

busied herself about the stove and the table with preparations for supper. Priscilla sat watching the two, a new dream-light in her eyes, a brooding tenderness, while her lips quivered with the unmistakable signs of a sweet secret struggling to be free.

Wages.

it, after

's free

nd ne

so

d.

nd

"Ve been marriedt feefty year coom this May," Billy remarked very suddenly, and Priscilla started, shut-wise with his heavy Dutch pate. "Too badt-Priscilly! I dond't see vhadt de mens vas a-dinkin' off. Didn't you neffer haff no chance, mine dear?"

murmured Priscilla. "Vall, ho on," demanded Mrs. Billy, who wished Priscilla to vindi-cate herself thoroughly from the charge of no proposals. "Tell him who else you hif de mitten."

A swift, deep blush spread over Priscilla's face.

coom this May," Billy remarked very suddenly, and Priscilla started, shut-ting her mouth in swift alarm over her secret. "The ones I have given the mitten!" she stammered. "Why a girl can't she stammered. "Why a girl can't tell those things. They were mostly a good-for-nothing lot of fellows, though, and that's a fact." "Hoodt-for-noddings, eh?" Mrs. Billy a grown very hot. "Are ve hoodt? Billy vent into de beer-sa-loons before I marriedt him. He vas hoodt till he hits him a vife." "You kin neffer tell how he vill turn oudt till te hits marriedt," Billy sagely agreed. "But, my goodness!" persisted Priscilla. "How could you fall in love with a man that drank like that" "I got blindt yit," answered Mrs. Billy. "You can no luff till you git Hindt. Don when you kin see no

Priscilla's secret came so near choking her that she gurgled like a little child; but Mrs. Billy's bristles popped out all over.

"Vall, dhot's joost like a man!" napped the old lady. "Neffer hadt snapped the old lady. "Neffer hadt no chances, eh? You joost go oudt andt hundt from here to de Nordth Star andt you von't findt a vomans vhadt neffer hadt no chance. Priscilly, you tell him apout some of your chances."

Priscilla, looking at the grin of delight steadily growing broader on Billy's face, as it always did when-ever he succeeded in teasing the old lady, laughed as she answered: "Well, let me see. There was the half-witted son of the blacksmitheverybody knew about that, I thought. He used to bring me old horseshoes for good luck! He stutters, you know, 'S-s-s-say, Priscilla,' he used to ask, 'wh-wh-wh-why don't you love me?' ''B-b-b-because!' I used to answer. Now, you know, I couldn't take him." There was an anxious note of en-

"De vou remember de first dime vou valked home drough de snow mid me mine dear?"

eyelids down as an indication of blissful, secret knowledge. "Was that the first time you saw her, Mr. Billy?" "Oh, my no! I seen her plenties off times, but I neffer dink she vas sooch a hoodt von till dhot day. Den L welk home mid her fie miles

Den I valk home mid her fife miles drough de snow." "It is true love that comes in winter-time they say," murmured Priscilla, and, in a dream all of her own, she looked out of the window at

Mrs. Billy's snowy garden. Mrs. Billy's voice fell with an amusing note of consolation upon Priscilla's ears as she said:

"Summer or vinter, it cooms so quicker dhon a dunderstorm. You can't tell vhen he cooms. Maype, vhen you ho home to-nighdt alreadty, some von vill see you pass by andt say: 'Dere hoes a hoodt von. I ho for her!"

for her!" Priscilla's dimples began to show, her eyes to sparkle, but she grew serious and asked meditatively: "And does it go as quickly as it comes? That's the question." Neither of the old folks answered, and Priscilla, looking at the two faces, grown to resemble each other through long years of companionship, felt reassured, and, at the same time, ashamed. She leaned forward, her hands folded across her knees, and addressed the old lady:

The Western Home Monthly 1907. A REMARKABLE INVENTION FOR THE CULTURE OF HAIR

HE EVANS VACUUM CAP is a practical invention constructed on scientific and hygienic principles by the simple means of which a free and normal circulation is restored throught it the scalp. The minute blood vessels are gently stimulated to activity, thus allowing the food supply which can only be derived from the blood, to be carried to the hair roots, the effects of which are quickly seen in a healthy, vigorous growth of hair. There is no rubbing, and as no drugs or chemicals of whatsoever kind are employed there is nothing to cause irritation. It is only necessary to wear the Cap three or four minutes daily.

60 DAYS' FREE TRIAL! THE COMPANY'S GUARANTEE

An Evans Vacuum Cap will be sent you for sixty day's free trial. If you do not see a gradual development of a new growth of hair, and are not convinced that the Cap will completely restore your hair, you are at liberty to return the Cap with no expense whatever to yourself. It is requested, as an evidence of good faith, that the price of the Cap be deposited with the Chancery Lane Safe Deposit Company of London, the largest financial and business institution of the kind in the world, who will issue a receipt guaranteeing that the money will be returned in full, on demand without questions or comment, at any time during the trial period.

The eminent Dr. I. N. LOVE, in his address to the Medical Board on the subject of Alopæcia (loss of hair) stated that if a means could be devised to bring nutrition to the hair follicles (hair roots), without resorting to any irritating process, the problem of hair growth would be solved. Later on, when the EVANS VACUUM CAP was submitted to him for inspection, he remarked that the Cap would fulfi and confirm in practice the observations he had previously made before the Medical Board. Dr. W. MOORE, referring to the invention, says that the principle upon which the Evans Vacuum Cap is founded is absolutely correct and indisputable. An illustrated and descriptive book of the Evans Vacuum Cap will be sent, post free, on application.

The Secretary, Evans Vacuum Cap Co., Limited REGENT HOUSE, REGENT STREET, LONDON, W.

Notice to Subscribers!

The Subscription price to the Western Home Monthly is 50 cents per annum to y address in Canada, or British Isles. The subscription price to foreign countries One Dollar a year, while subscribers who reside within the City of Winnipeg limits ad in the United States, are requested to send 25 cents extra to defray delivery charges. Bemittances of small sums may be made with comparative safety in ordinary ters. Sums of one dollar or more it would be well to send by registered letter, P.O. oney Order or Express Money Order.

Postage Stamps will be received the same as cash for the fractional parts of a lar, and in any amount when it is impossible for patrons to procure bills. We prefer se of the one cent or two cent denomination.

We always stop the Paper at the expiration of the time paid for unless a renewal subscription is received. Those whose subscriptions have expired must not expect to atimue to receive the paper unless they send the money to pay for it another year.

• •

Send us 50 cents and we will mail you he Western Home Monthly for one year nd in addition will send you free of charge the Pattern for a practical Apron and Sun Bonnet.

Our Offer to Women Readers

This is an offer that is sure to appeal strongly to women readers, and, while our supply of patterns lasts, Subscribers will be furnished patterns free in the order which their enclosure is received

A DESCRIPTION OF THE

Practical Apron

June, 1907.

"You should have your husband acted in the hospital last win eyes treated. He wi lorn creature I ever You came home soo pected, you know. Billy met my fat er o next day he said: 'V so kindt as to do n Green? Tell Prise all righdt-everyding oldt ladty pack!'" Priscilla's voice br turned her face away liberately shut his ey ciple of the ostrich Then, "Ahem!" said I lady murmured: "Dem vas terribly for me, too." Silence fell in the r without, came the m and loud, the cry of gander. Priscilla aroused he ing the old wife squa demanded: "How did man over there propo Billy held up his for mysterious "Ah-ha!"

smiled and shrugged "I dunno," said she. Billy twisted up on mouth, and, wrinkling vowed: "I dunno, nee "Vall, vall, vall, vall hear dhot now? H readty!"

"Who says so?" quite indignant, but m quizzical glance the all over her wrinkled down to shake the sto Priscilla grew pensive she said, "You loved very much?" "I dond't know dh torted Mrs. Blom. Priscilla laughed, the grinning old husl "You must have ha winning that woman." Billy poked a broom end of his pipe as he air of carelessness: hardt. Mrs. Billy turned i specimen of a porcupi ped back: "It vas guess! Andt it vul hardt as neffer vas eef to see Amelica." "She dought she dhot man-vhadt yo Kreestopher Coloomb "And when she fou was only you what di Billy?" Billy's powers of given out, so he cou under cover of his upl a mysterious : "Ah a myster Priscilly !"

| be received by us not later than the 20th of the preceding month. That is to say if you want your address changed for the July issue, we must hear from you to that effect not later than June 20th. When you renew be sure to sign your name exactly the same as it appears on the habel of your paper. If this is not done it leads to confusion. If you have recently the address on your label. Address all letters to- THE WESTERN HOME MONTHLY, WINNIPEG, MAN. | Now that the warm days are her the glorious sunshine is finding its or every nook and corner, the hous finds more or less needing her care doors and an apron and sun bonnet will be just the thing for wearing or occasions are shown. The apron is simple, becoming and practicable yoke band serving as support for the skirt portion and little labor being m for its making or tubbing. The bonnet is excellent because of the |
|---|--|
| [To be cut out on the dotted lines.] | characteristics, the least experied being able to fashion it. Percale, m or gingham may serve as materia which 5½ yards 36 inches wide are no |
| Special Subscription Order Blank. | in the medium size. 6879–Sizes, 32, 36, 40 inches bust mea |
| | Something every woman nee Send 50 cents—it will nav your |
| The Western Home Monthly, | Scription to the Western Home Mon for one year, and will also entitle y a Pattern and instructions how to n free, a practical Apron and Sun Bonnet. |
| Herein find (⁵⁰ ₁₀₀) cents to pay for (^{one} _{three}) years' subscription to Western Home Monthly, (^{check} amount sent and). Send magazine | Use THIS BLANK IN REMITTING. Address-THE WESTERN HOME MONTHLY, WINNIPEG, MAN. |
| until forbidden to- | Enclosed please find Fifty Cents to pay for Subscription to the Wee Home Monthly for one year, to include premium Pattern, a practical A |
| Name 8 | g and Sun Bonnet. |
| P.O | & Date |
| - Street or Box No | WRITE CHRISTIAN NAME IN FULL |
| Please state if this is a renewal. | |
| ricase state if this is a renormal R | SIZE REQUIRED |

Priscilla had a no pure and fragrant be to-day and an abnor curiosity.

"Well, no doubt," s while, "you got along gether then, when new, and you get alon gether now, but, in bet "No sir! No, siree!"

was very positive. " into de house madt I vordt to him till he andt somedings nice to he coom into de hous madt he neffer say a ve neffer hadt no badt 'Ve hadt von or two yit," remarked Billy smile. "Ya-ya. But vhadt Mrs. Billy. "Dem v kindt off pepper ve co repper vas a verry hoc know how to use de quarrels vas noddings. dey coom ve both both of us moost pe Dere neffer vas no vorld yit vhere de who one sidet. So vhen y bandt. Priscilly, andt a oop, evfen eef you righdt, you ho into you say to yourself: wrong, eh?"

Priscilla was looking

4.4-

1907.

ns

ed

ts,

or or

th

he

ho ne

38080808080808

rs

nail you

free of actical

appeal while in the received

nnet

tere and its way pusewife re out of et which on such is very ble, the the full y needed The sum ne same erienced madras erial, of needed

aeasure. eeds.

ur sub-Monthly

you to make,

Veetern

Apron

108060808080808

onnet

The Western Home Monthly

"You should have seen the way fodded hands-hands which she knew your husband acted when you were in the hospital last winter having your eyes treated. He was the most forlorn creature I ever saw in my life. You came home sooner than I expected, you know. And when Mr. Billy met my fat er on the street the next day he said: 'Vill you please pe so kindt as to do me a favor, Mr. Green? Tell Priscilly everyding's all righdt—everyding! I got mine oldt ladty pack!'" oldt ladty pack!'

Priscilla's voice broke. Mrs. Billy turned her face away, and Billy deliberately shut his eyes, on the prin-ciple of the ostrich hiding his head. Then, "Ahem!" said Billy and the old lady murmured: "Dem vas terribly days, Priscilly, for me, too." Silence fell in the room while, from without, came the murmur of people and loud, the cry of Billy's old pet gander. Priscilla aroused herself, and, looking the old wife squarely in the eye, demanded: "How did that miserable man over there propose?"

Billy held up his forefinger with a mysterious "Ah-ha!" while Mrs. Billy smiled and shrugged her shoulders. "I dunno," said she.

Billy twisted up one corner of his mouth, and, wrinkling his cheeks in one tight winking of the eye, he vowed: "I dunno, needer." "Vall, vall, vall, vall, vall! Do you hear dhot now? He's forgot alreadty!"

"Vall, you forgot, too!" "Who says so?" Mrs. Billy was quite indignant, but meeting Priscilla's quizzical glance the old lady flushed all over her wrinkled face and knelt down to shake the stove. Priscilla grew pensive. "Of course,"

she said, "You loved each other very, very much?"

'I dond't know dhat needer," retorted Mrs. Blom.

Priscilla laughed, and, turning to the grinning old husband, remarked: "You must have had a hard time winning that woman."

Billy poked a broom-splint into the end of his pipe as he replied with an air of carelessness: "It was no so hardt.

Mrs. Billy turned into a delightful specimen of a porcupine as she step-ped back: "It vas hardt enoot, 1 guess! Andt it vuldt haf been so hardt as neffer vas eef I hadn't vanted to see Amelica."

"She dought she vas a-marryin dhot man-vhadt you call him?-Kreestopher Coloombus."

"And when she found out that it was only you what did she say, Mr. Billy Billy's powers of invention had given out, so he could only retreat under cover of his uplifted finger and a mysterious : "Ah-ha! Ah-ha! a myste. Priscilly !"

would some day be locked fast within another's fingers. How long before the two would be a perfect fit? How long before her restless fingers would cease to find moments when other side!"

they would flutter to be free. "Vhadt vas you a-dinkin' oft, Priscilly?" the old lady asked. "Two cookies andt a glass off milk for your doughts. "I dell dem to you for noddings, interposed Billy, looking at her. "She vas a-dinkin' apout dem odder mens. She vas a-dinkin' apout dhot reech oldt pachelor peau dat she hadt in New York alreadty. Ve heerdt all apout dhot. Couldn't you ketch him, Priscilly?"

The old lady reached out her hand and patted the girl's smooth fingers. "Vhy couldn't you luff him, leetle country." girl?"

Priscilla's soft laugh rang through the dusky room. "You'll never tell, will you?" she said. "I visited his sister for ten days once, and every morning I had that man for break-fast. If you want to find out whether you can live with a man just make a practice of eating breakfast with him. He may be the finest fellow in the world at the dinner-table, and a grouty, disagreeable old bear in the morning. And the worst of it is that you have to eat just as many break-fasts in this world as you do dinners."

"It vas too padt you vent to veesit dhot vomans," remarked Billy, and Mrs. Billy said positively:

dhot vomans," remarked Billy, and Mrs. Billy said positively: "You was too particuly, Priscilly. You neffer vill findt a man vhadt prings de same face to preakfast vhadt he prings to dinner midoudt he pe a nighdt-vatchmans. I heard say dhot vas de reason vhy dem vomen-folks in New Englandt gifs dere oldt mans pies for preakfast. Dev vant to foor in New Englandt gifs dere oldt mans pies for preakfast. Dey vant to fooi him andt make him dink it vas dinner-dimes." "I wish I had tried that on Mr. What's-his-name," said Priscilla, thoughtfully, "But then there was thoughtfully. "But then there was something else-at all three meals. He had a dog-a little spotted cur with a chewed-off ear and no tail to speak of—that he had picked up in the street. And do you know where that would sit while we were eating-no matter how many people were cating-no matter how much beautiful china and glass there was on the table? Where do you think?" "In a chair py de table," Mrs. Billy answered promptly.

"No, sir! He sat on the table-right between my place and the old bachelor's And sometimes he would drink out of my glass and sometimes he would walk across the table tor something that he liked better on the

Billy had brought his feet to the floor and taken the pipe out of his mouth, which mouth was now wide ard round with amazement.

Mrs. Billy had put down her knitting, and now she brought her hands together with a resounding clap: "Vall, vall, vall, vall, vall! 1 neffer! I neffer deedt! Billy, do you hear dhot? Priscilly, dond't you neffer ho to dhot house agin. vouldt haf took dhot dog py de neck andt flung him oudt off doors. yit. Oh, dear, dear, dear, dear, 1 Dey neffer deedt sooch dings in de oldt

Billy was too shocked for words. He could only grunt disgustedly, while Priscilla leaned back and smiled. "He was the man who said that girls are divided into two classes," she stated: "those that tell that they she stated: "those that tell that they want to get married and those who tell lies. So I thought that I would show him. You don't think I did wrong, do you?" added Priscilla, demurely. The old lady was very positive in her denial and very angry; but Mr. Billy put back his legs and his pipe while he seemed to reconsider the question question, "Vall, I dunno. He was awful reech, dhot man. Andt he seemedt to man. I always agreed with him when

han. I always agreed with him when he used to say: "The more I see of men the more I like dogs.'" "You vas righdt apout dhot mans," vowed Mrs. Billy, but the old Dutch-man stuck to his guns. "Vall, I dunno, yit. I heerdt vonce apout a girl vhadt marriedt a reech cldt man vhadt vas so stinger he cldt man vhadt vas so stingy he nearly starvedt her to death. Honest, he gif her so little to heat dhot she ioost went andt hung her teeth on a hook py de door. Andt do you know vhadt she done to dhot reech oldt deffel? She deedn't do a ting but git him vay oop in de top off de house von nighdt, den grease de stairs andt holler, 'Firel'" "Vere did she git de grease?" demanded practical Mrs. Billy. Billy simply spluttered over his pipe in the twilight and the old lady turned her attention once more to Priscilla. "He vasn't the right von, mine

3

dear; dey none of dem vas," she said. "But de righdt von he vill coom some day. Eef he vas to von endt off de vorldt and you to de odder you vouldt come togedder joost de same. Vhadt ees to pe vill pe."

"Do you really think so," murmured Priscilla. "I almost believe you." She looked smilingly out of the window; then, with a quick, sly wave of her hand, rose to go.

"Somepody's at de door," said Mrs.

Billy. "Let me go." Priscilla quickly and laid her hand on the latch. A clear, decisive knock sounded in the panels. Then, upon the old people's ears, the girl's voice fell soft and with unusual music.

"No, I will not-I cannot let him in to-night, my dearies. It is the Principal of the school, Mr. Wilcox-and -and-" Priscilla opened the door, and against the pale evening light they could see her slim figure standing close beside another, larger form. A masculine voice murmured a few words, and then Priscilla's indescribably sweet and tender laugh sounded

bably sweet and tender laugh sounded soft and low. "I have promised to marry him. Good-night," she said, and quickly and shyly closed the door. The old people heard the crunching of two pairs of feet in the snow, and, peering out of the window saw the man and the woman pass down the path and out of the gate. There both the young folks turned and waved their hands at the dusky windows. Mrs. Billy sighed almost enviously. "Do you rememper de first dime you valked home drough de snow mid me, mine dear?" she asked with her shoulder pressed close to Billy's.

shoulder pressed close to Billy's. "Ya ya-ya!" he rejoined, slippin his arm around her waist. "But di snow vas nodt von half so deep a dhot

Priscilla had a new, perplexing, pure and fragrant beauty about her to-day and an abnormal amount of curiosity.

"Well, no doubt," she said after a while, "you got along very well together then, when everything was new, and you get along very well together now, but, in between-how was

"No sir! No, siree!" The old lady was very positive. "Vhen he coom into de house madt I neffer say von vordt to him till he get gladt agin andt somedings nice to eat; and vhen he coom into de house andt see me madt he neffer say a vordt. And so ve neffer hadt no badt fighdts."

Ve hadt von or two hoodt fightdts yit," remarked Billy with a serene smile.

"Ya-ya. But vhadt off dhot?" said Mrs. Billy. "Dem vas de cheapest kindt off pepper ve couldt puy. Andt repper vas a verry hoodt ting eef you know how to use de shaker. Dem quarrels vas noddings.)Priscilly. Vhen dey coom ve both rememper dhot both of us moost pe a leetle wrong. Dere neffer vas no quarrel in dis vorld yit vhere de whole blame vas on one sidet. So vhen you git a husbandt. Priscilly, andt a quarrel cooms. oop, evfen eef you know you v?s righdt, you ho into de corner andt you say to yourself: 'Vhere vas I wrong, eh?'" Priscilla was looking down at her

Two famous kings of the foothills, Western Canada.

June, 1907.

The Bridal Mirror. By W. S. HAMILTON.

UST a moment. The bride turned her delicately flushed face appealingly from one to the other. "You are just perfect!" "You sweet, you!"

"You are too lovely for anything!" The bridesmaids danced about their beautiful friend madly. "He—he isn't fit to touch your slipper—the old owl!" The youngest knelt at the bride's feet and looked up adoringly.

But the bride was slowly turning pale. In a few minutes the marriage ceremony would bind a motherless girl forever to the man of her choice. She was not thinking of her dress, or of her lover, or of the sacrament. An ineffable longing for a mother's blessing was choking her. She must be alone, or she must die. "Go," said the bride solemnly; "you "Go," said the bride solemnly; "you have been very dear. Leave me, and when all is ready send him up to me."

Dimly the bridesmaids understood. They kissed and wept and went. As the last face beckoned her good-by on the landing the girl locked the door and ran to her bed like a fluttering dove. There she knelt. Her diaphanous veil covered her head and shoulders. Her long train shimmered behind her.

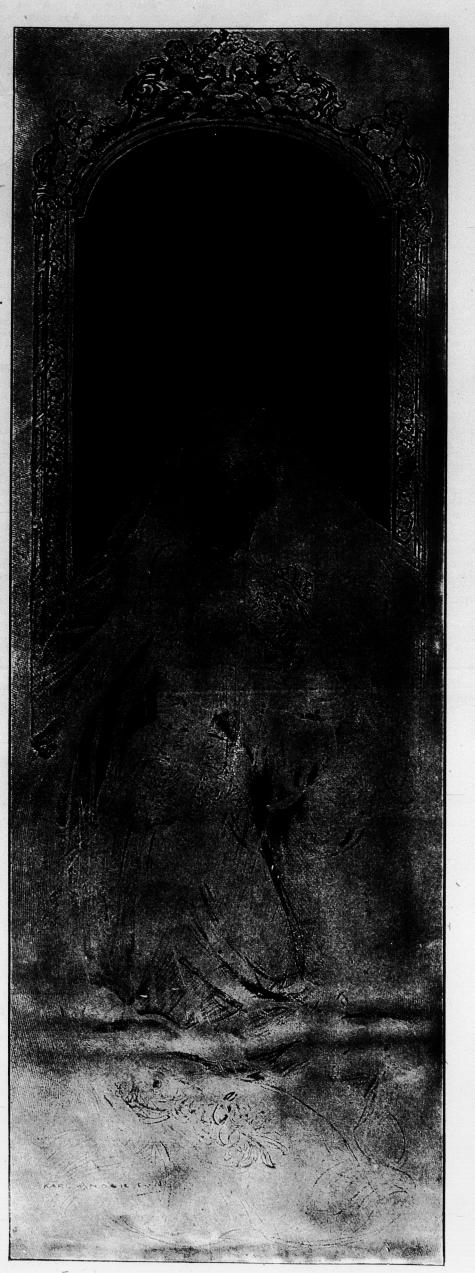

"Oh, mother, mother!" she called, as if in prayer; "no one will ever know; no one can ever know but you. I want to put my head in your lap. I want to cry in your arms. I want you to pat my cheek and say, "There! there! child!" Mother! I can't do it!"

* * *

With the indescribable motion of a strong nature casting off weakness, the girl arose. She had only a few minutes more to herself—the last she would really have in all her life. She dashed her handkerchief over her eyes, went to her mirror, and peered into its full depth critically. Then her heart halted.

It was very old, and was said to be a bridal mirror which had been brought over from France in the century before the last. It was made in the style of a pier-glass nearly five feet tall. On each upper corner a cupid was dropping orange-blossoms which floated down the sides, terminating in a bridal wreath below. It was as graceful as it was ornate and sentimental as it was effective. Long ago the gilding on the frame had worn off, leaving the woodwork opalescent, with an undertone of gray, with gleams of gold suggestive of purple-iridescent, almost like one of those vases entombed in the island of Cyprus and brought to light after a thousand years. Neither had the glass been re-Behind, the silver was not placed. so much worn as that it seemed to have lost its virtue. The image that it returned was often indistinct in outline and obscure in detail. This was an impression rather than a portrait. In a dim light the reflection was rather a suggestion than a reality. As the girl peered into the mirror which used to hang in her mother's room and had reflected the faces of so many brides upon their wedding morning, she saw herself as she was, not as she was masked. Sincere and naive, yet she did not always wear her heart upon her face.

piness, and ending with a full generous line in a round and tender chin. Her lips lay in a beautiful curve, always ready to part, expressing sometimes too easily the emotions of her soul.

She saw an affectionate, enthusiastic girl, craving sympathy, giving it eagerly with her whole heart—a generous, sensitive woman, the kind that coldness would contract, and ardor would expand to her highest value. Ah, but she was proud as she was passionate; one read that in the haughty, upward sway of her head, and in the curling carmine lips! She saw in the sensitive face which returned her gaze an infinite capacity for good—and also, to her horror, a great possibility for evil.

Her lover had never measured the power over her pulsating heart that his words, his looks, his gestures carried. And what a strange lover he was! The bride bent forward and peered into the glass with catching breath. How could that kind of a man choose this kind of a girl? It was the Arctic wooing the tropics. Cold, undemonstrative, self-possessed, unbending, Josiah Cotton seemed to be a statute carved in ice. He had courted her with the unemotional regularity of a machine.

This young descendant of a staid Puritan stock had the restraint of a judge and the gravity of an old man. He had proposed to her with the masterful sang-froid that made "No" a psychical impossibility, and he had accepted her young, fervent life with a calmness that seemed almost an impiety. Had he no heart to be touched by the glowing face she saw in the glass?

Once, exasperated by his lack of demonstrativeness, she had flung herself on the sofa in tears. She would have given her life if he nad taken her in his arms and soothed and loved her as she needed.

But he was no man to be moved out of his composure by a woman's tears, even if they fell from the eyes he held most dear. With an inarticulate sound he turned his back upon her and left her alone to what proved to be the crisis of her life. With her lips she called him a brute-but with her heart she loved him. How she loved that man! Every asset of her being was deposited in his keeping. There was something at once beautiful and pitiful about her way of loving. She was obsessed, and glori-fied in her surrender. Such love as hers could not fail to move his composure and melt his glacial nature. She felt, she knew, that he loved her as much as he was capable of loving. and she would teach him how to unbend and show her those tender at-tentions which fill a woman's imagin-

June, 1907.

the negatives of all As the girl looked, mother arose before sea of glass. It was was the same beautifu surface of the bridal flected so many times the answer to the w the motherless bride.

Then with quick re dropped to her knee hands, and looked wi mysterious presence benediction she so ke she gazed she saw blessing—then slowly beloved face faded a into the depths of t and the girl was loo pale, comforted face.

There was a Throwing a passion mirror, and all it mea and future, the bride She hesitated, and wi locked it shyly. There on the thre

There on the three man who was to be h who was the lord of pressed lips the bride composedly kissed his forehead. But she to a face beautiful in utt render—a face glowi perishable love.

The bridal mirror What memories of lo treasured in its hear retina, so sensitive to bride, reflected the figures gravely.

PRIENDS IN

A brown-haired, blue-ey Grown weary and tired Climbed up on my kne In her simple, childisi "Have you any friends That you sometimes w Can you guess how the me

Like a minor melody?

I thought, as I sat in a With that wee one on Of my little blue-eyed Whose summers number She went from my arm One spring-time years And left in my heart t That only mothers know

I thought how the bal Grew lonesome, and lo Once more on his brea With hair of sunset g And one summer eve h To search for our bab And I know full well h But he never came bac

Do I ever want to see Oh! child of the violet My heart is gone on by To the hills of Paradi Some day I shall feel Drop balm on my wean Mine, only, and mine of Though earth and Hea —Ebe

* * * *

She saw a wreath of wavy, rebellious hair peeping out beneath the stately veil: a broad, low forehead, smooth, unwrinkled by a quick disposition. Her eyes were soft and wide, appealing for the tenderness they now revealed. Her cheeks were delicate and pink, quick to pale and flush, dimpled with the desire for hap-

"Mother," she cried, "teach me, for I love him, I love him."

ation and are her life. "Mother" she cried, challenging herself in the mirror, "teach me, for I love him, I love him!"

* * * *

As the bride pleaded with the mystical the mystic answered. In the old mirror a strange transformation took place. From out of the depths of the time-worn glass another face slowly arose while her own dissolved before it

History is full of instances where an overwhelming call, made under a great necessity, compels the attendance of the desired. Mirrors are mysterious, and no embodied soul may fully understand them. Like the human eye, they receive upon their sensitive hearts impressions which are indelibly imprinted there, and who shall say that the glass which receives you and stores you up daily shall not give you back under appropriate conditions? For the mirror sees all things, and reflects all things, mysteriously keeping to itself A FRIENDLY

When a man ain't got feel'n king o' blue, An' the clouds hang dan won't let the sunsh It's a great thing, O n a feller just to lay His hand upon your friendly sort o' way

It makes a man feel of the tear-drops star An' you-sort o' feel a region of the heart. You can look up and you don't know wha When his hand is on y a friendly sort of

Oh, the world's a cun with its honey an' With its cares and bit a good world after An' a good God must ha leastways that's wh When a hand rests on a friendly sort o' the James Wi

FOR LOVE IS

Why do we wound when When still we love at a Why do we not appreci-That which is lost, ere , 1907.

ll generler chin. urve, alng somes of her enthusi-, giving heart—a the kind ct, and highest id as she it in the er head, ips! She hich recapacity orror, a ured the eart that gestures ge lover vard and catching nd of a girl? It tropics. possessseemed He had notional a staid int of a old man. ith the le "No" he had ife with t an imtouched in the lack of d flung rs. She he nad moved voman's he eyes narticuk upon proved Vith her but with ow she t of her keeping.

soothed

t of her keeping. e beauway of d glorilove as is com-

nature.

ved her loving. to un-

nder atimagin-

lenging me, for

he mys-

In the rmation depths er face

issolved

where inder a attendrs are

ed soul Like upon essions there, glass

you up

he mirects all

o itself

The Western Home Monthly

the negatives of all impressions. As the girl looked, the face of her mother arose before her as if from a sea of glass. It was not a dream; it was the same beautiful face which the surface of the bridal mirror had reflected so many times before. It was the answer to the world-old cry of the motherless bride.

June, 1907.

Then with quick reverence the girl dropped to her knees, clasped her hands, and looked wistfully into that mysterious presence, receiving the benediction she so keenly craved. As she gazed she saw the lips part in blessing—then slowly, inexorably, the beloved face faded away, sank again into the depths of the sea of glass, and the girl was looking at her own pale, comforted face.

There was a resolute knock. Throwing a passionate kiss at the mirror, and all it meant to her of past and future, the bride ran to the door. She hesitated, and with a blush unlocked it shyly. There on the threshold stood the

There on the threshold stood the man who was to be her husband, and who was the lord of her heart. With pressed lips the bridegroom bent and composedly kissed his bride upon the forehead. But she turned up to him a face beautiful in utter trust and surrender—a face glowing with an imperishable love.

The bridal mirror was left alone. What memories of love and life were treasured in its heart! That silver retina, so sensitive to the cry of the bride, reflected the two departing figures gravely.

PRIENDS IN HEAVEN.

A brown-haired, blue-eyed wee one, Grown weary and tired of play, Climbed up on my knee to ask me In her simple, childish way: "Have you any friends in heaven, That you sometimes want to see?" Can you guess how the question thrilled me

Like a minor melody?

I thought, as I sat in the twilight, With that wee one on my knee, Of my little blue-eyed baby Whose summers numbered three; She went from my arms to heaven One spring-time years ago, And left in my heart that sorrow That only mothers know.

I thought how the baby's father Grew lonesome, and longed to hold Once more on his breast our baby With hair of sunset gold. And one summer eve he left me To search for our baby of three, And I know full well he found her, But he never came back to me.

Do I ever want to see them? Oh! child of the violet eyes, My heart is gone on before me To the hills of Paradise. Some day I shall feel their kisses Drop balm on my weary heart, Mine, only, and mine forever, Though earth and Heaven apart. —Eben E. Rexford.

5

A FRIENDLY HAND.

When a man ain't got a cent, an' he's feel'n king o' blue,
An' the clouds hang dark an' heavy, an' won't let the sunshine through,
It's a great thing, O my brethren, for a feller just to lay
His hand upon your shoulder, in a friendly sort o' way!

It makes a man feel curious; it makes the tear-drops start, An' you-sort o' feel a flutter in the region of the heart. You can look up and meet his eyes; you don't know what to say, When his hand is on your shoulder, in a friendly sort of way.

Oh, the world's a curious compound, with its honey an' its gall, With its cares and bitter crosses; but a good world after all. An' a good God must have made itleastways that's what I say When a hand rests on your shoulder in a friendly sort o' way. James Whitcomb Riley.

FOR LOVE IS BLIND.

Why do we wound where we love most, When still we love at any cost? Why do we not appreciate That which is lost, ere 'tis too late? —Anonymous.

GOOD CLOTHES

Good Clothes are an outward and visible sign of success or a determination to succeed. The man you meet scans your clothes more closely than he does your business card. They tell him more.

20th Century Brand Clothes are tailored to win and hold the patronage of careful dressers. Spring styles now being shown by 250 agents from Dawson City to Sydney.

-TAILORED BY-

The Lowndes Company Limited, Toronto.

DON'T BUY GASOLINE ENGINES UNTIL YOU INVESTIGATE 6, alcohol engine, superior to any one-cylinder engine; revolutionising power. Its weight and bulk are half that of single cylinder engines, with gradine, kereage or Less to Buy-Less to Run. Quickly, easily started. Vibration practically overcome. Cheaply mounted on any wagon. It is a combination portable stationary or tractional engine. SEND FOR CATALOOUR. THE TEMPLE PUMP CO., Mfrs., Meagher and 15th Sts., Chicago, THIS IS OUR FIFTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE BEST MEDIUM FOR ADVERTISERS !! The Western Home Monthly

This name is becoming very familiar among the piano purchasers of to-day. It has always been the aim and pride of this house to extend to every customer fair and upright dealings. This is why they have reached the enviable position of being the largest Piano and Organ dealers in this Great West

Don't be influenced to purchase a Piano, the reputation of which you know very little. Buy a piano that you know. The is the best value offered to-day, regardless of what the other dealer says-"I can sell you just as good for less money."

Ask the opinion of one of the 30,000 satisfied owners of the genuine Hointaman & Co., Piano Write for free catalogue and easy payment plan. We can: ave you money by buying through our Mail Order Department.

WE SHIP ON APPROVAL ANYWHERE

Address: Mail Order Dept."W"

528 Main Street, Winnipeg

J. J. H. MCLEAN & Co.

Not a Robbery ONLY A FAIR EXCHANGE

You Want Money

To provide for the necessaries of life, and the trifles here and there that contribute to the comfort of the home and make life enjoyable.

DETECTIVE KITTY.

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Kitty and I were ironing at the discussion of apparel for the next long table in the kitchen, when we half hour.

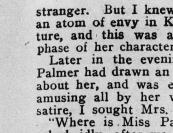

saw John Windsor striding across the snow-covered meadow that divided our two homes. Kitty was my sister, and as sweet and pretty as her name -Kitty Clover.

John was my lover, and we had been engaged for a year. It was not generally known, though. Young people in the country keep their love people in the country keep their love affairs "private," you know, or im-agine they do. But John and I "kept company," and our neighbors con-sidered it a settled thing. "Coming to see me, I suppose," I answered, quietly, and Kitty pouted. "Oh, Sylvia," she said, "there is no use in trying to plague you I do

At seven that evening we were on our way to Mrs. Rivers'. Half a dozen sleighs had taken lead already, and more were behind us. We were a merry set that trooped into Mrs. Rivers' ample kitchen half an hour later. A score of young people had "There comes John," she said, glancing through the window at her side. "Wonder what he's coming for?" with an arch look at me. of merriment and laughter. After dismantling, and smoothing curls, and braids, and settling skirts, we joined the group at the stove. Ten minutes use in trying to plague you. I do none forgotten or missed. Lizzie, love to tease people, but you and run up and bring down Miss Palmer." John are as prosy as an old married Lizzie disappeared, and a little

June. 1907.

June, 1907.

asked, idly, after we a few commonplaces. "From the city," Rivers, with a beamin for she was extremely young boarder's beau "From the city, my de was a wealthy mercha a partner's dishonesty rupt. Poor dear! she customed to wealth a this is a great downs she says she would no a weight upon her fath much against his desin herself to teaching. young folks will mal pleasant as possilbe,

We had games an evening, and music an Miss Palmer was for and had no lack of p mirers. She was very young men, but a cilious toward the gir John was very attent I thought she favored

"Pretty girl, that M she not?" he said, as "Yes, quite," I ans but Kitty interrupted: "No, she is not pre deceit and hypocrisy v feature. I feel my fle her hand touches r sound of her voice treachery as her face.' "Dear me!" laughed not know you could 1 spitfire, Kit! Now, young man, you wou Palmer very delightful Kitty did not ans more was said unti home. "Oh, Sylvia," cried s the door closed, and v by the stove. "I mus she said to me to-nig pened to be sitting qu the rest, and she be me. 'Quite an interyoung people in this she opened with. 'Qu ed; I could not bear to What a fine-looking y Windsor is,' she said resident of this neighbor I answered. 'Ah! is he asked next, looking m her cruel blue eyes. He me, and I looked her be and said: 'He is a farr the richest men in the is what you want to k know the exact worth personal estates, but w you desire me to.' I wa ened, after I had said th look came at the corner and that sharp gleam in she only said, 'Thank told me all that I care I tell you to be watch she means to marry Jo "Why, Kitty,' I sai "how jealous and suspi grown suddenly. She John, however, if she I laughed at Kitty's in my heart I echoed th in my heart I echoed th by our house almost c stopping for a few mome without pausing. I k down to Mrs. Rivers', whole neighborhood wa the tale of his infatuat mer became the one the tion, and was the belle sharp, bitter strife with then I cast him out for "What are you writing one evening, as she seated at my desk. I passed her a note I pleted, freeing John fre

"Morning, Girls," he said, throwing off his fur cap. couple. I don't believe I should be | hush fell upon the group, while we were I in your place." I laughed at her remark then, and watied for her reappearance. She came, after a moment's absence, and with her-this. A small girl below the medium height; a figure of matchless symmetry, robed in all the John swept the snow off his boots extravagance of the prevailing fash-ion. Long golden hair, deep blue eyes, and a round, full face, with that peculiar tawny complexion just tinged with red in cheeks and lips. The mouth not large, yet a peculiar "Morning, girls," he said, throwing off his fur cap, and pushing back his brown curls. "Hurry and get that ironing done, for you have got to pre-pare for a party to-night." "A party!" we echoed, in a breath. "Where?" draw at the corners, which gave the face an almost cruel expression at times. The chin round, and nose slightly turned up. This was what I saw as Mrs. Rivers led her around the circle and "Down to Mrs. Rivers. Didn't get the invitation till last night. I was presented her to each one in turn. "Sylvia, I hate her already," Kitty whispered to me, after she had gone

That we may be able to supply the great demand for "Prairie Rose" butter from the Great Lakes to the wide Pacific.

You Send Us The Gream

We'll Send You The Money

You will always find our prices right, and the longer you deal with us the better you GET READY NOW for the best will be satisfied. of the season.

We also handle Dairy butter and eggs. For further information write to

The Brandon Creamery and Supply Co. LIMITED

Dept. E, Brandon, Man.

forgot it; but remembered it afterward.

with the door broom, and came in without the ceremony of knocking. He was a great, tall, brown-faced, handsome fellow, with laughing blue eyes and a womanish mouth.

told to invite all the young folks, and shall call for you girls at seven this the rounds, and our circle had begun evening, if you will go. The school to scatter. teacher boards at Mrs. Rivers, and I "Why, Kitty!" I cried, in surprise, suppose this party is more to get her acquainted with the young folks than anything else." "Who, is the school-teacher?" Kitty asked. "I don't know," John said. "Some girl from the city, I believe" Kitty and I finished our ironing,

"Why, Kitty!" I cried, in surprise, "what ails you? That did not sound like my sweet little sister." "I don't care," she answered, her cheeks flushing hotly. WI never felt so toward anybody in my life before. When she looked at me with her girl from the city, I believe" Kitty and I finished our ironing, and told mother of the party. "You are going, of course," she said. "And what are you to wear is the next question." And then we were buried deep in a

"Oh, Sylvi W she cri

ment

June, 1907.

amusing all by her wit and bright satire, I sought Mrs. Rivers. "Where is Miss Palmer from?" I asked, idly, after we had exchanged a few commonplaces. "From the city," replied Mrs.

Rivers, with a beaming countenance, for she was extremely proud of her young boarder's beauty and polish. "From the city, my dear. Her father was a wealthy merchant, but through a partner's dishonesty became bankrupt. Poor dear! she has been accustomed to wealth and luxury, and this is a great downfall to her. But she says she would not consent to be a weight upon her father's hands, and a weight upon her rather's hands, and much against his desires, she applied herself to teaching. I hope you young folks will make her stay as pleasant as possible, poor dear!" We had games and forfeits that evening, and music and dancing.

Miss Palmer was foremost in it all, and had no lack of partners and admirers. She was very gracious to the young men, but a little super-cilious toward the girls, we thought. John was very attentive to her, and I thought she favored him more than any other. "Pretty girl, that Miss Palmer, is she not?" he said, as we rode home. "Yes, quite," I answered, calmly, but Kitty interrupted:

"No, she is not pretty. There is deceit and hypocrisy written in every feature. I feel my flesh crawl when her hand touches mine, and the sound of her voice is as full of treachery as her face." "Dear me!" laughed John. "I did not know you could be such a little spitfire, Kit! Now, if you were a young man, you would think Miss Palmer very delightful."

Kitty did not answer, and little more was said until we reached home

"Oh, Sylvia," cried she, as soon as the door closed, and we were seated by the stove. "I must tell you what she said to me to-night. We happened to be sitting quite apart from the rest, and she began to talk to 'Quite an interesting circle of me. young people in this neighborhood,' she opened with. 'Quite,' I respond-ed; I could not bear to talk with her. What a fine-looking young man Mr. Windsor is,' she said next. 'Is he a resident of this neighborhood?' 'He is,' I answered. 'Ah! is he a farmer?' she asked next, looking me through with her cruel blue eyes. Her glance nettled me, and I looked her boldly in the face and said: 'He is a farmer, and one of the richest men in the country, if that stranger. But I knew there was not an atom of envy in Kitty's sweet na-ture, and this was an entirely new phase of her character. Later in the evening, when Miss Palmer had drawn an admiring group about her, and was entertaining and amusing all by her wit and bright it I John will get over his passion for that girl, and come back to you by-and-bye." "And do you suppose I would accept him if he did?" I asked, hotly. "I have ceased to love or respect him, and do you suppose I can ever feel either again for him?" "I don't know: I could" she an-

"I don't know; I could," she answered, softly, and for the first time I suspected that my sister loved John Windsor.

I sent the note, and received a grateful look from John's eyes at our next meeting. The winter wore away, school closed, she was far past the years of her girl-

The winter wore away, school closed, and still Miss Palmer lingered. The warm spring came, and she applied and was accepted as teacher of the summer school in our neighborhood, which brought her within a stone's throw of John's home. She boarded at Deacon White's, just across the way, and every day found them together, and gossip declared them betrothed.

I did not pale nor pine through all this. I think my affection for John was never very deep, for I really grieved very little after those first few weeks, and I found the society of other weeks, and I found the society of other young men quite as agreeable. But sweet sister Kitty grew moody and ner-vous, and she flushed and paled at the least excitement, and her eyes were like restless stars. "Oh, Sylvia," she would say to me over and over, "I know that Aurelia Palmer is not what she seems to be. I know she is not a true, pure woman, young throughout the neighborhood. John was called a "lucky dog" and a "fortunate fellow" by all his friends. Never had any stranger made such a stir in our little town as this yellow-hood. In the strong light her face showed marks and lines that either sorrow, sin, or years might have plowed. Yet she said her age was nineteen, and at times she looked even younger. "Kitty," called mother from the pantry one summer evening, "won't you run over to Mrs. White's, and borrow a drawing of tea for me? I am just out.

Kitty ran down the street toward Mrs. White's and I went on with the seam I was sewing.

She came back after some moments

There the paper was torn. and below was another incomplete sentence, "Come back to me and Lilla, and—" This was all. The writing was unmistakeably done by a masculine hand. But this was a great clue in the eyes of Kitty.

"Do you know what I mean to do?" she said. "I am going to Dunlap Station. I have passed through there several times going to Aunt Sarah's, and it is only a day's journey by rail. And Dora Smith lives there, too; and, you know, we used to room together at the academy.

And here Kitty danced in delight at this new thought that had just occurred to her, "Father," said Kitty, at the supper table that night, "I want to take a little journey. May I? I want to go to Dunlap Station and visit Dora Smith.

e next

lere on lready,

e were

o Mrs.

n hour

ole had ve, and sounds

rls, and joined

minutes

embled.

ard the

vill call

ight it to you

ould be

Lizzie,

almer."

a little

After

Half a

ce. She ice, and 1 below ure of all the ig fashep blue ce, with ion just nd lips. peculiar ave the sion at nd nose

hile we

as Mrs. cle and n turn. "Kitty ad gone d begun surprise, t sound ed, her ver felt before. ith her elt like od girl, her." in the ve suptoward

tractive

is what you want to know. I do not know the exact worth of his real and personal estates, but will ask him, if you desire me to.' I was almost frightened, after I had said this, for that cruel look came at the corners of her mouth, and that sharp gleam in her eyes. But she only said, 'Thank you. You have told me all that I care to know.' But I tell you to be watchful, Sylvia, for she means to marry John Windsor." "Why, Kitty,' I said, in surprise, "how jealous and suspicious you have grown suddenly. She is welcome to John, however, if she can get him."

I laughed at Kitty's suspicions, but in my heart I echoed them. John rode by our house almost daily, sometimes stopping for a few moments, but oftener without pausing. I knew he went down to Mrs. Rivers', and soon the whole neighborhood was ringing with the tale of his infatuation. Miss Palmer became the one theme of conversation, and was the belle of every gathering. More than one young rustic worshipped at her shrine, but John was the favored one. I had a few weeks of sharp, bitter strife with my heart, and then I cast him out forever. "What are you writing?" asked Kitty, one evening, as she came upon me seated at my desk. I passed her a note I had just completed, freeing John from his engage-"Oh, Sylvi W she cried, "don't send

"Standard" Porcelain Enameled Ware

in the modern home adds the final touch of perfection to the domestic appointments, and its absolute sanitation affords a constant safeguard of family health for many years to come. -----

Our book, "MODERN BATHROOMS," tells you how to plan, buy and arrange your bathroom, and illustrates many beautiful and inexpensive as well as luxurious rooms, showing the cost of each fixture in detail, together with many hints on decoration, tiling, etc. It is the most complete and beautiful booklet ever issued on the subject, and contains 100 pages. FREE for six cents postage and the name of your plumber and architect (if selected).

CAUTION: Every piece of "Matter" Ware bears our "Matter" "GREEN and GOLD" guarantee label, and has our trade-mark "Matter" cast on the outside. Unless the label and trade-mark are on the fixture it is not "Matter" Ware. Refuse substitutes—they are all inferior and will cost you more in the end. The word "Matter" is stamped on all our nickled brass fittings; specify them and see "hat you get the genuine trimmings with your bath and lavatory, etc.

Address Standard Sanitary 10 g. Co Dept. 43, Pittsburgh, Pa., U.S.A.

Pittsburgh Showroom, 949 Penn Avenue Offices and Showrooms in New York: "Standard" Building, 35-37 West 31st Street London, Eng.: 22 Holborn Viaduct, E. C. / New Orleans Cor. Baronne & St. Joseph Sts. Louisville: 325-329 West Main Street Cle-eland: 208-210 Huron Street that assists the bride in making more complete the furnishings of her new home, is the one looked upon with much favor and appreciation. Its very usefulness makes it a constant reminder of the giver.

The Useful Sift

In this connection we direct attention to a handsome polished oak

Cabinet of $23.0 Lontai .i g Suard Carvers, Same Carvers, and Steel, 12 Dessert Knives 12 Dinn r Knives. -

A most complete Cutlery Table Service. Sent by mail prepaid, upon receipt of -rice.

Henry Birks and Sons, Limited Sold ana Silversmiths 350--352 Main St. Winnipeg

Kemarkable Predictions

How Benjamin H. Robinson Secured His Start in Life and a Good Income Through an Astrologer.

ANY ONE CAN RECEIVE A HOROSCOPE READING FREE [From New York World, July 1st, 1906.]

Benj. H. Robinson

To settle the wide spread discussion as to the value of astrology in planning one's life. an in-vestigation has been made of the experiences of several people who have had an opportunity to find out the truth.

As a result of the remarkable things learned, arrangements have been made whereby all read-ers may secure, free of charge, a horoscope of their lives from the leading astrologer of the age.

Tha. one should fail to take advantage of this opportunity is shown by the happy experi-ence of Mr. Benjamin H. Robinson, of Charle-mont, Ontario. His story, just as he told it, is as follows:

"Some time ago I became interested in astrol-ogy. Having heard of several people who have learned some remarkable things about their fu-ture from a learned astrologer in the United States, I decided to write to him for information about myself. Like many other young people, I had been hesitating and halting between two opinions. Two ways were open to me, but know-ing nothing of the future or whether my busi-ness enterprises would prove successful or not, I was undecided what to do.

"At the time I wrote to the astrologer, Prof. Edi-son of Binghamton, N. Y. I had about made up my mind not to take a certain journey which I had been thinking about. But when I received my horoscope it been proved beyond all question of doubt. In order that all readers may be able to plan their lives and improve their opportunities for success, arrangements have been made by which every reader can secure a horoscope or reading of their life from Prof. Edison, the same astrologer whose skill moulded the destiny o Mr. Robinson. His wonderful forecasts have earned for him the title, "The Wizaro of the Stars." The work and ability which he places at your service must not for a minute be judged by the so-called horoscopes offered to the public by those who know nothing whatever about this interesting and instructive science. scierce.

Simply send your name, the day, month and year of your birth, enclose a two cent stamp for return postage, and the horoscope which will be sent you Free, will mystify you by its correctness. It will tell you things about yourself that you have no idea are known to any one else.

There is another side to this fascinating science of astrology. It is well-known that the planets wield a potent influence over all matters connected with love and marriage.

A competent practical astrologer can tell you where to look for a hus-band or wife, when you should marry; can tell you under what conditions you w ll be most fascinating, where you can look for true friends.

and when he looked up his eyes were adjoining village two days later. Little did our honest parents suspect the real object of her journey. "If I do not discover anything," she said, "no one need ever know that I expected to. But if I do, I shall write to you immediately.'

One week after her departure we received a letter speaking of her safe arrival and her warm reception at Smith mansion. Another week passed, one more, and then I recived a long, closely-written letter.

"Dear sister," it ran. "I have found it all out, and it is worse than I expected. Let me tell you how it all hap-pened. As soon as I could, after my arrival, I began questioning Dora about the people in Dunlap. I asked the name and history of every person we met on the street, and poor Dora thought I had grown wonderfully inquisitive; but not a clue to our mystery could I get till a few days ago. On Tuesday, a small bill was sent in to Dora from a mercantile establishment. I sat near her when it came, and 1...y heart leaped in my throat when I saw the writing. It was written by the same hand that wrote the scrap I had in my possession. I knew it, and when Dora went out I compared them. They were exact. Dora came back soon.

"'I am going to Dunlap's to pay that bill and do a little more shopping,' she said. 'Would you like to go?' "Of course, I went. On the way I asked her who made out her bill, and she answered: "'Mr. Dunlap, the young merchant.

Why?' "'Oh, because the writing looked familiar.' I said.

"I looked at Mr. Dunlap with interest, I assure you. I found him to be a very handsome young man, of about thirty, I should say, but with the most sorrowful dark eyes you ever saw. Dora made her purchases, and then I heard her say: "'How is Lilla to-day?'

"You may imagine my sensations. "'Not as well.' he answered, in a low tone. 'I think she will not live long.' "After we passed out I asked Dora who Mr. Dunlap was, and if Lilla was his child.

"'No,' she said; 'there was a sad story connected with the two,' and then she told it. Mr. Dunlap's father was a well-to-do mechanic, with a fine wife and three children-Robert, the young merchant, and Amanda and Delia, two beautiful daughters. Delia was the eldest of the three, and married early and well. Robert went into the mercantile business as an errand boy, and at last came to be a leading business man in Dunlap.

"Both the parents and this son worshipped Amanda, and she was given every advantage for education and culture. But at the age of seventeen she eloped with her drawing master, a man of low birth, and who had a wife and family still living, which she knew at full of terrible pain. "'I thank you,' he said, 'for this that you have told me, painful as it is to me. I had heard from my sister once in the last year. She wrote to me that she was teaching, and asked for news of her child. I wrote in answer that her child was failing daily, and re-quested her to come back, and we would never speak of the past. But she never replied to my letter, and I had feared something of this kind. When do you return home?' he asked, after a moment. I told him next week, and he is going with me. So prepare father and mother for our coming. "Yours, KITTY."

This was Kitty's letter, that I re-ceived in the midst of a merry throng. It was Miss Palmer's birthday, she said, and a merry company had gathered at Deacon White's, where we had games and feasting in honor of the occasion. Here Kitty's letter was brought to me, and I read it, while from the other side of the room came the merry laughter that Miss Palmer's bright sallies provoked. Do you wonder my heart turned faint and sick, and I had no part in the merriment

A few days later Kitty and Robert Dunlap came. We all tried to hush the matter up and keep it as quiet as possible.

Miss Palmer fainted at Deacon White's table when her brother came in, and that set people to wondering and gossiping. Her school came to an abrupt close, of course, and she left the neighborhood with her brother soon after. We tried to keep the truth from John, but he insisted upon being told why their marriage which was to take place in September, was to be broken off. So Robert had to tell him all.

The gossips set all sorts of tales afloat, but the worst was never fully known beyond our family, though a portion of the truth got abroad.

The woman went back to her old home, but secluded herself from the world, and she died a few months after the grave closed over her little daughters' form. The husband and father came after she had passed away, to take his child to a home across the sea, but found both mother and child no more.

Robert Dunlap came down to the country occasionally, and at last induced me to go back and stay with him, as he lost a great deal of time ' journey-

John has recoverd from his sorrow and griet and Kitty reigns over his household, happy in the belief that he never loved anybody else quite as well as he does her. Well, he ought to love But I would not change places he-V her.

AS SOON AS LENT COMES IN.

The nolidays seem long ago; bridge

June, 1907. he COPYRIGHT PHONE 4 WISDOM "I've been to ding," a wise g recently. "Do are awfully qu "Do They either o tliat expressio

June, 1907.

a journey and to do so by all means, even if I did not want to go at first. It went on to state that some-thing would occur to my lasting benefit and happi-ness because of this journness, because of this journney, and that I would re-ceive help in money, love, business or employment.

"Well I acted on Prof. Edison's advice and went on my journey, which was to take my examinations for an engineer. I passed, and to-day I am able to earn from $80 to $100 per month.

"According to my horo-scope, I am likely to lose

"It was really wonderful the things that wer "It was really wonderful the things that were told in my horoscope. It pointed out all of my evil tendencies and thus gave me a chance to overcome them. Nothing ever gave me such power to control circumstances and conditions. or so much knowledge of myself. By showing me how to awaken and develop all possibilities and powers that lay dormant within me. I found a complete mastery over thy affairs. a complete mastery over my affairs.

"I hope that my experience will be the means "I hope that my experience will be the means of persuading many others to have their horo-scope prepared by Prof. Edison. The knowledge it has given me has already shown me how to largely increase my earnings so that I can now earn from $3010 $100 per month, and the other information it gave me was equally valuable. All those who wish to learn how much astrology has done for me I will gladly advise if they write me.'

Surely Mr. Robinson's experience furnishes a lesson for everybody who wishes to succeed in life. That astrology is an accurate science has Trace the birth records of a mis-mated couple, and astrology will prove to you that they never should have married. On the other hand, Prof. Edison has never known of a divorce where couples were wedd-ed in accordance with their astrological indications.

Just as Mr. Robinson was shown the way to in-crease his financial wel-fare, just as he was guided by astrology to the busi-ness for which he was best adapted, so all those who secure a horoscope of their lives from this same gifted astrologer will be able to better their financial condition, increase their social prospects and make their life more complete, more successful and far more happy.

Understand that it will cost you nothing to secure a reading of your life from Prof. Edison. In order to help all readers in the race for suc cess in order that they may learn how greatly an accurate and scientific astrological reading helps one to plan and develop one's life, Prof. Edison has arranged to give a free horoscope o. reading to all who write for it. All that Prof. Edison asks is that you send him a two-cent stamp to pay the cost to return postage together with your name, address, sex, the day, month and year of your birth, and whether you are married or single. He will then send you a scientific and accurate astrological reading of your life by return mail, without any obligation on your part. Simply mention this paper and address your letter directly to Prof. Edison, 85 Sixth Street, Binghamton, N. Y.

the time. This was a death-blow to the poor mother, who died before a greater sorrow came.

"After traveling some months with this man, as was afterward ascertained, Amanda parted from him, and took board in a distant village, and taught music, under the name of Luella Lester. Here she made the acquaintance of a wealthy young merchant, and was leg-ally married to him, and bore one child. a fragile girl, named Lilla. Through the reverses of fortune the merchant became bankrupt, and his wife fled the morning after the fall, where or with whom none could tell. She had left a note, telling him where her parents lived, and to carry the child to them. This he did, and learned the whole shameful story from the lips of her brother. Robert and his father both resided with the married daughter then, as the wife and mother had died, and they took the child of their lost one in their midst while the deserted and deceived husband became a wanderer. This is the story, dear sister, that I heard, and little did I sleep that night. The next morning, while Dora was busied with her household duties, I told her I was going out for a walk. and to purchase some gloves. I went to Mr. Dunlap's store, and asked him for a private interview. He looked surprised; and I do not know just how I told my story. But I did at last. He sat with his face buried in his hands, whist is on the wane. Cotillions, too are nearly through; Lent's almost here again. I've been so gay all winter that I feel I'm steeped in sin. A new leaf I shall turn at once as soon as Lent comes in.

