WAR SUMMARY THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

BEFORE Verdun what appears to be a second battle of the Somme is proceeding. While beating off three successive counter-attacks on their left wing, in the region of Hautremont and Douaumont yesterday, the French continued to make progress on the right wing, east of the Fumin Wood and north of Chenois.

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—Lt.-Gen. Sir Sam Hughes, etc., has received the following report from the Canadian war records office: Canadian Corps Headquarters in France, Oct. 23, via London, Oct. 25.—The mystery of the Regina trench is solved. The resistance of the Germans at this point has been finally broken, and the British are now in possession of a line to which the enemy attaches considerable tactical importance.

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—It is learned in official circles that much stronger action was taken by the government to bring about a settlement of the C. P. R. strike than even appeared from the public appeal made to the warring parties by the prime minister yesterday. It is stated that a letter which amounted to an ultimatum was sent to the C. P. R. management announcing that if a settlement was not arrived at by the government would take over and operate that railway.

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—A violent battle continues on its course in the Falcian and Predal Passes of Roumania and in both places owing to the impetus of the German attack the Roumanians have receded a little. This information which comes from Russian sources, is merely corroborative of the German reports of yesterday, where they gained Predal Village and entered Vulcan Pass for the second time of the campaign.

MAJOR C. A. MOSS GIVES UP HIS LIFE

Popular Member of Toronto, Bar Has Died of Wounds in French Hospital.

LATEST CASUALTY LIST

Lieut. Gus Stupart and Capt. Frank R. Newman Are Also Reported Dead.

Toronto names in the latest casualty lists total 50. Those killed in action or died of wounds number nearly twenty.

Major C. A. Moss, one of the most prominent members of the local bar, has died of wounds, in the Red Cross Hospital at Rouen, France. He was the son of former Chief Justice Sir Charles Moss, and son-in-law of Mr. Justice Britton. In 1914 he was a candidate in the Liberal party in the provincial campaign.

Word that he was wounded came two weeks ago, and recently he was reported to be making favorable progress.

Soon after the war started he joined the Royal Grenadiers, and gained his majority. He went overseas with the 81st Battalion. On arrival in England he was so anxious to get to the firing line that he took the rank of captain. At the front he was connected with the 3rd (Toronto) Battalion. At the opening of the weekly court yesterday Mr. Justice Riddell paid a tribute to Major Moss, saying that "he was a man of high profession, an accurate lawyer, efficient counsel, an honest man and a gentleman. He was quickly arriving on the battle front, he displayed in the field the coolness all we know him expected of him, and the devotion and valor which are the glory of the British soldier."

Lieut. Gus Stupart of the 75th Battalion, eldest son of Sir Frederick Stupart, director of the Dominion meteorological service, died of wounds in France on Oct. 22. Lieut. Stupart was educated at Upper Canada College. He joined the Queen's Own Rifles with the intention of going overseas as a private, but in January a commission was obtained for him in the York Rangers. In September, 1915, he was appointed to the 81st Battalion. When the 81st was broken up into drafts Lieut. Stupart was sent to the military school at Shorncliffe, and only went to France about the middle of September. Sir Frederick Stupart's second son, Victor, is in England qualifying for the Royal Flying Corps.

Capt. Frank R. Newman, who has just died of wounds, was for three years local manager of Canadian Fairbanks Morse Co., limited. He joined the Q. O. R. in October, 1914, and one month later was attached to the Toronto Overseas Battalion.

Pte. D. B. Fox, killed in action, was born in Toronto 31 years ago. His mother lives at 5 Park road. He went overseas with the Mounted Rifles.

Pte. Ivan Collins, 344 Delaware avenue, had died of heart trouble in Connaught Hospital. He was eighteen years old.

Pte. T. B. Parker, killed in action, went away with the 3rd Battalion. He is mourned by a wife and three children, living at 8 Bridge street.

Pte. J. H. Culver, 92nd Battalion, is reported killed in action, but no official word has been received from Ottawa. His mother lives at 40 Cowan avenue.

Pte. Robert Devey, who went overseas with the 74th, is reported to have died of wounds. A sister lives on Ketchum avenue.

Pte. Alfred George Grigg, who has died of wounds, enlisted with the 75th Battalion. His wife lives at 198 Euclid avenue. His death was brought about by an enemy sniper.

Pte. David McKay, killed in action, enlisted in Calgary. His wife and baby live at 85 Belmont street.

Pte. J. H. Polson, 45 Concord avenue, reported to have died of wounds, enlisted in Toronto last winter with the 88th Battalion.

Pte. Lindsay McKinstry, reported killed in action, formerly lived at 10 Garden avenue. He had lived in Toronto ten years.

