St. Petersburg, Feb. 27.—An action of St. Petersburg, Feb. 27.—An action of no mean proportions is in progress on the Russian left flank. The advantage thus far is on the side of the apatiess, though at heavy cost. From advices from the front it is difficult to say how severe the losses have been or how had the reverses, andw hether the Japaness are likely to attempt to drive in the Russian left much further.

Gen. Kuropatkin evidently had been trying to establish his left flank far in advance, to command the crossings.

Russia Fears Concentrated Action by the Peasants and the Workmen Political Agitators Busy.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 27.—Evidence is increasing that the strikes throughout the Empire, and especially those in St. Petersburg, are not economic in their origin, but inspired by a definite political plan. The Government and the employers are embarrassed by the tactics of the workmen, whose discontent is being fed and who are increasing demands with each new concession.

increasing demands with each new concession.

This condition is believed to have been fomented by crafty political agitators, who are stirring up the men, and at the same time holding them in leash, apparently awaiting some signal for concerted action. Fear is entertained that this widespread disaffection, is connected with a pla nto await a possible peasant outbreak in the spring, with which a general strike will be synchronized, the workmen joining hands with the peasants. Bank of Montreal Building Burns to the Ground.

Regina, N.W.T., Feb. 27.—The Bank of Montreal was completely destroyed by fire yesterday morning. The total loss is from $45,000 to $55,000.

The fire was caused by a fused wire in the cellar, and had gained such headway by the time the smoke aroused Manager A, F. Angus that he had only time to escape with his family in his night clothes, saving nothing.

All the efforts of the brigade proved unavailing, as 70 tons of coal in the cellars were ignited, and the water supply proved inadequate, connection with new waterworks net being completed. The family lost all their furniture and household belongings. The condition of the safe is not yet known, as the flames are not extinguished.

DECISION FOR BRITAIN

No Justification For Rojestven sky's Broadsides.

No Japanese Torpedo Boats Among the British Fishing Trawlers-Admiral Who Saw Things That Were Not There Let Down Easy by the Commissioners—Findings Received in London With Gratification.

Paris, Feb. 27.—The decision of the International Commission of Enquiry into the North Sea incident was publicly announced at the closing session of the Commission Saturday afternoon. The Admiral therefore had reason to believe he might be attacked and gave orders for strict vigilance against the possible approach of torpedo boats. "The Commissioners," the decision says, "recognize unanimously that the fishing fleet committed no hostile act, and the majority of the Commissioners are of the opinion that as there were not either among the fishing boats or in their vicinity any torpedo boats, the opening of fire by Admiral Rojestven-sky was not justified."

The Russian Dissident. The decision further says the Russian Commissioner did not share in the latter opinion.

"In any event," the decision continues, "the Commissioners are glad to recognize unanimously that Admiral Rojestvensky personally did all he could from the commencement to the end to prevent the trawlers being the object of fire by the Rusjan squadatter opinion.

ron."
Concerning the squadron's proceeding without assisting the damaged trawiers, the decision says:
"The Commissioners are unanimous that under the circumstances preceding and following the incident that there was such uncertainty concerning the danger to the squadron as to warrant Admiral Rojestvensky in continuing his route. However, the majority regrets that the Admiral did not inregrets that the Admiral did not in-form the neighboring maritime powers if what had occurred."

views as formulated are not of a nature to cast any disrespect upon the military valor nor upon the sentiments of humanity of Admiral Rojestvensky and the personnel of his squadron."

The closing session of the Commission presented a brilliant scene. The spacious salon of the Fereign Office was crowded with prominent officials, members of the Diplomatic Corps, including Russian, British and American Ambassadors, members of the Japanese cluding Russian, British and American Ambassadors, members of the Japanese Legation, officers of the army and navy, judges of the highest French courts and many wives and other relatives of members of the Commission. The Admirals forming the Commission ap-peared in ordinary civilian dress.

A Compromise.

Admiral Fournier (France), the President of the Commission, read the decision amid impressive silence, the Admiral Fournier (France), the President of the Commission, read the decision amid impressive silence, the speciators following minutely. The general impression among the audience was that the decision was in the nature of a compromise. Admiral Fournier closed the Commission with a speech of thanks to its members. He said that each of them would return to his country bearing as a recompense for his labors the legitimate satisfaction of duty well accomplished. They left behind them a profound impression of esteem for the devotion in which the difficult task had been performed.

A significant exchange of remarks was made by Sir Edward Fry, representing Great Britain, and Baron Taube, representing Great Britain, and Baron Taube, representing Russia. Both spoke in the most amicable spirit and eulogized the arbitration. Sir Edward said:

"This is one of the most important evants ever brought before an international court. All should feel gratified with the satisfactory results attained."

Admiral Davis (United States) said concerning the decision: The conclusions seem to me to be equitable. They are fermulated in a manner to satisfy the legitimate desire of the two parties, and mark an important step in the pacific solution of international conflicts."

Admiral Baron Von Spaun, in behalf of the Admirals, thanked Admiral Fournier for his courtesy and France for her generous hospitality and requested Admiral Fournier to express the Commissioners' sense of gratitude to Fresident Loubet and Foreign Minister Delicasse. The session lasted half an hounder of the interesting features of the decision are as follows:

"Admiral Rojestvensky, after leaving Reval, took the greatest precautions to prepare his vessels to repulse a torpedo attack during the night, whether salling or at anchor. The reports of Russian agents regarding possible torpedo boat attacks seem to fustify these. "The direction the Russian squadron followed was calculated to bring the last two divisions, as events proved, in proximity of the customary fishing

"The leading divisions of the squad-ron, including Admiral Voelkersam's, passed the trawlers unsuspectingly. Ad-miral Rojestvensky's division, the last, noticed green flares, really a fishing signal, which created alarm, and then observed a vessel topping the waves. Admiral Rojestvensky ordered his ships to open fire, on the result of which rests his responsibility."

The Admirals signed the document in the following order: Von Spaun, Fournier, Doubassoff, Beaumont and Davis, Gratification in Lendon.

Gratification in Lenden.

London, Feb. 27.—The findings were received in London with every sign of gratification, which was all the more marked because of the premature reports that the decision of the Admirals had been of an anti-British character. The whole report is regarded here as discrediting the Russian cause; even the phrase that the firing was not unduly prolonged, which seems to afford a certain justification for opening the firing, is at the same time taken as implying that the Russians centinued to fire after they had discovered their mistake. The definite finding of the Admirals that ne torpedo boats were at the scene of the incident gives considerable satisfaction, and it is pointed out that the British contentions were further uphald in the finding that the trawlers Crane and Aurora were the boats the Russians mistook for torpedo boats.

Londos, Feb. 27.—The British press welcomes the report of the international commission of inquiry inte the North Sea affair with almost unqualified satisfaction. Some of the papers tain the decision does not go far enough in the direction of condemnation of Vice-Admiral Rojestvensky and the commander of the transport, Kamschatka, but at the same time they hold that it is now possible for Russis to make ample amends. 8. STEPHENSON - Proprietor. A BLUE BOOK SERMON.

