CITY MAY EXTEND ITS CAR SYSTEM

Works Commissioner Asked to Bring in Report on Situation in Suburbs.

FAVORS MOTOR BUSES

Controller Church Thinks They Will Take Place of Trolleys.

An extension of the civic car system is likely to result from the action of residents on St. Clair avenue in protesting against the construction of civic car barns on the proposed site on St. Clair avenue.

The deputation which waited upon the board of control brought the matter of transportation to the attention of the authorities for the hundredth time and considerable discussion resulted. The outcome is that the board recommended that Works Commissioner Harris should bring in a report on the St. Clair avenue site and at the same time bring in a report on the extension of the city's car system to the suburbs.

Motor buses also came in for comment. Acting Mayor Church stated that a company in the city was eager to get a franchise to run buses to the suburbs, but he stated that he was not in favor of handing out any exclusive franchise. The company could take out a license and operate that way, but the city would guarantee them protection from competition.

Controller Church is an apostle of the motor bus. He thinks that there is something in the claim that before many years the motor bus will put the trolley car in the discard. "William Bartley Parson's report to the United States Congress on the transportation problem in Washington says that before many years motor buses will take the place of trolleys in the American capital," says Controller Church.

If Commissioner Harris reports unfavorably on the St. Clair avenue car barn site, it is possible that the site will be handed over for a park, since this district needs one badly.

CONSERVATIVE FAVORS IRISH HOME RULE

LONDON, Aug. 5.—(Can. Press.)—Charles Armstrong, the Montreal railway contractor, who is a Conservative candidate for Coles Valley, declares he would not object to Ireland having the same kind of home rule as Canada. He would have such a system applied to Scotland and Wales as the house of commons had too much in hand already to attend to the local matters, and Armstrong says there is too much blind party following at Westminster, and he wants to represent those who are opposed as well as those voting for him.

GAMBLE WAS SEEN NEAR DAMAGED ROPE

Witness Swears to Seeing Union Official Sitting Near Coil Burnt With Acid.

WHITBY, Aug. 5.—In order to give Mr. Hartley Dewar time to go into his case, the crown this morning granted a week's adjournment of the trial of Stoddard Gamble, business agent for the Structural Ironworkers' Union, on a charge of injuring a rope that was used in scaffolding work. Since the first hearing the charge has been amended by placing a value of $20 on the rope, so as to make the offence indictable.

Magistrate Jepson of Pickering this morning heard several witnesses, among them being William Black, engineer on the derrick at the Dixie bridge. Black swore to seeing Gamble talking with the men on the job in the vicinity of the derrick. He stated that he saw Gamble and a man named McCuaig sitting on a box near the derrick and observed Gamble's hands moving as if he were spilling something out of a bottle and a minute or two afterwards he threw something away, which he supposed was a bottle. Then Gamble and his companion started throwing stones and sticks at the place where the bottle, which was produced in court, had been picked up.

L. J. Rogers, chemist, of Toronto University, gave results of a test of the rope. The samples submitted to him contained sulphuric acid, which had corroded and destroyed the fabric. Traces of sulphuric acid were also found in the bottle submitted to him.

Joseph Jordan, a fireman on the job, corroborated Black's evidence about Gamble being around the derrick. The magistrate refused bail in ordering Gamble to be put back for a week.

TWO KILLED WHEN CARS LEAVE TRACK

KINGSTON, Aug. 5.—Two men were killed in an accident at Farham on the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway this morning, when two cars attached to a construction train left the tracks and were overturned.

One man was named Mitchell Ponty and the other was an Italian workman.

Five other workmen were injured. Word was sent here and Dr. W. W. Sands will go out to the scene and find an inquest.

FIRE RAGES THRU BUSINESS SECTION

ATHABASCA LANDING, Alta., Aug. 5.—A fire, which broke out at 2:30 a.m., resulted in destroying the greater part of the business section. Two hotels were wiped out and over thirty business places destroyed by the flames. The fire started in the Grand Union Hotel, and the fire fighting appliances were totally inadequate.

Five other workmen were injured. Word was sent here and Dr. W. W. Sands will go out to the scene and find an inquest.

TO MOTORIZE CITY FIRE DEPARTMENT

Probe Into Recent Holocausts May Result in Immediate Action.

