CHAPTER XXXIV.

There is such deep sadness, such complete confession of weakness and error, such regret for the mistake that he has made, that the tender heart of the girl is touched.

"No, no!" she pants, "I shall not forget. Do not ask me. Do you think I am made of wood, of stone, that I would forget?"

"I know," he says, "now that it is too late, that I have misjudged and wronged you. If you will not forgive me, at least, Dulcie, you will promise me to forgive! Think of one who loved you as dearly as it was possible for man to love, but whose jealous nature led him to misunderstand the light, unshackled willfulness of a young, inexperienced girl. Think of me as one who looks back upon the past with sorrow and regret, and upon the future with only one hope—that the girl whom he loved so deeply and passionately may know nothing but joy and happiness."

It is a long speech for Hugh the silent, but he needs must say it; it is the last word she will hear from him on this side of the great river, and he says it with infinite tenderness and earnestness. Then he holds out his hand.

"Good-bye," he says—"good-bye, Dulcie! I may call you so for the last time!"

A faint thrill runs through her; her heart is wrung at his sorrow and loneliness. She forgets her own happiness, forgets herself, forgets even Archie, and she holds out her hands to him with a sob.

"Oh, Hugh!" she murmurs, brokenly, with a little catch in her sweet voice, "must it be? Must you go?"

Deal not hardly with her. Be merciful, you who have gone with us through the changing scenes of this little comedy. Do not designate her as fickle and treacherous. Her heart is still Archie's, and her faith and honor bright and intact, but—ah, that but!—only those who have loved and lost, and have met the lost loved one to say good-bye forever can know what she feels now, can understand her. To those who cannot understand her, I who tell her story have nothing to say.

"Oh, Hugh, must you go?"

The words, infinitely tender and pitiful, float on the night air, and go straight to the man's soul. In an instant his blood tears through his veins, and his heart leaps with a wild bound of mad hope.

A wild, mad hope the words rouse in his heart, but to the heart of another man who, all unseen and unheard, has come to a standstill within hearing, they go straight as a dagger thrust. It is Archie returning in hot haste from the stable, all unsuspecting and eager to rejoin his goddess, and he comes just in time to hear what sounds to him as a confession of her love for Hugh.

For a moment he stands paralyzed and turned to stone, to a statue, with a wrung and agonized heart, then with a groan he staggers away and sinks on to a stone in the lane that he may hear no more.

"Dulcie!" Hugh murmurs, hoarsely. "Don't go, Hugh!" she pleads, the ears running down her cheeks. "I—I cannot bear it! I cannot forget! Heaven help me! I cannot. You will not go? To leave home, and friends, and those you love because one wretched, miserable girl has been false to you! No, no! You will not go!"

"Dulcie!" he breathes, hotly, fiercely, "what is that you say? Am I dreaming or mad? Is—it is not too late? Do you still—oh, Heaven! Don't tempt me to plead for myself! Don't wake the old passion in me! Do not tempt me! Yet—Dulcie, tell me. Do you—ah, Dulcie!—do you still love me?"

At the words her brain reels, a mist seems to come between her and him, and she puts out her hands blindly, like one benumbed.

"Speak!" he murmurs, fiercely, and he holds her hands tightly. "Tell me! It is not too late—no, not too late! Look, Dulcie, it is I—Hugh! The Hugh who loved and still loves you with all his heart and soul! Speak, Dulcie, my darling—my lost love!"

With a cry she rouses and tears her hands from his grasp.

"No, no," she murmurs, putting her hands to her ears and staring at him wildly. "It is not you, not my Hugh who comes to tempt me to break my faith, and fling truth and honor to the winds! It is some—some—devil in his shape! Go, go! I will not—I will not listen! I will not speak—"

"Hush! hush!" he says, suddenly, calmed with a deadly calm. "I—I understand. Heaven forgive me! It is too late. Dulcie, forgive me! I mistook pity for reawakened love! Forgive me! Good-bye! Good-bye! Will you touch my hand—once, but ever so lightly, that I may know you forgive me?" and he holds out his hand.

She puts hers hesitatingly, almost shudderingly, into it.

"Good-bye," she murmurs, hoarsely, "good-bye!"

He leans over her hand as a devotee might lean over the hand of his patron saint, and with the lingering look of a man who sees his greatest treasure sinking, fading from his sight, he turns and leaves her, and she, drawing her cloak around her, speeds up the lane as one who flees from some awful peril which threatens to overwhelm and destroy her.

With bent head and knitted brows, with pale, haggard face, like that of a man who has received his death warrant, Hugh strides down the lane, so absorbed in his bitter reflections that when a voice rises from the dimness, calling him to stop, he scarcely hears; then, as the word is repeated he pulls up and looks to the direction whence the voice came.

A man is sitting on a stone, and he rises as the other stops and confronts him.

Hugh draws nearer, then he starts. "Archie!" he says, hoarsely.

"Yes, it is I," says Archie, and he puts his hand to his brow with a stunned, dazed gesture. "Wait a moment, will you?" and he sinks on to the stone, trembling and overcome; but he struggles against the weakness and rises again, the cold sweat standing upon his forehead, his hands trembling.

"Yes, it is I, Hugh," he says, and his voice is sad, unsteady, and thick. "I—we know each other, Hugh, and—and you will not think that I would play the part of an eavesdropper?"

Hugh starts, and puts up his hand, but Archie stops him quietly.

"Don't speak. Let me say what I have to say. Hear me patiently. Don't think that I am going to reproach you. I shall not. Whether it was a true man's part to come down here—"

"I did not know," says Hugh, almost inaudibly, but solemnly and earnestly. "I swear to you, Archie, as man to man, that I did not know that—that she was here. We met by sheer accident."

