Sir George Baden Powell on the Colonial Aspect of the Succes. sion Duties.

The Subject Left for Consideration Between the Colonial Agents and the Government.

LONDON, June 14 -The House of Commons debated this evening the estate duties, as proposed in the budget. Sir G. Baden-Powell, Conservative for the Kirkdale division of Liverpool, moved an amendment to the effect that in case of property held abroad the amount of any death duties paid in the country in which the property was situated should be deducted from the duties payable in Great Britain; this arrangement to be effective, however, only with such countries as make similar exemptions in the converse case. Sir George rebuited Sir William Harcourt's contention that taxing property held in the colonies did not interfere with the onless that the colonies did not interfere with the autonomous rights of the colonies. He countries as make similar exemptions in the converse case. Sir George rebutted Sir William Harcourt's contention that taxing property held in the colonies did not interfere with the autonomous rights of the colonies. He argued that such taxation was likely to cause friction and eventually retaliation. Robert T. Reid, solicitor general for Sootland, defended the budget on the part of the government. He said that Sir William Harcourt, chancellor of the exchequer, was Harcourt, chancellor of the exchequer, was about to confer with the colonial agents concerning the estate duties and he appealed to the house not to press the matter any further at present. The question was a mixed one of both law and expediency, and could better be discussed after the

He will have on board a complete electric plant which, if he succeeds in his undertaking, will be used to operate the rich gold mines in the White Hills district. He will use the capstan and apparatus to hoist his boat up the river where the stream is navigable, and intends to strike it about the high water period. He will be the first man to ever attempt such a thing on the Colorado. The gold discoveries in the White Hills have attracted considerable attention lately.

Kasle's Disastrous Storm.

Spokane, Wn., June 14.—Particulars of the Kaslo storm have reached here. The loss, it is thought, will reach $100,000. The Galena Trading Co.'s store, Byers' hardware store, 'the government wharf and about seventy houses were swept away. The only life lost was that of Mrs. D. C. Gregory. The storm came up between four and five o'clock, preceded by a number of hot waves. Then came a terrible gale, which filled the air with debris, churned the lake into a fleaving sea and blew buildings into the water. Meantime the Kaslo river was dammed by a log jam and scores of cabins along its banks were ruined.

A SURPRISED PREMIER.

Lord Rosebery has been vigorously attacked by a large number of good people in turf. His assailants say that a man in his position should not be the patron of a very having a horse-racing Premier.

This resolution tacitiy condemns the action of Consul Stevens and other United States officials who interfered in the domestic affairs of Hawaii to such an extent as to bring about a complete change in its Government. give themselves airs, and take a good deal superior Englishmen will in their day feel exactly as Canadians do now when they see any indication that Colonists are regarded by their fellow-subjects from the Mother Country as in any respect inferiors. The truth is that it is narrowness on the part of the Englishman that causes him to belittle Canada and the Canadians, and it is narrowness on the part of Canadians which makes them prejudiced against Englishmen because of their peculiarities of speech, of garb and of manner, It is almost laughable to see men with common ancestry, speaking the same language and called by the same names, ineighing against each other because of a few superficial peculiarities. The truth is that Britons in Canada, though their fathers came to this country a hundred years or so ago, are quite as much Britons as are British immigrants who crossed the Atlantic in the last liner. Britons born on this side of the water have all the Briton's virtues, slightly modified by cis-Atlantic conditions, and all the Briton's failings, also somewhat modified. They are close kindred and they canfoolish to make a few points of difference which, as we have said, are only on the sources of ill-feeling? The Canadian-born Briton should respect the British-born Briton, and the British-born Briton should see how foolish it is to conclude that there is anything deteriorating in Canadian airor corrupting in Canadian food.

From-Proposed Convention of Government Supporters.

NANAIMO, June 16 .- (Special) - Premier Davie was accorded a hearty welcome in South Nanaimo last evening, the Cedar district Institute hall being well filled when chairman Hugh Bates invited the hon. Premier to address the electors.

Hon. Mr. Davie, who on coming forward was again greeted with hearty applause, said that his preliminary remarks would be seizure or molestation and personal damage for illegal arrest and imprisonment. The letter is one of explanation, and concludes with the statement that the Minister would be glad in the future as in the past to act as a medium of communication by which the claims and representations of the sealers can be brought to the notice of Her Majesty's Government.

It can be easily understood that many parties interested in the sealing industry are very far indeed from being satisfied with the result of the arbitration. They find that although it has been decided that the Americans never had any right to exercise exclusive jurisdiction over the waters of Behring Sea outside the three-mile limit, no compensation has been given them for the injuries inflicted on them during the vears in which the United States.

Damage Done to Orchards Very Great -Fencing Badly Needed by the Karmera

(From the Westminster News.) The Provincial Secretary arrived on the Gladys yesterday afternoon from the flooded district, and favored a News reporter with a short interview. Col. Baker, after giving a few general particulars and stating that the worst of the flood was evidently over. continued as follows :

The great necessity now is the supply of seed where required, as the subsidence of the flood makes it possible that some land will be ready for seeding in ten or fifteen days. I have therefore considered it advisable, in order to secure the greatest possible care and most rapid distribution of the seed, etc., to divide the fiboded district into a number of small sections. The damage done to the erchards has been very great, and nearly all the cherry trees are commencing to die. It is not, however, extected that apples, pears or prunes will suffer permanently, although, of course, the whole crop for this season is destroyed.