REPORTS ASKED FOR

Board of Control Will Make Thoro Investigation Into Water Pressure.

As a result of the big fire of the last three days, the investigation now in progress, it is possible that the Toronto fire department will be motorized in the near future.

The first hearing of the fire investigation board of control was held yesterday afternoon when the board conferred with the chief of the fire department, Mr. J. H. Harris. At the board's meeting the morning the investigation was ordered, and the board was asked to report on the water pressure and the manner of fighting the fire.

Mr. J. H. Harris is asked to report on the water pressure in the Jersey avenue fire, the Exhibition fire, the fire on the waterfront, the fire that occurred on a street dealing with the water pressure and the manner of fighting the fire.

Commissioner Harris is asked to report on the waterworks system, the high level pumping station and the condition of the water mains in the city. It is claimed that many of the mains will be replaced with sand and this statement is being investigated.

Acting Mayor Church informed the board that there was no cause for alarm. "What this means, in view of the failure of the water pressure in the last few days, no one can tell."

"We intend to hold a very thorough investigation," said the acting mayor to the board. "At first we thought of inquiring into the water pressure in the fire and waterworks departments and the manner of fighting the fire."

Motorize Fire Trucks. "It is possible that as a result of this investigation the board of control will pass a resolution to motorize the fire trucks of the city's fire department. Chief Thompson has been asked to bring in a report on motor trucks, and it is expected that he will have it ready in a matter of days. The board is also inquiring into the fire departments all over the city, and it is expected that the board will pass a resolution to motorize the fire trucks of the city's fire department."

L. W. W. OFFICIAL BLOCKS SETTLEMENT

The End of the Duluth Dock Strike Seems Further Away Than Ever.

DULUTH, Aug. 5.—(Can. Press.)—The strike situation at the Alouez docks has changed from tonight. The strikers, who were thought ready to go back to work today, refused to do so. It was then expected that new men would take their places, but the men who were thought to be breakers quit in a body when they found out that they were mixed up in a strike.

The strikers had signified a willingness to go back to work; the dock officials had made all the concessions the strikers demanded, and had offered to give the men an increase of 15 cents a day in pay—the demand for higher wages being a later issue brought up by the men who were thought to be breakers. L. W. W. succeeded in stopping the move for conciliation.

It was said that the L. W. W. man had visited the Missabe docks and the Iron Range docks at Two Harbors and had obtained the promise that the men in those docks would strike in sympathy with their fellow-workers on the other properties.

OFFICERS RECEIVE LIGHT SENTENCES

Were All Found Guilty of Betraying Military Secrets to Krupp's.

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—Light sentences were imposed on the officers and men of the German Ordnance Corps who were found guilty by court-martial here for several days on charges of betraying military secrets, the acceptance of bribes and subordination.

All were found guilty. Lieut. Thill, here for several days on charges of betraying military secrets, the acceptance of bribes and subordination, was sentenced to two months in prison. Lieut. Seubler and Lieut. Hinze to four months each and Lieut. Hoge to 45 days. The first three lose their commissions, but Hoge remains in the army.

Chief Clerk Pfeiffer of the ordnance department was sentenced to six months in prison. Non-Commissioned Officer Schmidt to 1-2 months in prison and Non-Commissioned Officer Broese to three weeks' confinement in the barracks.

The evidence showed the prisoners had disclosed to Krupp's representative information in reference to government contracts.

BULK OF ESTATE GOES TO ADOPTED DAUGHTER

Heirs of the late H. L. Smyth, widow, inherit an estate totaling $53,132.75. Mr. Smyth was a married man, business agent of the firm of H. L. Smyth & Co., 33 Malinda street, and resided at 631 Huron street.

The bulk of the estate is made up in life insurance of which the testator carried $20,000. The items are valued at $1,003.89 interest in the firm which bears his name, and real estate, $7,290. The will was a marriage settlement for Mrs. Charlotte Mary Evans, an adopted daughter, $43,132.75, while two sisters of the testator, Misses Fanning and Sibbie Smyth of London, England get a legacy of $5000.

