Norman Berry, continuing across property occupied by Edwin E. Wade, following the course of Edward Knowles' well-line until it comes to the back street, the report of William Amberman and Frank Troop, a committee appointed at the Annual Session 1911 to inquire into the necessity of said road, it was ordered that the report of said committee be received and adopted and that the clerk be required to post the necessary notices respecting the opening of said road and that the plan and reports be filed with the proper officer and said road be a public road for confirmation in the said County of Annapolis.

REPORT RE ROAD AT GRANVILLE FERRY

The following is the report:—To the Warden and Councillors of the Municipality of Annapolis Co.:

Gentlemen:—

Your Committee appointed to look into the necessity of a new road at Granville Ferry, leading from the Main street by the right of way between the property of the late E. H. Knowles and Capt. Norman Berry continuing across property occupied by E. E. Wade until it comes to the back street, beg leave to submit the following report:—

We have looked over the proposed new road and have plans of same drawn by C. F. Armstrong. Your Committee is of the opinion that the road is necessary and that it will be a benefit to the public generally and especially to those living on the back street.

We further believe the width of right of way (which is fifteen feet), will be sufficient to meet all requirements of present traffic and would recommend the opening of said road as soon as practicable.

In regard to damages Mr. Wade has agreed to take the sum of seventy dollars including fencing.

Artisans All Over Canada Favor Reciprocity Movement

An Ottawa despatch says:—During the Easter recess the Government received seventy-seven communications from public bodies representing their views on reciprocity. These were tabled by Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the request of Mr. Foster, when the House met this afternoon. Every one of the seventy-seven endorsed the Government's proposals. Of the total sixty-three came from the Prairie Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, eight from the Province of Quebec and six from Ontario. They indicate that the artisan is joining the farmer. Resolutions are now flooding the Government from the labor interest in the older Provinces, equally emphatic in their support of the pact to these of the Western farmers. Among these tabled today were resolutions from the Canadian Working Men of Maisonneuve, the Moulders International Union of Quebec, the Canadian Union of Joiners and Carpenters of Montreal, and the International Union of Journeymen Barbers of Montreal.

P. H. Saunders be presiding officer in place of F. D. Saunders.

Councillor Outhit then gave notice that at the Annual Session, 1912, he would move that a by-law be passed changing the rate of pay for jurors and also abolishing the semi-annual session.

On motion of Councillor Rawding in accordance with notice given at the annual session it was ordered that by-law No. 19 of this municipality be amended by adding to the fourth line from the bottom of page 13 of said by-law the words "at or near Deep Brook" after the words "at or near Clementsport" in said line.

On motion the Council adjourned until half-past two o'clock in order to give the Councillors an opportunity of visiting the Municipal Institutions.

Farmers Preparing for a Record Year

Montreal, April 24th.—The banks, the millers, the harvest machinery manufacturers, the transportation interests, are all looking forward to the farmers of Canada making a record in the matter of the country's total wheat crop this year. The banks lend money on the crops and they are preparing to lend generously this year. The millers grind wheat into flour and they are expecting to keep their mills working overtime this year. The transportation companies handle the crop and they are increasing their rolling stock and fleets of vessels this year.

In connection with the harvest outlook an important announcement was made this week that interests closely identified with the Canadian Cereal and Milling Company, had purchased the International Milling Company and that a holding company was about to be formed which would direct the affairs of both companies. Mr. J. D. Flavelle, the president of the former organization is spoken of as the president of the new company. Both the Cereal and Milling Company and the International Milling Company stand high financially and commercially and the joining of the two will have no little effect on the handling of this year's crop. The Cereal Company's mills are all located in Ontario, namely at Tillsonburg, Lindsay, Toronto, London, Fergus, Embro, Woodstock, Ayr, Galt, and Highgate, and have a combined capacity of over 5,500 barrels per day of flour, rolled oats and oatmeal. The International, as its name implies, has mills on both sides of the boundary, four in the United States and one at Moose Jaw. It was founded in 1896 by Mr. P. A. Barn of New Canada, Minnesota, who started with one small mill. Today it has mills at New Prague, Wells and Blue Earth, Minnesota, and at Davenport, Iowa, and at Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan. In making these expansions not a dollar outside of the actual earnings of the organization has been spent. This year the International is enlarging the Moose Jaw mill, erecting a rolled oats mill at the same place and acquiring a string of elevators throughout the west. The new combination is in very able hands financially. It is understood that the directors of the new holding company will be chosen from both the International and the Cereal Companies' boards. It is also understood that A. J. Nesbitt, managing director of the Investment Trust Company Limited carried through the negotiations which led to the combination being formed.

The harvest machinery people are looking for an extremely busy year. All the new settlers will need new machinery and there is going to be considerable difficulty in outfitting every farmer or would-be farmer in time. The Sawyer Massey people report that their factories are working day and night to provide for the demands which are coming from the west for ploughs, reapers, rakes and so on. They also notice that the demand for heavier machinery such as threshing outfits and traction ploughs is much greater than it was a few years ago, showing that the farmers are getting more prosperous and preparing for operations on a larger scale this year.

Early this winter the Canadian Pacific, the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Northern placed their orders for freight cars to be delivered this summer in time to help haul the harvest to Port William. Since then additional orders have been sent in for a total of over ten thousand cars. Preparations are also being made for increasing the tonnage of the vessels plying on the lakes, most of them in the grain trade, and of the fleets of Atlantic steamers. As a rule the railways are not far wrong and it will be very surprising if their preparations for a bumper harvest are not justified.

ST. JAMES' CHURCH
Parochial Mission

The series of Mission services being recently held in this church by the Rev. A. J. Bott, of Horden, Sunderland, England, was brought to a close on Sunday evening. As a result there can be no doubt that the spiritual life of many souls has been deepened.

The striking feature of the Mission all through was the entire absence of any excitement, definite instruction as well as exhortation forming part of every regular afternoon and evening service, thus making an appeal to head and heart alike.

The special service for men on Sunday afternoon almost filled the church, whilst at the closing service in the evening the ordinary seating accommodation had to be augmented.

Mr. Bott was accompanied by his wife and a friend, Mr. B. Lewis, and they all departed on Monday amidst many expressions of regret for their new sphere of labour in Harrisburg, Illinois.

At the adjourned Egater meeting on Monday evening a vote of sincere appreciation was passed to the Missioner and the vestry clerk instructed to forward the same to Mr. Bott.

