Minister Of Education Takes Precautions Against Fire

Toronto, March 2.—The appeal of the Prime Minister, Hon, J. P. Whitney, at the close of the sitting on Thursday night for greater activity and less lethargy on the part of the members at the week-end, brought admirable results. A good deal of business was transacted in a short time yesterday. The budget debate goes over till Tuesday and the order paper was tackled with a vim that surprised the old-time habitues of the House.

The Prime Minister himself is an indefatigable worker and he has the happy faculty of rousing the energies of those about him. "We want no hasty legislation," he declared, "but we want no time wasted." So it was a busy Friday afternoon, despite the fact that the Liberal benches were almost empty.

Hon. Dr. Pyne, the Minister of Education, announced that the Education Department is previous by definite regulations for the prevention of any repetition of the recent terrible Mont-real school fire catastrophe in this Province.

Mr. Preston (Brant) drew attention to the disaster in the eastern metro-polis and defined its causes as the lopolis and defined its causes as the location of the kindergarten and junior classes on the upper floor of the building, faulty construction, the absence of adequate fire escapes and the neglect of fire drill.

Hon. Dr. Pyne said the matter had already received the consideration of the Department. It was proposed to provide proper protections in all lines in the regulations. At present these did much in the lines desired and excellent results had followed the train-ple from his lunch pail. He went to the pantry, where he noticed a nice piece of apple pie. He took it with him and after eating it at lunch time, became violently ill. Medical aid was summoned. Atthough his condition for a time was serious, Sinclair went back to work yesterday.

Thaw again brought to court several large packages of letters. His mail seems daily to be growing. He read the letters with activity and made pencil notes upon each. He apparently took no interest whatsoever in the fencing between the district attorney and the alienist.

The insanity of odolescence, parania and the characteristics of "brainstorms" occupied both session, and, when adjournment was taken until Monday morning Dr. Britton D. Evans one of the alienists for the defence, was still under cross-examination.

Leroy Tobey, Esq.,
Chatham, Ont.:

Dear Roy,—Received your two last letters to-day, also box with a muffler in it. It is a fine muffler, but I have never used the other one, and the following week the other at same price.

I have never used the other one, and I have it here good as new. I used it a couple of times and caught such a cold in my head that I never wore it again. No matter how cold it is I have nothing wrapped around my neck, not even a handkerchief, and I find that the best way to keep from getting cold.

After twelve weeks of unusually cold weather the thermometer dropped from 50 below to a thaw in three days. One of those famous chinook winds came from the coast at last change of moon and it has been a continual thaw and warm wind since. I plowed up some loose earth to bank up ice house and have been working at finishing it this week. Monday, the 18th, we are having a bee to put up Tee. I am going to endeavor to put up a good deal, so if there is a summer resort or many campers here we can dispose of some at a profit.

It is generally believed that most of Mr. Mannix place next here that was bought last summer at $70 an acre, has been sold by the real estate agents, who bought it. They had it surveyed last fall. to Canadian Northern. Ottawa, March 1.—The Canadian Northern Ontario Railway Co. bill, to give the company permission to Ottawa, March 1.—The Canadian Northern Ontario Railway Co. bill, to give the company permission to build branch lines in Ontario, was considered again in the Commons Railway Committee yesterday morning. It was discovered that the clause limiting the time for construction covered "the lines of railway which the company is hereby or has heretofore been authorized to construct."

Mr. Emmerson pointed out that the addition of the words, "or has heretofore been" would grant an extension of time to all other lines of the railway granted in previous years to the James Bay Railway Co., such as the line from Toronto to Ottawa and from Toronto to Sudbury. Some of these branches might be outlawed by now. He said the bill appeared to be a surreptitious attempt to renew charters. Dr. Sproule moved to strike out the words "or has heretofore been."

W. H. Moore, for the company, procested against any amendment which would delay the beginning of the construction of the company's line from Ottawa to Toronto, plans for which had been before the Minister for some time. The company proposed also to build a line from Ottawa to for some time. The company proposed also to build a line from Ottawa to Georgian Bay, and he was not prepared to say that without this legislation the company would be able to go ahead.

PLAGUE STONES.

Reminders of the Time of the Great Pestilence in England.

The story of the great plague of ondon is familiar to all readers of history and has been dealt with by many writers of fiction. Even the bypaths of history supply much suggestive matter, while hidden away in churchwardens' and other old accounts are many items that remind us of those days. Here, for example, are two entries from the parish accounts of St. Mary Woolnoth, 1593-4. Item, for setting a crosse upon one Allen's doors in the sicknesse

The crosses were about a foot in length. The crosses served as a caution against entering such houses. In various parts of England the plague stones are silent reminders of the time when epidemics laid low so many inhabitants both in town and country.

A stone in the Derby arboretum bears the following inscription:

"Headless Cross or Market Stone—This stone formed part of the ancient Cross at the upper end of Friar Cate and was used by the inhabitants of Derby as a market stone during the The crosses were about a foot in Derby as a market stone during the visitation of the plague 1665. It is thus described by Hutton in his 'History of Denby."

"1665—Derby was again visited by the plague at the same time in which London fell under the severe calamity. The town was forsaken; the farmers declined the market place, and grass grew upon that spot which had furnished the supports of life.

"To prevent a famine the inhabitants erected at the top of Nuns' Green, one or two hundred yards from the buildings, now Friar Gate, what bore the name of Headless Cross, consisting of about four quadrangular steps five reet high. I knew it in perfection.

"Hither the market people, having their mouth primed with tobacco as a preservative, brought their provisions, stood at a distance from their property and at a distance from their property and at a greater from the town's peo-ple, with whom they were to traffic. ""The buyer was not suffered to touch any of the articles before purchase. When the agreement was finished he took the goods and deposited the money in a vessel filled with vinegar set for that purpose."

The mention of tobacco in the foregoing inscription is a curiosity, showing that the weed was then regarded as a very efficacious preventive.

Winchester suffered much from the plague in 1666. On the downs near the city are numerous curiously shaped mounds which are said to cover the pits into which the dead were cast. When the pestilence raged a prim tive kind of quarantine was practiced. The country folk supplied food, which was placed on a stone outside the city. and in exchange the citizens placed money in a bowl of water. The old plague stone still remains, built into the base of a monument, which bears an inscription as follows: "This monument is erected by the Society of Natives on the very spot of ground from which the markets were moved and whose basis is the very stone on which exchanges were made while the city lay under the scourge of the destroying pestilence in the year sixteen hundred sixty-six. The Society of Natives was founded on the 26th of August, 1669, for the relief of the widows and orphans of their fellow citizens who died of the great plague."

Beneath a spreading tree in the grounds of Tothby House, near Alford, grounds of Tothby House, near Alford, Lincolnshire, is a plague stone. About 275 years ago the inhabitants of Spils-by and the surrounding villages day after day toiled up to the top of Miles Cross hill, which overlooks the wide marsh country, with Alford lying just at the foot.

At the top they left food, etc., for the poor sufferers and took in return money deposited in vessels containing water or other liquid placed on the plague stone. Then the people of Alford came up the other side of the hill for their supplies. Thus the two parties kept well apart.

Munkacsy's Customer It is not generally known that the first patron of Michael Munkacsy, known to the world as the painter of "Christ Before Pilate," was an American, a gentleman from Philadelphia, who passed through Dusseldorf when Munkacsy was a young and strugeling Munkacsy was a young and struggling artist. The American became convinced that the young Hungarian's ple-tures had merit. He bought one, took it to Paris and sent it to the salon, where it was promptly placed and at tracted a great deal of attention.

Ear Piercing.

Miss Skremer—Papa says if I give up my singing lessons he'll give me a pair of diamond earrings. Miss Sharpe—You'vC never worn earrings, have you? Miss Skremer—No; I'll have to have my tars pierced. Miss Sharpe—Oh, I see his idea! He wants to pay you back h your own coin.

The incomplete Letterist.

Hubby—Wife, dear, why are you frowning so over that letter you're writing? Wifey—Oh, I carelessly said everything had to say before I signed it, and now I can't think of a thing for the postscript.

The Proper Side. Farmer—So you've had some experience, have ou? Youth—Yes, sir. Farmer—Well, what side of a cow do you sit on to milk Youth—The outside,—Lon-don Tit-Bit

The Nordheimer

As a rule when a person buys a piano it is not with the intention of replacing it with a new one next month, next year or within five years. It is regarded as a permanent fixture in the home, and the most important feature next to the cwners themselves.

