Newspaper publishers have received notice from the Postmaster general that postage on newspapers mailed from the office of publication will be charged at the rate of one cent per copy. If this order is enforced it will mean ruin to many publishers as one half of the local papers would have to cease publication or raise the price of subscription at least 50 per cent. which a great many of sub-50 per cent, which a great many of subscribers would, no doubt, refuse to pay.

FOREST will likely lose the county fruit show this year for want of hotel accommodation. Since local option came in force the two hotels have been closed. A meeting of business men was called by Mayor Pettypiece to discuss the situation, when it was decided that the owners of the hotels be granted exemption from taxation for a term of years provided they open up. A deputation interviewed the hotel owners, neither of whom would take the matter into consideration. Consequently the fruit show will go elsewhere. Watford has plenty of hotel accomodation and would welcome the Fruit Growers to this town. Why not model the show here A meeting of business men was called by

A BIG DIFFERENCE

Department of Agriculture, Dairy Branch, Ottawa

A factory patron may think and even remark "I guess my cows average about as high a test as Brown's, so it doesn't make any difference whether I have them tested or not."

Let us examine that a moment. If a man is content with only a fair yield per cow, where is general improvement to come in? Surely we are not going to remain satisfied with what a neighbor's medium cows manage to produce! Will that not kill all ambition?

If it is found that in another section the average yield per cow is 150 or 250 pounds of milk higher, should not the endeavor be made to raise the standard of production for each of the poorer cows?

Again, the yield of milk may average the same at two different factories, but the average yield of fat may be four or six pounds more. So if there are only 200 cows sending to tenary Association, taking rapid hold the factory there would be a difference in the output of over fourteen hundred pounds of butter in one

> So it does make a difference what a patron's cows test. Why view with complacency any "average" herd, some cows of which give only small yield of milk testing only 2.9 or 3.1 when the herd might quickly 5 or 6 pounds more fat per month?

It makes a big difference to you personally as a live, up-to-date, profactory, and a difference in the possibility of increased output of your factory at a lower cost. It will pay you well to test each

GRAIN MIXTURE FOR DAIRY CALVES

The period of time from birth until the calf is four weeks old has been called the delicate age, and pains should be taken to see that it gets the first milk, or colostrum, which nature has prepared in a manner to produce a laxative effect and thus put the digestive organs of the calf into perfect working order. From one to six months may be called the skimmilk age, says Professor G. C. Humphrey, Wisconsin Agricultural college. The whole milk should be gradually changed to skimmilk during the fifth week and the amount gradually increased so that the calf will be getting fifteen to eighteen pounds daily by the time it is eight or ten weeks old.

During the time a calf is six to twelve months of age it is very much neglected. If this age occurs during the summer it is often turned to pasture and made to rustle for itself, which is a mistake. A calf is best off kept in a clean stable during the first year of its life, provided it is well fed.

The mixture of oats, fifty parts; wheat bran, thirty parts; cornmeal, ten parts, and oilmeal, ten parts, has been used at the University of Wisconsin for dairy calves for the past ten or Jersey cows will produce more profit for the feed consumed than any other breed in the world, says F. S. Delano in Rural New Yorker. They are persistent milkers, giving a good flow of rich milk and holding out well for ten or eleven months of the year. The breed as a whole, I think, will compare very well as to the production of milk for a year with their distant cousin, the black and white; also Jerseys are the handsomest cows on earth. The Jersey bull shown is a fine specimen of the breed.

skimmed milk should never be fed, as it will cause indigestion and scours, bloat or other troubles which follow. Calves should be separated or fastened in stanchions at the time they receive their milk and fed dry grain immediately after drinking the milk, which will tend to prevent the bad habit of sucking one another.

The stables should be cleaned regularly and kept dry.

In summer it is well to darken the stable to give protection from flies and to make it as cool as possible. Young calves should never be exposed to a hot, scalding sun. Watch calves and keep them free

Aim to do everything possible to keep calves gaining in live weight at the rate of 1.5 to 2 pounds daily.