ANNUAL EASTER MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Rector, Wardens, Vestry and Parishoners of St. James' was called formally for Easter Monday morning and immediately adjourned (on account of the Mission services) to last Monday evening. At the adjourned meeting the following were elected to the various offices of the church:—

Wardens.—Messrs. A. F. Hiltz, Theo. Bird.

Vestrymen.—Messrs. R. W. W. Purdy, H. Ruggles, G. O. Salter, S. Pratt, E. Ruggles, L. G. DeBlois, M. D. W. Spurr, A. FitzRandolph, Hon. O. T. Daniels, A. Morse, E. V. Goldsmith, E. Nichols.

Vestry Clerk.—W. R. Longmire.

Treasurer.—E. Ruggles.

Lay Representatives to Synod.—Messrs. Albert Morse, A. F. Hiltz; Substitutes, Wm. Spurr, A. C. Johnstone, Dartmouth.

Chapel Wardens of St. Mary's, Belleisle.—Messrs. Chas. Wade, W. E. Bent.

In addition to the vote of appreciation to Rev. A. J. Bott, a hearty vote of thanks was passed to Miss Rayson, Littlehampton, Sussex, Eng. for the very beautiful work contributed by her for the enrichment of the Sanctuary of the church, especially the white festal frontal and frontlet now adorning the altar.

Particular interest attaches to this Easter meeting just held, it being the last of its race. On May 11th next, the Church Act, as amended and consolidated, comes into force. This admits ladies to the franchise (under certain conditions) and makes the business year co-incident with the civil year—the annual meeting henceforth to be on the third Monday of January. Thus the present officers will "occupy" under the present regime, but nine months.

The meeting suggested that when the new Act comes into force the Rector should take some opportunity of fully explaining the changes. Of this due notice will be given.

WRECK OF THE LUSITANIA.

Cape Town, (Union of South Africa), April 19.—Eight persons were drowned during the transfer of the eight hundred passengers and crew from the wreck of the steamer Lusitania to the British warship Forte and a government tug. Those lost were four men, two women and two children, occupants of two small boats which capsized. Their companions were rescued.

All the rescued passengers, as well as the crew of the Lusitania have arrived here in various vessels. The wrecking of the steamer came near to being a terrible disaster. But for the fact that the vessel's bow was firmly gripped by the rocks, she would have foundered quickly, probably with all hands. As it was, the Lusitania rocked dangerously while sending up signals and waiting for the rescuing vessels, when the steamer ran on the rocks.

Many of the survivors, especially the women, all of whom were scantily clad, suffered greatly from exposure.

LOST OFF THE CAPE BRETON COAST.

The tern schooner A. K. Maclean, Capt. Remby, one of the finest schooners sailing from Nova Scotia, was caught in an ice jam and wrecked off St. Esprit, Cape Breton on Saturday last and her crew escaped on the ice. The A. K. Maclean sailed from Louisburg on Good Friday with a cargo of coal for St. John's Newfoundland and became caught in the ice the following day.

SPECIAL MEETING OF TOWN COUNCIL

New Debentures to be Issued to Provide for Water Debentures Matured.—Date of Collection Rates Fixed for June 1st.—Rock Crusher Ordered

The regular monthly meeting of the Town Council being postponed from the 3rd inst., owing to the absence of Mayor Harlow, a meeting was called by the Mayor on April 18th at 7.30 p. m. to deal with a number of important matters.

The Mayor and all Councillors were present as follows:—Anderson, Tupper, Prat, Burns, Craig, McKenzie.

A number of bills on street water-works, poor account and sundries were ordered paid.

To K. Freeman, E. C. Hall, and W. R. Longmire as revisors for 1910 $40.00; J. K. Craig, services as poll clerk $2.00; P. L. Connor, Boston, Mass, inspection and report on rock crusher and plant offered by McLaughlin Mfg. Co. Boston $15.00. A bill from Spurgeon W. Messenger for $5.20 for alleged damages to his team by being upset in snow-drift in Granville Street in January 1910 was read before the Council and upon motion it was resolved that the Council repudiate all liability therefor.

The rate book for the town for the year 1911 as appointed by the committee appointed by the Council on March 9th, 1911, to examine the same was laid before the Council by the Clerk and it was resolved that the 1st day of June 1911 be fixed by the Council as the day upon which the rates should be payable, and further resolved that any person who had not paid his rates should be notified to do so by the 1st day of June.

Mr. Caldwell recommended Mr. P. L. Connor of Boston and the Clerk at once wrote Mr. Connor asking him to inspect this plant and report at once, Mr. Connor's report is submitted herewith.

Your committee thought it advisable after receiving the report to purchase the engine and boiler together with the crusher and plant as then we would have the power to operate the plant at any convenient point on the street to be improved, thus saving considerable expense and delay in hauling the stone onto the street.

An application has been made to S. W. W. Pickup M. P. for a rebato on the duty and he has promised to bring the matter before the Minister of Customs at once and report.

The question of the best way to have the plant shipped is now under consideration.

Your committee are of the opinion that contracts should at once be given for the delivery of stone at some convenient point, so that when the plant arrives we may be in a position to go ahead with the work at once.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Shiloh's Cure

50c. Bottle FREE

Read the Reasons for this Offer, so Vitally Important to the Sick:

Psychine is the greatest vitality builder of the age. For thirty years Psychine has been curing almost every disease that is due to run-down vitality. Hundreds of thousands have used Psychine with wonderful beneficial results. We have received thousands of unsolicited testimonials from people whom Psychine has cured, of in many cases, hopeless ailments. There are still thousands of people suffering from disease, however, whom Psychine can benefit. There are still thousands who are trying to cure themselves by wrong methods, who are using dangerous and hurtful medicines. There are still thousands who are gradually losing their vitality - from whose body the necessary resisting power to disease is slowly but surely slipping away. There are still those who soon will hear the dread "call in the night" if they do not take prompt action. To these we have the above message, viz.: "Let us buy a 50-cent bottle of Psychine from your druggist and give it to you, free, to prove its great value." That 50-cent bottle of Psychine will tell you more powerfully than mere words can how tremendously beneficial Psychine will be for you. It will give you an unmistakable indication of its wonderful power to renew the bodily vitality, to strengthen the phagocytes (the white corpuscles), the policemen or scavengers of the body. The Surgical Department of the Japanese Army, in the Japo-Russian war, first drew the attention of the scientific world to the function of the white corpuscles of the blood or phagocytes. Foreign medical men were astounded to see Japanese soldiers with wounds that had not been cleansed or dressed for days, that were apparently dirty, ill-kept, and altogether unsanitary. Yet these dirty wounds healed marvelously; no army of the world had ever known had such a wonderful record for the recovery of their wounded as the Japanese army. And all because the Japanese knew how to let the white corpuscles cure. There are two kinds of corpuscles in your blood, you know, red and white. The red carry nutrition, the white are the policemen or scavengers of the body. Whenever a disease germ enters the body, these white corpuscles attack and literally eat it. A wound that attracts disease germs from the air is cleansed and healed by billions of phagocytes, or white corpuscles, devouring these unwelcome disease germs. Any disease can be cured by these white corpuscles if they be in sufficient number or strong enough to attack and devour the germs that cause the disease. If they are not in sufficient numbers or strength, then the disease germs eat them and disease claims the body. That's the cause of every disease to which humanity is heir. For centuries the cure of disease has been by means of herbs - nature's remedies. It is only within recent times that we have come to know these herbs. Now scientists tell us they increase the strength and numbers of the white corpuscles or phagocytes. In Psychine we have some of the most healing and beneficial herbs in the world, herbs that increase and strengthen the white corpuscles. From Arabia comes one herb, from South America another, China and Japan produce a third, while the jungle of India yields a fourth. All these herbs are recognized by the medical profession as being the most beneficial to health that they know. That's why Psychine, in the third of a century it has been made, has cured hundreds of thousands of people who suffered from the following diseases:

INSTRUCTION UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

Few writers know the age of childhood better than the authoress of "The Young Pretenders." Take, for example the following passage—arms between Barbara and her governess:

"My dear child, are there not many things that you would like to know?"

"Oh, yes!" screamed the little girl, delightedly "I would like to know what makes there come such a lot of colors in the water bottles, and why the crum's jump up when we slap the table, and—"

"Be quiet, Barbara!" said the governess, angrily.

"But you asked me!" exclaimed Babs, bewildered by the rebuke.

"You were saying your lesson, remember. The answer is 'Yes.'"

"Yes, please, I suppose?" interrupted the little girl.

Miss Grimston turned to the book. "Pray, then, what is bread made of?"

"Dough and barm," replied Babs, promptly. "I've often seen cock make bread at Cloverdale. Teddy and I used each to have a piece to make little men with bead eyes what grew fat in the baking."

"Silence!" cried the governess in despair; "that is not the right answer."

"Isn't bread made of dough and barm in London? It always is in the country, I know."

"The answer is 'flour.' What were you thinking of, Barbara, when I read this lesson to you?"

Babs looked doubtful for a minute. "I was flinking about what makes you have so many more bones in your hand than other people's," she said, candidly.

"Be quiet, Barbara! How dare you be so rude?"

"Am I rude? I didn't know, but you is so funny," continued the little girl; "you keep asking questions, and when I answers them you say, 'Be quiet.'"

"You are a very naughty, pert little girl, and I shall put you in the corner."

"What's that?" asked Babs with interest. Hitherto she had been quite ignorant of nursery penalties.

"Go and stand in the corner with your feet to the wall."

Babs cheerfully complied.

"What happens now?" she asked, a minute afterwards.

"You will remain there until you are good."

"I'm like a cow what's in a stall," laughed Babs. "Teddy I've pretendin' I's dear Flossy. We've never played this game after."

"Be silent, Barbara!" cried Miss Grimston, in the last stage of irritation. "It is not a game at all, it is a disgrace."

Babs then began to make a sort of gentle munching sound, and occasion-ly shook out the ends of her saah. "That's Flossy's tail whiskig," she murmured, quite content.

HIS OPINION OF POLITICS.

A politician who is a great walker was out enjoying his favorite recreation. After going a few miles he sat down to rest.

"Want a lift, mister?" asked a good-natured farmer driving that way.

"Thank you," responded the politician, "I will avail myself of your kind offer."

The two rode on in silence for a while. Presently the farmer asked:—"Professional man?"

"Yes," answered the politician, who was thinking of a Bill he had pending before the House.

After another long pause the farmer observed:—"You ain't a lawyer, or you'd be talkin'; you ain't a doctor, 'cause you ain't got a bag; and you ain't a preacher from the looks of you. What is your profession?"

"I am a politician," was the reply.

The farmer gave a snort of disgust. "Politics ain't no profession; politics is a disease," said he.

HELPING HER OUT.

The Smythes attempted the unwise experiment of trying to give a fashionable dinner party with an inexperienced maid, whose mistress had coached and coached her until, as poor Ellen said afterward, her mind was "all in a tangle." During the middle of the dinner Ellen appeared in the dining room with a look of perplexity on her face and said:

"Say, ma'am, I can't remember whether you want them croquetty things next or that salad, and I'm shy one salad plate, and I don't think there's goin' to be enough salad to go round anyway, so hadn't we better cut that out altogether?"

PEACE IN MEXICO WILL SOON COME.

Washington, April 19—Peace in Mexico will soon be restored, according to Senor Manuel Dezamacoa, the new ambassador of Mexico to the United States, who was presented to President Taft today. The ambassador made his prediction in a formal speech to the president. In reply President Taft said that the people of the United States hoped fervently that harmony would soon prevail.

"I Suffered Intense Pains in My Left Side."

Do you realize it is better to be safe than sorry, that it is the best policy to lock the stable door before the horse is stolen?

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy cured Mrs. C. C. Gokey, of a stubborn case of heart disease, such as thousands are now suffering with. Read what she says:

"Before I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I had been suffering from heart trouble for over five years. I had grown so weak that it was impossible for me to do thirty minutes work in a whole day. I suffered intense pains in my left side and under the left shoulder blade. I could not sleep on the left side, and was so short of breath that I thought I should never be able to take a full breath again. The least excitement would bring on the most distressing palpitation. I had scarcely taken a half-bottle of the Heart Remedy before I could see a marked change in my condition. I began to sleep well, had a good appetite, and improved so rapidly that when I had taken six bottles I was completely cured."

MRS. C. C. GOKEY, Northfield, Vt.

If you have any of the symptoms Mrs. Gokey mentions, it is your duty to protect yourself.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy, is what you need. If the first bottle fails to benefit, your money is returned. Ask your druggist.

Any Soul to Any Body

So we must part, my body, you and I Who've spent so many pleasant years together! 'Tis sorry work to lose your company. Who clove to me so close, whatever the weather, From winter unto winter, wet or dry, But you have reached the limit of your tether, And I must journey on my way alone And leave you quietly beneath a stone

They say that you are altogether bad (Forgive me 'tis not my experience) And think me very wicked to be sad At leaving you a clod, a prison, whence To get quite free I should be very glad Perhaps I may be so, some few days hence; But, now, methinks, 'twere graceless not to spend A tear or two on my departing friend.

