SAYS SITUATION IN RHUR REGION SERIOUS GOVERNMENT COMMANDER SAYS REDS WELL EQUIPPED

Russian Officers Sent by Lenine Are Assisting—Fugitives Flee to Dutch Border—Reports From Various Parts of Country.

Berlin, March 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Major-General von Seeckt, commander of the government forces, declared the situation in the Ruhr region to be very serious in the course of an interview with the correspondent of the 'Tagesblatt' yesterday. Negotiations between government emissaries and workers had been to no purpose, he said, and there had been no negotiations whatever with the communists.

Berlin Paper's Assertion. Berlin, March 27.—(By the Associated Press)—The 'Tagesblatt' asserts that the real power lies, as before, in the hands of the military element and that the government general, von Seeckt, is just as much in favor of monarchism and as much opposed to republicanism as the Kaiser, who headed the military forces of the Kapp dictatorship. The newspaper, which is the organ of the Independent Party, taunts the government with inability to enforce respect for its own decrees.

At West. West, March 27.—(By the Associated Press)—The workmen's headquarters yesterday admitted that heavy losses had been sustained in the fighting. Major-General Kabisch, of the Reichswehr, in a communication yesterday, said that Reichswehr forces routed the workmen from the vicinity of Lipp-Schlott Thursday and found 100 dead there.

Reports Differ. Berlin, March 27.—(Associated Press)—Cologne advises that the Allies have decided to permit Germany to send 100,000 troops to the Ruhr region, and that if these are insufficient to maintain law and order they will be reinforced by 50,000 British, French and Belgian soldiers.

Paris, March 27.—(Havas)—The belief prevails in some quarters here that the German government has renewed its request of the allied governments to obtain permission to send additional troops to the Ruhr basin. It is asserted, however, that the Entente has not yet discussed the new request and the opinion seems to prevail that they will refuse the permission.

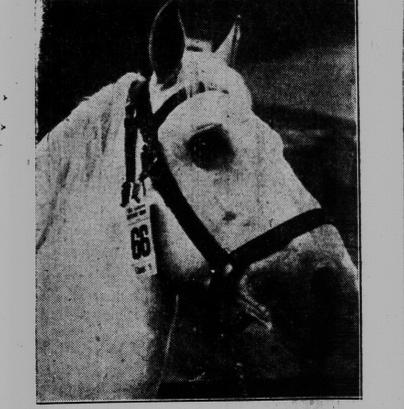

FORGERY OF PRESCRIPTION BLANKS CHARGED Arrest in Fredericton—Death of Mrs. Mary Beady—Property Purchase.

Fredericton, March 27.—A man who served for some time with the 280th McLean Highlanders here was arrested on Friday afternoon on the charge of forging the name of Dr. George W. Bailey of Fredericton Junction to prescription blanks. He had a considerable number of blanks in his possession. Sub-Inspector Fraser Saunders made the arrest at a local hotel.

Patient in Provincial Hospital Found Hanging Harry Beckwith of Salisbury, N. B., died in the Provincial Hospital early on Wednesday morning, according to information received by the 'Times' today. He was brought to the hospital on last Monday. Wednesday morning at 5:30 o'clock when the physician's room of inspection he saw him apparently asleep in his bed. Later upon returning to his room he found his lifeless body hanging over a door. A sheet had been used as a rope. He was forty-one years of age and is survived by his wife and one child, who are residing in Portland, Me.

PASSOVER SIGN LEADS TO RAID AND SEIZURE Springfield, Mass., March 27.—A sign in a tailor shop window advertising the sale of Passover wine made under the supervision of rabbis aroused the suspicions of police yesterday. They raided the place and declare they seized nearly 400 gallons of grape wine and a quart and a half of whiskey. Jacob Kravatz and Jacob Liebshitz are held for hearing.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the Times reporter, "we are living in a thrilling period in the history of St. John. Never again will I say that its people lack vision and civic patriotism and the spirit of self-sacrifice. Never since the emancipated farmers and other liberators poured the tea into Boston harbor rather than pay taxes on it—and rode in their might to make Bunker Hill the site for a monument—has this continent felt such a thrill as now makes the air quiver in St. John. You feel it in Brussels street. It rushes through your system on its road and you can hear it singing in the very wires along Douglas avenue. With an utter disregard of their former personal habits, citizens, animated by a perfect frenzy of zeal to put St. John on the map and make it a better city to live in, rush forth at night to attend meetings and pass resolutions. With joy and gladness do I sound their praises."

"Well, well!" said Hiram. "I had no idea that was anything like that. What's it all about?" "The worm has turned," said the reporter on the condition of argument by the name spent thereon has been practically disproved and is dismissed."

FOREST REVENUE INCREASED IN N. B.

Reorganization of Forest Service Excellently Vindicated by Results Attained.

(Conservation.) The forest revenues of New Brunswick have more than doubled during the last year. It is estimated that the total will amount to about $1,000,000.

This is nearly three times the forest revenue for 1917 and closely approaches the forest revenue of Quebec. It falls only a few hundred thousand dollars short of the forest revenue of Ontario. This is a fine record for a province of 900,000 feet of logs, ties, poles and pulpwood, supplemented by some minor sources of revenue.

The province of New Brunswick has achieved this highly satisfactory result by a thorough reorganization of its forest service. This is now administered by an advisory board consisting of three representatives of the provincial government and two representing the lumber industry. It is a war of Nook against the Caribians.

Spartacist forces in the Ruhr Valley have enough ammunition, but their resources are very bad.

Berlin, March 27.—The garrison at Glatz, a fortified town of Prussian Silesia, 92 miles southwest of Breslau, surrounded the quarters of their officers and arrested them, according to the Vossische Zeitung.

The soldiers were armed with machine guns and mine throwers. The captain of the garrison shot himself, the newspaper says.

Wesel, March 27.—(By Associated Press.)—Government troops made a sortie southeast of this city yesterday, drove besieging workers' forces from their positions and helled their retreating columns and raised the siege of Wesel through which Spartacist forces were working their way.

FOREST REVENUE INCREASED IN N. B.

Reorganization of Forest Service Excellently Vindicated by Results Attained.

(Conservation.) The forest revenues of New Brunswick have more than doubled during the last year. It is estimated that the total will amount to about $1,000,000.

This is nearly three times the forest revenue for 1917 and closely approaches the forest revenue of Quebec. It falls only a few hundred thousand dollars short of the forest revenue of Ontario. This is a fine record for a province of 900,000 feet of logs, ties, poles and pulpwood, supplemented by some minor sources of revenue.

The province of New Brunswick has achieved this highly satisfactory result by a thorough reorganization of its forest service. This is now administered by an advisory board consisting of three representatives of the provincial government and two representing the lumber industry. It is a war of Nook against the Caribians.

At Dalsburg, where dozens were killed and hundreds wounded during the first day's fighting, women and children in the streets sought shooting and death like one would speak of the rain. The fighting was not over until the night of the 26th, when the German troops were ordered to withdraw.

The despatch says the workers have taken over control of the Krupp works at Essen and are turning out arms and ammunition. The officer expects West to be evacuated by government troops in order that devastation and bloodshed may be avoided, the correspondent says.

Rotterdam, March 27.—Hundreds of fugitives from the Ruhr district are near the Dutch frontier, according to a correspondent of the Courant. Some have arrived at Steenburg, bringing stories of the Red terror in towns through which Spartacists have driven armored cars.

The confirm reports, the correspondent says that the workers' forces are being led by Russians or other foreigners. The government at Muenster, it is said, has had to contend with a soviet dictatorship after the Russian model, which has been getting help from Moscow.

Canadian Indians Protest Against Alleged Injustice... Ottawa, March 27—A delegation representing Indians resident in several districts of British Columbia has come to Ottawa to present to the federal government their grievances against the proposed compulsory enfranchisement of the Indians' land rights.

His Lordship the Bishop of Columbia and Mrs. Schofield expect to leave Victoria on April 7 for England, where his Lordship will attend the conference of bishops. He is expected to spend a short time in this city en route.

The board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. entertained G. W. Bishop, national secretary, and A. Buckley, maritime secretary, at a banquet in the Y. M. C. A. building last evening.

His Lordship the Bishop of Columbia and Mrs. Schofield expect to leave Victoria on April 7 for England, where his Lordship will attend the conference of bishops. He is expected to spend a short time in this city en route.

Leut.-Colonel the Rev. Dr. John Pringle, moderator of the Presbyterian church in Canada, gave an interesting lecture last evening to the Young People's Society of St. Columba's church in Fairville. A large audience was present.

The St. John woman arrested by the Montreal police Thursday at the instigation of the St. John police, returned to the city last night with her children. It is believed that the children will be taken care of by the Children's Aid Society.

A girl ten years of age has been taken from a number of Indians living near the coast and placed in the charge of the police. It is said that the girl, who is of white parentage, was brought from the north by the Indians. It is alleged that the child has been treated cruelly and an investigation is being made.

The overseas girls had a very pleasant evening at the welcome hotel in British town last evening when they were entertained to a social evening by the members of the hostel committee. Those of the committee present were Mrs. H. A. Powell, Mrs. S. E. Egan, Mrs. H. Lawrence, Miss C. Sinclair and Miss Robinson. The house mother, Mrs. J. J. Gordon, arranged the refreshments which were readily enjoyed.

The provincial Red Cross hospital committee met yesterday afternoon at the residence of the president, Mrs. J. Y. Ainslie. During the afternoon they inspected the Lancaster D. S. C. R. hospital, after which they transacted their regular business. Reports were submitted by Mrs. George Scott and Mrs. W. P. Bonnell. Arrangements were made to furnish Easter treats at the hospital.

The first of a series of concerts was given last evening in Thorne Lodge hall by St. Mary's Band. Those who took part in the programme were: Miss E. Waring, Mr. Parker, Miss Norma Reicker, Miss Tully Ross, Sandy Crookshank, Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Hamilton, Chas. Noddin, Clarence Cain, Miss Rita McMahon, Miss MacKay, Thomas Stack, Miss L. Hawley, and Master Magnuson.

