What is regarded as next to a decisive reason why there must be European peace is the calculation that the mobilization of the the calculation and Russian armies would cost $10,000,000, and their maintenance in the field would cost $200,000,000 a month. A neid would cost $200,000,000 a month. A war of six months' duration would therefore use up, for these three countries alone, the sum of $1,300,000,000. Besides that every nation in Europe, including England, would have to arm and hold itself ready, which would cost millious more. These bills are considered too high to be assumed.

Shut Up by the Sheriff.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—The big drygoods house of F. R. Lawlor has been closed by the sheriff. The liabilities are said to exceed $100,000, and the assets are about half that sum.

officer has gone too far in acts of indiscretion. His private life is recalled and all his wild demands upon the public treasury, for which he has never rendered a proper accounting. This change of opinion will make Portugal's task easier.

The Dia, an official paper, has a firm article on the subject of Portugal's dispute with England. It says that the Portuguese Government, while willing to negotiate in order to arrive at a proper understanding, will never compromise it a authority in Africa by returning from the Shire district, and if the London press insists on this it is with a wish to fish in dirty waters for a pretext to occupy the coasts. Legislative Assembly had identified himself, his party and his political programme with Mr. Sol. White, M.P.P., and had publicly signified absolute unity of sentiment with that learned gentleman by taking him around the whole circuit of the Province as his lieutenant and alter ego, to be the chief speaker and trustworthy exponent of the views of the party of Opposition on every platform in the cities and towns of Ontario during the electoral campaign of 1886. When the aforesaid Mr. Sol. White struck out straight for annexation and delivered to the world his manifesto against British connection, was or was not the leader of her Majesty's loyal Opposition bound to purge himself and his many-colored party from the suspicion of complicity by an early and unambiguous pronouncement of disapproval? I need not expatiate upon the above-mentioned three essential conditions of proof of complicity in their bearing upon this very serious case—especially serious in respect of a Conservative leader. I believe, sir, you have been "consulted" on this particular case ere now. Would you kindly favor the public with the legal opinion you have given as to the Conservative leader's responsibility? Has he been so "disingenuous" as to evade a direct answer? And if so, why so? Do, sir, speak out this time.

teaders of the Advertiser.—Let us hear from you on all questions affecting the pub-lic. Make your communications brief and send your name as a guarantee of good faith.

Congratulations to Mr. Pritchett.

Please allow space sufficient to congratulate Mr. John Pritchett, of London South, on his victory over the anti combination, and as representative at the Westminster Township Council and County Council of Middlesex, and also the first alderman elect from No. 6 ward to represent us in the city of London. Yours, A. M. Sutherland. Thanks. To the Editor of the ADVERTISER

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

Permit me through your columns to return the ratepayers of No. 2 ward my most sincere thanks for the hearty manner in which they supported and elected me as one of their representatives to the City Council for 1890. I am the more grateful to them from the fact that I have been ill and therefore unable to make a personal canvass. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the privilege thus accorded me, I am, yours, etc.,

W. W. FIZZERRALD.

The Grand Trunk Rood.
To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

To the Editor of the ADVERTIBER:

I saw an article by the General Passenger Agent of the New York Central and Hudson River Railway recently, giving a glowing account of their four-track railway and its vast resources and scenery of the country it passes through, as well as its fine equipage.

I think a word in behalf of our railways in Canada might be said, and our people have given millions towards their construction. Now, where do we find a better-equipped railroad on this continent than the G. T. R.? Its rolling stock is of a superior class, improvements going on daily. Its permanent way I find the best I travel over, and I have passed over all railways, I think, in this country. The double track from Montreai to Toronto will soon be completed and the track doubled to Hamilton, and its westward-bound freight by way of Stratford, eastern by way of London and the Toronto branch, will give the country over 600 miles of double track, which will enable them to dispatch passengers and freight at a much quicker rate. The traffic is immense, and the increase of receipts must be very gratifying. This vast railway system passes through the richest agricultural districts, cities and towns in Canada, and is heading for the great Northwest. Too much cannot be said in behalf of this railway. It has had to fight against many difficulties, but perseverance has brought success, and I have no doubt there are better prospects in store. The time is fast opproaching when there will be busiare better prospects in store. The time is fast opproaching when there will be business for all our railways. The C. P. R. has done wonders since its commencement for the general good of the country. It is also a well-equipped road.