Now our long partnership is near completed, And I look back upon its history, I greatly fear I have not always treated You with the honesty you showed to me And I must own that you have oft defeated Unworthy schemes by your sincerity, And by a blith' or stammering tongue have tried To make me think again before I lied.

'Tis true you're not so handsome as you were, But that's not your fault, and is partly mine— You might have lasted longer with more care, And still looked something like your first design; And even now, with all your wear and tear, 'Tis pitiful to think I must resign. You to the friendless grave, the patient prey Of all the hungry legions of decay.

But you must stay, dear body, and I go; And I was once so very proud of you! You made my mother's eyes to overflow When first she saw you, wonderful and new. And now, with all your faults, 'twere hard to find A slave more willing or a friend more true. Ay—even they who say the worst about you Can scarcely tell what I shall do without you.

ONE FAILURE IN FOUR YEARS.

Dr. E.E. Keeler, of Syracuse, N.Y., says—"I have nothing but good reports from your Earthing Cure except with S.W. Clark, of H— Ohio. He used it on a leg ulcer which dates way back to war times (1863). He says it drew a great amount of pus out of it, but there has been no healing. In fact the only real failure is in Bro. Clark's case." For four years I have supplied Dr. K. with my Earthing Cure and it is not surprising that only one real failure should be made and that on an ulcer of forty-seven years standing. Where is there a doctor in Canada who can say of any remedy he has what Dr. Keeler says of E. E. C. Call on my agent or write me and enclose 20cts for a trial box or plaster. N. H. REED, H. CANADIAN DIAMOND.

Ottawa, April 15—"The Canadian diamond has been tested by the greatest gem experts in the world and pronounced equal in quality to the famous product of South Africa," said R. A. Johnston, mineralogist and curator of the Geological Survey today.

In January last diamonds were discovered in the Olivine Mountain in British Columbia. It was the first discovery of its kind made in Canada.

When a medicine must be given to young children it should be pleasant to take. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is made from loaf sugar, and the roots used in its preparation give it a flavor similar to maple syrup, making it pleasant to take. It has no superior for colds, croup and whooping cough. For sale by all dealers.

Give your children encouragement rather than criticism, sympathy rather than reproach, and while they are in the awkward age, at least, do not add to their self-consciousness by constantly drawing attention to their faults.

M. K. PIPER PROPRIETOR AND PUBLISHER

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26 1911.

The special session of the American Congress called to deal with the question of reciprocity with Canada has passed the measure by a large majority.

The bill seeks to put into effect the formal agreement reached between President Taft and members of the Canadian cabinet for a reduction of tariff rates on many articles and free trade in many others, across the Canadian border.

We think the price reasonable as quoted, that is $500.00 for the crusher, screen, elevator, etc., exclusive of the engine and boiler.

The boiler they claim has been tested twice, one hundred and fifty pounds cold water pressure, and showed no leaks whatsoever.

Heroic Teacher Was Badly Burned

In Attempting to Save Little Girl Whose Clothing Was on Fire, and Later Died of Her Injuries.

News has reached the City of a distressing accident that occurred at the Half Island Cove school house, Guysboro Co., on April 11th.

It was just after the morning roll call on April 11th that the little girl went to the stove to dry her slate and in some unaccountable manner her clothing caught fire.

The nearest physician was Dr. Ross, at Canso who started for Half Island Cove immediately on the receipt of a telephone message regarding the accident.

The residents of Half Island Cove are loud in their praise of the heroic conduct of Miss Strongan, who is now at her home in Mulgrave.

Have you ever considered, that if in the course of events your family should be deprived of your earning power by death, all the thousands and one bills that you are NOW worried about paying, MUST STILL BE PAID?

Your favor of the 1st inst. duly received, for which please accept our thanks. Mr. Connor and our head machinist today made a very critical examination of the second-hand rock crusher and plant which the McLaghlin Manufacturing Company have offered you.

We find the bearings and working parts of the crusher in very good shape, and the plant is in first class condition.

We think the price reasonable as quoted, that is $500.00 for the crusher, screen, elevator, etc., exclusive of the engine and boiler.

We think it is a good value for the sum asked, as he has decided to include the shaft with the crusher, screen, elevator, etc.

The boiler they claim has been tested twice, one hundred and fifty pounds cold water pressure, and showed no leaks whatsoever.

We think the price for the boiler and engine say $400.00 including the pipes and valves to connect the engine is also reasonable and which would be about 55% of its value for a new outfit of this character.

We do not think you could get any better trade in this City on this outfit, and do not see how you could make any mistake in purchasing the engine and boiler along with the crusher, as from inquiries we have made we find it gave very good satisfaction on the work it had done, before being dismantled.

If there is any further information that you will require, kindly let us know, and we will give prompt attention.

Yours truly, P. L. CONNOR & CO.

It was ordered that the fire alarm in the house of James Goldsmith be removed and placed in house of Chief of Police, William Connell, corner of Park and Rectory streets.

The battle lasted from 6.30 a.m. until sundown. At nightfall, two Federal machine guns were in the possession of the Rebels, and the Federalists had sustained a loss estimated by the Rebels as at least two hundred killed and wounded.

The promise of early spring apparent a few weeks ago has not been fulfilled. A winter scene again greeted us on Friday and Saturday morning of last week a light snow covering the ground.

The Adult Bible class of St. James' church will resume its meetings on Friday evening and meet weekly until the end of May. The services next Sunday will be at 11 a.m. (with Holy Communion) and 7.30 p.m.

The earliest load of fresh fish from the Bay shore this spring was brought in by Mr. Lewis Sabean, of Hampton on Thursday last. The entire load of codfish and herring was quickly disposed of, immediately on its arrival in town.

The road making machinery ordered by the town of Wolfville has arrived and is a ten-ton Brantford Pitts, double cylinder, steam road roller and a No. 4. Champion steel crusher with elevator and revolving screen, with a capacity for crushing nearly eighteen tons an hour.

The firm of Beeler and Peters have been busy this winter getting out building stock. They have furnished the stock for the new Schaffner building at Middleton and are getting out stock for the Granville apple warehouse, under contract with J.A. Brown for the new apple-shipping company recently formed at Granville. They are also preparing a large quantity of staves for the season's work on apple-barrels for which they expect to have a large demand the coming season.