It is evident that great care should be taken to select a piano which will retain its original brilliancy, power and quality of tone for years and years and years. And such a piano is the Nordheimer.'

It has a lasting, permanent tone, as you can prove for yourself if you play on one which has been in the home of a friend for ten, fifteen, twenty years or more.

The "Nordheimer" is perfectly constructed by experts from the finest grade of materials procurable. It is built with the idea of not only satisfying the most critical ear for tone-quality when new, but for retaining its original superb tone, so that it will still satisfy the critical ear in years to come.

Those who own a "Nordheimer" are the only ones who can really appreciate to the fullest seuse the wonderful, pure, sweet, briliant, yet powerful tone of the peerless "Nordheimer" piano. May we not have the pleasure of a talk with you, with the object in view of placing "Nordheimer" in your home?

Our Mr, R. V. Carter will visit Chatham frequently in our interest and will be pleased to furnish you with any information you may desire. Correspondence addressed to him in care of the Garner House will receive careful attention.

In the Northwest.

Winnipeg, March 1.—George D. Woods, president of the Canadian Stock & Grain Co., a prominent member of the Minneapolis and St. Paul bucket-shop fraternity, was arrested last night by Chief of Police McCrea, charged with the theft of $1,000.

J. J. Carrick of Port Arthur alleges that on Feb. 4 he purchased on margin 100 shares of Canadian Copper Co. stock. Recently his account was closed out, presumably for the reason that his margin was exhausted. Investigation has shown that the stock has risen in value from $26 a share to $35. The Canadian Stock & Grain Co., in closing Carrick out, said the stock had gone down to $17.1-2.

The Canadian Stock & Grain Co. opened an office here last September, and has been carrying on an extensive business through the whole of the west, advertising extensively in all parts of the country.

TRAGEDY OF WEST.

Man Dies of Frozen Feet, One Kills Himself, Another is injured.

Battleford, March 1.—A horrible occurrence has been revealed by the investigations of the police following the rumor of tragedy near Eagle Jake, in the German settlement. A settler named Kuscher had both feet frozen, and while being treated in the house of a neighbor named Ryder went insane through suffering, having no medical attendance. He attacked Ryder while the latter was asleep, and nearly murdered him with ah iron barbeating him so that he will be disfigured for life, although the injuries will not prove fatal. The arrival of neighbors saved Ryder's life, and the maniac was overpowered and bound. He was taken to another house, and his sufferings were so terrible that a man named Stubbert, who was nursing him but dared not free him, also went insane and blew out his brains. Kuscher afterwards also died.

The newly elected Town Council latter. His dea aroused in the political situation of East Kent during the past week. On Monday, the Liberals of the riding goes, but there was a noticeable lack of enthusiasm in the day's proceedings. The reason for this may be that the election is still two years away, and the people have not begun to think much about it, or it is more likely explained by the fact that the majority of the Liberals in this intelligent riding are satisfied with matters as they now stand. Mr. Bowyer a one of the most popular away, and the people have not begun Bowyer and one of the most popular in East Kent to-day, and the Government Opposition's talented orathemselves realize this, and while it that they will go through the formality of nominating a man to contest the riding on a strictly Liberal platform, still, no one wonders that they are not very enthusiastic in doing even this.

Another reason for the lack of enthusiasm undoubtedly is the splendid record being made by the Whitney administration. Mr. Whitney's opponents have found it impossible to attack him with any noticeable effect upon any question or policy, and the general feeling is that Mr. Whitney will be given the reins of control as long as he wishes to hold them, providing he lives up to his them. Philip H. Bowyer, M. P. P. Bowyer, while he was elected as the Liberal-Conservative candidate, represents every man in the riding, regardless of party politics. He is today considered one of the strongest men in the Legislature. The Government realizes his strength, even though Mr. Bowyer has found it necausary to disagree with them upon though he sits on the Government side of the House, is not bound by party ties, and who exercises his taining to the general good.

Mr. Gosnell's claims to the position of Liberal standard bearer are in a large measure, very amusing. His chief claim as given out at the conambition to represent the riding in the Legislature. He emphasized the fact that he would lean heavily on the the chief fault found by the delegates at the meeting-his great capaion that the candidate was a "white Kent, proposes to abolish the pollcity for "leaning." Mr. Sturgis' opinpopular chord. The Blenheim delegate undoubtedly gave expression to prevalent sentiment when he said that the nomination was given to Mr. Gosnell because he wanted it, and and no doubt the Opposition will take no one else particularly did want it. kindly to the measure as it's a move Gosnell, but when the returns are announced, he may look back and think that no one was particularly anxious to place him in the field, and therefore he will have no one to blame but himself.

With Mr. Stephen Parnall Sturgis, matters stood a little differently. He was after it with all the energy he possessed, and he had a strong following of enthusiastic supporters. Had he secured the nomination, there is no doubt he would have commenced immediately to work. He would have worked hard—"harder than he would for anyone else"-and his followers seemed to show the same spirit. His faction is very strong in Camden, and their lack of enthusiastic support will mean a serious los to Mr. Gosnell. As Mr. Sturgis said, "they will realize this before they are through with the next election.

Another circumstance worthy of notice, was the absence of any of the Newfoundland Considering a Transatlantic Line.

Transatlantic Line.

Halifax, N. S., March 1.—In the Newfoundland Legislative Assembly Wednesday night Premier Bond proposed the adoption of a contract between the Newfoundland Government and the Messrs. Ochs, capitalists, of London and Paris, providing for the establishment of a short line of transatlantic steamers between Killery, on the west coast of Ireland, and Green Bay, on the east coast of Newfoundland.

The plan also provides for a two-hour railway trip across the colony to Port au Basque, whence a twenty-knot steamer would convey mails and passengers to Gaspe, Quebec, in sum-knot steamer would convey mails and passengers to Gaspe, Quebec, in summer, and Sydney, C. B., in winter. The promoters of the project claim that there would be a saving of 32 hours over any other transitiantic route.

The project must take shape within the years or also all liability on the two years or else all liability on the part of the colony will cease. Should the capitalists carry out their announced plans the Newfoundland announced plans the Newfoundland Government proposes to pay them $75,000 annually for 25 years. It is said that the British, American and Canadian Governments will be asked to assist in establishing the proposed line.

The Messrs. Ochs are given the right to construct a tunnel under the Strait to Belle Isle within eight years; and establish railway connections between a proposed line through Labrador and the Newfoundland Railway.

The Legislature will act on the contract within a few days.

Montreal, March 1.—The Hon. Jacques Bureau, Solicitor-General, was returned yesterday by acclamation in Three Rivers and St. Maurice.

In Richelieu, Adelaid Lancelot, who was chosen by the Liberal convention, was nominated, and is opposed by C. A. Rondeau, Independent-Liberal.

In L'Assomption, the Conservatives nominated Ellie Lemiere, while Dr. Laurier, Conservative Liberal, and Joseph Archambault, Liberal, also were placed in nomination.

In Richelieu, the straight Ministerial candidate is sure to win, but in L'Assomption, should Mr. Archambault persist in dividing the Liberal vote, the result will be doubtful.

DANISH THOUGHT READERS MYSTIFY ENGLAND.

The Zancigs Are Now Performing Marvelous Feats of Supposed Mental Transference-Trick Or Genu-Transmission?—Stead, William Crookes, Sir Oliver Losige Would Be Glad of Enlightenment.

For once England has been obliged to confess that it is completely mystified. Two Danes, it seems, man and wife, under the rather disconcerting name of Zancig, have done the business. This clever pair have set the British metropolis guessing by their marvelous and utterly unexplainable marvelous and utterly unexplainable feats of what our transatlantic cousins are quite sure, you know, to be mental transference. W. T. Stead, who is always open to conviction, no matter what the source, has been keenly interested. Sir William Crookes, foremost in the ranks of science, admits that he would be glad to be enlightened, and Sir Oliver Lodge is equally curious. Lord Rothschild declares that he is "profoundly impressed," and the English nobility "wants to know, you know."

The most amazing feature of the business is that the Zancigs, apparently upright persons that they are, disclaim every suggestion of supernatural aid and will not even admit that telepathy, thought transmission or the possession of a sixth sense has anything to do with their wonderful that there is no witchcraft about their show.

Nevertheless it is all past comprehension. To be explicit, these two persons appear to be able to read each other's mind instantly and with absolute accuracy. No matter what are the conditions, no matter whether or not they are together, or whether or not they are tied in sacks, the process goes on. Whatever the husband sees his wife sees also, and whatever he thinks she divines perfectly.

