Rideau Hall to be Rebuilt

Canada's Governor General to Have a Palace Worthy of a King. Present Structure will be Replaced by an Immense Grey Granite Pile of Classical Design.

The government is arranging to make alterations and extensions to Rideau Hall, the residence of Canada's Governor General. The exterior is to be fairly changed. Tenders will be called early for the work. One hundred thousand dollars is available for it from the beginning of this year.

An imposing structure of classical design of grey granite will replace the present unimpressive structure. The brick facing of the hall room and tennis court, which form the two wings of the present building, are to be removed and replaced with granite walls. There will be a great entrance hall and promenade of one hundred feet long and one hundred feet deep.

The floor above will be divided into dressing rooms and toilet rooms for use of guests at balls and receptions. From the ground the hall will have stairs to a dome at the roof. There will be two elevators. At present there are none. A feature of the interior will be a magnificent marble stairway leading from the promenade to the floor above. It will take a year to complete the work.

At Lunenburg, on June 3, the Mayor was visited on a deputation of clergymen with a lengthy petition asking the Town Council to more effectively put the liquor law in force.

Factories for the Annapolis Valley

R. J. Graham, of Belleville, Ont., manager of the Canada Lands, Produce and Cold Storage company, announces his company's decision to build and operate a cold storage warehouse and plant on a site secured from the government at the Intercolonial terminus. The contracts for the construction have been let. He also announces that his company will build ten apple evaporating factories, a cider and vinegar factory and a canning factory for fruit and vegetables in Nova Scotia, all at a cost of sixty thousand dollars. Five sites have been given by the Dominion Atlantic Railway and the factories, he says, will employ fifteen hundred hands. They are to be completed by September first. It has been decided that Canning, Kentville, Kingston and Middleton are each to have an evaporating factory, while Kentville is also to have the canning factory and the cider factory. The buildings are to be of wood and cement.

DO NOT NEGLECT THE CHILDREN.

At this season of the year the first unnatural looseness of a child's bowels should have immediate attention. The best thing that can be given is Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy followed by castor oil as directed with each bottle of the remedy. For sale by W. A. Warren, Pharm. B.

Nova Scotia Wins Maritime Rifle Shoot.

Defeats New Brunswick by Eight Points. P. E. Island Team Twenty-nine Behind the Winner. The Individual Scores.

The inter-maritime rifle match between teams of eight from the provinces of New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia was shot last Thursday at Sussex, N. B. Nova Scotia was the winning team. Although the weather was fine the wind was tricky and somewhat affected the shooting. The scores made by the winning team are as follows:

Lieut. Christie	90
Pte. McLean	86
C. Sergt. Longueuil	84
Lieut. Miller	84
Capt. Bishop	89
Lt. Shaffner	86
Pte. Haystead	92
C. S. M. Harmon	73

The grand total won by the Nova Scotia team was 688; by the P. E. I. team 659.

The last time the match was held in Sussex was three years ago and as the Island team did not materialize the match was shot between the other two teams and New Brunswick won by three points. The Nova Scotia team made very good scores:

Pte. W. H. Semple, 78th	96
Capt. A. F. Pevrell, 63rd	90
Capt. S. Y. Wilson, 63rd	91
Pte. E. H. Haystead, 63rd	93

Baptist Association

The Western Association of the United Baptists of Nova Scotia met in annual session at Bridgetown on Saturday last, and continued till Tuesday evening. About ninety delegates were present. Rev. M. W. Gates, of Lawrencetown, was chosen as Moderator; Rev. H. G. Colpitts, as Secretary; and Caleb Cook as Treasurer.

Rev. W. H. Warren gave an address of cordial welcome to the delegates, and Rev. H. C. Newcombe responded. Letters from the various churches connected with the Association were read, showing a goodly measure of growth and activity. Some of these churches are pastorless, but efforts are being made to supply each vacancy.

A mass temperance meeting was held on Saturday evening at which stirring speeches were made by several temperance advocates. After the reading of an appropriate address was given by Shippy Spurr, of Melvern Square, in which he referred to the wonderful progress temperance principles have made in recent years. Rev. S. Langille, of Port Lorne, followed in his usual vein of humor and earnestness in dealing with the great social evil, denouncing the strong drink habit. Rev. H. C. Newcombe gave a strong and timely speech showing the splendid possibilities of Canada and the fearful consequences of our drinking customs. He indicated the duty of Baptists to lead in the reform movement—the movement toward national Prohibition.

The different churches in Bridgetown and surrounding country were favored on Sunday with sermons by preachers connected with the Baptist denomination. Rev. C. W. Ross, of Yarmouth, delivered an excellent Assemblies' sermon, emphasizing the social responsibility of Christianity workers. Sunday School addresses were given in the afternoon by Rev. E. O. Read, Rev. G. M. Wilson and Rev. J. W. Bancroft.

On Monday the work of the Association was resumed. Reports on Foreign Missions and Systematic Beneficence were taken into consideration and warmly discussed. A number of speakers took part.

The Report on Obituaries referred in touching words to the deceased during the past year of Rev. J. C. Morse, of Digby Neck, of Mrs. R. D. Porter, of Deep Brook, and of Mrs. Lunenburg.

Rejected Middleton's Application to be an Incorporated Town

The question of incorporation for Middleton has been finally decided for the time being, greatly to the disappointment of a majority of the ratepayers who voted for incorporation by 104 to 41, by word received from the government on Saturday that Middleton was not eligible according to section four of the Towns Incorporation Act to be incorporated. Two reports published respectively in the Halifax Chronicle and Herald give a vivid interpretation of the expression of feeling on the part of the opposing factions. According to the Chronicle:

"To say that the decision was received with enthusiasm puts it mildly. A large torchlight procession was formed at eleven o'clock at night. The Baptist meeting house bell and the school-house bell rang for half an hour, while the procession celebrated the approval of the decision of the Government by serenading the town. Amongst the procession were some sore-heads, but that was to be expected. The boys placed on Dr. Miller's flag staff a dark flag at half past to assure him that incorporation was a dead issue. Dr. Miller, as will be remembered, was the gentleman who on behalf of himself and the town of Middleton protested against incorporation on the grounds that it did not comply with section four of the Towns Incorporation Act."

This is the Herald's version:—"A most remarkable demonstration of popular indignation was witnessed here last evening when, amid jeers and hisses, the incensed citizens of Middleton burned Premier Murray in effigy on the town square. Could the premier have been present among the throng of indignant citizens who assembled to see the gibbeting and burning of his own grinning effigy, he would probably have been convinced that there were enough people in town to warrant incorporation after all. Never before has Middleton been so stirred, and Premier Murray is only the second personage to enjoy such distinction at the hands of staid Middletons. The other recipient of this treatment was Paul Kruger at the time of the South African war, when, in a burst of patriotic fervor, burned him in effigy."