"I believe you," says Archie, simply. "We have never lied to each other, you and I, and it is not likely that we shall begin to-night. I believe you when you say that you did not expect to meet her, but—and he groans, "Heaven help me, you have met!"

"Wait; hear me out. You have met," he says, "and—and—all is changed. I do not blame you; a man who once loved her must love her while life lasts, let happen what may. I do not blame her—Heaven forbid! Not I always doubted whether my happiness—such perfect, unnatural happiness as mine, could last. More, I always feared—it was a presentiment, I suppose—that—that her heart was not wholly mine; that the past, the accursed past—bear with me, Hugh—still dwell in her remembrance and held her, as it were, in thrall."

He pauses, and his hand goes trembling to his pale, dry lips.

"If—if"—he goes on, with an effort—"if time had been given me, if we had once been married, and she very my own, I do not doubt—I have never doubted—that I could make, ay, make her forget the past, and—youth! But—with a heavy sigh—"it was not to be. Try as she would, and she did try, Heaven bless her! to love me, it wanted but a sight of you, a word from your lips to teach her how utterly useless it was to forget you and turn to me!"

"Stop! stop!" cries Hugh, hoarsely. "You have misunderstood—"

"No," he retorts, with a bitter smile, that is perhaps more sad than bitter. "I know her too well to misunderstand her. There is not a tone in her voice that I do not know—not a look in her sweet face that I cannot read. No, it is not I who misunderstand her!"

There is almost a taunt in the voice, but Hugh does not resent it; he lowers his head upon his breast in silence and in penitence. He did misunderstand her to his cost.

"I could never misunderstand her, because I love her. And now what remains to be done? Before me my path lies plain and clear. Before her happiness everything must give way. My love and my wishes are nothing—mere chaff blown aside by the wind. Hugh—though I curse the day you met her—though I know as surely as I stand here that I should have made her happy but for you—I yield her to you."

"Stop!" exclaims Hugh, at last. "You shall hear me! I say that you have thoroughly misunderstood. You tell me that you have overheard us; then you have only heard part of our conversation."

"I do not care," says Archie, almost

"I DON'T SUFFER ANY MORE"

"Feel Like a New Person," says Mrs. Hamilton.

New Castle, Ind.—"From the time I was eleven years old until I was seventeen I suffered each month so I had to be in bed. I had headache, backache and such pains I would tramp double every month. I did not know what it was to be easy a minute. My health was all run down and the doctors did not do me any good. A neighbor told my mother about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it, and now I feel like a new person. I don't suffer any more and I am regular every month."—Mrs. HAZEL HAMILTON, 222 South 15th St.

When a remedy has lived for forty years, steadily growing in popularity and influence, and thousands upon thousands of women declare they owe their health to it, it is not reasonable to believe that it is an article of great merit?

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Household Notes.

Fresh fish have eyes bright and full, gills red, and fins that stand up and the flesh is firm to the touch.

To make a cake light, add a few drops of glycerine in the proportion of a teaspoonful to a pound of flour.

New gas mantles if immersed in vinegar and hung up to dry will give a more brilliant light and last longer.

Carbolic acid is powerless as a disinfectant unless diluted with at least twenty times its bulk of cold water.

If white kid gloves are rubbed gently with bread crumbs after each wearing, they will keep clean much longer.

If you add a few thin slices of white soap to the water before putting flowers into it they will keep longer.

Add a little lemon juice to water in which peaches are dropped before cooking. The fruit is not so apt to discolor.

To keep pies and pastry flaky, do not put them away until they are entirely cold, and never put them in the refrigerator.

Excellent shortcakes may be made with biscuit crust and raspberry jam.

Gooseberry jam also is a good filling.

If eggs and grated cheese are added to some of the simple cream soups one has an excellent substitute for meat.

A spoonful of flour added to the grease in which eggs are fried will prevent them from breaking or sticking to the pan.

In the household where children are it should be the rule to use sugar only with other foods and at the close of a meal.

Salt put on a cloth saturated with kerosene will clean the enameled bathtub. Afterward rinse the tub with warm, soapy water.

Kitchen tiles if washed with vinegar before being scrubbed will be very white. The vinegar removes the stains from the wood.

To clean brass trays, sprinkle with coarse salt, cover with sufficient vinegar to wet the salt, rub thoroughly and polish with leather.

By using various colors to mark clothing, each child having its own color, much time may be saved in sorting and putting away clothing.

Curious Walking Feat.

The most curious walking feat in Scotland dates back to a former century, when Sir Andrew Leith Hay and Lord Kennedy did a great walk for a bet of £4,500. Hay said he could walk from Blair Hall in Kincardineshire to Inverness in less time than Kennedy.

They started off that very night at nine o'clock, in their evening clothes, with their shoes and silk stockings. Sir Andrew took the coach road via Huntly and Elgin. Lord Kennedy, with Captain Ross as umpire, went straight across the Grampians in pouring rain. They walked all that night, all next day, and the following night Lord Kennedy got to Inverness at six o'clock in the morning of the third day, and won his bet by four hours.—Tit-Bits.

WAR REVIEW.

The all-important Inter-Allied conference has begun its sessions. Nations were represented at the meeting, and much is expected of the discussions and decisions of the Conference in the way of carrying on the war against the Central Powers and the utilizing of the great resources of the Allies. Important meetings of the War Council composed of representatives of the United States, Britain, France and Italy will be held during which military operations in the Western front will be considered.

