by day—yet few their fate bemoan.

I see the toiler, under ground, in dust, and dirt, and grime; For him the day is as the night, no sun divides his time. He toils for what?—that time may yield some slight foretaste of heaven? No, not he toils, that "unto him that hath shall more be given."

I see the toiler's lowly hut, the owner's mansion grand; Between the two a gulf is fixed—that time has never spanned. The blessings of the Gospel truth, to both alike may come—Perhaps 'tis true—the curse, it seems, is born by only one;

The rich with faces free from care; The poor with faces marred. By constant fight with poverty and grinding trials hard. What wonder if the toiler tries, by on, strike, or strife, To get for self or family the fruit of health or life.

We hear from every pulpit of "brotherhood of man." The words appear a mockery—if we the "brothers" scan. The stronger rolls in luxury—the weak has haggard looks—One robs the other of his bread—then gives it back—in books.

In mansion grand the evening's passed, with song and laughter free; In toiler's hut the song has died—the light with poverty Has ended, as it needs must end, in crushing out life's song. From bursting hearts are forced the words, "How long, O Lord, how long!"

I see the toiler's manly form beside the burning lamp. No joyous thought is left for him; a shadow's o'er it cast. He works—that prays his "brother man" may some small pittance dole: Small wonder if "the iron has entered in his soul."

He longs to see his little ones prepared for better part. Than he himself was fitted for; but hope dies in his heart. The scanty earnings' and too small—the wolf is at the door: There's nothing left for him but work—ay, work, with heart that's sore.

The owners of the burning blast care little for the pain Of men, or wives, or children weak—their only thought is "gain." "Who cares," they say, "if toilers live in hut not fit for sty; We'll build them hospitals in which in comfort they may die."

What matters if the poor man pays too much for oil or steel? If only he has libraries, he'll not the burden feel. A hundred-thousand-dollar cheque—to missionaries given—Will ease the load—and pay the donor's entrance into heaven.

Away with all such poisoned soap—for men, at heart, are sick; A million dollars wrung from blood, a thousand back in brick. Give honest work a just reward; brighten the toiler's dream; That generations yet unborn may know what blessings mean.

Can this be done? Oh, glorious thought—can men as brothers live? Brothers in deed as well as name—the past forget—forgive? 'Twill come, when right and principle shall more than dollars count; The principles laid down for men in "The Sermon on the Mount."

Sunlight Soap is better than other soaps, but is best when used in the Sunlight way. Buy Sunlight Soap and follow directions. Clothes may not make the man, but they sort of classify him.

Humor and Philosophy

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

The world admires a cheerful loser.

Be careful how you start a man upon his hobby. You may have to knock him down to break him loose.

A generous disposition is one that is stingy with fault finding.

The right word in season counts more than ten sermons out of season.

It is hard to kill trouble, but it can be put to sleep occasionally.

The Spring Malady.

To what does the young man's fancy turn

In the spring?

What causes the young girl's heart to turn

For a ring?

And what are the words they whisper low

As they smile

And let the horses travel slow

Mile on mile?

Say, what is it anyhow?

Answer altogether now:

It's love, it's love;

It makes the world go round.

Of course you know the answer;

It isn't so profound.

You cannot buy it at the store

By measure or by pound.

It's love, it's love;

That makes the world go round.

The fault is in the season

It is plain;

Then stupid things like reason

Do not reign.

There is only milk and honey

In their cup.

For they never think of money

Till tied up.

To disturb them do not seek;

They will wake up in a week.

'Tis love, 'tis love;

That makes the world go broke.

For having changed our carpets

Is not a minstrel joke.

It's then you see your money

Go up as though in smoke.

'Tis love, 'tis love;

That makes the world go broke.

Didn't Recognize It.

Searching through his old papers one day, he came on a letter that was dim with age and appeared to be written in a strange language. He read it forward and backward, but couldn't get any sense or meaning out of it. In despair he appealed to his wife. "Mary, this seems to be a rare curio. Do you remember when I bought it?"

Mary adjusted her glasses and brought them to bear on the mysterious document. "Bought nothing?" she said after examining it closely. "That is one of the love letters you wrote to me before we were married!"

Well Recommended.

"Mother, I have brought home a new cook. She is all right, but she can't speak a word of English."

"How do you know she will do if you didn't talk to her?"

"She has letters from her last employer saying she can break dishes in three different languages."

It Ought To.

No horse can catch up with a lie. When it has taken wing, But try an automobile. It can run down anything.

Not Expected To.

"Of course not. Didn't I say he was a weather prophet?"

"I hear he has reformed." "Yes, he got scared. The doctor told him that a warm climate wouldn't agree with him."

Poor Man.

"I understand he is a family man."

"No; he is the family horse."

"What is he selling?"

"Blue sky."

"Right of way for an air line, I presume."

WIRE WOUNDS.
 My mare, a very valuable one, was badly bruised and cut by being caught in a wire fence. Some of the wounds would not heal, although I tried many different medicines. Dr. Bell advised me to use MINARD'S LINIMENT, diluted at first, then stronger as the sores began to look better, until after three weeks, the sores have healed and best of all, the hair is growing well, and is NOT WHITE as is most always the case in horse wounds.

Recalling a Mailed Letter.

Many times people would like to recall a letter after it has been mailed. This can be done even if the letter has reached the postoffice there are what are called "withdrawal blanks." On application they will be furnished, and when a deposit is made to cover the expense the postmaster will telegraph to the postmaster at the letter's destination asking that it be promptly returned. The applicant first signs this agreement: "It is hereby agreed that, if the letter is returned to me, I will protect you from any and all claims made against you for such return and will fully indemnify you for any loss you may sustain by reason of such action. And I herewith deposit $— to cover all expenses incurred and will deliver to you the envelope of the letter returned." In many cases persons have made remittances to fraudulent parties or irresponsible firms, not learning their true character until after the letter had gone, and have succeeded in recalling them.

