SCRANTON PHYSICIAN IS DISCOVERER OF THE PHILOSOPHER'S STONE

Turns Metal to Gold and Silver SECRET FOUR YEARS

Death of Banker Watching Process Brings Astonishing Discovery to Light—Silver From Base Metal Has Been Sent to U. S. Mint and There Was Declared Pure

Scranton, Pa., May 26.—Dr. F. W. Lange a reputable and wealthy physician of this city today corroborated the report that he had fulfilled the chemist's dream of ages that he had discovered a simple chemical process of transmuting the basest of metals into the finest silver and into gold. Consequently he anticipates a quick drop in the prices of the two standards of money. Fumes from Dr. Lange's transmuting furnace in his laboratory brought death to Chas. Dickinson, the New York banker, who had come here to witness the operation, and who, before he died, according to Dr. Lange, pledged all of the financial aid necessary. It was Dickinson's death which attracted attention to the Scranton laboratory.

"My discovery is one which upsets all scientific theories," says Dr. Lange, in a statement which was made public today. "I have developed a process sought for ages which will revolutionize the world in short. I have discovered a means of increasing an atom of silver, by the introduction of base metals, to 100 times its size and weight, the result being still purer silver of equal if not greater intensity."

CHARLES T. McLAUGHLIN IS ARRESTED AS TORTURER OF BOYS; IS IDENTIFIED

Sixteen Year Old Youth Taken to Police Headquarters Where Children Who Were Abused Say He Is the One—Loaded Revolver in His Pocket—Little Girl Among Those Who Identify Him

It is thought in police circles that the arrest of Chas. T. McLaughlin of 118 Brussels street this morning by Deputy Chief Jenkins and Detective P. F. Killen will clear up the series of atrocities committed against children during the past month. Although on the lookout continually for evidence upon which they could lay hands on the culprit, the police authorities had little to work on.

Five Identical Film The children who were in the guard room today and identified the young person, were: James Donovan, James Ingraham, Vance Dryden, Larry Caplan and Bowie Patterson, all about seven or eight years of age. Little Eric Heffernan was not present, he being the only one of the number assaulted, who was not brought to the guard room. Mr. Dryden accompanied the children, and they were taken to their homes by him and Policemen employed. There are about 35,000,000 feet of logs in the Douglas and Sugar Lake logjams.

Indigestion Cured

This disease from which so many suffer gives the average physician a great deal of trouble. The best medical men have endorsed PSYCHINE, and recommended it in scores of the most obstinate cases.

Mr. Arthur Tansell, 88 London Street, Toronto, says: "For six or seven years I was troubled with indigestion and drowsiness. I was much afflicted by the stomach doctors said, originated the trouble. I tried scores of remedies without avail."

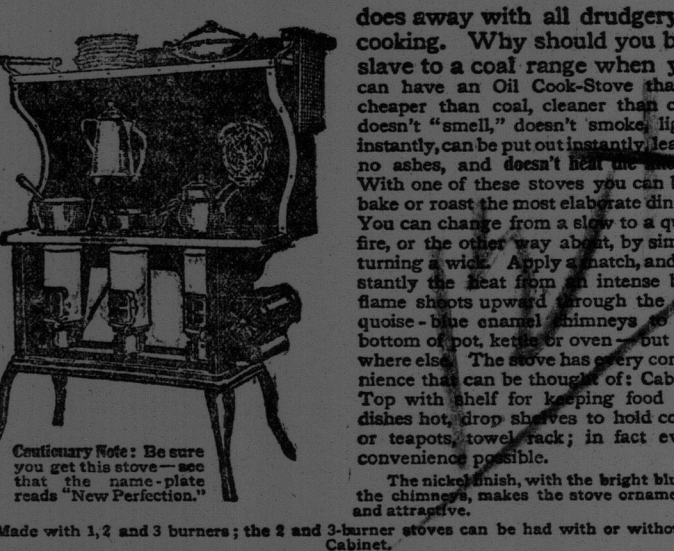

NO HOME SHOULD BE WITHOUT PSYCHINE. It prevents the children taking cold, wards off that terrible malady, La Grippe, and completely fortifies them against disease.