"Citizens, irrespective of politics, gathered in knots to express their disapproval of the action of Premier Murray and the representatives of the county; and as they talked their indignation grew. About ten o'clock a procession was formed of all the prominent citizens of the place, containing liberals and conservatives in about equal numbers. Headed with a band and torch bearers, and carrying an immense effigy of Premier Murray, they paraded the town, while fire bolts and church bells tolled a lament." *****

"After the demonstrations before the residences of Dr. S. N. Miller, Councillor John Charlton, Dr. Sproule, Dr. Crocker, citizens constituting the opposition to incorporation, the procession proceeded to the town square. Here a scaffold was improvised, and to the immense satisfaction of the cheering crowd, the effigy was duly gibbeted and burned."

On Monday evening an interesting educational meeting was held addressed by Principal Mersereau, of Horton Collegiate Academy, Rev. Edwin Crowell, D. D., and Rev. I. W. Porter, general superintendent of Home Missions. A large audience was present.

Tuesday was given to the consideration of various reports, including those on Home Missions and denominational literature. In the evening a large gathering listened to the Circular Letter on the subject of successful churches, read by Rev. J. W. Bancroft. This was followed by a stirring address by Rev. I. W. Porter in relation to evangelical efforts at home.

Resolutions expressive of gratitude for the hospitality of the Bridgetown people, the helpful services of the choir, and the courtesy of the press in giving prominence to the work of the Association in their columns. The sessions throughout were highly interesting and the attendance was fairly large. Hereafter this body will be divided into two sections, namely, the Southern Association, embracing the counties of Yarmouth, Shelburne and Queens; and the Western, embracing Digby, Annapolis and Lunenburg.

The Canadian Horticulturist

The June number of The Canadian Horticulturist is replete with carefully prepared articles for fruit growers in all parts of Canada. Among the topics discussed are: "Orchard Tilings," "Whinnying Fruits on Trees," "Ripe Strawberries and How to Handle them," "The Currant and Currant Pests," and "Improving and Originating Varieties of Apples." Letters are published on fruit topics from special correspondents in the various provinces. A strong feature of the issue are fruit crop predictions based on the bloom this spring. Many other articles and items of interest to fruit growers are contained in its columns.

The section for vegetable gardeners is of much value. It contains articles on: "Transplanting Tomatoes," "Growing Cauliflowers," "The Culture of Celery," and "Cultivating the Market Garden." Vegetable crop reports from regular correspondents are published.

For amateur flower growers there is much practical information, including articles entitled: "Color Schemes for Formal Gardens," "Growing Salad Crops at Home," "Lawn and Garden Hints for June," "The Mixed Flower Border," "Mowing the Lawn," "Bedding Plants," "Rose Pests," "The Culture of Gladioli," and "Hardy Trees and Shrubs." An article of particular interest to ladies comprises recipes for cooking and preserving rhubarb and strawberries.

Among the well known writers who contributed articles are: E. D. Smith, M. P., Winoona, Ont.; W. T. Macoun, Experimental Farm, Ottawa; B. S. Pickett, Champaign, Ill.; Augusta Dupuis, Director, Quebec Fruit Experiment Station; Rev. Father Burke, Alberton, P. E. I.; G. H. Gordon, Vernon, B. C.; F. F. Reeves, Humber Bay, Ont.; William J. Wainwright, Montreal; H. H. Gros, Simcoe, Ont.; William Hunt, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Ont.; and Miss L. Shuttlesworth, Toronto.

Since the subscription price of The Canadian Horticulturist was reduced last fall from $1 to 50 cents a year, its circulation has greatly increased. Sample copies can be secured by writing to The Canadian Horticulturist, Room 25, Manning Chambers, Toronto, Ontario.

A five-year-old boy fell from a train that was running near London, Ontario, on Monday last. He was not hurt, and ran to rejoin the train, which his father meanwhile had had stopped. Before the boy reached the train an express passed along the parallel track upon which the youngster was running and knocked him down, passing over him. The boy immediately rose and continued running to meet his father. His head was cut and streaming blood, but he was not seriously hurt.

Although only twenty-three years old, Miss Edith Hemphill is postmistress of Allegheny, Penn., is the boss over one hundred and seventy-two men and supervises the distribution of mail to a population of two hundred and seventy-five thousands. She is also the auditor and cashier.

The Department of Agriculture is renewing this year its endeavors to improve dairying in Nova Scotia by means of practical lectures on milk production, cream separation and butter making, under the direction of competent lecturers.

Miss Belle Millar, of Ontario, and Frank Semple, of Colchester County, are now visiting Hants County, travelling in a newly fitted and equipped wagon bearing the sign "Travelling Dairy School," giving instruction to farmers, their wives and daughters.

The dates for Kings, Annapolis, Digby and Yarmouth Counties have been advertised by posters. Miss Millar spent last season in Nova Scotia and did grand work. The vehicle is a model butter factory, drawn by two fine horses, and is equipped with all necessary apparatus for the work intended to be done. Printed matter for distribution is included in the outfit.

PUZZLE CORNER

Dear Boys and Girls—
Isn't it pleasant to meet here in the Puzzle Corner every week? I am sure I am not alone in saying that of the mental work I do the solving of the puzzles is the most interesting. As for play there are so many pleasant things connected with play, I hardly know what I like to do best, but really I think a good old game of ball is nice exercise, pleasure and excitement combined. It is very nice playing games at school at noon or recess. I always feel more like working after a little exercise in the fresh air. I really must close now, but I hope to meet you all next week, as we girls and boys have risen to the important position of owning a column in the Monitor.

Yours truly,
"DAISY."
Age—15 years.

Dear Puzzle Editor—
I am a little boy eleven years old. I am very fond of play but I like to work as well. I help my father with the barn work, and I have learned to milk. I help take care of the horses, of which I am very fond. Their names are Dan and Nell. I often take Dan and go horse back riding. I think it great sport. Every night after school I help to saw and split wood. I go to school every day of my life. I am in the sixth grade. My studies are History, geography, reader, practical speaker, health reader and arithmetic. I always try to know my lessons. I am at the head of my class. My teacher's name is Miss Etter and she is very strict, but still we like her, and at noon and recess we play ball, marbles, joint the sail and policeman. But of all the games, I like policeman the best. Mr. Editor, I must thank you for Puzzle Corner. I take great pleasure in trying to find them out. This is all I can think of this time. Hoping I may stand a chance for the prize.