Though one would not ordinarily consult the blue books of Canada for Sunday reading yet in them may be found sermons ertinent to the age wherein truth is resented in most convincing form, the Ottawa Citizen remarks, Where, for exam; le, the Citizen asks, is the doctrine that "the way of the transgressor is hard," "the wages of sin is death," or "whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap" more luminously enforced than in the reports of the de artment of justice ? Here, too, is impressively taught the value of obedience to parents by children. Take the fact that of the 1,328 con-Canada for the year 19J3 over 50 per cent. of the inmates were under 30 years of age. These figures demonstrate that the criminal class de velores in early life and preventive measures to be effective must be begua among the children. "This fact," to quote the language of the report, brings the origin of crime very close to the home life of the country."

"Although a number of these lads have come from, so-called, respect-"it would be difficult to find one who came from a home in which industry, thrift and obedience to authority have been properly inculcated, and it would be equally difficult to find one who has acquired a knowledge of any trade or calling sufficient to enable him to earn an honest livelihood. The rarentage of crime has been ascribed to intemperance, illiteracy, heredity, companionship and many other causes, but though each of these may claim relationship, near or remote, the experience taught by actual contact with delinquents leads to the belief that idleness and improvident habits have a strong claim to the position of direct parentage.

"The inculcation of the gospel of labor' as expressed in the Pauline injunction 'if any would not work." neither shall he eat' is alike the essential foundation of good citizenship and of individual reform. Every delinquent should be given a sound practical illustration of its merits. In our institutions we teach practical trades and endeavor, so far as is feasible under the congregate system, to prevent contact between young convicts and old criminals; but the limitation of our work to prison requirements makes it difficult to enforce industry as it is understood and practised in outside industrial establishments. If our penal institutions rigidly enforce habits of industry, economy and obedience to authority and the release of the delinquent is followed by humane encouragement and assistance the State will merely have performed its duty and it will reap the advantages that accrue."

The lesson is plain: The boy who is disobedient to parents, on the street when he should be in the school, loafing when he should be learning a trade-that boy is on the way to the penitentiary and will surely come to grief if not to prison, and his parents will know the bitterness of having a son who did wickedly and they restrained him not.

Steamship Service.

Ottawa, Feb. 25.—H. and A. Allan of Montreal have signed a contract with the Dominion Gevernment for a steamship service to France. The contract is for three years, and four steamships are to be employed, and the minimum speed is to be not less than 10 knots when loaded at sea. The steamships used will be the Laurentian, Pomeranian, Sardinian and Buenos Ayrean.

Montreal or Quebec will be the port of call during the season of navigation, and Halifax or St. Jehn when the season is closed. The port of call in France will be either Cherbourg or Havre, at the contractors option. The contractors may extend their trip or trips to British ports, but the steamers must call first and lass at a French port.

The subject of the glay deals with the inhuman persecution of the early Christians by the Emperor Nero, and the author has built on this scheme an interesting and absorbing drama. an interesting and absorbing drama. The effect of such a play presented by a strong company of well known actors, under the management of Fred. G. Berger, is greatly enhanced by a series of magolificent stage pictures that are historically correct. The organization comprises twenty-two people, and loads of scenery and costumes are carried.

The Philadel his Record of Nov. 23rd said: "The Sign of the Cross is one of the most remarkable lays of the age." The Washington Times recently said: "It is a wonderful production, leaving a strong impression on all who witness it." Clergymen in every city of the world have unanimously endorsed this production. It is without doubt the strongest and most elaborate dramm the stage has ever produced. drama the stage has ever produced, demanding a large cast of splendid ability and requiring scenery, costumes and effects unequalled for splendor and magnificence. This entire production will account the splendor and magnificence. tire production will appear at the Grand tonght with Walter Law, the eminent young English actor, as "Marcus Sujerbus" Prefect of Rome.

Ottawa, Feb. 25.—Yesterday was the soth anniversary of the birth of Hon. R. W. Scott, Sccretary of State and leader of the Schate. The Liberal Sentors took advantage of the occasion and presented Mr. Scott with a piece of silver on which was a suitable insortpsilver, on which was a suitable tion. Mr. Scott, in accepting the large silver loving cup, the gift of the Sen-ators, thanked them kindly for their thoughtfulness, and for their kind and generous expressions towards him.

Matta In 1747.

The change in postal arrangements in New York since "the good old times" may be seen by the following advertisement, copied by the Troy Times from Bradford's New York Gazette of from Bradictus New 101s Gasette C. Dec. 6, 1747:

"Cornelius Van Denburgh as Albany Post designs to set out for the first time this winter on Thursday next. All time this winter on Thursday next. All time this winder of the second desired to be letters to go by him are desired to be sent to the postoffice or to his house near the Spring Garden."

During Hudson river navigation the Albany mail was transmitted by sloops, but in the winter a messenger, as above mentioned, was required, and it is probable that he traveled on foot. The winter average of the eastern and southern mails is given in the same paper and same date as follows:

"On Tuesday the Tenth Instant at 9 o'clock in the Forenoon the Boston and Philadelphia Posts set out from New York to perform their stages once a Fort'nite during the Winter months and are to set out at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. Gentlemen and merchants are desired to bring their letters in time N. B.—This Gazette will also come forth on Fuesday Mornings during that

An Uabroken Spell. When we have a "spell o' weather," and wet weather at that, we have only to recall the climatic conditions of Dartmoor, in England, in order to be thankful for a little.

The moor has, says a writer in Cornhill, an eternal procession of clouds, infinitely varied in form, lighted with a white radiance or lowering in gloom, rent, tattered or filmy, gathering, menacing, creeping round to swath you in a mist of rain or dropping one of those silvery showers lighted with sunshine from behind.

Of heavier rain there is no lack, and all one can say of the perennially heau-tiful moor is summed up in the verse invented by its enemies:

Watting Upon His Bride.

Two hundred years ago it was a custom very general in England for the bridegroom to wait upon his bride on their wedding day. The following extract from John Shebbeare's "Matrimouy," a book published in the middle of the eighteenth century, testifies to this and refers to the popular supersition about it: "The dinner being served, Sir Oliver was the gayest man in the company. The bridegroom and bride sitting by the side of each other, the old gentleman observed: "Ods-heart, ods-heart! What, dine with the bride the first day! A fine bridegroom; a fine bridegroom! It was the fashion when I was married to stand behind the bride's chair with a napkin and serve her. Serve her today; she'll serve you always after."