ENGLAND IN EGYPT

England's trusteeship in Egypt for twenty-eight years has revolutionized the condition of that country. The London Post points out that while all the international obligations of Egypt have been met, and the interest on its debt regularly paid, the system of administration has been so changed that remarkable national progress has been made. We quote a portion of the Post's summary of achievements under Lord Cromer and Sir Eldon Gorst:—"Due provision has been made for the security of persons and property. The expense of the defence of the country has been met. The Sudan has been recovered from the barbarism of the Mahdi. The system of taxation has been lightened, and the population relieved from the iniquities of the Corvee. The distribution of the Nile water has been regulated as it has never been since the last native Pharaoh. The available supply has been enormously increased by the construction of the great dam, so that the area of land available for cultivation has been steadily increased. Education has been judiciously encouraged, and a number of Egyptians have been trained to the public service, with such success that more and more of them are employed with satisfactory results. The revenue grows so easily that in spite of an ever increasing outlay, carrying a constantly more efficient administration, there is always a balance on the right side, and the reserve fund stands at $26,000,000. An expenditure which in 1899 fell short of ten millions has risen by 1909 to fifteen millions, but for each of these years and in each of the intervening years the surplus has exceeded a million."

This is a remarkable record of prosperity and growth, and yet in Egypt, as in India, the government has found its worst enemies in a certain class of native agitators, who, as the Post says, "have imbued a single British idea, that of self-government and independence, and it runs riot with them." They ignore the fact that the British protectorate in Egypt has emancipated them, and that its purpose is "to do justice, create and maintain security and order, spread education, and encourage self-government and train administrators." This is "the white man's burden," and it must be borne in the face of misunderstanding, calumny, and even murderous acts by so-called Nationalist agitators.

There is no brighter page in British history than that which tells of the devotion of the men who in the face of such obstacles continue steadfastly to serve the welfare of the people. Tolerance and perseverance mark the administration of affairs in Egypt and in India. The Post well says:—"Great Britain's work in India and in Egypt has from the beginning been carried on in that spirit. The only failure that could humiliate Great Britain in respect of this portion of her work would be the abandonment of the spirit in which it was undertaken. It might be that in some future period mankind may come to the conclusion that one nation may not and cannot govern another. The British principle is that one nation may, and even must, attempt to govern another, but that if the attempt has to be made it must be undertaken for the purpose of enabling the other nation to govern itself. In the long run that principle must be its own justification."

BOOSTING HALIFAX
The Halifax Herald has imbibed the boosting spirit. It tells the citizens that Halifax is not growing as it should—that too much of its money has gone elsewhere for investment, that too many of its clever young men have had to leave home for opportunities to prove their quality; that there has been too much waiting for something or somebody to give the city a start. There must first be faith, argues the Herald, and then works. Therefore it says in conclusion:—"Create business. Create manufacturing. Get capital interested. Give the young men a chance. The railways will then be glad to come."

"Nothing can keep railways away from such a city."

The great cities which have arisen in various parts of Canada have not waited for government aid. Their people have put their shoulders to the task of making the wheels go round and they made them go. That is what the young men of Halifax must do and do it quick!

NOT DECADENT

Lord Morley is not one of those who are troubled by fears of Britain's decadence. In a recent address in London his lordship's views were very clearly expressed, and Canadian readers will be interested in what he says. We quote:—"I was talking the other day to a very distinguished traveller, who had just returned from visiting some of our most important colonies, and he said to me: 'Well, the impression is that the old country is rather failing, that there is a sort of atmosphere of decadence about it. All I can say is, with a pretty good opportunity, I think, of judging, I do not believe a word of it. It is quite true that in this country both the great political parties—all the political parties, and they are now more moderate in numbers, are in a position of singular difficulty. Why? Because certain questions containing in them the seeds of great change and new departure, have come to the front. We are at the cross-roads, and I think the country is taking its time for the best solution. Nobody will deny the importance of the machinery of government, but the real thing, you will all agree, the foundation of all things, is the character of your people. I, for one, declare that I see no signs whatever that the people of this kingdom are not just as sane, just as honest, just as brave, just as high-hearted as they ever were in the best periods of our history. But the croakers say, 'The politician, what of him?' Well, I have only one circumstance to remind this assembly of, and that is that there have been two or three debates on the highest themes that can test the quality of public men. There have been two or three debates in both houses, and I do not scruple to say that in both houses, and on both sides, no debates have ever shown more admirable temper of mind, more elevated desire, each party taking its own view, to find out what is the best for the prosperity of the community and the power of the state."