Pte. Clarence Carton, 74th Battalion, has been killed in action, according to a special message received by his relatives in Toronto. He was only 18 years old.

Lance-Corp. Alf Searle, 24 Bolshay avenue, who went overseas with the 79th Battalion, is reported to have died.

Pte. John Frizzell 91 Rainsford road, is reported to have died on the battlefield. He leaves a wife and four children.

Pte. A. G. Burnsade, 457 St. John's road, killed in action, leaves a widow and seven children. He enlisted with the 82nd and had been several months at the front.

After his name appearing three times in the casualty lists as wounded,

Pte. Neil Stewart, 131 John street, is reported to have died. He belonged to the Q. O. R. when in Toronto.

Pte. Wm. King, killed in action, enlisted in Toronto with the 81st Battalion. His home is in Craighurst, Ont.

Lance-Corp. Edward Bailey, killed in action, lived at 117 Marchmont road. He enlisted in the 85th Battalion and was married only a fortnight before going overseas.

Pte. W. G. Watterson, 38 Rosebourn avenue, killed in action. He was 43 years old and married.

Treasurer to Raise Loan, Says Market Looks Good

Finance Treasurer Bradshaw yesterday announced his intention of raising a new loan of $2,500,000. He declared last night that the market looked good at the present, and the bonds should be readily absorbed because they are for an average of only 2-5 years and payable in gold to both Toronto and New York.

The rate of interest is five per cent. Patriotic grants of $1,494,000 are to be financed out of the loan.

ASKS FOR INJUNCTION

Avalanche Likely if Attorney-General is Not Added as Party to Suit Entered.

Unless the attorney-general is added as a party to the case entered by Samuel E. Fieldhouse, a confectioner, of Queen street east, who is suing the city for an injunction and $10,000 damages, 300 suits may be launched against the city in connection with the Morley avenue sewage disposal plant.

Application was made on behalf of Mr. Fieldhouse before the master-in-chancery for an order adding the attorney-general.

It is pointed out that unless the attorney-general is added it may be held that the plaintiff is not entitled to an injunction, and that damages alone will satisfy his claim. Other residents in the neighborhood would be affected by an injunction, but would not be satisfied by an award of damages to Mr. Fieldhouse.

Sues American Club. A writ has been entered whereby R. H. Howard and Co. are suing the American Club for $2,319,000 alleged to be due on accounts for goods sold during the last three months of 1915, and the first six months of 1916, with interest.

"DON'T WANT EITHER TO FIGHT OR PAY TAXES"

Comment of Commissioner Ardagh to Applicant for Assessment Reduction.

"A lot of you fellows don't want either to fight for your country or pay your taxes," declared William Ardagh at the court of revision yesterday, when Henry Busbaum, 216 West Queen street, appealed against the assessment on his Centre avenue property.

"They have to stay home and watch their property," added W. A. Smith. Busbaum was refused any reduction when it was shown that land he tried to sell for $30,000 was assessed for only $11,000.

Once more Judge Morson's income tax was confirmed. The assessment is $3820, which means he has to pay $ tax of $81.45. A decision on the same matter is pending from Judge McGillivray of Windsor, which may upset the court's ruling. In that event Judge Morson will probably carry his case to the privy council.

The Hotel had its business assessment of $35,000 cut, as also did the Prince George on its assessment of $10,491.

Old Jail Over the Don Must Close Up, Says Mayor Church

According to Mayor Church, the old jail over the Don is to be closed up and Cottage No. 2 at the Industrial Farm is to be declared a common jail. The government, he says, now shows a disposition to meet the city in its request.

At present there are only 80 prisoners at the Don.

The big issue is, what will be done with the jail officials. They are appointed by the government and paid by the city.

Recruiting Officers Discuss Methods for the Province

The three recruiting officers for Ontario, recently appointed under the military service commission at Ottawa, W. K. McKay, No. 1 Division; Lieut. Col. Brock, Toronto, and Capt. W. N. Bowen of Kingston, were in conference yesterday with Dr. A. H. Abbott, of the provincial committee for the organization of resources to discuss recruiting methods for Ontario.

No definite conclusions were reached, and it is not probable that anything definite will be done until the return of R. B. Bennett, M.P., of Calgary.

Prohibition in the Province Is Working Satisfactorily

The Ontario License Board has been collecting statistics with regard to the effect of the Ontario Temperance Act throughout the province. There are now almost complete, and J. D. Flavell, chairman, said yesterday that they were remarkable.

In Toronto the average number of arrests under the Act has been nine a day, as compared to 31 before the act was in force. The results in other parts of the province are equally satisfactory, he said, but there has been a slight increase recently. Means will be taken by the board to combat this reaction.

BATTLE PICTURES PAINTED IN ACTION

Records of the War Made While Shot and Shell Fall All Around the Artist.