I remain,
Yours truly,
C. EMMERSON PARKER,

Annapolis Methodist District

Berwick, N. S., June 14.—The closing session of the Annapolis Methodist District meeting on Thursday evening was one of spiritual power. Rev. J. Craig delivered a fine address during the course of which he said that there was a needed revival of prayer. He was followed by C. Jost, D. D., who spoke on "Cardinal Manning's work," "Apologia," on his rejecting Protestantism and going over to the Church of Rome. The sacred writings are not given to us for doctrine, but to prove doctrine, and we should prove our opinions by the scriptures. He also remarked how important it was for young Christians to get on the right track. Rev. Messrs. Brown and R. P. Mack also gave very soul stirring addresses.

The review of the spiritual condition of the district was given by Rev. W. H. Langille. The membership had increased principally on the Aylesford, Bridgetown and Bear River circuits. Rev. Paul Prestwood was the only minister in the district who had died during the year.

Digby was the place selected to hold the district meeting in next year. The district was very helpful and also of great spiritual power. The following were elected to the different committees:
Stationing Committee—Rev. W. H. Langille, C. W. Whitman.
Epworth League—Rev. A. S. Rogers, Layman C. W. Hoffman.
Sabbath School—Rev. G. W. Whitman, Layman E. J. Veily.
Contingent Fund—Rev. D. B. Hemmings, Layman F. E. Bath.
Sustenance Fund—Rev. J. Phalen, Layman W. V. Vroom.
Temperance and Moral Reform—Rev. W. I. Croft, Layman C. Nichols.
Memorials and Miscellaneous Resolutions—Rev. W. H. Langille, Layman F. Bath.
Sabbath Observance—Rev. C. Jost, D. D., Layman H. J. Veily.
Church Property—Rev. R. B. Mack, Layman L. Best.
State of the Work—Rev. G. W. Whitman, Layman W. V. Vroom.
Nominating Committee—Rev. C. Jost, D. D., Layman J. Young.
Educational—Rev. W. H. Langille, Layman C. W. Hoffman.

The spiritual work of the different circuits, and reports were somewhat discouraging, yet the outlook for the future was bright.

A Family Tragedy.

Charlottetown, June 14.—The people of St. George's, Kings county, were shocked yesterday to learn of the near fatal accident which occurred near the farm of Michael P. McDonald of that place. It appears that three daughters of Mr. McDonald went out with their hired boy in a flat-bottomed punt for a row on the river, on which the farm is situated. After the boat had been pushed out a short distance from shore it upset in about nine feet of water. The smallest child, aged 12, managed to clamber up on the bottom of the overturned punt and grasp her eldest sister, aged 22, and at the same time had presence of mind enough to signal to the house, which was not far away, for help. In the meantime, the other two were struggling in the water, unable, it appears, to swim and beyond the reach of those clinging to the boat. Before help came to those where the accident had been observed the struggles of Justina, aged 29, and of the hired boy, were ended and only their dead bodies remained to be recovered. The other two girls were rescued in a very distressed and exhausted condition.

SMALLPOX EPIDEMIC AT NEW ROSS.

Bridgetown, June 13.—A widespread epidemic of smallpox is reported to have broken out in New Ross, and the proper precautions are being taken to confine the dread disease within the village. Dr. Reid, provincial health officer, notified Dr. F. S. Messenger, municipal health officer, to-day, and he in turn is actively investigating the case. Dr. H. A. March, chairman of the board of health of this town, has called a meeting of the board for this evening, when the necessary steps will be taken for the protection of the town.

DEAR PUZZLE EDITOR—
I think E. M. Fair's puzzles were quite the most interesting ones that have been published. I am sending in the answers to the first two and hope they are correct.

Appointed to King's College Agency.

Rev. Albert Gale has been offered and has accepted the agency for King's College in succession to the Rev. S. Weston-Jones, now doing S. P. G. work in England. Rev. Albert Gale is a graduate of St. Boniface College, Warminster, England, and came to Nova Scotia as curate to the Rev. Archdeacon Kaufbach, of Truro, N. S. Since leaving Truro he has been successively rector of Granville Ferry, Lunenburg, and Sydney Mines. At the latter place, his present charge, Mr. Gale was instrumental in the erection of a large new church in a central part of the town, and in the formation of a new congregation, St. George's, and the erection for its use of a mission hall at Sydney No. III colliery. Mr. Gale was largely instrumental in the formation of the Cape Breton Church Sunday School Association. His energy, zeal and genial manner combined should make him an admirable agent for the College. We understand that he hopes to visit every parish in the Maritime Provinces, and personally interview as many church people as possible. He will probably enter upon his new duties early in June. He will be much missed both at Sydney Mines and in the Archdeaconry of Cape Breton generally.

Baccalaureate Sermon

OLONO, Maine, June 5.—Showery weather ushered in the thirty-sixth annual commencement week at the University of Maine, Saturday. The baccalaureate sermon to the senior class was delivered by Professor W. Anthony, D. D. He spoke on "The Ideals of a Christian Society," and chose for his text Matthew xviii, 17: "Tell it unto the church; but if he neglect to hear the church."

Christian ideals are regulative of individuals, of institutions and of society as a whole," he said. "Christian society is fraternal. The second great commandment 'to love thy neighbor as thyself,' is the commandment to equalize, fraternize and socialize humanity. Such love breaks barriers, ignores distinction, obliterate caste and schism. The home, the school, the town meeting, the city government, the state legislature, the national laws and the national spirit, though they be as imperfect and reprehensible as the rankest critics may declare, are nevertheless better than they would have been had there been no Christian society."

A PROCESS SLOW AND LABORIOUS.

Sin is a real fact in society, and must be reckoned with. Any salvation to be complete must involve three remedial stages—salvation from the guilt, salvation from the power, and salvation from the penalty of sin. The guilt may vanish when the offended lawgiver and the offending sinner are at peace and this condition, be it a state of mind, aching of heart or a work of grace, may be attained instantaneously, but to break the power of sin, wrought into the very brain structure of the sinner, is a process slow and laborious, involving lapses, failures, defeats, notwithstanding repeated trials, efforts and endeavors; and this fact requires that the church shall hold within her membership and welcome to her care multitudes who represent not her ideals, but merely her grace and her processes. The Christian ideal is, however, redemptive. "Christian society is regulative, fraternal, redemptive. It holds forth these ideals, though from the nineteenth centuries past, yet modern and adapted to the needs of men to-day."