The aldermen continue to juggle with the matter of the west side lots. Why so much delay? The police will doubtless make more than ordinary efforts to discover and arrest the fly fiend whose acts of cruelty have shocked the community.

It is announced that the Washington Evening Star, the oldest newspaper in that city, has reduced its sale price from two cents to one cent a copy. Recently the paper was enlarged from seven to eight columns.

Of affairs in South Africa the Bangor Commercial says:—"Lord Gladstone has summoned Gen. Botha to form the first ministry of the new federation of United South Africa, a fact that may seem surprising to those who cast their memories back to the time of the Boer war when a loyal subject now and also possesses a vast political influence as he is heartily beloved by the Boers. In gaining his services for the new federation ministry Lord Gladstone has taken a step that will go far toward smoothing the difficult places in the pathway of that body."

Flies By the Million
A single fly, in a little more than a month, will produce a progeny of over a million and a half. Houseflies survive the winter in the person of several sturdy females, which hibernate from about October to April and May. They stay in the secluded corners of outhouses and stables. Then, on the first warm day of spring, out they come and if the weather continues fine, proceed to lay their eggs. They lay about 120 at a time, and roughly, these eggs take three weeks to develop into the perfect adult insect.

Fads for Women
Dutch necks are finished with wide galloons of embroidery. Separate foulard waists are now made collared. Wash silk waists are again in vogue. Shantung muslin is used in making many of the separate waists. Dotted swiss is used in many of the simple styles. The members of the Public Utilities Commission met here yesterday, and heard the complaint of D. R. Jack against the N. B. Telephone Co., regarding excessive rates, which he claims are charged him in connection with his cottages at Duck Cove. Daniel Mullin, K. C., appeared for Mr. Jack. Besides complaining about the excessive rates, he said that the employees of the company frequently cut down trees and left stumps standing quite high, which were dangerous to traffic. The commissioners, not having completed organization, were unable to consider the protests. They returned to their homes last night.

accident will be a quickening of the faculties of trainmen, and greater care on their part to be sure about the interpretation of general and special orders. It still remains to be explained why there should be a fatal collision between two trains in broad daylight, at a station where both crews knew there was to be a crossing.

The St. Andrews Beacon says:—"The city of St. John has within the last few years spent nearly half a million dollars to extend its water works system. Its expenditure on deep water terminals has been three times that figure. Can you wonder that trade should follow such an enterprising spirit?"

At the next meeting of the Public Utilities Commission Mr. Jack's complaint against the telephone company will no doubt be supplemented by one from the board of trade committee.

SPEECH

Talk happiness: The world is sad enough Without your woes. No path is wholly rough; Look for the places that are smooth and clear. And speak of those to rest the weary ear Of earth, so hurt by our continuous strain Of human discontent and grief and pain.

Talk faith: The world is better off without Your uttered ignorance and morbid doubt. If you have faith in God or man, or self, Say so, if not, push back upon the shelf Of silence all your thoughts till faith shall come. No one will grieve because your lips are dumb.

Talk health: The dreary, never changing tale Of mortal maladies is worn and stale You cannot charm, or interest, or please By harping on that minor chord, disease. Say you are well, or all is well with you, And God shall hear your words and make them true. Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

FOR REMEMBRANCE

Bill—"Since I have come back I find that I'm forgotten by all my friends." "Why didn't you borrow money from them before you left?"

NOT ANSWERED YET

Ethel, aged 4, had been to visit her cousin, two fun-loving and romping boys. She had climbed upon her father's knee, and was telling him of her visit. "Papa every night John and George say their prayers, and God to make them good boys," said she. "God to make them good boys," said papa. Then thinking soberly for a few minutes, she said "He ain't done it yet."

A PLEA

The lining of my coat is torn, My winter underwear is thin; I shiver in the early morn, Why doesn't summertime begin?

My heavy suit of clothes is frayed, My derby's soft and dented in; In mended garments I'm arrayed, Why doesn't summertime begin?