A Quick Start.

O. W. Nickerson and J. S. Baker were residents of Harwick. Captain Nickerson, as he was called, was a man of means and very shrewd. Joe was less fortunate. One day the captain met Joe and said, "Come over tonight." Joe did so, and as soon as he entered the captain's home the captain took him into a distant room, closed all the windows and doors securely and said: "Now, Joe, I will tell you the secret of getting rich and you can pay me $25. Be saving, of course, and when you do make a bargain with any one be sure that no one hears you, and then if you get the worst of it or want to back out you can. Now hand me the $25."

Joe thought a second and then said, "Did any one hear us make this bargain, captain?"

"Not a soul," replied the captain. "Well, then," Joe said, "I guess I'll begin on you."

"Where the treasure is," Etc.

"Harold," said the heiress, "I have been thinking."

"Thinking of me, precious?" asked Harold.

"Indirectly, yes. I have been thinking that were you to marry me every body would say you only did so in order to get my money."

"What care I for the unthinking world?"

"But, oh, Harold, I will marry you!"

"My own dear,"

"And I will not have people say unkind things about you, so I have arranged to give all my fortune to the missionaries. Why, Harold, where are you going?"

Harold paused long enough on his way to the door to look back and mutter, "I'm going to be a missionary!"—Judge.

Star Rays.

What causes the rays or pencils of light that seem to be thrown out by every star when seen by the naked eye? A German scientist finds that all stars show precisely the same rays, but that in the case of the brighter stars the rays are plainer and somewhat longer. It is further remarked that the rays seen by the left and right eyes differ, and that if the head be turned the rays are rotated in a corresponding manner. It is thus concluded that the source of the rays is not in the stars, but in the eye itself, the middle of the retina being not perfectly homogeneous in its sensitiveness.

How a Horse Sleeps.

Horses always point one ear forward when they sleep. Exactly why it is done no human being can tell, but the probability is that the practice is a relic of the time when they were wild and obliged to be on their guard even when asleep. Cattle, on the other hand, are apparently indifferent as to the position of their ears while sleeping, but no odds what position they are in both are always pointed alike. Ask some observing horseman if it is not a fact that a horse always throws one ear forward when he sleeps.

Commerce and Literature.

"Do you think that a commercial career is to be compared to a literary career?" asked the high browed and melancholy youth.

"My boy," said Mr. Cumro, "in business you can write your name on a piece of paper no bigger than a postal card and make it worth thousands of dollars. In literature you can write up reams of paper without making it worth 50 cents."

Banana Bread.

Bread made from banana flour is common enough in Europe and England. One pound is said to contain more nourishment and energy producing material than one pound of the finest beefsteak, is much more digestible and less than one-sixth the price. Sir Henry Stanley was a firm believer in the banana. He went so far as to advise that its consumption would cure rheumatism, gout and all liver affections. When lying at the point of death from gastritis a light gruel of banana flour mixed with milk was the only food he could retain and digest. The secret of the banana as a health and strength producing food lies in its high percentage of proteins and, respectively, great number of its calories, respectively 20 and 391.71. It is a perfectly balanced ration if sliced for breakfast and served with milk and sugar.

We all make too much of our difficulties.

The Sunbird.

Very curious are the nests of the sunbird, scarcely larger than a butterfly. It chooses some exposed spot, probably close to the public road, and proceeds to build on an overhanging twig. The finishing touches being put to the small abode, it is left, according to one authority, severely alone until spiders have woven their webs over and around it. Another naturalist says that the birds themselves turn ragmen and, collecting any rubbish they can find in the way of moss, faded leaves, ends of cotton and other such trifles, stick them on the outside of the nest by means of pieces of poisoned webs. In either case the result is the same, and they make their future home a thoroughly respectable object. Then, and not till then, does the little hen sunbird lay her two greenish white eggs, which she hatches under the shelter of a small porch which has been constructed over the nest, shielding her from sun and rain.

It does not have life enough, that's the trouble with your hair. There is something wrong with the hair-bulbs. They are slowly starving! Then feed them at once! Give them a regular hair-food—Ayer's Hair Vigor. It checks falling hair, keeps the scalp healthy and free from dandruff. A little of it often does great things for the hair and scalp.

The Strenuous Life.

There can be no question that the prevalence of certain diseases has increased during the last half century. Conspicuous among these are diabetes and insomnia, both of which are largely due to the mental stress of a harder struggle for existence.—Practitioner.

Or Complete Lack of It.

FACTS IN NATURE

Not Only Do We Get Inspiration From Nature, But Health as Well.

For people who are run-down and nervous, who suffer from indigestion or dyspepsia, headache, biliousness, or torpid liver, coated tongue with bitter taste in the morning and poor appetite, it becomes necessary to turn to some strengthening agent which will assist Nature and help them to get on their feet and put the body into its proper condition. It is becoming more and more apparent that Nature's most valuable health-giving agents are to be found in forest plants and roots.

Not forty years ago, Dr. R. V. Pierce, now consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., discovered that by scientifically combining and combining certain medicinal principles from native roots, taken from our American forests, he could produce a medicine which was marvellously efficient in curing cases of blood disorder and liver and stomach trouble as well as many other chronic, or lingering ailments.

This wonderful "Golden Medical Discovery" purifies the blood by putting the stomach and liver into proper condition, thereby helping the digestion and assimilation of food which feeds the blood. It cures weak stomach, indigestion, torpid liver, or biliousness, and kindred derangements.

If you have coated tongue, with bitter or bad taste in the morning, frequent headaches, feel weak, dizzy, drowsy, or pain in side, back gives out easily and aches, belching of gas, constipation, or irregular bowels, feel flashes of heat alternating with chilly sensations or kindred symptoms, they point to derangement of your stomach, liver and kidneys, which the "Golden Medical Discovery" will correct more speedily and permanently than any other known agent. Contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed in plain English on wrapper.

