INSURANCE OF $1,055,000

Council's Demand for Cut in Estimates Responsible for Small Amount.

Twenty-seven different fire insurance panies will participate in the fire risks in connection with the city schools and incidentally in the distribution of roximately $7,000 in premiums

At its meeting on Tuesday last the board of education approved the recomendation of the special insurance com mittee that the city schools be insured for $1,055,000 at a rate of 66.22, the figure set by the fire underwriters' stamping officer. These figures mean that the amount to be paid in premiums will be $6,986, leaving $494 of the amount to be set aside for this purpose in the board's estimates to apply to new buildings.

The figures have, however, a rather sinister meaning to many ratepayers, who still have remembrance of the burning of the Collegiate Institute, in the fact that they represent an insurance on the city's school property of only onethird its value. In this connection it is noted that one American insurance comany has refused to accept any risk on the city schools for less than 60 per cent of the value.

In regard to the fact that insurance on the schools is so small, it is pointed out that in the estimates first presented the city council, the sum of $8,980 was set aside for this purpose, but when the council demanded that a cut be made in the expenditures for school purposes, $1,500 was cut off this item, leaving only $7,480 available.

Toronto, April 7.—(Canadian Press).— The Ontario Legislature with it prepon-derance of Farmer and Labor members smashed all precedents on the farm and the eight-hour day by sitting till sever minutes past five this morning. Putting through the supplementary estimates was the motive of the nine-hour, continuous session. Although this is not the latest sitting of the House in the history of the Ontario assembly, it sets a record for the present session, the longest previous sitting this session having adjourned at 12:55.

The result of the long and unusua was that all except a few of the items in the supplementary estimate were passed. The exceptions were held further consideration.

At midnight and at 3 o'clock the Gov ernment expressed a willingness to adjourn, but the Hon. G. H. Ferguson leader of the Conservatives, issued a mild challenge for the premier to go ahead and clean up the business. By 4:45 the attendance in the House had dwindled and many of the members present were asleep. During the early morning session, there was considerable ent on debasing and undesirable

Aeroplane Police Patrols For Far North Areas

Ottawa, April 7.—Canadian Press.—In the not far distant future, the Canadian Mounted Police are due to arrive at outside posts by aeroplane, thereby being enabled to carry the "white man's law" to the natives in the farthest north, covering in a few hours their patrols which now take as many days by horse or dog sleigh. In the report of the commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, tabled in the House today by Hon. J. A. Calder, Commissioner Perry says a request has been made to the air board to share in an air service to Fort Norman from Peace River next summer.

"I anticipate an extension of this service to other points in the Northwest Territories which are very remote and difficult of access," says the commissioner. The report covers the year ending September 30, 1920, and states that the strength of the force on that date was 1,671 all ranks and 942 horses. The force is distributed over the entire Dominion, the most remote outpost being at Tree River, on Coronation Gulf.

Commissioner Perry reports that the illicit drug traffic has given the police much difficulty, this being carried on by most degraded criminals.

The view of the miners' federation, Mr. Lloyd George asserted, was that to permit the pumpers to return would be to relinquish the weapon with which the miners hoped to bring the Government and the mine owners to a speedy acceptance of their terms.

Premier Regrets Decision.

Amidst cheers from the Government benches, the premier declared that the issue raised was much wider than that of what wages should be paid. The Government, he said, had always kept an open mind on the question of wages and was prepared to use its good official in reaching a solution. He regretted extremely that the miners had taken so grave a decision, involving lajury and misery to their fellow citzens throughout the country, as well as to themselves.

throughout the country, as well as to themselves.

The premier's speech was followed by a general debate, in which J. R. Clines, chairman of the Parliamentary Labor Party, and others pleaded with Mr. Lloyd George to bring the owners and the miners face to face without conditions on either side. This evoked cheers from the Labor members.

The question whether the pumpmen should resume work, and the matter of a national wage system and a national pool should be discussed in the conference, Mr. Clines contended, and not be made condition for the conference. Samuel Finney, a Labor member, and a member of the riners' executive body declared the miner, were willing to meet the owners without conditions on either side, with a view to arriving at a friendly settlement.

SUGGESTED PROCEDURE

Late Petrolea Minister Outlined Growth of the Movement.

Charles Jenkins of Petrolea, whose death took place in December last, was Huron. He was a very able man and took a great interest in church union. In the beginning of December, 1919, a world conference on "Faith and Order" was held in New York. Mr. Jenking was one of the delegates from the Anglican Church in Canada, Illness prevented him from attending, but he sent a letter to Rev. T. Manning, D.D., chairman, and Robert M. Gardiner, secretary of the executive committee, parts of which will doubtless be read with much pleasure by those interested. It is an able contribution to such an important subject. In the course of this communication, Mr. Jenkins, after referring to the report of the deputation to Europe and the east, said: "The Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States is to be congratulated on having approached the eastern churches in this supremely important interest. It is in great contrast to the time when the western church of Europe refused assistance to the eastern Christians and the Turks overthrew the Bysantine Empire in 1453, which has led to the condition described in the reply of the holy synod of the Church of Constantinople to the invitation to attend the Faith and Order conference, that the eastern church has been surrounded for five centuries by most unfavorable political conditions and has been under constant implacable perse-

Mr. Jenkins then refers to the subdivisions that took place in the various churches and how these divisions are now being united. Speaking of the Preslyterian Church, he says that "the original succession bodies in time reterian Church. Later on that body combined with the Free Church, contituting the United Free Church, and ombined with the Free Church. it present negotiations are going on between the United Free and the Estab lished Church of Scotland with a view to complete union."

