LOHENGRIN

The "Heart Song" illustrated in today's issue of the Courier is the famous Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin. To untold thousands of people this wedding march recalls the most joyous moment of their lives.

The translation of the words used in Heart Songs is very beautiful, and match the music almost as well as if they had been written for it originally.

The Lohengrin Bridal Chorus, or wedding March, is only one of several celebrated compositions of this kind that appear in the book—and it is this completeness and accuracy that makes it universally interesting and absolutely a work that no home should do without.

"HEART SONGS" is one of the great books of the century. It will charm, entertain and instruct every member of the family. It has five hundred selections words and music, and is now being distributed by The Courier to its friends and readers on presentation of six consecutively dated coupons clipped from the paper, and the bare cost of distribution.

These's favorite dish was, it appears, a devil-fish, which goes a long way towards explaining "Ghosts" and "The Power of Darkness."

AMERICAN WINS DERBY AT EPSOM

Durban II, Belonging to H. B. Duryea, Beat a Big Field.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

EPSOM, May 27.—The Derby, the best known of the English classic horse races, was won to-day by Herman B. Duryea's Durban II, whose recent form in France had been considered so poor that he was regarded here as such a rank outsider that odds of 25 to 1 were freely laid against him in the clubs last night. To-day he had no trouble in disposing of a huge field of thirty horses, the largest that has turned out for the race since 1863 and he won in a canter by three lengths from two other outsiders, Hapsburg and Peter the Hermit.

The betting just before the start of the race was 20 to 1 against Durban II, 33 to 1 against Hapsburg and 100 to 1 against Peter the Hermit.

The public favorites never flattered their supporters at any stage of the race. Kennymore, who led the betting, behaved so badly at the post that he delayed the start and when the field was finally sent away, he was left in a bad position. Polycrates made all the running to the half distance with Black Jester Hapsburg, Dan Russell and Durban II close up, rounding Tottenham corner Durban II jumped in an the rails and took up the running. He held the command to the finish, easily stalling off several challengers. Dan Russell was fourth. The time of the race was two minutes, 38 seconds, a fraction of a second quicker than the average.

King George and Queen Mary were both present and the crowds on the course seemed to be as big as ever. The past glory of the journey by road from London to Epsom departed with the advent of automobiles and the high spirits usually characterizing the crowd on Derby Day were in some degree damped by the presence of an army of police encamped about the ground and firing their rifles in the course to prevent any attempt at violence such a caused the death of Miss Davison during last year's race. It would have required an airship to circumvent the precautions taken by the police.

History of Race

The Derby stakes was established in 1780, but races had taken place on the same course as early as 1640. The stakes are valued at $32,500, and it is for entire colts and fillies of three years old. The course is about one mile and a half in length. For this year's race there were originally 175 entries. The great favorite four this year's race, The Barach, was scratched a few weeks ago.

Durban II, to-day's winner, is a bay colt by Rabelais, out of Armenia. He was bred in France.

The last American to win the English Derby was Richard Croker, who carried off the classic race with Orby in 1907.

Duryea's Record

H. Duryea, one of the most prominent American turfmen, has already a string of victories to his credit. The chief of these was the race at Newmarket in 1912, where Sweeper II broke away from the field in a spectacular finish and won by a length.

Mr. Duryea bred Bugler, Manthorpe, Bansee and a number of other favorites in English and French races.

Duryea and Harry Payne Whitney have jointly owned a number of horses. He has stakes both in England and France, and, accompanied by Mrs. Duryea he has been a familiar figure at most of the important races of the last ten years.

Formerly Duryea was well known as a yachtsman. He took a leading part in the America's cup races and was identified with the syndicate that helped defend the America's Cup some years ago. His interest later turned to horse racing and when the anti-betting laws were passed in this state he started his foreign stables, and since then has spent most of his time abroad.

MRS. PANKHURST RELEASED TO-DAY

LONDON, May 27.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant suffragette leader, was again released from Holloway jail to-day suffering from the effects of a "hunger strike." She had refused to eat from the moment of her arrest during last week's raid by the suffragettes on Buckingham Palace, when they tried to carry a petition to King George.

Roosevelt Discovered A Real New River

And More Than That, He Told the Geographical Society at Washington Pretty Plainly That He Found It—He Got a Good Reception From the Society at the Capital.

NEW YORK, May 27.—"If anybody doubts the existence of that river now, his sincerity is open to question." This was the comment of Col. Theodore Roosevelt early to-day on his return here from Washington on the lecture he delivered there last night before the National Geographic Society, in which he officially announced the discovery of a heretofore unknown river in Brazil.

Colonel Roosevelt planned to remain in town, to-day, spending some time at his editorial offices, where it was arranged to take his testimony in the suit brought by Attorney Watts against John Mitchell for fees he assessed are due for the part he took in the settlement of the Pennsylvania strike of 1903. Col. Roosevelt expected to return to his home at Oyster Bay late in the day. He was highly honored at the reception accorded him in Washington.

CARSON ASSERTS ULSTER CANNOT NOW BE SUBDUED

Chance of Home Rule Becoming Effective as Slim as Redmond Becoming King.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

NEW YORK, May 27.—A special London cable to The New York World says:

Sir Edward Carson, interviewed, says: "There is great enthusiasm in the United States and countless resolutions of sympathy have been passed. Ulster will be supported by money, and great rallies have taken place in Philadelphia, New York and Boston. Thousands of men are ready to fight if necessary. I have received so many letters and telegrams that I have been unable to open the mail. Here is a cheque for $5,000 and another for $2,500, both from Melbourne, and another for $500 has arrived from Toronto. We are receiving expressions of practical sympathy from every part of the empire. I am going to Mount Ash Thursday and shall there state my views as to the effect of passing the third reading of the Home Rule Bill which, not only may increase the number of Ulster men, absolutely and definitely will make no difference to Ulster. Then I shall go to Belfast Friday night and there I shall engage mainly in organizing and taking such preliminary steps as are necessary to carry out arrangements in the event of the bill being put on the statute book."

"Now, let me say this most emphatically, there is no more chance of the bill ever being effective in Ulster than there is of John Redmond becoming king of England, and the government knows it. Ulsterers are quite ready and they are resolute."

CONNAUGHT TO RECEIVE THE MEDIATORS

He Will Meet Them at Residence of Sir Edmund Osler.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

TORONTO, May 27.—At 4.45 p. m. to-day His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada, will give a fifteen minute audience at Strathcona, the residence of Sir Edmund Osler, M. P., to the A. B. C. mediators and the United States and Mexican delegates. The audience will take place immediately prior to the reception to the guests to the Royal Garden party. The foreign party arrived in the city shortly before noon and registered at the King Edward Hotel. They are accompanied by a large party of staff representatives of American newspapers.

The following were among the most distinguished guests:

Brazilian Ambassador, His Excellency Domicio a Gama, chairman and Senator A. De Thamea Moreira, secretary.

Argentine Minister, His Excellency Dr. Naon and Senator Eduardo Gib, secretary.

Chilean Minister, His Excellency Don Eduardo Enarez Mujica, and Senator Manuel Salinas, secretary.

United States delegation: Hon. Mr. Justice R. Lamar and Mrs. Lamar; Hon. F. W. Lehmann, Mr. and Mrs. H. Percival Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Rose and F. M. Rose.

A. Rabasa, his sons; Senor Louis Elguero and Senor Miguel Fernandez De La Regata, secretary.

The Mexican party will also include Manuel Martinez Del Campo and wife; M. S. Sestaba and wife, Mexican consul in New York, and on Al-gara R. De Terro, late Mexican charge d'affaires at Washington and Senor Raphael Capello of Mexico City.

General Felix Diaz, who is in Toronto, was not invited to the function. There were 2800 invitations to the garden party and there have been 2300 acceptances.

JUST LIKE TORONTO

TORONTO, May 27.—It is rather notable that not a single representative of the city was on hand to receive the A. B. C. mediators and the United States and Mexican delegates on their arrival this morning. Mayor Hocken is out of the city, but Controller McCarthy is acting mayor. The absence of civic officials was the subject of comment.

AVIATOR WAS PICKED UP BY STRAY BOAT

After British Navy Had Abandoned Search Hamel Turns Up.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

NEWCASTLE, Eng., May 27.—The Evening Mail says that Gustave Hamel, the British aviator, who had been given up for lost in the English Channel, landed to-day from a fishing boat at South Shields.

Hamel left Lee Crotoy, France, on Saturday morning last in a new machine to fly to Hendon, England. As he did not arrive, it was supposed that he had met with an accident, while crossing the English Channel and a swarm of torpedo boats spent several days in searching for traces of the missing aviator.

Last night the British Admiralty announced that it had reluctantly suspended the search and had abandoned all hope for Hamel's safety.

Hamel a few days ago had announced his intention of attempting to cross the Atlantic in an aeroplane next fall.

The fishing boat which saved Hamel was a foreign vessel which had been driven out of its course and this caused the delay in giving information as to the rescue of the aviator.

SLEUTH BURNS WAS DISCHARGED BY THE JUDGE

He Took a Colored Witness Away From Atlanta But Brought Her Back.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

MONTREAL, May 27.—A special to the Gazette, from Atlanta, Ga., says: Judge Ben Hill yesterday dismissed proceedings against Detective Burns and Lehon, who were cited to show cause why they should not be adjudged in contempt of court, for removing Anna Maude Carter, a colored witness in the Frank murder case from the jurisdiction of the court.

The witness had sworn Connelly had confessed to her that he and not Leo M. Frank had murdered Mary Phagan.

Judge Hill held that the act of the detectives was not contempt, but as they returned the woman to Atlanta, he would dismiss the charge. Lehon, Burns' aide, was fined $100 or thirty days in prison for violating the city's ordinance governing private detectives, and was bound over to appear before the state court to answer a charge of similarly violating state laws. Five other Burns agents will be tried to-day on like charges before Recorder Broyles. At Lehon's trial, the negr woman, Anna Carter, swore Lehon had given her money to swear against Jim Connelly.

The Burns agency here has been closed, following the cancelling of its license by the city council.

