REPORT.

THE Halifax Protestant Industrial School is so well and favourably known, its aims and its history have been so often set forth from the platform, in Annual Reports, and, with much more telling effect, by the manners and lives of the boys it educates and sends out into the world, that it is not necessary to go into much detail now, and explain again what everybody knows, or can know much better by a visit to the Institution than by any amount of print. Still each year has its own story, and we like to tell it to our friends and the subscribers. The past year has been a quiet one, though marked by more than the usual progress in several ways. We have settled down at the new home and have no idea of moving for the next twenty years at least. We have room for as many boys as ought ever to be in one institution, or, as we are likely to be asked, to take in at any one time. The old place could accommodate only 40. We have had in the new during 1871 an average of 51, and though we are not likely to go above this average for the next two or three years, we have room for nearly 100. Besides the ordinary trouble and expense of management we have had, and will have yet, large bills of extras to get the place into order and to make a thing of beauty and use out of the roughness and barrenness of its old state. But we are of course thus adding to the value of the property, increasing our capital account, as it were, and at the same time providing a varied kind of work for the boys that relieves the monotony of trade labour and takes its place in slack times; a variety too that, in one way or other, ought always to be supplied in the upbringing of boys, and especially of those who were not previously accustomed to habits of steady industry or application of any kind. But these facts will come out more clearly when we explain, as we now go on to do, the present condition of our

FINANCES.

We told you last year that we needed then, in addition to our ordinary revenue for 44 boys: 1st, $1,100 to pay debt on account of deficit of ordinary revenue of past years. 2nd, $1000 to finish and supply with gas our new buildings, and make improvements on the grounds. 3rd, $800 for steam engine, new barn, &c. 4th, $3,200 to pay for our front lot which we had intended to sell, but which we found many of our warmest friends were opposed to our selling, and for very good reasons, while our only good reason for selling was that we had not the money to pay for it.

How have we fared on those separate heads? The first amount we raised, partly by a collection at the Annual Meeting, and partly by each Member of the Committee undertaking to collect $50; by these means we not only got the special sum needed, but as much more as paid for the additional eight or ten boys added to our list during the year. Our ordinary revenue also came in with its usual regularity, thanks to E. D. Meynell, Esq., who, for love of the cause, goes through the terrible drudgery of collecting subscriptions. We'll let any of our subscribers off from paying his amount if he will undertake this duty—and do it as well.

Of the next two sums that we needed, amounting to $1,800, we have received only $600, viz: a legacy of $100 from the late S. N. Binney; a legacy of $200 from the late M. B. Almon; $267 from a lecture by Captain Duncan, R. A., and two lectures by John Boyd, of St. John, who deserves our special gratitude, not only because of the success of his lectures, but also because of the interest manifested by him in the School at a time when he was absorbed in important public work; and $25 from our old friend Major De Haviland. As we did not receive the remaining $1,200, and could not do without it, we frankly confess that we spent the greater part of it, and so are in debt. We did not build a new barn, however, but, at a cost of $50, hauled the old one up from the front lot to its proper place at the back of the new home. Indeed we had to do this or sell it to be carried away, for it could not remain on its old site, as it prevented our making a good broad road—or as some of our aspiring Members term it—a carriage drive, from the Quinpool Road to our premises. We have put in the gasoline and find that it works admirably, though the improvement is an expensive one—about $600. Still it was needed. The only instruction the boys receive is in their night school, and they must have good light. And now that it is in, the annual cost will be less than by any of our old-fashioned ways of lighting up so large a building. Then, as to improvements on the place, we simply had to make them, or it would have looked like the farm of the sluggard and the sloven, and have disgusted not only the boys but every friend who visited it. And we shall have to do quite as much more this year to make the place look at all 'ship-shape.' We believe that those improvements are not only necessary, but that as a speculation they will pay. We expect to be able to supply the Institution soon with all the vegetables required, and to sell a good many besides. But no one that has not bought a place on or near our rocky peninsula can have any idea of the labour that a new place requires. The ground between our workshops and the home had to be graded and filled up with stone. The crest of the hill, just at the back and East corner of the home, has been cut down and a good road commenced there that must be continued to the Quinpool Road. A kitchen garden has been picked, and hoed, and fitted for seeds and roots. A flower garden in the front, and a carriage drive around it, have been made. A pretty terrace has been graded and turfed in the front and at the sides of the home. The front field has been broken up, old trees cut down, stones hauled away, and a great deal of general clearing work been done. In fact we are new settlers on our present ground, and we have had some of the experiences of new settlers. We estimate our improvements at $750, and though the boys—chiefly the seniors—did the work, we are pretty sure that if we had contracted for them they would not have cost us less.