WATER FOR LIVE STOCK.

Filtering Tanks Responsible For Many Cases of Disease. There is too much stagnant water used in summer on the farms of the corn belt, says the Iowa Homestead. It is an every day occurrence to find water tanks covered with a green scum, from which source comes the entire supply of water for cattle, horses and hogs.

It should be sufficient to simply call attention to the risk that is run in using this kind of water. Digestion troubles invariably result from this form of pollution, and it is all brought about thoughtlessly, though in some cases it may be the result of an attempt to mize in the water supply. The tank is not cleaned simply because the water must not be wasted at all haz-

A peck of lime in the bottom of a ten or fifteen barrel water tank will keep the supply sweet, though it goes without saying that all tanks sh be cleaned out every two or three weeks during the period of hot weather.

Diluted lime water is not injurious to any class of stock, but, on the other hand, the results of using it are often exceedingly beneficial, particularly so in the case of hogs. Lime is comparatively inexpensive and can be used in this way to very great advantage.

Give the Pigs a Run. Is it any wonder that pigs lose their thriftiness and constitution and become weak in the back with crooked egs when they are confined in an 8 by 10 pen that is cleaned but once a year and then only when the owner has time? Stop and figure the losses that result from pigs that do not do well and are squealing when they want to be comfortable and contented. The chances are all they need is the run of a nice clean pasture where they can leave their droppings to the benefit of the soil.

Storm Gods Storm gods in the mountains have ever been the inspiration of some of the world's best poetry and of fascinating legends in that literary store-house—Asiatic, Egyptian and classic mythology. All phenomena in nature, such as lightning, outbursts of rain, hail and snow in summits and ranges of peaks, all marshaling of huge mountain clouds for elemental war-earthquakes, cyclones, hurricanes, waterspouts at sea, huge waves beating over land as destroyers, outbursts of sulphurous and asphaltic flames from the earth, apparitions in the sky, as meteors, fireballs, bolides, comets, eclipses of the sun and moon—these all were supposed to be caused by an intelligence ruling each, and they were persons higher than man and called gods.—New York American.

Seven Ways of Spelling "E."

Dealing with some objections to spelling reform Mr. William Archer told the Society of Shorthand Teachers in London that there was not a single letter in the English language to which only one sound was attached, nor was there a sound which was rep resented by only one letter. If they took the "e" sound in "bed," they, he said, would find it spelled seven different ways in as many different words, for exactly the same vowel sound occurred in "head," "many," "leopard," "said," "says" and "pepper." When a child asked why "proceed" and "recede" were not spelled in a similar way, nobody could possibly give him a reasonable answer.

The word "sovereign," Mr. Archer said, was so spelled today because of its supposed connection with the word "reign." As a matter of fact, there was no connection between the two and the proper spelling was that which Milton used—i. e., "sovran."— London Spectator.

Systematic Birds.

"Doubtless," said the professor of natural history to the returned traveler, "you have picked up many strange bits of information regarding the animals and birds of the countries you have visited."

"A few," answered the traveler.
"The most interesting thing I ever heard, however, was a story I got in Africa. It seems that a year or so ago a representative of a rubber stamp house went through there and lost his sample case, containing all kinds of office stamping apparatus. It appears that some ostriches found his sample case, broke it open and swallowed the samples."

"I see nothing odd about that. Ostriches will eat anything."

"Yes, but now every ostrich egg that is found there is seen to be numbered and dated!"-London Tit-Bits.

Then the seat of the government was removed to Philadelphia, where it remained until 1800, since which time it has been in Washington.

Decimated.

We speak of a city or an army being "decimated" when we mean to imply that it has suffered from many fatalities. The term is taken-and taken wrongly-from an old and barbarous custom of punishing mutinous regiments, town defenders, etc., by killing one man out of every ("decimus" being the Latin word for "tenth"). Thus, unless we mean that precisely one person in ten was killed, our use of "decimate" is incorrect.

