IT PLEASES

Government's Policy in Regard Concealed in a Forest With to Fashoda.

Comes as a Most Agreeable Relief, With No Whisper of Dissent.

London, Oct. 11 .- The comments in public and in the newspapers show that the Marquis of Salisbury's determined stand on the question of the occupation of Fashoda has come as a most agreeable relief, and as disposing of all the stories of a possible compromise. No whisper of dissent is heard anywhere. Both friends and opponents of the premier are rejoicing at the fact that, in publishing the blue book on the Fashoda question, he had BURNED HIS BRIDGES BEHIND

While it is recognized that the situation by this publication has become more difficult for France, there is almost an entire absence of disposition anywhere to believe that France proposes to press her claims to the point of danger. This confidence was de-monstrated by the tone of the London Stock Exchange after a momentary scare, and such comment as comes from Paris also tends to abate alarm.

THE PARIS PRESS. The newspapers of Paris take a calm review of the situation, and plead for modification. They express a sincere desire for a friendly settlement of the question when Major Marchand's report arrives. The prevailing view of political men is that the French Cabinet will find a way out of the difficulty in the report asked from Major Marchand, who, it is expected, in response to a hint from the French foreign office, will declare that his position at Fashoda is untenable. The publication of such a report, it is held, would fully justify the French Government in recalling him. SIMPLY A COMMERCIAL CLASH A prominent member of the French embassy in London expressed the following views on the situation: "The advance of the French and British on the Upper Nile ought not to be regarded as the meeting of opposing policies which necessarily exclude one another, but as the clash of commercial interests, which should be carefully defined, and embodied in a permanent agreement. War, which has not been provoked by the question of Egypt, will certainly not break out over the Upper Nile question. The issue at Fashoda will be settled in a friendly manner to the general satisfaction, but an agreement will be much more easily reached when the newspapers of the two countries cease exciting public opinion. WAR CLOUDS VANISHING. London, Oct. 11 .- The morning papers all renew their comments upon the Fashoda situation; but on neither side of the channel is any idea given expressing the fear that it is likely to lead to war. The worst that can happen is the resignation of M. De Lisse, the French foreign minister, or perhaps the whole ministry; but were it not for the delicate internal situation in France, arising out of the Dreyfus affair and the strike, the Fashoda question would involve no danger whatever. The general attitude of responsible journals in Paris is to wait for the arrival of the text of the blue book dispatches before committing themselves to a decided opinion. The view of official circles is that there will be no difficulty if a way can be found to give French commerce ac-cess to the Nile. The first impression blame for weakness in giving the French case away. Now the Liberale leads off in an attempt to explain Delisse's course by declaring that Mar-chand had no mission; that Delisse meant to convey that he had not a special notification of the sirdar's advance, but simply kept in view the natural expansion of French interests. Major Marchand, the paper says, cannot be recalled or disavowed, but the question is one for negetiation.

FOR REUNION AND HOME RULE

John Dillion's Suggestion-Resolution of the Parnellite Convention.

Glasgow, Oct. 11.-John Dillon, the Anti-Parnellite member of parliament for East Mayo, at a banquet given here last evening in his honor, made a practical bid for the union of the sections of the Irish party. He said that he wished that a conference of representative Irishmen, half named by John Redmond and the other by his consent, would meet and draft a scheme to reconcile the differences between the Irish Nationalists, the scheme then to be submitted to the leading Irishmen of the country at a convention. Mr. Dillon said he would willing to enter such a conference in the basis of absolute independence of all the English parties, and declared he was convinced that there were no real differences to prevent the cooperation of all Nationalist members of parliament who supported the Gladstonian policy of home rule. Dublin, Oct. 11.-The Parnellite con-

ment act, denouncing the project of an Anglo-American alliance, and urging the release of political prisoners. The following is the text of the resolution denouncing the proposal of an Anglo-American alliance: "This convention denounces the project of any alliance between Great Britain and the United States as a selfish attempt on the part of England to drag the American people to its aid in its struggles with the powers of Europe, among whom it now stands, by reason of its bad faith, absolutely isolated. Consequently, as friends of America, we of the convention hope that the republic will not allow itself to be embroiled in European squabbles, from which,

An English Company Secures Another Slice of South Africa.

Cairo, Oct. 11 .- The khalifa, who fied from Omdurman when that place was captured by Gen. Kitchener, has at last been heard from. He is at Baa, three days' march west of Abba forest with his lieutenant, Osman Digna, and a small following. It is reported that the mountaineers in the neighborhood have refused to have any dealings with him. The Abbas are all hostile to him. A Cape Town telegram says: Lewanika, King of Barotseland, has ceded his country to the Chartered Company, and the document has been forwarded to England for ratification. Barotseland is situated on the Zambesi, north of the 16th parallel of south latitude. It is described as a fine cattle-raising country, but without mineral wealth. The ruler, Lewanika, is described as courteous and hospitable, as are all the natives.