Reunion in Progress.

"Reunions in the Methodist cody have aken place both east and west of the The same is the case with the Lutheran churches, and it is at once an inspiration and encouragement to know that the descendants of the Anglican churchmen and the stern Independents who fought at Marston Moor and Nase-by are considering an approach towards unity. The time has come when the excessive individualism of the past is eing modified. "One consequence of the divisions in the Christian Church by the creation of so many separate bodies is that threy went out of communion with each other. "It certainly is possible for intercommunion between the members of the communion between the members of the various bodies without any previous legislation as regards government or common method of action—the virtue of the celebration is in the Christian faith of the receiver—and it would seem that the only conditions of admission that require to be formulated are: First, that baptized membership is essential, and, second, that a declaration of beief, or creed as it may be called, re stricted by the safeguards set forth in Galatians, 1st chapter and 8th and 9th verses, should be adopted.

"Here it may be said that the clear definition given by creeds or articles of faith is necessary for the greater part of humanity, and that the Nicene and Athanasian creeds will be found of great service in dealing with the nentality of Oriental peoples.

W. R. STANSELL--THE MAN

N THE year 1894 a lad barely turned thirteen years and small for his age, left his home near the little village of Courtland, forty miles from London, and turned a resolute befreckled face towards St. Thomas, the portal leading to the great and mysterious world of his dream future. A few hesitating steps carried the boy a short piece down the dusty road, where he paused and turned slowly to look once more at the man well past the prime of life, who leaned heavily over a white picket gate.

Perhaps it was the sight of tears trickling an unfamiliar course over strong cheeks which moved the boy strangely, for he suddenly dropped the worn vallse which contained all his few possessions and ran back to where the man was standing. His hands were caught in a tight grip.

"Dad," he said, "I'm going to make you proud of me some day!" and then he turned once more down the white riband of road.

The boy was "Billy" Stansell. Today he is William Riley Stansell, President of London Motors, Limited, a success in the business world and a man among men.

It was by no easy path that Mr. Stansell reached the pinnacle of his success. His road was beset continually with difficulties which only his indomitable will and his buildog perseverance, enabled him to overcome. The ladder which he was forced to climb was full of rotten rungs which gave way continually just as the goal was in sight. Probably his success can be summed up best in the lines of Addison: "If you wish to succeed in life make perseverance your bosom friend, experience your wise counsellor, caution your elder brother, and hope your guardian angel."

When "Billy," as he was called then, left the house of his father to seek a fortune in the business world, he was not equipped with what today would be considered even a primary education. He had received but little achooling, for in the 80's farming was an ill-paying proposition, even in the fertile acres of Southwestern Ontario, and the boy rarely could be spared from the farm work. In fact, at this stage of his career, he could hardly write his name so that it could be deciphered by those outside the family circle.

He arrived in the city covered with dust and with only thirty cents in his pocket. Although he was tired he immediately hunted up a bakeshop where he had been promised a position. The baker took one look at the lad and then told him he was much too small for the lob. He was a big-hearted man, however, and when he saw the crestfallen expression on the boy's face, he started to question him. After he had learned the whole story he put "Billy" to work. The lad lost no time in making capital out of his ambitions, for he worked hard, day and night; and although weary after his day's toll in the heat and the dust, he devoted every spare hour to study. He realized the handicap the lack of knowledge had placed upon him; he knew that in study lay his only opportunity for advancement. Burning the midnight oil wasn't a very pleasant task when every bone in his body ached from his daily routine of hard work. Ten or twelve or more hours of being at everybody's beck and call, of being on his feet in the shop, and delivering, made even his sturdy little legs feel pretty shaky,

For six strenuous years he worked and studieds his constant application to his work and his habit of exploring the byways as well as the highways bringing to him not only a thorough knowledge of his business, but a deep understanding of human nature. So well did the boy, who a few years before had been "too small," do his work, that at the age of nineteen he was given full charge of the chop.

Firm in faith, courageous in the face of adversity, gifted with that indomitable will to win, that intangible quality of determination which in every contest sustains the winner through those final deciding moments when losers weaken---this is the man who heads London Motors, Limited.

About this time he decided that he was getting in a rut, and that St. Thomas, wonderful though it had appeared to his boyish vision, did not hold the opportunity he wanted. The desire to see other cities and learn other men's ways of doing things, induced him to accept a position in Kingston, where he was in charge of the largest shop in the city. The same desire took him from Kingston to Windsor, where he was associated with A. L. Thibadeau, who at that time controlled the largest bakery in that town.