Agricultural Convention at Annapolis

(Specialist)
The Brown-tail Moth was the means of bringing together the most representative meeting of Farmers and Fruit Growers seen here for some time.
A large contingent from the Agricultural School at Truro, including Professors Cummings and Smith and accompanied by Dr. Fletcher, of Ottawa, made up a complete corps of instructors. They were met here by Thomas Peters, Esq., Deputy Minister for Agriculture for New Brunswick who was here to learn what measures were being taken to guard against the extermination of the pestiferous insect. Kings County farmers were well represented, though few specimens of the moth have been found in that County up to the present time. The Town Hall was opened for the use of the Convention, but it was soon found that it was not large enough to accommodate the crowd. A large number of the school teachers accompanied by their pupils, and the afternoon meeting which was adjourned from the Town Hall to the Academy of Music, after listening to the introductory speech of Dr. Fletcher. The principal work of the afternoon meeting was the reports of the gentlemen who have acted as inspectors and who have since its discovery pretty well covered the Western part of the Province and located the parts where it has been found. Professor Cummings, Professor Smith, Professor Sears, Messrs. Vroom, Brady and Read told of their search for Brown-tail nests. Professor Cummings also reported on the number of nests had been destroyed by school children for the three cent bounty offered.
Mr. Peters, of Fredericton, N. B., took the Nova Scotia authorities largely to task for not giving a larger bounty, and was followed by Mayor Owen, who was even more emphatic. The latter speakers were cheered by the school boys who had been out after the bounty.
The course pursued was then explained by Professor Cummings, and it was generally conceded the best under the conditions.
Mr. F. C. Whitman spoke on the possible danger of the moth to the forest trees, and suggested that the forest rangers be instructed to watch for any indications of it among our wild trees.
A large crowd again assembled at the Academy in the evening. Prof. Cummings acted as chairman and Dr. Fletcher was the speaker of the evening. His remarks dealt with many of the pests that fruit growers have to contend with in this country. The following resolution was adopted by the Convention:
Whereas this Convention views with alarm the introduction and spread of the Brown-tail Moth in this Province, which threatens two of our most important industries. Therefore resolved that this Convention heartily approves of the prompt action and work done by the Secretary of Agriculture and College staff, and request that their efforts be continued during the present season in such way as they deem best, and further, that the Legislative be respectfully asked to pass such legislation on the subject as experience may prove necessary.

Anti-Japanese Feeling in San Francisco.
TOKIO, June 10.—The council of the progressives at a meeting to-day adopted a resolution, the substance of which was as follows:—
"The anti-Japanese feeling upon the Pacific coast of the United States, especially in San Francisco, culminating in an assault upon Japanese trading places last month, constituted a most flagrant violation of the rights guaranteed by the treaty concluded upon an equal footing between the two nations.
"The attitude of our government towards that in Washington has so far been unsatisfactory to the nation, and it is necessary that proper steps should be taken by our government in order to maintain that national dignity and permanently ensure safety of the rights and property of our compatriots in America."
CLUB THE CLUBBERS.
(Yarmouth Herald)
During the past week we have received, as we suppose every other newspaper in this province has also received, a circular from the Mail and Empire, Toronto, and from the Montreal Herald and Star asking us to club our paper with theirs with the addition of 25 cents to our subscription price for the balance of the year.
Here is a work for our energetic and exacting new Postmaster General to inquire into. Why should he permit these papers to have the circulation through the mails at such a price. The complaint is made that the increased postage rate to the United States was imperative owing to the vast quantity of American papers passing throughout Canada. Did the postmaster general ever examine into the cost of carrying these enormous papers, such as the above, as compared with the small country weekly, at the same rate of postage?
Why should the Mail and Empire, which charges its "home" subscribers in Toronto $3 to $4 a year, be permitted to increase its circulation by the use of the mails of the country at the ridiculous charge of 25 cents for 7 months. These immense weeklies are becoming more and more advertising circulations, made so by the extensive circulation they acquire by the use of the mails, at the absurd charge of 40 cents a year. No wonder they get a large circulation. When the country newspaper proprietors get wisdom enough to understand that for every subscriber received in clubbing their paper with these big weeklies they are "burning the candle at both ends," they will hesitate about giving publicity to their announcements.

FATHER O'BRYAN'S FUNERAL.

J., and there was a large attendance of Jesuits and other clergy. The remains were interred in the private crypt of the Society of Jesus at Sault Au Recollet.

June Weddings: MULHALL-PARKER.

Hotel Spa was the scene of a very pretty home wedding on Wednesday evening, when about sixty guests assembled in the spacious dining room which had been decorated for the occasion. The persons most concerned in the event were both residents of Middleton. The groom was Fred A. Mulhall and the bride Miss Grace Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Parker.
Rev. M. W. Brown, of Lawrence-town, performed the ceremony, and was assisted by Rev. Joseph Gaetz.
The bride was gowned in cream cashmere trimmed with silk and she carried a handsome bouquet of bride's roses and maidenhair fern. Her travelling suit was of brown melrose with hat to match.
A bountiful repast was served to the guests. Later in the evening nearly one hundred boys did the honors in a serenade. They were also served with refreshments.
There were many handsome and valuable presents from friends in Middleton, Lawrence-town, St. John, Liverpool, Hantsport and Torbrook. The groom's gift to the bride was a solid silver tea service.
After enjoying their honeymoon trip visiting the points of interest along the South Shore, Mr. and Mrs. Mulhall will reside in Middleton.—Outlook.

HARRIS-STARRATT.

An event of unusual interest took place in the Baptist Church at Canby on Tuesday morning last, when Miss Minnie L. Kathleen, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Harris, was joined in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Harry J. Starratt, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Starratt, of "The Croft," Paradise, N. S.
The church was crowded with people long before the hour appointed, and the bride being well known and popular in Kings County. The church was a mass of flowers, the decorations having been the work of a host of friends of the bride.
The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, and was preceded by her bridesmaid, Miss Ethel Payzant, and a flower girl, Miss Alice Northup, daughter of Colonel Northup and niece of the bride. The music was furnished by Miss Mabel Potter. The ceremony was performed by Dr. T. A. Wilson, pastor of the Methodist Church, who was assisted by Dr. Goodspeed, one of the groom and Professor in State University, Texas. B. B. Loomer. The bride was suitably attired in a pretty costume of grey ladies' cloth with green silk trimmings. She wore a very charming hat with green roses and grey chiffon. She carried a large bouquet of white roses and carnations and made a charming appearance. Her bridesmaid wore a dainty gown of rose colored silk with cream lace and chiffon hat and roses of the same shade. She also carried a huge bouquet of roses and carnations. Little Miss Northup looked lovely in a dress of pale blue silk with blue silk and straw bonnet. She carried a basket well filled with white roses. Dr. W. H. Starratt, of Halifax, supported the groom.
Among the invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. Starratt, of Paradise, Dr. and Mrs. Goodspeed, of Texas, Dr. and Mrs. Percy Woodworth, and Miss Prue Woodworth, of New York. After the ceremony the wedding party drove to Kentville whence the newly married pair departed for Middleton, Mahone Bay, Yarmouth, and other points on the Halifax and South-Western lines.