of the Holloway jail, London, suffering from nervous collapse. DIRTY AND DANGEROUS. So notorious a resort of ruffians has Canningtown become that nearly every tradesman in the closely packed district has a police whistle, and many keep a revolver. The place is spoken of as the dirtiest and most dangerous district in London. At any time of day or night Victoria Dock road is the resort of individuals who do not stop at any violence, in order to attain their end. Robberies in broad daylight and garroting are common occurrences. Tradesmen have suffered from the attacks of gangs who enter stores, and if articles demanded are break their windows. Complaint is made that the police are not adequate to cope with the reign of terror which prevails. FORGERY AND FRAUD. The trial of Herbert Davies, 25, in the Bow Street Police Court, has revealed an extraordinary story of for-not given up either assault them or gery and fraud. Davies is alleged to have duped Colonel Shipway, of Grove House, Chiswick, by pretending to trace for him an important pedigree and coat of arms through ancient parish registers, wills, tombs and church effigies, over a few centuries, and to have defrauded the confiding colonel out of $3,415. The prisoner is accused of forging entries in the parish registers of Mangotsfield, Gloucestershire, to have had an inscription engraved on the hasp of the chest which contained the parish documents, to have exhumed old coffins and engraved the name of "Shipway upon them, and generally to have carved "Shipway" inscriptions all over the parish church. He is charged, moreover, with stealing old wills, obliterating them, forging false Shipway wills upon the parchment, and then reinstating among the records. The work being done, all these things were reported to the colonel as genuine relics, proving the antiquity of the Shipway fam-

They then awaited the abbe's return and beat him also to death. Afterward they ransacked the vention passed resolutions in favor of Abbe Fleural was chaplain to the Marquis de Castellan.

The Peace Commissioners in Paris at Variance.

Confident the Fashoda Matter Will.Be Amicably Settled-The Strike

Continues to Spread.

London, Oct. 11.-A dispatch from Paris says the United States and Spanish peace commissioners are at entire variance regarding the question of disposition of the Philippines, and they have referred the matter to their respective governments. Paris, Oct. 11.—The peace commissions at Paris each had a separate session this morning, preparatory to the fourth joint session, which began at 2 o'clock this afternoon. THE FASHODA MATTER. The Paris newpsapers this morning discuss the Fashoda question calmly, while pointing out the strength of France's position and facts on which her claims are based. They express confidence that the claim will be amicably settled in a way satisfactory to everybody, and urge that this will be facilitated if the newspapers of the SPREAD OF THE STRIKE. In spite of the optimistic predictions innocent of any connection with the of the end of the strike being near, the strike continues to spread. The bricklayers and woodcarvers today cided to join the strikers. The city, however, is perfectly quiet, but the enormous increase in the strength of the garrison points to the fact that the government fears political rather than labor roubles. The strikers' central committee is a political and revolutionary organization, and it is engineering the dispute as if it were a strike of the proletariat. No conflict between the soldiers and the strikers has occurred up to the present. Not sinse 1870 has Paris looked so war-like. A number of young men of title made a demonstration in front of the house of the Duchess d'Uses, on the Champs Elysees on Sunday evening. They were led by Prince Henry of Chartres and Count Sabran de Ponteves and cheered a passing squadron of cuirassiers with cries of "Vive la armee." Thence they proceeded to another revolutionist meeting, presided over by M. Millevoye, where they shouted "Vive laroi." They afterwards dispersed.

Aug. 23 last the girl was attacked by a large cat, which bit her on the leg between the knee and hip, a doctor dress. ed the wound, and it was learned later that the cat had been bitten by a dog supposed to be mad. On last Thursday evening the first symptoms of the malady presented itself. grew rapidly worse, and the last few hours of the unfortunate little girl's sufferings were pitiful in the extreme.

The Unanimous Nomination of the Liberal Convention-Great Enthusiasm.

Fergus, Ont. 11.-The Liberals of the grand old riding of East Wellington paid the Hardy Government and the Hon. J. M. Gibson a splendid compliment yesterday by tendering to the commissioner of crown lands the unanimous nomination of the party to succeed the late member, Mr. Craig. No other name was mentioned, no one else was thought of even in the primaries, where the 90 delegates received their instructions. Mr. Gibson reached Elora during the day, and a half-hour's drive brought him to the hall when the result was known. He

Mr. Gibson was nominated by Mr. Archibald Currie, of Hillsburg, and seconded by Thomas Martin, of Mount Forest. No other nomination was made, and after a short informal discussion, Robert Laing, ex-warden of Elgin, moved that the nomination be made unanimous, and Mr. Archibald, Mount Forest, seconded. different townships were heard from in succession, and the result was that the motion carried by a unanimous standing vote, and amid great ap-

He said that when defeated in Hamilton he placed his resignation in Mr. Hardy's hands, but the latter refused to accept it. He (Mr. Gibson) said that at the end of the present term he would hand the standard back to the Liberal party of East Wellington, and the next standard-bearer would find just as strong and loyal a support as would be given him (Mr. Gibson) in

The Notorious Peg-Leg Wanted for Murder in Texas.

How "Madie" Was Bluffed Into Making His Exit to Eritish Columbia-Detective Nickle Followed Him.

The London police still claim to have heard nothing officially about the arrest of the peg-leg, Madie Brown, and say they are ignorant of Detective Nickle's whereabouts. A Seattle, Wash., dispatch says:

Thomas Allen, a colored man known as "Peg-leg" Allen, who is alleged to be none other than Madie Brown, a Male. Female, tramp accused of murdering the city marshal of Georgetown, Texas, June 4, 1898, wounding a deputy sheriff who attempted to prevent his escape, and later killing Police Officer Toohey at London, Ont., was taken across the border into British Columbia last night by Detective Nickle, of London, Ont. Allen was arrested at North Yakima. The arrest and preparations to take him to Canada were kept quiet in order that the Texas authorities might not hear of it and refuse to permit him to be taken to Canada. The only difficulty there was about getting him across from Washington State was that the Texas authorities wanted to get hold of him for the murder of the city marshal of Georgetown. London had the first claim on him, however, and Detective Nickle was sent to Seattle to bring him back. The prisoner was told that the Texas authorities were applying for his extradition, and that the Washington authorities had no desire to hold him till the papers arrived. With this hint he was released and made straight for the train that would take him to the nearest joint in Brittish Columbia. Detective Nickle went by the same train, and as soon as they crossed the Canadian border put Allen under arrest. The murder of the marshal of Georgetown is said to have been committed in cold blood. He had laid information against Madie Brown, and the latter, finding him in front of the court house, shot him dead and wounded a deputy sheriff who attempted to prevent his escape. It is understood that Chief Williams will meet Detective Nickle at Toronto

Noteworthy Deed of a Boy Less Than Four Years' Old.