BOOK REVIEWS BY CHESTER FIELD

Immigration

In this work, Henry Pratt Fairchild has endeavored to regard immigration not merely as a national problem, but as a "sociological phenomenon, of world-wide significance." He sets the question forth as a part of an inclusive conservation program for all humanity, and in doing so reveals comprehensive knowledge not only of the constant and unchanging fundamental matters or principles which underlie the movement, but of its present-day political or sociological aspect, which is ever changing with the opportunities and responsibilities which changes afford. In regard to the greatest and most universal argument for immigration, the economic one, and the plea that the industrial organization of this country demands the free admission of aliens, the writer is doubtful as to the advantages to be gained by the instant demand for cheap labor, and that a sudden cessation of immigration would check the rapid expansion of those industries, it would not necessarily prevent their growth, wholly dependable upon home resources, human as well as material.

Wayfaring in France

"Wayfaring in France, from Arriving to the Bay of Biscay," by Edward Harrison Baker, is a delightful companion for one who likes to survey the unbroken track of the tourist. In 14 chapters the author describes his wanderings in the following districts: By the Upper Dordogne; The Moors of the Corrèze; In the Viscy of Turenne; The Valleys of the Ouyse and Roc-Amadour; From Roc-Amadour to Carrennac; Wayfaring Underground; In Upper Perigord; In the Valley of the Vézère; In the Valley of the Isle; From Périgueux to Ribérac; The Desert of the Double; A Canoe Voyage on the Garonne; By the Lower Dordogne and the Garonne; In the Landes. The volume is attractively illustrated with 50 wood cuts.

During a period of three years the writer traveled the whole of the district from the Valley of the Dordogne to that of the Garonne, thence through the vast pine forests of the Landes of Gascony, across the Valley of the Adour to the Bay of Biscay at Arcachon. It appears a certain hunger for the land, as well as a craving for that incomparable sense of well-being and physical gain which he believed to be derived only from the simplest way of seeing the world. His impressions are direct from nature, and from that charm of old customs belonging to simple life, such as he found in humble homes, and wayside inns, unexposed to the influences of moral and material change.

Value and Destiny

"The Value and Destiny of the Individual," by Dr. Bosanquet, displays a happy literary style of rare quality, and proves his ability to translate profound thought into limpid English, so that we could grasp a lasting impression in philosophy, even to those unversed in the subject. He takes for his theme the evolution of the soul, its relation to the universe, and its destiny. Dr. Bosanquet claims that the value of a philosophy cannot be estimated by the extent to which it is accepted by public opinion, but he admits that given a sound philosophy, the more adherents it gains, the better for the world. The book is written in such a way that the general reading public may share in and profit by its message.

The New Testament

"The New Testament Documents, Their Origin and Early History," consists of a series of lectures delivered by Dr. George Milligan, professor of divinity in the University of Glasgow, in the University of Toronto. He traces the history of the New Testament documents from the time of the Apostles to the present day. The volume is a masterpiece of scholarship, and is a most valuable contribution to the study of the New Testament. It is written in a clear and concise style, and is accessible to the general reader.

Some portions of the work, the preface says, have already appeared in the "Immigration and Crises" published in 1911. The discussion of the first species of invasion he reproduces, almost word for word, an article entitled "The Paradox of Immigration" printed in the same year. Macmillan are the publishers.

Kathleen Carter

"The Enchanting Mysteries of Kathleen Carter," is from the facile pen of Pierre le Clerc, and is just published by the Macmillan Company. It is a clever and fascinating story, and is a harmonious blending of the real and the ideal. The story is a wonderful philosophy play an important part. It is the story of the progression of a young girl—a dancing, an orchestra, a fiddler and a ballet dancer—from serving in a lodging house to a brilliant situation, and a wonderful philosophy play an important part. It is the story of the progression of a young girl—a dancing, an orchestra, a fiddler and a ballet dancer—from serving in a lodging house to a brilliant situation, and a wonderful philosophy play an important part.

REPLACING OLD GAS BUOY

BROCKVILLE, Aug. 5.—(Special.)—The government steam station is unloading the necessary equipment for the new gas buoy which is to be placed in the harbor. The old buoy, which was built in 1870, is to be replaced by a new one, which will be built of steel and will be much more durable.

EIGHT FIREMEN WERE INJURED IN SMASH

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 5.—(Can. Press.)—Eight firemen were injured in a smash in the London fire department yesterday. The accident occurred when a fire truck was backing up a hill and lost control, crashing into a building.

