prerogative. However, truth is the mob; they seized the wig-makers mighty, and the foundations of jus- and cut off all their hair, and the un-

LONDON, SATURDAY, JULY 6, 1918

The Catholic Record

THE DRAMATIC CRITICS Some time ago the dramatic critics were all agog over a revived play. The Mob. It may or may not be a good play, but the underlying theme was never more pertinent for treatment through the medium of drama than it is just now. For good and for ill we are doomed to think and speak and act in crowds. Crowds are potential mobs. They tend to press with tyrannical eweight upon the individual mind. Not seldom they all but abolish? the free will which we claim to possess; they often destroy the initiative of the private soul. The peril and shame of allowing ourselves to be merged in the clamour of a mob has long been apprehended and feared. The Athenian crowd probably earned the caustic verdict of Socrates? when he declared that it was a sort of wild animal that stood in need of vigilant care and control. Shakespeare knew his Elizabethan crowd. In Coriolanus and Julius Cæsar he identifies it with the old Roman popular assembly that sometimes completely swamped the dictates of the Capitol. Nevertheless, when the psychology of the man in the street is fairly studied it turns out to be that of the individual intensified by numbers rather than a radically-changed temper.

ITS RESULTS

Panic sometimes works terrible results; yet crowds in circumstances fault. Call to mind some of the famous revolutions of history; they all break away from the established order-sometimes justifiably, often with rash haste and loss of faithsin the slow and sure arbitrament of time and justice. Every outworn tradition resists the trend of the reforming spirit. Threatened monopolies rise in wrath against those silversmiths who made shrines for cry "Great is Diana of the Epheoccurred in after ages, when fanaticbackground! The political arena furnishes numberless instances of artificially-heightened fury, directed against rivals who have set their hands to some difficult task of statesmanship. Most of these come under the head of factional distor-Gordon's day, the Bristol conflagrations when the Reform Bill was pa ing, and the Birmingham riots. There is no need to cross the ocean or to recall stormy revolutions which have agitated every European country in turn : even our cooler Canadian nature can work itself up to a truly Celtic heat in times of unrestrained zeal and threatened defest. Mobs are ready to plunge into deadly conflict with singular blindness to the consequences.

THE COMIC SIDE

day tendencies is that a sensational press and a despairing faction may while they wanted to compel other coincide in a frantic attempt to over-people to wear wigs, they wore no largedy obtained control of the contro tice are too deeply laid in the nature lucky petition never reached His of man and the world's order to be Majesty. The moral is as timely as permanently disturbed.

THE WILD MOB

It used to be assumed, as though it were axiomatic, that mobs were casual collections of ignorant people, drawn together by envy and cupidity easily wrought upon by ambitious demagogues for coarse and selfish ends. With the influx of modern knowledge this view has been heavily discounted. Well known writers have shown that the bias of class and property has often led men of education and position into courses of violence when their privileges or interests have been threatened.) We have lived to see ladies organizing personal attacks upon those who differed from them in political matters and resorting to the bombs and destructive tactics of the anarchists to force their convictions upon a reluctant public. The fact is that, when passion perverts judgment, no order is secure against the temptation to resort to violence in support of its

Fanaticism is not merely a theological vice: persecution has taken innumerable forms in all ages. The excesses of party zeal are notorious. The day has gone by when strong tyrants, bureaucrats or superior persons can vote themselves into the seats of power by a plebiscite from the mass. Parliaments are no doubt fallible instruments of governments, of tragic peril can be generous to a but no better form of ascertaining the people's will has yet been discovered. Politicians group themselves according to their sympathies Combined action is both inevitable and wholesome, so long as it does not degenerate into contagious hysteria-a condition which is no more estimable on a large scale than on a year. small one. An awful responsibility rests upon the orator or popular who would undermine them. The leader who ignores the proper limits within which collective action is the temples in a famous city of Asia legitimate. To play upon the preju Minor stirred up the mob with the dices of the crowd in order to terrorize constituted authority is a danger sians!" and on the strength of it ous device that is sure to redound to they expelled the Apostolic pioneers. the confusion of those who practice How often the same thing has it. There is a sad lack of proportion in the contagious enthusiasm which have been requested to be called by displays itself when the crowd is the G. O. C. of Montreal and Quebec ism has swept calm faith into the displays itself when the crowd is moved to action. The individual who boasts great things usually cuts a poor figure; the "many-headed monster" is capable of acts which involve incalculable damage. It is to be feared that no grade of culture is immune from the disease which tion, and at times they reveal a makes the logic of the hour regnant

> When Monarch Reason sleeps, this mimic wakes,

> Compounds a medley of disjointed A court of cobblers and a mob of kings.'

KEEPING COOL

After all, mobs are like seismic upheavals; they come and go, gather and melt away, with unaccountable celerity. Aristophanes depicted their gullibility and turbulent zeel in the Undoubtedly there is a comic side | yesterday that similar scenes were to these collective outbursts of pub- witnessed nearer home under modern lic passion. Dickens hit it off in conditions. Dean Swift and many Barnaby Rudge, and again in his pic- later satirists have hit off their charture of Eatanswill during an election acteristics shrewdly. The Ironic fever, he makes Pickwick say, in Muse delights in the incongruities answer to his friend's inquiry as to which mark the outbursts of the what posture they should assume in awakened multitude; they illustrate "if there are two crowds?" "Then Wilkes one day and the "First Gentleshout with the largest!" was the man in Europe" another. They will grim reply. There are, alas, towns | cheer a Tsar as heartily as a Republigrim reply. There are, alas, towns cheer a Tsar as heartily as a Republi-and cities in the British Isles today can leader. There is usually a of the new Minister of Militia. And where it is perilous to refuse to act method in the madness of the wildest in this time serving way. It is some- crowd. More than one hundred and times wise to take a humourous view twenty years ago wigs suddenly went the Militia Department that they of these ebullitions of frenzy and out of fashion. The wig-makers, in clean their own house before tacklook forward hopefully to the better terrible distress, went in procession time that will surely come when, as with a petition to the King, requestthe great Victorian poet wrote, ing him to take measures whereby "Crowds will grow sane and crowns the gentlefolk might be induced to The awkward thing about present- through the streets toward St. James' day tendencies is that a sensational it struck somebody in the crowd that.

it is obvious. Wisdom, says the proverb, dwells with prudence-so does humor. These three, like the three Graces, have an abiding power in the lives of men and States. But, we are inclined to think that when passions are deeply stirred, humor, kindly humor, can best combine the parted elements in a new synthesis-the mob vanishing, and the man standing forth in all his dignity as the organ, of truth and

METHODIST CABAL

LIEUT.-COL. MACHIN SCORES RAID ON NOVITIATE AT GUELPH

SPITEFUL STRIFE-STIRRERS WORSE THAN HUNS

Canadian Press Despatch Montreal, June 24.—" There is evidence that a powerful cabal exists at Ottawa against the Minister of Juswhich showed its hand last week in the disgraceful and brutal raid on the Jesuit College at Guelph. The greatest menace to the Province of Ontario is the Methodist Church. which seems to make us in Ontario the most hypocritical body or class of people in the Dominion of (an-

This was the declaration made this afternoon by Lt.-Col. H. A. Machin, Director of the Military Service Act branch of the Ministry of Justice and member of the Ontario Legislature for Kenora, in an interview given at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel. Lt. Col. Machin said he realized that he would probably lose his job over the declaration, but he felt bound to express his opinion in

Col. Machin went overseas as Colonel in command of the 94th Battalion, having refused a judge-ship in order to do so, and his pres-ent position, which he says he does not expect to hold, is worth $6,000 a

COMBING QUEBEC FOR MEN

Col. Machin's interview follows: "I have been sent to Montreal to devise a means whereby the Militia Department will be able to handle recruits than they have been able to do. At the present time there are over 11,000 eligible for call in this district; they have not been called because the Militia Department has not been able to take them. In the meantime, only those who districts have been taken. This has resulted in only 8,000 under the Military Service Act being called in the Province of Quebec. The fact that Ontario has called 28,000 against 8,000 in Quebec was given out by the Militia Department last week. Immediately the Government became concerned and on Friday last I was plainly told by Messrs. Sifton strange power of self-deception like over the will. As Dryden put it long the "No Popery" riots in Lord George ago:

and Mewburn that unless I produced the proper quota from Quebec I sion, ages, etc. "We are not keepcould look for another job. I reing anything secret; and our books Dreams are but interludes which fancy makes; minded these gentlemen that recruits and archives are open for the fullest the situation on the spot. When they went over In Quebec as fast as the Militia Department could take care of them. now purpose to try to arrange with the G. O. C. of the Montreal district to take care of the 11,000 at present in this district if he can do so.