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make a little more profit. He gains; you lose. Except substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Constipation causes and aggravates many serious diseases. It is thoroughly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One a laxative; two or three are cathartic.

Time may be money, but it isn't so very scarce.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative brings lasting relief in Stomach, Kidney and Heart troubles through the inside nerves. No matter how the nerves became impaired this remedy will rebuild their strength, will restore their vigor. Remember it does no good to treat the ailing organ—the irregular heart, rebellious stomach, diseased kidneys. They are not to blame. Go back to the nerves that control them—treat the cause—use a remedy that cures through the inside nerves.

Egotism is a stranger to discontent.

WHY?

We don't husk pumpkins in the spring.
I wonder why.
It doesn't seem to be the thing.
For other work is on the string.
So we neglect the yellow king.
I wonder why.

We do not skate in summer time.
I wonder why.
To know I'd give about a dime.
It cannot be it is a crime;
Perhaps the skating is not prime.
I wonder why.

We don't plant cabbage in the fall;
I wonder why.
They say it wouldn't do at all.
The man who set out cabbage small
In autumn would have lots of gail.
I wonder why.

We don't go fishing in a tree.
I wonder why.
Perhaps we fear the birds might see
And with the other birds agree
That we were crazy as could be.
I wonder why.

We do not eat our watch and chain.
I wonder why.
Perhaps the diet is too plain,
And by it we could only gain
A most annoying, ticking pain.
I wonder why.

Some Ground For It.

"There goes a fellow who thinks the business couldn't run without him."
"Some people get terribly swelled heads."
"Yes; there is no living with them."
"I suppose he is a $10 bookkeeper."
"Worse than that."
"You don't say!"
"Yes; he's the proprietor."

The Modern Way.

"It would be a rather crude way going about with a lantern looking for an honest man these days."

"How would you suggest as an improvement?"
"Make a noise like graft and see whether he pricks up his ears."

Profiteers.

On everything a person may quite properly have views.
And when it comes election day
It's all right to enthuse.
But will such things as the grocer pay
Or buy the baby shoes?

A Last Resort.

"Have you anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced on you?"
"Sure," replied the prisoner, with a confidence born of experience. "I have $400 that my lawyer didn't get because he didn't know I had it. I guess that will bring me a new trial."

Only Sure Way.

"But there must be some way to stop this graft."
"Of course there is, and it is simple too."
"How, pray?"
"Kill off all of the people."

More Effective Way.

"It is trying to live down his past."
"By leading a moral life?"
"No; by running a corner in wheat."

May Be a Rival.

"I would hate to tempt the sea in a small boat."
"But with skillful handling small boats are safe."
"I don't know about that. The sea must be jealous of them the way they are always bugling the shore."

THE LOBSTER'S SHELL.

A New One Is Grown Before the Old One Is Cast Off.

Odd as it may sound to say so, the lobster grows before, not after, he casts his old hard shell—that is to say, he makes new cells and tissues, which are not at once filled out, but which are intended to swell to their full dimensions as soon as he has got rid of his binding and constricting external skeleton. When the critical moment at last arrives a new soft shell grows entire within the older and harder one, and the animal then withdraws himself, leg by leg, claw by claw and swimmeret by swimmeret, out of the enveloping coat of mail which covers him. The shedding of the old coat is complete and absolute. Not a fragment remains. Even the apparently internal hard portions are cast off with the rest, for the entire covering forms one continuous piece, the interior portions being reany, so to speak, folds of the skin inserted inward.

An entirely new skeleton has already grown within the old one, but exceedingly soft and flexible in texture, and the body becomes so almost fluid or jellylike—not in structure, but in power of compression and extension—that even the big claws are drawn out through the narrower apertures of the joints in a perfectly marvelous manner. After a longer or shorter period of muscular paroxysm the soft lobster at last disengages itself entirely from the dead shell and emerges upon the world a new and defenseless fleshy creature. The whole cusk skeleton, unruptured in any part, but disengaged by lifting up the body piece where it joins the tail, looks exactly like an entire dead lobster.

Many a man with brains hasn't the common sense to know how to use them.

A Friend Told Me About Bu-Ju

THE GENTLE KIDNEY CURE

Hundreds of people, who have been cured of Kidney Trouble by Bu-Ju, were first induced to try this wonderful remedy by friends who had themselves been cured. The sales of Bu-Ju are daily increasing, because everyone who takes them is benefited—and these in turn, tell others. So the good news is spread.

Here is what a Picton man says about Bu-Ju—

"I have used Bu-Ju with great benefit to myself, and cheerfully recommend to all who, I think, are suffering from Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism."

"I think Bu-Ju the best remedy made."

Yours sincerely,

A GOOD SHOW

It is a question if Chathamites have ever before had the opportunity of witnessing as good an exhibition of hypnotic influencing and telepathy as that provided by the famous Sevengala at the Opera House last evening.

Hypnotists are not uncommon on the stage, but their exhibitions are usually palpable trickeries of a time-worn character. They use old stage "gags" and "stand-bys" to convince skeptics and amuse believers. Some of them are fair, most of them distinctly bad.

Sevengala's art lies in his originality. New exhibitions of a screamingly funny nature, and decidedly convincing features of great interest, are the kernel of his fame.

For the first part of the program last evening he convulsed the audience by his strange control over a bunch of subjects, who, at his bidding, went through evolutions and antics of an indescribably humorous nature. The telepathic demonstration, which formed the second half of the entertainment, was, however, the more interesting of the two distinct exhibitions. Placing a lady subject under his influence the wizard moved and the audience asking for people to supply him with texts to be transmitted to the subject by mind control or through the medium of telepathic thought waves. And she obeyed his will without communication by word or action, to the latter.