I feel my own unworthiness, indeal I really do. I've spoken short to mother and I've shaken little Sue. I took that silly Tommy Brooks away from Nettle Gwynne, But I'll make reparation, though, as soon as Lent comes in.

I'll give up sweets and soda then, and though I don't like fish
I'll eat mushrooms on toast and crabs cooked in a chaing dish.
I'll go without meat that I love on

I'll go without meat, that I love on fast days and I'll pin My curls way back beneath my braid as soon as Lent comes in.

Our rector has a lovely face (a widower,

Our rector has a lovely face (a widower, they say.
My tailor suit of black, with furs of lynx, I'll wear each day.
His eyes are of the softest brown, he has a square cut chin.
A white tulle bow I'll wear with my black with when I ont comes in black suit when Lent comes in.

My gown of helitrope will do, I think, on pleasant days; 'Twill match the violets I'm sure to get from Freddy Hayes. I'll take a class in Sunday school if I can stand the din— I'm sure to meet the rector there, as soon as Lent comes in.

soon as Lent comes in.
I'll try to lead a godly life (how very strange 'twill seem)—
The gown for Easter that I plan will simply be a dream.
But I must dress—'tis opera night, twice every week I've been.
Without regret I'll give it up as soon as Lent comes in.
—Irene E. Benson.

announced in t. she should have at four o'clock that she should nor a veil, nor

"And she die anything so sim we got to the mingling with h and that one, j ple afternoon te n't be stiff and to unbend. Ber speak with his r so it wasn't so ceremony.

"After we all a little hush, an were making th of the room w flowers, and wh And then they w

"It seemed to be. There, sur loved best, in l and natural, she and repeated the one. There was unnatural situat from the solen It must have be

her. "So big and through; t I feel as soon ndeel I and I've ks away ough, as hen, and nd crabs love on ny braid widower, furs of rown, he with my nes in. I think, re to get nool if I there, as low very plan will a night, en as soon Benson.

907.

is that is to

r once ne that news r that nd rend we ut she I had When , after k, and father

I re-

throng.

ered at games

casion.

to me, er side ughter

s pro-

heart

ad no Robert

ush the

as pos-

Deacon

r came

e to an left the

oon af-

h from

ng told

to take broken n all. of tales er fully

1 a por-

om the

hs after

daughfather to take sea, but o more. to the induced him, as journeysorrow

ver his

that he

as well to love

e places

S IN.

bridge

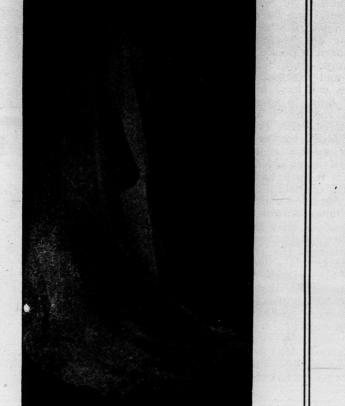

she should have her wedding at home, at four o'clock in the afternoon, and that she shouldn't wear any gloves, nor a veil, nor march in.

"And she didn't. You never saw anything so simple and natural. When we got to the house, there she was mingling with her guests greeting this and that one, just as if it was a simple afternoon tea. And people couldn't be stiff and unsocial. They had to unbend. Berkeley had a chance to speak with his new relatives to-be, and so it wasn't so hard for him after the ceremony.

"After we all got there, there came a little hush, and Leila and Berkeley were making their way to the corner of the room which was banked with flowers, and where the minister stood. And then they were married.

"It seemed to me just as it should be. There, surrounded by those she loved best, in her own home, simple and natural, she put her hand in his and repeated the words that made them one. There was no show, no strained, unnatural situation, nothing to distract from the solemnity of the moment. It must have been a precious one for her.

"So big and overshadowing are the all 3 dream."

THE OUTDOOR CEREMONY.

1. 24

S. 19.30

If one is so fortunate as to live in the country an out-door wedding can be made very pretty, but, of course, there is always the chance that the whole thing will be spoiled by rain. One wedding was celebrated in an apple orchard when the fruit trees were in bloom and was so pretty that every girl there wanted one like it.

Two little nieces of the bride stretched the white ribbons through the long aisles of trees, and then came the bridal procession, the bridesmaids and groomsmen ahead, singing the wedding chorus from "Lohengrin." The bride was very simply gowned in white organdie, with a wreath of wild crab-apple blooms in her hair and the service was read under a widespreading canopy of blossoms. Afterward, the company adjourned to the house for refreshments.

Rustic arbors are easily improvised at any desired place for such an occasion, and common fish net, with twigs thrust through the meshes and fastened on the other side, makes a very effective drapery where a curtain or screen is needed. Any appropriate flowers may be used for decoration

June 1907.

As for the wedding ring, as many and supper served afterwards at small tables on the lawn.

AFTER YOU ARE MARRIED.

Very few young women nowadays but what feel the necessity of putting forth even greater efforts to make themselves attractive after they are married than they did during the period of their courtship. Sensible, practical, twentieth-century girls re-gard such matters in their true light and realize that it will require a little more tact and diplomacy to hold your husband's love and admiration, now that you are married and with him almost constantly, than it did to win him. Before you were married he used to see you only in the evenings when you were prepared for his com-ing by being tastefully and becomingly attired, hair dressed in the most attractive manner possible and your whole appearance the very pink of perfection.

Most assuredly, after you are married and live with him in the close relationship of husband and wife you will not be expected to be always so perfectly groomed and carefully dressed as when you received him at your home of an evening, but still you need never be dowdy and you can wear neat, pretty house dresses instead of old wornout shirtwaists and frayed and bedraggled skirts. You can always have your hair combed and done up, no matter what you are doing, if you are determined to always look your best in his eyes. It is not only in your appearance that you should strive to make yourself attractive but in your

ORIGIN OF VEIL AND RING. The origin of the wedding veil is, quite appropriately, shrouded some-what in mystery, although there are given several possible origins. The most probable of these says that originally the wedding veil was a sort of canopy, held over the couple by attendants, much in the same fashion as the canopy of flowers is held over the peasant bride on the stage; this canopy was merely a cloth which, came in time to be held only over the bride to hide her blushes; then, finally, it came to be a part of the bride's costume, worn as a sort of head dress. As for the wedding ring, as many origins have been attached to it as to the veil, nearly all of them being equally beautiful. Everyone is familiar with the ring as meaning constancy, fidelity unbroken love, enduring forever; the circlet, having no end, signifying "Eternity." Pliny tells us and seems to believe, that the wedding ring is worn on the third finger of the left hand because a vein runs from this finger straight to the heart of the wife, so that a ring worn on this finger is right next the wife's heart, while yet it is in sight of all the world. The ring was probably selected as a wedding token on account of its convenience; it need not be removed with different garments, its plainness making it possible to wear, it with the richest as well as the poorest of garments. It is also as appropriate to wear in the halls of splendor as in the humble cottage.

THE MATRIMONIAL STORY. Recently, some interesting statistics LAMENESS

Whether it is a fresh Bruise, Cut or Strain-or an old Spavin, Splint, Ringbone or Swelling-you can cure your horse with /

Kendall's Spavin Cure

Thos. Castles, of Newark, N.J., bought a horse-lamed with a Jack Spavin-for $100. He cured every sign of lameness with Kendall's Spavin Cure-won five races with the horse-then sold the animal to his former owner for $1,000.00.

WELLINGTON, N.Z., 'Nov. 2nd, '05. "I have found your Spavin Cure a very fine remedy for all sorts of lameness in horses and I am never without it." E. J. WISBEY.

Get Kendall's Spavin Cure-the remedy used by two nations for two generations. $1. a bottle-6 for $5. Our book-"Treatise On The Horse" -will save you many a dollar if carefully read and acted upon. Write today for a free copy.

DR. B. J. KENDALL CO., 27 ENOSBURG FALLS, - VERMONT, U.S.A.

sfaction and cannot be beat, so the wearers of them tell is. We are only asking $5 or this belt and it will do the work of a belt costing three or four times that sum. Write us for full particulars. When ordering state

man. J. H. CARSON 54 King Street

WINNIPEG, - MAN.

whether for a lady or gentle-

The Discomforts of House Cleaning will be greatly reduced IF YOU EAT

GENTS

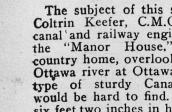

FOR

Just as sustaining as meat and requires no preparation.

should interest yourself in the things piled, with the following surprising reactions and manners as well. You | in regard to marriage have been comthat interest him so that you may be companionable to him and so that you may be able to talk intelligently with him on subjects that appeal to him.

type of sturdy Cana would be hard to find. six feet two inches in h sive shoulders on which nificent head, denoting of intelligence, he is looking figure on the capital of Canada. Rockliffe Park, one

June, 1907.

Thomas

spots of Ottawa, was a few years ago by M mere trifle. The own city should have Rockl time and he did not wa to have it fall into the parties. He is a tho gentleman, a son of

SOME WEDDING SUPERSTITIONS.

If her wedding day be rainy, her life will be-sorrowful.

Saturday is an especially unlucky day to be married on. It is unlucky for a bridegroom to stand at the junction of cross roads or beside a closed gate on his wedding morn.

In going or coming from a wedding, it is unlucky to meet a funeral. If it be a female the bride will not live long; if a male, the groom.

It is a bad omen to break a dish on your wedding day. If a girl meets a newly wedded pair, their first child will be a girl; if a boy, a boy.

The girl who gets the longest piece of what is called "bachelor's cake" at the wedding, will be the first to get married.

To be lucky, a bride must wear gray for her travelling dress.

It is bad luck for the best man and bridesmaid to walk home together from the church if they are engaged.

In Germany, Thursday is the un-lucky day to be married on.

In England it is considered unlucky if a bride does not shed tears on her wedding day.

Snow on the wedding day foretells a happy marriage. A betrothed pair must not sit at the same table with a newly married pair, or they will all be very unlucky.

individuals will be unmarried, 365 will be living in a state of wedlock, while 56, for one reason or another, will have been widowed. Out of the 1,000 weddings, representing a thousand men and a thousand women, 109 women will have married at 19 years, while only 10 young men will have found the heart and the means to accomplish the evident wish. This will mean that at least ninety-nine young women at this age will have married men older than themselves. Indeed, it may be taken for granted that 109 of them did so, for at the age of 19 years and under, the young man's fancy always runs toward a woman much older than himself. Even at 29 years old the women lead the men in marriage, the record showing 580 women to 515 in comparison. At 44 years, however, the chances of the man improve materially in his showing of 255 to 208, while at 54 years he has 220 chances of finding a bride where the woman has only 103 chances of some husband taking her.

"Marry in May and repent for aye." may be an old couplet that has influenced Cupid, but in 1,000 weddings only 41 will have been celebrated in May, as compared to the 145 to the credit of June. July, with its summer resort opportunities and its outings and picnics, cuts a considerable figure in the accompanying chart, while December with 110 weddings, and January, with 139, rank next to June.

The Carnefac Stock Food Co., Winnipeg.

CARNEFAC SEASON An AUTHORITY. Prof. Shaw, formerly of the Agricultural College, Guelph, Ont., and now edi tor of the St. Paul Farmer, says: —This is to cert-ify trat the ingredients used by Mr. W 3. Doug as, Winnipeg, Man., in the manufacture oi his Carnefac Stock Food have been submitted to me for my opinion regarding their value. Imaysay with reference to them, I am satisfied they are healthful. If properly blended they should make a splendid tonic for live stock, more especially when the digestion is not in the best working order. They will act as an appetizer, and will al-so tend to stimulate the digestion so that when result should be to quickly improve their condi-tion. I would suppose that this food would be especially healthfulin feeding horses in preparing them for spring work, and putting in tone the stomachs of cattle, sheep and swine that have been pushed too hard in feeding. It should also render go-d service when fed to calves that are not prospering because of indigestion.—THOMAS SHAW.

Keefer, of Thorold, born November 4th, cated at Upper C

Toronto. Mr. Keefer was er Erie and Welland can as chief engineer of t works 1845-48.

In 1849 he gained Lo for the best essay on " the Canals of Canada culture," and about thi his "Philosophy of The following year ployed with the surve gation of the rapid Lawrence, etc., and he Canadian government United States Consu Canadian trade with th In 1852 he went to Ne in a second report of ject; these reports les to the reciprocity trea In 1851 he made pre

lts

eat

tel

$5 do ing ım.

tic-

ate tle-

N

ed

DN

y of the ow edi to cert-. Doug-e ot his d to me may say hey are ld make pecially vorking l will al-at when rift the r condi-ould be eparing one the

at have uld also that are

THOMAS

The Western Home Monthly

Thomas Coltrin Keefer, C.M.G.

Coltrin Keefer, C.M.G., the eminent canal'and railway engineer, resides at the "Manor House," his beautiful country home, overlooking the mighty Ottawa river at Ottawa, Ont. A finer type of sturdy Canadian manhood would be hard to find. Standing fully six feet two inches in height, with massive shoulders on which is set a magnificent head, denoting a high degree of intelligence, he is a distinguished looking figure on the streets at the capital of Canada.

Rockliffe Park, one of the beauty spots of Ottawa, was sold to the city a few years ago by Mr. Keefer for a mere trifle. The owner felt that the city should have Rockliffe Park for all time and he did not want in after years

The subject of this sketch, Thomas | ior the Grand Trunk Railway and for the railway bridge over the St. Lawrence at Montreal, and was appointed Canadian Commissioner for the Interntional Exhibition at London, England.

Mr. Keefer was nominated engineer to Montreal Harbor Commissioners, 1853. He has constructed water works for the cities of Montreal Hamilton, and Ottawa, and has been largely engaged in harbor and bridge engineering.

For some time he acted as chief engineer to railways in Upper and I ower Canada. He was a Commissioner to the International Exhibition, London, 1862; Executive Commissioner for Paris Exhibition, 1878, and a member of the Interto have it fall into the hands of private parties. He is a thorough Canadian gentleman, a son of the late George Honor. In 1869-70 he published a PORCELAIN ENAMELED WARE Do not remodel your home, or begin to build without first seeing that your architect has included in his specifications the installing of "Standard ...Ideal"

11

Lavatories Bath Tubs, Water Closets, Kitchen Sinks and Laundry Tubs.

Strong as iron, spow white and beautiful as china, made in one piece, non-porous and smooth as a billiard ball, "Standard Idra!" Ware in the home is the guarantee of absolute cleanliness, freedom from poisonous gases, and the boon of good health.

"HEALTH INSURANCE"

For The Family

"Standard Ideal"

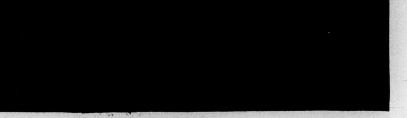

health. Modern Science has provided for this in

The only real life insurance is protection from disease and ill-

"Standard Ideal" Ware Lasts Longest Your architect or plumber will recommend it. Ask them. The STANDARD IDEAL CO., Ltd. Port Hope, Ontario Sales Offices and Sample Rooms : TORONTO, 50 Colborne Street MONTREAL, 128 West Craig St. - WINNIPEG, 24 Telfer Building

STRENGTH FREE TO MEN How to Regain it Without Cost Until Cured

Strength of body-strength of mind. Who would not possess it if he could? It is nature's greatest gift-our most valuable possession. Without this strength life is a failure, with it everything is possible. Almost every man was made strong, but iew have been taught

T. C. KEEFER, C.M.G

Keefer, of Thorold, Ont., and was | series of letters advocating a transborn November 4th, 1821, and educontinental railway for Canada. cated at Upper Canada College, Toronto.

Mr. Keefer was employed on the Erie and Welland canals, 1838-45, and as chief engineer of the Ottawa river works 1845-48.

In 1849 he gained Lord Elgin's prize for the best essay on "The Influence of the Canals of Canada on Her Agriculture," and about this time published his "Philosophy of the Railways." The following year found him employed with the surveys for the navigation of the rapids of the St. Lawrence, etc., and he was sent by the Canadian government to assist the United States Consul to report on conferred by McGill University, Mon-Canadian trade with the United States. Canadian trade with the United States. In 1852 he went to New York to assist brief record of the remarkable an ! wor in a second report on the same sub- thy career of a distingished Canadian. ject; these reports leading ultimately to the reciprocity treaty of 1854. intellect is clear and he is, altogether, In 1851 he made preliminary surveys a most interesting personage.

In 1886 was vice-president of the American Society of Civil Engineers, New York, and Chairman of the Royal Commission at Montreal on ice floods in 1887; was president of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers, and in 1888 president of American Society ot Civil Engineers.

Mr. Keefer was elected a member of the Royal Society of Canada, 1891, and acted as International Commissioner for deeper water-ways between the Great Lakes and the Atlantic in 1895. He is a member of the Institution of Civil Engineers and was created C.M.G. in 1878. The LL.D. degree Although in his eighty-sixth year his

how to preserve this strength. Many, through ignorance, have wasted it recklessly or used it up excessively, leaving the body exhausted, the nerves shaky, the eyes dull, and the mind slow to act. There are thousands of these weak, puny, broken-down men dragging on from day to day who might be as strong and vigorous as ever they were if they would only turn to the right source. Electricity cures these weaknesses. It gives you back the very element you have lost. It puts new life into the veins and renews the vigor of youth. For 40 years I have been curing men, and so certain am I now of what my method will do that I will give to any man who needs it my world-famed DR. SANDEN ELECTRIC BELT AND SUSPENSORY, FREE UNTIL CURED. You pay nothing down, you deposit nothing, you risk nothing; but upon request I will furnish you with the Belt to use, and if it cures, you pay me my price-in many cases not over $5.00. If you are not cured or satisfied, return the Belt to me and that ends it.

As I am the originator of this method of treatment and have made it a great success, there are many imitators of my Belt; but my great knowledge, based upon 40 years' experience, is mine alone. My advice is given free with the Belt.

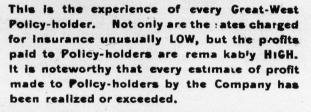

This offer is made especially to men who lack strength and vitality, who have drains, losses, impotency, varicocele, etc., but I also give my Belt on the same terms to sufferers from Rheumatism, Lame Back, Sciatica, Kidney, Liver and Stomach Troubles

Call or write for a Belt to-day, or, if you want to look into the matter further, I have two of the best books ever written on Electricity and its medical uses. which I send free, sealed, by mail.

DR. W. A. SANDEN,

140 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont.

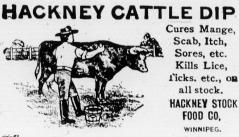

Full information on request. Ask for a copy of the leaflet "OUR SAVINGS"-of particular interest to wage-earners.

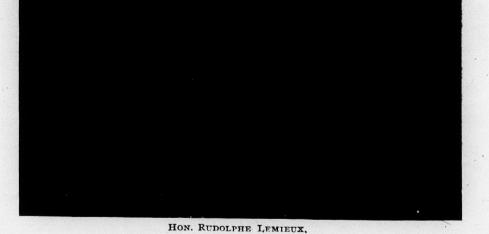

THE GREAT-WEST LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY. Head Office, - - Winnipeg.

MEN'S GLOTHING Sto $15 Elegant Tailoted prices. Sead your order direct, to the factory. orices. Send your order dir Send to-day for cloth samples ott Suit Co., London, Ont.

When writing advertisers, please mention Western Home Monthly.

in the West has gone to furnish his- | Labor, and the remedies for the sotory, the thoughtful reader will cast about him and analyze the conditions most responsible for whatever suffering was experienced. Among these the prime factor is to be found in the social conditions which made possible lotion of the labor problem in the production of commodities necessary to life brought into prominent relief the baby of the cabinet and the subject of this brief sketch.

Mr. Rudolphe Lemieux was born November 1st, 1866, and is consethe shortage of fuel in the Western Provinces. The labor problem has quently but forty-one years of age. taxed the ingenuity and skill of the He studied law at Laval University ablest intellects in modern years and its solution is still puzzling the econoand was called to the Quebec Bar in 1891, becoming a member of the law mists of every nation. Its condition faculty of his Alma Mater in 1896. A rendered the coal strike at Lethbridge Liberal in politics, he was one of a last September possible and curtailed leading band of young politicians who, the fuel output to such a degree as to during the Liberal opposition at Ottawa, did much to mould public threaten the whole Western community with dire distress. The suf- | opinion in his native province and he

How s At gaz Of the That fi

If my

Ere th How s

The lu And th

When

Letter

And w

Of har

in the limelight of

The appointment of

In the How s If he Ere th

l the ld of n an con-

grapblem, some

e of

luced

task

it of

e so-

the ssary relief

sub-

born

onseage. ersity

Bar in

e law 6. A

of a

who,

public nd he

at

A

The Western Home Monthly

Lancer Lure

devoted all his energies to the perfecting the party's organization, and injecting his own energy and enthusiasm into the Liberal ranks, which resulted in the victory of 1896. In 1894 he married the eldest daughter of Sir Louis Jette, Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec. In 1896 he was elected shrewdest diplomat was necessary, a member for Gaspe for which conlast year also for Nicolet. In 1904 he could command at once the confiwas made Solicitor-General. In 1904 he was made Solicitor-General. In 1905 he accompanied Hon. Mr. Prefon-taine on the last journey of the de-ceased Minister of Marine to Paris. On Jan. 30 of last year he pronounced over the bier of his late colleague a funeral oration marked by rare eloquence and feeling. The ability of the young Solicitor-General made a deep impression at the time and on Lemieux was appointed his successor as Postmaster-General and Minister of Labor.

Thus it is that the youngest of the Cabinet Ministers, during the last Rudolphe Lemieux gives exception-Cabinet Ministers, during the last session of the House, made his debut al promise of achieving high distinc-tion in Canadian public life. Fortyas a statesman in charge of a governone years of age, he is thoroughly ment measure of far-reaching and equipped for a most successful cavital importance to the whole nation, but in a particular manner to the omy, and belles lettres his education but in a particular manner to the western part of it. His ability to is thorough. He is a finished master cope with a situation of such magniof both French and English and an tude was very soon made apparent. eloquent and forceful speaker. Born A close student of the labor questions of French parents he is British from of other countries, he had the salient and objectionable features of their conviction and possesses the dom-inating traits of both nationalities. legislation thoroughly canvassed, and And thus in his native province it is the logic and fairness of his argu-ments in favor of the bill which he not surprising to find those who see in him a leader in politics and future offered, combined with a parliamentprime minister. ary finesse and tact which he display-Mr. Lemieux might be termed a ed in his conduct of the measure self-made man. His success is due to through the Commons, gave ample evidence of his potentialities for severe application and industry combined with natural talent of a high statecraft and popular leadership. order. In his chosen profession, as But the placing upon the Statute in public life, he has been ever a con-stant and industrious student. As a Book to a measure to become law is far from being a satisfactory or practimaster of British Constitutional Law cal solution of the particular phase of and of parliamentary procedure he has few equals in the Commons, and during his busy life he has found social life which it is destined to serve. No matter how good the law, the application of it at times brings it into time to write a treatise on "The ordisrepute and causes it to defeat the igin of Canadian Law. very end for which it was drafted. Here, again, during the late troubles in the collieries of the Kicking Horse Part of his early training he secured in the ranks of journalism and he has contributed many thoughtful es-Pass and the Crow's Nest, the farsays to leading reviews. Always a sighted wisdom of the young Minisclose student, he studies hard before ter of Labor saved the situation. His he speaks and his utterances well legislation-radical though it appear- | thought out, go a long way in public ed in this country-was to stand the life. He is broad-minded and tolerant test of public criticism, where its weaknesses, if any, would surely be brought to light. And moreover it was a new departure—a novel method to a degree, and his sentiments have been applauded with equal enthusi-asm by Montreal and Toronto audiences. of adjusting the differences between Personally, Mr. Lemieux is one of capital and labor. All eyes were turned to the head of the Labor De- ment. Always dignified, courteous partment, Rudolphe Lemieux stood and obliging, he exhibits many of the in the limelight of public criticism. traits of his leader, Sir Wilfrid The appointment of a chairman of Laurier.

the investigating committee was necessary and the representatives of every shade of politics were eagerly canvassing the situation. Who would receive the appointment? And here again the young Minister of Labor showed his insight and wisdom. The man of undoubted integrity and busistituency he was again returned in 1900 and again in 1904, and in this ing and unblemished reputation, who dence and respect of both disputing parties. And such a one was found in Sir Wm. Mulock, ex-Postmaster-General and Organizer of the Department of Labor. That the differences were amicably adjusted without the intervention of the Department detracts nothing from the value or practicability of the measure, but rather emphasizes the necessity of March 1st he was presented with the Cross of the Legion of Honor. When the Hon. A. B. Aylesworth was made Minister of Justice, Rudolphe and through them to the whole country, the scope and meaning of the new law.

Only

Parts

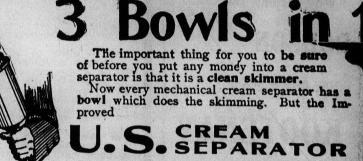

Consumption Book This valuable medical book tells in plain, simple This valuable medical book tells in plain, simple language how Consumption can be cured in your own home. If you know of anyone suffering from Consumption, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma or any throat or lung trouble, or are yourself afflicted, this book will help you to a cure. Even if you are in the advanced stage of the disease and feel there is no hope, this book will show you how others have cured themselves after all remedies they had tried failed, and they believed their case was hopeless.

R. D. EVANS, Discoverer of the famous EVANS' CANCER CURE, desires all who suffer with Can-cer to write to him. Two days'

internal Cancer. Write, R. D. EVANS, BRANDON, MANITOBA.

13

case was hopeless. Remedy Co... 23 Rose Street, Kalamazoo, i and they will glady send you the book by return me and also a generous supply of the New Treatment, abso free, for they want every sufferer to have this wonderfu-is too late. Write today. It may mean the saving of you il fre

Inside) has 3 bowls in 1! (the picture will show you). Every drop of milk run through a U.S. is skimmed 3 distinct times. The remarkably thorough separation for which the U. S. Separator is famous is due to this exhaustive process and the wonderful skimming efficiency of the two sim-ple corrugated cups. The U. S. has held the World's Record for

ple corrugated cups. The U. S. has held the world's Record for clean skimming since 1001. Cream is money. The U. S. gets more than any other separator. Now, we have n't room here to explain all about the clean skimming of the U. S. or about its many other fine points. But if you want, we'll be right glad to mail-you a copy of our big, handsome, new catalogue free. It's mighty interesting and tells all about the U. S. Just say "Send catalogue number B 110". A postal is all right if it's handiest. Better write now while you think of it, addressing

VERMONT FARM MACHINE CO., Bellows Falls, Vt.

Prompt deliveries of U. S. Separators from warehouses at Auburn, Me., Buffalo, N. Y., Toledo, O., Chicago, Ill., LaCrosse, Wis., Minneapolis, Minn., Sloux City, Ia., Kansas City, Mo., Omana, Neb.,

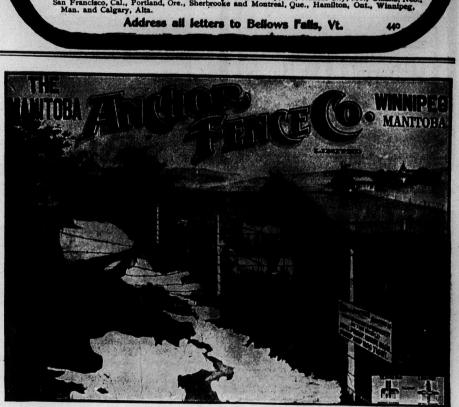

The Golden Leaves: Swinburnian.

If my friend comes back to the bustling town Ere the Golden leaves come rustling down, How shall he see, and how shall he hear The luring lustre of mead and mere, And the sweet last words of the dying year?

When the golden leaves come rustling down, Lettered in amber and gold and brown, And vine-crowned autumn tricks fields and slopes Of harvest richer than spring sown hopes.

How shall his inmost spirit know, At gaze in the glorious gulfs of glow Of the blending of blessing and balm and prayer That fills and thrills and stills the air.

In the long bright glamour, before the snow? How shall he see, and hear, and know, If he hastens back to the bustling town. Ere the golden leaves come rustling down.

Write for Illustrated Catalogue H. and Prices, on our Coil Spring Wire Fence. For strength, durability, ease of construction, lasting qualities, the Anchor Fence has no equal in the market. We manufacture the Majestic Woven Wire Fence also.

MEDICAL The KEELEY INSTITUTE

14

Notice we have moved to our new building Cor. Hugo and Jessie Ave., Fort Rouge.

Liquor, drug habits and neurasthenia, resulting from excesses, successfully treated by

DR. LESLIE E. KEELEY'S Original Gold Cure, administered by and under the supervision of competent and skilled physicians for the past twenty-five years. Correspondence confidential.

of a church and school house.

Have you seen our new Rob-

$$$$$$ orrespondence *******************

The exchange of letters, or in other words, the letters mailed us to be for-warded on to some writer in these col-umns reached high water mark so far as numbers were concerned in May. Seven hundred and eighty-seven letters were re-mailed during the month. We regret exceedingly that we are quilte unable to publish all the letters ad-dressed to this department as they come to hand. However, we hope to publish all of them in time ard will give every writer a fair show. Please put a two cent stamp on all letters intended for re-malling from this office. Always sign your full name and address, not neces-sarily for publication, but as an evi-dence of good faith.

Answer to the Irish Girl's Revenge.

Note.—The following lines are intend-ed as a reply to a poem that appeared in these columns in January, 1907.

Could you tell me, Mister Editor, the girl across the sae, Who was callin' down Sur Wilfred, in the rale ould Irlsh way. She says she's bringin' truble, in the ship, that she will sale, Shure! he knew that she was cummin,' providin' she don't meet a whale.

If the ship is safely landed, and he'll see the swate coleen. She'll say he's the finest gintleman that she has iver seen. All Canada is proud of him. they take him by the hand. For he welcomes here all mations, to our happy prosperous land.

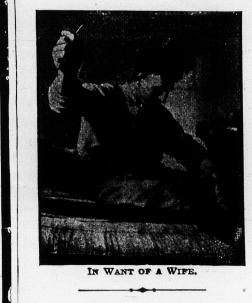

Don't get pickley and crochety, ye maidens far away, But cum wud smilin' faces, from ye'er home across the sae, Fur the bachelors are waitin', and they're prayin' ye would cum. It's not Laurier that wants ye. God allows him only one.

But he likes to see his subjects, as happy as himelf. If he sinds that invitation, it mought keep some off the shelf. So come along, ye shamrocks, the heather and the rose. We'll welcome all ye coleen, and be ye'er lovin' beaux.

I'm waitin' fur an Irish girl, with eyes of softest blue.
Auburn hair and soft of speech. I'll treat her kindly, too.
If Sur Wilfred made that blunder. it's the furst one in his loife.
And a man in his position, shure, he meets all kinds of stroife.

"E. J. C."

prosy for a space in your valuable paper, I will close with the request that you will kindly forward the en-closed letter to "Only One of the Many, and greatly oblige. "Toba or Not Toba."

Like Country Baches for a Change.

Like Country Baches for a Change. Calgary, Alta., April 13, 1907. Editor.—I am very much interested in your correspondence columns and should like to express my thanks for your very interesting magazine while I have a chance. I think some of the views expressed by the lonely bachelors very interesting, except those who think it no harm to indulge in an occasional "glass." Though born and bred a town girl, I have no objection to the country bachelors at all. Indeed, I rather like them for a change. "Lulu."

English Boy Invites Correspondence.

English Boy Invites Correspondence.
Sask., April 13, 1907.
Editor,—Having been a reader of yown valuable paper for the past six months, is take the liberty of asking that a little paper for the past six months, is take the liberty of asking that a little provided in your columns for this letter, in the hope of gaining a few correspondents of the fair sex. I am a a chelor, aged 24. I have a homestead and a team of horses with which I intend to break as much as I can this summer. I was very interested in the letter written by "Myra." She certainly knows what she is talking about. She guite right when she says the bachelors are lonely. I have been batching myself now for three years and am at its like. I dare say it will be worse for me this summer as my homestead is a new country and not many settlers in your by the young ladies that they do not aprove of the man who smokes and when it is taken in moderation. I am as smoker myself but do not touch spirits. I see by some of the letters written by drinks. Well, I do not see any harm who finks till he is not capable of doing anything but sleep. I think there is nothing so loathsome as the Japanese proverb is very true, viz, think takes the man. If any young any bout 18 or 19 years of age, would care to waste a two cent stamp on me, she may be sure her letter will be wave been out here quite a little while now. I will sign mysel.

Willie Hits a Few High Spots.

Willie Hits a Few High Spots. Carstairs, April, 12, 1907. Editor.—Believe me, it is with ming-led emotion that I now take my pen in hand, and will be pleased to have you forward letter enclosed to some lady of your acquaintance (young widow pre-ferred), who is willing to jump into double harness and trot down the course of life with yours truly. Am not particular as to size, color, or financial circumstances, but nothing under nine or over ninety. I do not swear, drink nor play poker, and once during an open air service I held the preacher's hat, while he pleaded on behalf of the ebony heathens in darkest Africa. Will also state that I have talked to all the girls in this neighborhood, with tears in my eyes, but without success, and I fondly cherish the hore that some "Bedelia" will some day allow me to gaze into her face and murmur "goo-goo." Living in much suspense, I beg to remain, yours to a cinder. "Willie, (On the Lone Pine Ranch.)"

June, 1907.

Should be a Subscriber.

Should be a Subscriber. Willow.Range, April 11, 1907. Editor.—Though not a subscriber to your valuable paper, I have the privi-lege of reading its contents, and enjoy its perusal very much, especially the correspondence columns. I note with pleasure the sensible views expressed on matrimony and also the good will shown by the fair sex to help us lonely bache-lors to be more content. Will you kindly forward the en-closed letter to "Prince Alberf Lassie." I would like to hear from some other young lady also. "Energetic Farmer."

"Energetic Farmer."

Busy Time Ahead for this Writer.

Busy Time Ahead for this Writer. Alberta, April 12, 1907. Editor.—Please give the following space in your columns. A few remarks in regard to letter written by "Woman's Friend." at Moose Jaw, Sask. I will ask all Western Home Monthly readers if they can, after careful thought, say and believe such a thing as 99 per cent. of all young men to-day are not fit companions for any hon-orable woman; then God pity us men, but I will say that I feel confident that the greater share of readers will agree with me that "Woman's Friend" greatly mistated herself there. I am but a young man, have a good

I have but a young man, have a good education, have travelled over a good share of the U. S. and a great deal of Canada and have therefore seen much of the above mentioned life. I will say to "Woman's Friend." there

I will say to "Woman's Friend," there are many just such men as she spoke of, but thank God there are also a goodly 'share of as true, honest, and good gentlemanly men, to watch and help the other class a step upward when possible. Also, many young men from the best and highest families, starting out in life who have too much pride to be started in business by their fathers or widowed mother's money. Such young men will come to just such a country as this, to get enough money to go back and start their future career with, and I ask again, is it just to con-demn these with the other class? I ask all readers, what does your mind tell you?

all readers, what does your mind tell you? On the other hand, I have had busi-ness experience, and have come in con-tact with many men of both classes, and whatever path of life we may fol-low we will always find members of the good, and a few bad with them.. I will say nothing of the opposite sex, as I believe in uplifting mankind, and this can not be done in that way. I do not wish any reader to form a wrong opin-ion of me from above facts, for al-though I have other business besides farming and ranching, I admire a true, manly farmer. But around me, or if in my power to prevent it, no farmer's wife should have anything whatever to do in the line of outdoor work, and the manly farmer will not have it. I be-lieve in living an up-to-date life and that excludes the above, with liquor and tobacco, which every true man should help to keep under his feet. The lady who wrote on woman's duty to make home attractive and calling her-self "The Duchess," shows a splendid lot of developed and educated common sense. I shall answer and explain any point which any reader of either sex point which any reader of either sex may not understand or agree with me in, no matter if they may be far north of Central Alberta, back east or out West. "Forward Boy."

Don't Want a Mail Order Wife.

Farmer John Afte

June, 1907.

write a few lines, hoping yo space for them in your exce might brighten the heart of space for them in your cases might brighten in he heart of elor, for some of them are m laughed at. It seems too ba iving the best part of their li be lonely), but I think it mu with most of them that they mate. They think that girls up, but it is not so with most make a good, respectable, ind curselves unless we get a goo ...nce man in comfortable cir-each other's joys and sorrows fine girls in Ontario that wou if they only had the courage I notice how many tell ab perity, they tell about their on, but not one tells of their is the most important part penty, they terr about their on, but not one tells of their is the most important part grow to what we seem by th ness and contentment. A continual feast which we each to its true source within pers the art of pleasing each o other's ways and means. H piness there would be in the as we make it. Any res bachelor over thirty years w and flowers, desiring to writt to do so. They can get my the editor. I will cheerff Hoping this will be sufficie print in your magazine as I here long, and thanking you

Got the Goods Righ

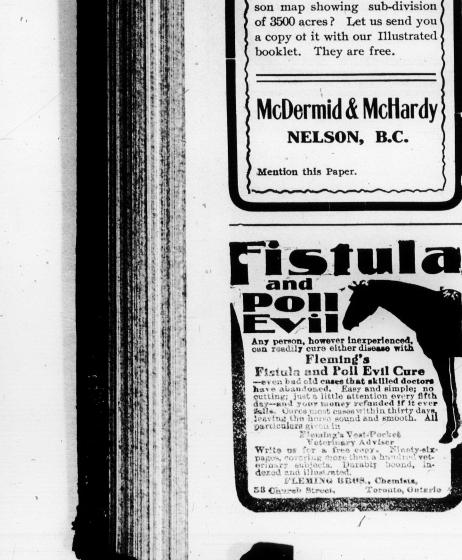

"Blue Be

here long, and thanking you

Brooklyn, N. Y Editor.—I have read the le ous correspondents for s unbounded interest and it se splendid magazine is doing young men of the West and of the East. Your column least, for a correspondence th acquaintance and possibly judge that few marriages will correspondence because I inded girl will want to s before she seriously thinks o young man, no matter how his bachelorhood, will prope ally know the girl who may ally know the girl who may name. I am of medium height, we dark hair and brown eyes. I am atractive, but will leav decided later. I have a liber truest sense of the word, daughter, raised on a large in Ontario, aud early learned keeping from a Scotch mot public and high schools, and tions successfully fo. a tear attended normal school and Then I decided to enter bu regular commercial training regular commercial training and finally reached the pos-keeper and stenographer in Toronto. I have been told tional business and financi confident that I could help various details of life. Ow resigned my office position various details of life. Over resigned my office position fession of nursing and when have knowledge and experie useful in a home. So far my life has been to suitors, or lovers, or aught b now that the goal is in sight may hopes turn more readily.

now that the goal is in sight my hopes turn more readily duties of a wife than to a duties of money-making. I respond with a man of good prefer a man who is fond of is ambitious to succeed and n a competence but in every w In fact, should want a husba only be a companion betw only be a companion, help who would always be my wa est friend. With such a man a wife's ducies shall be fade Each will strive to lighten th Now, you may give my ac Chris," if he writes for it. Al toon," and "W. K." of Three

Afraid of Goody-Goody Kind.

Calgary, Alta., April 13, 1907. Editor.—I read with great interest the correspondence page of your paper and it is duite evident that there are many lonely bachelors in this Western coun-try. Many of these same bachelors seem to have very decided opinions about the ideal women. I have a goodly number of brothers and cousins who have al-ways been my companions and I know by this time that there are not two boys alike. Here and there one comes across a misguided youth, but if he is at all youthful, there is always the hope that he will improve. My opinion is that if girls would be as nice to their own brothers as they are to other girls' brothers the boys would all be a great deal improved, and the girls would find that they had very entertaining, jolly, good natured boys at their beck and call. Calgary, Alta., April 13, 1907. call call. I notice some girls are very much op-posed to a man smoking or drinking. I do not approve of a man using intoxicat-ing liquors, even if it is a very oc-casional thing. When a man writes that he does not smoke, drink, play cards or dance, I am always inclined to doubt the veracity of the statement; it is a tittle too goody-goody. Hoping that this letter is not too

On the Alert for Tall Gentleman.

Cn the Alert for Tall Gentleman. Calgary, Alta., April 13, 1907. Editor.—I have been following up your correspondence columns and no-tice that the interest is increasing more and more, judging from the num-ber who write and exchange letters, etc., so I have at last decided to air my views as to what character the opposite sex should follow:—He should not touch whiskey at all, nor any intoxi-cating liquor. I do not object to smoking in moderation. Men are often so conceited of their good looks that they think or appear to think that every girl is infatuated at first sight, where-as if they only stopped to think a min-ute, they would see themselves as others see them, especially young ladies of good taste. I like a man to have an opinion of his own always, but not too much stick-to-it-tiveness. I play the piano a little and also sing would admire a man with an ear for in height and have black hair. I am on the alert for a tall, well-built fair gentleman. Would prefer livings in town or nor more than six miles out. Hoping you will not think I am en-groaching on good nature and wishing you every success in your present en-deavors, I remain, your faithful reader. "Molly Bawn."

Batching Not Just the Thing.

New Warren. April 14, 1907. Editor.—As I have been reading your correspondence columns with 'great in-terest would like to correspond with the lady who signs her name. "Prince Albert Lassie." I am a farmer and would like a helpmate, as batching is not just the thing. Would you be so kind as to send this letter to that Prince Albert Lassie and oblige. "Farmer George."

Don't Want a Mail Order Wife. Nanton, April 14th, 1907. Editor.—As I have just finished read-ing some of the letters on the matri-monial page of your paper, I will here-by add my quota to the already largely patronized pages. I very much appreciate the view "Myra" takes of life and living. I think she must be a girl of noble char-acter. I hope she will write again. Some of the letters in your columns portray very plainly the characters of the writers and I, for my part, would not waste pen and ink, much less valuable time, to correspond with some of the more frivolous, comprising those who really write with matrimonial inten-tions. Marriage is too sacred to be trified with. It was first instituted by God and to be a success it must be sanctioned and blessed by God. This blessing cannot be obtained except where true and unselfish love exists and this love cannot posibly be fostered in the heart without a mutual, personal aquaintance. Many a home is entirely unselfish and holy love. It is true, there are many lonely bachelors in this Western country and they would be better off to remain so then to run the risk of getting a wife whom they could love, through the ald of any correspondence columns. Men have their faults, as also have women, and love must mutually exist that the house be filled with sunshine and hap-ines. I am a young man striving to live a piness.

piness. I am a young man striving to live a Christian life. I am unmarried, and am not seeking matrimony by correstond-ence. Nevertheless, if anyone slouid fancy writing to me. I will be pleased to start a friendly correspondence. "Bon Ami."

Lots of Good Girls in Ontario.

Saskatchewan, Feb. 23, 1907. Editor.—I have been reading the let-ters in the Western Home Monthly. I find them very interesting. I have just come from Ontario and I am just now on a visit to my married sister, who is a subscriber of your value sister, who is a subscriber of your valu-able paper. I thought I would like to Indian Head, Sask., Ap Editor.—For some tin reader of the Western and I find it very inter and 1 nnd it very intere the correspondence page very nice letters in it. about 24 years of age, to correspond with so Will you please send m dress who signs her n vour paper. your paper.

Broncho Bill Wants B

Content, Alta., Editor.—Having seen respondence columns o letter of an English w Protectert Protestant, who arrived Alta., from England las requested you to kindly dress to a steady, sob view to becoming acqua to accede to her request of age and am a hom place on the banks of and am anxious to be with a good woman Trusting you will favo ply at your earliest con it my duty to say that will place me under a to you.

A Letter from J

New York Ci Editor—It is some months your excellent magazine, bu that enquiries are still being are being forwarded to me. these petters—perhaps becau miles from the little Onta they have been sent. I am neglected writing you to diss letters but I did not imagine neglected writing you to disc letters but I did not imagine my letter appeared, viz: replies to it would s.111 b thank all those who have to write, and regret my seer not acknowledging their let 1907. ber to privi-enjoy

ly the

e with sed on shown bache-

he en-assie." other

ner."

iter.

1907. llowing emarks oman's

fonthly careful t thing nen to-iy hon-s men, nt that l agree greatly greatly

a good a good deal of

1 much .. there

e spoke also a st, and ch and upward

ng men amilies, o much by their money. st such money

e career to con-I ask ind tell

d busi-in con-classes, ay fol-s of the I will sex, as nd this do not

g opin-for al-besides

a true, or if in armer's

and the I be-life and liquor e man is feet. duty to ng her-splendid common

ain any her sex

with me

or out Boy."

lfe.

1907. ed read-matri-

largely

ne view ving. I le char-n. Some portray of the ould not valuable of the se who inten-d to be uted by must be This except ists and ists and tered in personal entirely ue, pure,

y lonely try and main so ; a wife the aid . Men women, that the and hap-

to live a and am respond-sl.cuid pleased nce. Ami."

nthly. I

io and I married our valu-l like to ario. , 1907. the let<text>

"Blue Bell from Ontario".

Got the Goods Right With Her.

Got the Goods Eight With Her. Brooklyn, N. Y., March 30, 1907. Editor.—I have read the letters of your numer-ous correspondents for some months with unbounded interest and it seems to me that your splendid magazine is doing a good work for the young men of the West and for some of the girls of the East. Your columns pave the way, at least, for a correspondence that may later lead to acquaintance and possibly matrimony. But I judge that few marriages will result directly from correspondence because I think every right-minded girl will want to see and know a man before she seriously thinks of marriage. And the young man, no matter how lonely he may be in his bachelorhood, will properly want to person-ally know the girl who may some day bear his name.

his bachelorhood, will properly want to person-ally know the girl who may some day bear his name. I am of medium height, weigh 125 pounds, have dark hair and brown eyes. I have been told that I am attractive, but will leave that question to be decided later. I have a liberal education in the truest sense of the word. I am a farmer's daughter, raised on a large fruit and grain farm in Ontario, and early learned'the details of house-keeping from a Scotch mother. I attended the public and high schools, and passed my examina-tions successfully fo. a teacher's certificate. I attended normal school and taught for one year. Then I decided to enter business life, took the regular commercial training in a business college and finally reached the position of head-book-keeper and stenographer in a business college and finally reached the position of head-book-keeper and stenographer in a business office in Toronto. I have been told hat I have excep-tional business and financial ability and am confident that I could help a husband in the various details of life. Over two years ago I resigned my office position to take up the pro-fession of nursing and when I graduate I will have knowledge and experience that should be useful in a home. So far my life has been too busy to think of suitors, or 'overs, or aught but my ambition, but now that the goal is in sight I must confess that my hopes turn more readily to a home and the duties of money-making. I would gladly cor-prefer a man who is 'Soud of good books, who is ambitious to succeed and not only in amassing a competence but in every walk of his daily life. In fact, should want a husband who would not only be a companion, helpmate and lover, but who would always be my warmest and slaunch-est friend. With such a man, the details of what a wife's duties shall be fade into insignificance. Each will strive to lighten the load for the other. Now, you may give my address to "Bachelor thris," it he writes for it. Also to Bobof Saska-toon," and "W. K." of Three Hills.

"Edith Lyle."

Farmer John After "Eirdie."

This enables us to reduce the cost of making a pound of butter to the minimum.

We employ the most skilled butter-makers in the West. Our head Buttermaker has secured the following awards for his Butter: A diploma from the Government Dairy School in 1897; A Special Gold Medal donated Farmer John After "Birdie." Indian Head, Sask., April 111, 1907. Editor.—For some time I have been a reader of the Western Home Monthy and I find it very interesting, especially the correspondence page. I find some very nice letters in it. I am a bachelor, about 24 years of age, and would like to correspond with some young lady. Will you please send me the lady's ad-dress who signs her name "Birdie" in your paper. — "Farmer John."

Broncho Bill Wants English Widow.

Broncho Bill Wants English Widow. Content, Alta., April 20, 1907. Editor.—Having seen in your cor-respondence columns of February the letter of an English widow, aged 35, Protestant, who arrived at Red Deer, Alta., from England last year and who requested you to kindly forward her ad-dress to a steady, sober man, with a view to becoming acquainted, I beg you to accede to her request. I am 36 years of age and am a homesteader, with a place on the banks of the Battle River, and am anxious to become acquainted with a good woman of similar age. Trusting you will favor me with a re-ply at your earliest convenience, I feel it my duty to say that in doing so you will place me under a deep obligation to you. "Broncho Bill."

A Letter from Jane Eyre.

A Letter from Jane Eyre. New York City, March 30. 1907. Editor—It is some months since I saw a copy of your excellent magazine, but I have been told that enquiries are still being made, and letters are being forwarded to me. I have not received these setters—perhaps because I am now many miles from the little Ontario town to which they have been sent. I am very sorry that I neglected writing you to discontinue forwarding letters but I did not imagine that months after neglected writing you to discontinue forwarding letters but I did not imagine that months after my letter appeared, viz: May 1906, that replies to it would s.11 be forthcoming. I thank all those who have taken the trouble to write, and regret my seeming discourtesy in not acknowledging their letters. I am sure, by the Hon. Thomas Greenway for Butter scoring the highest of any exhibited at the Winnipeg Industrial Exhibition in 1896; A Silver Medal at the Winnipeg Industrial Exhibition in 1900; Gold Medal and Diploma at the Winnipeg Industrial Exhibition in 1901, and many other awards. We turn out an article that commands the highest market price.

Thus, you see, we reduce the cost of making as low as possible, while we realize the highest market price for our product. Our patrons get the benefit of this, for our expenses are lower, and we seek no larger profit than any other creamery.

Our average price for butter-fat last year was 22 cents. per pound. We expect to do as well, or better, for our patrons this year. We remit promptly by Express Money Order, by which you are insured against loss or inconvenience. Ship us a few cans ot cream on trial, so that we can show you how satisfactory are our methods of doing business.

The National Creamery & Produce Co., Ltd. WINNIPEG, MAN.

The best is always the cheapest in the long run. You cannot go wrong if you follow above direction, which is a guarantee of quality. Write for color cards or any information you require.

The Canada Paint Co. Limited WINNIPEG, Man.

judging from the letters I received last year that there are some fine manly fellows among the writers and I sin-cerely hope that one and all will be successful in their search for a con-genial friend and comrade.

"Jane Eyre."

Write Them, Andy.

Benito Man., March 17, 1907. Editor.—Send me the address of "Sally" at Carnduff, also "Dark Eyed Malden," Brandon. "Andy Jones."

Defends the School Mam."

Lumsden, April 6th, 1907. Editor.—In your January number I read a letter written by "Observer," who denounced girls in general, but the "School Mam" in particular. Why? In my opinion it is for the same reason that Mr For said the grapes were my opinion it is for the same reason that Mr. Fox said the grapes were sour. Now, that luscious bunch of grapes "Observer" was after was a cer-tain pretty little "school mam," but, alas! she was just out of his reach. So he takes him pen in hand and pens a letter to one of Canada's leading maga-tines. Evidently she card more for letter to one of Canada's leading maga-zines. Evidently she cared more for performing her duties than she did about making love to an old bachelor; well done, school mam. Now, a girl that would make a good wife is not such a "scarce article" as "Observer" seems to think. Most of them nave a good deal of common sense, as "School Mam" seems to have had. No man, unless he were himself very ignorant, would re-ject a girl because she was educated. Does "Observer" object to girls being educated? I am not "on the hunt for the goods," but yet I know many girls who ought to come up to "Observer's" standard. But, alas! they are educated and would not suit him? I will cor-respond with any of the fairer sex, es-pocially chool mams. "Pedagogue."

Tako Pity on Him, Girls.

Wakopa, March 9, 1907. Editor.—I have often heard of your invaluable paper, the Western Home Monthly, but only just lately have I had the pleasure of seeing it, and I de-cided, after a careful perusal of its contents, to send my subscription im-mediately, as one cannot get a good thing too soon. Your correspondence column, soon at-

Your correspondence column soon at-tracted my attention, and after care-fully reading all the letters from your many writers I decided to have my say re matrimony. I noticed that one of your charming correspondents said that re matrimony. I noticed that one of your charming correspondents said that "we poor bachelors" could only cook porridge, well, I only wish I could have the honor of entertaining her for a few lays, and she would find that a bache-br's menu consisted of something more than porridge and potatoes in their jackets. Although I say it myself, I can cook pastry as good as many youn-ladies, and a bit better than some, and other things as well, and there are plenty of bachelors who, without doubt, are much better adepts at the culinary art than myself. But still batching is by no means an ideal life, and after a man has been "batching it" a few years, he is apt to look around for his ideal, not a housekeeper to be a slave to him. As to an ideal, I am not easily suited. I want a real true woman in every sense of the word, one who could cheer a man when despondent, a part-ner of his joys and troubles, who would always have a smiling face and a kind word, who would make a proper man of a man in every way, and one

June, 1907.

Young Englishman Gets Interested. Rita., March, 1907. Dear Sir.—I have taken considerable interest in your correspondence columns and should like to take advantage of same. I am a young Englishman and have been out here three years. I should be glad if you would send me the names of "Prairie Queen" and "Blonde," Sask., whose letters appear in your January issue. "Chinook."

"As Good Pish in the Seas as Ever were Caught."

Swan River, March 16, 1907. Editor.—I have been greatly interest-ed in your magazine, particularly the correspondence columns. I think that "Limber Jim" who speaks about the cruel way in which he has been treat-"Limber lim" who speaks shout the cruel way in which he has been treat-ed by girls who left him to go for a drive with someone else, is rather chicken-hearted to be done out of a girl by someone with a horse and buggy without even murmuring until too late, and then to hide himself as it were. I think that any fellow could, if he liked, work hard enough to be able to buy a horse and buggy so that he could drive his girl around, sooner than have to take the back seat as Limber Jim" does when someone comes along with a horse and buggy. As for saying that it drives a man to drink because his girl leaves him for another who is well dressed, I think that it shows a great weakness on the man's part, and that instead of spending his money in drink, he should buy some good clothes and then perhaps he would be able to run in opposition to the newcomer. I have been freated that way, but save rot started to drink and do not end to. Thimber Jim says he gets his own meals and does not want to see any girls at all, but I differ, with him. I get my own meals, and have no hard feelings with the girl who left me, for there are still "as good fish in the sea as ever were caught." I have a horse and buggy and put in a good time. I hope that "Limber Jim" will soon form a good opinion of the girls and crawl out of hiding. "Rocky Ned."

Sask., March 14, 1907. Dear Sir.—Will you please forward the enclosed letter to "One Fair Maid-of Alta.," in the February number, and oblige.

"Jim Jam."

Caron, Sask., March 30, 1907. Editor.—Please forward this letter "Cheerful Bessie" in February number.

"Blue Eyed Joe" Takes Pen in Hand.

June, 1907.

Carstairs, Ap Editor. — Please forward en "Prince Albert Lassie." Yo noble work for us bachelers.

High Bluff, Man., Apr Elitor—Remail enclosed let Eyes," Portage la Prairie. "Su

Yellow Grass, Sack., April 14, Editor.—Please forward enclosed herewith to "Prince the other to "Scotch Girl."

Waldeck, Sask., Apri Editor.—Please forward ter te "Prince Albert Lassie," "Peck's

Heward, Sask., M Editor.—Please send the ter to "Cary."

Canmore, Alta., Apr Editor.—Please send th "Fancy Free" from Red De in your March number.

Strathmore, Apr Editor.—I am a rancher cumstances and would lil acquainted with the you signs herself "Blonde," in ary number, 1907. "S

Lakeview, Apri Editor-Please forward letters as follows, (1) "H Lassie," (2) "Nothing Too Irish," (3) "Edmonton March number. "Sim

Sunny Slope, Alta., April Editor.—Send enclosed le lish Widow," Red Deer, A

Hargrave, Man., Marc Dear Sir.—Please forwa closed letter to "Sloppy S holm, Alta., and oblige. "Pri

Mortlach, Sask., Marc Dear Sir.—Please send letter to the lady signin "Pauline," in the February

Must Address This Off

Forrest, Man., Marc Forrest, Man., Marc Editor.—It is with gre that I open your mag month. I think it is an ide what I term a "cracker-ja you would send me the ad you would send me the ad young ladies signing them rie" and Blonde." I has friend a little bit my senio also like a companion an also like a companion and him to write to you.

Chinook Shoots One

Lineham, Alta., Marc. Editor.—I have taken con terest in your corresponde and should like to take adva same. I am a young Eng have not been out here th should be glad if you would should be glad if you would names and addresses Queen," Yorkton, and "Blo letters appeared in your Ja

Alberta, March Editor.—Being an intere of your valuable paper, I w have you do me a favor by the enclosed lotter to "Som letter t "Sau Weyburn, Sask. "Casey at

Tommy Wants Introd

Tommy Wants Introd Calgary, Alta., Mar Dear Mr. Editor.—As I J subscriber to your valuabl over a year, I take great reading your correspondence time it struck me that I in. I would like to have ence with some of these J and I wished to be introduc I am a fair fellow, of goo am a Christian, a Methodi total abstainer since I was never touched tobacco in never use bad language. I family and have best in never touched tobacco in . never use bad language. I family and have been in C three years. I am a home lover, a "Tom

No Objection to Woman Wr

Editor,—I take great reading your corresponden every month. I have lived o last 20 years. The women the men do their work so keep their crop of grain things from getting destro lieve that if women look a the meals at the right tim the house in good order tha should be expected of them. some women like to raise they think men don't look close enough. As far as they think men don't look close enough. As far as concerned, it is all right for to be able to do it, as it n the menfolk are away and set home, to do it. All g learn to play if they get the it helps to make home hap girls think it is the man's pla first, well, it really is, but I arst, well, it really is, but I able

mn e of and

me and pear

were

7. est-

the

that the eat-

ther

and

intil

s it 1, if able

he

han

iber

ong ring

use

o is

's a

and in thes

e to

ave

end

own

ard for sea

orse I

orm

awl

ard aidber.