His next move was to Dundee, Mich., where his experience and executive ability brought him more remuneration than was possible in Canada at that time. A year and a half later found him proprietor of his own business in Adrian, Mich. This enterprise proved a big success, but his market was limited, and he sold out to go Into partnership with his brother in Mount Clements. Mich. It was then that the first great misfortune entered his life, for fire wined out his whole business and left him penniless. Although his capital had disappeared and his ambition had received a bad loit, this apparent calamity proved to be a blessing in disguise. The loss of every dollar he had in the world only made the flame of his ambition burn more brightly, and brought other qualities, hitherto submerged under the demands of a routine life, to the surface. Although he hadn't realized it, his training for the past years had fitted him for something a great deal bigger than the bakery business. His years of dealing with the public had developed his qualities of salesmanship. This selling ability placed his feet in a new path-a path that led to undreamed possibilities, and opened up vistas of golden opportunity.

As salesman with the Reid Machinery Company, of York, Pa., and later with the Lynn-Superior Machinery Company, of Cincinnatti, Ohio, Mr. Stansell found an outlet for the energy and enthusiasm with which nature had endowed him so liberally. His venture into the wider markets of wholesale selling brought to him a better grasp of modern business; his contact with bigger men gave him a vision of bigger things in his own life. His mechanical ability manifested itself in improving and perfecting various machinery for the Lynn-Superior Machinery Company, that today is a world standard.

At this time Detroit was looming up as a centre of a great new industry. The automobile, long regarded as a rich man's toy, was coming into its own. Big businessmen were beginning to appreciate the commercial possibilities that this business offered, and hardy pioneers were blazing the trail to success in this field. Many men whose names are today known the world over, were associating themselves with the automobile business, and Mr. Stansell was among the first. A fact worth mentioning is that within a few weeks of Mr. Stansell's jumping into the automobile game, ne was followed by Arthur M. Peck, president of the Lynn-Superior Machinery Company, his former employers.

Success attended Mr. Stansell's initial effort in his new business. Under the name of the Lexington-Detroit Motor Sales, with show-rooms on Lafayette Boulevard, he ploneered the Lexington car in Detroit.

Business so far surpassed his expectations, that, within a short time, he found it necessary to secure larger quarters. From the status of a small agency he had grown to be one of the early outstanding figures of the automobile business in Detroit.

His new show-rooms were situated at 975 and 977 Woodward avenue, at the corner of Warren avenue. Here he originated the famous "Auto Corner" of that city, and as the Robertson-Stansell Motor Sales, he began making automobile sales records that are unsurpassed to date. To the Lexington was added the exclusive selling right for the State of Michigan for the Premier and McFarlan. In these three lines, the "Hoosier Big Three," as Mr. Stansell called it, he had a trio of autos that featured Quality. The first car of each of these lines, ever placed in Michigan was sold personally by Mr. Stansell.

Always a student, he devoted every possible moment to the study of mechanical features of the cars he handled. In addition to being a high-class salesman, he became an expert mechanically; the minutes, hours, and days he spent in the workshop acquainted him with every mechanical detail.

Even in these days he had a vision of putting his own car on the market; he dreamed of building a car that would make a place for itself among the great cars of the world. Canadian by birth and upbringing, he looked forward to producing, in Canada, Canada's Quality Car.

It was his intention to incorporate all the best features of the cars he was studying, and the many improvements he had worked out into this car of which he, dreamed.

The war broke out, and for many months the automobile business was in a state of semi-inactivity. Many firms and many salesmen found the going very difficult during this period, but Mr. Stansell's business ran along as usual. In fact it was at this time that Mr. Stansell broke the record for Woodward avenue, by selling five cars in one afternoon. However, the Government stepped in and took over the Lexington, Premier and McFarlan plants for war purposes, and he found himself in the position of having nothing to sell.

This gave him an opportunity to devote his whole time to the mechanical study of automobiles. He entered the Packard plant of Detroit, and was made an assistant foreman. In this capacity he worked in practically every department, and had his opportunity of studying this great car from the standpoint of the builder. While with the Packard he received an attractive offer from the Tower-Ayres people, who were behind the Denby Motor Truck of Detroit. Mr. Stansell was made sales manager, and incidentally established a few records with this concern in this capacity. He was appointed by the management to investigate and clear up the Denby Truck situation in Chatham, Ontario, where the Canadian plant was being established. This he did satisfactorily, and had offered to him the general managership for Canada. However, he refused this post, as he felt that the goal towards which he had been striving for many years was at last in sight—his cherished dream of some day building a purely Canadian car in Canada.

inducements were offered him to locate his plant in Amherstburg, Ont., and in association with certain American Interests, he established his plant there.