ITALIAN EXECUTED

But He Did Not Want to Look at the Chair or at the Witnesses.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

TRENTON, N. J., May 27.—To shut out the sight of the death chair and the witnesses, Raefully Longo, who was put to death in the state prison here last night insisted on blinding himself before leaving his cell. The mask was not removed from his eyes and the black mask was adjusted over the mask. Longo never saw the death chair.

Longo was married in the death house Monday night so that his wife, to whom he had been joined by religious ceremony many years ago, could obtain some property he possessed in Italy. His execution was for the murder of Antonio Migliore, his cousin, Elizabeth, nearly two years ago.

FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT.

MONTREAL, May 27.—Knocked down and run over by an automobile, Herbert Scott, 7 years of age, 188 West Ontario street, sustained injuries so severe that he died a short time later on the operating table at the Royal Victoria hospital. The accident occurred only a short time after the death of his baby sister, Margaret, aged two years, had been struck and painfully injured by a rig.

Prince Alexander Is Very Much Annoyed

Governor-General Designate of Canada Resents American Insinuation That He is Hard Up and is Coming to Canada as Governor-General to Save Queen Mary's Pocket.

MONTREAL, May 27.—A London cable to the Daily Mail says: It is stated that H.S.H. Prince Alexander of Teck, the Governor-General designate of Canada, is greatly annoyed at despatches published in the New York press in which it was stated that Queen Mary had paid his debts and demanded his appointment to Canada from Premier Asquith because it would save her pocket.

He is all the more annoyed because such allegations might be made with possible justification about some of his relatives. It is generally agreed here, however, that Prince Alexander is one of the straightest of lesser royalties.

MOTOR BUS SERVICE IS A GOOD THING

City Planning Conference is in Progress in Toronto City.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

TORONTO, Ont., May 27.—In his address at the city planning conference to-day on rapid transit and the motor bus, John A. McCollum, assistant engineer of the board of estimate and apportionment of New York City, held that motor buses in cities are a good supplement to existing rapid transit lines.

"The 3,000 odd motor omnibuses of London, England," he said, "are now carrying an aggregate of about 500,000,000 passengers per annum; a total greater than the number of cash fares collected on all the street surface railways of the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx in the City of New York. This huge service has practically grown up since 1905, and the last horse-drawn bus has now been withdrawn from the street. Each motor bus has a seating capacity of 34 passengers and the rate of fare is only about 20 per cent higher than that of the street railways.

Although London, owing to the peculiar traffic conditions in the narrow, tortuous streets in the center of the city has become the most fruitful field for motor bus operation, Other great European cities, such as Paris and Berlin are daily establishing new services, and its sphere of usefulness has been lately extended to New York.

In that city one company has now 100 vehicles in use, carrying about 90,000 passengers each per annum.

"The motor bus possesses a great advantage over the street car in flexibility. Delays to other cars do not result from the breakdown of one; change of route may be easily made as often as required to accommodate traffic conditions; and passengers may enter or leave at the side of the roadway. The bus system is also independent of any central power plant, wires, poles or rails.

"The operating cost of the motor bus is somewhat higher, but the investment required is less and grows only in proportion to traffic requirements.

"The chief sphere of usefulness for the motor bus appears to be as a supplement to existing rapid transit lines," he said. "Many districts might be immediately supplied with motor bus service that might have to wait years before any company would undertake the risk of laying permanent street car tracks."

WILL SAVE TUG

Caught in Big Ice Floes Off Newfoundland While at Rescue Work.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The Naval tug Potomac, abandoned to destruction in the ice floes of the Bay of Islands, off the bleak Newfoundland coast, last February, will be brought safely into St. Johns, N.F., as soon as the ice packs have sufficiently subsided. Navy department officials believe the tug has not suffered severe damage and they say her salvage will cost only a few thousand dollars. It previously had been supposed that the tug for which the United States paid $125,000 would go to pieces like an egg shell, among the tremendous floes where she was abandoned, after her crew was taken to shore.

ROCKEFELLER ILL

Attempt to Get Him as Witness Gives Him Pain and Annoyance.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

NEW YORK, May 28.—William Rockefeller has returned to Tarrytown from Fairfield, Conn. Through friends it was said to-day that Mr. Rockefeller insists that he is not physically able to testify before the Interstate Commerce Commission; that his voice will not permit him to go to the stand, and so he considers attempts too gain his testimony an annoyance. If any one is to be subpoenaed for the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, Mr. Rockefeller believes that it should be the auditors and bookkeepers, who know the details of the questions under inquiry by the commission.

A NOVEL DESIGN.

Figured and plain crepe have been combined in an unusual manner for the neat little summer frock sketched here. Pleated crepe was used for the skirt, while a figured crepe with ecru ground and figures in tango and black was used for the blouse and basque-like skirt yoke. The yoke and lower skirt portion were joined under a braid matching the latter in color. The blouse opens over a vest of plain white batiste, finished with a rolling collar of the same. A fall of lace trims either side of the front, lending an attractive fluffiness to a rather severe whole.

He Invented Telephone At The Age of Twenty-Five

The Ottawa Free Press contains the following breezy reference to the invention of the telephone in Brantford.

"Forty years ago, on the porch of an unpretentious little house in Brantford, two Scotchmen sat talking. One was a middle aged man, known to his neighbors as an elocutionist, deeply interested in helping deaf mutes communicate with each other. The other was a thoughtful looking young fellow of 25, professor of vocal physiology—whatever that was—in Boston university. Neighbors passing up and down the street heard snippets of their conversation, and passed on, wondering what all this talk about 'armatures,' and 'current interrupters' and 'induction coils' meant.

The young man was explaining a new invention he had been working on, a multiple telegraph instrument, which could send a number of messages over a single wire. It worked on the principle of an electric buzzer with springs that alternately made and broke a circuit.

The way in which these springs vibrated at the sending end was reproduced at the receiving end. Only, and this was the important feature, ed, was the moment that the telephone was invented. The middle aged man was Alexander Melville Bell, famous elocutionist, and the young man, his son, was Alexander Graham Bell.

"Brantford was my thinking place," said Dr. Garam Bell not long ago, discussing the invention of the telephone. "There I would go and spend my summer holidays and look over the line of experiments that had been made in Boston, and plan for the future. And in the summer of 1874, during my visit to my father's house in Brantford, discussing with my father the experiments I had made in Boston, relative to the reproduction of musical sounds by electricity for the purpose of multiple telegraphy, the thought of the membrane telephone was elaborated. It was practically the same instrument as shown in the patent. It was a theoretical conception of a magneto telephone, a very daring conception, if I may be allowed to say so that the vibration of the voice might create electrical impulses like the aerial impulses, and produce an audible result at the other end. As a theoretical man I saw a speaking telephone, that theoretically we had the means of transmitting and reproducing speech in distant places."

Dr. Bell went back to Boston with this idea fermenting in his head. He kept on for a time working at his harmonic telegraph. He was assisted by a young Boston mechanic, Thomas A. W. Watson.

On the afternoon of June 2, 1875, Watson and Bell were "tuning up" one of the spring instruments, Watson was plucking away at the transmitter spring, making it buzz, or rather whine, while Bell was adjusting the transmitter spring so that it would give a whine of exactly the same pitch as the other. Suddenly the spring of the Watson instrument stuck. He kept plucking at it without avail. He bent over to examine it. The make and break points were fused. There was no interruption of the current. The circuit was unbroken. Yet the receiving spring continued to vibrate. The steel vibrating over the magnet was making the steel over the other magnet vibrate. The electrical waves were setting up sound waves.

Bell rushed over to Watson's instrument with a shout. "What did you do then? Don't change anything. Let me see." A few days before he had remarked: "If I could make a current of electricity vary in intensity, precisely as the air varies in intensity during the production of a sound, I should be able to transmit speech telegraphically." That was exactly just what happened. The steel spring vibrating across the pole of the magnet, was generating a current of electricity that varied in intensity with hearing distance of the spring. The sound was being electrically transmitted, the telephony was possible. The first crude telephone was in operation.

Bell and Watson immediately set to work to construct the human voice. To get the delicate vibrations of speech they attached a membrane of gold-beater's skin over the springs of the instruments to work in the same way as the human ear-drum acts by passing vibrations.

Dr. Bell describes the first conversation over the phone on July 1, 1875, as follows: "We had only one membrane telephone, and the receiver was one of the old tuned reed receivers. It was held up to the ear. You crammed the armature against the ear to dampen its vibrations. I was listening at that armature, while Watson was down in the basement of Charles Williams, Jr., building at 109 Court street, and then we changed places. I may say that I heard nothing. Then Mr. Watson went downstairs to listen and I went upstairs to speak, and while I was speaking, Mr. Watson came rushing upstairs in a state of great excitement and saying: 'Why Mr. Bell I heard your voice very distinctly, and could almost understand what you said.'"

"Our Mutual Girl" Disappears While Seeking Her Protegee

"KID JOSEPH" ABDUCTING ADA TAYLOR

Margaret did not return to her aunt's home the day she left to go down to the lover east side to look for Ada Taylor, her protegee. Her aunt surmised where the girl had gone, and she realized the danger "Our Mutual Girl" risked when she went alone in search of the girl she had twice rescued. Mrs. Knickerbocker was not surprised when her maid brought her a note found on the window sill. The note asked Mrs. Knickerbocker to meet the writer at Broadway and Fourteenth street if she wished to learn something about the whereabouts of her niece.

Before Mrs. Knickerbocker had decided what to do about this note "Fat" Taylor, Ada's brother, arrived. He had been seeking his sister in the same locality where he had found her before, and the gangsters had set on him and beaten him severely. He appealed to Mrs. Knickerbocker for information concerning his sister and was surprised to learn of Miss Margaret's disappearance. Mrs. Knickerbocker gave him money, and he again set out on the search for his sister and also for Margaret.

In the meantime the gangsters read in the papers about the disappearance of Margaret, and they decide to extort money from Mrs. Knickerbocker. They send Ada up to see their intended victim, and she arrives while a number of detectives are questioning Mrs. Knickerbocker and her servants about Margaret's disappearance. The butler tries to get Ada to enter the house, but a gangster who had followed her up the steps knocks the butler down, grabs Ada, and she is hustled into an auto and away, with the detectives in pursuit in another auto.

The gangsters reach a ferry ahead of the detectives and, with the girl, board a ferryboat just as it leaves the slip, and the detectives are left behind. They hire a launch and follow the ferryboat.