If this be trickery, it is a royal game. If it be invention pure and simple, the genius responsible for its of a kind never before made public. No one has been able to give a rational explanation of it, and the fangenuity that has hoodwinked the race thus far is worthy of a title loft-rational explanation of it, and the ingenuity that has hoodwinked the race thus far is worthy of a title loft-ier than any to be obtained by mere auccessful trickery.

Alfred Harmsworth believed that he could solve the Zancig mystery. To that end he invited the pair to his office and took the precaution of having present a staff of keen investigators, every man and woman among tors, every man and woman among them alert to discover some flaw in the test. The man, surrounded by investigators, was kept in one room while the woman was locked in another. Then Harmsworth selected another. Then Harmsworth selected the longest word he could find in a German dictionary, showed it to Zancig, and almost instantly, Mme. Zancig wrote the word on a slate. Mr. Harmsworth and his friends could not understand how it was done, and they do not know to this day.

Then Mr. Stead became investigator. He has investigated almost everything in his time and is understood to know a great deal about telepathy, psychometry and various other occult to know a great deal about telepathy, psychometry and various other occult matters. He tried all these things on the Zancigs, but they brought only the most discouraging failure. He took Zancig upstairs, leaving madame in the parlor surrounded by his personal friends. Stead showed Zancig a picture hanging on the wall of a room al friends. Stead showed Zancig a picture hanging on the wall of a room upstairs, and at that very moment madame, in the room beneath, said quietly, "It is the picture of a man hanging on the wall."

Zancig looked at numbers on checks, examined postmarks and all scorts of personal trinkets in the upper part of the house, and the madame, downstairs, restiled off descriptions as if she were looking at the objects. Mr. Stead was completely dumfounded, and he was honest enough to say so. He admitted that the Zancigs had shown him more of the wonders of telepathy than all he had ever learned from his study of the subject.

ders of telepathy than all he had ever learned from his study of the subject.

The Zancigs are Danes by birth Zancig was born in Copenhagen about forty years ago. His wife, who was Agnes Claussen, was also born there. The Zandigs maintain that their knowledge of the power of thought transference, or whatever it may be, dawned upon them gradually. Zancig observed that when he and his wife were sitting at table and he became engrossed in some particular thought his wife would begin to converse on that particular subject without any reference having been made to it. Then she would leave the room and return with books and other articles for which he had not expressed a wish, but which he really did want. Finally she fell into the habit of repeating to him the exact words he had spoken when away from her, besides giving the names and descriptions of all the persons in whose company he had been.

After awhile this peculiar gift became known to their friends and at last they were asked to exhibit it at small social gatherings. They were still doubtful of their powers, but consented to make a test. To their great astonishment they found that the madame's "guesses" were never at fault, and the couple began to attract a good deal of attention. It octract a good deal of attention. It occurred to the Zancigs that they could cultivate this newly discovered field, and they proceeded to do so. They gave themselves up to the practice of the mental feat and made great progress. Before long they had acquired an accuracy which astonished even themselves.

Zancigs do not seem to be conrined that what they are doing is especially wonderful. They are inclined to the belief that it is not beyond the ability of any intelligent person who knows how to develop his latent power in this direction. When comed the ability of any intelligent person who knows how to develop his latent power in this direction. When the couple visited India an old priest sought an introduction, and in the course of the conversation that followed assured the mind readers that they were only on the threshold of their career; that far greater things were to come if they would accept the proper conditions and lead the life of those who are worthy.

The Zancigs were greatly interested and asked the old man to give them some evidence of his authority to speak of these matters. The oriental folded his arms across his frail body, gathered his feet beneath him and almost immediately began to rise in the air. When his body had reached a height of several feet it hung suspended in the air. Zancig believed that he had been measurized and he called out loudly to his wife, who was in an adjoining room. When she entered Mme. Zancig saw the fakir suspended. Her husband concluded that both were hypnotized and seized his cane and thrust it into the space between the floor and the suspended body. This convinced them that there was no mental or optical illusion. According to the testimony of those who have lived in India, this feat of suspension is practiced quite extensively by the native seers. It made a great impression on the Zancigs and convinced them that they still had much to learn.

Girls Should Be Careful Before Inviting Men to Call.

It almost goes without saying that in the matter of receiving calls from young men very young girls must be guided entirely by the wishes of their parents. Girls going to school are not supposed to receive any special attention from either men or boys and are not usually permitted by their parents to receive calls from their boy friends in the evening unless perhaps upon the night preceding the school holiday. when they may see several of their young friends, girls and boys together, but rarely a boy alone.

For older girls there are really no set rules as to how and when they may invite men to call upon them. Much depends upon the manner and place of meeting. A girl does not usually ask a man whom she meets casually for the first time to call upon her. She finds it a better and safer plan to wait until she has met him several times, knows him a bit better and has decided whether or not she would care to include him among her friends. She thus avoids the possibility of placing herself in an awkward position later by being obliged to discontinue his ac-quaintance. Giving pain in any way is always to be avoided as bad form and showing lack of nice feeling.

On the other hand, if she meets a friends and he shows her special courtesy, such, for instance, as ing her to her home after the entertainment, and she realizes by his manner and apparent interest that he would like to continue her acquaint. ance, she may, if she finds him agree able, invite him to call upon her or say when she is thanking him for his attention that she hopes to see him again. If he really wishes to call upon her he will undoubtedly then say so, and if he asks when she will be at home she may tell him when she is usually at home or designate, if he wishes it, a certain time. In the instance of a man and girl being introduced by mutual friends who have specially arranged the meeting through compliment alone to this man and girl, the girl should invite the man to call upon her.

Men usually call between 8 and 9 o'clock when they are making evening calls and should never remain later than 10 o'clock or, at very latest, half past 10.—Pittsburg Press.

at Little Cost. A very pretty corner seat is shown in the illustration. This was made by a young bride of limited means. The seat she painted white to match the rest of the woodwork in the room. She then fastened green dealm behind the seat and finished it off at the top by nailing up a piece of white picture molding. She made the cushion of cheap hair and covered it with green denim. On the picture molding she arranged little cups and saucers, which give a pretty little ouch of color. She made a few ions for the seat from remnants she picked up in the stores for a few cents. So she is now the proud posessor of a delightful corner seat which, owing to her capability, cost almost nothing. - Philadelphia North American.

How a Woman May Succeed. Sitting with folded hands, resigned to a life of railing at fate, is a form of death. Who does not know women who believe that there is nothing for them but keeping on the gray routine of days, with never a hint of grace or glory? You visit them and find them lacking in any charm of dress or manner. They repine about bad health or hard luck, yet all around them you see the reason for that bad health or what they call bad luck. The dust lies thick upon their books and pictures. Their hair is untidy. They lack even the desire for cleanliness. Nothing ever comes to this mood. It repels and drives away the forces that aid us up to the heights, says Woman's Life. We may long for a great many things that may long for a great many things that we feel are beyond reach, but if we put our hand to the nearest task that confronts us the faroff thing comes

Old time fabrics were coarse and tough. They could be rub-bed and pounded and pulled about without much danger to the fiber, but in these days garments must be handled with care. Soaps have been made en by chemists to meet latter day requirements, to do away with board rubbing as much as possible, and it is nothing short of foolish to stand back and refuse to advance with the times by making use of every aid given us by science and invention.—Pictorial 1120日第四日十二日十二日日日

INTERNATIONAL S. S. LESSON FOR TO-MORROW.

Abraham Pleading for Sodom 8, 16-33. Read the chapter.

Golden Text-"Men ought always pray and faint not."

Lot has become tired of tent. life near Sodom, and quit ranching to become a citizen with his sons and daughters; one being married to a Sodomite, and the rest expecting to be, we may suppose. We and Abra-ham camped unser the oaks of Mamra; he has been entertaining three angelic visitors, one being Jehoval angelio visitors, one being Jehovah in human form—compare verses 2, 10, 13, 14—they are on vneir way to per-sonally inspect the moral condition of the city. How would Chatham stand such in pection? Abraham stands before Jehovah' to commune and intercede—our Lord ever liveth to make intercession for -while the other two proceed to God answers Abraham's intercessions in such a way that his faith in the divine merey is greatly increased, although he manifests less and less in Sodom. Abraham's most sincere desire would be to have Lot and his family receive life insuraance from Jehovah, and when ten righteous citizens secures the city's salvation he considers Lot and his household safe; and they were, so prayer was answered. After all, we know not how to pray as we ought, but the Spirit himself maketh in-tercession ler us with greanings which cannot be uttered; and He that searcheth the hearts knoweth what is the mind of the Spirit, bewhat is the mind of the Spirit, because he maketh intercession for the Saints according to the will of God.—Rom. 8, 26, 27. The magic privilege and power to intercede with God on behalf of others is granted to every child of God.