Annual Meeting of the Dominion Riding Reform Association,

RIDGETOWN, Jan. 9.—The annual meeting of the West Elgin Pencinion Reform Association was held in the new Yown Hall yesterday. The weather and the roads were had, but there was good representation of delegates present from all parts of the county. Among those present were Dr. Cascaden, ex-M.P.P., J. A. Dart, Mayor of Ridgetown; S. E. Morris, of Rodney; D. Lang, Peter Stalker, Arch, McColl, of Aldborough; A. J. McDonald, A. R. Macdonald, John Lee, W. S. Gosnell, T. S. Tope, of Orford; P. McDiarmid, John P. McKinlay, C. Darling, of Howard; S. Crouch, Charles Macdonald, N. Mills, James Grant, L. Carpenter, Geo. McDonald, David Watterworth, Arthur McKinlay, E. McKay, P. Campbell and others, of Ridgetown.

OTTAWA, Jan. 9.—William McMullen was blown to pieces yesterday afternoon by cynamite. The unfortunate man was engaged in blasting operations and was carrying dynamite from the magazine, where a fellow-workman named Farrell was thawing the cartridges. When about ten feet from the magazine there was an explosion, followed by a cloud of dust. When the dust had cleared away McMullen was discovered to have been blown to pieces. It is supposed he let one of the catridges drop.

The magazine was blown to atoms by the explosion, stove and all, but Farrell, who was sitting by the stove with his hands full of cartridges, escaped unburt. McMullen's limbs were scattered in all directions, and his heart was found 100 feet away.

A COMING ELECTION AND THE PROVINCIAL FAIR.

We have taken occasion before now to point out that the man who has a platform and who is not afraid to let the public know what that platform is, must invariably command public attention, and if his principles are sound, ought to be made the custodian of public confidence. A man who answers this description is Mr. C. M. Simmons, the well-known Lobo farmer and cattle breeder, who is a candidate for the seat at the Board of the Provincial Association of Agriculture and Arts for the eleventh district of Ontario, which will be filled next week.

Mr. Simmons has principles, and he has enterprise enough to make them known in plenty of time to let people judge what they may expect if he is elected, as it is believed he will be. A "Practical Farmer" recently wrote to him, commenting on his published platform, which, briefly stated, is that he would be prepared to work for the winding up of the Association, favoring none. This correspondent who wrote, from Vanneck, suggested that Mr. Simmons would be worthy of support if he sought to reorganize the Association, and make it more useful to the farmers, especially as it uses understood that it had "a claim on the various fair grounds throughout the Province." The critic concluded his argument in this manner:

Why not have one fair in the interests of farmers, being purely agricultural, with none of their miscrabic special attractions. Have the exhibition placed on the English system, with a ds nailed up over the prize animals, setting forth the award, break, name of society and name of breeder. Also have care in the caralogue, against that the breeding and the care of the owner wishes to sell, price of the poole a chance to apprecia e the show and they will do so.

Mr. Simmons says he casts no reflection the management, but he asserts that cling of the machinery costs too meaning the machinery costs too meaning the price of the above first of the proof of the convertible of

Mr. Simmons, as was to be expected, sent a very spirited reply. He points out that the $10,000 grant for the Provincial show will not be continued, and more than bints that the men now in office merely wish the organization continued in order that they may make money out of their connection with it—rather a hard deal on Chas. Rykert, Ira Morgan and the other old-timers who have so zealously contended for the bossing of the Association Mr.

Simmons continues:

As an exhibitor at the Provincial for y are, it is my honest opinion that the whole can be carried out by the numerous agricultural societies and associations aircady authorized, and better serve the rub is and save the enormous cost of the Association. Why trouble its ghost its assets in the city of Torono are worth $50.000. This should be disposed of and the proceeds amicably divided mongast the agricultural societies of the Province, and the interests of Division No. 11 should be closely guarded.