DEFENDS DOHERTY

"I do not care anything about re taining my job, that is not an impor-tant matter, but the important business is to carry on this War for humanity. The Minister of Justice has rigidly enforced the Military Service Act ever since I have had the honor of serving him. There Athens of long ago; it seems but has been no favoritism, no one could done, because the act itself invited exemption rather than conscription. Service Act and the officers who have heretofore been connected with that it would be accomplished before July 1. The only reason that I can ascribe for any such desire is the as a Canadian citizen with eight months' experience in the Government department, I would suggest to ling anything new. There is evidence that a power ful cabal exists at Ottawa against the Minister of Justice, which showed its hand last week in the the continue wearing wigs. As they went disgraceful and brutal raid on the Jesuit College at Guelph. The fact that the Minister's son was at the purposes controlling the operation of the Military Service Act and its

LONDON, CANADA, SATURDAY, JULY 6, 1918

QUOTA HAS BEEN RAISED

'Let me say that the quota of men authorized by Parliament has practically been raised. The Militia Department have granted some ten thousand men leave of absence after they had been enrolled, and this they do not propose to count. But, nevertheless, they have been raised under the Military Service Act by the operation of the Department of

'If I am allowed, which I very much doubt, to continue my work, there is no question that before the end of August the Province of Que-bec will have produced 25,000 men under the Military Service Act.
"As an Anglican I desire to pro test as emphatically as I know how against the brutal treatment meted out to the Jesuit College at Guelph and to say that the men who are responsible for that action ought to be made to realize that when they are indulging in such spite they are encouraging strife between religious denominations, and if prepared to accept the responsibility of such a grave condition simply to fulfil personal vanity, then they are worse than the Huns.

"Speaking offhand, the greatest percentage of recruits according to denominations in Carada is as follows: Anglican, Presbyterian, Roman Catholic and Methodist, in the order named. One would think that the Methodists of Ontario had done more than any other denomination. it advisedly, knowing full well my responsibility in my official capacity and as a member of the Ontario Legislature, that the greatest men-ace to the Province of Ontario is the Methodist Church, which seems to critical body or class of people in the Dominion of Canada."

MINISTERS SHIRKING RESPONSIBILITY

GENERAL FEELING NOVITIATE OFFICIALS NOT BREAKING MILITARY SERVICE LAW

Guelph, June 24.—The agitation which has resulted from the raid made on the night of June 7 at the Jesuit Novitiate is beginning to quiet down here, and it is not thought there may be much more doing until an official report is forthcoming from the Government. The feeling is general that the offi-cials at the Novitiate have not been guilty of any infractions of the clauses of the Military Service Act, now turning their attention to attacking the act itself. Your cor-respondent had an interview this afternoon with Rev. Father Bourgue Rev. Father Power, Superior General of the Jesuit Order in Canada, and several of the most important points over which there was some contention were cleared up. Father Bourque stated the Jesuit Novitiate courts the fullest inquiry into its records as to the members in the Very Rev. Father Power, Superior General of the Jesuit Order ada, stated he was prepared to give out any information which would have a tendency to clear up the calumnious charge leveled against Novitiate and the Jesuit Order.

VINDICATES JESUIT ORDER

He declared that "such was our ove of quiet and freedom and peace here that we remained silent for several days, at the request of the Government, and had not the Protestant ministers of Guelph taken the matter up nothing would have been said. But now we are ready have administered the act any better than the Minister of Justice had proven, that we have done nothing wrong. We have heard that Rev. Mr. Spence stated in his sermon that There is a strong desire on the a Jesuit priest could lie at his will part of the Militia Department to as long as it was in the interest of take over the work of the Military the Church. That is the highest possible slander on the Jesuit Order and the Catholic Church, and I want it as a part of that department. It to state most emphatically that if the circumstances, "Shout with the Crowd!" "But," said one of them, The crowd quite honestly applauds a been informed from private sources, that stamp we could not possibly exist, and the whole Roman Catholic church would go down. We Jesuits have been on the firing line for the feeling in the House. In fact, last 450 years, and we are still fighting strong. If men of other creeds and religions would exercise a little the imperial conference now sitting more brotherly charity the world would be the better. It is only the suppose any recommendation by that very lowest class of agitators who would say such things against us."

We are getting tired of them trying to shift the responsibility," tinued the Superior General. " they were after the Novitiate, and when they find they are disproven they shift the responsibility and talk fresh was forthcoming. Mr. Pringle, about getting after the law makers."

NOT SHIELDING ANYONE

ride law and usurp even the highest wigs themselves. The idea excited Dominion Police, the entourage now not shielding anyone from military the chief secretary has offered of the service, and also stated that only one service, and also stated that only one novice had left the institution since 1916, because of ill-health. Upon recovery he had enlisted. In reply to a question, the rector declared that there had been no change in the probationary period of the Novitiate from what had been exacted of the order for the past 250 years, and in connection with the vows and obliga-tions taken by a novice when he enters the institution turned to the following clause taken from the Catholic Encyclopaedia, Vol xi., page 145, edition of 1911: "By the fact of his entrance into an approved congregation, the novice becomes an ecclesiastical person. If he is a novice in a religious order he becomes a regular in the widest sense of the word; as such he is not bound by any vow, but he is protected by the ecclesiastical immunities, and shares in the indulgences and privileges of his order, gaining a plenary indulgence on the day of his admission, at least into an order properly called; novices benefit also by any exemption attached to the order to which they belong.'

SAYS TRYING TO EVADE

"What is your reply to the argument that there is one law for the Roman Catholic and another for the Protestant with regard to military service, the contention being that the Protestant colleges are depleted of men, while the men at such insti-tutions as this Novitiate escape?"

In answer to this Rev. Father Power pointed out that their accus ers were now trying to evade the charges they had first made.

CALL FOR RETRACTION

"The whole question is whether or not we are breaking the law in having men here who should be in military service, and until that state. nent is retracted by our accusers I absolutely decline to discuss the question of the law. We have been accused of being law-breakers, which has been proven false. The merits of the law we refuse to dis-cuss, and we call upon them as honorable men to retract their statemen at the head of it, against the whole Jesuit Order and the Catholic Church, and these are the men who will-go into their pulpits next Sun-day and preach charity toward their brethren. Why can't men agree to disagree and let it go at that?

IRELAND TO REMAIN FACTIONS' PAWN

COERCION PREDICTED AS NEXT "CURE"

OT DECLARES EVIDENCE OF PLOT A FARCE; CARSON FOLLOWERS STORING

By James M. Tuohy in Detroit Free Press (Special Cable Dispatch) London, June 27.-The general pinion expressed in the lobbies of the House of Commons is that the Irish chief secretary's and the premier's statements leave the Irish situation and the Irish policy of the government as obscure as ever. It now ppears from the premier's speech that the policy of conscription, with Home Rule, was adopted by the War cabinet before Lord French and Chief Secretary Shortt had studied the highest truth."