,,,

7.

etter um-

and ding

olen-

and

ome

wonan, iner.

njoy en-be-

is tage

of few

us

self

the

7.

)7. but and rom ence

ould the lady igns o to

)7.

let-en-

let-idon,

your blige

7. r to

07. let-

07. r." to

r."

7.00

letter e la 1."

T

The Western Home Monthly

Carstairs, April 11, 1907. Editor. — Please forward enclosed letter to "Prince Albert Lassie." You are doing a noble work for us bachelers. "Lonely Pete."

High Bluff, Man., April 13, 1907. Elitor-Re-mail enclosed letter to "Brown Eyes," Portage la Prairie. "Sunny Jack."

Yellow Grass, Sask., April 14, 1907. Editor.—Please forward one letter enclosed herewith to "Prince Albert Lassie," the other to "Scotch Girl."

Waldeck, Sask., April 13, 1907. Editor.—Please forward enclosed let-ter te "Prince Albert Lassic." "Peck's Bad Boy."

Heward, Sask., May 1, 1907. Editor.—Please send the enclosed let-r to "Cary."

Canmore, Alta., April 17, 1907. Editor.—Please send this letter to "Fancy Free" from Red Deer, who wrote in your March number.

Strathmore, April 14, 1907. Editor.—I am a rancher in good cir-cumstances and would like to become acquainted with the young lady who signs herself "Blonde," in your Febru-ary number, 1907. "Strathmore."

Lakeview, April 19, 1907. Editor—.Please forward the enclosed letters as follows, (1) "Prince Albert Lassie," (2) "Nothing Too Good for the Irish," (3) "Edmonton Girl," all of March number. _____Simple Simon."

Sunny Slope, Alta., April 10th, 1907. Editor.—Send enclosed letter to "Eng-lish Widow," Red Deer, Alta. "Big Jim."

Hargrave, Man., March 14, 1907. Dear Sir.—Please forward the en-closed letter to "Sloppy Soby," Clares-holm, Alta., and oblige. "Primrose IV."

Mortlach, Sask., March 16, 1907. Dear Sir.—Please send the enclosed letter to the lady signing her name "Pauline," in the February number. "Tiger."

Must Address This Office, A. J. Forrest, Man., March 29, 190" Editor.—It is with great pleas that I open your magazine every month. I think it is an Ideal magazine, what I term a "cracker-jack." I wish you would send me the address of the young ladies signing themselves "Car-rie" and Blonde." I have another friend a little bit my senior who would also like a companion and I will get also like a companion and I will get him to write to you. "A. J."

Chinook Shoots One at Us.

Lineham, Alta., March 29, 1907. Editor.-I have taken considerable interest in your correspondence columns and should like to take advantage of the and should like to take advantage of the same. I am a young Englishman and have not been out here three years. I should be glad if you would send me the names and addresses of "Prairie Queen," Yorkton, and "Blonde," whose letters appeared in your January num-ber. "Chinook."

Alberta, March 21, 1907. Editor.—Being an interested reader of your valuable paper, I would like to have you do me a favor by addressing the enclosed letter to "Saucy Kate" of just as much theirs. Some say if a girl writes to a man first, she is no lady, but I think rather different. I ob-ject to men making a slave of them-serves using tobacco, drinking liquor and using profane language. I am a total abstainer. a Methodist and a Can-adian by birth. I am five feet, 6 inches, weigh 160 pounds, fair complexion, light brown hair, blue eyes and 23 years old. I have 320 acres of land, and modern machinery to work it. I have not done any batching yet as I have been living with my father and mother, but expect I will have to do it this summer for a change. "Pet Boy No. 6."

Western Bover Gets Move On.

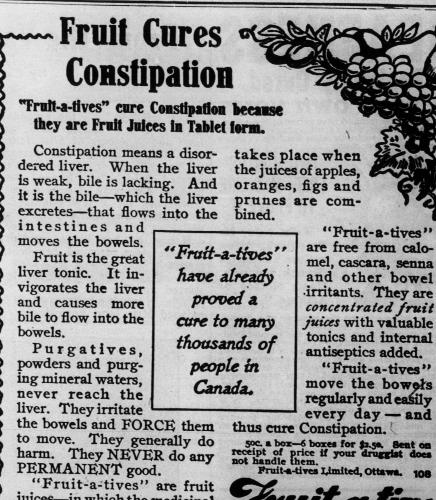

Western Bover Gets Move On. Weyburn, Sas., Feb. 14, 1907. Editor.—For some time past I have been thinking of writing to your cor-respondence page but have neglected to do so. I am a farmer, but don't have to batch, for I have neighbors with whom I board. I think the ladies are too hard on us poor boys, just because we take a drink or smoke a little they think that is dreadful. As for myself, I don't do either What spate menzy I have I spend in travelling and think I reap more benefit from it than those who spend it in drink. I am not look-ing for a slave, but a wife of whom I could be pround of, also one I could love. for I will never marry until I find my ideal. I would be glad to hear form some young ladies so will send you some letters which you will please and "One Fair Maiden of Alta." "Western Rover."

Likes Her Dark and Tall.

Likes Her Dark and Tall. Wolseley, Sask., March 18, 1907. Editor.—I read your paper regularly and I think your correspondence col-umn is just the thing for the young people, as it gives them a chance to ex-press their views on matrimony, and then they have a chance of selecting for themselves a life partner. I am a bachelor myself, 22 years of age, medi-um height and weight and passably good looking. I have curly hair and brown eyes. You will do me a favor by sending my letter to some nice young lady between the ages of 18 and 21. I would like to correspond with one of dark complexion and tall. Wishing the paper all kinds of success, also the lads and lassies, I remain. "Angeleno."

A Hot Roast for "Woman's Friend."

Sidney, Feb. 25, 1907. Editor.—Will you please allow me, through the correspondence columns of your valuable paper, to ask the corre-spondent who signs serself "Woman's Friend" to explain one or two items which appeared in her letter in the January number. She says, "Ninety-nine per cent, of the gentler sex are good, pure and true, and the remaining one per cent. are stranded through man's instrumentality." Again she says that "ninety-nine per cent of the young men one meets nowadays are unfit companions for any honorable woman." Does she take her figures from Moose Jaw alone or the country at large? I myself have been in most parts of our own country. Canada, as well as in other countrie across the sea, and I have been a very keen ob-server of the different characters. Go to any city and show me the "one per cent." of the "gentler sex." stranded Sidney, Feb. 25, 1907. server of the different characters. Go to any city and show me the "one per cent." of the "gentler sex," stranded through man's instrumentality. I, a man, am ashamed to class such as cent." of the "gentler sex." stranded through man's instrumentality. I, a man, am ashamed to class such as "gentler sex." How mary of our young men who go to the cities from the country who, before they went, were model young men, have been led into all kinds of debauchery through the in-fluences of these human feminine sharks who parade the streets, for what? "Seeking whom they may de-vour." I have had the luck (if I may call it so) to have been in Moose Jaw, and as I have not one of the vices which so disgust "Woman's Friend,' and take an occasional walk and enjoy the fresh air instead figuring out statistics, or studying "What a young wife ought to know," and consoling herself with the happy thought that no' shark could gobble her up, she might have derived a two-fold benefit. There was I with-in reach of the inety-nine virtuous virgins, but, alas, they were too neg-lected, they did not have oll in their lamps so must wait in the dark until another "model" makes his appearance in Moose Jaw. I feel sorry from the bottom of my heart for the Moose Jaw who would make ideal husbands and fathers. Let "Woman's Friend" take the field first and visit some home for incurables, and take back to Moose Jaw who would make ideal husbands and fathers. Let "Woman's Friend" take the field first and visit some home for incurables, and take back to Moose Jaw who would make ideal cripple or blind. or why not have a deaf and dumb mute (he can't swear, anyway). I can al-most picture "Woman's Friend" with a sour disposition, not fascinatingly beau-tiful or excruciatingly ugly, who the young men of Moose Jaw give a wide berth to. I am afraid, dear Editor, that I am trespassing too much on your valuable time and space, so thanking you in anticipation, I am. "One Per Cent."

"Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices-in which the medicinal action is many times intensified by the wonderful change which bowels.

.) They all say the same about St. George's Baking Powder

"Dozens of my best customers have put St. George's to the test." "They have tried it for Biscuits and Doughnuts-for Cakes and Pies

-for Muffins and Pancakes." "And they agree that St. George's can be depended on-that when they do their share of the baking right, St. George's makes the lightest, whitest, tastiest pastry and cakes and biscuits-in a word, that it is the best Baking Powder they ever used."

"And my customers are pretty etter to "Saucy Kate." Weyburn, Sask. "Casey at the Bat."

Tommy Wants Introduction.

Tommy Wants Introduction. Calgary, Alta, March 8, 1907. Dear Mr. Editor.—As I have been a subscriber to your valuable paper for over a year, I take great pleasure in reading your correspondence page. This time it struck me that I should join in. I would like to have correspond-ence with some of these young ladies and I wished to be introduced to them. I am a fair fellow, of good habits. I am a Christian, a Methodist. I am a total abstainer since I was a boy, and I never touched tobacco in my life. I never use bad language. I am of good family and have been in Canada over "Tommie."

No Objection to Woman Writing First.)

To Objection to Woman Writing First.) Sask., March 20, 1907. Editor.—I take great interest in reading your correspondence columns every month. I have lived out West the last 20 years. The women had to help the men do their work sometimes to keep their crop of grain and other things from getting destroyed. I be-lieve that if women look after getting the meals at the right time and keep the house in good order that is all that should be expected of them. Of course, some women like to raise chickens as they think men don't look after them close enough. As far as milking is concerned, it is all right for everybody to be able to do it, as it may happen the menfolk are away and not able to get home to do it. All girls should learn to play if they get the chance, as it helps to make home happier. Some first, well, it really is, but I think it is fastidious people, too." You will find our new Cook Book a ready help every day. It contains all sorts of recipes and useful hints for Good Cooking. Write for a free copy. National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Montreal.

WINNIPEG FAIR

July 13th to 20th, 1907

Biggest Wheat Prizes in Canada Horses and Cattle special features Famous Hebburn Colliery Band, England Magnificent Fire Works Greatest Race Programme in the West Stake entries close May 23rd-Harness Purses July 2nd All others July 1st

G. H. GREIG, Pres.

A. W. BELL, Sec'y.

that draped and re-draped the curtains trembled visibly. Miss Rebecca simply paused in her speech and glared at her sister for the space of two seconds, then she strode forward and laid her large, firm hand on the closet door. The next instant a little white kitten staggered weakly out into daylight, trailing a corner of the spread after him and aiming straight for Miss Jane. She caught him up in her arms and burst into tears. "Poor kitty! Poor little Dick Swiv eller!" she sobbed.

Miss Rebecca took on the air of a outraged sovereign.

and the h

"Has that cat been havin' a fit?" she sternly questioned.

A nod of the head and a fresh burst of tears was Miss Jane's sole reply. "Is it the first fit he's had?"

"N-no." "Jane Bates!" There was genuine consternation, min-

the verandah was bedspread visible beneath the closet The window opened with a suden dash, and the door. "What's the matter, Jane?" she dehead and shoulders of Miss Jane Bates were thrust through the aperture. "Nancy !" she called, in a tone of suppressed frenzy-"oh, Nancy! can't you manage some way to keep sister Becky downstairs for a few minutes? Poor little Dick Swiveller's havin' another Nancy, on her knees scrubbing the veranda steps, dropped her brush pre-"Land sake! it's too late, ma'am; she's started upstairs this minute." "Oh, Nancy! whatever shall I do?"

moaned Miss Jane, imploringly.

månded. "M-matter?" stammered Miss Jane. "Yes, matter. What is the matter with you?"

"N-nothing, sister Becky." "You look flurried."

"I-I've been talkin' to Nancy through the winder." "Oh! You better be careful, Jane. At your time o' life it ain't safe to indulge in such excitin' pastimes; it might bring on heart-failin', er nervous prostration. Poor Miss Jane knew that ironical gled with stern reproval, in Miss Re-

Here's the Cure for Sick Kidneys

Asthma," In your home without the expense of a doctor. Dr. Branaman, the scientist and deaf special-ist has spent sixteen years in the largest Deaf-ness and Catarrh specialty practice in the world. His new Electro-Magnetic System is endorsed by the profession and has cured thousands who have been pronounced incurable by other spe-cialists. The peculiar part of this new cure is that it acts as quickly in old age as in the young. It acts like magic. Many cases stone deaf have heard whispers after a few treatments. It is used by any child Write today for positive proof and FREE BOOK. Address Dr G M. Branaman, Deaf Specialist, 1296 Walnut Street, Kansas City, Mo., and get a correct diagnosis of your case, and if your case it curable. he will give you two months' medicine free to prove his skill in curing permanently. No experi-menting. No incurable cases taken.

DEAFNESS Positively Gured

IN YOUR OWN HOME

new method that removes the cause. I noises, stops discharging ears, opens and restores the hearing. Oures

TWO MONTHS' FREE MEDICINE

TO PROVE IT

Free Book, "How

to Cure Yourself of Catarrh, Deafness,

Head Noises or

Asthma,"

Write today for

TEST THEM FREE

Perhaps you are skeptical about GIN PILLS. So was Mr. Brown. He had tried so many things for his kidneys, without getting any better, that he had just about made up his mind that he couldn't get well.

When he first read about GIN PILLS he laughed. The second time, he thought. The third time, he said "he would write for a sample just to see if there was any chance of getting well." He was pretty nearly tickled to death over that box of GIN PILLS. They did him so much good that he would have paid $5 a box for the second, if necessary. The dizziness, headaches and backaches stopped. Those shooting pains in hips and legs died away. Urine lost its high color. He slept through the night without being disturbed by bladder trouble. His appetite began to pick up and he felt better than he had pick up and he felt better than he had been for years.

34 John St., Hamilton, Ont. Being a sufferer from my Kidneys and Dizziness in the Head, and could get nothing to help me, I saw in the papers what good Gin Pills were doing. I got a sample box, and they did me so much good, I bought three boxes and did me so much good, i bought three boxed wonders am taking them. They have worked wonders for me. 1 can recommend them to any similar sufferer. J GEO. A. BROWN. Don't be prejudiced. Give Gin Pills a fair trial and they will cure you just as they cured Mr. Brown. Mention this paper and we will send you a free sample. The Bole Drug Co., Winnipeg, Man. 50c. a box-6 for $2.50. 86

Burns either Coal

as well as I do the soler made the day you brou home. I told you we d that it would only git fi be killed, like all the ca had; an' I told you that, off the hired man, there'd kill it; an' you up an' pro as brass that you'd kill i first time it had a fit. your word, an' now it's/:

see that you mend it." "But, sister Becky, he young; he'll outgrow the 'im a chance. Maybe he another, sister Becky. Le days, anyhow, an' see," p hearted Miss Jane. "That's old; I've hea sneered Miss Rebecca, 1 was a fool to give way as the varmint when you home, because the fact is for us to have cats, bad 1 the cats too, as I've told fore. It's settled, you un you've got to kill that away, too. Now, how'll Take your choice o' shu poisonin', er drownin'." Miss Jane, shuddered a

" She staggered to her feet and tried to climb up the bank, but slipped and fell back into the road."

gested Nancy. "Oh, but he's havin' such an awful fit, frothin' at the mouth an' clawin' straws out o' the mattin'! Oh, I dassn't touch 'im!"

"Throw a quilt over 'im an' roll 'im up, then he can't scratch you," urged Nancy.

But there was no availing quilt at hand, and Miss Jane glanced distractedly from the struggling little creature on the floor to the snowy spread on her bed. The sound of a stately step at at the head of the stairs roused her to action. She dragged the immaculate spread to the door, rolled the unfortu-nate little animal in it, and was just careful. At your time of lifeclosing the closet door on both with frantic haste, when the door of her room opened, and Miss Rebecca Bates reaching the ears of both spinsters looked in, with eyes that saw every- simultaneously, with distinctly different looked in, with eyes that saw everything, even the white corner of white results. Miss Jane grew red, then pale,

"Chuck 'im in the closet, quick," sug-, tone too well to venture a reply. She becca's voice and attitude. Miss Jane tremblingly turned to the window and cowered and shrank, but clung to the began arranging the disturbed curtains. kitten.

What's become o' your bedspread, "Jane," said Miss Rebecca, drawing Jane?" her head up to its highest altitude, "you are the first Bates who, to my knowl-

"I t-took it off; it needs washin'," stammered Miss Jane, and immediately whispered to her conscience, "It does need washin'-by this time." "Needs washin', eh?" went on the measured, merciless voice of Miss Re-becca. "Since when 've you took to beccai, "up wash in your alcost?" keepin' your wash in your closet?"

'Clo-closet !" 'Take care, Jane! if you don't stop tryin' to say big words I'm afeard you'll

You've really got to be more A faint little wailing "meow" came just then from the depths of the closet,

"Nothing, sister Becky, only-only-" Miss Jane's thin little voice broke and fell to a squeaking whisper—"only he's Go little an' helpless, an' so unfortunate, I co-couldn't help it." Miss Rebecca's lips curled scornfully. "Well, you'll help it now. No Bates is going to break her word for the sake is going to break her word for the sake of a cat, if I know it. You'll kill that edge, ever broke a promise, er stooped to sneakin' trickery to hide a fault. What've you got to say for yourself?"

cat now with your own hands, accordin' to your promise.

"Oh, sister Becky, I can't! I can't!" wailed poor Miss Jane. "You can, and you shall. You rec'lect kitten to her breast. "Mayn't I give 'im Becky?"

"No," thundered Miss I don't poke off no fitty of I'm ashamed, of you, Don't you know that bre emn word is-is perjury the Almighty?"

Miss Jane straightened

ONE OF MANY I The Manager, The Man I beg to acknowled ance on the 16th. abou very loath to insure. agent and your adjuste and well. Loss claim $1250.0

The

"Yes'm." "An', Nancy, bring one o' sister Becky's rubber boots from the closet under the stairs." "You might sew up the top o' the boot an' smother the little beast."

"What on earth do you want o' one o' my boots?" demanded Miss Rebecca. "I can't chloroform the kitten t/ithyoung; he'll outgrow the fits if we give 'im a chance. Maybe he'll never have another, sister Becky. Let's wait a few out a boot, sister Becky; an' since you've days, anyhow, an' see," pleaded tender- sent the hired man away there's no sent the hired man away offere's no boots on the place but yours 'That's old; I've heard it before," eered Miss Rebecca, untouched. "I 1907.

e-draped Miss speech

ne space

ode for-

hand on nstant a akly out

r of the straight

m up in

k Swiv

ir of a:

fit?" she

esh burst eply.

ion, min-

Miss Re-

liss Jane g to the drawing

ude, "you y knowlr stooped

a fault. ourself?" -only-"

roke and

'only he's fortunate,

cornfully. No Bates

the sake

kill that accordin' I can't!"

u rec'lect

see that you mend it."

hearted Miss Jane.

"But, sister Becky, he's so little, so sneered Miss Rebecca, untouched.

"Jane Bates, are you cracked? Chlor-oform a cat with a guil boot!" "In a gum boot, sister Becky," gen-was a fool to give way an' let you keep the varmint when you brought 'im thy corrected Miss Jane. "I've read for us to have cats, bad luck for us and it. Thanks, Nancy. Now, please hold you've got the critter in there an' can't the cats too, as I've told you often be-fore. It's settled, you understand that fore. It's settled, you understand, that Down into the dark depths of the

"Oh, sister Becky, please don't say such awful things! You can't mean it!" "Cut a hole in the toe o' the boot an' poke the sponge in," suggested Nancy, who, by the way, was a young person fertile in expedients. "Oh, Nancy, the very thing!" said Miss Jane, with a sigh of relief.

"Hold your tongue, Nancy, till you're spoke to," snapped Miss Rebecca. "I git 'im out, an' as I don't care to wear And Jane did it. She took up the a boot with a cat in it, the boot's ruin- dreadful boot with gingerly touch and you've got to kill that cat, an' right away, too. Now, how'll you do it? Take your choice o' shootin', hangin', poisonin', er drownin'." With a dark depuis of the boot with a cat in it, the boots time ed anyhow, an' you may as well cut a head first. Then Miss Jane suddenly remembered that she ought to have put the sponge in first, saturated with chlorter's withering rejoinder. Some moments of silence ensued, during which the unfortunate kitten gradually suc-cumbed to the powerful drug, and all sign of life and motion ceased within the boot. "There, now, he's dead as a door-nail," announced Miss Rebecca conclu-sively. "Chuck 'im in the crick, Jane, boot an' all; I'll never wear it again.' "Nancy," quavered Miss Jane, "would you-just as lief-"No," interposed Miss Rebecca, with a stern shake of her iron-gray head. "No, you'll do it yourself, Jane."

June, 1907.

Buy Your Binder Twine Now Ordinarily there is a risk in buying binder twine at this season of the year. There is a possibility of crops being ruined by hail, rust or excessive rains. But in buying from us you take no risk, for if crops are destroyed you have the privilege of returning the twine to us, and getting your money back.

Nor do you take any risk of getting inferior twine, for our guarantee protects you ; if the twine is not evenly woven and strong ; if it will not run freely through the knotter on your binder return it to us, and we will promptly refund your money.

We are selling the Diamond E Golden Manila Binder Twine. It is made specially for us by a leading manufacturer, and contains about 50 per cent of pure Manila. It measures 550 to the pound and will give perfect satisfaction. We know it to be the best grade of 550 foot twine offered for sale, and we know that our prices are a lot lower than you have been accustomed to pay for this quality of twine.

Our Prices are 11%c. per Pound at Winnipeg 12c. at Brandon, 12% c. at Regina, and 12½c. at Calgary.

To these Prices must be added the Local Freight Rates from any one of these points to the point to which you want your Twine Delivered.

The most economical way to buy twine, is in car lots. You can get it laid down anywhere in Manitoba for 12c., which is an exceedingly low price for this grade of twine. Have your neighbors combine with you, and send your orders all together, and even if you have not a full car, send them to us, for it is quite possible we have other orders for your station that will make up the car lot. If not, we will see that you get the twine in the cheapest way possible.

When writing advertisers, please mention The Western Home Monthly.

Health is more important than business, yet it gets far less attention.

COWAN'S

PERFECTION

COCOA

(Maple Leaf label, our trade mark).

certainly not through any design of hers needed; and, smothering the wet little that the boot and its ghastly burden alighted, with a soft thud, in the tall rushes on the opposite shore of the stream. The "thud" and the fact were alike lost upon Miss Jane, for as the boot left her hand she turned and fled precipitately to the house, fully per-suaded that she had consigned the lifeless remains of her pet to the chill sepulture of the "crick.

As she ran, her thin lips quivered and tears rolled down her face. When she was safe inside her own room the conviction that possessed her burst again into words:

"If it ain't murder, I'd like to know why it ain't.'

She sat down by her window, and the hands that had been wont to caress her mind, nervously, for some way to little Dick Swiveiler now lay empty and idle in her lap. She saw the sun go down behind a bank of purple clouds; saw the clouds gradually rise and spread over the firmament, and a stormy night close in. Still she sat on gazing into the fast-gathering blackness and finding it a fitting background for visions of her meagre, miserable life, past, present and prospective.

"I s'pose I can't never have another kitten," she said to herself brokenly. 'Becky won't let me. Oh, it seems as if I don't want to live if I can't have nothin' to-to-love."

It had been dark nearly an hour before she finally aroused to the consciousness that the rain was beating in upon her and soaking the sleeves of her print gown. She closed the sash and drew the curtains, and, groping for matches, lighted the lamp. Then she began taking the hair-pins out of the hard little knot of hair at the back of her head. The thought crossed her mind that she had never had enough of anything that "You can't have 'im, sister Becky." "Jane Bates!" tends to make life beautiful and desir-Miss Jane was very pale, and Miss able, not even hair. Rebecca could see that she was trem-

'But if I had ever so much I reckon Becky wouldn't let me do nothin' with bling violently; but her eyes did not she muttered, with a pathetic little waver and fall as was their wont before sigh of resignation. "Sister Becky," she said, lifting her hand impressively, "don't you try to fly in the face of a miracle like this. Hain't But, though her hair was not abundant, it was soft and wavy, and as she brushed it she recollected how little Dick Swiveller had delighted to play with it whenever he had found it straying unconfined over her pillow.

have a right to life, liberty, an' the pursuit o' happiness? Hain't you ever "Dear little thing, he never knowed there wasn't enough of it," she thought. Again her eyes overflowed, and she fell on her knees by the bed and sobbed.

But suddenly she flung up her head and choked the sobs back to listen. Was she dreaming, or was she haunted? A faint little "meow" that had a startlingly familiar sound came to her from somewhere out in the stormy night. A curious chilly sensation ran over her. A murderer, however irresponsible doesn't like to hear the voice of his victim crying in the night; and Miss Jane regarded herself as a murderer. But presently she so far overcame her creature in her shawl, she groped her way to the kitchen. The coals smouldering in the wide fireplace were easily kindled into a blaze, and soon little Dick Swiveller was and saying, coolly:

command:

Becky?"

cat.

to the boot! Give 'im to me."

she said, and there was a look in her eyes that Miss Rebecca had never seen

there before. Every bit of the instinct of motherhood that heaven had implanted in poor Miss Jane's soul sprang now into sudden life. Miss Rebecca was incapable of interpreting that look. Dick Swiveller himself had not less of the maternal instinct than she.

So she only repeated more loudly the

you ever read in your Bible that all bein's are created free and equal, an'

read them words in your Bible, sister

Miss Rebecca, for the words certainly had a familiar ring about them. "But shalt not kill' refers to cats, too, just as much as to people; an' if it don't, becca, contemptuously. "I've had enough o' this foolery, Jane Bates. Gimme that

A flash shot from Miss Jane's pale-

I'd just like to know why it don't!" "Stuff an' nonsense!" cried Miss Re-

"Yes, it does, sister Becky; an' 'Thou that don't refer to cats, Jane.'

"Don't know but I have," admitted

"Give 'im to me, Jane."

drying himself on the warm hearth and lapping milk with a relish that proclaimed him anything but a spook kitten. A great load had rolled off Miss Jane's heart. She might be a murderer still, in act, but not in result. Her poor little victim still lived, chloroform, gum boot and "crick" to the contrary not-withstanding. Oh, how she loved the little creature for coming back to her! how she fondled him and shed joyous tears over him, while she cast about in insure his safety henceforth for evermore! So engrossed was she with him and her thoughts that she did not hear her feet and tried to climb u but slipped and fell back int the soft opening of the door, nor the cat-like tread of Miss Rebecca, until almost beneath the feet of horse. In a moment the man that personage was standing over her, irom the buggy and was lift. "Hope you're not hurt, n said, sympathetically, in a "Huh! come to, has he? I reckon you hadn't sense enough to tie a stone

Miss Jane knew-a voice th once known better than she own, but which of late year Miss Jane clutched the kitten and sprang up. "You can't have 'im, sister Becky!"

often sounded in her ears, "Oh, Eben, is it you!" she a little sob of gladness. "Why, Jennie Bates, is i choed. What is up? Wh echoed.

June, 1907.

durst to go there after 'im."

away; the rain was comin torrents, and the wind blow

Miss Jane's face, so that had covered half the distan

soaked, chilled, and almost e gasped, at last, and sank de

I'd come back; but I won'

She buried her cold face ten's warm fur, and the litt purred responsively. Perha the kitten's purring, or the r on her uncovered head, or kept her from hearing the so

proaching wheels until sudd

horse vehicle, with a single was almost upon her. She s wet bank at the roadside.

die-right here.'

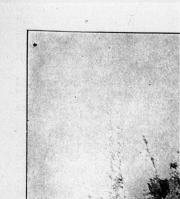

"I- reckon I-can't-mak

But the parsonage was world-"Oh, Eben," she interrup you let me ride with you as parsonage? I'll explain a along."

Miss Jane blushed a li cover of the darkness, as sh self lifted up in a pair of s and snugly tucked into the bu as they moved slowly on, she little Dick Swiveller, and to herently as she could, the tra his death and resurrection an night flight.

"I reckon you think I'n Eben," she said, in conclusio on so over a kitten; but I it. This ain't no common ca common kitten. It's just as little thing 'd come back to m is healthful and nutritious, and very digestible. It is good for old and young.

The Cowan Co. Ltd., Toronto.

How Do You Spell Your Name?

It matters NOT where you live IF YOU HAVE PIMPLES. BLACKHEADS

Eczema, Blotches, Freckles, a sallow, muddy or greasy complexion, or any skin diseases, send us your name and address and we will send you FREE a full 2 weeks' treatment of SKIN TONE; a quick, positive and permanant cure for all skin diseases - a marvellous Flesh Tonic and Complexion Beautifier WRITE TO-DAY. Address

Richter Pharmacal Co. DEPT. 311M 8 CHURCH ST. TORONTO

VIIII ARRANTIC

When writing advertisers, please mention The Western Home Monthly.

trepidation as to open the window and put her head out to listen. For a minute or two all was darkness, and there was "Take care, sister Becky," she said; "take care! If you touch "im, I'll run no sound save that of the rain and wind. Then gradually her eyes made out a small white object on the veranda steps. "Nancy may've left a rag-" she be-gan, but paused as she became conscious that the white object was moving

"M-e-o-w !"

Miss Jane's heart leaped into her hroat.

"God bless my soul!" she gasped, and, seizing a shawl, she crept stealthily out into the passage and past Miss Rebecca's door, then on down the stairs and through the deserted living "oom to the door that opened upon the veranda. As softly as possible she undid the fastenings and opened the door a few inches, and in a moment the small white object had crept through and was rubbing its cold, wet little sides against her feet.

"M-e-o-w.

"God bless my soul! It's little Dick! Alive! Alive!" she almost shrieked, her first impulse being to proclaim the miracle from the house-tops. But a second thought suggested Miss Rebecca and the advisability of keeping the wonderful resurrection a secret from her. Of course she must tell Nancy. Such a secret was too great for one slender breast to hold. But in the meantime the little wailing mouth must be stopped, or sister Becky would surely hear. A off !"

For an instant Miss Rebecca was staggered by the unheard of audacity of the threat. Then she laughed, as disagreeably as only Miss Rebecca Bates could laugh.

"Run off!" she echoed, scoffingly. "You run off, at your time o' life. You look like it! I reckon you'd run back a deal faster'n you went. Now-

Miss Rebecca broke off to make a grab at the kitten, but Miss Jane eluded her, and darted to the door. "It's no use, sister Becky," she said, turning her head for an instant; "he's been murdered once an' drownded, an' he shan't be ag'in. He's come back to me from the Valley o' the Shadder, an' I'm goin' to stan' by 'im."

Before Miss Rebecca could reach the door it had closed forever on Miss Jane Bates and little Dick Swiveller. Miss Rebecca locked it, and went back to her bed chuckling. But she lay awake, listening all through the stormy night.

Meantime, poor frightened, desperate Miss Jane went splashing along through the storm and darkness, keeping to the middle of the muddy county road to avoid losing her way.

"I'll take 'im to the parsonage," she said to herself. "I've always been sorry Becky had that fallin'-out with the minister's wife, but I declare it seems fire! warm milk! that was what was 'most providential now; Becky won't

Cherry Trees in blossom on Ra

07.

little d her wide

to a

er was h and pro-

k kit-

Miss

rderer

poor

gum not-

d the

her!

oyous

out in

ay to ever-

h him

t hear

or the until

r her,

eckon

stone

and ecky !"

n her

r seen

istinct

1 im-

prang

Reg that

d not

n she. ly the ky."

Miss

trem-

d not

before

ng her to fly Hain't

nat all

al, an' n' the u ever

sister mitted rtainly

"But 'Thou

o, just don't, 't!"

ss Re-

enough ne that

s pale-

said;

'll run

a was city of as dis-

Bates ffingly. You

n hack

nake a eluded e said,

; "he's ed, an' back to ler, an'

reach

n Miss iveller. he lay stormy sperate hrough to the oad to e," she

n sòrry ne min-

seems won't

The Western Home Monthly

durst to go there after 'im."

away; the rain was coming down in torrents, and the wind blowing hard in Miss Jane's face, so that before she had covered half the distance she was soaked, chilled, and almost exhausted. "I- reckon I-can't-make it," she gasped, at last, and sank down on the wet bank at the roadside. "Becky said I'd come back; but I won't-not if I die-right here." She buried her cold face in the kitten's warm fur, and the little creature that kitten, fer the sake o' knowin' purred responsively. Perhaps it was that you cared fer me a little I hain't on her uncovered head, or both, that from the buggy and was lifting her up. "Hope you're not hurt, ma'am?" he said, sympathetically, in a voice that Miss Jane knew-a voice that she had meant to stay. once known better than she knew her own, but which of late years had not gittin' ready to come to the parsonage often sounded in her ears,

"Oh, Eben, is it you!" she said, with a little sob of gladness. "Why, Jennie Bates, is it you!" he world-

"Oh, Eben," she interrupted, "won't you let me ride with you as far as the parsonage? I'll explain as we go along.'

Miss Jane blushed a little, under cover of the darkness, as she felt herself lifted up in a pair of strong arms and snugly tucked into the buggy. Then, as they moved slowly on, she introduced little Dick Swiveller, and told, as co-herently as she could, the tragic tale of his death and resurrection and her midnight flight. "I reckon you think I'm foolish, Eben," she said, in conclusion, "to take on so over a kitten; but I can't help it. This ain't no common case, ner no it. This ain't no common case, ner no common kitten. It's just as if the poor small voice in protest. He said: little thing 'd come back to me from the | "M-e-o-w!"

Valley o' the Shadder, an'- Oh, Eben, But the parsonage was two miles he's all I've got in the world!" Eben Richards cleared his throat once or twice as if to speak, but he did not do so, and finally Miss Jane said, timidly:

"As you don't say what you think about it, Eben, I reckon you think I've done wrong." "Jennie, if you'll let me, I'll tell you exactly what I think about it," he ans-wered. "I'm just thinkin' what a dear, lovin' little woman you are, an' how I'd almost be willin' to swap places with that you cared fer me a little. I hain't the kitten's purring, or the rain beating changed a bit, Jennie, since that night, twelve years ago, when your sister Becky come between us an' sent me to kept her from hearing the sound of ap-proaching wheels until suddenly a one-the right-about. I hain't cared fer no horse vehicle, with a single occupant, other woman, though goodness knows was almost upon her. She staggered to I hain't had any hopes about you, knowwas almost upon her. She staggered to in haint had any nopes about you, know-her feet and tried to climb up the bank, but slipped and fell back into the road, almost beneath the feet of the startled horse. In a moment the man had sprung icom the burger and was lifting her up are at the parsonage!"

As he lifted her from the buggy his arms closed about her as though they with me; you ain't goin' to go back on me now, are you, dear?"

"Oh, Eben, don't, please don't," plead-ed Miss Jane, tremulously. "Sister echoed. What is up? Why in the Becky'd say it was dreadful, at my time o' life, an'

"Sister Becky be-smothered!" quoth Eben. "Your time o' life, indeed! How about my time o' life, Jennie?"

"Oh, but it's different with men, you know, Eben. Why, I'm thirty-seven, Eben

"What of it? You're twelve years younger'n that to me, dear; you're the same little blue-eyed girl I made love to so long ago. Kiss me, Jennie girl." It is probable that in that supreme moment the conviction was borne in upon Miss Jane that she was born to be ruled by somebody, for she meekly complied with Eben's command. And little Dick Swiveller, finding himself in

The Winnipeg - Cobalt PROSPECTING and DEVELOPMENT CO., Ltd.

204

Authorized Capital $500,000 Treasury Stock $240,000 Par Value of Shares $1.00 Non-Assessable No Personal Liability

OFFICERS:

PRESIDENT-C. A. Millican, Esq. Consulting Engineer, Winnipeg. VICE-PRESIDENT-T. A. Irvine, E.q., Pres. Standard Plumbing & Heating Co., Winnipeg. SECRETARY-TREASURER-R. H. Hayward, Esq., Chartered Accountant, Winnipeg. MANAGER-W. W. Fryer, Esq., Financial Agent, Winnipeg. And an exceptionally strong Directorate of Winnipeg Business Men.

OBJECTS

Organized to open up and develop Seven Mining Properties, containing 280 acres, in the Abitibi district and Temagami Reserve, in Northern Ontario. Also to explore for Gold, Silver, Copper and other valuable minerals; Develop and Sell Mining Properties, and Promote Mining Companies in the Cobalt, Larder Lake and Abitibi Districts of Ontario.

On the foregoing Properties there are a Strong Fissure Vein of Silver Calcite eight feet wide and a very heavily Mineralized Quartz Vein containing Gold and Silver, sixteen to twenty feet wide, besides numerous smaller veins.

KICN Gold Discoveries on Abi have been recently located. Two of the "Winnipeg-Cobalt" Properties are in the Abitibi Country

New discoveries are constantly being made. Northern Ontario is Rich in Minerals. The Company has already sent out men to the Abitibi. We believe that the Winnipeg-Cobalt's before the price goes up. It is selling rapidly. Do not delay too long. Grasp the opportunity and get in on the ground floor. We will sell 20 shares and upwards on easy payment plan-One-third cash, balance in one and two months if desired.

Success is Assured Buy this Stock at 25c Buy this Stock at PER SHARE BUY

WE DEAL IN ALL GOOD COBALT STOCKS

Write for information and prospectus of the "Winnipeg-

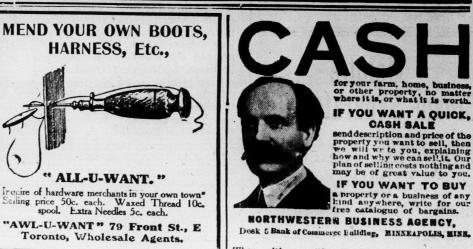

Cherry Trees in blossom on Ranch of A. J. Clarence at Peachland, Okanagan Valley, B.C.

Investment Brokers & Financial Agents Suite 615 Kennedy Block, (Opposite Laton's) PORTAGE AVE., WINNIPEG Phone 7010

N.B.-Office is open from 7 to 9 every evening except Saturdays.

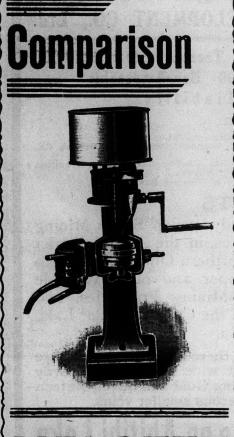

When writing, mention The Western Home Monthly,

IF YOU WANT A QUICK, CASH SALE

CASH SALE send description and price of the property you want to sell, then we will wr te you, explaining how and why we can sell it. Our plan of selling costs nothing and may be of great value to you.

IF YOU WANT TO BUY

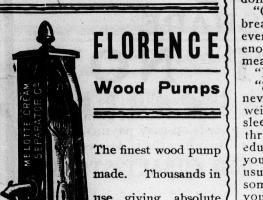

property or a business of any ind anywhere, write for our res catalogue of bargains.

20в

ATORS

stand away from all competition. They are manufactured to fill the needs of Western Farmers. In points of durability and efficiency they have no equal. They will last a lifetime and skim closer and with least labor. Write us to-day and we will convince you that the MELOTTE is the only machine for your dairy.

The Western Home Monthly

June, 1907.

The Light of the Star

A Love Story of the Theatre

By HAMLIN GARLAND

the least sign of relenting he would have stayed. But she did not. She laughingly said: "I am adamant. My face is as flint. You saw how intuitive, how sympathetic, Mr. Olquest was. You are not needed here." "Is that true?" he asked, searching her face.

"I am speaking as the actress to the playwright. Go!" She pointed tragically to the door. "Your poor old lonely mother wants you."

"There are six in our family and fourteen grandchildren."

'Then your overworked mother needs your presence."

"She's a very calm and placid na-ture. I get my moods from my father."

^a "Well, then, go on your own ac-count. You're better already. The mere thought of going home is tonic. I shall miss you, but I know it will do you good."

His heart was heavy as he entered the car, but gradually the thought of home and his parents began to ease the ache of his heart. It seemed a long time to go hungry for the sight of his Helen—"and yet she is right: I am worked out. It is time I had a mouthful of mountain air."

His brother was shocked at the change in him. He could not understand how fourteen months of New York could reduce George to the color of a cabbage and leave him limp and inert. "Fast pace they set there in the metropolis. I reckon you'd better key yourself down to Rossville for a while. Look at me!" The playwright smiled: "I haven't indulged myself too much. You can't hit a very high pace Walt on two hit a very high pace, Walt, on two dollars a day." "Oh, I don't know. You could breathe the bad air of the theatre every night if you climbed high enough. Honestly, now, what's the meaning of it all?"

"I've been working." "Shouldn't do it. Look at me! I never work and never worry. I weigh two hundred pounds, eat well, sleep like a doorknob, make about three thousand dollars a year, and educate my children. What were least forty—the family knows how old the various 'Maggies' and 'Ethels' and 'Annies' of the stage are—and even Walt takes it for granted that you are middle-aged. He saw something in a paper about us the other day but considered it only a good joke. If my next play succeeds then I shall take courage, but not here, for with you shining like a fixed star, far in the east, I am as humble as a how at Christmastime boy at Christmastime. "I am amazed at my temerity as I run over the weeks of our acquaintance. If I had not been filled with the colossal conceit of the young author, I would never have dared to approach you. In my present mood the clerk at the Embric would transfix me with his eagle eye before I could ask if you were in. "I don't say the mood will last. If my next play should succeed, if it should make a barrel of money and cause the others to succeed, I am capable of soaring to heights of audacity that will startle even you, niy Glittering Goddess."

To this she replied:

"I care not to what audacity you wing your way, if only you will rest and come back to me your good, sane, undaunted self once more."

Douglass returned on Monday

It was hard for Douglass to go-very hard; and if Helen had showed copiously. Mother thinks you are at When I'm dead I can't be deader." As they mounted to the upper deck of the ferryboat, and the "mast-hemmed Manhattan" with its spread of glit-tering, wintry sea broke upon them, his shoulders lifted with joyous inhalation: "After all, this is our great city. It is the only place where life is diverse enough to give what the dramatist requires. I begin to understand what the actors feel when they draw a long breath and say, 'Thank God! I'm in New York.'"

"It's the only city where an aritist can be judged by his peers. I suppose that is one reason for the feeling I have for it," she answered, thoughtfully. "Yes, it's worth conquering. I'll make my mark on it yet," and in his tone was a note of self-mastery, of conscious power. "It's a city set on a hill-to take it brings great glory and lasting honor." She smiled up at him. "You are indeed your old-time rugged selfthe man who 'hypnotized' me into taking his play." She turned to her brother. "Hugh, I've changed my mind about those balance-sheets. Wait till Thursday morning. I want Mr. Douglass to enjoy the first night of the play."

Hugh looked grave. "I reckon he'll sleep a good deal easier tonight if he don't see 'em."

* * *

On the New York side they found an auto waiting for them in charge of Henry Olquest, a quiet young fellow, whose thin, dark face lighted up with genuine admiration and friendship. "How well you're looking, old man! You seem full of 'sand.' That's right; things are coming your way now.

"I feel like jerking 'em my way by the hair of the head," replied Doug-lass, reaching out his hand.

"My! the air out there in the West must be something fierce. Well, I'm glad you're wearing fighting clothes; you're going up against the whole gang Wednesday night. They all took tickets with joy." "They sent in for 'em," interrupted Hugh; "they anticipate a 'killing;" and then Helen and her lover were left to themselves.

de. Thousands in giving absolute giving absolute The alternation of the sight of her blocked with snow. The thing by becoming urban. ures are intense, as he won't they wear us out? us tomorrow night, and th your brother going leisure his wife and babies and h don't know-sometimes married woman suffers su cap on the stage. Sometim of giving it up for a year to see how it would seem dallied with the thought. I can't afford to leave sometimes I feel that I'd 1 for a year. Once an acto actor, they say, but it hundreds go back to priva opened her eyes suddenly "Don't take me too soler only tired. Now, you run dress and come back and us, and then we will go Dusè. I have been eager and this is my only opp know what that look me think I should rest. I s bed all day tomorrow. want to see a play from side of the footlights; be escape part of the New monium."

June, 1907.

As Douglass walked th day he was again aware pervading power of Hel whose glorified face in of a Sister of Mercy and girl lithely dancing filled dow. The posters were the advance notices in the fully composed. If-if should succeed;

An old boyish superstit his mind. "Three times This was his third play, fore it must succeed. In dressed and went to the was further uplifted by t was initial upinted upinted by it tion of meeting a grea writer and a visiti critic land who had written "Enid's Love," praising and literary grace. A engagement delayed the and they did not enter the orchestra was fi overture. They greeted simply and cordially and with flattering promptne to enjoy the opening w play.

The audience filled the the utmost seat, but Do too well the indiscrimin people to the theatre on be moved by its number thing subtly reassuring, alting, went out from seated there. Expectar over them; they were no type, these people. He could detect in them the of satisfaction with which sit down to read a new b

| | The playwright spoke guardedly of | robbed him of all caution. He rush- | young lover's spirits rose to a danger- | loved | author. "If I could |
|---------------------------------------|--|---|---|-------------|---------------------------------|
| satisfaction under the | his ventures. "There's nothing more | ed towards her, dropping his valise | ous height. "I am living now!" he | ' place | like that," he said |
| | wearing than producing a play." | needlessly in the path. He would | said, with glowing eyes "I'm in the | Wh | nen Helen came on |
| hardest usage | "I'll belive you," said Walter. "I | have taken her in his arms, but she | world again, and I do not intend to | a gr | eeting almost frenz |
| | think the writing of one act would | stopped him with an outstretched | run away" | and e | each point in the p |
| | kill me. It must be exciting busi- | hand. She was gay and apparently | Some of his evoltation fell away | plaud | ed instantly and |
| | I ness. My advice is, slow down to | I self-possessed, for she cried out. | from him after Helen left him and | Audit Audit | tor, actress and au |
| Florence Wood Pumps | Rossville time, loll, talk to the old | How well you look! I was right. | he regretted his decision not to at- | singu | larly harmonious r |
| Sill Sim ains land tobally and | 1 tolks; come over and eat Mellie's | was I not, to send you home?" | tend the rehearsal He did not see | cries | for Douglass bega |
| give least trouble and | | "I am a new being," he answered, | her again until the next afternoon at | of the | e first act, and hi |
| are always to be | here any time; it won't turn a hair of my business." | with deep meaning. | hve o'clock He met her as she came | great | critic, said with a |
| alc always to be | my business. | Hugh was unexpectedly cordial, al- | out of the stage door weary but | wave | of the hand, "Y |
| relied on | The advice of the big, easy-going | I most fraternal. How are von old | Smiling | your | audience. These |
| | brotner was obviously sensible but | man? Move right along. I'll bring | "The rehearsal to-day was a per- | here | after an intelligent |
| | hard to follow. The mail each day | Vour Dox. | formance!" she exclaimed "Ob but | other | plays." |
| от Су | brought a letter from Helen, who was | riefen hurried on to say, "You | am tired" she said as she entered | At | the end of the se |
| 8 Write us for particulars | and almost equally construct of the play | are just in time for dress rehearsal. | the carriage. "Talk to me! Tell me | enthu | isiasm forced him |
| S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S | and almost equally careful of using | "I shall loave that desiries " | more about your visit. What did your | self a | t the box, and at the | | | words of affection. They were frank, good letters, intimately friendly, but | "Then don't mo It's to 1 | people say? Did you bring me pic- | third | act Hugh rushed i |
| | nothing more and young Douglass | 1 Inch don't go. It's too late to | Lures of them? Tell me of your | hoars | se. "Come." he sa |
| | was dissatisfied and said so He | make any considerable changes, and, | mother." | go o | n with Helen," and |
| | was dissatisfied and said so. He | with it I have left it all in his hand | He did as she bade, and she listen- | Denin | id the scenes. |
| Malatta | feelings with great freedom: | with it. I have left it all in his hands. | ed gravely till he began to quote Walt, | He | len met him with |
| Melotte | "Do you know the old wonder of | "Vou are radiant again" he said | then she smiled. "I like him; tell me more about him. Isn't he superb! | with | excitement. |
| | von is coming back? When I think | looking at her with ever of adam | He's our antitype, isn't he? Does he | the | y brave boy! Yo |
| Cream Separator Co. | of you as the 'Glittering Woman' my | tion "You did well to leave the | talk as well as you say, or are you | uley Li. | are calling." |
| , oround populator OV. | | | | ma with | lf dazed, weak, a |
| LIMITED | the mysterious Helen is my Helen? I | it's so much more added to the debit | "No. Walt has a remarkable taste | lead | emotion, he per |
| LIMITED | am mad to rush back to you, to prove | side of my account " | in words. I've always said to him, | olare | him forth into t |
| WINNIPEG CALGARY | it. dearest I came across a lithograph | "Oh, there are other things to con- | "Walt, you're the literary member of | hack | of the stage. |
| W. ANTLIFF, | of you as Charlotte Corday the other | sider. In the first place we get a | the family,' and he replies, 'I know it, | finge | ed away from him |
| | day, and all the old-time awe and ad- | larger delegate of critics, and after | but it's such a job to drive a pen all | if to | rs to the audience |
| Manager. | miration and wonder swept over me | all, you writers of plays are seeking | day. Besides, words limit the im- | the | say, "I leave him eal Star." |
| Agents for Ideal Gasoline Engines | again. I have not said anything about | publicity." | agination. Writing takes all charm | In | an awesome silenc |
| | my Helen to the people-I haven't | "Oh, by all means let the slaughter | from my vision '" | CWI | voice: |
| langer | the courage; but of the great and | be general," he exclaimed. "I'd as | "I wonder if we have lost some- | | riends! I thank ye |
| | | h | , a nonder if we have lost some- | | thank yo |
| | | | | | |
| | · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · | | | | |
| 1 · | | 8 | | | |
| | | | | | |

der."

eck of

mmed

glit-

them,

s in-

great

e life

t the inder-

thev Chank

aritist

sup-

eeling

ought-

in his

ry, of set on glory

u are self-

into

o her d my sheets.

want

night

reckon

onight

found

rge of fellow,

p with

That's

r way

vay by

Doug-

West

ll, I'm lothes:

whole

ey all

rupted ling;'"

r, and clean, middle

The anger-v!" he

in the end to away

n, and to at-ot see

oon at e came

ry but

a per-h, but ntered

ell me

d your

ie pic-

your listen-

Walt.

ell me

uperb!

oes he

e you

e taste

ber of now it,

oen all

he im-

him,

were

old

ship.

I'11

The Western Home Monthly

thing by becoming urban. Our pleas- know I had so many friends in New his wife and babies and his books. I don't know-sometimes I doubt-a married woman suffers such a handicap on the stage. Sometimes I think of giving it up for a year or two just to see how it would seem to me." She dallied with the thought. "Of course, I can't afford to leave now, but sometimes I feel that I'd like to try it for a year. Once an actor always an actor, they say, but it isn't true-hundreds go back to private life." She opened her eyes suddenly and smiled. "Don't take me too solemnly. I'm only tired. Now, you run home and dress and come back and dine with, us, and then we will go and hear and this is my only opportunity. I Dusè. I have been eager to see her, know what that look means. think I should rest. I shall stay in bed all day tomorrow. Tonight I want to see a play from the other side of the footlights; besides, we'll escape part of the New Year pandemonium.

As Douglass walked the city next day he was again aware of the allpervading power of Helen Merival, whose glorified face in the dress of a Sister of Mercy and as a young girl lithely dancing filled every window. The posters were novel and the advance notices in the press skill-fully composed. If—if the play should succeed;

An old boyish superstition came to his mind. "Three times and out!" This was his third play, and therefore it must succeed. In this faith he dressed and went to the theatre. He was further uplifted by the expectation of meeting a great American writer and a visiti critic from Eng-land who had written him about "Enid's Love," praising its sweetness and literary grace. À prior dinner engagement delayed the great ones and they did not enter the box till the orchestra was finishing its overture. They greeted the author simply and cordially and took seats with flattering promptness in order to enjoy the opening words of the play.

* * *

The audience filled the theatre to the utmost seat, but Douglass knew too well the indiscriminate rush of people to the theatre on holidays to be moved by its numbers, yet something subtly reassuring, almost exalting, went out from the people seated there. Expectancy brooded over them; they were not of holiday type, these people. He fancied he could detect in them the same feeling of satisfaction with which they would sit down to read a new book here he sit down to read a new book by a be-loved author. "If I could only win a place like that," he said to himself. When Helen came on she was given a greeting almost frenziedly cordial. and each point in the play was applauded instantly and intelligentiy. Auditor, actress and author were in singularly harmonious relation. The cries for Douglass began at the end of the first act, and his guest, the great critic, said with a smile and a wave of the hand, "You've found your audience. These people are here after an intelligent study of your ures are intense, as he says; but York. Two minutes ago I was so won't they wear us out? Think of scared my teeth chattered"—a gust of scared my teeth chattered"-a gust of us tomorrow night, and then think of laughter arose-"but I assure you I your brother going leisurely home to am perfectly calm and entirely selfpossessed now. I feel that I am among those who like my work. But I warn you that the fourth and last act has something to say to you. If you like me as well after that-well, I shall not be able to sleep tonight. All that a playwright can ask is a fair hearing. That I feel you have given me, and I am grateful."

His little speech pleased his auditors and they cheered again. Helen at the wings greeted him with a con-vulsive little hug of his arm. "You did it most beautifully; you were scared, though; I could see that."

"You deserted me," he cried. "You led me into the crackling flames and ran away."

*

As they entered her sitting-room she turned, with a finger to her lips, a roguish light in her eyes. "Im going to tell you something—I can't conceal it any longer-'Enid's Love' ran to the capacity of the house last week.

"What! No! Impossible!" he shouted.

ve had twelve hundred and eighty d ars on last Saturday night, eleven at the matinee. Here is a check for your royalties on the three weeks.

He took the little blue slip and his eyes grew dim. A choking came into his throat. "Why, this is royal-this bewilders me. I'm not used to good fortune. I'v. hoped for it, buti can't really believe it-"

"It is true. I would not deceive yc. I intend to play all three roles in a repertoire. You are no longer ın my debt."

"Then I am your partner," he cried; "in all life's gifts we'll share alike. The 'Glittering Woman' prom-ised it."

"The resplendent author has made the 'Glittering Woman' very humble," she replied with a subtle lure in her voice. For an instant she yielded to his mastery-then put him away. 'Now go, dearest; I must not delay the curtain on this night of our triumph.'

Free Samples of "Preventics" and a booklet on colds will be gladly mailed you, on request, by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis., simply to prove merit. Preventics are little candy cold cure tablets. No quinine, no laxative, nothing harmful whatever. Preventics prevent colds-

20c

WINNIPEG.

Brand of Athletic Goods and have a large stock of their baseball supplies in all styles and qualities. All these goods are of 1907 patterns and are guaranteed. Write for our illustrated Catalogue No. 40 in which everything in Summer Sporting Goods is listed.

The HINGSTON SMITH ARMS CO. LIMITED

GILSON MFG. CO. LTD. Dopt. I Gusph, Ontario Box G. 106 Chicago, Ill.

FRYER & CO.

INVESTMENT BROKERS

AND FINANCIAL AGENTS

GOES LIKE SIXTY SELLS LIKE SIXTY $65 SELLS FOR SIXTY GILSON HUMUNUM GILSON HUMUNUM GILSON FOR PURPING, Cream Separator, Churns, Wash Ma-

ATHLETIC OUTFITTERS.

For Pumping, Cream rs, Churns, Wash Ma-rs, etc. FEEE TRIAL

Cobalt and Larder Lake Stocks Our Mr. Fryer spent six months last summer in the Cobalt Country and can give valuable advice to those wishing to invest in Cobalt mines. Write us for information before you

We are brokers, buying and selling stocks on commission. We have connections on the Toronto Stock Exchange and New York curb.

We have some good things to offer in Gold, Silver and Coal Stocks. An especially good thing in Coal.

Write or wire for particulars. Our market letter sent free to any address on application.

Your income can be materially increased by judicious investment in mining shares.

> 615 KENNEDY BUILDING Opposite Eaton's, Portage Ave. Winnipeg, Manitoba.

PHONE 7010

invest in any stock.

other plays." At the end of the second act the enthusiasm forced him to show himself at the box, and at the end of the third act Hugh rushed in, white and hoarse. "Come," he said. "you must go on with Helen," and hustled him behind the scenes.

Helen met him with a face radiant with excitement.

"My brave boy! You have won; they are calling.

Half dazed, weak, and trembling with emotion, he permitted her to lead him forth into the terrifying glare of the stage. Then Helen backed away from him, kissing her fingers to the audience and to him as if to say, "I leave him to you! He is the real Star." In an awesome silence he heard his ewn voice:

"Friends! I thank you. I didn't

$1,000 No Labor! No Speculation!

GOOD INVESTMENT is worth a lifetime of labor. A small amount invested now in CANADIAN LAURENTIAN GOLD MINE will soon be worth $1,000. This mine is one of the richest in the world. Has one of the best equipments money can buy, and is producing gold in paying quantities. It is managed by mining experts. Enough ore is uncovered to keep the stamp mill running day and night. The Shares are now selling at $7.50 per share, and will soon be much higher. The Laurentian is a Canadian Gold Mine for the people all the time, and will never be controlled by a few rich capitalists. Your • ney is protected by over One Thousand Acres rich mineral land.

Send your orders now before price of Shares advance

ALLEN & MUNRO, Mekay Winnipeg, Man.

Advices from headquarters state that large and permanent dividends are assured.

charm some-

Sold by

T. EATON CO.

The Western Home Monthly

Avoid the Daily Dispute.

By Helen Oldfield.

eration was accustomed to present every couple whom he united in the bonds of matrimony with a card, upon which were printed four "golden precepts"-nuggets which a miner might have described as dug from the same pocket of the same lode of the same mine-viz .:

"Avoid the first quarrel as a deadly danger."