Our boys and girls may become interceding missionaries; the members of some Sunday schools offer prayer every day for foreign lands, their missionaries, orphan children missionaries, orphan children native children in heathen is worse to be a heathen in in Chatham, and a greater disgrace before God and man, than it it was to be a Sodom sinner, "but where sin abounds, grace does much more abound."—Rom. 5, 20.

Quite a serious fire took place on Park street yesterday afternoon, when the kitchen adjoining the house owned and occupied by Mrs. Rouse was burned down. The fire broke out at 2.55, and had got quite a start before the firemen arrived. Part of the roof of the main building was consumed as well as the kitchen, and the total loss is roughly estimated at between three and four hundred dollars, which is mostly covered by insurance. The cause of the fire was an overheated stove.

Express Messengers Slowly Burned Alive

COLLISION

Smith's Falls, March 2.—A head-on collision occurred on the C. P. B. at Mountain Station at 6 o'clock yester-lay morning. No. 6 express, east-cound, which left Smith's Falls at so ciock yesterday morning, crashed into a freight, westbound, on the same track.

The express does not stop at Mountain Station, and it is said was running at fifty miles an hour when the collision occurred about a hundred rods east of that station.

The track is straight at this place, and the crews were able to see the impending danger, and all jumped to save their lives. In this they were fortunately successful.

Engineer Loses Fingers.

Engineer Daniel Hartney, of Smith's Falls, the driver of the express, sustained the most painful injuries, but escaped with the lose of three fingers. He was bruised and suffered slight injuries otherwise, as did all the crew, but the only serious thing is the loss of Mr. Hartney's fingers.

G. McQueen, passenger, Owen Sound, cheek laid open.

Engines Were Telescoped.

The two engines were telescoped in each other, and were practically ruined. The express car next the engine and the baggage car next to that received the full force of the collision. There was a stove in each, and either from these or from the lamps the wreck took fire. In a few minutes both these cars were enveloped in flames. The baggageman, Lesperance, had just opened the door of his car for a minute when the crash came. He was thrown through the opening, and to this, no doubt, owes his life. He was seratched and scarred about the face from plowing through the snow, but he was not badly hurt.

Slowly Burned Alivs.

The express messenger, Wm. Hutchins, and his assistant, Nichol, were less fortunate. They essayed to get out of the car, but the legs of one were caught by some of the wreckage, and he could not free himself. The other succeeded in getting his head and shoulders through the window of the car, but he was caught there and could get no further.

Immediately these two cars took fire. The two unhappy men, thus pinioned down, saw the flames surrounding them and rapidly coming nearer and nearer to them. They cried out

AN AMATEUR SHOW

The western comedy drama, The Life in Missouri," which was put on at the Opera House westerday and will be presented to the people again to-day, is making a decided hit. For an amateur show, it is without a doubt the best which has been seen in Chatham for a long time. The specialties which were put on between the acts at the matinee yesterday and at last night's performance were all excellent, and those taking part had to respond to several encores.

Nelson Parker, the great buck and wing dancer, was exceptionally funny, as was Harry Pleasence, the ballad singer.

SILVER BIRD has no indebtedness

SILVER BIRD has no indebtedness; there are no incumbrances against the property or stock of the company. The capitalization of THE SILVER BIRD CO-BALT MINES, LIMITED, is but $1,500,000, par value of the shares $1,00 each, fully paid and non-assessable, with 500,000 shares in the treasury. The first allotment of 200,000 shares are now offered to the public for subscription at 15 CENTS PEK SHARE.

Considering the intide location of the property, development done, results obtained, low capitalization and the large amount of shares in the treasury, this is impuestionably one of the best bargains (if not the greatest bargain) that has been offered in Cobalt mining shares.

ed to the public for CENTS PER SHARE.

ssion 6, Coleman.

SILVER B

About eighteen months ago there were several Cobalt companies organized, and their shares offered for subscription in Cobalt and near-by towns. Many of the laborers, clerks and other wage-earners, being on the ground, manifested their faith in the camp by placing their earnings in sums varying from $100.00 to $1,000.00 in these shares. There is not a single exception known where these shares have not advanced from 100 to 10 times the first price. This seems almost like a fairy tale, but it is the truth. There are many men who can be seen every day walking about the uneven streets of Cobalt who eighteen months ago were known as common day laborers, working for $2.00 per day, who are now actually worth from $50,000.00 to $100,000.00, all gained from pinning their faith in Cobalt and placing their savings in Cobalt mining stocks.

We are now offering for public subscription the first allotment of 200,000 shares at the low price of 15 cents per share. Now, just think of it! Compare this price with the price of the Colonial, only a stone's throw away, now selling at $3.50 to $4.00 per share, at a valuation of about four million dollars. Compare it also with the stock of the Right of Way, selling at from $7.00 to $8.00 per share. If the O'Brien mine was an incorporated Company to-day and offered for sale its stock would undoubtedly bring on the open market $10 00 to $12.00 per share on the capital of a million and a half. We have been informed from a trustworthy source that the ore blocked out and in sight in the Timmins mine is estimated at from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000. We venture to say that if this property were incorporated for $10,000,000 and placed upon the market, it would sell for $2.00 per share. It should be understood that we are in no way endeavoring to depreciate the values of the Colonial, Right of Way, O'Brien or Timutins stocks or properties, for, indeed, we believe they would be bargains at those prices and valuations. We are only endeavoring to show that Silver Bird, which is located in close proximity to these mines, is at

In comparison with those valuable properties, positively the greatest and best purchase that has ever been offered in the Cobalt camp.

The safest and best purchase in the whole Cobalt camp to-day, considering capitalization, location, work done, results obtained, and price of the stock. There has never been a stock offered in the Cobalt district, from the opening up of the camp to the present day, that could compare with it when taking these points into consideration. Silver Bird is situated directly in the centre of the most active operations, and is surrounded by some of the most wonderful producing siver mines the word has ever krown.

One of the highest recommendations for the shares of Silver Bird is the fact that the investors at Cobalt and Haileybury are buying heavily of these shares. Within the last several days we have received orders from investors in that section for more than 40,000 shares. The employees of the Nipissing, the O'Brien and the Red Rock are buying these shares. Silver Bird is situated between and close to these mines, and these miners should know what they are buying.

Now, just consider for a moment! Here are men right on the ground, employed on the properties that surround and are in the immediate vicinity of Silver Bird, placing their money in these shares at the present market price—15 cents. THESE MEN ARE MINERS. They know the property. They can see Silver Bird every day. They are in a position to know whether these shares are a bargain or not. It is no trouble to see the property, as it is only about 15 to 20 minutes' walk from the railway station or postoffice at Cobalt to the Silver Bird mine.

Many people are visiting the property, and we do not know of one exception where they have not purchased these shares after once examining Silver Bird. Just recently a gentleman claiming to be a mining engineer and mineralogist came into our office, stating he was just from Cobalt and had made an examination of Silver Bird Property. He placed his order for 20,000 shares for himself and friends. This speaks for itself!

Now, a word to investors : Buy the shares of Silver Bird at the present first allotment price of 15 cents. Buy all you can of these shares. Place your faith in the most wonderful mining district the world has ever known. Back it up with all the money that you can see your way clear to invest. You will never regret it, but will always rejoice.

WATCH Silver Bird.

Silver Bird will be paying divi-dends equal to its present purchase price within the next year on every share of its stock.

Invest your money in Silver Bird, the greatest bargain that has ever been offered in the Cobalt camp.

and mining men who are interested in properties at Cobalt: Why do you sell Silver Bird at 15 cents? It looks to us too cheap; you might as well sell it at 30 or 40 cents; it as well sell just as fast, and would not be too high. Our answer to all has been: We are strongly recommending Silver Bird as the best investment that has been offered in the Cobalt camp. We are saying to our friends and clients: It is worth more money; it is sure to advance,

We want to be able to meet these friends and clients of ours in months face to face; we want them to smile and give us the glad hand. We want them to say to us: "You gave us the right advice on Silver Bird; you have made us some money." "We want you to do all our brokerage business."