Weight Quality Measure

To be "on the square" is so essential in our life that only those who practice it can hope to win out. Squareness means friendship between a store and its customers.

On this rock of honesty has our growing business been built. You find sixteen ounces to the pound or eight quarts to the peck, in your purchases—the quality and value of our groceries are as sure as the rising sun. The high standard of our customers is a safe guide to our

It is nice to know with whom you deal, isn't it? We are always the same—the Square Deal Grocery.

ONTARIO FOR

Province Gives Government Ma-Jority of Fifty-Seven.

Overwhelming Support of Conservative Administration and Its Policies Is Voiced at Polls-Conservatives Have Eighty-Three Seats and Liberals Twenty-Six — Hon. Dr. Reaume Defeated.

TORONTO, June 30. - After a hard contest, in which the province evinced more enthusiasm on both sides than for many years, the voters of Ontario returned Sir James Whitney to power with a majority of fifty-seven seats. The latest returns indicate that the standing in the new House will be as follows:-

Conservatives ..... 83 Liberals ..... 26 Independent (Evanturel)

Total ...... 111 The standing in the last Legislature was:-

Conservative ..... 85

One Minister of the Crown was defeated in the person of Hon, J. O. Reaume, Minister of Public Works, who lost the convention nomination who lost the convention nomination in the new riding of Windsor and ran as an Independent Conservative. The straight line candidate, O. E. Fleming, was defeated and the seat went to Rev. J. C. Tolmie.

All the other Ministers were reelected with increased majorities.

The Liberal party shows a net gain of five seats in the old constituencies, and won three out of seven of the

The actual Conservative gains are: South Bruce, Haldimand, East Lambton, South Ontario, and North Went-ton, South Ontario, and North Wentworth—5.

The Liberal gains are: North Brant, South Brant, North Essex, South Essex, North Middlesex, East Ottawa, West Ottawa, West Peterboro, Prince Edward, and South Wellington—10.

The new constituencies which went Conservative are: Niggrap Falls Conservative are: Niagara Falls, Riverdale (Toronto), Parkdale (Toronto), and South Victoria.

The new constituencies which went Liberal are: Cochrane, Lincoln and read out of the party after the sensational episode of last session and who resigned his seat in the House.

For all the number of independent candidates, temperance, labor, socialist, and one anti-temperance, who appeared on nomination day ,only two outside of party lines were returned,

Evanturel and Allan Studholme (Lab., E. Hamilton).

There will be few changes of importance in the personnel of the House. Four of Mr. Rowell's followers in the last Legislature were defeated at the polls namely. Dr. Mc. feated at the polls, namely: Dr. Mc-Queen (North Wentworth), Messrs. McCormick (East Lambton), Ander-son (North Huron), Sinclair (South Ontario). Mr. C. Kohler (Haldi-mand) did not go up for re-election. The changes on the Ministerial side were much more extensive. Not a few prominent Conservatives retired voluntarily, and members like Messrs. McNaught (North Toronto), Pock (West Peterboro), Norman (Prince Edward), Galna (Parry Sound), and Ebbs (South Lanark), were defeated by the nominating conwere detected by the holmhard conventions. THUNDER BIRD

It Was Appropriately Named

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Dick Forsyth paced the earthern floor of the Chinese hovel which was his prison cell. Three weeks had passed since he and his little party of friends had been captured by the hostile natives. To his bitter amazement the others, Blakely, Dorr and Remington had managed to escape from their buts on that first night of imprisonment. and he bad not been taken into their confidence. He had been left behind.

Why? What had become of his servants He was almost certain that they had lost their lives in his behalf.

It was growing twilight, and b heard the conglomerate noises of the village dying down into silence. Two men were talking beneath his window. He knew enough of the Chinese language to gather words here and there and to piece them together into some sort of comprehensive fabric. It was a welcome diversion for him in his loneliness. In substance this is what Dick Forsyth heard: "Every night it appears in the west and hovers over our village. It presages disaster for us," said one gloom-"It is an evil bird conjured by the foreign devil," returned the other.