Aylmer, Ont., Oct. 11 .- On Saturday afternoon last a couple of little children were playing in the yard behind Mr. A. Van Buskirk's residence, when one of them accidentally fell into an open cistern. The other one, a boy of 3½ years old, ran some 50 yards to where Mr. Van Buskirk and Mr. T. Comport were standing on the street, and although too excited to make his message plain, managed to say something about a well.

Mr. Van Buskirk, knowing that the cistern was uncovered, guessed youngster's meaning, and ran to the relief of the child, whom he rescued from what would in a couple of minutes more have been a watery grave.

CATARRH BECOMES CONSUMPTION Dr. Chase Cures Catarrh.

The symptoms of Catarrh are well known and most distressing and offen-"It's only a cold in the head," is the usual expression, but a neglected cold leads on to catarrh and consumption as well as many other of the most fatal diseases. The mucous linings of the throat and nose become inflamed, causing a stuffing up of the nostrils, difficult breathing, dull, heavy pain in the forehead, a troublesome dropping in the throat which causes the terrible hawking and spitting; weak, watery eyes, red nose, deafness, a twang in the voice, and a foul and disgusting breath.

So long as catarrh has not reached the lungs and developed into consumption it certainly can be cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. By means of the blower which accompanies every box of this remedy, the powder is sent to the diseased parts, and by its cooling, soothing effect soon allays the inflammation.

DR. CHASE'S CATARRH CURE contains no carbolic acid, caustic, iodine or cocaine, that only deadens the membrane, but is made of pure and harmless drugs, which remove the poisonous mucus, relieving the pressure which causes pain in the head and over the eyes. It is pleasant to take, and is the most thorough treat-ment ever offered to suffering humanity. 25 cents a box, with blower free.

DISRUPTION OF THE O. R. U. Toronto, Oct. 10.-The disruption of the Ontario Rugby Football Union by the withdrawal of Ottawa, Osgoode, Argonaut and Hamilton clubs, is the talk of the football world. The attitude of the parent body, the Canadian Rugby Football Union, is likely to change the complexion of affairs. Yesterday it was unofficially announced by an officer of the Canadian Rugby Football Union that that organization would refuse to recognize the new union. This means that the winner of the newly-organized series will not figure in the Canadian championship game at Rosedale in November. The four clubs do not relish this, and as a result there is an inclination on the part of the Osgoode, Argonaut and Hamilton men to be reconciled to an early return to the old union.

Managing Director John Cameron and Editor,

London, Tuesday, Oct. 11, 1898.