There has been little change in various war fronts, according to meagre information coming from the capitals of the belligerent countries the last 24 hours. The British are pounding hard along the Cambrai sector. The town of Brai is now directly under the British guns. The batteries of the 1st Infantry for the possession of Notre-Dame and between the Meuse and Bourlon has ceased to exist but at times the artillery has been of great intensity in those regions. Poelcapelle and between the Meuse and Cheluvet and in the Meuse the big guns of both groups of generals are maintaining heavy bombardments. After violent operations, the Germans in great numbers undertook a raid north of Champagne, but were beaten by the French troops who inflicted losses on them. Two other raids on one near Bethincourt on the west of the Meuse and the other near Faux les Damloup on the east were also repulsed, while a raid on the German line in the west of Aire was carried out carefully and resulted in the capture of some German prisoners.

Along the entire Italian front batteries of both armies are maintaining a violent bombardment no infantry actions are reported in this theatre of war. The German office reports that the Italian against Austro-German positions on the west bank of Brenta and on Monte Tabor.

News from Petrograd is meagre and no exact details of the situation in Russia are available.

EAST AFRICAN CAMPAIGN

LONDON, Nov. 29.—The end of the East African campaign before Christmas is predicted by Reuter's correspondent. He declares that by the end of the German Commander-General Hertling in the East African campaign either be a prisoner or a killed.

HERTLING IN THE REICH

BERLIN, Nov. 29.—Count Geo. F. Von Hertling, Imperial German Chancellor, Reichstag to-day he was admitted into peace negotiations as the Russian Government sent representatives, having just now Berlin. "I hope and expect," these efforts will soon take shape and bring us peace in Poland, Lithuania and the Baltic.

Count Von Hertling said, "We see right and self-determining peoples. We expect that will themselves a constitutional Government corresponding to conditions."

Von Hertling presented before the Reichstag to-day and delivered a long speech, in which he upon all the current problems of internal and external significance some personal observations on the war the Chancellor related home politics of the Empire, to the introduction of the franchise proposal and the government's new measure of social and political legislation.

The all-important Inter-Allied Conference has begun its session. Fifteen nations were represented at the first meeting, and much is expected from the discussions and decisions of this Conference in the way of co-operating and carrying on the war against the Central Powers and the pooling of the great resources of the Allies. Important meetings of the Supreme Council composed of representatives of the United States, Britain, France and Italy will be held shortly, at which military operations on the entire Western front will come under consideration.

There has been little change on the various war fronts, according to the meagre information coming out of the capitals of the belligerent countries in the last 24 hours. The British are pounding hard along the front in the Cambrai sector. The town of Cambrai is now directly under fire of the British guns. The battling of the infantry for the possession of Fontaine

Notre Dame and between Moeuvres and Bourlon has ceased temporarily, but at times the artillery fire is of great intensity in those regions. Near Poelcapelle and between De Calre and Cheluvet and in the Arras sector the big guns of both groups of belligerents are maintaining heavy bombardments. After violent preparations, the Germans in great strength undertook a raid north of Carnillet in Champagne, but were beaten back by the French troops who inflicted heavy losses on them. Two other attacks, one near Bethincourt on the left bank of the Meuse and the other west of Faux les Damloup on the right bank of the Meuse, were repulsed, while a French raid on the German lines in Argonne, west of Aire was carried out successfully and resulted in the taking of some German prisoners.

Along the entire Italian front the batteries of both armies are maintaining a violent bombardment, but no infantry actions are reported in this theatre of war. The German war office reports that the Italian attacks against Austro-German mountain positions on the west bank of the Brenta and on Monte Tomba failed. News from Petrograd is meagre and no exact details of the conditions in Russia are available.

EAST AFRICAN CAMPAIGN.

LONDON, Nov. 29. The end of the East African campaign before Christmas is predicted by Reuter's correspondent at Nedara. He declares that by that time the German Commander-in-Chief will either be a prisoner or an exile.

HERTLING IN THE REICHSTAG.

BERLIN, Nov. 29. Count Geo. F. Von Hertling, the Imperial German Chancellor, told the Reichstag to-day he was ready to enter into peace negotiations as soon as the Russian Government sends representatives, having full powers, to Berlin. "I hope and wish," he said, "these efforts will soon take definite shape and bring us peace." Respecting Poland, Lithuania and Courland, Von Hertling said, "We respect the right and self-determination of their peoples. We expect they will give themselves a constitutional form of Government corresponding to their conditions."

Von Hertling presented himself before the Reichstag to-day and delivered a long speech, in which he dwelt upon all the current problems of internal and external situations. After some personal observations of the war the Chancellor referred to the home policies of the Empire, alluding to the introduction of the Prussian franchise proposal and the Government's new measure which extends social and political legislation in Germany, and in regard to the maintenance of censorship, professed himself in contra-distinction to the stand of the Entente Powers in favor of a liberal conception of the right of free opinion. After an affecting appeal for unity on the internal front the Chancellor spoke about as follows: On general political world situation—"I have taken over from my highly honored predecessors in office a precious heritage namely to cherish our friendship with Austria, Hungary, Turkey and Bulgaria. Our alliance with these three States were concluded on different dates, but their aim is the common realization of national ideas and the safeguarding of our territorial possessions and warding off enemy attacks. The pre-eminent nature of this act has steered our resolution in a long and bloody struggle and will sustain us until the end is in sight. Our faithful Allies to whom we have been drawn in defence of our most sacred possessions, and in combination with whom deeds of incomparable greatness have been performed on the battlefields and at home have my gratitude and admiration." Von Hertling referred to the fact that the Russian Government has sent from Tarskoe Selo, a wireless communication signed by Trotsky and Lenin addressed to the governments and peoples of the belligerent countries, proposing that negotiations for a truce and general peace be opened at an early date, and said, "I don't hesitate to say that the proposals of the Russian Government so far as is at present known, are debatable. The principles on which the opening of negotiations may be based may be recognized and I am ready to enter into such as soon as the Russian Government sends representatives having full power for this purpose. I hope and wish that these efforts will soon take definite shape and bring us peace."