THREAT OF CITY FORCE THE FORCES VARIOUS FROM RAILWAYS—GOOD NIGHT

DETROIT, Aug. 5.—The threatened City of Detroit and Street Railway Co. the refusal of the three-cent fare on trolleys have a vote today, when a report was reached of the traction officials, including street railways, to deny all of the charges made by the city.

WILL MAINTAIN THE RATES ON I. C. R.

OTTAWA, Aug. 5.—Conservative members from Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island have combined to demand from the minister of railways the restoration of the local rates on the Intercolonial. Threats of resignation are made by these members if the increase put into effect by P. P. Gaultier seems months ago not abandoned.

HOUSE SHEEP IN TENT.

At a special meeting of the executive committee of the board of directors of the Canadian National Exhibition Association today it was decided to accommodate the poultry this year in the northwest wing of the new arena and provide the standard coops and provide the government as far as possible. The sheep will be housed in a large tent, which will be erected immediately.

Roses and Their Troubles

Yesterday we had the pleasure of talking about roses with a rosarian just arrived from a southern city, and very naturally the conversation fairly bloomed roses, in every shape and form.

Among other things, our visitor told us all about a certain rose bug that is peculiar to their neighborhood. This bug literally eats up the rose bushes, stem, leaf, and rose often leaving the bare bush standing to die later on from either the total loss of foliage, or as is thought much more likely, from the amount of poisonous matter that is smeared over the branches, much like the trail of slime a small leaves behind him.

These rose bugs, we were told, come flying up in great swarms, very much after the manner of locusts, and light on the bushes in the early morning. They may be found usually feeding in pairs on the under-side of the leaves. No amount of spraying with the most deadly solution seems to have any effect upon them.

As they are marked upon their bodies with large light-colored stripes, it is an easy matter to find them. Our visitor told us that she had spent hours, whole hours at a time, standing in the garden, clipping the bushes when they are ready to leave the neighborhood.

There is that wretched little green worm, with whitish head—I am sure he eats his way through the bushes as quickly as you can watch him. And now is the time he is gorgeously himself. During these hot, dry days you will find your bushes literally stripped, in a very short time, if you let him get any headway.

Early in the spring a list of medicinal sprays was given to us on the bushes. Use the whole-ole soap solution, these small green worms, spraying the undersides of the leaves, early in the mornings.

Dear knows, our roses have troubles enough of their own without anything like that!

Daily Fashion Talks BY MAY MANTON

A HANDSOME SUIT OF BROCHE COTTON

COTTON is so wonderfully beautiful this season that it is made up into some of the handsomest gowns. This one is buff in color, shows a broché effect and is trimmed with plain white sponge.

The buttons are little round ones in Irish crozier. The peplum gives the suggestion of a coat that renders the gown peculiarly adapted to the street while it is perfectly correct within doors and, consequently, serves a double purpose.

Cotton fabrics are among the most fashionable of the summer and the gown just as it is a most attractive one, but there are numberless materials that can be treated in the same way.

Crêpe de chine and charmeuse satin suggest themselves at once; for the simple effect of the pretty flowered voile combined with plain, the pongees that are very lovely this year and foulards are perfectly suited to a such treatment.

White foulard in a design similar to this one in black or blue, combined with plain white satin, would make a beautiful effect.

One of the natural colors would be pretty with the trimming portions of the same material employed in the natural color silks.

Broché crêpe would be lovely with plain and indeed any fancy and plain materials or any materials in contrasting colors can be treated in this way.

The blouse is a plain one but the vest and the peplum render it distinctive. If the open neck is not desired, a little chemisette can be worn beneath and, if liked, the sleeves can be made shorter.

The skirt consists of just four pieces with a wedge shaped panel at the front. The backs are overlapped slightly to the right center and seams only at the sides.

For the medium size, the blouse will require 2 1/2 yards of material, 2 1/4 yards 36 or 2 yards 44 inches wide, with 1 yard 27 inches for the collar, vest and cuffs; the skirt 5 yards, 2 1/4 yards 36 or 2 yards 44 inches wide, with 3/4 yard 27 for the panel.

The May Manton pattern of the blouse 7773 is cut in sizes from 34 to 42 inches waist measure; of the skirt 7708 from 22 to 32 inches waist measure. They will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of 15 cents for each.