That is why we are selling Silver Bird at 15 cents, and the reason it is meeting with such a big sale is the more Silver Bird is investigated the more evident it becomes to investors that we are not misrepresenting, but giving them his map shows the operating and working mines in the most active portions of Coleman, Buck and Lorraine Townships, narked, the shaft houses indicate most accurately the exact location of the working mines. The map is drawn on the san ap of the Cobalt district. Silver Bird will be found in the centre of the map. There are other mines North, South and purpose being to show the location of Silver Bird and other properties surrounding and adjacent theseto.

Cobalt LORRAINE

Within the past year you could have purchased Silver Queen at 80 cents, and that if you had done so you could now sell it at $2.10?

Don't you remember that you could have bought Buffalo within the past year at $1.00, and if you had a few shares of it to-day you could sell it at $3.50 per share without any trouble?

And now, again, don't you remember the Temiskaming & Hudson Bay Company offering their shares at 40 cents and begging the dear public to take it? Perhaps you didn't buy any of it, but if you did you could get $200.00 to-day for every 40 cents that you put into it?

Now, again, it has only been some two or three months since you could have bought Nancy Helen at $1.00. Perhaps you have some of it. If you have you can get $2.50 per share for it to-day.

Less than one year ago you could have got Nipissing at $4 per share, and if you had it to-day you could $12.00 per share.

could get $12.00 per share.

The same can be said of the Colonial, the Right of Way and other shares. If you had bought them at their first issue you could sell them to-day at from 300 to 700 per cent, advance.

If you have not got any of these stocks referred to above, perhaps it is because some wise friend or neighbor advised you not to buy. Perhaps you went to some good and wise friend and said, "What do you think about buying this stock or that stock?" Perhaps he said to you, "Well, I don't know about this Cobalt proposition; there may or may not be silver up there. If I were you I would not buy."

Now, are you going to go to your friend again and ask him whether you shall buy some of the first issue of Silver Bird at 15 cents per share, or are you going to back your own judgment? Here is the cheapest and best buy that was ever offered in the camp, and at the first issue price of 15 cents per share—instide property as much me are were neglected as the companies of which we have written at the time that side property as much so as were any of these other companies of which we have written at the time they side property as much so as were any of these other companies of which we have written at the time they were placed upon the market.

Use your own judgment. Be your own money-maker. Don't discount your own business ability. Your own judgment will tell you that Silver Bird is a purchase. Look at the map and see where it is. Your own judgment will tell you it is bound to advance in price. Why hesitate longer? Why not get in on the ground floor and make some money? The first allotment of 200,000 shares is not going to last forever, the way it is going. The best evidence as to whether Silver Bird is a bargain or not is the fact that we are receiving many reservations from Cobalt.

We want to call to your mind this fact: If you had placed $500 in Temiskaming & Hudson Bay at its first issue price of 40 cents per share you would now have the neat little fortune of $250,000 at the present market value, and still, if you had bought $500 worth of this stock at 40 cents per share, perhaps your legal adviser or your kind, wise neighbor or friend would have laughed at you at the time you purchased it, and told you you had thrown your money away. Now, don't understand us as inferring that by putting $500 into Silver Bird it will be worth $250,000 within the next year. We don't mean to say that. Of course, it is possible, but we don't claim it will positively do it. We are only drawing an example of how foolish it is for one man who thinks an investment is a good one asking another man, who knows nothing at all about the investment whatever, whether he thinks it would be well for him to make the investment. We know from personal knowledge that many investors have been kept from investing in the first issues of Cobalt stocks, and who would have made thousands of dollars simply because some one else advised them to keep out of it. We claim that the greatest profits are made by investing when the first issues are first placed upon the market. Now is the accepted time and the golden opportunity in Silver Bird. We firmly believe that Silver Bird will sell in the open market within the next six months at a dollar a share or more. We have come to this conclusion after having had the property thoroughly examined by competent and able mining men of years of experience. Silver Bird will never sell a penny less than it is offered to-day.

We have mentioned the great advances that occurred in Temiskaming & Hudson Bay, in the Nancy it is offered to-day.

We have mentioned the great advances that occurred in Temiskaming & Hudson Bay, in the Nancy Helen, McKinley-Darragh, Silver Queen and the Buffalo. We want to call your attention to the fact that Silver Bird is not as far away from the original discovery made by La Rose, on the railway at the point known as the Timmins mine, as these properties are. Let us again call your attention to the fact that known as the Timmins mine, as these properties are. Let us again can your accention. Silver Bird is on a direct line with these properties and other properties that have developed far beyond

There is no question about it! This is one of the greatest opportunities, taking everything into consideration, that has ever been offered in the Cobalt camp.

Don't get the foolish idea that there is going to be any permanent depreciation in Cobalt mining shares or properties. Cobalt is only in its infancy. Within the present year Cobalt is going to see the greatest boom it ever had—for that matter the greatest boom that has ever occurred in mining shares on the American continent. Every indication points to this; besides, the development and production justify this assertion. The deeper the shafts are sunk the richer the ore becomes. The older the camp the further the developments are spread out from the original discovery.

We believe that NOW IS THE TIME TO MAKE MONEY IN COBALT, and within the coming year our judgment will be fully carried out in this respect

POOR BABY'S FACE ITCHED TERRIBLY

Face and Neck Covered with Inflamed Skin — Suffered Terribly -Mother Took Her to Doctors and Colleges to No Avail - Lost Faith in Medicines — Friend Suggested Cuticura Remedies and

CHILD IS NOW THE PICTURE OF HEALTH

"My baby's face and neck were covered with itching skin similar to eczema, and she suffered terribly for over a year I took her to a number of doctors, and also to different colleges to no avail. Then Cuticura Remedies were recommended to me by Miss G., who was telling me how they helped her. I did not use it at first, as I had tried so many other remedies without any favorable results. At last I tried Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Gintment, and Cuticura Resolvent Pills, and to my surprise noticed an improvement. After using three boxes of the Cuticura Olintment, together with the Soap and Pills, I am pleased to say she is altogether a different child and the picture of health, and now I have a firm belief in Cuticura Remedies and would not be without them in the house. I will gladly let you publish this testimonial as I, would like others to have the same benefit that we did, and you may be sure I will recommend them strongly to everybody I know and to those I don't know, too. PAUL'S HAPPY EXPERIENCE

Could Do Nothing Else Than Preach the Gospel Because He Had the Divine Call and Determined to Followalt-Consciousness of This Call Will Impel All Who Receive It to Preach Christ.

Entered according to Act of Parliament of Can-ada, in the year 1907, by Frederick Diver, To-ronto, at the Dept. of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Entered according to Act of Parliament of Canada, in the year 1907, by Frederick Diver, Torono, at the Dept. of Agriculture, Oitawa.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 24.—The preacher gives in this sermon an ideal of a consecration to the work of preaching the gospel and of the obligations arising from a consciousness of a divine call. The text is I Corinthians, ix, 18, "Woe is unto me if I preach not the gospel."

In the Pitti palace of Florence is a wonderful picture, supposed to have been painted by Michael Angelo, called the "Three Fates." There sit the three sisters of mythological fame—Clotho, spinning the thread of life; Lachesis, holding the thread of life; Lachesis, holding the thread of life; and Atropos, with her long, sharp shears, cutting the thread of life. It is thought that when Michael Angelo painted this picture he used the same model for all the three faces. Whether that is true we know not, but one fact about this picture we know—it is a most impressive and suggestive picture. The artist has depicted three women at their daily tasks, going on in their work serenely, remorselessly and absolutely independent of all outside influences by which they may be surrounded. When you watch those three faces you involuntarily say: "Yes, I can understand how men who did not recognize God's hand in the government of the world may have said as they looked at this picture: They fates are ruling our lives. They meet us at the cradle. They guide us through childhood's hours. They grow for us the orange blossoms of the marriage altar. They lower the bars of the great fields of usefulness in which we are to labor. They plant the trees out of which our coffins are to be made. If we heed their commandments, we shall do our work well. If we turn a deaf ear to their behests, then unutterable misfortune and failure will be ours. There the fates sit, spinning our thread of life, holding our thread of life about them, and they believed they would never get away from the place of the the life those fates had made for them. Some Sometimes men with this belief tried to avoid their mission in life, just as men in our day sometimes try to evade the duty to which God has called them. But whenever they do so these men are unhappy in their work and do not make the most out of their lives. They are like the late Henry S. Frieze, the beloved Latin professor of Michigan university. God never meant him to be a Latin professor. He was born to be a musician. All his desires seemed to call out "Let me linger by the piano keys." President Andrew D. White once gaid of him. Though it has been my good fortune to hear all the leading pianists of my time. I have never heard one who seemed to interpret the masterpleees more worthily. I have always insisted that had he lived in Germany he would have been a second Beethoven. So passionately was he devoted to music that at times he sent his plano away from his house in order to shur temptations to abridge his professorial work." We find men like Henry Simmons Frieze in every department of life. They are like John Tyndall, who tried to be a civil engineer when he was meant to be a physician when God intended him to be a physician when God intended him to be a minister. They are like James Russell Lowell and Walter Scott, trying to be lawyers when God meant them to be poets and literary men. Happy, thrice happy, are the men who allow the inward tendencies of their minds and hearts to develop along the lines for which they were born and for which God equipped them.