"Never both get angry at the same time."

"Never dispute each other; it is ooth unprofitable and undignified." "Remember always that 'A soft an-wer turneth away wrath.'"

Bulwer says that "There is no weetness in lovers' quarrels which compensates their sting," and if this be true of lovers during the period of courtship, it is much more so when the two have become husband and wife; when their interests are, or ought to be, identical; when that which affects the one must of necessity reflect in greater or less degree upon the other. Quarreling rarely pays, in any case; never, perhaps, unless one can free one's r'nd and depart, shaking the dust from one's feet; between husband and wife, if the quarrel be serious, it is suicidal to happiness.

It might reasonably be supposed that during the honeymoon, if ever, the failings of the beloved one would surely "lean to virtue's side, that love would lend its rose color to every word and act; that each of the newly wedded couple would be so eager to ple the other, to give way, that there neither would nor could be any possibility of disagreement between them. Experience proves the contrary, with all excepti. the fav-ored few; those who are in perfect sympathy, or who know each other thoroughly _tment of values, of conditions, is taking place, and the period is electric in its possibilities of storms and misunderstandings.

People who are in love should realize that the more deeply they are in love the greater is the necessity that they should be on their guard to avoid a quarrel. There are two good reasons why this is so; the one is that love is keenly alive to the least breath of disapproval, intensely sensitive to anything like a hasty word, and is apt to imagine that any slightest lack of devoted attention upon the part of the

An English dean of the past gen- | gle for it are about as wise as though they were to contest the possession of a lighted bomb! There was once a man who said: "I would not mind my wife's having the last word if it were really the last; but there are always so many last words!" which is but another way of putting King Solomon's famous saying that "The building of strife is like the letting out of water." Young people sometimes appear to fancy that the mere act of going through the marriage ceremony will give them domestic happiness that, in short, it is a case of the old fairy tales, in wh[•] we are told: "They were married and lived happily for-ever afterwards." On the contrary, marriage is but the beginning of a fuller broader more strangers life in fuller, broader, more strenuous life, in which the two must carve out their own fate, whether for weal or woe; must "seek peace and pursue it," else they may find strife springing up in their pathway. Those who would be happy in married life must acquire the conrant habit of patient continuance in well-doing, in bearing and forbearing, in believing the best, hoping the best, with the love which is charity that "never faileth." As a quaint old English writer hath said: "Newly married people should burn up in the fire of thie ardent affection all little ways which are disagreeable to each other." The trouble, however, is to sort these ways out in love and charity. "Marriage, like govern-ment, must be a series of compromises.

George Eliot tells us that "marriage must be a relation either of enire sympathy or of conquest;" and it is sadly true that much of the marital discords which unfortunately e is due to the ill advised struggle for supremacy. "They go to church and say: 'I will,' and then "They go to straightway one or the other says: 'I won't' and then trouble begins.

Yet, as already said, only the few-est quarrels (and they not between hose who love) but might be avoided by a little gentleness and love in the beginning. "Trifles make up the sum of life," and most differences, whether between friends or lovers, have their roots in seeds! One is ashamed, afterwards, to think how slight the so-called cause of variance was at first, how easily the breach might have been healed. "Behold low great a fire a little matter kindleth." at things happen only once or twice in most lifetimes; small things are in the aggregate by far the more important."

June, 1907.

ful changes in the appearance of anyone. Our stock of hair ornaments, combs, etc. is unexcelled. Everything the finest quality. Call or write. We can please you. We pay particular attention to mail orders.

BOUEY'S The Manitoba Hair Goods Co. 301 Portage Ave.

Phone 6786

TELEGRAPHY.

From farmer boy to telegrapher. Such is the five months' record of Dan McDonald, one of our students who went from our College to Battleford as telegraph operator on the C. N. R. Four others stepped out similarly this month. Our men get jobs as full fledged operators and hold them. Write us for full particulars. Address the

WESTERN

SCHOOL OF TELEGRAPHY

E. A. Davies, Principal. WINNIPEG, MAN. V. W. HORWOOD, ARCHITECT. TAYLOR BLOCK: 177 McDERMOT AVE., E. WINNIPEG.

June, 1907.

The

On a fine morning 1861, the frigate Melp Her Britannic Majesty in which I was a lieute fax, N.S., under order nudas, there to refit, proceeding to the coast watch over English in pointed headquarters Munroe, her captain be take his time on the pa We had entered the

and were sailing quiet our signal midshipma Captain E-w-t. "A Danish barque in weather bow!" "Mr. Haines," comm

tain, " ask her name a assist her." "Aye, aye, sir," officer.

In a few minutes th tered at our mast-head were brought to bear o There was some dela vessels are not generall communications by si however, the midshipm: "The Copenhagen-in and provisions—scurvy "Martin," said Cap addressing our first I Mr. Edwards take m board the barque to see require, and have the o send what he finds m Dr. Trimble had bett him and see to the si wards to come to me fore starting."

'Very good, sir," rep

These orders directed the duty which led to th about to narrate. In accordance with tain's private six-oared ned, and the assistan myself. having receive from our respective chi to board the Copenhager she wanted, and signal ship, when the necessary be sent after us in one boats.

I carried with me, h pounds of pork, some l rum and lime juice, as vegetables from the offic doctor taking also alon few medical comforts.

The Copenhagen was a off, and as we had our fir were under canvas only made no attempt to "cl chant vessel; besides i short pull in his fast gall As we rowed toward

Every Woman

about the wondering MARVEL Whirling Spray The new Vaginal Hyringe. Best-Most conven-ient. It cleanses

UPPLY CO., Windsor, Out

Moreover, the extreme desire to please often defeats its object and unnecessary sacrifices make one or both uncomfortable. The first quarrel between newly married people is much especially desired. Ingram, Va., Jan. 7, 1907. Dear Sir,—From having my name in your Di-rectory I have already received more than 2, 00 parcels of mails; and still they come, scores of Papers, Samples, Magazines, etc., for which I have often paid 10 to 25 cents each, before. R. T. JAMES. Send 10 cents to-day to ALLEN, The Mall Man, Dept. J 125, Kennedy, N. Y. to be deprecated, and may usually be avoided by the exercise of a little good humored explanation. A man is said to have once boasted to Archdeacon Paley that he and his wife had lived together for thirty years without ever having a difference of opinion. The Archdeacon answered: "Very praiseworthy, indeed; but how ex-tremely dull!"

Nevertheless, it must be doubted whether Paley was right. It is possible that an occasional difference may add the spice of variety to life, but too much pepper is not desirable. and the piquancy of disputation can easily be overdone. Its natural tendency is to degenerate into nagging and the effort to get the last word. This, the last word, is among the most, dangerous of infernal machines, and the husband and wife who strug-

There was an old Athenian law which required that a newly married couple should, as soon as they were alone together, eat a quince in partnership, in token, this fruit being the symbol of good will, that their con-versation should thereafter be mutually pleasant. If only this rule were stringently observed, how many sins of the tongue were left undone, how many bitter quarrels would be avoided!

It is often said that manners are out of date, that courtesy nowadays is considered old-fashioned, and politeness to those of one's own household altogether unnecessary. Which is a pity, all round, both for men and women, since not only quarreling, "wrangling, and jangling," but neglect and indifference, as well, are impossible to true happiness. Love may be careless, but finished courtesy, never!

Leave for the Old Country.

Mr. Benjamin Spedding, president of the Mail-Fit Clothing Co., of Montreal, leaves this week on a purchasing trip to the Old Country. He will visit all the big mills of Yorkshire and the South of Scotland.

astonished at the Dan attempt to close us.

"Have you ever been the world before, Edv Trimble of me, as we we barque.

'No; why?" I returne "Then you have neve the effect of the Gulf St "No, I have not; thoug a good deal about it."

"I have seen its evapor as to become a thick fo could scarcely call it a f more like an immense va a very handsome mirror room was completely des As he said this we ha Danish vessel and I g thought to the subject of sation. Once on board ched spectacle came une The vessel was a fin ciaft. On the deck lay crew, in the last stage her captain being appare man with sufficient energ

I have seen starvati forms; in poor Ireland du ine of '46, when America generously sent assistant gate Macedonian; and Cape of Good Hope, whe destroyed their cattle ar till the ground because a told them that a mighty

The Western Home Monthly

The Stricken Crew.

By Emerson Bennett.

On a fine morning in the fall of 1861, the frigate Melpomene, one of Her Britannic Majesty's finest screws, in which I was a lieutenant, left Halifax, N.S., under orders for the Bern udas, there to refit, preparatory to proceeding to the coast of America, to watch over English interests, her appointed headquarters to be Fortress Munroe, her captain being allowed to take his time on the passage. We had entered the Gulf Strea and were sailing quietly along, when our signal midshipman reported to Captain E-w-t. "A Danish barque in distress on the weather bow!" "Mr. Haines," commanded the cap-

U

is le.

er-

of

la-

d.

al

u

ail

is the

of our leford

others

en get them.

MAN.

tain, " ask her name and how we can assist her."

"Aye, aye, sir," answered the officer.

In a few minutes the bunting fluttered at our mast-head, and all eyes were brought to bear on the stranger.

There was some delay, as merchant vessels are not generally very smart at communications by signal; at last, however, the midshipman reported:

"The Copenhagen-in want of water and provisions—scurvy bad on board." "Martin," said Captain E—w—t, addressing our first lieutenant, "let Mr. Edwards take my galley, and board the barque to see what she may require, and have the cutter ready to send what he finds may be wanted. Dr. Trimble had better accompany him and see to the sick. Tell Edwards to come to me for orders before starting."

'Very good, sir," replied Martin.

These orders directed me to go on the duty which led to the events I am about to narrate.

In accordance with them the captain's private six-oared boat was manned, and the assistant-surgeon and myself, having received instructions from our respective chiefs, proceeded to board the Copenhagen, find out what she wanted, and signal back to the ship, when the necessary articles would be sent after us in one of the large boats.

I carried with me, however, a few pounds of pork, some biscuit, a little rum and lime juice, as well as some vegetables from the officers' mess, the doctor taking also along with him a few medical comforts.

The Copenhagen was about two miles off, and as we had our fires banked and were under canvas only, our captain made no attempt to "close" the merchant vessel; besides it was only a short pull in his fast galley.

As we rowed toward come amongst them to lead them to victory and the extermination of the white man. I have witnessed these and other scenes of famine suffering, but nothing to compare with that presented by the scurvy-stricken crew of the Copenhagen.

"Hand up the provisions-quick! quick!" I cried, and began myself serving out the small supply we had brought with us. There was a strange, eager silence as each man's wants were attended to.

The doctor went on to examine the wretched crew and apply such remedies as he chanced to have, while I signalled the ship for what provisions were needed.

So much taken up was I with these occuptaions that I paid no attention to anything else till, having completed what I was about, my attention was drawn to a strange haze forming to windward. Then I recalled the con-versation which had been commenced between the assistant-surgeon and myself. Calling him up to me I said: "Trimble, is that anything like the kind of fog you spoke of?"

As I spoke I pointed to the hazy appearance to windward.

Something of the sort," he answered, "though it does not appear to me exactly what I have usually ob-srved. Still I think you will do well to keep the ship in sight."

While we were speaking, old Davis, the coxswain of our boat, came up. "Please sur," he said to me, touching his hat, "that there haze to win'ard be'ant a good sign. There be one o' them nasty fogs a-coming on, mark my word sur." Without replying to his remarks,

I ordered him to send our men to the topes for trimming sails, as I now understood why the barque had not closed us. Not one of her crew had sufficient strength to move, with the exception of the skipper, and he was too weak even to manage the helm, having barely strength to make signals to us. As he afterward told me, he had these ready bent on with weights, so that they would run themselves up.

OUR PRICES

are a

REVELATION

Write for .

full particulars.

Taking the helm, and directing Trimble to note the Melpomene's hearings, I shaped the course for her. The haze had already began to form into a dense fog; but, as the frigate was in full view of us, I had no anxiety or fear that anything unusual would occur.

I have often thought since that my mind was distracted, and its power of reasoning dulled by the misery around me; but, be that as if may, in ten minutes from the time I had first

Are acknowledged by Dairymen, Farmers, and those who know to be the favorite, because

21 -

They Skim Cleaner They Turn Easier They Last Longer They Are Easier Cleaned

than any Separator on the market. Send in for our catalogue, W 3, on Separators and butter making ; it will tell you all about both.

RAYMOND MANUFACTURING CO., LIMITED

324-6 Smith Street, Winnipeg.

Makers of the Celebrated Raymond Sewing Machine.

The Eatonia Hand Cream Separator The Most Reliable The Most Serviceable The Most Profitable Easiest to Operate Easiest to Clean

Hardest to wear out

On account of the simplicity of construction, and the superior quality of work it performs, the "Eatonia" Hand Cream Separator is the very best offered for sale. It is made specially for us, and, in competition with other machines, has won some of the highest awards ever offered.

On account of its simple construction it can be were astonished at the Dane making no attempt to close us.

"Have you ever been in this part of the world before, Edwards?" asked Trimble of me, as we were nearing the barque.

'No; why?" I returned.

"Then you have never experienced the effect of the Gulf Stream?" "No, I have not; though I have read a good deal about it."

'I have seen its evaporation so great as to become a thick fog, though you could scarcely call it a fog, for it was more like an immense vapor bath, and a very handsome mirror in our messroom was completely destroyed by it."

As he said this we had reached the Danish vessel and I gave no more thought to the subject of our conversation. Once on board a most wretched spectacle came under our eyes. The vessel was a fine, well-found ciaft. On the deck lay the helpless crew, in the last stage of starvation, her captain being apparently the only man with sufficient energy to speak to

I have seen starvation in many forms; in poor Ireland during the famine of '46, when America so nobly and generously sent assistance in the frigate Macedonian; and again, at the Cape of Good Hope, when the Caffres destroyed their cattle and would not till the ground because a prophet had told them that a mighty spirit would noticed the misty appearance, I found myself enveloped in a dense fog, or, rather, vapor cloud, which hung round the barque and brought on a feeling similar to what one experiences in going into a Turkish bath. Our thermometer leaped up fifteen degrees, and our respiration was painfully affected; though only for a short time, as in a few hours the feeling wore off.

In the meantime, I endeavored to communicate with the Melpomene by a system of sound signals similar to that inventedby Morse. I tried first with a fog-horn belonging to the barque, but, as it had not been taken care of, I could only get a grunt out of it; I next experimented on the barque's bell, but it was a miserable article -cracked and almost soundless.

All the time we could hear the frigate's steam-whistle, with which she was signalling to us. But we not only could not return it, but had the further mortification of discovering, by the sound of the whistle growing fainter. that she was leaving us.

Such being the state of affairs, proceeded to see how matters stood n the way of provisions, and on enquiry found that there were thirty pounds of biscuit and two gallons of water in the gig beyond what we had brought with us by special design for the sufferers of the Copenhagen. Men-of-war boats, when at sea, always carry a small supply of provisions, a washed in half the time and with half the labor required for most other separators. It is less liable to get out of repair, and requires at the most but few repairs. Anyone who purchases this machine, and finds it unsatisfactory for any reason is requested to return it to us at our expense and we will refund the money. LIMITED WINNIPEG, CANADA Nothing so nice as Hines' hand-written CARDS. 18 fresh from pen, Agents outfit,Comie joker, Bird cards. All 15c. C. R. Hines, 34 Salem Pl., Rochester, N. Y. START A FACTORY You can do it and make money all the year round, ON THE FARM manufacturing Stock and riting) and Poultry Foods and Con-dition Powders. We tell you how. Great Sellers, Big Profits. No experience necessary. Write Your Name In gold on handsome Souvenir postpaid. B. H. SHAW, BLAND, NEW MEXICO. UNIVERSAL SPECIALTY CO., LONDON, CANADA

June, 1907.

bottle of lime-juice and a little rum; and as none of us had had our dinners, there now seemed a chance of our hav ing but a very poor one. "What do you think of this state of affairs?" I asked of Trimble.

"My opinion," he answered," is that this fog may last for the next twentyfour hours, and during that time we may lose our ship, so would husband such resources as are left-us. But what on earth are we to do with these unfortunates." he enquired with a pitying glance at the famished crew of the Copenhagen. "Upon my word, I don't know. I suppose we must share our biscuit with them.'

I now called Davis and directed him to put a trusty hand in the gig and drop her astern, at the same time telling him that the Melpomene must wait till evening for our first meal. "Well, sur; I thinked there wor sum'at when I left the frigate. I wor on the conn, an' I seed the beromiter a-goin' up werry fast; so I knowed some natral feenominhon wor a-goin' to take place.'

"Why did you not mention that be-fore. Davis?" I demanded.

"Because, sur, I thought you 'ud larf at me." "Well, it's a pity you did not; it might have saved us from being in this fix. But, Davis, we must take good care of what food we have left; the frigate has evidently parted from us, though I have no doubt but that she will be in sight when the weather clears.'

As I spoke a gun boomed through the fog, but it was difficult to make out its direction. The barque had on board of her an old Danish brass sixpounder, but not a thimbleful of powder; so here, again, I was prevented from exchanging communications with the frigate.

Under these circumstances, feeling no anxiety, and only that, should the worst come, we might experience the inconvenience of empty stomachs for a few hours, I determined to lay the barque to, as I felt certain that our captain would do the same with the frigate, and that we should find her at no great distance when the fog lifted. By this time, it being four o'clock in the afternoon, I ordered my boat's ciew to haul up the gig, and served out a biscuit and a half, with a little rum and water, to each man. Trimble and myself taking part with them in their irugal repast.

We were not troubled by the merchant seamen, as whatever medicine or stimulant the doctor had given them had put them into a sound sleep long before our dinner hour, from which they did not awake till late in the evening. But when they did, they were in the most ravenous state, loudly demanding What was I to do? Give them our remaining biscuit? There was only a small quantity, and what would it be among thirty men-the number of the barque's crew. Only a morsel to each. As they had eaten a hearty meal so recently, I thought they might go without anything more till we got the promised supply from the frigate; so I told them, through their captain, who spoke French, that I had nothing to give them. They would not believe my statement. Food we had-they knew itand we must share it with them. They were hungry; I had only seven men; I must supply them. Food they would have. I again told them, more firmly, that I had nothing for them. They reiter-ated their disbelief, and said they would search my boat. I now directed the boat's crew, in a low tone, to be on the alert, and that they must, at ali risks, prevent their provisions being taken from them. I added that we might be in the fog for perhaps another twenty-four hours, and so separated from the frigate. Whether the Danish sailors understood me or not. I cannot say; I have thought since that they did; but, at any rate, it was evident that they believed that there was a good stock of pro visions in the boat; indeed, their captain himself hinted that he knew as much.

To pacify them, I promised if they would wait until morning they should see what we had got, and that then we would share it with them.

I said this, being satisfied that there would be no need to keep our few biscuits from them in the morning, as ir all likelihood we should be alongside the frigate.

But it was all to no purpose. Have the provisions they declared they would and at once.

So I had to say, determinedly, no! There were thirty of them to eight of us, but we were in good health, while they appeared feeble and scurvystricken.

Still the spirit which the doctor had distributed to them had imbued them with a certain amount of artificial stength, along with a good deal of "Dutch courage." I saw there was a likelihood of trouble and it would be necessary to act promptly and energetically, even though violence might be called for.

At this crisis a thought struck me. Watching for the most prominent of the agitators, my eye fell on one who, to this day, I believe to have been an Englishman. Stepping quickly up to him, I seized him by the collar and the rext moment he was a prisoner in charge of my boat's crew.

I then told the others that I would instantly hang their shipmate to the veloping us and I began to feel our position really perilous, particularly as Trimble reported that he had not heard a single gun from the frigate during the whole of his watch. The last one that had been heard was about half-past eight the evening before. Still, judging from appearances, I had hoped that the breeze would freshen and clear the iog by noon. Nor was I disappointed. About half-past eleven a.m. it lifted and we could see the horizon all round us.

The horizon-but nothing more! No Melpomene!

Here we were on the wide ocean, in the same situation as the stricken crew we had come to rescue from distress and starvation. And, if anything, we were in a worse position; for we knew not what these desperate men might be tempted to

Perhaps fire the ship.

A moment's reflection brought up before me the real peril of the situation.

It was truly appalling. We had still left a few biscuitsabout fifty in all.

The food we had given the unfor-tunate Danes had only increased their sufferings, and their cries coming up through the closed hatch were heart rending. But what could we do for them? To + "e released them would head, sang out in a clear voice, that rang cheerily in our ears, the startling words: "Sail ho!" Everyone seemed silent-stricken at the cry, and I, seizing my telescope, rushed to the mast-head. For a moment my eye was dazzled by the bright noon-day sun, but, as I became accustomed to the glare, I could make out a ship's royals on our lee-beam. My experience told me she was a man-of-war. Hailing the deck, I directed Davis to trim sails, set studdin' sail, and keep the vessel three points free. at the same time sending the look-out man on deck to assist in working the ship and taking his place myself.

In about an hour I could distinguish our "chase" to the first reefs of her topsails, and now I was certain, from the rake of her masts, and my knowledge of the movements of our fleet, that she was a frigate.

Just as I made this discovery a cry ascended from below, and, looking down, I saw my men endeavoring to prevent the barque's crew from coming on deck, through the cabin hatch abaft!

Not waiting to ask myself how they had thus reached the after-part of the ship, I seized the main-royal back-stay, and in an instant was upon deck.

The struggle for a time was desperate, but the poor. starved remnants of humanity could not withstand the strength of the Melpomenes-which, if anything, was increased by their late abstinence-and, in a few minutes we had the Danes secured, hand and foot, and once more stowed away.

I now sent Davis to the mast-head with orders to keep a sharp look-out on the strange ship. From this time all was anxiety as to whether we had been observed by the frigate. How I longed for a gun or some other means of communicating with her! Suddenly a hail came from Davis aloft: "By the Lord, sur! there goes a gun!"

As he spoke, a dull boom came across the ocean wave and we knew we were sighted.

Then another gun, and another, till by sound signal the frigate had spelled her name. She made out "Melpomene.'

The scene that followed is beyond description. We, the officers, forgot our positions and so did the men. We only knew we were human beings, with brotherly feelings,, and that salvation from a fearful death was near at hand. We laughed, we sang, and Trimble would have at once released cur prisoners, thinking, as they were now assured of safety, there was no need for keeping them any longer in confinement. But I believed it better -as they would have only a little while longer to suffer-that they should remain where we had made them fast until the frigate's boat boarded us, and this plan was adopted. How different were our feelings under the setting sun to those we experienced at its rising! The captain of the Copenhagen was our guest and a little doctoring soon gave him strength enough to enable him to communicate the particulars of how he and his crew had got into their distressed situation. The barque had taken departure from Falmouth for Boston with a full cargo, and was in her eighty-seventh day out when we boarded her. She had been detained by rough weather, with a succession of adverse gales, until her provisions had given out and the men had got stricken with scurvy. In all probabilty had the Melpomene not sighted the barque all on board of her would have perished. On asking the Danish skipper how his men had come up abaft from the fore-peak, he explained it by saying that, the cargo consisting partially of dry goods, a kind of "wind-passage" had been made for the super-cargo, and through that they had found their way

Just It

June, 1907.

OUR G This is Importa

This Company guar you at any time after purchase of same, fro Company, provided y to sell same, in which deliver you 8 % over for same, or any othe foregoing, that this Co for said stock. This months after one year F. C. VINC

This protects your i continued and posi of the stock of this to go upwards by le possible, and guarante going agreement. This $200,000.00 assets.

Announce The Double Eagle Gold the laws of Colorado for $3 non-assessable shares.

The property of the C near the city of Telluride gold and silver bearing d It consists of twelve and comprises about 180 a in fee simple, and there same. Immediately surroun famous Smuggler Union, Bird Mines. These companies ear

Double Eagle property is oreassays far greater valu

PRESI

The company has ere tons daily, a blacksmith assay office and laborator

"Stepping quickly up to h m, I seized him by the collar."

yard-arm if they made any movement toward searching our boat. Of course this was only a threat; and I scarce knew how it might result. Fortunately, it had an effect that in the end perhaps proved the salvation both of myself and boat's crew.

The Danes showed dissatisfaction at their comrade being arrested-almost threatening a rescue; but, after ciamoring a while, they went forward and below into the fore-peak of the harque. But I knew it was only to deliberate, and. perhaps, return more determined than ever. Hunger was urging them to desperation.

And the dread of what might ensue now urged me also to adopt a desperate course. An idea had suggested itself on seeing them go below; and hastily, but silently, hurrying forward with Davis by my side, we clapped on the forecastle hatch and at once secured it with the combining-bar. We had them now safe as in a trap.

We could hear their threats and loud clamor, but heeded neither one nor the other.

now divided my men into two watches, Trimble taking command of one, myself the other; Davis being placed in charge of the provisions, as I knew him to be a trustworthy man. Morning broke with the fog still enhave been to seal our own destruction. Under the delusion that we were well provisioned. and half insane with their sufferings, they might have set upon, torn us, and perhaps done worse. The captain and two or three others were still on deck, a guard of the Melpomenes keeping watch upon their movements.

All day long we kept a lookout for the frigate, but she was nowhere to be scen; and as the sun went down our hearts sank along with it. We ourselves began to realize the pain of hunger in all its dread reality.

Another night passed; again the autumnal sun rose in its glorious splendor, ushering in to many a day of pleasure, but to us one of hunger and desolation.

The unfortunate crew of the barque had for some hours been silent, tired out; the poor wretches had, we supposed, fallen asleep.

My heart smote me as I thought ot their starving condition.

But the safety of myself and those entrusted to my care should be thought of before anything else; besides, we had nothing to satisfy their hunger, and were helpless to assist them.

At this crisis the lookout man, who had been placed at the royal mast-

After having provisioned the Copenhagen we sent her on her way reioicing: and a few months afterward Trimble and myself received a handsome pair of epaulets, and the men five sovereigns each, from the owners l of the barque.

buildings are all in splen

Within 150 feet of th this Company to provide sufficient power for all pr our water rights. We have

The various claims o locations, and to date wo feet of tunnelling, drifts, upon eight true fissure ve

Assays and smelter t wards of $60.00 per ton. The Company has now o 140.000 tons of low-grade increased facilities to be

THIS STOCK

If you PURCHA industry a

PRICE O

On Easy Monthly

$ 25 BUYS 100 SHARES, $ $ 40 160 $ 75 300 $ 100 400 " 1000 $ 250 $ 500. 2000 $1000 4000

Write for High Art Prospectus To-day

at ng

at pe, ed

ur

he vis ep

me on nd ish

ler om

wet,

cry

ng

to mtch

ley the

ay,

er

nts

the ch.

ate

we oot,

ead

out

me

nad N I ans

ud-

a

me lew till

lled

po-

ond

got We

ıgs, sallear and

sed rere

no r in tter

ittle hey ade

poat

ted.

ings ex-

was

oon able lars

into

que

outh was 1 we ined sion ions got abill the ould how the ying y of age' rgo, their pen reward andmen ners

THERE ARE A FEW GOOD MINING ENTERPRISES. THIS IS ONE. The Famous Double Eagle Gold Mining Company

Over $200,000

Read this advertisement very carefully. IT MAY MEAN FORTUNE TO YOU.

Announcement Extraordinary

The Double Eagle Gold Mining Company, incorporated under the laws of Colorado for $3,000,000 divided into 3,000,000 absolutely non-assessable shares.

PROPERTY

The property of the Company is located in Bridal Veil Basi near the city of Telluride, and right in the very heart of the rich gold and silver bearing district of San Miguel County, Colorado. It consists of twelve very rich claims and three m ll-sites, and comprises about 130 acres. The Company owns this property in fee simple, and there is no incumbrance or indebtedness on same Immediately surrounding this company's property are the famous Smuggler Union, Liberty Bell, Tomboy, Nellie and Camp Bird Mines.

These companies earned upwards of $4.500,000 last year. The Double Eagle property is more advantageously situated and its ore assays far greater values than any of the foregoing companies.

PRESENT EQUIPMENT

Already Expen

This Company owns its property outright. Not a prospect, but a thoroughly developed and equipped mine.

IMPORTANT

23

Do not invest with a Mining Company that cannot show Smelter Returns.

Smelter Returns on Double Eagle Ore show $70 Per Ton.

Smelter returns are the only absolutely reliable and unquestionable proof of a mine's productiveness, reliability and stability. A mining company that cannot show smelter returns is still a prospect. You .n purchase stock in a fully developed and equipped mining property at the low rate of 15c per share. Assays from $44.20 to $8,261 per ton and over $5,000,000 worth of ore blocked out and lying on the ore dumps. The Famous Camp Bird, Liberty Bell, Tom Boy and Smuggler Union Mines are in the same district as The Double Eagle Mines. All have paid millions of dollars per year to their stockholders and none have stock for sale. The Double Eagle is as good, if not better, than any of the aforementioned properties.

San Miguel County, in which The Double Eagle is situated, produced over $4,000,000 in precious metals in 1906.

IN GREAT ABUNDANCE

WE INVITE YOUR INVESTIGATION.

This developed mining property is located in the heart of Colorado's richest district.

THE COMPANY'S OFFER

This Company now offers to the public its treasury stock at twenty-five cents (25) per share. This is an unparalleled offer. Seldom, if ever, is the opportunity presented of purchasing stocks in a property of this character at this low price. The price of this stock will advance to thirty-five cents in a very short time.

THE COMPANY'S PURPOSE

Is to increase the mill capacity to 200 tons a day; to install a 200-ton cyanide plant; to install aerial tranways; to equip the shafts with electric hoists; to increase the water power; to continue underground development, and to purchase other very rich claims on which the Company now has option. It is to ac-complish the foregoing that the Company is placing on the market 1,000,000 shares of its treasury stock.

ESTIMATED EARNINGS

This Company confidently expects to pay dividends of at least 30 per cent annually. This means that at twenty-five cents per share your investment will earn you 120 per cent and each share you now pay twenty-five cents for will then be worth $2.00,

The company has erected on its property one fully equipped mill with a capacity of ten tons daily, a blacksmith shop, a machine shop, power house and dynamo room, a bunk house, assay office andlaboratory and other minor buildings, all fully equipped. The machinery and buildings are all in splendid condition, and as good as when installed. a thoroughly developed and equipped mine. i. e., $22.50 will buy 250 shares. Thirty per cent dividends on 250 shares will net you $75.00 per year ; in addition your stock will probably be worth $500 on the market. Just think what $1,000 will do, if invested in this stock. THE COMPANY'S OFFICEPS

WATER POWER

Within 150 feet of the mill runs Bridal Veil Creek, and this stream has been utilized by this Company to provide about 80 horse power. A turbine has been installed which gives us sufficient power for all present needs. One hundred horse power more can be generated on our water rights. We have no expensive fuel costs our water rights. We have no expensive fuel costs.

DEVELOPMENT

The various claims of the Double Eagle Group have been opened up in eight different locations, and to date work has been done, as a result of which there is now upwards of 3,000 feet of tunnelling, drifts, cross-cuts, winzes and upraises. These cuttings, cross-cuts and drift upon eight true fissure veins from four and a half to twelve feet wide.

VALUE OF ORE DEPOSITS

Assays and smelter tests show that the average value of the Double Eagle ores are up-wards of $60.00 per ton. Assays show from $44.00 to $8,261.00 gold and silver values per ton. The Company has now over 150,000 tons of this high grade ore blocked out, and also about 140.000 tons of low-grade ore, averaging about $10.00 per ton, lying on the dumps, only waiting increased facilities to be turned into cash.

THE COMPANY'S OFFICERS

Pres., J. H. HARRINGTON, of the Harrington-McCormick Commission Co., Kansas City, Mo. Vice-Pres., WM. PEET, President of Peet Bros. Soap Co., Kansas City, Mo. Sec'y. and Treas., C. C. COURTNEY, State Agent of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., Kansas City, Mo.

DIRECTORS

| HARRY HALDEMAN, of the Sonora Chief Mining Company, | Kansas City Mo |
|---|--------------------|
| J. T. GOODELL, Cudahy Packing Company E. E. TOMLINSON, Traffic Manager, Swift & Co | Kansas City, Mo. |
| E. E. TOMLINSON, Traffic Manager, Swift & Co | Chicago, Ill. |
| Z. F. CRIDER, Crider Bros. Com. Co | Kansas City Mo |
| I. H. KETNER, Pron. Hotel Washington | Kansas City Ma |
| J. LINDERMAN, Farmer and Real Estate | . Kansas City, Mo. |

REFERENCES

The foregoing gentlemen earnestly urge you to inquire of ANY BANK IN KANSAS CITY, Mo., or any MERCANTILE AGENCY, as to their character and high standing. They are men of the very highest integrity and are trusted and are respected business men of Kansas City. F. C. VINCENT, Fiscal Agt., Suite 435, Gibraltar Bld., Kansas City, Mo.

| | CE TO 35 CENTS PER SHARE SHORTLY T GLE NOW you permanently increase your income. spect a prospect. It costs you nothing to inquire. | he Double Eagle Co. has already spent over $200,000 n Development and Equipment of its 12 rich Claims. Bear in mind that this is a Developed Cut out the coupon, mail to-day. |
|--|---|---|
| PRICE OF STOCK On Easy Monthly Payment Plan $ 25 Buys 100 Shares, $ 5 Down $ 5 PER MONTH. $ 40 " 160 " $ 8 " $ 8 " $ 8 " " $ 75 " 300 " $ 15 " $ 15 " $ 15 " $ 100 " 400 $ 20 " $ 20 " $ 20 " $ 250 " 1000 " $ 50 $ 50 " $ 50 " $ 50 " $ 50 " $ 50 " $ 200 " $ 100 " $ 100 " $ 100 " 400 $ 20 " $ 20 " $ 20 " | WE CAN POSITIVELY CONVINCE THE MOST SKEPTICAL THAT THE DOUBLE EAGLE'S PROPOSITION IS ABSOLUTE- LY SQUARE HONEST, AND ABOVE BOARD. WE MOST EARNESTLY URGE YOUR CAREFUL INVESTIGATION. | PLEASE WRITE PLAINLY ADDRESS: F. C. VINCENT, FISCAL AGENT, Double Eagle Mining Co., 435 Gibraitar Building. Kansas City. Mo Please send me all information and High Art Prospectus of The Double Eagle Mining Co Name Address NOTE: Be sure to state how many shares you wish reserved in your letter. WRITE TO-DAY |

KEEP YOUR EYE genius of generalship is ON THE ENEMY. wrapped up in having a clear conception of the

June, 1907.

plans and ability of your enemy. Napoleon once said if you fight long enough you will teach your enemy how to defeat you, thus recognizing the fact that great generals study each other's tactics. Wellington affirmed that the chief business of a general was to discover, if possible, what the enemy proposed to do. Grant said that he had, when he began to practice the science of war, a certain healthy fear of the enemy, but that he had not been fighting very long before he discovered that the enemy was just as much afraid of him as he was of the enemy. To know your enemy and not only match him, but to overmatch him-this is the secret of war.

ADMIRAL NELSON'S MOTTO. Nelson was a born fighter. Had his call-ing not been upon the sea, he would have made a great name for himself as a commander of land forces. He believed that attack is the best form of defence. The enemy was never compelled to look for Nelson. Nelson was al-ways looking for the enemy. His motto was: "Where there is room for the enemy there is room for me." He was one of those men who are always looking for work—and finding it. To him a difficulty was a luxury. An easy task had no inspiration for him. Like the British bull dog, he was looking for trouble and finding it. He loved a difficult problem. It afforded him an opportunity gave a free dinner to six hundred homeless, friendless tramps,-drunkards, outcasts and jail birds. The invitation was without money and without price. Any man who was hungry or thirsty or tired was thoroughly qualified to attend. Among that circle of 600 ruined men there were college students, educational experts, merchants, who once had had a name for success and wealth; politicians who had at one time occupied leading positions in the city and State by the voice and vote of the people. Such a sight would make any thoughtful man humble and sober. Some of the strongest men fall.

UPS AND DOWNS. A leading politician in New York city recently

Lorenzo the Magnificent THE COURAGE OF and Savonarola, the pro-SAVONAROLA. phet of Florence, had had many 'a difference and dispute with reference to the affairs of the city of Florence. Again and again they had quarrelled. Savonarola would not bow to Lorenzo and Lorenzo would not submit to the de-nearly all the speculators ruined men." The man who gambles himself into success gambles himself out of success, as a rule. The fascinations of the "game" very often lead a man beyond the limits of sound judgment. Gambling is not business. It is one of the mild forms of insanity with which the sons of men are afflicted.

In society men are prone BE ORIGINAL. to copy each other. They think alike, talk alike, walk alike, speak alike, act alike and live alike. Tell me your church, and I will tell you your theology. Inform me as to your political party, and I will intimate your particular prejudice. Let me know in what school you graduated, and I will tell you the principles for which you stand. Tell me as to your social classification and I will know something as to your personal preferences. Whisper to me the name of your particular clique and I will reveal to you some of the par-ticular characteristics which belong to you and your clique. Let me ask you a question: Do you belong to the common type or are you original?

Bismarck was present at a SELF CONTROL. council of war when the representatives of the kingdom and the coming empire refused to accept his plans and suggestions. So he reasoned and argued and pleaded, until finally he threatened to resign if they refused to act in harmony with his ideas. At length, after much persuasion, they consented and the meeting adjourned. When the last minister of state had passed out of the room, Bismarck turned to a tray containing half a dozen wine-glasses, and began to smash each one of them against the wall of the castle with an im-petuosity which seemed to border on insanity. His private secretary exclaimed, "Count, you are not ill, are you?" "No," responded Bismarck, "I am not ill, but I feel like breaking something." All strong characters are possessed of great energy, but when a man feels like "breaking something" and surrenders to that feeling, he shows his weakness rather than his strength. Emerson once said "Energy is reserve." The man who is strongest is the man who has the most perfect control of himself. To "break something" is not so kingly as to be perfect master of yourself. Master yourself. Hold the reins tight. Remember you are king-or ought to be.

A.e you in debt? If so, don't be ARE YOU discouraged. Debt is by no means IN DEBT? always a good thing but many good men have been in debt. Samuel Wesley, the father of the great John Wesley, spent months in jail for debt. Oliver Goldsmith, he author of the "Vicar of Wakefield," was almost driven out of his lodgings for debt when his friend, the old philosopher, Samuel Johnson, came to his rescue. Abraham Lincoln stood and saw his surveying instruments and saw his horse and harness sold for debt, at public auction, not knowing that a friend stood by ready to buy them off. Bubert Burns in his during hour puitter to off. Robert Burns, in his dying hour, writes to a friend asking for the loan of three pounds and concludes by saying, "Save me from the horrors of a jail." Gen. U. S. Grant was compelled in his declining years to hand over all the trophies of war as security for debt. Sir Walter Scott wrote twenty novels in ten years in a heroic effort to reduce his debts, and died struggling with his financial burdens.

Several years ago a THE PARLIAMENT OF RELIGIONS. great convention was held in the city of Chicago. Perhaps the greatest convention in the history of the world. It was called "The Parliament of Religions." Every form of religion, well nigh, on the face of the earth was represented. They sang Cardinal Newman's hymn—"Lead Kindly Light," and then united in offering the Lord's Prayer, beginning "Our Father Which Art In Heaven." The sight was one beautiful to behold. But a more practical form of religious union is in constitute among the second form of religious union is in operation among us. Recently an old-fashioned orthodox Christian was taken sick in the city of Boston and taken to a Unitarian hospital. The specialist who performed the surgical operation was a Swedenborgian. The doctor was a Methodist. The lady nurse was a Baptist. The waiter who served the meals was a Roman Catholic. The clergyman who was called in to pray with the patient was an Episcopalian, and they were all lovers of God and doers of good

25

Great men are CHOOSE YOUR WORDS. very often remembered by some short sentence which they uttered in a moment of inspiration, never thinking that the words would be remembered beyond the moment which witnessed their birth. Disraeli: "The day will witnessed their birth. Disraell: The day will come when you will hear me. Napoleon: "There shall be no Alps." Cæsar: "The die is cast." Webster: "Union and liberty, now and forever; one and inseparable." Grant: "We will fight it out on this line if it takes all summer." Lincoln: "With malice toward none and charity for all." Garrison: "I will not excuse, I will not equivo-cate." Nelson: "England expects every man to do his duty." Paul: I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ." Each one of these sentences is short, crisp and ringing. They have lived in the memory and imagination of humanity. They teach us to know the weight of a word and the value of a sentence value of a sentence.

Every man is the incarnation WHAT DO YOU of a thought. There is for STAND FOR? each one of us a peculiar and predominating characteristic. In the life of the great man some leading feature In the life of the great man some leading feature of his character is chosen by the people and carried into a popular phrase or appellation. Gladstone was "The Grand Old Man," Welling-ton was the "Iron Duke," Cromwell was known as "Ironsides," Shakespeare has gone down in history as "The Myriad-Minded," Luther was "The Solitary Monk," General Grant was label-led "The Silent Man," Garrison is known as "The Liberator." Lincoln has been crowned with the Liberator," Lincoln has been crowned with the title of "The Emancipator," David is spoken of as "The Sweet Singer of Israel," while Abraham stands alone as the possessor of the supreme name, title and appellation, "The Friend of God." What do you stand for? "What is thy name?"

Can you keep a secret? This N YOU KEEP is the test of friendship. A SECRET? How sweet to be able to talk over your difficulties with a friend and know that your secrets will be guarded as though they had never been uttered. The man who cannot keep a secret is not worthy of a noble friendship. There are sisters who dare not confide in their sisters, and brothers who would not trust their secrets with members of their own family. True friendship is the foun-datior of love and the rock on which all true home happiness is built. Just after the marriage of Wm E Cladetone he wild the true if "(") of Wm. E. Gladstone, he said to his wife, "Shall I tell you nothing and you can say anything, or shall I tell you everything and you say nothing-which shall it be?" She chose the latter and the great English statesman told his wife everything and she said nothing. The best secret society I know of is the society of honor, built on the foundation of character.

mands of Savonarola. But in his dying hour, Lorenzo the Magnificent sent for the faithful prophet of Florence, saying:, "He was the only priest who ever dared to differ with me." Here was a preacher who never flattered-never feared the threats of his enemies and never yielded to the pressure of circumstances. Oh, brave Savonarola!

AN IDEAL.

1er tc.

> Over the window of Wil-INSPIRATION OF liam Carey's shop there hung a sign which read: "Second Hand Shoes > Bought and Sold." It was a cobbler's den, and to all outward appearance nothing more, but inside there was a big heart and a throbbing brain. Yonder on the plain wall of the humble shoemaker's shop hung the map of India and in the heart of the earnest workman the living but as yet unexpressed motto, "India for Christ." Years afterward when he turned his face toward India his neighbors said, "There goes a fanatic on a fool's errand." Today he ranks as one of the world's great missionaries. His life was made glorious by a splendid ideal.

GAMBLING.

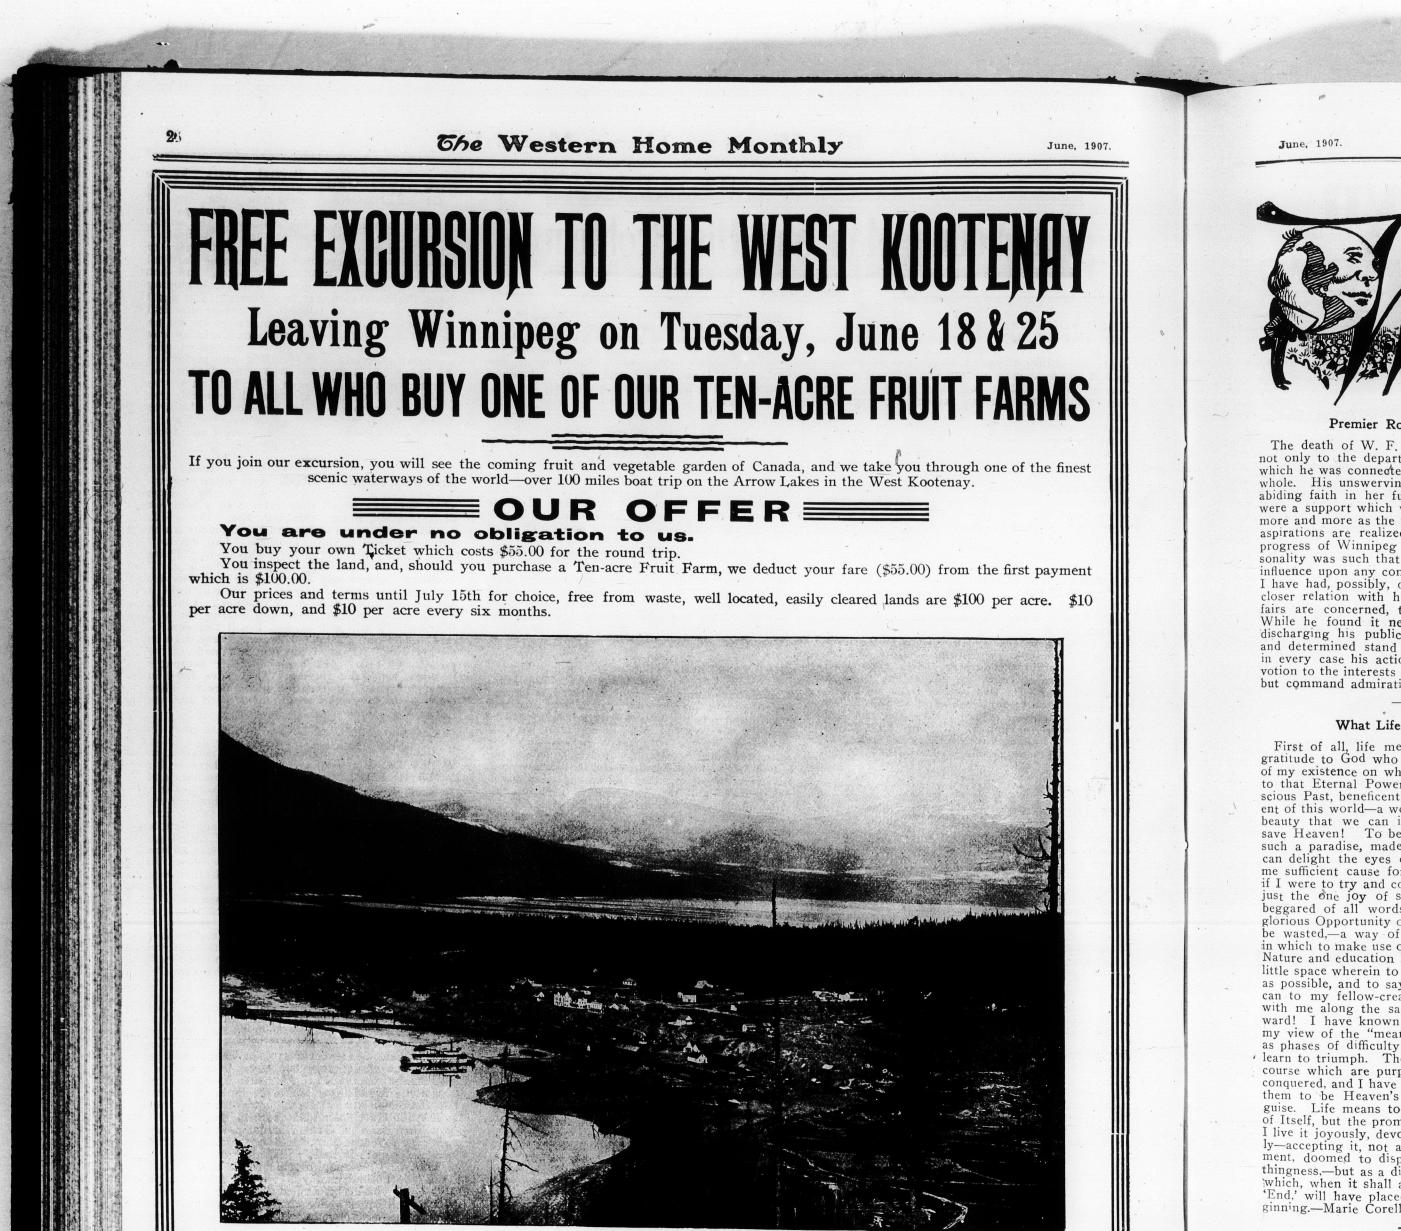

Andrew Carnegie was once CARNEGIE AND a telegraph operator-about forty years ago-before the secrets of the telegraph

cypher screened the business transactions of the American continent. He knew the gamblers and speculators of a past generation. In his book "The Empire of Business" (and a great empire it is!) he takes the public into his confidence when he says concerning the prominent specu-lators of his early days: "I have lived to see COMPOUND INTEREST. day, if well done, you do for all time.

Money is not the only thing which bears compound interest. A poem which is worth $2.00 to-day may be worth $200 ten years from now. For instance, Senator Chauncey M. Depew says that a farmer came into his law office at Peekskill, N. Y., the first day he opened it, and asked a question with reference to the settlement of an estate. Depew looked into the matter and gave a written opinion con-cerning the case, for which he charged the farmer the amount of $5. The farmer told him that he would never succeed if his fees were so exorbitant, so he returned one dollar and seventy-five cents change. Twenty years afterwards a gentleman came into Depew's office in New York City and asked exactly the same question which the farmer had asked. The interview lasted one hour, for which his client handed him a check for five hundred dollars.

Grant was a general THE MEN ON THE who seemed to be fear-OTHER SIDE. less. There existed a logical foundation for his courage, however. He said to himself, "I may be afraid of the enemy but then the enemy is just as much afraid of me." He matched his strength over against the strength of the enemy and counted that if there were some respects in which his army was weak-the enemy was not altogether without points of weakness. Generalships consists of two things-First, to know your own strength and ability; second, to know the strength and ability of your enemy. Wellington's sudden appearance on a certain field of battle caused great cheering and applause. Wel-lington turned toward the enemy and said, "Yon-der is a great commander; but he is cautious, and will delay his attack, to ascertain the cause of those cheers; that will give time for the sixth division to arrive and I shall beat him"-which he did.

The above is a photograph showing the town of Nakusp, West Kootenay, and a portion of the 8,000 acres of our land.

PARTICULARS OF EXCURSION

By taking advantage of our excursion you will have the opportunity of seeing the country to good advantage, as we have made plans for special boat service. Don't forget that we cordially invite you to join our excursion.

The excursion will leave Winnipeg on the evening of Tuesday, June 18th. Your ticket can be procured at any Station along the C.P.R., giving you special rate. We will procure berths for you at Winnipeg on three or four days' notice.

We can show you the best buying in Western Canada in our Fruit Lands. Location and Climate ideal.

The rates are the same from all points West to Regina. If you desire to go to the Coast, purchase a $60 Ticket. This allows a stop-over at the Kootenay, and is good for Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle.

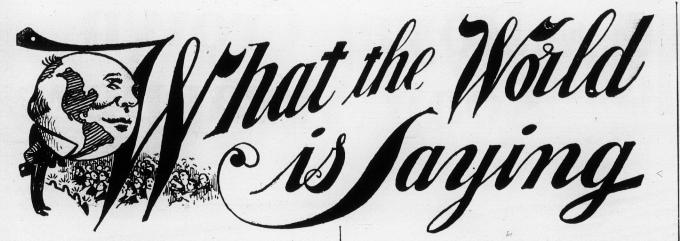

You cannot beat our terms.

NAKUSP FRUIT LANDS, LIMITED Selling Agents: THE FRONTIER INVESTMENT COMPANY Phone 6100 715 McINTYRE BLOCK, WINNIPEG

Insanity

It has been said tha people were insane the fairs and shut the san minds. It looks as if th ing. In addition to sidered insane enough own good and the go now to be found many miting a certain act, done they are sane end til another attack com is the latest form. On $100,000 from the ban nected under the delu the cotton market of natural aid. Another ed His property from judged financially, bu alowed his freedom b the madhouse. It wil that there are probab le afflicted with f which beset thes on those who have

The Western Home Monthly

Premier Roblin's Tribute.

The death of W. F. Luxton is a distinct loss, not only to the department of government with which he was connected, but to the province as a whole. His unswerving loyalty to Manitoba and abiding faith in her future greatness necessarily were a support which will be felt and appreciated more and more as the fulfilment of his hopes and aspirations are realized in the development and progress of Winnipeg and the West. His personality was such that he exercised a powerful influence upon any community in which he lived. I have had, possibly, during the last 17 years, a closer relation with him in so far as public af-fairs are concerned, than any other individual. While he found it necessary in conscientiously discharging his public duties, to take a strong and determined stand upon many questions, yet in every case his action was prompted by a devotion to the interests of Manitoba that could not but command admiration.

What Life Means to Me.

First of all, life means to me an unceasing gratitude to God who gave it. There is no day of my existence on which I forget to give thanks to that Eternal Power who, out of an unconscious Past, beneficently called me into the Pres-ent of this world—a world so lovely in its natural beauty that we can imagine nothing lovelier,— save Heaven! To be allowed to dwell at all in such a paradise, made fair with everything that can delight the eyes or charm the senses, is to me sufficient cause for hourly thanksgiving, and if I were to try and count up the blessings which just the one joy of sight bestows, I should be beggared of all words. Life means to me a glorious Opportunity of which no moment should be wasted,—a way of spiritual progress—a time in which to make use of all the best powers which Nature and education have bestowed upon me,-a little space wherein to perform as many kind acts as possible, and to say as many kind words as I can to my fellow-creatures who are journeying with me along the same road onward—and Upward! I have known pain and sorrow;-but in my view of the "meaning" of Life, I take these as phases of difficulty over which my soul must learn to triumph. They are the obstacles in the course which are purposely set before me to be conquered, and I have over and over again proved them to be Heaven's kindest intentions in disguise. Life means to me not only the blessing of Itself, but the promise of a Higher Life,-and live it joyously, devoutly, hopefully and lovingly-accepting it, not as a mere 'chance' arrangement, doomed to disperse in a purposeless Nothingness,-but as a divinely appointed schooling, which, when it shall arrive at what is called the 'End,' will have placed me happily at a new Beginning .- Marie Corelli.

selves of sound mind and judgment and who have been held by others to be sane, have called such acts as these theft and fraud. Under the allurement of the new classification it would seem not so impossible that a very large number of people might become afflicted with this new form of insanity.—The Watchman.

The Flaw in Modern Marriages.

One of the greatest, if not the greatest, of social problems to-day lies hidden in a gradual change in the way in which people regard the question of marriage. The diminishing sense of the sanctity of marriage may be due to the increasing recklessness and hurry of our modern life; it may be due to the lessening dislike of the divorce proceedings and to the growing temptation of divorce as an escape from momentary and trifling incompatabilities; it may be due to an increasing worship and desire for wealth as the guerdon of success that is replacing glory; it may be due in some sense to all that. But its real cause is the setting up of other pretexts, other motives, other incitements to marriage than affection. That must be the one and only incitement, motive, pretext, or the structure of the community and the happiness of the individual will shatter together .- Princess Estelle de Broglie.

Canon Cody on Universities.

The address of Canon Cody, of Toronto, at the Manitoba University banquet on Friday evening last is recognized as one of the ablest pronouncements on this question ever made before a Manitoba audience, and in point of influence will undoubtedly be the most important university address ever yet delivered in the West. it is worthy of particular note that so prominent a leader in the Anglican Church should, after unsurpassed opportunity for studying this question, pronounce so emphatically for an institution of strictly provincial character. In thus declaring himself Canon Cody spoke as a member of the commission upon whose report the reconstruc-tion of Toronto University has been based. We congratulate those who in Manitoba have sought so patiently to find a way by which a logical Provincial institution may be established without injustice to vested rights that to their argument and plan there has come so strong and enlightened a contribution from the best experience of another province. We need here the Board of Governors which, like that of Ontario's University, is appointed by and subject to the Provincial Government. We need in Manitoba also the in-stitution supported absolutely by the Treasury of the people. In the case of Toronto University there has been a larger deference to denominational interests than the conditions in Manitoba demand. Logic and principle require that the Senate of the University also be appointed by the Government of the Province and be subject in the last analysis to the people only. The Board of studies, which in Toronto does more or less homage in its membership to denominationalism, should in Manitoba be a committee of the Senate apponted by the Senate. We rejoice that university re-adjustment if not yet ideal, is at least facing right and moving forward with rapid strides. After arguments which we have heard in Manitoba, Dr. Cody's message sounds inconoclastic, as are the words of all reform.-D. B. Harkness.

the Great Lakes is exceeded by that of only two other nations on the globe, namely, Great Brit-ain and Germany. The commerce of the Great Lakes consists not only of wheat and flour going east, and general merchandise coming west, but it also embraces very large shipments of ore, lumber and coal. Besides this, the passenger traffic upon the Great Lakes is rapidly increasing, and when the attractions of the route become more widely known to tourists, this branch of the lake commerce is bound to become even greater. The importance to Western Canada of this magnificent waterway may be appreciated by considering the statement of the Commercial West that "it costs less than one-tenth of a cent a ton a mile to carry freight by the Great Lakes, as compared with nearly eight that by rail.-The Nor'-West Farmer.

27

King Edward's Diplomacy.

During the last six years Great Britain and Germany may be said to have changed places so far as their positions among the Great Powers of Europe are concerned. Six years ago it was England that enjoyed the doubtful distinction of being "splendidly isolated," while Germany counted among her friends two at least of the great continental powers.

Today, Germany, if not actually in the same position of "splendid isolation" as previously occupied by Great Britain, can hardly be said to stand where it did with its allies or to loom so large upon the world's political horizon, while Great Britain now counts France, long its traditional enemy, among its closest friends and Italy and Spain as friendly in something more than the cautiously diplomatic sense of the term.

The reversal of the positions of the two countries must, beyond all question, be to a very considerable extent credited to His Majesty King Edward. Without doing anything that could possibly offend Germany, King Edward has nevertheless succeeded durng the few years that he has reigned in making friends where previously Great Britain was either cordially disliked or eyed askance. He has shown himself in the truest sense a great diplomat, but a diplomat of a very different school to that of Bismarck.— Regina Leader.

the Country's Railways.