COMING TO TORONTO

Official Government Paintings to Be Seen at Simpson's for Red Cross.

Accompanying the official French Government war relic exhibit which is to be shown on the top floor of the store of the Robert Simpson Company, Limited, for two weeks beginning October 26th, is a most unusual collection of water color paintings. Together with the 75-centimetre guns, torn mortars and wrecked aeroplanes, will be shown these thrilling battlefield paintings, brilliant in their colorings, some of them pitifully gruesome.

Charles Duvent, the famous French war artist, has furnished a spectacular setting of several dozen pictures painted under shell fire. These depict many thrilling moments in the French advance and various scenes at the front.

Duvent's work in itself makes an exhibition worthy of the world's greatest museums. Experts here declared that Duvent has struck a new military note and has called his paintings "psychopictures." Critics say that his work is more throbbing and human than that of Defaille or De Neuville. Duvent was several army officers that some of these paintings were sent to General Joffre, who at once secured a commission for Duvent to paint official government pictures, and a little later, Duvent was back in the trenches.

Work on his paintings, some of which were ruined by shrapnel before completion.

After a year on the western fighting front in both France and Belgium, where he sketched numerous battlefields and actual engagements, Monsieur Duvent, who is a member of the French Academy and the Legion of Honor, came to America last spring for an allied battle in New York, at which his paintings were first shown. He had been continually under fire and perhaps exposed to danger more frequently than the regular soldier.

Had to Take Refuge. "I was commissioned by the French Government to go to the firing line along the entire battle front and give to the world true pictures in colors wrought by savage warfare," said Mr. Duvent in discussing his paintings. "On many occasions I was under fire in various parts of France and Belgium. My commission instructed me to finish all my pictures on the field, for the entire battle front and give to the world true pictures in colors wrought by savage warfare."

Before leaving Paris, Monsieur Duvent released Michael Flannigan and Patrick Walsh to obtain possession of $1925 in bank notes stolen from the New Westminster branch of the Bank of Montreal and placed in a petty deposit vault in Toronto. He was remanded until this morning, when he will appear before Judge Winchester for sentence.

The Westminster branch was robbed about six years ago, and over $250,000 was secured in bills. Since then some of the stolen bills have been discovered in circulation with the numbers altered. Patrick Walsh, a Chicago railroad man, was found guilty some two years ago of bringing some of the stolen money into Canada. He was released on bail, pending a stated case and when the conviction was sustained he failed to appear for sentence.

HAS HANDS BADLY BURNED. While trying to extinguish some alcohol which had become ignited upon the floor of a two-story factory at 171-3 Sheridan avenue yesterday noon, Thomas McMann, the occupant of the premises, had his hands badly burned. The firemen were called and first aid was rendered McMann by Lieut. Potts of Cowan avenue fire hall.

WILLS PROBATED

Toronto General Trusts Corporation yesterday applied for ancillary probate of the will of George Hyde, chartered accountant, who died in Montreal April 6, 1916, leaving an estate valued at $111,56 to his widow, Mrs. A. E. P. Hyde. The liabilities of the estate are given as $87,178.

Lewis Toole, an East Gwillimbury farmer, died on Jan. 21, 1914, leaving three farms and other property valued at $27,412. The widow, Mrs. Agnes Toole of Mount Albert, has applied for administration on behalf of herself and her six children, Clarence, Morton, L. H. Lells and A. C. Toole of Mount Albert, and Arnet Toole of Winnipeg.

Pte. James Douglas, who was killed in action in Flanders August 12 last, by his will, left an estate of $2720 to his wife, Margaret Douglas.

"My Dear Monsieur Duvent, I am glad that you are accompanying your collection of sketches and pictures to Toronto. I am especially interested in the privilege of seeing them. What I like especially is the sincerity and truth with which you rendered your subjects. I have visited almost all the places you have depicted, and the result you have obtained is living and admirable. These destructions, as I have said before, are barbaric, made simply in the spirit of destruction, without any military reason whatsoever and against all stipulation of international law, simply to spread more misery and terror among the civil population. It is all useless and pitiable, and it is, indeed, wish that you should take them to America and let the Canadian public be able to form an idea of what the German conception of war between civilized people is. They have not changed their methods since prehistoric times, and, alas, the present experience goes to prove they will never change. Their methods may be up to date, but they are none the less barbaric, and so they will remain eternally.

"Wishing you a successful and pleasurable journey to a country where everything French is sure of a warm welcome, believe me, faithfully, yours, "Whitney Warren."