Following up the special effort of Epworth League and Sunday School work, and looking towards the Reception Service to be held in the church the first Sunday evening in May, next Sunday will be observed as "Decision Day" in the Methodist Sunday School. For fifteen minutes before the preaching the pastor will conduct the Decision exercises in which it is expected the entire school will take part.

MacKenzie, Crowe and Company, larrigan manufacturers, continuing their policy of steadily adding to their equipment from year to year, have recently acquired a steam drier. In contrast to the old method of steam-heating, only one-third of time is required for drying the leather. A new room has been built to accommodate the new machinery. Also an elevator has been built to run from the ground floor to the top of the tannery building to carry leather and hair. This makes the tannery complete in every detail of its equipment. This enterprising firm which is working full time with a staff of forty men, have turned out in the first quarter of the present year, 12,000 pairs of larrigans. They have shipped a carload to Montreal and are now busy on a carload for Winnipeg.

A thieving gang have been committing depredations in and around Paradise and Lawrencetown during the past few months. Last week Mr. Benjamin Whitman, of Lawrencetown discovered that the roof of his smoke-house had been pried off and a number of hams stolen. Snow having fallen he was able to trace foot steps. Following the road across Lawrencetown Bridge and following this clue he traced them to a house on the Fifth road, near Clarence, occupied by Robert Pierce and his wife. Securing a constable they returned to the house and there arrested Pierce and his wife and two others. Examination of the house revealed several hundred dollars' worth of stolen goods of various kinds. Mr. Irvine, the Crown Prosecutor, went to Lawrencetown to try them and at the close of the examination they were remanded for trial in the Supreme Court and lodged in the County jail at Annapolis.

Apple Packing Lawsuit

In the supreme court Mr. Justice Meagher tried a case of particular interest to Nova Scotia fruit growers, says Monday's Herald.

The action was brought by R. J. Graham, an Ontario apple buyer, who seeks to recover extensive damages from J. W. Bigelow, of Wolfville, for alleged fraudulent packing of apples, sold by Bigelow to Graham in the winter of 1909-10. The plaintiff's solicitors, Messrs. Wickwire and Pineo, were assisted by J. J. Ritchie, K. C., and W. E. Roscoe, K. C., acted for the defendant. An attempt was made by the defendant to have the case tried in Kings county instead of Halifax. This the plaintiff resisted by affidavits alleging that a Kings county jury would be prejudiced and the chambers judge decided that a fair trial of the cause could not be had in Kings county.

The plaintiff produced a number of witnesses from outside the province, who testified as to the conditions of the fruit sold and the defendant called others to show that the apples were well packed. Owing to the illness and age of the defendant, his evidence was taken before a commission was received. Judgment was reserved.

The case is the first of over two hundred similar actions which Mr. Graham will bring against the valley fruit growers, mostly from Kings county. Following the ruling of the chambers judge in this case the other actions will probably also be tried in Halifax.

THE FISH PRICES DROPPED WITH THUD.

Boston Market Glutted by Heavy Arrivals—Lobster Prices Cut in Two.

Boston, April 17.—Enough ground fish to feed the entire population of Boston arrived at T Wharf today and sold for almost a song. There were 1,175,000 pounds landed, which is a record for a single day. The fish dealers were kept busier even than during the lenten season.

Another surprise was sprung on the trade when lobster prices were cut almost in two. From Nova Scotia 48,000 pounds of this luxury were landed yesterday and today prices dropped with a thud.

Wholesale prices last week were twenty-three and twenty-five cents per pound. The prices asked this morning were twelve and fifteen cents.

Retribution

(By D. McL. Wright, in the Canadian Century.)

Without doubt Philip Weary loved his wife, but some of her peculiarities, like the constant dripping that wears away a stone, were slowly but surely diminishing the small stock of patience with which he in common with most men had been endowed.

For instance—Mrs. Weary was one of the over-anxious women who feared if a drop of rain splashed on baby Ned's nose that he would wake up with a cold the next day. She could not settle down to sleep at night unless a certain high-backed chair with a particular dressing gown spread over it was placed before Jennie's bed to shield her from a possible draught, nor until she had gone for the third time to make sure that Ruth was snugly tucked up to her dimpled chin. Before she slumbered, the pockets in Ben's coat and trousers had to be turned wrong side out and dusted. Once, happening to witness this performance, Mr. Weary remarked:

"Mollie you are a very clever woman, but there is one thing you can't do for which I feel devoutly thankful."

"What is that, pray?"

"Turn the children and me inside out to clean us, spring and fall, I shudder to contemplate what we would undergo if you were able to accomplish this feat."

Mrs. Weary was compelled to laugh, but she said she was a wicked man to tease his wife who was only doing her duty when she tried to have things clean.

But what troubled Philip most of all were two questions which his worthy spouse invariably asked no matter how early or how late he was in arriving home at night namely—

"Dear, will you please see if the baby is covered up, and," "Are you sure you locked the front door?"

After relieving her mind of these queries, her vigilant eye would follow her husband until he felt it power and crossed to little Ned's crib, where he made pretense of adjusting the bed clothes, and then observing that his wife's face wore an interrogation point expression he would bethink himself of his other duty and doggedly answer, "I am sure." Being thus pacified, the self-tormentor would fall peacefully to sleep, leaving her irritated husband devising some scheme whereby the monotony of his home-coming might be alleviated.

Early one morning he dreamt that his wife went away. This simple solution of the difficulty appealing to him even in his dreams, he awoke both himself and her by screaming loudly in her ear, "Eureka!"

Terrified at being so suddenly roused from her sleep, and almost deafened by the shock to her eardrum, the unfortunate lady went into hysterics, and for one solid half hour that man wished he had never been born. The frightened children gathered round their mother whom their father soothed and scolded alternately in a manly attempt to repair the mischief he had done, but it was not until Mrs. Weary caught a glimpse of baby Ned puckering up a pitiful little lip to cry that she calmed down and became herself once more.

As soon as expedient, her husband proceeded to pull the wires that would put the scheme into execution. He suddenly found the voice that he had always used in the days of his courtship, but which he mislaid before the second anniversary of their marriage rolled round "Mollie, my love," said this voice, "I've been thinking seriously for some time that you should go away for a month's change of air and scene. The state you have been in to-day confirms me in my belief, and I have fully determined that you must start immediately or I will not answer for the consequences. Why unquestionably you've been threatened with cerebro-spinal meningitis. This malady is quite prevalent at present and it nearly always proves fatal."