On June 30, 1906, according to the blue book, there were in the country 21,518 miles of completed railway, 21,353 of which were in acti e operation, besides 4,085 miles of sidings, showing an increase for the year of 917 miles. Of this mileage the Canadian Pacific operates 8,506 (5,169 owned and 3,337 leased); the Grand Trunk, 3,111 miles; Intercolonial, 1,483 miles; Canada Atlantic, 453 miles (396 owned and 58 miles leased); and the Canadian Northern, 2,482 miles (2,131 owned and 350 leased). These figures, of course, are far from giving anything like an adequate idea of the raiload expanision now in progress throughout the country, referring as they do merely to the mileage in actual operation, and ignoring the immense amount of construction work now actually in hand by the C. P. R., G. T. P., and C. N. R., which within the next three years will add from four to five thousand miles. to Canadian railways.—Regina Leader.

Insanity in the Future.

It has been said that if a large majority of the people were insane they would take control of affairs and shut the sane people up as of unsound minds. It looks as if that day might be approaching. In addition to those people who are considered insane enough to be confined for their own good and the good of the public, there are now to be found many who are insane while commiting a certain act, but right away after it is done they are sane enough to be trusted to go until another attack comes on. Financial insanity is the latest form. One man afflicted with it stole $100,000 from the bank with which he was connected under the delusion that he could corner the cotton market of the world through supernatural aid. Another man, while insane, concealed His property from his creditors, and was adjudged financially, but not legally, insane, and alowed his freedom both from prison and from the madhouse. It will be apparent to every one that there are probably a very large number of le afflicted with forms of insanity similar to that which beset these men. Under a mistaken on those who have hitherto considered them-

The Value of the Great Lakes.

The value to this western land of the magnificent water system constituted by the Great Lakes and the rivers that connect them with the Atlantic, is something that is not always appreciated; and the average person does not realize the extent of the commerce that passes over these bodies of water. It is somewhat surprising to learn, for instance, that the tonnage that passes the Soo canal is treble that which goes by way of the Suez canal. It is also interesting to know that the U. S. and Canadian merchant marine of Railroads and Wrecks.

The public has lost all confidence-if it ever had any—in the railway companies' investigation of their own wrecks. It is not satisfied with the published information that fifty lives were blotted out because a signalman blundered here or a locomotive-runner made a mistake there. It wants to know what checks are in force, here or elsewhere, to guard against such blunders. It wants to know whether engineers are given a printed rule that the block signal at danger is not to be passed under any conditions, and are privately instructed that it is permissible to take chances so long as their train is under "control," which may mean and often is interpreted to mean a speed of thirty miles an hour or more. It wants to know whether those who travel by rail are entrusting their lives to men who may have been working long hours and be drowsy from lack of sleep when they should be alert to watch for a signal. Already it has been found that the en-gineer of the locomotive which telescoped the train at Terra Cotta had had only eight hours sleep in the forty-eight hours preceding the dis-The recent epidemic of terrible wrecks aster. makes it probable that the year ending June 30, 1907, will show a worse record than any previous year. That conditions are actually growing worse instead of better is further confirmed by the tabular statement of collisions and derailments. It will be seen that collisions increased from 6.224 in 1905 to 7,194 in 1906, and derailments grew from 5,371 in 1905 to 6,261 in 1906. These train accidents cost the lives of almost a thousand persons and maimed a whole army of nearly 12,700 more.-Engineering News.

those described by Upto Jungle," which were never ent the utmost attention is cleanliness and to the heal ducts of the packing hous

DESSERT SPOONS (per 1-doz.) Rogers Triple Plate, for 275 Royal Crown Wrappers, or 90c. and 25 Wrappers. If outside of Winnipeg add 15c. for delivery.

TEA SPOONS (per dozen) Rogers Triple Plate, for 400 Royal Crown Wrappers, or $1 25 and 25 Royal Crown Wrappers. If outside of Winnipeg add 15c. for delivery.

Address: Premium Department, The Royal Crown Limited, Winnipeg, Man.

inspected by the State fed and after killing, and all n diseased is sent to the rend care of inspectors to be co and low grade fat. All t packing rooms are required and aprons, which are laun of the firms, and manicuris canning department are p panies. The people will be improvements for their faith "The Jungle."

0000000000

.....

A writer in the "Crafts Literary Digest complains are too much given to choo and devote too little of thei the. portrayal of American

CANADIAN VS. b CONTINENTAL ART. a "The Seine at Night," Fin light," "A Venetian Noctu all good subjects, and Ame good right to use them as criticism in the main seem that all American artists selves to American subjet born with the love of the antique. Ancient civilizatio new lands can not. Bút af temperament and taste, t America should give due pr found in their respective c

The Western Home Monthly

For the last two or three months there has been a feeling of commercial unrest throughout the West. In some instances the feeling has even been panick. The causes of depression have been mainly two, viz .: the backwardness of the spring and the tightness of

THE OUTLOOK FOR money. But there was THE WEST. no real cause for disquietude. The seeding has been done, and well done, and already the banks are loosening up. We have taken the opportunity before to say that nothing short of commercial earthquakes can arrest the progress of this country. Its backing is too good. Immigration is larger this year than in any previous year, and it will grow larger as the years come and go. Then, too, the railway companies are expending vast sums of money on extension and equipment, to say nothing of manufactures and industries that are coming and will come. Yet, with all these signs of prosperity, there will al-ways be spring unrest. It can hardly be otherwise in a country like ours, where there are so many small and untrained capitalists and so much speculation. Many of our young business men lack the sense of proportion. They are on the ragged edge of everything. Most of them, a few years ago, knew little of business, but where onportunities were so many and so good, they took them and have made money; but they lack the poise and calm of the seasoned financier, thus they are often panicky. There is no reason for the blues. This country's future is before it, not behind it. Only let us be wise and eliminate the gambling spirit for that of sound investment and all will be well.

Dr. Shailer Mathews, of the University of Chicago, and editor of The World To-Day, has made a careful investigation of the present condition of Chicago Packingtown. The results are published in The World To-Day for May, and inasmuch as a large propor-

CLEAN MEAT. tion of the people of the United States and Canada

are dependent upon the packing houses of Chicago for the meat they eat, his story is of general interest. Professor Mathews' investigations appear to be quite thorough, and he had the assistance of two scientific members of the University, who are experts in bacteriology and sanitation. The conditions in the packing houses were found to be greatly improved and utterly different from those described by Upton Sinclair in "The Jungle," which were never really true. At pres-ent the utmost attention is paid to sanitation, cleanliness and to the healthfulness of the products of the packing houses. ne anima inspected by the State federal inspectors before and after killing, and all meat discovered to be diseased is sent to the rendering tanks under the care of inspectors to be converted into fertilizer and low grade fat. All the employees in the packing rooms are required to wear clean frocks and aprons, which are laundered at the expense of the firms, and manicurists for the girls in the canning department are provided by the companies. The people will be glad to hear of these improvements for their faith was sadly shaken by "The Jungle."

jects are not hackneyed; they are fresh, and s prising by their exquisite beauty and grandeur. If the humdrum life of the city means anything to the Canadian artists more than humdrum, if there is room in his soul for the splendor of the mountains, deserts and great plains; if farming regions reveal themselves to him in other terms than mere wheat and corn and hogs, then he ought to find his subjects in these things.

Seldom does a month go by without the public. hearing that there is something doing in Saskatchewan. The new province has, with commendable energy, addressed itself to its own provincial organization, but it has done more, it has saskarchewan's to speak. It has struck AGRICULTURAL out for itself with re-NEW MOVE. freshing originality, and has persistently refused to take older provinces for its guides in all things. Its latest move is agricultural education. The old-time farmers' institute has not filled the wideopen Saskatchewan bill. With a thirst for new knowledge, this province has weighed the farm-ers' institute in her delicately poised balances, and found it wanting. She proposes to organize classes along the different railway lines for the systematic study of the various questions relating to agriculture. Meetings will be held fort-nightly or weekly, when a competent lecturer will be in attendance to conduct the work and prescribe reading along the line under consideration. The subjects treated will be soil cultivation, plant growth, dairying and live stock breeding.

In a remarkable book, "The Conquest of Bread," by Prince Kropptkin, just issued, the author arraigns capital for curtailing the output of manufactures in order to keep up prices, and calls attention to the fact that we have the spectacle at times of men work-POINTS FOR ing only three days in the LABOR UNIONS. week, while others have nothing to do, and the prices of the necessities of life kept at a high figure in order that the capitalists may make more profit. "What we want," he says, "is to arrange things so that every human being born into the world shall be assured the opportunity in the first instance of learning some useful occupation and of becoming skilled in it. Next, that he shall be free to work at his trade without asking leave of master or owner, and without handing over to landlord or capitalist the lion's share of what he produces." From this striking study laboring men may learn that limitation of output always results to the disadvantage of the workers. There may seem to be a temporary advantage in limiting the production of one man so that another may have some work to do; but it results in increasing the cost of the product, and that will inevitably decrease the amount of work done, or drive it elsewhere. The freeing of labor from all wrongful disabilities is a moral question and ought to be separated from all unethical complications. If the working man ever obtains the full rights that are his, and just so far as he advances toward victory, it will be by movements which are justified in morals.

may begin in the early years of life, but most of the patients he has seen are more than 25 years This shows, the scientists say, that the apold. pendix is not afflicted with that foolish haste which characterizes us, but is calmly proceeding to eliminate itself from a place where it is not wante

29

The feeling is silently but strongly growing that Lord Strathcona will be the next Governor-General of Canada, and that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will succeed him as High Commissioner, with the title of Lord Athabasca. "'Tis a consummation devoutly to be

LORD STRATHCONA AND wished for." It is safe to say that no appoint-AND LORD ATHABASCA. ment would be so popular as that of Lord Strathcona to the vice regal throne. His genuine humanity, his distinguished career, his thorough knowledge of Canadian affairs, coupled with his vast munificence, have given him a large and abiding place in every Canadian heart. We think, too, that to all political parties, Sir Wilfrid Laurier would be a popular choice for the High Commissionership. Whenever Sir Wilfrid goes abroad we are proud of him. He is a safe man, and never fails to reflect and it more Commisand never fails to reflect credit upon Canada. His utterances are not narrow. He speaks the language of the statesman and the patriot. Whatever our political bias may be, we all admit that the Premier is seized with the vision of Canada as a great nation. Coupled with these gifts is that of urbanity, polish, poise and consummate tact. Sir Wilfrid has all the virtues of versatility with none of its vices.

P-. Harvey W. Wiley, Chief of the Chemistry B. u of the Department of Agriculture and the U. S. Govenment's pure food expert, is saying some interesting things these days about the deterioration of foodstuffs in cold storage. His testimony is that food suffers generally from cold storage. "Milk begins to de-PILLS, POISON AND OYSTERS.

does cream. Eggs also begin to deteriorate immediately. Fruit is improved for about three months. Meat improves up to about six weeks, but after three months for meat, you can see that it has reached the maximum and then begins to go down. I do not care how hard it is frozen." Dr. Wiley is, however, a firm believer in cold storage and believes most foods improve when properly kept for a short time. About oysters the learned chemist is very pronounced. "An oyster is dead an hour after it is opened and is not good. It loses its flavor." The oyster lover will be shocked to hear this bit of sad news. But science is relentless. "Oysters ought not to be frozen. That ruins them, and as soon as they thaw they are dangerous." He maintains that the bivalve should be shipped alive and in the shell, and said the greatest outrage of the oyster trade is to soak oysters with fresh water and swell them up, making them look fat. The Doctor is down on gelatine also. "The gelatine factories are the dirtiest in the world. No one wants to run the risk of getting lockjaw by tak-

A writer in the "Craftsman" quoted in the Literary Digest complains that American artists are too much given to choosing foreign subjects and devote too little of their energy and talent to the portrayal of American life and scenery. A collection of paintings by American artists is

CANADIAN VS. CONTINENTAL ART. apt to exhibit an array

"The Seine at Night," Firenze in the Moon-light," "A Venetian Nocturne," etc. These are all good subjects, and American artists have as good right to use them as any one else. Yet the criticism in the main seems well founded. Not that all American artists should confine themselves to American subjects. Some men are born with the love of the picturesque and the antique. Ancient civilizations appeal to them as new lands can not. But after due allowance for temperament and taste, the artists of North America should give due prominence to subjects found in their respective countries. These sub-

The Vermiform Appendix, like many other antiquated things, is doomed to die the death. But it is to die a natural death; it will vanish of its own sweet accord from the interior of humanity without the intervention of the knife. This discovery has been made by Dr. THE PASSING OF Robert T. Morris. Dr.

THE APPENDIX. Morris is a professor of medicine and his word should have due weight. Instead of opening as it formerly did, to receive apple seeds, tacks and other incidentals of the quick lunch bill of fare, the appendix is showing a tendency to shut up tight and roll in of itself. By and by it will be rolled up so tight that it will dry up and vanish. The involution of inrolling appendix causes humans to think they have dyspepsia. Normal in-volutions of the appendix, Prof. Morris says, ing a powder or a pill or eating cream.

The early rising fad appears to be going "out of fashion." Of course, with some it never was a fashion. We mean it is going out with those who have preached it as a boost and practiced it as a luxury. These are they whose early rising tire is being punc-

THE EVILS OF THE tured by the sharp EARLY RISING HABIT. edge of intelligent medical authority.

A well-known doctor says, "Almost as many people have been killed by the early rising habit as by over-eating. Instead of making a man healthy, wealthy and wise, early rising lowers his vitality and results in brain fag and early decay." We must heed the call of the bed in the early morning rather than that of the alarm clock if we are to live out our 100 years. All this is bad news for the man who briskly jumps out of bed at the cock-crow. He will quote proverbs in reply—that hoary-headed one about the early bird catching the worm, for example, but as the boy who loves his bed said to his father, "it is the early worm that gets caught." Intemperance in early rising, like every other excess, is sure to bring its own penalty along with it. It is well known that the early riser often compensates himself for his greeting to the dawn by frequent naps in the afternoon or evening. If you must rise early, don't boast of it. Indeed there are few things in the way of bragging that will compare with what an English essayist calls "the insulting triumph," the outrageous animation of the nfan who has dressed by candle light in December.

Local Treatment for Women's Disorders The health we enjoy depends very largely up-on how the blood circulates in our bodies; in other words, if we have perfect circulation we will have perfect health.

other words, if we have perfect circulation we will have perfect health. There is a constant wearing out of the tissues in every part of the body. The blood flowing through the veins carries off this waste or dead matter, while the blood coming from the heart through the arteries brings the fresh, new, living tissue, the essence of the food we have digested, to replace what has been carried off. This con stant wearing out and expelling of the dead mat-ter and the replacing of it with new matter, atom by atom, goes on day and night, until in about seven years a complete change has been ef-fected. Thus every man and woman has an entirely different body in every particle of it from what he or she had seven years before. It sometimes happens, however, from a var-iety of causes, that the blood becomes congested in certain portions of the body. This means that the blood vessels in these parts become weakened, and the circulation in that section of the body be-comes sluggish and stagnant. The consequence is only partially carried away, and that but little of the new, vital matter is introduced there to build up and strengthen the tissues and nerves. This condition invariably exists in all cases of female disorders. The dead matter retained in the circulation, which should have been expelled, causes irritation and inflammation of the delicate membrane, and oppresses the nerve centers. This condition is the cause of the grievous physical and mental suffering which accompanies female troubles.

To obtain relief, it is evident that the first thing to be done is to get rid of the dead matter main there a species of blood poisoning will result, and nature will endeavor to get rid of it by forming ulcers, tumors, etc. The above explanation will also show why ORANGE LILY is so successful in curing this condition. It is a local treatment, and is applied direct to the and from the very start the dead matterbegins to be discharged. A feeling of ment is constant and positive. This feature of the expelling of the dead so marked as to be amazing. The case described in the following letter is not Dr. Coonley.—I am thankful to Mark Dr.

<text>

I am so anxious that every suffering woman may satisfy herself, without ost to her, that ORANGE LILY will cure her, that I hereby make the fol-

The W. C. T. U. The provincial

convention was a success and there is promise that the Dominion organization will gather in Winnipeg in September next. Scattered here and there throughout the West are a few women who had the privilege of attending the Dominion convention when it met in Winnipeg, I forget how many years ago, but when Mrs. Ella Williams, of Montreal, was president. No one who saw Mrs. Williams preside could ever forget the impression of her wonderful personality. "The ablest presiding officer I have ever seen," was the dictum of a noted English M. P. who was in Winnipeg at the time and attended several sessions, and he added, "I have sat in great conventions and councils in every part of the British Empire."

Her grand, strong face and gracious smile come before me as I write, though she has been in heaven for more than ten years. May her spirit be with the Dominion gathering in September. Just to think that she and Mrs. C. P. Dolsen are together once more. They were such congenial souls and had the W. C. T. U. so much at heart.

To return to the Provincial gatherings just closed. The attendance though not so large as had been noped for, was representative and enthusiastic, and the summing up of the year's work very encouraging. Mrs. speaker, and the women felt more than repaid for the effort of getting her here. She certainly succeeded in stirring up much needed enthusiasm on the question of the extension of the franchise to women. It was not my privilege to see as much of the convention as I would have liked to do, so I am going to quote a few sentences from a summing up of the convention by Miss Florence Randall, who writes the "Women's Work" in one of the daily papers. Attending women's gatherings of all kinds is her daily portion and she speaks with the authority of ample and occasionally painful experience. The woman who attends as delegate does not grasp the fact that the reporter has still hours of work ahead of her after the talkee-talkee of the afternoon or try to secure it. It is not an exevening is over, and she herself is pensive book and it is one to keep. able to take much needed rest. Praise rom such conscientious writers as Miss Randall is praise indeed, and best. any criticism offered should be carefully conned and regarded for future occasions on the well-known principle that "the onlooker sees more of the game." "Summarize, my good woman, if you have only three minutes in which to give a ten-minute report. One after another came as sheep to the slaughter of the gavel, sitting down in the midst of a sentence with the gist of the matter still to be recorded. Scarcely any, save Mrs. Kelly, the corresponding secretary, and one or two others, made her report the least bit interesting to the general public, which had been specially invited to attend in order to learn what the union was doing. I mentally applauded when Mrs. Ferguson, of Pilot Mound, one of the brightest women in the convention, stood up, after a page of the Flower Mission report had been read, and said: "I think this itemizing of every orange and every egg should not be given. It holds us up to ridicule, in my opinion." Just an informing report, given brightly, would have made all the difference in the enjoyment of the afternoon. "The convention, seen not from haphazard moments, perhaps unduly emphasized, but from the general standpoint, should be most encouraging to the women, few in number.

but strong in purpose, who have struggled against a great evil with but the weapons of love, and tears and prayer. Many have joined them and a better understanding has been obtained of their work by outsiders. "The one thing that impressed the president most was the fact that women were growing, mentally and spiritually. The interest taken was more general, knowledge was specialized and was becoming accurate and

The Women's I hope that many Edition. of my readers were expert, more women were learning

how to speak, and how to marshal facts convincingly.'

fortunate enough to secure a copy, for though it was very badly printed, it contained a wonderful store of information about women and their work in the Canadian West. I had expected to have in my column a number of the cuts of the women who had labored so abundantly to make the edition a success, but, although the women paid the newspaper the price asked for the cuts, that institution refused to give them up, claiming, I believe, that as the cuts were furnished at a reduced price, they still had a claim on them. It is rather a funny proceeding. Worked out in other things it would amount to this: If A sold B a horse (for any reason) for a reduced price, would still have the best right to the horse, although B had paid the price asked for it. It is an odd tangle, but in the meantime the newspaper Asa Gordon, of Ottawa, was the chief has possession of the cuts, and the committee that were responsible for the issue of the paper do not seem to be able to bring them to reason. Printed on the smooth finished paper of the Western Home Monthly, the cuts, which were all made new for the Women's Edition, would have been real pictures and women readers all over the country would have had the pleasure of seeing the faces of the women whose good deeds have made their names familiar to the West. However, better luck next time. It is

> What to Read. If you have not read Kate Douglas Wiggins' Chronicles of Rebecca a long lane that has no turning

It is delightful from cover

June, 1907.

LIVER COMPL

The liver is the largest sland in office is to take from the blood which form bile. When the liver inflamed it cannot furnish bile t causing them to become bound and symptons are a feeling of fulness the right side, and shooting pains region, pains between the shoulde of the skin and eyes, bowels irre tongue, bad taste in the morning,

MILBURN LAXA-LIV PILLS

are pleasant and easy to take, weaken or sicken, never fail in the are by far the safest and quickes all diseases or disorders of the live

Price 25 cents, or 5 bottles all dealers or mailed direct on price by The T. Milburn Co Toronto, Ont

June, 1907.

By ECH.

PREE TRIAL OFFER.

FREE TRIAL OFFER. I will send, without charge, to every reader of this notice who suffers in any way from any of the troubles peculiar to women, if she will send me her ad-dress, enough of the ORANGE LILY treatment to last her ten days. In many cases this trial treatment is all that is necessary to effect a complete cure, and in every instance it will give you noticeable relief. If you are a sufferer you owe it to yourself, to your family and to your friends to take advantage of this offer and get cured in the privacy of your own home, without doctors' bills or expense of any kind.

bills or expense of any kind. Should any lady desire medical advice or information on any special feature of her case, I will be happy to refer her letter to the eminent specialist in wo-men's diseases. Dr. D. M. Coonley, President of the Coonley Medical Insti-tute, Detroit, Mich., and he will answer her direct. Dr. Coonley is the discov-erer of OBANGE LILY, and has had over 30 years' experience in the treat-ment of these diseases. No charge will be made for this medical advice. Ad-dress, enclosing 3 cent stamps, Mrs. Frances Q. Currah, Windsor, Ont.

ORANGE LILY is recommended and sold in Winnipeg by THE T. EATON CO., Ltd., Drug Dept.

÷.

MOUNT BIRDS AND ANIMALS EVERY WOMAN Should be interested and know about our Sportsmen, Fishermen, Hunters, Lovers of Nature THIS SYRINGE MADE ENTIRELY OF wonderful Ladies' RUBBER.

Spray Douche. Invaluable for cleansing and reall moving tions fr

1422 395

being the best and most reliable article prrespondence strictly

Syringe is mailed in sealed wrapper of $1.50. Send ench, English and American Rubber

E. F. KARN CO., Limited DUR, QUEEP & VIDI URIA STS. TORONTO, CANADA

PARTS TO CORRODE. how to properly mount Birds, Animals, Game Heads, Tan Skins, Make Rugs, etc. A de-lightful and facinating art LEARN this art at home by mail during your leisure hours, for men and women Easily, quickly learned during spare time. Enjoy Decorate home and den vour leisure hours with your fine trophies. Or increase your in-come selling mounted specimens and mounting for others. Latest methods, reasonable rate. for others. Latest methods, reasonable rate. Success Guaranteed or no tuition fee. Endorsed by thousands of satisfied students. Write to-day

The wonderful art of Taxidermy, so long kept serret, can now be easily learned right in your own home.

WE TEACH BY MAIL

The Canadian School of Taxidermy, Nanaimo, B. C.

in fact, it is Kate Wiggins at her very

The particular chapter I wish to call attention to here, is that of the flag raising. There has been endless talk about Roblin and his flag policy, but it would be better if every school district was engaged in promoting national sentiment through the flag. It is nearing towards July 1st, though no one would suspect it from the weather, and the schools could not do better than celebrate Canada's birthday by a flag raising such as is described in this book. Above all, let the girls of the school make the flag, with the help of a few, of the older women. Correct designs can be secured in any standard dictionary and the bunting can be bought at any general store. Flags made in this way will not only cost less and last longer but they will mean far more to every child in the school. No more beautiful flag waves today than the Union Jack; the history of its growth is the history of the Empire. No child can possibly read it without a thrill of pride at belonging to a country with such grand traditions. It is just about time that our flagmy flag-your flag-should be rescued from the hands of the politicians and given the placeanddignity in the minds f the growing children that it should have. I was chatting with a Scotchman THREE MONTHS FRE. The head is designed on beautiful lines, high arm and full length, interials, and all wearing parts Ca Supplied with a complete set of t proved Steel Attachments, a full ories aud a comprehensive Instr Cabinet is of selected oak with high exactly as illustrated OUR OFFER Mail us your to dress saying yo to have our New Sewing Machine O will receive by return mail FRE Liberal Offer ever heard of. Don't Machine of any kind on any kind o after you receive our offer. Wri further particulars.

The Winnipeg Con 108 Bon Accord Bloo WINNIPEG

HOMESTEAD WA

Can you locate me on a Good He 100? Must be heavy black soil w Describe land. May buy additional tion. Address, Homesteader, We Monthly, Winnipeg.

H.

have

with ears

hem

been wo-

and

was ecial-

and

ning

rshal

nany

were gh to very ıder-

men

Vest.

umn

men

y to

. al-

ews-

cuts,

them

the

uced

hem.

ding.

rould

orse

price.

it to

the ngle,

aper

e for m to rini-

er of

cuts.

Wo-

real

over

the

the

made

Vest.

It is not oug-

)ecca

ı ex-

keep.

very

h to

the

dless

plicy,

hool

oting

flag.

ough

the not

ada's

as is all,

the

the

can

nary

any

this last

nore

No

than

f its pire.

hout

o a

ions.

ag-

cued

and ninds

ould

man

the

ers. the

The Western Home Monthly

Shoe Polish A wise dealer will always show his honest desire to serve you by giving what you ask for.

LIVER COMPLAINT

The liver is the largest gland in the body; its office is to take from the blood the properties which form bile. When the liver is torpid and inflamed it cannot furnish bile to the bowels, causing them to become bound and costive. The symptons are a feeling of fulness or weight in the right side, and shooting pains in the same region, pains between the shoulders, yellowness of the skin and eyes, bowels irregular, coated tongue, bad taste in the morning, etc.

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS

are pleasant and easy to take, do not gripe, weaken or sicken, never fail in their effects, and are by far the safest and quickest remedy for all diseases or disorders of the liver.

Price 25 cents, or 5 bottles for $1.00, all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Mimited, Toronto, Ont

the other day, who resides in New York, and speaking of his first visit to Winnipeg, he said, "I was never here before, but it was like coming home when I walked up Main street and saw the Jack flying. I have lived in New York for years, but I always feel an alien and an outsider. The Union Jack for me." That is how we all ought to feel, and flag raising, with appropriate ceremonies on July 1st, would be a step in the right direction.

Broom and Bucket This is a hint and Soap. to the overzealous housewife:-Broom and bucket and soap! Soap and bucket and broom! And the odor of steamy suds Flitters through every room. And Mollie is crabbed and cross, With her hair in a straggling coil. If I venture to come near the house

We're sure to get into a broil. The chairs are set out in the yard,

The bric-à-brac all in a pile. The minister's coming to call-

I wonder if Mollie can smile! The curtains are all put to soak,

And there on the fence, right in sight. Are garments we've worn since the flood In fearful and wonderful plight.

And after the turmoil is o'er, And civilization again

Has made of our humble abode A place for the children of men, My life will be useless and vain,

For comfort and peace will have fled;

My face will grow haggard and wan-I know I shall wish I was dead!

From earliest dawn till the sun Has sunk in the fathomless sea, commands and entreaties and rules

Will be fired in a torrent at me. And "John, clean your feet at the door: "Don't rumple that tidy, I say;" Do put out that horrid cigar; "Don't sleep on the pillow-shams, pray!'

'Oh, John, take your feet off that stool,

Your great clumsy shoes are so rough,

You'll crumple those sweet zepher flowers-

I'm sure I have told you enough!" No man with a wife and a home

Can harbor content for a day Till after the calendar marks

Six months from the first day of May!

Palmer's Hair Goods

31

WE import the finest cut hair in the world and make it up in our own workrooms under the eyes of the most skilful European experts.

Our products in Natural Hair Switches, Pompadours, Transformations, Toupees and Wigs are equal to those of the famous makers on the Continent.

If you want the best to be procured in America, write to us.

Illustrated Catalogue Free on Request.

J. PALMER & SON, LTD. 105 NOTRE DAME STREET WEST MONTREAL, P.Q.

CROMPTON'S CORSETS

All leading merchants have them.

These perfect-fitting and beautiful Corsets hold the premier position in the world of fashion for elegance, durability and comfort. They not only delight the eye but engender in the mind of the wearer that consciousness of ease, comfort and grace which a perfectly made article alone ensures.

Sterling Quality Reasonable Price Great Durability Manufactured by

CROMPTON CORSET CO., LIMITED 78 York St., Toronto 234 McGill St., Montreal

hen writing advertisers, please me ntion The Western Home Monthly.

of-town customers we are giving a beautiful Parisian fancy Comb free with every purchase of $5 and

THREE MONTHS FREE TRIAL THREE MONTHS FREE TRIAL The head is designed on beautiful symmetrical lines, high arm and full length, made of best materials, and all wearing parts Case Hardened. Supplied with a complete set of the Latest Im-proved Steel Attachments, a full set of access-ories aud a comprehensive Instruction Book, Cabinet is of selected oak with high gloss polish, exactly as illustrated OUR OFFER Mail us your name and ad-dress saying you would like to have our New Sewing Machine Offer, and you will receive by return mail FREE, the most Liberal Offer ever heard of. Don't buy a Sewing Machine of any kind on any kind of terms until after you receive our offer. Write to-day for inther particulars.

The Winnipeg Couch Co. 108 Bon Accord Block WINNIPEG MANITOBA.

HOMESTEAD WANTED.

Can you locate me on a Good Homestead for 100? Must be heavy black soil without sand. Describe land. May buy additional quarter section. Address, Homesteader, Western Home Monthly, Winnipeg.

A Stampede for Gold.

Mr. Duncan McIvor, a prospector of experience, who was recently sent out to the Cobalt country by the Winnipeg-Cobalt Prospecting and Developing Company to put a gang of men to work to open up the big silver calcite vein on their Abitibi properties, reports that ice still blocks the Abitibi Lakes and river, and that there is a big crowd of prospectors camped at McDougall's Chutes waiting for the ice to clear preparatory to a first class stampede to the new gold fields of the Abitibi. Forty gold claims, reported to be rich, were staked out on the islands of Abitibi Lake last fall. Twentyfour of these were purchased from the Mosher Brothers by the Timmins. interests, who are chief owners of the famous Lare : mines at Cobalt. The fact of the Timmins becoming purchasers of these claims at a reputed large price, stamps the finds as genuine. Those who have been through the Abitibi country say that it will one day throw Larder Lake into the shade for the value and extent of its gold deposits. The Winnipeg-Cobalt Company, with characteristic energy will have prospectors in the new gold fields in the first rush. They have all the necessary equipment of canoes, outfit, etc., on hand ' and the right kind of men for the work.

retail value of these combs is $2 each, and we sold many at that price to city customers before deciding to give them away to our patrons in the country. Write for our beautifully illustrated catalogue containing a wealth of information about the hair, which we will gladly mail you free. Note our prices for Switches.

Curly Switches Straight Switches 10.00 How to Order.—Cut sample full length of hair, state length of hair, whether curly or straight.

Money refunded if not perfectly satisfactory Correspondence solicited.

The New York Hair Store SEAMAN & PETERSEN Winnipeg and Gedar Rapids, Local Store Y.M.C.A. BLOCK, WINNIPEG.

CIVIL SERVICE

Begin now to prepare for the November Exams. Complete in-struction by mail. Success guaranteed.

The Home Correspondence School of Canada, Limited TORONTO CANADA

BEST ENGLISH Hammer and Hammerless guns with all modern improvements at manu facturers' prices. Superior far-killing 12 bcre Double Breechloaders, Entirely English Made, from $15.75 each. Also cheap quality Doubles from $9.75. Rifles etc. Illustrated Price List, free. W. James & Reynolds, George St., Minories, London, E. C. England.

Cheapest!

Cleanest!

Safest !

Good Cookers!

The Western Home Monthly

Not like those sold in Stores,

Good Bakers!

Absolutely

Safe from Explosion.

Burns Barrels of Air

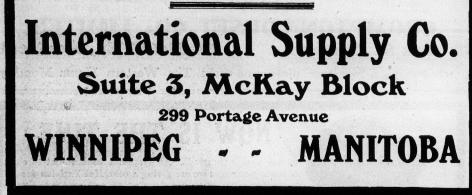

The Most Wonderful Stove Ever Invented

CAN'T CLOG UP

Causing great excitement wherever exhibited. Fuel drawn principally from atmosphere. Uses 395 barrels of air while consuming one gallon of oil. Wood, coal and oil cost money. Only free fuel is air. Supply is unlimited. No trust in control. Air belongs to rich and poor alike.

Harrison Valveless, Wickless, Automatic Oil-Gas and Air Burner Stove.

Automatically generates gas from Coal Oil, mixing it with air. Burns like gas. Intense hot fire. Combustion perfect. To operate turn knob, oil runs into burner, touch a match, it generates gas, which passes through air mixer, drawing in about a barrel of air to every large spoonful of oil con-sumed. That's all. It is self regulating. No more attention. Same Heat all day or all night. For more or less heat simply turn knob. To put fire out simply turn knob. As near perfection as anything in this world. Not like those sold in stores. No leaks, nothing to clog up. No wick, not even a valve; yet heat is under perfect control. Cheapest fuel on earth, The only stove absolutely guaranteed to be safe from explosions. No hot fiery kitchens. Not dangerous like gasoline. Simple, durable, lasts for years. Prices : 1 burner, $3.75; two burners, $7.50; three burners, $11.50. Write to-day. All orders receive prompt attention. Write to-day. All orders receive prompt attention.

Tub Dresses. That is the suggestme say that a novelty is to have the skirt to the knee and the balance of ive name given by manufacturers to certain lines of wash the skirt a deep flounce. This flounce is only just eased on across the front breadth and the insertion that dresses that are very much in vogue this season. It is an excellent name, for the dresses stand the tub without damage and are an altogether safe front width is carried down through damage and are an altogether safe and satisfactory investment. These tub dresses are made principally of blue or white duck, the blue being either a decided turquoise or a navy with white dots; the last named is very popular. The majority of the dresses are made in jumper style and body and shirt factored together the flounce, thus giving a princess panel effect to the whole gown. This is really not difficult to do and the result is certainly worth the additional labor. body and skirt fastened together, giving a princess effect, which is very Lace Gowns. I am going to de-scribe, in detail, a lace gown I saw at the Robinson Company, Ltd., because there is not another like it in the West, and if pretty. Not a few of these dresses are buttoned right down the back of both bodice and skirt and open like an apron to be ironed. The long row of white pearl buttons right down the back has a very smart look, especially with the dark blue dresses.

The white ducks are extremely serviceable and with them the join-ing of skirt and waist is generally made with a band of strong insertion a tiny half bolero of the baby Irish of a fairly open pattern. It gives a pretty touch to the dress to have a ribbon of the color of the flowers or and are finished with ruffles of the ibbons on the hat tacked inside this band of insertion.

With these dresses guimpes are worn, white always with the blue, but a novelty is to wear a guimpe of pale $120 and all the baby Irish is handyellow muslin with a dress of white made. It is a gown that would clean duck.

and do over for years and look swell, while a rag of it was left. "When White canvas shoes will be the with all these gowns. I really think that this summer it three all-over lace blouses could be pays to buy ready made white muslin | made from the skirt. gowns. I have never seen them so cheap as they are this season at the big houses, and no doubt this will and patience, might achieve for herbig houses, and no doubt this will and patience, might achieve for her-also be the case at stores in rural self. The entire dress was made of

June, 1907.

June, 1907.

with an 18-inch knife ple with narrow Val lace. Many of the light silk, eolinne summer gowns underslips of book muslin cheaper to make, last lon getting soft, and can alwa dered at home and for gowns often give better the thin silk slips.

Point d' Esprit. The point

are even more popular th and there are as many in white. By the way, for h the rule applies about the lin slips, only there is mo in getting the muslin th enough to give good resul I saw a very effective other day of black poi made very full, with two carried to the knee. The tucked across the same w and plain in the back. sleeves were also tucked. worn over a drop of fine muslin elaborately decor bias ruffles edged with blac over it a second drop of bl The chiffon gave the net s rich look and the muslin h in place.

Never try to make a cl on the machine. They easier made by hand, and danger of puckering.

Chiffon drops are not for you can get a quality enough for the purpose yard and as it is double for not take much. You do r any trimming on the chiff silk or muslin slip is prop med. All that the chiffon for is to soften the fall of net.

Tourist Waists. This cu

facturers and foretells the

from t

lamp chimneys - and cannot explode. lene Lamp For fun descriptions, cost of light per hour, etc., write for booklet.

5 Beck-Iden Acerylene Lamp Co., 86 Notre Dame St. West, Montreal.

it was done for as a gown, at leas forms a panel on each side of the

any summer bride is still undecided as to her wedding gown, this is a chance to have something unique, un-chance to have something unique, un-less, alas, it is picked up before this reaches you. However, the descrip-tion will be interesting in itself. The yown is what is known as a tailored lace princess. That sounds like a contradiction in terms but it is not. The lace is heavy allows Irish are

The lace is heavy all-over Irish crochet cut on strictly princess lines, but instead of seams the various pieces are joined by narrow insertion of an open pattern by Irish and tri-angular inserts of the baby Irish oc-cur all round the skirt. The very bottom of the skirt is cut in deep scallops and between the scallops is filled in with row upon row of ruffles of Val lace set on a strong foun-

waist is cut with Vandykes of the all-over lace, running to the neck, and these are filled in with Vandykes of the baby Irish running down, while across the bust, to give width and ful-ness at the bottom of the Vandykes, is arranged. The sleeves are of the up and down Vandykes of both lace

The dress is made over a well-boned slip of India silk with a ruffled drop of white chiffon. This gown is

The

dation of fine Brussels net.

Another gown seen at the same towns. Very many of these gowns have inserts of lace in both flounces and skirt proper. They are beauti-strips of white insertion. The fully put in and very strong and this strips are made running down from

Val.

Stiff Peter Pan, Edged with Tourist Frilling.

ing for the amateur to achieve with | flounce is made of them running any degree of success.

even buy the material retail for what | skirt at the knee in shallow scallops these gowns are sold for, and best | and fitting the flounce round them. recommendation of all, they are ready [This makes it have a most charming is a most difficult line of dressmak-] the skirt to the knee and then the round. A very novel effect is pro-Again, it is doubtful if you could duced by cutting the bottom of the to put on with the first hot day. For those who make their own, let this dress was of fine book muslin waist for later summer tra looks good to me for all round. There is a tendency styles in waists for travellin ing, and sheer linen lawn smart tourist ruffle down pleat and roun' cuffs and smart and easily laundere a great consideration to the must do her own. This cla is very effectively developed gee silk or in the heavier ma as Rajah. I saw a who golden brown Rajah silk day, with this class of wais Russet shoes and a hat of ed panama with a puggere soft silk in Roman strip about as smart a travellir any woman could wish for.

Collars. Peter Pan coll with tourist r the smartest thing out. collars will lead for t weather and the woman wit neck has cause to rejoice. more skinny sister the fold stock will be the thing. T growing tendency to wear lars with a smart bow.

the

e of

ince

the

that

the

ugh cess This

the

ddi-

del, a son

not d if

ided

is a unthis

rip-The

ored

e a not.

crobut eces an tri-

ocvery

leep s is ruf-

Dun-

The all-

and

s of hile

ful-

kes,

rish

the lace

the

rell-

ffled

n is ind-

lean ook

hen east

bel

ame ime

her-

of

atin

vide

The

rom

-

the

ing ro-

the ops em.

ing

der

slin

net.

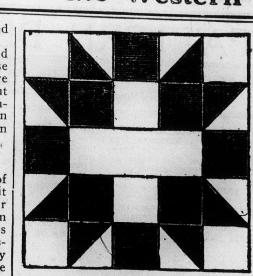

with an 18-inch knife pleating edged with narrow Val lace.

Many of the light silk, muslin and eolinne summer gowns have these underslips of book muslin. They are cheaper to make, last longer without getting soft, and can always be laun-dered at home and for very thin gowns often give better results than the thin silk slips.

Point d' Esprit. The gowns of point d' esprit are even more popular than last year and there are as many in black as in white. By the way, for black gowns the rule applies about the book muslin slips, only there is more difficulty in getting the muslin thin and fine enough to give good results,

I saw a very effective gown the other day of black point d' esprit made very full, with two inch tucks

1

"Priendship Block" for Patchwork.

This is very pretty pieced of red and white or blue and white, any colors carried to the knee. The waist was preferred, or of odds and ends.

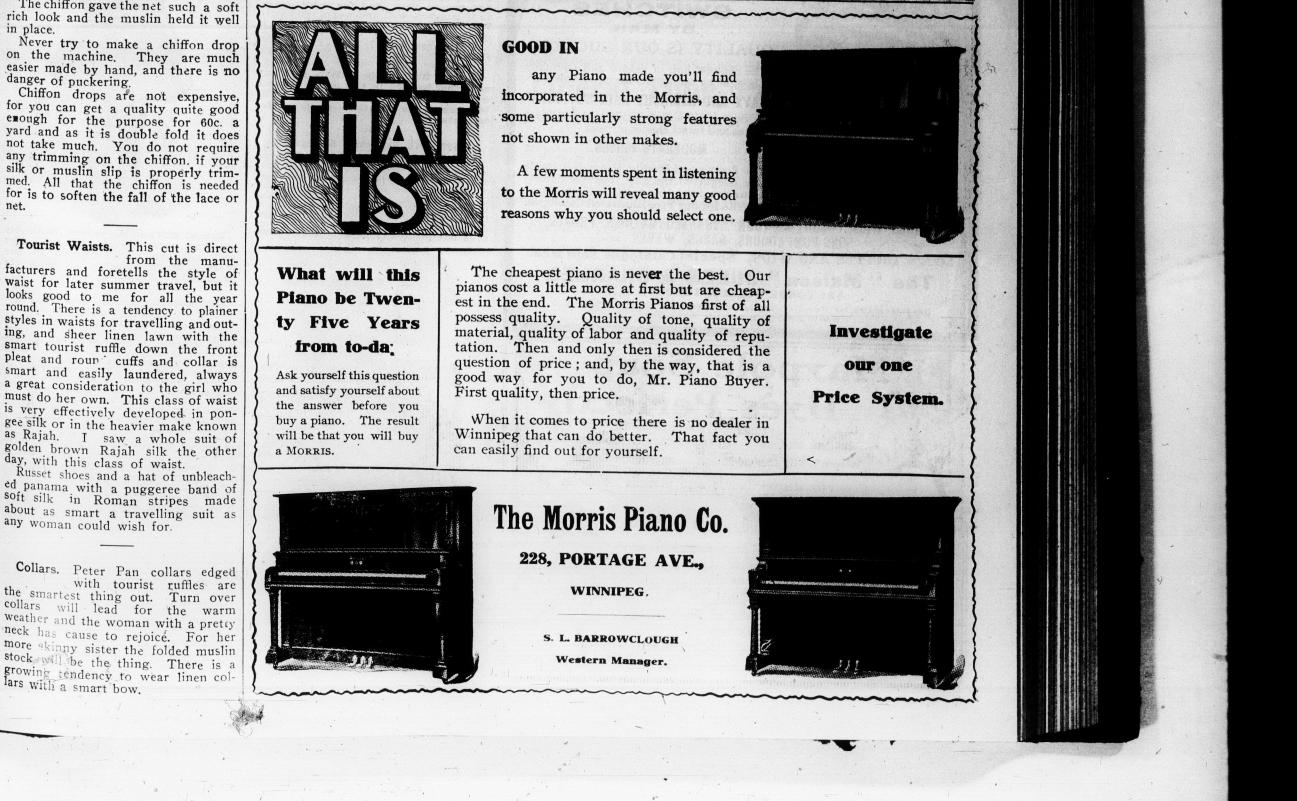

Pleated Lawn Collar.

tucked across the same way in front and plain in the back. The short sleeves were also tucked. This was worn over a drop of fine black book muslin elaborately decorated with bias ruffles edged with black Val and over it a second drop of black chiffon. The chiffon gave the net such a soft rich look and the muslin held it well in place.

on the machine. They are much easier made by hand, and there is no danger of puckering.

Chiffon drops are not expensive, for you can get a quality quite good enough for the purpose for 60c. a yard and as it is double fold it does not take much. You do not require any trimming on the chiffon. if your silk or muslin slip is properly trim-med. All that the chiffon is needed

Photographic Post Cards Send 10c and we will mail you a complete set of 10 highly colored Photographic Souvenir Cards showing views of unusual scenic and historic interest, and prove a valuable addition to your collection. Post Supply Co., Box W. 137, Waltham, Mass.

The Western Home Monthly

SASKATCHEWAN

 $\hat{\boldsymbol{\theta}}$

0

B

ATTRACTIVE SUMMER TOURS VIA THE Canadian Northern Railway

NORTHEN

VALLEY ROU

Ô

In many directions. Tickets on sale June 1st to September 15th, inclusive. Return until October 31st, 1907.

Through daily trains between Edmonton, Winnipeg and Port Arthur.and between Winnipeg and St. Paul. Connections at Port Arthur and Fort William with all steamer lines.

Just drop me a post card and state fully what you wish and the fullest information will be sent you.

Asst. General Passenger

Winnipeg.

Agent C. N. Ry.

C. W. COOPER

June, 1907.

Appearance should not be THE essential of a piano. It should AN essential. be

The New Scale Williams are masterpieces of architectural beauty. They are ornaments to every home. They lend an elegance, a refinement, that nothing else can fill. They are made in all woods and colors to harmonize with the drawing-room, parlor, den and hall. The veneers for the New Scale Williams Pianos are of every fine.

kind of wood—principally MAHOGANY from Spain, Brazil and the West Indies—WALNUT, from France and the Circassus—QUARTERED OAK AND SATINWOODS from the southlands.

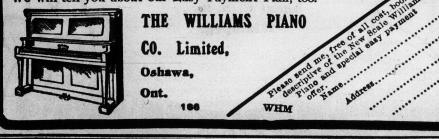

There are four veneers on the case—two inside and two outside. They are cross banded—that is, the grain of each veneer runs in a different direction from the one next to it—thus adding strength. The case of the

The New Scale Williams Piano

is made of five thicknesses of hardwood. All woods used in the New Scale Williams-in case as well as action-are seasoned for three years after reaching Oshawa. Then they are perfectly dry-can never swell or shrink-and wear like iron.

Every New Scale Williams receives seven coats of varnish. Each is allowed to sink in the wood and dry, before the next is put on. This gives the brilliant, lasting finish that is so admired. The sympathetic touch-the magnificent tone-the sweetness and volume of the New Scale Williams are fully in keeping with its exquisite appearance.

These features and many others are illustrated and described in our Booklets. May we send the three? FREE, of course. We will tell you about our Easy Payment Plan, too.

Parisian Method Hair Creations have conquered the Hair Trade of Canada for us. The "Maison" Jules & Charles have the unlimited confidence of thousands of fastidious patrons. Write for our Free Illustrated Catalogue.

DEPART PATTERN

The Western Home Monthly will send any pattern mentioned below on receipt of price sp Order by number, stating size wanted. Address Pattern Department, The Western Home Monthly, Winnipeg, Man.

4177-A Charming Little Gown for

Some of the most pleasing modes of the summer for little girls are found in the different guimpe and over-blouse effects. The fashion is not only suited effects. The fashion is not only suited to youthful wearers and very becoming, but practical for warm days, when the guinpe may be omitted and the little maid be as comfortable and happy as freedom from all discomfort can render her. The dress sketched consists of a full waist and sleeve caps and a circular skirt laid in box plaits and attached by a waistband. The style of the gown is excellent for attractive adornment and may be developed in chambray, gingham, linen or mull, while many, find pongee very good for small gowns, as it launders well and wears splendidly. The medium size calls for 3% yards 27 The medium size calls for 35% yards 27 inches wide. 4177—sizes, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 The price of this pattern is, 15 cents. Special Offer-This pattern, with any one other pattern in this issue, together with .one year's subscription to The Western Home Monthly-all three for 50 cents.

6871-An Attractive Negligee.

It is during the warm days that a woman takes keenest delight in her negligees and these are therefore a part of her wardrobe which she does not fail depth so that plenty of fulness is pro-vided for the skirt portion. The gown falls free from the shoulders and may be slipped on easily as a lounging or as a bath robe. The Japanese fabrics are best suited to the making of this gown but any soft silk or tub fabris would serve. For the medium size 6¹/₄ yards of 44-inch goods are needed. 6871-6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure.

measure.

The price of this pattern is 15 cents. Special Offer—This pattern, with any one other pattern in this issue, together with one year's subscription to The Western Home Monthly-all three for 50 cents.

4152-A Small Pinafore Apron.

4152—A Small Pinafore Apron. There are pinafores for little folks and pinafores for big ones, but the former and an apron built on this order is sketched. The neck edge is finished with a band-yoke, which is attractive by reason of its trimness, while similar bands outline the armholes. These also as the garment wears, are apt to become torm and frayed. The waist portion is shirrs at the yoke edge regulating the fulness. The skirt is a straight full one, which protects the dress completely. The effect produced by this apron is that of a guimpe and over-dress and every mother will like it. Any of the apron materials, such as cross-barred muslin, lawn or Swiss would be suit-able. For the medium size 3 yards 36 inches wide are needed. Al52—sizes, 3, 5, 7 and 9 years. The price of this pattern is 15 cents.

Special Offer-This pattern, with any one other pattern in this issue, together with one year's subscription to The Western Home Monthly-all three for 6865-6866-One of the New Ideas in Gown Creation. The woman who is an artist in dress

The woman who is an artist in dress never fails to take pleasure in a new mode which adds becoming lines and al-lows her to array herself in a pleasing manner. The wave of Oriental influence which has swept the fashion world dur-ing the past year leaves its effects here and there in the new gowns and per-naps the most decided indications at present to be seen are the various sleeve effects of which the Mandarin shown here is most popular. This is quite in harmony with broad shoulder-ed effects and carries out the wide arm quite in harmony with broad shoulder-ed effects and carries out the wide arm-hole styles to perfection. The frock is developed in one of those supple silks which lend so much fascination to the present feminine dress. The waist is gathered at the yoke and shoulder edges while the skirt is tucked about the top and lengthened by a full flounce. The bands which effect the Mandarin sleeve are separate and made of a trimming fabric such as embroidered bands or lace, the yoke and sleeve bands cor-responding. The skirt may be finished in short round or instep length, while the sleeves may be long or end at the elbow. The light cloths, crepe de chine. batiste and mouseline are suggested, 14% yards 27 inches wide being needed for the medium size.

Two patterns: 6865—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure. 6866—6 sizes, 20 to 30 inches waist. The price of these patterns is 30c. but either will be sent upon cents. Special Offer—These patterns with one year's subscription Western Home Monthly—all 50 cents.

50 cents.

4128-A Charming Little Emp 4128—A Charming Little Emp The modes for grown-ups a most quaint and fetching when to the apparel of the little per a very attractive example is s the small Empire coat. The s tion is circular, fitting the wais and rippling prettily at the he deep collar is a very becoming giving the long-shouldered eff offering an opportunity for t offering an opportunity for t

The model is of broadc.oth, with cuffs and buttons of velvet, but taffeta or pongee might serve. sleeves may be full-length or and are exceedingly well shapp front of the coat is double-brea the shield may be worn only v sired. The design is a bit differ the ready-to-wear styles and t will appeal to the particular The medium size requires 2 yard inch material. A128—sizes, 3 to 10 years. The price of this pattern is 15 Special Offer—This pattern, w with one year's subscription Western Home Monthly—all to 50 cents.

4171—An Attractive Style for The semi-fitted coats are espleasing upon young girls, and a Yashion considers them par ex no better mode can be chosen. I suit shown is one of the sma models buttoning in single-fashion and ending below the t trig rolling collar and cuffs are in a darker linen, the button covered with the same. The sk box plaits and stitched flat o

4128

ro-wn

as are

wn uld rds

ust

nts. any

her The for lks

the der hed

ive

lso ich

me

is

the ull

ely. is

and the red

it. 36

her The

for ess al-

ing

nce lur-lere per-at ous

is ler-

rm-

is ilks the is ges top The eve ing or cor-hed hile

ine, ted,

ded

to zes,

but.

4

cents.

4171—An Attractive Style for Linen. The semi-fitted coats are especially pleasing upon young girls, and as Dame Fashion considers them par excellence, no better mode can be chosen. The coat suit shown is one of the smart new fashion and ending below the hip. The trig rolling collar and cuffs are shown in a darker linen, the buttons being covered with the same. The skirt is a seven-gored one with its fulness laid in box plaits and stitched flat over the

The price of this pattern is 15 cents. Special Offer-This rattern, with any one other pattern in this issue, together with one year's subscription to The Western Home Monthly—all three for 50 cents.

Ill fitting boots and shoes cause corns. Holloway's Corn Cure is the article to use. Get a bottle at once

For Western Canada, write my Company at Brandon, Man., Moose Jaw, Sask., or Calgary, Alta.

36A

uick,

"Quick

ich a demand, spoken sharply, puts ousewife out of temper. This can be avoided by using MP"

with my Coffee"

COFFEE

THICK, SWOLLEN GLANDS

Work, E. Book 3-C free, Ivered. Book 3-C free, MSORBINE, JR., for mankind, $1.00, de Ivered. Cures Goitre, Tumors, Varicose Veins Hydrocele, Varicocele. Book free. Made only by

W. F. YOUNG, P. D. F., 138' Monmouth St., Springfield, Mass.

I. F. TUORG, F. U. F., 158' MORINGULII SL, Springtield, Mass. LYMAN SONS & CO., Montreal, Canadian Agents. Also furnished by Martin Bole & Wynne Co., and Pulford sonard Drug Co., Winnipeg, The National Drug & Chem. Co., Vinnipeg and Calgary, and Henderson Bros. Co. Ltd., Vancouver.

that make a horse Wheeze, have Thick Wind, or Choke-down, can be removed with

ABSORBINE

unch or Swelling

No blister, no

per bottle, de

Prize Cups

and Trophies

are made in our workshops.

Special

designs and prices on request.

D. R. DINGWALL Ltd.

welers and Silversmith

WINNPEG

Doctor

Hammond

e for and ail-

d ay it been ell it. rican ment. Be gives

ite. are ith be-ear no-e is of ion ty-

AN

t in

OF

The Month's Bright Sayings.

Mrs. Fred Reynolds: An ideal may become an idol, and idols are easily overthrown.

Beerbohn Tree: The philosophy of life is to make capital out of one's misfortunes.

Pearl Humphrey: When men have nothing else to think about they invariably turn their attention to the failings of women.

Magistrate Daly: As a warning to you and other furious motorists, I shall inflict a fine of $150 with the option of two months in gaol.

Arthur Symonds: Books should be taken in doses no bigger than music or pictures. There is more drunkenness in a book than in all the vineyards of France.

Goldwin Smith: Had Thaw been a poor man justice would have taken its course. Being very rich he was able to hire chicane in sufficient force to defeat the law.

Daily Mail: The happiest people one meets are those who could not run a quarter of a mile to save their life, and the saddest people in existence are the men who perform systematic exercises for their good health.

Father Bernard Vaughan: No man is sent into the world to be a lasting failure; every man who is doing his best according to the light that is in him, and the opportunities offered him, is a success.

Father Lacombe: I will not live much longer, but the die is cast, and although Americans, Germans, Galicians, and others are coming in rapidly, the English-Canadian influence will always predominate in the West.

Moore Ede: Success in life means the accomplishment of a purpose; therefore, the first requisite of success is that a man should have a purpose in life-should know what he desires to be and to do.

Rt. Hon. Jos. Chamberlain: The eloquence of reason is greater than the eloquence of passion as a for :e in moulding human opinion. El une means speaking out, speaking plainly, speaking simply, speaking fully, and speaking forcibly.

George R. Sims: A woman's strength lies in her tears. She can obtain all that man can bestow upon of Cain. her by crying for it. Her tears are her tyrannies. A man's tears are his weakness. The pleasure of gaining his ends by a little weeping is denied

Lady Colin Campbell: I think

fencing is one of the best recreations,

for it exercises all the muscles without any undue strain. It quickens the intelligence and the perceptions, it teaches good manners and a good carriage, and it can be enjoyed at any time of year, indoors or out without any troublesome paraphernalia.

Office and Field: Think of it! "A business which is so universally con-demned by the press." What words What words can express the loathsome condition of public sentiment which would allow a business to be "universally condemned by the press" after it has done the good that life insurance in New York has done. Insurance men owe a duty to the public; that duty is to educate the public; and they neglect that duty at their peril.

Sir Wm. Mulock, M. P.: Much could be done by the general public, not only to save themselves from the inconvenience arising from a shortage in the coal supply at any particular moment and also to save the mine owners and miners from loss, by laying up a reasonable supply of coal in advance of actual requirements. It is very improbable that the mines will be able at all times to send out daily a sufficient quantity of coal to meet the daily wants of the public, to say nothing of the interruptions which are liable to occur owing to the breaking down of machinery, explosions and other un-controllable causes,

Mr. Lewis: With every respect to Mr. Roosevelt, I am bound to quarrel with his determination not to have another term. And I warn the public that its rights are paramount, and he must continue should it so prefer. In picking its presidents, the public alone is judge. No one may stand at the popular elbow and direct the popular choice. No man may say he will, no man may say he won't be president. Those are not questions for the individual. The White House is not to be looked upon in the light of a compliment. It must not wait upon the interest, the preference, the modesty, the vanity, the caprice, the ease of any man.

Charles R. Keyes: Responsibility for nine out of ten of the frightful railway wrecks of the past few years can be definitely fixed; and the re-sults admit of little debate. It lies not altogether with the man at the throttle, the overworked trainman, or the lonely station telegrapher. rests directly at the doors of the higher officials, from the president down to the division superintendent. With legal recognition of this fact capital punishment, the extreme penalty for murder, assassination, and massacre, may some day soon be meted out to these men in high position the same as to any disciple Rev. Geo. W. Gray: The price of a heautiful young woman in Chicago today is $50. Inside of an area one fourth of a mile square, lying near here in Halsted street, I have found 257 resorts and 1,759 fallen women. By our investigations we have discovered that when a pretty girl comes to Chicago from the country districts she is made a target for the agents of vice. She is watched, it may be for a week, perhaps a month, and again she may be hounded for years until she falls into the traps that are set for the young, the beautiful, the virtuous. Apart from the moral side of the question, look at the financial side of it. More than $20,000,000 is expended each year in this traffic of shame.