CARDINAL ON MOTHERHOOD.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Cardinal Gibbons in an address at the commencement exercises of the St. Cecilia Academy today told the girl graduates: "You must save this country from irreparable injury by sanctifying and making pure the home. Most women's sin upon this earth is to become wives and mothers as well as daughters, and when they take up their new life they become the rulers of the home. Without a home circle, pure and sacred, no nation can become great."

Last Sunday was observed as "Children's Day" in the Baptist Church. In the morning the pastor, Rev. L. A. It was very interesting and showed much care and patience in its preparation. A number of new members were also added to the Band, and yet there is room.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The address of welcome which the Ottawa City Council presented to His Royal Highness Prince Fushimi at the city hall last week referred to the warm friendship existing between Japan and Great Britain and trusted that the alliance might long continue.

"You will note," says the address, "that on the thousand miles of lakes and rivers forming the boundary line between the great American republic and ourselves there is a total absence of ships of war and in the remaining two thousand miles lying along the parallel which forms the boundary line to the Pacific coast, there are neither fortifications or evidence of defence.

The Presbyterian General Assembly following the lead of the Methodists, has decided to appoint a standing committee on temperance and moral reform, with a special agent to devote his time to the work. This is another recognition of a growing sense of responsibility in the church with regard to the social life of the people, and those evils which are the most powerful in opposing the growth of true religion.

"I never saw the west look better, and crop prospects are splendid. An abundant harvest is assured. If the remainder of the season continues normal," This, says the Toronto Globe, was the opinion of D. B. Hanna, third vice-president and general manager of the Canadian Northern Railway, who has just returned from two months' work in the west, during which time he inspected the wheat area of a considerable portion of the country.

The situation in Ireland appears to be more serious than for some years past. The spread of the agitation against the graziers, which has for its object the abandonment to the people of the rich grazing lands, has become so general in some sections as to overtax the resources of the local constabulary. Moreover, the Irish parliamentary party has decided to oppose the government most vigorously, in and out of parliament, in order to keep Irish affairs continually to the front.

It is officially announced that the gypsy or "brown-tail" moth now occupies about twenty-five square miles in Rhode Island. At this rate the conquest of the State is only a matter of a short time. This is a warning to the fruit growers and farmers of Nova Scotia that the pestiferous insect must be fought to the death.

The devotion of large fortunes to helpful purposes grows in favor in the United States. It is understood that a school in which women and girls shall be instructed in housework, trade, or any business suitable for women which shall enable them to earn an independent and honorable living and teach them the nobility and dignity of industrial labor," is provided in the will of Frank B. Cotton, a banker, of Brookline, Mass.

Annisley Westwell has been committed for trial at the full session of the Supreme Court on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of his father, Henry Westwell, of Anturadale. His mother, Mrs. Besie Westwell, has also been sent up, as she was shown to have been implicated in the case.

SPURR-GIBSON.

A pleasant wedding was celebrated at the Anglican church, Dalhousie West, on Wednesday, the 12th inst, when Leona Gibson was united in marriage to Stanley Spurr, of Perotte. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Beke, of Round Hill, the Pastor of the church, and Miss McMillan, of Annapolis Royal, and Miss Hazel Gibson, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaids. The groom was supported by Wallace Goldsmith. After enjoying a wedding luncheon at the home of the bride's mother, the happy couple drove to North Williamston for a brief visit to the home of the bride's aunt. Mrs. Spurr has long been the organist in the church in which she was married and was remembered by the congregation in a substantial way. Many handsome presents of cash and silver were also tendered to her popularity.—Spectator.

Obituary.

RICHARD SHIPLEY.

Richard Shipley passed away at his home on Thursday, 13th inst. Although for fourteen years an invalid, and a large portion of that time crippled in his lower limbs, Mr. Shipley continued to attend regularly his place of business until within a few weeks ago when a stroke of paralysis confined him to his bed. He was always cheerful and uncomplaining and was a faithful and consistent adherent of the Church of England. About three years ago Mr. Shipley married Miss Bird, a Liverpool lady, who has devoted herself to his care and comfort and who has the satisfaction of knowing that his declining years were made happier and easier through her assiduous attention. Mr. Shipley leaves also an aged mother, eldest daughter of the late John Mills of Granville Ferry, who is now left childless by his death, her only other child, a daughter, having died seventeen years ago while in her girlhood.

The business of which Mr. Shipley has been the head for a period of thirty years, coming into it as an inheritance five years before he reached his majority, was established in 1850 by his great-grandfather, James Shipley, who came here from Leicester, England, after some years of business experience in Halifax and later on the South Shore. Here he opened a small shop on the site where the present one now stands, and in a few years built the large shop with the hall in the second story known as Victoria Hall. On his death in 1863 the business passed into the hands of his son, William, who married Susan Gilliat, daughter of the late William Gilliat of Granville Ferry. One of his sons, James Shipley, father of Richard, on reaching manhood was associated with his father in the business, but died before his father, so that his son Richard came into the inheritance in natural sequence. The business was originally principally of groceries, flour and heavy feed, but for many years hardware, paints and oils have been the leading lines. After over half a century in the same family name, this well known business, now the oldest established in Bridgetown, will probably pass into strangers' hands, the last accession of the male heirs of the family having passed away.

WILLIAM LEGGE.

At his home, on Thursday noon, the death occurred of William Legge, after a lingering illness extending over several months, during which he was quite helpless, though suffering little pain. Mr. Legge has been a resident of Bridgetown for twenty-one years, during which time he has been engaged in the harness making business. Before coming here he spent about the same number of years in Berwick, and was a native of Halifax, having also married there. Miss Mary Alice Weatherbee, who with nine children (four sons and five daughters) survives him. Four other children of this union died in childhood. The surviving sons are Alfred, residing in Brockton, Mass., Bert, in Stoughton, Mass., Clayton, in Worcester, Mass., and Evelyn, at present conducting his father's business here. The daughters are Mrs. Charles Kelly, of New Ross, Mrs. Staples, of Brockton, Mass., Mrs. Oliver Ruffee, of Bridgetown, and Misses Susie and Annie residing at home. He is also survived by one brother, Samuel Legge, of Middleton. His father, Charles Legge, died in Middleton at the advanced age of 93, about three years ago.