Never having had an attack of hysterics before and her ideas concerning the symptoms of this dreadful disease not being very clear, Mrs. Weary's fears in her own behalf were aroused to such an extent by the wily man that she agreed to place herself in his hands, do anything, and go anywhere, he directed.

Acting on Shakespeare's suggestion: "If it were done, when 'tis done, then 'twere well it were done quickly," Mr. Weary set to work at once and telegraphed his sister:

"Mollie needs immediate change. Meet her 7.30 p. m. train Thursday. Send Tillie to keep house for me. Phil."

As his niece had visited them quite often, the plotters knew that his wife would be more willing to leave home if somebody the children liked were at the helm. Next he ordered—

"This is Tuesday. Have your trunk packed and be ready to start on the early train Thursday. My sister Ann is expecting you for a little visit and Tillie will an eye to-morrow to take your place and to receive any instructions you may desire to give her."

Poor Mollie sighed resignedly and began making preparations for her journey. That night she lay awake for hours committing to memory all the things she wished Tillie to accomplish during her absence, for Phil, cruel man, had told her she was not to think one thought about home nor write any orders to them, while away, as her mind needed to be entirely free from all its accustomed cares to insure a warding off of the dread meningitis.

Wednesday evening Tillie arrived, and while refreshing herself with a cup of tea, she lent a patient ear to the enunciation of her future tasks. Such an array would have dismayed most young girls, but, being a cheerful little body with a very kind heart, she promised to do her best to carry out her aunt's wishes.

Early Thursday morning Mr. Weary accompanied his wife to the train and saw that she was comfortably settled for her trip. Just as he was making his escape as "All aboard!" sounded, she called, "Good-by, Phil. Be sure always to cover baby when you go to bed and set the chair in front of Jennie—put the cat down cellar at night so she won't sit on Ned's chest and don't feed her in the dining room as she is apt to grease the floor—tell Tillie to put newspapers on the spare room carpet and take my best sofa pillows out of the drawing-room seat when the sun shines in—she must not forget to water the plants regularly—Oh! I almost forgot—the preserves to be used while I'm away are on the top shelf of the preserve closet, remember, not the bottom one—whenever it rains make the children wear rubbers until it stops—Phil."

Although Mrs. Weary's tongue could move as fast as that of the average woman, the train could go faster, and she was borne rapidly away, her lips still moving. The passengers exchanged amused glances and from the windows watched her husband break into a run, violently mopping his brow, for the strain of the last minute had affected him similarly to the heat of the dog-days.

"At last I am safe!" he panted, after running several blocks and thereby incurring the curious gaze of passers-by. "I wouldn't go through that ordeal again for a million dollars."

As the day wore on he grew happier and happier in anticipation of the peaceful weeks ahead of him, though he felt occasional twinges of conscience caused by the man who had deceived his faithful, hard-working lifemate. "She really is in need of a rest and it will do her good," he said to himself by way of extenuation.

When he approached his residence at bedtime the house was in darkness. With a feeling of relief, he inserted his latchkey in the outer door and entered. From the upper hall a quaking voice called.

"Uncle, we all went to bed an hour ago, and just as I was falling asleep somebody in the drawing-room began to play on the piano."

Now, Mr. Weary considered himself a upper story was turned on and the children were screaming so loudly with fright that the noise drowned the sound of his entrance. Hastening upstairs, he saw poor Tillie trembling with fear herself, going from one room to another trying to comfort the sobbing little ones. As soon as they caught sight of their father, one of the girls cried out.

"Oh, Papa! We were fast asleep and the piano played and woke us up. We thought it was Cousin Tillie, but when we called to her she said she had been in bed a couple of hours. Then she told us she heard the same thing last night." Here, Ben, trying to be very brave, remarked.

"Papa, I'll go with you to see what it is if you want me to, but it's awful dark down there, isn't it?"

Again that uneasy sensation came over Mr. Weary and he felt he could not venture into the drawing-room, but on no account must any one suspect he was afraid, so he laughed as naturally as he could and said.

"You silly little people, you were all dreaming like Cousin Tillie was last night. The piano couldn't possibly play when everybody was in bed. Go to sleep, all of you, and let me hear no more of this nonsense."

With a sense of security that all must be well now that Papa was home, the children calmed down and were soon in the land of dreams.

Next morning, the head of the house made a swift survey of the drawing-room before going to his office, but nothing unusual there met his eyes. That night he was roused from his sleep by unmistakable sounds from the piano and the next minute, with a shriek of terror, a white-robed figure burst into his room, scaring him half out of his senses. In his agony he vociferated.

"Oh, Mollie, I wish I had never sent you away!"

"Sakes 'live, Marse Phil, I isn't yo' Mollie, Ise Judy, I is," answered a voice out of the gloom.

Managing to turn on the light, Mr. Weary saw his coloured cook crouching in a corner, her head on her ebony countenance as she explained.

"De pianer done gib de squares' scunjes' now. Sustain sho' it's a ghostess. Oh, Marse Phil, Ise so scart. I nevah sleep in a house dat war haunted befo'."

"Be still, you goose! The house isn't haunted. Everything is as quiet as possible. Go back to your bed at once; and if I hear anything more of such tomfoolery I'll hand you over to the policeman."

Divided between fears of the unearthly and those of the earthly in the shape of a blue-coated, brass-buttoned man, poor Judy departed to her own chamber where she lay groaning, in momentary expectation of being spirited away, till merciful sleep came to her relief.

THE CURSE OF THE NATION IS CONSTIPATION

"Fruit-a-tives" Alone Cures This Disease

A famous scientist states that Constipation, or non-action of the bowels, causes more deaths than all other diseases combined. Constipation inflames the Kidneys, ruins digestion, is the foundation of Rheumatism, poisons the blood, causes Headaches, Neuralgia, Nervousness and Insomnia.

Constipation is caused by a weak or sluggish liver. Bile, the only purgative of the body, is secreted by the liver, which in turn should pour out into the intestines sufficient bile to move the bowels. Unless the liver is active, there cannot be enough bile to move the bowels regularly, and Constipation is the result.

"Fruit-a-tives", the famous fruit medicine, will always cure Constipation because it acts directly on the liver—relieves the congestion—increases the quantity of bile—and strengthens the bowel muscles.

TWELVE-YEAR-OLD GIRL HEND.

Liverpool, April 13—Glennie Trott, a twelve-year-old fiend, with an unparalleled record for brutality to small children, attempted to drown the six months old child of Rev. H. B. Clarke, Methodist pastor here, this afternoon. Going home from school she noticed the child asleep in a carriage on the verandah. Stealing the carriage and the infant she took the back streets for the wa-ritron. When the child was missed parties made a prompt search and finally found her about to throw the carriage and baby into the harbor. The baby was badly bruised from the ill-usage she gave it.

