A MEDDLESOME NATION.

CHINA DETERMINED TO FIGHT FRANCE.

The Pride of the Gauls Must be Crushed

New York, Jan. 16.—A gentleman writing from Canton in relation to the affairs in Tonquin says China is determined to fight, and war can only be avoided by France backing clean down to the ground. Proclamations concerning China's responsibility in the event of war are daily issued, the latest being to the effect that the sole responsibility for the present unsettled state of affairs rests with France, and any harm occurring to foreigners must be laid on the shoulders to France and not on China. The latter government cannot be responsible for the excitement caused by the meddlesome policy of France. A Chinaman told me that it was no use trying to get along peaceably with a country like France, which was the most troublesome nation that ever existed. China must rise up as one man and crush the pride of the French. Such is the sentiment of all the one man and crush the pride of the French. Such is the sentiment of all the Chinese from the highest to the lowest. Some however dread the war and would do all possible to avoid it.

GREAT FIRE IN LONDON.

S. W. Silver & Co., Colonial Agents,

And Still Call it "Tea"—Chairman Frye's Horror of the Man in a Blouse—Capi-WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 .- In the senate

this afternoon on reading the rules prohibiting the sale of spirituous or nalt liquors in the capitol building, Senator Bayard said that while entirely favoring the exclusion of spirituous liquors he did not favor the exclusion of less dangerous and entirely wholesome malt liquors. Senator Frye, chairman of the commitee on rules, said the only difference between the new rule and the old was in the addition of the word "strictly," which the committee added because the old rule had not been enforced. "I have seen," said Frye, "a restaurans of one of the houses become an open, notorious, low miserable groggery. I have also seen a man with his pantaloons inside his boots and a coarse blouse on standing at the bar restaurant of one of the houses of congress drinking miserable whisky out of a cup." "Tin cup," asked a member. "No, sir," replied Frye, "a crockery cup; and I have seen whisky ordered again and again and called 'tea' and brought ann served in a cup and saucer. Anybody whether a member of congress or otherwise can sit down, order his 'tea' and drink it out of a cup. ROBBED A POSTOFFICE SAFE.

A Printer Secures 890 in Bradford and is On the evening of Dec. 28 last the safe in the Bradford postoffice was robbed of four registered letters containing between $80 and $90. The postmaster is Mr. H. S. Broughton, of the South Simcoe News. The printing office is over the postoffice. The day after the robbing a young man named Dugald McDonald, who had worked named Dugald McDonald, who had worked as a printer in the News office, disappeared and came to Toronto. The safe had been unlocked with a false key, and McDonald was suspected. Post Office Inspector Henderson, of Barrie, traced McDonald to this city and came on here yesterday. Detective Burrows and he were soon on McDonald's track, and last evening he was arrested in Bay street, near the Mail office, where he had been working as a "sub." At police headquarters he made a clean breast of the theft, and said he had procured a key, unlocked the safe and took procured a key, unlocked the safe and took the letters out. TPURSDAY MORNING, JAN. 17, 1884.

The public interest which has for the Mowat government here, will for the next three be more particularly directed towards the government at Ottawa. The verdict in the Welland case, which confirms Col. Moran in his seat, may be regarded as finally deciding that there will stopped, and that the innocent man would be no change of administration for this not be a great loser. session in Ontario, however the other cases may go, and the settlement of this point implies the usual uninteresting session.

Far different is the state of affairs in the house of commons. Sir John Macdonald girl and she first won $500; this was soon has more than a good working majority, but he has some troublesome questions to face, and he has to meet an opposition bent on making the most of his difficulties. He knows better than most men both the dangers of his position, and he is well aware also of the ability of his opponents. If they only manage to keep their doubtedly make his road a hard one to travel on for the next few months.

Prominent amongst the difficult ques tions pressing for settlement are the demands of the people of Manitoba and the Northwest. The Manitobans are asking an extension of their northern boundary so as to give them an outlet to Hudson Bay within their own territory, aid for a railroad to the same objective point, and unrestricted control over the public lands of their province; and both Manitobans and Norwesters are asking to have the customs tariff reduced and the Canadian Pacific monopoly broken up for their benefit. Even if the dominion government can actariff legislation or repeat the monopoly clause of the railway contract. The formor would endanger the makers of agricultural implements; the latter would irreparably injure the railway company.

To complicate matters for Sir John the fisheries question is coming up again with more than its former troubl The American fishermen are bent on pursuing their calling in Canadian waters, and unless they are allowed to do so in peace serious international complications may result. On the other hand if no effort is made to prevent them from doing so the dominion may as well give up all idea of territorial proprietorship and strike its flag. Possibly a way may be found out of the difficulty through the avenue of reciprocity, and then comes the equally trouble some question of drawing up a free list.