When they went over Ireland they advised a change of policy, which, as far as can be gathered, means the until Ireland has had the same onportunity as England had, of sendir fair quota to war voluntarily, and holding Home Rule in suspens period.

HOME RULE VITAL

The premier modified Lord Curzon's summary abandonment of both Home Rule and conscription to the extent that he acknowledged Homa Rule was still a war problem of the first magnitude, the solution of which seemingly depends on the who had just delivered one of his most implacably anti-Home Rule speeches, to aid in bringing his Orange followers to reason in the interests of the Empire.

The desirability of satisfying American sentiment on Irish selfgovernment he dwelt upon in im-pressive language, but there is no mistaking the strength of hostility though ex-Premier Asquith suggested that the question be submitted to onference would be accepted by the Unionist party led by Carson in both houses of parliament.

NO EVIDENCE PRODUCED

As to Chief Secretary Shortt's "evia Scottish Radical member, indeed declared without any signs of dissent existence of this plot. He has not evidence that any plot existed in Ireland in justification of the govern-ment's change of policy." There may be a plot, and Asquith did not question it, but proof of it there is none, Sir Mark Sykes, English Tory, put his finger on the real explanation of Ireland's Jisgruntled condition when he said that the first essential to pro Ulster or in the south.

ARMS STILL STORED Sir Edward Carson, to whom he appealed, didn't deny that arms are still stored in Ulster for the use against Home Rule, nor did he assent then Sykes demanded of the govern ment in emphatic language that the keeping of arms should be treated as criminal in Ulster as well as in Munster, Leinster and Connaught, Equality of treatment before the law was the first requisite to convincing Ireland of the sincerity of ministerial professions and unless and until that demonstration is made no good can be done there.

But the premier's reply to Sykes's challenge was quite evasive and un-satisfactory.

Thus the Irish situation is to be permitted to drift, and in the hands of the purely Orange administration now installed in Dublin castle the of coercion applied strictly outside

CHALLENGE TO MR. SPENCE

COWARDLY CALUMNIATOR ASKED TO PROVE CHARGE To the Editor of The Globe: The following letter has been addressed to Rev. W. D. Spence, Guelph, Ont: "Dear Sir,-On page seven of the Globe of this morning you are re-ported as saying: 'That any lie that a Jesuit tells in defence of his Church or his Order is to him the virtue of the highest truth. I can hardly conceive of any intelligent man mak-ing a statement of this sort. At first glance I was inclined to excuse you on the grounds of ignorance. On reading further, however, I found that you made the claim that you had made a study of Catholicism and knew all the vows a Catholic priest is obliged to take. I acquitted you then on the charge of ignorance, only to charge you with a deliberate false-hood. With your encyclopedic knowledge of Catholic teachings it should not be hard for you to prove this statement: 'That any lie that a Jesuit tells in defence of his Church or his Order is to him the virtue of the highest truth.' I am going to ask you to prove it, not to my satisfaction, because you would probably consider me impossible to convince, but to a board composed of three prominent citizens of the Province. You shall nominate one judge; I shall nominate the other; the third one can be chosen by our nominees. What is more, Mr. Spence, I am not going to ask you to give your valuable time without compensation to this work. Therefore, I have deposited $500 in bonds in the Home Bank.

The standard of the order and all who members of the order and all who mit with them in a tridium or other religious solemnity His Holimess grants a plenary indulgence on the usual conditions.

Toronto, June 24.

THE POLECAT OF AMERICAN JOURNALISM IS SQUELCHED IN DETROIT

CITY COUNCIL PASSES ORDINANCE STREETS OF THIS CITY

At an enthusiastic meeting Tues day evening, at which many prominent members of Detroit Catholic laity were present, the city council of Detroit passed an ordinance prohibiting the sale of the vile Menace on the streets of this city. For several months back The Michigan Catholic, aided by several well-known pastors and militant laymen, has been actively campaigning against this obscene sheet. Through this we were enabled to get several local societies and non Catholics in-tarested, and at the meeting of the Holy Name Diocesan Union Sunday the delegates decided to take the matter up with the City Fathers with the above excellent result. But our Catholic laity must not set back contented that all danger is over. The enemy beaten at this point, will seek to recover lost ground, and it behooves Catholics to keep alert and advise their non-Catholic friends against signing petitions inimical to Catholic interests. Also, there are many Catholics being asked to sign papers at this period which require careful supervision before adding their signatures. In the factory disnetitions have been passed around the past month re the school amendment and bigots eagerly signed up.—Michigan Catholic.

The plain grass remains when the

CATHOLIC NOTES

Most Rev. Juan Gonzalez, D. D. Archbishop of Santiago, has been called to his reward.

Isaac Taylor, a prominent Pro-estant of St. Louis, lately deceased, bequeathed $3,000 to St. Louis University and $5,000 to Father Dunne's Newsboys' Home.

The Sisters of the Blessed Sacra ducing proper feeling there was the vindication of the law whether in have assumed charge of the Negro Catholic schools at Beaumont, Texas, at Montgomery, Ala., at Biloxi, Miss., and in the parish of Corpus Christi,

The Catholic "Big Brothers' League," of the Bronx, New York, is conducting a campaign to increase its membership 25,000. It will also erect at a cost of $350,000 a centrally club house for boys on recently donated, worth $40,000.

Twenty-seven Catholic priests have become pastors of migratory churches within the training area of the American army in France. Their congregations consist of the Catholic soldiers from the United States, quartered in many French towns and villages.

The War Service Club, opened by the Catholic women of Washington for the purpose of housing young girls who come to the city to accept Government positions, was opened to the public last week when the building was blessed by the Right Rev. Thos. J. Shahan, rector of the Catholic University.

Preparations are being made celebrate the centenary of the birth of Father Secchi, S. J., the great Jesuit astronomer, who was born at Reggio Emilia, Italy, on June 29, 1818. Father Secchi died in Rome exactly forty years ago, after having filled with signal success the posi-tion of director of the observatory of the Roman College.

An ancient See has been restored in Portugal by special bull of the Holy Father. It is that of Lieria, founded by Pope Paul V. in 1541 and suppressed in 1881. It has now been provisionally confided to the administration of the Archbishop of Lisbon. who will govern it as Apostolic Administrator until the appointment of a Bishop. Rev. Timothy Dempsey, of St. Louis, Mo., requested that the city rent to him a building owned by the city at Fourteenth and O'Fallon at a nominal rental, to be altered for use as a hotel for working girls. Mayor Kiel and Comptroller Nolte completed arrangements with the Reverend Father, recently, by which the city is to receive $12 a year rental and Father Dempsey is to stand the expense of improvements. In the "Acta Apostolicae Sedis" appears a letter from the Holy Father to Mother Angele de Notre Dame, Superior General of the Roman Union of the Ursulines, on the occasion of the third centenary of the elevation of that institute to the Jesuit tells in defence of his Church or his Order is to him the virtue of Bart., was received into the Church Jas. P. Murray. | upon his deathbed at Putney, England, by the Rev. Joseph Livesey, rector of the mission. On his father's side he was descended from the same stock as St. Francis de Sales, whose signature and relics he possessed. It is not surprising, therefore, that seven members of the family have returned to the true Church.

The Bishop of Soissons, who is now in Paris, in an address delivered recently, described the havoc wrought by the Germans in his diocese during the recent battles. He said they had razed one hundred churches and pillaged and partially demolished at least one hundred others. The famous Cathedral was damaged. He declared they were carrying away everything they possibly could.