GERMAN TORPEDO BOAT STRIKES MINE.

LONDON, Nov. 29. A German torpedo boat destroyer belonging to the Zeebrugge flotilla struck a mine off West Kappelle, Holland, and sank, according to an Exchange Telegram despatch from Amsterdam. Only two of her crew were saved.

BERLIN REPORT.

BERLIN, via London, Nov. 29. A supplementary report from General Headquarters this afternoon says: There was strong artillery fire near Poelcapelle. West of Bourlon an English attack failed with heavy losses. There is nothing new on other fronts.

PALESTINE.

LONDON, Nov. 29. The British official report to-night on operations in Palestine, says there is no change in the situation.

GERMANS HAVE ADEQUATE FOOD SUPPLY.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 29. Speaking in the German Lower House to-day on food conditions, Herr Von Waldeu, President of the German Food Regulation Board, said considerable supplies of grain for making bread have been provided for early threshing. The Imperial Grain Bureau already has received 1,100,500 tons, as compared with 890,000 tons last year. The potato crop may be regarded as satisfactory, almost as a good one, and we count upon having a 3,450,000 tons distribution to be carried out much more efficiently than in recent years. The same quantity of sugar as formerly can be delivered. We shall still have to bear many restrictions, but we have adequate food supply for next year. Herr Von Waldeu said bread and potatoes would form the basis of the food supply.

OPPOSITION ADVERTISING.

TORONTO, Nov. 29. A special cable from London to the Evening Telegram to-day, says: "At least one or two of the great London papers who are strongly supporting editorially and otherwise, the Union Government in Canada, have declined

Had Piles for Ten Years

And Tried Nearly Everything Except a Surgical Operation Without Obtaining Relief—Tells How Complete Cure Was Effected.

Brantford, Ont., Nov. 30.—There is reported here three cures of chronic cases of piles. In all three cases many treatments were tried before it was discovered that Dr. Chase's Ointment is the only real cure for this distressing ailment.

Mrs. A. Oates, 22 Gilkinson street, Brantford, Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment as a household remedy for ever so long, and am particularly indebted to it for a cure from Piles. I had suffered from this annoying trouble for ten years, and tried nearly everything I heard of. After using Dr. Chase's Ointment a short while I was completely cured."

Mrs. Wm. Shantz, 155 Albert street, Kitchener, Ont., writes: "For several years I was troubled with bleeding piles. I tried different remedies for relief without success. I read in Dr. Chase's Almanac of the benefits other people were receiving from Dr. Chase's Ointment, so I sent to your office for a sample box. I found it gave me such relief that I went to a drug store and purchased a full-sized box. I have used several boxes since, and have derived more benefit from its use than any remedy I have ever used."

Mrs. F. Cassons, Victoria street, Ingersoll, Ont., writes: "About two years and a half ago I was suffering from Piles. I had tried many different remedies for this distressing trouble, but nothing helped me. Finally I got a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and after using it found that I was completely cured and have not been bothered in this way since. I can cheerfully recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to anyone suffering as I did."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. There are no rivals to Dr. Chase's Ointment as a treatment for Piles. Be sure to

A Tided Pacificist.

If the phenomenon of eleven-hour hesitation, uncertainty and general "nervousness" were not a common one to every nation engaged in a great war, we might feel a little of the alarm which seems to agitate so many in England over the publication of Lord Lansdowne's extraordinary letter. Knowing that tendency, and still more knowing the man, the only feeling we can confess to is one of deploring the fact that the letter is capable of so much mischief. There is one great lesson which the war is teaching England very slowly, and that is to rid herself of the senseless snobbery that has infected her for generations. If this sort of semi-responsible rubbish had come from the pen of plain Mr. Jones or Mr. Smith, no one would have paid even passing attention to it. But the writer wears a coronet, and there is all the difference. On thousands of eyes the emblem casts a sheen which blinds them to the false reasoning and despicable purpose that to unprejudiced minds stare out from the words its wearer uses. Happily there are others who will not be so impressed and who see in him the man who has consistently taken the wrong side on every great public question in which he has been interested, or, if he has blundered into the right one, has speedily put himself in the wrong by his extreme views and the bitterness with which he has urged them.

That the letter and the discussion of it in Parliament (which we hope will be avoided) will do much harm, is only too likely; that it will be hailed with joy in Germany is certain. We may paraphrase its whole meaning thus. It says to the Allies, "You seek to vanquish and exterminate Germany. You wish to shut her out from the councils of nations, to stifle her commercial expansion and efforts to impose an ungenial form of government upon her. Against this purpose the German nation will fight desperately and to the last man, and who can blame them?" That is the broad meaning of it. The contemptible misrepresentation of the Allies' aims which it contains is perhaps exceeded by the stupidity of the view it expresses of Germany's attitude, for we can suppose that Lansdowne genuinely believes that attitude to be the real one. Well, the Marquis of Lansdowne is not, let us be thankful, the most brilliant man in England. If he has not intelligence enough to understand simple facts better than this, that is his fault, but it is hard that the Allies should have to suffer for it. We can safely say that if the threats which he ascribes to the Allies appeared to the people of Germany as even remote possibilities, we should not have long to wait for the peace we want. The truth is, that if he suggested them in Germany itself he would be laughed at. The Germans, it is true, know that they are waging a war of defence, but that, they believe, is only until the Allies shall have exhausted themselves vainly and left Germany in possession of her gains, or until Germany herself has anticipated that pleasant consummation by hamstringing her enemies with her submarines. This is the one firm conviction that sustains millions of Germans in the patient toleration of hardships that are becoming almost unbearable. They continue the war for one reason alone, not to save themselves, my noble Lord, from destruction, but because they still believe in their ultimate victory, a victory perhaps not as complete as they intended it should be, but complete enough to secure to them tremendous advantages which they may use in the near future to make up the deficiency in full. Because they are still imbued with the vaunting ambition and damnable purpose which first impelled them to stretch the world upon the rack. That is the aim which needs revision, not anything which the Allies seek.