The conclusion of the vocational training exhibit took place last evening when several speeches were delivered on the platform with him were Fletcher Peacock, J. D. P. Lewin, Mr. and Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Dr. Hedley Bridges, Alexander Wilson, Mayor Hayes and Commissioner Jones. The chairman made a striking speech, after which the mayor gave a short address on the amount of work accomplished. Dr. Bridges spoke of how the work was being carried on in Fredericton and Mrs. E. Atherton Smith told of how the work was being carried on in Boston. Fletcher Peacock gave statistics of the importance of vocational training. Commissioner Jones praised the work and Mr. Lewin told of the difficulties which the vocational committee had to overcome.

"The one important and urgent task of all 'preventionists' is to endeavor to change the habits of the people in respect of accidents and fires," says E. P. Heaton, fire marshal of Ontario. "The old adage 'acquaintance breeds contempt' is quite true, and it is the duty of all of us to inculcate every-day common sense and prudence in the thousand and one little things that sooner or later become fixed habits. Such well known slogans as: 'Look before you leap!', 'Stop, look, and listen!', and 'Others to mention, are merely sign posts to attract attention to popular sayings that lead to thought, that leads to action, that results in fixed habits. If we can only get the people to think along lines of common sense, we shall reduce the number of fires by one-half, with great economic advantage. It means an everlasting and continuous propaganda of education, and as a member of the executive committee of the Ontario Safety League, I am glad to take my share in carrying on such education."

THE SHOOTING OF MAJOR CLOETE

Calcutta despatches to the London Daily Mail tell of the slaying of Major H. D. Cloete at Sadiya, Assam, by a missionary, referred to in the Times the other day. First advices telling of the tragedy did not clearly identify the man who killed Major Cloete, but later messages state he was L. W. B. Jackman, a physician accredited to the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society.

The full story apparently is not known, but the correspondent says that the reason for the tragedy was domestic. Jackman went to Major Cloete's bungalow with a loaded revolver and asked him to come out and when he appeared he shot him. The missionary then went to Acting Political Officer O'Callaghan and surrendered.

Major Cloete was the son of Sir Henry Cloete, formerly an Indian civil service officer.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackman have been working among the Adors and Mank tribesmen near Sadiya and the former has been a resident of Assam since 1904.

RECENT WEDDINGS

Miss Elizabeth Castel was united in marriage recently to J. Stanley Yastour of Bathurst, by Rev. Father Flood.

Miss Ada Elizabeth Calder, daughter of Rev. E. P. Calder of Westport, N. S., was united in marriage March 10, in Edmonton, Alta., to Malcolm McKennie of that city.

RECENT DEATHS

Mrs. Robert R. Foster.

Many friends will regret to hear of the death of Mrs. Marie C. Foster which occurred yesterday morning at the General Public Hospital at the age of 28 years. Mrs. Foster was the widow of Robert R. Foster, who died about fifteen months ago. She had been in poor health for some time and three weeks ago her condition became more serious. Her death was taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Foster leaves two small children, Elva N., aged two years, and Robert K., aged four and a half years. She is also survived by her father, Inspector Thomas Caples of the St. John police force; four sisters—the Misses Adrian, Lillian, Margaret and Geraldine Caples; and two brothers, Thomas and Francis Caples, all of this city. The sympathy of many friends will go out to the two little ones left parentless at such a tender age. The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2:30, from the residence of Mrs. Foster's uncle, Michael Caples, 40 Paddock street.

The death of Mrs. Melancon, wife of Conductor J. J. Melancon, occurred yesterday in Moncton. Mrs. Melancon was thirty-three years of age and three young children. Her mother, five sisters and one brother also survive.

Y. M. C. A. SPRING CIRCUS.

The spring circus at the Y. M. C. A. last evening was a grand success. More than 200 boys participated and their clever feats evoked considerable applause from the large attendance. A burlesque baseball game, clever juggling, a wrestling match, torch swinging, etc., formed the programme. The junior A. class gave a neat military drill, while junior B class executed some intricate marching manoeuvres.

The young ladies league had charge of the ushering and sold candy between the acts. The committee in charge was as follows: Misses Nina Thompson, Marjorie Pearce, Amber Teed, Geraldine Mellick, Ethel Barnes, Margaret Fenzi and Barbara Clark.

The fun makers were: L. Wilson, M. White, K. Jones, B. Taylor, R. Shaw, W. Stirling, J. Wilson, A. Malcolm, R. Smith, G. Wilson, A. Morrison and L. Kerr. Accompanists were: Misses E. Leonard, V. Hatfield and M. Dunlop and B. Coupe. The senior leaders corps formed the organization committee. W. K. Haley, chairman of the physical committee, and S. B. Stokes, general secretary, were active in making the event so successful. To T. C. Armour, physical director, all praise is due for the splendid showing in the gymnastic feats. The circus is to be presented again.

Tribute to the Late Dr. Hewitt, F. R. S. C.

A Canning, N. S., correspondent of the Halifax Chronicle says the following tribute to the late Dominion entomologist:

Charles Gordon Hewitt, D. S. C., F. R. S. C., Dominion Entomologist and Geologist, passed away on March 1st, at his home, Rockcliffe Park, Ottawa, after a few days illness of pneumonia.

The late Dr. Hewitt, who was but thirty-five years of age, was a man of brilliant attainments, and one of the most advanced scientists in Canada. He was educated at the Macdowell Grammar School, and was university prizeman at Manchester, from which university he received his degree, later, becoming assistant lecturer and demonstrator there.

Since 1909 he has filled the position of Dominion Entomologist. Dr. Hewitt during his short residence in Canada, was president of the following societies: Entomological Society of America, Association of Economic Entomologists, and Entomological Society of Ontario. In 1918 he was elected a Fellow of the Royal Society.

Dr. Hewitt was a friend of birds and animals, and was a member of the International League for the Protection of Birds. His value to the country can hardly be estimated. When the Brown Tail Moth was working such havoc in the New England States, and threatened the same destruction in Canada, it was Dr. Hewitt who stayed its progress, limiting it to Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, later with an efficient staff, greatly reducing its numbers.

Dr. Hewitt was an ardent supporter of the "Boy Scout Movement" and of the Ottawa Boys' Home. At the time of his illness he was returning from Montreal, where he had been delivering a lecture. Dr. Hewitt was a writer of note, his treatise on the "House Fly" being ready for publication at the time of his death. The funeral, which took place from the family residence, was a lengthy and representative one. The service, which was conducted by Rev. S. P. Ross, being held in Beechwood Cemetery.

The chief mourners of the late Dr. Hewitt are his wife, daughter of the late Sir Frederick and Lady Borden; mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Hewitt, Macdowell, England; Lady Borden, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Macoun, H. P. Borden.

Dr. and Mrs. Hewitt spent many summers at the home of Mrs. Hewitt's parents, the late Sir Frederick and Lady Borden, "The Old Place," Canning, and the sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved ones.

JUDGE SEES POKER DECK, FACE DOWN, READ BY GAMBLER

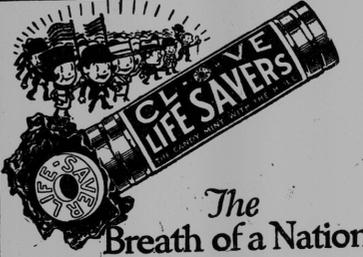

Player Who Lost Thousands in Stud Game Shows Card Marks and Tells of Play — Losses Were $850,000.

An examination for the purpose of identifying the "big winner" in a stud poker tournament participated in by a group of business men, and to determine the reported losses, aggregating $850,000 for the entire winter's indoor sport, had any connection with the use of "readers," or marked cards, was started before Chief Justice Frederic Kerneohan at special sessions, in New York, this week. He is conducting the hearing as a magistrate.

One of the players has expressed opinion that the proceeds of the game, or most of them, went to Louis Silverman, a manufacturer, at 828 Fifth e. He denies it, and maintains he also was "among the losers," so he final disposition of the stakes is a legal mystery. In the meantime, Chief Justice Kerneohan has announced his intention to sue for the amount of the reported losses or winnings in the tournament, together with a $100,000 penalty of an extra $850,000, on the ground that a person winning any amount in a game of chance may be compelled, under the law of the state, to disgorge for the benefit of the poor. He is waiting for Justice Kerneohan to pick the winner.

Following the conclusion of a preliminary hearing of the complaints of the public players, Chief Justice Kerneohan said that the evidence submitted warranted a charge against Krohnberg of alleged violation of the section 998 of the penal law, which makes it a misdemeanor or to obtain money in a game of chance, fraud, pretence, or cheating. Krohnberg was released on bail, and he is now made a defendant in the proceedings. J. M. Silverman, of 1811 President street, Brooklyn, one of the players, who has made affidavits concerning the games and losses, is the complainant.

Poker Game Described.
Silverman testified concerning a game at Krohnberg's home, 789 West End street, on December 14. Play was in progress when he reached the house, at five o'clock that afternoon, said Silverman, and it continued until five o'clock the next morning, except for a brief intermission for dinner. The players whom he could recall were mentioned as "Max Mack," Louis Karp, Hans Barlach, Louis Selanick and Krohnberg. The final half hour of the play had become so exciting that Silverman had become interested in an inspection of the cards used in the game, and he had taken one pack of them in his coat pocket when he departed. Assistant District Attorney McGrath asked Silverman to identify this deck of cards. There was no mark of pen or pencil on any one of them, but the attorney called attention to the design on the backs, a four-diamonds on the corner of each card, which, he asserted, was of such colorings and formation as to enable any player familiar with the design to read any of the cards by glancing at its back.

