Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

The most effective, the old home-made remedy has no equal. Ready and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Arrows who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare and really there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a 16-oz. bottle, put 8½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, this mixture saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

"Flowers of the Valley,"

MABEL HOWARD, OF THE LYRIC.

CHAPTER VIII. AN HISTORIC QUARREL.

At last Iris looked up at the clock. "What is the time, nurse? So late? I must be going, nurse," as the old woman got her young mistress's hat and smoothed it with her apron.

"Yes, miss; yes, my dear," said the old woman, for Iris had passed, and her face had become crimson for a second.

"You know a great deal about us—about the family, I mean?"

"I was at the Revels before your father, the squire, brought you from Italy, dearie," said the old woman.

Iris nodded, and leaned her head on her hands, her large eyes fixed on the old woman's face.

"Do you know anything about the Coverdales—can you tell me anything about them?"

Mrs. Hartley's face grew grave, and she set the hat down on the table.

"What put it into your head to ask that, miss?" she enquired.

Iris blushed, and shifted her hand so that it hid her face.

"Never mind, nurse. Answer me! What do you know about them? Why do we—my father, I mean—never speak to them?"

"Because there is no love lost between the Knights and the Coverdales, Miss Iris," said the old woman. "Wasn't there some story in history of two families as didn't get on, and was always quarrelling?"

"Not history, it's a play," said Iris. "You are thinking of Romeo and Juliet."

"Aye, that's it, I make no doubt," assented Mrs. Hartley. "Well, it's the same with the Knights and the Coverdales. They was always on opposite sides, miss, and they always will be."

Iris sighed softly.

"But that's all past and gone," she said. "Why shouldn't they be friends now, nurse?" and her voice was almost piteous and imploring.

Mrs. Hartley shook her head.

"Quarrels run in families like moles and freckles, miss," she said. "And the quarrel between the Knights and the Coverdales is always alive and burning! Besides, they owe each other a grudge of yesterday, as you may say. But there, I'd best not speak of it."

"Yes, yes!" said Iris, pushing the hair from her brow with an impatient gesture. "Why should you not? I am no longer a child!"

The old woman regarded her tenderly.

"You were a very beautiful child, dearie," she said, "and you are a very beautiful girl! No, you are no longer a child!" and she looked at her as if realizing it for the first time.

"Very well, then," said Iris, smiling sadly, "answer me as you would a woman. Why does my father hate the Coverdales?"

"Because the Knights have always hated them, and because the last of the Coverdales wronged your father, Miss Iris," said the old woman.

"Wronged him?"

"Yes, my dear. He robbed him of his bride the day before the wedding. He left England, and we thought he'd never get over it, and would never marry. But he did! He married an Italian lady, and brought you home to be his dear daughter and lawful heiress. Some said that he'd married to spite the Coverdales."

"To spite the Coverdales!" said Iris.

Mrs. Hartley nodded sapiently.

"Yes, my dear. Because, don't you see, if your father hadn't married, the Coverdales would have come into the Revels, and all the property, which would have been a fine thing for them—for they are, and always were, as poor as church mice. As they deserve to be!" added the old lady, grimly.

"But who could have come into it?" demanded Iris. "You talk of the Coverdales; but I want to know who they are."

"There's only one that I know of," said Mrs. Hartley. "That's Lord Draxwin Coverdale—him as run away with your father's young lady, Lor, now I think of it. I did read that he was dead, and that his nephew, quite a young man, had got the title. Of course!"

Iris colored deeply and drooped her eyes.

"Do you—do you remember his name, nurse?" she said, in a low voice.

Mrs. Hartley pondered a moment with her head on one side.

"I read it in the paper," she said, musingly; "but my memory isn't what it was. The name was something like 'Hiawk'—"

"Heron," suggested Iris, her face crimson and then white.

"Heron it was! Lor, how clever you are, Miss Iris, to hit upon it all at once like that. Yes, Heron was his name."

There was silence for a moment, while Iris gazed sadly at the fire.

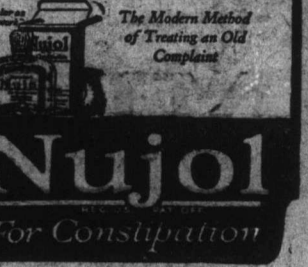

"And but for me—if I had not been born—this young man would have owned the Revels and Beverley," she said in a low voice.

Mrs. Hartley nodded cheerily.

"Yes, Miss Iris, this young gentleman would be the squire's heir, if it wasn't for you. But, bless the Lord, here you are; and he won't have a penny to buy with. But, with sudden apprehension, "you won't tell the squire as we was talking about the Coverdales, dearie? He would never forgive me. The name ain't allowed to be spoken at the Revels, by high or low, and it isn't for the likes of me."

Iris rose and put on her hat.

"Don't be afraid, nurse," she said sadly. "I am not likely to speak of it."

She was silent a moment, while the old woman arranged the veil. "Did you ever see this young man, Heron Coverdale—Lord Coverdale, I suppose he is?"

"Lord Coverdale he is, miss, of course, now his uncle is dead. No, I never saw him, and never heard of him; but I'll be bound he's no good. No Coverdale ever was."

Iris colored, and turned quickly, but seeing how futile any remonstrance against such a feeling as was exhibited by the old lady would be, bent forward and kissed her instead.

"Good-by, nurse," she said. "I feel all the better now for your cup of tea. I will come and see you again soon, and tell you how the last batch of chickens have got on."

"Aye, dearie, come as often as you can," returned the old lady, gazing at her lovingly. "And mind," she added, as Iris slipped into the saddle, "don't you say a word to the squire about the Coverdales."

It was not a very long time from the Revels to the Revels, but it was not until the dressing bell had rung that she reached home, and Snow was all in a lather and sweat.

Signor Ricardo had also returned, not having broken his neck as some of the stablemen had expected, and Iris, when she went down to dinner, found him in the drawing room talking to her father, who stood with his hands folded behind him, his eyes fixed on the carpet, as if he were not listening to a single word.

Iris was not in the mood for conversation, and the signor had the conversation all to himself.

He seemed in the very best of spirits, and all through the dinner his soft, mellow voice ran on like a stream.

Iris noticed that sometimes her father seemed so lost in thought as to answer the signor's questions at random, and quite out of the mark; but Signor Ricardo didn't seem to mind in the least. He ate every dish—and the Revels' menu was a lavish and comprehensive one—and drank of every wine, and when Iris left the table the signor was embarking on the second bottle of Chateau la Rose.

She was glad to get out of sound of his ceaseless voice, and cooling herself up on a couch beside the fire in the drawing-room, gave herself up to thoughts of Heron Coverdale.

At this moment, doubtless, he was on the ocean, asking himself—as he had asked himself ever since she had left him—why she had left him, why she had spoken as she had done, and what he had said to offend her.

Tea was brought in, but the two gentlemen did not appear.

An hour passed, and still Iris found herself sitting alone and thinking of Heron Coverdale.

Presently the door opened, and the squire and his strange guest entered.

"Fardon, Miss Iris," exclaimed the signor, extending his hands. "Your father and I have been talking over old times, dear, precious old times, and had forgotten the passing of this present hour. We pray your forgiveness."

"Iris inclined her head, and poured them out their tea.

As she gave a cup to her father, she noticed that he looked pale and worn, and that the dark frown, which was too frequent a visitor on his brow, was sterner and darker even than usual.

"You look tired," she said gently.

He started slightly, and smiled down at her tenderly.

"I am tired," he said, wearily. "Signor Ricardo will excuse us if we retire early to-night."

The signor expressed himself as tired also, but he beseeched, implored, that Miss Iris would sing one, just one, song before they retired.

The frown darkened on the squire's brow, but the signor looked at him with a smile and a gleam of his white teeth, and the squire nodded toward the piano.

"Sing for the signor, Iris," he said. "He would gladly have refused; but she rose and went to the piano and sang. It was a sad little song, and as she sang the face and voice of Heron Coverdale—the enemy of her house, the man whose life she had saved—seemed to rise before her.

Why the Z R-2 Failed.

Any doubt there may have been regarding the cause of the greatest airship's destruction is removed by the report of the court of inquiry, a body of experts appointed by the British Government, with Commander Horace P. Dyer, U.S.N., assisting as a representative of the American Navy. The wreck of the ZR-2 was so appalling, carrying to sudden death in flood and fire the pick of American and British naval aviators, and it had such a bearing on every plan for the building of dirigibles in the future, that to search out the cause of the catastrophe and put it on record was absolutely essential to progress in the conquest of the air. Everybody knew that the disaster must have been due to some structural weakness. But that was not enough. Now the court puts its finger on the weak spot and tells us why and the wherefore.

The failure, says the court, was in the structure to the rear of the after engine cars, while the ship was being subjected to control tests. This has been generally understood, owing to the rear part of the vessel having bent away and fallen first when she broke in two. The kernel of the matter is given in the court's statement that a quick reversal was being made at the time the accident, bringing a heavy strain on the after portion of the hull of the craft, owing to the swing of the stern. There we have it: The pilot was changing the direction of the ship by a swift swing round, a sharp turn at from 45 to 60 knots, and the swing put upon the hull of the ship a strain which was more than it could bear, causing a break between the ninth and tenth sections of the frame.

The kind of strain has not been entirely unknown to navigators of airships, though it never before had such fatal results. The most famous predecessor of the ZR-38 (which became the ZR-2 on being bought by the United States Navy) was the R-34. It will be remembered that she crossed the Atlantic in July, 1919. Her log was written by Gen. E. M. Maitland—whose fate it afterward was to go down to the death with the ZR-2—and in that log are the following three entries, made on three separate occasions:

"Violent bumps off Dumbarton hills bring big strains on ship, particularly upon her elevators and rudders. Strong vertical currents of air. Ship alternately up by the bow and by the stern."

"Noticeable leakage from petrol tanks when ship takes up big angle by bow or stern, causing unpleasant smell of petrol vapor in keel. This must be remedied in future."

"Violent temperature bumps, evidently caused by rapid variation of sea temperature beneath us. Ship is lifted 400 feet, and then dropped 500 feet—measured on our aneroid. Scott, who has his head out of a window in the forward car, states that he saw the tail of the ship bend under the strain."