It was wonderful, incomprehensible and intensely interesting. It was too good to miss.

A SUGAR FACTORY

Two or More Propositions May be Submitted to the City Council Shortly

It is expected that the men behind the proposed new beet sugar factory, will arrive in the city shortly to confer with the members of the City Council and the Board of Trade.

There has been much inquiry as to who the men are, who are behind the concern. This is not definitely known as yet, as the city may have two and possibly three propositions to consider. This will not mean that any special concessions will be asked, but it will simply be a question as to which concern is most favored by the city.

Captain Davidson is expected to arrive in the city in a few days, and it is said that D. A. Gordon, M. P., of Wallaceburg, is preparing a proposition to be submitted to the Council. There is also talk of an American syndicate who are making eyes at Chatham as a possible site for a sugar factory.

Nothing definite can be stated just yet, but the public will probably be enlightened on the matter very shortly.

SHE GETS DIVORCE

Wife of President of the United States Steel Corporation Freed From Her Marital Bonds.

Reno, Nev., July 31.—Mrs. Wm. Ellis Corey, wife of the president of the United States Steel Corporation, was awarded a divorce by the second district court of Nevada yesterday. Mrs. Corey filed the petition for divorce on June 12.

The case was submitted without argument, and the jury took but one ballot. The jury was out but a few minutes.

Mrs. Corey was in tears when told that she had been given a decree and the custody of her 16-year-old son, Alvin Corey. She drove at once to her home in Riverside avenue, where she says she will continue to reside. No evidence was submitted by the defence, and there was no argument.

The question of alimony was not introduced. Mrs. Corey made an interesting admission, however, touching upon this phase of the case, stating in May, 1926, several weeks before her petition for divorce was filed, she negotiated through her attorneys a financial settlement with her husband. "I am a resident of Reno, Nevada," said Mrs. Corey, when placed on the stand, and the wife of Wm. Ellis Corey, the defendant in this action. We were married on Dec. 1, 1883, at Pittsburgh, Pa., and lived together until May 1, 1905. At that time my husband deserted me and went to New York. I followed him and had a conversation with him in the Hotel Lorraine. It was there that he told me that he had decided to live apart. He said that it was impossible for us to live happily together, and that I would never see him again. He stated that he intended going to Europe for several months. There was no scene, without evasion and in a clear voice, I talked with him about the matter and urged him to again resume his place in our home, but he refused. I have never seen him since."

Mrs. Corey was visibly affected while telling her story. She testified without evasion and in a clear voice. Her attorneys feared that she would collapse, as her health has suffered since the separation.

RATE MUST BE REDUCED

The Railway Commissioners Have Issued Orders Re Davies Limited

COM. MILLS DISSENTS

Ottawa, July 31.—The board of railway commissioners has issued an order in complaint of Davies Limited, Toronto, against the action of the railway companies in advancing their rate from Toronto to Montreal on packing-house products in carloads for export to 19 cents per cwt., including terminal charges at Montreal. The company asked that the former rate of 16 1/2 cents be restored. The case was heard at Toronto in April and May last.

The board orders a maximum rate of 18 cents per cwt., including terminal charges at Montreal. It provides that shall not be compulsory on the railway companies to reduce the rate below 18 cents per cwt., as a consequence of any reduction that may be made as the result of competition below the normal rate of 30 cents per cwt. on similar products from Chicago to New York.

Other Ontario Points.
This is to be the basis for rates from other Ontario points to Montreal, as follows: Peterboro, 17 cents; Hamilton and Brantford, 18 cents; Aylmer, Ingersoll, London and Stratford, 19 cents; Petrolia, Palmerston, Harrison and Collingwood, 20 1/2 cents.

Commissioner Mills dissents from the provision exempting the railway companies from any reduction below 18 cents as a consequence of reductions between Chicago and New York. In July, 1905, an order was made in relation to the complaint of the Dominion Millers' Association, in which it was stipulated that the Toronto-to-Montreal rate should be a certain fixed percentage of the Chicago-New York rate.

Mr. Mills holds that the departure from this rule deprives the order of most of its value.

The railway commission may not leave Ottawa for the Yukon till Aug. 2, as one or two emergency cases may call for a sitting.

ACCUSES SOLDIERS

Cowan Held Responsible For the Murder of Thomas Power—The Others Made Accomplices.

Quebec, July 31.—Yesterday morning the coroner's jury, empanelled to enquire into the death of the two sailors after a fight with soldiers, returned this verdict:

"That the death of Thomas Power was caused by asphyxiation from submersion, and he was drowned after he had been stabbed in the back by James Cowan, who was responsible for the murder of the said Thomas Power. Furthermore, Privates Corrigan, Hillins, Walsh and Lapointe of the Royal Canadian Regiment, with others unknown, implicated in the fight that led up to the fatal termination, are held as accomplices."

James Cowan and the five soldiers have been committed to jail, and orders given to the police to continue the search for the other unknown parties implicated.

Cowan admitted the knife found in Power's back was his, but said that he did not remember using it that night. He was struck and then went into the fight.

Private Higgins said the soldiers only defended themselves.

THEY KNOW IT

Thousands of people throughout the country know that the ordinary remedies for piles—pintments, suppositories and appliances—will not cure.

The best of them only bring passing relief.
Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid is a tablet taken internally that moves the cause of Piles, hence the cure is permanent. Every package sold carries a guarantee with it.

It is perfectly harmless to the most delicate constitution. A month's treatment in each package. Sold at $1.00 at any drug store, or The Wilcox & Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont.

NO. 10. MASTER MINDS ON MUSIC

Being the 10th of a series of ten talks introducing sayings of great men, applicable to the Nordheimer Piano, the symbol to perfect music.