"I never saw a bird like it. It flew straight out of the setting sun, and its color changed from red to gray, and it vanished in the clouds, and while it flew there came down a strange roaring sound like the beat of thunder." "The thunder bird is larger than an

"It is larger than the house we lean against," muttered the other.

Dick Forsyth, idly skeptical and a little contemptuous of the credulity of the superstitious Chinese, looked out of the window into the flaming sunset. He had noticed many of the people gathered on a little mound near the temple, and he gathered that they were watching for the thunder bird.

THE SUPERSTITIOUS CORNER HURON AND MAIN STS. WATFOR

It could scarcely be an optical illusion if the entire village should witness its appearance.

Staring straight at the sun, his mind thousands of miles away from China. Dick forgot all about the thunder bird until he was conscious that a black speck floated against the red dazzle of the sun. It grew larger, and for an instant the sun was hidden from view. Then, painted with the sunset colors as it winged its way against the clouds, the thunder bird became rosy plak. Larger it grew, larger, and Dick had to strain his neck to keep it in view. At last it appeared to pass over the roof of his prison, and then he heard the muffled throbbing that had caused the Chinese to name it "thunder bird." He heard the yelps of frightened natives as they fled into their houses. He understood that the thunder bird had never approached so near before. had never appeared so appalling.

But Dick Forsyth was not afraid of the thunder bird.

He laughed aloud as it passed over his prison, and he even waved his handkerchief out of the window in the locked up?"

You will find relief in Zam-Buk! It eases the burning, stinging pain, stops bleeding and brings se. Perseverance, with Zamans cure: Why not prove this ? All Druggists and hope that the strange visitor might glimpse it.

The throbbing died away, and at last silence fell upon the village. There was no evening exchange of gossip, no twanging of rasping fiddle or nasal singsong of voices. The village of Pao Lao was scared into silence. Dick realized that his prison was unguarded. Now was the time to escape.

But should he venture forth yet? Was the time ripe? He sat and pondered that question over and over after the thunder bird

The moon arose from a pale cloud in the east and flooded the village with light. The shadows of the houses were sharp and black. The narrow street that was a filthy lane in the daylight took on a strange, mystericus half light. Somewhere a pariah dog barked. Dick took three steps toward the little window and paused. Out of the night came the distant throbbing of the thunder bird's cry. His guard, who had timidly returned to his post under the window, uttered a yelp of dismay. "Al yah!" he quavered. "'Tis the thunder bird! It is the friend of the foreign devil. We shall be destroyed." Dick heard the bars of the door slip aside, then the padding of the coward's footsteps as he scuttled back to "Saved by the thunder bird!" ejaculated Dick as he pushed open the door and stepped into the moonlit night. His first act was to pick up a stout stick from the ground, and his second was to try to locate the thunder bird, and then, seeing it flying as though it came straight out of the moon itself. Dick turned about and went to meet it.

It was still many miles away, and he had to leave the village far behind and to climb up and down many hills before he came within close view of it. It was flying low-perhaps a hundred feet above the ground-and the closer It came, although it grew larger and more awe inspiring, the more relieved was Dick Forsyth of the United States and Shanghai, China.

Dick jumped up and down and shouted. He tore off his soiled white linen coat and waved it frantically. He swore lustily in four languages as it appeared not to heed his calls. For an instant he was baffled.

Then he put his hands to his lips and forced all his waning strength into the bellowing roar of his college yell. There was a queer, siren-like response from the thunder bird. The thunder dulled to a purring throb, growing slower and slower until the thunder bird descended in lessening circles and flapped on the ground. The thunder bird was a grotesque creature. It had a wing spread of forty feet. Its wings were of canvas, its bones and tendons of steel and aluminium, and its feet were four rubber tired landing wheels. Yes, it was an aeroplane.