The state of affairs within the conserva tive party in Quebec shows that there are rocks ahead on which the dominion government may yet make shipwreck. Sir John has to depend to a great extent on his Bleu supporters-he has always had to do that—and they are not at the present time a very happy family. Possibly the orangemen may him the trouble in connection the incorporation of their order, but if their leaders neglect to bring in a bill for this purpose they must expect to have trouble in their own camp. If they do bring one in and pass it, then Sir John will have another disturbing alternative presented for his device.

Added to all this, the short crop and the commercial stringency, which make and aggravate the pauperism, which is al ways sufficiently burdensome to cities and large towns, the immigration policy has proved both injurious and unpopular, and yet the nature of the agreement with the Canadian Pacific railway company forbids any let-alone policy in bringing people to glibly used by the stranger. this country.

These are a few of the difficulties that loom up, but not all, and they are enough to show that we are likely to have a lively session of the dominion parliament.

There are many things in our public school system as rotten as anything in the state of Denmark; the text-book scandal needs a more radical remedy than a mere tip to the Cerberus of the triple set of readers; the Normal school, in the opinion of most of the school inspectors throughout Ontario, needs an entire reconstruction, and the time spent at the county model schools needs extension. But a worse evil than any of these, because it goes to the root of the matter, is the present overcrowding of our city public schools. At John street school, at the Ryerson, at the Dufferin; all exceptionally well-managed institutions; all, such a manner as to render the maintensnee of discipline difficult, and anything like adequate attention to each pupil's siducational needs impossible. In each of the creation of a property in the sense of discipline difficult, and anything like adequate attention to each pupil's siducational needs impossible. They squeal When squeezed.

That is what little pigs do and so do men who are playing games of chance or engaged in speculation. Samuel D. Tilden of Hartford, Conn., was in New York the other day. Some bunco men got hold of him and "steered" him to a gambling house. He soon after reported to the police that he had lost $2930 in the room, for which amount he had given cheques on a Hartford bank. Public sympathy was with Mr. Tilden and people were glad to hear that payment of the cheques had been

But now the real facts are coming out Tilden had his little daughter with him and she accompanied him to the gambling house. He began playing for the little lost however, and then Tilden began to play on his own account giving cheques for his losses up to the amount in question. Then he felt that he had been "squeezed so badly that he "squealed" to the police and made a great row about it.

Now Tilden, instead of being entitled to public sympathy, was simply a gambler in spirit himself and went into the game, knowing what it was and hoping to make money by his play. When he found his ready money, his winnings and then his cheques were gone he ran to the police. But what is still more discreditable is the fact that the cheques were worthless, that Tilden had only two or three dollars to his credit, and that he had knowingly drawn cheques for which he had no money on From all of which the New York Sun

Continue the Fat Cattle Show.

At the meeting of the city of Toronto electoral district agricultural society last night the subject of continuing the Christmas fat cattle show was touched upon, The last and first show was the finest of the kind ever held in the dominion, and the only way in which the show can be made a permanent institution is by the city council itself providing a suitable ouilding, or at least assisting the societies having it in hand to do so. The council last year was very lukewarm in lending any assistance towards seenring the drill shed for the purpose. The minister of militia turned a deaf ear to the committee although it was guaranteed that the building would in no way be injured. One of the finest buildings in Chicago is used for the purpose, which from seven years use for a cattle show is not one whit worse and is just as inhabitable as ever for human beings. It is to be hoped that Mr. Withrow's resolution, printed elsewhere, will have the desired effect on the council.

Mr. Alder, the secretary of the English Wesleyan conference, stated before a committee of the house of commons, that the Wesleyans were a portion of the national church, and therefore claimed state support. During the intense struggle to be freed from the curse of a state church in Upper Canada in 1847, one of the leading ministers of that body stated in one of their church meetings, in view of the probability of a subdivision of the funds of the elergy reserves and university among the leading religious denominations, "The party that will take us up or will give us the nost, should have our support at the elecions!" To the Editor of The World. SIR: In an account of the services at St. Michael's in Toronto on Sunday last, after giving a resume of the sermon by Dr. Lynch, I find the following, "A collection was then taken up, the money to be applied in masses for the dead." One will naturally ask, would it not have been better to have given this money to the families of have given this money to the families of the sufferers than to have paid the priests of St. Michael's for what only the most ignorant even of Romanists now believe in. We have lately heard the Roman author-ities very loud in their abuse of Luther, applying to him every possible name. I now challenge Dr. Lynch and the priests at St. Michael's to name an act of Luther (and to give such proof as will be accepted by reasonable Englishmen) which can be com-pared in vileness to the fraud perpetrated on Sunday last in thus taking money for the emancipation of souls from purgatory, the emancipation of souls from purgatory, when as a matter of fact there is no such place. or small proprietors of good sense.