The New American Aristocracy. "The New American Aristocracy" is sketched in racy off-hand manner by Harry Thurston Peck in the October number of the Cosmopolitan. Mr. Peck writes in a humorous strain, but with a thoughtful undertone and a serious motive. He does not forget to point the moral while adorning the tale. He starts out by illustrating the American genius for improvisation. As they had ready-made statesmanship, ready-made soldiery, ready-made science and ready-made literature, why not also a ready-made aristocracy? He says it may be set down as an axiom that no people ever reached a high degree of political power and national prosperity without developing some form of class distinction. The United States never wholly lost the aristocratic tradition it got from England. In colonial New England there long prevailed a sort of theocratic aristocracy, which gradually broadened into a professional caste. In the iddle and northern, the rich patroon, h his manor house and vast estates, the master of a great plantation his many slaves, were no bad esentatives of the English squire. h in the north and south the social ne was very strictly drawn. Hence comes that the early annals of the republic were filled with the names of the American aristocracy of that day-Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Calhoun and Pinckney in the south, and Hamilton, Adams, Jay, Livingstone and Kent in the north. The sudden expansion of national territory and the enormous growth of immigration rendered the perpetuation of this aristocracy-an aristocracy of intellect and public service-impossible. The rude and raw western pioneers defied all the graces and refinements of an old civilization-they hooted at conventions; they put their cowhide boots, so to speak, upon the mantel and spat tobacco juice upon the floor. When this population became so large as to be a serious factor in national life, the doom of early American aristocracy was sealed. To use Bishop Potter's phrase, Washingtonian dignity gave way at first to Jeffersonian simplicity, and in the end was swamped beneath Jacksonian vulgarity. The aristocratic element was gradually eliminated from public life; a greasy, prosperous smugness settled down upon the people; they had lost the early dignity and simplicity, and had not yet developed elegance; the crude and commonplace became conspicuous in statesmanship. Then the civil war swept away a host of lingering traditions. When it ended, the social, as well as the political fabrics of the country had to be reconstructed under new and strange conditions. The war created the American millionaire. Army contracts, bond issues, cotton speculation, the protective tariff, the sale of shoddy goods-all these tossed enormous fortunes into expectant laps. These war-made millionaires went in search of splendor; they bought city houses with brown-stone fronts; they procured horses and carriages and gorgeous harness. They stocked their cellars with champagne. They built country mansions of fantastic designs. But the millionaire became sated with these splendors; he was bored, discontented; he generally went back to money-making again. Meanwhile millionaires continued to multiply. But the later millionaire traveled and learned things. He went to Europe, and it was a mighty educator. His sons and daughters went to Europe, too, and the effect on them was even more far-reaching. They became imbued with the desire for an aristocracy after the English model. They set about it with infinite care and patience. They built and equipped town and country houses after the English pattern. They imported English grooms and butlers, and put coatsof-arms upon the panels of their carriages. The young men got their clothes in London, and each of them had a man to keep the creases in his trousers. The young women had maids, and played lawn tennis. The household labored to acquire the English accent. The whole thing was admirably carried out. In a few short years a new aristocracy had been evolved. They had all the externals of the English prototype. But even here there was a fly in the ointment. The ready-made patricians got no general recognition from the common herd; they were not taken seriously. This was fatal to the aristocratic ideal. In England the word "gentleman" has a legal definition, and there exist the precedents of centuries now erystallized into a definite and systematic code. But in a democratic community certain difficulties arise at once. The American plutocrats could not put a sweeping and consistent social ban on trade, for this would decimate their ranks at once. Hence they are obliged to qualify and make distinctions. Banking and stock-broking are entirely respectable, as in England. Railways, iron, gas and coal are also highly thought of. But pork and oil and drygoods require at least one generation to make them respectable. Patent medicines are doubtful, and boots and shoes quite impossible; but leather and soap have been let in, and tobacco is all right. And so on the lines of cleavage run. Another diffithat it is hard for any set of persons to be more than local in their prominence. There is the New York set, the Chicago set, the New Orleans, Boston, St. Louis and San Francisco sets, etc. But the really great fundamental difficulty is the essential difference between a ready-made aristocracy, like America's, and a historic aristocracy like England's. An aristocracy, to be real, to be known and recognized, must represent something more than luxury, magnificence and pleasure-seeking. It must represent to everyone a mighty factor in the development of national greatness. The names upon its roll must be written first in the records of every supreme achievement, which the people have wrought out, alike in peace and war, in statesmanship, in diplomacy, in the evolution of law, in the battle for political purity and constitutional freedom. Only in these ways can an aristocracy expect to be something more than an artificial incongruity among a people where it exists. Too often in the past the ancestors of the American ready-made patricians of today, instead of making laws and guiding the destiny of the nation, were rigging the market and shaving notes; instead of fighting battles they were bribing legislators; instead of building up new states they were gutting railroads. Here Mr. Peck turns from the darker side of American aristocracy to the brighter. He sees promise in the future. He says that to men of wealth and leisure the field of politics seems to have become of late far more attractive than it appeared some years ago, and the rough-and-tumble of partisan strife will do them good and give them an enlarged horizon. The outbreak of the recent war with Spain found many of the same class willing and even eager to see hard service at the front. There was at first much popular ridicule excited by this fact, and afterward there was much popular criticism of the way in which commissions in the army came so easily to certain of these individuals. But it was in reality a most encouraging and healthy sign. No country in the world, the writer thinks, could gain so much as the United States from the existence of an aristocracy in the best and highest meaning of the word. For such an aristocracy could give the state a class of public men disinterested, highly cultivated and intelligent. Its wealth could foster art and learning, and establish noble charities that would be administered with honesty and wisdom; and its influence and example might gradually smooth away some of the angularities of the national character, impart a certain grace and dignity that are lacking now, teach them as a people the value of urbanity and courtesy, give a much higher tone to social life in general, and thus confer a lasting benefit upon the nation.

Our Municipal Defects.

The agitation for municipal reform in Hamilton, Ottawa, Montreal, Victoria, B. C., Stratford, Belleville, Lindsay, Peterboro, Galt, and other representative cities and towns indicates that there is some defect inherent in the prevailing system.

Over a dozen cities and towns in Ontario have this year sought to improve matters by abolishing the ward divisions. In these places next January the councilors and aldermen will be elected by the entire vote of the people, as are the mayors.

In other places even more drastic remedies are proposed. In Ottawa, the newspapers advocate the appointment of a paid commission to undertake work which the city council has botched. The Montreal Star favors the payment of an indemnity to Montreal aldermen so as to "put a check on their acquisitive spirit." This is a reflection on aldermanic honesty which cannot with justice be applied to our own civic representatives whose average integrity is far less doubtful than their average ability. Our esteemed contemporary, the Hamilton Herald, also favors the aldermanic indemnity on the principle that the community has no more right to demand gratuitous service from individuals than one individual has to demand gratuitous service from another.

We do not think the indemnity plan would improve the personnel of municipal councils. It certainly would not if the ward system were retained, because it would merely sharpen the ward heeler's appetite for the loaves and fishes. We believe there are many men of the best class in this city, successful in their own occupations, and possessing the respect and confidence of the community, who would willingly enter municipal life if they were not deterred by the hurlyburly and demagogism for which the ward system is chiefly responsible. A small indemnity would be no inducement to such men, but it might be to men of a less desirable type. A better plan would be to put the municipal government in the hands of a few well-paid commissioners, elected by the people to devote their whole time to civic business. Washington, which is the most efficiently and economically governed of all American cities, is ruled by a commission which is not even elective. But the commission scheme involves too radical a change to have any prospect of success at present. The municipal problem will be solved when the best citizens are attracted to the civic arena.

Besides, many men drop out at the end of the first year, rather than face the ordeal of another election. Under the two-year term half the aldermen should retire every year. The principle has worked well in the Board of Education, and there are no special reasons why it should not apply to the council. The present number of aldermen might, in the event of ward abolition, be reduced to fif-In the multitude of counsel there is oftener more confusion than

Canada Discovered.