What will be the value, this sage counsellor asks, of the blessings of peace to nations so exhausted that they can scarcely stretch forth a hand to grasp them? A craven and contemptible question! No one will attempt to answer it. That will be done by unborn generations, whom such a peace will save from a misery and exhaustion hundredfold greater than that which purchases it. As for the alternative, we can tell Lord Lansdowne that there are millions of true men, both in the country which he dishonors and in all those allied with it, who would cut both hands off before they would stretch them forth to grasp any peace that is possible at this moment, or at any moment before the one enemy of peace, the German military spirit, is forever crushed. This is another occasion on which we can thank heaven for America. Lansdowne will be answered in England, but politics will be used to rob the answer of its strength. That does not apply to America, where there are those who will be able to say truly what they think. They are beginning to recognize the pacifist for the ugly thing that he is. We hope they will speak their mind to this latest addition to the number.

The following item appeared in the Christian Guardian of a recent date: Rev. Dr. Chown, General Superintendent, late of Quebec, Woman's Missionary Society, $5,000; French Methodist Institute, $3,000; Methodist Orphanage, St. John's, Newfoundland, $5,000; Superannuation Fund of the Methodist Church, $2,500.

The 24-Hour Record.

A CHALMERS stock chassis has broken the 24-hour stock chassis record of 1819 miles in 24-hours since May, 1916.

This supreme achievement in motor car endurance was attained when Joe Dawson drove a Chalmers Speedster equipped with an absolutely stock motor, 1898 miles in 24-hours over the Sheephead Bay Speedway on Aug. 1-2.

This marvelous performance was accomplished without a motor stop or mechanical trouble of any kind. This is the fastest time ever made by a motor for such a distance. The fastest world's locomotive records are dimmed by comparison with this dazzling exhibition of Chalmers speed and stability.

Added weight to the Chalmers performance is given when it is considered that it belongs in the 230 cubic inch piston class, whereas the holder of the best previous record, the Hudson, is in the 300 cubic inch class.

Mendelssohn's E'ijah.

Those who were unable to be present at the Kirk last evening to hear Mr. King's excellent chorus of 80 voices—render the E'ijah, certainly a treat which we do not often get in St. John's. However, the performance will be repeated at the Kirk to-night, commencing at 8 o'clock sharp, and we would advise those of our readers who were unable to be present at last evening's performance to take advantage of the opportunity to hear this Oratorio, as it will be some time before they will again have the pleasure of hearing such excellent solo work as occurs in this masterpiece.

Hudson Bay Co's New Quarters.

The Hudson Bay Co., whose office is now situated in the Gear Building, have completed arrangements with Mrs. J. W. Foran for the renting of the premises formerly occupied by the Bank of Nova Scotia at the corner of McBride's Hill and Water Street. The interior of the building will be entirely renovated before being occupied and will be fitted for both office and store rooms. A new system of plumbing and heating is being installed by Messrs Moore & Co., who have already started to fit up the new fixtures. The new business stand, when completed, will be in keeping with the surroundings and is a forerunner of what the company may do here in the future.

Express Passengers.

The following first class passengers are on the incoming express:—J. A. Charlebois, Geo. Sellars, W. R. and Mrs. Howley, Capt. G. A. Creagh, J. D. Metcalf, Lieut. J. C. Bethune, J. The Ethie left Humbermouth at 6.45 a.m. to-day. The Glencoe reached Placentia at 2.45 a.m. going west. The Wren left Clarendville at 4.30 a.m. to-day. The Diana reached St. John's at 5 p.m. yesterday.

place yesterday afternoon at No. 1 Colonial Street, when the Rev. N. M. Dawson, late of Quebec, was married to Miss Olive M. Taylor, matronly of Miss F. Taylor, Esq., of H. Gordon Christian, L.L.A.M. The ceremony was officiated by Miss Gertrude Christian, sister of the groom, while the groom was supported by Mr. Max Parsons, late of St. John's, and Mr. M. J. Reid. The bride is a great favorite of Cochrane Street congregation and is a prominent member of the choir of the Holy Trinity Church, the organist, being Music Master at the Methodist College and Organist at the Holy Trinity Church. The bride was the recipient of many valuable and useful presents, including some beautiful "acknowledgments" from the College staff teachers and pupils, also from the Ladies' College Aid. Following the ceremony reception was held at the home of the bride, where the bride and groom were entertained by the bride's friends. The celebration was a most successful one, and the bride and groom were most happily married.

Hr. Grace Notes.

Miss Alice Casey left for St. John's during the week to resume her work of private nursing in the city. Mr. Albert Bradbury died early this morning after a few days illness, aged 27 years. Mr. Bradbury was a son of the late George Bradbury and had been on Bell Island where he was stricken with paralysis last week. He was brought in by the s.s. Mary on Monday in a semi-conscious state. The funeral takes place on Saturday. The moving picture shows of Mr. Percy at St. Paul's and Mr. P. E. Outerbridge, was in town yesterday on a brief business trip. The workmen at the Shipbuilding Plant are now working overtime. The west end will soon be a real live industry. Hr. Grace, Nov. 29, 1917. —COR.

Yesterday's outgoing express left the Quarry at 9.10 a.m. to-day. The incoming express left Fort aux Basques at 9.05 a.m. to-day.

Hudson Super-Six Welcomes Chalmers.