To the list of officers of the Army and Navy who are converts to the Faith should be added the name of Gen. Charles H. McKinstry, Engineer Corps, U. S. A. General McKinstry entered West Point at the age of seventeen and graduated in 1888, at the age of twenty one, as adjutant of his class. His father, Hon. Elisha McKinstry, LL. D., was also a con-General McKinstry is with his command "somewhere in France.

What is believed to be a record in sugar conservation was announced to the state food administration when the Sisters of St. Joseph, comprising the province of Minnesota and North and South Dakota, reported that no sugar has been used in any of their schools, colleges or home since November 1, 1917. province consists of 100 pupils, 95 nurses and 30 maids, all of whom have dispensed with sugar in every form since conservation was first urged by the government. In addition to dispensing with sugar it was also announced meat has been eaten only once a day since Novem-

GERALD DE LACEY'S DAUGHTER

AN HISTORICAL ROMANCE OF COLONIAL DAYS

> BY ANNA T. SADLIER BOOK II CHAPTER XVI THE CLOSE OF A REGIME

But for those events which shall presently be related, there is little doubt that new troubles would have through the unremitting and malignant activities of Prosser Williams and that infatuation of his which had cost her so dear. His rival. Captain Ferrers, was kept in close imprisonment, though, through the intervention of Lady Bellomont and Excellency's own partiality for girl's interests.

Meanwhile the peace of the colony continued to be disturbed by inter-necine feuds, and by an active persecution of what was called the aristocratic party, the members of which kept alive their portion of the struggle and were prepared to do battle with all and sundry. The anti-Popery laws were more stringent ever, both there, in Massachu setts, and the other New England colonies, while Maryland was being made notorious by all manner of oppressive acts against Catholics and var against the Jesuits, who in the first councils of the Lord Baltimore, been chronicled a more flagrant case of injustice than the treatment "Listen to the bells announcing which was meted out to Catholics in his demise. that corner of the New World, where they and they alone had given unre-through the streets of Manhattan stricted freedom to all.

Richard, Earl of Bellomont, had done his worst in that direction, and had, as he believed, been largely successful in weeding out Popery and dealing harshly with all who presently their voices declaring the state of the weather and the death of the dictates of their conscience. He bellomont, Baron of Cooloney, Govhad also dealt sternly with the illicit the construction of New York and Massachushad figured. He had made the most brilliant parties which my had given at the Fort, with negro minstrels playing on the bal-cony, were suspended. Social the magnificence of the Colonies news from Whitehall that my Lord mont was seriously ill. Consternation was general, especially amongst those who had approved of attempt, the damage to the "Hesperia," and the refusal of Captain Prosser Williams to pay him the large sum he had promised for the capture of Evelyn de Lacey. Greated all the years till the American Revobatch was furious against him and batch was furious against him and batch was furious against part of the capture of Evelyn de Lacey. Greated all the years till the American Revobatch was furious against him and batch was furious against part of the capture of Evelyn de Lacey. Greated all the years till the American Revobatch was furious against him and batch was furious against part of the capture of Evelyn de Lacey. Greated all the years till the American Revobatch was furious against him and batch was furious against part of the capture of Evelyn de Lacey. Greated all the years till the American Revobatch was furious against him and batch was furious against part of the capture of the turned it towards him, had lost little of its beauty, though the traces scious of an emotion of pity for the downfall of that once brilliant young officer. For she had the rare gener saidest and most grievous experions that is serving Christ in the person officer. For she had the rare gener saides and most grievous experions that is serving Christ in the person of the fallen enemy.

At first he felt fallen enemy, the girl was conclusion of the church, and long before Martin downfall of that once brilliant young church, and long before Martin downfall of that once brilliant young officer. For she had the rare gener of capture of the church, and long before Martin downfall of that once brilliant young officer. For she had the rare gener officer. For she had the rare gener of the church, and long before Martin downfall of that once brilliant young officer. For she had the rare gener officer. For she had the rare gener officer. For she had the rare gener of the church, and long before Martin that the church and the church, and long before Martin that the church and the church, and long before Martin that the church and the church a up of worthies, since he knew that whatever immunity he enjoyed was owing to the young officer's pro-warned. His narrow eyes seemed smaller and closer together than His very figure seemed to help him. have dwindled, and he had lost something of his suave complacency, though no one except Captain Prosser Williams was aware of his transcore traces of a different emotion, lacey affected him unpleasantly, and, as he smoked his pipe of an evening on the gallery, the sight of the deserted house and garden weighed upon his spirits. He retained to the State, and a still called how pleasant it had been to smaller handful of poor and obscure see Mistress Evelyn amongst the people wondered if the demise of the

There was a gathering at the house be possible to retain his place in the of Madam Van Cortlandt on one of those evenings shortly after the execution of his various plans and those evenings shortly after the execution of his various plans and last reference to him and his affairs," One may have some grains of the ventures with Greatbatch and last reference to him and his affairs," been made public. On that occasion there were no Leislerians present, so intense had grown the feeling between the parties, save of course Henricus Laurens, whom the grandmother would not consent to exclude.

Evelyn de Lacey, and he cursed the evil fortune which had brought about the death of Lord Bellomont But he found himself isolated. Cold chilling civilities, and curt nods of recognition, from those who the person of the girl. had once been intimate friends, filled Cortlandt was with Polly in the to book."

him with resentment. He sulked family carriage, driven by the pompand glowered, laughed spiteful laughs, and let fall many a jibe. His mind was busy with the thought of how through the influence of Captain Williams, Nanfan, and the rest, he could work injury to those arrogant factionists who dared to slight him. He was glad when he won their money at lansquenet, and furious when he lost.

In the midst of it all, Mynheer de Vries entered the room and stood scrutinizing the card-tables, where the wax lights cast furious shadows on the faces of the players, each with considerable mitigation of the first severity of his confinement. He was the golden guilders he was winning sermitted to occupy a room in the or losing. The newcomer was won-fort, and, but for the influence of dering, as he looked about the handhis fellow-officer, would probably some room, how that which he had have been liberated. Pieter Schuy, to tell would affect the to tell would affect the various perler was still debarred from returning sons present. He waited for a fitto Manhattan, and was therefore ting pause in the game and, advanc-powerless to do anything in the ing to the hostess, bowed low over her hand. The various players at the tables glanced up curiously. Those near gave him greeting, but all were plainly anxious to resume their game: Mynheer de Vries said to Madam Van Cortlandt, in a voice which was heard all over the room "His Excellency, my Lord Bello-nont, died half an hour ago.' The cards dropped from the players' hands simultaneously at all the tables, as if a magic wand had touched them. Men sprang to their feet and women sat back in their chairs. There was little regret in assemblage, but excitement, emotion and conjecture on every the earliest and amongst the best of the Calverts, had established relig-stupidly at the cards before him, as tous liberty and made that colony though he had received a stunning the true "land of sanctuary." Never in the world's history had heer to learn the latest details.