Rheumatism A Home Cure Given by One Who Had It

In the spring of 1898 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, even to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

Premier Borden's Appeal

Better late than never will be the commendatory endorsement of Premier Borden's appeal for recruits from all who have the honor and welfare of Canada at heart. The appeal is apparently part of an organized effort to awaken the empire to the supreme need of all its resources in men and morale, as well as in munitions and money. The last papers from Australia contain Premier Hughes' strong manifesto in connection with the referendum to be taken on Saturday next on the question of compulsory military service. Gen. Haig has just issued an appeal from the front in which the kind of men as well as the quantity of men needed are described. Sir Robert Borden's appeal consequently comes at a time when the need is manifest, and it can only be assumed that the greatness of the need has prompted this annual action. During the past four months, he remarks, the number of enlistments has greatly decreased, and having regard for the future, he says: "The time has come for this appeal." And it follows as he proceeds that "it is the urgent duty of the Canadian people to join with the government in organizing the full power of the nation in terms of human energy." He therefore appeals, "most earnestly" to the people of Canada, to the men of military age, and to all others, that they place themselves at the disposition of the country for such service as they are deemed best fitted to perform.

It can only be added to this that the man of military age who hesitates to take his place where he best may serve, cannot be regarded as a true Canadian, whether he be born here, or have sworn fealty to the country or have adopted the Dominion as a residence. It has been somewhat disappointing to observe the casualty lists of Canadian losses filled chiefly with addresses in the British Islands, thus giving weight to the charge that the native-born are less interested in the defence of Canada than her foster children. Sir Robert Borden states that the climax of the war is rapidly approaching, and that the last hundred thousand men we place in the fighting line may be the decisive factor in the struggle that is to determine the destiny of the whole world.

It may seem strange that such an appeal should prove ineffective. The recruiting offices are not thronged with young men, as they might easily be. Crowds of young men of the age for which Gen. Haig particularly asks, 18 to 25, are to be found in all places of amusement. Teams of hockey players, amateurs and professionals, are being organized of exactly the men who are needed, and teams of men in khaki are expected to play with the stay-at-homes. It might encourage a finer spirit among our youths if the military teams declined to play with teams made up of slackers.

Public opinion must be organized on this recruiting question. Another year, perhaps two or more, of war may be the result of the failure to get men to bring the conflict to a close with a decisive preponderance of forces. The slower the recruiting, the longer the fighting will be. A good deal of our apathy and chicken-heartedness is probably due to the example set by the United States of a national selfishness that finds its way into and weakens the heart of every individual in the nation. Feeling that we ought, one wretched pretext or another arises to stifle the voice that would say we must. And when the individual fails to rise to the manhood that turns ought into must, the nation itself must take the responsibility as Australia will probably do on Saturday.

Premier Hughes bases his appeal largely on the necessity of keeping up the forces already sent at their full strength, and in an eloquent passage asks what Australian, as we might ask, what Canadian, will consent to partial withdrawal from this life-and-death struggle?

"Who amongst you," he proceeds, "will approve of a base abandonment of our allies, of our kinsmen and of our fellow-citizens in the trenches? Belgium, whose only crime was that she was a small and peaceful nation, did not turn her back on duty, and she triumphed beneath the iron heel of the despot, today stands as she did at Liège and Namur, resolute to die rather than surrender. France still stands firm and covered with glory; and the bones of her dead sons litter the soil of their dear country like shells on the ocean beach, yet she is not dismayed, and will fight on to the last man."

No nation can be great if her citizens are not great-hearted. France is great and glorious and moves in the van of the nations of the earth, glorious in peace as in war, because her sons can sink their personal aims and wishes in the glorious life of their country. Canada can never be great in a national sense until her sons can find something greater and more worth living for in the life of their nation than in their own little pursuits and pleasures. The appeal, in short, is an appeal to the manhood of the nation, and it could only be because manhood was lacking that no response should be forthcoming.

No one can forget the marvelous answer which Britain gave to Lord Kitchener when he issued his first appeal for 500,000 men. "I have said that I would let the country know when more men were wanted for the war. The time has come," a simple message on a single sheet of paper, splendidly brought to our attention in the artistic facsimiles now being sold for the Kitchener Memorial and the Red Cross Funds. The time has come for Canada, and there should be such a voluntary response to the premier's appeal as will obviate the necessity of the only alternative—conscription.

Easy Money

The dead letter office at Washington is fairly swamped by an influx of letters, each one containing a silver dime, which, as the barker on the midway is fond of explaining, is "the tenth part of a dollar." Twenty-five thousand of these letters were sent from Minneapolis to Washington on Tuesday, and the silver stream is swelling to a flood. The letters are being sent to the dead letter office because a "fraud order" prevents their being delivered to the addressee in Minneapolis. Indeed the addressee is unable to find him. Hence the letters will go back to the people who wrote them, and a great number of silver dimes will soon again be in circulation.