The gangsters, seeing they are pursued, go to the other side of the ferry and by showing a roll of money to the captain of a tugboat get him to run up close and take them off the ferryboat. They thus elude the detectives and return to the east side.

The mysterious note received by Mrs. Knickerbocker proves to be from a society burglar, who manages through the acquaintance of Mrs. Knickerbocker, and he agrees to help her find her niece. He then sends word to the gangsters to "lay off the job" and let him get what he can out of the wealthy Mrs. Knickerbocker.

All of the thrilling incidents mentioned here may be seen by the public on or after June 1 in the coming chapter of "Our Mutual Girl" fifty-two real serial.

Late Duke of Argyll's Marriage Was One Between Kindred Souls

"Eh, Mon, but it's a proud leddy the Queen is this day!"
So, according to tradition, spoke a canny Scots dame on that March day in 1871 when the Princess Louise became the bride of the Marquis of Lorne. It well illustrates the regard, amounting almost to reverence, which loyal Scots have for the greatest of all the Caledonian clans. What is it, that makes the daughter of the British sovereign compared with the heir of the Campbells? The answer is, it would be little, if any, exaggeration to say that the Campbells are the greatest family in the United Kingdom.

Valuable Properties For Sale by Tender

Tenders will be received, addressed to the undersigned, for the purchase of the following mentioned valuable properties, up to and including Saturday, the 30th of May, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon:
PARCEL No. 1—The property known as the Riverdale Baptist Church, situated on West Mill Street and having a frontage on West Mill of 65 ft. by 227 ft. on St. Paul Ave. The main width would be between 30 and 55 ft., as the lot tapers toward the rear. Upon the lot is erected a brick church, and the property is to be sold because the congregation propose erecting a larger building on another site. The size of the building is 40x29, with very strong walls, could be used as it is now, for a church building, or for factory sites; could be made into stores or used as apartmental or boarding house.

PARCEL No. 2—Residence, No. 195 West Mill St., owned and occupied by Mr. Ford Schram. Grounds contain 40 1/2 ft. frontage on West Mill St. by 92 1/2 ft. in depth. Upon the premises is erected a 2 storey brick house, having a concrete cellar, 2 compartments, heated by hot water, lighted by electricity, 3-piece enameled bath, double parlor, dining-room, kitchen, 3 bedrooms and 2 clothes closets, city water, good verandah, garage.

Both properties are on the line of the Lake Erie and Northern Railway and the Brantford Street Railway, in the midst of a good manufacturing district, and also a growing neighborhood. Home-made properties have improved in value very much in the last few years, and are still growing better.

We would be glad to have you tender for these properties. The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted. Terms—10% cash on acceptance of tender and 40% in 30 days from date of sale, and the remainder of the purchase price to be paid in sixty days thereafter. Remember the date up to which tenders are to be received, namely, Saturday, May 30th.

Complaint Made.
Much complaint is being heard as to the condition of the city water. One gentleman complained to the Courier this morning that the chloride in the water had caused severe illness in his family. During the last few days, he said, the water had been summoned to medical attention by the members of his family who had partaken of the water. The water commissioners are doing everything in their power to purify the water, but it was stated at headquarters that this city is not the only place which is having trouble with its water at the present time. When the improvements are completed in the near future there will be no cause for complaint.

AS TO HYDRO ELECTRIC.

The Guelph Mercury claims that the Courier is nonsensical, short-sighted and a few more things of like ilk, because it took occasion to point out that said Mercury was talking buncombe when it claimed that the development of Hydro-Electric should not be placed to the credit of the Whitney government.

Haven't, eh? Many were hard at it in Brantford led by the local Grit organ.

Many were also hard at it in Stratford led by the local Grit organ there.

Many were likewise hard at it in London led by the local Grit organ of that place and so on.

The Guelph paper cannot dare not deny the above.

What's more. When did Rowell or any other Liberal leader ever take his coat off on behalf of the project?

The Mercury will either give answer or else admit what is self evident that it doesn't know what it is talking about.

A DIFFICULT PROBLEM

The nearly four hundred Hindus who recently arrived at Vancouver, have been detained for their detailed physical examination, a process which is likely to last some days.

Each of them declared that they did not come direct from the land of their birth, but shipped on Hong Kong, Shanghai and so on. In effect, they all added, "But what matters that? We are citizens of the Empire." And therein is the rub.

Exclusion from Canada will lead them or those in their behalf to appeal to the British Government, and John Bull will have a very nasty problem on his hands.

On an area of 1,773,000 square miles, as compared with the 3,730,000 square miles of Canada, there is a teeming population of 315,000,000.

To control that vast horde there are British troops of 77,500 and native troops of 159,100. Probably no other nation in the world could hold things in hand with such a sprinkling of force and although matters seem quiet on the surface, there is always the lurking danger of an uprising.

As a matter of fact, domination of such a vast horde by an alien race, has at all times big elements of danger.

With regard to the Vancouver incident, a wealthy Hindu Gurgit Singh of Calcutta, who chartered a Japanese steamer and is along with the party, makes no secret whatever of what he is after. He knew that the Canadian Government had passed an act excluding his countrymen for a period and in an interview on board the vessel said:—

"There are thousands of natives of my country who are anxious to come here. The reason why I chartered the Komagata Mau was to ascertain at first hand whether it was the intention of your government not to permit East Indians to come to Canada. The matter will not rest there. I intend to use every legitimate course I can pursue to find out if it is true that East Indians will not be permitted to land in your country."

The man has abundant means with which to carry out his threat, and it is not too much to say that all India is watching the outcome. In fact, more than one native paper there has already declared that Canada must be open to Hindus or else British rule in that part of the world will be ended.

A NEW MOVE.

Word from Ottawa affords still further illustration of the present rudderless condition of the Liberal party. Ever since Laurier made the huge mistake of trying to ram Reciprocity down the throat of Johnny Canuck the Grits have been at sixes and sevens in a wild effort to hit upon something, no matter what, to obtain even a slight foothold with the public.

Take the Canadian Northern incident, and first of all let it be remembered that it was under Grit auspices that the enterprise received huge grants, which served to bring it to a point where non completion of this third Transcontinental line would spell not alone disaster, but give Canadian credit a set back in the Old Land for very many years. From 1903 to 1912 the Laurier administration advanced bond guarantees to no less a sum than $56,915,539 and when the need for more aid was first submitted to the Dominion House, Sir Wilfrid admitted that something should be done and that the road must not be allowed to lapse although at the same time he criticised the method proposed by the Borden Government. Following that, he allowed one of his lieutenants to move the six months hoist, which if carried would have brought about the very thing which Sir Wilfrid said must be avoided. Now Mr. Pugsley has sprung a new dodge by giving notice of an amendment, which, if adopted, could not fail to end in a receivership.

He suggests, first, that the stock be cut down to $30,000,000 and turned over to the Receiver-General for an option period of five years. At any time during five years the Government may take all the stock mentioned in the resolutions at a price fixed by arbitration and not to exceed $30,000,000, but if this option is not exercised, and the company lives up to the terms of the guarantee without default, the stock is to be handed back to Mackenzie and Mann, who are to operate the road in the meantime.

If his scheme should be carried it would sacrifice many of the safeguards upon behalf of the Canadian people and Canadian Treasury, so carefully built up by Solicitor-General Meighan. However, Pugsley's proposals establish at least this much, that he also realizes that something must be done.

RAILROAD DISCLOSURES.

United States papers these days are devoting much space and many bitter comments regarding the disclosures before the Interstate Commerce Commission of C. S. Mellen, former President of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railway, which has been exploited to such disastrous extent for some thousands of small stockholders.

According to Mellen, he was simply a puppet in the hands of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, multi-millionaire, and his presidency, insofar as any control was concerned, from the very first was an absolute farce. He states that the other multi-millionaire, Rockefeller, was Morgan's most powerful associate, but that he also was under the spell of the last-named, although he was more than once "staggered" by what Morgan did. When asked why he did not interfere, Mellen made answer: "I was proud of his confidence and proud to be called his man."

The purchase of the Westchester electric road was managed entirely by Morgan, practically neither the "president" nor any of the other directors being allowed a look-in on the subject. Some $11,000,000 of this seems to have gone to quarters other than for value received; much of it to Tammany braves. In an interview with Morgan, Mellen tells how he demurred to some features about these $11,000,000 expenditures, but Morgan was abrupt in his answers. He could never fathom the Westchester deal; he tried to, but failed. A few paragraphs from the report are worth inserting here, being highly convincing of Morgan's power:

Mr. Mellen explained that in an effort to obtain from Mr. Morgan information about the report he was subjected to further humiliation. Mr. Morgan, he intimated, treated him brusquely and refused to give him any more information than the report contained.

"I felt," said the witness, "that in disagreeing with Mr. Morgan I would be wrong nine times out of ten."

"Were you afraid of Mr. Morgan?" asked Mr. Folk.

"Perhaps there was some measure of cowardice about my feelings. You can put it that way. I stood in great awe of Mr. Morgan—greater than of any other man I ever met."

Mr. Mellen explained that after the meeting of the board, at which the report was adopted, S. C. Hemingway, a director, entered his office and said: "We're flying high here, spending $11,000,000. I'd like to know something about it."

"Suppose," I suggested, "said Mr. Mellen, 'that you go and find out. I have barked my shins trying.'"

"In fact," continued the witness, "I offered to appoint any director a committee to get the information; but they all 'ducked.'"

"After the meeting of the board there was quite a sanhedrin in my office. Several of the directors were disgusted because they knew so little of the transaction. Some of my Connecticut directors, among them Messrs. Hemingway and Skinner, were particularly aroused."

"Holy Caesarina Philip!" Mr. Skinner shouted. "What have you been doing here with eleven million dollars of New Haven money?"

"I'll appoint you a committee of one to find out," I suggested.

"Not on your life," said Mr. Skinner.

The witness declared that the amount that ought to have been paid for the Westchester road was about $5,000,000, instead of $35,000,000.

Of a truth our neighbors pay most dearly for their huge trusts and men of most fabulous wealth.

Wellington St., Sunday School board has voted to add fifty to sixty volumes to their library, also an additional supply of Bibles.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The proceedings of those peace mediators at the Falls make about as lively reading as a despatch in Choctaw.

