EVERITT & BUTLER,

The Paily Tribune. ST. JOHN, N. B., JUNE 17, 1872.

Early in May The Taibune laid before its numerous readers, who include a large body of Manufacturers in all our principal towns, the Circular addressed by the House of Commons Committee on Manufacturers of the leading manufacturers of the Dominion. More recently we have directed attention to the character of the replies received. We have now to allude and in the new Parliament it will to the Committee's report, which was prepared and was to have been submitted to the House on Tuesday last, but the turers of the Upper and Lower Provinces absence of members and the approach of the prorogation prevented its consideration, and it was accordingly withdrawn. The subject will, no doubt, be taken up at an early period in the new Parliament, and St. John manufacturers of St. John Manu St. John manufacturers, if they desire to place their opinions before Parliament, should keep the subject in view and be proposed to deal with its literature of the opinions of manufacturers of St. John, Halifax, etc. We may therefore anticipate a revival of, rather than a falling away from, Protection

To-day the Committee on Manufacturing Interests agreed upon their report, which will be presented to-morrow or Monday. In the winding up clause, the report recom-

to the best interests of the country.

The great Musical event of the century of the policy of incidental protection initiated in 1857; also the consideration of means for utilizing the vast deposits of iron ore in the Dominion now lying nunsed, except for the Dominion now lying nunsed, except for the Dominion now lying nunsed, except for the total abandonment of the busic ness of sugar refining to Canada, owing to the lew favoring foreign refiners more than Canadian, is montioned; and it is suggest that some remedy for this should be devised.

In the Committee Mr. Rymal and Mr. Cobby distinguished themselves by their exertions against every proposal having a tondency to feeter manufactures. The chairman, Mr. Magill fought for the recognition of failway the masses of many nations and, all lan grades on the railway between the consideration of the constituent of the constituent of the constituent of the policy of incidental protection initiated in 1857; also the consideration of means for the policy of incidental protection initiated in 1857; also the consideration of means for the policy of incidental protection initiated on the policy of protection of the masses of inter-Colonial Railway announced,—the Railway announced,—the Railway announced,—the Railway announced,—the Railway announced,—the Railway the policy and for open ing and strength of the protect of the drift of public affairs under the Administration. FLORIDA - NORTH RANGE BEACONS, AMELIA Notice is hereby given that on and after June 1st, 1872, two range lights will be exhibited near the North end of Amelia Island, to mark the turning point in the channel for vessels entering the harbor of Fernandina. The lights are fixed white the front one being on a frame beacon, the rear one on the keeper's dwelling.

Vessels coming in from sea will bring the Scuth beacons on range when at the outer or sea buoy; the course being SW1/2W. Pursuing the course the North beacons appear gradually to approach each other, when opposite the turning buoy, they come on direct ranges. At this instant the course is changed to WN1/2W, which leads into the harbor. Care should be taken to keep the vessel well in hand, as the North beacons come together, as the turn is sharp, and there is danger of striking the shoal on the port hand.

Attention is called to the fact that that the North range beacons culy mark a turning point, which at night cannot otherwise be found. Vessels cannot run in on this range. Memoranda.

SECRETARY—WM J. MOFFAT. For. Revision Amberst N. S. SECRETARY-WM, J. MOFFAT, Esq., Barrister, Amherst, N. S. Bankers-Bank of Nova Scotia, Amherst Branch; and Bank of New Brunswick, St. John, N. B.

The Company have acquired, by purchase; three leases from Government of Nova Scotia to Hon. Alex. Macfarlane, of one square mile each, of the richest coal deposits in Canada, at Spring Hill, Cumberland County, Nova Scotia, renewable until Angust, 1896. Royalty 10 cents per ton of 2,240 lbs.