At the suggestion of McGrath, the cards were spread upon a table in the court room, face down, and Silverman was asked to identify them by reading after the others had dropped out of that particular play. He said:—

"Krohnberg had received, face up, a nine-spot, a four and a three-spot, while Karp had an ace, a jack and a nine, face down in the hole. At this stage, with an ace showing, Karp had a pair of aces and Krohnberg's hand was noted as a pair of treys. Krohnberg put $1,200 of chips in the pot. Karp, backing his concealed ace, raised for $4,200. Krohnberg saw the raise and he was ready for the fifth card. The players had a rule of their own that a player who had bet all his table money could offer, before the dealing of the final cards, to split the pot, the high man to get 75 and the low man 25 per cent.

"Karp made the offer, but Krohnberg refused it. Krohnberg could easily see the back of the next card to be dealt, and which would fall to him. It was a four-spot, making Krohnberg's hand consist of two pairs, fours and threes. Karp did not improve his two aces and the two pairs won."

Silverman told of another game at Krohnberg's home on December 29, which ended at 4:10 in the morning. He and Krohnberg went to the Hotel Pennsylvania baths, but before leaving the game Silverman had placed a deck of cards in his pocket. Another deck had been taken by Mack. Silverman said Krohnberg returned to their room before he had left the bath, and the next morning when he got up he found that the cards had been replaced in his pocket by another pack, different in color.

Max D. Steuer, attorney for Krohnberg, after the exhibition of card-reading, remarked to Silverman: "You're doing 'i ought to' replied Silverman, 'it cost me enough to learn.' In reply to another question by the attorney, if any one had commented on the final results of the half-hour play of Dec. 14, Silverman said: "No, but everybody did a lot of thinking."

Lost $2,700 to Two Lawyers.
Asked about other poker plays, Silverman said he had once lost $2,700 to two lawyers.

"You play the races, don't you?" questioned Steuer.
"Yes, I go to the track to get styles," answered Silverman. "I take two of my designers with me, but I never bet more than $200 on any one race."

"You bet on almost anything, don't you?"
"Well, I bet on a baseball game with you, once."

"Oh, yes; I think I recall that it cost me $200 to meet you at a dinner," said Steuer. He asked Silverman if he was acquainted in his prosecution because of the check he had given to Krohnberg. He replied that he had stopped payment when he suspected that some of the cards were "readers."

WOLVES IN QUEBEC.
(Quebec Telegraph.)
The wolves to which this particular article makes reference are neither rent, food nor clothing profiteers, but animals of a similar variety to those with which Little Red Riding Hood had so melancholy an experience. The last few winters have brought us many stories of the depredations of these ugly beasts in different parts of the province, and that there is at least some considerable numbers, is shown by the fact that some hundreds of premiums for the killing of wolves have been paid by the government within the last few years. It is not uncommon to find full grown red deer and the young of moose and caribou run down and partially devoured by these animals, and sometimes, in severe weather, they are driven, when game is scarce, to venture within the limits of civilization and settlement to make a raid upon the live stock of the farmer, there instance the specific fact that two young bull moose were killed in the fall of 1919, both of them showing scars from wolf bites. It may thus be seen that both in their facility for living on others and for posching on other people's preserves, these wolves are no better than many, many men.

The officers of the Tourville Fish and Game Club, whose headquarters are only a comparatively few miles from Quebec, in the county of Portneuf, complain that wolves have recently almost completely driven the moose from the northern areas of the club territory, and the public believes implicitly in the goodness of Dodge Brothers Motor Car, because it has found, in fifty-nine months of experience, that it is all it is represented to be.

The gasoline consumption is unusually low.

JERUSALEM NEWS

American Daily Newspaper Established in the Holy Land.

To the Editor of The Times-Star.
Sir,—Considerable interest has been aroused by the establishment in Jerusalem of an American daily newspaper, edited and published by a staff made up entirely of Americans and far wider along the lines of the most advanced American idea of journalism.

The new publication, The Jerusalem News, has received the heartiest endorsement of both the American and English officials and colonies of the Holy Land, and its initial issues were characterized by letters of endorsement and appreciation from Field Marshal Allenby, lord high commissioner for Egypt; Dr. Otis A. Glazebrook, American consul at Jerusalem; Major-General Bots, chief administrator of occupied enemy territory, and other officials, both native and foreign.

One purely American feature of the new paper is the incorporation of a daily column of pertinent ideas that the Literary Digest characterizes as "a series of scintillations deserving of far wider circulation than the News can thus obtain." This column is being written by one M. E. Starr, and a few of the "Gems" set forth therein are being enclosed for your consideration. In view of the new activity that has evinced itself throughout the Near East

FILENE, OF BOSTON, SPEAKS ON THE H. C. L.

The Boston City Federation met in the New England Woman's Club the other morning for a conference on "The High Cost of Living." The speakers were Edward A. Filene and William Nimsch. Mr. Filene spoke on the causes and possible remedies for the "H. C. L."

"According to the recent report of the Massachusetts State Commission on the Necessaries of Life," he said, "the cost of living in this state has increased since 1914 by 82 per cent. This means that the food, clothing and shelter we all must have in order to live and do our work, has practically doubled in cost since the beginning of the world war."

In conclusion he said: "The cost of living is high in the United States, but food and clothing is still within the reach of most of us. Conditions abroad are infinitely worse. We can help alleviate this suffering abroad, in countries where people are facing starvation. When Asquith Took His Seat In Commons

HOUSE CROWDED AND SHOWED EXCITEMENT AS HE ENTERED

Some Questions Affecting Taxation—Death of Lord Strathclyde Who Once Furnished Balfour An Unpleasant Surprise—Honors Coming to War Correspondents.

(From Our Own Correspondent) London, March 26.—When the present day was formed Lloyd George let it be known that it was a temporary measure intended purely for the emergency. It was meant to hold until the peace negotiations were completed, and he and his principal advisers once more had time to devote themselves to reconstruction.

Mr. Asquith's drive of triumph to the House of Commons assumed a very sinister aspect. A crowd of London laborers outside his residence in Cavendish square, and the police had to surround the car to prevent the demonstrators from attacking it. Mr. Asquith's wife, and eldest daughter inside, his secretary desperately clinging to a front seat, and the chauffeur a policeman mounted behind, and another on the top of the hood, were the only people to be seen as the car drove off.

The House of Commons was very much excited and obviously excited when Mr. Asquith entered to take his seat on the treasury bench. He was looking earnestly and with great animation at the bar with his two introducers, and his friends nearby.

The peace conference has received word that the proposal of the International Labor Bureau to send a commission to investigate conditions in Russia is likely to meet with opposition on the part of the Soviet government. Lenin insists that the Entente Powers should first of all recognize the Soviets and establish diplomatic relations with them.

At a time when the politicians and government experts are beginning to talk of the taxation of capital, it is interesting and significant to find that the city takes an entirely different view. It is pointed out that already the original estimate of £1,000,000,000 has been substantially diminished by various exemptions.

What Germany's Week-End Revolution May Lead To

The outbreaks and disorders in Germany, some for monarchy and some for Bolshevism, bring up sharply the question whether it is the best interests of the Allies to enforce upon Germany the terms of the Treaty.

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for this week, March 27th, presents a study of American editorial opinion upon the enforcement of the Versailles Treaty, and by reading it the average reader will get an unclouded idea of many problems that confront the Allied nations at the present time.

HOURS OF WORK AND PAY FOR WOMEN

Conditions in Halifax Laundries and Chocolate Factory Spoken of Before Commission.

(Halifax Chronicle.)
Last night the commission holding an inquiry respecting hours of labor, wages and working conditions women employed in industrial occupations in Nova Scotia, sat in the board of trade to listen to evidence given by employees of L'ange's laundry, the Globe laundry, and Moir's chocolate factory. James Moir was present to represent the management of the last named, and Mr. Boyce, foreman of the Globe laundry, represented his employees.
Evidence showed that the minimum wage (which was paid to girls just beginning work in the Globe laundry) was $3. The maximum wage earned by employees in any of the three factories was approximately $22 or $23. The girls employed as monitors in Moir's factory testified that they earned from $14 to $22 weekly. They were working on piece work.
The laundresses, who were called first, had apparently the less remunerative jobs. They received on an average about $8 a week. Their living expenses varied; some who lived with their parents paid $3 a week, and others as much as $5. One woman, who had been employed in the Globe laundry for twenty-six years, said she was receiving $8 a week. Her wage had advanced $6 in the time she had been employed at the laundry. She thought that living would be easier if she were paid $10 or $12 a week.
Work Ten Hours a Day.
Asked by the chairman, John McKean, whether he thought that wages in the Globe laundry had advanced in proportion to the increase in the cost of living during the last four years, Mr. Boyce replied that he did not consider that the wages of any class of labor were commensurate with the cost of living. Speaking of working conditions in the Globe laundry, he said emphatically that he was sure that they were quite as good as those in any industrial institution of the kind in the country.
Witnesses for the girls employed in the chocolate factory said that they worked ten hours a day. This was, ac-

According to evidence, fairly general throughout the three institutions under consideration. Employees had Saturday afternoons "off," and on occasions their hours were shortened to nine. Some of the girls—Mr. Moir said later, very few of them—stood on their feet for the full ten hours five days in the week.
Wages among the girls in the factory appeared to be comparatively high, ranging from $8.45 paid to girls who worked by the day to — paid to a few who worked "piecework." One girl who was employed in carrying trays and in her spare moments packing chocolates, said that she earned only $7.50. She had started work only a short time ago and was sixteen years of age.
It developed that several girls had recently been put on unaccustomed work, and were making, one of them said, less than $1 a day. Mr. Moir said that he had no knowledge that such a situation existed. He was glad the matter had come up.
Sanitary Conditions.
Commissioner E. H. Bois questioned the girls with regard to sanitary conditions at the factory. Those who had to work with their hands in the chocolate said that they washed before going home at night at sinks in which there were hot and cold water taps. About forty girls used one sink and dried their hands on their aprons. In reply to a question as to how often they washed their aprons, one of the girls naively answered, "Whenever they get dirty."
A witness, asked whether she washed her hands at the factory before putting them into the chocolate which she worked with, said "No." She washed them before she left home for the factory.
Further questions with respect to sanitation elicited the information that there was no medical examination for entrants into the factory's employ. Mr. MacKean remarked that he thought there was none in any factory which the commission had visited.
Several of the more highly paid employees, replying to the question as to whether they would prefer shorter hours and less pay, said that they would. They would rather work eight hours a day and receive less pay than work ten hours and get higher wages. In giving his evidence, Mr. Moir said that this was rather the exception than the rule. He had found that what the employees were after was higher pay.