As to the Steam Engine, required for the manufacture of our kindling wood, for the cabinet shop, &c., we have not got it yet, but some money has been promised towards it. We will not buy it till the cost is actually paid or promised.

And now for our fourth item of $3,200 for the front lot. No Prince in disguise has visited the Institution and left the money behind him, but perhaps he will make his appearance this year. We have had to pay interest on the amount, though only a part of what we actually thus paid appears in the Accounts, as the A. K. Doull bequest was invested in the lot, on the understanding that the expense for his boys be paid out of the general fund.

Here now we can sum up our four items, and 'he who runs may read' our actual state. We are clear on the first head; on the second and third we received nearly $600 and spent $1,400; on the fourth we have spent $192 of interest. We are thus behind $1000 on these four items; $1000 that we ought to charge to Capital Account, it is true, but needed by us now. Nor is that all our deficit. The general expenditure of the year exceeded the income by nearly $800, and that from two causes, one of which will be permanent, and must therefore be provided for by us in our future estimates; the second of which was special and extraordinary. The permanent cause of increase of expense is our change of location from the town to the country: We now have to keep a horse, waggon, truck, &c., &c.; more of the boys' time is lost, and some of our old branches of ready-money business we had to give up, such as selling newspapers, errand running, &c. Besides, we raised the salary of our Superintendent, $120, and would like to raise it a little more, for if any man earns it he does. Mrs. Grierson's is entirely a work of faith and labour of love, for she gives all her time and gets no pay. Doubtless Mr. Grierson would do the same if he could afford it. It will give an idea of how much our expenditure has increased, to mention that according to Mr. Stirling's, the Treasurer's Accounts, the sum spent in 1870 for 43 boys for dietary, clothing, fuel, bedding, repairs, garden and expenses was $4004.68; while the sum spent in 1871 for 52 boys, under the same heading, was $5503.25. Of course some of this we had expected and provided for, but the difference is greater than had been anticipated.

The special cause of increased expenditure last year was that there was less profit than in former years from the shoemakers' and cabinet shops. The boys worked as well as usual, we believe, but we are finding out that it is almost impossible to work those departments at a profit without capital, without machinery, and in the face of the keen competition of these days, the large establishments, the sub-division of labour, and the close calculation of profits. We propose therefore to make a change this year, and instead of throwing the burden on the Superintendent of buying in the cheapest market the raw material for shoes, clothing and furniture, and then trying to sell the work in the dearest market, operations which have hitherto taken up most of his time, we are endeavouring to arrange with some manufacturer in each of those departments either to give us so much per week for each boy in a shop, (he to get as much work out of them as he can), or to provide constant work for the shops and to take at a fixed rate what they make. If we can manage this we can always calculate beforehand our exact income for the year, a thing absolutely impossible at present; we shall have no debts to collect, and, best of all, we shall have no more appeals to make to our friends for special subscriptions to meet our deficits. This arrangement besides would relieve the Superintendent of much drudgery, and enable him to devote his time to his real work, of being always with the boys and bringing to bear on them constantly the influences of Christian life, authority, and teaching.

In the meantime the pressing question for us is, how shall we raise the $1,800 now needed? We should be faithless indeed if we for a moment despaired of getting it. The School has been so much blessed, so many difficulties have vanished, so many warm friends have from time to time come forward, that we believe that God will send us this money by the hands of His people. Some may condemn us for having got into debt. If they had been on the Committee they could'n't have done otherwise. From year to year our Chairman has warned you that we would be always in debt if we did faithfully and completely the work undertaken by us; that we could not turn from the door cases that we ought to take in; and that when in we would have to feed and clothe, and employ them whether their work produced much or little. The Committee confess that they are the ones most discouraged, however, when their income falls short. And it is because they feel bound not to exceed it that they are making arrangements now about employing the senior boys that will probably effect this result for the future. In the meantime they cast themselves upon the Christian public. There are 15 or 16 Protestant Churches in Halifax. Is it too much to ask a collection from them for this object? If they gave us $50 on an average, half of our present needs would be met. As to the other half, we must look either to our wealthy friends for some large donations, or to the ladies. We have done our best. We now state our exact position and appeal confidently to our friends.

And in making this appeal we have a right to ask if the work that is being done is not worth the money? Is it a small thing that Halifax juvenile vagrancy and crime is nipped in the bud, at any rate as far as our Protestant population is concerned. And we are only sorry that we have to make any such limit. It is not our fault that all are not embraced. Is it not good and necessary work that is being done, cheap too as far as the city is concerned, and cheaper far when the real value of human life and happiness, of education, morality and religion are recognized. No one refuses to extend a hand to rescue a drowning fellow-creature? Shall there be less pity when the real worth and beauty of life is perishing?