Moreover, it was an aeroplane familiar enough to Dick Forsyth, for it belonged to Benny Dorr, who had been one of the first foreigners in Shanghai to startle the natives with the sight of a flying machine. It was Benny Dorr's flying machine, and there was no doubt in Dick's mind that it was Benny who was dis-entangling himself from the driver's seat and coming toward him with extended hands.

This explained Benny's escape. He had gone away so as to be able to return and save his friend. But how about Blakely and Remington?
"Well, old chap, I might have missed

you if it hadn't been for that zip, zip, zip of yours," cried Benny tearfully as they wrung each other's hands. "I've been scouting around this God forsaken hole for two days now, hoping for a glimpse of you. Blakely has been hid-den in a ruined temple back of the town here to keep an eye on you. He was to rush in and clean up the town if they harmed you. Remington went back to Shanghai with me so that in case one of us dropped out the other could go through and give the word about these haughty Chinks! We got there all right, and I came back in this affair, thinking I might discover some way of aiding you to escape by its means. Remington is up there in the temple with Blakely, and they have a dozen husky, trusty men be-hind them in case you needed help in getting away. How is it you're wandering around here instead of being

In a few words Dick told him about the thunder bird and the evil name it had gained among the terrified Chinese. Then he went in to confess how bitterly he had resented the apparent desertion of his friends.

"I don't deserve this, Benny," groaned Dick as he gripped Dorr's

"Don't deserve it, eh?" laughed Dorr. "Don't you suppose we remember how you stayed awake two nights without a wink of sleep when we were taking that cruise in the south Pacific? Blakely and I were about all in, and you-oh, if you object to hearing your good deeds recited, why, don't wonder why we did it!

"Just follow the thunder bird. Good name, eh? I guess I'll call it that hereafter. Just follow the thunder bird and it will lead you to Blakely's temple. Here's a gun for you in case any of the natives get over their scare and attempt to interfere. So long,

In another moment the propeller of the thunder bird was buzzing merrily and the big machine was rocking over the uneven ground preparatory flight. Then it arose obliquely and flew toward the southeast.

Dick followed so closely in its wake that it seemed as though he vanished with the aeroplane into the night air. The thunder bird hovered a moment over the ruined temple before it descended to join Dick and his faithful

On a distant hillside above the village of Pao Lao a little group of Chinese saw a sight that filled them with superstitious awe.

They saw the prisoner, the foreign devil, walking along. They saw the thunder bird hovering overhead. They saw it plunge down and pick up the foreign devil and fly away with him to the moon.

Then, because the evil bird had apparently taken what it came after they lost their fear and went back to their homes relieved of their terror. Of course the thunder bird never came back to Pao Lao.

Most people would know what was meant by the term "bob" when speaking of money. But would they be able to say offhand what a "cob" is or was in a similar connection? It was used in polite circles in the seventeenth cen-tury, for it occurs in a letter from the Earl of Esser-So my wife go cob, for which she seemed very thankful"-printed in the new volume of the "Camden" series, the editor of which gives the information that the cob was "a piece of money the value of which varied from 4 shillings to as much as 6

A Most Irritating Brand Is Used In the Postoffices.

SENDING A PARCEL BY MAIL

Experience of an English Tourist Who With Joyous Confidence, Undertook to Perform What, Was Supposed to Be a Perfectly Simple Operation.

In all innocence and lightness of heart 1 set out one morning to send a small parcel to England from the town in Germany where I was staying. At the postoffice I was confronted by three booking office windows, each having a weird and formidable inscription over it. These inscriptions were not to be comprehended at a glance; so, not wishing to gaze up at them too long, I selected the least crowded window and handed over my parcel. It was promptly returned to me with a curt "Go to the next window!" It was just that window I specially wished to avoid, being the most crowded, but I waited my turn and then made another attempt. The official looked at me sternly.

"Have you the circulars?" he asked.
"No," I replied faintly.