They have been having severe weather in Southern France, with heavy falls of snow. We can readily spare them a chunk of this heat if they feel like it.

Woodstock is to have a new city hall at a cost of $75,000. No, gentle reader, that wasn't a blush you saw to-day on the face of Brantford's city hall, but red ochre placed there long ago by the hand of some prehistoric man.

The emphatic denial comes from Toronto of Grit assertions that Sir James Whitney will not be able to lead his party in the coming fight. From all indications that is likely to take place on or about Monday, June 29th.

Roosevelt, in an address at Washington, stuck to it about that new river of his in Brazil. He states that it is there and can't run away, so there now. Having lost their food supplies in some rapids, he further states that he and his party were forced to eat monkeys. As to that, he has always been down upon monkey work.

The Courier advances as a set-off to the premature dissolution of the Ontario Legislature at this time the action of the Laurier Government in dissolving the Dominion Parliament and going to the people on the reciprocity issue. But our contemporary fails to mention any issue, great or small, upon which the Whitney Government asks the verdict of the people, and therefore its parallel has no existence—Expositor.

The Courier didn't quote it as a parallel, but as an illustration that Governments have and do go to the people before the end of the parliamentary period. In the present instance the mere fact of a redistribution is abundant warrant. Meanwhile, why is the organ so afraid to have the people consulted?

Birthdays of Note

WEDNESDAY, MAY TWENTY-SEVENTH

Lt.-Col. Andrew T. Thompson, editor of the Canadian Military Gazette, and for some time M.P. for Haldimand, was born at Ruthven Park, Indiana, Ontario, forty-four years ago to-day. His father was for many years before him a member of the House of Commons. He himself became a barrister and practised successfully at Cayuga and Ottawa. During his Parliamentary career which extended from 1900 to 1904, he was one of the Liberal whips and was said to be in training to succeed Sir Frederick Borden as Minister of Militia. However this may be, he was defeated in 1904, largely because of his military leanings. As a soldier he has occupied a prominent position. He was one of the officers in Queen Victoria jubilee contingent, was second in command of the Canadian contingent at the coronation of King Edward and was deputy adjutant general at the Quebec Tercentenary celebration.

THE DAILY WORK.

Though nations may combat and war's weapons rattle, we shouldn't go batty, neglecting chores; we'd better be busy dehorning the cattle than stand around cussing those Mexican bors. Our ships will look after the national honor; it's wasted endeavor to argue and yawn, when we should be rusting, a-mowing the lawn or destroying the thistles which ruin the crop. Oh, some of us tell how we'd like to be slashing around in the blood of those Mexican jays; and people who know that our wives take in washing are not much impressed by the racket we raise. Our bulwarks are safe, and the nation's escutcheon (if any one knows what the dickens that is), is slicked than beeswax, so let us be touching the sars and the sawbuck, and get down to biz. Let's tend to our duties with business like ardor, and put up our hay in the light of the sun; let's stomp up the woodshed and also the larder and talk about war when the day's work is done.

LAST DRILL OF SEASON FOR THE DUFFERIN RIFLES

Other Military News Concerning Smart Regiments of Brantford.

The last battalion drill of the season was held last night in the Armories. Camp preparations overshadow at present; all the new web-belt equipment is being taken.

Of the new "hairs" too much cannot be said; it has advantages that only those who have marched under the old "Crimean" pattern braces, can appreciate.

It is easy to slip on and off and the broad web straps prevent cutting or chaffing the shoulders when it is worn for some time.

The Duffs are rapidly coming forward in matters of this kind, a well-trained machine gun section with a Maxim will be most likely, the addition planned for the future.

The battalion was well up in numbers and as usual keen and in good fettle last night.

D Company. D company hold their monthly shoot on Saturday 30th May. This is the first company prize shoot of season.

F Company. F stands good financially, their annual statement showing them to have $175.70 of a balance.

F, as the school primers used to say, "F stands for Finance."

The signallers expect to have the aerial apparatus in use within a week's time.

"The Regiment never was better," Lt.-Col. Howard, now roll up recruits; now's the time; a week at Niagara and a $1.75 a day for going there.

Lively Horse Dashed Through Plate Glass Window on Colborne St.

Brought to an abrupt stop by crashing through the plate glass window of Mr. J. T. Wallace's grocery store near the end of George street, one of the fine livery horses of the Main Line livery stable had an exciting run brought to a sudden close. About 6.30 yesterday the horse appeared at Dalhousie and George streets going at a break-neck speed towards Colborne street, with a buggy attached. When it got to Colborne street it attempted to make a wide turn west on Colborne street, but was unable to do so with the result that it crashed into the plate glass window of Mr. Wallace's store. Two sides of the heavy plate glass were smashed and also the corner rod. The horse was cut on the side and in one or two other places. No driver could be located. Where the horse started no one seems to know, and as yet the driver has not ascertained the amount of damage done. The horse will be unable to be used for some weeks. The shafts of the buggy were badly smashed. The damage to Mr. Wallace's window will be very heavy, but it is covered by insurance.

City News Items

Flooded Again. This morning's rain caused another flood at the Y.M.C.A. The bowling alley pits were filled with water and the billiard room was also flooded. Defective drainage was the cause.

Maple Blown Down. With a resounding crack a large branch of a big maple tree broke on George St. this morning during the brief storm. For some time the branch lay across the street nearly opposite the Children's Aid Society's Home, and to some extent it impeded traffic on the thoroughfare. At twelve o'clock school children had a fine time climbing into the fallen branches and shortly after city workmen cut the bough loose and carried it away, leaving little trace of the fallen branch.

Fittal Lights. The Hydro lights of the George street section were by no means constant last night, and several people using the public library, left that place after waiting some time for the lights that did not revive. Engineer Ireland said this morning that some tests were being conducted along the lines, and that the storm was not accountable for the alternating current. The Western Counties had a little trouble, which caused some inconvenience for fifteen minutes, but it was remedied when it was found to be a broken line on the circuit.

IMPERIAL BANK

Held Its Annual Meeting in City of Toronto This Morning.

[By Special Wire to The Courier] TORONTO, Ont., May 27.—The annual meeting of the Imperial Bank was held at noon today in the head office of the bank on Wellington street east, when the balance sheet for the year was presented and approved.

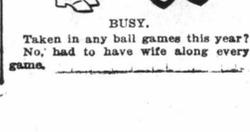

A by-law was passed increasing the number of directors to twelve, and owing to the death of the late Sir William Whyte, this left two vacancies to be filled. Mr. J. A. M. Aikens, C., was appointed to the place of the late Sir William, and Mr. E. W. Cox was elected to the newly-created seat. Another by-law was passed limiting the amount of donations by the directors for charitable and other purposes in any one year to $2500. A resolution of sympathy with Lady Whyte and the family of the late Sir William Whyte was moved and carried.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors Mr. D. R. Wilkie was re-elected president and Hon. Robert Jaffray vice-president for the ensuing year.

EXTENDED TIME TORONTO, May 27.—On the consent of the parites Chancellor Boyd this morning extended to October the time for the trial of the South Bruce election petition and cross-petition.

KILLED BY DYNAMITE CEDAR RAPIDS, Que., May 27.—Two men, Olaf Singerson and Wilde Larson, Sweden, were killed by an explosion of dynamite here yesterday. They were employed on construction work for the Cedar Rapids Power Company. A spark from a steam shovel set fire to a newly opened box of dynamite. Singerson noticed the blaze and bravely attempted to get the dynamite out of the box. Larson was going to Singerson's assistance when the dynamite exploded, killing both of them. Twenty men working in the vicinity were knocked down by the force of the explosion, but were not injured.

SIR JOSEPH DEAD. LONDON, May 27.—The death occurred today of Sir Joseph Wilson Swan, inventor of the first incandescent electric lamp. He was 86 years old and was born in Sunderland, England. Sir Joseph spent many years of his life in experimenting with electric lamps, and in 1869 succeeded in solving the problem of producing an incandescent light and thus making possible the general use of electricity for lighting purposes.

Taken in any ball games this year? No, had to have wife along every game.

MONEY REFUNDED MADE A FOREIGN WOMAN HAPPY

And She Will Not Attempt to Use Colborne Street Bath in Future.

Karl Smith, the manager of the Brantford public baths, gave an explanation of why foreign women were refused admission to the baths. He said that on the day when the ladies were refused, the bath was full there being two classes with their instructors using the pool at the time. He further stated that Comessitz acting as his agent, had exceeded his instructions when he refused to refund the cash paid. He now paid back the money which had been paid for the book of tickets and the matter was settled. Smith later said that a foreign woman had been tried in the fall, but it had not proved successful, besides which many of the foreign visitors were not sought because of their manner of bathing. Many of the girls who patronize the swimming pool objected to foreign women using the bath at the same time as they did, and that was the complaint of the police said the management may have cause to grumble at some of the foreign section, notably Poles and Russians, but no complaint could be laid at the door of her people, who were strictly decorous in all bathing matters. She was perfectly satisfied when her money had been returned, and in future will not attempt to use the swimming tank.

"You are making mountains out of molehills," said Magistrate Livingston when he dismissed the charge of fraud brought against Albert Symons by Geo. Secord, a farmer of Harrisburg. When defendant and his father and family were leaving that district they sold a plow to complainant who discovered afterwards that there was a mortgage of $12.00 on it. He complained to the police and the mortgage was paid and the case was to be settled last Wednesday, but the plaintiff insisted on an adjournment, although the magistrate told him it was only a case of costs, as the lien was paid. This morning the case was disposed of with the payment of costs, which amounted to $12.95.

J. S. Dunbar paid four dollars for the privilege of firing a rifle in the township three days ago. This is contrary to new by-laws and of this fact defendant was ignorant.

The usual drunks completed this morning's business.

PATRIOTIC CONCERT

BoyKnights Armory Crowded Last Evening—Clever Talent.

The Boy Knights armory was crowded to the doors on Tuesday evening, many being unable to get in, and the concert was a most successful one. The program consisted of solos by Mr. E. Matthews and Miss E. Wood and recitations by Mr. Bennett and Percy Holt. The principal item of the program was a mock court-martial, which was exceedingly humorous and caused much merriment. The C.O., who was the prisoner, had an interesting time of it in defending himself, and the judge was kept busy keeping law and order in the court room.