The man that has no music in himself, Nor is not moved with concord of sweet sounds, Is fit for treasons, stratagems and spoils —Shakespeare

In this last of our series of what the master writers have said about music we have quoted the familiar words of the greatest English poet. Many times Shakespeare has credited music with being the greatest of arts, and in his day music had not reached the summit of its magnificence that it has today with such instruments as

THE NORDHEIMER PIANO

The "concord of sweet sounds" is but another name for the NORDHEIMER TONE, only the concord is is more perfect than can be realized in any other instrument, for the Nordheimer is now accepted by the Canadian people almost as a whole as the leader. Certainly it is the favorite among the most refined music lovers. If you are a music lover we would like to have you visit our ware-room and see the magnificent display.

Modern Surgery.
 But for a certain nativity on April 5, seventy-nine years ago, mankind might still have been suffering under the horrible dispensation by which one surgical patient in three paid for the experiment with his life. Modern surgery may be said to depend for its success on the two discoveries made by Joseph Lister—first of the antiseptic and then of the aseptic methods of treatment, which have saved thousands of lives and are likely to save thousands more. One of his most unexpected tributes came to him a few years ago in Paris, when Pasteur, after a glowing eulogy of his life work, turned suddenly on the platform and kissed the kindly and handsome old English gentleman on both cheeks. Pasteur probably felt what a later scientist has written—Listerism began about thirty years ago in Edinburgh; it has 5,000,000 years to run.—Fall 1906.

Careless With His Money.
 Anecdotes of Professor Lombroso, Italian scientist, are given by his daughter in the "Nuova Antologia." The professor is now seventy years old, but extremely willful, and although he asks for advice of his family in everything, always acts contrary to it. When asked to put on evening clothes he often instead dons a lounge suit. His indifference to money is proverbial. When he goes out he puts bank notes in the same pocket with his handkerchief, so that when he draws out the latter the bank notes are lost. Now, however, after frequently finding himself without money while traveling, the professor fills all his pockets with bank notes, thus hoping never to be entirely without funds, even if the contents of one pocket should be lost.

Cozy Cornering Mother-in-law

By BELLE MANIATES

Copyright, 1906, by E. C. Parcells

"There is no use talking, love is awfully blind," soliloquized Mrs. Peters as she kneaded the bread dough into shape. "Since Dan began to keep company with Myra he's always telling me how they have this and that over at Martin's. The idea! Our house is just a mansion compared to their rookery, and our carpets and parlor set alone cost more than everything in their house. Myra's a good girl, but she's too fancy about her work to be thorough. If she thinks she's going to come here to live and put all her jim-cracks and brickerbacks into my elegant parlor, she's mistaken."

Thus concluding, Mrs. Peters made another onslaught upon the dough with a vigor that would have put to shame any football team in the country.

Meantime her son Dan was sitting before the fireplace of the Martins' living room (they had no parlor) placing his hand and heart at Myra's disposal. Myra loved Dan deeply, but she was a wise young woman, and she felt that when the glamour of the honeymoon was over, the starting white walls and bareness of the Peters' house would not be home to her. She could live with Dan in any home, no matter how humble, alone, but his mother! Well, Mrs. Peters always seemed to Myra to be a good match for her whitewashed walls. So Myra said Dan nay, and he was white and hurt. He divined the reason for her refusal, and he frankly told her so.

"I know you don't like mother and her ways, but you've never seen the best side of her. The farm is mine, but father knew I'd always let mother live there. She wouldn't be happy anywhere else, and I couldn't leave her there alone."

Myra could not but admire such dutifulness. "You are just right in the matter, Dan, but—well, I simply can't! We will be friends just the same, though, Dan."

"No! We can't—I can't!" he said curtly, and then he went away, grieved and resentful, leaving Myra remorseful and wistful.

His mother needed only one glance at his face.

"Have you and Myra quarreled?"

"No," he replied slowly. "I asked her to be my wife, and she refused."

"WILL YOU FIX UP OUR SITTING ROOM?"

There's that matter down at Fenton to be looked after. I am going there now. It will take a few days to settle it." His mother knew him too well to ask questions or to make comment on the first subject, so she began talking in a matter of fact way about the business at Fenton while she packed his valise. When he had gone she fell to speculating on the reason of Myra's refusal. Dan was strong and handsome and generally acknowledged to be the best catch for miles around. Myra cared for him too. She had seen it in the girl's eye when they were in church together.

"Myra me," she thought conclusively. "Myra don't want me for a mother-in-law. I'm too plain, I suppose. But Dan loves me too much to let a wife part us."

Exultation at this knowledge made her pulse beat triumphantly, but she soon lost the sensation in her sympathy for Dan. The boy had always taken his troubles hard and in silence. This one had cut very deep. She could tell by the look in his face. She had always expected to be jealous of the girl he asked to marry him, but now she felt that she could go on her knees to beg Myra to marry him. Anything but to see that ache in his eyes.

The telephone interrupted her thoughts, and she received a summons to a sick neighbor who lived a mile away. It was dusk when she finished her ministrations, and cloudbursts of snow were swirling in the air. She had quite a fight to get home and was so exhausted that even Hannah's cup of tea failed to set her right. She passed a restless night. Her bones ached from exposure to the blizzard, and thoughts of Dan and Myra made her feverish and wakeful.

In the morning she sent for a doctor, and he told her she had the grip.

"Hannah," she said to the help, "go over to Martin's and ask Myra to come and stay with me till I get well. Tell her there'll be nothing for her to do, but that Dan's away, and I want some one to sit by me."

"My sakes!" thought Hannah, as she went down the road to Martin's. "She must be pretty sick to want company."

Myra came gladly, tumultuously eager to do something to atone.

"I've not been sick in bed for years," said Mrs. Peters apologetically, "and I thought I'd go crazy lying here idle unless I had some one to talk to."

So Myra drew up her chair beside the bed and took out her work, a bright red shawl she was crocheting. She was a pretty, petite, dainty looking girl.