Live in an Ideal Climate

but still be a Canadian.

The two are possible in the

June, 1907.

The district which has taken first place in Canada as a fruit growing district. We have issued a Beautiful Illustrated Book about this fruit growing valley. It's free on request.

The FISHER-HAMILTON Co. Dept. R., Box 374 Ashdown Block, Winnipeg.

Snaps in Farm Lands

UNIMPROVED

Dauphin-South half, Sec. 17, T. 27, Rg. 19, West 1st. C. P. R. siding alongside, $8.00 per acre.

Reaburn-Sec. 17, T. 13, R. 3, West 1st, $8.50 per acre.

Miniota-S. W. Sec. 13, T. 15, R. 27, West 1, $13.50 per acre.

Rossburn-N. E. Sec. 27, T. 19, R, 24, West 1st, $8.00 per acre.

Lipton—Sec. 23, T. 24, R. 12, West of 2nd, $11.50 per acre.

Bittern Lake-640 acres, East half and N. W. Sec. 28, S. W. Sec. 33, T. 47, R. 21, West of 4th, $10.50 per acre.

Oak Point-4,200 acres (en bloc) T. 19, R. 4, West 1st, $5.50 per acre. IMPROVED

Sinnot-255 acres, S.E. and E. 1/ of S.W Sec. 4, T. 13, R. 8, and part of S. W. ¥ Sec. 33, T. 12, R. 8, West of 1st, between station and river, good build-ings, etc. 75 acres under cultivation, $3,400,00.

Carievale-320 acres, 210 cultivated, good buildings, $20 per acre.

Miniota-480 acres, 210 cultivated,

Marvellous. Magical, Youth Restoring Pills, that speedily bring back the vigor and vitality of youth. These wonderful pills make thous-ands of men and women happy every day. If you have given up hope of ever knowing again the youthful vim you once possessed and re-member so well, cease despairing and get Dr. Hammond's Nerve and Brain Pills to-day. Sent securely sealed, all charges prepaid, for 60 cents a box, or six boxes for $3.00. Write for large illustrated Catalogue of everything in the drug the F. E. KADN CO. Line to the form

NERVE and BRAIN PILLS

The F. E. KARN CO., Limited COR. QUEEN & VICTORIA STS. TORONTO, CANADA

When writing advertisers, please mention The Western Home Monthly.

SOLD BY _

DRUCCISTS, CROCERS AND CENERAL STORES

0c. per packet, or 3 packets for 25c.

will last a whole season.

W. Jennings Bryan: I venture to suggest that the world's peace would be greatly promoted by an agreement among the leading nations that no declaration of war should be made until after the submission of the question in controversy to an impartial court of investigation, each nation reserving the right to accept ILSON'S or reject the decision.

Every packet

will kill

more flies than 300 sheets

of sticky paper

him.

Right Hon. D. Lloyd-George, M.P.: The responsibility of the good or bad government of the people of this kingdom rests, in the main, with the members of the religious organizations of the land. It is well, therefore, that the churches should be trained to look steadfastly at the enormous aggregate of indigence and human wretchedness lying unredeemed in a country, the richest under the sun, for the government of which they are primarily liable.

Premier Roblin: Personally, I feel that I have lost one of my best friends. as I have known him for nearly thirty years, and I can say regarding W. F. Luxton what can be said about very few men who have occupied so prominent a position in the public life of the country, and that is, that I never knew him do a mean or dishonorable thing. Willing to take, as he was free to give, hard knocks at times, yet he rever struck below the belt and those opposed to him have reason to endorse what I have said as to his honor and his spirit of fairness in as far as discussion of public matters was concerned. Manitoba and the west in his death have lost one of their best friends.

rood buildings, $21.50 per acre, third share of crop.

Ridgeville—Near Emerson, 314 acres in Sec. 27, T. 1, R. 4, East 1st, 100 acres cultivated, first-class buildings, a snap, $5,500,00.

These properties are offered at very low prices to wind up an estate-quarter cash lown-balance on easy terms.

Thomas Wright & Co. Farm Lands Dept., 354 Main St. WINNIPEG.

> ARE YOU 9 RUPTURED GET OUR PRICES On Trusses, Abdominal Supporters, Suspensor-les, Elastic Stockings, Shoulder Braces, and all kinds of RUBBER GOODS. Wo are the largest dealers in Sick Room Supplies in Can-ada. Write for Cata-logue. Our prices are 50 per cent lower than any other house. Address

The F. E. KARN CO., Limited Canada's Greatest Medicine House COR. QUEEN & VICTORIA STREETS TORONTO

FITS I have cured cases of 20 years stand-ing. Trial package free by mail. Dr. S. Perkey, Dgls. P, Sta., Chicago.

E are offering for Fruit Lands at In these lots one acr trees and bushes to Water rights are in fuel is readily acce produce raised. Ra general store, one n nificent, and there is

The following 1 party of seven settle from this company Each of the party wine the allotment p changing or withdra and in addition state

> "We, th Lake, British blocks of fruit & Gardner w our great sati scenery. The given us, the already attain lake, while the beyond descri

CHAS. P.S. HEND

For further particulars, OLDFIEL

June, 19(

tomsolar hind

rves, essed

rbed

gis.

long and than The col-

tor-

own-

this reely

With

ound

n the

d to

se to nains

and

the

rynx

ngeal

get-

the cause

the

o the ngeal

sleepres a

1 the going

mem-

p, or ucing

ound

oinate

they

im-

nows of a night d.

trap this caldsome ubled

e atconuded

ound

ndful

soil

ting

e of n for

y 1st.

i the only Iack-

and

ı ob-

pur-

with

e of

will endid

their kney d to 4

The Western Home Monthly

WE are offering for sale a number of choice ten acre lots of Fruit Lands at HOWSER LAKE, WEST KOOTENAY, B. C. In these lots one acre will be cleared and planted with fruit trees and bushes to order, the selling price including this. Water rights are included and ample timber for building and fuel is readily accessible. First-class cash markets for all produce raised. Railway station two miles. Post office and general store, one mile. The climate and scenery are magnificent, and there is good boating, hunting and fishing.

The following letter signed by each member of the first party of seven settlers who purchased land for fruit-growing from this company at Howser Lake was recently received. Each of the party was given a fortnight to thoroughly examine the allotment picked out for him, with the option of changing or withdrawing altogether. All retained their lots and in addition state as below :

"We, the undersigned residents of Howser Lake, British Columbia, who purchased ten acre blocks of fruit land from Messrs. Oldfield, Kirby & Gardner while at Winnipeg, desire to express our great satisfaction with the soil, climate and scenery. The soil is fully up to the description given us, the quality being proven by the results already attained by the earlier settlers on the lake, while the scenery is grand and beautiful beyond description."

C. P. R. HUTTON R. TANGYE CHAS. P.S. HENDERSON H. S. DAVIS L. R. HUTTON

For further particulars, address

OLDFIELD, KIRBY & GARDNER 391 Main St. Winnipeg, Man.

W. TANGYE

S. CLARKE

There are very few bands in Canada that have the prominence of the Winnipeg City Band of which the above is a good photo. This splendid organization was formed in the year 1889 and was the outcome of what was then known as the Citizens' Band. The late James Tees was president at its inauguration with Mr. S. L. Barrowclough band-aster, which position henow occupies. From its inception the band has raised the standard of its music, and at the time of writing its reportoire comprises most of the standard overtures. Last season the manager of the famcus Duss Band wrote that there were many travel-ling professional bands in the United States that did not play as well. Mr. Barrowclough, the bandmaster, is well-known through-out Western Canada. He is the Western Manager for the celebrated Morris Piano, Choirmaster of the Central Congregational Church Choir, and manager of what is known as Barrowclough's Orchestra. The Band has just purchased completenew set cf Boosey compensating instruments, as well as a new outfit of uniforms. The uniforms were pur-chased from the T. Eaton Co., and are the best fitting and most complete the Band have had.

36c

The Western Home Monthly Poetry of the Bour. Claim souls But what shall we do to-day?

Yes, we love our Western city, With its brief poetic name, Where the rapping, tapping hammer By day and night sings "claim," If you do not own a bit of Jand We Westerners don't blame, For we welcome all the tenderfoots To a claim, Claim claim.

35d

Welcome the city parson With his patent leather boots, With his dainty, gentle parsoness, And their ministerial shoots; We will not dub them "city kids," Nor any other name:

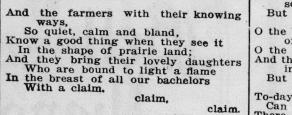

Nor any other name; They are as welcome as May blossoms To a claim, claim,

claim

claim.

From Toronto to Manitoba Come the teachers in a stream, With their charming dress and manners, They're the bachelors' sweet dream; They have come to stay, God bless them, They are sure to change their name, For our young men know just how to file On a claim, claim. claim.

DO SOMETHING.

Do something for somebody, somewhere While jogging along life's road; Help someone to carry his burden, And lighter will grow your load Do something for somebody gladly, 'Twill sweeten your every care; In sharing the sorrows of others, Your own are less hard to bear. Do something for somebody, striving To help where the way seems long; And the homeless hearts that languish Cheer up with a little song. Do something for somebody always, Whatever may be your creed— There's nothing on earth can help you So much as a kindly deed. —Rey J S Cutler

-Rev. J. S. Cutler.

WHAT SHALL WE DO TO-DAY?

O the deeds we will do in the days to come And the words that we mean to say Will lighten the hearts of the sin-sick

O the burdens we'll lift from the hearts of men, O the tears we will wipe away,

And the songs we will sing to the falter-ings ones— But what shall we do to-day?

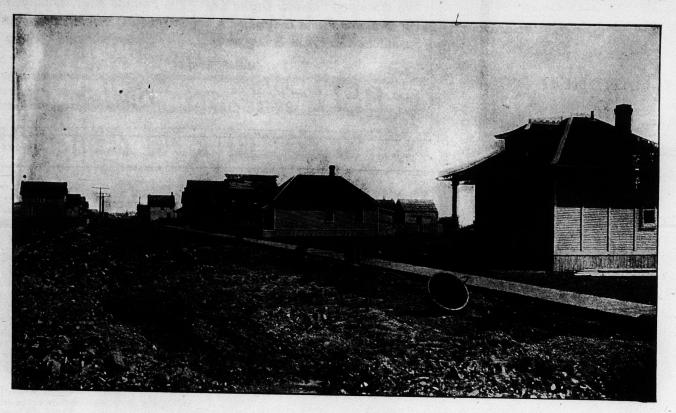

To-day is the span of our life, no more Can we measure or clasp or mould. There may be no morrow for us, dear heart, No future to use or hold.

O let us give from our store at dawn, Give 'till the gloaming fades away, All we may do for the sons of men Is the good we can do to-day.

-Ruth Sterry.

A Song of Brotherhood The blessings of a brighter day bloom from a cherished past, And glad and golden is the way that leads us on at last Into the asphodelian lands where fade-less flowers are spread To greet our feet by, hallowed hands of our remembered dead.

Wealth without Work or Worry

June, 1907.

The faith that once was in eclipse, wrapped by the clouds of wrong, Has felt the touch of loving lips that thrill with tender song, Till it has risen to redeem the race from its despairs And realize that splendid dream of our unanswered prayers.

Where once the fields were drenched with red beneath the blackest night. Now greenest grasses grow instead, and lilies blossom white: And like a vibrant silver bell now rings the robin's note Where once the battle-song of hell belched from the cannon's throat.

- The only chains are links of love, where
- And garland placed the wounds above have hidden all the scars. We lightly climb life's sunny slopes, where naught the music mars That lifts the heart to higher hopes and sets it 'mong the stars.

Our feet have found the solid rock of Our feet have found the solid rock of broader brotherhood; Our souls have safely met the shock, and all its woes withstood; The newer birth is ours at last, and no-thing now remains To point us to the poignant past—its passions and its pains.

The darkness of the years is gone, the shadows hurry by, While fingers of a damask dawn spread beauty on the sky. On haloed heights a rarer glow shall crown the heart's demands.

And love's sweet springs shall fairer flow from out life's bitter lands. -Selected.

The Charm of Checkered Gingham.

- I've seen some fifty summers, an' I'm gettin' bald an' gray, But still my memory's so keen I re-collect that day As if 'twas yesterday, when I to school

- As if 'twas yesterday, when I to school first went, in pride,
 A neighbor girl in gingham dress slow trudging by my side.
 'Twas also her first day at school, and, ah, I thought her sweet,
 As hand in hand we ambled on adown the village street;
 For proud I was as some bold knight, enchanted, I confess,
 And wholly captivated by her checkered gingham dress.

- singnam dress.
 Somehow a gown of gingham, if 'twas checkered, pink or blue,
 Kept weaving spells about me as I taller, older, grew.
 For the same girl held my homage when I'd passed the bounds of youth,
 Wearing, oh, much longer dresses, but of gingham still forsooth!
 Grown bold, I then went wooing, and our courtship so progressed
 The day that I was twenty-one I all my love confessed
 To her, and plighting there our troth I slipped love's first caress
 With my arm around the waist-line of a checkered gingham dress.

- I've read that purple velvet is preferred by royalty.
 But there's nothin' looks so regal as a checkered dress t' me!
 An' I'm sure 'twas not a satin gown, nor silk of wondrous sheen.
 But one of pretty gingham that was worn by Sheba's queen!
 My wife asserts she's passed the age of colors, so she wears
 A matron's garb of black, but oft she laughingly declares
 She knows that I with Heaven won't be satisfied unless Each girlish angel present wears a

June 1907.

Wingold Pure P

ONLY $1.45 PER GA GUARANTEED 100 % H

PRICES ferior pai bargain, b saying, se card and co to my stat will receiv maila Han Card show

Card show this sear Popular Shades together with Sugg to Paint. 80 CENTS per gallon Save Wingold Pure Paints, every gallon g give satisfaction or money refunded day for Lowest Wholesale Price on X Varnish and Paints of all kinds.

WINGOLD STOVE COMPA

"PAINT DEPT." 245 Notre Dame Avenue, WI

The Right Kind At Less 1 WHOLESALE PRIC

An absolute 10 year Guarantee machine. Three Months Free Tr You Decide to Keep it or Not. P Saving of $15 to $40. Strictly H Sewing Machines, None better M machines are sold through the Retail our prices under another name. Wh

when you can get the best maci at so great a saving? Thousan use and every one giving perfec tion.

For $26.50 we offer the Wingold High Arm Automatic Lift Ball Bearing, 5 d rawer, Drop Head Cabinet the most beauti-ful French Polished OakCabinet most hand somely finish ed in every detail a sec ular $75 machine for only $26.50; fully guara to years and three months free to the state of the Study this picture with the fact in your mind that this unique bit of City Building was but 3 years ago an open prairie. Between one Sunrise and its setting we sold these lots, which are now adorned with snug little Cottages and handsome homes for just $150 each. They are not to be had now at three 'imes the price. Why ? Because the New C. P. R. shops employing rom 1500 to 2000 men necessitated homes being crected on the spot, for the accomodation of this industrial army and their families.

This great record is about to be eclipsed in the case of Grand Trunk Entrance, the name given to the New townsite adjoining the G.T.P. Workshops and Yards which will give employment to the greatest horde of railway builders the world has ever seen in one spot.

The land is in the very finest condition either for building upon or for gardening purposes-in every sense perfect for a working man's home.

$10 will buy a share in this great prosperity but it is absolutely needful to delay not one day in securing it as already the same rush has begun that characterised our Sale of C.P.R. Town.

The price of each lot is only $125. Terms—a first payment of $10 and the balance in monthly payments of $5. Write us at once for our illustrated booklet "Multiplied Dollars" and you'll find Wealth in the very Wind of your prairie home.

MAIL THIS TO-DAY Mail me your illustrated booklet "Multiplied Stanbridge Realty Co., Dollars" and full information of your G.T. Entrance property without delay. Name..... 247 Notre Dame Ave. P.O. Address... WINNIPEG. Province to years and three months free tr you decide whether you keep the or not. We consider this one of th Bargains in Sewing Machines ever h-is made by one of the largest and m manufacturers. If you want some this will please you. FRIDAY It's heaps of fun to be a boy When Friday comes along. That day a boy don't mind a bit, No matter what goes wrong. Sometimes on Fridays we are good, A reg'lar model class. The teacher smiles at three, and says "The first line rise and pass." We get our hats; our books we strap; And whistling a tune. We hurry out. There's nothing like A Friday afternoon. You say it's odd that Friday should A part so noted play? Just ask a boy. He'll tell you why: The next is Saturday. with the latest and best Automatic It is the t as the Handsomest Machine ever any price. The Head is designed on sy lines, high arm and full length, made best materials and all wearing parts (THE SLEEPING CHILD. Now like an angel with his white wings best materials and all wearing parts (ened. Latest Improved in every de plete set of Most Modern Stee) Atta furled He sleep -so beautiful, so young, so oure nd a full se Touch not his spirit, visions of the Simplest and Easiest Operated made, world_ A little space, and he shall feel thy OUR OFFER! Mail us your ddress saying you would like to hav bewing Machine Offer, and you will lure And rise and follow with resistless feet! Stir not his dreamless slumber. Fluct-ed and sweet, Lo! in my arms he lies. He knows me near. But when he wakes a wonder and a fear Live for a moment in his crystal eyes, As of an alien here Sewing Ma return mail FREE the most LIBER. ever heard of. Don't buy a Sewing I any kind on any kind of terms until receive our offer. Write to-day f THE WINGOLD STOP

DEPT. W. H. M.

complete, the most dura

245 Notre Dame Avenue, WIN

As of an alien here

-Mary Burt Messer.

Each girlish angel present wears a checkered gingham dress!

lipse.

that race

f our ched

ight and rings

hell bat.

here

bove

opes,

opes

k of nock.

l no-

—its

the

read

shall airer

ed.

m

I'm rehool

slow

and, own

ght,

ered

was s I hen

but

and all

h I

of fer-

s a nor

was

e of

she

be

a

ays

ap; like

d

ngs so

the thy

n+ + ear

res.

The Western Home Monthly

Wingold Pure Paints ONLY $1.45 PER GALLON

GUARANTEED 100 % PURE

card and cost of freight to my station, and you will receive by return mail a Handsome Color Card showing all of this season's Most Popular Shades together with Suggestions How to Paint. 80 CENTS per gallon Saved by buying Wingold Pure Paints, every gallon guaranteed to give satisfaction or money refunded. Write to-day for Lowest Wholesale Price on Linseed Oil, X Varnish and Paints of all kinds.

WINGOLD STOVE COMPANY, LTD. "PAINT DEPT."

245 Notre Dame Avenue, WINNIPEG.

SEWING MACHINES The Right Kind At Less Than

WHOLESALE PRICES.

An absolute 10 year Guarantee with every machine. Three Months Free Trial Before You Decide to Keep it or Not. Positively a Saving of $15 to $40. Strictly High Grade Sewing Machines, None better Made, These machines are sold through the Retailer at double our prices under another name. Why pay more when you can get the best machine made at so great a saving? Thousands now 'n use and every one giving perfect satisfac-tion.

to any you can buy elsewhere for $65. It is made to last and give good satisfactio For $26.50 we For $26.50 we offer the Wingold High Arm Automatic Lift Ball Bearing, 5 d rawer, Drop Head Cabinet the most beauti-ful French Polished OakCabinet most hand-somely finish-ed in every

In the World of Music.

The past month has been a red letter one for Western music lovers, as we have had in our midst two great musical celebrities. Reference is made to Ma-dame Schumann-Heinck and Miss Marie Ha'l. Miss Marie Hall, who was en route to Australia, managed to play in all of the important Western cities, where her exquisite violin playing will be remembered for many a day. Marie Hall, the English violinist, first came into fame four years ago, when she astounded a London audience by her playing. She is the daughter of a poor old harpist. He sent her, when 11 years of age, to compete for the Wesley scholarship in London, which she won. Poverty forced her to give up her studies. One day Canon Fellowes heard her playing in the streets of Bristol. and assisted her with the means to pur-sue her studies. Then Kubelik heard her play and had her sent to Prague to study under his old master. Lately she has, it is said, been earning $2,500 a week with her violin. Wingold Ready Mixed

Winnipeg can boast of a capable and clever stock company. They came into possession of the old Winnipeg theatre last September and they are still with us and going strong. Their success has been truly phenomenal and plays from dramatists like Hall Caine, Anthony Hope, Henry V. Esmond, J. I. Clarke, and in fact from all the leading play-wrights of the day have been presented to crowded houses. In Rebecca Warren they have a lead-ing lady who is an emotional actress of the first degree, while if George Alison, who plays the leading masculine roles, could be persuaded to forget that he was acting when on the stage and thereby infuse just a wee bit more realism into his parts, his success would be more pronounced.

The Claude Amsden Company (whom we remember as the former Roseian Co.) have been touring the West with a repertoire of several plays, the most successful being "The Governor's Wife." This play abounds in humorous situa-tions and clever dialogue and its inter-pretation was productive of continual laughter. As the Governor, Mr. Amsden was highly amusing in his endeavors to hide his little peccadilloes from the keen eyes of his wife, in which latter capacity Miss Hazel Davenport appeared to great advantage. John Harvey, as the melan-choly musician in search of his hat, is also worthy of a special word of com-mendation and the Thelma of Miss Eleanor Jenkins, was very effective. This is a good clean company and one well worthy of support, which is quite a relief these days when such a lot of dramatic truck is being sent us from across the line.

across the line.

Arbor Day was celebrated with con-certs in Brandon, Portage la Prairie and several other Western towns. At Por-tage la Prairie one was given in the Opera House under the auspices of the 20,000 club and proved a great success. The program varied and included ora-tory, essays and vocal and instrumental music. The musical features included selec-tions by Miss May Mawhinney, Mrs. Counsel, P. K. Matus and Hugh Baly. Miss Mawhinney was in excellent voice and rendered "Nightingale's Song," "When the Swallows Homeward Fly" and "Spring" as her first number with splendid effect. "Villinelle," the second number, was sung with a finish and purity of accent and tone that was generally pleasing, while as an encore "Mary of Argyle" provad a dalightful ander made a similar suggestion. But the play was ultimately put into the evening bill at the St. James' Theatre, and I produced it in America with the kendals. It was much criticized here, but it became and is a masterpiece.

At the Waiker Theatre we have had either something remarkably good like Marie Hall, Schumann-Heinck and Gil-bert Shorter, or else American Comic Opera. We have already dealt on the performances of the first two artistes and it only remains to touch on Gilbert Shorter's recital which took place on May 13th. The theatre was well filled by a most a delightful social and artistic event. Mr. Gilbert Shorter's best numbers were Lord Lytton's "At the Opera" and "King Robert of Sicily'," also Ailey's "An Old Sweetheart of Mine." In these he displayed a well-balanced dramatic power which carried his su-dience with him. The latter number especially, and "At the Opera," were tense with delicate climax and emotion-al rapport. al rapport.

especially, and "At the Opera," were tense with delicate climax and emotion-al rapport. As a great favorite with the audience, however, was Little Beryl—a child of rare talent, as naturally dramatic and gifted of expression in her numbers as she is a child. Nothing could be sweet-er dainties, or more enjoyable than her "Catechist," "Social Inequality," "Take Care Little Girl," and "Lullaby." To these tit-bits of childhood she carried an infantine felicity which carried the quaint, ever sweet dream back even through the years to her elder audience. Also in the two sketches in which she took part with Mr. Shorter and Mrs. Ward, she displayed unusual gift for a child, and a charm that rang true and natural. Madame Lilian Adams proved herself a graceful, accomplished performer on the piano, with pure intonation and mastery of technique. Her own com-positions displayed this to advantage, while Mrs. (Rose Murray) Ward, in both her sketches of Mr. Shorter, show-ed merit considerably above that of the regular professional. Mrs. E. M. Counsell appeared only once, singing three selections, but added, nevertheless, much to the enjoyment of the evening. Her "Laplander's Love Song" was particularly well rendered, with its plaintive passion, as also her "Two Lovers," a mother's heart throb. She has a voice of fine range, clear, sparkling timbre, and perfect enuncia-tion. Bouquets were the order of the even-ing, a welcome sight indeed consider-ing the lateness of the spring, and en-cores were quite as numerous.

Enjoyable Recital.

Rhys T. . s' pupils and their friends at Winnipeg assembled at his studio on the evening of May 13th when the following programme was given and heartily enjoyed: Mezzo Soprano—"My Ain Folk"...

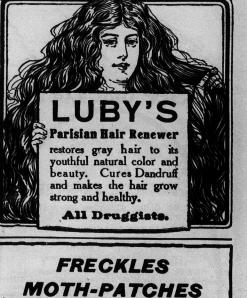

Miss M. McBeth. Baritone—"Angus Macdonald"

Dr. J. P. Howden.

visit at Carlsbad.

1

and be well. To those suffering from chronic or acute disease —to all who have been pronounced incurable and who are discouraged with drugs or threatened with operations—we say Contractor X Miss C. M. Hood. ...Cowen. Bass-(a "Entreaty" .. Wilson G. Smith. (b) "The Chorister" Sullivan. Mr. W. 'Davidson Thomson. "Try Oxydonor" Soprano Soprano-(a) "Dost Thou Love Me?" (b) "In Spring-time" Miss Anna Corinne DuVal. Contralto-"A May Morning" L. Denza. It is invaluable in all Nervous Disorders, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Catarrh, Asthma, Pneumonia, Dyspepsia, Fevers, Liver, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, Blood and Skin Diseases, etc. OXYDONOR will last for life, with care. It will serve the whole family. And is the perfect self treatment. .. Handel. 16 Austin Ave., TORONTO. "I was suffering with a very bad attack of Nervous Prostration, when a friend advised me to try one of your OXYDONORS. I am very thankful now that I decided to get one, as I am almost cured, and can recom-mend it to all sufferers. We have also used it on our little boy for colds and fevers with good results. Miss Eva Eagleton. Margarea. Anglin left for Europe on May 4 to spend the summer. A determined crusade for grand opera in English has been started by the London Truth. with good results. JOSEPH RIDLEY. "The Prince of Pilsen" has been heard in every state in the Union, in England and South Africa, and it will soon be introduced in France and Australia. Beware of imitations. The genuine bears the name of the originator—DR. H. SANCHE —engraved in the metal. Look for it. Dr. H. Sanche & Co. CED. Joseph Murphy has returned to New York from Florida, where he had three month's fishing and otherwise enjoyed 356 St. Catherine Street West, MONTREAL. month's himself. 15 61 Fifth Ave. Detroit, Fritzi Scheff sailed on La Loraine for Havre on May 2. She will go to Paris and Biaritz before settlir for a long Mich.

37

DISCOLORATIONS

There is no longer any need of having a otted, bloched, sallow or discolored com exion, one that looks unwashed or discased d anything but healthy. Don't feel sensitiv uncomfortable any longer, but usej

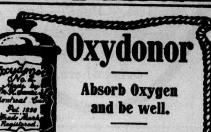

PRINCESS COMPLEXION PURIFIER

the one remedy above all others that makes bad complexions pure, clear and all that could be desired. A Boston, Mass., lady writes: "I have used one bottle of your complexion puri-fler and wish to thank you for all it has done for me. Send two more bottles." If your com-plexion is bad, try it.

Price $1.50, three for $4.00, express paid CONSULT US FREE mail regarding any skin, scalp, hair or com-kional trouble. Send 10 cents for books and aple White Rose Cream.

Graham Dermatological Institute Dept. W., 502 Church St., Toronto

detail a reg-ular $75 machine for only $26.50; fully guaranteed for to years and three months free trial before you decide whether you keep the machine or not. We consider this one of the Greatest Bargains in Sewing Machines ever heard of. It is made by one of the largest and most reliable manufacturers. If you want something good this will please you. $27 Buys the

with the latest and best Automatic Lever Lift. It is the n complete, the most durable, as well as the Handsomest Machine ever offered at any price. The Head is designed on symmetrical lines, high arm and full length, made of the very best minimum dell marks for a Hard Dest materials and all wearing parts Case Hard-ened. Latest Improved in every detail, a com-plete set of Most Modern Stee; Attachments and a full set of accessories makes this the accessories makes this Simplest and Easiest Operated Machine

OUR OFFER! Mail us your name and address saying you would like to have our New Sewing Machine Offer, and you will receive by return mail FREE the most LIBERAL OFFER Sewing Ma return ever heard of ever heard of. Don't buy a Sewing Machine of any kind on any kind of terms until after you our offer. Write to-day for further and purify of accent and tone that was generally pleasing, while as an encore "Mary of Argyle" proved a delightful addition to the program. Mrs. Counsel was heartily received and encored. She sang, "(Oh, for a Burst of Song" and "Indian Love Lyric" in a manner which marked her as a vocal ar-tist of rare talent and she responded tist of rare talent and she responded

THE WINGOLD STOVE CO. DEPT. W. H. M. 245 Notre Dame Avenue, WINNIPEG.

Mr. Hugh Baly, as a 'cello soloist, possesses exceptional ability and M. Hugh Daiy, as a cento soluts, possesses exceptional ability and brought down the house with his excep-tionally, clever renditions. T. Bonne Millar filled the position of accompanist most creditably accompanist most creditably.

Daniel Frohman writes interestingly in the current issue of "The Bohem-ian," regarding Arthur Wing Pinero, whose latest play, "His House in Or-der," is one of the season's successes. Mr. Frohman recalls this incident: "I once asked Pinero to write me a play of a certain style, and to emphasize my predilection for the subject, I suggested a considerable preliminary payment, which my one-time experience with Sardou taught me might gain instant approval. Mr. Pinero pondered over the matter for a day or two, but at the ap-pointed hour said, 'Your offer is gener-ous, but I can't see my way clear to accepting it. I must write according to my own subjects and my own con-victions. But I am at work on a piece. As soon as it is done I will send you the play as usual. Produce it if you think the public will like it. If not, it doesn't matter.' The play turned out to be 'The Second Mrs. Tanqueray'-his greatest work. I did feel timorous about producing it. I thought our public was not ready for a theme that indicated greatest work. I did feel timorous about producing it. I thought our public was not ready for a theme that indicated so radical a change in my policy of pro-ductions at the Lyceum, in spite of the fact that it was a great work. George Alexander, for whom it was written in London, was equally diffident. I sug-gested to the author a tentative series of matinees. Curiously enough, Alex-

Jessie Bonstelle closed her engage-ment in New York on May 4, and went to Buffalo to enter upon her stock en-

PHOTOGRAPHIC POST CARDS.—Send 10c. and we will mail you a complete set of 10 highly colored Photographic Souvenir Cards showing views of unusual scenic and historic interest, and prove a valuable addition to your collection.— Post Supply Co., Box 21, 137 Waltham, Mass.

IN THE BUSINESS WORLD.

A Testimonial.

A Testimonial. Montreal, July 19, 1906. Dear Dr. Tuttle.—It gives me great pleasure to say a few words for Tut-tles Elixir, the greatest liniment of the age. We, sir, have freely used it for many years on our horses and our-selves with the most gratifying results. it has no equal. It allays pain, cures lameness, and is a sure antidote for many ills when taken internally or ap-plied externally. As a wash, reduced, it leads them all. I use nothing else. It took wind puffs off Josephine's limbs and they never came back. We used Tuttle's Elixir on Queen Alexandra (2.23¹/₂) and Josephine (2.17¹/₄) always as a wash. Every horseman should keep it on hand. W. N. Phelps, (A. M.), Exet Albuve (A. M.)

W. N. Phelps, (A. M.), East Alburg, Vermont.

A Handsome Catalogue.

A Handsome Catalogue. The Acme Harvesting Machine Co., Peoria, Ill., U. S. A., has just issued a handsome catalogue containing a fund of information to all who are interested in farm machinery. We are indebted to this firm for the copy they sent us. The illustrations are a credit to the artist who produced them and the letter press is good and the type used clear and readable.

A Successful Furnace.

With this issue of the Western Home Monthly the McClary Manufac-turing Co., of London, Ont., commence

Orange Lily a Medicine for Women. Judicious advertising of an article of merit is sure to lead to success. A few short years ago, Orange Lily, a medicine for local treatment of women's dis-orders, was comparatively little known about to women of Western Canada. In some of the older provinces in Canada it was better known, and the many testimonials which poured in on the dis-coverer of this medicine, Dr. Coonley, of Detroit, convinced the management that the efficacy of the medicine was being appreciated by women sufferers throughout America. Last autumn Mrs. Frances Q. Currah, of Windsor, Ont., who is the Canadian manager for "Orange Lily," made arrangements to have a series of advertisements appear in this magazine, with a view to bring-ing to the attention of women sufferers in Western Canada the curative merits of Orange Lily. That her indement being sold by Messrs. Clare & Brockest, Winnipeg. This galvanized covering will protect your building from light-ning, prevents fires from the outside, is easily and cheaply applied and will last for a generation. It will be to the advantage of every farmer or others interested in solving the problem of modern barn construc-tion, to write Messrs. Clare & Brockest, Winnipeg, for a copy of their new il-lustrated catalogue on barn construc-tion. This book contains testimonials from users, who write in glowing terms of the advantage in using corrugated galvanized sheets instead of lumber. When writing, please mention this paper. ing to the attention of women sufferers in Western Canada the curative merits of Orange Lily. That her judgment was sound in arriving at such decision is now quite evident as the demand for "Orange Lily" from women sufferers throughout the West is largely on the increase. "Orange Lily" is recommended and sold in Winnipeg by the T. Eaton Co., Ltd. Drug Department, and the sales have shown a marked increase of late. paper.

A Correction.

Alfred A. Codd & Co.'s advertisement on page 39 of our May issue contained a typographical error which requires a typographical error which requires some explanation. The word "Estey" was spelled "Esty," and after the words "Estey Reed Organ" there should have been a period. The majority of our readers no doubt understood the general tenor of the ad-vertisement, but to those who may not have fully comprehended the true mean-ing we offer this explanation. It was one of those mistakes which printers will sometimes persist in making.

"Success" Manure Spreaders.

The following points and suggestions regarding the prevention of consump-tion, which deserve the attention of everybody are gathered from a recent article by Dr. Knopf, of New York, which is to be found in the Medical Record of November 18th, 1905. There are more cases of advanced The manure spreader has proven to be an absolute necessity to every farm-late.

readers know are recognized as house-hold staples.

Orange Lily a Medicine for Women.

Prevention of Consumption.

June, 1907.

best that can be done in best that can be done in a is to suggest that tub should have two pockets some material which ca cleaned and that they shi one of these pockets very kerchiefs or bits of cheese ob an material cut like i kerchiers or bits of cheese cheap material cut like i which when used can be other pocket and there ke close of the day, when easily destroyed or steriliz after their return home after their return home. they can escape observations are time secure their fell and associates against data and associates against us so simple a precaution as so easily within the reach of thinking man, is available, use of it, would seem to than criminal neglect.

NOTHING SUCCEEDS LII The Largest Order Ev In Canada.

In Canada. The wholesalers are the of the drug trade. When is druggists stock any prepa sively, this fact may be tal-sign that it is in increa Probably the largest order in Canada for a standard recently given to Fruit-a-by The National Drug at Company of Canada, Limit 100 gross (14,400 boxes) tives" or "Fruit Liver Tal-Inside of two months, Drug and Chemical Co. so quantity, and purchased a 100 gross. These orders of 200 gro 100 gross. These orders of 200 gro ing 28,800 boxes, show he sale of "Fruit-a-tives" has proves, too, that people all minion are fully alive to this excellent preparation. This fruit remedy no dc merit, yet were it not for of newspaper advertising told the story of "Fruit-a-many of our people, its v be known only to the few. Real merit and newspa-tising mean success. tising mean success.

Feeding and Veterinary

Is the name of a valuab published by The Hackney Co., of Winnipeg. It conta tion as to the best method and also instructions regard and also instructions regard vention and cure of disea stock and poultry. Any stock owner can ob these books, free, by wr Hackney Stock Food Co. that our subscribers will fin very valuable to them.

Hail Insurance.

The formation of hai

The formation of hai companies has greatly mi risk which farmers were in days gone by. Life insurance was concei-on a practical working bass men who saw the need of tion it would give to cou-sands of families. Fire insurance was inst safeguard against loss by fi Hail insurance, just as the grain grower as either of is now conducted in such a enable the farmer, at a sma insure his crops against The destruction of a crop about as dire a calamity to who needs the money it will as would be the loss of his by fire.

38

no other shingles have it. This famous device makes Eastlake hingles the casiest and quickest laid -and also insures the roof being abso-lutely leak proof. Eastlake Shingles are fire, lightning and rust proof.

OUR GUARANTEE—We guarantee East-are Metallic Shingles to be made of better material, nore scientifically and accurately constructed, more easily applied and will last longer than any other. Eastlake Shingles have been made since 1880

Our cheapest grade will last longer and cost less than the best wooden ahingles. Our best Metallic Shingles should not be mentioned in the same breath with any other roof cover-ing, shingles, slate or tin. Write us for

The Metallic Roofing Co.; Limited, Manufacturers, Toronto and Winnipeg

Choose a Profession That is not Overcrowded

There is a great and growing demand for skilled Refractionists throughout Canada. In each town and village there is an opening for an eye special-ist, whose practice will be fully as large and calling just as dignified as that of the doctor, the surgeon or the dentist. A three months' course in will fit you for this lucrative field. Diploma and Degree of Doctor of Optics granted: Only chartered College of its kind in Canada.

The EMPIRE COLLEGE -OF OPHTHALMOLOGY = LIMITED = 358 Queen St. West, Toronto, Ont.

Write for Announcements.

writing advertisers, please mention The Western Home Monthly. When

A typical English church and churchyard. Timberscombe Church, Somersetshire, England

A typical English church and churchyard. Timberscombe Church, Som their advertising for this year, using a series of ten attractively illustrated ads. The illustrating in these ads, is the work of an artist, as can readily be seen, and while the quality of the draw-ings is of a very high order, every ad. leads with a practical feature of the furnace. From glancing over the ten advertisements you are quickly im-pressed with the many good features of the "Sunshine." The reading part is also very clear and forceful. The Mc-Clary Co. claim to be the largest manu-facturers under the British flag of over twelve hundred people all the year round. Their London factories cover nearly three city blocks and are con-sidered to be about the best equipped in the world. The McClary business was established in 1852 and has grown steadily since the beginning. Branch warehouses have been established in all the leading Can-adian cities and a large force of travel-ling salesmen are constantly calling at every city, town and hamlet in the fa-terests of this mammoth concern. The McClary Co. freely admit that a large measure of their growth is due to card-fully planned and persistent newsmaper advertising, which is a strong evidence of the influence and force of the Can-adian press. Corrugated Sheats for Barne

It will be of interest to house-keepers throughout Canada to learn that E. W. Gillett Company, Ltd., are building a $30,000 addition to their already large factory. Since their es-tablishment, this company have gone on staadily progressing and for the past few years the growth of the business has been viry rapid, as the merits of the goods manufactured by the company became better known. Magic Baking Powder and the other standard articles manufactured by this company as our Corrugated Sheets for Barns.

Corrugated Sneets for Barns. With the price of lumber soaring to almost prohibitive prices, it remained for the ingenuity of brainy men to solve the question of cheaper and better material for barn construction. Corrugated galvanized sheeting for barns known as the "Acorn Brand," is tuberculosis to be treated than any other disease.

disease. There is no disease where so much can be done to render the patient com-fortable and hopeful as pulmonary tu-berculosis in the advanced stage. There is no disease where one case in a family can more readily become the cause of infection of other members, particularly in the stage where the con-sumptive begins to be confined to the close association of the family members only.

sumptive begins to be confined to the close association of the family members only. It is extremely important to remem-ber that advanced consumptive patients who are able to go about, perhaps able to work at their ordinary calling in the office or factory, when ignorant or care-less, constitute the greatest danger to the health of the community. They must be considered as the most fre-quent cause of infection. The careless, ignorant or helpless consumptive, when confined to bed, can do little more than infect his room, but the advanced pa-tient able to follow some calling can, if he is careless, scatter 7,000,000,000 bac-illi every day with the greatest ease. Of all tuberculosis patients, he should be the most carefully instructed and should be most deeply impressed with the fact that carelessness in the dis-posal of the sputum is dangerous to himself as well as to his neighbors. As yet, people generally have not been educated up to the point at which they are willing to carry and use a pocket flask or cardboard purse. Being de-sirous to conceal their condition, they are extremely reluctant to do anything which would call attention to their in-firmity. Some way less likely to cause remark must be found. Probably the

by fire.

as would be the loss of his by fire. Scarcely a season passe: some part of the country by a hallstorm which leav tion and often total destru crop in its train. The farmer who happens crop halled out on which he surance is often subjected of tress, while his neighbor w to have his crop insured is vied by his less fortunate his good judgment and fore is the time of year when should make up his mind a out a hail insurance policy not already done so. The attention of our directed to the business any in this issue of two Wester hail insurance companies, vit tral Canada Insurance C Brandon, Man., and The Farmers' Mutual Hail Insur

Let me mail you free, to j samples of my Dr Shoop's and my boox on e'ther dys heart or r'dneys. Address me Racine, Wis. Troubles of heart or kidneys are merel of a deeper ailment. Don't common error of treating only. Symptom treatment the result of your ailment. cause. Weak stomach nerv side.nerves—means stomach side nerves-means stomach side nerves—means stomach always. And the heart and well, have their controlling nerves. Weaken these in Here is where Dr. Shoop's has made its fame. No ot even claims to treat the "ins Also for bloating, biliou breath or complexion, use Restorative. Write for my now. Dr. Shoop's Restorat: all druggists. all druggists.

ouse

en.

le of few icine dis-

a. In nada nany

dis-nley, ment

was erers

Mrs. Ont., for ts to ppear ring-

erers

was on is d for

erers n the ended

Eaton d the se of

stions sump-on of recent

York

edical

anced

other much

comy tu-

e the bers, con-

o the nbers

mem-tients able

n the care-er to They

fre-eless,

when than d pa-an, if bacse hould and with dis-

is to been they ocket

g de-they thing

ir in-cause y the best that can be done in the meantime is to suggest that tuberculous men should have two pockets lined with some material which can be easily cleaned and that they should carry in one of these pockets very cheap hand-kerchiefs or bits of cheesecloth or other cheap material cut like handkerchiefs, which when used can be put into the other pocket and there kept until the close of the day, when they can be easily destroyed or sterilized by boiling after their return home. In this way they can escape observation and at the same time secure their fellow workmen and associates against danger. When so simple a precaution as this, and one best that can be done in the meantime so easily within the reach of every right thinking man, is available, not to make use of it, would seem to be little less than criminal neglect.

TOTHING SUCCEEDS LIKE SUCCESS. The Largest Order Ever Given In Canada.

In Canada. The wholesalers are the barometers of the drug trade. When the wholesale druggists stock any preparation exten-sively, this fact may be taken as a sure sign that it is in increasing demand. Probably the largest order ever placed in Canada for a standard remedy was recently given to Fruit-a-tives Limited by The National Drug and Chemical Company of Canada, Limited, calling tor 100 gross (14.400 boxes) of "Fruit-a-tives" or "Fruit Liver Tablets." Inside of two months, The National Drug and Chemical Co. sold the entire quantity, and purchased an additional 100 gross. These orders of 200 gross, aggregat-

100 gross. These orders of 200 gross, aggregat-ing 28,800 boxes, show how large the sale of "Fruit-a-tives" has grown; and proves, too, that people all over the Do-minion are fully alive to the value of this excellent preparation. This fruit remedy no doubt has real merit, yet were it not for the best kind of newspaper advertising, which has told the story of "Fruit-a-tives" to so many of our people, its virtues would be known only to the few. Real merit and newspaper adver-tising mean success. tising mean success.

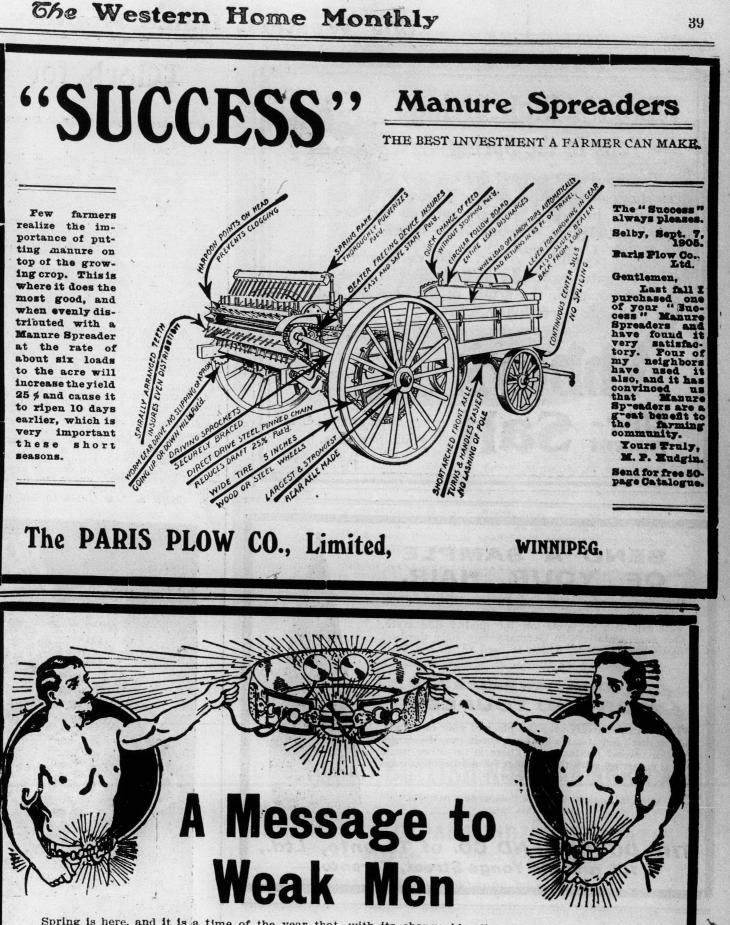

Feeding and Veterinary Advice

Is the name of a valuable book just published by The Hackney Stock Food Co., of Winnipeg. It contains informa-tion as to the best methods of feeding, and also instructions regarding the pre-vention and cure of disease amongst stock and poultry. Any stock owner can obtain one of these books, free, by writing to The Hackney Stock Food Co. We are sure that our subscribers will find this book very valuable to them.

Hail Insurance.

The formation of hail insurance companies has greatly minimized the risk which farmers were subjected to in days come by companies has greatly minimized the risk which farmers were subjected to in days gone by. Life insurance was conceived and put on a practical working basis by clever men who saw the need of the protec-tion it would give to countless thou-sands of families. Fire insurance was instituted as a safeguard against loss by fire. Hail insurance, just as necessary to the grain grower as either of the others, is now conducted in such a way as to enable the farmer, at a small outlay, to insure his crops against hailstorms. The destruction of a crop by hall is about as dire a calamity to the farmer who needs the money it will bring him, as would be the loss of his Gutbuildings by fire.

Spring is here, and it is a time of the year that, with its changeable climate, brings out the defects in all men. If you are not equal to these sudden changes of weather, be sure that this condition will manifest itself now. If you have not taken care of yourself through the winter months; if you have overworked; if you have been careless in dict and your blood circulation is sluggish and your system is full of impurities, now you will pay the penalty; now you will feel the loss of that vital energy that makes life worth living.

by fire.

as would be the loss of his outbuildings by fire. Scarcely a season passes but what some part of the country is visited by a hailstorm which leaves devasta-tion and often total destruction of the crop in its train. The farmer who happens to get his crop hailed out on which he has no in-surance is often subjected to great dis-tress, while his neighbor who happens to have his crop insured is usually en-vied by his less fortunate brother for his good judgment and foresight. This is the time of year when the farmer should make up his mind about taking out a hail insurance policy, 'f he has not already done so. The attention of our readers is directed to the business announcements in this issue of two Western Canadian hail insurance companies, viz.: The Cen-tral Canada Insurance Company, of Brandon, Man., and The Manitoba Farmers' Mutual Hail Insurance Co.

Let me mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr Shoop's Restorative, and my boox on e'ther dyspepsia, the heart or F'dneys. Address me, Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. Troubles of he stomach, heart or kidneys are merile heart or F'dneys. Address mc, Extended, Racine, Wis. Troubles of he stomach, heart or kidneys are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment. and not the cause. Weak stomach nerves—the in-side nerves—means stomach weakness. cause. Weak stomach nerves—the in-side nerves—means stomach weakness, always. And the heart and kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write for my free book now. Dr. Shoop's Restorative sold by all druggists. all druggists.

Now you will pay the penalty; now you will feel the loss of that vital energy that makes life worth living. Now is the time when weak men suffer the most; the time when their weakness is a constant worry to them. What would you not sacrifice to regain your lost manhood, to be able to hold up your head and feel that you are the equal of any man? Here is the chance for you weak, sickly men to regain your lost vigor and energy, to become men of power, bounding with the vim of life and strength in every vital organ and muscle of your body. Men have come to me almost without hope, discouraged, and I can point to these men to-happy, enthused and shouting with gladness in the possession of the full vigor of perfect manhood. These men will at any time be glad to tell you what I have done for them. If you have thought much of your trouble you know that the force which keeps up the health and strength of your body is nothing more or less than electricity. All the motive power in your body is born of electricity. That is what you lack, and that force given to your weak organism as I will give it, will renew your strength. You will be child to that force given to your weak organism, as I will give it, will renew your strength. You will be able to enjoy life. You will be strong again.

DR. McLAUGHLIN'S ELECTRIC BELT,

The confidence I have in the wonderful curative power of my Belt allows me to offer any man or woman who can give me reasonable security the use of the Belt at my risk, and they can

WHEN PAY RED

Dear Sir - Y as greatly troubled with backache, so much so that I had to quit work several times, but after I bought your Belt I wore it for forty days and it did wonders for me. Now I can do any kind of work and never feel a pain in my back. It has completely cured me. Hoping others will do as you advise, I remain, -Hormidas, Lamoureaux, Al.a.

Dear Sir,—The Belt which I purchased from you nearly three years ago was all that I could expect, as my back never bothers me at all now except when I get a cold, then I wear the Belt a few nights, perhaps two or three, and I am alright again. Thanking you for the goodness of the Belt and the benefits I have received, I am,—O. Stockford Altamont, Man.

NAM

9

Call To-Day—FREE BOOK

This book should be read by every man. It tells facts that are of interest to every man who wants to remain young in vitality at any age. Call if you can, if you can't send coupon for our beautifully illustrated 84-page Free Book.

| DR. E. N | A. McLAUGHLIN | |
|----------|-----------------------|--|
| | onge Street, Toronto. | |
| | Plonge and the second | |

| | | | - | - | ~ | 5 | - | 5 | ~ | | | C | 1 | • | y 1 | 0 | u | L | r | 2 | 20 | 1 | K, | • | 1 | I | • | • | | | |
|---|--|------|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|------|--|-------|---|---|-----|---|---|---|---|---|----|---|----|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| E | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | |
| | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | 2 | - | 1 |

....

....

intil

| DDRESS | · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · | | |
|--------|---------------------------------------|--------|--|
| | Hours-9 a. | | |
| p.m. | | Plain. | |

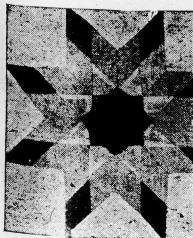

for three years' subscription. Remit to-day.

Tatted Tumbler Doily.

Triangle Lace.

Repeat from 1st row. This is nice pattern for trimming garments, and in Saxony or sil pecially desirable as a finish for skirts.

National Star Quilt Block.

st

es es 3

es, es

in at.

2d op il-

a d. e-h-

he

a

:111

lly de, If

(1 ble

ad

tć ot)

1/4-1/4

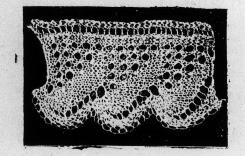

The Western Home Monthly

inch, make a 3d ring like 1st, joining to next picot of centre and to preceding ring by 3d picot at side; leave ¼ inch, make a 4th ring, joining to preceding by 3d picot; repeat around, making a double row of 5 rings each. Join last to 1st, and fasten off. This makes a pretty wheel for tidy or other pur-pose. If desired, the long picots of the centre may be darned to represent Teneriffe work; or a simple ribbed-wheel may be woven around the centre ring.

Teneriffe work; or a simple ribbed-wheel may be woven around the centre ring. 3. Begin in centre of rosette with a ring of 1 double knot, (1 picot, 2 double knots) 10 times, 1 picot, 1 double knot, close; cut and tie thread. Starting from 1st picot, leave 14-inch thread, make a ring of (2 double knots, 1 picot 9 times, 2 double knots, close; leave 14-inch thread, draw through next picot of center ring, leave 14 inch, make next ring like 1st, and join to 3d picot at side. Repeat until you have 11 rings around the centre, cut and tie thread. Join each rosette to a picot of wheel in centre of doily, thus. (2 double knots, join to centre picot of rings in centre wheel, then finish the ring. Join the rosettes by middle picots of rings at side, miss-ing 1 ring between this and the ring which is joined to wheel. This leaves 6 "free" rings outside. Miss 1 ring of the wheel between the joinings; there will be 8 rosettes in the doily. As made, this is a lovely inset or medallion for a shirt-waist.

Triangle Lace.

Cast on 19 stitches, knit across plain. 1. (Knit 2, over, narrow) twice, knit 6, over, narrow, knit 3.

Triangle Lace.

Over twice (making a loop around the needle), purl 1, knit 3, purl 1, knit 7, purl 1, knit 3, purl 1, knit 2.
 Knit 2, over, narrow, knit 11, over, narrow, knit 3.
 Over twice, purl 1, knit 3, purl 1, knit 12, purl 1, knit 2.
 Knit 2, over, narrow, knit 2, (over, narrow) twice, knit 6, over, narrow, knit 3.

3. 6. Over twice, purl 1, knit 3, purl 1, knit 7, purl 1, knit 1, purl 1, knit 3, purl 1, knit 2. 7. Knit 2, over, narrow, knit 13, over, narrow, knit 3. 8. Over twice, purl 1, knit 3, purl 1, knit 14, purl 1, knit 2. 9. (Knit 2, over, narrow) twice, (over, narrow) twice, knit 6, over, nar-row, knit 3.

(over, narrow) twice, knit 6, over, nar-row, knit 3. 10. Over twice, purl 1, knit 3, purl 1, knit 7, (purl 1, knit 2) twice, purl 1, knit 3, purl 1, knit 2. 11. Knit 2, over, narrow, knit 15, over, narrow, knit 3. 12. Over twice, purl 1, knit 3, purl 1, knit 16, purl 1, knit 2. 13. (Knit 2, over, narrow) twice (over, narrow) 3 times, knit 6, over, nar-row, knit 3. 14. Over twice, purl 1, knit 3, purl 1, knit 7, (purl 1, knit 1) 3 times, purl 1, knit 7, (purl 1, knit 1) 3 times, purl 1, knit 7, (purl 1, knit 2. 15. Knit 2, over, narrow, knit 17, over, narrow, knit 3. 16. Over twice, purl 1, knit 3, purl 1, knit 18, purl 1, knit 2. 17. (Knit 2, over, narrow) twice, (over, narrow) 4 times, knit 6, over, narrow, knit 3. 18. Over twice, purl 1, knit 3, purl 1, knit 7, (purl 1, knit 1) 19. Knit 2, over, narrow, knit 19, over, narrow, knit 3. 20. Over twice, purl 1, knit 3, nar-row, 5 times, draw 5 previous stitches over last narrowed, knit 11, purl 1, knit 2.

"National Star" Quilt Block. This pattern is especially designed for using small pieces. The diamonds are 11/4 inches on each side, or may be made as much larger as wished; the center square is 1% inches, the corner squares 2½ inches. The points of the star are red, the double row of diamonds of blue and center of red. The quilt may be set with alternating white blocks, or be made entirely of plece work as preferred.

Sparrow Lace.