The Rev. Mr. Stout and Mrs. Stout were welcome visitors during the evening. The Rev. gentleman making a fine address to the boys on the value of forming good habits, and companionships in their early days. He also brought vividly back to mind some of the happy days that had been passed at Chiefton Woods, near Onondaga, under the charge of Prof. Hunt of the good work that had been done by leader and boys alike, while on the trip. He congratulated them on their work that they were doing.

A splendid display of fireworks brought the fine program to a close. During the evening ice cream and various other refreshments were served.

NEW PITCH MA The Red Sox Just Second Place as of Victory Yesterday

Best contribution into the field, was pitcher Gallagher, who was who proved a stunning block for Hamilton, and who added another to Brantford's string, then the Red Sox in second place. Gallagher looked good. Hamilton fans, who again time worn question, How Denean can dig up as of commands, players of such worth? The new southern left-handers, appeared, passed six batsmen and his making seven clean hits, and five innings he pitched and for the result, Brantford a comparatively tory.

NEW PITCHER GALLAGHER MAKES GOOD IMPRESSION

The Red Sox Jump Into Second Place as Result of Victory Yesterday.

Hamilton has won four and Brantford four. One other contest was tied. Brantford victories have been of recent date, and it is a noteworthy fact that the Red Sox have won seven out of their last eight starts.

Gallagher got good support from the Red Sox. That man, Dolan, in centre field, seems to be the whole works in the fielding line. He gathered in five flies and kept up his all round good work. Deneau was the only occupant of the Brantford error column, having two boos to his credit. On the other hand, Roth, Honeck and Wagner proved a veritable stone wall defence. Honeck, besides accepting in lightning fashion seven chances in the short field, slammed out two two-baggers, which was a pretty fair day's work for a lad of seventeen summers.

Early in the game it was seen that the Red Sox were anxious to get after Donohue, the pitching selection of Doc Yates. There has been a growing suspicion on the Red Sox bench that this fellow, Donohue, hasn't got very much except a decided enlargement of the pitching head, the pumps being prominent where they do the least good. The suspicion was confirmed yesterday, and Donohue got his. Ten lovely bingles were garnered in by Pres Nelson's haymakers, and everybody participated in the melee. Hitting in the pinches as an art, was well exemplified.

One of the pleasing features of the pastime, from a Brantford view point, was the good stick work of Gabby Ivers, who got a double and a single. Gabby apparently has won a place in the heavy artillery.

As prognosticated in these columns frequently, the Hamilton infield did not begin to shape up as strong as that of Brantford, and fans present predicted that this infield would boot away a lot of games before the season closed. Dudley, who took Eanick's place at short, had two costly errors.

The Athletics had several opportunities to score, but failed to come through with the necessary bingles. Donohue, who did the heaving for the Athletics, could not get going, and they hammered his offerings all over the lot, getting to him for ten safeties in seven innings, three of which were doubles. Dwyer relieved him in the eighth, and although he got into a tight hole he managed to wriggle out of it safely, and he shut them out. Morrison and Hoeffner, the two new Athletic catches, worked over the lot, the former showing up well. Morrison caught for seven innings and Hoeffner relieved him for the remaining two sessions. The latter shapes up like a real good man being fast on his feet and a fairly good hitter.

Ivers and Honeck Doubled
A single by Dolan and two doubles by Ivers and Honeck scored the first

Don'ts For Soccer Players

Do not play handball when you are playing football. Conduct yourself as a gentleman at all times. If the "other fellow" insists on acting as a hooligan, do not also act as a hooligan. Do not lose your temper because the "other fellow" got the ball away from you, and if he unfortunately causes you to stumble and fall down, do not use profane language and say "—!—!—!" I'll get back at you!"

Do not abuse the referee if he awards a free kick against you for some infringement of the laws. The poor referee is very liable to make mistakes.

Bear in mind that the referee has sole control of the game, and it is his duty to see that the laws of the game are observed, and if in his ignorance he differs from your opinion, remember, "To err is human."

Do not play in a manner liable to injure your opponent, either by kicking, pushing, charging violently or dangerously, or charging behind, or jumping at him, for the referee may think you did so intentionally, and penalize you for doing so, even to the extent of sending you to the club house. For the referee is a jealous official, who dislikes to have his authority or knowledge of the game doubted by a mere player.

At all times be ready and willing to pay your share of the running expenses of your club, for the manager may be unable to pay all the time, and "many a little makes a muckle."

Recognize the authority of the association with which your club is connected, even to the extent of helping it in its deliberations (if called upon to do so).

They Are Knocking the Yankees Right in Erie

The Fans Are Very Much Peeved At Showing of Team on the Road.

(Erie Despatch.)

The Yankees seem to have made a mighty poor impression abroad—almost as poor as they did at home. Here they contrived to pull lost ball games out of the fire by wonderful luck and the help of a friendly crowd, but away—ugh!

In Ottawa in particular they say the most unkind things. They even go so far as to tag the Yanks a mediocre bunch, lacking proper management—and several other things. Comment here is unnecessary. This is the way we look to Ottawa sport writers:

"There appeared to be considerable doubt in the mind of Mr. Kelly Harris yesterday whether the affair at the ball park was a ball game, a catch-as-catch-can (strangle hold only barred), wrestling bout, or an exhibition of boomerang throwing with a little debating on the side. While he was busy with these little diversions, George Nill, Kubat and others went ahead and bumped the Yankees 6 tallies to 1.

The Tale of What Happened to Harris

"The first little mix-up occurred when Mr. Harris, who formerly performed on our behalf until Manager Frank Shaughnessy decided that he could find other spheres for his activity, attempted to come home from second when George Nill failed to handle Smith's grounder. Harris apparently had some idea working in his mind that the rules had been altered to allow four outs. Lage tagged him some yards outside the home plate, but Harris engaged in a wrestling match with Artie to keep him from throwing to second in order to complete the fourth out of the inning. The Senators' backstop had no intention of throwing to second, such an action being, on the face of it, an unnecessary waste of time, but he objected to being man-handled by Mr. Harris, and the 3,500 fans were looking for some stuff not in the latest pronouncements of the National commission. However, Evans managed to get things fixed up and the game proceeded.

"The second little disagreement arose through the unfortunate habit Kubat contracted of hitting Harris with the ball. Harris claimed that Kubby was doing it on purpose; that he was trying to hit him on the head. We do not believe this. The price of baseball has gone up and Shag was ever a frugal manager. However, when Kubat hit Harris again in the eighth the Erie outfielder threw his bat at the Ottawa pitcher, and a general debate, Tutela 2, v. Paris 1.

The above teams met at Tutela Park on Saturday before a large crowd of spectators and resulted in a fast and interesting game, but was marred by an unfortunate accident to the Tutela forwards, H. Gingy, who had the misfortune to break his leg, about 10 minutes after the start of the game, which opened fast, Tutela making tracks for the Paris goal, only to be repelled by the defence. Paris now took up the running but found both Macon and Burns at back, in good form. From the rest of the Toronto Beavers, H. Gingy was forced to have the best of matter for a while. The accident seemed to put the Tutela boys off their game, besides having to play one short. However, they soon settled down and gave the Paris boys an anxious time, finally forcing a corner kick, from which E. Roberts headed into the net, putting Tutela one up. Both teams continued to work hard but this proved to be the only score in the first half. The second half proved equally as exciting as the first, both goalkeepers being called on to save. After about 15 minutes of play J. Fingley beat the defence and scored with a fine shot, giving the paris goal no chance. Paris tried hard, but found the Tutela half-keepers very well in check. Play was transferred to the other end where the Tutela forwards gave the defence a busy time, forcing to corners in quick succession, but could not score. Paris played with great determination and some fine football was being played by both teams. Paris were rewarded with a goal, a high cross shot, which beat Stanley, who was quite decisive, not making any attempt to save. Play continued fast to the finish, which resulted in a win for Tutela 2 goals to one.

Club to Meet.

The Tutela club will hold its regular monthly meeting at 143 Eagle Avenue Thursday night.

But the Saints Put a Real One Over Ottawa Senators.

LONDON, May 27—"Bobby" Heck pitched himself out of holes repeatedly yesterday, while his colleagues assisted him in handing an 8 to 1 defeat to the Toronto Beavers.

Several times Toronto threatened to break into the run column, but on each occasion Heck, in the situation in splendid fashion, and it was not until the sixth that Toronto emerged from the white-wash.

Both sides were guilty of some rather indifferent fielding, the situation which a fine array of bobbles was credited to each crew.

OTTAWA LOST TO SAINTS

Hall Exploded in the Fourth and the Saints Made Four Runs.

OTTAWA, May 27—The champion Senators had another off-day and St. Thomas took the third game of the series in the Canadian Baseball league by a score of 6 to 4. Hall started to pitch for Ottawa and his team mates scored one each in the first, second and third, but with the score 3-0 in his favor Hall exploded in the fourth and was replaced by Wagner, who succeeded by Shocker. Shocker went in with the score 3 to 2 in favor of Ottawa, but there were none out and two on bases, so the defeat will be charged against all.

Howick pitched throughout for the Saints, and was in good form. The champions had many chances, but they could not bunch their hits. Ottawa tied it in the seventh when Lage brought Bullock home on a sacrifice fly, but in the ninth Kopp got his 4th hit and was sacrificed scoring on aHedley's hit. Kustus followed with a hit that scored Hadley giving the visitors a two-run lead. Walter replaced Shaughnessy in centre field and played a brilliant game. The Ottawa infield was very erratic Bullock Nill

That Son-in-Law of Pa's—By Wellington

What You Don't Read On The Score Boards

Lack of space and a plethora of general sporting news prevented us yesterday from any endeavor to rub it into Hamilton sport writers.

What we said however, earlier in the season about Hamilton's lack of class is fortified to-day still further by two straight victories of the Red Sox over the Athletics. With Taylor pitching to-day we might as well make it three straight with the count 5 to 4 in favor of the Red Sox, since the two teams started May 7.

Rube Deneau introduced our acquaintance yesterday pitcher Gallagher who heaves from the port side. Gallagher made good. It is our suspicion that Gallagher was secured to supplement Del Chase for the express purpose of beating London, a team with seven left hand hitters. Some more of the Rube's cunning is here exhibited.