Now, Paul in the words of my text is glorving in the fact that he hearts.

Now, Paul in the words of my text is glorying in the fact that he has consecrated his brain and body and Is glorying in the fact that he has consecrated his brain and body and soul to the work God had intended him to do. He seems to say in this chapter: "Some people think I sacrificed my joy and pleasure when I gave up my life to gospel preaching. Why, sirs, I could do nothing in life if I tried. My greatest enjoyment in life is not to be found outside of the gospel ministry, but inside. Why, sirs, if I were not allowed to preach Jesus Christ I would be the most miserable of all men." Then he uses these words of my next: "Woe is unto me if I preach not the gospel of Jesus Christ." I want to show you that Paul was one of the happiest of men because he was allowed to be a missionary of Jesus Christ and that he would have been one of the most miserable of men had he not surrendered all his energies—body, mind and soul—to be a flaming evangelist of the cross.

Paul had an absorbing passion to preach the gospel because, in the first place, he had a revelation of the divine personality of Jesus Christ. He could never get away from his Damascus road experience. He had felt the Christ touch. He had stood face to face with Jesus. He had seen Jesus. He had talked to Jesus. He had heard Jesus talk to him No sooner did this divine revelation come than there sprang up in him a longing desire to go forth and tell to the world what he had seen and how his Christ could become the world's Saviour. Paul's Damascus experience was like that which some of us have had during our past lives. It may have been during some revival services in the village church of our boyhood days cr it may have been during a season of awful siokness or when we buried helious sin that Christ appeared un-to us. We can remember it as yester-day. Jesus rose up before us as he came to Psul, saying, "I am Jesus whom thou hast persecuted." And so realistic was the divine revelation that no argument could ever prove to us that Jesus himself did not appear unto us as he appeared unto Paul on the Damascus road.

us that Jesus himself did not appear unto us as he appeared unto Paul on the Damascus road.

Nor is Paul the only man who has had this revelation of Jesus Christ. Scores and scores of eminent Christians have had it. Luther had it, and Wesley had it, and Finney had it, and Thomas Chalmers had it, and John Newton had it. They have had it the same as many of us have had it. The greatest trouble with many of us in Christian work is that we are not obedient to the heavenly vision. We do not say with Paul, "God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of Jesus Christ." We are trying to teach men lessons for this life, but we do not emphasize and keep re-emphasizing the essential doctrine that through the blood of Jesus and in no other way can we be truly cleansed of our sins. We have had this revelation come to us, but we have been pushing it more and more into the background of our lives.

A young minister once said to Mr.

A young minister once said to Mr. Moody: "What makes the difference Moody: "What makes the difference between your success and mine? Either you are right and I am wrong," or I am right and you are wrong." "Well," said Mr. Moody, "I do not know what is the difference unless you tell me, for I have never heard you preach." The minister replied: "You make a great deal out of the death of Christ, and I do not make anything out of it. I do not think it has anything to do with the gospel. I preach about the life and not about the death of Jesus." "Well, said Mr. Moody, "what do you do with this: 'He hath borne our sins upon the tree?' What do you do with this: 'He was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities, and with his stripes were we healed?' What do you do with this: Without shedding of blood there is no remission?'" "Oh," answered the minister." I do not preach on those passages!" "What do you preach?" Well, he answered, "my sermons are moral essays." Then Mr. Moody replied, "My friend, if you take the blood out of the Bible it is all a myth to me." "But," answered the man, "I think that the doctrine is untrue." "Then," said Mr. Moody, 'I advise you to get out of the ministry very quick. I would not preach a sham. If the Bible is untrue, let us stop preaching and come out at once and attack it. But if these things are true, and Jesus left heaven and came into the world of season." So say all true ministers of Jesus Christ.

But there was another fact besides that revelation on the Damascus road which was driving Paul forward as a minister of Jesus Christ. All men who are converted to Jesus Christ. Many men who wear the black cloth of the clergy would make a far better success in building a brick wall than they do in expounding the word of God from a pulpit. I have a great deal of sympathy with that shrewd father who, when his son came to him mean Freach Christ. They meant for you 'Plough corn.' God meant you to be a farmer. He never cut you out to be a minister."

There is no profession, as I well know, about which so many mistakes are made as about the ministry. Young men, full of zeal, full of the desire to save souls, full of ambition to serve God, all of which aspirations are laudable, rush into the ministry without considering whether they have the talents needed for success in that sphere. Many a man who would have made an excellent lawyer or physician or stockbroker becomes an inefficient minister, and, as a hunorous professor once said "rushes against the pulpit and stuns himself for life." But there never could have been any doubt of Paul's vocation. He had all the gifts and qualities that are needed to make a man successful in winning souls.

Paul was more than silver tongued. What he said was just as marvelous as the way he said it. Jean Baptiste Massillon was the greatest preacher France ever produced. The proud King Louis XIV. paid him the greatest compliment that can be given to any messenger of Jesus Christ. He said, "I have heard many talented preachers in my chapel before and was much pleased with them, but every time I hear you I feel much displeased with myself." Great was the pulpit eloquence of a Massillon. But greater, far greater, was the logical power of the gospel message he brought to the French court. After his sermons had been published Voltaire, the great skeptic, used to always keep one of the volumes upon his study desk, declaring that they were the words of "the preacher who best understeed the world, who had the eloquence of the academician, the brilliance of the wit and the logic of the philosopher." So with Paul's writings: He was not only an orator and an organizer and an ecclesiastical statesman, but a powerful and convincing writer. His epistles will be read by intelligent men for all time. These powers he held as a trust for God, and he seems to say: "I must preach. I must be a preacher of Jesus Christ on acco

Woe is unto me if I preach not the gospel." You say, "if Paul had all these characteristics I do not wonder that he should want to preach the gospel. No wonder that every moment that he was not presenting Christ to some one he should feel that those were wasted moments. But I am not a Paul. I am not a John Mitchell Mason nor a Jean Baptiste Massillon. I am as dumb as a sphinx whenever I stand upon my feet before an audience. Perhaps you are right, my

If you cannot speak like angels,
If you cannot preach like Paul,
You can tell the love of Jesus,
You can say he died for all.

Perhaps you can say this as a consecrated nurse, like Florence Nightingale. Perhaps you can sing it as a singing evangelist, like Philip Phillips or Ira D. Sankey or P. P. Bliss. Perhaps you can pray it as did your loving, gentle, Christ-like mother. I do not know what your talent may be, whether it is the tongue of a John Summerfield or the pen of a Clay Trumbull. But one fact I know—that you have a talent, and, like Paul, you must consecrate all that talent to the service of Jesus Christ. "Woe is unto me if I do not surrender all my talents, body, mind and soul, for the spreading of the gospel."

Would that we all, like Paul, might be willing to surrender every talent that we have of body, mind and soul, to the service of Jesus Christ! God cannot ask of us to do any more. He has a right to ask of us to consecrate as much as that. There is a story told that many years ago a troop of German cavalry was on the march. The captain halted at the home of an old Moravian. When the door was opened he said: "Father, show me a field where I can set my soldiers a-foraging. We must have food." The old man said: "All right, my friend. Follow me." So he took his staff and led the soldiers on for about a mile, and they came to a fine field of barley. "There is just the field we want," said the captain. "Let us stop here." "Have patience," answered the old man. "I will show one which will suit your purposes just as well." So he led the troops on about a quarter of a league farther until they reached another field of barley. After the soldiers had gathered the grain the captain turned to the old man and said: "Father, this will do. But the field we passed had better grain than this. Why did you bring us to this field?" "Because," answered the old man, "the other field was not mine, and this is." Beautiful! It is the child of God taking Jesus by the hand and leading the Saviour to his fields and saying: "Here, Master. Here are my fields, take them. Here is my voice, use it here is my hand, let it work for thee. Here is my hand,

There is just one more thought, and then I am done. I believe that Paul was intensely and agonizingly anxious to preach the gospel of Jesus Christ because of his years of wasted gospel opportunities. He was as some of us are. He did not give his heart to God in his youth. For years he opposed the teachings of Jesus. He ridiculed the miracles as shams and trickeries. He may have clapped his hands in joy when he heard of Christ's trial and crucifixion. After the crucifixion he gave up some time to persecuting the followers of the lowly Nazarene. "Oh," I think I hear him say after his conversion. There is just one more thought, and gave up some time to persecuting the followers of the lowly Nazarene. "Oh." I think I hear him say after his conversion, "if I can only live long enough to undo some of the awful results of those persecutions! Oh, if I can only live long enough to go into those cities where I have derided him! My Lord and my Christ, will thou not let me live long enough to testify for thee?" "Woe, woe, wee, wee, is unto me if I preach not the gospel." Oh, my friends, do you wonder that Paul said he was the chief of sinners? Do you wonder that in agony he cried out in his letter to the Corinthians, "Woe is unto me if I preach not the gospel?" After years spent in stifling the gospel invitation, when at last you come to kneel at the cross, cannot you ery out as did Paul: "Lord, receive me, the chief of sinners. Lord, Lord, give me an opportunity to undo the wrong I have done thee. Woe, woe, is unto me if I preach not the gospel of Jesus Christ.""