Due to the fact that the control was not in the hands of Mr. Stansell, he found himself handicapped seriously in the building of his first cars. As the weeks went on it became increasingly evident to him that he was faced with the alternatives of being associated with men whose business standards were not in accordance with his code of ethics, or of pulling out of Amherstburg completely. The latter course was the one he chose, although it involved losing his months of hard work and the sacrificing of every dollar he had put into it personally. He sold out his interests for practically nothing, but he carried with him his biggest assets, energy, integrity and determination

In Rev. L. W. Reid, pastor of the Hale Street Methodist Church, Mr. Stansell has a warm personal friend. When Mr. Reid learned that his friend had sold out his interests in Amherstburg, he wrote urging him to come to London. Acting on his advice, Mr. Stansell came to London to look over the prospects for establishing his plant in this city. As the result of the trip he secured the Geo. White & Sons' plant on King street, in the heart of the city, and adjoining buildings on King and Ridout streets. In addition to this property he also secured a factory site on Hale street, with frontage on the main line of the Grand Trunk Railway.

For months he and his organization have been working night and day attending to the innumerable details that are part of such a gigantic undertaking as London Motors, Limited. The result of their labors is that today the company is on the verge of production, and the dream of a lifetime is a reality.

Despite enough experiences to fill a lifetime of the ordinary man, Mr. Stansell is barely in his prime. His figure is erect, and his step is full of elasticity; he is as full of enthusiasm, pep and confidence, as an untried college youth.

His face bears only the lines traced by stern determination. His square jaws denote tremendous strength of character. His eyes are of the kind about which the famous Dr. Leask wrote when he said: "Men with grey eyes are keen and energetic, and they usually are capable of much sympathy." They are unusually clear, and they look straight into the eyes of the person to whom Mr. Stansell talks.

One cannot go into the presence of Mr. Stansell without feeling his magnetic personality.

Samuel Smiles once said: "The great high-road of human welfare lies along the high-road of steadfast well-doing, and they who are the most persistent, and they who work in the truest spirit, will invariably be the most successful. Success treads on the heels of every right effort."

Whether or not Mr. Stansell comes within the rules laid down by the great philosopher the reader must judge by what has gone before. What has been written is a true narrative of all those things which have occurred in the career of a successful businessman, who made his father proud that he had a son.

Associated with Mr. Stansell as executives of London Motors, Limited, are men of like character---men whose integrity is beyond question---vigorous, forceful examples of Canadian initiative.

SHORT-SIGHTED POLICY USED BY C. N. R. IN BUYING FUEL SUPPLY

Ottawa, April 7.-The Canadian Naional Railways have not been foresighted in their fuel policy, as they have failed to effect long term contract for their coal at low rates, with the mine operators, according to evidence given the parliamentary fuel commit-tee today by F G. WOMEN'S RIGHTS AND MEN'S WRONGS

Divergent Views Expressed in Joint Debate At Brooklyn Academy.

NEW YORK, April 6 .- Soft moon ight, breach of promise suits, alimony, millinery, clothing bills and other accompaniments of courtship, marriage and divorce, were discussed from divergent viewpoints at at the Brooklyn Academy of Music in a debate on the "Have women's rights brought men's wrongs?" The Rev. William Carter, married, pastor of the Throop Avenue Presbyterian Church, braved the indignation of about 600 women, making up 80 per cent of the audience, to argue the question from the standpoint of the downtrodden male, while Miss Sarah Stephenson, borough secretary of Brooklyn, confident in the support of the majority, took the other

Dr. Carter dared to say some very strong things about women, remarks that elicited many murmurs of disapproval.

The feminine contingent at the meeting fairly gasped when he told them that they haven't half the rights they used to have, and referred to the Roman woman Vesilina, who divorced ten men in one month, thereby establishing a world's record as a fast worker, which even Henry VIII. had been powerless to equal. equal.

"The man pays for a mistake made under a soft moon," he continued coolly.

"Either he is sued for breach of promise, or if he marries he invites alimony which is never outlawed and is better than a Liberty bond."

"It was at Fletton Towers that I spent my boyhood's days," continued Mr. D'Orsay, ireminiscently, "and it was in the neighboring town that I went to school. In third place is the stumin group, comprising iron works, mining companies, foundries, auto car manufacturers, shipbuilding yards and other manufacturing places. "Have you been over to England lately?" asked The Advertiser man.

"No. I have not." replied Mr. D'orsay. "You don't think I have lost my English accent, do you?" he asked in turn, with the suggestion of a smile.

The newsgatherer said that he did not think so. Far from Lawrence D'orsay losing his accent or that refined and breezy personality of his, he impresses one with the feeling that he has carried with him the wholesome ways and the old world courtesy of the true English gentleman.

for the ranches. The Indians won't give them up.

The day of the herds of wild horses roaming the plains of Wyoming and adjacent states has been growing rapidly to a close. More and more ranches are being fenced in, herds of cattle are reduced or confined and to make the matter worse, oil drilling camps have been extended over wide areas. The horses are worthless, even for hides.

SARNIA BOWLERS HAVE BIG PROGRAM IN MIND

SARNIA, April 6 .- If the present weather continues minus the April weather continues minus the April quota of showers, the Sarnia Lawn Bowling Club will be commencing their season within the next fortnight, according to one of the officials of the club today. All that remains to be done to put in the greens in shape for the coming season's play is a few minor repairs to ends of the green. Last season the club had the playing surface fixed and the ends banked up, leaving very little to be done this year to put them in the best of shape. The games committee will, it is promised, have a promising list of playing events for the members during the coming season, as well as the tournament and trophy events.