Upon being, informed of the steps taken by the convention of the Board of Trade, Colonel Baker said:

There is very little aid in the way of food supplies necessary at present, and the Government are using every endeavor to fully supply all needs. But there is one special direction where financial assistance of the can be usefully employed. It was distressing to hear the lamentations of the poorer class of farmers, especially the new settlers, derstood that Mayor Quennell was the choice of the government party. He would ask them as a body not only of intelligent, thinking men, but as men actuated by the highest motives, to put aside all prejudices and to vote straight for the government candidate.

A most successful meeting was brought to a close with the customary vote of thanks to the chairman.

THE DELAYED MARKS.

We find that Montreal letters and papers dated the 7th inst. were received in Seattle on the evening of the 13th. How is it that a Canadian mail is received in an United States city of the Coast some days before it reaches the Canadian cities? We say nothing about the non-arrival of the mails that were on the way when the floods first rendered the C. P. R. impassable; but such as the constrant for the greatest degree of comfort possible under the adverse circumstances.

The constrant for the poorer class of farmers, especially the new settlers, over their fences which are totally destroyed, and the poor fellows have no hope for a considerable time to beable to replace them. The putting in of crops without the land being fenced, in the districts where much stock is found, is comparatively useless, and it is in supplying the material for fences to the poorest sufferers that the citizens' relief fund could be best spent, and all assistance granted in this direction will be thankfully remembered by the farmers.

The Provincial Secretary, who was up to the eyes in business seeing to the loading of the cargo for to-morrow's trip, had not time to say any more, beyond remarking that although the elections were so near he could not leave the flooded district until all possible aid had been rendered and the settlers restored to the greatest degree of comfort possible under the adverse circumstances.

In one part Mr. Davie is made to speak of a discussion upon the redistribution bill, which could not have taken place before last session, as the bill was only brought down then; in another part it is shown that he is speaking of a cussion which took place more than a year ago, and which of course could not en the discussion upon the redistribution bill, which was not until the following session. The reporter has evidently failed to grasp the meaning of the speaker.

Not so, however, with the News-Advertiser, which the Times' writer had before him when he penned his distorting article. nor with the World, both of which journals publish reports singularly alike, and expressing with fair accuracy what the Premier said. Here are the reports of the World and the News-Advertiser:

They say, let us have representation according to population. They want to cut off the country districts—pocket boroughs they call them. DR. MORRISON.

The Jury Find Him Guilty of the Charge of Criminal Libel.

Sentences to Be Passed On All Prisoners On Friday Next at the Assizes.

A sensation was caused in the Assize court yesterday when the Morrison case was again called up. Mr. Justice Crease, who presided, said that before entering on to China, Japan, Corea and the United who presided, said that before entering on the case it was, he considered, right for him to say that he had a communication from the Sheriff which led him to infer that it was possible the jury or some one or two of them at least had been approached by the defendant in the case. Whether that were so or not remained to be seen. He did not wish to attach too much importance to it, but the matter was one that should be mentioned publicly. The better way would be for the Sheriff to inform the court of the roumstances. Mr. Sheriff McMillan was sworn and stat-circumstances.

Mr. Sheriff McMillan was sworn and stated that he had heard from the foreman of the jury that the defendant, Dr. Morrison, had visited his (the foreman's) house and interviewed his wife. What the nature of the interview was he could not say. The defendant had also had some conversation with Mr. Rogers, one of the jury, but what passed between them he did not know.

John Wier, the foreman of the jury, stated that on the evening of the day the court was last adjourned the defendant came to his house at between 7 and 8 o'clock in the evening. The defendant asked him about his mother-in-law. She being out he saked for Mrs. Wier. Mrs. Wier's mother being a midwife and the defendant a doctor Mr. Wier thought the defendant. He did not hear what passed between them, but Mrs. Wier seemed much distressed about something after the interview. The defendant said nothing to him personally.

Mr. Rogers said that defendant came to his store and bought some fruit.

"I thought he was going to say something about the case," Mr. Rogers explained, "so I said, don't say anything about the case, and he walked right out."

Mr. Helmcken submitted that there was nothing in this to show the jury were tampered with.

The Court held that the integrity of the in evidence was that of Dr. Morrison.

After an absence of half an hour the jury brought in a verdict of guilty.

Sentence was not passed, the court ad journing till 10 a.m. on Friday next, when sentence will be passed on all the prisoners found guilty at the present assizes.

The procecution put in an application for costs under the new code.

THE BLACK PLAGUE.

To the Editor:—The tzu-ku-sha is known in the North of China as an invariably fatal disease, much feared. The person attacked proceeds at once to scarify his body by means of old bronze coins (age imparting to them some occult virtue) dipped in vinegar and oil. The parts so treated are neck, arms, stomach and legs. You do come across a number of persons so marked, who have recovered its attack. The interpretation of tzu-ku-sha is "dark-bone-sand," or a sickness from the bones, of dark, minute, similar to smallpox. The spots coming out freely is a favorable sign. A few hours decides the matter one way or other.

MR. BEAVEN'S ADDRESS.