Preferred Piece Work.
Mr. Moir said that he much preferred to pay his staff by piece work, because they worked harder for their own interest. His management had discovered, through investigations, that wages paid in the factory were something better than those paid for other kinds of work, domestic service excepted. He couldn't say whether wages had been raised proportionately with the cost of living or not.
Mr. Moir said that if the eight-hour day were made uniform throughout the Dominion he saw no reason why it should not be "all right." It would increase the cost of living though. He agreed that the suggestions of Mr. MacKean that a medical examination of employees entering the factory would be a good thing, and that, if it were possible, those girls who had to stand all day should be transferred periodically to some work at which they might sit.

IS THE LITTLEST BABY EVER BORN

At Twenty-Four Days Old Weighed Only One Pound.

Small "smile of a star" the "littlest baby" whose advent and progress astonished and interested obstetricians of this city and others who have to do with children, now has almost an even chance to win her fight for life, says a New York despatch.

Upon this twenty-fourth day since her birth, Jean Ousset, father of the tiny girl, jubilantly told how she now tips the scale at a pound—just eight ounces more than she weighed on February 24. But in his office up-town, Dr. Jerome L. Kohn, the baby specialist, who helped to usher Petit Jeanne Marie, as she is called upon formal occasions, into this enormous world, looked very grave as he quoted statistics and explained, in terms of cold science, the battle which the sixteen ounces of humanity lying so helplessly upon a corner of a pillow is waging just to keep breathing. He said that so far as it has been possible to ascertain, records show that Jeanne Marie is the littlest baby ever born.

Dr. Henry Koplik, noted obstetrician, previously said that records of a maternity clinic in Paris tell of a birth where the baby weighed slightly less than a pound.

"Out of twenty-five cases," Dr. Kohn said, "where babies weighed less than three pounds, not one of them lived. On the other hand I know a girl, now eight

WHOLESALE BRIBERY.

(Banger Commercial.)
Senator Newberry of Michigan has been found guilty of violation of the corrupt practices act and sentenced to 100 years imprisonment and a fine of $10,000. A verdict of guilty has also been rendered against sixteen others. Newberry does not resign from the senate but declares he will continue in office unless ousted by the members of the senate. In the meantime he will appeal from the decision of the court.

The Newberry campaign committee admitted the expenditure of $178,000 which is many times the amount that could be legally expended. The defense claims that Senator Newberry did not finance this expense but that the money was raised and expended by his friends. In the evidence was much to indicate that this claim is not true and evidently even if granted the facts show that to make Newberry a member of the senate many thousands of dollars were illegally expended.

The next phase should be seen in the United States senate which has the right to determine the status of its members and to expel any whose membership is not properly obtained. The senate is not obliged to accept a court verdict but him itself. A delay until the result of the appeal will not be satisfactory to the public and should not be undertaken. One course or another is imperative to the good name of the senate and there should be no delay.

WATCH EXODUS TO LAND!

Vancouver, March 27—A special analysis is to be made of an "herb" which, when immersed in water, smells and tastes like Scotch whisky, but actually possesses more authority. The "herb" was found on an Oriental named King Shee, charged with infraction of the prohibition act. He claims to be the discoverer, but refuses to say whether it is a local or imported herb.

SEEDING WILL BE LATE.

Calgary, Alta., March 27—"There will be a late seeding in the north," according to H. Greenfield of Westlock, on the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway, a member of the executive of the United Farmers of Alberta. "The snow is about three feet deep, and it will be some considerable time before the farmers will be able to commence operations on their land."

DRY LEADERS LOOK FOR VICTORY IN THE RECOUNT IN OHIO

Columbus, Ohio, March 27—Dry leaders last night predicted a victory in the recount of votes cast in the state prohibition referendum. The original wet majority of 479 has now been cut to 159.

RYE MORE POPULAR THAN SCOTCH

Vancouver, B. C., March 28—Three hundred and fifteen thousand liquor prescriptions were issued last year by British Columbia physicians, according to the annual report of the prohibition commission. Rye whiskey is the popular "thunder" during the year in all British Columbia 25,000 gallons of rye were prescribed, and only 9,081 of Scotch. Total sales amounted to $1,700,000 during the year. Amendments to the British Columbia act provide that the limit of liquor prescriptions hereafter will be eight ounces instead of two quarts, as heretofore.

CONSTANTINOPLE AND THE STRAITS

Turk's Hand Must be Lifted from Great Trade Route of Eastern Europe and Asia.

Commentator, in N. Y. Evening Post.

For the last 200 years Europe (and now the rest of the world) has worried over the question of the future status of Constantinople and of the Straits. Already in 1718, after the great victories of Prince Eugene and the peace of Passarowitz, the Ottoman empire in Europe seemed doomed to speedy extinction. One more successful effort on the part of the Austrians would bring the end. Since that date the armies of Russia have four times crossed the Danube and twice penetrated to within a few miles of Constantinople. An Egyptian army has threatened it from Asia and was kept back only by the presence of Russian troops on the Bosphorus. An English fleet more than 100 years ago forced the passage of the Dardanelles, and in 1813 almost did so again. In 1912 a Bulgarian army reached the lines of Chataldja. And at the present moment Constantinople is in the hands of the Allies. And yet it is announced that the Turks are to remain in it, if not as untrammelled masters, at least as nominal sovereigns. We can also see that whatever settlement is arrived at it will not offer much promise of permanence.

Two sets of reasons have helped to save the city for the Ottoman empire, often as it has been menaced. In the first place the Turks have more than once shown a capacity of resistance which has surprised their adversaries—for instance, in some of their wars with Austria and Russia, more recently at Chataldja, at Gallipoli, and they may do so again. Even now, though the capital is helms, Anatolia is not, especially if it can get aid from Bolsheviki Russia. To hold Constantinople against an attack from Asia Minor will demand an army as well as a fleet to force Asia Minor into acquiescence will demand a fleet as well as an army, and who is to furnish it? No one is willing to do so, least of all the United States.

Secondly, as is well known, there are the rivalries and the jealousies of the great powers, no one of which wishes to see a position of such strategic and economic value in the hands of another. This has been especially true at different times of Austria and Russia, of France and Russia, of England and Russia. (In the days of Napoleon I.) Only once has an agreement been reached. That was in 1816, when the other Allies waived their objections in favor of Russia, but this agreement was contingent on a victory which has, indeed, come, but has found no Russia to profit by it.

America's Alocines.

But Americans who are apt to rail at the jealousy and selfishness of the European states which have prevented the putting of an end to the scandal of the Turkish rule, will do well to remember that these states have frankly and honestly offered a mandate over Constantinople to us, a mandate which they were given to understand was desired by our president. Now, after waiting for some months (during which the suggestion was not even presented) to congress, they see that they must find some other solution.

Sentimentally, from the point of view of the Allies, there are few reasons why the Turks should be allowed to remain any longer on the Bosphorus as masters, and there are many to the contrary. They well deserve to lose their supremacy there, which, after all, has been short compared with that of the Greeks. It is true that they have many admirable traits as individuals, and they still succeed in winning the liking—if not in concealing the judgment—of foreigners who have lived among them. But as rulers of others they have failed and as elements in the progress of mankind they have contributed nothing. Today their hands are too deeply blood-stained for them to be entitled to expect consideration.

On the other hand, the sentiment of the Mohammedan world is a thing that cannot be lightly disregarded. It is all very well to say that Constantinople is not a sacred city and that the Sultan can exercise his functions as Caliph, what ever they are, just as well at Brussels or elsewhere. This does not alter the fact that the Indian Mohammedans, who furnished a great many thousand loyal soldiers to Great Britain during the war, would, from all we can learn, be filled with dangerous resentment if the one important Mohammedan Prince who retains a shadow of independence and whom they recognize as Caliph, that is to say, as the highest spiritual dignitary of their creed, should be driven out of the world-famous capital which has been his for the greater part of five centuries.

Modern Sentiment.

They would regard this as a diminution not only of his own prestige but of that of their faith. They feel that it would be base ingratitude on the part of the British government in view of the loyal assistance that they have rendered to all attempts of the Turks to draw them into a holy war. Although we have heard less of the sentiments of the millions of Algerians and Tunisians under French rule, there is no reason for thinking they differ much from those of the Indian Mohammedans. Unfortunately, too, as in the case of other questions still left unsettled by the conference, all such feelings are more intense than they were a year ago.

The crude fact is, the Sultan can be kept in Constantinople with less disturbance than he can be put out, and the Allied Powers are increasingly anxious to bring to a speedy end the period of war and revolution in which they have been living for the last half dozen years. They also do not trust one another much more than they did in the past. The United States they could trust for it is too far away to have serious political aspirations in this part of the globe. It also has no Mohammedan subjects who must be taken into account. An American mandate for Constantinople would have been an easy and simple way out of the difficulty, besides which it would have had the advantage that the mandatory power would probably soon have felt moved to finance its protegee. But America today appears to be in no mood for commitments of this kind.

In default of a mandatory power to take over the task, the League of Nations might have been intrusted with the supervision of some sort of international state which should include within its boundaries not only Constantinople and the land about the Straits, but even, according to President Wilson's conception as reported in Paris, the disputed region of Thrace. Experience has still to teach us whether a territory inhabited by mixed and backward populations, whose relations to one another are enmeshed by religious dissensions, clashing aspirations, and hatreds that date back for centuries can be erected into a modern self-governing democratic state without firm control from above. That their populations have rights to be consulted is certain, and even if the Turk remains he will not be able to tyrannize them as of old, but they will need, for a time at least, a strong hand somewhere.

Russia and the Straits.