NUMBER OF BOYS, &c., DURING THE PAST YEAR.

We began 1871 with 43. We admitted 20 more during the year and 12 left, and so we begin 1872 with 51. Of the 12 struck off our list we ought only to speak of 10, for 2 were taken home by their parents before they were bound. One ran away; one has been sent to the country; six are working at the trades they learned with us, three of these being now in Halifax, and three in Sydney, C. B.; and two were removed by death.

Here comes in the black mark of death for the first time in the history of the School. The first that was taken was little Dan. Last February we spoke of him as getting better. It was only the flicker of the lamp before it went out. The next month he died, and in great peace, and as all the boys followed him to the grave, the mourning was as deep and true as if he had been a brother of blood.

In Midsummer, Charles Thompson, a boy nearly 16 years old, but who had never been strong, also passed away. His mother took him home a month or two before, and as he died with her he was not buried in our lot. We have here to thank the City Council for having given us a piece of ground in the Cemetery where we may bury our dead.

The general health has been as usual good. Dr. Slayter has continued to give us his valuable services gratuitously, and Dr. A. C. Cogswell attends to our dentistry cases on the same terms.

Our 51 boys are at the old employments; the seniors at shoe-making, tailoring and cabinet making; the juniors at kindling-wood making and house jobs. The majority of the boys are about 14 or 15 years of age, though they range from 9 up to 18 years. There has been a great extension of the kindling wood business, which would have been greater could we have got as much of the raw material as we wanted. There are heaps of the right stuff on the line of the Windsor Railway, but though we have importuned the authorities all the months of December, January and February, we have as yet got nothing but promises; dozens of promises, but not one car-load of slabs. We ought to have laid in a larger supply in the Autumn from the outports by vessels. And we had arranged for this, but the early and sudden closing of the harbours defeated us and threw us on the railway. And to its door let all the blame be laid of inconvenience to those housekeepers who ordered kindling wood but could not get their orders filled. We assure them that we shall never again allow ourselves to be taken so short. We shall store enough in the spring and summer to meet all demands. During the past year we sold between 70 and 80,000 bundles, and we expect to sell twice as many this year. We shall be prepared as usual for carpet-shaking in the spring, let housekeepers also take notice.

EDUCATION AND CONCLUSION.

Mr. Smith continues to teach from 6.30 to 8.30, P. M., for four evenings in the week. Mr. Grierson and Mr. Bethune, our new master for the cabinet shop, assist him with the younger boys. There are 13 of these who are either in the first or second book. The other 38 can read, and are also taught writing, arithmetic, geography, &c. After school is over family worship is held, and by 9 o'clock all are in bed.

As we do not wish to make this report longer than is really necessary we shall omit many details of school life and individual histories that would be very interesting. We rather urge friends to visit the school and inquire for themselves. We feel deeply indebted to His Worship the Mayor for the interest he takes in it and the visits he has paid, and also to the Town Council for the generous spirit which they now manifest. We have also specially to thank Superintendent Taylor of the N. S. Railway for his invariable courtesy and facilities afforded to the absent boys to visit the Institution. Lists of all the donations we have received are appended, and the Committee would tender hearty thanks to all who have thus aided. Their money has not been thrown away. Not to speak of the positive good done from year to year, we believe that our position is such that if we sold the property now we could repay almost every subscription that has ever been made to the Institution. Thankful to God for all that He has enabled us to do, with good hopes for the future, both of the Institution and of our city and country, confident that the fountain of liberality in the hearts of christian men and women will always flow forth, sufficient for every proved case of need, we present this, our Report for 1871, to our friends and the public.

P. S.—We have been reminded that we ought to mention that in our two previous Annual Reports it was shown that $13,000 were required to build and equip our new home, workshops, &c., whereas we have received in all only $11,700. If we had received the full amount needed, and the $800 expended on the grounds, or $2,100 in all, we would have been in a good position at the beginning of this year. We have petitioned the Provincial Government for a grant of this amount; and considering that we now have property worth $24,000, raised by voluntary effort for the public benefit, our claim is surely a strong one. It ought to be mentioned that in New York, Mass., and elsewhere, the State Governments have contributed most of the money required for such buildings and grounds, though voluntary effort does most to 'run' them.

The following persons guarantee the payment of $40 each per ann.
for the Board of 30 Boys now in the Institution.