IN FIELD OF COMPETITION. Newfoundland has only one Motor Car for every 1,250 people, the United States has one for every 32 people, they collect $90,000,000 annually in Motor taxes. Advertising and competition may entice our people and increase sales of Cars. St. John's to compare with those of like size should have 1,000 Cars instead of about 200 and collect $20,000 annually in taxes, instead of about $4,000, half of which should go to road improvements. A great number of Cars have records each for their particular class, and it may be interesting to prospective buyers and owners, to compare the two makes, who are advertising their records here, the Hudson Super-Six and Chalmers. The Hudson does not recognize Chalmers records. They are not in the Hudson class, as they were not made with a Car containing a Stock Engine as all Hudson records are made. Chalmers are only Track records, made with a specially built engine, and not Endurance contests made with Stock Engines as Hudson records.

Chalmers records are for the small Car class, 117 inch Wheel Base, 25 H.P., 224 Piston Displacement, their hours record for this Car as published in last night's Telegram is 83 miles more than this is expected, of the great powerful Super-Six, this Car's record for one hour is 104 miles made June 16th last, when breaking the mileage record for all Cars of any Class; this record was made with a regular Stock Engine, Chalmers record was made with a special Engine, containing Pistons, another Car. There can be no comparison, however, against this Special Engine. A Super-Six with a regular Stock Engine, made her one hour record 21 miles better than the Chalmers; this record was not made with a racing Freak, but with a Stock Car brought in by S. King, Mrs. W. McGee, Mrs. Keating, Miss M. Keating, M. C. Simonson. The Chalmers specially made Engine conveys no idea to prospective buyers of what the regular Hudson does, as all records were made with the identical Engine as is in Cars owned in St. John's. Chalmers have no Endurance records as the Hudson who holds the World's Record for ten days' continuous run, New York to San Francisco and return with a fully loaded seven passenger regular Car—6,952 miles in 10 days 21 hours, beating all records by 6 days 18 hours; previous record held by the Marmon $5,000 Car. This is the greatest of all tests and records, it means Endurance. To-morrow we will compare Hudson's record with either Car sold here, when we will prove that no American Car being advertised here is in the Super-Six Class—adv't.

Wedding Bells.

CHRISTIAN-TAYLOR. place yesterday afternoon at No. 1 Colonial Street, when the Rev. N. M. Dawson, late of Quebec, was married to Miss Olive M. Taylor, matronly of Miss F. Taylor, Esq., of H. Gordon Christian, L.L.A.M. The ceremony was officiated by Miss Gertrude Christian, sister of the groom, while the groom was supported by Mr. Max Parsons, late of St. John's, and Mr. M. J. Reid. The bride is a great favorite of Cochrane Street congregation and is a prominent member of the choir of the Holy Trinity Church, the organist, being Music Master at the Methodist College and Organist at the Holy Trinity Church. The bride was the recipient of many valuable and useful presents, including some beautiful "acknowledgments" from the College staff teachers and pupils, also from the Ladies' College Aid. Following the ceremony reception was held at the home of the bride, where the bride and groom were entertained by the bride's friends. The celebration was a most successful one, and the bride and groom were most happily married.

Thoughts Upon the Times.

Before President Wilson declared war with Germany many were found in Newfoundland to criticize the Government of the United States for remaining neutral in the face of the Lusitania and other outrages committed by Germany. To-day the world is admiring the whole-hearted and thorough manner in which the United States is trying to win the war and solve her war problems. She wastes no time whatever on the Voluntary enlistment of her soldiers. In the matter of food conservation, Mr. Hoover, the Food Controller, believes that if the war is to be won by America and her Allies, the kitchen and dining-room of the American citizen must do its part as well as the soldiers in the trenches. Every man, woman and child therefore in the American Republic is given an opportunity to do something for the National Cause. There is, as it were, a bond of sympathy between the housewife in the kitchen and the soldier at the front, and every pound of sugar, butter, bacon, meat, or flour saved, is a shot fired with effect at the Germans. Contrast this patriotic spirit with us in Newfoundland. Half the people do not yet realize that we are

The New Christmas.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

A letter friend has written me in regard to my suggestion that we make this Christmas a really a Christmas instead of just a grand present-and-turkey-and-cream-day; a Christmas when we cease the exchange of luxurious gifts among ourselves and give to those who need. She says that she cannot bear to cut out giving gifts to the family because there is a married sister and a father and mother to whom her gifts have always meant much. She herself is working and has more spending money than they.

That's The Right Kind of Giving.

Bless your heart, that is just the kind of giving that really spells Christmas. Cut it out! Heavens no. There isn't any reason that you should give to those outsiders who lack, and not give to those you love the best. That would certainly be leaning over backwards toward a totally wrong conception of Christmas.

What One Family Is Going To Do.

Let me describe to one family I know is going to do and perhaps you will understand better what I mean by the new Christmas. This family consists of several married brothers and sisters all comfortably well to do. Every year the brothers and sisters, and brothers-in-law and sisters-in-law have exchanged beautiful gifts. As is inevitably the case, their expenditures have gradually grown more lavish year by year until they mounted up to a truly appalling sum. And this year they have called a halt. They will cease to give to each other entirely. They will go on giving gifts (limited in value to half a dollar) to the children. They will continue to give just as before to their father and mother (who are not as well off as they) and to one or two cousins and aunts to whom their gifts have always meant much. But they will cut out giving to some of the weather-cousins and aunts.

Do Not Withdraw Your Money From Circulation.

And the money they save they will not withdraw from circulation but will spend it bringing Christmas where Christmas would not otherwise go.

They are going to send Christmas boxes to the soldiers, they are going to give extra sums to war relief, and they are going to do for some of the women and children behind the man behind the gun. They believe (and I do too) that it is often those who bear the hardest part of the burden, no cheering, no excitement, no surety that one will be properly looked after by the government because one is a valuable fighting unit. Just anxiety and the bitter struggle not to be ground to bits between the upper and nether millstones of reduced means and rising prices.