The mothers, wives and daughters of the republic were the victims this time, and the fraud is rather an amusing one. Thousands of women all over the country received a letter from the "National Brokerage Exchange" of Minneapolis. To every woman who would send ten cents in silver, and write five friends, urging them to join an endless chain, the exchange promised a new 1917 model silk Petticoat. Apparently the women responded with great enthusiasm, and the manager of the exchange must have secured a large amount of money before he disappeared. The profit on each letter must have been small, because the swindler was out two cents a letter for postage and considerable overhead expense. Still, if he received twenty-five thousand letters a day for any length of time, he did pretty well for himself.

The lesson of the story seems to be that women can be lured by the bait that usually catches the ordinary man. Nearly every man who is swindled while trying to get something for nothing is himself at heart a swindler. The green goods, game, the three-card monte, the bohemian oats swindle, and a thousand like devices, rely for their success upon making the victim believe that somebody else is going to be the goat. The people who gamble on the price of wheat or some other commodity believe they can unload at a fancy price just before the market takes a tumble.

Nearly every woman who inveigled five friends into sending their dimes to the "National Exchange" probably figured that she would get the petticoat and they would get the laugh. One thing to be said, however, is that the average woman does not plunge. Ten cents is about her limit on a game of chance, and even then, as in the case we are discussing, she often gets her money back.

Extreme Ease of Money in New York Has Perilous Side

New York, Oct. 25.—Official announcement was made today by J. P. Morgan & Co. that a new British loan by American bankers, aggregating $300,000,000, had been arranged. It will bear interest at 5 1/2 per cent, and is payable in two instalments, one of three years and one of five years.

An interesting feature of the loan is, according to the firm's announcement, that because of the ease of money market here, it was arranged in advance of the time contemplated by the British Government, at an early date for a complete understanding of the terms of the settlement.

C.P.R. SETTLEMENT PLEASURES PREMIER

Borden Congratulates Both Sides on Amicable Agreement.

By a Staff Reporter.

Ottawa, Oct. 25.—Following upon the successful issue of the negotiations between the C. P. R. and its conductors and trainmen, S. N. Bery and James Murdoch, the men's representatives, wired from Winnipeg this afternoon the following telegram to the prime minister:

"Please! I desire to advise you that satisfactory settlement has been reached here and there will be no strike. Mr. Robertson assisted very materially in bringing about this happy result. G. D. Robertson is the president of the railway telegraphers' union. He was sent to Winnipeg as the special envoy of Hon. T. W. Crothers, minister of labor.

Sir Robert Borden wired to Messrs. Bery and Murdoch in reply: "Many thanks for telegram. I appreciate the fine spirit in which your company have met my appeal and I congratulate you upon the happy issue of the controversy."

NEARED TIME LIMIT

Winnipeg, Oct. 25.—Four and a half hours before the conductors and trainmen of the Canadian Pacific Railway were to go on strike a settlement was reached. Orders previously sent to local unions called on the men to leave their work at 3 o'clock this afternoon, Winnipeg time, and it was 12.30 before the conference representing the unions and the company were able to announce that the danger of a strike was over. They had been in conference practically continuously since 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

It is thought that extensive concessions were made by the company, since the men had stated that nothing would be accepted of their demands for a strike was over. They had been in conference practically continuously since 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

James Murdoch, one of the men's representatives at the conference, announced later that messages had been sent to all local chairmen that an agreement had been reached which would be satisfactory to the men.

TELLS OF WORK AMONG SOLDIERS

APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE

So Fine Were the First Canadians We Took Them for Guards, She Says.

By a Staff Reporter.

Heart stories gained from an experience of two years waiting on the soldiers as they left Victoria Station in old England to go to the trenches "somewhere in France or Belgium" were told by an Irishwoman, the Countess of Limerick, at Government House yesterday afternoon. The audience who listened was representative of the work of Canadian women along many lines, and the address brought workers on both sides of the Atlantic into close touch. The countess is in Canada in the interests of the special work of the countess which were opened first at the station and later at London bridge, which was offered the founders of the countess by the war office. Here the men are given meals free of charge as they come in or leave the country, and the comfort they experience from the entertainment given free of all charge has earned the gratitude of many thousands now in the trenches or other part of the war area.

Belgian refugees are amongst those who have been helped, and the coming of the first Canadians was received with great rejoicing. So fine was the appearance of the men that the attendants at first pronounced them to be guards. "You don't know him much, we thought of him," said the speaker. "When we remembered that they had come 3000 miles."

Everything Free. "Mother, what do we owe you for this?" said a soldier after he had enjoyed a meal served at the countess' table. "You owe us nothing," he was told, "everything here is free; this is our best entertainment to you before you leave for the front." "It's the first five things we've struck," said the soldier as he ran off to join his ranks.