The strain in these instances was vertical. How dangerous it may be when it is horizontal is shown by what happened to the ZR-2 when the attempt was made to swing her round for a change of course. Apparently she was not as strongly constructed, in proportion to her size, as the R-34, which she exceeded in length by 66 feet. According to the court's report, restricted construction she'd "necessitated the utmost economy in design," many new features were introduced, and "in some cases there was lack of vital aerodynamical information as to the effect of these modifications on the strength of the structure." In other words, there was too much refining or fling down when making changes in the design, the effect of the reductions in bulk or weight being a reduction of strength. The strongest airship, after all, is only lattice-work of aluminum alloy. Weaken any vital part of the frame and under sudden strain it may collapse. The lesson has been learned, but at a frightful cost.—Boston Herald.

New Drug Plants Discovered.

New York, Oct. 10. (Associated Press).—New drug plants and species of insects have been discovered in the Amazon river basin by the Mulford biological expedition party, according to word received at the Columbia University School of Pharmacy, from the head of the expedition, Dr. H. H. Rusby. Curious forms of reptiles and birds have also been encountered, in addition to botanical specimens of great scientific value. Dr. Rusby, who is 64 years old, reported that his expedition was proceeding by raft down the Bopi river, after spending three weeks in the vicinity of Cananama and Espira, at the head of navigation of this waterway. Richer vegetation was encountered as the expedition penetrated into the little known regions of the interior of Bolivia. All members of the party were reported in good health and Dr. Rusby said that most satisfactory results had been obtained, notwithstanding irritating delays and difficulty in obtaining reliable information or dependable assistants.

Household Notes.

Never flavor custard until cold. Ripe olive sauce is nice with game. Flour is an excellent bait to use on mice traps. Syrup sauces are excellent for heavy puddings. Oyster sauce is good served with any kind of fish. Dye stained white stockings with a good black dye.

Angel cake is delicious food with orange butter icing. Tomatoes stuffed with rice and cheese are delicious. Minicovites are jellies whipped like show puddings. Serve hot cooked turnips cubed in lemon butter sauce. Small white onions should be sliced and pickled. A sour apple added to any fruit will make it jelly firmly. It is not too soon to make the Thanksgiving fruit cake.

A good flavoring extract is not obtrusive. You realize the presence of Shirriff's Non-alcoholic Extracts only by the delicious flavor—the appetizing goodness of your cakes, desserts and dainties. Shirriff's Non-alcoholic Extracts are made by the largest extract manufacturers in Canada, and are the leading sellers wherever non-alcoholic extracts are in demand. And because they are really double strength, you need only use half the usual quantity to obtain the very finest results. Ask your grocer for any flavor—Vanilla, Lemon, Orange, Almond, Peppermint, Strawberry, Raspberry, Wintergreen, Rose and others.

Premier Briand Opposes Policy of Force.

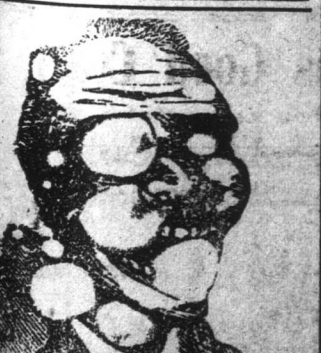

R. Borden to Represent Canada -- Making Efforts to Avert Threatened Railway Strike -- Irish Prisoners Destroy Internment Camp -- One Hundred Thousand Ulster Volunteers Well Armed.

PREMIER REPRESENTS CANADA.
OTTAWA, Oct. 18. The Canadian Government has appointed Sir Robert Borden, G.C.M.G., representative for Canada at the Washington Conference. It was officially announced this afternoon.

BRIAND IS FIRM.
PARIS, Oct. 18. Premier Briand went before the Chamber of Deputies today and made clear that his policy must have the support and strong approval of the people if he was to represent France at the Washington Conference on the question of armaments. He declared a policy of force the Premier desired the representatives of the country must say so. He would however decline to associate himself with such a policy.

THE THREATENED STRIKE.
CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 18. Efforts to avert the general railway strike scheduled for October 30, tonight found governmental agencies, representatives of the public, and some railway labor unions taking action, simultaneously, which all hoped would prevent a tie-up of the country's transportation system through the walkout of nearly 2,000,000 employees in protest of wage cuts. Foremost among those to move being made by the different groups was a meeting between the United States Railroad Labor Board and the heads of five unions, which have already authorized their men to strike, called for Thursday by board and at request of President Harding it was held by board members.

INTERNED PRISONERS DESTROY CAMP.
CORK, Oct. 18. The work of destruction begun Sunday by the occupants of the Spike Island camp for interned prisoners, whom they became enraged because they were not permitted to attend to the cheering of the prisoners as they carried on their operations being fairly heard in Queenstown. The buildings on the island known as Block B, were destroyed, yesterday by another group known as Block A, who were well demolished today.

"Laugh and grow fat" is an old story. We advise the use of a good tonic.

"BRICK'S TASTELESS"
A wonderful tonic and will certainly improve your health. The selection of a tonic is a matter of great importance, as your health depends upon it. To fight disease successfully during the changeable autumn months the system should receive a toning up. The facts we state about Brick's Tasteless silence all criticism.

Volumes of smoke were observed ascending from the Island where the interned men. It was said, were burning their sleeping kits. Four of the prisoners have been injured.

NO STRIKE IN CANADA ON THE 30th.
MONTREAL, Oct. 18. No railway strike in Canada on Oct. 30th, the date on which the strike is scheduled to occur in the United States, is possible, it was authoritatively stated in railway circles today. The tentative agreement entered into by the five principal railway brotherhoods with the Canadian railways, following the Conciliation Board's proceedings, is so drawn up that thirty-six days must elapse before a rupture could occur.

THE ULSTER VOLUNTEERS.
LONDON, Oct. 18. The Belfast correspondent of the Evening News today sent the following despatch to his newspapers: "There has been great secrecy as to details of organization, but the strength of the Ulster Volunteers is about 100,000. More than one-fourth of these are ex-service men who fought in France and elsewhere and who are well used to firearms. The Volunteers will be well armed as they've kept their rifles since 1914."

NEGOTIATIONS CONTINUE.
LONDON, Oct. 18. A committee of Sinn Fein and British delegates to the Irish Conference met at the Colonial Office this afternoon to consider the facilities that should be given the British air force in case an agreement should be reached on the Irish question. When Prime Minister Lloyd George made his original proposal on this subject, one of the terms which was necessary to the air force having certain privileges in Ireland. Sinn Fein officials strongly objected but it is understood they have since modified their views regarding the proposals. News from Ireland today tended to show that Sinn Fein was intensifying its boycott against Belfast goods, despite the truce.

EMERGENCY TARIFF LAW EXTENDED.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. A Bill to extend the life of the Emergency Tariff Law to February first, was passed late today by the House, 137 to 4. If the extension is not authorized the Emergency Law will expire November 5th. The Democrats with only few exceptions opposed the proposed extension, while the Republicans practically unanimously supported chairman Fordney, of the Ways and Means Committee, who held that the temporary Law should be kept in effect until a permanent tariff schedule could be made operative.

PEACE TREATY RATIFIED.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. The Senate tonight ratified the Treaty of Peace with Germany with the reservations reported by the Foreign Relations Committee. The vote was 56 for ratification to 20 against or eight more than the necessary two-thirds majority. Soon afterwards the Senate ratified the Peace Treaty with Austria by the same vote. Another similar Treaty with Hungary also was ratified, completing the Administration's immediate peace programme with the former Central Powers.

UNITY OF EFFORT.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. Belief that British and United States representatives at the Armament Conference will work together with other nations to reduce "the burden of armaments through diminishing the possible causes of war" was expressed by President Harding today in a cablegram to King George.

RECOMMEND REDUCTION OF ARMY.
LONDON, Oct. 18. The committee of business men appointed to investigate the War Office expenditure recommend a reduction of the British army and cutting down of the household cavalry, the latter by one-third. The Committee, says the Daily Sketch, found the army 10,000 men larger than in 1914 owing to the formation of tank units and air forces. Sir Eric Geddes, who yesterday retired from the Transportation Ministry, was chairman of the committee.

A WATCH.
Oh, whether the watch be a costly thing
Or one of the dollar kind,
It matters not if its clicking springs
Is one that a child can watch
There are just two tasks for a watch to do:
Keep time through the busy year
And then when the work of the day is through
To tick at a youngster's ear.

Some crave the watch with the costly case
And some with a rare design
But give me the watch I may freely place
In tinier hands than mine.
Yes give me the watch that a little boy
May climb on my knee to see,
And claim from its ticking the thrill of joy
I knew at my father's knee.

Thick and heavy the silver case
Which closed with a heavy snap,
But never a watch could take its place
As I clambered to his lap.
And never a watch shall mean so much,
Though it be of the costliest kind,
As that which my father let me touch
And taught me how to wind.

So I hold that a watch has a two-fold plan
And a double task to do;
It must mark the minutes which pass for man
And when the day is through
It must swing on its chain for the girl
Or boy.
Who chooses to climb his knee,
And give to the youngster the golden joy
Of its glorious mystery.

Mother! Clean Child's Bowels With California Fig Syrup

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, give a teaspoonful to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation, poison, sour bile and waste out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful to-day saves a sick child to-morrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Mammoth Mushrooms.

Paris, (Associated Press).—Two mammoth mushrooms, enough to "mother" all the steaks available in a hind quarter of beef, have just been found in France. Four feet in diameter and weighing between nine and ten pounds the first one was found on an estate in Saint Germain. The spores is edible and is known popularly in the district as the "death's head" mushroom. The other known as the "beaded puff-ball" has been picked at Bourgneuf. It weighs close to nine pounds and has a "flap" diameter of nearly 30 inches.

Saint John Man Eats Anything, Sleeps Like A Log And Feels Fine All The Time.

"I'm feeling like a new man now and am able to do as much work in one day as I used to do in two," said Charles Noel, 31 Meadow St., St. John, N.B., while relating his truly remarkable experience with "Tanlac." Mr. Noel is in the employ of the Canadian National Railroad. He continued: "When I got home from France my stomach was in such bad condition I couldn't eat a thing without suffering awfully afterwards. My back hurt me too, and I was so nervous that I got little rest either day or night. "By the time I had taken two bottles of Tanlac my stomach was in fine condition. I eat anything I want now, sleep like a log all night long and get up in the morning feeling fit and fine. Everybody tells me I look the very picture of health, and I can honestly say I never felt better in my life." Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

The Cassel Estate.