THE HOME

UNEMPLOYABLE WOMEN

It is a sad fact that, even in these days of "progress" there remains a large proportion of women who are definitely "unemployable," observes the London Chronicle. What the Chronicle has to say further on the matter applies more to Englishwomen than Canadians, but the "unemployable" woman is not unknown here. If they had homes in which they could stay quietly and comfortably, their unemployability would matter to no one but themselves; but their circumstances do not always make home life possible, and they drift around more helpless, and losing part of their small market value with every year that passes.

It behooves all those who have anything to do with the rising generation of girls to look to it that, whatever type of woman they turn out, she shall not, in any case, be an unemployable. If possible, let her be trained for a profession or trade; if it is quite out of the question, give her, at least, such a point of view that, if she is ever required to work, she will not be above studying what is needed, and doing her best to carry it out in a practical, businesslike way.

The trouble with most of the unemployable is that they have no elasticity of mind. They think that it is quite impossible for such people as themselves to do anything beyond a certain routine, enjoy anything inside or outside certain limits. If they happen to meet people whose point of view fits in with theirs, they manage very comfortably; but they are quite incapable of adapting themselves to the wants of those who pay and feed them, and therefore have the right to expect a slight pliability on their part.

A feeling for the dignity of work would save many women from drifting into this condition. If they could be brought to realize that anyone who works faithfully and efficiently at any occupation under the sun makes herself worthy of consideration and respect, they would be less ready to hazard their positions on account of fancied slights and minor inconveniences, which would never be noticed by anyone whose heart was really set upon what she did day by day.

SOME HUSBANDS.

"Some men have cat's eyes when they are looking for faults in their wives but they have only bat's eyes when it is a question of seeing any of their wives' excellencies," declared Rev. J. Simpson, an American preacher, recently, in the course of a sermon on matrimony—the first of a series of sermons on home building. "No nation can rise higher than the aggregate of its home life," said the pastor in introducing his subject, "and home life is properly woman's kingdom. Why did St. Paul tell men to love their wives, and yet lay no injunction upon women to love their husbands?"

The reason was plain. It was part of a woman's nature to love her husband, but alas for some of the men. "What is the matter with a great many homes in this country today?" he continued. "Is it not that there is far too little praise given wives by their husbands? There is sure to be a thunderstorm if anything goes wrong at home, and even when everything goes well, the wife's efforts to please are too often received in frigid silence."

And yet there are some men who go about the streets denouncing marriage as a failure because their wives are too noble-minded to be continually pandering to their egotistical whims and vanities. "Why are all those little courtesies left out after marriage which make courtship so pleasant? Why should not a man think as highly of his wife before as after marriage? The coldness of the husband is ruining many of our homes. Let us all who are married remember, as is stated in the verses of Proverbs from which I have taken my text, that a woman who fears the Lord should be held in higher esteem than anything else in this world, and let us remember the duty of praise we owe them."

THE TIME IS SHORT.

Be swift, dear heart, in loving,
For time is brief,
And thou may'st soon along life's highway
Keep step with grief.

Be swift, dear heart, in saying
The kindly word;
When ears are sealed thy passionate pleading
Will not be heard.

Be swift, dear heart, in doing
The gracious deed,
Lest soon they whom thou holdest
dearest
Be past the need.

Be swift, dear heart, in giving
The rare sweet flower,
N'er wait to heap with bloom the casket
In some sad hour.

Dear heart, be swift in loving—
Time speedeth on;
And all thy chance of blessed service
Will soon be gone.

HORTENSE AND I.

That rope of pearls around her swan-like throat
Doth well set off Hortense's queenly charms;
I have a necklace of more value far—
My baby's arms.

Hortense in stately coach hath just passed by,
To hear a famous diva she doth go;
I list to sweeter music here at home—
My baby's crow.

Admiring glances are Hortense's due,
And flattery doth follow her the while,
And words of adoration—I have but
My baby's smile.

Hortense's mirror doth reflect a queen;
I have a mirror of far smaller size,
But one in which my plain face seemeth fair—
My baby's eyes.

letters are the words: "Don't kiss me." It was at first thought that this betokened a recrudescence of the Puritanism of their forefathers. Further inquiry however, has elicited the fact that this is not the case. It seems that it is all the outcome of the anti-germ craze, and that the mothers of Washington and Boston have banded themselves together with the object of preventing their babes being contaminated by the promiscuous kissing of admirers, and this is the initial step in the crusade. It will probably be effectual, for who would dare plant a kiss on lips, however ruby, with that legend glaring in gold just below?

A CURE FOR INDIGESTION.

A London doctor has been calling attention to the effect of fear and hate on the digestion, saying that nothing is so valuable in curing indigestion as good temper. He believes that mental forces are more available in curing diseases than is recognized, and he says that falling in love often restores women to good health. Laughter is a great aid to digestion. There was a hygienic reason for the presence of the old-time jester at the king's table.

Division of authority—this is one of the most fatal situations in any household.—We all know that there is nothing so demoralizing for children as to have the mother forbid something, then to have the father sanction it. Such a course is all too common, and the result is always lack of discipline and lack of respect. The father and mother should act as one and if there are any disputes they should be carried on out of earshot of the children.

POISONED BY DECAYED FRUIT.

Halifax, April 18—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Craig, Dartmouth, on Wednesday were called upon to mourn the loss of their eight-year-old daughter Margaret, caused by ptomaine poisoning, due to eating decayed oranges. Soon after her death a little boy, Frederick, aged three, was taken ill. He passed away on Saturday, shortly after the funeral of the other child. The cause of death was the same in each case.

Constipation brings many ailments in its train and is the primary cause of much sickness. Keep your bowels regular, madam, and you will escape many of the ailments to which women are subject. GOOD QUALITIES OF RED POLLED CATTLE

As early as the year 1773 in the counties of Norfolk and Suffolk, England, there were whole dairies of Red Polled cattle. The breed was then universally polled—that is, without horns—and at about that time a number of men farming in those counties whose farms were near together co-operated to improve their Red Polleds by careful selection, writes P. G. Henderson in the Breeder's Gazette.

The year 1846 may be taken as the date from which the Norfolk and Suffolk Red Polleds merged into each other, and it was at this time that the East Norfolk Agricultural association established classes for Norfolk Polled cattle.