The London Times' correspondent who recently crossed Canada by the Canadian Pacific Railway, refers to the Dominion as "a land of clover and roses, of odorous woods, and ripening crops," and a most appreciative reference is made to our noble waterways and magnificent mountain ranges. Editorially referring to its correspondent's graphic description of Canada as a land for the British settler and the tourist, the Times says that "its vast area is yet scantily occupied, and its potentialities of growing rich are beyond the dream of avarice."

This is none too flattering a picture, and it is all the more pleasing to Canadians because it is drawn by a hand thoroughly unprejudiced. Canada, under the careful Administration which now holds sway at Ottawa, has indeed a bright future before her. She is bound to go ahead in the next decade as she has never before done. This is Canada's day; the marvelous resources of the country are being noted throughout the world. In Great Britain, our preferential tariff in favor of the motherland has given the Dominion a standing that has won her many friends, and has brought her products into increasing favor with British consumers. We can look for an ever-increasing commerce with Britain as a result of the new departure, as well as a large influx of new settlers for our prairie lands, and a steady advancement in the investment of English funds to develop our mineral resources.

Commissioner Ogilvie's first act in the Klondike was to fine the gamblers $10,000. These Government officials are bound to be unpopular.

Americanized English, eh? Better teach them Spanish than that.

And here is W. D. Howells writing in Literature of "those young Canadian poets, like Mr. Lampman, for one, who have so far surpassed other Americans of late in verse"! Coming from the foremost American critic-an Anglophobe at that-this is praise, indeed. Our neighbors may excel us in some qualities, but in poetry and cheese they must give us first place.

> Better Things in the Yukon [Montreal Gazette.]

Mr. Ogilvie has begun his work at Dawson City by rounding up the crooks, giving them a first lesson that vice may be made unprofitable. This is in keeping with what is known of Mr. Ogilvie's character, and is probably a promise of better things in the Yukon country.

Eighteen Months Old Baby Had Rash on Shoulder for Two Years Causing Intense Suffering. Would Scab Over, Break Open and Be Raw. Several Doctors and Remedies Tried. Efforts Fruitless. Cured by CUTICURA.

My sister had this rash come on her shoulder when she was about eighteen months old. It was there about two years causing her intense suffering. We had several different doctors. tried everything that we could think of, and that every one could suggest without effect-ing a cure. In spite of all we did it kept ereading. One day it would scab over and then crack open and a watery matter coze from it and the scabs would all fall off. It would be raw for a time, then scab over again. me one recommended CUTICURA REMEDIES. We immediately procured a box of CUTICURA (ointment), a cake of CUTICURA SOAP, then tried the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and before the bottle was half gone we saw a marked change, and by the time it was gone, she was entirely cured without a scar being left. She is now twelve years old, and has not had a pimple or sign of blood trouble since.

THE APPLE TRADE. F. Hamilton, of Montreal, received the following cable from Hamilton & Pritchard, of Liverpool: The total quantity of apples offered at Liverpool on Saturday amounted to 14,000 barrels, and ruled from 1s to 5s per barrel lower, owing to the inferior quality of many of the consignments offered. Good red fruit is in demand and wanted at full prices. The cable finishes with the warning to stop shipments or rubbish. I can only repeat the advice already given shippers, viz., that it is than suicide to send inferior fall fruit to Liverpool.

Over 800 Officers and Privates Under Arrest-Many Had To Be Clubbed Into Submission.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 11.-When the 7:30 Louisville train started for town last night, a crowd of 300 members of the Twelfth (New York) Regiment were at the depot to meet it. They were armed, and were coming to town to try to get Albie Kitchen from jail and shoot him. Kitchen is the provost guard who shot and instantly killed Pte. Henry Nygren, company B, Twelfth New York, last night. The operator at the station wired to the division headquarters in camp, and Gen. Wiley wired back instructing the train to be held. He sent a battalion to the scene of the trouble urder Capt. Holbrook, adjutant-general on Gen. Wiley's staff. Capt. Holbrook ordered all peaceful soldiers to return to the camp. A corporal spoke up and said: "All who do are cowards." Capt. Holbrook asked him to what regiment he belonged, and he answered "The Big Four." Capt. Holbrook told him that was no way to speak to an officer. The soldier tore away, leaving his ccat-sleeve in the captain's hand, and, drawing a gun, shot at Holbrook. The bullet missed the captain. The corporal then climbed under a car. Lieut. Langlen followed him and was shot at twice. The soldier escaped.

Many of the Twelfth Regiment had to be clubbed into submission. A guard of 50 men were placed around the jail, and the jailer, sheriff and deputies, armed with Winchesters, are protecting the prisoner. Kitchen is badly scared and fears he will yet be lynch-

Over 300 soldiers and officers were arrested and taken to Loudon Park. Officers say Kitchen will unquestionably get the death sentence. When he shot Nygren he was under orders not even to have his gun loaded.

HARVEST HOME

Annual Tea and Entertainme at at the Colborne Street Methodist Church.

The annual harvest home festival and entertainment of the Colborne Street Methodist Church was held last night. The edifice was beautifully deccrated with flowers and foliage. The body of the church was filled to overflowing, and the programme rendered was greatly appreciated by the big audience. The Ladies' Aid, of which Mrs. Wm. Wyatt is president, was a most important factor in arranging for the annual event, and the ladies have reason to be proud of the success that attended their efforts. The tea served was of a very substantial na-ture and heartily partaken of. The lecture room was filled with tables, and these were spread three times with an abundance of choice eatables. After supper an adjournment was made to the church, where Rev. Geo. Jackson, who occupied the chair, made a neat speech, complimenting the Ladies' Aid and welcoming all. The programme was ably carried out under the supervision of Mr. H. Ruthven McDonald. It was as follows: Anthem, the choir; solo, Mr. A. Carpenter; ad- Big sale now on at Cole's Cdress, Rev. Alex. VISIT TO THE PORK FACTORY

Prominent Citizens Entertained by Mr. J. H. Ginge

To Lunch After Inspecting the Factory at Pottersburg.