"Just the kind a big fellow like Dan would want to take up in his arms," thought his mother.

"My, how fast your fingers fly!" she said aloud. "Who's that shawl for?"

"I started it for mother, but I'm going to give it to you. You'll need something about your shoulders when you sit up. It's most done."

When the shawl was finished Myra put it about the sick woman and surveyed her approvingly.

"Red becomes you, Mrs. Peters."

Mrs. Peters looked pleased. "I used to wear it when I was young."

When the doctor came next day he pronounced his patient progressing and said she could go out in the sitting room in a couple of days and lie on a sofa.

"There isn't a sofa in the house any one could lie on," declared Mrs. Peters after he had gone. "I never take naps."

"Why, what does Dan do?" asked Myra wonderingly, recalling his fondness for divans.

It was the first time Dan's name had been mentioned. Mrs. Peters looked at her keenly, and the warm color waved to Myra's face.

"Dan won't be coming to your house any more," ventured his mother.

"Oh, did he tell you?"

"Not until I guessed. I tell you what I wish you'd do for him, Myra. He'll miss the cozy corners and things you have at your house. He has told me about them, and I'd like to have one room for him here in his house as he likes it only I don't know how. Will you fix up your sitting room just as you would if it were your own room? You can buy anything you want and charge it to me. Do it for Dan."

"Will do it for you, Mrs. Peters," said Myra warmly. "Hannah and Peter and I will go to work this minute, and I'll be all ready when you are moved out there."

When Mrs. Peters, with the red shawl relieving her black wrapper, walked with Myra's and Hannah's help into the sitting room, she gave a little exclamation of surprise and admiration.

The staring walls had been covered with a dark red paper and hung with a few good pictures. A big, comfortable divan covered with dark red and piled up with pillows filled one stiff corner. A red spread covered the marble top table, and the lamp was adorned with a red shade. Two easy chairs and a couple of rockers were drawn up in companionable proximity. A little magazine table held a few of the recent publications.

"It may brighten Dan up and comfort him!" said Mrs. Peters as she lay down on the comfortable couch.

"Myra, come here," she said resolutely.

The girl came and sat down on the edge of the divan.

"You and Dan can fix the whole house and place anyway you like—except the parlor and my bedroom. I'd like them the old way."

Myra blushed and looked embarrassed.

"I know, Myra, our ways are very different, but—we both love him, so we ought to get along together."

Myra's impulsive arms went about the woman's neck.

"Oh, I love you too, now!" she cried. Then they both intuitively looked up. Dan was crossing the room. Myra fled to the kitchen, where he followed her after he had kissed his mother and had been assured of her recovery.

"Your mother was sick, and I came to stay with her while you were away," said Myra without looking at Dan as he came up to her.

Her eyes remained downcast when he put his arm about her.

"And now, will you stay—always, Myra?"

Then her eyes met his bravely. "Yes, Dan."

A Violin Town.

There is a little town named Markneukirchen, in Saxony, where nearly every inhabitant is engaged in the manufacture of violins. The industry gives employment to nearly 15,000 people, who live in Markneukirchen and the surrounding villages. The fiddle is usually made of maple wood and consists of about sixty pieces, each one of which is cut, smoothed and measured, so that everything is exact with the model. The old men make the ebony fingerboards, screws and string holders and the younger ones, with strong, steady hands and clear eyes, put the pieces together, which is the most difficult performance of any. The women attain marvelous skill in polishing the violin after it is fitted up, and almost every family has its own peculiar method of polishing, which is handed down from mother to daughter, some excelling in a deep wine color, others in citron or orange color. The more expensive violins are polished from twenty to thirty times before they are considered perfect and ready for use.

Homer's Seven Cities.

It has been said that "seven cities claimed Homer dead, who while living had no place to lay his head," or words to that effect—that is to say, Homer's fame became such after his death that seven cities contended for the honor of having been the place of his birth. Do you know the name of those seven cities? They are Chios, Athens, Rhodes, Colophon, Argos, Smyrna and Salamis.

Sunshine Furnace
 Common Furnace Fire Pot
 Sunshine Furnace Fire Pot
 The slanting fire-pots in common furnaces provide a rest-place for ashes and clinkers, and these clog the draft, prevent radiation, make the furnace hard to shake, and fill up the fire-pot.
 The "Sunshine" pot is straight up and down, which gives an uninterrupted course to the draft, and prevents ashes and clinkers sticking to the sides.
 The same skill and thought has been used on every feature of the "Sunshine" furnace—it is Canada's greatest heater.

 2. Your case will receive most careful attention each time you call or write.
 3. YOU MAY PAY AFTER YOU ARE CURED.
Nervous Debility
 The Latest Method Treatment is a heaven-sent boon to nervous sufferers. There are scores and hundreds of persons suffering from severe nervous disorders resulting from overwork, hurry, worry, business and domestic cares, bereavement, dissipation, etc. To them life is one continual round of misery, while peace, comfort and happiness are impossible. They suffer from headaches, loss of memory, mental depression, strange sensations, dizziness, dullness, restlessness, weakness, trembling, heart palpitation, cold limbs, utter fatigue and exhaustion. In this class of cases almost immediate relief is afforded by my treatment, while the cure itself is a permanent and lasting one.
BLOOD POISON
 If you have traces of it you are in constant danger until cured, there is no standstill in diseases of this kind. You cannot tell how soon the poison will affect the other organs of the body: have your nose bleed, ulcers in the mouth or tongue, copper colored patches, sores breaking out, sore bones, hair falling out, itching skin? Call to see me, and receive a written guarantee of a cure, and you may

REBELS AFTER RUSSIAN DUKE

Insurgents Wreck Train in Belgium to Kill Vladimir—Other Wrecks

FRISCO FLYER IS SPIKED

Charleroi, Belgium, July 31.—An attempt was made Sunday night to wreck the Northern Express from Paris. A train was moved, the engine and tender were derailed and the engineer and fireman were killed. The cars, however, remained on the tracks and the passengers were uninjured.