Mr. Legge was an industrious and estimable citizen, and of an amiable hospitable nature, which greatly endeared him to his friends and family, by whom he will be sadly missed.

Whitman, chief forest ranger for Annapolis County, has handed us a bulletin issued from the office of the Superintendent for Suppressing the Gypsy and Brown-tail Moths in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, which contains much information that would interest our readers and from which we shall publish extracts in a future issue.

The funeral of William Legge took place on Sunday afternoon from his late residence, and that of Richard Shipley on Saturday afternoon from St. James Church. The barn was insured for three hundred dollars and is said to be worth about five hundred dollars. There was no insurance on the machinery it contained.

Another action between the same parties to recover thirty dollars, balance due the purchase of a horse, was also tried and judgment reserved. The leaves but one more case on the civil docket for trial, viz: Reed and Jones vs. Hughes, which will be taken up after the criminal cases are disposed of. This morning the court will deal with the criminal cases.

John's Mother

(Any Whistle, in the 'Christian World'.)

"So poor Batson has come to grief at last, I see," commented John Spencer, glancing over the list of bankrupts in the morning paper, he was scanning, while his wife poured out the coffee.

"I'm not surprised at that, dear," said Mrs. John.

"No, indeed," interrupted Mrs. John's mother—a lady who tried not to presume on the privilege of being a major's widow—nothing better could be expected of a man saddled with such relations. I'm sure I pitied Laura Nettleton when she married him.

John frowned slightly and threw his paper aside.

"Unfortunately a man cannot choose his relations or the station in life in which he shall be born," he remarked grimly.

"Now, John, don't be cross," pleaded Alice, his wife, with a coaxing smile and a light touch on his arm. "Mother didn't mean anything, and you know you are really glad you haven't an impossible mother like old Mrs. Batson, and a swarm of common relations, they drag a man down so you know you told me yourself."

"That I rose in the world from a very poor beginning," interrupted John with the frown growing blacker.

"I wasn't referring to that, John," replied his wife, quickly, "only to your being able to win your way much easier, having no one but yourself to consider."

"No impossible mother," put in John again, then with a short laugh, "what is the matter with me this morning? Live, perhaps—forgive me, little woman, and let me have a look at the boy before I go—I must be in town early to-day."

Ten miles from John Spencer's suburban villa, but slightly out of the main track to town, was a little struggling village, just a row or two of cottages, a Wesleyan chapel, a public house, and at the corner a small—very small—general shop.

Next door to the general shop was a cottage somewhat better than the rest—that is, the paint was fresher, the curtains whiter, the little garden in front trimmer, and the path newly gravelled.

A little old woman lived there, having retired from keeping the general shop many years ago, and to-day was to be the grandest day of her life. Even her wedding-day, more than forty years ago, had not been waited, watched and dressed for as this had been.

Liddy Bagges—the small maid who helped in house-work—had assisted her to put on her best "merino" gown, had seen that her velvet bonnet was straight above the smoothly-folded grey hair, had adjusted the new mantle John had sent her, in the neatest possible manner, had made sure she had her gloves and handkerchiefs and had none fallen back a step or two to realize the effect.

"Will it do, Liddy?" asked her mistress anxiously.

"Do! Yes, if you was a duchess a-goin' to call on er Majesty 'twould do!"

"'Tis nearly three, mum," said Liddy, with her eyes on the clock; don't 'ee think I might just peep 'roun' th' corner? I could spy th' kerriage ever so far off an' come an' tell 'ee."

Without waiting for a reply, Liddy sped down the stairs, through the garden, and was in safe hiding in the doorway of the general shop, from which point of vantage she could command the long straight road that lay before her.

Presently the anxious watcher in the cottage heard the muffled steps returning.

"'E's comin', 'm, but there ain't no kerriage! I 'spected 'tis comin' arter 'um. Then, after a pause of a minute or two, 'Missus is quite ready an' waitin' sirl! She's upstairs."

A man's step on the stair, a tall figure bowing his head to enter the low doorway, and John was there—her John, her only son. He stooped and kissed her.

"As you please, John," answered his mother in a dull, even voice, beginning with trembling hands to unfasten her bonnet strings. "I've no wish to push myself, an' would 'ee mind as you go down stairs tellin' Liddy I've thought better of goin' out to-day, so she can't go home as I promised."

John laughed at himself as he crept softly down stairs and delivered his mother's message; it seemed so like the penance she had devised for him in his childish days, and Liddy's reproachful gaze followed him to the garden gate.

"You ain't took bad, missis?" asked Liddy, peering round the bedroom door a moment later, her round eyes full of wonder.

"No, thank 'ee, Liddy. I ain't bad. Mr. John thought I'd better not go to-day, 'e ain't properly prepared. Will 'ee unhook my mantle—my fingers is all thumbs, I think, an' my

Bowel Troubles

Liver pills, cathartics, mineral waters, often make Constipation worse. They merely irritate the bowels and force them to move—stop taking purgatives and the bowels become "tight" again.

"Fruit-a-lives" are the one certain cure for Constipation because their action is upon the liver. "Fruit-a-lives" are a liver tonic. They stimulate the secretions of bile by the liver, this bile causes the bowels to move in the natural, regular way and completely cures Constipation.

"Fruit-a-lives are fruit juices with tonics and antiseptics added. In "Fruit-a-lives" one atom of bitter replaces one atom of sweet in the fruit juices, forming a new compound which is many times more active, medicinally, than the fruit juices could possibly be. eyes are dull." John's mother sank into a chair and feebly searched for her handkerchief.

Liddy Bagges found it for her and discreetly retreated to the window that 'missis might have a good cry.' But suddenly the girl's eyes sparkled, and her small face broke into ripples of smiles. Down the road in the opposite direction from the general shop came a lady on a bicycle.

"Oh, an' cried Liddy, joyfully, 'don't take off yer best frock—ere's th' lady as was with the other lady as felk off her bicycle that day, an' you best yer elves brush! an' s'peel er clean er dress. You mind 'er in'—the other lady—th' young married one—chatted with 'er an' 'ow she promised she'd come again, an' she 'as. She's stoppin' at th' gate—she's wheeling 'er bicycle in—"

"Run, Liddy, run child!" cried her mistress, hastily wiping her eyes, 'let th' lady in, an' put 'er in th' parlour—tell 'er I ain't very well, but I'll be down directly."

This message Liddy duly delivered to a bright faced young lady, who received it most sympathetically.