To the Editors:—In his address recently delivered at the Philharmonic hall, Mr. Beaven poses as a very discreet manager of the public funds, and as always keeping expenditure within the income. Such information addressed to an audience largely composed of new arrivals, since the honomember was in office, and who do not know how he acquitted himself when as minister of the Lands and Works Department in 1876, is tolerably safe talking. But the remembrance of the inroads he made upon the annual subsidy coming from the Dominion government,—of how he capitalized to the tune of $188,000, and would have exhausted it, it being the desire of Finance Minister Dnck to "sow it broadcast" upon the Province, but for the timely remonstrance of Premier Mackenzie,—still lingers in the memory of many of this community.

ITALY'S NEW-CABINET.

ROME, June 14.—The newspapers of this city have confirmed the report that the cabinet reorganization has been completed by Signor Bozelli becoming minister of finance, in place of Signor Somino, who will have the portfolio of minister of the treasury. Signor Damiannia replaces Signor Bozelli as minister of husbandry. The new cabinet will appear in parliament to-morrow. In the opinion of prominent politicians the government will abandon the proposed increase of the land tax, maintain the tax on rentes and give a pledge of economies in all the public services, including the army, to the extent of 20,000,000 lire.

It was the lavish and unwise expenditure of this Lands and Works subsidy, as made known in the 146 pages of the Lands and Works report of that period, that led to the downfall of the ministry of which Mr. Beaven formed a part, and is was the very unwise expenditure of the money that has ever since that period left no appetite for his return to office, nothwithstanding the hon, member's aspirations to the contrary.

He recognized many points of affinity between his own colony and British Columbia, inasmuch as the former was one of the most sparsely populated in the colonies. # THE CUP COMES HERE.

NANAIMO, June 14.—(Special)—The race for Sloan & Scott's championship cup—one mile and a half—took place on Nanaimo harbor this evening. There were four entries—W. Scott, of the J.R.A.A., Victoria; A. Henderson, of Vancouver; R. Eastham and J. Martin, of Nanaimo.

At the time of the start the water was calm and there was a steady breeze with a rather swift current running. All four got off well together, Scott slightly in the lead, with Henderson second, Eastham third and Martin fourth. These positions were kept till the turn, when Scott led sround the flags, the others following in order as above. On the home stretch the race was practically between Scott and Henderson. Scott maintained his lead of about one length till within a few lengths of the winning line and then made his final effort, crossing the line about four lengths ahead of Henderson. Time—11 58½. Eastham made a good third.

The following report of the Royal Comnission appointed to inquire into certain matters concerning the Nakusp & Slocan Railway is published for general informa-By Command.

A. CAMPBELL REDDIE, Dep. Provincial Secretary.

To the Honourable Edgar Dewdney, Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of British Columbia:

We, the undersigned Commissioners ap-pointed by the Commission of the twentieth day of April, 1894, to inquire into certain matters therein mentioned, concerning the Nakusp & Slocan Railway Company, have the honour to report that the manner in which that inquiry has been made, and the evidence taken therein will appear by the record of the proceedings of the Commission, which we have the honour to submit herewith.

It will be seen from the notes of evidence, that, though full notice was given of the time and place of sitting, and also, in our opinion, a sufficient intimation that the reasonable expenses of witnesses would be recouped to them through the Commissioners, no one has thought fit to appear in support of the accusations.

The only person from whom we have raceived any assistance in this direction has been the Hon. Robert Beaven, M.P.P., who, though not responsible for making the charges, brought forward some facts upon which he suggested

A Busy Day in All Branches Active Field Sports.

Close Scores the Rule in Cricket-A Good Yacht Race.

Yesterday was a busy one in sporting circles, and brought numerous surprises. In lacrosse, Westminster defeated Vancouver, four to three; the James Bays vanquished the Stars in the intermediate series; and the Cornwalls were humbled by the Mon to H.M.S. Hysointh; the Albions scored a win against Victoria College, and the second team of the V. C. C. won by a close margin from the Islanders, The Daisy Bell captured first place in the race of the local yacht club, and the eight-man rifle team of H. M. S. Hysointh won from No. 3 company, B.C.B.G.A. At baseball the Maple Leaves scored a crushing victory over their rivals, the Fernwoods.

THE RELAY RACE TO MONTREAL. MONTREAL, June 16. — (Special)—The great relay bicycle race from Sarnia, Ont, to this city concluded shortly after noon to-day, when the riders on the last section dashed into Dominion square. The couriers reached here at 1:26‡ p.m., being over four hours ahead of the scheduled time for their arrival, which was 5:35 p.m.

VICTORIA WHEELMEN BUSY. The club run of the Victoria Wheelmen yesterday was out to Oak Bay, via the Foul Bay road; the attendance was somewhat limited, as the flyers (all save Reynard) are saving themselves for Tuesday evening's races at Beacon Hill. To-day a number of the club purpose wheeling to Rocky Point, the meet being at club headquarters at 7 a.m. 7 a.m.

ALBIONS V. VICTORIA COLLEGE. Great interest was centred in the meeting of these teams in consequence of the College possessing an unbroken record of successes this season, but presumably owing to their cares and troubles in the impending examination they made a very mild bid for the continuance of the same. For the Albions, Green, Jones, Schwengers, Martin and Anderson showed good form for their runs. The first venture of the College amouted to 23, in which innings Jones took two smart oatches at cover point. The second attempt was a slight improvement on the first, if not much, being 33, and a slight impediment has accordingly appeared in the unbroken record, the College losing by an innings and 63 runs. THE CALIFORNIA ROAD BACE.