A Constantinopolitan free state might be an interesting experiment of government in itself, and we may see it some day, but it cannot be allowed to work out its salvation unaided, for its fortunes are bound up with those of the League of Nations in a position yet to be determined. The League of Nations is hardly in a position yet to supply the necessary executive directions, and one more commission of the representatives of the Allied Powers, though conceivable, would not offer much ground for optimism just as present. In short, if the Sultan is to remain as nominal, if not actual, ruler of Constantinople, it will not be so much because the Powers wish to keep him as because of the difficulty in finding a satisfactory substitute.

Another complication that has been temporarily neglected, but that is now beginning to loom up again, is the attitude of Russia. Whether Russia is thing else, she will and must remain interested in the question of the Straits. Indeed, she has greater interests there than any other power. As soon as peace reigns again in that part of the world and trade once more resumes its normal course, Russia will claim a recognition of these interests. Her situation is in many ways analogous to that of the United States in regard to the Panama Canal and her claims are as well grounded. Those of Bulgaria and Rumania may be compared with similar ones of Columbia and Mexico in regard to the Panama Canal. It would be foolish to think that any agreement can be permanent which overlooks Russia's vital interests in this particular question.

towards a League of Peace and it will not be pleasing to Russia. They will now doubtless be internationalized; their shores will be unfortified; and the necessary traffic and police regulations will be put under some commission which ought to be able to regulate such matters satisfactorily.

Enormous Trade Possibilities.

Before long the trade flowing through these waters should be greater than ever. It may indeed reach huge dimensions. Southern Russia, Rumania, Bulgaria, the Caucasus regions and Northern Asia Minor are all of them new countries from the economic point of view which have only recently entered into modern life, and they are capable of much development.

The overland trade, too, has untold possibilities. Uninterrupted rail communication has been established from the Baltic down through Asia Minor to Bagdad and the Persian Gulf. There should soon be a branch to Persia itself and we may expect that before long it will be extended to India. This will, it is true, have to compete with other overland routes, but for all Central Europe, it has great advantages over any possible rival.

Constantinople, with a superb port of its own, at the point where great land and sea routes cross one another, can hardly fail to be one of the world's important marts. There seems a strange irony of fate if such a position is to remain in the hands of a backward people notoriously little addicted to trade. Or is it the intention of the Allies to place the Commander of the Faithful in the innocuous position of the President of Pancella? In any case the end is not yet.

In the settlements now being made we may take it for granted that the freedom of the Straits will be guaranteed, though some might say that history, though some might say that history, over a century, they have been free enough for commercial purposes and for peacefully peaceful times. To make them free also to ships of war may be politically wise, but it is no particular step

A handsome roof that defies the weather

An added touch of beauty to any house is a roof of Brantford Asphalt Slates, which are in soft, harmonious shades of reddish brown and dark green. The colors are permanent and unfadeable, being the natural shades of the slate just as it is taken out of the quarries.

It will also prove a very economical roof, because Brantford Asphalt Slates do not split, get loose, absorb water or rot. They are strongly fire-resistant and are classified as non-combustible by the fire insurance companies and allowed to be used in cities where the most rigid fire-prevention By-laws are in force.

Brantford Asphalt Slates are very moderate in cost. The regular size of the slates and their pliability make them easily and quickly laid, thus saving time and cost of labor. Being made of high grade felt saturated and coated with asphalt, and with a surface of crushed slate, they make a roof that defies the elements and is a permanent part of the building, just like the walls and the foundation.

Brantford Asphalt Slates

are being used more extensively every year for city, country and summer homes, churches, golf clubs, stores, garages, and wherever an artistic effect is desired on a pitch roof.

If you are going to do any building this year or have an old roof that needs replacing, it will be to your advantage to investigate Brantford Asphalt Slates.

 the shape of selling to that will be a great aid in selling the merchandise, and they have always valuable suggestions to make in regard to pushing their merchandise and making some special appeal to the mothers.
 Another valuable aid in this department is to complete mailing list. In order to augment ours we put on a contest offering prizes for the greatest list of names of children under six handed in during a specified period, and more than 1,000 names were obtained, 700 of which were children under six. One girl was kept busy at the phone for two days calling up the mothers of these children and asking them to come to our department next week to hear the free lectures which we gave, two a day for three days, in regard to the proper care of children. A hand-painted comb was presented every child and in order to get this child must be registered, which brought our mailing list up to 1,200.
 It is an strong for featuring everything that can possibly get hold of for the baby boy. There are so many things for the baby girl, but comparatively little attention is paid to the baby boy. This not only gets the mothers in, but the daddies also.

"Window, Window, Who's Got the Window?"
 Retailers whose stores present difficulties in the way of adequate window display space, because of peculiar construction or other architectural obstacles, may take a leaf from the experience of Moskowitz & Herbach, Philadelphia, dealers in sporting goods, who solved the problem by an ingenious "disappearing window." At the same time they provided a feature which has proved to be an unending source of public interest.
 The value of window space when a merchant has to pay in the neighborhood of $8,000 a front foot rental for his store, is so great that L. Moskowitz, senior member of the firm, was willing to spend a substantial amount to obtain sufficient displays of the great number of articles handled by his store. Although Moskowitz now owns the property which houses his store, this did not alter the fact that his windows were as valuable as though he still paid rent for them.

 For years our store was located at 430 Market street," says Mr. Moskowitz, "but a short time ago we found that our business had grown to such proportions that it became necessary to seek larger quarters. It happened that at this time the landlord served notice on us that the rent of our store would be increased about $8,500, so under this stimulus I decided that being a landlord was pretty nearly as good as being in the sporting goods business, and I bought the six-story building at 512 Market street.
 There was, however, just one drawback to what otherwise would have been an ideal place. Nearly one-third of the front of the store was taken up by a large freight elevator. Besides this, there was no way of changing the elevator to another part of the building. It must stay where it was. But, being used to overcoming obstacles I took out a pencil, made a rough sketch, called in one of the best architects in the city, and the disappearing window was born."
 The plan for the vanishing window was a simple but very efficacious one. In the space between the elevator shaft and the sidewalk a solid window in the form of a box six feet wide, eight feet high and about two feet deep, was inserted in such a manner that when in its proper position the window formed a part of the adjoining show window. The effect was such as to produce the impression that it was no different from hundreds of other windows on the street; in fact, one person who had heard of the "disappearing window" paid a visit to the store and tried to discover it, but in vain—there was nothing in its appearance to suggest anything unusual.
 When the elevator is required to load or unload goods the window simply slides down a shaft or runway, similar to that of the elevator itself, and disappears from view, being completely submerged below the sidewalk. Across the top of the window a solid iron comes into position as the window is being lowered. This presents a smooth entrance across the window into the elevator itself—bridges the gap between the window and the elevator, the strain being borne by the heavy iron plate which is connected with the elevator projector.
 The window is connected with the electrically-operated elevator, and, by pressing a button, moves whenever the elevator is needed for service, but the window may be handled independently of the elevator.

of a coffee house in Madison, Wis. When some one inquired why Mulaney wanted slender waitresses he explained by saying that "they take up less room, are quicker on their feet, eat less and don't get fat feet."
Best That Wasn't What They Meant!
 The Factory Outlet Co. of Hazleton, Pa., in advertising its special offerings of shoes, said: "It is an exceptional event in the shoe world of Hazleton and it will be to your advantage to see us before you buy your footwear elsewhere."
The Blessing Didn't Run True to Form.
 "Bless your store, mister? Let me bless your store!"
 This was the plaintive plea uttered by one of a pair of gipsy women who recently wandered up Fifth avenue, resplendent in red shawls, gold earrings and all the trappings which are usually associated with the traveling tribes.
 "Bless the store?" echoed the merchants along their path. "What's the idea?"
 "Protection against the evil eye, kind sir," explained the elder of the two women. "With all this sickness about you cannot afford to leave your store unprotected. Besides," and here a note of shrewd wheedling entered the woman's voice, "the curse of the gipsy is a dangerous thing, you know."
 "All right," laughed most of the merchants approached, "go ahead with your blessings and make 'em strong. Might include one against the fair-price committee, while you're at it."
 Whereupon the women walked up and down the aisles, giving utterances to a weird chant in some foreign, semi-barbaric tongue. When they finished they insisted on blessing the cash registers and, of course, the money drawers had to be opened for this purpose.
 Next Rosie Mark and Mary Miller, the two "gipsies" were held on $1,000 bill, charged with causing the disappearance of $70 from the cash register of one merchant and $100 from the till of another—from which it would appear that the art of "blessing" is lucrative, particularly if one is gifted with the ability to make the hand move more rapidly than the eye.

WOMAN'S WORK

Ever since Eve, in the Garden of Eden, sewed fig leaves for Adam, sewing has been woman's work.

Only when silk thread was given her, by a little Chinese girl, some 4,500 years ago, did sewing become a joy.

Not alone because pure silk was so soft, so lustrous, so beautiful, but because she soon learned that anything sewed with silk stayed sewed.

MILITARISTS LOSE GROUND IN JAPAN

Assailed on All Sides by the Press and Public

Consternation and Unrest Created—Faction Accused of Lying to Maintain Its Place.

(Foreign Correspondence of Evening Post.)
Tokyo, Feb. 26.—Gen. Count Terauchi, the last of Japan's militarist premiers, who died a couple of months ago, would probably turn in his grave could he hear the attacks which have been made upon the once all-powerful militarist faction. Weak as the present cabinet's domestic policy has been, Premier Hara has shown considerable determination in

Nearly Insane From Leg Ulcers

She tells of suffering and brief story of her cure.

Read these two letters from Sarah D. Lawrence of Robinson, Ontario. I can't sleep at night from leg ulcers. I am in pain most of the time. I have doctor after doctor. A lady from Windsor says that Dr. D. D. cured her of a bad case of ulcers. That her sores are all healed. Can you help me?

Now a few words from another lady. I have used Dr. D. D. as directed, and my leg is completely well. I was not convinced and try this remedy today for any form of skin disease. One application and the itch is gone. Your money back if relief doesn't come from the first bottle. It is a bottle. Try Dr. D. D. for Skin Disease.