THE TRIPLE TIE BY A. H. C. MITCHELL (Continued From Saturday)

Three of the men looked at the man with the black beard as if expecting him to do all the necessary talking. He smoked in silence for several minutes. Then he spat and said: "I reckon you all kin write."

Gordon had a pencil, but no paper. However, he discovered a small paper bag, which he slit down the sides with his knife, making it a long, narrow sheet. Then, with the bottom of a tin plate for a desk, he very slowly wrote the following remarkable letter in a large hand:

Friend Mildred: I write to tell you I am very well and for you and Elmer and also your Mother not to worry as I am being well treated. Especially as I cannot see my friends; but on being cheerful and the Best will come out right in the end. I wish you would have someone to go Elmer and please notify Steve and all the others that you are home. Must look for me. Yet I will soon have, I expect, another Opportunity to write you. You may possibly expect it soon. Love to all.

When Mildred received these lines (which she did the following morning) she must have thought it a queer letter to get from the man she was so worried about. It was not a love letter, nor did it seem to say much of anything in any definite degree. Yet Gordon had deliberately written it in a hidden place, the girl's ingenuity to decipher the hidden meaning. As a matter of fact, the meaning was so literal that Gordon, as he wrote it, had doubts as to whether it would pass muster.

Gordon folded the sheet of paper twice, addressed it on the back to Miss Mildred and handed it to the black-bearded man, who read it slowly; so slowly, in fact, that Gordon feared he had discovered the simple cryptogram. He looked at the man and nodded and placed the letter in his pocket without anything in any definite degree. Yet Gordon had deliberately written it in a hidden place, the girl's ingenuity to decipher the hidden meaning.

From the moment the rope that bound Gordon had been removed, one of the four men had remained in the mountain, with a revolver in his hand. Every action of the mountaineers indicated that they meant to escape that night. At intervals he conversed with the captors into conversation, but without success. They were not sullen, or gloomy, or sulky; they simply refused to answer him. At this the black-bearded man, with a sort of apology, drew from a corner of the cabin an iron bar, several feet long, which he used in breaking the kind that are used in Georgia penitentiaries and locked the chain around the prisoner's ankle. Then he placed the letter in such a position at the foot of Gordon's bunk that he would not be inconvenienced very much by it as he wished him good night. He retired soon after that, one of the other men leaving Gordon to stand guard. The latter placed a foot on the head of the black-bearded man's bed and seated himself on the bench, six-shooter in hand.

Next morning Gordon had more of a chance to stretch himself. The letter was removed from his leg, and after breakfast he was taken outdoors and allowed to do as he pleased within certain limits. The place the mountaineers had chosen to take him was situated in a kind of cup or hollow in the hills. It was effectively concealed, and there was no chance of their being discovered, unless someone should inadvertently stumble on their hiding place. Figuring on this possibility, Gordon told himself there was but one chance in a million of anyone finding the place by accident. Off in the mountain country, several miles from a road that was almost never used except between the mansion and Pew Station, he was as much a prisoner as he was on some desert island.

His captors took absolutely no chance of his escaping. Whenever he went within the limits pointed out to him by the black-bearded man he was followed, as the ringmaster, long whip in hand, follows the performing horses in a circus, by one of the four men holding a gun ready for instant action. At intervals Gordon would try to start a conversation, but he did all the talking. Never were such silent men. The mountaineers proved to be. He could get absolutely no explanation as to why he was being held prisoner.

Before the day was over Gordon made a long speech if them in which he covered all the points he could think of. He told them who he was. He said he had never injured anyone. He asked them if he were being held for a ransom, in which case he invited them to name their figure. His proposition he received no reply, not in fact, could he get a word of any kind from them. Silence followed every question he asked. In spite of the explanation of this state of things, Gordon preserved his good nature throughout the day.

Wanted: Bat and Ball. After supper Gordon made another request. He said, with a smile: "As you gentlemen seem inclined to keep me here for several days, at least, there are a few things I would like to have. Can you get them for me?" "Maybe so," replied the black-bearded man. They were the first words Gordon could recall he having spoken that day. "Well, then, in the first place, I would like a tooth brush and a comb. Then I would like a baseball bat and two or three baseballs. I will pay for them, can you get them for me?"