LOS ANGELES, June 16—At 4.30 o'clock this morning the great bicycle race between this city and San Diego via Riverside was commenced by the first relay rider, Carson Shoeman, of Riverside. The distance is 189 miles, a portion of which is over steep grades. There will be about eighteen relays to, be covered of 20 miles each. Shoeman carries a message from Mayor Rowan of this city to Mayor Carlson of San Diego. It is expected the run will be made in 12 hours.

RIVERSIDE, June 16.—Shoeman, the first relay, delivered his message to the next man at Puente, and after a minute for lunch, came on to Riverside; he was riding against time between Los Angeles and this place. Notwithstanding the heavy sand and accidents with wheels, walking a distance, he came in on a broken wheel at 8:45, making the total distance in four hours, 15 minutes, stops included, or at the rate of 15 5.17 miles per hour. EVERYTHING WENT TACOMA'S WAY.

Several radical changes in the existing game laws are favored by the Northwestern Sportsmen's Association, representing Washington, Idaho, Montana and British Columbia. The amendments have been prepared by Col. M. K. Snell, and among the most important are the following: "Absolutely prohibiting the killing of game of any kind for hides, horns, antiers, etc.; reducing the deer killing season from three months to one, December; making it a misdemeaner to have in one's possession or offer to sell any venison except in December; dosing the duck season March 1 instead of April 1; applying fines collected for the violation of the game laws to the school district in which the crime is committed, instead of to the general school fund.

By the latter amendment it is proposed to increase the interest of residents of the respective school districts in preventing violations of the game laws by enlisting them in apprehending the criminals and proceduting them. The amendments also provide that sheriffs and their deputies shall be exofficio game wardens.

various schools will be having their commencements, and so perhaps it would not be out of place or time to tell what was worn.

In the first place, let me say that it is not at all necessary for a sweet girl graduate to wear white. She can wear any color or material that is considered suitable for the young. Crepon, cash-mere, veiling, the light silks, challies, nets and sprigged lawns are all seen. Still the lighter tints are chosen generally unless some young girl thinks she is lovelier in red. Some very dainty graduation gowns are made of challie and trimmed daintily with lace and rib-

Personally I think white is prettier than anything else, as it symbolizes the purity and innocence of the white young souls that are about to step forth from their seclusion and trip along to "where the brook and river meet."

But, poetry aside, let us look at the dresses. They have been called poems and dreams and dear knows how many other things, and that is enough. We will speak of them simply as dresses. One of them was a delicate maize color, with a ruffle of fine oriental lace around the bottom and curving up on the left side of the front. This dress was crepon.
The waist was a plain gathered one, with a wide bertha of lace. There was a belt pointed top and bottom of pale blue velvet, and on each shoulder was an upstanding blue velvet bow. I fancy the pretty wearer had her hair done up for the first time, for she could not reof it several times. There was a small blue velvet bow set in her golden hair, and it looked "ever so cute."

Another young lady wore a white mull frock with a rose plaiting of pinked out white silk muslin around the bottom.) The skirt was shirred down about two inches and sewed to the belt. The waist had a Marie Antoinette fichu of mull demurely crossed over the breast, leaving a tiny V shaped front. The sleeves were cascades of oriental lace. There was no spot of color on the dress save a bunch of violets tucked in the white ribbon belt.

There was a pale blue veiling dress with a flounce of veiling covered with white oriental lace. The waist had a yoke of lace, and this was edged all around with a ruffle of the same lace as that on the skirt. The sleeves were puffed and reached the elbow to the pale blue gloves, which met them there.

ems to be all a matter of taste whether they wear long or short sleeves or high or low neck dresses, but I think the preference is for high gowns, not only at this school, but also in the large houses, where a specialty is made of ready gowns.

Naturally where there is a line of seven or eight girls standing side by side there should be as much of a con-trast as possible, and a harmonious contrast, too, and so a white gown comes between a maize and a blue one. Next to the blue by natural complement comes the red one. This one was of red barege. cherry color, and made quite plain in the skirt, except that there were two narrow tucks just above the hem. The waist had a sprung bertha of cherry moire, and above that the neck was cut out. The sleeves were balloon puffs of barege and very full. The young wearer had a slender gold chain around her neck, with a garnet heart.

By her side stood a sweet faced girl in a plain gown made of white china crepe. The sleeves were of black crepe de chine, and there were ruffled bretelles of the same and a black grosgrain belt ribbon tied in a bow with long ends. This child had but lately lost her father, and this black and white gown was her pathetic little tribute to his memory.

By the side of this young girl was the star of the occasion, with her essay held gracefully in her well gloved hand. I believe that essay was titled something

I was at a "commencement" this week, and I could not help thinking of the fluttered teacher and her desire that her girls' dresses should fit. The valedictory, wherein everybody was impressed by "the oneness of the universe," and the sorrow of parting, etc., and the grand resolves for the future, "over whose threshold we are now crossing," was read by another lovely girl, whose dress fitted to perfection.