"I'm sorry she's poorly," she said, "what is the matter?"

Liddy Bagges lowered her voice to a mysterious whisper.

"Taint illness 'xactly, mum—'tis 'er son, Mr. John."

The lady asked no further questions but sat waiting till the door opened, and her hostess entered. A comely little old woman in a black morning dress of old fashioned cut, and her grey hair folded neatly away under an old fashioned cap. The smile with which she greeted the lady was a brave attempt to be cheerful, and there were traces of tears in her faded blue eyes.

"Oh, you are looking poorly!" cried her visitor impulsively.

"No, I ain't really ill, only—"

"Troubled about something? And that's a great deal worse," said the bright-faced lady; "now come and sit down in this comfortable chair, and I'll sit by you, and perhaps you'll let me help you a little—you were so very kind to my friend and me when we were in trouble the other day—do let me try?"

The lady was so pretty, her voice so sweet, and her smile so winning, that before John's mother knew what she was doing she had told her enough to make her wish to hear more.

"Your son was going to take you for a drive, and he didn't—that's very provoking," commented the lady.

STRUCK BY A TORNADO.

DUQUIN, Ill., June 8.—A tornado last night struck Duquin and wrought excessive damage to residence property and crops. The winds swept over the residence part of the city, uprooting trees, lifting roofs and carrying several houses of their foundations.

rather astonished at so small a cause for so much misery. "Never mind, I'll bring a carriage and take you myself."

"Thank 'ee, my dear, but you don't understand. 'Tis ever so much worse than that," faltered the old woman, and, in spite of her heroic efforts, one tear crept down her cheek.

The lady wiped the tear away and stroked the small, wrinkled hands. "You know we are quite strangers," she said, "you don't even know my name, nor I yours. Can't you tell me the trouble? I won't whisper it to a soul."

"Why, my dear, 'tis a poor little story enough, an' yet it means a deal to me. I come o' nothin' but workin' folk myself, so 'tis wonderful to me that John—my son—should 'ave got on 'till 'e can mix with th' best. I didn't seem to feel it as long as John was single, but all t'once 'e came across—at th' 'ouse o' one of 'is grand friends—a young lady as 'e set 'is 'art on marryin'."

It turned out her mother was uncommon proud, an' 'ad brought 'er up th' same—she's wonderful sweet an' pretty, John says—but 'd some trouble to 'king the mother round to 'is way o' thinkin'—comin' o' what 'e 'ad—so when they took it into their 'eads 'e was a real orphan 'e let it go at that, an' 'now 'e don't know 'ow to tell an. 'E promised 'd fetch me to-day, but it seems 'e couldn't find th' opportunity to speak about it."

"He has been cruel—cruelly!" burst out the lady, wrathfully.

"Oh, no—no—after all, ma'am, 'tis my selfishness," pleaded John's mother, "if I 'adn't set my 'art on seein' 'is wife an' little Johnny—just think, 'e's eight months old, an' I've never set eyes on 'm—an' 'is other granny that all th' time—all 'e've seen 'is picture an' a card of 'is netty."

"May I see it, and the picture?" asked the lady eagerly.

"Surely, ma'am—there can't be no 'arm in that," answered John's mother, anxious to exhibit her treasure.

Out of an inside pocket she took a faded leather pocket-book; with trembling fingers she slipped off the band and unfolded its contents. A photo of a man, another of a child, a tiny ring of silken hair. The lady took the pictures one after another, and lastly the curl, she let it lie, a golden ring in her white palm. She kept her head bowed over them a minute or two, and when she lifted it, two bright spots burnt on her cheek, and her brown eyes shone through tears.

"I have a baby at home, too," she said abruptly, "the sweetest darling! but that's all. If I bring a carriage to-morrow afternoon will you come and see my boy?"

"If you'd like me to, ma'am," said John's mother, with some hesitation.

"Yes, yes, you must promise me," said the lady, bending tenderly over the old woman, "and I will not fail you." John's mother promised.

All the next day John Spencer was thinking of something he had not done, and felt poor and mean in consequence. "Impossible mother nonsense! A hasty, foolish word he should have taken no notice of; he was a coward, a poor spirited weakling, whom he thought himself a strong man, no search seemed hard enough to hurt at himself. He would go home and tell the story, and set things right."

When he reached home he sped up the stairs, and stood for a minute in a little ante-room leading to the drawing room. Hearing voices, he peeped between the dividing curtains, and seeing—he knew his work had been taken from him, it was not allowed him to set things straight.

In a low chair sat an old woman in a stumpy black gown, and a cap of lace and purple violets, on her lap was a laughing, chuckling baby, clasping in his chubby hands a woolen sock-knot. Sitting close by was the major's widow in gracious conversation with the visitor, and kneeling by their side, her face radiant with smiles, was Alice, his wife.

John parted the curtain and stood inside. Alice was the first to speak.

"Oh, John, John," she cried, "how could you think so badly of me! As if mothers could ever be "impossible." It is dreadful; we don't deserve to have Johnny."

"I am astonished, Mr. Spencer," interposed the Major's widow in severe accents, "that you should have deprived us of the pleasure of your mother's society for so long a period."

"The Lord drew us together, we next knowin'" put in John's mother, timidly. "Kiss me, John, an' say you're glad."

Shelburne Progressing.
SHELBURNE, June 7.—Shelburne has done two good strokes of business this year. The first was when it became incorporated some weeks ago, and the second when it decided to form a board of trade.
While the meeting to consider the question of organizing a board was not largely attended it was a representative gathering. N. W. White, K. C., was appointed chairman, and T. Walter Magee, secretary. The following committee was appointed to gather as much information as possible as to the organization of such a society and to report at a meeting to be held one week later: E. J.
Young, Joseph McGill, Charles S.
McGill, George A. Cox and Robert Irwin, M. L. A. Probably the chief work of the board will be to work up a tourist trade for this section, which is undoubtedly one of the best spots in the maritime provinces for a summer resort. We have everything here that tourists desire—beautiful scenery, boating, bathing, fishing, hunting, etc., etc., and all that is necessary in order for us to do a big business is to make our attractions known. In the past Shelburne has not exerted itself in the least in any efforts to get the tourists here, but now the town feels that the time has arrived for action, since there is connection with the outside world by railway.