He handed me three circulars, for which I had to pay a small sum and which I was requested to fill up. Picking up my parcel, I sat down to study those circulars. They were covered with instructions, the language used was magnificent, and the effect was so overwhelming that I found it difficult to grasp what I was instructed to do. If my papers were not filled up accurately it was not from untruthfulness, but owing to my limited German vocabulary.

By the time I had described the parcel, the gross weight thereof in grams and kilograms, the gross value thereof in marks and pfennigs and given a detailed description of each article contained therein, with its separate weight and value, I felt like an old inhabitant of that postoffice. I had seen, as it were, generation after generation of stamp purchasers come and go, and still I remained. As to the weights, my idea of kilograms was about on a par with my knowledge of definite integrals. However, I did my best. I guessed at the probable weight of the parcel and divided the articles into it.

At length I came to the end, and, feeling like a candidate at an examination, I gathered up my papers and the parcel and went over to the window. After waiting my turn I handed over the papers. The official glanced at them, then at the parcel, and frowned.

"Did you weigh the articles?" he asked sternly.

"Ya-a-a!" I stammered. "Then go home and weigh them again. You have put them down at half a ton!"

There was no help for it. With a sigh I gathered up my papers and went back to a secluded corner. After patiently reducing all the weights I again presented the papers. This time they were passed, and I was sent on to the next department, where I had to purchase and fill up another document. I was now getting into form, and this paper was soon dealt with

Then, with my heart beating fast, I handed over the parcel. It was once more returned to me. The official said he could not take it in that conditionit was insecurely made up.

Now, if there is one thing upon which I pride myself it is upon the neat way in which I turn out a parcel. So, smothering my indignation as well as I could, I assured him that it would be all right, that it was perfectly safe and that there was nothing in it which was breakable. He repeated firmly that it was insecure and that he could not take it. So I sadly collected my papers and the parcel and went home to dinner.

I spent all the afternoon trying to purchase a cardboard box of exactly the right proportions and some water proof cloth to wrap round it. I next procured a stick of sealing wax and a German seal, and by the time I had finished that parcel looked as if it were prepared to travel to the north

It was now getting toward evening. and I was feeling wearied after my day's work, so I besought my brother -a willing, guileless youth-to take it to the postoffice. He took it so inno-cently that my conscience reproached me for not having given him a word of warning. He was a long time gone, but that was to be expected. When I saw him come in my heart sank in despair.

"They won't take it like this," he said cheerfully.
I groaned and asked:

"Why not?"

"There's not enough sealing wax "Not enough sealing wax?" I cried

"No. You must put a blob wherever the string crosses and wherever there's

In desperation I seized the sealing wat and worked away until I had used it to the last speck and the par-cel was one intricate mass of string and wax. Then I conveyed it once more to the postoffice. It was now almost closing time, and the officials were in a hurry to get away. I handed over the papers and the parcel without a word.

Two minutes later I walked out of the postoffice with joy in my heart and a smile of satisfaction on my face. I had sent the parcel off.—London Family Herald.

ANCIENT MEDICAL HUMOR.

Specimens From the Rome of Nearly Twenty Centuries Ago.

That there was no lack of medical humor in the classic days of Rome is made sure by the ancient epigrams of Martial of nearly 2,000 years ago. The London Lancet shows that the poet bore a grudge against the specialists of his day, for it seems they had this variety of practitioners then and pokes fun at the oculists and at the surgeons who indulged in clinical teaching. Of the latter he has a patient complain in good Latin, and this complaint has been made over into current English: I lay ill, but soon Symmachus sought me With a class of a hundred young men, Whose hundred cold paws have brought

The fever I lacked till then.

The journal of the American Medical association calling attention to the medical ways of the ancient city notes that diseases due to luxurious habits had multiplied greatly in Rome. What was called gout-that is, pains and aches in joints and muscles and the vague conditions that we now call rheumatism-had also greatly increased. Pliny, who was an older con-temporary of Martial, says, "Gout used to be an extremely rare disease, not in the times of our fathers and grandfathers only, but even within my own memory." Although the gouty were usually rich and of luxurious habits, some of them evidently were not good pay. An evidence of this is thus given:

Diodorus, while he sues in court, On gouty feet can stand, But when the lawyer's bill is brought The gout sets fast his hand.