THE GREAT POPULAR RAILROAD, It has been loosely stated that corporations have no souls—a premise based no doubt upon the tendency of some corporations to eliminate the personal element so far as possible from their management. Nevertheless, the railway corporation has just as pronounced an individuality as the Montreal, Feb. 25.—Mrs. McGee, an old lady about 85 years of age. who lived alone in a house at Eaton Corners, about ten miles from Sherbrooke, perished in the flames which destroyed her home at an early hour yesterday as pronounced an individuality as the average business man.

There are railway corporations which incur the dislike of the general public apparently for psychological reasons. Their rolling stock may be in excellent condition and their time schedules well carried out, and yet owing to a certain atmosphere associated with the management, the road will be distinctly unpopular.

The New York Central Railroad is one of the happy exceptions. With a magnificent roadbed and a thoroughly modern train service, they would seem to have kept faith with their patrons in every way; but there is a disposition on the part of the management to go a little further than the contract actually calls for, by placing special comforts and countesies at the disposal of their patrons, which makes this road a favorite with all who can arrange to utilize its service,—From the Monthly Cyclopaedia of Practical Medicine.

JURIES IN GERMANY

THEY ARE ONLY PERMITTED TO ACT IN CRIMINAL CASES.

A Unanimous Vote Is Not Required In Finding a Verdict; Only a Majority of Two-Thirds Is Necessary.

It may not be generally known that under the original constitution of the United States provision is made for the trial of criminal cases by jury, but not of civil cases. This in 1789 caused dissatisfaction, the people claiming that the omission was intended to abolish trial by jury in civil cases, and the seventh amendment was soon adopted, se-curing the rights of trial by jury in suits at common law where the value in controversy shall exceed $20.

In many countries juries decide by a majority. In France since 1831 a majority of two-thirds is required. This is true also in Germany, where the opera-tion of the institution is so complicated and withal so interesting that it is especially valuable to note some of the methods adopted in the land of the kaiser to secure justice and protect the rights of the accused.

According to German law, trial by jury is limited to criminal procedure and to cases within the competence of and to cases within the competence of a single court composed of three judges and twelve jurors. The juror receives no pay for his services, because the of-fice of juror is an honorary one.

Many classes of persons are excluded from jury service. Among these may be mentioned not only such persons as have suffered a criminal judgment or such as are on trial on criminal charges, but such also as are restricted in the use of their property by judicial

The law enumerates also certain classes of persons who ought not to be summoned for jury service and who are meant to be excluded, but whose presence on a jury does not of itself necessarily invalidate a verdict. In this group are persons under thirty years of age, persons who within three years have received support from pub-lic charities for themselves or their families and persons who are employed as servants

A great many people are as a special privilege exempt from jury service in Germany. These include officials, per-sons employed in a public capacity in the service of religion, persons in ac-tive military service and teachers in the public schools, but attorneys are not numbered among these so privileged. Physicians, however, and apothecaries who have no assistants, persons above sixty-four years of age and persons who show that they are unable to bear the expense of this unpaid jury service are among the privileged.

The basis of the list from which the jury is selected is a list of persons who are eligible to service as lay members of local courts. None of these lay mem-bers serves more than five days in a year, and this provides a large list for jury selection.

The presiding official in each commune must each year prepare a list, which is exhibited for public inspection for one week, at the end of which time the unprotested names are sent to a judge in the district to which the ommune belongs. Eventually from each "year list" are selected thirty jurers who constitute what is known as the "verdict list." In any given case these thirty jurers are brought before the president of the court, who tells them the name of the accused and the nature of the offense charged. The names of the thirty jurors are written on tickets which are placed in an urn, from which the final twelve jurors are drawn by lot. There capacitated.

The jury determines the degree as well as the fact of guilt and is in nowise bound by the instruction of the presiding judge as to whether a given act falls within the definition of a contract which the contract that is the co crime under the law. The jurors elect their own foreman, but only after they have retired to the but only after they have retired to the jury room to agree upon a verdict. A unanimous vote is not required in finding a verdict. Only a majority or two-thirds is necessary—that is, if the vote is seven for conviction and five for acquittal the defendant is acquitted; if it is eight to four he is convicted.

"Pedigree" of "Fog."

If any Londoner crawling up to business by train or tram through the fog turned his idle mifd to wondering why it was called "fog" he would probably decide that it could not have been called anything else. "Fog" is its obvious name. Yet there is much speculation among philologists on this point. Dr. Murray's dictionary suggests an interesting pedigree. As far back as the fourteenth century "fog" meant aftergrass, the rank grass that sprang up after hay harvest or grew in the winter, while in the north it meant moss. Then "foggy" came to mean bloated or putly of the fiesh of men or animals, and finally, as applied to ale or air, it pulty of the flesh of men or animals, and finally, as applied to ale or air, it meant thick, and our modern fog was derived back from this "foggy." Skeat, however, goes straight to the Danish "fog," as in "snee fog," a snowstorm, from "fyge," to drift. The worst of London fogs is that they do not drift fast enough.—London Chronicle.

Keep your blood clean as you keep your body is foul before you cleanse it.

It is a matter of surprise that many people who are so careful to have clean bodies make no effort to keep the blood clean. Everyone knows that uncleanness breeds disease; that those who do not keep their bodies in a wholesome condition and who dwell in filthy surroundings are the first to fall when some epidemic of disease weeps the country. But foul blood is more dangerous to the individual than a foul body. An unclean body is rather a passive than an active hindrance to health. But unclean blood is an active threat against the very life—if makes the body a prepared breeding place for disease.

It is part of Nature's plan for human safety that in many cases where the blood is impure or corrupt she sets a sign on the body in proof of the corrupt current that is flowing through the veins. Scrofula with its irritation, salt-rheum, tetter, erysipelas, bolls, pimples and other eruptions are only the outward signs of the impurity of the blood. But often in the earlier or simpler stages of the blood's impurity there are no outward signs of this condition; only dull, languid, sluggish feelings, which are commonly attributed solely to the sluggishness of the liver.

Brartin Harvey's Joke.

Martin Harvey, the young English actor who vaulted into fame by his martin Harvey, the young engine actor who vaulted into fame by his impersonation of Sydney Carton in "The Only Way," is an ardent devotee of Henry Irving, but he carefully eschews the mannerisms of that great English tragedian. Outside of his work as a member of the theatrical profession Mr. Harvey's chief hobby is painting and sketching. He is considered a clever painter and also has some knowledge of sculpture. He is very fond of dogs and rarely is without one of his pets beside him when off the stage. When in London Mr. Harvey lives in a beautiful house in St. John's Wood. His holidays he spends at the seaside. During one of his visits to the ocean he boarded at a small hotel, where he did not fare to his liking. On going away he took his revenge where he did not fare to his liking. On going away he took his revenge on the landlady in a fashion of his own. His hostess as he was leaving asked him to write in her testimonial book. He complied. His entry comprised just four words—"I quote the raven." As the landlady had never read Edgar Allan Poe's poem, she was not "on," as we say in America. But guests who followed Harvey were.

Capt. Ian Hogg.