That chesty young fellow Donahue got his in proper style yesterday from the Red Sox. If Donahue ever got rid of his swelled head, he might make a fair pitcher.

After Monday afternoon's game in Hamilton, some one remarked to Rube Deneau, "Why do you need two other outfielders with Dolan out there?" Dolan accepted eight chances during the pastime.

George has a perfect percentage as a pitcher, having won three, lost two, and pitched 3 scoreless, five as well.

Centrefielder-Dolan is said to be a high priced man and he ought to be is hitting .357, was kept out of the game a while ago, having been troubled with bad eyes. There is no occasion now for him to consult any oculist.

Wagner appears very weak at the bat this year, judging by the averages published to-day.

Sandusky hit .307 when released, but it was surmised that he was another Brundage, although not nearly as good.

Local fans are all set for London and Ottawa. Bring 'em on quick.

Deneau's ambition on the present road trip is to bring the team home well over the 500 mark. He has four games to the good now.

London has a lead of one game and a half on Brantford. It must be considered that the Kockneys have played entirely on their home lot so far. Some difference.

President Fitzgerald of the Canadian League is reported to have said that Chase looks like the best pitcher ever introduced into the circuit. He is, if he continues to get 'em over.

It is not remiss to say that a pitcher is expected to join the Red Sox from St. Louis, and that Worrel isn't coming. Also another outfielder is ticketed this way the minute Deneau thinks there is necessity for one.

Having seen the Red Sox perform so far, fans are under the impression that Rube Deneau knows how to pay the price for good ball players and also get them. He shouldn't break President Nelson's heart in doing so, because said ball players are the best proposition yet. They are the only dividend payer for Brantford.

With one out, a man on second and third, Midge Craven of the Saints had a man caught off third yesterday. Immediately the air was blue and a storm ensued, such a storm as to wreck telegraphic wires that was why fans did not get the Ottawa-Brantford final last night.

FAMOUS WALK WRECKED

Listen to the Ravings Of Hamilton Boosters

Listen to the wild ravings of the Spectator man about the famous Athletics. This is not a case of Crab Salad, but solid crab and we venture the suspicion that the worst is yet to come. Hiss! Listen!

There is no doubt that the local club looked much better yesterday than it has in some time, but it is still evident that one or two changes are needed. The club at present lacks speed, and is really a "three-hit-to-a-run" club, and any effort to make it otherwise out of present material would be wasted. A couple of fast men are needed to round out the batting strength which is possessed and which will show itself shortly. Fisher, Corns, Donohue, Yates, Daugherty and Dolan are the ball players at present on the job. Two infielders are the great need.

It may have been good baseball for Fisher to attempt a sacrifice in the ninth inning of yesterday's game and for Sheppard, to attempt to steal second. Fisher is a hard hitter, liable at any time to pole one out to the fence and the chance of him doing this was better than the chance of him hitting into a double play. One run was needed and with Chase going good as he was, only good, clean hitting would have secured it.

Lack of speed, did you say Bobby? Lack of class with accent on the lack. In the Herald, there are also ravings, not particularly wild, but the recent Brantford victories have had the string. The Herald talks of directors meetings in the jury box and denies allegations that it is out to knock the Athletics. On the whole, there is an interesting situation. We like Hamilton and the sport gents down here are fine fellows, but just because they panned us for an honest expression of opinion about their ball club, we're going to laugh last and laugh best.

THE IMPRESSIONS OF A RECRUIT IN THE BIG SHOW AGAINST COBB

(By Henry P. Edwards)

Well, it looks as if I was going to stick around the big show a while. Anyway, when they handed out the new uniforms, there was one for George Green, but two or three of the other new men drew some old faded suits the team wore last year. Of course, I knew all along that they would keep me. No manager would think of letting an ace like me get away.

Since I last wrote in this diary I breezed through a couple of exhibition games and won them hands down. Held Nashville to four hits and Terra Haute to three. Guess I wasn't the hull cheese at Terre Haute. They shut up the store, post office and bank at Hickoryville and the hull town came over. They bring the Hickoryville Silver Cornet band and when I first went to bat Mayor Pettigrew stepped up and gave me an umbrella with my initials cut in the silver top. Of course, an umbrella is all right in a way, but I thought they would give me a watch.

Pitches Great Game

We opened in Detroit ten days ago. Pat Cobb pitched the first game and we won all the way. Jim Gantley went in the next day and we lost 4 to 2. Joe Mack, another of the vets, began the third game. Along in the 3rd inning, though, the Tigers started to get next to him and Ryan took me out to warm up. He stood right beside me all the time, shooting instructions into my ear.

"Put 'em high and on the outside for Cobb and Crawford and Jimmy Murphy and Bill Cook in centre and left field will do the rest. If you put 'em high it will be good-bye to the game."

He shot a lot of that stuff into me about every batter and in the fifth inning I went to the hill. Nervous? Not a bit of it. They weren't any bigger than they were in the B. and O. League, and the fences were further away.

Wadson came up to give me the signs when I came trotting in. "Keep a stiff upper lip, kid," he said, "and we will get them."

"They ain't worrying me none," I told him. They can't hit what they can't see and when I cut loose with my smoke, they'll have both feet in the water bucket."

The Tigers had two men on with only one out when I went in and this man Ty Cobb was at bat. Of course I heard a lot about Ty Cobb when I was in the B. and O. League and in the training camp the fellows used to rave about him. He had a big grin on his face as he came up swinging half a dozen bats and that red headed manager of theirs dancing a jig over by third base.

But I just swung that old whip of mine and let the ball sail. I wasn't nervous, but the ball went three feet over Wadson's head and if First Base man Brown had not chased it and taken Wadson's throw, Detroit would have scored, but as it was, the runners got only to third and second.

"He can throw them higher than that, Ty," yelled the red-head.

Wadson came out to talk to me. "About four feet lower, kid, is the right spot. Just keep them high, but not too high, and we will put out all right."

Handed Out Hot Air.

So I shot the next one just where he told me and Cobb lifted a high fly to Burke at third. Crawford was just as easy. He poked one a mile in the air and when it came down Newcomb was camping under it.

"Well I guess the fellows didn't get my drink of water."

"Great work, kid," said Ryan. "Oh those guys ain't so much," I said.

I gave a few passes in the next three innings, but Cobb and Crawford didn't get anything that looked like a hit, and we were leading 5 to 4 when Detroit went to bat in the ninth. I got Bush and Vitt and would have got Felder. Cook, didn't play him 'right and Ty pulled up at second.

But that didn't freeze me. I only had to get that man Crawford and I didn't think him so much. I put two strikes over for him and then thought I would fool him by giving him a low one on the inside corner. What's the use of being in the big league if you couldn't do a little thinking for yourself. I was going to show Ryan he'd got the pitcher who could think for himself.

But it was good-night. That big burglar sure did kiss that one and it went clear into the bleachers. I was not six feet out of the box when Ryan met me.

"What do you mean, you big busher by handing Crawford one on the inside?" I screamed at me.

"I thought—" I was about to say when he yelled:

"You big bonehead, who ever told you to think? I am the man that is paid for thinking for you. Didn't I tell you to keep the ball high for Crawford?"

"I'd got Cobb if Cook had been playing where he ought to have been. "Cook was playing right where I told him to play Cobb," he sputtered, and Cobb too, if you had pitched where I told you to pitch it would have been duck soup for Cook. That is all, kid, he added in a more decent way. You have got a lot of stuff and when you remember to do as I tell you, you'll come through all right. You'll win your next game."

He's a pretty decent chap after all.

WOBBLES TO STOP JUMPING PLAYERS

Will be Compelled to Show Releases—Ourside Umpires in Charge.

BERLIN May 27.—Outside umpires will hereafter be employed in the games of the Western Ontario Baseball League. It was so decided at a meeting of the executive held here last night, the action being the result of complaints to the effect that the home umpires had not been found satisfactory so far. Each club will also be requested to appoint an official scorer, whose duty it will be to send the score of each game to the secretary.

A new rule was made to the effect that no player will be allowed to participate in the games of the league unless he can show his release from any organized baseball team in which he may have played.

The certificates of R. Agnew, who signed with Brantford and later jumped to Guelph, was canceled.

The schedule was finally adopted with few changes, and will be made public in a few days.

CIRCUS IS COMING

Brantfordites May Now Rest Easy—Reports of Big Fire at Cleveland

All kinds of reports were in circulation yesterday that the big Ringling circus had been put out of business by a fire at Cleveland. Brantford kids and grown-ups who are looking forward to this annual event, can rest assured that the circus will be here alright on scheduled time and with all the big features. From what can be learned, a few empty cars may have been damaged but nothing to impede the progress of the circus. That would be terrible.

The despatch from Cleveland concerning the fire, shows that the Ringling outfit was not incinerated. It is as follows:

CLEVELAND, O., May 27.—One man was burned to death in the conflagration which wrought damage estimated at $1,500,000 in the lumberyard district along the Cuyahoga River last night. While policemen were busy clearing the damaged central viaduct, an unknown man became confused and leaped from the bridge into the centre of the flames, 75 feet below.

He was incinerated.

The central viaduct, over which street cars run from the centre of the city to the south side, is out of commission for weeks, a section 200 feet long having been burned away.

The Nickel Plate bridge is also out of service and trains are being routed over the Lake Shore tracks. The fire is still burning to-day, but is under control.

SHAMROCK IV WAS LAUNCHED ON THE HOLIDAY

Countess of Shaftesbury Christened Latest Lipton Challenger.

[By Special Wire to The Courier] SPORT, Eng., May 26.—Shamrock IV, the challenger for the America's Cup, was launched today at Christened by the Countess of Shaftesbury.

The new challenger took the water on the stroke of noon. There was no hitch in the arrangements and she slid down the ways easily as the Countess of Shaftesbury, who had done similar service for Shamrock III christened Sir Thomas Lipton's latest challenger.

The little shipping town was gaily decorated with British and American flags with which was intermingled the yellow flag with the big green shamrock of the Royal Ulster Yacht Club, while everybody present also wore a Shamrock.