The valedictory was written in a book The valedictory was written in a book with purple velvet covers and had long lilac ribbons tied to it. The dress worn by the valedictorian was of cream challie, with heliotrope flowers in rather large pattern. The skirt was plain and was gathered and sewed to the belt, which was of cream satin and pointed on the upper edge. The waist was cut out at the neck and filled in by russian embroidery. The waist was shirred in four rows, leaving a narrow upstanding ruffle. The sleeves were drooping puffs, with lace caps and falling rows of lace covering the forearms.

There were several gowns there of the new order—that is to say, with panniers made more or less ornate. Some of them had the puffs plain as regards trimming, and others had rows of lace sewed on the bottom and ribbon laid flat on the seam that joins the pannier puffs to the waist, and such had bows and loops in the back. But so far the panniers seen here and also in the large stores are more often made quite plain. Basques with panniers make stylish and dressy additions to otherwise plain gowns. The rich women of this country are besieged by "begging" letters, and natural folds. They are cut in points, sometimes four only and then again six and eight. I have lately seen in some paper the tatement that the great raisin industry I have lately seen in some paper the statement that the great raisin industry of California was founded by a woman, Miss M. Miss C. H. Spence, the Well Known Australian Writer and Lecturer, Relates a Few Facts and Expresses Sundry Opinions-Arguments For Woman Suffrage. There are English speaking women as well as men domiciled in all the continents and in almost all the islands of pendent women become the less you and severely plain or trimmed with the world. "Mother of Nations" is white valenciennes and satin ribbon to Britain's proudest title, and the new nations she has planted, whether separated or still under the wing of the em-pire, hold from her in their history, tra-give less political power to women than ditions, language and literature. Where Englishmen and Americans go they take their wives and families with them and endeavor to make a home.

and you find people whose laws, man-ners, religion and tastes differ as well at once. ners, religion and tastes differ as well as their language from those of the Anglo-Saxon race. Distance and climate woman suffrage before it was created into a state, but it is remarkable that New Zealand, an English colony, and Colorado an American state conferred race brings with it an environment which subdues all who come within the influence of its language.

Contrast the manner in which the United States within a generation Americanizes her young foreigners in her public schools with the failure of Canada to assimilate her French subjects, who were allowed to keep their own language. The French Canadians are more French than the French themselves, more Catholic than modern Italians and Spaniards and perhaps more conservaive than any people in the world, though close to the progressive province of On-tario and the United States.

Our mother tongue is therefore the mighty chain that binds us in union. I have indeed been sometimes called a foreigner in an official sense, not being an American citizen, but a British subject, whose home is in Australia. Where people read the same books they are apt to think similar thoughts and to have kindred aims. And I can never meet with more brotherly and sisterly fellow workers than have clasped hands with me in America. Our history down to a certain point is the same, and though recent developments vary in various quar-ters of the globe we are all marching on, and every step in the right direction taken by any of us aids true progress

Yet there are distinctions between the women in the various latitudes and longitudes even the more interesting on account of their fundamental agree-ment. And the most striking thing to me is the manner in which American women have successfully invaded every field formerly held as a masculine pre-serve and have become a great industrial army not only of hand workers and housekeepers, but of head workers in professions and in every branch of educational and clerical work.

It was not till 1796 that the Boston ish trousers and pretty blouses drape the free, uncorseted figures. Turn the head around to the right as them in all states of the Union, and the higher education as far as it can be had eagerly seized by the sex which was eagerly seized by the sex, which was excluded from the schools altogether a century ago, have made a great change in the relations of the sexes to each other. Women no longer look on marriage as the great business of life in America. The exploded idea lingers in novels and novelettes, but in real life it is felt that financial independence and the capacity for earning a livelihood secure women from having to marry for a home. Real love makes the self supporting woman give up her independence, but the dependent woman was tempted to accept any man who seemed willing and able to provide for her.

There is a quietness and simplicity in the dress of the educated working woman in America which I am told has gradually come into favor. At first girls would go to the office in cheap silks and startling hats, but now they have learned both what is serviceable and what is suitable. The earnings of these American women are higher compared with those of men than they are in England or in Australia. I think they are generally better fed and clothed than women A physician recommends the fluid ex-tract of bladder wrack as a cure for tract of bladder wrack as a cure for They come out of families in better cirhonorable to earn the bread we eat, and that a supernumerary idle daughter is as great an encumbrance as an idle son.

If women are thus strong in the wear odd waists under this or have a change of lace and silk vests, thus altering the monotony of costume to the usages of five or six.

WOMAN'S WORLD IN PARAGRAPHS. gen and Sophomores at Smith College Play Basket Ball.

The girls at Smith college have had a beautiful match game of basket ball un-der the direction of their teacher of gymnastics, Miss Bereuson, and under the eye of their president, Dr. Seelye. They were uniformed in blouses and gymnasium Turkish trousers, and the ball they used was the regular Rugby football. The game consisted in getting the ball into the so called basket, which is made of iron and netting. The sophomores and freshmen girls contested, and the sophs won because they had had training the previous year and had gained in strength and skill. In this kind of girls' football playing no yells were permitted; neither was a player allowed to knock the ball out of another's hand. This made a decent, civilized sort of ball game. But the contest was none the less spirited on that account. When at the close the sophomores won, they were so carried away with enthusiasm that they hoisted their captain, Miss Dustin, upon their shoulders and carried her home. What strong, splendid girls these are! If they marry, their children will not be rickety, consumptive or "weakly." And whether they marry or stay single they will be beautiful, healthy women, with finely developed figures. When they become middle aged, they will not be fat and barrel shaped and monstrous, Coeducation in schools and in univer- the middle aged women of today are. handsome American women tend to be come smothered in fat as they approac old age. With plenty of outdoor air, with loose garments and loose shoes, with culti-vated brains and a system of physical training which will perfect and develop every muscle in the bodies of American mothers and mothers that are to be, we shall in time have in our republic a race as beautiful and perfect physically as the ancient Greeks were and far superior to them morally and spiritually—yes, and intellectually, too—I am not afraid to say intellectually.