An interesting figure in the group of young officers decorated for brilliant service with the Argunga expedition on the Niger last year, says The Star, is Capt. Mr. Quintin Hogg, and his gallantry won him troop rank in the Boer war four years ago, when he was only 25. A traveling man who had been on a business trip through northern Texas while east of Greenville had occasion to hire a buggy to go across the country, and with the buggy there was thrown in by the livery stable a negro, who, the traveling man says, was about the color of anthracite. Old Letters.

There is but one thing to do with old love letters—in fact, with all old letters, love or otherwise—and that is to ters, love or otherwise—and that is to burn them.

Letters are personal, the thoughts, the wishes of the moment. Letters are seldom of historical interest. If so, it is an easy matter to preserve those.

An old letter is seldom of interest while life is granted to the writers, and but a cause of misery after death has claimed either. Should both writer and the one addressed be taken from the world the old letters are either carelessly paraded or left to mold in a corner of the attic.

When a letter—the ordinary letter, which is but an exchange of personal thought, hopes or dreams—is answered it is time to burn it. It will then never be read by curious eyes nor will it serve as a bitter suggestion of a happier past.—Pitisburg Press.

"Hello, you two spoons!" shouted a rude, coarse voice right behind us. "Haven't you eyes for any one but yourselves? Here we've been sailing alongside you for the last five minutes and never a look out of either of you." Darcy Graham can be the most vulgar man in the world when he likes, and Grace Rawshaw is just as bad. I think that must be what attracts them to one another.

"Hello yourselves!" I grunted. "I guess we could have seen you if we'd wanted to very bad."

"Nice, amiable man, ain't he?" queried the irrepressible Darcy solicitously. "How do you get along with him, Phyllis? Now, if I were you"— Grace put her hand over his mouth, and I tacked. I really had no desire to hear the rest of it, and I feit certain the misguided chump would finish the sentence if he got half a chance. I don't think Phyllis wanted to hear it either. "Idotic beast!" I commented. "I'm glad there was no one around to hear him."

"Why," I gasped, "did you hear what he said? He called us spoons—'you two spoons,' mind you!" "Well," sniffed Phyllis, "he's only re-

Occupation on the Great Lakes. Sailing the great lakes during the season of navigation just closed has probably been the healthiest occupation in which men are engaged in tearning a livelihood. The figures complied up to the close of the season show that a smaller number of people who sailed the lakes were lost han for a quarter of a century past. The total number of dead was 49, compared with 66 in 1896, 88 in 1897, 95 in 1898, 100 in 1899, 110 in 1900, 122 in 1901, 140 in 1902, and 94 in 1903. Occupation on the Great Lakes and 94 in 1903.

This is in striking contrast with the two preceding seasons, where a number of crews were lost by the sinking of their vessels. One of the two lived until he got ashore, and died from exhaustion in the woods.

The largest item of losses was men falling overhoard, eighteen being credited to that cause. All but two of these occurred in harbors. Eleven sailors fell into the hold of ships and were killed, and nine were killed by machinery, either aboard ship or on docks. One was burned, one committed suicide and two dropped dead from heart disease. The largest number lost at one time was four, who were drowned by the capsizing of a small boat in the St. Clair River.

Lake Erie again leads with the largest number of casualties, ninetsen losses taking place on that lake. Superior, nine on Lake Michigan, seven on the St. Clair and Detroit River, two on Lake Huron and one on Lake Ontario.

The small number of the season's dead is ascribed by vesselmen to two causes; one was that there were no great storms during the entire period of navigation. In fact, the season was remarkably free from dangerous gales; the other reason was the absence of feg to a remarkable degree, which tended to prevent disastrous collisions.

Not a passenger was lost or even reported as being hurt on any of the

The Deer Which Fell.

The returns filed by the Canadian Express Company of the deer handled by them during the recent season show that 2,532 deer were shipped from different points, aggregating 280,847 pounds. Last year there were 2,950 deer carried in the same time, which was an increase of 164 over the number shipped in 1902. The greatest number of deer came from Burk's Falls, 499 carcases, aggregating 71,300 pounds, being shipped. About 200 were shipped from Trout Creek, north of North Bay. The charges amounted to something over $3,000.

THE NEW PAPER

New Journal-Say Planet's Statement was "Previous."

The Planet has apparently stirred ip a veritable horner's nest by giving jublicity to the report that the Liberals purpose shortly to found a new and vigorous Liberal daily in this city. The Banner-News, the paper that at present alleges itself be the organ of the party, states that the announcement was "actuat-ed by s; leen," but of course the subject was one upon which the Banner-News is very sensitive; on the other hand Liberals criticise this paper for making the announcement rematurely instead of waiting for or soliciting later fuller facts con perning the proposed enterprise.

As a matter of fact publicity was given the recort as an ordinary news item of interest to the people this paper serves.

It is public property that much dissatisfaction exists among the Liberals who desire to be represented by a live and efficiently equipped newspaper, and that it has been pro-posed to get over the difficulty by the establishment of an entirely new and distinct paper to be run on up-to-date and businesslike lines.

"The Planet is always too pre-vious," said a Liberal frankly critioising the announcement on Satur-day, "and it would have shown more courtesy to have waited until those interested were repared to take interested were repared to take rubic action. However, everyone recognises the necessity for a good live Liberal paper. The party has been badly orighed in the past and must protect, itself in the future. In the Stephens campaign the election was practically lost through a lax presentation of the issues and after the last local election the silly idea of originating the protest promanagers of the weigh scales.

SERVICE OF SONG

There was a special musical service in Christ Church last evening, given by the vested choir, which has become one of the most popular musical organizations in the city. The service was very bright and interesting through and spoke volumes for the rector and choir. The church, as usual, was packed to the The firm of McKeough & Trotter shipped a crank and shaft to Leam-ington on Saturday for the saw mill of Jayson Wigle. The Workmen defeated the Mac-cabees Friday night in a league game of carret ball by six shots, It was a good game, Invitations are out for a dance to be held in the Auditorium to-morrow evening by the Lady For-esters, DeCow's orchestra will fur-aish the music, for the rector and that the control, as usual, was packed to the doors.

The sermon was based on the life and sacred writings of Cowper. Mr. McCosh gave a very interesting sormon, which (was much enjoyed by the very large congregation. During the sermon the choir rendered two of Cowper's hymns, "God moves in a mysterious way" and "There is a fountain fifled with blood."

Miss Helen Thomas, soprano, gave an excellent rendition of "Face to Face." Miss Thomas is one of Samuel I. Slade's brightest pupils and she sings remarkably well. Her solo last evening was very much enjoyed, and was the subject of much favorable comment at the conclusion of the service.

One special feature of the evening was the splendid manner in which the congregation entered heartly into the singing and responses. The little week-old son of Wendall Wilson passed away this moraing in the Public General Hospital. The funeral will take place this afternoon to the Maple Leaf Cemetery.