The black-bearded man nodded. "All right, then," said Gordon, cheerfully. "And when can I write another letter?"

There was no reply to this question, and shortly after Gordon crawled into his bunk. The chain was placed on his ankle, one of the men took up guard duty, and the others retired for the night.

Gordon lay awake for some time thinking over the extraordinary predicament he found himself in. It is true, he had not most of the day in thinking about it, but it was such a puzzling problem that he could make no headway in the solution of it.

On the morning of the fourth day the youngest man of the four saddled the horse and rode out. Late in the afternoon he returned, bringing the things Gordon had asked for and a few other articles besides. He handed the baseball man a large envelope, which Gordon could see had come through the mail. The envelope was opened before his eyes, and Gordon saw the black-bearded man draw four deliberately written lines from it. He handed each of the other men and placed the other in his own pocket.

LAWYER LEAVES ALL TO WIDOW Mrs. L. E. Standish Inherits Fortune of One Hundred and Twenty Thousand.

The will of the late Ir Standish, filed for probate yesterday, names his widow, Mrs. Louise Eleanor Standish, 20 Warren road, sole heiress and executrix to a fortune of $124,175.92.

Mr. Standish was a member of the legal firm of Standish and Snider, and died on Feb. 17 last. The will bears date of August 8, 1908. The estate is made up mostly of real estate holdings, including over twenty-four mortgages, valued at $57,660, and $46,926 in other investments.

FARM LABORERS' EXCURSIONS. $10 TO WINNIPEG. Via Grand Trunk Railway, plus half cent per mile from Winnipeg to destination, but not beyond MacLeod, Calgary or Edmonton. Returning, $18 from Winnipeg, plus half cent per mile from points east of MacLeod, Calgary or Edmonton to Winnipeg (going dates: August 18—From all stations east of Kingston in Ontario. August 22—From all stations Toronto, Niagara and east of Orillia and Scotia Junction. August 25—From all stations north of, but not including main line Toronto to Sarnia, to and via Stratford; all stations Toronto and north and east of Toronto to Kingston. Sept. 3—From all stations Toronto, Niagara and east of Orillia and Scotia Junction. Sept. 5—From all stations Toronto to Niagara Bay inclusive and west thereof in Ontario. This is an exceptional chance to visit the west which is truly called the land of "golden opportunities," as many prosperous farmers and business men now residing in western Canada can trace the origin of their good fortune to a "farm laborers' excursion." The route via "Chicago" is an attractive one, many large cities and towns being passed en route, which breaks the monotony of the journey, there being something new to see all the time. The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway is the shortest and quickest route between Winnipeg and all points in Ontario. With smooth roads, through the newest most picturesque and most rapidly developing section of western Canada. Full particulars at any Grand Trunk ticket office, at White C. E. Hornum, district passenger agent, G. T. Railway, Toronto.

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING BY HENRIETTA D. GRAUEL DOMESTIC SCIENCE LECTURER

Kitchen Convenience A WOMAN has at last solved the vexed question of kitchen convenience by producing a piece of kitchen furniture that is the last word in compactness. This article is a cabinet made of steel, enameled white. It has all the convenience of the usual kitchen cabinet, but differs from it in being large enough to be really useful. Every woman who has a cabinet knows what that means, for most of these built up to this time, have been so shallow that it was not possible to close their doors without first emptying their shelves. But as I said in the beginning, this cabinet was planned by a woman and is both wide and deep and most attractive in appearance. Besides having flour bin, pastry and bread boards, cake and bread boxes and quantities of shelf room it has, at the right side, a splendid porcelain-lined refrigerator. This, too, is large and holds seventy pounds of ice with ease. The walls are double and lined in the most approved fashion so the food is cooled quickly and kept cool without waste of ice. At the lower left side of this wonderful cabinet, in the space ordinarily given over to cooking utensils, is a freeless cooker. This cooker is connected with electricity, but can be used independently of this fuel. However, you will doubtless use electricity because this cabinet contains a hot plate, heated in one moment by the magic power. This electric heater is what we have been looking for, a practical, economical stove, not too costly to run. The woman who has perfected this ideal piece of kitchen machinery is the wife of a man who made the first freeless cookers in this country. She saw their shortcomings and studied how to improve them and from that beginning she has improved every other article of kitchen furniture until at last she has reached an almost perfect result. All this time she has remembered to keep the manufacturing cost down so that this cabinet, cooker, refrigerator, electric stove-combination, can be had at the same price these articles could be bought for separately. This is a splendid achievement and it is to be hoped that all women will be encouraged by it to turn their own personal attention to inventing more convenient kitchen ways. Certainly this is primarily woman's work; men have given us some strange and awful "improvements" and we have seen what we can do. Suppose we try improving things ourselves and see what we can do.