$2,400,000 Paid in Death Duties.
Sir Ernest Cassel, the financier, who died in London recently, left an estate valued at 6,000,000 pounds sterling. This estate is liable to a duty at a maximum rate of forty per cent, and the public treasury will benefit to the extent of 2,400,000 pounds. The largest part of the estate was bequeathed to two grand-children after whom the chief beneficiary is a sister. Large legacies were left to other relatives, while employees and friends also were remembered. The preliminary announcement of the contents of the will mentions no bequest to charities, but if all trusts mentioned in the document ultimately fail, the whole residuary estate will go to London hospitals.

Edison's Snow Remover.

Engineers interested in snow removal from streets in various U.S. cities have considered "perfecting" a machine built forty years ago by Thomas A. Edison, but left in an experimental stage because the inventor turned his work into other fields. This machine, drawn by a horse, devoured the flakes and disgorged them to icy blocks which occupied only one-tenth the space of the fallen snow and made removal easy. In a letter from Mr. Edison, recently read at a forum on "snow removal in cities," the inventor expressed belief that a competent engineer could readily secure out an efficient means of improving and modernizing his invention.

Rev. Edward Galway

GOES TO WARWOOD PARISH.

Rev. P. J. Donahue, D.D., has appointed the Rev. Father Edward Galway, present pastor of St. James' church in McMechen, to succeed the Rev. Father P. H. Gilsean as pastor of the Corpus Christi church at Warwood, according to an announcement made at the Cathedral residence this morning. Father Galway will probably take up his duties in his new parish the first of next week.

Father Galway is already well known in this section, and will need no introduction to his Warwood flock. He was born in St. John's, Newfoundland, and was ordained to the priesthood in Paris in 1888. For nineteen years he served as a member of the clergy of St. Joseph's Cathedral in this city, and March 1, 1915, was appointed to St. James' church in McMechen, where he has since been located. He is held in highest esteem among the Catholic people of this vicinity, and members of the Warwood congregation will be especially pleased to learn of the successor to Father Boutou, who is leaving with the sincerest regret on the part of every parishioner.—Wheeling Daily News, Oct. 15th.

Household Notes.

Pecans that have a "varnished" look are not of the highest grade. A "spring" icepick is much more convenient than the ordinary type. Apples are an invaluable food and should be a part of one's daily diet. A teaspoonful of powdered sage should go into the filling of roast duck. Never grease the pan for a sponge cake, and bake in a very slow oven. A clever use of the many different sauces lends variety to the menu. After broiling veal cutlets, cook them for 30 minutes in waterless sauce. Apples for canning should be blanched for 1 minute, as they shrink greatly.

Pickle is best put up in half-pint glass jars, each holding enough for one meal. Mix cereal with cold water before adding the hot water. Don't stir while cooking.

To renovate a worn stair carpet, apply a good dye to the worn spots with a brush.

Left-over pimientos can be chopped and added to the cream soup or scalloped potatoes.

Sweet potatoes will keep a long time if placed in a strong paper bag in the refrigerator.

Cover soiled feathers with warm pipe clay. Let remain two days, then beat out the powder.

The milk or water in which you dissolve yeast for bread making should be lukewarm.

To make starch for black waist, cook 1 tablespoonful of starch in 1 pint of boiling coffee.

When Blunderers Bungle.

Those who were responsible for the cargo of s.s. Nystrand, appear to have made a pretty kettle of fish out of it, by their bungling and incapacity. That the taxpayers generally will have to stand the loss, does not appear to bother them one whit. The Nystrand is the ship which took away the balance of the Government's unauthorised fish purchases last fall for which so many hundred thousand dollars were illegally extracted from the Treasury, and it must have been obvious to the shippers that the quality was altogether unsuitable for the market to which they consigned it. But with that asininity which appears to be their birthright they refused to listen to advice and carried on in their own mulish fashion. When the Telegram a few days ago called public attention to the fact that the Nystrand was at Patras discharging her Greek consignment of old Labrador fish, and adding the statement that the quality was utterly unsuited for that market, our statement was denied by the powers, who said they had no knowledge of the ship's arrival. That may or may not have been the actual truth, but the fact that the vessel was at Patras was amply proven on the succeeding day. It appears now that our information was accurate and our facts undeniable. Recent advices to hand corroborate our original statement, and yesterday on the most reliable authority, we were told that the Nystrand's Greek shipment was being shovelled overboard. The complement of that consignment, exported by the Marine and Fisheries Department (Government purchase) was nine thousand, four hundred and ninety-three quintals. At the outset this lot was being sold in Patras at a price just equivalent to the freight. Later it was endeavored to work it off at a figure less than the cost of transportation; and finally it had to be dumped overboard. The approximate loss may be reckoned therefore at not less than $10 per quintal, the amount to be written off in the grand total being roundly one hundred thousand dollars, a deficit which will have to be made good out of general revenue. And this is one of the reasons why we are being taxed nearly seventy cents to the dollar!

The Prince and India

Arrangements for the visit of the Prince of Wales to India and Japan are rapidly nearing completion, and within a very short while the 'Renown' will set sail carrying her precious burden on the last stage of his Empire tour. That the Prince, by his innate cheerfulness, and infinite tact has proved a valuable asset in bringing the peoples of the various parts of the British Empire in closer contact with the throne, and has bound them with even stronger ties of loyalty to their King, is an undoubted fact. But the task that now faces him is the most difficult he has yet undertaken. Whilst a great many of the rulers of India are loyal to the British Raj, yet there are some who through jealousy or possibly disappointed ambition, hate the rule of the British bitterly. Whilst the firm, and wise control of the Viceroy, Lord Reading, is restraining these turbulent rajahs from breaking out into open revolt, it yet remains to be seen whether the influence of the Prince of Wales will bring them back to a fuller realization of the immense benefits which they receive under British rule. It is possible that the lovable personality of the Prince will succeed where all else have failed. The visit of the Prince to Japan will perhaps result in a closer alliance between Great Britain and the great eastern empire and such an union will be a valuable asset in these troubled times. The Prince of Wales has endeared himself to the hearts of all with whom he has come in contact, and that this present tour of his will be productive of as much good as have his previous ones, is the sincere hope of all.

Gower St. Church Silver Jubilee.

This evening's feature of the Jubilee Celebrations will be a united meeting of the Women's Missionary Societies of the Methodist Churches in the Lecture Room of Gower St. Mrs. George Story will occupy the chair. The programme will include a dialogue in costume by twenty-five young ladies of the Mission Circle representing missionary work in foreign lands. Rev. C. N. Garland will give a short address and Miss Marjorie Hutchings and Mr. W. A. Tucker will sing. An offering will be taken for missions. While the meeting is primarily in the interests of the Women's Missionary Societies, the general public are not excluded, and the programme will doubtless be of great interest to all.

Police Get Important Clues.

The mystery surrounding the series of burglaries which a short while ago stirred the city will shortly be unraveled, and the police are in possession of important clues which will likely bring the culprits to justice. To-day Detective Sgt. O'Neill and Constable Peter Lee unearthed a large quantity of silverware which they brought to the police lock-up to have identified. Amongst the articles were some presents stolen from an East End resident who is well known in athletic circles. The police have been quietly working on this matter for some time and they are to be complimented on the success of their investigations.

Grand Dance Carnival Prince's Rink.

This day week, Wednesday, October 26th, will witness the event of the year, the Dance Carnival, a new idea in our local amusements, which takes place in the Prince's Rink with the C.C.C. full Band, 25 instruments, in attendance with all their latest Dance and Concert numbers. Beautiful prizes will be given for the best costumes. The floor will receive attention and thoroughly waxed, and the Rink will be beautifully decorated for the occasion. The Dressing Rooms will be reserved entirely for the Masqueraders, and chairs will also be put around the dancing floor for the convenience of the dancers during the intervals. The affair will be similar to our Ice Carnivals, the prizes will be the same, viz. General admission 20c, Masqueraders 30c, and Numbered Reserved Gallery Seats 50c, will be on sale at the Royal Stationery Store, Water Street. Therefore, do not delay, get your costume now, you only have 8 days more, and if you miss this big event you will regret it the day after, because those who attend in costumes will have the time of their lives. Don't miss it.

Athletic Ground Opened.

M. C. HAVE NEW PLAYING FIELD. At 2.30 p.m. to-day Mr. J. C. Pratt, Chairman of the Methodist College-Ayre Athletic Association, handed over to Hon. R. K. Bishop, representing the Board of Directors, the new athletic ground for the College. The pupils of the school then paraded to the fields and a series of games of various descriptions will be played during the afternoon. In making the presentation, Mr. Pratt expressed his pleasure at being able to do so, and hoped that the pupils would take a keen interest in their new ground and would help to make it the best in the city. Mr. Bishop made an appropriate reply. The ground is situated on Pennywell Road and was in the first place donated to the College by Mr. C. P. Ayre. A committee was formed to raise funds for the purpose of making a useful athletic ground, and although they have not made any public appeal, they have been fairly successful and have made the original grounds into an excellent athletic field. The grading and engineering were done under the supervision of Messrs. Powell and Joyce of the Reid Newfoundland Company and reflect great credit on these gentlemen. The ground contains a full size football field, around which there is an excellent cinder track over 300 yards in circumference; a junior athletic field, three tennis courts, two hard and one grass, and a basket ball court. A house is on the grounds and this will be fitted up as a pavilion. The whole ground will be protected by a fence and a grand stand will be erected on the northern boundary. The extent of the whole ground is 500 feet by 400 feet, and it is undoubtedly the finest athletic field in the country at present.

Latest From Train Wreck.

LINE IS NOW PASSABLE. The railway line in the region of yesterday's accident has now been temporarily repaired and permanent repairs will have been effected before night fall. In the meantime, yesterday's express which was delayed 18 hours, left town at 8 a.m., and the Carbonear local got away on time this morning. A wrecking train has been on the scene of the derailment since yesterday afternoon, and a gang of men were busily engaged in clearing away the wreckage throughout the night, under the supervision of road-master Connors. The freight which was in the derailed baggage cars, consisting chiefly of bulk fish, was sent on to town as soon as possible after the accident. The engine is still lying in the same position at the foot of the embankment, and is in a badly damaged condition, but repairs can be effected here within a short time. Three of the freight cars are lying on the side of the track where they were removed by the wrecking gang, and all are badly damaged. Although no definite statement has been made to that effect as the cause of the accident, the Government Engineer will shortly hold an enquiry into the matter. It is unlikely that any serious interruptions in the schedule of the various trains will result.

A Technical Breach.