It now lies between Court Hope and Court Unity, A. O. F., to gain cossession of the coveted trophy in the lowling league series. There is one game yet to be played between these two teams.

200,000 CANADIAN SETTLERS. Stundists Are Preparing to Leave the Czar's Country.

Berlin, Feb. 27.—Saturday's Berliner Zietung reports that 200,000 Russian Stundists are preparing to emigrate to Canada. The Stundists are members of a Rusisan religious community, originating about the year 1860. Their tenets and practices are distinctively evangelical and Protestant, and entailed separation from the Orthodox Greek Church. For a long period after 1870 they were very harshly persecuted by the Government, but remained faithful to their convictions and have considerably increased in numbers. Of recent ably increased in numbers. Of recent years little has been heard regarding the community, but from their resolu-tion to emigrate, it may be inferred that they are still the objects of Gov-ernment ill-will.

HUFF'S HORSE HURE

Some of the residents of the Riverside Terrace didn't put their ashes down the hill out of the road. Yes terday a horse attached to Huff's milk sleigh, struggling to pull the rig through the ash heap, choked and fell over the railing along the top of the hill. The animal rolled half way down to the river, where it stopped all tangled up with the shafts. In its struggles to get up it ran the shaft in its body and was almost kill-jed. A veterinary attended the wounds and it is hoped that the life of the horse will be saved. The agon-ized cries of the animal could be heard for blocks.

All the Transfers She Had. As a bevy of laughing girls rose to get off a street car the other day at a woint where transfers are given they were followed by a demure young woman who had been absorbed in a novel. Just before she alighted she asked the inctor for a transfer, and he, thinkthe girls were of one party, gave ber six, which she took without noticing and held in her hand as she stood on the corner waiting for her car, the other girls having gone on walking. When the reader got her car she took a seat and was soon lost again in her waiting. Then the conductor came up, and she held out the slips. He took them, counted them and then looked where are the others?" he asked.
"Oh," replied the young woman, looking up a moment from her book, "that's all he gave me."—Philadelphia Record.

The First Phonograph. The first words reproduced and ut-ered by a phonograph are naturally a matter of historical interest. When Edison was at work on his first phonograph many weeks were consumed in experiment. It is said that when the stalking machine was first discovered it was as much a surprise to its inventor working on some telephone receivers and was led to put a piece of tinfoll on a cylinder. It recorded sound, and Edison was convinced that the human woice could be recorded and produced.
When the time came to make an actual test Edison, with his mind on mechan-Ical details, absentmindedly tested his contrivance with the familiar phrase, "Mary had a little lamb," The verse was the first record taken by the ma-

Reyal Threshold.

One day last August a picturesque and beautiful ceremony was performed in St. Petersburg, the splendid capital of the Russian Empire. It was the christening of the infant son of the Czar, and throughout Russia, from the Baltic to the Black Sea, the church bells rang merrily in token of the joy of the subjects of the "Little Eather" that an heir to the throne had been born. It seemed an auspicious moment in the career of the Emperor, and despite the reverses his army in the Orient was at that very time sustaining he was encouraged by the propitious circumstance of the birth of his son to believe the tide would soon turn in favor of the Russian arms. It has not done so, and in quick succession have come the fall of Port Arthur, the narrow escape of the Emperor and his family from death by the discharge of a shell during the salute at the blessing of the Neva and the revolutionary outbreaks which are shaking the foundations of the Russian throne.

When the present Emperor, Nicholas II., came to the throne in 1834 he continued the repressive policy of

A great many women suffer with a form of indigestion or dyspepsia which does not seem to yield to ordinary treatment. While the symptoms seem to be similar to those of ordinary indigestion, yet the medicines universally prescribed do not seem to restore the patient's normal condition.

Mrs. Pinkham claims that there is a Mrs. Pinkham claims that there is a kind of dyspepsia that is caused by a derangement of the female organism, and which, while it causes a disturbance similar to ordinary indigestion, cannot be relieved without a medicinc which not only acts as a stomach tonic, but has peculiar uterine-tonic effects also.

also.

As proof of this theory we call attention to the case of Mrs. Henry Beaubien, 58 Sparks St. Ottawa, Ont. who was completely cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after everything else had failed. She writes:

everything else had failed. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"I had been troubled with indigestion and general stomach disorders for nearly a year. I had a screens in my stomach and was unable to digest my food. I dieted and doctored without success; but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me permanent relief. I used three bottles and it cured me of my stomach trouble and built up my general health. I now enjoy a splendid appetite, can eat all kinds of food, have no trouble with indigestion, and know that I owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

No other medicine in the world has received such wid, spread and unqualireceived such wid, spread and unquali-ded endorsement, or has such a record of cures of female troubles, as has Lydia E. Pinicham's Vegetable Compound.

"I guess I am the biggest fool in town," he remarked. I looked interested, and he continued:

"See that car four blocks ahead? Well, I ran a block to overtake it and gave the conductor a dime. He handed me a nickel, which fell from my hand to the street. I yelled for him to stop the car. He did not do it, and I jump ed off and landed all spraddled out like an old saddle. See my clothes? Well, the jump did it."

I asked the man if he found the

"Oh, yes, I found the nickel, but what good did it do me? I could not overtake the car from which I had jumped, and so I boarded this car and gave the nickel to the conductor. So I skinned my hand, spoiled my clothes and risked my neck just to find that five cent piece and give it to the street railway."

Pain Across the Kidneys For Three Years.

Suffered Great Agony. Could Not Stoop or Bend.

No disease is so quiet and stealthy in its approach as kidney disease. That is why it is so dangerous. It may become deep-seated before you realize the danger. It is therefore of great importance to recognize the early warming symptoms, because in its early stage kidney disease is easily curable. Pain or dull ache in the back is one of the first signs. So are bladder pains, bearing-down pains, smarting sensation when urinating, frequent or suppressed urination, and gravel or sediment in the urine, etc. You cannot be well if your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. In all stdinary cases of any derangement of the kidneys, a few doses of DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

France's Civil Law in French Cauada Facts Brought Out at the Recent Celebration of the Centenary of the Code Napoleon in Montreal-Eulogy of Rome on the Reform Effected by Cartler in

At the annual dinner of the Montreal Bar Association recently the proceedings were mainly in celebration of the centenary of the Code Napoleon. Sir Alexandre Lacoste, Mr. R. C. Smith, K.C., and Mr. Pierre Beullas expressed the admiration which all jurists feel for that great system of law. The collection and organization of the laws of France is the noblest work of peace with which the name of Napoleon is connected. It was under the authority of his decree, issued as First Consul in 1800, that the commissioners began their labors. At the beginning of 1805, their great scheme of legal reform came into force. It consisted of five codes—the civil code, the code of criminal procedure, the penal code, the code of civil procedure, the code of commerce. It is one of the latest products of that spirit of reform which labored through the revolution period to bring order out of disorder, and establish institutions on a scientific basis. Like the idea of the Revolution, the project of a new incorporation of the laws was in the air nearly half a century before it was actually overtaken.