Fifteen thousand men are served weekly, the service being done by volunteer workers, only one woman, the wife of the chauffeur, receiving any remuneration. Members of the royal family frequently assist. The countess herself being often on hand to hand the cup of cheering coffee to the men. The volunteers do all the scrubbing and dish washing. They work in these shifts of five hours each, and everything is done systematically. The expenses are met about twice a week, not a great sum when taken in individual cases, but when multiplied some thousands of times, it means that funds must be gathered to keep up the great work.

Traveling With Countess. Mrs. Hoskin, who is traveling with the countess, also told of the things being done in England, and Mrs. Burwick of Toronto, who was the first Canadian woman who had the privilege of assisting for a time in the overseas canteen, was amongst those present.

Lady Hendrie announced that N. V. Rowell, M.L.A., had consented to take any subscriptions which might be sent to assist the work in which Lady Limerick and others are so deeply interested.

At the close of the meeting the audience were invited into the drawing-room, where the distinguished visitor entertained them with several piano selections. Lady Limerick is a brilliant player and her charming numbers were much appreciated.

Negligence Charged and True Bills Are Found by Grand Jury

True bills were returned by the grand jury yesterday against Walter W. Dundas and Ryan and Co., charged with negligence. On June 2 it is alleged Dundas allowed an unlicensed chauffeur, Bertram Tipping, to take out a car. While going south on Avenue Road he struck Adelaide Maynard, causing her death. Tipping was yesterday found guilty of negligence in the sessions and sentenced to three months' imprisonment by Chancellor Boyd.

Ryan and Company sent out a delivery truck in charge, it is alleged, of Wm. Dundas, an unlicensed chauffeur, on May 30 last which struck and killed four-year-old Marion Robinson on Emmerson avenue. Cairns was found not guilty of manslaughter. The indictments bear a second count alleging defective brakes but of these the jurors made no report.

Guilty of Manslaughter in Jail Gets Three Months in Jail

After being out from 10.30 yesterday morning the jury in the sessions returned at 4 o'clock in the afternoon with a verdict of guilty of negligence with a recommendation of mercy against Bertram C. Tipping, who was on trial for manslaughter in connection with the death of Adelaide Maynard, who was struck by an automobile driven by the accused. He was sentenced to three months' imprisonment by Chancellor Boyd.

The good food that is paid for and NOT ALL CONSUMED in the various private houses, clubs, hotels, cafes, restaurants and boarding-houses in Toronto, and every city and town in Canada, this day—(we refer to the unconsumed food which is so often thrown away)—would feed thousands of families in the sadly stricken districts in the war zone.

But more than food is wanted, important essential and all that it is. MEN AND MONEY ARE BOTH MUCH REQUIRED. MEN, AND MORE MEN ARE REQUIRED.

Compare the recent Canadian casualty lists with the recruiting lists—(not only the list of men who volunteer, but the actual list of men who pass physically fit and attested.) Is it not shameful that our Canadian men are not able to get relieved occasionally from the firing line to obtain proper and much deserved rest and relaxation? It is right up to you, eligible men, between eighteen and forty-five (although we know of lots of cases of younger men than eighteen, and older—much older men than forty-five—who have TRIED and have been accepted) to serve.

Men wishing to enter the artillery branch of the service will be welcomed at Toronto Headquarters, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery.

World's Champion Boston Red Sox Beat All Records as Retiring Baseball Club

The champions of the world, the Boston Red Sox, promise already to beat all existing records as a "retiring" ball club. Bill Carrigan, miracle man of miracle men, has left for a "retiring" ball club, and now the report is that President Joe Lannin himself is about to step out in favor of a "retiring" ball club, who have banded together to buy his ball club.

The story is well founded that John J. McCarthy, proprietor of the Quincey House in Boston, and one of Boston's best-known sportsmen, is at the head of a group that has all but completed negotiations for the club. Associated with McCarthy will be his brother, C. J. McCarthy, and Joseph Kennedy, president of a Boston trust company and son-in-law of ex-Mayor Fitzgerald, the latter long a figure as the bell cow of the Boston Royal Rooters. The deal is expected to be announced within the next few days, although it is said that Lannin's price is as yet not quite low enough for the purchasers.

Lannin's retirement from Boston baseball will cause no little real sorrow in Boston. He has been an enthusiastic and generous in the extreme, and has established a popularity record that will be hard to equal. His success in business and health and business along other lines appreciated considerably since it was purchased. The story that President Johnson would in any way force Lannin out is regarded as ridiculous, and the fact that Lannin is too much social whirl on the part of some of the visiting press men.