Make a chain of 85 stitches, turn. 1. Miss 3, 3 trebles in next 3 stitches, (chain 2, miss 2, a treble in next-forming a space) 22 times, 3 trebles in next 3 stitches, (miss 3, 3 trebles, each separated by 2 chain, in next) 3 times, turn next 3 stitches, (miss 3, 3 trebles, each separated by 2 chain, in next) 3 times, turn. 2. Chain 6, (a double under 2 chain, chain 3) 5 times, a double under next 2 chain, chain 1, 4 trebles in 4 trebles, * 4 spaces, 1 block, 17 spaces, 1 block, turn. Remember that 4 trebles con-stitute a block, counting the 1 that helped form preceding space, 7 trebles stand for 2 blocks, 10 trebles for 3 blocks, and so on, adding 3 trebles for a block after the 1st. 3. Chain 3, 3 trebles, 17 spaces, 1 block, 4 spaces, * 4 trebles in 4 trebles, (3 trebles, separated by 2 chain, under the loop over the 3 trebles in 2d row back) 3 times, turn. 4. Like 2d row to *, 2 spaces, 2 blocks, 1 space, 1 block, 4 spaces, 1 block, 3 spaces, 3 blocks, 3 spaces; 1 k 3d row from * to end. 6. Like 2d to *; 4 spaces, 3 blocks, 1 space, 4 times, 2 blocks, 1 space, 1 block, 1 space, 5 blocks, 2 spaces, 3 blocks, 1 space, 5 blocks, 5 spaces, 1 block, 1 space, 5 blocks, 5 spaces, 1 block, 1 space, 5 blocks, 5 spaces, 6 blocks, 3 spaces, 1 block, 1 space, 2 blocks, 4 spaces, 5 blocks, 3 blocks, 1 space, 5 blocks, 5 spaces, 6 blocks, 3 spaces, 1 block, 1 space, 2 blocks, 4 spaces, 5 blocks, 4 spaces, 5 blocks, 5 spaces, 5 s blocks, 1 space, 2 blocks, 2 spaces, 1 block, 1 space, 5 blocks, 5 spaces; like 3d from *. 8. Like 2d to *; 5 spaces, 6 blocks, 3 spaces, 1 block, 1 space, 2 blocks, 4 spaces, 1 block, 1 urn. 9 Chain 3, 3 trebles, 3 spaces, 2 blocks, 1 space, 3 blocks, 1 space, 4 blocks, 1 space, 1 block, 6 spaces; like 3d from *. 10. Like 2d to *; 6 spaces, 1 block, 1 space, 2 blocks, 2 spaces, 2 blocks, (2 spaces, 1 block), twice, turn. 11. Chain 3, 3 trebles, 5 spaces, 1 block, 2 spaces, 7 blocks, 1 space, (1 block, 2 spaces, 7 blocks, 1 space, (1 block, 2 spaces, 7 spaces, 1 block, 2 spaces, 7 blocks, 7 spaces, 6 blocks, 2 spaces, 7 blocks, 7 spaces, 6 blocks, 2 spaces, 3 spaces, 1 block, 1 space, 3 blocks, 1 space, 2 blocks, 1 space, 3 blocks, 3 spaces, 1 block, 2 spaces; 1 ke 3d row from *. 14. Like 2d to *; 1 space, 1 block blocks, 3 spaces, 1 block, 2 spaces; like 3d row from *. 14. Like 2d to *; 1 space, 1 block, 5 spaces, 3 blocks, 2 spaces, 8 blocks, 2 spaces, 1 block, turn. 15. Chain 3, 3 trebles, 1 space, 13 blocks, (1 space, 1 block) twice, 4 spaces; like 3d from *. 16. Like 2d to *; 5 spaces, 1 block, 3 spaces, 9 blocks, 1 space, 2 blocks, 1 space, 1 block, turn.

THE Greatest of Tonics

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS' SUCCESSFUL RECORD

M^{ONEY} can buy advertising space, but it can't buy a quarter century's successful record of wonderful and almost miraculous cures of the most difficult and intricate cases of throat, lung and stomach troubles. Such is Psychine's record. Thousands of cases given up by leading doctors as hopeless and incurable have been quickly and per-manently cured by Psychine. It is an infallible remedy for courses colds bronchitis pneumonia consumption indigestion coughs, colds, bronchitis, pneumonia, consumption, indigestion, loss of appetite and all wasting diseases.

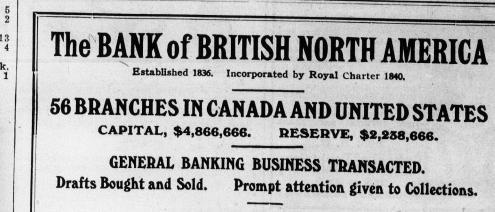

"My son had a terrible cough and was wasted to a shadow. Doctors said be could not live. He used Psy-chine, it cured him."—Mrs. J. Rang-er, Brockville. "After taking $5.00 worth of Psy-chine my lungs are well and life is

41

Psychine Never Fails Psychine has no Substitute

AT ALL DEALERS, 50c and $1.00 A BOTTLE

DR. T.A. SLOCUM, Limited, 179 King St. W., Toronto When writing advertisers, please me ntion The Western Home Monthly

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

Repeat from 1st row. This is a very nice pattern for trimming under-garments, and in Saxony or silk is es-pecially desirable as a finish for flannel skirts.

National Star Quilt Block.

Sparrow Lace.

17. Chain 3, 3 trebles, (2 spaces, 4 blocks) twice, 3 spaces, 1 block, 1 space, 1 block, 4 spaces; like 3d row from *. 18. Like 2d to *; 11 spaces, 2 blocks, 4 spaces, 2 blocks, 3 spaces, 1 block, turn.

turn. 19. Chain 3, 3 trebles, 4 spaces, 1 17 spaces; like 3d row from *. Like 2d to *; 22 spaces, 1 block, block, 20. turn. 21.

20. Like 2d to *; 22 spaces, 1 block, turn.
21. Chain 3, 3 trebles, 22 spaces; like 3d from * to end.
22. Like 20th row.
23. Like 21st row.
23. Like 21st row.
23. This completes one bird, with the 4 rows of open spaces between the two. Repeat) from 19th row back to 1st row, if you/want the birds to face each other, or from the 1st row if they are to be worked in regular order. The insertion is made by omitting the edge, simply having a selvedge of 4 trebles at each side. The edge may be as much deeper as desired, or another than that described may be substituted. A very simple and pretty edge is made as follows: After the 4 trebles at the lower side. (chain 3, miss 1, fasten in next) 5 times, turn.
2. Chain 6. fasten in last 3 chain made. (chain 3. fasten in next) 4 times, chain 3. 4 trebles in 4 trebles, and so on.
3. After 4 trebles, (chain 3, fasten in loop) 5 times, turn.

loop) 5 times, turn.

Piles get quick and certain relief from Dr Shoop's Magic Dintment. Please note it is made alone for piles, and its action is positive and certain. Itching, painful, protruding or blind piles dis-appear like magic by its use. Large nickel-capped glass jars 50 cents. Sold by all druggists. by all druggists.

Deposits received $1.00 and upwards, and Interest allowed at highest current rates and compounded quarterly. No notice required to withdraw.

FARMERS' BUSINESS

Every facility afforded farmers for their Banking Business. Sale Notes cashed or taken for collection. Note Forms free on application. Branches at important points throughout the West.

When writing advertisers, please mention The Western Home Iont

THE 2 MACS LIMITED.

Everything Men and Boys wear. "BUSY CORNER," OTTAWA.

S

es

ed

men

o re-

leep

lorn-

than bed.

nead

table

and

; the

RT

LS

vous,

store

ne up

nald,

I was

oalpi-

t and

I was

ooxes

. Mil-

NG

16.00 21.00 14.00 16.00 sired,

7

Serges and the leasure-kept of anteed.

treet,

er

t pota-atalog. ry, 0.

13.

and

The Western Home Monthly

That WEARY FEELING

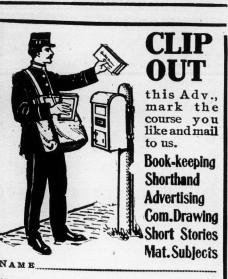

is a sure sign of stomach trouble. Your blood is carrying poisons drawn from your undigested food; your system is cloggedstomach, liver and bowels. That is why you feel tired; even your sleep fails to re-fresh you. Mother Seigel's Syrup assists the stomach, liver and bowels. Begin today and take it alter every meal. It will cure you

MEANS

NDIGESTION "I had suffered for years; could not sleep at night, and felt as tired when I got up as before I went to bed. I went to hospital, and also tried many remedies. At last I took Mother Seigel's Syrup and obtained miraculous results,' and am now an entirely different man. Your medicine has cured

MOTHER SEIGEL'S SYRUP IS THE SURE CURE. Price 60 cents per bottle. Sold everywhere.

A. J. WHITE & Co., Montreal.

TEMPERANCE TALK.

wars of the whole nineteenth century.

The New York Central Railroad keeps a considerable number of men employed always in the yards at Suspension Bridge, New York. These men have been compelled to pat-ronize saloons in the neighborhood for their lunches, and this has led additionally to drinking. The company proposes now to provide a lunch car for the men, as a business proposition, to keep them from the saloon and to do its duty in helping them to effectiveness in working-men. It is another symptom that the entire business world is waking up to hostile measures against the saloon.

One sickens at the thought of trying to describe the effects of the liquor traffic upon the careers of men and women, undermining health, character, material prosperity, happiness-every form of well-being. He who would vote to give it license and the protection of government because of the financial return it will bring, would vote to agree to the proposition of the train wreckers, would barter for gold the character of his sons, would sell the honor of his daughters for the dirty money of the professional ruiner of womanhood.

Mr. Tennyson Smith, of Birmingham, England, has made his mark in Canada. In the principal cities of the province of New Brunswick the largest public buildings have been packed to excess, and hundreds have been turned from the doors night after night, great crowds assembling outside the doors fully an hour and a half before the time announced for the meeting. Thousands of pledges have been taken, but the most valuable effect of the work has been the permanent results achieved in the binding together of the temperance people to demand the better enforcement of the prohibitory law under the Scott act.

In the commissioners' report to the Kaiser, it is shown that the German people have consumed alcoholic liquors during the past year to the amount of $750,000,000. The Kaiser's commission-

During the past thirty years there lions of the people of the United States died in Europe, as the result of alcoholic live in territory where the saloon is drinking, 7,500,000 people. This is legally prohibited, and during the past more than died as the result of all the twelve months two and a half millions of our people have abolished saloons from the territory in which they live. Kentucky, in the past six months, has driven the saloons from twentysix counties by a majority vote in these counties, of upward of twenty-two thousand, freeing a population of one hun-dred and fifty thousand from the immediate presence of the saloon. Tennessee has extended the Adams law to the entire state, which means that within a short time the saloons will exist in only three or four cities. Alabama has just passed a county local option law, which, it is predicted, will abolish the saloons from all but three of the counties within the next two years."

Since these words were uttered Colorado's new local option law has been signed by Governor Buchtel, and the outlook is more optimistic than ever.

A campaign has been waged in Boston for several months against liquor advertising in street cars. Mrs. Fred E. Britten has led the attack, and the sequel is a letter from Robert M. Durnett, secretary of the Eastern Advertising Com-pany. "Our company," says Mr. Dur-nett, "controls the advertising space in 95 per cent of the street cars in New England for the next ten years. I have given orders that from this time on no solicitation be made and no advertising be taken for liquors, beer, or any other article coming in the line of intoxicants. We have one contract running now in the surface cars and a small one in the elevated that we shall be obliged to carry until the contract terminates or suffer heavy damages; but after these expire you may be assured that there will be no more advertising of this kind in our cars." It is said that this will mean a loss of $180,000 to the company in advertising this coming year.

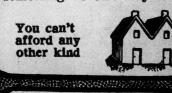

A peculiar problem is being discussed in the Province of Prince Edward Island. The suggestion has been made that one jail, centrally situated, is ample to meet all the needs. The plan heretofore has been a jail in each county, but oftentimes it has happened that all of them have been empty, and it never happens that all of them are full. The Charlottetown Guardian points out ers report that drinking is steadily on the increase, this increase amounting is criminal, in Prince Edward Island,

43

The cheapest good They do shingle is the cost less "Oshawa." Good cost less "Osnawa." Good for a century's weather-wear. Guaranteed for 25 years without your even painting—"Oshawa" double-galvanized shingles need no paint to outlast any roofing there is. Make roofs fire-proof, too. — guaranteed in too, -guaranteed in every way you want. Cheap in first cost as com-mon wood shingles, yet more durable than slate. Sold under a written guarantee that really means something to the buyer.

With a hammer, Easy to a snips, and horseput on sense anybody can roof buildings right with "Oshawa" Gal-vanized Steel Shingles. They need no cleats. They lock on all FOUR sides. Made in only one grade-of 28-guage semi-hardened sheet steel in the pat-ented "Oshawa" way

> "Oshawa " Shindles are an investment, rot an expense.

More than 100 farm Lightning

More than 100 farm buildings were proof, too damaged in On-tario alone last year by lightning. Not one of them would have been harmed if they'd been "Oshawa"-roofed. These shingles insulate a build-ing-make it safe against every element. Let us tell you what it will cost you to roof the "Oshawa" way. Get our free

| Com.Drawing Short Stories | to $125,000,000 per annum in late years. When the Kaiser read this part of the commissioners' report he cried, "An in- | ada, and therefore there is no need for a prison in each county. This is a | ing Right' before you Roof a Thing | |
|---|---|--|--|--|
| Mat. Subjects | crease of six hundred millions in five | striking tribute to the benefit of the prohibitory law. | | |
| | years! Why, the Yankees themselves could not stand it." Reports show that | promotory law. | A WIND AND AND AND AND AND AND AND AND AND A | |
| ADDRESS. | there was a long discussion between | | | |
| Sign above, put in envelope and mail to | the Kaiser and the commissioners as | Fact and Fiction. | T 272 m | |
| SHAW CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOL 393 Yonge St., Toronto. | to the possibility of reducing this tre- | | Padlan Parala | |
| too ronge st., Toronso. | mendous amount. | "Come, Guy, and for the sake of old | THURTHUNDE | |
| When Writing Advertisers Kindly Mention | One of the next of the second | times let us drain a social glass to | | |
| The Western Home Monthly. | | gether," said Charlie Ross to his old | Of Oshawa 1 | |
| and the second frome monthly. | day developments looking to a solution of the saloon problem is the new at- | college chum as they met at the corner | Montreal Toronto Lordon 321-3 Craig W. 11 Colborne & Dundas | |
| | titude of labor unions toward it. At | one day. | Otto Dunuas | |
| | least a dozen organizations, which have | "I thank you, Charlie, but not | Ottawa Winnipeg Vancouver 4.3 Sussex 76 Lombard 616 Pender | |
| 1 | a membership of about 180,000 show a | indulge. Since last we met, three years | Chevery of the second s | |
| - 1 | marked antagonism to the saloon. The | ago, I have learned that there is both | 1000 000000000000000000000000000000000 | |
| Nondhaine | secretary of the Journeymen Tailors | a fact and fiction about this habit of indulging in intoxicating beverages." | | |
| Nordheimer | for example, says that all of its officers | "What do you mean, Guy Carson,- | | |
| | are decidedly opposed to the use of | a fact and a fiction about indulging in | - RAAA Later | |
| D • | intoxicating liquors as a beverage, and | intoxicating beverages? Please ex- | | |
| Piano | that, although formerly very few tailors | plain." | | |
| - uno | were sober enough to work until after | "Well, the first fiction about an alco- | | |
| in the house is an evidence of culture | the second or third day following Sun- day, now "you will scarcely find a single | nolic Deverage is that it is a food The | | |
| and rennement. | | lact about such drink is that a gallon | Normality is an an an and an and an | |
| The Nordheimer is considered by connoisseurs the equal of any and | | OI ale contains less nourishment them | No matter how old the blemish. how hame the horse, or how many doctors | |
| superior to many makes in the | the International Order of Blacksmithe | a penny loaf; that a glass of wine con- | have tried and failed, use | |
| The Nordheimer is a standard | says that all of its officers do everything | tains less food than could be put on a | Fleming' Spavin and Ringbone Paste | |
| Lidily naving stood the test of time | possible to oppose the influence of the | three-penny piece; that a glass of spirits contains about as much nourishment | Use it un' our guarantee raste | |
| A pure, sympathetic, powerful tone of matchless volume and resonance | | and is about as satisfying as the bite | sound. I (of a cured by a circle M | |
| which has made the Nordheimer | none of the local associations meet in | of a mad dog. A famous chemist course | minute a, " on - occasionally two re- | |
| famous. Write for illustrated booklet with | TT 11 | -Beer, wine and spirits contain no ale | Use it un' our guarantee-year measy refunded case the here ge sound. I (cr s cured by a single 45- minute a) on-occasionally two re- quired. Cures "re Spavin, Ringbone and Bidebone, new ard old cases alike. Write for detailed information and a free copy of | |
| all information. | Herald. | ment capable of entering into the com | Fleming's Vest-Pocket | |
| NOPOHEINED DILLIO CO | | Dosition of the blood on 11 | Veterinary Advisor | |
| NORDHEIMER PIANO CO., | | | linety-six pages, durably bound, indexed and illustrated. Covers over one hundred veterinary subjects. Read this book before you treat any kind of lameness in horses. | |
| THE PULFORD BLOCK | | | veterinary subjects. Read this book before | |
| DONALD ST WINNIPEG | summed up by National Superintendent Baker of the Anti-Saloon League in the following words: "Thirty three mil | | you treat any kind of lameness in horses. FLEMING BROS., Chemists, | |
| - WINNIPEG | following words: "Thirty three mil- | into brain, nerve bland be converted | 58 Church Street, Toronto, Ontario | |
| | | into brant, nerve, blood or muscle." | | |
| | | | | |
| | | | 3 | |

GOSSIP OF INTERESTING THINGS. ADVERTISED ARTICLES ARE THE BEST. (See Harper's Magazine for January, 1907).

"Because it does not pay to ad-vertise a poor article, nearly all the products which are widely adver-tised in high class periodicals are the very best of their kind. Not because the manufacturers are noble philanthropists, better than other men, but just because being wise men of business, they know wise men of business, they know it is throwing money away to tell the public, month after month, about an inferior thing. Their wares have simply got to be the best to justify their advertising. Probably no one article has jus-tified its advertising better than "Baby's Own Soap." It has now been before the Canadian people for the last 30 years and its sales for the last 30 years and its sales have been increasing all the time. The secret of its widespread use is its absolute purity and delicacy. There is no soap like it. It is old as low as is consistent with its exceptional purity and quality. Its popularity has given rise to many imitations, all of which can-not but be inferior as they are sold more cheaply and the manufac-turers give a larger profit to the turers give a larger profit to the dealer.

Therefore insist on being sup-plied with "BABY'SOWN SOAP" -Don't accept substitutes. Get what you ask for. 11-07

Among the Flowers.

The Western Home Monthly

Old-Fashioned Posies.

In my garden are the Pansies And a host of flowers new, But the golden-corymbed Tansies, And the virtue-giving Rue, And the modest blushing Roses, Have been banished far away— All the dear old-fashioned posies Of our great-grandmother's day.

Where the Honeysuckle, clinging, Lent its nectar to the air,
Now the Moonflower vine is swinging Not so sweet, but passing fair:
And the laggard drone-bee dozes In the Amaryllis gay—
But I long to see the posies Of our great-grandmother's day.

Oh, for one frail sprig of Clover, Of the kind our mothers knew, Where the brown bee, busy rover, Drank his fill of honey dew; All that memory discloses, This the sweetest dream for aye— Visions of old-fashioned posies In our great grandmother's day.

About Snap-Dragons.

Among the most beautiful of summer flowers are the improved varieties of the old-fashioned Snapdragon. The plants are easily raised from seeds, grow in bushy, compact form, begin to bloom early from seeds, and throughout the autumn are a mass of gorgeous and beautiful spikes of bloom. The flowers are not only large and of exquisite form, but are delicate in texture, and exhibit a wide range of attractive colors and variegations, some as richly striped and spotted as a Calceolaria. Recently the Snapdragon has become popular for bedding purposes, and when tastefully used in that way, as their even Improved Snapdragons.

growth and free and continuous bloom-ing make them well adapted for that purpose. Those who have grown them in pots in the house in winter, speak enthusiastically of their value for win-ter blooming. If seed-bearing could be availed the bloom would be over more ter blooming. If seed-bearing could be avoided the bloom would be even more free and continuous. As it is, however,

A Bed of Pansies.

perior plants and flowers. To have the best success it is important to secure seeds of a fine strain. The seeds ger-minate in from twelve to fourteen days after sowing.

Pruning the Lilac.

Cut off the clusters of Lilac bloom as soon as they begin to fade, and prune out weakly or dead bushes. This will insure vigorous bloom next season.

Prairie and Rambler Roses.

Prune the old wood from these as soon as the bloom fades, and encourage new growth, which will bear the flowers next season.

Seedling Geraniums.

When these fail to bloom the first season transplant them as soon as danger from frost is past to a sunny bed of sandy soil and let the plants take care of themselves. By this means they will mostly soon develop flower clusters and become useful blooming plants.

Soil Turning White.

A sister complains of the soil around her house plants turning white. It is possibly a fungus growth. Stir some lime and sulphur into the surface soil, and see that the drainage is good.

Remedy for Mildew.

Recently the use of sulphuric acid has been recommended as a remedy for mil-dew on roses. One-sixteenth of a pint of acid is diluted with thirty-one quarts of actor is diluced with thirty-one quarts of water and an application given with a sprinkler or fine syringe on alternate days, five or six times. It does not dis-color the foliage, and is regarded as an effectual remedy. Avoid making the liquid too strong

Rose Bugs.

Rose bugs (beetles) are easily de-stroyed upon Daisies by sprinkling the flowers with water into which is stirred paris green—a teaspoonful to two gal-lons, keeping well stirred while apply-ing. The material is not so effective upon Roses, as the insects enter and work in the heart and at the base of the flower, and the poison does not reach them.

Boston Fern.

Give this fern leaf-mould, sand and well-rotted manure, making a rich lib-eral compost. It does not grow well in a heavy soil. Shift it into a larger pot as the roots begin to crowd, placing charcoal in the bottom for drainage. Water liberally while the plant is grow-ing, and shade from the hot sun. It likes a rather cool, moist atmosphere.

Weak Kidneys Weak Kidneys surely point to weak kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Hear, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

June 1907.

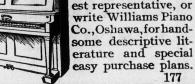

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong if you have symp-tems of Brights or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggists recommend and cell

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

RANKS AS A MASTERPIECE Facts are most palatable and convinc-ing if stated by disinterested parties. The following letter from H. W. Hudgins, Musical Doctor (Princeton), Mus. Bach., (London) F.L.G.C.M., and teacher of piano, organ and vocal music at Toronto

College of Music. Williams Piano Co., Oshawa, Ont. :-The mechanism is all that could be desired, and the tone is sweet and sonorous and of good singing quality. Altogether, I consider the piano to be a masterpiece of the piano-makers' art. H. W. Hudgins, Mus. Doct. (Princeton), Mus. Bac. (Lond.), F.L.G.C.M.

The Williams Piano Co., Ltd. Dept. W.H. M., Oshawa, Canada. CROSS, GOLDING & SKINNER, LTD. WINNIPEG, MAN.

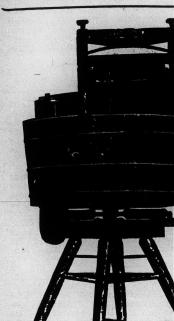

June, 1907.

Tobacco Ha

Dr. McTaggart's Tobacco Remedy remove the weed in a few days. A vegetable mec-aviras truching the tongue with it occasion ddress or consult Dr. McTaggart, 75 nto, Canada.

Liquor Ha

Let this Machine d Washing Fre

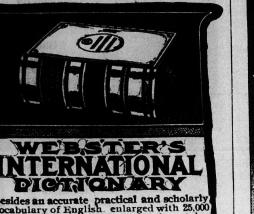

There are Motor Springs beneath These springs do nearly all the ha once you start them going. And this chine works as easy as a bicycle whe There are slats on the inside botto These slats act as paddles, to swin the same direction you revolve the tu You throw the solid clothes int Then you throw enough water over float them. Next you put the beavy wooden cou

Then you know shough water over fact them. Next you put the heavy wooden cor soches to anchor them, and to pre-This cover has slats on its lower clothes and hold them from turning the tab turns. Now, we are all ready for quick and You grasp the upright handle on tuband, with it, you revolve the tub round, till it strikes a motor-spring. This motor-spring throws the t strikes the other motor-spring. The machine must have a little he every swing, but the motor-spring bearings, do practically all the hard of You can sit in a rocking chair and washer requires of you. When you revolve the tub the cloth

When you revolve the tab the cloth But the water moves like a mill ra clothes. The paddles on the tub bottom d water THEOUGH and through the cl swing of the tub. Back and forth, in i fold, and through every mesh in th soapy water runs like a torrent. This way water runs like a torrent. away all the dirt from the clothes, in away all the dirt from the clothes, in minutes by the clock. Is drives the dirt out through the fabrics WITHOUT ANY BUBBING WEAB and TEAB from the washboas It will wash the finest lace fabric w a thread, or a button, and it will wash carpet with equal ease and rapidity twenty garments, or five large bed washed at one time with this '1900 J A shild can do this in six to twelv than any walls washerwoman could do than any able washerwoman could do in TWICE the time, with three time tear from the washboard.

Besides an accurate practical and scholarly vocabulary of English enlarged with 25,000 NEW WORDS, the International contains a History of the English Language, Guide to pronunciation, Dictionary of Fiction, New Gazetteer of the World, New Biographical Dictionary, Vocabulary of Scripture Names Greek and Latin Names, English Christian Names, Abbreviations, Metric System

25,000 NEW WORDS.

2380 Pages. 5000 Illustrations. Should You Not Own Such a Book ! VEBSTER'S COLLEGIATE DICTIONARY. Largest and shridgments. Regular and Thin Paper editions.

1116 pages and 1400 illustrations. Write for "The Story of a Book."-Free. G. & C. Merriam Co., Springfield, Mass. GET THE BEST.

Are Guaranteed to Cure Rheumatism and Neuralgia, also Female Disorders arising from Uric Acid. The Electro-Chemical Ring is not an ignorant charm or faith cure, but a scientific medium for the elimination of uric acid from the blood. The secret, the power, the merit in this ring lies in the combination of the various metals of which the ring is made. No matter what the trouble is, if it is caused by excess of uric acid, the Electro-Chemical Ring will effect a cure. Looks just like any other ring, can be worn day and night. We guarantee these rings to do all we claim, or will refund the money. Send size of fluger when ordering. Malled to any address on receipt of $1.00. The F. E. KARN CO., Limited

The F. E. KARN CO., Limited

described; also a otaln, Lasties or Bents style

COLD WATCH and RING FREE

COR. QUEEN & VICTORIA SIS.

TR

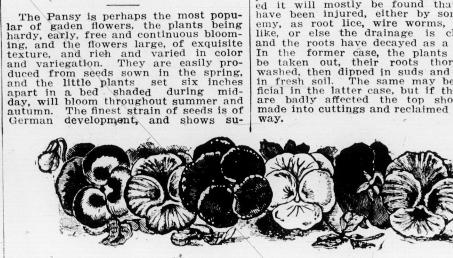

TORONTO, CAN

Fertilizer for Plants.

Perhaps as good a fertilizer as can e obtained for house plants is pulver-Pernaps as plants is pulver-be obtained for house plants is pulver-ized sheep manure. It can be obtained of almost any dealer in fertilizers. For many plants fresh wood ashes sparingly applied will be found useful. Pulver-ized bones or bone meal will be found valuable to promote blooming, where plants have a tendency to grow only branches. plants ha branches.

Drooping and Dying.

Geraniums and other plants some-times droop and die without any ap-parent cause. If the roots are examin-ed it will mostly be found that they have been injured, either by some enhave been injured, either by some en-emy, as root lice, wire worms, or the like, or else the drainage is clogged, and the roots have decayed as a result. In the former case, the plants should be taken out, their roots thoroughly washed, then dipped in suds and potted in fresh soil. The same may be bene-ficial in the latter case, but if the roots are badly affected the top should be made into cuttings and reclaimed in that way. way.

Pansies

It is needed in every home, and you cannot allord to have it. If your dealer has it you should see it at once. Most dealers sell at $3.50. If not, write us and we will be glad to send you a des-criptive booklet. THE DOWSWELL MFG CO. LTD., HAMILTON, CAN same attern, guaranteed or 20 years, sells for $21.50; $chines with ball bearings and extra fne woodwork, ost a little nore, but only about half what others charge.

Is Delighted with the Sweetheart Sewing

Is Delighted with the Sweetheart Sewing Machine. Brandon, Man., Jan. 8th, 1906.
 Windsor Supply Co., Windsor, Ont.: Gentlemen.—Allthat I an say about the Sweetheart Sewing Machine is that Mrs. Anderson is delighted with it, and thinks that no sewing machine is its superior. I am showing it to my friends and they are "urprised, and when they areable to buy one they will ask me to do it.—

e they will as Yours trnly, S. ANDERSON. Our Sewing Machine Catalogue, fully explain-g our different styles, free. Write for it. Windsor Supply Co., Windsor, Ont.

This is what we SAY: now, how d We send any reliable person ou Washer, free of charge, on a full m we even pay the freight out of our o' No cash deposit is asked, no no Bo security.

No cash deposit is asked, ho hol Bo security. You may use the washer four v pense. If you find it won't wash as FOUR hours as you can wash by i hours you send it back to the re that's all.

But, if, from a month's actual u vinced it saves HALF the time in w work better, and does it twice as eas done by hand, you keep the machine Then you mail us 50 cents a week

Then you mail us 50 cents a week Remember that 50 cents is part chine saves you every week on you washwoman's labor. We intend that Washer shall pay for itself and thus of You don't risk a cent from first don't buy it until you have had a fu Uould we afford to pay freight these machines every month, if we can KNOW they would do all we claim i you afford to be without a machine to washing in HALF THE TIME, when washon of the washboard, when you and tear of the washboard, when yo machine for a month's free trial, an Inscrime for a month's free trial, an UTSELF? This offer may be wi ime it overcrowds our factory. Write us TODAY, while the offer this you think of it. The postage riak. Write me personally on W.H.G. Bach, Manager "1900" Yonge Street, Toronto, Canada.

"SO KUTE" Photos : very e for 28 cents dozen. Original 2 cts, E. A. House, Box

S

idney nd the guide tive is these alone,

ey as urine

symp-ercus

it can id and

S

1e

ECE

ivinc-

. The

lgins,

Bach.

er of

oronto

nt. :--

ld be

t and

uality. be a art.

eton),

near-

ive, or Piano

rhand-

ive lit-

special

plans.

Ltd.

LTD.

ng

of of

IER

You

s to bfu.

des-

CAN

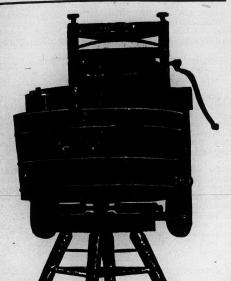

177

Tobacco Habit. Dr. McTaggart's Tobacco Remedy removes all desire for he weed in a few days. A vegetable medicine, and only avirus funching the tongue with it occasionally. Price $2.

Liquor Habit.

ous results from taking his remedy for the Liquor iafe and inexpensive home treatment; no hypo-ections, no publicity, no loss of time from business,

Address or consult Dr. McTaggart, 75 Yonge Street

Let this Machine do your Washing Free.

There are Motor Springs beneath the tab. These springs do nearly all the hard work, once you start them going. And this washing me-chine works as easy as a bicycle wheel does. There are slats on the inside bottom of the tab. These slats act as paddles, to swing the water in the same direction you revorte the tab. You throw the solled clothes into the tab first. Then you throw enough water over the clothes to float them. Next you put the heavy moder

Nost them. Next you put the heavy wooden cover on top of the glothes to anchor them, and to press them down. This cover has slats on its lower side to grip the clothes and hold them from turning around when

This core has and hold them from turning around when the tab turns. Now, we are all ready for quick and easy washing. You grasp the upright handle on the side of the tuband, with it, you revolve the tub one-third way round, till it strikes a motor-spring. This motor-spring throws the tub back till it strikes the other motor-spring, which in turn throws it back on the first motor-spring. The machine must have a little help from you, as every swing, but the motor-springs, and the ball-bearings, do practically all the hard work. You can sit in a rocking chair and do all that the washer requires of you. A child can run it easily full of clothes.

When you revolve the tub the clothes don's move. But the water moves like a mill race through the clothes. The paddles on the tub bottom drive the scapy

wher THEOUGH and through the clothes at every swing of the tub. Back and forth, in and out of every fold, and through every mesh in the cloth, the hot scopy water runs like a torrent. This is how it carries away all the dirt from the clothes, in from six to ten away all the dirt from the clothes, in from six to ten minutes by the clock. It drives the dirt out through the meshes of the fabrics WITHOUT ANY BUBBING, —without any WEAB and TEAB from the washboard. It will wash the finest lace fabric without breaking a thread, or a button, and it will wash a heavy, dirty carpet with equal case and rapidity. Fifteen to twenty garments, or five large bed-sheets, can be washed at one time with this ''900 Junior'' Washer. A child can do this in six to twelve minutes better than any able washerwoman could do the same clothes in TWIOE the time, with three times the wear and tear from the washboard. be more palatable. Caster oil is the best cathartic for

The Western Home Monthly

Home Aortor. Ohe

A pinch ot salt taken before meals | eggs are also excellent given under the stimulates digestion.

Bathing in salt water tones up the skin and gives it a fresh, wholesome color.

The gargle must not be too strong or it will act as an irritant and thus defeat the end in view.

cure for hiccoughs is to inhale as much air as the lungs will hold and retain it as long as possible, repeating if necessary, until the hiccoughs stop.

ake tea for an invalid with boiling milk instead of boiling water. It is much nicer and much more digestible -if the milk really boils.

A tub of warm water is the best treatment for a child with convulsions. Be sure the water is not too hot by plunging the arm into it up to the elbow.

For tooth-ache, try warm salt and water applied directly to the affected part. If used once a week, salt will keep the gums healthy and the teeth free of tartar.

The most effective treatment for the complexion begins inside; there is no magic formula for loveliness. Care of the diet and regard for the rules of health are better than a whole drugshopful of mixtures.

As a medicine salt has a wide range of possibilities. A weak solution of hot salt water used frequently as a gargle is one of the best remedies known for sore throat in its incipient stage.

In even severe attacks of colic a teaspoon of salt dissolved in a cup of cold water has been known to give immediate relief. The same dose will revive a person who has been stunned by a heavy fall, if he can be forced to swallow it.

The wakefulness that comes from taking too strong tea or coffee can be conquered by swallowing a dash of fiesh lemon juice when retiring. Place a quartered lemon on a dish near your bed, which can be taken at any time that you discover sleep will not come.

out of the patient's sight, only when to clean their finger nails, or possibly administering it. If there is no medisick person. In this way they will not nice, smooth nails, as the sharp metal dread the medicine and the food will injures the skin under the nail, mak-same circumstances, but if the patient is a child it will be necessary to give it in sweetened milk. Damp climate is very bad for one who suffers with enlarged glands. It lowers their vitality and prevents them from throwing off this disease.

The following remedy has been thoroughly tested by people suffering from catarrh and in every case it has given rclief. It is very harmless and cannot injure one even though it fails to help. It is to be used as a cleansing lotion for the nose and to be put in the proportion of half a teaspoonful in a small glass of warm water two or three times daily: Bichlorate of soda, two drams, listerine and glycerine each one ounce, water three ounces.

The removal of foreign bodies from the ear should always be left to the physician, and is a simple matter in skilled hands if crude and unavailing efforts have not preceded. Attempts to relieve itching or fullness in the ear by scratching with hard substances, as matches or the finger nail, are most urgently deprecated.

It is of the utmost importance during a cold to keep the system from becoming clogged. The old, senseless maxim, "Feed a cold and starve a fever," is responsible for many bad complexions and prolonged colds. The proper method is to eat very light-ly and even partially fast. If you will use plenty of stewed fruit in your diet, cat fresh figs, drink hot water on arising and before meals and take nine or ten glasses of water during the day you will be taking the best possible measures to get rid of a cold.

For too profuse perspiration, toilet vinegar in the wash water is a safe remedy. To make it, take one pint of the best white wine vinegar (best cider vinegar will do), and add to it two drams each of the following ingredients: rosemary, lavender, rue and camphor. Let the herbs soak in the vinegar for twenty-four hours, then strain and bottle. The dried herbs car be had of the druggist. A tablespoonful to a pint of wash water is about right.

It is a very common occurrence to Always keep both food and medicine see women take up a sharp penknife use the sharp point of the scissors for the same purpose. This should never cine closet, set up as a screen, a large the same purpose. This should never book or a paper between them and the be done by any one who cares to have of proper treatment.

Artificial Limbs WE excel in FI'. WEIGHT, STRENGTH and NEATNESS. You can get the best in Winnipeg and will be sure

Write for further

tear from the washboard.

This is what we SAY; now, how do we PROVE it? We send any reliable person our "1990 Junior" Washer, free of charge, on a full month's trial, and we even pay the freight out of our own pockets. No cash deposit is asked, no notes, no contract, no security.

No cease uspont is safed, ho notes, ho contains Bosecurity. You may use the washer four weeks at our ex-pense. If you find it won't wash as many clothes in FOUR hours as you can wash by hand in EIGHT hours you send it back to the railway station.~ that's all.

But, if, from a month's actual use, you are con-vinced it saves HALF the time in washing, does the work better, and does it twice as easily as it could be done by hand, you keep the machine. Then you mail us 50 cents a week till it is paid for.

Then you mail us 50 cents a week till it is paid for. Bemember that 50 cents is part of what the ma-chine saves you every week on your own, or on a washwoman's labor. We intend that the "1900 Junior" Washershall pay for itself and thus cost you nothing. You don't risk a cent from first to last, and you don't buy it until you have had a full month's trial. Gould we afford to pay freight on thousands of these machines every month, if we did not positively KNOW they would do all we claim for them? Can You afford to be without a machine that will do your Washing in HALF THE TIME, with half the wear and tear of the washboard, when you can have that Washing in HALF THE TIME, with half the wear and tear of the washboard, when you can have that machine for a month's free trial, and let it PAX FOR ITSELF? This offer may be withdrawn at any ime it overcrowds our factory. Write us TODAY, while the offer is still open, and faile you think of it. The postage stamp is all you risk. Write me personally on this offer, viz: W.H.C. Bach, Manager "1900" Washer Co., 355 Yonge Street, Toronto, Canada.

"SO KITE" Photos : very elegant, 2x3 inches for 22 cents dozen, original returned. Sample 2 cts, E. A. House, Box 65, undsden, Ala.

t Sewing 8th, 1906.

handsome

machine, s, sells for and extra only about the Sweet-nderson is no sewing ng it to my when they o do it.—

ERSON ly explain-or it. r, Ont.

general use, and is especially desirable in case of poisoning. For carbolic acid, give as an antidote, castor oil, olive oil or glycerine. For ammonia, give frequently a teaspoonful of lemon or vinegar and follow with castor oil, but in case of phosphorus, heads of matches, etc., use magnesia instead ot oil, as the oil will dissolve the phosphorus.

A young woman who did not have the means to consult a specialist to be cured of stammering, went every day alone into her room and read aloud to herself through closed teeth. It was very tiresome at first but it gave her control of her speech, so that at the end of three weeks she was able to read to the family quite naturally, and at the end of the year, unless under special excitement, could speak and read without any hesitancy.

Very many are troubled with en-larged glands. Milk is said to be one of the best and safest forms of diet for one suffering from this affliction. it this disorder is to order them a should be the pure milk with all the course of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, cream and should be given unboiled. which are among the best vegetable Boiled milk is never considered as pills known, being easy to take and nutritious as raw milk. for the vitality is destroyed in the cooking. Raw A trial of them will prove this.

ing it ragged and giving it an inflamed appearance, and is bound to scrape the under part of the nail, often causing it to split and break off. Orange sticks are not expensive, and can always be had at the drug stores, and these are the best things that can be used to clean the nails. If the flesh under the nail has become stained from ink, fruit. or otherwise, do not try to scrape it out, but wind a little absorbent cotton around the end of a toothpick, wet it in peroxide of hydrogen and thoroughly moisten the flesh under the nail. The stain will soon disappear. If the cuticle about the nail inclines to get ragged, soak the ends of the fingers in hot olive oil; the oil shrinks the cuticle and keeps it smooth and in place. The hands!

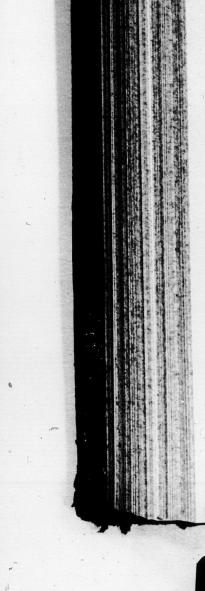

going to bed. and a little cold cream rubbed into them. Suffer No More .-- There are thousands who live miserable lives be-cause dyspepsia dulls the faculties and shadows existence with the cloud of depression. One way to dispel the vapors that beset the victims of information, also state what kind of amputation you have. J.H. GARSON 54 King Street WINNIPEG, MAN. should be well washed at night before When writing, mention The Western Home Monthly.

WINNIPEG, MAN. CATALOGUES FREE,

This cut shows an up-to-date Barn Construction, 40 feet x 70 feet, and the method of covering with Corrugated Sheets. The frame work is light, as the corrugated sheets, when nailed in place, make the building very rigid. This drawing is made from actual plans, and the barn has been built many times with splendid results.

The saving of wood sheeting, as compared with the ordinary barn construction, will cover the difference in cost between wooden shingles and our "Acorn Quality " Corrugated Galvanized Sheets.

This galvanized covering protects your building from lightning, prevents fires from the outside, is easily and cheaply applied, and OUTLASTS A GENERATION.

Do not make a mistake and put up an old style barn, when you can secure a better and more durable construction for less money.

See the page of barn mustrations in our new catalogue, and write for our book of testimonials with list of users.

CLARE & BROCKEST WINNIPEG.

cases, and there are applications which are permissible and harmless.

A preparation of equal parts of tincture of benzoin and glycerine with double the quantity of rose water, well shaken together and used immediately after washing the face, keeps the skin soft and is said to prevent freckles.

The best prescription for a clear complexion is exercise in the open air, baths and hygienic dress, with careful attention to diet, and the condition of bowels and kidneys.

Rubbed well into yellowed knife handles of ivory, turpentine restores the color. Gilt frames can be cleaned by wiping with a small sponge dipped lightly in oil of turpentine. Wet the sponge just enough to take off the soil and dry marks. Let the frame dry itself.

Gin is the best thing to use to remove tea stains from a white dress. Place the stained part in a saucer, with enough gin to cover the stain, rub with a piece of the same material, press on the wrong side with a moderately hot iron till dry.

Carpets and rugs can be thoroughly cleaned by being hung over a clothes line and having the garden hose turned upon them. This will do no harm to any carpet. Dry in a shady place.

If your children are troubled with worms, give them Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, safe, sure and effectual. Try it, and mark the improvement in your child.

a strong piece of twine about long. In the other end of tie a large knot. Your siege gun will shoo sort of ammunition, neither h arrows, but a long spear or l this you need a straight stic long. You must scrape its e fully until it is perfectly rou about three inches from one you may leave square if the s happen to be four-sided insi ready round. To the other stick you may fasten a regu spear-head if you care to from iron or sheet tin, or you a long nail in this end for point, weighing it with strip bound around the end of the catgut or light wire. In the base end of your spear cut a enough to hold the twine, enough so that the knot on will not pass through it. The next and last thing yo is an iron, brass or wooden curtain ring, or, if you have hand, you can easily make or to take the place of the foo 12-foot pole. Take a piece bone, or a piece of heavy wi a strong flexible stick, and, around so as to form a circl ends firmly together. Now with tape or strips of leather bind it firmly to the uprig about two-thirds of its heigh about two-thirds of its heigh

soft

hot alt,

oth

me wet d a

am. azel rou-

put oth, her.

In ome

out

and dry

soap

ream-hablean-The

es-The in in then

nd it right

loves

sew otton l. If under es; if color, e the break d.

have darn nner: , and ce on needle r the thus ill be ice of

sweet ir till

one

nd of add a ne of ull on finger out of ier, as nds to home vance

t than hat is it the settles trs the onally, in a water clean, ll that und be umonly rb the usage. hg the wicks

etween

comes to redress. aucer,

"stain, e mae with rough-

ver a garden will do

y in a d with Graves'

re and he im-

The Western Home Monthly

Boys and Girls.

The Little Brown Wren.

There's a little brown wren that has built in our tree, And she's scarcely as big as a bumblebee; She has hollowed a house in the heart of a limb, And made the walls tidy and made the floor trim.

floor trim. With the down of the crow's foot, with tow and with straw, The cozlest dwelling that every you saw.

One morning Sir Sparrow came sauntering by And cast on the wren's house an en-

And cast on the wren's house an environs eye;
With a strut of bravado and toss of his head,
"I'll put in my claim here," the bold fellow said;
so straightway he mounted on tm-pudent wing,
And entered the door without pausing

And to ring. An instant-and swiftly that feathery

All tousled and tumbled, in terror took knight, flight, While there by the door on her favorite perch, As neat as a lady just starting for church,

With this song on her lips, "He will not call again Unless he is asked," sang the little brown wren.

How to Make a Siege Gun.

It is hardly likely that any of our boys will have to stand a siege by a hostile force or be actually engaged in laying siege to the stronghold of an enemy, but almost every one of them will be interested in this siege gun. It is very simple and easy to make and will shoot a long way, much farther, in fact, than you can shoot with a bow and arrow; farther even than an air rifle will carry. will carry.

First you will need a long, straight sapling of hickory or some other tough, springy wood—oak, ash or hemlock. If ground. In fastening it thus use light wire or strong twine over which you have rubbed a piece of soap till it is thoroughly greased. Now you are ready to fire your first shot. Put your spear through the ring, place the knot in the twine in the notch cut in the butt of your spear, pull back the spear until its head is nearly to the ring, as the illustration shows, and then let it go. If your pole is a good one the heavy spur will be hurled 200 yards or even more. It is not necessary to have the ring through which the spear passes. It merely makes it easier to aim your shots well, but after a little practice you will find that you can get along perfectly well without it and that your slege gun will shoot just where you want it to. Of course, to attain this result you must be very well accustom-ed to the strength of the pole and know just how far back to pull the spear and just how high to point it. Still half the fun of the whole thing is practicing till you get it just right. When you have got the hang of the thing get some of your friends to shoot at a mark with you. They will be com-pletely surprised to see how accurate your shots are, while theirs go far afteld. The best kind of spears are made from alder sticks or long reeds. such as afield. The best kind of spears are made from alder sticks or long reeds, such as grow in marshes. They are very light and you can usually find a dozen or more all growing together, so that you can get a lot of spears at the same time. With these for your ammunition. you will find that your siege gun will outshoot anything your friends may possess, except those who may have regular powder and shot firearms, and even those will have to use something bigger than "22 cal. shots" to beat you.

A Lawn Soap-Bubble Contest.

Outdoor sports form the chief pleas-ure of the ine summer days, and one of the most delightful and picturesque diversions is a seap-bubble contest on a tennis court or a lawn. This sport is productive of much fun if the party is divided, with one-half the number of boys and girls on each side of the net. A table should be placed on each side, near at hand, and on it should be a large bowl of soapy water, with a tablespoonful of glycer-ine added, as this makes them last longer. Clay pipes should be provided for the players, and they should be tied with ribbons denoting the respect-ive sides. ive sides.

The girls make the bubbles and the hoys blow them over the net, and also iry to prevent their opponents' bubbles from coming over the net into their court. Each bubble that floats over the net counts fifteen points for the side from which it came, and, of course, the side scoring highest within a given time wins.

THE CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE HEAD OFFICE, TORONTO CAPITAL, - $10,000,000 REST, - $5,000,000 ALEX. LAIRD, General Manager 8. 8. WALKER, President A. H. IRELAND, Superintendent of Branches

47

ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY-EIGHT BRANCHES IN CANADA, THE

UNITED STATES AND ENGLAND

BRANCHES IN THE CANADIAN WEST:

NADIAN WEST: MOOSE JAW, Sask. E. M. Saunders, Manager MOOSOMIN, Sask. D. I. Forbes, Manager NANTON, Alta. C. F. A. Gregory, Manager NEEPAWA, Man. C. Ballard, Manager NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask. A. S. Houston, Manager NORWOOD, Man. W. H. Switzer, Manager PINCHER CREEK, Alta. W. G. Lynch, Manager PONOKA, Alta. E. A. Fox, Manager PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. A. L. Hamilton, Manager PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. C. D. Nevill, Manager RADISSON, Sask. C. Dickinson, Manager BAWLF, Alta. A. E. D. Band, Manager BRANDON, Man. A. Maybee, Manager CALGARY, Alta. C. W. Rowley, Manager CANORA, Sask. G. G. Bourne, Manager CARMAN, Man. D. McLennan, Manager CLARESHOLM, Alta. W. A. Cornwall, Manager CROSSFIELD, Alta. CLARESHOLM, Alta. W. A. Cornwall, Manager CROSSFIELD, Alta. James Cameron, Manag r DAUPHIN, Man. D. H. Downie, Manager EDMONTON, Alta. T. M. Turnbull, Manager ELGIN, Man. H. B. Haines, Manager ELKHORN. Man. R. H. Brotherhood, Manager GLEECHEN. Alta. F. J. Meek, Manager GLEICHEN. Alta. F. J. Turner, Manager GLEICHEN. Alta. C. R. W. Pooley, Manager HIGH RIVER, Alta. C. R. W. Pooley, Manager HUMBOLDT, Sask. F. C. Wright, Manager INNISFAIL, Alta. W. P. Perkins, Manager INNISFAIL, Alta. W. P. Perkins, Manager KAMSACK, Sask. G. G. Bourne, Manager KAMSACK, Sask. B. R. Jarvis, Manager LANGHAM, Sask. W. J. Savage, Manager LASHBURN, Sask. S. M. Daly, Manager LEAVINGS, Alta Thos. Andrews, Manager MACLEOD, Alta. C. G. K. Nourse, Manager MACLEOD, Alta. F. L. Crawford, Manager MACLEOD, Alta. F. L. Crawford, Manager MELFORT, Sask. E. R. Jarvis, Manager A. D. Bevill, Manager RADISSON, Sask.
C. Dickinson, Manager
RED DEER, Alta.
D. M. Sanson, Manager
REGINA, Sask.
H. F. Mytton, Manager
SASKATOON, Sask.
W. P. Kirkpatrick, Manager
SASKATOON, Sask.
W. P. Kirkpatrick, Manager
STAVELY, Sask.
Thos. Andrews, Manager
STONY PLAIN, Alta.
G. W. Marriott, Manager
SWAN RIVER, Man.
F. J. Macoun, Manager
SWAN RIVER, Man.
F. J. Macoun, Manager
SWAN RIVER, Man.
F. J. Macoun, Manager
WER, Man.
F. J. Macoun, Manager
WER Man.
S. Munro, Manager
VEGREVILLE, Alta.
W. P. Perkins, Manager
VERMILION, Alta.
A. C. Brown, Manager
VONDA, Sask.
J. C. Kennedy, Manager
WADENA, Sask.
W. E. D. Farmer, Manager
WATSON, Sask.
M. L. Jensen, Manager
WEYBURN, Sask.
J. D. Bell, Manager
VEYBURN, Sask.
J. D. Bell, Manager
YELLOWGRASS, Sask.
C. Heasley, Manager

BANKING BY MAIL

Business may be transacted by mail with any of the branches of this Bank in Canada and the United States, accounts being opened, d posits made or funds withdrawn in this way with equal facility. Every possible attention is paid to out-of-town accounts and general farmers' business. Notes discounted, 77 sales notes collected, etc.

102

<text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text>

The best innsthat have earned the reputation of preparing tempting meals-all serve

Mooney's Perfection Cream Sodas

They are the proper accompaniment of savoury soups-oysters -and coffee and cheese. And as such, they find their recognized places on all well regulated menus.

Order MOONEY'S-and see that you get MOONEY'S.

In 1 and 3 lb. packages.

48

<text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text>

Woman and the Bome.

THE POWER OF LOVE.

Years are coming, years are going, Creeds may change and pass away, But the power of love is growing Stronger, surer, day by day. Be ye as the light of morning, Like the beauteous dawn unfold, With your radiant lives adorning All the world in hues of gold.

Selfish claims will soon no longer Raise their harsh, discordant sounds, For the law of love will conquer, Bursting hatred's narrow bounds; Human love will spread a glory Filling men with gladsome mirth, Songs of joy proclaim the story Of a fair, transfigured earth.

Thaw the hearts that now are frozen-Thaw them by the rays of love, And the task that ye have chosen Will be blest all else above. For persistent, pure devotion To the good of all mankind Is the star of our emotion. Is the anchor of the mind. --Gustav Spiller.

Heart and Home Talks.

Nowhere else is here so great need of practising all the "saving virtues" and pleasing courtesies of life as in the farm home, where the family is thrown so constantly together, and isolated from outside companionship so much of the time that each should make himself as agreeable and companionable as possible to the others.

Children are great imitators, and those reared in the farm home imitate the speech and manners of their parents more closely because they come in contact with few others.

Josh Billings put many trite truths into his quaint and homely phraseology. His advice to a father was: "If you want your boy to grow up in the way he should go you must skirmish along that way yourself."

If the father is kind and courteous the son will be.

If the mother is cheery and considerate and sympathetic, the daughter will be.

And if the parents are careful about their personal appearance and their manners, the children will be the same.

The father who chews and smokes and lounges about the home with unkempt hair and beard, and shoes reeking with the smell of the stables, cannot expect his son to be free from such faults and filth.

The mother who goes about all day

ceive his attentions with as much grace as the greatest ladies in the land.

June, 1907.

It is simply a matter of a little thought. Is it not worth while to give it thought and make your home one of true refinement and happiness?

A Business Man in His Home,

Through a recent misfortune the writer had the good fortune to be for a time the guest in a home in which every interest and care of a sweet and devoted mother was shared by an affectionate and devoted father.

The home was for the time without a maid, and this father, who is a most successful and prosperous business man, did not think it beneath his dignity to assist not only in the care of the children, his usual habit, but in any household task.

Coming into the house always with a cheery word, and engaging in a romp or game with some one or all three of the children, or sitting down to read the evening paper, he was all the time alert for an opportunity to relieve the little wife of some care or task-and they have been married sixteen years.

He helped to dress the children, as painstakingly as though it were the most important business in life for the time being, "hooking up" his high school daughter's dress in the back; carried trays to and from the dining room; emptied ashes; kept coal in the kitchen range fire, and was found on one occasion using the dishmop while tht elder daughter wiped the dishes, having playfully put his wife out of the kitchen with the command that she lie down and rest; and he regularly cookcd the beefsteak-and most deliciously too.

Breakfast or dinner over, after performing such tasks about the house as he could, he was off in his automobile or behind a speedy horse to fill some engagement at his office or elsewhere involving the consideration or fulfillment of contracts running up to fifty and a hundred thousand dollars. Business hours over he returned home to find his greatest enjoyment with his family.

I wish that the light of such an example might shine into and make brighter so many homes in which the husbands and fathers are either careless and indifferent, or think it beneath June, 1907. HOUSEHC SUPERVISED BY THE

COOKING BECIPES

Salmon and Celery Salad enough canned salmon to cupful. Arrange lettuce leav with one cupful of celery co crosswise slices. Make a mor mixture in the center of the l pour on a dressing made from spoonfuls of oil, three tables vinegar, a saltspoonful of s dash of pepper.

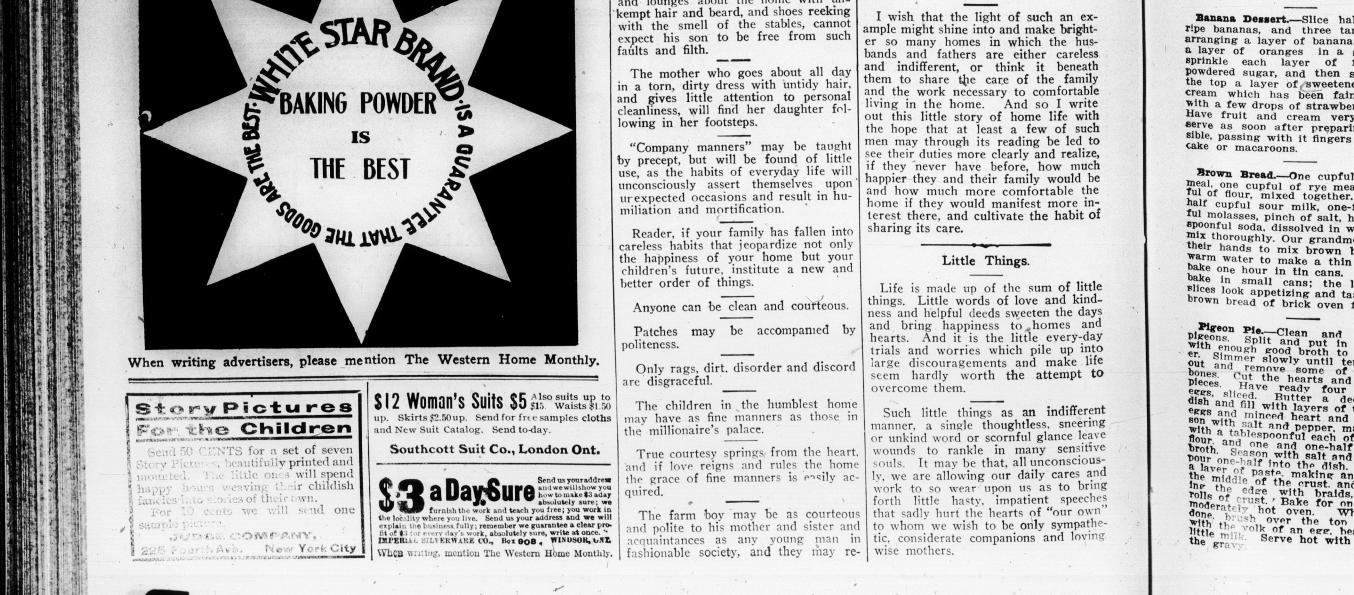

Potatoes with Cheese .-- Par into small cubes enough p make a pint; lay them in cold an hour, drain and cook in sa until tender. Place a layer in baking dish, sprinkle this grated cheese, pepper and salt of butter and a little celery the dish in this way, pour o ful of milk, bake fifteen m serve hot.

Red Kidney Beans.-Soak or red kidney beans over nig quarts of cold water; rinse with fresh, cold water. Ac onion with one clove stuck i rounding tablespoonful of bu slowly until tender, but not h add water as it boils away Take with salt and pepper. the onion and turn the beans ter to make a bed on which broiled chops, sausages or re

Devilled Eggs.-Boil quantity of eggs hard; when and dip the first into beater next into oil, and roll them a small quantity of cayenne little tray by twisting up t of half a sheet of oiled wriplace the eggs in it, put on over a clear fire, and shak until the eggs are quite ho while prepare equal quantiti oil and chutney sauce around nish with parsley and serve.

Pieplant Pudding.-Roll cracker crumbs and wash a pieplant. Put a layer of crui tom of pudding dish, bits of a little sprinkle of cinnamon. crumbs with pieplant and plentiful sprinkling of sugar dish with alternating layers. pieplant is done and the cru ened. Enough pieplant shou so that the juice will sufficie en the crumbs. Serve with sugar.