A motorist was charged in the Magistrate's Court this morning with driving on the wrong side of the road and with having no tail light. He claimed that he had to move out to the centre of the road to avoid colliding with slow moving traffic going in the same direction. His Honor, Judge Morris said that there were two conflicting paragraphs in the Regulations dealing with the case, but there was no doubt that the defendant had committed a technical breach of the Act. On the first count the accused was fined costs and the second charge was dismissed.

C. L. B. C. Parade.

Last night's parade of the C.L.B. Cadets was one of the best for the season, a large number of officers and other ranks being present. Prayers were read by the chaplain, Rev. J. Brinton, and platoon drill was afterwards taken under the direction of the Adjutant, Major Tait. The Brigade school had a full attendance and last night Lieut. Ash was assisted in his work by Mr. A. W. Johnson, B. Com. The bugle band is back to its old strength and is making rapid progress under Sergt. Major Hennebury. There are now a very large number of recruits and they are making exceptional progress under Lieut. Hunt. Preparations for Brigade Week are rapidly going ahead, and there seems every reason to believe that it will be the biggest event in the history of the C.L.B. in Newfoundland. The various committees are working energetically and enthusiastically and are confident that their efforts will culminate successfully. Mrs. J. A. Young will be "At Home" at her residence, No. 2 Park Place, Rennie's Mill Road, Friday afternoon from 4 to 6. oct19,21

Summers, K.C. for the Crown, says that the Crown is not prepared to go on with the case at present and moves for the discharge of the jury. It is ordered accordingly. Court adjourned till to-morrow at 11 o'clock a.m.

Cattle Auction.

Some thirty or forty head of cattle were sold at auction on Neal's wharf this forenoon. The prices realized show a further decline in the whole sale market. The bidding was not brisk, as the butchers are fairly well stocked owing to a big falling off in purchases by householders. The meat to-day averaged less than 20 cents per lb. dressed, cattle selling from $40 to $120 per head, according to size and condition. Where are you going, my pretty maid? I'm going to St. Joseph's Hall, she said. Why are you going, my pretty maid? To buy cheap vegetables, sir, she said. Are they really cheap? he cried. You said something, mister, she replied.—oct19,21

More Pleasant Relations

Foreign Markets Looking Up—Capt. A. Keen Talks to Telegram. Capt. Abram Keen speaks optimistically regarding the restoration of the friendly trade relations, which existed before the Fishery Regulations before the us and our customers in the European markets. He, however, believes that our business men will have to make great efforts to remove a suspicion that we are always trying to do them on a deal, before harmonious business relations are again established. Capt. Keen has been on a six weeks' business trip to Europe and returned by the Digby after a most pleasant time. During his trip he visited Genoa and Naples. Yesterday he said to a Telegram reporter, "I saw no signs of depression in Genoa; all the people appeared to be at work. The same condition practically, apply to Naples. All the old fish has been disposed of, and the demand for the new catch is good. There was, when I was in Italy, no trouble to dispose of good fish at remunerative prices, but," he added, "the large cargoes are on the way and one could say with certainty what prices would prevail. Nevertheless the outlook is bright." Capt. Keen's trip was in connection with a cargo of fish, shipped in January last by the Little Princess, and since held in cold storage. "It has been all sold," he said, "and the price realized was fairly satisfactory, though some 1,400 quintals had not been distributed until October 14th, as had been contemplated." The captain said Greece was the only dark spot on the European market as far as he could learn. Here the Government had refused to allow more than £500 at one time to pass out of the country, and he said he was later informed that greater restrictions were imposed, making it difficult to obtain any money. Capt. Keen speaks very highly of the courteous treatment he received from business people whilst abroad. In Naples Mr. R. V. Zuvio, a large fish buyer, kindly placed a motor car at the captain's disposal, in which, accompanied by Col. Bernard, an enjoyable evening was spent, during which the ruins of Pompeii were visited. Capt. Gordon, of the High Commissioner's Office in London, is another gentleman of whom the captain speaks in the highest terms. "It was through his good offices that my business was greatly facilitated; he furnished me with letters of introduction which were of the greatest service. Capt. Gordon is very popular in his position," he concluded. Questioned about the cargoes going forward by steamers, Capt. Keen said that so far as he could gather the fish merchants in England believe that sending large shipments of fish by steamer will have a bad effect on the markets. The buyers would simply hold off, risking low stocks because knowing almost to a certainty the time of arrival. Cheaper stocks could be obtained when the supply was large.

Sebastopol From Labrador.

S.S. Sebastopol, Capt. Bartlett, arrived from Labrador this morning having brought to their homes in Conception Bay a full complement of fishing crews. Captain Bartlett reports that on the whole the voyage will be an average one. The weather has been very bad lately and there has been a succession of storms. Winter weather has set in, the ground being frozen and at Indian Arm snow was over a foot deep when the ship called there. During the storm of Sunday week Le-Growing's schooner with 900 qts. fish on board was lost at Rocky Bay. Another schooner was also lost at Morse Harbor but Capt. Bartlett could not get any particulars. The Sebastopol was heading for Hopedale during the storm and received a good drubbing, but came through without mishap. Norwegian Fish Samples Whole Meat As An Article of Food. A sample of Norwegian codfish, and some of the meat, dried in the sun, were exhibited at the Board of Trade Rooms to-day. The fish is thoroughly dry, but is thin, heavily salted, and white naped. It was taken from salt bulk and cured within 14 hours in a patient drier. The specifications of the apparatus has been forwarded to Mr. Payne, the Secretary of the Board. The whole meat is in very thin strips, and was thoroughly dry, but it was given a few hours sunshine since it was cured in June. The samples were forwarded by Hon. W. F. Penney.

Dissatisfied Electorate.

Why so many here in this section of the country voted for the present Government was with the knowledge that according to the Manifesto of Sir R. A. Squires that if he was elected to power he would force a strict carrying out of the Prohibition law, and a readjustment of the Reid Railway policy, by which he was going to enforce the carrying out of the Railway Contract. Neither has been accomplished to any degree we think, especially the Prohibition law. A few are contributing to the newspapers in St. John's about the state of affairs under the broken law, and we read where cart load after cart load of whisky went up Water Street to be dealt out—we suppose for medical purposes—by the Controller last week. Here the present Prime Minister the power, if he has the ability, to enforce the carrying out of the above laws, or are the laws detrimental to the country's interest. We know that a large revenue is gained by the cart loads of whisky, rum and brandy, but will the money derived from such proceedings—if it is against law and order be expended with a good result? We feel it's like the money gained during the big haul of seals when taken during the day that killers observed as the Sabbath. We feel also that we have not had a more powerful enforcer and advocate of justice and economy than the Rt. Hon. Sir R. Bond. The country misses him to-day, and while some comment of him as a traitor for leaving his constituents, many of us know such is not the case, as when he entered the last time he declared that as he came only at the wish of the many supporters, that if he was not returned to power (that is gain the rule of the Government) he would retire, which he did. We have considered in our views on the matter of politics, in the cause of certain upheavals in the colony, but cannot see where the arguments used that the great war is the root from which all of our troubles spring. Mismanagement is the disease amongst so many of our men in authority, or at least, heads with authority. "Nuff sed,"—Twilligaston Sun.

Retrenchment and How to Obtain It.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—Isn't it about time that the taxpayers of this city woke up and realized that the city is too late for, if some action is not taken and that soon, we will find ourselves some fine morning mired in debt from which we will never extricate ourselves. I refer now, Editor, to the wild cat scheme that Commissioner Jackman gave notice of that he would introduce at the next meeting of the Council, whereby he proposes to raise a million dollar loan on the credit of the city, and also to increase their own salaries one hundred per cent. How he proposes to pay the interest on this loan he does not say, probably he expects some of the Council employees to dig up a keg of gold or two while pursuing their excavations in the city. But I know what the loan would mean, it would mean that every citizen who owns a home in the city would be taxed to the limit to pay the interest on such an enormous amount, and maybe have a little home that he built for himself and his little family sold over his head to pay some foreign debenture under his pound of flesh. Time was when it was considered an honor for a citizen to be asked to serve at the Council board of his native town, and he had an example of that a few years ago when Commissioners were appointed and who gave two years of their services free to the city, and all admit that more improvements were made during their term of office than were ever thought of before. The idea of a Commissioner proposing to increase his own salary one hundred per cent, when all over the country the cry goes forth, Retrench! Retrench! Mechanics, laborers, clerks and civil servants are all feeling the effect of the general retrenchment policy, while a City Commissioner who has not even elected by the votes of the taxpayers, proposes to increase his salary from five hundred to one thousand dollars a year for attending meetings once a week for about half an hour, or twenty dollars a week for the benefit of his services to the city, is a much higher price than the average citizen does. Oh, hasten the day before it is too late when the taxpayers of this city will have an opportunity to speak through the ballot box what they think of some of the present members of the Council board, and that man who is elected who will guard zealously the interest of every man who owns a home in the city. Men who will retrench on himself that the average citizen does. Oh, hasten the day before it is too late when the taxpayers of this city will have an opportunity to speak through the ballot box what they think of some of the present members of the Council board, and that man who is elected who will guard zealously the interest of every man who owns a home in the city. Men who will retrench on himself that the average citizen does. Oh, hasten the day before it is too late when the taxpayers of this city will have an opportunity to speak through the ballot box what they think of some of the present members of the Council board, and that man who is elected who will guard zealously the interest of every man who owns a home in the city.

John's, who will serve their city faithfully; men who will haul in and not fall on the policy of some of the present Commissioners, whose motto seems to be "Let 'er go Smith."

Yours truly,
ANOTHER TAXPAYER.

"Pollyanna."

"Pollyanna," which is to be presented at the Casino to-night by the Gladys Klark Company is without doubt the gladdest play in this glad world. What the Pollyanna variety of philosophy is everybody knows who has read the best seller by Eleanor H. Porter, on which the alleged play by Catherine Chisholm Cushing is founded. It is to make the best of everything and be glad it's no worse philosophy of life known in Pollyanna dictum as playing the "Glad Game." Only a pair of women—unless it were Browning—could imagine and concoct so much gladness for the two hours traffic of the stage. The story? What does it matter? A little girl who is always glad of something, changes the natures of a whole village, many of them persons whose character has been set for a score or more of years in one groove, by merely being glad. But it would not be fair to tell how Pollyanna, the little orphan who has promised her poor missionary father on his deathbed always to find something to be glad about, carries the message to her grouchy maiden aunt's village and saves her mother's grieving old lover from a life of grump selfishness with all the ramifications involved in this salvation.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—The mention of myself in the public press by a Prime Minister has led me to send you some few thoughts hoping that they may interest you and amuse your readers. Criticism is easy. Just criticism is not nearly so easy. When it comes to a question of distrusting the methods of another man, every politician will realize that it is possibly a mutual emotion. When Sir Richard Squires returns to private life, if he would honor me with a debate in any acceptable public place in St. John's, and when my visit to the city makes it possible, I feel sure we should have at least an interested audience. I have always had such a profound faith in the fairness of the judgment of the man in the street when he gets the facts that I have not considered it necessary to devote the time that is already too short, to newspaper discussions. I am content to wait for a final decision till time shall have put facts at the disposal of the public. I am well aware that "Qui s'excuse only s'accuse."