It is reported that Russian agitators were responsible for the attempt to wreck the express owing to their expectation that Grand Duke Vladimir was on board. The railway officials say the grand duke was not on the train. They have no trace of the men who committed the outrage.

SOME NARROW ESCAPES.

Train Runs into a Landslide With Fatal Results.

Newburgh, N. Y., July 31.—Two wrecking crews were at work yesterday morning clearing the debris of the wreck of the New York Central's Pacific Express, which ran into a landslide one mile south of New Hamburg at 11:30 Sunday night, resulting in the death of Edward Wells, the engineer, of Albany, and Edward Warren, fireman, of New York, and injuries to about a dozen passengers, none of which will prove fatal.

There are three tracks at the point where the accident occurred, but they were all torn up or twisted for a hundred feet or more, so that it was apparent that it would be many hours before through traffic could be resumed.

The wreck was the worst that has occurred on the Hudson division since the New York tunnel disaster. It seems miraculous that there were no casualties or serious injuries among the passengers.

TO SEE TRAIN WRECK.

The "Frisco Cannon Ball" Spiked Presumably by Country Boys.

Antlers, I. T., July 31.—The south-bound "Cannon Ball" train on the Frisco Railroad was wrecked Sunday south of Antlers. A spike had been driven between two rails on the high side of a curve. The locomotive struck it and rolled down an embankment, the tender and the baggage car following. John Harlan, the engineer, will probably die. Will Skelton, the fireman, was killed.

Detectives believe the wreck was caused by country boys, who wanted to see the fast train stop in the woods. The train was a long one, bearing 200 excursionists from Texas.

Thrown Under Train.

St. Thomas, July 31.—Frank Leach, the well-known horse buyer, had a miraculous escape from death while driving across the Pere Marquette track on Tablot street last evening. Leach did not notice an approaching passenger train, which struck his carriage and threw him under the moving train. The train was brought to a standstill and Leach was removed to the hospital. His injuries consisted of a severe scalp wound and injuries to his back and shoulder. Hope are held out for his recovery.

KILLED ON RIFLE RANGES.

Private of the Seventh Regiment Victim of Time of Bursting Rifle.

London, Ont., July 31.—John Williamson, a member of the 7th Regiment, was instantly killed at the Cove ranges on Saturday afternoon. A rifle in the hands of Pte. Pickle, a fellow-rifleman, burst, and one of the pieces of flying metal struck Williamson in the forehead. A marksmanship contest was in progress and Williamson escaped injury.

The deceased, who was 37 years of age, came to this country from Dundee, Scotland, last fall.

Pte. Pickle was also injured. The bolt flew out and hit him a glancing blow on the forehead, which caused a large lump. The thumb of his right hand was split open, and he was blinded for several minutes.

BAD BOILER EXPLOSION.

Two Men Killed and Twenty Injured—One Blown 50 Feet.

Vincennes, Ind., July 31.—Harry Borders and Lafayette Lichey were killed and twenty other workmen were injured by the explosion of a boiler at the plant of the Vincennes Paper Mills Co. The property loss is $15,000. Of the injured the worst hurt is Charles Connors, who was blown 50 feet through the air.

The boiler was hurled through the roof of the boilerhouse. Falling 100 feet away, it badly damaged the Harrison mansion, home of Wm. Henry Harrison, when he was governor of the Northwest Territory.

Taylor's Injuries Prove Fatal.

Toronto, July 31.—George Taylor, a shaker, living on Bathurst street, who fell 40 feet from the roof of the House of Providence last Saturday, while engaged in work for the firm of Douglass Bros., died at St. Michael's Hospital at 7:45 o'clock last evening.

CHARLES COULD NOT SWIM.

Toronto Young Man Drowned in a Fatal Night Bath—At Dufferin Wharf in 8 Feet of Water.

Toronto, July 31.—William Charles, plasterer, aged 21, living with his parents at 22 Foxley street, was drowned at the exhibition dock, foot of Dufferin street, at about 10 o'clock last night. Charles, though he could not swim, was in the habit of going with companions to the dock, at the foot of Dufferin street, after dark to bathe. A railing running around the wharf, about a foot out of the water, was used by the younger boys as a "hang on." Charles lost his hold, and his companions did not notice until it was too late.

DROWNED IN STONY LAKE.

Ewart G. Jupp Takes Cramps While In Swimming.

Peterboro, July 31.—Ewart G. Jupp of Toronto, who had just come to Stony Lake on Saturday night to spend Sunday with his friend, Dr. Wilson, also of Toronto, was drowned Sunday night while bathing.

Jupp was in swimming in the evening, just off Crow's Landing, where the shore inclines abruptly and where the water is very deep. He took cramps, and before assistance could arrive went to the bottom. His body was recovered shortly afterwards and taken to Norwood. Jupp was a young Englishman who had spent two years in Canada.

G. A. Burk Drowned.

Bowmanville, July 31.—George Albert Burk, only son of Ernest J. Burk, was drowned Sunday in Lake Ontario at Burk's Beach, about a mile west of Port Bowmanville. The young man was 21 years of age, and went down in the lake in the forenoon to have a bath.

Boy Drowns.

Trenton, July 31.—George Stewart, aged 11, son of E. Stewart, of Trenton, was drowned on Sunday afternoon. Young Stewart and two other boys were rowing, when he stood up in the boat, and in an attempt to throw something lost his balance and fell overboard. He came up a short distance away, but his companions were unable to reach him and he sank.

Two Drowned.

Sherkston, July 31.—John and Josie Sherk, grown-up children of Daniel Sherk of Sherkston, were drowned in Lake Erie yesterday afternoon.

Rescued by Lieut. Asior.