Banana Dessert .--- Slice ha ripe bananas, and three ta arranging a layer of banana a layer of oranges in a sprinkle each layer of powdered sugar, and then s the top a layer of sweeten which has been fair write fe with of such e led to realize, v much ould be ble the ore innabit of grace

little

o give

one of

e the be for which et and an af-

vithout

n most s man, nity to child-house_

with a romp

ree of

o read

e time

ve the k—and years.

en, as

re the

or the back;

dining

in the

nd on

while dishes, of the

she lie

cook-

ciously

er per-

ouse as omobile

1 some ewhere fulfill-

to fifty

Busi-

ome to

ith his

an ex-

brightne hus-

careless beneath

family

ortal

high

ne,

of little d kindthe days es and ery-day up into ake life mpt to different sneering nce leave sensitive nsciousares and to bring speeches our own" ympathed loving.

meal, one cupful of rye meal, one cup-ful of flour, mixed together. Add one-half cupful sour milk, one-fourth cup-ful molasses, pinch of salt, heaping teaspoonful soda, dissolved in warm water; mix thoroughly. Our grandmothers used their hands to mix brown bread. Add warm water to make a thin batter and bake one hour in tin cans. Be sure to bake in small cans; the little round slices look appetizing and taste like the brown bread of brick oven fame.

Southern Potato Rolls.-Boil six medium-sized potatoes and mash fine after shaking dry. Add to them a tea-spoonful of salt and one of sugar, also a tablespoonful of shortening, half lard and half butter, and one-quarter cake of compressed yeast; let stand in a temperature of seventy degrees for four or five hours or until very light; add sufficient flour to knead well and let rise again in a lower temperature; then Figeon Pie.—Clean and whe four vith enough good broth to nearly covout and remove some of the larger pieces. Have ready four hard-boiled dish and fill with layers of the pigeons. Son with salt and pepper, make a gravy with a tablespoonful each of butter and for the sate and one-half cupfuls of pour one-half into the dish. Cover with the middle of the crust and ornament-rolls of crust. Bake for one hour in a done and core. When nearly the digest with braids, leaves or moderately hot oven. When nearly with the wolk of an erge, beaten with a the gravy. properly.

THE BEST STARCH is none too good for the careful, tidy housekeeper BEST STARCHES THE ARE Edwardsburg "Silver Gloss" AND Benson's "Prepared Corn" Remember this when buying Edwardsburg Starch Co. Ltd.

When Writing Advertisers Kindly Mention The Western Home Monthly

June, 1907.

bran is rich in the mineral matter which goes to make up bone, and bone is what we want to develop in the colts in order to get weight.

When fed alone, bran is not an espec-

as an occasional feed, or in conjunction with other grain, especially with corn. When fed with corn, making up from a third to a half of the ration, it goes a long way towards, balanc-ing up the carbonaceous nature of

A Change of Meat for the Farmer.

It cannot be said that farmers do not live well, and yet in a certain sense, many of them do not. As a usual thing, ample food is provided,

and when properly cooked, furnishes the best diet that can be had. But in many instances the meat used is not calculated to maintain bodily vigor. The amount of salt pork con-sumed upon the farm is out of all proportion to the amount of other meats, such as beef and mutton. The practice of using so much pork has come about largely as a matter of convenience. 'The farmer kills his year's supply of pork in the fall. The part not wanted for immediate use is salted down, and because it keeps this way and is ready for cooking any time without involving further labor, he does not take kindly to the idea tion in the scale of intelligence is owing entirely to the meat eaten, but it does seem reasonable to conclude that there is some relation between the vigor and aggressiveness of the English, Canadians and Americans, and the fact that they are great meat

eaters.

POINTS OF & GOOD HOR

June, 1907.

A good judge of horses is one A good judge of norses is one a systematic way, can tell the as well as the bad points of it mal which he is judging. A C horse authority gives the for pointers in regard to selecting horses. A consideration of the will aid materially in systemat

ing and observations. "If a horse is short-ribbe light in his middle and is ne ways a poor feeder. "A light-centered horse seldon well, and weight in a draft hor comes from bone, sinew and goes a long way to determine h mercial value.

mercial value. "A stallion whose feet are of ed and brittle and whose ho puffy and fleshy-looking sho avoided, as such hocks are g associated with a coarseness of out his whole conformation and oral lock of quality.

out his whole conformation and eral lack of quality. "When a horse is well cou gether on top and has a short must have the length below f point of the shoulder to the the thigh When so built the thigh. When so built stand the strain of drawing loads much better than if he long, loose back.

loads much better than if he long, loose back. "The front feet and hocks parts of either a draft or a horse that come directly in com the hard work, and unless a sound and good a horse's u will be very much impaired commercial value very much 1 "Before using a stallion groom to lead him away fr Stand square behind him and he picks up his feet and pla on the ground properly, trav both trot and walk clear and of striking the ground first with and then bringing down the h-"The feet should be large a in appearance. The sole of should be concave, the frog plump and elastic, because it buffer to take the concusts acting too severely on the foot and fetlock. See that both dam have sound feet, free from and brittleness and are not co There should be no "gu about the hocks of the draft it indicates coarseness. The be large, flat and firm, and a it indicates coarseness. The be large, flat and firm, and a wide, especially from a side

COWS NOT COMPINE

Some dairymen follow the of using the closed shed of barn yard for their cows, put in the stable only at milk They claim that the cows clean by this method, that the freedom, that the milking kept in a more sanitary cond that the manune is all save fine condition.

that the manufa is all save fine condition. Superintendent Greggs, of t sota farmers' institutes, fol practice and speaks highly of calls the closed shed where run loose the cows' bed rook kept heavily bedded with s hay and other fodder is fed He puts the cows into stanc hay and other fooder is reu He puts the cows into stancl long enough to milk them of are turned into the room. enough is used to keep clean and to absorb all of manure. The sleeping room out with a manure spreader, being the result.

BOOKLET. M^cClary's London, Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg, Vancouver, St. John, N.B. OATS!

GHINE

This uneven expansion causes a strain

too great for a one-piece fire-pot to stand.

Sooner or later it will split, allowing precious heat and sickening gases to

But the fire-pot of the Sunshine

is constructed to meet this condition. It is in two sections. The upper half expands, as much as necessary, independently of the lower. When cool, it contracts back to its original size, fitting to the lower half perfectly.

And this strong, unbreakable, gas and heat-tight, two-piece fire-pot is just one of the many superior features of the Sunshine.

If your local dealer does not handle the

"Sunshine," write direct to us for FREE

FURNACE

UNBREAKABLE FIRE-POT

The lower portion of a fire-pot is usually nearly or partly filled with dead ashes, leaving the live, red-hot coals in the upper part. The result is that the upper portion expands much more than the escape.

Prices are good - take advantage of them by shipping through us.

50 lower.

Write to-day for prices and shipping directions.

A good many farmers have formed of salt added, and the mixture al-the habit of keeping money in the lowed to steam for 10 or 15 minutes. house. In one way or another the fact becomes known, is talked about at the corn.

About the Harm.

corner store, and the tough characters of the neighborhood eventually hear of Bran is an especially good feed for colts. It can be fed either as a mash or can be fed with oats. The value of it for colts lies in the fact that it. Perhaps the result is an unpleasant interview in the night, which may lead to murder. Banks seldom fail; why should you lose your life defending a little cash?

Looking Backward.

ially good feed as it is too bulky and overbalanced, but it is very valuable As we look back to the boyhood days on the farm we sometimes wonder what our rush and hurry was all for, anyway. How we rushed about, hurrying to finish one job that we might get at another; finishing oat cutting that we might get at the barley stacking, and so on through the round of farm duties throughout the changing seasons of the year. We continue our cross-examination by asking ourselves if it would not have been better to have worked less hard and then have studied more carefully into things. For instance, we might have taken time to repair the broken binder ourselves instead of getting an expert to fix the machine but we were in a hurry and did not care to take the time for experimenting. And again, we were too busy to have a saddle horse and when we needed to go to another part of the farm or about the neighborhood we walked or took a hard worked field horse. Of course, we would have enjoyed a "saddler" as much as any one and now I wished we had owned one. The old farm would have looked better from the saddle than from the bare back of a large widespread draft horse.

Milking Herefords.

of killing a calf or lamb now and While the Herefords are not usuthen. Vegetables are excellent in their ally considered of much account as place and there can be no question but milkers, there is an occasional herd that produce butter in paying quanthat more of them should be used on the farmer's table and in greater variety, but there is no denying the tities. It goes to show that milking qualities are not entirely monopolized fact that the foremost nations of the y the milking breeds. Yet we al-ways observe that when a beef herd is found that is making a good but-ter record it is also found that they ter record it is also found that they are cared for and fed according to the best principles of dairying. This is exemplified in the following report of yields and amount and kinds of feed fed by Mr. L. H. Knutson, of Emmons, Minn., who keeps a herd of high grade Hereford cows :--

Yield of milk per cow per being the result. Cows so confined will keep healthy condition, because more exercise, more good air cleaner and have better appe bor is also saved because cleaning is necessary daily.

The Gurse of Flax

Flax is the poor man's homesteader's means of get returns. He builds a shack Canada, starts the breaker, and within six months is abl revenue. Sometimes he gets the price of the land from crop, but "all is not gold that for if the flax seed happens a few weed seeds to infes farm, this revenue maker i becomes a money loser, and of much annoyance. In loss may follow as a resul few weeds than the en of the flax crop, even thou be a good one. We cannot t urge our prairie farmers to about the flax seed they s sands of acres of virgin soil turned over this spring, cons which will be put into flax clean seed is scarce and ami that comes with opening a the importance of sowing is too often overlooked. F long distance to get clean set take chances. Better even the flaz seed than to han mustard.

s. ns

or

ue at er

in nt. nd

ble 10ith ng

on, of

r.

do ain ed, hes But is lily

on-all her Γhe

has of his

The e is this

any bor,

idea and heir

but

on ater the the

the meat

t be posi-

ce is but

clude ween

f the cans,

meat

ouses

POINTS OF A GOOD HORSE.

A good judge of horses is one who, in A good judge of horses is one who, in a systematic way, can tell the good as well as the bad points of the ani-mal which he is judging. A Canadian horse authority gives the following pointers in regard to selecting draft horses. A consideration of these points will aid materially in systematic judg-ing and observations.

ing and observations. "If a horse is short-ribbed he is light in his middle and is nearly always a poor feeder. "A light-centered horse seldom weighs

A light-centered horse seldom weighs well, and weight in a draft horse, if it comes from bone, sinew and muscle, goes a long way to determine his com-mercial value. "A stallion where the mercial value. "A stallion whose feet are contract-ed and brittle and whose hocks are puffy and fleshy-looking should be avoided, as such hocks are generally associated with a coarseness through-out his whole conformation and a gen-eral lock of quality.

out his whole conformation and a gen-eral lack of quality. "When a horse is well coupled to-gether on top and has a short back, he must have the length below from the point of the shoulder to the back of the thigh. When so built he will stand the strain of drawing heavy loads much better than if he has long, loose back.

loads much better than if he has a long; loose back. "The front feet and hocks are the parts of either a draft or a driving horse that come directly in contact with the hard work, and unless they are sound and good a horse's usefulness will be very much impaired and his commercial value very much lessened. "Before using a stallion get the groom to lead him away from you. Stand square behind him and see that he picks up his feet and places them on the ground properly, travelling in both trot and walk clear and clean, not striking the ground first with the toe and then bringing down the heel. "The feet should be large and waxy in appearance. The sole of the hoof should be concave, the frog spongy, plump and elastic, because it acts as a buffer to take the concussion from acting too severely on the foot, pastern, and fetlock. See that both sire and dam have sound feet, free from flatness and brittleness and are not contracted. There should be no "gumminess" about the hocks of the draft horse, as it indicates coarseness. They should be large, flat and firm, and should be wide, especially from a side view."

COWS NOT CONFINED.

Some dairymen follow the practice of using the closed shed or covered barn yard for their cows, putting them in the stable only at milking time. They claim that the cows are kept clean by this method, that they enjoy freedom, that the milking stable is kept in a more sanitary condition and that the manuae is all saved and in fine condition.

that the manune is all saved and in fine condition. Superintendent Greggs, of the Minne-sota farmers' institutes, follows this practice and speaks highly of it. He calls the closed shed where the cows run loose the cows' bed room. It is kept heavily bedded with straw and hay and other fodder is fed in racks. He puts the cows into stanchions just long enough to milk them when they are turned into the room. Bedding enough is used to keep everything clean and to absorb all of the liquid manure. The sleeping room is cleaned out with a manure spreader, big crops being the result.

The Western Home Monthly

Are the choice of creamerymen and the world's experts on dairying and dairy machinery.

51

What's Yours?

(Over 800,000 in use-every Highest Award.)

THE DE LAVAL SEPARATOR CO.

WINNIPEG VANCOUVER MONTREAL

REPRESENTATIVES EVERYWHERE.

Difference due to Care.

The average farm flock of fowls lay many more eggs during the summer months than they do in the winter; in fact, some flocks scarcely lay an egg all winter long. Why is this so? Stop and think a moment. Is it because the weather is warm? Or is it because fowls roam the fields in summer, thereby getting exercise, green food, bugs, worms, grit, dry grain, water and dust bath when desired? Give the hen summer conditions in winter and she will lay.

Provide the variety of food that she gets in summer with exercise, water, etc., and she has got to lay. Summer warmth is not important; it is not warm weather that causes her to lay, but the conditions made possible by such weather. True, she can't get bugs and worms in winter, but meat scraps are the same thing. While much warmth is not necessary in winter, a certain amount is essential, for if hens suffer from cold, food is used to keep them warm, and there will be few eggs. It is not so much in the breed as in the feed and care given. Make con-ditions right and eggs will be the result

Sanitation.

the interest in sanitation is taking, is in very wisely looking after the cleanliness of the back yard.

One of the practical forms which for utton te, all them nally. ect is lambs wls as beef, g with urnish

to be e used vege-can do not est of

. 1

y, two raniteberally hours; ar and . Now er with e green e suffivinegar, r them, ontinue as you red.

being the result.

The Ourse of Flaz.

for if the flax seed happens to contain a few weed seeds to infest his new farm, this revenue maker in the end becomes a money loser, and a source of much annoyance. In fact, more loss may follow as a result of these few weeds than the entire value of the flax crop, even though it may be a good one. We cannot too strongly urge our prairie farmers to be careful about the flax seed they sow. Thou-sands of acres of virgin soil are being turned over this spring, considerable of which will be put into flax, but good clean seed is scarce and amid the rush

that comes with opening a new farm.

the importance of sowing clean seed is too often overlooked. Better go a long distance to get clean seed than to take chances. Better even hand pick the flax seed than to hand pull the mustard.

To have the back yard as attracbeing the result. Cows so confined will keep in a more healthy condition, because they get more exercise, more good air, are kept cleaner and have better appetites. La-bor is also saved because no stable cleaning is necessary daily. tive as the front is the watchword that is stimulating all sorts of reforms in this direction. It not only appeals to the aesthetic sense, to have a beautiful green sward stretching away on all sides of the home, but it is a long step in the direction of healthier living.

The germs of malaria, typhoid fever, diphtheria, and a host of other Flax is the poor man's crop, the homesteader's means of getting quick returns. He builds a shack in western Canada, starts the breaker, sows flax ills lurk in the garbage pail, the heaps of wilted vegetables, the greasy dishwater thrown out at the back door and allowed to gutter for and within six months is able to get a revenue. Sometimes he gets more than the price of the land from the first itself a shiny path over the surface of the ground. crop, but "all is not gold that glitters,"

The outlay in burning or burying the garbage and digging a drain, laying terra cotta pipes, and sinking a well for the waste water, will be small as compared with the bills incident to sickness, to say nothing of weeks or months of suffering.

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use. It corrects) all looseness of the bowels promptly and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market.

RED CROSS GIN

is the only Gin which bears the Government stamp, as a guarantee of age, quality and purity.

When writing advertisers, please mention The Western Home Mont!

In Lighter Bein.

tomobile?"

chance."

home.

British Election Explained.

Distance Lends Enchantment.

delight to go eighty miles in an au-

A Willing Husband.

"Boss, Ah's lookin' foh work." "All right, there's a ton of coal on the walk that must be brought up." "But, boss, dat's no work foh a lady; wife does washin'."

Making Suitable Apology.

"It was very naughty of you to call grandpa a gouty old fossil. New you

Strictly Honorable.

Congressman J. Adam Bede was consulting with President Roosevelt about a minor Federal appointment in the Minnesota district which he represented. After making several inquiries about the man, the President abruptly said: "Is he an honest man?" "An honest man?" returned

Mr. Bede; "why, see here, Mr. Presi-dent, that man wouldn't rob a railway company-not if he had the Anecdotal.

The Wrong Man.

A number of New York politicians In a wrestling match at the Lyceum were telling stories at the expense last week Smith defeated Smyth, of each other when Representative Here we have the general election in a nutshell.

Sulzer, by way of revenge upon Thomas F. Grady, the orator of Tammany fame, told the following: "I think that my first meeting with

Grady was at Kingston, New York" said Mr. Sulzer. "I had gone to that place to speak at a big campaign meeting. My harangue was inter-rupted by a fellow in the audience who kept yelling in a stentorian voice, 'Grady! Grady!' I spotted the chap, and when my speech was done I went into the audience near my loud-voiced friend. When I got the chance I asked him why he had shown a desire to break up my orashown a desire to break up my ora-tion by his shouts for Grady. "'Oh!' exclaimed he, 'you mustn't think there was anything personal in my yelling that way. You see, I'm a great friend of Grady's.' "Soon Grady himself came upon the platform and began to speak; but the big-lunged fellow interrupted him just as he had me by his calls for 'Grady! Grady!' say you're very sorry." "Yes, ma, I'm very sorry grandpa is a gouty old fossil!"

'Grady! Grady!' "'Why!' I remonstrated, in surprise, 'what are you yelling for now? That's Grady himself! You have him; now listen to him!'

"Ah, gwan with ye,' replied the other; 'that ain't Grady at all! It's the man that gave me a dollar to yeil for Grady!"

Man and Wife.

The snow was falling. The day was still and gray and cold. Dr. Parkhurst, shaking the white flakes from his shoulders said:

"I have just witnessed an instructive happening-a happening that might teach us why some marriages do not succeed.

"A man and his wife were walking down a back street. The man had his hands in his pockets. The woman carried a basket filled with cabbase and beets.

"A group of boys danced like imps on a corner. They had snow balls in their hands. As soon as the married couple had passed them, they let drive.

June, 1907.

Uncle Josh, fresh from Upcreek. had been inspecting the family ice box.

"Henry," he said, "you told me you was gittin' artificial ice. I've lookel at it, and tetched it and if it ain't real ice, by gum, I never saw any!"

First Author.—"Oh, the unutterable monotony of existence! I am tho-roughly disgusted with it all. Would that I might completely disappear for a while!" a while!"

Second Author .- "Then why don't you marry a famous woman?

"Why do you avoid making speeches yourself?" asked the friend. "It's better to have someone else at-"Tell me, Baron, is it really such a tend to the oratory," answered Sen-ator Sorghum. "In that way you can ascertain which of your opinions are unpopular and repudiate them." "No, the fun only begins when you go two hundred miles-away from Victor Hugo had a very exalted opinion of his own importance. Walking with a friend one day, he abruptly asked, "Can you imagine what I would say to the Creator, should I meet Him?" "Yes," replied his friend, "you would say, 'My dear confrere!"

"Lay off your overcoat or you won't feel it when you go out," said the land-lord of a Western inn to a guest who was sitting by the fire. "That's what I'm afraid of." returned the man. "The last time I was here I laid off my overcoat, and I didn't feel it when I went out, and haven't felt it since." I went out, and haven't felt it since."

Wife: "Weren't you awfully frightened, dear, when you made your first political speech the other night?" Candidate: "Yes: but I got through safely." Wife: "Safely?"

Candidate: "Yes, before anybody yelled for me to sit down."

"I wonder," said Farmer Corntossel, who had just returned from a trip to the big city, "why so many young men insist on not gettin' rich." "What do you mean?" asked his

"They all want to be lawyers or doctors instead o' bein' restaurant waiters or policemen."

In a little town in Ireland lived an

George D. Robinson, once governor old cripple who had won the nickname of Massachusetts, was examining an "Thank Providence," because, though he was very poor, he was continually thanking Providence. When he died his applicant for admission to the bar who had failed in all the branches of law upon which he had been examined. neighbors erected a stone over his grave, bearing the inscription: "Here the body of Thank Providence. Mr. Robinson asked him in his most "Here lies ence. His kindly manner if he would like to be soul is in Heaven." questioned further. "Well," replied the applicant, "I would suggest, if you

N

June, 1907.

a collision between two hanson Being, fortunately, unhurt, he till the mutual objurgations of t cabbies had to some extent su and then, approaching one of handed him his card, saying he be glad to come as a witness if the went into court. It did find i went into court. It did hnd i into court eventually, and Sir I (as he then was), had the privi sitting on the bench beside the merely as a visitor. The Lord cabman won, and upon going the building the learned dignin the building the set to see the the law was pleased to see the awaiting him. "Jump in, sir the jehu, "I'll drive you any I know'd it 'ud be all right seen you up there a-squarin' beak."

He was a young and smart-Scots clergyman and was to pr "trial" sermon in a strange Fearing that his hair might be ranged or that he might have a on his face he quietly and signi said to the beadle, there being ror in the vestry, "John, could me a glass?" John disappear alter a few minutes returned with thing under his coat which, to tonishment of the divine, he pr in the form of a bottle with a whiskey in it, saying "Ye maun, aboot it, meenister, for I got special favor; and I wadna ha ava if I hadna told them it you.'

In England there's a prett country hotel known as th Tavern. Close at hand, in th grounds, is a quaint old ivy-n chapel. If the hotel become crowded, as it does now an they put away the guests they put away the guests chapel. A traveling man o it one night. At six o'clock t morning the loud pealing chapel bell roused the nigh who rushed over to the ch great alarm and encounter traveling map. "Are not the traveling man. "Are you th clerk?" asked the traveling r am," said the night clerk; the jolly row?" "Well for h sake," said the traveling man me over a cocktail to pew 13.

An Englishman, while along the main street in Me, stepped in a hole in the s and, falling, broke his le brought suit against the city thousand dollars, and engage nibal Hamlin for counsel. won his case, but the city a to the supreme court. Here, a decision was for Hamlin's After settling up the claim, sent for his client and handed dollar. "Whether this?" dollar. "What's this?" ask Englishman. "That's your d after taking out my fee, the | | <section-header><section-header><section-header><section-header><section-header><text><text><text><text><text><text><text></text></text></text></text></text></text></text></section-header></section-header></section-header></section-header></section-header> | She got two heavy blows about the head and face. Every snowball, somehow, missed the man. "He looked at his wife as she brushed the snow out of her ears and hair, and then shook his fist at the boys and shouted: "It's a good thing for you, you young rascals, that you didn't hit me." Her Frank Opinion. Mr. Selflove (who always tries to be quite at his ease over the size of his nose, but who never quite suc- ceeds)—Some people, you know, quite admire a large nose, Miss Frankleigh, and the noble Romans considered the possession of one really an honor. Do you—that is, will you be quite frank and tell me what you think of mine? She (with eyes and thoughts fo- cussed on a hat across the street)— Oh, I think it's adorable—simply im- mense. It s Location. "Yes," said Subbubs, "my house is quite close to the railroad." "If I go out that way in the 'n, how can I identify your house when I see it?" asked Citiman. "Wby—er—you can_only identify jit when you don't see it. It's right back of the Pillman's Pink Pellets ad- | Mr. Robinson pleasantly, "I do not doubt that you are up on the statutes, but I doubt that you will succeed in the law. Suppose you should have the utmost familiarity with the statutes, what's to prevent the legislature from repealing all you know?" | "Your citizens don't object to big automobiles passing through this set- tlement, do they?" asked the nervous chauffeur. "Wal, I should say not," chuckled the big mayor. "It is great sport." "Ah, I am glad you think so." "Yes, we would rather shoot at an automobile any day than we would a common b ar." Why are tears like potatoes? Be- cause they spring from the eyes. What is the keynote of good man- ners? B natural. What is the difference between a child and an envelope? One you lick with a stick, and the other you stick with a stick, and the other you stick with a lick. Why is the letter O the most char- itable letter in the alphabet? Because it is found oftener than any other in doing good. Laurence Hutton cites as the most amusing and, at the time, most per- plexing typographical error in his long journalistic and literary career, one which occurred in an article he wrote at the time of the consolidation of the Astor, Tilden and Lennox libraries, in which he was made to express the following remarkable opinion: "New York, perhaps, has never fully realized until this day how greatly it has been enriched by the receipt of the vest buttons of James Lenox!" He had written "vast be- quests." | sent for his client and han dollar. "What's this?" Englishman. "That's you after taking out my fee, appeal, and several other said Hamlin. The Englis ed at the dollar and them "What's the matter with asked. "Is it bad?" Bishop McVicker of Rh a man of great physical once visited Japan with Brooks, who fell but little in height and breadth. minutive Japs the two st erican clergymen were so ending wonder. "We du ordinary tributes to our the bishop, "but the wo the size of our feet elicited flattering. In entering house you are suppose your shoes outside, and n Brooks and I come out b an admiring crowd eithe our shoes or gazing upon miration. They were p shoes, I admit." |

1

|--|--|---|---|--|--|
| | Mo matter how many other kinds you have tried and failed. "Try This." We guarantee it for id a house. of insects or money refund- ed. One package will kill 1,000 000 bugs. Leaves no scale, dust, dust, dirt or disagreende amolt. Appretisted by overy good house- inserer. One p. in yalawinaper by mail prepaid 25c. (Who cleaks price to agentisted Cirugthode ther dosen.) | quite close to the railroad." "If I go out that way in the 'n, how can I identify your house when I see it?" asked Citiman. "Why-er-you can only identify ,it when you don't see it. It's right back of the Pillman's Pink Pellets ad- | "Did Miss Flyppe receive many pro- posals while at Blackpool?" "Many! Why, receiving proposals has got to be a habit with her. She has got so used to them that she can't even hear a soda water bottle pop without ex- | never fully realized until this day how greatly it has been enriched by the receipt of the vest buttons of James Lenox!" He had written "vast be- quests." Lord Alverstone, the present Lord | of the respiratory org carried its fame with it has gone, and it is pr antipodes as wall as at 1 | ek,

ice

LOI

ke 1

eal

ble ho-

uld

for on't

ing nd. at-encan are

ted alk-

otly

dI

you

on't

undwho

hat nan.

off

hen ce."

ght

first

ough

body

ssel, p to men his

s or irant

d an name

ough ually

d his rave,

lies

His

big set-

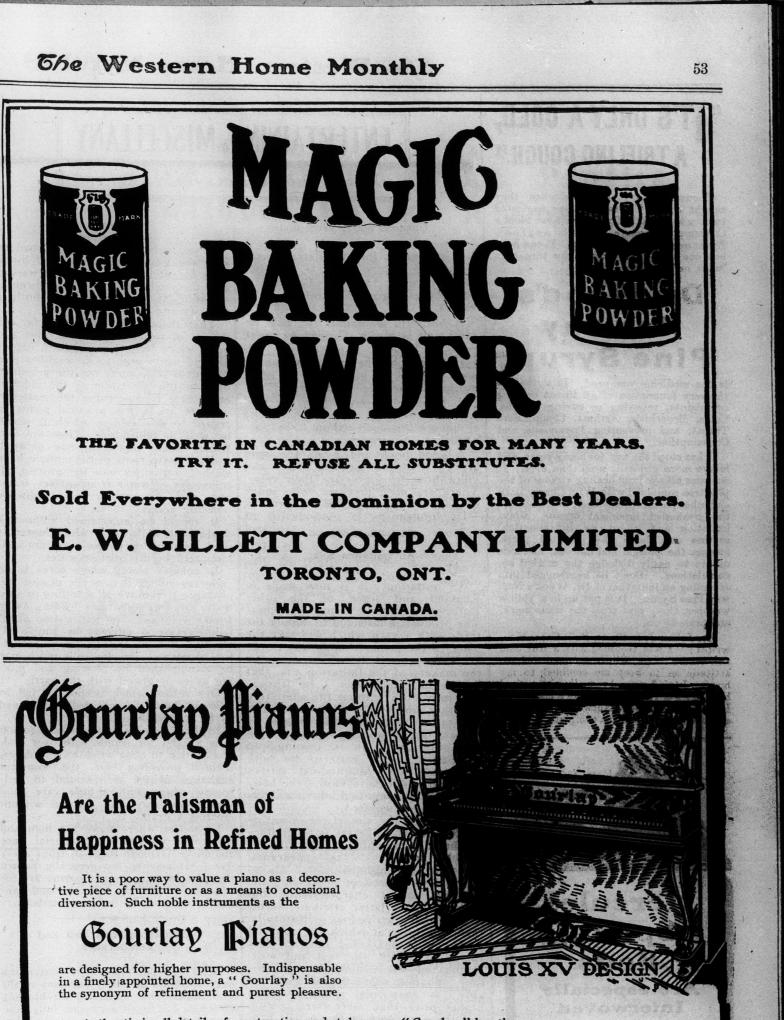

vous

a collision between two hansom cabs. Being, fortunately, unhurt, he waited till the mutual objurgations of the two cabbies had to some extent subsided, and then, approaching one of them, handed him his card, saying he would be glad to come as a witness if the case went into court. It did find its way went into court. It did lind its way into court eventually, and Sir Richard (as he then was), had the privilege of sitting on the bench beside the judge, merely as a visitor. The Lord Chief's cabman won, and upon going outside the building the learned dignitary of the law was pleased to see the victor awaiting him. "Jump in, sir," said the jehu, "I'll drive you anywheres. I know'd it 'ud be all right when I seen you up there a-squarin' of the beak."

He was a young and smart-looking Scots clergyman and was to preach a "trial" sermon in a strange church. Fearing that his hair might be disar-ranged or that he might have a smudge on his face he quietly and significantly said to the beadle, there being no mir-ror in the vestry, "John, could you get me a glass?" John disappeared, and alter a few minutes returned with something under his coat which, to the astonishment of the divine, he produced in the form of a bottle with a gill of whiskey in it, saying "Ye mauna let on aboot it, meenister, for I got it as a special favor; and I wadna hae got it ava if I hadna told them it was for you.'

In England there's a pretty little country hotel known as the Rose Tavern. Close at hand, in the hotel grounds, is a quaint old ivy-mantled chapel. If the hotel becomes overcrowded, as it does now and then, they put away the guests in the chapel. A traveling man occupied it one night. At six o'clock the next morning the loud pealing of the chapel bell roused the night clerk, who rushed over to the chapel in who fushed over to the chapel in great alarm and encountered the traveling man. "Are you the night clerk?" asked the traveling man. "I am," said the night clerk; "what's the jolly row?" "Well for heaven's sake," said the traveling man, "rush me over a cocktail to pew 13."

An Englishman, while passing along the main street in Bangor, Me., stepped in a hole in the sidewalk and, falling, broke his leg. He brought suit against the city for one thousand dollars, and engaged Hannibal Hamlin for counsel. Hamlin won his case, but the city appealed to the supreme court. Here, also, the decision was for Hamlin's client. After settling up the claim, Hamlin sent for his client and handed him one "What's this?" asked the dollar. Englishman. "That's your damages, after taking out my fee, the cost of appeal, and several other expenses," said Hamlin. The Englishman looked at the dollar and then at Hamlin. "What's the matter with this?" he asked. "Is it bad?"

ckled t an ld a mann a lick stick

Be-

charcause er in most perhis his reer, le he ation nnox e to cable

has how the the ames t be-

Lord ed in

Bishop McVicker of Rhode Island, a man of great physical proportions, once visited Japan with Dr. Phillips Brooks, who fell but little behind him in theight and headth. To the di in height and breadth. To the diminutive Japs the two stalwart American clergymen were sources of unending wonder. "We did not mind ordinary tributes to our size," says the bicker "the time day which the bishop, "but the wonder which the size of our feet elicited was hardly flattering. In entering a Japanese house you are supposed to leave your shoes outside, and never did Dr. Brooks and I come out but we found an admiring crowd either measuring our shoes or gazing upon them in admiration. They were pretty sizable shoes, I admit."

A Good Medicine requires little advertising. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil gained the good name it now enjoys, not through elaborate advertising, but on its great merits as a remedy for bodily pains and ailments of the respiratory organs. It has carried its fame with it wherever it has gone, and it is prized at the write antipodes as well as at home. Dose small, effect sure. P. O. Box 45

Authentic in all details of construction and style, every "Gourlay" has the

"GRAND" QUALITY OF TONE

which distinguishes the highest art in piano-building from the merely first-class. If a "Gourlay" is a little high-priced, it is worth the price.

Besides we arrange

PAYMENT PLANS TO SUIT ALL PURSES.

Write us your needs. We ship the "Gourlay" anywhere in Canada on approval, and guarantee perfect satisfaction.

Gourlay, Winter & Leeming

Head Offices -- 182 Yonge Street, Toronto.

WILD and IMPROVED LANDS In the Famous UNDERSTAND AT OUTSET THAT OUR HANLEY PLAINS GENUINE PENNYROYAL WAFERS are not for men, but women have for 20 years found them the best monthly regulator procurable, allaying "pains," correcting omission and irregularity. They are, in a word, reliable and healthful; $1.00 per box, mailed anywhere, sold everywhere; 36 in box; yellow label; English French printed. Saskatchewan For pamphlet giving complete information T. O. HAMRE

READ THIS ---- but WANTED AT ONCE on salary and expens. UNDERSTAND AT SUTAT ONCE on salary and expens. ses one good man in each locality with rig, or capable of handling horses, to advertise and introduce our guaranteed stock and poultry specifics. No experience necessary; we lay out your work for you. $25 a week and expenses. Position permanent. Write, W. A. Jenkins Manufacturing Co., London, Ont.

HANLEY, SASK. Eureka Chemical Co., Detroit, Mich | When writing mention The Western Home Monthly.

Acat and

to

'ITS ONLY A COLD, A TRIFLING COUCH"

54

have said this when they Thousands have neglected old. Thousands have filled a a provide a cough or cold. It can have regist a cough or cold. It can have to result. It leaves the threat or or both, affected.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

dicine you need. It strikes at foundation of all throat or lung is, relieving or curing Coughs, tronchitis, Asthma, Group, Sore and preventing Pneumonia and the stood the test for many years, and ow more generally used than ever. It mins all the lung healing virtues of the tree combined with Wild Cherry Bark other pectoral remedies. It stimulates weakened bronchial organs, alkys ation and subdues inflammation, hes and heals the irritated parts, one the phlegm and mucous, and aids are to easily dislodge the murbid ac-ulations. Don't be humbugged into pring an imitation of Dr. Wood's Nor-Pine Syrup. It is put up in a yellow Pine Syrup. It is put up in a yellow per, three pine trees the trade mark, price 25 cts

r. Julian J. LeBlanc, Belle Cote, N.S., cs : "I was troubled with a bad cold severe cough, which assumed such an ude as to keep me confined to my a. I tried several remedies advertised they were of no avail. As a last resort led Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup one bottle cured me completely."

Opinions about Women.

If a woman lost us Paradise, she alone can restore it .- J. G. Whittier. All women are good-good for something or good for nothing.--Cervantes.

A beautiful woman is the only ty rant man is not authorized to resist. -Victor Hugo.

Unhappy is the man to whom his own mother has not made all other mothers venerable.—Emerson.

A beautiful woman is a practical poem, planting tenderness, hope and eloquence in all whom she approaches.-Emerson.

A good book and a good woman are excellent things for those who know how to appreciate their value. There are men, however, who judge of both by the beauty of the covering. -Dr. Johnson.

An Imitation Silk,

An imitation silk is now made in England and some of the other European countries from wood pulp. The product is intended to supply the trade with a yarn which will take the place of the product of the silk worm. It is recognized, however, even by the makers of the imitation silk, that its use has limitations. Its fabrication into c'oth without the admixture of other hores is not recommended, but rather distinctly discouraged by a least one "mock" spinner. On the other hand, it is coming into popularity as the material for both transverse and longitudinal stripes and figured effects in cloths, the body of which is composed of either cot-ten wool or worsted of otner fibres is not recommended, ton, wool, or worsted.

Obviously, the aim of the inventors of the several processes is to produce a thread resembling real silk as closely as poer in appearance, closely as positive in appearance, feel, and wearing qualities. Up to the present a product possessing the two first-named characteristics, but deficient in the latter attribute, seems to have been arrived at. Naturally, then, the price at which the artificial yarn can be marketed must be less than that which the real and wellestablished silk commands. At this time imitation silk sells for considerably less than real silk, but at a higher price than mercerized cotton, and the exploiters of the patent processes are looking forward to the time when their yarns wi' have a settled position in ... textile trade between silk and the best qualities of mercerized cotton yarns. The raw material comes from Norway in the form of baled sheets, each sheet being about four feet square. Its price fluctuates from time to time, but 8 cents a pound may be taken as the average cost. After the pulp has been dissolved into a liquid of the required consistency, it is forced through a series of microscopic holes, four one-thousandths of an inch in diameter, punched through a thin platinum plate. A "settino" bath (acid) then fixes the filaments so that they can be twisted together to form a workable thread. Usually either 16 or 32 of these capillary filaments go to form what may be term-ed the "single" yarn.

Newspapers have sown broadcast over the land a vast amount of literature regarding drainage and sewerage, and their relation to the establishment of good sanitary conditions, both in the city and country.

Drainage.

That there still continue to be epidemics of typhoid fever and other dis-eases which have their origin in impure air and water goes to show either how difficult it is to carry out the principles of a healthy sanitation or the indiffer-ence there is concerning the matter.

There are a few practical points in regard to this subject which it would be well to remember. After the first frosts, when vegetation has decayed, and the heavy rains of the autumn have washed impurities into the ground, all collections of water from surface drainage are dangerously full of disease breeding germs. It should be ascertained without a doubt that wells from which water is used for drinking purposes are not contaminated by this surface water.

In country places where there is no ewerage system it is ot the utmost importance to remove all standing or slop water by digging drains leading away from dwellings. The purification of all liquid refuse is effected by simple filtoration, due to the oxidizing properties of the soil. In clay soils much may be accomplished by plowing and mix-ing ashes or gravel with the earth. Dry refuse which cannot be fed to animals should be collected and burned

exchange of air so essential to bed-rooms, where with a little care good ventilation can be secured without creating a draft.

In houses where there are bath and toilet accommodations, special care should be taken to flush all traps every day. It may be not generally known that the most poisonous germs are inodorous as well as invisible, and cannot be detected by ordinary methods.

Archbishop Bruchesi and Temperance.

After a pastoral visit extending over as many as thirty parishes of the 000 for it, but was refused. archdiocese of Canada, Archbishop Bruchesi has returned home fully con-1907.

The Crown Bud,

The crown bud of a chrysanthemum plant is the large bud which terminates a branch. In chrysanthemum culture plants are sometimes grown as a single stem, the side branches and all the stem, the side blanches and an the buds but the terminal one being re-moved. This treatment encourages the growth and development of large leaves and enormous blooms. Some-times a plant is allowed to develop from two to five or more branches with a crown bud on each, the side buds being removed as soon as formed. This method results in large and handsome flowers, giving the plant a gorgeous appearance. Large pots of rich soil, constant and liberal watering, occasionally using a liquid fertilizer, and allowing only the development of the crown buds insures success with these popular autumn flowers.

Oxalis Roots.

When certain species of Oxalis roots are dug in the fall you will find large, tapering roots, in form not unlike a parsnip, but of course smaller and of a peculiar white color. Clustered about the crown is a great number of smaller bulbs varying in size. The strength of the tuber is eventually given to the bulbs, and the tuber dries up, while the bulbs separate, and are ready to form new plants. Other species have peculiar tuberous roots tapering from the crown to a thick base. Others have fibrous roots. All Oxalis propagate readily and are of easy culture.

When this year's accounts are all in and eady to figure, don't forget to give credit to the good wife, sons and daughters, for the excellent work they have done toward helping to keep the balance on the right side of the page.

Of all the new money-making schemes, none of them beats the oldfashioned way of earning a living. Silence speaketh with excellent grammar.

A botanical clock grows on the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, Mexico. In the morning the flower is white, at noon red, and at night blue, alternations of color being so regular that the time of day can be told from the tint of the flower.

The most highly valued book in existence is a Hebrew bible, which is in pos-session of the German Government. A few years ago the Pope desired to purchase this ancient volume, and made the German Emperor an offer of $150.-

Whenever you think you have

June, 1907.

Snails Die Hard.

dis are slow even when it dying. A naturalist who muted a shell upon a card wa ed to find, four years later warm water employed in s shell off the mount had reviv dried and dead.

veral specimens in another were revived in a similar n they had lain in a draw fifteen years. These had no ned to a card, but had been ng loose, and, though free ndled, had shown no signs of l They were thrown into tepid ith the idea of cleaning out the at to the surprise of the own nails were found creeping with the basin when he returned to lete the task.

A Chinese Prescription.

The missionary held up a be plece of Chinese writing. "It is a Chinese medical pr tion," he said. "A friend of Dr. Ping Cho, prescribed it to a who had swallowed an overd opium. I will read it to you." The prescription, translated, f Two pair of salted lizards, tw and two female.

One ounce ginseng root. Six dried grasshoppers, three and three female. One ounce sweet potato stalk. One ounce walnuts. One-fourth ounce rattlesnake Two ounces black dates. One-half ounce elm bark. Une-half ounce devilfish claw. One-fourth ounce hartshorn. One-half ounce birds' claws. One-half ounce dried ginger. One-half ounce old coffin nails To these ingredients, which it take a day to assemble, two qu water were to be added, and the was to be boiled down to one-h quantity. The patient was to d small cupful every half hour.

Elephant Ferryboat.

One of the most singular fer the world is found in India, an started under very peculiar stances.

A certain native, who lived branch of the Ganges, rescued a from a tiger, and in a trans gratitude the rajah presented hi one of the finest and largest el he possessed.

Only a rich man could supp elephant, and the rescuer was the ed with absolute ruin, as the would eat him out of house an in a month.

There was no way out of th culty, as, according to the un law, a gift of this kind could given away or sold without sul to punishment, so th owner of the elephant saw staring ruin in the face, the hug ture keeping him engaged all da ing food for it. His house stood by a turn river where many persons cross as the stream was at times a flood, boats and men were oft ried down and put to great and The elephant was bathing in th one day, when it suddenly occu the despairing owner to use it as boat. There was no time when not go over in safety, and the p at once put into execution. A was made for the elephant, with rope as a trace. which was fast a heavy boat, and the animal s fully towed it over the river, great delight of the native, w saw in the elephant with the er appetite a source of revenue.

with strong interlocking steel wire. This gives a wonderful durability, and a most comfortable, non-stretching springiness.

Sleep on a "Hercules" 30 nights. If not the most satisfactory bed you ever slept on, return it to your dealer, and he will cheerfully refund your money

Look for the name on the frame-"Hercules."

Gold Medal Furniture Mfg. Co., Limited. 85 85 Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg.

Nurses' and Mothers' Treasure

-safest regulator for baby. Prevents colic and vomiting-gives healthful rest -cures diarrhoea without the harmfuleffects of medicines containing opium or other injurious drugs.

Cures 25c.-at drug-stores. National Drug & Chem-Diarrhoea Montreal.

British census reports of family names give in England and Wales 253,606 Smiths, 242,100 - Joneses, with Williams, Taylor, Davis and Brown fol-lowing in order. For Scotland, Smith leads, followed by McDonald, Brown, Thomson. Robertson, Stewart and Campbell. Murphy is ahead in Ireland, there being 62,600 of them; then come there being 62,600 of them, diff. Walsh, Kelly, 59,900; Sullivan, 43,600; Walsh, 41,700; Smith, 37,000; O'Brien, 33,400; Barne 33,000; Ryan, 32,000; Connor, Byrne, 33,000; Ryan, 32,000; Connor, precisely like a 31,200; O'Neil, 29,100, and Reilly, 29,000. sheet of water.

vinced that already a great deal has been accomplished for temperance by the campaign started by him towards the close of last year.

No one realizes more fully than he the difficult task undertaken by the religious authorities, yet His Grace states that he had seen many encouraging signs during his tour, and he believes that, while good has already been done, with the aid of the governing bodies, Quebec will, in a comparatively short time, become the primest mover for temperance in the New World. "Give us," said his Grace in conclusion, "the existence and sympathy of the Government and the municipal bodies, and it will take a comparatively short time to regenerate the whole people.

Photographic Sounds.

A wonderful instrument is the eidophone, which is used to "photograph" sounds. By its aid has been demonstrated the fact that every note of music has its visible form. Certain highly pitched voices, when recorded by the instrument, produced figures exactly like trees. while others gave impressions resembling flowers and foli-age. Other notes still produced grotesque shapes suggestive of natural objects. Very curious was the picture produced by recording three notes of music through the apparatus. It was precisely like a tree growing beside a money enough to buy more 'and, spend the amount, or a portion of it, in an effort to raise bigger crops on the land you already have. It is intensive rather than extensive farming that creates the healthy balance in the bank.

It seems to be an especial feature of the child prodigies of to-day that except, for their musical genius, they are just as other children are. Young Lionel Ovenden, who makes his "Confessions" in the Royal Magazine, is no exception to this rule. He is thirteen years old this month, and a thoroughly healthy English boy, devoted to outdoor games, to boxing and to cycling. His story, in fact, shows astonishingly varied tastes.

A miner who lost his life two thousand years ago has been taken from a copper mine in Chili recently. Copper oxide had mummified his whole body. The mummy is in a fine state of preservation. Coarse sacking, evidently the clothing of the ancient Inca workman, was found with the body, as were also two mallets, one fashioned out of granite and the other out of ironstone. These implements were tied with thongs into bent sticks made as double handles. Both the hide and the sticks were as fresh looking when found as if they had been in use only the day before.

Better Than Spanking.

Spanking does not cure chil bed-wetting. There is a consti cause for this trouble. Mrs.' N mers, Box H 86, Windsor, Ont., w free to any mother her successf treatment, with full, instructions no money, but write to her to your children trouble you in th Don't blame the child. the char it can't help it. This treatme cures adults and aged people t with urine difficulties by day o

m es

re

le

he ·e-

es ge

le-

op

les

de

mnd

of

ıg,

er, of

ith ots

ge,

a

of

of

lly ies

are

her

ots

ick All

of

in

to and heý the ze.

ing

old-

lent

sth-

the

oon

s of

e of

the cistpos-

pur-nade 150.-

The Western Home Monthly

Snails Die Hard.

dying. A naturalist who had counted a shell upon a card was sursed to find, four years later, that warm water employed in soaking shell off the mount had revived the mate, which he had long supposed to dried and dead.

Several specimens in another collec-on were revived in a similar manner they had lain in a drawer for fifteen years. These had not been d to a card, but had been left s loose, and, though frequently andled, had shown no signs of life. They were thrown into tepid water ith the idea of cleaning out the shells, ut to the surprise of the owner the nails were found creeping with even more than ordinary animation about the basin when he returned to complete the task.

A Chinese Prescription.

The missionary held up a beautiful plece of Chinese writing. "It is a Chinese medical prescrip-tion," he said. "A friend of mine, Dr. Ping Cho, prescribed it to a woman who had swallowed an overdose of opium. I will read it to you." The prescription, translated, follows: Two pair of salted lizards, two male and two female. One ounce ginseng root. Six dried grasshoppers, three male and three female. One ounce sweet potato stalk. One ounce walnuts. One-fourth ounce rattlesnake tail. Two ounces black dates. One-half ounce elm bark. Une-half ounce devilfish claw. One-fourth ounce hartshorn. One-half ounce birds' claws. One-half ounce dried ginger. One-half ounce old coffin nails. To these ingredients, which it would take a day to assemble, two quarts of water were to be added, and the whole was to be boiled down to one-half the quantity. The patient was to drink a small cupful every half hour.

Elephant Ferryboat.

One of the most singular ferries in the world is found in India, and was started under very peculiar circumstances.

A certain native, who lived near a branch of the Ganges, rescued a rajah from a tiger, and in a transport of gratitude the rajah presented him with one of the finest and largest elephants he possessed.

Only a rich man could support an elephant, and the rescuer was threaten-ed with absolute ruln, as the animal would eat him out of house and home in a month.

There was no way out of the difficulty, as, according to the unwritten law, a gift of this kind could not be given away or sold without subjecting to punishment, so the poor

Double Your Dairying Profits Without Buying A Cow

CUPPOSE somebody offered to swap a ribbon, prize-winning milker for any cow

in your dairy-herd, — without a cent to boot? Wouldn't you jump at the chance?

I will do as well as that for you. I will show you how to get as much real money out of an ordinary herd of dairy cows as you'd get by your present methods out of a herd of prize-milkers. I will prove to you there's twice the money in dairyfarming you've been getting, -and you needn't spend any money to get the difference. I will do this just as soon as you write me and say: "I keep so many cows. I get such-and-such a price for my milk-or cream-or butter" (whichever end of the dairy business

I am not setting any traps for your dollars or your brains. The more skeptical you are, the harder I'll convince you. The best friends I've got among my customers are the men who didn't believe any cream separator amounted to much.

you follow).

The

Capital

They found out different after they got a Capital Separator and put it to work getting back the money they'd been feeding the pigs and vealing the calves. They found out that the Capital Separator adds over thirty dollars a year to the actual net earnings of every cow they keep. So will you find that out, if you'll write to me and ask for the plain truth about this whole separator idea.

Thirty dollars a year more profits out of every cow you keep for profit's sake, —whether you keep four cows or forty! That is what I promise you. That is what the Capital Separator will get for you—and it is the only thing that will get it. Yes, indeed, I CAN prove it, right up to the handle. Ask me and see. And I will not only show you w ou why and

• . .

55

which you can work yourself without sharing the profits with anybody. Maybe you don't need the plan ; but I know you do need the separator, and I can prove to you why and where and how you need it, and what it will pay you if you get it. Half the work you have to do now to make any money out of dairy-farming, --that's another thing the Capital Separator means to you. Half the work, every day in the week ; and thirty dollars more a year from every cow.

Half the work, —much less than half the work, maybe, but half at least, — simply because the Capital Separator is the machine that runs with the least elbow-grease and makes by far the least work for everybody who has any-thing to do with the dairy side of your farm. That's due to three things: the Capital bowl, the Capital gears and the Capital really-low-down whole-milk tank.

tank. The Capital bowl gets all the cream possible out of the milk because it is the bowl that weighs least of any and sends the milk through a wing-cylinder that simply can't let any cream stay in the skim milk. The Capital bowl is as easy to clean as a lamp-chimney-doesn't take five minutes to cleanse it perfectly.

The Capital gears run so easily that a ten-year-old boy can handle the milk of eight cows in twenty minutes, and not be out of breath when the run is over. The mechanism is so perfectly balanced, so nearly automatic, that the whole work of perfect cream separating, twice a day, won't use up as much energy as it takes to carry a bucket of water lifty wards.

it takes to carry a bucket of water inty yards. The Capital whole-milk tank is the only really low-down tank there is— because it's just as low-down as a tank can be put,—it stands on the floor I That one thing does away with more waste effort, banishes more bother, abolishes more muss and slop, than you'll ever think possible until you've seen and used the Capital.

and, of it, s on ; inning

the

ture

that they

oung

Con-

e, is thir-

hor-

oted d to s as-hou-

om a opper

body.

pre-

fently.

work-

were

ut of stone.

with

louble

sticks

nd as

e daÿ

have

owner of the elephant saw himself staring ruin in the face, the huge creature keeping him engaged all day hauling food for it.

His house stood by a turn in the river where many persons crossed, and as the stream was at times a raging flood, boats and men were often carried down and put to great annoyance. The elephant was bathing in the river one day, when it suddenly occurred to the despairing owner to use it as a ferry boat. There was no time when it could not go over in safety, and the plan was at once put into execution. A harness was made for the elephant, with a long rope as a trace. which was fastened to a heavy boat, and the animal success-fully towed it over the river, to the great delight of the native, who now saw in the elephant with the enormous appetite a source of revenue.

Better Than Spanking.

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box H 86, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write to her to-day if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child. the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night. and how the Capital gets that extra profit for you, but-I will show you in plain words how you can make that profit with a fraction of the work you have to do to-day to get half as much. That is where my plan for SELLING butter and cream comes in, -my plan specially devised for your special case and your special locality, and

10

But all these things, and many more, are things you ought to know about in detail. I can't tell you about them here, -no room to. But if you will simply write to me and ask for the facts, I will show you why the Capital Separator is the one thing your farm needs right NOW, -and I will show you that you CAN afford to get it right now. Doesn't matter if money's a little tight with you, -I can fix it so the Capital will buy itself before you have to pay a cent for it. Write to me and hear the whole story, --it's worth while. while.

bert Jerquo

National Manufacturing Co., Limited 62 Mail and Empire Building, TORONTO, ONT.

RHEUMATISM.

Dr. CLARKE'S Rheumatism Cure. A marvellous safe sure, cure for muscular, inflammatory and chronic Rheumatism and Gouty conditions. Cures when all other remedies fail. Sent direct charges prepaid, on receipt of One Dollar I. AUSTIN & CO., Chemists, Simcoe. Ont. will positively and you the watch and ring also a count, Autor of Gents style. ALTON WATCH CO., Dept. 89 Chicago.

Gold Watch FREE We positively give both a Solid Gold Laid appended R

Men Wanted,

Reliable men in every locality throughout Ca-nada to advertise our goods, tack up show cards on trees, fences, bridges and all conspicuous places; also distributing small advertising mat-ter Commission or salary $83 per month and expenses, $4 per day. Steady employment to good, reliable men. No experience necessary. Write for particulars.

EMPIRE MEDICINE CO., LONDON, CNT

Vol. VIII. No. 7.

HE touring car da

the crest of

down a bit of st

that to any bu

perturable yout

have been alar: sped smoothly long, apparentl

plain. The you wheel relingu grip a little an his eyes to sc

cloud-banks to

"Looks nasty out there," h ed, as he might have said: "F isn't it?' "Sure," rejoined the othe

"Bet you a dollar we're in t

"I suppose," remarked the dear girl, "that you do not believe in love at first sight?" "Oh, yes, I do," rejoined the old bachelor. "If men were gifted with second sight they would never fall in love."

"What would you do ef you found yo'se'f 'twixt de devil en de deep sea?" "That's a close question; hut I'll tell you right now; I'd wish ter de Lawd dat I wuz a new Jonah, wid a friendly whale loafin' 'roun."

The Prince Charles Spaniel: "That new chaffeur doesn't know his place." The French Poodle: "He looks vulgaire, How did ze upstart offend?" The Prince Charles Spaniel: "Why, the vulgarlan had the audacity to address me by my first name!"

Mr. Stubb (reading): "Down South there is a bank that has a woman tell-er." Mrs. Stubbs (innocently 'A wo-nan teller? I wonder what she tells, John?" Mr. Stubbs: "Well, if she's like the rest of her sex, I guess she tells everything she knows."

"De Georgy mule," said Brother Dickey, "is de one creetur in a thousan' what don't enjoy de spring season. De furrow looks ez long ter him ez de time betwixt meals, en de high price er cotton gives him dat tired feelin'-kase he well know he got des dat much mo' er it ter plow."

Manager: "I can't do a thing with Smith. the new clerk. I've had him in three departments, and he sleeps all day long." Proprietor: "Put him at the pajama counter and fasten this card on him: 'Our night clothes are of such a superior quality that even the assistant who sells them cannot keep awake."

The irrepressible May Irwin tells of a little New Yorker who had a bath so seldom and wore such dirty clothes that it was more than the teacher and children could stand. So she was sent home to be made more bearable but re-turned as dirty as ever, accompanied by a sister who inquired what she was sent home for. The teacher explained. Then the sister burst out. "Well, say, me mudder says does our Rosie come here to git smelt or to git learnt?"

Sir John Kirk was once the British consul-general at Constantinople. The suitan had a very savage lion, and he offered it to Sir John, reminding him that as the lion was one of the sup-porters of the royal arms above the con-sulate gate, therefore the real brute should be very appropriate. But the Briton escaped the necessity of accept-ing the unpleasant gift. "I am sure that your highness would never make an in-complete present." he replied, "and when you are able to accompany the lion with a unicorn. I shall be delighted to receive your munificent offer."

Moses Ezekiel, the Roman sculptor, says: "Whenever I see a toothpick, I think of a dinner that was given in Rome in honor of two Turkish noble-men. I sat beside the younger of them. He glittered with gold embroidery and great diamonds: but I pitled him sin-cerely. for he was strange at our table manners, and some of his errors were both ludicrous and painful. Toward the dinner's end a servant extended to the young man a plate of toothpicks. He waved the plate away, saying in a low and bitter voice: No, thank you. I have already eaten two of the accursed things, and I want no more."

You Waste Money in buying material which does not answer its purpose EDDY'S IMPERVIOUS SHEATHING PAPER will keep your house warm in the severe weather. TEES & PERSSE, LIMITED, AGENTS Winnipeg Calgary Edmonton

Always everywhere in Canada use EDDY'S matches

Sundry houses scattered along their way shot by in startling way, indicating m on. A white church spire i ance came rapidly to meet

"We must be getting on."
have you, Kit?"
"Four-twenty. Where are on the bills to light, anyhov
"Lord knows, I don't. Content of the bills of the bills of the bills." certain, I'm not going to have Girl get a wetting." "Never!" agreed the other thusiasm. They might have ing of a pet child of delicat

"Think it's going to rai cricky, it's raining now! I'l ahead—look for an open she Kit. Both sides o' the road, "Sure. I've got two eyes, When I say 'Ready,' pull her The two of them—Georg and Christopher Dill-were lows out on a vacation ja had left the beaten paths knew and were "discoverin as Kit said. Kit claimed to descendant of the Christoph toric renown. He was fond o trait may or may not have claim.

"Here we have it !" he the machine sped on unchec "Aren't you going to run found a place !" he roared ab

"Oh, back there a mile or "Wouldn't trouble to go back out here