I have been much interested in a symposium on dress published in The Avant Courier of Bozeman, Gallatin county, Mon. I was glad to note that the meeting at which the subject of dress for women was talked over and at which sentiments in favor of radical reform vere uttered was held at the home of a minister, Rev. R. M. Donaldson. Where ministers take advance ground on the woman question it is not half so hard for timid lady members of their flock to speak out. Papers at this western symosium were read by Mrs. F. The ladies were much tional dress idea than most eastern women I have met, and all favored the etter acquainted with the Boston raelease of woman from trailing for work and outdoor exercise.

to tea and it is somewhat a matter for surprise that at least some of those interested in that industry have not yet sent forward a trial shipment in order to test the market. Some few boxes have been consigned, but the shipments have been too insignificant in quantity to enable possible purchasers to arrive at a thoroughly sound idex of the product, and the outcome which may be anticipated. Were samples forwarded in bulk such as would enable the article to be introduced in the numerous cities of the Dominion, something like consequences might follow. Remarks of a similar character may be applied to other matters which, as yet, have not been tried at all.

Leaving, for the moment, this portion of the subject, reference may be made to those imports which it is known will pay. Among those, timber will figure largely, while salmon, brought in ice, and tinned fruits will have a market. Frozen meats from New South Wales will also be a considerable feature. Certainly that has nothing to do with imports from British Columbia; but had it not been for the institution of the steam service, with the appliances for carrying and landing carcasses in perfect condition, we should not have heard of the fitting up of cold chambers in Suva for the reception of the meat and other articles so brought. At least if the project had been heard of—as, in fact, it was years back—that would have been the last of it. Now it may be regarded as almost an accomplished fact.

What benefit that will prove to the public as almost an accomplished fact.

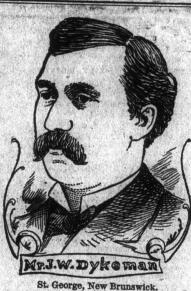

What benefit that will prove to the public

What benefit that will prove to the public at large remains to be seen. It is stated that better meat, from animals fed on more luxurious pasture than is afforded by the runs in the vicinity of Suva, will be the result. No rumor has been bruited abroad that prices will be less. That, however, is yet to come; and the earlier the cheering news the more welcome to consumers and the more thorough their appreciation of the advantages of the line.

They fought battles with other carrying companies until they attained that which they desired. With the line referred to there are no battles to fight. All that has to be done is to evince similar determination in regard to the fitness of the export. That accomplished, another large market is open. In other words, another opportunity is afforded to add to the material wealth of the colony and to its distribution among the class which most needs it—the small producer.

The meeting was unanimously in accord with the present government, though there was some slight difference of opinion as to the choice of a candidate. That matter will be suitably arranged at the approaching convention.

Saturday evening Ralph Smith, the opposition candidate, addressed a large gathering at Wellington. He was accorded a kindly hearing, but his remarks failed to enthuse. Mr. John Bryden, the government candidate, also spoke. His reception was ample proof of the feeling of the electors in North Nanaimo.

Nanalmo.

Mr. Bryden did not speak long, but in his few well chosen remarks he completely and satisfactorily refuted all the arguments put forward by Mr. Smith, and unquestionably satisfied his hearers that, though in the unfortunate position of being a mine manager, he was none the less competent to be their representative. Mr. Bryden's address to the electors was distributed during the evening, and is to the following effect:

development of that industry.

Being familiar with mining operations and their incidental dangers, I will support practical measures tending to the security of life, limb and property, making the same applicable to all classes of mines and mining where reactions.

Any reasonable scheme pointing towards arbitration and conciliation, with a view to lessen the evils attending costly litigation and protracted labor difficulties, from whatever source, will receive my due attention.

The Chinese problem is fraught with many difficulties. Restrictive legislation has been attempted, but has met with little many deficulties. Restrictive legislation has been attempted, but has met with little fivor on constitutional grounds. As Royal Commissions have been pre-eminently successful in solving knotty questions, perhaps a commission composed of Imperial, Dominion and Provincial representatives, would find desirable means of settlement, without compromising their international policy.

As we are menaced at every avenue with an invasion of contagious or infectious disease, I would strongly advocate the enforcement of such sanitary measures as will prevent, or, as far as possible, mitigate the evils arising from such dread causes.

I would impress upon the administration the necessity of carrying out the liquor licensing regulation act of 1891, in its entirety, and further that the law in regard to gambling be strictly enforced.