Sincerely yours,
(Sgd.) WILFRED T. GREENFELL,

Department of Public Charities, St. John's, Newfoundland.

Dear Sir—Please allow me to thank you on behalf of the people of Lewis' Bay for the grant of free firewood to help them with the expense of their new hospital station at Hatters Cove. Also please allow me to thank you on behalf of the people of St. Barbe's for a similar grant towards helping to maintain the hospital at St. Anthony. The closing down of these stations for funds has had to be considered in these critical times, and the people having expressed to me that such a course would be a disaster, I would add the thanks of the International Grenfell Association for this courtesy on the part of the Government. Believe me to remain.

Sincerely yours,

Sincerely yours,

Scotch Herring Pack.

The Spring herring have practically been shipped and there is a breathing spell now in this industry till the first week in November. The season's operations ran chiefly on split herring, most of which—about 30,000 barrels—were sent to Halifax, which city is at present overstocked with barreled herring. The operation of the coming Fall and Winter as regards Scotch Cure herring for New York market, will largely depend on the fate of the Fordey Tariff as affecting fishery products. Even though the duty is imposed, we believe that anyone who packs a good Scotch herring reliable in every detail, will have no difficulty in disposing of them at a profit in New York. It is Americans who will have to pay the duty, and if they are satisfied to do so, there is no reason why we at this end, should get excited over it and give up packing herring. The Americans do not worry when we in Newfoundland have to pay high duties on pork, beef and sugar. The only difference that may be in evidence is that the consumption of herring will not be as great as heretofore, as there will be less people who can afford to buy them. If the Bill becomes law, it will not be discriminatory, and all herring producing countries will be on an equal footing. If the United States herring dealers buy at all, and buy some they must, they will want the best Scotch pack. Newfoundland can give them the best, and therefore we should advise our herring packing friends in Green Bay to get ready again for the work and let their motto be "PACK LESS BUT PACK BETTER." Let there be a supervision over every barrel and have no mixtures as to sizes.—Twillingate Sun.

Supreme Court

Hears Interesting Cheque Case.

The case of Joseph Burnfield vs the Canadian Bank of Commerce, which was up for hearing yesterday before Mr. Justice Johnson, in the Supreme Court, had not concluded at 8 p.m. and was adjourned until Saturday at 11 a.m. Mr. J. J. McGrath represents the plaintiff, and Mr. H. Knight appeared for the defendant. This matter is an action for the return of $148 which the Bank of Commerce paid out of plaintiff's account on December 24th last, on a cheque bearing Mr. Burnfield's signature and made payable to "cash." The plaintiff disowns the cheque, claiming it a forgery, while the Bank takes an opposite opinion, and asserts it is a genuine cheque. Several witnesses were called including officials of the Bank of Commerce, and the accountants of the other city Banks, all of whom testified to the procedure and system of their various institutions. Mr. Burnfield, who was called and examined by Mr. McGrath, swears that neither the signature nor the writing on the cheque are his.

According to Archibald Hunt, the English naval authority, since the armistice the British Admiralty has sold 2,074 ships. Of the navy's 970 now for sale and on the disposal list, 89 have been disposed of by sinking, blowing up or gifts.

He gives the present British navy figures as: Battleships—Nine in commission; 13 in reserve.

Battle cruisers—Four in commission, four in reserve.
Cruisers—Four in reserve.
Light cruisers—Thirty-two in commission, 19 in reserve.
Flotilla leaders—Eight in commission, seven in reserve.
Destroyers—Sixty-four in commission, 107 in reserve.
Aircraft carriers—Two in commission and two in reserve.
Submarines—Forty-two in commission, 59 in reserve.
In reserve means inactive or in navy yard duty, with a skeleton crew.

Hurd says four battle cruisers, to be laid down shortly by Britain, will replace eight older ships, instead of four, as previously reported. He emphasizes that Britain has taken the lead in naval disarming.

New Rector Welcomed.

RECEPTION AT CANON WOOD HALL.

The members of St. Thomas's Parish assembled last night in the Canon Wood Hall and gave to their new Rector, Rev. E. C. Earp, a welcome which for its spontaneous warmth and enthusiasm has probably never been equalled, nor could Mr. Earp have experienced any doubt of his genuineness. From early in the evening until the time when the reception was brought to a close, the old building was filled with men and women, not only of St. Thomas's, but of other city parishes, anxious to make the acquaintance of the new Rector, and when he arrived with Mrs. Earp and his hosts, Hon. M. G. and Mrs. Winter, he was received with cordial enthusiasm. They were welcomed by the Warden, Hon. Robert Watson and Mr. W. S. Monroe and members of the Vestry. Among the visitors were His Excellency the Governor, who was attended by Captain Saltmarsh, the Lord Bishop, Canon Bots, Field, Jeeves; Revs. Stirling, Nichols, Brinton, Tulk (Portugal Cove), Pke, the editors of the Telegram, Advocate, a representative of the News and others. The proceedings began with a short concert in which the following talented artists took part, Misses Major and Frazer and Mr. C. Hammond. After the musical part of the programme had been concluded, Mr. Watson, in his capacity as Chairman, delivered the welcoming address. His speech was an eloquent one, and was expressive of the feeling of the congregation towards the new Rector. He first thanked the performers in the musicals, and then on behalf of St. Thomas's parish, he welcomed Rev. Mr. Earp, his wife and children. "Our dear new Rector," said the chairman, "has come with the highest testimonials. The great Canadian divines, Canon Cody and Canon Japan, who know personally of his work, wrote in the most eulogistic terms of him, and the famous churchman, the Archbishop of York, and the dearly loved Priest, Canon Buchanan, Rector of Holy Trinity, Hull, also testified in the most flattering manner of Rev. Earp's ability. Although but a few days in the city, St. Thomas's had already learned the greatness of the Rector. On behalf of the Parish, the Chairman pledged his loyalty and cooperation. "We are a happy band of brothers," remarked the speaker, and the applause which followed demonstrated he had struck the right note. It was pleasing to the Chairman to have had the head of the State in the person of the Governor and the head of the Church, in the Bishop, present, and he was delighted to be able to say that both were in Rev. Earp's parish. Mr. Watson concluded his most interesting speech with the following appropriate words:

"This is our Rector from over the sea English and Scotch and Irish are we But all NEWFOUNDLAND in our welcome to thee,

OUR RECTOR.

Mr. Watson in addition made special reference to an acknowledgment of the brotherly act on Sunday by the pastors of St. Andrews and Cochrane Street churches in asking that blessings might rest on the Rev. E. C. Earp's rectorship of the parish of St. Thomas's, and regretted that Rev. Johnson and Power had been unable to accept an invitation to be present at the reception. Appropriate addresses were delivered by the Lord Bishop, who referred to the fact that although St. Thomas's was one of the oldest parishes of the Diocese, Rev. Earp was but the eighth Rector. Due honour was paid the late Arch-Deacon Hicks, Rev. Thomas Martin Wood, Canon Arthur T. Wood, Canon Dunfield, Rev. G. Ross Godden all entered into Rest, and Rev. Dr. Jones, who recently resigned to labour in America. The mention of Dr. Jones' name was the cause of spirited applause for the Doctor's work will always be remembered. The best illustration of his Lordship could give of Dr. Jones' work was to refer to the inscription on Wren's monument in the great Cathedral of St. Paul's, London, "If you require to see his monument, look around." Rev. Canon Bolt, Registrar of the Diocese, Rev. Canon Jeeves, Rector of the Cathedral, Rev. A. B. S. Stirling, Rector of St. Mary's, also spoke and then H. W. Lehmann, one of Newfoundland's historians gave a graphic and interesting account of St. Thomas's in the early days.

The new Rector then replied and in a speech of half an hour had the undivided attention of all. Rev. Earp proved himself a polished orator, and through his able address there was a strain of sincerity that impressed the audience. His reply was couched in refined language and had the right ring. He realized that he was attempting to fill the place of a great man, but he felt sure that his people would give them that wonderful sympathy and strong support that Dr. Jones' also referred to the prayers offered up in St. Andrew's and Cochrane Street churches on Sunday, asking that the blessings of God would fall on his induction and cure. At the conclusion of the Rector's speech the individual members of the parish were presented to him, whilst refreshments were served by the Woman's Association and St. Margaret's Guild. The evening proved a most enjoyable one, and Mr. Earp endeared himself to the hearts of all he met.

Train Wrecked.

Engines and Cars Derailed Near Bowring Park.

A broken rail caused the engine and four freight cars attached to yesterday's incoming Carboneer local, to leave the track near Bowring Park shortly after noon. No injuries were sustained by either passengers or train hands. The engine turned over on its side and lay in that position at the foot of the embankment. Two of the baggage cars fell on their sides in Bowring Park, whilst the other two were thrown across the track in a horizontal position. The freight contained in one of the cars was scattered about and the road bed was torn up for a distance of 50 yards. The presence of mind shown by engine driver Moore, who shut off steam in the nick of time, prevented a boiler explosion. Both he and his fireman are deserving of praise for their pluck in holding on to the last in the face of what appeared to be almost certain death. It is a remarkable fact that although the scene of the derailment is only 200 yards from Waterford Bridge station, the broken rail passed unnoticed. Traffic along the line has been held up as a result of the derailment.

Manslaughter Trial Set for Friday.

At 3.30 p.m. yesterday Stephen Wells, lookout man on the schooner Fannie W. Freeman, which ran down a motor boat of Flatrock some months ago, causing the death of a young man named Hickey, a resident of the settlement, was arraigned before Mr. Justice Johnson on a charge of manslaughter. The accused pleaded not guilty, and the trial was set for Friday at 11 o'clock before a special jury. Deputy Minister of Justice Summers is conducting the case for the Crown and Mr. W. J. Higgins, K. C., represents the accused. The case was given ball in a personal bond of $2000, and Messrs. J. H. Roberts and Bernard Morris in $1000 each.