Just while they are building a new arena in London it wouldn't be a bad idea if they'd build up a few of the sporting ideals that used to obtain in sport in the "rough neck" days. Without definite charges being made against any one town in Ontario or any group of players, anyone who hasn't been shut up in a dark room during the past ten years or so, knows the amateur hockey game as it flourishes in Ontario in its present highly developed state is anything but the snowy article it ought to be.

Once upon a time (only this fable is true) boys went out and played hockey and their ambitions were fully satisfied if they made the team, became expert at the game and made good generally with the fans. When they became men, their ambitions hadn't grown any larger. They were still content to play the game, take all its knocks and inconveniences it often meant in business, for the game's sake.

The modern versions of the boy and man of the above narrated fable are a new creation. The minute a boy graduates off the ponds nowadays, he graduates as a master of high finance at the same time. And the boy is father to the full fledged he-man hockey player of the present age.

The O. H. A. or kindred organizations can make rules from now until the Swiss lead the world in navies, but it won't improve the situation any. Education of the coming generation along the lines that hockey is a game, not a business career, might help.

With the Majors

Wild Bill Donovan, new manager of the Phillies, always has worn a smile during his long baseball career. Perhaps he'll keep it all through the coming season, but just now it looks as if he is up against something that is no laughing matter. If he can keep the Phils out of last place his year's work will be a success. Indications are that will be a success. Indications are that the property of the lot Raiph Miller, and Wilers, and Wile with Boston and the Phils hit for only he is up against something that is no laughing matter. If he can keep the Phils out of last place his year's work will be a success. Indications are that it will take a lot of luck and cunning and a bundle of cash to iand anywhere but eighth in the National League race. To begin with, he tackled a Job where he didn't know a lot about the players on hand, his major league work having been in the American League. They a bunch of his boys were hold-outs and didn't report until late, so that the team is a fortnight behind its rivals in conditioning. Finally, one of his reliable and capable players, Gene Paulette, has been cast into the waste basket of damaged goods by Judge Landiss.

Tough Future in Prospect.
Undoubtedly there will be some trading and purchasing of his both the fit up the first of lice. Perhaps he'll be able to procure a couple of youngsters who may lot have a lot wore than his share of lice. Perhaps he'll be able to procure a couple of youngsters who may count to be stars.

With such an outlock, it isn't surprising to find the general morale of the club low. It just doesn't seem worth while making any effort. It looks as if Donovan will be a success as a leader and needs only some major league material to add to what he has on hand to make a success in the percentage column of the league standing.

With the start of the season close at hand, Donovan finds himself in need of a lot of players to make a major league outfit or one even close to the standard of the big fellows.

Judging from what has shown so far, it looks as if he not only needed a first baseman to take Paulette's place, but he needs a second and third basemen.

Art Fielding at short appears to be practically the entire field, and while he is along in years, he can hold his own with a lot of regulars at the position. Donovan also is in great need of one high class catcher and a couple of real pitchers, men who can take regular turns on the slab. That is a lot of material to be needed at this late stage of the game.

Outfield is Good One.

Only in the outfield are the Phils secure. In Stengel, Willfams, Neale, Meusel, and Lebourveau. Donovan hasn't a crew of outer gardeners who stand out as stars, but it is a set that can go along in fast company and perhaps be up to the average. A crew of outfielders, however, can hardly be expected to carry the entire team.

On the infield, Fletcher is the only the Arhletics and Williams for the Philalies.

Not appearing to his friends for the past couple of days, Rev. Mr. Watts, pastor of Grace Church, forced an entrance last night to the residence of John T. ANXIOUSLY WAITING PASSAGE OF BILL BY DOMINION GOVT.

WINDSOR, April 6.—Directors of the Canadian Transit Company resident in Windsor stated today that no action would be taken towards completing financial details of the organization, with a view to commencing construction of the bridge over the Detroit River between Windsor and Detroit until the bill granting the company a charter is approved by the Dominion Government. Yesterday the bill was approved by the railway committee of the House, and was recommended for passage through the House.

Windsor Separate School Board has let the contract for the construction of a 12-room school on Bruce avenue, between Sheppard and Waukita streets, to the J. V. Gray Construction Company, which will do the general work for $170,900.

Peter M. Keogh, one of the pioneers of Windsor, died at his home today, aged 78 years. He was secretary of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association, and a number of years ago served on the city council.

Appearing before Magistrate Gundy foday on a charge of vagrancy, Joseph Gladerin refused to answer a single question asked by the court, and was sent to the Ontario Reformatory for a term of three months to two years.

To Be Troubled With

THE CAUSE OF MANY ILLS.

If you do not feel well and go to your family physician, one of the first things he will do is ask you to hold out your tongue. The reason for this is that the ondition of the tongue shows the condition of the stomach and bowels.

If you allow your bowels to become constipated you will have bilious at-tacks, sick headaches, coated tongue, foul breath, heartburn, water brash, etc., and those troublesome piles, which cause so much annoyance and misery.