THE CENTRAL GOLD RESERVE SCHEME.

Finance Minister White's stay in London synchronized with the appearance of an article in The London Times, explaining the purpose and intent of the clauses in the last Bank Act, creating a central gold reserve.

At present the banks have in their vaults about $8 million dollars in specie, and hold Dominion notes for which they may demand gold from the Dominion Government aggregating $4 million dollars.

By the central gold reserve legislation, the banks will be able to draw their gold or a considerable part of it from the vaults of the government, deposit it in the central reserve, and issue bank notes against it.

In the United States the emergency currency is being furnished by the government. In Canada under the central gold reserve plan it is to be furnished by the banks.

Another franchise to buy. With the full consent and approval of the city council, the township authorities granted a franchise to the Forest Hill Railway Company yesterday.

We ask these questions because The Telegram, which has a way of talking at large, or thru its hat, has stated that "the journals" to which it alludes there are a number of assumptions in The Telegram's assertion that seem quite baseless.

Note and Comment

This afternoon at the Necropolis all that is mortal of the late Albert H. Collins will be laid to rest. The "Duke" passed away peacefully yesterday morning at St. Michael's Hospital after an unsuccessful operation.

Walter Ledger was coming from Montreal 25 years ago on a night train that had two teams of cricketers, including the Toronto eleven.

Collins went thru a couple of fortunes; the last he inherited 15 years ago from a relative near London, Eng. Someone in Toronto suggested the purchase of an annuity, but Collins wanted to increase his capital.

The "Duke's" latest athletic exploit was to land a hat of 22 1/2 inches. J. J. McCaffery five years ago, he was to jump into the slip at Hanlan's Point, clothes and all, and get out himself in a specified time.

The "Duke" was never known to have an illness until he contracted the rheumatism that ended in his death. He laughed at the cold weather and the hardest of winters never induced him to wear an overcoat.

LACROSSE NOTES

Art Long, who was given Geo. Kalls to check on Saturday, had the St. Kitts boy on the jump all the time, and the only time he broke into the line was when Long was taking an enforced rest on the sidelines.

The grand stand work done around the corners of the field when the players went back to field the ball pleased the crowd immensely.

The Indians planning a grand review for Saturday at the Island. It seems a shame that Yeaman has to lie in bed and that the Indians should have a grand review on the field at a time when the weather is so hot.

The way Whitehead scooped up those shots at the beach on the holiday was great to see.

Orangeville and Maitland Juniors champions of their respective O.A.L.A. districts, play their semi-final championship game on a certain-raiser at the Island Saturday.

When any two teams go overtime three games in succession to decide the victor, then there must be something worth while going to see.

CHAMPIONSHIP CRICKET MATCH HAS MOST REMARKABLE ENDING

Eight Toronto Wickets Down and Two Men Absent the Second Innings For Paltry Total, Leaving Score Tie, and Holders Thus Retain the Trophy.

The Robertson Cup games at Varsity yesterday had a most remarkable finish. The Toronto Club retaining the trophy miraculously. The game ended in a tie, the total score at the end of two complete innings being:

St. Albans Cricket Club 245 Toronto Cricket Club 245 True only eight Toronto wickets fell the second innings, but the last two batsmen were absent and had St. Albans retired the St. Albans man for one less the cricket championship of Canada would have changed hands.

Usher, who had scored 62 the first innings, was out for a paltry two runs, falling to a catch by Wicket Keeper Heath. The Toronto batsmen were in a bad way, and the last two batsmen were absent and had St. Albans retired the St. Albans man for one less the cricket championship of Canada would have changed hands.

SEMI-FINALS REACHED FOR SEAGRAM TROPHY

Berlin Two, Waterloo and Hesper Are the Rinks Remaining.