Five seams and upwards, of varying thickness from 2½ to 13 feet, are known to exist within these areas, which comprehend (exclusive of a portion of the General Mining Association reserve) nearly all the coal yet discovered in this well known district. Of these, one, known as the 11 feet seam, has been opened, and several hundred tons raised by a slope sunk only 25 feet from the surface, and preserving a thickness of 10 feet in the surface, and preserving a thickness of 10 feet for two-thirds of that distance. The slope has lately been carried down to the depth of 95 feet, exhibiting a marked improvement in the quality of the coal, described by Sir Wm. Logan, from specimens near the outcrop, as "an excellent coal, superior to any of this continent yet known." A moderate estimate of the quantity would give as the yield from this seam alone, half a million tons annually during the lease. The larger seam has been exposed by a trial pit within the areas; the smallest of 2½ feet, is believed to contain a valuable gas coal, and it is a fair geological inference that all these beds of coal will be found in their proper position. Thus several distinct colleries may be leased to individuals or companies.

A branch railway of 3½ miles has been surveyed, and steps are being taken for its construction to connect the property by a down grade with the Intercelonial Railway, at a point 21 miles from the head of the Ray Fundy and contemplated Bay Verte Canal.

A branch railway of 35 miles has been surveyed and supported and content and a construction to connect the property by a down grade with the Intercolonial Railway, at a point 21 miles from the head of the Bay Fundy and contemplated Bay Verte Canal, and 13 miles from a shipping place at the mouth of Maccan River, half a mile from the Intercolonial, where vessels drawing 13 feet of water may load. Until the opening of the Intercolonial, between Truro and Amherst, next autumn, the coal will be hauled 4

From all these sources of traffic, in addition to the Western part of Nova Scotia, the New England ports and New York, it is assumed that an unlimited market will be Additional means of shipment will be afforded by the contemplated railway to Parrsboro—a port open at least ten to eleven months in the year—for which the Nova Scotia Legislature have provided large subventions.

The estimated cost per ton for raising, handling, and putting on board ship, say at mouth of Maccan river, is about as follows:

profit.

Taking the low average of only 80 cents per ton, inclusive of repairs of machinery, &c., and assuming only 100 000 tons as the annual production at first, we have a gain of 20 per cent. on the capital, which might be much augmented by the rent of other seams, as suggested. From the exceptionally high character of this coal, and the facilities for raising it cheaply, this quantity, it is confidently believed, might cre long be doubled or trebled, and a large rate of profit secured even with considerable increase of capital.

TESTIMONIALS.

Extracts from Reports of Messrs. Woodhouse and Jeffcock, Mining Engineers, Londo and Derby, G. B., (January 2, 1866) The Coal Field which we have carefully examined, and which is the subject of this Report, i situate in the county of Cumberland, in the province of Nova Scotia. It is generally described as the "Springhill' Coal Field, but in reality it is a part of the great Cumberland Coal Field. The first or upper seam we found to be a bed of remarkably good coal, presenting a very clean, compact appearance in its immediate outcrop. The section of the seam of coal was at follows:—

This may be considered a very valuable seam of coal. The quality of the coal is exceedingly good. It may be described as a bituminous coal, but of dense and strong structure.

About 45 yards below the main seam we proved (by sinking a small shaft) another seam of about 3 feet thick, of good workable coal, having the same dip and angle as the main seam.

At a probable depth of 150 yards there appears to be a third seam of good coal, about 2 feet. thick. Tois has been partially worked, and proved to be very good, considering it was near the bussit. bassit.

The main seam of coal at Springhill will afford suitable fuel for smelting the iron—not containing an excess of ash, and free from sulphur. The physical characteristics of the coal are, its cubical, clean fracture, freedom from "bat" and dirt, often associated in the seam, and a density and strength of structure which suits either for coking, or, we think, for use raw in the blast Extracts from Report, in 1869, of the late Mr. Ed. Hartley, F. G. S., of the Canadian

The samples of coal examined were taken from the main seam of the Springhill coal field. An examination of the external character of this coal shows it to be a bituminous coal of a moderately compact texture, and not inclined to fall to pieces, or slack. Four samples were taken for analysis. I, and II, were two averages of the whole box: III, was a picked sample of the best (most compact) coal; and IV was a specimen of the coal showing a shaly texture. The results of proximate analysis in the laboratory were as follows:—