The British battleships in the harbor were firing a salute in honor of the Queen's birthday as Shamrock IV was launched, and most of the inhabitants of the town thought the firing was a salute for the yacht.

Very few of the hundred guests of Sir Thomas Lipton obtained a glimpse of the yacht as the shed in which she has been hidden since her keel was laid, is still standing.

The company consisted chiefly of Sir Thomas Lipton's personal friends, but a few yachting experts were present, all of whom appeared to be greatly impressed with the boat and expressed the opinion that she had a better chance than any of her predecessors, although the lateness of her launching would, it was pointed out, prove a disadvantage as the American yachts have had a longer time in which to tune up.

Many cablegrams and telegrams with good wishes, were received today by both Sir Thomas Lipton and Charles E. Nicholson, the designer. Sir Thomas entertained his guests at luncheon after the launching.

ALL INDICATIONS POINT TO GENERAL ELECTION JUNE 30

Preparations Are Being Made at the Parliament Being Made.

[By Special Wire to The Courier] TORONTO, May 23.—Present indications point strongly to June 30 being the day set for the next provincial elections. There is every reason to believe that the Cabinet, at a council meeting on Thursday, decided definitely on the day for the contest, and there is good ground for the belief that the last day of June was chosen as the most favorable time.

Although, according to the officials, no official notice has been issued to any of the departments, the air must have carried the tidings of an impending election. Everybody is rushed at the buildings. There is no concealment attempted. Departments connected with the election are very busy, and the majority of them could be ready in ten days for the contest.

This means that in that space of time the returning officers and poll clerks would have their data and the ballot boxes, no person, however, suspects that the notice of the election will be as short.

Sir James Whitney and Hon. W. J. Hanna have for some days regarded questions about an election with a jocular air. Not so the other ministers. All of them have been grave when the matter has been approached, Hon. J. J. Foy was interviewed yesterday.

"I have nothing to say," volunteered the attorney-general, when he saw the reporter making towards him. "When we have arranged things and everything is ready the premier will give out the date and the official order. I cannot give any opinion or say anything about the matter."

THE RETURN OF TARZAN

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright 1913 by W. G. Chapman.

Frantic were the leaps of Numa; awful his roars of rage and pain. But the giant upon his back could not be felled or brought within reach of fangs or talons in the brief interval of life that remained to the lord with the large head. He was quite dead when Tarzan of the Apes released his hold and sprang. Then the daughter of the desert witnessed a thing that terrified her even more than the presence of the man placed a foot of at a distance of a mile upon the carcass of his kill and, with his handsome face raised toward the full moon, gave voice to the most frightful cry that ever smote upon her ears.

With a little cry of fear she shrank away from him. She thought that the fearful strain of the encounter had driven him mad. As the last note of that frenzied challenge died out in the diminishing echoes of the distance the man dropped his eyes until they rested upon the girl.

Instantly his face was lighted by the kindly smile that was ample assurance of his sanity, and the girl breathed freely once again, smiling in response. "What manner of man are you?" she asked. "The thing you have done is unheard of. Even now I cannot believe that it is possible for a lone man, armed only with a knife, to have fought hand to hand with a lion and conquered him, unscathed, and then to have conquered him at all. And that cry—that was not human. Why did you do that?"

Tarzan flushed. "It is because I forget," he said, "sometimes that I am a civilized man. When I kill it must be that I am another creature." He did not try to explain further, for it always seemed to him that a woman must look with loathing upon one who was yet so nearly a beast. Together they continued their journey. The sun was an hour high when they came into the desert again beyond the mountains. Beside a little rivulet they found the girl's horses grazing. They had come this far on their way home and, with the cause of their fear no longer present, had stopped to feed. With little trouble Tarzan and the girl caught them and, mounting, rode out.

Outside Bou Saada he bade Kadour ben Saden and his men goodbye, for each was well and he wished them wish to make his entry into the town as secret as possible, and when he had explained them to the sheik the latter concurred in his decision. The Arabs were to enter Bou Saada ahead of him, saying nothing as to his presence with them. Later Tarzan would come in alone and go directly to an obscure native inn.

Thus making his entrance after dark as he did, he was not seen by any one who knew him and reached the inn unobserved. After dining with Kadour ben Saden as his guest he went to his room and lay down to rest, and, coming in by a rear entrance, sought the proprietor, who seemed much surprised to see him alive.

Yes, there was mail for monsieur; he would fetch it. No, he would mention monsieur's return to no one. Presently he returned with a packet of letters. One was an order from his superior to lay off on his present work and hasten to Cape Town by the first steamer he could get. His further instructions would be awaiting him there in the hands of another agent whose name and address were given. That was all—brief but explicit. Tarzan arranged to leave Bou Saada early the next morning. Then he started for the garrison to see Captain Gerard, who the hotel man had told him had returned with his detachment the previous day.

He was filled with surprise and pleasure at seeing Tarzan alive and well. "When Lieutenant Gernols returned and reported that he had not found you at the spot that you had chosen to remain while the detachment was scouting I was filled with alarm. We were all—brief but explicit. Tarzan arranged to leave Bou Saada early the next morning. Then he started for the garrison to see Captain Gerard, who the hotel man had told him had returned with his detachment the previous day.

"Doubtless," said Tarzan, with a grim smile, "it is down in the town now or I should send for him," continued Captain Gerard. "I shall tell him as soon as he returns."

KILL THE FLIES IN YOUR HOUSE NOW

Toronto's Medical Health Officer says: "If you come across any flies in your house kill them now." Therefore all good housekeepers should commence using WILSON'S FLY PADS early and continue their use through the season.

Remember, every ten-cent packet of WILSON'S FLY PADS will kill more flies than three hundred sheets of sticky paper.

Follow the directions carefully to get the best results.

Music and Drama

At the Best. Undoubtedly the best musical act ever presented to the Brantford public is to be seen this week at the Brant Theatre where the Alpha Sextette, a big set off the Keith Proctor circuit, is to be seen.

They sing every class of music from rag-time to Grand Opera, their rendition of the sextette from Lucia being exquisite. They also carry a splendid stage setting, the electrical effect for their last encore being very beautiful.

Anderson and Evans present a very clever and witty comedy sketch entitled "On the Rocks." It is full of humor but a touch of the deeper companionship of life also pervades it. Buchanan and Dayton the novelty entertainers present a clever singing and talking and dance number.

Yeys, the Chinese Impersonator, presents a very clever magical act which is greatly appreciated and together with five reels of splendid photo-plays completes a splendid bill. The musical Conservatory, a tremendous symphony sensation is announced as the coming attraction for the latter part of the week.

Manager Ernie Moule is installing an up-to-date cooling plant in the balcony of the house which will insure his patrons of as cool a balcony as the pit.

At the Colonial. Full of the holiday spirit is the vaudeville produced this week at the Colonial theatre. The pictures too are good, the story of the mad hermit containing an unusual and fascinating plot.

The variety takes a cut from the ordinary and some very good and unique feats are performed. Heading the bill are Vine and Temple, who furnished a clever brand of comedy.

He does some very mysterious tricks with a cigarette which are not seen every day, and she has a personality quite her own. Together they execute a modern maxixe dance aptly and earn hearty plaudits.

Originality marked all over him. Bert Laurence made a success with his peculiar dances, peculiar garb, and his peculiar comedy. He has the monologue game down fine, and were he to introduce more patter for this district, could not fail to attract. Musical Craig extracted excellent music from a typewriter attachment which he manipulated with skill, and his dexterity with the harp and bell won him with the bango, and she with the voice, gave a good musical show, introducing a vein of comedy. His impersonation of Casey band was a skilled performance and his efforts were fully appreciated. Other good plays complete a good program.

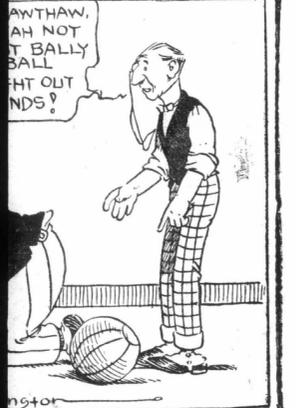

WOODEN LEG IS APPAREL. COLUMBUS, O., May 27.—Is a wooden leg wearing apparel? The Ohio Industrial Commission has so ruled. George F. Reufel of Cleveland had applied for State compensation for the loss of a leg. It proved that it was a wooden leg, crushed in machinery.

Reufel claimed that the law did not specify that the leg must be a natural one, to entitle the victim to compensation. Then the Commission decided that the leg was not a leg, but apparel.

Unpredictable—if you were to see the unequalled volume of unimpeachable testimony in favor of Heed's Sarsaparilla, you would upbraid yourself for so long delaying to take this effective medicine for that blood disease from which you are suffering.

ROMANCE OF GIRL WHO REFUSED TO GIVE UP LOVER

Dr. Mawson's Bride Was Not Daunted When He Despaired for His Safety

Memories of the Antarctic horror are revived by the return to England of Dr. Mawson, the young Australian explorer, whose solitary journey over the snow and ice drifts early last year has been described by Sir Ernest Shackleton as "without parallel as a feat of human endurance." Dr. Mawson, who declares that his life was saved by the disaster of just missing his ship, the Aurora, was welcomed at Victoria Station, London, by Sir Ernest, with the simple greeting, "How do, Mawson?" Dr. Mawson was accompanied by his wife, a tall handsome lady, who is making her visit to England under peculiarly romantic circumstances. It will be recalled that, while despairing of his safety in the blizzard-beaten tracks of the Antarctic, Dr. Mawson cabled to the one who had promised to be his wife that she had better give him up, but this she refused to do, being content to wait and still cherish that love which has now won its reward. Dr. Mawson married the good lady before leaving Melbourne, and the happy couple are now spending their honeymoon in London.

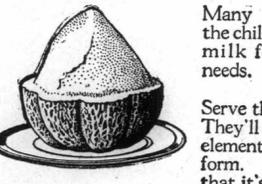

Blessing in Disguise
In response to inquiries as to whether he had recovered from the effects of his terrible thirty days' struggle against cold and starvation after the death of his two companions, Dr. Mawson replied: "I am pretty right now, but not quite the same man again yet." In an interview with a special correspondent of Reuter's Agency, who travelled to England with him, Dr. Mawson told how he reached his base. "I had only a couple pounds of food left," he said. "I had been compelled to discard nearly everything, and it was difficult to stand on the ice slopes in the terrific wind. In order to do so it was necessary to destroy my theodolite and put the screws into my boots. Needless to say that on reaching my base, practically dead-beat, I was overjoyed to see the Aurora, but my joy turned at first to dismay when I found that the vessel was steaming from me."
"Anyhow," he adds, "the second season in the Antarctic proved a blessing in disguise, for I doubt if I should have got through if I had then left in the Aurora."