An Important Industry-The Concern's Bate of Six a Minute.

About one thousand hogs grunted and wallowed in the Canadian Pork Packing Company's yards this morning at Pottersburg enjoying life to the full. By night they will all have been killed, singed, scraped, dressed and hung in the cooling rooms ready for the process of curing. Their four thousand feet will have been cleaned ready for the shop counters. The lard which they yield will have been rendered, the heads prepared for shipment, and the refuse carted away. Some great improvements have just been completed at the factory. New buildings have been erected, and new machinery put in, greatly increasing the capacity for killing and treating the Three hogs every two minutes was the speed at which they were handled a short time ago, but with the improved facilities six squealing animals can be stuck and started on a trip towards the cooling room each minute. The trip occupies six minutes, and about two dozen men handle the porker en route.

It is a gruesome sight to watch the men at work. From the pene where the pigs are kept when unloaded from the cars, they are driven up a slight incline leading to the place of slaughter. Then one by one they are suspendby the hind leg from a chain and pulley attached to a horizontal rod. A man with a deft, sure hand, and a very sharp knife, speedily puts an end to the animal's squeals. The carcass then gets a hot bath, and is carried further along the rod and thrown on to a table in front of a big machine with a great many rods meeting in the center, like the rods in a typewriting machine, and at the end of each rod is a steel blade. One end of a hook is stuck into the pig's throat and the other catches a line in an iron belt. In this way the body is drawn through the scraper. Then another stage along sloping rods is made to the base of a large pipe about three feet in diameter and fifteen feet high. Soldiers Endeavor to Lynch an Obnoxious Provost Guard.

Obnoxious Provost Guard.

Through the center of the pipe, which is filled with flames, runs a chain belt, and by hooking the dead pig on to one of the links of the chain it is carried through the flames and singed. After completing the belt, the blackened carcass is rolled into a vat of cold water, then lifted out by machinery and again suspended from a pulley running along an iron rod close to the ceiling. Several men are at work in a row along the course of this rod, and the carcass goes through a rapid evolution as it is passed down the line. Each man has a certain work, and it is done quickly The process of scraping, dressing, cutting off the head and feet, weighing and sorting are all done with astonishing rapidity. After this handling the sides are left for several hours in a cooling room of moderate temperature, then run into other cooling rooms of lower temperature and salted ready for the English markets. The rapidity with which all the work is done is astoniehing, but not less so is the cleanliness of the place. Very lit-tle of the animal is discarded, and what refuse there is is immediately carted

The building is lighted by electricity, and everywhere cleanliness is the keynote. The grounds, too, are kept as neat and clean as possible. A very fine refrigerator plant has just been put in by the Vilter Manufacturing Company, of Milwaukee, in connection with which there is 7,000 feet of piping. These improvements are important to Londoners, because it means the continued employment of a large number of men. The Canadian Packing Company's pay roll amounts to about $2,000 a week, and will be sure to increase. The factory's full capacity is 4,000 hogs a week, and at present only half this number is handled. Hog-raising is bound to increase in favor in this vicinity with such a splendid market, and Mr. Ginge's establishment has already proved a great benefit to many Middlesex farm. ers. Of course the hogs are purchased all over the country and shipped in by train, but the encouragement is more particularly for farmers of the immediae vicinity. More attention will be paid to the proper feeding of hogs, and the present popularity of Canadian pork in the old country will increase. England is the market. Over 95 per cent of the output of the factory is shipped to Manchester and Old Lon-

Several prominent citizens inspected Several prominent citizens inspected the factory this morning at the invi-tation of Mr. Ginge. They were Sir John Carling, Dr. Bucke, Dr. Sippi, M. Masuret, A. M. Smith, W. Garvey, Charles H. Elliott, A. Screaton, R. Inglis, J. Cameron, M. Bremner, C. B. Keenleyside, and J. Spencer. They Keenleyside and J. Spencer. witnessed the work with great interest and considered themselves well repaid for the trip in the rain.

After spending a couple of hours going through the factory, the party was entertained at lunch by Mr. Ginge at the London Club, where the health of Mr. Ginge was proposed by Dr. Bucke and seconded by Sir John Carling in interesting and commendatory speeches. Mr. Ginge replied suitably.

PUTS BATHING IN HIS CREED

A Church Founded on Cleanliness-Rev. Mr. Moir's Experience.

New York, Oct. 11.-Here is a church society whose members are bound by the rules to take a bath every day. For the benefit of those who feel that two much bathing is not to be encouraged, the rule reads: "To take a sponge bath or a cold water tub every day, unless prevented by illness."

The name of the organization is not the "Order of the Bath," as certain persons have begun to call it. It is known officially as the Order of Silver Cross of Our Master and Cleanness. It was organized by Rev. Mr. Moir, assistant rector of the Church of the Holy Communion, at Sixth avenue and Twentieth street. Mr. Moir was surprised today that the order should attract any special attention.

It carried on its unobtrusive work and the results are highly satisfactory. St. Louis ... He did not claim any especial originality for the principles on which the society was founded. Mr. Moir is himself an advocate of the cold tub, and he says that after thirteen years' daily experience he is able to testify to its many advantages. The rules of the order regard the bath as a necessity, and nobody can be excused from availing himself of it on the plea that a less rigid construction of the rule would fit his special case, except in case of illness.