Cerpus Jaris Civilia.

Corpus Juris Civilia.

Cerpus Juris Civilis.

Though, as has been mentioned, there were five bodies of French law promulgated in 1805, that to which the name Code Napoleon has come to be specifically applied is the civil code. This is one of the truly monumental achievements of legal codification. Every French province had its own set of civil laws, some of which were written and some customary. To collect all these and arrange them into a national fabric was a task not beyond the powers of a commission of able lawyers, but to make of them the complete and harmonious whole that was finally produced, genius must have been joined with jurisprudence. The one similar work with which it may be compared is the immortal Code of Justinian. The Code Napoleon has remained the civil law of France over since it is The Code Napoleon has remained the civil law of France ever since. It is ow to be revised. A commissi now to be revised. A commission of sixty-five ruembers has been appointed for the purpose. These commissioners are to search in the legislation of foreign countries to find ideas by which the Code Napoleon may be made more perfect. For, it is to be remembered, the code was adopted by many other nations, who have possibly made developments upon it that may be regarded by the commissioners as improvements. In on it that may be regarded by the commissioners as improvements. In particular the countries known as the Latin nations have appropriated it, and among these are to be included some of the Republics of South America. This wide adoption is due to the fact that it is so rational an arrangement of all the essential laws which govern the relations of persons, the administration of property, and all forms of contract and obligations.

Quesci Civil Cade. Quebec's Civil Code

From the fact that the bar of Montreal makes the centenary an occasion for extelling the Code Napoleon, it is not to be inferred that the Province of Quebec is one of the communities by which that code has been taken over bodily. In that province the French civil law was established by the Quebec Act of 1774, thirty-one years before the work of codification under Napoleon was completed. This practical identity of substance would seem to make the acceptance of the entire Code Napoleon a natural step. But Quebec's law was not based on any collation of the laws of all the French provinces. It was what was known as the custom of Paris, though this was the common law of all France when Quebec was organized as a province of that country. From this beginning Quebec civil law produced its own development and its own level From the fact that the bar of Mon-the custom of Paris, though this was the common law of all France when Quebec was organized as a province of that country. From this beginning, Quebec civil law produced 16 own development and its own local peculiarities. Between 1668, when civil Government was introduced, and 1760, when the province passed under British rule, several ordinances of the French Kings specially applicable to Canada were added. Further, there were the arreta of the Soverigin Council of Quebec between 1774, the year of the Quebec Act, and 1841, the date of the Act of Union. At all events, Quebec's civil law went its own way, though starting from an origin largely the same as that of the Code Napoleon. In time, however, the province found necessity for codifying its civil law Cartier's Reform.

Sir George E. Cartier was strongly in the brief of the Code Napoleon in time, however, the province found necessity for codifying the civil law cartier's Reform.

Sir George E. Cartier was strongly in the brief of the Code they drew up came into force on the first of August of the latter year. As Hon, T. Chase Casgrain has said, the province takes a logitime to provide for it, recommending that the lines of the civil law of it as one of the most complete compendums of the civil law of its own, but, of course, the province is subject to the Oriminal Code of all Canada. Sir John Abbott one said that the French civil law and the English crimnal Raw form the greatest law system on earth. Cartier earned his codinection scheme against the strong opposition of many lawysts and judges. Objection, too, came from the church, whose liberty in vegar to code was referred to Rome, where, after careful examination, it was pronounced the most carefully propared ast of laws sixting in any country.

The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food and blood food—the most helpful thing in the world to you. Its effects are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Yet it is an absolutely certain germicide. The reason is that garms are vegetables;

On every bottle of Liquozone we offer $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. We do this to assure you that Liquozone does kill germs.

And it is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the dissues, too. Any drug that kills germs is a polson, and it cannot be taken internally. Medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease. It is this fact which gives Liquozone its worth to humanity; a worth so great that, after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, we paid $100,000 for the American rights. And we have spent over one million dollars, in one year, to buy the first bottle and give it free to each sick one who would try it.

Then Liquozone, acting as a wonderful tonic, quickly restores a condition of perfect health. Diseases which have resisted medicine for years yield at once to Liquozone, and it cures diseases which medicine for years yield at once to Liquozone, and it cures diseases which medicine for years yield at once and the product for two years, through the first bottle and give it free to each sick one who would try it.

Acts Like Oxygen.

Liquozons is not made by compounding drugs, nor is there any alcohol in it. Its virtues are derived solety from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparams and 14 days' time. This process has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research.

These are the known germ diseases, all that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone attacks the germs, wherever they are. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, as three processors.

A WOODEN INTRODUCTION.

How Gainsborough Got Acquainted
With Thicknesse, Gainsborough, the artist, was born at Sudbury, in England, and there, says Lord Ronald Gower, he designed his first work of art. The orchard of his father's place had been repeatedly plundered of fruit. No one knew who the thief might be until one day young Gainsborough saw there a rough looking man leaning his elbows on the brick wall. He made a sketch of the fellow, and from this portrait the thief was afterward identified.

Later the boy cut out a rough figure from wood and painted it in oils in the from wood side man. The scarecrow was known as "Jack Peartree." It probably represents Gainsborough's first attempt at working in oils.

It was the means of introducing the artist to one of his most intimate friends. Thicknesse, the lieutenant gov-grnor of the Landguard fort, near Ipswich. Thicknesse was one day walk-ing with a friend when he perceived what seemed to be a melancholy faced countryman, with his arms locked together, leaning over the garden wall. He pointed out the doleful figure to his companion, who, it seems, was acquainted with it.

"He has been there all day," said the gentleman. "I pity bim. He must be either mad er very miserable."

Thicknesse insisted on approaching the wretched man and te his delighted surprise found him to be Jack Pear-tree. So charmed was he with Jack that he lost no time in becoming ac-quainted with the author of Jack's be-ing, with the result of a warm and lasting friendship.

The Perspective of Light. Velasquez recognized that light is clastic and illuminates the air; hence he was the first to discover a new kind of perspective. Men long ago had learned to make lines vanish from the eye, to make the figures diminish in eye, to make the figures diminish in size and shape as they recede from the front and to explain the distance by contrasts of light and shade. But he discovered the perspective of light. By the most delicate rendering of the quantity of light reflected from each and every part of the room and the figures and objects in it he has given to the latter the reality of form and to the room its hollowness and distance.—St. Nicholas.

The reacers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment, Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

New Caledonia. Until 1853 New Caledonia was a sort of no man's land. Then both England and France decided to annex it, and orders came to two warships to proceed thither at once. They started the same day. The English captain had heard of the reefs that surround the island, and he was cautious. The Frenchman went shead without regard for the reefs. When the British captain arrived he saw the tricolor flying from a hill, and he was invited to come in and lunch on French soil.