Hoping to have an early opportunity of meeting you to discuss matters pertaining to the general welfare of the Province, and District in particular,

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,

SCRAMBLE FOR THE CAMEROONS.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—C. W. Moore, of Los Angeles, Cal., recently returned from the Cameroons country, west coast of Africa. He speaks with much indignation of the brutality and indignities heaped on the natives. Two Germans, Feist and Wellans, he says, are the guilty ones, though the English have some times been cruel too. The Cameroons country is now seriously agitating the French chamber of deputies, and Lord Rosebery, on the part of the English, has just begun to lay the law down to the Germans. The scramble for the Cameroons will, in Mr. Moore's judgment, lead to great difficulties.

**FOLDERANT POLITICIANS.**

The Times on Tuesday evening had a near converge of the part of the description of the part very formidable in the misunderstanding with France respecting the agreement between Great Britain and the Congo Free State. It speaks of that agreement as "a very natural and harmless rectification o frontiers." In explaining the situation it is not likely that they ever will. We have liberty of opinion and liberty of speech tried to have their own way by preventing the free expression of opinion. But they obtained their purpose, and it is not likely that they ever will. We have not accomplished their purpose, and it is not likely that they ever will. We have liberty of opinion and liberty of speech, are the loudest advocates of liberty of opinion and we have not accomplished their purpose, and it is not likely that they ever will. We have liberty of opinion and liberty of speech, are sometimes in practice the most of a proposition. It so happens that at the recent westminster meeting Mr. Davided Mr. Brown when the latter said who have liberty of opinion and liberty of speech, are sometimes in practice the most arbitrary and the most unreasonable of a promptly condemned by the great majority of the people, and any means that moldes are somewhat peculiar. He first wither the promptly condemned by the great majority of the people, and any means that might be taken to hurl it from power would be considered justifiable. Yet this is precisely the kind of tyranny that the Vancouver howlers at least night's meeting he volunteered the statement that it had been read in the House, and after the promptly condemned by the great majority of the people, and any means that meeting would be the statement that it had been read in the House, and after the promptly condemned by the great majority of the specific denied at Westminster that it had been read in the House, and after the statement that it had been read in the House, and after the promptly condemned by the great majority of the wind it from the printed return, then he in effect denied at Westminster that it had been read. The howlers can disturb a public meeting and prevent a public speaker from being heard, but they cannot prevent those who disapprove of them and their methods voting in the way they think best. Hap pily our laws make it impossible for the mob that attempts to suppress freedom of speech to take a single step towards interfering with the freedom of election. The elector whom they will not permit to listen to a speaker at a public meeting in peace, can as yet mark his ballot in perfect security. This would not be the case long if the violence which makes public meeting scenes of turbulent intolerance and disorder were permitted to produce its natural and its logical results. It is the interest and the duty of all law abiding and freedom-loving citizens to nip this kind of tyranny in the bud. Its tendency is to grow until it be-

Erastus Wiman Sentenced to Five and a Half Years in the Penitentiary.

"I could have destroyed these vouchers, every one of them." He rapidly sketched on a sheet of paper the interior of the Dun's Wiman office. "There was Mr. Dun's desk; he rarely occupied it. Here was my desk, and there was the cashier's desk. I could have destroyed any vouchers. Is it likely that if I forged or did any wrong that I should have let the evidence remain? And the idea of such forgeries! If I had wanted to forge I could have forged for half a milling as easily as falling off a log. At the ion as easily as falling off a log. For some time Mr. Wiman reviewed his work in building up the Dun-Wiman agency, saying :

"I had never less than twenty libel suits on hand at any one time. There was a great deal of delicate work about adjusting some of them. It was necessary to use money sometimes and not to do it in too marked a way because of the principle of the thing. Think of the work I did to prevent hostile legislation that threatened the Dun-Wiman business. Seven states at one time were trying to legislate us out of existence. Once I spent a month at Harrisburg and worked night and day with the legislators. At a critical moment I needed to influence the smators. I sent telegrams differently worded to all my agents in the state. I ordered them to get those telegrams signed by the biggest men in their localities and repeat them back to the senators. When the crowd of telegrams protesting against the "I had never less than twenty libel suits crowd of telegrams protesting against the proposed legislation began to pour in the senators felt that they were threatening the make the mercantile sgency respectable, and to do that I had to make myself re-spected and well known as the head spected and well known as the head of the agency. Whatever I may have done to add to my reputation, making speeches, etc., has put money into the pockets of those whom I have built up. That confession and my letters to Dun generally are difficult and delicate to treat. It is hard for one not acquainted to treat. It is hard for one not acquainted with the circumstances to understand the matter. Mr. Dun had come to look upon himself as almost a little god; he liked to be addressed in that manner. When I was forced out of the firm and these matters were discovered, as they call it, Macfarland talked to me in a way that induced me to write as I did. He urged me to turn over to the firm the property which I had in my write as I did. He urged me to turn over to the firm the property which I had in my wife's name: it could not be in my name because I was not a citizen of this country. I was told that my wife, on turning over all she possessed, would be looked after by Dun; that she would get $12,000 or $15,000 a year for life. Macfarland said to me, 'Wiman, there are lots of irregularities here; now you turn over that property and get out. Spend the rest property and get out. Spend the rest of your life quietly. Write for the North American Review, or go to England, or deliver lectures throughout the country. I believed him and acted upon his suggestion, but I can see now how hard it must be for those letters.

but I can see now how hard it must be for those letters to be understood by those ignorant of the circumstances."