There they were, sounding out with their ominous tolling. And as the guests, in confused groups, talked during his whole administration and surmised and wondered, the rattling staves of the Watch were heard without on the pavement, and traders, especially after the ignominious failure of his amateur navy, in the year 1701, memorable to some tious failure of his amateur, navy, in the year 1701, memorable to some wherein the notorious Captain Kidd of those with whom this narrative is concerned. Awestricken and full of vexatious restrictions upon trade so a vague expectation and unrest, as to drive the larger merchants to Madam Van Cortlandt's guests, desperation. A gloom seemed to breaking up the gathering very fallen over Manhattan. All early, went away to their homes to await the happenings of the morrow. On the fifth day of March took a nusements, even amongst the of New York and Massachusetts pleasure-loving Dutch, were almost was exhausted. The flags on at a standstill. Irritation, anxiety, mutual ill-will prevailed everyings, as well as on the ships in the ings, as well as on the ships in the harbor, were at half mast. The bells In the midst of it all came the from every steeple tolled out like the voices of deep sorrow. There was, however, little sorrow for the passing of my Lord Bellomont, save in those whose fortunes were directly his policy and supported his strong affected by his death. Stern and unsaures. At Der Halle men talked lovable, his qualities for good or subdued whispers of the crisis evil were not such as to attract pepthat might be at hand. Even Great-batch was impressed, and reduced to and sincere in his efforts at reform, batch was impressed, and reduced to and sincere in his efforts at reform, something like silence, though of as so many averred and as was problate he had been more snarling than ably true, he awakened stormy pasever since the failure of his late sions, stirred contending factions attempt, the damage to the "Hes- into bitter hatred of each other, and all the years till the American Revolution to weed out. A strong man, wielding a considerable power for evil, whether intentionally or not, a choleric and a masterful man, he lay still now within the coffin under the still now within the coffin under the approaching her, remembering his part in that last tragic occurrence.

These colonies," Mynheer said, are happily rid of him. And," he piously added, "as the Good Book devarious forms of Protestantism have clares, "the way of the transgressor of the way of the transgressor has remembered that only one last of the way of the transgressor has remembered that only one last of the way of the transgressor has remembered that only one last of the way of the transgressor has remembered that only one last of the way of the transgressor has remembered that only one last of the way of the transgressor has remembered that only one last of the way of the transgressor has remembered that only one last of the way of the transgressor has remembered that only one last of the way of the transgressor has remembered that only one last of the way of the transgressor has remembered that only one last of the way of the transgressor has remembered that only one last of the way of the transgressor has remembered that only one last of the way of the transgressor has the first of the way of the transgressor has the first of the way of the transgressor has the first of the way of the transgressor has the first of the way of the transgressor has the first of the way of the transgressor has the first of the way of the transgressor has the first of the way of the transgressor has the first of the way of the transgressor has the first of the way of the transgressor has the first of the way of the way of the transgressor has the first of the way of the way of the transgressor has the first of the way of the way of the transgressor has the way of the wa a whisper, or circulate further than | choleric and a masterful man, he lay Mynheer de Vries strolled in and out restlessly, seeking for news. He had not been the same man since he played the part of Pilate and had suffered the innocent to go uncible ignorance, if that could be cible ignorance, if that could be admitted, and the prayers of those whom he had bitterly persecuted, to The streets were crowded to witness that pageant, brilliant with the uniforms of soldiers and sailors. Every face amongst the spectators The death of Mr. de bore traces of a different emotion flowers or passing up and down the street. He was shorter and more exacting with his wife, who was in- had striven to drive from that corwardly exultant, though she dared ner of the earth. The Wilden sent not give it outward expression, that the much-praised Evelyn was at a to the burial of their "Brother Cordistance, and was being speedily for lear"—some bowed and old and gotten, as she hoped, in the press of themselves hastening to the eternal other affairs. Besides, since the girl hunting grounds, others alert and had made herself amenable to the eager. Captain Prosser Williams, an law, the topic was an unsafe one, impressive figure in his glittering and there were few who cared to ex-patiate upon the offender's beauty ers—a mourner probably he was for and charm or accomplishments, the position he was losing and for Even her warmest friends, it seemed, must now be content to remember her as one who had passed out of their lives. was a gathering at the house

Washed, what would be the temper of the next Governor, and if it would est me either now or at any future the next Governor, and if it would est me either now or at any future and, as you say, Manhattan is well the possible to retain his place in the be possible to retain his place in the time," Evelyn burst forth impetured of him. And yet—" long arm of abitrary power to secure Mynheer hoped for some expression ous coachman and with Jumbo hanging on by the straps. The minds of the two were turning reminiscently to that April morning reminiscently to the reminiscently to that April morning when, with Evelyn de Lacey, they had watched the arrival of that very Governor in all the pride of place and power.

Mynheer looked at her inquirement of the looked at her inquirement of the looked at her inquirement.

Looking out upon the funeral tain Ferrers, pale and haggard from his long confinement, met the glance of Prosser Williams, who was glancing upwards. It was a strange, long which the two men exchanged, a look replete with many emotions. selves of that morning just three years before, when the whole town was in jubilation at the arrival of Richard, Earl of Bellomont. were possessed by the thought of Evelyn as she had then first appeared to them, and her image still seemed to dominate the scene, as though she were really present.

There was a memorial service for cles being sung and prayers offered. though not for him. It was a sol-emn but ineffectual service, and at its close the body of the late Governor was lowered into its grave unde the chapel of the Fort, although it was later buried in St. Paul's church-A few years more and plate from his coffin was sold to relic-hunters for a museum.

> CHAPTER XVII THE RETURNED EXILE

The weeks and months of anxiety and suspense amongst the various elements of Manhattan had subsided one of the weakest and most worth less of Colonial rulers, Lord Cornbury, assumed the reins of governent. It is needless to dwell upon the wild tales that were told of administration, and of the idle and vicious habits of a man in whom arbitrary will was co existent with feebleness and incompetence. Of such high rank as to be connected even with royalty, he disregarded every convention and trampled at his pleasure upon all rights.

However, on his arrival, particular the policy of his predecessor, thus giving relief to a large and influential class of the population. leaders, while releasing from bonds and women alike could be so win such men as Nicholas Bayard and ning. Stephen Van Cortlandt. It only conthose who are immediately connected

It was June, when the city was gay for the Pinxter festival. The cot-tage where the de Laceys had lived showed doors and windows open once more. Mistress Evelyn, garbed now in simple black, was in the garbusy with the flowers straved over the paths. It was her mission to restore them once more to order.

As Mynheer de Vries passed by, he the peonies. Evelyn's face, when she turned it towards him, had lost ity in that affair, and it was most unlikely that he would ever have the opportunity of revealing the secret to Mistress de Lacey. It was accordingly with his smoothest and most plausible manner that Mynheer approached the gate to express his delight at the return of so delightful a neighbor. Evelyn returned his salutations gravely, indeed, but with the friendliness that she manifested towards all who were connected with the old, happy life of that town, whose every stick and stone was dear to her. She extended her hand with a gracious invitation to enter. This Mynheer declined, but, he hastened to impart to her a piece of news which he hoped would be sing-ularly agreeable to her.

You had some acquaintance." he began, "with Captain Prosser Williams, who was a member of His late Excellency's Household?"
Evelyn turned away her face to conceal the emotions excited by the mention of that name. But, apparently busied with her flowers, she answered quietly:

"Yes, I had some acquaintance with him. 'I fear that I am awakening asso ciations of a painful nature," Mynheer went on, "but some facts concerning that young gentleman may be of interest.

laws of this province, and that through the contrivance of those whom his insolent manner has just as he was about to reach out the offended, or whom like myself were wer to secure Madam Van
meanors, he has been at last brought Mynbeer hoped for some expres

ceeded to inform her that the young man by his wild extravagance, profli gacy and losses at the gaming table had accumulated debts which had caused his arrest. Mynheer did not pageant from the room in the Fort. precisely state, though he allowed it to be inferred, that it was through his agency that wires had been pulled to procure his imprisonment and the consequences that followed. The merchant bad never forgiven him for his demeanor on that memorable evening at Der Halle, and for They too, like Madam Van Cortlandt the loss of self-respect which, in so and Polly, suddenly bethought thembeen the result. Hence he had seized a favorable opportunity to bring the various debtors down on their prey like vultures, and to ensure other and more serious charges being brought against the culprit. On being promised immunity, Greatbatch, who had many a score of his own to settle, was ready to give every evidence in his power against the accused and to prove conclusively that he had been deeply involved in illicit traffic. Lord Cornbury, who was little likely to proceed to any great lengths against smugglers or any other class of malefactors, so long as they did not interfere with his schemes for personal advantage, was nevertheless delight ed to press any charge against one who had been so intimately comected with the last administration.