100.00 100.00 65.71 63.50 100,00

The analysis shows this coal to belong to the class known as highly bituminous, or fat caking coals, in character very similar to those of the North of England, known as North Country or Newcastle Hartley Coal. The high rate of volatile to fixed combustible matter should render this coal, in common with the Newcastle coals which it resembles, an admirable gas coal, while in the amount of sulphur it falls much below the average of Newcastle coals (which contain about nine-enths of one per cent, as determined by the Admiralty steam trials); therefore the gas obtained from it should be very easily purified. The coke of this coal appears in every way adapted for iron smelting. (See Canadian Geological Survey Report, 1870).

In forwarding Mr. Hurtley's analysis, Sir W. E. Logan writes, 9th June, 1869: "You will observe that it is superior to any of this continent yet known. It is superior, too, to the average of Newcastle coals, and very nearly equal to the best." Extract from Report of John Rutherford, Esq., M. E., late Inspector of Mines, Nova

The 13 feet seam dips to the North west at an angle of 35 degrees. It is underlaid at a depth of about 350 feet by one of 11 feet three inches thick (the main seam), the quality of which is also, of high character. South of the crop of this last, crops of three others have been found, the position of which is comformable to the largest seams. Certificate from the Engineer of the Steamer "City of St. John," who burnt on that steamer one car load of the Coal, on 21st December, 1871.

The Springhill coal burns with but little intume scence, and does not agglutinate. It allows a free passage to the air, and gives a brilliant flame with a light smoke. It ignites easily and has but little tendency to soil, and does not crumole into powder when broken. Its clinker is friable, easily broken, and has but little tendency to add are to the grate. For steamboat coal, I consider it superior to any Province Coal brought to market. Professor Henry Y. Hind, M. A., in his recent Report of Springhill Coal Field, thus sums up: "Thickness of large Springhill seams 13 feet and 10 feet 3 inches. Quality of Springhill seams if the very first class. Distance of these from Parrsboro by rail, 25 miles. Know outcrop or pringhill main seam, 11 feet, on which operations could be immediately commenced, about 2 miles.

"The main se m., or what is supposed to be the main seam, has been traced for a distance exceeding one mile and a half in a northerly direction, on the Macfarlane areas."

In Professor Selywyn's, F. G. S., Report laid before Parliament, Session 1872, he thus refers to

Mr. S. o t Barlow's operations at Springhill: "The evidence, so far as it goes appears to show that in a distance of about eight hundred yards, horizontal measurement, across the strike of the measure, there are eight seams of workshie thickness, as under, in descending order. No. 1, 13 fc. 6 in: No. 2, 6 ft. No. 3, 7 ft. 4 in; No. 4, 12 ft. 3 in; No. 5, 2 ft. 6 in; No. 6, a crop, thickness uncertain; No. 7, 4 ft., shaly coal; No. 8, 2 ft.; Total, 42 ft. 7 in,"

A very lean pig, on a windy day, Stood alone by a garden gate; He couldn't get in for the gate wis locked, And sadly he mouned o'er his fate. Then he wiped his eyes with a curl of his tail And gracefully stord on his ear.

And a trembling tear coursed down his spine
Till his face turned the color of cuir. His snoot grew firt, and gray were his locks, When a knot-hole round he esp ed: And he sat on the silken folds of his paw. And peered through that loop hole wide. He saw the sun in a golden beam. Glint its rays on a bucket of mash, And his porcine feelings welled upin his breast And he went through that hole with a dash With a relish uncommonly keen.

He loaded his skin till it cou'dn't hold more And his sides began to expand His face got cheeky; stout grew his limbs, And he left for Lis native land. He resched the hole at the side of the gate And immped for that circular crack When his febrile pulse felt a normal shock And he fell on the broad of his back. And the Coroner sat on the fat remains
Of that porker in his pride:
And this was the verdict the Jury gave:
Died from a swelled inside."