Surely one will feel the abiding peace and goodwill that are the true ornaments of Christmas in one's heart on Christmas morn if one has done what one could for such as these.

We live in stirring times. Shall we go on with the conventional self-centered round of our lives just exactly as usual? Or shall we be ashamed to?

Our unusual success in the production of Children's Portraits has been very favourably commented on. Come in and see them. J. C. PARSONS, Bank of Montreal Building.—nov17,17

LUCK.

Luck is something which strikes a man when he is not looking for anything higher than a pair of sevens. It is the principal asset in certain card games which do not have to be purified over and over by bringing in a fresh deck.

Luck is a priceless possession in the hands of a man who is about to go broke with a low, discouraged plunk, but who is suddenly left 10,000 by some relative whom he would not recognize except by standing him up beside the daguerro-type. Lots of people who are now wearing sport shirts and gossamer hose would not be doing so if luck had not dropped into their humble homes and left a bank roll that would choke an artesian well. No one should complain of this, however, as the money is immediately put into circulation with great ferocity and soothes the fevered brow of the custom tailor and the garage proprietor.

Next to the little pea and the antilection promises of a candidate for Congress, luck is the most elusive object on earth. It will flutter about a community for weeks at a time and finally alight on somebody who is not in need of anything but a decent burial. If an automobile is to be given away at the county fair, the holder of the lucky number will be some prosperous citizen who owns all of Main Street except the post-office building and who has to buy inner tubes for three touring cars and a limousine. Every once in a while we read of some man who had to take six acres of swamp land in payment of an outlawed grocery bill, and then turned it over to the railroad company for a life pension and a free pass.

Hard luck is a form of chance with reverse English on it and is somewhat genuine. There is a good deal of hard luck, however which is accompanied by a violent aversion to work of any kind and has to be propped up by free soup. Charity is suggested times unable to distinguish between the hard luck story and real distress, but it hits the mark often enough to secure a good batting average. The man who relies upon luck as a substitute for hard work and plenty of it has about as much show in the game of life as a one-legged shortstop in the world's series.

SHIFTING WEATHER.

WALT MASON

The weather switches to and fro, from one extreme to another; one day we're ankle deep in snow, the next, in heat we smother. When I retire at 9 o'clock, all tranquility is the weather; it looks as though there'd be a flock of balmy days together. "It's the finest climate built," in bed I keep repeating, and kick off coverlet and quilt, because they're overheating. So in a pleasant frame of mind I soon become a snorer, preparing for the morrow's grind with nature's sweet restorer. And when the clock is striking three, I wake from all my dozing; three quarters frozen. Oh, it would carry any rent to know what traps to batter, when he goes forth to pay his rent, to gamble or to marry. His slater or a palm leaf fan? His rubbers or his sandals? This climate is too fierce for man, and weather sharps are vandals! One day I waded around in sleet, and think this life is phoney; the next day I have prickly heat, and then again pneumonia. One day the weather gives me croup, the next, sunburn and freckles; and all the time I'm in the soup, and doctors get my shakels.

Household Notes.

Skimmed milk is a good substitute for starch and it will not stick to the iron. Wash and rinse the garment as usual and then rinse in the milk.

Most children under six are better off without any meat at all, but their diet must be carefully studied to make sure that it is perfectly nutritious.

A good method of cleaning tennis balls is as follows: Scrub them with soap and water. Do not rinse the soap out, but put them in the sun to dry.

The most nauseous physic may be given to children if first you allow them to suck a peppermint lozenge, a piece of alum or a bit of orange peel.

Lewellyn's Club.

Dr. Robinson, P. M. G., lectured to the members of the Lewellyn Club last night on "Our Returned Defenders and How to Treat Them." Rev. Dr. Jones, the Chairman, in introducing the lecturer referred in complimentary terms to the interest always displayed by him in "Ours." Dr. Robinson on stepping to the front was given a hearty reception by the members and for over an hour he addressed them on his subject. Setting forth the noble qualities of our heroes, he offered some admirable suggestions as to how we should treat them on their return from the blood-soaked field of France and Flanders. Some people, said the lecturer, were under the impression that the returned soldier, being accustomed to the military way of doing things, would not readily fall in with the quiet routine of business. This, said Dr. Robinson, was not correct, as he had several returned heroes in his employ and they had proved to be quick workers and all round efficient officials.

Hon. C. H. Emerson in proposing a vote of thanks to the lecturer felt that all present were the richer in having heard the address, which should be preserved in the archives of the club. Mr. C. E. Hunt seconded the motion and said that they had learned from the lecturer much of interest, that would teach them to think of things more imperially. The motion was carried by acclamation and tendered Dr. Robinson by the President, Rev. Dr. Jones.

Dr. Robinson in a suitable reply made personal references to Messrs. Emerson and Hunt, the proposer and seconder of the vote of thanks, stating that the son of the former had offered but was rejected while the record of Mr. Hunt's family was one that all might be proud of. In the audience he saw many whose sons had offered for defence of the Empire, many of whom had made the supreme sacrifice.

City Council.

At last night's weekly session of the Municipal Council Lt. Col. Otway, S.A., asked that a fountain near the new Citadel, Adelaide Street, be removed. Referred to Engineer for enquiry. Mr. Otway also offered for sale a piece of land for street widening near the Citadel. This matter is being considered, as is also Mr. Browning's request that no tax be paid on the amusement table in St. Andrew's Club rooms, it not being a regulation billiard table. On behalf of their clients, the U. S. P. and P. Co., Wood and Kelly served a writ on the Mayor for $807.55, account of damage done to plaintiff's goods in store by bursting of water pipes. The matter is to be contested in the Supreme Court.