"I know too well," ventured Myn-heer after a pause, "what a baleful influence he has exerted over your fortunes. He was your enemy from first to last, while—I humbly pray you to forgive the allusion—aspiring to be more than a friend. Such pre tentions might be readily underst and would have been pardonable had he pursued a legitimate path to at tain so enviable an end."

A wave of color, similar to that which dyed the roses on the vine beside her, crept into Evelyn's cheeks but, when she spoke, it was with a haughtiness which caused Mynheer to feel that he had been indiscreet. "Such purely personal matters," she said, "are not fit subjects for discussion, and certainly cannot be

Mynheer was disappointed, for he spoused the cause of the anti-Leis- had been really anxious to get further information as to the exact extent of Prosser Williams' interest in this girl. He began again more slowly and impressively, because of He frowned upon the fanatical pro- the rebuff that had been contained ceedings of the Leislerians and in Evelyn's words, though they were caused the arrest of many of their softened by that smile which to men

Since he was arrested for debt, cerns this narrative to show how his he resumed, "other offences have attitude affected the fortunes of been alleged against him, and this day sails from the Port of New York the good ship, 'Victory,' having on board Captain Prosser Williams, who is to be tried in England for offences against the laws of these colonies; and, if his powerful relatives do not intervene, bis punishment will be for them.'

Triumph and exultation were in the speaker's tone. The day of his vengeance had arrived, and he looked for corresponding sentiments in his regard to it. listener. But despite the joyful re-lief which she could not help feeling, saw that graceful figure, half hidden lief which she could not help feeling, by the vines, the rambler roses and since she had been sorely afraid of

Now this remark, as well as the young girl's disappointing attitude, greatly perturbed Mynheer. For he feared that through her late father, or in some other way, she had be-come cognizant of his own transactions with Greatbatch, as well as Also, being ignorant of the state of affairs between Mistress Evelyn and Captain Ferrers, it occurred to him that the damsel's fancy might have been caught after all by the brilliant plumage of that bird of folly, who had now fallen into the fowler's snare. In which case he would have shown a most lamentable want of tact in coming to her with such disastrous information. Perhaps she was less disposed to rejoice than to mourn for Prosser Williams, who had been her consistent admirer ever since his arrival in the colony. Women." Mynheer reflected. strange beings, and who could tell?" Being anxious to solve his own doubts, however, he ventured fur ther:

"He was your dangerous enemy,
"and I had some occasion."

he observed, "as I had some occa-sion to know." Yes." assented Evelyn, suddenly "he was my most dangerous enemy, and, as you say, Manhattan is well and means.

pity for a fallen enemy, since the best of us, Mynheer, are weak and Mynheer's enthusiasm was thoroughly chilled. His attitude was one which be could in no wise understand, and he was haunted by the suspicion that she was far more responsible as to his own transgressions.

He presently bade her a ceremonious to carry him in a corpse to ye."

"There's no necessity for any "There's no necessity for any rough stuff," Michael—all you need fully informed than he had believed good-morning, and left her to resume her work in the neglected garden with a deep sadness in her heart.

For the information that he had een at such pains to give, while relieving her of a cruel anxiety, had brought back a host of memories. She recalled how the malice of her unscrupulous foe, now severely punished, had brought about the death of her dear father, and, as trifles will recur to the mind even in the gravest moments, she was reminded of the day when she had first noticed Cap ain Prosser Williams upon the Bowling Green, and of that other occasion when with characteristic insolence he had appeared at the gate of this very garden and had been so sternly rebuked by her father. She seemed to see the noble figure of the latter. as he stood at the library window and her tears fell silently amongst the flowers for him and for that past in which they had been so happy. TO BE CONTINUED

FATHER LADDEN'S VENTURE

It was 10 o'clock in the morning and already the day seemed old, for Father Ladden had been up since five, and that meant that he had done a multitude of things. First there was meditation, then Mass, thanksgiving, breafast, two sick calls and a uneral, all of which had been capped by a visit from a lady bent on uplifting his down-trodden people by means of a settlement house which was to distribute hot coffee and cold meat sandwiches.

Michael had announced the visitor with a scorn he did not try to con-

Here's a lady to convert yer parishioners," he said, giving her a glance intended to settle her. It didn't, however.

Father Ladden talked to the social worker the greater part of an hour; or rather, he listened. She was very frank in her statements. going to open a social settlement—and she hoped that if she could not gain his co-operation, she at least would not win his antagonism ettlement was to be principally for the uplift of his people for, with the trict was really inhabited by Catholies. The institution was to be nonsectarian; all religious beliefs were to be tolerated, any one would be velcomed. The poor would be visited the whole district would have the "gospel" preached to them—as a reward, Father Ladden supposed, for eating the cold meat sandwiches and drinking the hot coffee. I am afraid that my people will not come to your settlement, Summers," Father Ladden told her when at last the whole plan had been laid before him. "I am afraid they won't patronize it. In fact, I am and say that it is my wish that they await the settlement I am planning

You!" gasped Miss Summers. Why, I did not know Catholics did much social work. I understood that they were ages behind the times in

"Well, so they are," responded the priest; "and ages ahead of the time as well; for long before Henry VIII.

Evelyn, "which of us are free from ing religion with the priest, If she must argue it, it would be better and wiser, she considered, to do so with the least educated of the parishion. ers. She could enlighten them. The priest, she felt, was buried in his own darkness; she was not even sure that he wanted her light.

And so you think that the settle ment house will be a failure?" she asked, half defiantly and half nervously Was it my blessing you wanted for its success?" questioned Father Ladden humorously, yet with a tinge of sadness. No. not exactly," laughed Miss Summers, "the blessing we want is the money that the members of our rather Ladden did not answer claimed Father Ladden. until Michael had repeated the question myself am looking for invested an looking for invested an looking for invested and looking for invested

"I'll tell you what you are to do, Michael," he said. "Go down town; on the corner of La Salle and Illinois ing on a new skyscraper. I want one of them. His name is Bob Leonard and he's a bricklayer. Tell him to come to see me tonight. Tell him I to do is to give him my message He'll do the rest."

Father Ladden got his own noon day meal which consisted of burnt potatoes, bacon and eggs and some weak tea, for Michael was off in search of Bob Leonard. The pastor also opened the door to the second visitor of the day, one of a population who consider that a priest, whether he is known to them or not, is their special property in time of sorrow, and the depository of confidences. Father Ladden had often met the young man before, and once he had had quite an altercation with his father, the "boss of the ward," when the priest first came to oversee the spiritual welfare of the people of St Bernardine of Siena's.

"Hello, Joe Fogarty—but the luck of the Irish! Here I am just at my mid-day repast, and here you are just in time to have an elegant scorched otato all to yourself as well as an egg, some bacop, a bun and a cup of At what an opportune time you call—sharp noon.

Fogarty laughed. "Well, truth to tell, Father, I did not consider the time, but if you insist—and please do

—I'll let you watch me eat."
Father Ladden cracked two more eggs into the black spider, threw in a few slices of bacon, and soon Fogarty

This is the first bit I've eaten to day," he said between mouthfuls. "I got up this morning feeling so out of sorts that I had no desire for food. Father Ladden laughed. the matter? Are you in love?