Christ."

One night in an eastern city an earnest preacher was making his closing plea. He swept his hand over the audience as he said: "There is a murderer in this audience. The Lord has sent me to bring him to Jesus. Will you receive him?" A man arose and said: "Yes, I am a murderer! I am here for this message. I killed a man fifteen years ago." So to-day I am geing to here would.

a rose and said: Yes, I am a murderer! I am here for this message. I killed a man fifteen years ago." So to-day I am going to have my leason come true. If there is a blasphemer among you the Lord has sent me to tell him that he may yet become a preacher of the gospel.

"Oh, no." says the blasphemer, "I am not to be a minister of Jesus Christ! Why, I have despised Christ. I have persecuted him. I have done all I can to drive back his influence." Yes, my friend, I know that you are even now blaspheming Christ. But you are sold the said of the gospel. You are foul, afterward to be known as Paul. Your hair is gray. You are over forty. But you are fighting against your better and your nobler self. Five years ago you talked with some Stephen. You were confounded when he presented to you the facts of the gospel. You almost then gave your heart to Christ, but you have been fighting, fighting, against that belief. Ever since then you have been fighting back the call to go and work in God's vineyard. This is the moment when you are standing face to face with Christ. This is the supreme moment of your surrender. Blinded Saul, you are to become the missionary Paul. Go forth, thou blasphemer! Go forth, I say, to thy martyrdom. Go forth to thy persecution. Rome awaits thee on earth, but a heavenly coronation is ahead. To save souls for Christ is from henceforth to be thy absorbing passion.

SHOT GRIZZLY BEAR

called on acting Governor Lithgow the other morning to ask for aid. The old man had been in a fight with a bear, and was injured.

Far in the Arctic wilderness beyond the Rockies, Roderick and his little boy, several months ago, met a giant grizzly. The father had his rifle, and gave fight to the mammoth brute. The animal was wounded, and Roderick went up to him. The animal arose, made a lunge for the man, struck him with his powerful arms, and furiously endeavored to snuff cut the life of the Indian.

The old man's little son, who had stood by, stole up close to the raging bear, and sneaking back awaited his chance. When the time came the little fellow, with lion heart and nerve of steel, drew a steady bead. It was a trying time. To the boy it was a most desperate test of whether or not he should save his father and perhaps also himself. There was no time to meditate. When the bead was drawn the little warrior hesitated not. His steady forefinger bent over the trigger. There was a sharp crack and the grizzly fell back. The big animal dropped in his tracks.

Then the younger rushed to the side of his father. He drew the bleeding man aside and staunched his wounds, and rushing to the brook got water and bathed the injured man. With all the loving kindness that the filial heart can know did the little fighter stand by his injured father. Then when the man could arise, the lad led him to the tribe. There the Indians made a rude splint and set the broken arm, and from the leaves of the trees and otherwise they prepared their crude medicines.

Weeks, weary weeks, crept by and Roderick grew better. In the meanime time the little heaves of the read and set we heave a stand subteme the little heave we say a stand and set the little heave we was a stand and set the little heave the litt

Roderick grew better. In the meantime the little boy was exalted among his people. He it was who had killed the great bear and had brought the claws back in triumph. The skin of the huge grizzly was hung by the family tent, and there tanned by the squaws, and bucks and women told tales of the bravery of the little man.

The other day old Roderick came with the sad tale to the Governor that broken and injured as he is he no longer can work and earn his way like the energetic, able-bodied men of his tribe. And, to add more to his sorrow, his little son, the saviour of his life in the fight with the great bear, is dead. The little fellow took ill not long ago, and died in his wilderness home at the head of the Blackstone River, in the wilds of the derness home at the head of the Blackstone River, in the wilds of the Rockies. The old father came to Dawson, 200 miles over ice and snow, and through the untrodden forests, with the Peels who arrived last week with the first meats, caribou skins, and beadwork of the year from their re-

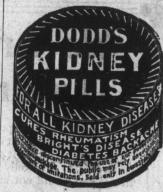

Chief Isaac, of the Moosehide tribe, Chief Isaac, of the Moosehide tribe, and Chief Julius, of the Tanana tribe, accompanied Roderick to the Governor, and led in the big pow-wow which followed the smeking of the pipe of peace. It is likely, since the Peels are on British soil, and Dawson is their nearest post, that they will be given every consideration, and the old fellow given what treatment is needed. The work of the Indians in putting a splint on the broken arm was in itself something of credit to sons of the wild.

Good Land In the North.

Reports have been received by the Department of Lands, Forests and Mines regarding the work of surveyors in northern Ontario during the ors in northern Ontario during the past season. In all 35 townships in the Districts of Algoma and Nipissing have been outlined or surveyed. Messrs. Speight and Van Nostrand located the boundary lines of eight townships in the former district, while Surveyor Niven performed a similar task between the Missanabic and Metagami Rivers. Both parties found that from 75 to 90 per cent. of the land could be converted into excellent farms. In Nesbitt and Aubin, ladd out by E. D. Bolton, of Listowel; Dargavel and Lennox, surveyed by Surveyor Hutcheon, Guelph; Reid and Carnegie, laid out by Surveyor Fitton, Orillia, and in Lucas, Duff and Caider, where the work Carnegie, laid out by Surveyor Fitton, Orillia, and in Lucas, Duff and Caider, where the work was done by Messrs. Cavana and Watson, there are good prospects for the agriculturists, as a clay and clay loam soil prevails. Sydere, surveyed by J. W. Tyrrell, is heavily wooded, and is only a medium one, therefore, for agricultural purposes. The Townships of Bradburn and Beck, laid out by Mr. Fitsgerald, of Peterborough, are in part timbered with spruce from 12 to 16 inches in diameter. About fifty per cent. of the two areas would be suitable for immediate settlement. It is supposed that the Grand Trunk Pacific will pass through the Township of Clute, which was surveyed by Mr. Galbraith, of Bracebridge, and it is estimated that 85 per ceut. of it will be suitable for the farmer. Fournier and Ottoway Townships were learned by O. L. S. Code, of Alvinston, to consist of from 70 to 80 per cent. of fertile land. The former is covered with bush. J. J. Newman, Windsor, did the work in the Townships of Marathon and Sherring, in the district of Nipissing. The soil there is of fertile loam, with spruce, poplar, deal tamarac and balm of Gilead, J. H. Smith found Sweatman and Stimson Townships in the great clay belt to be of good agricultural and Stimson Townships in the great clay belt to be of good agricultural land, fairly well timbered and water-ed.

A Whale Headed Stork. Among the many curious and un-usual animals which have been found by Sir Harry Johnston, the African explorer, in the Uganda protectorate, is the whale headed stork. The bird resembles the common stork in every-thing but the head, which is anything but beautiful. The beak is enormou and gives the stork a peculiar, whale-like appearance. It is rather a puzzle to scientists to discover the reason for this enormous appendage. The whale's mouth is built to catch a multitude of small fish, and possibly the stork's beak may have been evolved by the same agency.