NOTHING SUGCEEDS LIKE SUCCESS

It is a glad and proper thing to be the originator of a novel success. The article that has caught on the public taste is less than your imagination, or bigger than your whole body—size doesn't matter. Nothing really counts but this: that you have worked your way up to a commodity that supplies a known and felt want, and that the vast wide-eyed public have unadvisedly chosen your new production and made it a success. It has been exactly like this with H. P. Saxe. The delicious collared wine by the Midland Vinegar Company of England, the largest firm of fruit vinegar brewers in the world, has an unequalled success from the first day of its distribution until now. H. P. Saxe, a thick rich Saxe composed solely of most delicious Oriental fruits and spices and pure malted sugar. Its makers claim for it that there isn't another sauce to compare with it for true fruity flavour, and judging from its already wide popularity, the general public have been quick to endorse the good opinion of the manufacturers.

Men's Correct Furnishings

Certain stores get to be arbiters of men's fashions by virtue of being always right in styles. It's the usual thing for such stores to "look" its customers for all they will stand; hence men—lots of them—will unhesitatingly pay a good price if with it goes the feeling of safety as to style. Hence many men naturally grow to think that style can only be had at a good price.

Viziel's is changing all that. It is rapidly proving to more and more thoughtful dressers every day that correct style need not hinge on exorbitant prices.

GRAND ORANGE LODGE IN SESSION IN BRANTFORD

Brantford, Ont., May 25.—The eighty-first session of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America opened here this afternoon, Dr. Sprague, M. P., presiding.

CONSPICUOUS IN A BALLROOM

Flakes of Dandruff on the Collar and Shoulders of a Gentleman in Full Dress

This is the thing you quite frequently see in the ball-room—a man's black dress coat literally covered with dandruff. It must be annoying to the wearer and certainly not a pleasant thing to see. But dandruff can be eradicated. It is a germ disease that seems to come on every day of his life.

Newell's Hericide kills the hair-dropping germ and stimulates the hair to a rich, abundant growth; it does more—keeps the hair soft and pliant. Furthermore, Hericide is a most pleasant toilet accessory of pleasing odor and cooling to the scalp. Sold by leading druggists. Send stamps for sample to The Hyatt Detroit, Mich.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

I may develop eloquence. Drop petticoat for bloomers; Or scoring sham and saving pence. Her costume and consumery. But Heaven grant me recompense— A trace of saving common sense. A grain or two of humor.

HAT is given in Life as a proper prayer for the Maiden of 1910, presumably against the dangers of woman's suffrage.

I do not like people who refuse ever to be in earnest about life, but on the whole I think they are much easier people to get along with than those who adopt a fatalistic attitude and themselves the same deathly and priestly seriousness that the high school graduate puts into his "essay on life."

I don't believe in the philosophy of "What difference will anything I do make a hundred years from now?"

I think that to be able to go to a nonsensical or extravagant play and laugh at the sheer absurdity of it, is an ability to be painstakingly cultivated. Being healthy fifty once in a while is one of the best "brain relaxations" there are.

I believe that the sense of humor is almost as important a sense to develop as the moral sense.

Without a sense of humor it is almost impossible to get a proper perspective on life and on yourself.

Learn to laugh at your failures and you have defeated defeat, for nothing takes the sting out of failure like being able to laugh at it.

A sense of humor seems to me about as good a matrimonial qualification as there is. I think I would sooner marry a man who has a sense of humor than one who is really unkind way.

Humor is the salt without which even great goodness is apt to be rather unpalatable.

And it is well to remember that we could do without many foods, apparently much more important, far more easily than we could without salt.

I believe that the sense of humor is almost as important a sense to develop as the moral sense.

Without a sense of humor it is almost impossible to get a proper perspective on life and on yourself.

AMUSEMENTS FOR OURSELVES AND OTHERS. ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL NIGHT AT THE LYRIC. Notwithstanding the rain of last evening the Lyric was again crowded and many were the compliments handed the management upon the handsome appearance of the new house and the excellence of the opening entertainment. It will be several days yet before everything is in readiness, and the proper conclusion reached as to just how nice and attractive an amusement house the former Berry man's Hall corner has become. Monday night is expected to see the finishing touches placed, and the management are looking for a very large patronage on that occasion.

THE GEM. An excellent programme was given at the Gem last evening. The leading film "The Closed Door," proved a story with a moral. The plot is founded on the temptations of the Great White Way. A wife becomes infatuated with a man on account of domestic duty and leaves her home and child for the pleasures and vanity of a gay life. The story is pathetic and cleverly acted. The second feature is "The Love Romance of the Girl Spy," being the last of a series of pictures which depicts the final struggle between Crown and Lee. An excellent comedy feature, and a show of a pleasing nature, were also given.