The suggestion that the show should con Simmons thinks is out of the question. Canada is doing very well so far; but the and who are willing to pay for admission and who are will be at the Royal Show in England, and who are willing to pay for admission and the pay for admi 24 cents the concluding two days. A purely agricultural show carried on in that manner would result in a large deficit, and Mr. Simmons hold that it is highly expedient that the shows of the future should pay their way. As to catalogues, the prince of the purpose of fostering the legitimate operations of colonization societies and the other granting a lot of land of 100 acres to the purpose of the purpose of fostering the legitimate operations of colonization societies and the other granting a lot of land of 100 acres to the father and mother of at least twelve he points out that they can be had at the living children, born in lawful wedlock, Royal, and they have been circulated at the such lot to be their homestead." This last two Provincials; but of course they scheme will not be apt to meet with the in-delighted if the Provincial Board saw fit to French kings were wont to encourage relinquish that claim, and permit the fecundity among their subjects in bygone Western Fair directors to continue, unin-terruptedly, their splendid agricultural and industrial exhibitions. Mr. Simmons

If the law were to give the reward to and industrial exhibitions. Mr. Simmons rightly argues that a show conducted as was the Provincial at London this year would be a failure if held at almost any other city or town in the Province, and he lays special stress upon the point that the imported managers of the Provincial show cannot expect to have the same cordial expectation of the neople of the city into properties.

No doubt many of those who like fast horses and special attractions would be absent, but I am certain you would find the usual number of Lobo farmers present.

Endeed, he considers the Western Fair of Londoz one of the most representative associations ever authorized by act of Parliament. Very properly, too, Mr. Simmozes takes occasion to point out that the "contaminating in the point of the point out that the "contaminating in the point of the point out that the considers the way of Londoz one of the point out that the property of the point out that the point out that the property of the pr

"I ask you," to creep around the Provincial. "I ask you," he says, "did you ever witness one that compares with the Provincial this year at London. Was there not something in every available spot practiced by fakirs and professional gamblers to take, attract, allure and deceive the unguarded and innocent at their own game?" We sympathize with these strictures, but it must not be forgotten that the trade of the fakir would be a poor one but for the ready gullibility of What, then, Mr. Simmons asks, is the association engaged in, now that the Provincial Fair is buried?

The act of Parliament gives them certain powers, and states or enumerates what they may engage in, viz., a veterinary college, registration of live stock, prize farms, plowing, educational schemes, etc. The grandest clause is 34 per day and 4 cents per mile each way. If will take up the veterinary college. This institution is a good one, and is conducted mark controlled outside of the association students who have passed their examination. Last year it cost the association, or they granted 800 to their museum, and $186. What do you suppose it was for? Look on page 183 of the annual report of 1888. For fear you have not one in your possession, here it is. March 30-Alexander & Cable, $365. Mail Printing Company, $70. I expect this was for the students diplomes, and for a number of year prizes for essays on different subject. Under this head scond class four prize confired, amounting to $85, and for essays on a scheme has i cen carrier on in offered, amounting to $85, and for essays on a state of the college and their value as extitle food. We prizes $50, you will find on page 6 of the annual report, 1888. The education scheme is not a success, as the amount charged under that head is $166. On prize farms, including medials, $175 was expended. Of this amount the judges received $125, Under these three heads the amount has not averaged $300 to each for five years.

Mr. Simmons says that the keeping of the registration of live stock pedigrees is paid for by fees, and should be self-sustaining.

his argument:

Our agricultural shows, our farmers' institutes and the numerous associations connected wit the varied industries of the Province are receiving aid rom the Government. And now that we have a Minister of Agriculture, a man thoroughly practical and possessed of rare abilities, I am confident that every true Canadam velcomes him, although his department may cost $6,000 a year. Would it not be wise to di-continue the Agricultural and Aris Association! All those matters which are partially managed by them can and will be a seen an analysis of the continue that the partially managed by them can and will be a seen an analysis of the continue that a partially managed to the mean and will be a seen an analysis of the partially and a seen and a self-sustaining or nearly so. There is another question—the ass is of the Agricultural and Arts Association in the city of Toronto, said to be worth $60 000. Let them be soid, and the proceeds amicably divided among the societies of the Province—ti belongs to them—and thus save a l-rigo portion of the amount called running expenses, which can be ascertained by studying their yearry reports.