Can Afford to Ask His Price.
 It may be also that, not getting his price, Lannin may stay in, but it is certain that he would prefer to quit with all his laurels secure. The story of the proposed sale of the club has developed slowly. It was even stated that Lannin would prefer to keep the club as a real estate proposition. It is rapidly acquiring possession of Fenway Park by taking up the bonds, and, as the property has increased considerably since it was purchased, the chance for a real clean-up would appeal to any real estate operator. It now seems, however, that Lannin has pretty well determined to quit.

According to a Boston despatch, there was a story that he would stick if he could get Bill Carrigan to come in with him as a partner. Bill, however, will only return in a high official capacity, perhaps as president of the club.

There has been a lot of sympathy for Eddie Riley, the popular secretary of the Red Sox, who has been very ill since before the world's series, and who has recently severed his connection with the ball club. Eddie and Lannin disagreed on the matter of responsibility in certain matters that have recently come to light. The club had Burns detectives on the ground through the latter part of the season trying to locate a leak. It was finally discovered, it is alleged, and a ticket seller and three ticket takers were summarily dismissed. Lannin is said to have held the idea that Riley should have known of certain conditions. Eddie, on the other hand, resented any sort of a slur on his honesty, and so the breach came about.

No one in baseball, or anywhere else, who knows Eddie Riley, has any doubt about his integrity and honor. President Lannin himself is quickest to set at rest any and all disagreeable rumors.

That Riley will have plenty of baseball offers if he wishes to return to the game is assured. He is efficient and capable, having grown up with the club which he became acquainted with under John J. Taylor's regime and when he was a kid in short pants. His first assignment was to take the old Jimmy Collins about on a western jump, and the nerve and tact that he showed in that trying occasion made him solid with his boss. Since then he has become one of the most popular men in the business, and is baseball's loss to have him out of the game even for the shortest sort of a period.

The retirement business will go still further if the Red Sox club is sold. We have already said that president, manager, a star pitcher and secretary, are about to leave other fields. Business Manager Tom Lannin, who has the privileges at Fenway Park and Vice-President Paul Lannin are all said to go with the big boss. It is a strange situation for a ball club that has performed in the big series of the championship of the world. A more wholesale retirement would be hard to find even in a ball club. The Taylor regime, however, are banking that the bug will not sting Ruth, Shore, Cady, Scott, Hooper, Lewis or any of the active assets of the championship organization.

If Lannin should sell his club at a price suggested by the offers made by Charley Ebbets to prospective buyers of the club, the Taylor interests, but the wealthier, men in the country. Ebbets said he would close with Jim Gaffney for $2,000,000.

Value of a Ball Club.
 At that rate and after seeing the club's performance in the big series, the Red Sox ought to be worth more than the Danish West Indies at a conservative value. The United States has about $25,000,000 for these islands, you can see where Lannin might get off. It is likely, however, that Lannin's price is not very much higher than the figure at which he bought the ball club.

He can very well afford to do so, for the entire preferred stock still being held by the Taylor interests, but the common stock carries with it, of course, a great deal of responsibility in the matter of control of operations of the ball club, the Taylor having retired from that end of the game.

Speaking of the Brooklyn ball club and money runs right into words of charity, as much as we have intended to avoid it. Also there are just about a hundred citizens of Greater Boston who received no pecuniary reward from the world's series, that vast multitude feel that they are entitled to some share in the great thing about sport. After all, Joe Lannin over $37,000 in one bundle. When the battle was over and Lannin's club had grabbed a world's title, this crowd rushed down and paraded with the Red Sox president on its collective shoulders. Charley Ebbets, who was celebrating about the crowd if not the name, marched alongside and received many an ovation.

So far we have heard no complaints from Mr. Ebbets over the money shoved into his pockets by the Boston public, wherein he is more gracious than his ball players, who objected strenuously because they did not get more. Somebody has suggested that the said Brooklyn ball player got about all that was coming to them for the show they put up, and Boston opinion generally agrees to that. After witnessing the Dodgers' efforts in the final game it is suggested that if it can be arranged the National objectives until the wire entanglements were all completely blown away and no longer presented an obstruction to the infantry advance.

CANADIANS SHARE IN TAKING TRENCH

In the general assault the task of the Canadians was a minor, but a very important one. Their actual objective was only a length of 400 yards of the Regina trench, immediately to the north of the Village of Courtois.

But this formed the right link of the attack, and the Canadian troops were obliged not only to secure their proper objective, but also to connect the right of the captured position with their original line in such a manner as to make a defensive flank to the east.

Ontario Battalion's Part.

For the purpose of troops from western Canada and Montreal were employed. An Ontario battalion was also to advance in close support.