Successful Lecture.

The illustrated lecture "A Trip Through the Rockies" at Wesley Church, S. E. Room last night, was largely attended, and the word picturing of Rev. Ira Curtis greatly enjoyed. He certainly is a fine entertainer, both informing and humorous. A solo by Miss Ida Sparkes, and some motion songs by well trained girls from the Methodist Orphanage greatly pleased all present. The Pittman boys' in their musical exercises, piano, spoons and pans, were demanded three times. It was a clever performance. The "Sunbeam" young ladies are delighted over the fifty dollars receipts and are grateful to the lecturer, Rev. Curtis, Mr. Rooney, the chairman, and Mr. Allan Peiley, who operated the lantern.

Personal.

By Sunday's express, Mr. Samuel Worthy left for Newark, New Jersey, where he will in future engage in the drug business. Mr. Worthy, who has been Sleeping Car Conductor on the transatlantic railway for a number of years, during which period, he made many friends in a pharmaceutical chemist of no mean ability, and everybody hopes that he will meet with every success in his present venture. "Sam," as he was popularly known, will be missed, not alone by his trainmates, but by all the travelling public to whom he gave untiring courtesy and attention.

EX-BAVARIAN KING DEAD.

BERLIN, Oct. 18. Former King Ludwig of Bavaria is dead. It was announced here to-day. Ludwig III was deposed in November, 1918. Ludwig was born January 7, 1846. He became Regent of Bavaria in succession to his father, Prince Leopold, who died December 12, 1912. He was proclaimed King on November 8, 1918. In succession to his cousin King Otto, who was then declared incapable of ruling owing to insanity, the course of the Bavarian royal family.

NO DANGER FROM JAPS.

LONDON, Oct. 18. Viscount James Bryce, former British Ambassador to the United States, writing the Times says that Americans are apprehensive of Japanese aggression, and believe the Anglo-Japanese Treaty encourages Japan to take an aggressive attitude. Bryce however, depreciates this fear, saying the Japanese in California are not numerous enough to be dangerous, and their fleet and army, after a three weeks' voyage could not be expected to do much on a hostile coast.

WIDOWS' AWARD.

CORK, Oct. 18. The Recorder of Cork awarded 10,000 pounds to the widow of Major Compton Smith, shot last April by soldiers of the Irish Republican Army in Conny Cork.

BRIEF SESSION ONLY.

LONDON, Oct. 18. The autumn session of Parliament, opening to-day, will be a brief business one, being confined to unemployment and business questions. Lloyd George is expected to make an important statement on unemployment.

H.M.S. WISTERIA ASHORE.

QUEBEC, Oct. 18. H.M.S. Wisteria (light cruiser), which went ashore near the mouth of the Saguenay River on Monday, has been floated, but is leaking and obliged to anchor. The Government steamer Stratcona has gone to her assistance.

A STATEMENT.

DUBLIN, Oct. 19. The Irish Republican army, not having engaged in provocative action, has observed the terms of the truce, says an Irish bulletin, which adds "every army must have camps, and Irish camps are far from public places."

SPEAKER SITS TIGHT.

LONDON, Oct. 19. Sir John Butcher, Unionist member for York, speaking in the House of Commons, referred to the Irish leader as "De Valera," whereupon the Speaker called him to order, saying "De Valera's designation was the honorable member from Clare and Mayo." Some members said an individual who had not taken the oath of allegiance was not a member of the House, but the Speaker adhered to his ruling.

The Men of Old.

I know not that the men of old were better men than now; Of heart more kind, of hand more bold, Of more ingenious brow. They from to-day and from to-night Expected nothing more Than yesterday and yesterday Had proffered them before.

To them was life a simple art Of duties to be done, A game where each man took his part, A race where all must run; A battle whose great scheme and scope They hardly cared to know, Content, as men at arms, to cope Each with his fighting foe.

Man now his virtue's diadem Puts on, and proudly wears— Great thoughts, great feelings, come to them.

Like instincts, unawares; Blending their souls' sublimest needs With tasks of every day, They went about their gravest deeds As noble boys at play.

A Fish That Shoots Flies.

In Greenland some of the most interesting forms of animal life are to be found. The duck-billed Platypus (with the web-feet of a duck, which lays eggs and suckles young), the tung fish, the walking perch, and many other queer creatures, might be mentioned in confirmation of this. A remarkable little fish is the rifle fish, which lives in the far northern rivers of Queensland. A full-grown specimen measures about 10 inches in length, and averages 1 1/2 lb. in weight. The rifle fish derives its name from the fact that it shoots flies, not from the fact that it shoots food, as is usually gathered in by the shooter.

Oldest Man on Earth Weds for Fourth Time.

Zaro, of Constantinople, aged 146, and the oldest man on earth, has married for the fourth time. His latest wife is a beautiful Turkish girl aged 25. Other peculiarities of Zaro, nicknamed "King of Life," are: Worked 90 years as a street porter, quitting for another job at 110. Became porter in a munitions factory at 111 and still holds the job. Lost all his teeth and hair at 106 and then grew an entirely new set of both. Developed third kidney at 105. Gets angry with his 96-year-old son, because he will not work, but "sticks around the house." Zaro has been offered a fabulous sum to tour America. He says he may after his honeymoon.

The Betrayal of Mortimer.

Edward III. determined to call Mortimer, Earl of March, to account for his deeds at the meeting of Parliament at Nottingham, in 1330; and a plan was arranged with William, Lord of Salisbury, to capture him. Queen Isabella and Mortimer, however, suspected some design against them; and on the night of the 19th, before the king had entered the Castle, they had made arrangements for their security. When the King arrived, only three or four of his attendants were allowed to enter with him, and he was obliged to take up his lodgings at a mile from the town. Edward managed to secure the help of Sir William Eiland, the Governor of the castle, who told the conspirators of the "Mortimer's Hole" by which he could admit them. On Friday, October 19th, the conspirators, with Sir William, rode away from Nottingham, leaving Mortimer; but at midnight, the Mortimer was in consultation with the Bishop of Lincoln and others of his party, the young King, accompanied by his friends, burst into the chamber. The Earl of March was seized; and Sir Hugh Turpin and John Mowbray--two of his State Council--were slain in attempting to rescue him. Queen Isabella, hearing of the tumult, and suspecting the cause, rushed into the room in a agony of grief, exclaiming, "Fair son, fair son, notwithstanding her cries and entreaties, her beloved Earl was torn from her presence, and hurried down the secret passage by which he had escaped. Mortimer was afterwards tried by Parliament at Westminister, and was sentenced to be hanged and beheaded on Thursday, November 29, at the Elms, afterwards called Tyburn, which sentence was carried out. This judgment was not reversed until twenty-four years afterwards, when it was given without a trial.

Newfoundland Conditions.

R. G. Dun & Co. report on Newfoundland District conditions as follows:--Conditions in Newfoundland do not give the appearance of improving to any extent, and another dull winter is anticipated. The fish as a whole are concerned, reports show about an average catch, but prices will be much lower than last year; good shore fish will probably bring an average of about $5.00 as compared to $3.00 this time last year. Labrador will average about $4.00 which would be much the same as last year. There is a substantial supply of cod oil of good quality on hand, but not much demand, and price has dropped from about $1.25 last year to 50c. per gallon at present. These two products, of course, are the leading ones here and practically gauge the financing of the country. There is also considerable lumber, pit props and pulp wood cut and manufactured with very little demand for same; naturally the lumber, men and mills will operate on a small scale, if at all, this winter. Work at Grand Falls during the coming winter will, it is understood, be confined entirely to the making of paper and there will be no construction work of any kind, either in town or mill; and the same condition will probably exist throughout next summer. This will mean that about 1,000 men will be employed at Grand Falls as against 1,700 a year ago. The logging at Millerton and Badger, during the coming winter will be very small, probably only about 500 or 600 men will be employed against last winter's 2,000. As far as Bell Island is concerned, another usually busy centre, where the Nova Scotia Steel & Coal Co. Ltd. and the Dominion Iron & Steel Co. mine most of their iron ore, they have considerable ore above ground, ready for shipment and have only been working spasmodically through the year, and will likely continue that way through the winter, with about half of their number of men employed. Both these centres purchase considerably from St. John's during the good times, and the dullness of work there will reflect on general conditions in St. John's. A hard winter is predicted and while the merchants are purchasing to a small extent, it is principally for sorting up and practically all necessities. The average winter here is forced by conditions and a desire to improve them, to live very economically at present. --Saturday Night.

A Course for Women Voters.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 13.--Women voters of Connecticut will have a chance to go to school this month for a week's intensive course in citizenship. The lessons will be given in Yale University class room and Yale professors and instructors will give the courses. This will be the first school of the kind in this state. It will open October 24, and if deemed successful, similar weeks of schooling will be held from time to time. The Connecticut League of Women Voters, Miss Mabel C. Washburn, president, sponsors the innovation.

One day will be given over to international relations, economic, social and political, and limitation of armaments; another to the fundamentals of American history; the principles and service of political parties another to a study of Connecticut legislative processes, party conventions and caucuses, another to city and town problems.

Those who will lead the classes include professors who are among the best known of the Yale faculties as well as among the educators of country.

ERA OF BLOODSHED.

Shift-bloodshed is the modern fad, my protests don't avail; in almost every little grad some slayers are in fall. All kinds of fates behind the bars are locked, for gory deeds; I am a d clergyman and movie stars, and dames in widow's weeds. The furies, free and running loose, urge crime with every breath, and any frivolous excuse will do for sudden death. When all the nations were at strife, and gent's slow scores of gent's men learned to think that human life is not worth fifteen cents; They carried back this grim belief from scenes of death and gore; and this delusion, fraught with grief, has spread from shore to shore. And so we hear the crack of guns throughout this country wide, and every day we're planting tons of delegates who died. The husband shoots his loving wife because she wears punk ties, and grand-ma takes the butcher knife when she'd corral the kids. The wives are burdened with the news of murders and of brawls, not in the alleys and the mews, but in the stately halls. And men of standing go to jail, and queenly dames are there; and all my protests don't avail--explaining my despair. We're wasting force on little things, denouncing minor slaws, while get the armed assassin springs, and laughs to scorn our laws.

A Critic and a Conference.