A Story of a Woman's Faithfulness.

CHAPTER VII.

Major Smith met with obstacles in his search for the registry of births.

The ex-mayor, Mr. Addison, was in New York, and the new mayor, naturally, knew nothing of the records of the office of twenty years previously.

years previously.

The "crank"—as Major Smith was called —was advised by Doctor Rayburn to smspend his operations until the return of Mr.
Addison. In the meantime, Smith, at the Doctor's earnest solicitation, continued to reside with the Rayburgh.

Blanche, now that she no longer feared the Major, grew to like him very much. Her preference for him seemed to increase his belief that she was his daughter, and he kept so closely by her side that her finnee, Charlie Addition, were already that the state of the control of th rlie Addison, was almost driven to distraction.

In vain he remonstrated with the young girl, who only laughed and declared that she believed he was jealous of a man old enough to be her father.

Falling to dislodge the Major by upbraiding or pleating with Blanche, the idea occurred to Charlie Addison to enlist her sister in his favor. Accordingly, he sought an early opportunity of speaking to Gladys alone.

daughter, he has a right to be informed.

Even as Smith so dicided, the door opened and the Doctor and Blanche came in. They had been for a drive.

what can I do about it, Charlie?"
That's just what I want to find out.
Being her sister, of course you have her considence, and can influence her."
If don't know about that," returned Gladys. "Somehow—I don't know how or why—Blanche and I have never been to each other as I see other sisters are. We have no hate in common, no mutual friends. We do not like the same people, and do not conside in each other nor consult together."

"You demand an explanation. Upon what ground, I should like to know. I will give no explanation whatever; and if it were not for your age, sir, I should eall you to an account for meddling in my affairs."

And afraid to remain longer, lest he should lay violent hands upon the Major, Charlie rushed from the room.

He sank on the sofa and begun talking to himself after his usual fashion.

"So! That is the sort of man they are going to marry my daughter to. Hugging and kissing another woman, the young scamp. And that woman her own sister, the black-eyed minx!"

At this reference to herself, Gladys felt like rushing out and boxing Smith's ears; but controlling herself, she shrank further back in her coign of vantage and waited for him to take his departure. But he did not, and kept on muttering addibly:

"I will expose him, but spare her so as not to make my sweet Blanche suffer."

"Blanche! always Blanche!" thought Gladys bitterly. "Everybody puts her before me."

The Major went on with his musings.

BARKWELL'S BRONCHIAL BALSAM.

Dear Sir, --- I wish to testify of the merits of that grand preparation known as Barkwell's Vegetable Healing Bronchial Balsam. I was told by a neighbor what a grand Balsam it was. My little girl was very ill with bronchitis, and a very few doses restored her and I believe saved her life. I feel it my duty to let others know that they also can be cured of this terrible affection. MRS. MARGARET LOWTHER.

The special revival work begun in St. Marys a little over a week ago, by Messrs. Crossley and Hunter, terminated on Sunday evening. A desire to meet Mr. Moody, who is in this city this week, led them to close their labors in that town sconer than they would otherwise have done. Unseasonable weather and bad roads determed a great many neonle, especially especially. terred a great many people, especially in the rural sections, from attending the ser-vices.

The remains of the late John C. Maclean, of the Toronto World, were consigned to their last resting place in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Toronto, yesterday afternoon. The pall-bearers were the three brothers of deceased. W. F., James Hector and Wallace Maclean, H. E. Smallpiece, Dr. Andrew Eadie, and Arthur Findlay, of London. The funeral was largely attended by writers for the daily and weekly press, besides professional and business men.

As our readers are no doubt aware, the ADVERTISER has been extending its borders by taking possession of a large portion of the new Canadian Loan building, just completed. Every department has by this means received additional "elbow room" and better facilities afforded for working. Mr. Dennis, of the "Forest City Wire Works," has just put on the finishing touch in the shape of fire escapes of the most approved kind. The ADVERTISER employes are now as well housed and comfortable as any in the Cominion.