Knights Templar at Fittsburg. Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 11.-All night and early this morning every railroad leading into the city, and every street car line entering from the surrounding suburbs, came in loaded with people, to witness the Knights Templar parade. Seats had been erected all along the people. Long before the parade began to move, however, all these seats were occupied.

It is estimated that the parade was made up of upwards of 25,000 uniformed Knights, and there were at least 1,-000,000 spectators lined along the route of the parade, which was seven miles long.

"A LADY OF QUALITY." A very large audience witnessed the production of "A Lady of Quality" at the Grand last night, by Julia Arthur and her company. "A Lady of Quality" has been improved by a deft retouching of incidents and dialogue. Miss Arthur is to be commended for bringing with her all the gorgeous externals of a metropolitan presentation. The canvas was a dream of beauty: the wardrobe effects were sumptuous and accurate; in fact, the atmosphere of the period of Queen Anne was reproduced with picturesque fidelity. The Alleged Murderer of Mrs. McKinley's Brother-in-Law Pleads "Not Guilty."

Canton, O., Oct. 11 .- Yesterday morning Anna E. George, charged with the murder of George D. Saxton, brother of Mrs. (President) McKinley, was brought into Justice Reigner's court room to enter her plea to the affidavit charging her with murder. The court room was filled with men and women, all anxious to see Mrs. George and hear her plea. She was clad in a plaid skirt of a gray color, and a gaily-colored shirt waist, and a jaunty hat trimmed in the season's style. She looked unconcerned, and seemingly did not realize the momentous question to which she was to make answer.

Justice Reigner asked Mrs. George if she was guilty or not guilty to the charge made against her in the affidavit. Mrs. George, while seemingly not disturbed in the least, but in a very weak and scarcely audible voice, answered "Not guilty."

RATIONS FOR COWS

Advice for Farmers-The Proportions of Feeds.

It does not seem profitable to give good milking cows of the average size and ordinary breding more than from seven to nine pounds of grain or mixed meal per day each, even when they are giving their maximum flow of milk for the season. Every farmer must compose the rations for his cows out of the materials which he has available, but as a sample ration, the following may be useful for guidance. The bulky-fodder part of the ration may be mixed in the following proportions. If the roots can be pulped and the hay and straw passed through a cutting box, so much the better:

50 pounds of ensilage, 16 pounds of mangels, carrots or beets. 5 pounds of hay,

5 pounds of straw. As much of that as each cow will eat up clean may be fed twice a day, and with it should be fed from three to nine pounds of meal or ground grain, according to the capacity of the cow, which a good feeder will soon be able to estimate. A feed of uncut hay or straw may be given in the middle of the day. When a cow in fair condition of flesh has passed the flush of her milking period, the allowance of grain may be gradually reduced, until a cow which has been milking for eight months or more will be receiving not more than three pounds of meal per day in addition to the bulky fodder part of the ration. Meal may be obtained from the grinding of peas, oats, barley or wheat, when that grain is sufficiently cheap. When feed is to be bought from any outside source, it is usually profitable to feed two pounds per head per day of oil-cake or cotton-seed meal, and two or three pounds per head per day of wheat bran. A model mixture of meal for milking cows would be in the proportion of one part cotton-seed meal, one part of oil-cake, two parts of bran and two parts of mixed meal from such grains as are available on the farm.

Carrots, mangels and sugar beets are more suitable roots for the feeding of milking cows than turnips. Turnips are admirably adapted for the feeding of growing, fattening or dry stock. All cattle seem to be improved in health and vigor by some allowance of roots per day in addition to the sufficient feed in the form of ensilage.-Prof.

Woman's

"I'll just rest a minute, and that pain will pass away."
Many a self-sacrificing woman has said this, only to find the pain comes back again with greater force. Between these ills and the many worries and cares of a household a woman becomes old before her time. Take a teaspoonful of

Outlived Consumption

Many people outlive consumption. They have it all their lives, but keep it in check by the use of Shilon's Consumption Cure and finally die of some other disease or of old age. Jeremiah Day, LL.D., formerly president of Yale College, lived to be nearly one hundred years old, notwithstanding the fact that he suffered several years in his youth from consumption. It is not the mere fact that the lungs are touched by consumption that causes death, it is the amount of lung-tissue that becomes diseased and disorganized beyond repair that is of serious import. Personal care and the administration of Shiloh's Cure according to directions will overcome every case of tubercular affection when there remains enough tissue to make a foundation. If the forces of life are reinforced before it is too late the process of decay will be conquered and the patient will get well. In other words consumption is cured. Fifty years of uniform success have made Shiloh's Cure the standard remedy for consumption in every form. J. H. Caldwell, of Malta, Idaho, writes as follows to the S. C. Wells Co., of Le Roy, N. Y. "I have used Shiloh's Consumption Cure many different times, and always received great benefit from it. I believe it saved my life in a case of congestion of the lungs, and kept me from an attack of consumption, as many people said I had it. Shiloh's Consumption Cure is sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee that your money will be refunded in case of failure. 25e., 50e. and $1 & bottle in United States and Canada. In England 1s. 2d., 2s. 3d., and 4s. 6d.

THE LATE MRS. ST. GERMAIN. The Toronto Globe thus refers to the death of a lady who has relatives and many friends in this city and district: "A very wide circle of warm friends will learn with sincere regret of the death of Mrs. A. H. St. Germain, who passed away at her home in North Toronto this morning, after a comparatively brief illness. As was well known, Mrs. St. Germain had enjoyed remarkably good health all her long life, never having been ill for a single day. About two weeks ago, however, acute peritonitis set in, and she failed to rally from its effects. The deceased lady, who was in her 70th year, had lived in Toronto since her marriage in 1853. She was born at Castle Comer, Kilkenny, Ireland, and was the daughter of Thomas Costen, who, when she was only 4 years of age, emigrated to Canada and afterwards became deputy warden of the penitentiary at Kingston. Her brother is Thomas Costen, of the firm of Thomas Costen & Co., Montreal. She married Mr. St. Germain over 45 years ago, and her children, a son and a daughter, passed away before her. During her long residence in the city and in North Toronto, Mrs. St. Germain became very generally known and loved for her many estimable qualities.'