COUGHERS, HAWKERS, SPITTERS.

Public expectoration is against the common law, against the laws of health also. When the throat tickles, that's the time you need "Catarrhozone"; it soothes away the irritation, cuts "out the phlegm and loosens the tight feeling. You'll quickly cure that catarrh and throat trouble with Catarrhozone. It positively prevents new attacks and cures catarrh forever and for all time to come. Don't take our word for it; try Catarrhozone yourself. Once used you'll be delighted with its pleasant and helpful influence.

THE SOURCE OF NEURALGIA.

It runs hand in hand with poor blood and weak nerves. Health runs down, nerves get irritable, neuralgic torture follows. For the moment applications may relieve—but to thoroughly cure, the system must be strengthened with nutritious blood.

What can equal Ferrozone! It increases the appetite, forms abundance of rich, dife-giving blood, supplies nutriment and building material for worn-out nerves. Ferrozone completely cures neuralgia. Every root and branch of the disease it kills. Absolute success in every case. Stop suffering—fifty cents buys Ferrozone. Fifty chocolate coated tablets in a box at any drug store.

The Mexicos Letter Writer.

As many of the lower classes in the City of Mexico can neither read nor write, the Mexican letter writer does a thriving husiness. He writes letters of all kinds—love letters, begging letters—it matters little to him, so that he is paid for his work. WISDOM OF THE WORLD. hold Yourself Up and Show That You

There came a distressed one to me of Vapo-Cresolene. He will say "It's certainly the best way of reaching the throat and lungs, this could be the throat and lungs, the throat and lungs, this could be the throat and lungs, this could be the throat and lungs, th My hair is the plague of my life. It ed it with irons, and it makes every hat I have unbecoming. I hate false hair, but I suppose it is inevitable.

Now, Mrs. So and so is an intimate friend of mine. Her hair would be just like that of this patient if she treated it in the same fashion, but Mrs. So-and-so goes in for hair treatment, which keeps the scalp firm and healthy and makes the most of every hair. She brushes and burnishes it with immense care, and she goes to bed with every lock ("naturally as straight as a die," as she says, laughing) rolled in soft, yielding "curlers" or linen rags. Over all goes a fascinating little lace cap which hides these aids to beauty and in which she looks so pretty. She has had a reputation for baving wavy and curly hair all her life, for she has nev-er rulned it with tongs and has always taken care to wave it nightly in the above manner.

Mesdames, you may not have pretty feet, but if you are properly shed no one will ever know it. You may not lave small hands, but they can be care fully manicured, the texture of the skin narvelously improved and the color reduced. You may not have small waists naturally. Then for goodness' sake don't tight lace and ruin your health in Then for goodness' sake trying to get them smaller. If only women would believe that a small whist is not an absolute necessity! But I must not complain too much on that score. In spite of the nonsense which springs up like weeds, regardless of time or place, regardless of the fact that of later years we have grown wiser, there is no doubt that the new style of stays has brought about a revoution. Many women's waists by judicious slight compression at the sides and freedom allowed in front by the French cut corset are smaller apparently and in reality measure from one to three inches more than they used to do. I have one more piece of advice to give, and give it to tall and short, especially to tall, to fat and thin, to old and young. It was given years ago o a woman who in after life has been elebrated for the beauty of her carriage. It proved a priceless gift, hurled at her youthful head in language "that did not mince matters" by a direct speaking old lady of le haut monde, who knew the world well; Hold yourself up, my dear, and look as though you were somebody."

The girl "was somebody" already that did not matter. She was to loo as though she were. Forty or fifty years later her grateful descendant passes on that invaluable advice.

Dull Woodwork. A few years ago it was conside ed he thing to have all the woodwork in your house highly polished and then rarnished to make it even brighter, but now things have undergone a hange, and all your woodwork and urniture must have the dull finish. This is certainly only a fad, as dull woodwork is far harder to keep elean than varnished wood. According to the New Idea Magazine, in nearly all the new New York houses the dining room table has the dull finish. It looks very pretty when the bare table is set for pretty when the bare table is set for function. Even photograph frames are made of the dull wood. Scrap bankets of dull wood, painted and decorated, with bows of ribben, are exceedingly attractive.

The Harm Neise Bees.

Noise is an andoubted factor in impairing the tone of the nerve centers. Whether we are conscious of it or not, it hurts the brain and has a deafening, dazing, bewildering effect on the mental processes. It tires the brain. To live in a noisy atmosphere is to shorten one's days. Itritability, neurasthenia, insomnia, are common effects. The tympanum or drum membrane of the ear is injured, the circulation of the cerebrospinal fluid is disturbed, and cerebrospinal fluid is disturbed, and the nerve cells themselves suffer as though subjected to mechanical vio-lence. All this noise does if a family doctor is correct in his assertions.

CHILLS PROVE FATAL!

If warmth and circulation are not If warmth and circulation are not promptly restored, chills result in fatal pneumonia. This necessitates keeping Nerviline on hand. Taken in hot water it breaks up a chill in two minutes. By rubbing freely over throat and chest it prevents colds. No liniment so strong, so penetrating, so swift to kill pain and inflammation. Nearly fifty years' record has proved the value of Polson's Nerviline. You should get a bottle today.

When a single woman scoffs at matrimony if is safe to presume there has been nothing doing in her direction.

A hearty assetite does not always indicate a healthy condition. It is not the quantity of feed which is eaten but the quantity of feed which is an similated, which determines the actual value of the food consumed. If the stemach and organs of digestion and autrition cannot convert the food into neurishment, and into blood then the food is an injury instead of a benefit. For all disorders of the stemach and its allied organs of digestion and autrition, there is a certain remedy in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It premoves slogging obstructions. It atrengthens the stomach, neurishes the nerves, enriches the blood and builds up the body. It is a flesh-forming musclemaking preparation, making firm flesh instead of flabby fat. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whiskey or intixicant of any kind, and is equally free from opium, cocaine and all narcotics.

In addition to these conveniences there is an ingenious little furnace in front, having a long flue, through which the flame is driven by an air pump, and a row of hot water kettles, gradually increasing in size to suit the heat of the tongue of flame that passes up the flue beneath, so that they may all be kept boiling. The hot water is sold to passersby, who usually carry with them their teapot and tea, so that they may have a cup at every station. This custom of carrying one's own tea is so common that it is difficult to procure a cup of tea in any of the restaurants, as they do not keep it and do not care to go out of their way to buy it for you. Although the plant may be growing all round and at one's very feet, it is next to impossible to get a cup that a for-eigner would consider worth drinking, and as to using milk and sugar, the CELESTIAL REFRESHMENTS Fanny Little Restaurants in the Chinese Empire.