Dr. George Jackson makes a spirited criticism in the Manchester Guardian of the recent Ecumenical Methodist Conference in London:--

"To feel yourself one of a conference which could claim to be the spokesman of some thirty millions of your fellow-creatures was in itself no mean or common experience," he says. "And yet, when all is said, it has reluctantly to be admitted that the Conference has achieved nothing in any way commensurate either with the greatness of the opportunity or the need of the hour. To begin with, it was badly staged. Take the opening service in Wesley's Chapel, City Road. The preacher did his part nobly, but the word of an archangel would have lacked impressiveness in such an ignoble setting.

"It do not know if there was a 'publicity department' in connection with the Conference, but if so it must have done its work very inadequately. The galleries were open to the public free--no tickets were required--but only one or two occasions was there more than a mere handful present.

"But the gravest defect was in the programme, and it is pretty safe to prophesy that unless the leaders of the Conference are prepared to break the old mould and make a new start there will never be another Methodist Ecumenical. Think of it: six successive sessions (or speeches) in the Rock Baby While Washing the Clothes.

A new invention will be manufactured at Sorel, Quebec, if everything turns out as well as expected. This invention consists of a machine actuated by a rocking chair which, it is said, generates enough power to run any machine in the house, such as washing machines, sewing machines, fans, etc. The inventor and proprietor is J. T. Lamyre, of Madawassan, and the organizer is J. F. Dart, of Australia. Several of the industrial heads of Sorel went to inspect the invention and stated that it will certainly meet with the general approval of the public and will be in great demand, especially in the country where no other power is available.

The Wheat Outlook.

NO DANGER OF WORLD SHORTAGE

There is no danger of a world shortage of wheat during the coming year, and there is at present no indication of an undue surplus, according to the October issue of Commerce Monthly, published by the National Bank of Commerce in New York. World wheat production and requirements are approximately in balance.

"Estimated 1921 production of wheat in twenty countries which before the war produced 68 per cent of the known wheat crop of the world, aggregates 2,490,600,000 bushels as compared with 2,384,145,000 bushels produced last year," Commerce Monthly says. The 1921 crop of the United States is estimated at 754,000,000 bushels and of Canada at 254,388,000 bushels. Allowing 600,000,000 bushels in the United States and 90,000,000 bushels in Canada for consumption and seeding requirements, and assuming a normal carryover at the beginning and end of the wheat year, there would be available for export from the two countries before July 1, 1922 a little over 350,000,000 bushels. All hope of surplus wheat supplies from Russia has been abandoned and famine relief in that country may make an appreciable drain on international supplies. Crops in northern Africa are fairly good, following a very poor harvest last year, but a normal exportable surplus is not expected. Exports from India are reported to have been prohibited entirely, because of the poor crop and high prices, and no improvement can be expected before the 1922 harvest. Argentina and Australia still have a fairly large share of their last crops. The amount available for export from Argentina on July 1 is estimated at over 40,000,000 bushels and from Australia at about 50,000,000 bushels, allowing for a normal carryover in each country. Current stocks in Europe are not large but are distinctly better than last year and are sufficient to meet requirements until the new harvest is available. Normally western Europe imports an average of 400,000,000 bushels of wheat annually. Of this amount Russia formerly supplied 150,000,000 bushels. In the last crop year, ending July 1, 1921, Canada and the United States together furnished net exports of about 475,000,000 bushels, of which the greater part was sent to Europe. The estimated exportable surplus of 350,000,000 bushels from the United States and Canada, together with the 90,000,000 bushel carryover in Argentina and Australia, therefore, make a total of 440,000,000 bushels available to meet the international demand. This apparently balances the probable European requirements of approximately 400,000,000 bushels, with a reasonable allowance for Russian requirements.

Fur Production in Canada.

More than three and a half million pelts, worth $21,387,000, were produced in Canada in 1920, according to an article in the October number of Commerce Monthly, issued by the National Bank of Commerce in New York. Muskrat and beaver pelts valued at $4,000,000 and $5,200,000 respectively comprised about half the total, with marten, mink, silver fox and fisher following in the order named. The article continues:

A very small proportion of these pelts was produced by the fur farming industry, which confines itself almost entirely to silver fox. The fox has proved most suited to domestication and has been successfully raised for the past 40 years. In 1919 there were 424 fox farms, 3 mink farms and 2 raccoon farms in operation with a total production of 2,543 pelts worth $508,848. On the farms at the end of the year there were 8,810 foxes, most of the silver variety, valued at approximately $3,960,000. The largest part of the Canadian fur production is exported, principally to the United States. In the fiscal year 1921, imports from Canada totalled 2,834,000 pelts, worth $9,093,000.

Patriotic Frenchman.

Refused Invention to Prussians.

PARIS. (Associated Press)—A controversy as to who first invented machine guns is one of the war's after-mathes in France. Lyons puts forth the claim of Mr. du Perron, who in 1775, is said to have submitted to the young King Louis XVI a military "orgue" which worked on a crank system, and could fire 24 bullets "almost simultaneously, and consequently could annihilate a whole regiment in a few minutes," according to a contemporary record. The new weapon appeared to be so murderous that the King and his ministers rejected it, and its inventor was held up as an enemy of humanity. The powers hostile to France tried to secure the invention, but du Perron refused for patriotic motives and he died in poverty.

German Republican Flag Not Acceptable to People.

Black, White and Red Banner the Most Popular.

Berlin. (Associated Press)—The black, red and gold flag of the German republic is less in evidence than any other of the dozen or more official emblems which wave from houses of every town and city of the country. The most popular banner is the black, white and red of the former empire. In some provinces and in a number of towns the republican flag has never been flown, is not recognized, and cannot be purchased. Even in Berlin, seat of the government, the flying standards of the empire outnumber those of the republic, which appear generally to be restricted to necessary official use or to popular demonstrations in favor of the new regime. The red flag of the Communists usually flies side by side with the republican colors during any popular parades or manifestations.

Nottingham Goose Fair.

Nottingham Goose Fair, held on October 2, is a festival known far and wide, and is launched on its career as a fifteen days' carnival. In a Charter of 1284 it says—"Wherefore we will and firmly do join for ourselves and our heirs, that the aforesaid burghesses and men and their successors, beside their fair lasting eight days at the Feast of St. Matthew the Apostle, shall have for ever one other fair in the same town every year, to endure for fifteen days, to wit, on the eve, the day, and the morrow of the Feast of St. Edmund the King and Martyr, and for the twelve days following." Goose Fair in those spacious times was then a serious market as well as a holiday. In 1766, a riot started in the cheese section because the dairymen asked 28s. to 30s. per hundredweight for their produce—to the just indignation of the citizens, who broke out in tumultuous riot. The Mayor, in his attempt to restore peace, was felled to the ground by a cheese, in the Market Place, and the 16th Light Dragoons had to be called upon to restore order. Now there is no pretence of business at Goose Fair—it is simply a carnival of amusement, and the Market Square is filled with shows, roundabouts, etc. The din is indescribable; the pandemonium appalling! For three whole days the Market Place was given up to jostling, pushing, shouting throngs. There was plenty of horse play and "mafficking"; but the merry makers enjoyed it.

Boy and Girl Plan Murder.

Michael Moran, 15 years old, held at Monmouth, Mich., with his sister Frances, aged 12, on a charge of attempting to murder Matt Plohar, several days ago, has confessed that he and his sister plotted to kill Plohar so they might get money they had been told he had hoarded. Plohar is a bachelor, and is supposed to have had quite a sum of money. He was shot from ambush by young Moran as he was crossing the field near his property, having been lured from his home by the boy's sister, who asked him to help her father drag a deer from the woods. He will recover.

Fat Folks to Be Taxed.

HUMORISTS SEE WAY TO INCREASE REVENUE.

Berlin. (Associated Press)—The Government's search for new sources of revenue to meet increasing expenditures has brought a group of humorists to the rescue, one branch of which, submitting a statute already prepared, suggests a tax on fat folks whose waist-line circumference exceeds the chest measurement. Another suggests attention be paid to double chins and "whisky noses." The proponents of the fat tax include the following provisions in the statute they have submitted:

"Males between the ages of 15 and 30 whose waist exceeds the chest circumference shall pay 1,000 marks yearly for each excess centimeter, between 30 and 40 years, 500 marks."

The Weapon Frightful.

When in their great offensive the Germans put in action a gun which hurled a tremendous projectile nearly eight miles, actually bombarding Paris from that distance, the world was almost startled from its propriety and thought that the last word in missile propulsion had been spoken. Quite recently, however, Mr. Robert Temple, of New York, has invented a missile driver which makes the Germans' "Big Berthas" quite tame affairs. The sample gun constructed by the inventor is but a small weapon, but its astonishing performances show clearly what could be done with a similar weapon made to cannon size and calibre. In its present form, says the "Popular Science Monthly," it is a hand instrument and used thus far only for training. It is noiseless and tickless despite its terrific power. Its maximum shell velocity will be five miles a second. The little model construction will drive a bullet half its length into a three quarter inch steel plate placed against the muzzle of the gun, with no shock or danger to the gunner or spectators. The principle of this terrible weapon is being held secret for United States military use. At the present time from fifty to seventy-five per cent of the explosive force of high powered rifles is dissipated in the form of heat and sound. A big gun on a battleship belches forth a twenty foot tongue of flame when it is fired. All this tremendous energy is used against the projectile in the Temple gun, nothing being wasted of the gun charge, not even the roar; every particle of the explosive being burned before the projectile starts to move. There is no recoil and no noise. The muzzle of the small gun is placed against a three-quarter inch steel plate, the trigger is pulled, there is no kick, and the only sound is the sharp click of the steel bullet against the plate. The penetration of the bullet may be regulated by the size of the charge, and the range of velocities is from one to five miles a second. Scientists who have experimented with the invention claim that it would be possible to construct a large gun of this type capable of hurling a five-ton projectile upwards of 300 miles. One shudder to think of war where such weapons are used—Acadian Recorder.

Rescue Wounded in Train Wreck.

LYONS, France. (Associated Press).—Handcuffed in pairs and in charge of four gendarmes, 12 French military prisoners en route for Algeria, to serve sentences ranging from five to 15 years, were aboard the Strasbourg-Marseilles express when it jumped the track at Les Echets a few miles from here. Forty passengers were killed and 70 injured. None of the prisoners was seriously hurt, but three gendarmes were killed, and the other pinned under the wreckage, lay seriously wounded. All semblance of authority and order had disappeared. The prisoners were free but, instead of running away, they pulled the wounded gendarmes out of the tangled mass of wood and iron, and laid him on the grass. During the night they rescued 31 injured passengers. Then they gave themselves up. They have since left for Algeria to serve their sentences, but it is understood that the Minister of War is studying the case, and the opinion is expressed that, in due course of red-tape, they will be pardoned.