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—Good progress was made today in the Twin City lawn bowling tournament. The semi-final stages have been reached for the Seagram trophy.

Two rinks of Queen City bowlers journeyed to Eastbourne on the choice summer resorts on Lake Simcoe, on Saturday last, and played two games, winning both.

Each Eastbourne rink was composed of two ladies and two gentlemen. After the game the visitors were entertained at luncheon, the tables being laid under the trees around the beautiful Eastbourne lawns. Score:

INCENDIARY IS AGAIN AT WORK

Blaze Started in Rear of Wilton Avenue Firehall While Firemen Were Fighting Another Fire.

That an incendiary is operating in Toronto was further indicated last night when two fires broke out within a comparatively short distance of each other, the latter blaze being in the rear of the Wilton avenue fire hall, which was only saved from destruction by the determined efforts of Fireman Phillips and Sgt. Lydiatt of the Wilton avenue police station.

The first fire started in the stables of James Finley, 332 Ontario street, and rapidly spread to the stables of the Patterson Cider Co., adjoining. Here two horses were burned to death and two others so badly burned that they had to be shot.

The theory of the police and firemen is that the incendiary, after starting the fire on Ontario street, proceeded to the rear of the Wilton avenue hall and caused another blaze there as a "bearding the lion in his den" feat.

CANADA'S HELP SORELY NEEDED

Lord Selborne Indicts Government For Deliberately Failing to Lay Down Outlined Naval Program.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—(Can. Press).—"If Germany bids above present navy law, then our policy will be to keep to one," was the striking statement of Lord Ashby St. Ledger during the house of lords' debate yesterday on the shipbuilding policy of the government.

The debate was initiated by Lord Selborne, who indicted the government for deliberately facing a short sixty per cent margin which it was agreed was necessary and which they themselves had laid down. In 1915, Germany would have had 28 dreadnoughts in the North Sea, while Britain would only have a total of 39, exclusive of those not built by British taxpayers.

He said nothing about Canadian ships for that was a matter for the people of Canada. He only asked the house to vote how sorely that help from Canada was needed. The statements of Churchill proved that the government still considered themselves responsible for the defence of the whole British Empire. The suspension of the Canadian ships made it necessary for the first time to consider his policy and to expedite the construction of three ships.

If the Canadian ships are not forthcoming, he said, the whole shipbuilding program will have to be reconsidered. Criticism as to what we are going to do about protecting our trade in the Atlantic and in the Pacific? but he continued, you must not count the enemies' ships for purposes of calculation in home waters.

CLARKSON, August 5.—When a Grand Trunk flyer struck the buggy in which he was seated, shortly after one o'clock this afternoon, Mr. James Fairbairn was instantly killed at the railway crossing, just outside the village.

Mr. Fairbairn had been helped up at the crossing by the passing of a long freight train, and did not notice the approach of the flyer. He had just driven on the crossing, when the flyer came in the opposite direction to that in which the freight had been going, and, catching the buggy, threw the vehicle, horse and driver for a considerable distance.

The late James K. Fairbairn, with his family, had only recently come here to reside. He has purchased a small fruit and poultry farm here, and was superintending this. He is survived by his widow, the well-known writer and journalist, and member of the staff of The Toronto Daily Star, one son, William, now in Montreal, and five daughters, all at home.

Police Receive Farewell Letter From Woman Who Threatens Suicide.

Sir,—By the time this reaches you I will be at the bottom of the Chery street slip, as I have been despondent for quite a while. Good-bye. Despondent.

The above letter, posted to the Wilton avenue police station, was received there at 7:30 o'clock last night. Sgt. Lydiatt sent a man down to the docks to investigate, but at 2 o'clock this morning no discovery had been made. The search will be continued unless circumstances show the letter to be a hoax.

PORTUGAL'S PRESIDENT IS REPORTED DEAD

Rumor Says He Died Three Days Ago, But News Was Suppressed.

PARIS, Aug. 5.—(Can. Press).—A rumor current here tonight, and which is said to have originated in the Portuguese consulate at Seville, Spain, is to the effect that Manuel de Arriaga, president of the Portuguese republic, died three days ago, but that the government is withholding the announcement of his death from the people.

President de Arriaga has been seriously ill for some days with stone in the kidney and heart trouble.