Places of rest and refreshment are commonly to be found in China at the halting stations on the highways in the interior or at the villages on the banks of the great rivers of China. They frequently take the form of a small mud hut, having a dark interior filled with smoke, tea tables, forms and an oven, where a cook is kept busy baking tea bread and frying puddings baking tea bread and frying puddings for the entertainment of the customers, whose favorite beverage is tea, although when times are good and the weather cold they indulge in something stronger, which often inebriates and that at a very cheap rate. Suggestions had also been made to the Government jooking to the establishment of excerimental stations in the itobacco-growing districts.

Dr. Scroulz asserted that for forty years tobacco had been grown in Grey County, and he was of the opinion there are very few counties where fit could not be successfully cultivated. He suggested that experiments be made to ascertain whether tobacco could not be grown on the graines of the Northwest.

GOOD TOBACCO

Merbert S. Clements M. P., Pays Parliamentary Tribute to the Production of Kent and Essex.

The following discussion of the tobacco raising interests is chipped from the Globe's parliamentary reports of Saturday :

In Committee of Surply the estimates for the Excise Department were considered, cHon. Mr. Brodeur stated, in re.ly rHon. Mr. Brodeur stated, in re, Ty to questions, that the tobacce industry was growing in im, or ance.

Mr. Henderson suggested that if the flavor of the Canadian tobacce could be im, roved there would be a corresponding increase in the consum, tion of that article, and that of the im orded would be reduced. He could not see any reason why Canadian tobacce, grown in fractically the same climate, should not have as fine a flavor as the American tobacce, and suggested that the difficulty must be the result of the curing. The Minister should utilize the expert knowledge at his disposal by devising an improved method of enring the leaf.

Mr. Clements assured Mr. Henderson that Kent and Essex counties froduce tobacce equal to any produced by the United States.

Hon. Mr. Brodeur assured the House that the Government were desirous of doing everything jossible to foster and encourage the most important industry of tobacce culture. He realized that we could groduce an article of excellent quality, and could not see why the Canadian leaf should not be used instead of the Ioreign. While the leaf may not reason why out and chewing should not be composed envirely of Canadian leaf. He thought the preference for the imported article was largely a matter of regulator. Experts have been sent by the Government to inwestigate the methods adected in

BILL RAMO IS RELEASED

Tried on Several Charges of Burglary-the Crown Didn't Press the Prosecution.

It was Thought Ramo Should Have Chance and He Was

William Ramo was given anothe nance to-day. O. L. Lewis pleaded for him and had his Ilea heeded Mr. Lewis urged that Ramo had already served a term of 23 months He was taken by the Windsor Jolice and sentenced when on his road to Chatham for trial. Then lastly Mr Lewis rainted the picture of the young man's life. He had never had a chance. His mother had died when he was very young and his fathe had had to work hard and the boy and man had never had a chance Ramo was arraigned on several charges this morning. He pleaded not guilty to the charge of break ing into George Taylor's cigar store on the 3rd of November, 1895. This was about two years after Ramo escared from jail Howard Grandbois, who had served three years on | radial railroad project are holding this same charge, was a witness today. He said he got the coppers and ripe found on him when arrested from Ramo. If Grandbois' story were true, he served three years for another man's crime. After ten years the evidence was very rusty whether tobacco could not be grown on the trairies of the Northwest.

Mr. Clarke, South Essex, urged the Government to continue the good work of encouragement of the use of Canadian leaf. As an illustration of the improved quality which had been optained, he stated that in his and this case was dismissed with the consent or the Crown. There was also the charge of stealing a pair of interfering boots from Theodore Bourasso. It was to this charge that Ramo had pleaded guilty and he was Ramo had pleaded guilty and he was in jail awaiting sentence when he escaped. There was another charge of burglary, namely, breaking into Scott's & Flitter's store. The Crown decided not to prosecute these cases. Ramo couldn't remember pleading guilty to the charge of steading the interfering boots. The evidence of the case, however, was produced showing where the late C. J. O'Neill had defended him and pleaded for leniency in sentence, Ramo was remanded to jail and was just twelve years getting back to the police court for sentence, county a cigar factory was now manufacturing an excellent cigar from Canadian leaf. that the Windsor police should have let Ramo come through to Chatham since that was the place he was going to when he had consented to come across the line without extradition. The action of the Windsor police assisted in securing Ramo's release.

ARE PROMOTERS AFTER $30,000?

Rumor Circulated that Radial Road Men Are Charter-Mongering.

Public Solicit an Authoritative Statement in View of By-Law

The rumor is persistantly travelling to-day that the promoters or provisional directors of the local out their charter for sale at the sum of $30,000. Such is said to have been the result of the negotiations with the Windsor-Chatham line on Saturday.

Even to prospective local business interests it is said this sum is held

The rumor, if true, is occasioning

In view of the city's interest under the by-law jassed it would seem that some authorizative statement should be made relative to these utterances and the resent rumors.

WILL IMPROVE MAIL SERVICE

Supt. Pyeatt, of the P. M. R. Assures Herbert S. Clements that Arrangements have been Made.

West Kent's Energetic Young Mem-ber with Messrs. Clark and Gordon Succeed in Bringing About Change

Herbert S. Clements, M. P., has reeived an important letter from Superintendent Pyeatt, of the Pere Marquett Railroad, in acknowledg-ment of his protests on behalf of the ment of his protests on behalf of the people of this district against the unsatisfactory mail and train service, notifying him that a change has been decided upon. At the oatset Mr. Clements, along with Mr. Clark, M. P., of Essex, took this matter up vigorously, both with the railroad and the post office department. Mr. Gordon, M. P., East Kent, also lent his sturdy assistance to the movehis sturdy assistance to the move-ment and these three gentlemen have energetically devoted themselves to a remedying of the present unsatisfac-tory conditions.

The news of their success reached

Ottawa on Friday in a letter from Mr. Pyeatt, of the Railroad, to Mr. Clements in which he states that arfrangements have been completed with the Post Office for the hand-ling of mail on trains 1 and 4, 11 and 14, which will be much more satisfac-14, which will be muon more satistactory than at present, as it will admit of mail being distributed from hondon to Walkerville on No. 1 leaving London at 4.45 a. m., and returning leaving Walkerville at 4.30 p. m. This will give mail early in the morning and the people along the line time to answer the same and get it. The rumor, if true, is occasioning much comment and criticism. It is pointed out that at a meeting in Pain Court during the Clements-Stephens campaign, A. B. Carscallen, the eloquent Wallaceburg speaker, sternly arraigned the promoters on the charge of charter-mongering.

The charge elicited a prompt and emphatic denial from two of the local promoters present who stated that their identification with jt was purely on the grounds of public interest and they did not expect to make a haul by the sale of the charter.

This will give mail early in the morning and the people along the morning and the people along the line to anything anything and the people along the line to anything anything and the people along the line to anything anythi

the same as soon as arrangements are completed.

This news will be eminently pleasing and satisfactory to the people of this district, and if Mr. Clements is able further to secure a satisfactory change of time table he will have earned the grateful appreciation of the whole community.