Keep your bowels moving regularly and you won't be sick. In Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills you will find just the remedy you require for this purpose. They are purely vegetable and

It also enables a duly ordained woman to perform the ceremony. Municipal clerks are ex-officio made issuers of marriage licenses. All present permits to issue marriage licenses will be automatically cancelled by the bill. The fee for a marriage license will be $5. Of this $4 goes to the province and $1 to the municipality.

The House in committee threw out a Toronto bill proposing an emolument of $400 a year for school trustees, and another providing that income tag assessment should be based on earnings of the previous year, and not on prospective earnings of the current year. The latter measure was considered to have been badly drafted.

Before the orders of the day were called, Hon. Manning Doherty rose on a question of privilege to contradict reports of extravagant expenditure for elaborate furniture in his private room at the Parliament Buildings. Dozens of newspapers, he said, had stated that among the articles in his room were a mahogany rocker at $190.

"Those articles were never in the room and were never purchased by the department of public works for the room," said Mr. Doherty, and added that anything he wanted he was quite capable of getting himself.

Your Daughter

S your daughter at that critical age, approaching womanhood, when nothing is so important to her as mother's care and mother's advice?

It is during this time that her whole future health and happiness may be at stake.

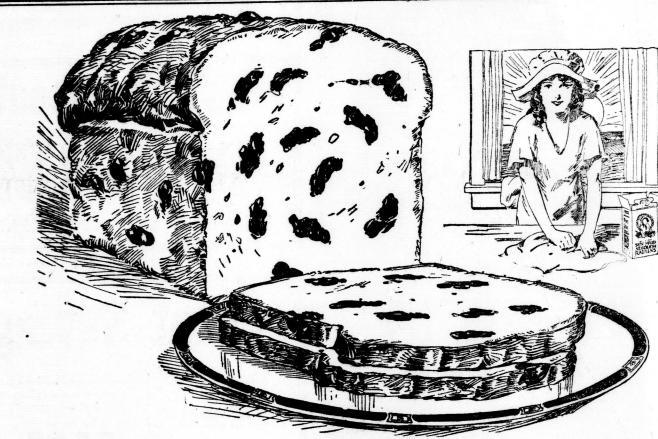

With most girls this important development takes place at a time when school work is most exacting and the nervous system is consequently under a most severe strain.

An enormous quantity of rich, red blood is necessary to meet the demands of the system, and, this failing, there is the development of anaemia, chlorosis or some form of nervous trouble, such as St. Vitus' dance.

Most mothers now know about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and the promptness with which it enriches the blood and builds up the nervous system of the growing girl.

It is mother's duty to see that a reasonable amount of rest and sleep is obtained, that the food is wholesome and nutritious, and that the treatment is used regularly and persistently so as to keep up an abundant supply of pure, rich, nourishing blood.

Bread with Raisins is a Better Food Try Three

Forget, for a moment, the delicious flavor of raisin bread and think of its value as a food.

Raisins furnish 1560 units of energizing nutriment per pound, as well as natural iron which brings the rose tint to women's and children's cheeks.

The raisin's pure fruit sugar is in practically predigested form, so it is almost immediately assimilated. This fruit-food value added to the nourishment of wheat, forms an almost ideal food.

Send 'round the corner or telephone to your grocer or bake shop for a loaf of Sun-Maid Raisin Bread or bake a loaf at home according to the recipe at the right.

The raisin flavor permeates the bread. Try the bread plain, with or without butter. Learn what delicious toast it makes. Serve at least twice a week to break the monotony of plain bread.

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

On legal affidavit, John Hart Brittain, business man, certified to this: "My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. An expert said that he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth.

"Yet now, at an age over 66, I have a luxuriant growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair! No trace of baldness. The pictures shown here are from my photographs."

INDIANS' SECRET OF HAIR GROWTH

Mr. Brittain certified further: "At a time when I had become discouraged at trying to grow my hair again, I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian 'medicine man' who had an elixir that he asseverated would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light fuzz soon appeared. It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and ere long my hair was as prelific as in my youthful days."

Has Been Exceeded.

The time occupied by the company and upon which it has insisted, in preparing its case for submission to arbitrators, has far exceeded the estimate upon which the agreement was based, and in consequence the hearing which, in the view of the Government, ought now to be approaching conclusion, is only at its very beginning, the minister stated. "Therefore, if, as seems not improbable at the present time, the award cannot be pronounced within the period fixed by the agreement it will be necessary for the Government to consider whether it will exercise its power to extend the time, and, if so, upon what terms or conditions. A situation will thus emerge which was not anticipated and which, in my opinion, speaking for the Government, can best be regulated by agreement. The present system of administration is embarrassing, inconvenient and expensive, but it finds its justification as an expedient adopted in the absence of any more acceptable suggestion, providing not unreasonably

It is believed, despite the Government's firm attitude regarding a subsidy, that the line the negotiations are likely to take will be the granting of some sort of temporary subsidy to tide the industry over the period necessary to negotiate an acceptable wage settlement.

that in consequence a situation will emerge which was not anticipated."