GUARD AGAINST THE 'FLU

Serious Outbreak of Influenza A.R. Over Canada.

GOOD HEALTH IS THE SUREST SAFEGUARD

'FRUIT-A-LIVES' Brings Vigor and Vitality and Thus Protects Against Disease.

There can be no doubt that the situation regarding the spread of influenza throughout Canada is one of grave concern. It is quite true that the number of cases does not constitute an epidemic as is usually the case with influenza during the terrible days of 1918. Yet there is no disguising the fact that everyone should be on their guard against the disease.

In Montreal alone, from January 28 to February 21, three thousand, one hundred and twenty-two cases of influenza and 189 deaths from the disease were reported to the Health Department.

If the outbreak had come at the beginning of the winter instead of the end, we might reasonably feel that the very cold weather would check the spread of the disease. But coming as it has, at the end of the winter, there is grave fear that an epidemic may occur. For spring, with its slush and rain under foot, its dampness and chill, its constant changing from cold to warm and back again, is a prolific source of coughs and colds, pleurisy and pneumonia.

The best protection, in fact, the only safeguard against the 'flu, is GOOD HEALTH.

Those who are not as well and strong as they should be, those who are underweight, those who are "run-down" through overwork or sickness; should build up at once. 'Fruit-a-lives' is a blood-purifier, a body-builder, a strength-giver, like 'Fruit-a-lives', the wonderful 'Fruit-a-lives'.

'Fruit-a-lives' regulates the kidneys and bowels, causing these organs to eliminate waste and poisons as nature intended. 'Fruit-a-lives' keeps the skin active, and insures an abundant supply of pure, rich blood. 'Fruit-a-lives' tones up and strengthens the organs of digestion, sharpens the appetite, brings restful sleep and renews the vitality of the nervous system. 'Fruit-a-lives' contains everything that an ideal tonic should have; to purify the blood, to build up strength and vigor, and to regulate the eliminating organs, so that the whole system would be in the best possible condition to resist disease.

Now is the time to build up your health and strength, not only as a precaution against the ravages of influenza, but also to protect you against 'spring fever', the inevitable ailment which comes with the appearance of warmer weather. Get a box of 'Fruit-a-lives' today and let the milk medicine keep you well.

'Fruit-a-lives' is sold by all dealers at 50¢ a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, retail 25¢, or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

our opinion it cannot be said that the rumor has no foundation whatever.

Of course, it may be untrue that the Japanese military officers should clandestinely interfere in the affairs of other countries or foment internal trouble, but we regret to have to admit the broad fact that Japan has military diplomacy, and that of the foreign office. What about our diplomacy in China?

It never happened that, while the foreign office was making arrangements in accordance with the course, the Japanese military officers in China took action along different lines and showed much activity behind the scenes.

The same paper goes on to cite Siberia as another example of disagreement between the military and the foreign office, but adds that the fault lies to some extent in the fact that the latter has little money with which to collect information from foreign countries, while the general staff has means of securing such. The Yomiuri, which attacks the foreign office, takes occasion at the same time to brand the militarists their share of criticism.

The principal reason why there is no unity in the policy of the government in China is that the diplomatic authorities are powerless to keep under restraint the impetuous activities of the militarists. It is to be hoped that, while holding the diplomatic authorities strictly, the government will take steps to eliminate the militaristic elements which have hindered and disturbed the policy of the government.

Japan is at present in the position of a 'Jai standing upside down', a statement made by Mr. Otsuki, a leader of the opposition party, who returned from America and Europe a few days ago. At a public meeting he gave expression to his observations abroad and applied them to Japan, not at all to her advantage, and his remarks have made a profound impression. The meeting was so crowded and began with so much tumult, caused by the efforts to get in on the part of those who had not come in time to gain admittance, that an attempt was made to call it off, but the speaker insisted on leaving Mr. Otsuki, who, among other things, took a fling at Japan's military policy.

Points to 'War' Lessons.
"It cannot be denied that there has been a positive tendency in Japan to regard military force as a universal panacea for all international ills," he said. "In the past Japan has frequently had recourse to military force in international questions, but the general tendency of the world has now changed. The great war has demonstrated beyond a doubt that a strong army and navy can hardly guarantee the ascendancy of a country. If military force is to be used, it must be in connection with a satisfactory solution of all international questions, such problems as the Shanghai question, the China boycott, and so on, which have not yet been settled long ago."

While all this has created some unrest among the people, the government has been caused by a resolution introduced by Mr. Nagata of the independent party, which called for the dissolution of the cabinet. The resolution was introduced in the proceedings at the peace conference, the peace treaty and also some other diplomatic relations with other countries. While this resolution has been greeted with a wide welcome from the public at large and by the press, it has met with instant and strenuous opposition by the government party, which controls that it tends to affect an encroachment on the imperial prerogatives, and that diplomatic matters should be kept on general principle, anyway.

The press appears to be unanimous, however, in opposing the resolution. The Nichi Nichi says that the attitude of the government party resembles that of the party who hears the footstep of an approaching policeman, and that if the government has no faults to hide it should have no investigation. The Hochi remarks that while the government may succeed in shelving the resolution, it is bound to incur distrust on the part of the public will remain.

"You Are Losing Weight—You Are Anaemic"

"WHAT does that mean, doctor?"
"It means that you are not deriving proper nourishment from the food you are eating."
"I eat enough, I think."
"That may be, but your blood is thin and watery, your nervous system is being starved and your weight is below normal."
"Is that what makes me feel so tired? I don't seem to have the energy to do much."
"Exactly, you have not enough nervous energy to drive the machinery of the body. Digestion fails and you do not derive proper nourishment from your food."
"What should I do?"
"You need a treatment that will supply to the blood in condensed form the elements which are necessary to build up the nervous system."
"How about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?"

"There is nothing better. I could easily give you a prescription that would cost you more money, but Dr. Chase's Nerve Food contains all the elements necessary for the enriching of the blood and restoration of the nervous system. If you keep a record of your weight each week you will be able to prove this for yourself."
"You think I am anaemic then?"
"Yes, your blood is weak and this is why your nerves are starved and exhausted. The headaches, tired feelings and sleeplessness are the result of this condition, but you will soon be all right if you follow this treatment faithfully."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is sold by all dealers. On every box of the genuine you will find the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author. Edmanston, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

and will, as a matter of fact, be intensified by its secretive attitude; while the propaganda bureau of the war department must follow the wish of the people which is that diplomacy should be open as far as possible and that nothing should be concealed. The destruction of the government forces is so great that they have threatened to appeal to the emperor to dissolve the diet, if the house insists on its proposal, so troublous time appear to be ahead.

The final show of contempt for the one so haughty militarists is contained in the suggestion made by the Yomiuri that the telegrams which have been sent to the effect that the Bolsheviks were trying to instigate a revolution in Korea were merely false fabrications by the propaganda bureau of the war department.

"In considering foreign telegrams of dubious origin we should see whether they are not merely propaganda devices," said a Yomiuri editorial, after having referred to the activities of the army propaganda bureau.

Let Them All Take OLIVEINE EMULSION

The Doctor knows the merits of this elegant preparation. He prescribes it for every member of the family—for the tired, nervous wife and mother—for the man who is all run-down, does not sleep well nor digest what he eats—for the young girl who is pale and dispirited—for the boy recovering from a wasting illness—for the baby who is underweight and not growing as fast as is natural.

The Doctor knows by experience that OLIVEINE EMULSION is the food and tonic needed to re-build wasted tissues—to enrich the blood—to heal the throat and soothe the nerves—to take away the tiredness—to strengthen the digestion—and to put new vim, vigor and vitality in the entire system.

OLIVEINE EMULSION is an improved and tasteless preparation of the extract of Oil Malt, Wild Cherry Bark, Syrup Hypophosphites, Quinine and other valuable compounds combined so agreeably that it is pleasant to take and readily digested by the weak-stomach.

Keeps the Straight in, Unru test Hair in Curl

You've never seen anything work such wonders for straight, lank, unruly hair as plain liquid amlerine. Nothing else will keep the hair in curl for so long a time—nor produce such beautifully lustrous, natural-looking curls and waves. Use it on wavy weather has no terrors for the woman who uses it. And no one need hesitate to use it, for it is so easily applied with a brush and so perfectly harmless. It leaves no greasy, sticky or streaky trace. The curliness can be acquired in three hours, though many prefer to apply the liquid at bedtime. When the hair is combed out it is delightfully soft and fluffy.

Anyone who will get a bottle of liquid amlerine from the druggist and follow the accompanying directions will have a most agreeable surprise. The liquid is also valued as a splendid dressing for the hair.

Tells How to Regain Perfect Health and Keep It by Bathing Internally.

Are you aware that nearly one million bright, intelligent people throughout Canada and the United States alone coat internally instead of loading their systems with drugs? Why? Because it keeps them in better health in every way.

Internal bathing is the only sure way of keeping the lunestines clean and free from accumulated waste matter, which is sure to slowly poison the system and induce indigestion, headaches and a hundred other ailments which are directly the result of constipation.

If you want to be healthy all the time we would strongly advise you to get a J.B.L. Cascades, which is the only scientifically cleansing the colon and lower lunestines. It is the invention of Dr. Chase, A. Tyrrell of New York, who is a specialist on Internal Bathing. The J.B.L. Cascades is shown and explained by E. Clinton Brown, Druggist, Union and Waterloo streets, St. John, N.B. Munro Dispensing Chemist, 307 Main street, St. John, where you can receive an interesting book called 'Why Man is Sick' for only 50¢ per. Elected. It will tell you facts about yourself that you probably never realized before. Write Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute, 169 College Street, Toronto.

Clear Baby's Skin With Cuticura Soap and Talcum

New York.—Dr. Smith, a well-known eye specialist, and Dr. Judkins, a Massachusetts physician and medical author, make the following reports after a thorough test of a popular remedy for the eyes.