The first importation of these red and hornless milk and meat producers was made to the United States in 1873, consisting of one bull and three cows. The date of their introduction into the United States in any considerable numbers, however, can be placed at about twenty-five years ago. At that time these docile hornless and uniformly red cattle were making their first appearance before the American public.

The introduction into the field of animal husbandry in America of a breed of cattle purporting to be profitable milk producers and also good on the hoof was naturally resented by the advocates of special purpose cattle of both beef and milk type. Evidently, then, if the Red Polleds have won their way to any marked degree of public favor they must have done it in the face of the most severe criticism. While the breeders of strictly beef or dairy cattle freely concede a place for the other, they do not concede a middle ground and have persistently com-

Red Polled cattle, as their name indicates, are red in color and hornless. They originated in England and are considered good milk and meat producers. This breed is noted for hardiness of constitution, enabling them to thrive on scanty pastures and withstand the severe winters and cold springs of the eastern counties of England.

bated the reality of the bovine animal whose qualities were a combination of the two.

In spite of this antagonistic force Red Polleds have rapidly spread through the United States. They are now favorites upon hundreds of farms in nearly every state in the Union. This would have been impossible had they not possessed in an eminent degree the qualities of a farmer's cow—a cow that can make good herself in the dairy and her progeny in the feed lot. The field open for such a cow is practically unlimited in the great corn producing states, where feed is so abundant and comparatively cheap. The cow that can yield a profit from butter fat sold to the creamery and whose calf, if hand fed and intelligently raised with the skill now so easily acquired, will sell to the feeder also at a profit is the farmer's cow.

Corn as a Horse Feed.
The corn kernel for horses is very well worth while under certain circumstances. This is ordinarily fed in the form of cracked corn. For animals at hard work a considerable share of the grain ration may be thus made up. Corn is but ill adapted to livery or trotting horses, for its fattening qualities are such as to inhibit their active exercises. For slow, heavy work, however, if not fed in immoderate quantities, it is well worth while, particularly in winter.—Professor J. L. Hills, Vermont Experiment Station.

Sunlight in the Stables.
Is your cow stable a modern one, with a lot of windows in it, or is it an old fashioned one, with a sliding board for a window? If the latter, arrange some way to get some windows and fit into it. The health of your animals demands it.

Besides, the light makes it so much more agreeable for the owner or attendant to work in, and there is no question but that the cows will do much better and be better off every way in a well lighted stable.

The Meaning of A. R. O.
The meaning of A. R. O. is "advanced registry, official." The expression is used in the breeding associations for milk and butter records made under official supervision and practically vouched for by the association. You can obtain full information about this by writing to the secretary of the breeding association in which you are interested.—Country Gentleman.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES PAIN

SAVING EWE LAMBS FOR FUTURE BREEDING

At the experiment station of the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college, Stillwater, Okla., an interesting experiment in sheep breeding is being conducted under the supervision of Professor Linklater. Three flocks, consisting of fifty Dorsets, twenty-five Shropshires and twenty-five Delaine-Merinos respectively headed by highly bred rams, have been purchased for the purpose of interbreeding and the eventual selection of a type that will more effectually meet the needs of southwestern sheep breeders.

As the Dorset is pre-eminently a mutton sheep and noted for prolificacy and fall dropping of lambs, it is hoped that a cross with the other two strains will produce a breed that combines a good quality of wool and the conformation for mutton purposes; also the dropping of fall lambs to hit the early spring markets. The outcome of these experiments will be watched with interest by stockmen, as the farm sheep is gaining in popularity over the whole southwest and is proving a money maker.

Dehorning Dairy Animals.
Dehorning is now so universally practiced that a grade herd with horns is in seldom seen in this country. Many pure bred herds are now dehorned, and I am sure the time is not far distant when all will be, writes a correspondent of the Homestead. I knew for years before I did come to it that I ought to dehorn my herd, but in 1900 and 1901 I had my best cow and another good one ruined by being gored in the udder, so in the spring of 1902 I dehorned the whole herd, using the clippers. If I had it to do over again I would by all means use the saw for old animals, as much less bleeding results. Since that time I have dehorned the calves when from one to four weeks old, using caustic soda or caustic potash, and when caustic is used (and it is no trouble to do it right) it leaves the head in as good shape as on a polled animal and really better, as there is less of the poll.

A society for prevention of cruelty to the soil should be formed to prevent farmers who don't read the agricultural papers from mixing the potash and phosphoric acid and selling it without proper return to the land of their equivalent.

Hog Notes.
Regularity in feeding fattening hogs is very important. Hogs know to the minute when feeding time comes and if not fed will fret off part of their previous gain. One thing that cannot be overlooked in the growing of pigs and the fattening of hogs is pure clean water for them to drink.

One successful feeder always gives his hogs all the clean water they will drink before he gives them their grain ration.

Constipation is very rare in a herd of fattening hogs that have all the clean water they will drink. Pure air, pure water, clean food and a clean place to sleep make hogs profitable.

The Dairy Barn.
The cows' barn, milkman, milk house and separator all must be clean for best results. Take, for instance, the barn in which the cows are kept. If it is allowed to become dirty and full of foul smelling odors and manure allowed to accumulate in it for weeks at a time it would be next to impossible to handle milk in such a barn without bringing it in contact with thousands of undesirable bacteria, as it is in filthy, foul places that bacteria thrive and accumulate by the millions.

Shelter For Hogs.
A very important matter in successful swine growing is good shelter, for, while other animals on the farm may apparently be content to remain out in the cold and rain, the hog invariably selects a nice, warm, dry place. So for the good of this animal do not go contrary to his nature and compel him to expose himself to the elements, but provide for him a comfortable, warm and dry bed.

Gentleness With Stock Pays. It is a great pleasure to have none but gentle stock on a place. A cross sow or cow is a nuisance besides being dangerous at times. If started right and handled carefully animals are easily taught to be gentle.

The Easter services in All Saints were of a very joyous nature. The decoration of the chancel and its approach was beautiful with hyacinths and other bright flowers. Especially lovely were the carnations and lilies contributed by Mrs. Suckling. The choir rendered special Easter music, the organist, Miss Millie Withers, doing excellent work on the new organ used for the first time since its installation. The Rector, Rev. W. T. Suckling preached an admirable sermon on the "Resurrection" showing how this greatest event in the history of the world was the keystone of Christianity, a present power kindling the spirit of man to new hope and confidence in a future beyond the grave, how the soul asserted its capability of deathless existence and dwelling beautifully at the close on the surety of our meeting those whom we had loved and lost.