"THE GIRL FROM PARIS." Of all the English musical novelties which have been seen here since "The Gaiety Girl," none have caught the attention of pleasure-seekers as fixedly as "The Girl From Paris." Probably this is because the catchy music and the bright book are interpreted by one of the cleverest companies of American actors ever gotten together for a play of the sort. There is only one fault which the critic can find, and that is that the performance is too laughable. A pain in the side is sure to be the reward of the most staid or blaise theater-goer who sits out its two extremely funny acts. No fits of the blues, however deep-dyed, could outlast the first act. TO RE-ESTABLISH

In Connection With the London Collegiate Institute.

Another Kindergarten for South London - Several Recommendations From No. 1 Committee to the Board of Education.

The formation of a cadet corps at the place in the near future. The quesconsidered by No. 1 committee of the board of education last night. Mr. Merchant said that if a success, the corps would be a very good thing. But they were not always a success. The government grant of $50 on the corps passing inspection should go to the drill instructor, and the cadets should furnish their own uniforms. All this was agreed to, and the committee decided unanimously to recommend to the board the formation of a corps. No action was taken upon the communication of the Port Hope Collegiate Institute board, complaining that the last senior leaving examination had been too severe in marking. Principal Merchant did not believe there was any fault to find with the papers. The reason so many failed was that the marks required had been raised to 50 per cent. He believed this was as it should be: it was the highest examination for teachers' certificates.

When Miss Northcott's name was added to the substitute staff, the commen't of the inspector was: "You will soon have as large a substitute as you have a permanent staff." Progress will be reported upon Mr.

Macpherson's motion, re salaries. A number of cases in reference to fees at the Collegiate Institute were reported and dealt with.

In regard to the proposed South London kindergarten, the committee will recommend that the kindergarten be established, the audit committee to report as to funds.

Why has Kingsmill's enjoyed the patronage of all the best people in London for the past thirty years? Why is Kingsmill's today the biggest, the brightest, and the best store in Western Ontario? Why?

Simply because for thirty years our methods have ever been honest, our goods ever the best, our styles the newest, and our prices the lowest; that's why we lead.

Its Answer.

GOOD WORK

Being Accomplished by the Convalescent Home.

The President Reads a Most Gratifying Report-Re-election of Officers.

The Convalescent Home's annual meeting was held yesterday, the proceedings being opened by Rev. Canon Richardson. The speaker commented forcibly on the good work of the home, and expressed a hope that it would always be as successful in caring for the helpless as it was at the present

There was a large turnout of members. The president and other officers were re-elected; also the same advisory board and board of management, with the addition of the names of Mrs. Malcolm Kent and Mrs. McWhinney,

The president presented her annual report as follows: "The close of this, the tenth year since the Convalescent Home was established, finds no falling off in the good work it has been able to accom-plish. The total cases admitted have been 36, including the four remaining in residence over the end of our last year, nearly all of whom have, on leaving, been so strengthened and recovered as to be well enough to resume their occupation, or to enter upon such work Collegiate Institute will probably take as the friends of the institution have been able to procure for them. Of the above 36 (6 more than the previous vear), 7 were Canadians, 16 English, Irish, 5 Scotch, 2 Swiss, and 2 from the United States. In religion, 32 were Protestants. 4 Roman Catholics. Thirty-one were wholly gratis, the remaining five paying only a comparatively small sum. All of the patients admitted this year were from the city of London-many from the city hospital. "Although it has been sometimes very doubtful whether the month's receipts would cover even the very carefully adjusted expenditure of that month, yet we can again most thankfully record that no patient has been refused admission because he or she could pay no fee. Our treasurer states our expenditure to have been $569 31, as against receipts, $610 14; so we have a balance of just $40 83 Wherewith to begin our autumn and winter. We have simply 'no expectations,' except that He will not fail us who, for the ten years of our work on behalf of His sick and needy ones, has never let us want, and has never given us over to despair. "Whilst deeply grateful to those who have helped us hitherto, we would ask all who may read our report if they cannot do something for us this year. We trust that they will not forget the Convalescent Home because we have not sent the collector to their doors; this, for ten years, we have refrained from doing, lest we should do injury to the claims of other charitable homes. and we still venture to hope that friends may be raised up for us who will send us their offerings freely and ungrudgingly, thus enabling us to continue to work on lines which God has curely blessed. This is the first year that we have been unable to make any payment upon the purchase of the building, but our interest has been met and our winter's fuel provided, leaving us with a very small balance on hand.

"We desire to return special thanks as follows: For donations from the Dalton trust, to Mr. Kent for his most acceptable gift of $100, to the Ministering Children's Leagues of the Memorial and All Saints' Church; and to several other friends for gifts of various kinds, which have been acknowledged monthly by the kind consideration of our ever helpful daily papers, The Advertiser and the Free Press. for visits of sympathy from friends, for gratis professional services from medical men, and for rellgious services from several of the Christian societies and associations of the city, one of whom sent us a beautiful little organ. Words of hearty gratitude are also due to the purchasing committee and gentlemen of the advisory board, and words also of continued appreciation of the very faithful services of our matron and her sister. All of which is respectfully H. A. BOOMER, "President." submitted.