At least, that is what Miss Williamina Burnett and Miss Ginevra Falkenburg assert, and, having practiced this self denying ordinance for something over a decade, they have a right to an opinion. Williamina is forty, Ginevra forty-three, but neither is said to look a day over twenty-five and the two, though not related, have lived together like sisters for twenty years. These singular persons walk five miles to work every morning, work eight hours at some manual la-bor in the city of Pasadena and then walk five miles back, to dine on grains, fruits, raw vegetables (skins and all) and nuts. Bread they c er a curse to humanity. Eggs they look on with acute suspicion, Potatoe are dropsical, diseased growths. Meat is a crime. Salt, pepper, sugar and spices? Never! There are no plates or dishes or glasses on their table. The fruits, nuts and grains, which are all they have to eat anyway, are served in baskets and eaten—probably—with the fingers, while not even water is drunk except between meals. The repast finished, Ginevra and Williamina go to bed at once, for they regard exercise after a hearty meal as a most baneful practice, and from dark to daylight they sleep on cots near open windows. In their quest after nature these "girls" have discarded many superfluities of feminine apparel and have built for themselves a charming one room bungalow at a cost of $350. People laugh at them, but they laugh back, and from all appear ances Williamina and Ginevre have Papering Whitewashed Walls. Rooms whose walls have been white-washed or calcimined present a diffi-cult problem when one wishes to paper them. The usual method is to "size" the walls with a sticky preparation of molasses, vinegar, milk or glue to "kill" the lime so that the paper will stick. Here is a much better way that has proved perfectly satisfactory. Simply wet up the usual paste with vinegar instead of water and add 5 cents' worth of glue for each ordinary sized room. The usual hour of dining in Charleston is 3 o'clock. It is an old English cus tom, we believe. At any rate, we fancy it is something of that sort because we cling to it so tenaclously. It is a very inconvenient hour to most people who are engaged in business, but it is the habit and very hard to break. Horsehair.

The raw horsehair used in the manu-facture of haircloth for upholstering purposes is just now high priced in this country because of the situation which during and since the Russo-Japanese war has prevailed in Russia, whence most of the hair comes. The best of such cloth must have a certain width of weave, which depends upon the length of the hairs, and in this respect the Russian horses are superior, having talls which sweep the ground. Much of the weaving is done in this country. For the narrower weaves of the cloth, used by tailors in lining coats, the hair from American horses on the western plains is used.

Annual Report of Dr. Smith, Inspector -Refers to Spread of Insanity and Our Psychopathic Needs.

Our Psychopathic Needs.

Hon. W. J. Hanna laid before the Legislature the other day the annual report of Dr. Bruce Smith, inspector of hospitals and prisons. In the province, according to the report, the area of hospitals, 37 refuges, 30 orphamages, 3 homes for incurables, 2 convalescent homes, a Magdalen asylum, 25 county houses of refuge.

The number of patients in hospitals, Oct. 1, 1905, was 2,549; admitted during the year, 37,537; births, 1,764; total under treatment, 41,764; deaths, 2,429; percentage of deaths 5,79; provincial grant to hospitals, $110,000; from all sources, $1,001,082,12; subscriptions, donations, etc., $156,620,58; total expenditures (including capital account, $54,070,25) $1,228,289; average cost of patients, $1,08; percentage of provincial grant to total number tenance expenditure, 123-4 cents.

Dr. Smith notes that there has been considerable improvement in Toronton the strength of the subscription in the subscription in the subscription of the time the population will be greatly increased.

The inspector hopes that every large hospital will soon have wards for psychopathic cases.

"The importance of the mission of the psychopathic hospital cannot be too highly extolled," he says. "We cannot shut our eyes to the fact that insanity is on the increase, and if we are to combat that advance success must be sought by adopting psychopathic measures. Toronto should have a large modern psychopathic hospital, separate and distinct, for the care and treatment of these scute cases, and where greatly needed clinical advantages might be afforded."

He speaks of the necessity for special hospitals or sanatoria for tuberculosis patients. Instances of cruel and heartless treatment may well suggest considering the advisability of statutory enactments compelling each county to take advantage of the actival sanatoria. The National Sanatorium Association deserves the greatest credit for the splendid work already accomplished, but it has blazed a path which must be followed and extended until every county into Ontario has established at some point within the county a sanatorium where its own cases may be cared for.

Canadian Parents' Great Son.
Sixty years ago Feb. 11, 1907, Thos.

was born in the little town of Milan, Ohio, of Canadian parents. At this time electricity was known, but knows

Edison became a railroad newsboy, and began in his spare moments to experiment in chemistry. Gaining the exclusive right of selling newspapers on his line, and coming into possession of some old type, he began editing and publishing a paper of his own.
The Grand Trunk Herald, the first newspaper to be printed on a train.
A stationmaster became interested in the boy, and taught him telegraphy.
It was Edison's initiation into the mysteries of electricity. He experimented with the machine and with the wonderful fluid, and soon succeeded in producing an automatic repeater by which messages could be sent from one wire to another without the intervention, perfected while

In 1871 he invented the printing telegraph, or the broker's "ticker," and established a workshop at Newark for the manufacture of these instruments. His inventive faculties now got full play, and he turned out one invention after another in quick succession. His list of patents includes the megaphone, the phonograph, the carbon telephone transmitter, the incandescent light, the kinetoscope, various metallurgic methods and a number of improvements to steel railway motors. His inventions total over five hundred, and of these about a quarter refer to telegraphy.

Sullivan, representing Quebec, the commissioners appointed to locate the boundary between the two provinces, the survey of that line has been completed to the 140th mile north of the head of Lake Temiskaming. The season's work of the party commenced at the 88th mile, and the 52 miles' progress was made by the beginning of last October. For the first 21 miles they found the land in the vicinity of the scene of their work suitable for agriculture. From the 101st to the 118th mile the hills forming the height of land prevailed, the territory was rolling, the soil not very promising. From the 131st mile the country was through a level, with a good clay soil, and the last nine miles of their journey was through a level, marshy area.

On Oct. 6th, on their return, when they arrived at the Hudson Bay post at Lake Abitibi, potatoes and garden flowers were quite green. Mr. Moberley, one of the engineers in charge of the Transcontinental Railway survey, gave them some samples of wheat oats, and barley which he grew at White Fish River, a river flowing intention of the promiser.

to-day and was won by Towns by one length.

The weather was dull before the race, a hot thunder storm threatening as the men pulled out from the landing stages of their boat houses for the start.

Both were trained to the minute and seemed equally confident.

By three o'clock the train loads and boat excursions had filled all the points of vantage along the river. When the men backed up to their buoys, the current was sluggish and the river low.

It was a desperate race over the entire straightaway three miles, daylight being barely preceptible between the boats at the finish, the Australian's margin being a scant boat length.

In his address, Lord Strathcona recalled that in that very room Sir Charles had attended the conference forty years ago, which finally settled the provisions of the British North American Act, under which the Dominion of Canada was constituted.

In his reply, Sir Charles said the time would come when homes would be provided in Canada for as large a population as now inhabited the British Isles, and that the future depended largely upon the realization of Joseph Chamberlain's message to the Canadian people, in which he said:

"I am proteandly convinced that of all the bonds uniting this nation, the bond of commerce is the strongest."

Touching Scene At Funeral of Montreal School Children.

Montreal, March 2.—A touching scene was witnessed at Hochelaga when ten little coffins were removed to St. Mary's church at noon yesterday for the funeral service over the remains of the victims of the Hochelaga school holocaust.

When the coffins were ranged along in front of the altar they were literally covered with flowers from all sections of the community, from schoolmates and teachers, from citizens of high and low degree, from French and English Canadians alike.

The fact that many of the bereaved parents have been but a short time in Canada, having recently come here from England, gave additional impetus to the desire to prove the sincerity of feeling for them in their affliction.

Thousands of Mourners.

The service was directed by the Rev. Henry Jekell, rector, one of whose children narrowly escaped.

The service was most affecting. An immense throng collected, far greater than could gain admittance to the church. A pathetic picture was the part taken by the little school mates of the deceased. When the funeral cortege of ten hearses left the church for Mount Royal cemetery, there was an escort of 35 police and an immense concourse of people.

VICE AT OTTAWA

Brantford, Feb. 27 .- At Colborne reet church last night, Rev. Mr. aswell made strong references to Canadian public life, with particular reference to Federal Cabinet minisreference to Federal Cabinet minis-ters, whose moral life, according to reports in circulation throughout the country, was such as to call for their banishment. In this connection seri-cus references were made touching the personal honors of the ministers in question n question.

Further, Rev. Mr. Caswell said, if

Sir Wilfrid Laurier did not investi gate the situation he would fail in sis duty to the Liberal party and to the country he professed to love to well.

The speaker referred to the opening of the national halls of Parliament as the signal for the harlots of America to flock to the seat of Govern-