ON GIFTS AND CHILDREN.

What a discouraging thing it is to put your time
and labor, or money which represents you a time and labor
into getting a gift for a child,
and then have to see that gift
carelessly misused or broken
in a week or two,
or even a day or two, sometimes in an hour or simply because the child's parents never taught him to take of anything!

He Doesn't Do More for His Own
Blood Relations.

Now a man who is clever with knives and often makes toys for his children. I heard inter-law say once that she thought Jack had a grudge against his nieces and nephews because they did anything for them, apply he would rather do things for himself than for his own children.

reason, as I happen to know,
is that he has no sympathy for his own children. He has so much that they don't like his toys as other children do.
They have been brought up entirely irresponsible in the matter of caring for their toys and knowing what they mean. In well-to-do families to those who give, naturally he does not take any things for them.

made them a toy theatre once,
out of cardboard. I spent over it and a few days afterward I saw it all ripped to pieces in a ball. The one I made for children next door they kept and with for a year. Do you wonder how much more satisfaction doing for them than for my own relations?

She Didn't Complain But She Had Good Reason.

Here is another little tale that came to me recently. A woman who has very little spending money or time to spare had a niece who was going on a long railroad journey. Thinking that it would be a great joy to the niece and a great help to the mother if she supplied something for the youngster to play with on the trip, she got together with the expenditure of more time and money than she could afford a collection of small toys, games and paper dolls, packed them for the journey and took the package to her niece the day before.

How Little Sympathetic Imagination
That Mother Had.

It was labelled as a going away present and she explained that fact to the mother, and yet in the presence of the mother and without any inference from her, the child insisted on opening the large package and then the smaller enclosed packages which had been labelled to be opened on successive days. In an hour or so she had cut up the paper dolls and generally ruined the gift for the purpose it was meant for. How any mother could have so little sympathy or imagination as to utterly ignore the thoughtfulness and painstaking of the giver and allow it to be repaid like that I cannot understand. The woman who made this gift did not complain but I think she had good reason.

Of course I know that there is another side to this. There is another extreme as expressed by the person, most likely an unmarried or childless aunt, who brings the children some fragile toy and then makes disagreeable comments when she finds it broken weeks afterward. But I think she is far less common than the other extreme. Don't you?

Gower St. Silver Jubilee.

SERVICE AND "AT HOME"

The handsome, capacious and dam-nely decorated auditorium of Gower St.
Methodist Church was well-filled last night. In the rostrum were the Hon.
R. K. Bishop, who presided, Rev. Carl
Garland, Rev. T. W. Atkinson, Rev. E.
W. Forbes, Pastor of the church, and
Mr. John Leamon, Recording Steward.
After a hymn and prayer by the Rev.
E. W. Atkinson, Mrs. King, whose husband was for some years the church organist, rendered the well-known hymn of praise and prayer, "O God our Help in Ages Past," and her rich full voice flooded the building with exquisite melody. The Scriptures were read by the Rev. Carl Garland.

In a few well chosen words the Chairman paid a tribute to Mr. Reginald Hearder, Mr. Forbes, and their head of willing workers, to whose skill, good taste and untiring efforts the decorations of the Church were due. That the congratulations and thanks were well merited, a glance round the building was sufficient proof. Hon. Mr. Bishop spoke for the entire congregation. He then called on Mr. John Leamon to tell the story of Gower St. Church during the past 55 years.

Mr. Leamon did full justice to the theme. It is no easy task to condense within the compass of half an hour the events of many years, but that it can be done, Mr. Leamon ably demonstrated. The outstanding events of the quarter century were briefly recounted, names once familiar were recalled;
the church statistics of 1867 were contrasted with those of 1921; whilst here and there, were flashes of humour. To those not interested the discussion may not have appealed to a Gower St. Church audience, but to every one present the portraiture of the leaders of the earlier years, clergymen and laymen alike, and the record of events revived memories of stirring scenes in which they or their fathers had been participants. In to-morrow's issue we hope to give a full report of Mr. Leamon's address, in the hope that when the Golden Jubilee is celebrated in 1922, the story may find a prominent place on the programme.

At the close of his address Mr. Leamon asked permission of the Chairman, on behalf of the Official Board of the Church to present an address to the Rev. William Swann, to whose hands as ex-President of the Conference, the keys of the church had been formally entrusted, in the absence of the President of that year, on its opening in 1867. The address was as follows:

Address to Rev. W. Swann.
Rev. Mr. Swann.

Reverend and Dear Sir—On behalf of the Official Board of Gower Street Church, we wish to congratulate you on the attainment of your Golden Jubilee in the ministry. We remember that the whole of your long and successful ministry, has been spent in Newfoundland, and that your great gifts as Administrator and Counsellor have been appreciated is shown from the fact, that in 1890 and again in 1895 you were elected to the high office of President of the Newfoundland Conference, and three times as delegate to the General Conference, and as Chairman of the St. John's, Carboneau and Barris Districts.

We think it fitting that at the celebration of the Silver Jubilee of this Church, we should offer you a small token of our love and esteem, more particularly because at the dedication of this Church, in your capacity of President of the Conference, you took a prominent part in the opening ceremonies, receiving from the hands of the Trustees the keys of the Church,
when it was dedicated to the worship of Almighty God.

We trust that you will be spared for many years to come, and that the Church may continue to have the benefit of your ripe experience and wise counsel.

Signed on behalf of the Official Boards,
JOHN LEAMON,
Recording Steward.
GEO. W. GURDUE,
Secretary Trustee Board.
At Mr. Leamon's request the pre-

Is There Life in Dead Matter?

In the second half of the nineteenth century much ink was spilt over the question how life could ever be derived from "dead matter." More than one ingenious, if rather imaginative, man of science replied that there was no such thing as dead matter; that life is everywhere. You look sceptically at a brick, and wonder. It seems the dearest thing imaginable. If you have a philosophic turn of mind, sharpened by an acute interest in the House of Commons, you try to say exactly what you mean. The brick is so very still, so rigid, as compared with the small that slithers over it, you say.

An Illusion.

This is only half the truth—a motor car is dead, yet anything but still—but it will do to begin with. The dead-ness of the brick in that sense is merely an illusion due to the limitations of the human eye. If you had a magical eye, about a million times as powerful as the one you have, you would see that brick as a swarm of tiny little bodies, every one of which is in a state of perpetual motion. You may have seen, in a microscope, a grain of sand or a drop of oil, instead of going in a straight line. The simple fact is necessary to remind some people—is that the human eye does not happen
to be a super-microscope. To us, for instance, on a perfectly windless day,
or in a closed room, the air seems very dead. But a modern physicist can prove that every tiny particle of that
air is travelling faster than a bullet
does when it leaves the rifle, and that it collides with another particle twenty thousand times in every inch of its journey, or five thousand million times
a second.

Moral of the Muck.

If you take a grain of muck instead of a grain of brick, you need very little thinking to see that the particles of matter are very much "alive." The tiny particles of every smelling substance are darting off into space in myriads every minute. In the brick they hold together, but they have the same energy. They dance to and fro, or spin round, instead of going in a straight line. The simple fact is necessary to remind some people—is
that the human eye does not happen
to be a super-microscope. To us, for instance, on a perfectly windless day,
or in a closed room, the air seems
very dead. But a modern physicist can prove that every tiny particle of that
air is travelling faster than a bullet
does when it leaves the rifle, and that
it collides with another particle twenty
thousand times in every inch of its
journey, or five thousand million times
a second.

Beyond the Microscope.

But if these particles of matter are beyond the range of even the new microscope, how can we see them?
science speak so positively about these things? Let us give one illustration how exquisitely simple and ingenious the methods of a man of science may be. A physicist poured a carefully measured drop of oil upon water.
Then he carefully blew a fine powder
on the surface of the water, and it clearly outlined the film of oil into which the drop had spread. The rest is simple mathematical calculation.
The film of oil was the 1/100,000th
of an inch thick (or thinner), and so, since the film held together, the tiny particle or "molecule" of oil must have been less than a 1/100,000,000th of an inch in diameter. Scores of different experiments, checking each other,
have been made, and we know that the average molecule of matter is less than the 1/100,000,000th of an inch in diameter.

100,000 Miles a Second.

A "molecule" of matter is a cluster of all smaller things which are called atoms, of which we need only say that in some kind of matter, you would have to put 400,000,000 of these atoms in a line to cover an inch of space. Now, the energy of the brick which we have spoken about so far is merely the movement of its atoms and molecules. But in the last twenty years we have discovered that the atom is composed of particles thousands of times smaller than itself, and enormously more energetic. The whole material universe is, in fact,
composed of these tiny "electrons,"
and their energy is beyond anything

WHEN HAIR THINS, FADES OR FALLS, USE "DANDERINE"

35 cents buys a bottle of "Danderine."
Within ten minutes
after the first application you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates
and strengthens
them, helping your hair to grow long,
thick and luxuriant.
Girls! Girls! Don't let your hair stay lifeless, colorless, thin, scraggy.
A single application of delightful Danderine will double the beauty and radiance of your hair and make it look twice as abundant.

More Months and More Miles

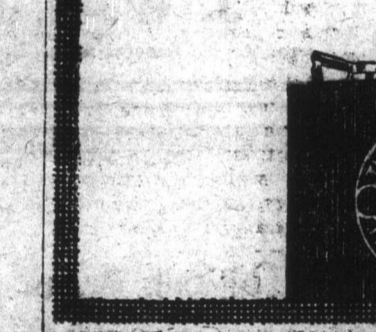

Some motor-car owners figure battery life by miles—others by months-of service. Both are suited with the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery.
Willard Threaded Rubber Insulation is the secret of the "most miles of uninterrupted service per dollar" of this battery. As its name implies it is made of rubber and threads—rubber to insulate the plates, threads to make the rubber porous.
It puts extra strength at a point where many batteries are weak. It puts an end to re-insulation worry and expense. It lasts the life of the plates.
You can get the extra months and miles of battery service only by buying the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery. You can recognize it immediately by the Thread-Rubber Trade-Mark, stamped in red on the side of the battery case.