During the night of Oct. 20-21 the attacking troops took up their position. The night was clear and frosty. The trenches, dug in heavy soil, were half filled with mud and water, for the night had been much rain during the previous days. The ground about was in a difficult position, churned and beaten into a sticky pulp, churned and bombarded by the morning.

Shortly before noon, the enemy, suspecting perhaps the imminence of an attack, began a heavy artillery fire upon our front lines. About noon our own guns opened with the full fury of their muzzles, batteries. The concentration was terrific, and the hail of heavy shells and shrapnel descended with deadly force and accuracy. The infantry advance began. The men clambered out of their trenches and in long lines dashed forward under the barrage, advancing as rapidly as the state of the ground would permit. In ten minutes the 50 yards of open ground had been crossed and Regina trench was ours.

Lieut. Scott's Death.

On the right flank incident for a moment threatened the success of the assault. Lieut. Scott, son of Canon Scott of Quebec, was advancing at the head of his men and was directing their progress in accordance with the artillery barrage. As the men threw themselves down to await the momentary lift of the guns, Lieut. Scott was shot and instantly killed. His death was not at first remarked and his men still waited for the signal to advance.

Not until the barrage had passed beyond the German trench did the death of their gallant young officer.

In the meantime, however, the enemy had been able to man his parapet and had opened a rapid fire at this point. He therefore suffered some casualties, but the result was the which has been authorized by the Board of Police Commissioners, will take place in the Police Court, City Hall, on Saturday, Oct. 28, 1916, commencing at 1:30 p.m.

Entrance to the Hall by Albert Street door only.

Chief Constable.

Police Headquarters, Toronto.

Our men went in with the bayonet and there was short shrift for the Germans.

Prussians Eager to Yield.

At one point the enemy, consisting of Prussians brought to the front by the Ypres salient, were eager to surrender. They jumped out of their trenches and advanced to meet our men holding their hands above their heads. Altogether 133 prisoners were taken and between 75 and 100 dead Germans were counted in the trench.

Among those who surrendered were two or three machine gun crews who abandoned their guns.

One of the prisoners, a sergeant taken by a Montreal battalion was a German who was actually living in Montreal at the time the war broke out. He had been there for a year and a half employed as a molder. He stated that in June, 1914, he had applied for a passport to the U. S., but it had been refused to him on the ground that a war was imminent and that he would have to hold himself in readiness to return to Germany at a moment's notice.

Entirely Successful.

Not only was the whole of our immediate objective secured and the flank protected in the manner intended, but strong parties pushed well out beyond and established posts in main tactical positions. The operation was entirely successful. Consolidation was proceeded with and during the following night communication trenches were rapidly constructed, linking up the old line with the new.

Attempts by the enemy to counter-attack were promptly disposed of by our artillery. At 1:30 p.m. several hundred Germans came out from the village of Pys and deploying in the open advanced with the evident intention of attacking. This wave was blotted out by a heavy burst of shrapnel fire.

Only about 60 were seen to reach a trench in the rear of the line, but direct observation. Here high explosive shells were fired and the trench severely damaged. Several Germans were seen to be hurled in the air.

Germans Fall in Groups.

Again at 2:12 p.m. the enemy came out of a trench in considerable numbers and attempted to make their way down the communication trenches. Our guns were brought to bear with great effect and the Germans were seen to fall literally in groups.

During the afternoon reinforcements in small parties continued to press forward and were promptly disposed of. As these were all now visible targets our bursts of fire caused them severe casualties. Every effort of the enemy to organize a counter-attack was thus frustrated and our men remained in undisturbed possession.

Hostile aeroplanes attempted to break over the line after the assault, but they were driven back.

Another German gun, a 5.9 howitzer, has been added to the list of trophies in Courtois. This gun had been cleverly concealed in the ruins of the village by folding doors which hid the breech and the muzzle. It was discovered quite by accident and the gun found to be practically intact, only one of its wheels being injured.

LATTER STAGE WILL BE WAR OF YOUTHS

London, Oct. 5 (Correspondence).—The war threatens soon to become a struggle between mere boys. The pace is said to be entirely too fast for the older men long to endure. It is asserted here that next year the entente allies will be facing boys of 17 in the line.

General Sir Douglas Haig, commanding the British expeditionary forces, is said to have objected to the sending out of men of this type. He wants men from 18 to 25 years old. He after the latter year it is said the fighting value of the human unit shows a rapid and steady decline.

The good soldier of today, it seems, must be of the age which excels in the more strenuous athletic sort of the football player type. The older men have their place, but generally speaking, it is said now to be in "army" behind the army—the men back of the line, the supply and transport divisions, where the strain is not so great. These older men are too susceptible to trench diseases to be of great use on the war line.

England already is registering boys born in 1899, preparatory to calling them up when they attain their eighteenth year.