Vice-royalty in no way oppresses us, but it misleads us. In politics it makes us rely on a fiction instead of working out ecurities for the stability and author ity of government. In manners it directs our aim to an ideal which, happily for us, never can be ours. No manners in the world are in reality better than those of the self-made man of this continuous. The ordinary rate of discount is 10 to 12 per cent. First-class commercial paper is taken at 8 to 10 per cent. Business with the the self-made man of this continent, so ong as he is content to be himself. .The governor-general may, at all events, and it cannot be doubted that he will, refrain as far as possible from stimulating extrava-gance, which, where incomes are small, is eally cruel.

As the natural consequences of countless breaches of public morality, perpetrated and condoned by party, and of the systematic corruption of the electorate, cal-lousness is creeping over the public conscience. It is an unpleasant fact, but a fact it is, that the standard has sunk lower n Canada than in the United States. The restoration of Mr. Mills to his seat for Bothwell is an accession of strength to an opposition much in need of reinforce-ment. It is also a triumph of justice; for ment. It is also a triumph of justice, Mr. Mills had evidently been jockeyed out of the seat, though it is not necessary to the machinations by which the work of evil was effected; the activity of the local evil was effected; the activity of the local imps on both sides is quite sufficient to account for any exploits of this kind.

University consolidation is not so dead but that it may be worth while once more to state definitely what is proposed under that name. What is proposed, as the best plan, is that the denominational or local colleges should come to Toronto, and there, with University college, be federated under a common university to be called he University of Ontario. The ations and confer all the degrees and mere rudimentary instruction would be conducted within each college by tutors or college professors, to whom would also be assigned the individual superintendence of the student. The university professoriate the student. The university professoriate would be made up of that of University college, and those of other colleges combined, the means of maintaining the coltion present to the minds of those who are accustomed to dealing with these matters, any insuperable difficulty, though there would be need of temper in the negotiations, and of care in organizing the system. Another plan is that the colleges, remaining where they now are, and each undertaking as at present the whole of the instruction, shall enter into federal union for the purposes of examination and graduation. This would be a gain so far as it went; it would secure the effectiveness of the examinations, and restore the value of degrees. But it would not give us a university worthy of the name; and the difficulty of working the system amidst the jealousies which would arise about the appointment of examiners, the choice of subjects for examination, and the regulation of the standard, which the stronger colleges would be always wanting to raise and the weaker to lower, might prove greater than at first sight may be supposed.

Gradually to improve the organization of society is within our power, and no one who knows history (which few Jacobins do) can doubt that this is being done, though the movements of the universe are slow. Suddenly to change the organization of society is within our power, as disastrous and bloody experience shows. Yet this is the aim of socialism, while the other is the aim of reform.

church, were to be sold for a share of the public plunder. Bonuses to churches or denominational schools are simply a premium for ministerial support of the government.

Masses for the Dead.

is the aim of reform.

But even among the catholic peasantry of England, while the agrarian movement is, and always has been, weak. Artificial strength is lent to the political movement by its junction with the agrarian agitation. Give the Irish peasant a full belly and you will hear little more, so far as he is concerned, of the repeasant a full belly and you will hear little more, so far as he is concerned, of the repeal of the union. But Irish revolution is a trade by which leaders on both sides of the Atlantic have already made their fortunes, while their dupes are sent by dozens to the gallows. By the practice of this branch of industry, the Irish of the catholic provinces are being converted into a poople of political mendicants, taught to live, not by labor and thrift, but the brandishing of the repeal bludgeon and exhibition of historical sores. Some day there will be an outbreak, and if it takes place, as it did before, in combination with the foreign enemies of England, and when she is fighting for her life mercy will be turned out of doors, and the blood of the hapless people will again flow in torrents, while the demagogues and journalists will be reposing in the quiet enjoyment of their patriot gains.

But to say nothing of Ulster, what is to become of all the Irish in England and Scotland? On is it more and the life in the part of the p

Scotland? Are they to be sent back to Ireland? Or is it supposed that they will be suffered to live on British soil as a nation apart, using the British franchise for the purpose of a standing conspiracy, in the interest of their kinsmen across the channel, against the community in which they dwell? The connection has become practically indissoluble, and if the Irish, under the influence of reckless and mercenary demagogues, persist in their hostility to the British in their attempts to wreck the ommonwealth, the con ommonwealth, the consequence on some lisastrous day will be, not peaceful separ-tion, but internecine civil war. When one goes on board a steamboat and ees the fire-buckets and axes, the life-boats nd life-preservers, and then reflects how sellom there is any occasion to use them, it seems like a waste of money—a provision against danger out of all proportion to the danger. The truth is, when such things are needed it is a matter of life or death things are needed it is a matter of life or death and the people realize that it is better to provide them ten thousand times where they may prove unnecessary, than to be without them once when they need them.