Fogarty laid down his knife and fork and took another gulp of tea. You've said it," he admitted.

Father Ladden laughed again Permanently?" he asked. But Fogarty was in earnest. "Say, replied. "If you took the love of meo and Juliet and that of Antony ne replied. and Cleopatra and of a few other of the lads and dames I used to get low marks on in college because of the multitude of things I didn't know about them-well, as I was sa before you interrupted me-if took their love and multiplied it by six and rolled it all up together, it would compare like an ant-hill to a certain girl not a thousand miles from Chicago."

Father Ladden appeared interested. If that's the case—and I'm glad to Fogarty put his cup down with a bang. (It was lucky for him that Michael was not there.) "Because because - some one's read her my pedigree. Some one's told her how my father was a political boss here in Chicago and how he made his money by taking the bread out of the mouths of widows, and she says that she wouldn't marry a man who came by his money that way."

Father Ladden looked serious. Why not give up the money your Dad left you? I agree with the girl there's no luck in booze money, and the best thing you can do with it is to get rid of it and go to work at something with better pay than curses." Fogarty jumped up with a whoop Well, I must have gone clean mad it never once entered my head to ive up the money—never once?"

That afternoon two telegrams passed between a man in Chicago and a girl in Illinois. Wired the man in Chicago:

"You object to me because of my
"You object to me because of my that it belongs to orphans and Your brother suggests I get rid of it, says 'the girl' will marry me then. If I do will you make his word Will you marry me ?-And the girl in Peoria wired back

"It's a regular scheme. Rob is always right. Glad he thinks so well of you. Get rid of the tainted stuff and I will marry you.—Vera."

When Fogarty received the wire at When Fegarty received the wire at the nearest Western Union station he exultantly placed it in his note book and put it near his heart. Then he went back to Father Ladden. "I've wired her," he explained, "and told her the scheme and she says that when I get rid of 'the tainted stuff' I gan here here."

can have her."

"Good for her!" returned the priest. "I'll help you."

Father Ladden and Fogarty made many calls that afternoon on former customers of the older Fogarty's. ome were sick ; some idle ! all poor. It was Father Ladden who made the money that the members of our church have pledged for the support mothers who had to go out washing After a few commonplaces she was after a few commonplaces she was gone, and the paster of St. Bernardine of Siena's sat down to think it if they needed it. And, too, there were other settlements to be made. were other settlements to be made.

"So she's gone," remarked Michael as he returned from escorting the visitor to the door. "It's a settlement she's going to start, is it?"

Father Ladden nodded. He was buried in his "aisy" chair.

"Well, what are we going to do besides the blessings of the poor and about it" The question was from my mother's house," said Fogarty at Michael who regarded himself as im- last, "is the building I told some portant as a curate and in many ways of as much value as the pastor himself when it came to discussing ways kind of a social settlement club."

Social settlement club!' myself am looking for just such building, but owing to scarcity of

Phone Main 6249. After Hours: Hillcrest 3313 Society of St. Vincent de Paul Bureau of Information

Special Attention Given to Employment 25 Shuter St.
Office Hours 9 to 4

St. Jerome's College Founded 1864 KITCHENER, ONT.

Excellent Business College Department cellent High School or Academic Department cellent College and Philosophical Department Address: REV. A. L. ZINGER, C. R., Ph. D., PRESIDENT

PROFESSIONAL CARDS FOY, KNOX & MONAHAN BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES, Etc. Hon. J. J. Foy, K.C., A. E. Knox, T. Louis Monshan E. L. Middleton George Keough Cable Address: "Foy" Telephones (Main 794

D. Box 2093 Phone M 4116
H. L. O'ROURKE, B.A.
(Also of Ontario Bar)
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, NOTARY
Money to Loan
Suite 5, Board of Trade Building
251 Eighth Avenue West
CALGARY, ALEBRIA

JOHN T. LOFTUS

Barrister, Solicitor, Notary, Etc.
712 TEMPLE BUILDING
TORONTO
Telephone Main 632

Reilly, Lunney & Lannan BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIBE CALGARY, ALBERTA

DENTISTS DR. BRUCE E. EAID

Room 5, Dominion Bank Chambers Cor. Richmond and Dundas Sts. Phone 5660 Funeral Directors

John Ferguson & Sons 180 KING ST.

The Leading Undertakers & Embalmers
Open Night and Day
Telephone-House 373 Factors 548 E. C. Killingsworth

FUNERAL DIRECTOR Open Day and Night 583 Richmond St. Phone 3971

Gerald de Lacey's Daughter An Historical Romance

By Anna T. Sadlier

NO Catholic writer of fiction in English is more widely known and none more deservedly popular than the author of this book, which will probably add more to her the time of her story, she has chosen one of and with giorious heroism. It is a strong, virile story, brimful of action, and highly dramatic in parts. The love scenes are charming. Every Catholic should read it.

450 PAGES

Price, $1.35

The Catholic Record LONDON, CANADA

Liquor and Tobacco Habits

The Catholic Highlands of Scotland The Western Highlands

Dr. McTaggart's Remedies

309 Stair Building Toronto, Canada

and Islands DOM ODO BLUNDELL O. S. B., F. S. A. (SCOT.)

Author of "The Catholic Highlands of Scotland (Central Highlands)" "Ancient Catholic Homes of Scotland"

2 Vols. $2.75 Postpaid

The Catholic Record LONDON, CANADA

will reduce them and leave no blen Stops lameness promptly. Does not blister or remove the hair, and horse can be worked. $2.50 a bottle delivered. Book 6 R free. WORKED, $2.50 a bottle delivered, $000k 6 Here.

ABSORBINE, JR., for mankind, the antiseptic liniment for Bolis, Bruises, Sores, Swellings, Varicose Veins, Allays Pain and Inflammation. Price $1.25 a bottle at grugglists or delivered. Will tell you more if you write.

W. F. YOUNG, P. D. F., 239 Lymans, Bidg., Montreal, Cab.,

funds I'm at my wit's end to know where I can find one. Do you think you could withdraw from the deal before it is consummated and allow me to have the building on G. ann street for my own settlement house? you and your wife to be want to, you could live there for a while, and run it for me. I wouldn't charge you Fogarty looked up. "You bet you can have it for your social settle-ment—but—but—aren't you afraid of the taint?

Father Ladden smiled. "The taint will be taken out of it when the work I've great plans for it.
I'll have to get some one some lady, preferably, to run it—some one who really loves the poor scientifically and statistically, but really and truly with a Christ-like love. I've been thinking of bringing Vera up here—if she would Fogarty blew out a wreath of that almost formed a halo d his boyish head. "Of course, around his boyish head. "Of course, what you say is true—Vera would be the one; the logical one. In fact, it's for Vera that I got rid of the old man's dough. You see, Vera wouldn't without your say-so, andthat's the reason I asked your advice in the matter."

For a minute Father Ladden did not answer-then he laughed, "You " he cried, " you old rogue But I said that she was a notable girl to insist that you get rid of the money even before I knew it was Vera-and I still say it. My blessing on you, boy, for it looks as though you might prove worthy of her—in time at least."—Louis M. Whelan, in

FOCH, THE MAN OF THE HOUR

Raymond Craft in Americ

True greatness, it has been said, is only brought out by a great crisis. The man of talent and genius often lies hidden and obscure while lesser men have their day, but let a great danger threaten, let an extraordinary peril put the very existence of a nation in jeopardy, then charlatans retiring in meek and chastened silence leave the master mind a clear truth verified more completely than in that of General Ferdinand Foch the Commander in Chief of all the Allied forces on the western front. Known before the fall of 1914 only in army circles as the Director of the War College and a shrewd tactician, ne leaped, almost in a single hour, into public fame as the leading figure in the most decisive battle of the present war, the battle of the Marne.