"During the second winter the weather, if possible, was worse than during the first. I think nobody realizes the fact that the weather in Adie Land is infinitely worse than in any other part of the Antarctic. Shackleton and Scott storms could not be compared with what we experienced."

Steady Blizzard
"The whole year was up, except for two months, was simply one roaring blizzard, with a wind frequently a hundred miles an hour. Often it exceeded this, and the average for the whole year was fifty miles an hour. The work we accomplished was therefore performed under tremendous difficulties, and was only possible because of the steady blizzard."

facilities, and sledging was only possible in the height of the summer. Attempts to do so in the spring ended in disaster."
After the death of his companion Mertz, Dr. Mawson dragged his sledge for three weeks before he reached his base. His sufferings were terrible. His nails and his hair came out, and large masses of his skin came off. The thick skin from his feet came off intact, and resembled leather soles, and this he rubbed with lanoline and lashed to his skinniest feet as a sort of bandage, being unable to stand the raw flesh rubbing against his footgear.

ARE YOU A "MORON" HERE IS THE TEST

CHICAGO, May 27—Read this carefully—
"A little dog ran up the street. It had brown, curly hair, short legs and a long tail."
Now, lay down the paper and repeat it aloud.

If you have said it right your normal—according to Dr. W. J. Hickson, head of the psychopathic laboratory, recently established to aid the municipal court. He gave out are test to-day, with an explanation of methods.
If you said the dog had curly legs and a brown tail, you are 50 per cent. off in efficiency, according to the expert.

Better try again. Now point to your nose, then your eyes then your ear, and then your mouth. Do so quickly.

If you stick your finger in your mouth the first job you lose another 50 per cent. in the grading.

A last chance; What is wrong with this sentence?
I have three brothers, Ignatz, Abraham and myself.

You either answer quickly and correctly or, according to the Hickson test, you are to be classified as a "moron"—one with an arrested mental development.

TANGO OR HUSBAND, JUDGE DECIDES
NORTHUMBERLAND, Pa., May 27—By a decision that "it is unbecoming of a married woman to dance the tango," Squire M. P. Tierney reunited Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stetler, who had taken their disagreement to the divorce court.

Mrs. Stetler had her husband arrested for threatening her, and when they met in the Squire's office he tried to get the "A B C" of their marital troubles and proposed mediation. The woman began to cry and say all the trouble was because she had danced the tango. The husband insisted tangoing should not be indulged in by a married woman, and his wife said she would "go by what the squire said."

Tierney quickly declared against the dance.
"All right, judge; I will never tango again," she said. The couple left the office arm in arm.

CABBY'S $50,000 IS GIVEN TO POOR
CAMDEN, May 27—The bulk of $50,000 accumulated by John Hoey as a cabman, will go to the Catholic poor of the city under his will to propagate to-day.

Hoey was for many years a figure at the old Federal Street ferry. He was jolly, made friends in every direction and with strict thrift he laid the foundation for a fortune which was increased by shrewd realty investments. His wife died several years ago and he had no children.

Remembering when he was a poor boy, struggling for enough to eat, he decided to better the condition of the poor.

Hoey makes a number of individual bequests and directs that the remainder of the estate be divided between the rectors of the churches of the Immaculate Conception and Sacred Heart for the poor of their parishes.

BALLET GIRLS HAVE OWN TRAIN

Travel in Style and See Sights With Little Circus Mother For Chaperon.

Three hundred dancing girls! From whence do they come and how does the circus manage to accommodate them? Do they like to travel, and how many of them are suffragists? These are some of the questions which people ask regarding the bevy of femininity that compose the ballet in this season's new spectacle of Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, which, with its cast of 1,250 people is the most picturesque feature of Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows.

"How the circus accommodates them" is not a difficult problem to a management which moves, boards and lodges a total of 1,370 people during a period of approximately 200 days of travel. The young ladies have a dining tent of their own, a separate train of Pullmans and they are guarded by Mrs. George Hartzell, wardrobe mistress of Ringling Brothers' circus for a dozen years and who is known throughout the land of spangles as "the little mother of the circus." The girls have a library, gymnasium and showers on their train. They attend rehearsal each morning under the direction of Ottokar Bartik, ballet master of the Metropolitan Opera House; appear in the big spectacle for a matter of twenty minutes in the afternoon and again in the evening. The rest of the day belongs to their whims carried out under the chaperonage of Mrs. Hartzell.

These girls are among the cleverest of all ballet dancers. They come from the Metropolitan of New York and the biggest theatres of Europe. For in the summer these houses are closed and have no use for their ballets. Ringling Brothers pay them well, give them an entire summer's engagement and a chance to travel without that disadvantage which most tourists must face—the buying of railroad tickets and the paying of hotel bills. Lastly, there are no suffragists among them. They are too young and too full of the joy of looking and sight-seeing to think of politics. They are a happy lot and artists to their toe-tips as you shall see should you witness Ringling Brothers' circus when it comes to Brantford, Friday, June 12.

RESIGNATION OF AYR MINISTER ACCEPTED

Presbytery of Paris Deals With Important Matter in Special Session at Woodstock.

WOODSTOCK, May 27—The resignation of R. W. M. Grant, of Knix Church, Ayr, was accepted at a special meeting of the Presbytery of Paris held in Chalmers church yesterday, and on one 7 the oulput of that church will be automatically united subject to the terms arranged by the special committee of the presbytery, which some time ago inquired into the circumstances. The congregation will be known as Knox United. Rev. H. M. Paulin has been appointed moderator, and the matter of securing a pastor will be in his hands. A large deputation of Ayr Presbyterians appeared before the presbytery and spoke in terms of praise of the work done by Mr. Grant. He explained his resignation by stating that he believed the new church should commence operations with a pastor who had not been connected with either of the old congregations.

LADIES! SECRET TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Bring Back Its Color and Lustre with Grandma's Sage Tea Recipe

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss. While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, you can't tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Agent, T. George Bowles.

ROYAL JOURNEYS VERY EXPENSIVE PLEASURE TRIPS

Cost $150,000 to Fit Up Embassy at Paris for King George's Visit.

London, May 27.—One of the main items of expenditure piled up by the recent Royal visit to Paris is the £30,000 that has been spent in preparing our Embassy in the French Capital for such exalted occupation. This amount seems a large one, but Royal visits cannot be undertaken cheaply.

The most costly journey executed by our Royalty in recent times, was the late King Edward's tour to India, when Prince of Wales, in 1875. The tour was arranged by Sir Bartle Frere, who spent seven busy months in working out its details. Parliament voted for general expenses £60,000, which Sir Bartle said was quite inadequate, as the presents to dusky princes would amount to nearly that sum, and he asked for £100,000.

His request was refused, however, though the Indian Treasury voted £10,000 to the present fund. In addition to this, another £52,000 came out of the Naval Estimates, and some people who thought such expenditure unwarranted actually held a meeting of protest in Hyde Park.

Queen Helped
So that her son could create a proper impression amongst native rulers, Queen Victoria gave him £200,000 out of her own private purse, and it will be seen therefore, that King Edward's trip cost more than £300,000. Results have proved that it was worth the money.

King George's visit to India thirty years later, when Prince of Wales, cost nearly a quarter of a million sterling, of which Parliament contributed £20,000, though the cost of altering the Renown was borne by the Naval Estimates. His trip in the Ophir to Australia cost £160,000, whilst his little jaunt to Canada some years ago involved a modest £2,000.

The Kaiser's Pomp
The Kaiser loves plenty of pomp and splendor when he journeys from the Fatherland. Some time ago he visited the Sultan of Turkey at Constantinople, and then travelled, chiefly overland, to Jerusalem. He was accompanied by enough servants to people a small town.

More than 800 motor-drivers and 300 waiters followed him. He took three special trains to convey him and his luggage from the Holy City to Jaffo, and he always had his table laid for thirty or forty people, dining as though he were in his palace at home. But Germany's ruler must take a back seat when compared with the late Shah of Persia, who, during his six months' tour of Europe in 1873 contrived to scatter no less a sum than $2,000,000.

COMES TO PRAY DELAYS TO ROB.

VENVER, ay 27.—The reason why Brother Arthur Jones was late at prayer meeting was explained to the congregation of the African Methodist church by Detective Eades and McLaughlin, who arrested the brother on a charge of burglary.
Jones was late, they allege, because he spent the early part of the evening breaking into and looting the home of the pastor the Rev. R. L. Pope, No. 220 Twenty-third street. After he had got $14 in pennies, constituting the treasury of the Sunday school primary class, together with a quantity of jewellery, say the police, he continued his belated way to prayer meeting.

He entered the church an hour late, attracting the attention of the worshippers and calling down upon his head the wrath of the pastor.
The pastor's suspicions were fastened on Jones, he says, when he returned home and discovered the burglary. Most of the stolen property has been recovered.

WHITE SWAN BAKING POWDER

THE SECRET OF SUCCESSFUL BAKING!
"It all depends, madam, on the kind of baking powder you use."
"White Swan Baking powder makes every baking an assured success, because it is chemically pure and its materials are accurately combined by experts to give proper strength."
"You can always rely on 'White Swan' to produce light, sweet, digestible and wholesome biscuits, cakes and pastry."

Scientific Reasons
Baking Powder is primarily a preparer of food, when mixed under proper conditions, a chemical reaction takes place, giving off a leavening gas. The residue left in the food you eat is not the original baking powder, but an entirely new substance. In cream of tartar baking powders, the residue in the food is 70% of its weight Rochelle Salts, which are medicinal and harmful to the system when taken this way. White Swan Baking Powder is a phosphate, leaving only a 30% residue, which is a fibrous bone building substance—recommended by authoritative physicians as the best baking powder for kitchen use. Order it from your grocer—in 10c. or 25c. tins.