The Council refused to give Mr. Gordon Bradley, Solicitor for Jos. Vatcher, Battery Road, permission to build addition to residence.

Permission was given J. R. Johnston to build addition to Empire Laundry, King's Road, subject to the approval of the Engineer.

H. Blatch asked for permission to repair three houses in Hunt's Lane. Deferred pending inquiry as these houses were originally built contrary to the Municipal Law; also it has come under the notice of the Council that Mr. Blatch had already started repairs without permission.

J. Duff, LeMarchant Road, reported that his cellar was being flooded by water from Gear Street, and Supt. Donnelly reported that Miss Power's cellar, Theatre Hill had been flooded through negligence of Council employees.

C. L. B. At Home.

Upwards of two hundred persons attended the annual "At Home" of the C. L. B. at the British Hall last night, the affair being one of the most successful of its kind ever held by the Regiment and other city brigades were represented amongst the large assemblage present. The hall room where the dancing was held was artistically decorated and the band, under Bandmaster Morris, discoursed a choice programme of selections. During the night the lady friends of the Brigade served refreshments.

Reloated.

The S. S. Beverley, which grounded on the Bar in St. Mary's Harbor several days ago, was successfully re-floated yesterday. Only eight hundred barrels of flour were taken on of the ship to lighten her, and put on board the S. S. Erik, when she came off the mud bank. The work of transferring the cargo again was continued last night. The Beverley is coming along under her own steam. She sustained very little damage and is leaking but slightly.

Mamma! Don't You See Your Child is Sick, Constipated

Look at tongue! Move poisons from liver and bowels at once.

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowels cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look and see that it is made by the California Fig Syrup Co.

ST. ANDREW'S ANNIVERSARY.—This is the anniversary of Scotland's patron saint. To-night a celebration will be held at St. Andrew's Club Rooms. Dr. Robinson will lecture.

The Diana from the North.

The S. S. Diana, Capt. Burgess, which left here on Oct. 23rd for the Labrador, reached port last evening, having gone as far north as Tunatic. The Diana, which was prepared for sea on the 26th ult., had to remain anchored in the stream where she sheltered from the storm that was then sweeping the coast, but on the following day the wind dropped a little and Capt. Burgess got his ship underway. Since then the Diana has been pounding her way along in the roughest seas that ever Captain and crew experienced and it was only by careful handling of the ship that she survived the heavy seas and wind that threatened to engulf her on several occasions. Capt. Burgess reports that winter has set in in all its severity; the lakes and ponds are frozen, while the snow in places is from two to six feet deep. All the settlers have moved up in their winter quarters and during the past month have done well with the seals and furs.

The Diana brought along a number of fishermen and Marconi operators, who remained later than usual this year. Capt. Burgess reports Rev. Henry Gordon and his little band of teachers settled in the new quarters at Sandwich and Grosswater Bays.

Proclamation!

By His Excellency Sir Walter Edward Davidson, Knight Commander of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over the Island of Newfoundland and its Dependencies.

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME, GREETING: Know ye, that by and with the advice of my Executive Council, I do, in compliance with the provisions of "The Election Act 1913" hereby direct that the list of persons entitled to vote at a General Election of persons to serve as members in the House of Assembly in this Island shall be taken and revised in manner provided by the said Act, and in accordance with the Rules and Regulations made hereunder.

And I do further direct that the Justices and Conservators of the Peace in the several Districts shall undertake such revision as may have heretofore been assigned to them by directions for that purpose from His Excellency the Governor; and provided further that instead of the times appointed in the said Act for the exhibiting of Lists of Voters, and for giving the notice prescribed by the said Act and for holding Courts of Revision, the Justices and Conservators of the Peace shall appoint and publicly notify, in the several Districts, such time or times for the purpose aforesaid, as circumstances may require, and as such Justices and Conservators of the Peace shall respectively deem expedient or as by me hereafter directed.

Given under my Hand and the Great Seal of the Island at the Government House, St. John's, this 23rd day of October, in the year of Our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen.

By His Excellency's Command,
R. A. SQUIRES,

Wool Underwear in the cold weather. You cannot do better than striking out for

Stanfield's UNSHRINKABLE WARM WOOL UNDERWEAR.

And you can get it best by hitting up BLAIR'S. If your present Underwear is only worn a bit thin, don't take chances but replace it immediately, as our prices are low now, and later it will cost you more. If you leave it till next winter, outside of possible doctor's bills, it will cost more than half as much again. You may think it funny for us to be saying this, but we are figuring on buying next winter's Underwear now. It is only by very advanced buying these times we can give you good prices. Of Underwear selling now, some we had in stock or bought over a year ago. WE ARE LOOKING AFTER YOUR INTERESTS AND OUR PRICES ARE LOW.

Parcels for Nfld. Forces Overseas.

- Parcels must not exceed 11 lbs. in weight.
- Parcels addressed to members of the Newfoundland Forces Overseas should bear the name and address of a second addressee to whom the parcels may be delivered or forwarded if it should prove impossible to deliver the first. The original address should be written on the FRONT of the parcel where the postage stamps and Customs declaration are affixed, and the second or alternative address should be written on the BACK of the parcel.
- If a second address is not furnished at the time of posting, and delivery cannot be effected, the contents of the parcel, unless of exceptional value or of a personal nature, will be turned over to the Military Authorities for distribution.
- Parcels containing articles of a personal nature or of special value will be returned, if a request for their return in case of non-delivery is made by the sender, such request to be written on the cover of the parcel at the time of posting.
- This plan is being adopted at the suggestion of the British Post Office, which states that the present procedure of holding undeliverable parcels at the Dead Letter Office until instructions are received as to their disposal is resulting in the waste of a large quantity of perishable foodstuffs, which form the contents of 90 per cent. of parcels addressed to soldiers.