A letter from Sir Alfred to Hon. J. D. Reid, dated February 25, stated that in his opinion "the time ought to certainly be extended for another three months, leaving conditions as they are at present. To ask us to give up control before our case has been decided by the arbitrators appears to me to be unreasonable. I have written to Mr. Kelley urging him to do everything possible to expedite matters, and I should hope that the three months will be sufficient.

"The reports of denials of reception of evidence offered by us as to the value of the various properties have created a very bad feeling on this side, and I am most anxious, while doing all in my power to protect the shareholders' interests, to do nothing which would cause unnecessary annoyance to the Government.

On March 21 the minister of railways wrote to Howard G. Kelley. president of the Grand Trunk, as follows: "With reference to the Grand Trunk Railway estimates, amounting to $59,687,633.89, dated February 22, submitted and signed by Mr. Frank Scott, as vice-president, and which have been placed in the estimates now before Parliament, I wish to advise you that the Government, of course, cannot agree to, or assume any liabilities in connection with those estimates unless, nor until they shall have received the approval of Parliament. Moreover, the Government have come to the conclusion to make no further advances on account of the Grand Trunk Railway except payments, if any, for which they are obliged by law, unless we have some definite and satisfactory assurance as to when the road is to come into our possession. The next cable from Sir Alfred Smithers, dated March 22, said:

"In reply to your cable requiring handing over the railway before the award, and immediate transfer to Government of the preference stock and Grand Trunk ordinary stock, I regret to say the first requirement is so unreasonable that the board of directors could not recommend it. As to the immediate transfer of stock to the Government, the stockholders would certainly not consent to transfer their holdings until the final award."

A further cable from the chairman of the Grand Trunk board of directors to Rt. Hon. A. Meighen, prime minister, on March 29, said:

Providing For Payments.
"It is universally considered here in London that the Canadian Government undertook to take over the Grand Trunk as of May 21, last, subject to arbitration conditions, and the Government have acknowledged position by provision for all the payments as they become due. "We have every desire, if possible, to meet the Government, and I respectfully and urgently beg the Government to meet our payments, due April 1, and thus give breathing time to try and come to arrangement. To this cable the prime minister replied on April 3:
"Government understood perfectly that existing agreement does not authorize directors to transfer their powers of management. Further agreement is requisite to provide for this, subject to parliamentary sanction. If you authorize Kelley to execute necessary terms evidencing company's consent and to put Government into immediate possession, bill to confirm will be introduced immediately. It is only upon these conditions that the Government can extend time or make further advances."

Guelph is First Municipality To Be Free of Hydro

GUELPH, April 6 .- It was officially counced today that Guelph-one of the original 12 municipalities to start the hydro cheap power movement-is the first of the municipalities to be out of debt. This was largely brought about by the adoption of a pay-as-yougo system with regard to what some municipalities would put into debentures. This has somewhat kept up the tures. This has somewhat kept up the rates, but has enabled this city to get out of debt. Guelph's investment in the local electric plant was $269,533, and the municipality's shares of the Niagara system, including the Ontario Power and Toronto Power Companies, is $915,967. Word is still awaited in the city of the signing of the orders-in-council permitting the hydro to take over and operate the street railway for the city.

On the motion to so into committee of supply, Ernest Lapointe (Quebec Bast) rose to discuss what he declared was a matter of great public importance in connection with the recent statements of the minister of labor. Hon, G. D. Robertson, regarding the Catholic National Labor Union, Mr. Lapointe introduced the delegation from the union to the minister and the delegates from the National Union, Had No Knowledge.

Previous to the interview he had no knowledge of the resolutions which were to be placed before the minister had stated that the demands could not be granted, and had started a violent attack on the union and its officers. Their work, the minister had said, was nefarious and very dangerous, and he had declared that the members of the international bodies would refuse to sit on boards with those of the National Labor Union.

Mr. Lapointe did not believe the minister of labor had been fair in stating that members of the international bodies would refuse to sit on boards with those of the National Labor Union.

Use Cocoanut Oil

For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it thing else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

Mr. Lapointe then read to the House a dispatch covering the interview sent from Ottawa by Canadian Press, Limited, in which Senator Robertson was reported to have warned the delegates of the danger of racial and religious sirtle as an outgrowth of the Catholic National Union movement.

Criticized Attitude.

He also read an editorial which appeared the following day in the Montreal Gazette. The editorial strongly criticized the attitude taken by the minister of labor. A lengthy letter written by Senator Robertson to the Montreal Gazette, in reply to this editorial, was also read by Mr. Lapointe who stated, in doing so, that he was anxious to be absolutely fair to the minister of labor.

Mr. Lapointe declared he had neverbeen a member of any labor organization, but spoke from the standpoint of fairness and justice.

The department of labor had its duties prescribed by statute, One of its most important functions was the maintenance of industrial harmony between employers and employees, and between groups of employees themselves.

DISCREPANCIES FOUND FORMER FINANCE BY POLICE IN HARRIS' MURDER CONFESSION

New York Detectives Will Give Alleged Slayer Thorough Gruelling.

LONDON AS ADDRESS

Pair Are Traced by Woman's Bright Green Hat.