Charles McIndoe, the new baritone singer at the Gem, delighted his audience tonight. Mr. Winchester will be heard in the Gem tonight. Saturday afternoon will be, as usual, children's day. Handsome souvenir button pictures of King George V. will be given to all who attend. These souvenirs were ordered for last Saturday, but were delayed. The button has a splendid picture of the king with red white and blue ribbon attached.

The public are cordially invited to attend. WM. P. TOLE'S DEATH In order to dispose of the rumor that William P. Tole, whose death occurred mysteriously last evening in Fairville, had died from contact with an electric wire, Coroner Macfarland this morning instituted an inquiry that revealed that there was no foundation for the report. With Dr. A. H. Grey and Charles Clark, an electrician, the doctor visited the store where Mr. Tole died. They found the electric light cord broken, but Mr. Clark stated that death could not possibly have resulted from this source. It is believed that Mr. Tole was overcome by his fatal attack and in falling clutched at the electric light fixture, causing it to break as found.

The only person in the store at the time Mr. Tole died was a patient in the provincial hospital, who was buying a piece of tobacco. He heard a noise in the back shop and, on going in, found the young man lying on the floor. The coroner does not deem it necessary to hold an inquest.

LOOKING INTO THE MATTER OF BAND CONCERTS

Treasury Board to Consider Providing of Funds For Summer Musical Entertainment in King Square

The question of having band concerts in King square will be considered by the treasury board at their meeting next Thursday evening. Ald. Jones brought the matter up at the meeting of the council yesterday and it was referred to the treasury board to ascertain if funds could be secured.

The proposal, it is believed, will meet with favor, as it would provide free entertainment for visitors during the summer evenings as well as being a source of pleasure to the citizens who cannot get away to the country. Thus far the city has contributed $500 toward the expense of the bandstand, making up the balance uncollected by the City Council Band. The cost of having concerts, say twice a week, is a thousand would not be very great. There are five bands in the city and it is proposed that the money appropriated for the purpose should be divided among them, at so much a concert. The sum of $500, it is said, would cover the expense.

The matter of having the bandstand painted has been referred to the board of works and it is expected that this will be done within the next few weeks. A suggestion has also been made that some small ornamental flower beds be placed around the stand at intervals between the trees and that having flower pots be suspended from the sides of the structure.

APPLICATIONS FOR EXHIBITION SPACE COME IN RAPIDLY

Plan of Allotment so That all Exhibitors Will Have Fair Show -To Safeguard Beauty in Arrangement

With the near approach of June 1 applications for space at the Dominion Exhibition are coming in rapidly, and it is expected before the remaining six days are over the present number will be doubled.

According to the plans announced last winter the allotment of space in the buildings will be made by the exhibition management, in fairness to all concerned, judgment and discretion will be exercised in carrying out the exhibition's share of floor space, wall space and satisfactory location. Heretofore there has been some complaint, but the regulations which are to govern this year's fair will eliminate errors of the kind.

The national character of the exhibition, the fact of its being subsidized by the federal government makes it imperative upon the association to give all exhibitors what is popularly known as a "square deal." Therefore, firms of prominence and exhibitors of lower importance in the outstanding parts of the dominion are to be treated on an equal basis in securing suitable quarters for their displays. Therefore, a plan has been evolved which will grant to all exhibitors what they desire.

According to the pamphlet of rules and regulations issued some time ago from the exhibition office, entries received after the closing date, June 1, will be dealt with according to the amount of space remaining. It therefore does not mean because an intending exhibitor has not placed his application before June 1, that he is barred from showing. The date June 1, is set in order that all may have an equal chance in the first allotment.

If space allotted is not fully utilized by June 2, the exhibition directorate is empowered to cancel it, and if an unduly amount of space is requested, this may be reduced when the showing is completed. Space cannot be sublet by exhibitors and any default on the part of exhibitors in living up to the verbal and moral obligations of the transaction is sufficient provision for cancellation. This year the association will be very careful as to the hanging of signs, the tacking of show cards, stretching of lines placards, etc., and platforms, etc., must be of uniform height. In a general way the beauty of the exhibition will be carefully safeguarded from the outside, as it is done in Toronto and other large cities.