Windsor, Eng., July 31.—Second Lieut. John Jacob Astor, son of Wm. Waldorf Astor yesterday gallantly rescued a trooper of his regiment, the First Life Guards, from drowning in the River Thames.

Founders in Gulf.

Pensacola, Fla., July 31.—It was rumored here yesterday that the Austrian steamer Carolina, Captain Bartolich, which cleared from this port on July 24 for Marseilles, Spezia and Venice, had foundered somewhere in the Gulf of Mexico.

Steamer Superior Sinks.

Victoria, B. C., July 31.—The steamer Superior, owned by Capt. G. M. French, struck an uncharted rock Monday night in Howe's Sound, near Gambler Island, and sank. The crew took to the boats and got clear before the vessel went down. The wreck lies in 40 feet of water and may be raised.

Barns Burned.

Forest, July 31.—A destructive electrical storm passed over this section at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. Lightning struck several places in town, and barns belonging to E. Elliott, Andrew Rae, Plympton; S. Wall, Plympton, and D. D. Brodie, Warwick, were burned.

Fined $100.

Montreal, July 31.—Recorder Wain rendered judgment yesterday condemning the harbor commissioners of Montreal to pay a fine of $100 in the case in which they are charged by Pierre Robitoux with a violation of the alien labor law.

Sage's Gift to Wife.

New York, July 31.—In connection with the reports of possible contests of the will of Russell Sage, a story was circulated yesterday to the effect that Mr. Sage gave $10,000,000 to his wife shortly before his death.

Outlawed Douma Makes Appeals Against Puppet Government

THE OPPRESSION GOES ON

St. Petersburg, July 31.—The text of the appeal to the army and navy adopted July 27 by the Radical groups of the outlawed Parliament, in conjunction with the central committees of the proletarian organizations is in part as follows:

"Soldiers and sailors, the Government has by Imperial command dissolved Parliament and troops have been assembled from all sides to oppress the people by armed force. The people's representatives were elected from among your fathers and brothers in order to lay before the Emperor the needs of this people and to obtain lands and liberty. But the Emperor would not listen to the elected of the people. He barked to his former councillors, the grand dukes, Ministers, generals and the wealthiest of the land owners, who did not want to give up their lands, their properties, their emoluments, and their irresponsible power.

Russia Divided Against Itself.

"Russia is now divided into two parts. On one side is the vast majority—all the peasants and workmen, all the poor and oppressed, the best educated and the most enlightened citizens, the soldiers who see the most clearly, the best officers and all the martyrs in the jails, including many thousands of soldiers and sailors. On the other side is a collection of oppressors, such as Trepoft, Pobiedonostseff and the Manchurian generals, who ran away from the Japanese, but who fired on the people at Moscow and Odessa and Tshitka; the petty Government officials, the police spies and the whole black hundreds, and these rely on your strength to beat down the whole Russian people. Will you shoot the people, shed the blood of the people and transfix the people's breasts with bayonets? Remember that you are the children of peasants, that you are the children of the Russian people, and that at the same time in the villages where you were born your own brothers who are remaining home are also agitating, are also demanding land and liberty, and that the Government is sending other troops to shoot and beat them.

Declare Government Illegal.

"Soldiers and sailors, we, the legally elected representatives of the peasants and workmen, declare to you that without Parliament the Government is illegal. Orders, which is may now issue have no legal force. We call on you to cease to obey the illegal Government, and actively to oppose it in conjunction with us, and the whole of the poor population. You have taken an oath to defend the fatherland. Stand beside us for land and liberty.

"Any man who shoots at the people is a criminal, a traitor and the enemy of the people. We inform all such, in the name of their fathers and brothers, that over their names will hang the eternal curse of the people.

"Soldiers and sailors, your sacred duty is to free the Russian people from the treacherous Government and defend Parliament. Every man failing in this holy war will cover himself with eternal fame, and the Russian people will bless his name. In this struggle your elected representatives will be with you. Be brave for the fatherland, for the people and for land and liberty against the criminal Government."

To Support Uprising.

Premier Stolypin has issued a special circular to the governors, instructing them to employ every means to compel the payment of the taxes now falling due, as well as the arrears.

The central committee of the Social Democrats has been hastily summoned here from the provinces. It has been formally decided to support the action of the revolutionary groups last week in pushing the agitation for a general strike and uprising.

Marked Men.

Yekaterinslav, Russia, July 31.—The foreign consuls at Yekaterinslav have made representations to their Governments regarding the necessity for protecting foreign subjects, three foreign managers of mills having been attacked during the past week.

Fire and Pillage.

A mob of 200 workmen completely gutted a brewery at St. Petersburg Monday night. Before a detachment of Cossacks sent to disperse them arrived the men destroyed practically everything.

Three large estates in the vicinity of Samara were destroyed Monday night. The peasants are cutting the wood on both the crown and private forests.

A band of 300 peasants has burned the manor house and stock stables belonging to Nagymoff, president of the District of Zemstvo, and subsequently entered the neighboring village and sacked the spirit stores.

The Brodski grain elevators at Kiev have been destroyed by fire, involving a loss of $1,500,000.

It is officially announced from Warsaw that the Jews suffering from the robbery of the Warsaw-Vienna train, between Czenstochowa and Herby, July 28, amounts to $86,000.

Bomb-Thrower Arrested.

Odessa, July 31.—The police yesterday arrested 50 employees of the customs house who were on strike.

An Anarchist yesterday threw a bomb into a shop here and wounded a clerk. The bomb-thrower was arrested.

Shot Down.

Warsaw, July 31.—M. Burago, the leading official of the Sochatchev district and a policeman who was escorting him, were shot dead by revolutionists near here yesterday, in revenge for the part they had taken in the repression of the agrarian strike movement.

Will Prosecute Members.

St. Petersburg, July 31.—The public prosecutor has started proceedings against the members of the lower