Says Dr. Smith: "When my attention was first called to it by a girl of 12 years old, I at once advised every eye worker for many years I feel qualified to express an intelligent opinion on remedies for the eyes. Since his one has created such a sensation I welcomed the opportunity to test it. I began to use it in my practice a little over a year ago and I am frank to say that some of the results I have accomplished with Bon-Opto are not only astonishing myself but also other physicians with whom I have talked about it, and I advise every thoughtful physician to give Bon-Opto the same careful trial I have and there is no doubt in my mind that he will come to the conclusion I have, that it opens the door for the cure of many eye troubles which have hitherto been difficult to cope with. I have had individuals who had worn glasses for years tell me they have dispensed with them through the use of Bon-Opto. In my own practice I have seen it strengthen the eyesight of more than 50 per cent. in one week's time. I have also used it with surprising results in cases of the weak-streaked eye, pink eye, inflamed lids, catarrhal conjunctivitis, smarting, pain, itching, itching eyes, eyes weakened from colds, smokes, sun, dust and wind, watery eyes, blurred vision, and in fact, many other conditions. A new and striking case that has just been brought to my attention is that of a girl of 12 years old. Two prominent eye specialists, after a thorough examination, declared, according to her father, that in order to save the sight of her right eye, the left must be removed. While awaiting an opportunity for the operation and still undecided as to its wisdom, her father was told it would do no harm to use Bon-Opto. In less than three days a marked improvement was noticed. At the end of a week the inflammation had almost disappeared, and at the end of two weeks the eye was pronounced saved. Just think what the saving of that eye meant to this little girl! Another case is that of a lady 58 years old. She came to me with dull vision and extreme inflammation of the lids and conjunctiva. After two weeks' use of Bon-Opto the lids were absolutely normal and her eyes are as bright as many a girl of twenty."

Dr. Judkins, Massachusetts physician and medical author, formerly chief of clinics in the Union General Hospital, Boston, Mass., and formerly house surgeon at the New England Eye and Ear Infirmary of Portland, Maine, says: "I have found oculists too prone to operate and opticians too willing to prescribe glasses, while neglecting the simple formulas which form the basis of Bon-Opto, which in my opinion, is a remarkable remedy for the cure and prevention of many eye disorders. Its success in developing and strengthening the eyesight will soon make eye-glasses old-fashioned and the use of Bon-Opto as common as that of the tooth brush. I am thoroughly convinced from my experience with Bon-Opto that it will strengthen the eyesight of at least 90 per cent. in one week's time in many instances."

Victims of eye strain and other eye weaknesses and many who wear glasses will be glad to know that according to Drs. Smith and Judkins there is real hope and help for them. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored by this remarkable remedy and many who once wore glasses say they have laid them aside. One man says:

"I was almost blind. Could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not hurt any more. At night they would pain dreadfully. Now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me."

A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can read even the print without glasses." Another who used it says: "I was bothered with eyestrain, caused by overworked, tired eyes which induced for several years, both for distance and close work, and without them I could not read my own name on an envelope or the typewriting on the machine before me. I can do both now and have discarded my long-distance glasses altogether. I can count the fluttering leaves on the trees across the street now, which for several years have looked like a dim green blur to me. I cannot express my joy at what it has done for me."

It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitude more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited in this easy manner. Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Dissolve one tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and use from two to four times a day. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation and redness will quickly disappear. If you eyes bother you even a little, it is your duty to take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have saved their sight if they had cared for their eyes in time.

NOTE—Another prominent physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Yes, the Bon-Opto prescription is truly a wonderful eye remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. I have used it very successfully in my own practice on patients whose eyes were strained through overwork or mist glasses. It is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." Bon-Opto referred to above, is not a patent medicine or a secret remedy. It is an ethical preparation, the formula being printed on the package. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent. in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It is dispensed under guaranty by all good druggists in this city, including Wason's Drug Store.

EVENING TIMES-STAR, ST. JOHN, N.B.

ON CITY CORNER FOR 45 YEARS

Dr. John B. Hall, One of Toronto's Oldest Physicians, Is Still Practising.

JARVIS AND CARLTON

When He Settled There Was on Northern Limits of Residential Section.

By FRED G. GRIFFIN.

FIFTY years a doctor and forty-five of them spent on the corner of Jarvis and Carlton streets—such in brief is the story of one of the grand old men of medicine in Toronto, Dr. John B. Hall, eighty-three years of age the last day of this month and still carrying on as a consulting physician, especially interested in children.

Call on Dr. Hall in old-world fashion in a room on the level with the sidewalk outside and you don't wonder that he seems to have discovered the elixir of life or the secret of personal youth. Two beautiful canaries flood the room with never-ceasing song so that the sounds of the street, outside, cease to exist. The air is sweet with the fragrance of fresh flowers. Goldfish sparkle in a bowl on the windowsill. The walls are lined with wonderful prints and engravings, the majorities of them studies of animal life, horses and dogs. It is a room that appeals to the senses and to the heart of a man who loves life. And dominating the sense of beauty that the room conveys is the always recurring, kindly, oh-so-wise chuckle of the fine old gentleman who is life.

And if you seem to love life a little yourself the doctor will show you some of his treasures in the other low-ceilinged, old-fashioned rooms on the street level—many, many beautiful pictures of horses and dogs. For horses are part of the life of this man who was born in England and has lived most of his life a Canadian and yet in appearance and in speech and tastes is a country boy. He has a singular sense of humor, a sense of humor that is not only a young fellow (chuckle)—but inside a year was the only physician in the city who had a horse. "Did you drive them out?" "I don't say that, but I got the business from three of them returned after I left, I know."

VINCE PERRY, OF LONDON, ONT., IS CANADA'S SHORT-STORY KING

Has Been Paid for More Than 300 Tales in a Year and a Half—Runs a Regular Fiction Factory.

By VERNE D. ROWELL.

VINCENT G. PERRY, of London, Ont., is only twenty-two years of age, but he enjoys the unique distinction of being known as the short-story king of Canada. Lots of people in Canada, the climate of which appears to breed literary ambitions, write short stories, but nobody else in Canada has collected more than three hundred short stories inside of a year and a half, which is young Perry's record.

Perry sold his first short story when he was seventeen and not yet through collegiate institute. A farm paper accepted it for a special Christmas number, and about the same time a suburban weekly, called the "East London Bulletin," and published by P. W. Graham, now serving as manager for a big Canadian home magazine, accepted a serial from the young story-writer. After that came several years in which little work in fiction was attempted, but during which Perry emulated Jack London by seeking local color in a New Ontario mining town, and for a short time was editor-in-chief and reporter staff combined for the Timmins Advance.

Life in the Klondike of Ontario in time passed for the young literary aspirant, and he returned south to the sunny shores of Lake Erie, where as correspondent for a London paper at Port Stanley he sorted social items, telephoned drowning accidents in town, and collected subscriptions from the summer cottagers. One day news was scarce, and he staged a fake drowning which made a poor story, but he afterward wrote it into one of his most successful fiction stories. Later somebody copied the idea and made it into

Dr. John Hall.

Sat With Rockefeller

School Cleveland, L. M. Oviatt, principal, relates Dr. Hall, John B. Rockefeller and his brother had seats immediately in front of me. They were then boys of 12 or 14 years of age. They came in from the country. Honestly between you and me I thought them paddheads—big chucks—but they were very studious boys.

Some time after graduation Dr. Hall set up at Shagopee, in the country village of 22 miles up the Minnesota River from St. Paul. He had a singular sense of humor, a sense of humor that is not only a young fellow (chuckle)—but inside a year was the only physician in the city who had a horse.

"Did you drive them out?" "I don't say that, but I got the business from three of them returned after I left, I know."

"I thought Toronto when I saw it first," remarked Dr. Hall, "was the worst place on earth. Yonge street was all torn up where they were laying a sewer. There were fifty or sixty thousand people in the city and the nearest street to me and the nearest to Dr. Atkins on Queen street. He later moved up on the corner of Gerrard street."

"This was the limit of the residential section of the city," he said, "and that district were the best residential section."

Dr. Hall was born in Lincoln City, England, in 1837, the year Queen Victoria ascended the throne. He does not remember that event, but he remembers nearly everything that happened since. He was educated in Cleveland Public schools and Oberlin University, and graduated in 1859 in St. Louis, Missouri.

FEW men have figured more prominently in the public eye in Western Canada during the last year than M. A. Brown, Mayor of Medicine Hat, president of the Alberta Branch of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club, president of the Alberta Industrial Development Association, and promoter of the Western Colonization Association. None of these positions produces a living for Mr. Brown and so he farms and is a partner in two big stores, one in Calgary and one in Medicine Hat.

Mr. Brown is not his own publicity seeker. He is an earnest young man with a vision and he is thoroughly believed in by the people of his native city, and of Calgary, and Alberta generally. When he inaugurates a campaign, he is given adequate and cheerful support to carry it through. Nor is Mr. Brown known for political preferences. He avoids politics as he would the plague and the organizations with which he is connected are strictly non-political.

Paderewski Chokes Would-Be Assassin

Pianist Finds Strong Fingers Pay in Poland.

IGNACE PADEREWSKI who has now resigned as Prime Minister of Poland, has not touched the piano for more than two years. His fingers have had other work to do. They throttled, for example, the neck of a man found in the Premier's apartment one night. With one hand the assassin presented a paper to Paderewski, with the other a pistol. On the paper was written Paderewski's abdication as Prime Minister. "Sign that," said the villain, "or you are a dead man." Paderewski gripped with his visitor and held him until his arrival. To-day that visitor is Paderewski's firm friend, for with the unsteady state of the country, the patriot had not hated the man to court.

Physically, mentally, and morally, Paderewski is a towering figure. When, at the beginning of the war, he commenced his work of recruiting Polish troops here and getting American aid for his country, people looked at these activities as praiseworthy detachments from his real work in life as pianist and composer. They had yet to learn that, before everything, Paderewski is a Pole and a patriot.