With considerable strength and energy Mr. Wiman made the point that if he is guilty of forgery now he was guilty a year ago, and that those who accuse him, knowing a year ago what they know now, were compounders of felony for one year. The hope of his friends was, he said, that it would not be thought necessary to make him age. not be thought necessary to make him associate with oriminals in prison for a long time.

INDEPENDENCE OF PARILLAMENT ACT.

From present appearances Mr. A. J. Turicotte, M. P. for Montmorency, is in danger of losing his seat. At least if deductions from given facts are correct everything points in the direction named. On two different occasions the committee on privileges and elections has made with the object of in vestigating the charges preferred in the house against Mr. Turcotte, that he as a member of the firm of Provest & Turcotte had supplied groceries, etc., to the citadel at Quebec, as also to the vessels of the marine department. Your readers need hardly be reminded that the independence of parliament can be a public contractor, and the justice of this rule has been recognized under the British constitution for conturies. Two of the material witnesses to the inquiry, one of them being Mr. Turcotte's partner, Mr. Provost, have declined to attend. On the face of it this looks has piolous, and people can only draw one inference, viz., that if they came here thair admissions would be of such a character as to deprive Mr. Turcotte of his seat. Parliament, however, is a body which

ST. JOHN'S schoolroom was filled last evening to witness the performance of the sparking little play, "Who Is It?" (which was very correctly rendered by ten little girls) and the laughable burlesque "Bluebard." The latter was performed in a manner which would have been a credit to professionals. Bluebeard was very cleverly taken by Master Cecil Berkeley, who sustained the part in a way that drew applause from the andience. Miss May Todd made a very charming Fatima, while Lester Anne, "That Bad Young Thing," was presented in a most humorous way by Master Maurice Berkeley. Lelim, the fire-eating young dragoon who demolishes Bluebeard, was fireness itself in the person of Master Ernest Todd. The sale of work in the afternoon was very well attended and the fair workers must have realized a handsome sum.

I am glad to say that the grants made by the Mission Board have been paid regularly and in full. At the close of the financial year on March 31, the Mission Fund was $1,208 in arrear but as we commenced the year with a deficit of $1,222, practically our receipts and expenditure have balanced. To meet this overdraft of $1,208 there is a sum of $500 owing as arrears of unpaid interest on mortgages, and the diocese will rejoice to hear that in answer to a special appeal to the authorities of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel a grant of $500 has been received from the treasurer in England.

Lasty:

A year's experience has, I assure you, deepened my sense of responsibility in having been called to the office and work of a Bishop in the Church of God.

In this diocese there is none of the anxiety caused by long missionary journeys, or by severity of climate—on the contrary, all the settlements are within easy range—but the anxiety arises from the intimate knowledge which the Bishop must have of the special needs and difficulties of each particular parish. His energies have by no means to be expended only upon organization, but rather upon that closer personal union which in so many dioceses in England and in the Colonies is clearly impossible. For this I am duly thankful, and while I am profoundly conscious of my negligence and ignorance, yet the experience of more than twenty years of active parochial work has made me to some extent capable of feeling sympathy with clergy and laity, even if I cannot actually help them in their difficulties.

I would beg of you to forgive the mistakes and short comings of the first year of my episcopate, some of which I would cast into the consecution."

Solo has been received from the treasurer in England.

The question before us, as to the future, is whether we are to be content with the state of the work of the church in this diocese, or to advance. No one will maintain that the amounts now collected and subscribed mean that the utmost limit of liberality in the several congregations has been received mean that the utmost limit of liberality in the several congregations has been received mean that the utmost limit of liberality in the several congregations has been received mean that the utmost limit of liberality in the several congregations has been received mean that the utmost limit of liberality in the several congregations has been received mean that the utmost limit of liberality in the several congregations has been received mean that the utmost limit of the work of the church in this diocese. More than this, it certainly seems to me that we have a distin

Mr. E. Baynes Reed moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. J. Coltart:

"That the Lord Bishop be requested to invite the co-operation of the other bishops of British Columbia to consider the advisability of forming an ecclesiastical province for British Columbia or of joining the ecclesiastical province of Rupert's Land, and that His Lordship be further requested to nominate a committee to confer with committees of the other dioceses and to report to this synod the course recommended by them."

arranged for the season by the newly organized Victoria wheelmen. There were three events on the programme—an open race, 3:15 class and 3:30 class, the latter for roadster wheels. Each filled well and fairly good contests resulted, though a stiff southerly wind prevented fast time being made and gave the riders plenty of work in mounting the heavy grades under full steam. In the open race Bradley and Wolff were the contestants, the former winning easily, and making the mile circle in 2:47 3 5. Wolff made a good showing but has plenty of work ahead of him in order to put himself on equal terms with the club champion. In the 3:15 race the battle lay between W. J. Jeffree and Fred Hall, the latter of whom won easily in 3:2I 1-5, Jeffree having the ill-luck to slip a pedal and not being able to recover his position under the clip. Morris, Sheppard, Reynard and Carter were the starters in the 3:30 class, finishing in the order named. Morris rode a fast, steady race, finishing well to the front in 3:14 4 5 with a safe running lead. The races attracted general attention and were conducted with the namest satisfaction to the public and all participating.