Masked Women

Upper class Swahili women wear curious masks, which are made of leather and beads on a wooden frame. The mask is derived from the traditional usage of Moslem women, who must keep their faces covered in the presence of men. For several centuries Arab traders have frequented this east African coast, and to their influence are due most of the civilized customs found today among the na-tives of the district. The clothing worn by these prosperous dames is of silk, their shoes are partly of silver, and they wear much silver jewelry. The Moslems in Zanzibar, by the way, are less fanatically strict about religious usages than their brethren in Morocco and Turkey.-Wide World Magazine.

Unless worms be expelled from the system, no child can be healthy. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is the best medicine extant to destroy worms.

McNally—Chapman

A most charming wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Chapman, Brooke, on Wednesday, June 24th, when their daughter, Annie Myrtle, became the bride of William James McNally, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. James McNally. Promptly at 11.30 the bride entered the parlor, leaning on the arm of her father, and took her place under an arch of evergreen and roses, where the groom was waiting. Rev. N. A. Campbell, pastor of the Inwood Presbyterian Church, read the marriage ceremony and Miss Gertrude Chapman, sister of the bride, played Logherin's wedding march. The bride was gowned in cream palette silk, with lace and rhmestone trimming, and carried a boquet of orange blossoms. After receiving congratulations and best wishes from the host of friends present all repaired to the dining-room where a dainty repast was served. The happy young couple left amid showers of rice and conjecti by automobile, accompanied by a few of their friends for Watford, where they left on the 3 o'clock train for Niagara, Buffalo and other eastern points. by a rew of their friends for Watford, where they left on the 3 o'clock train for Niagara, Buffalo and other eastern points, Guests were present from Petrolea, Wyoming, Watford, Bothwell, Thamesville, and Florence. #### Napier Garden Party

Napier Garden Farty

Napier, June 27.—A large crowd assembled on Dr. Sawers' fine lawn last evening for the annual garden party of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. Despite the threatening weather the gate receipts were the largest yet. The total amount taken in was $420. The grounds were beautifully lighted by electricity, which was a great comfort and pleasure to all concerned. The program consisted of selections by Eddie Pigott, of Toronto, the Imperial Quartet, London, the Highland Pipe Band, of London, and addresses by Rev. Mr. Kannawin, of Strathroy. Rev. Mr. Pharrel, of Alvinston, and Rev. Mr. Easson, of this place. W. H. Sutherland, of Toronto, acted as chairman for the evening, and his witty remarks kept the audience in roars of laughter.

A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Can Be Averted By Feeding the Starved Nerves With Rich, Red Blood

Nourish your nerves-that is the only way you can overcome life's worst misery, nervous exhaustion. The fits of depression and irritation, the prostrating headaches, the weakness and trembling of the legs, the unsteady hand and the imperfect direction that mark the victim of nerve weakness, must end in nervous breakdown if nead and in nervous breakdown if neglected.

Nourish your nerves by the natural process of filling your veins with rich, red, health-giving blood. Your nerves are crying out for pure blood and the mission of Dr. Williams Pink Pills is to make new, rich blood. This explains why these pills have proved successful in the property cases of nervous disease that why these pills have proved successful in so many cases of nervous disease that did not yield to ordinary treatment. For example, Mr. W. H. Weldon, Annapolis, N. S., says: "In the stremous life I have to follow the drain on my system was so great that my nerves became shattered, the blood -impoverished and my whole system undermined. I tried a number of so-called remedies without deriving any benefit. Finally having read so much about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I decided to try them. The result was beyond my expectation. I regained my energy; the blood and nerves were rebuilt; I lost the sense of constant tireduess I had felt and was filled with new life and energy. I have since used the pills with beneficial results in my family and will always have a word of praise for them."