It would take a separate article to tell of the old doctor's interest in horses. He bred Arabs for more than fifty years. He owned the strain of Linden Tree and Leopard, two pure Barbs presented to General Grant during his tour of the world. The last of his Arab Dr. Hall presented to Sir Sam Hughes about three years ago because of the doctor's intention of staying in Canada to establish remount stations throughout Canada.

WHEN the King was inspecting a veteran war motor omnibus at Buckingham Palace recently he remarked that it was the first time he had been in an omnibus, though he had previously ridden in a tramway. His Majesty was no doubt referring to when, as Prince of Wales, he rode to Tooting on London's first electric tramway on May 16, 1860, when he inaugurated the system.

CALVERT IS OLDEST ACTRESS, KENDAL'S SERVICE LONGEST

Remarkable Records of Still-Living Ladies Who Helped to Make History on the Stage.

THE veteran actress, Miss Dolores Drummond, who celebrated her eighty-second birthday in London last month, is not the oldest living actress. That distinction appears to belong either to Mrs. Charles Calvert or Miss Genevieve Ward, each of whom was born in 1827, and to Miss Ellen Terry, who was born in 1830. Miss Ward was born in March, but January 15th is usually given as the date of her birth, which case the distinction of being actually eighty-three is hers by a narrow margin.

Mrs. Calvert is probably the Mother of the Stage in age and Mrs. Kendal in length of service. It is pertinent to remember, in this connection, that Mrs. Kendal has often been styled "the Matron of the Drama."

Best Anecdotes of the Week

DRURY'S OPTIMISM
MR. E. C. DRURY, the new Premier of Ontario, predicted in one of his first speeches that the existing prosperity of Canada could not last, writes, Beauchamber in the London Daily Express. This dark prognostication brought down on him, of course, much censure. "I am accused of being a pessimist," retorted Mr. Drury. "It is not true. I am an optimist, but I have a vision of the future, and I have fallen out of a ten-story window. Nothing happened yet."

A GOOD PROPHET
THIS is said to be actually a true story of the British Prime Minister. When he had been but two years in Parliament he was one day being shaved in a Washington barber. Several ministers were waiting to be shaved. As soon as "L. G." had departed, an aged miner said: "Mr. Drury has a keen appreciation of the humorous which will save him from many pitfalls. After his appointment, when he discussed the situation in Canada, a rural friend took him into the Toronto literary club under the impression that it was a restaurant. As it was obvious that they were not members, a Canadian author who was present, and who failed to recognize the Premier, politely explained the situation to the intruders, who retired in the best spirit."

HIS PARTY
THE Countess of Warwick, who has been adopted as Labor candidate for East Walthamstow, has long been noted for her practical interest in welfare work. One of her best stories concerns an occasion when she conversed the humble quarters of a northern laborer, and he, a well-known labor leader, and encountered at the first house she visited a matron of

Serg. H. A. Miller Called "Vice-President" of Hayti

THE promotion of Serg. Harold A. ("Spot") Miller, U.S.M.C., to be a Lieutenant in the Gendarmerie d'Hayti, discloses that he holds the strangest job in the United States Marine Corps, which has a wonderful variety. For the last four years Miller has been personal bodyguard of President Antenorio of the Republic of Hayti, and has become so influential in native Governmental circles that he is known as the "Vice-President of Hayti."

passing his boyhood in a Cape Cod village, and getting his professional education at Harvard University Medical College, the young doctor of 38 soon tired of life as an ordinary practitioner and took an examination the following year for a position as surgeon in the regular army.

In 1892 Wood was ordered to Hayti to become assistant attending surgeon, his duties being those of medical adviser to army officers and their families, physician to the Secretary of War, and in company with the army surgeon to meet Theodore Roosevelt at some social function at the Louisiana House on March 28, 1898. It was on this occasion that Wood and his wife were with the general when he was shot.

It had been a surgeon in the regular army for thirteen years and he had not yet realized his desire to be transferred to the line, though from the first months of his entrance into the regular army he was in fact a fighting officer and had distinguished himself as such before he had been in the field in active service.

WESTERN ENTENTE
NEW NAME FOR

With America Out, France
Must Look to Great Britain for Protection — England's Predominant Aspiration Is Peace; That of France Security.

Special to The Montreal Herald by Sir
Sidney Low.
London, March 22.—In the French press and elsewhere there have been hints of friction between the two great nations which will have the fate of Europe in their hands for some time to come. It is suggested that the accord of peace and England is not quite so close the peace as it was in the war. If this intended to imply ill-will or antagonism between the countries, it is flagrant untrue. France and Britain are on terms of the closest friendship, and their policies and governments are determined that they shall so remain. But it is no doubt a fact, and one statesmen must see, that there is a certain difference in their outlook on the future. It is not a difference which should cause trouble, provided it is treated with sympathy and mutual forbearance.

War's Heritage Desires.
The war left each of the Allies with a dominant aspiration. For England that may be defined as peace; for France it may be called security. The emotion which stimulated and sustained Britain throughout the conflict was summarized in a famous phrase by Lloyd George. It was to be "the War to end War." In that spirit men acclaimed the Armistice, and it has been strong in England ever since. With two of the great militarist nations shattered, and the third languid and weakened, Englishmen much of her warlike panoply, relies on the League of Nations to adjust international disorders, and turns eagerly to the problems of political, social and industrial development.

France is as much interested as any nation in these questions; but there is something that interests her even more deeply. She believes she has escaped a much deadlier peril than that which menaced her ally; for while England, if defeated, might have been deprived of her colonial and commercial supremacy, France would have been deprived of her independence and national identity. Hence throughout the war she knew that she was fighting for her life, as no other belligerent was, except perhaps Serbia. Hence she comes out of the struggle with the thought of safety stamped in letters of blood and iron upon the national consciousness. Security against another attack, or the certainty of defeating it if attempted—that is what France has before and beyond anything else. Twice within half a century the alien hosts have crossed her frontiers, twice has the in-vader fastened his fangs deep in her side.
She cannot risk a third onslaught. Even if she emerged victorious, another such death grapple would mean annihilation.
She can take no chances with this dire danger, though many may seem now improbable and remote.

France Still Fearful.
Improbable perhaps, even remote, the peril may be, but France cannot be vain that it is extinguished. Germany is a mighty nation; with a population still some twenty millions larger than that of her neighbor, and growing more rapidly. Thirty years hence she might be able to bring into the line four battalions for every two French. She has had a fearful lesson; but its effects will pass away, and she might essay to resume the perennial conflict between Teuton and Gaul.

How can France be insured against this danger? Can she put her trust in the League of Nations? But that is an experimental. Or in the new spirit in Germany? That may be transient, and may be burnt out by the line of national and revenge which is ranking in so many German hearts. Will the revision of boundaries and sovereignties in these troubled waters, continue, as in the past, to draw economic and military resources from the weaker units and aggregate on her borders. The Hun, with Slav, Ruthenian, Magyar and Lithuanian legions in his train might once again march upon the Meuse and the Somme.
It appears unlikely at the moment. But the stake is too heavy for France to play with any hazard. She must have a shield that will not fall her, that cannot be dashed aside by any stroke, however smashing and sudden.

Why Buffer State Desired.
That is why her great statesman and her great soldier—Clemenceau and Foch —set their eyes on a geographical barrier. They wanted to extend French sovereignty to the Rhine, or at least to create a "buffer state" under French supervision on the left bank of the river.
With this glacis in front France could face with confidence the menace of another German attack.
The allied council did not consent to the extension. France abandoned it reluctantly, and accepted in return the alternative of a tripartite treaty, under which Great Britain and the United States would agree to employ their forces in her defence against an unprovoked attack. But America has not ratified the treaty, and it may be that she will disengage herself altogether from the politics of Europe. France must look to Britain to guarantee her against assault. For this reason it is that French publicists glance with anxiety at British "pacifism" and ask whether an unarmed England could carry out its obligations to its nearest ally.

France and Great Britain are not concerned only with Europe. They are the two great surviving colonial empires, with the largest interests in Africa and Asia. Here they have been rivals for three centuries, and the prolonged competition has left its traces on French sentiment. Paris imperialists have been nervous lest in the settlement of the Near East the traditional claims of France in Syria and Asia Minor should be ignored. There is a curious irony in the fact that Great Britain, which went into the war without the smallest territorial ambitions, has emerged from it with vast new dependencies and protectorates. French there occasion for armed intervention beyond the Channel, and they look to their ally to abstain from any provocative or vindictive action.
Subject to that condition Great Britain will come to the aid of France if attacked, and will co-operate with her with all patriots of the colonizing school insist that the influence of the republic in east and south must be asserted and respected.

Two Lands Understand Each Other.
Fortunately these doubts and jeal-ousies are not shared by the governments of the two countries, which have an excellent understanding with one another. In spite of the nervous journalists the outlines of the joint policy are firmly drawn. So far as Britain is concerned, France is welcome to build up another Algeria on the Mediterranean littoral and she receives an ample share of the ceded German colonies in West Africa. As regards continental politics the hope of Englishmen is that they will find no further force and prestige to maintain and complete the present settlement. This understanding should be sufficient to provide safe, though not easy, navigation through the shoals and eddies of the coming years. The western entente is the keystone of European order and stability.

MAPLE SUGAR FINE, BUT FARMERS KEEPING MORE.

Ingersoll, March 26.—Most of the farmers of the neighboring districts who have tapped their sugar bushes report a splendid run of sap. The general opinion is that the season will be short, owing to the entire absence of snow, which, it is claimed, is very essential. Syrup of exceptionally fine quality has already been made, but it is not expected there will be a heavy supply on the market.
Many farmers are inclined to retain more than ever for their own use, owing to the high cost of sugar and other syrups.

A German, arrested for smuggling in 1918, by the Swiss police, was released on 5,000 francs bail, for which at the rate of exchange then he paid 7,500 marks. Recently his case was decided, and he was fined 3,500 francs. Then he got back the rest of his bail deposit, 1,700 francs, which he changed at a bank for 24,000 marks, thus making a clear profit of 16,500 marks.