Buffalo, April 7 .- Although Roy Har ris, alias Geb Leonard, had not devi-ated from the original story of his alleged part in the murder last June of Joseph B. Elwell, wealthy New York clubman, the police here today, after a careful analysis of his signed confession, pointed to certain discrepancies be-tween it and known facts that gave rise skepticism as to its truthfulness.

Harris fixes the time of the shooting of Elwell at shortly after 3 o'clock in the morning. He also says that his alleged pal, Bill Dunkin, used a smallcalibre revolver. Elwell's death wound was inflicted by a bullet of large calibre, and the wound was of such a nature that it is doubtful that he could have lived from the hour mentioned by Harris until 8:30 a.m., when he was found by his housekeeper unconscious but still alive. Harris also fixed the date of the murder as June 12, whereas it occurred on the morning of June 11.

On the other hand, Harris goes into a UNION LEADERS wealth of detail in regard to incidents preceding the murder that indicates, the police say, either knowledge of the crime MINE PUMPING or a most thorough study of the case. Effect Reconciliation.

Harris reiterated today the claim that he has not seen his alleged pal, Dunkin, nor the woman, known to him as Mrs. Fairchild, who is alleged to have hired the pair to slay Elwell, since he re-ceived a partial payment of the $5,000 which they were to receive for committing the murder.

New York detectives familiar with the Flwell case are expected here this mornng to question Harris.

Harris was arrested last night on a charge of passing a forged check for $79 at St. Catharines, Ont. He had been living at a hotel here since Monday with his wife. Mrs. Harris, or Mrs. Leonard as she has been known, told the police today that she parted with her husband eight months' ago in Syracuse. She came here from St. Catharines, where her parents live, three months ago, and secured work and the miners leaders lasted upwards of two hours. Mr. Lloyd George, who on Main street last Saturday and a was accompanied by Sir Robert S. longs to Germany by right of conquest Horne, chancellor of the exchequer, in the late war." says her husband was a native of Bridgeport, Conn., and frequently talked of New York acquaintances.

Yesterday the Buffalo police, who have been on the lookout for him, heard that Harris had been seen at the Gencsee Hotel. They went there and found that the man for whom they were seek-ing had registered there under the name of "C. Carlin" of London, Ont., and that he was accompanied by his wife. He had left the hotel several minutes before, the clerk told the police. One of the bellboys told of a bright green hat worn by the woman with him, and it was through this that the police were able to locate the couple in Main street. No material damage was done. a few moments later. At the police sta-tion, the detectives say, Harris seemed to be ill at ease and Detective Flynn, who made the arrest, asked him to "come clean." Harris is alleged to have first denied there was anything else to tell, but Flynn asked him 'how about New York?" The start it gave the prisoner showed the sleuths they were on the right track. A few minutes later Harris is alleged to have broken down and told them he would "squeal" on his partner in the Elwell murder because the partner had "crossed him" and had cheated him out of the majority of his share of the $5,000 which they were to receive for the crime.

On the other hand, renewed misgivings over the labor deadlock in Great Britain prevented any decided advance in prices. This patchwork of colored cloth is stretched over a frame resembling a kite, and some of the cloth is tied on the edge in the form of streamers that wave in the breeze.

The species of partridge for which they hunt is called the chukar, or rock partridge. They are so wild that hunters find it difficult to get within shooting distance. Almost all hunters carry old-fashoned guns, and if they cannot get close to their game they waste a great many shots. However, one hunter discovered that the partridge is full of curiosity regarding colored objects, and so he rigged up his crazy quilt arrangement, and for a time he was seen hunting, and his secret was out. Should Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Do you find it hard these spring days to apply yourself to your work? Do you feel tired, without ambition or energy? These are the symptoms of a coadition which our grandparents used to meet each spring with a medical tonic, and medical practice today supports their wisdom. During the winter months the blood frequently becomes weak and thin, especially in those whose work keeps them indoors most of the time.

Weak blood frequently causes indigestion leaks of appetite sleeplesaness, and or will hold the individual aldermen.

thin, especially in those whose work keeps them indoors most of the time.

Weak blood frequently causes indigestion, lack of appetite, sleeplessness, and a constantly tired feeling. Sometimes there are headaches or a feeling of nervousness, or there may be unsignily pimples or blotches on the skin. Any of these indicate that the blood is out of condition, and any improvement in the condition of the blood improves the general health. The right tonic to improve the blood is shown by the statement of Miss L. Evelyn Brown, Milltown, N. B., who says: "I can say for myself that I was greatly benefited by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. My work keeps me indoors many nours in the day and many days in the year. When feeling exhausted and tired out from long hours and hard work, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make me feel entirely made over. "Don't throw me over; I'll get over," Manning quoted Price as saying, and added that the negro, with a cry of "Lord have mercy," flung himself into the river.

Manning then went into details of the alleged murder of other negroes, declaring one known on the farm only as "Little Bit" was induced to help lift "Red" Brown, another negro, over the river bridge railing on the pretext that Williams merely wanted to "scare" the one known as "Brown."