We are looking forward eagerly for operations to commence on a long promised post-office, and it now looks as though work will soon be commenced, as tenders have been called for. Does this mean an election?
Three vessels are in course of construction here at present, and all our boat shops are filled up with orders.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

It will come as a surprise to most Canadians to be told that one voter in every ten in the State of Massachusetts was born in the Dominion of Canada; yet that is the statement made by so reliable an authority as the Boston Transcript. Is it therefore any wonder that the politicians of that State are interested in trade relations with Canada, and that it is a regular issue in the gubernatorial campaigns?
"I sang Escamillo with Zelle de Luzan in 'Carmen,'" he said, "and I was in all the important operas of the Boston Ideal. Then I was with the Royal English Opera company in London. My wife, from whom I am divorced, is Virginia Cheron, formerly of the Opera Comique, Paris." Then he was led out, singing at the top of a rich, powerful voice. When searched several large coils of twine and nearly twenty bags of cigar ends were found in his pockets. He said he had been living lately in a furnished room at No. 7 Bank street.

SYDNEY MINES, June 9.—A high noon yesterday the station house of the Intercolonial railway at this place was broken into, and every dollar, with the exception of seventy-one cents and a five-cent piece was taken therefrom. The booty of the thieves amounted to over $90. No trace of the robbers has been found. All employees were at lunch at the time of the robbery.

TWO KILLED, 11 INJURED
ON WABASH RAILROAD.
WASHINGTON, Pa., June 8.—Two were killed and eleven injured in a crash on the Wabash railroad, one mile east of Hickory, yesterday, when the Toledo express, west-bound, crashed into a coal train on a siding, telescoping the smoker and a Pullman car. The flag man of the coal train, who is said to be responsible for letting the passenger train in on the siding occupied by the coal train, disappeared immediately after the crash.

AVON SAXON
MENTALLY UNBALANCED.
New York, June 6.—Singing his way to jail, Avon Saxon, who said he was once a baritone with the opera company known as the Boston Ideal, asked Magistrate Breen in Jefferson Market Court to send him to Black-well's Island for one month with the option of taking another. If he blotted it. His request was granted. Saxon was arrested while acting strangely in Sixth avenue and made his request after the magistrate had indicated a willingness to discharge him. He was well dressed and carried himself with dignity.

"I sang Escamillo with Zelle de
Luzan in 'Carmen,'" he said, "and I was in all the important operas of
the Boston Ideal. Then I was with the Royal English Opera company in London. My wife, from whom I am divorced, is Virginia Cheron, formerly

Joker's Column
A PUN THAT FAILED.
At a public dinner a careless waiter stumbled when bringing in a boiled tongue. The tongue slipped over the edge of the dish upon the tablecloth.
"Never mind," said the chairman cheerfully, "it's only a lapsus linguae"
(slip of the tongue.)
The joke was received with a burst of laughter. A gentleman present, who had no knowledge of Latin, yet saw what boisterous merriment it caused, secretly determined that he would repeat the whole performance at his next little dinner party at home and give his guests a great laugh at his expense.
The occasion arrived. There was to be a leg of mutton, and the host had instructed the waiter to let it fall when coming in. The waiter did so, to the great dismay of the guests.
"Oh, never mind," cried the host,
cheerfully, "it's only a lapsus linguae."
To his great disgust and astonishment, however, nobody seemed to see it, and now he is suspicious that something must have gone wrong somewhere.—Pearson's.

CORRECTED.
Little Harold had been directed by the teacher to write the word, "lolly."
"I can't," said Harold, "cause my pencil's busted."
"Why, Harold! What did you say was wrong with your pencil?"
"It's busted."
"Be quiet! Children, can any of you tell what Harold means? I'm sure he hasn't used the right word."
Up went the hand of little Marjorie.
"Ah, Marjorie, dear, I thought you would know. What does Harold mean?"
"His pencil that hit pencil it's buthlicated."

FOOD FOR REFLECTION.
(From the New York Tribune.)
The Dundee Advertiser tells a story of a country cleric, still on the under side of 40, who was driving home along a road from an outlying hamlet, when he overtook a young woman.
He recognized her as Mary, the maid of all work at a farm which he would pass on his way to the rectory. So he pulled up and offered her a lift. Mary was nothing loath, and the parson was glad of her company.
All the way to the farm gate they chatted pleasantly, as country people do, and when her destination was reached he set her down. Then she thanked him for his kindness, and his company. "Don't mention it, Mary," said the parson, "I don't mention it," as he pulled up the rug around his knees and gathered up the reins. "No, I won't," answered Mary, in an obliging tone. The young rector went on his way thoughtfully.

WELSH PRONUNCIATION.
Few people outside Wales are able to master the pronunciation of the Welsh. At one time an Englishman, appointed bishop to a Welsh see, engaged a native Welsh scholar to instruct him. The bishop entreated his teacher to explain the lingual process to a correct utterance of the torrid sound. The Welshman was at his wit's end but at last what he considered a brilliant art thought struck him.
"Your lordship," he said in his most obsequious manner, "please put your episcopal tongue to the roof of your mouth and then hiss like a goose."
"Christian Register."

AS SHE UNDERSTOOD IT.
"I'm so happy," said Mrs. Oldcastle. "My son is to get his bachelor's degree this year."
"Is he?" replied her hostess. "Well,
I can't blame you for feelin' as you do about it. I never thought much of that snippy Wilson girl's been goin' with. How did you get the match broke off?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

HE'S A PRODIGY.
"That boy of Smith's who is just home from college is a wonder."
"Is what way?"
"Somewhat asked him the other day about the easiest and quickest way of settling the pressing problems of the time, and he said he didn't know."—Baltimore American.

PARKER-GESNER.

A very pretty church wedding was solemnized at the church of St. Mary, Belleisle, on Wednesday evening, the 12th inst, at 7 o'clock, before a large and interested audience, the Rector, Rev. E. E. Underwood, officiating. Mrs. Lyle presided at the organ and gave a fine rendering of the wedding march. The contracting parties were Miss Laura A. Gesner, daughter of Robert P. Gesner, and John O. Parker, of Karsdale. Precisely on the hour, the bride elect walked up the aisle on the arm of her cousin, L. D. Gesner, who gave her away. She was attended by her sister, Miss Blanche. The bride was beautifully attired in white organdie with conventional veil and carried a beautiful bouquet. She was met at the altar by the groom, who was attended by James Thors. Absolute silence prevailed while the solemn and impressive ceremony of the Anglican Church made them husband and wife. The chancel of the Church was beautifully decorated with apple blossoms and looked very pretty. The bride was one of Belle Isle's fairest and most popular young ladies, a general favorite in society and a consistent and devoted member and worker for her church, from which she went out a bride. Mr. Parker is one of the popular and rising young farmers of the Valley. Mr. and Mrs. Parker will reside at Lower Granville on the homestead farm with his parents, Captain and Mrs. William Parker. May many years of joy and happiness be counted to them.