But no large company of persons journey through the world long before some of them feel the need of life insurance. Every year the shadows of death fall upon the homes and hearts of more or less. It is only reasonable precaution for all to insure. The cost of insuring is not so great that it deserves to be compared with the sad results to the families of those who die uninsured.

When Charles McCurran, the trainer, entered a cage of lions in Chicago on Sunday last the largest beast sprang through the door and landed among the spectators—a party that had been invited to a private view. Dr. Kelly and all the other visitors escaped into a loft above; but Mons. Joseph did not. He hurled a large iron bar at the crouching king of the forest, but it missed its aim. The lion's attention was, however, diverted by a Shetland trick pony, and at its throat he sprang. It was hastily decided to chloroform the beast. A hole was therefore cut in the floor, and two large sponges saturated with chloroform.

FULL GOVERNMENT DEPOSIT.

Hon. A. MACKENZIE, M.P., Ex-Prime Minister of Canada, President. Hon. A. MORRIS, M.P.P., and J. L. BLAIKIE, Esq., President Can. Landed Credit Co., Vice-Presidents.

The special features of this Company are its Tontine Investment and Semi-Tontine Investment Policies, and its Commercial Endowment Policy.

ITS TONTINE AND SEMI-TONGINE INVESTMENT POLICY

Combine in one form the greatest number of advantages attainable in a Life Assurance policy. They appeal at once to the intelligence of all who understand the principles and practice of Life Assurance. All policies, whether on Life or Endowment rates, are subject to no higher charge in Premium Rates in taking the "Tontine or Semi-Tontine Investment" form. The extra benefits of this class are conditioned only on the continuance of the policy for a certain specified term or Tontine period of 10, 15 or 20 years, selected by the insurer himself. Two things most desirable in Life Assurance are the CERTAINTY OF PROTECTION in case of early death, and PROFITS IN LONG LIFE. These are combined in the Tontine and Semi-Tontine Investment policies of the North American Life Assurance Company.

Dear Sir .- As requested by you, I have examined your "Book of Estimates" in relation to Tontine Savings' Fund Policies, as Dear Sir.—As requested by your company.

The assumed rates of mortality, interest and expenses upon which the estimates of probable results have been based, are less favorable than the experience among Canadian Companies would have justified, while the estimates of surplus are far within the results actually realized by other Companies issuing Iontine Policies, and hence may be anticipated with confidence. In brief, these estimates are, in my opinion, both safe and conservative.

Managing Director North American Life Assurance Co., Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sir.—I have carefully examined your new Commercial Endowment Policy and the leaflet explaining the same. You combine the economical features of insurance by natural premiums, by which the insured pays as he goes and gets what he pays for, with a small charge to secure an endowment payable at the end of the term selected.

In this way you avoid the necessity of accumulating large reserves, which of course must render Life Insurance more expensive and yet make the Company secure by the Endowment feature. The plan ought to attract business, as it is both economical and safe

What is Catarrh?

What is Catarrh?

From the Mail (Canada) Dec. 15.

Catarrh is a muco-purulent discharge caused by the presence and development of the vegetable parasite ameba in the internal lining membrane of the nose. This parasite is only developed under favorable circumstances, and these are: Morbid state of the blood, as the blighted corpuscle of tubercle, the germ poison of syphilis, mercury, toxemea, from the retention of the effeted matter of the skin, suppressed perspiration, badly ventilated sleeping apartments, and other poisons that are germinated in the blood. These poisons keep the internal lining membrane of the nose in a constant state of irritation, ever ready for the deposit of the seeds of these germs, which spread up the nostrils and down the fauces or back of the throat, causing ulceration of the throat, up the custachian tubes, causing deafness. up the nostrils and down the fauces or back of the throat, causing ulceration of the throat, the threat is the custachian tubes, causing deafness, burrowing in the vocal cords, causing hoarseness; usurping the proper structure of the bronehial tubes, ending in pulmonary consumption and death.

Many attempts have been made to discover a cure for this distressing disease by the use of inhalants and other ingenious devices, but none of these treatments can do a particle of good until the parasites are either destroyed or removed from the mucous tissue.

Some time since a well known physician of forty years standing, after much experimenting, succeeded in discovering the necessary combination of ingredients which never fails in absolutely and permanently eradicating this horrible disease, whether standing for one year or forty years. Those who may be suffering from the above disease should, without delay, communicate with the business managers, Messrs. A. H.