General Foch was born at Tarbes on August 4, 1851. His father was secretary general of the Prefecture and had three sons, one of whom is a Jesuit, the other a lawyer at Tarbes, while the third, of whom we speak, has just been elevated to the highest rank possible in the Allied forces. At the Jesuit College of St. Etienne, young Foch was noted for his love of study and exemplary conduct. There he acquired that same precision and method that have since made him famous. He was, as one of his early masters said, " made the Polytechnique," the great school for mathematicians and strategists. But with his mathematical talents he combined a love for liter ary studies that was almost a pas History especially appealed to him and he early learned to carry himself in imagination to the ancient battlefields whose glorious traditions he was so capable of up-In 1873, after his first year as head of the French military miswas in command of the Twentieth Corps at Nancy.

Practically his entire course from sub-lieutenant to general has been spent with the troops, and thus he has had ample opportunity to put into practice the strategy which his keen, precise mind had formulated. As Director of the Ecole de Guerre his work was not the cut-and dried tactics of the book strategist; it was rather an art, the product of a man who had found his work and loved it. With his passion for clearness and accuracy, his missionary-like zeal, and his intense, flaming patriotism, he had accomplished wonders in his teaching. His boundless energy infused into others a similar fire. He worked hard himself and permitted ching his aim was not to give his soning out their problems for themselves. "My pages," he says, "are beacon fires on the peaks to guide the mariner in the storm."

General Foch is an ardent disciple of Napoleon. Like the Little Corporal, he believes that the victor is he that "gets there first with the most men." Like him, too, he is a firm believer in the all-importance of the morale of the troops. War to his mind is not merely a physical combat; it is spiritual and intellectual as well. A battle to him is lost only when defeat is acknowledged; conversely, it is won when the army steadfastly refuses to accept defeat.

victors are those who pursue their dence, giving way to no obstacles and holding firm in the face of all dangers. To this end strict discipline is an absolute requirement. Not a blind obedience, but an intelli gent, harmonious cooperation with the commander's will and the use of every possible means to carry out his plans. A battle is the clash of two wills, and the victor is he whose will is the stronger. A clearly defined end to be gained, a single aim in all minds, the same holy anger in every breast, a supreme, united effortthese are the forces that win battles. From this it is clear that Foch is a nan of studious mind, a thinker and a strategist, and the time of need revealed him also as a man of stir-ring, smashing action. On the fifth of September, 1914, von Klack gave for the battle of the Marne by expos ing his right flank to an attack They immediately seize the oppor tunity and fall upon the German wing. Foch, with three army corps, holds the center of the line, and it is here that the Germans seek to avenge themselves for the repulse of their right flank. For four days Foch stands firm under a terrific combardment and desperate assaults. On the fifth he sends Joffre the famous dispatch, "Outflanked on the right, outflanked on the left. Situation on the whole excellent. Am going to advance." And advance he does, falling with a truly Napoleonic daring upon the enemy's flank. His position is now desperate. The die is cast and he must abide by his decision. If his supporting division under Grossetti comes up in time, all is well; if not failure. He pleads with his troops to stand firm and promises them help by noon. Midday comes and Grossetti fails to arrive. Foch sends out more appeals nobly the troops respond. ly, at six in the evening, Grossetti appears and the balance swings towards the side of the French. The Garmans retreat. Foch was again "the anvil on which victory was forged.'

Though the battle of the Marne is Foch's greatest achievement, he has still other laurels in his wreath. the long battle of Flanders his part was no less important and decisive Germans, overwhelmingly superior in number, were pushing the British back and the French were coming up to support them. Dixmude was threatened. But Foch nad not lost his iron temper in the face of danger. He ordered the of industry make is to view the quessluices to be opened and flooded the tion of men and labor as a purely land, barring the Germans from Dunkirk. But now a new battle was beginning around Ypres and the the welfare and happiness of millions situation looked desperate for the Allied forces. The Kaiser was with his troops, waiting to make the triumphal entry into Ypres. More positions were lost, and the Allies deemed it advisable to retreat. In a deemed it advisable to retreat the control of th council of war Foch addressed the British commander, Sir John French: 'The Garmaas have sixteen army corps on our front; we have but ten, including your command. If you retire I shall remain here with eight, one against two. As for me, come what may, even if it costs me my life, I shall not give way. I give you my word for it, as a soldier, and do you give me yours." And French gave it. A plan for a counter-attack was drawn up and executed. Town after town was retaken. The Kaiser was robbed of his expected triumph, and Foch in the early morning occu pied the imperial headquarters. General Foch has always been piety as he bears his honors, simply and without ostentation. Although at the Polytechnic, he received a commission as sub-lieutenant, and from then on he made his way by slow stages till in 1907 he was appointed Brigadier, commander of artillery in the Fifth Army Corps, when Clemenceau, the French when Clemenceau, the French when Clemenceau, the Placeton and the may refuse to sell it if he considers a fair wage and he may refuse to sell it if he considers the wage unjust. Leo XIII. and Director of the Esole de Guerre. Premier, was looking for a Director considers the wage unjust. Leo XIII.

In 1911 he was made General of of the Ecole de Guerre. He had contended the living wage a Division, and in 1912 was sent to Cambridge to the British Maneuvers was finally driven to nominate Foch. his labor is that which will main. The latter, too well aware of the hostility of the Premier and his Governgal comfort. If, through fear or sion; when the War broke out he | tility of the Premier and his Government to all things Catholic, replied abruptly: "Why, sir, it is impossiabruptly: "Why, sir, it is impossi-ble! I am not even a candidate. ble! I am not even a candidate.

Moreover, do you not know of my family and myself, all practising omy and political wisdom which no family and myself, all practising Catholics, and my brother an exiled Jesuit? What will the hostile Assembly say at my appointment "Your brother a Jesuit!" said Clemenceau. "What do I care about that? He cannot prevent your appointment." Such a man is General Foch. His religious honesty, confidence, tranquility, boundless energy, imperturbable good-humor have made him a favorite of the army, and in him they place their unwavering trust. These qualities, together with his keen brain and ever, within the limits of justice and worked hard himself and permitted thorough mastery of military tac-no shirkers about him. In all his tics, make him a fit leader for the Allied forces. And we Americans officers a set rule of conduct for can rest assured that the path to every emergency, but rather the necessary mental direction for reawhen Foch, the master strategist, the hero of the Marne, is in command of the Allied forces. What a light and inspiration shall such a Catholic soldier as General Foch be to our Catholic boys, who, enrolled in the armies of the Republic, shall follow his leadership in France!

A TOUCHING INCIDENT

An incident in connection with the death of Father Bernard Kavan-agh, chaplain with the British forces near Jerusalem, shows how charity and good will have been fostered by comradeship in arms. A Protestant It is not won by the haphazard rush chaplain, very shortly after the death as of so many wild animals: the of Father Kavanagh, went to a convent in a village near and asked the vent in a village near and asked the priest to say Mass for the repose of the soul of the Catholic chaplain. The priest himself had been wounded by a shell and was unfit for duty, but so touched was he by the request that he managed by a great effort to say the Mass as desired. The Protestant chaplain was present and paid the customary stipend, thanking the priest with the most heartfelt sincerity for his services. The little in-cident redounds equally to the credit of the late Father Kavanagh and of his separated brother who so generously performed a spiritual work of mercy on his behalf.—N. Y. Catholic

GENERAL INTENTION FOR JULY

RECOMMENDED AND BLESSED BY HIS HOLINESS POPE BENEDICT XV.

MASTERS AND WORKMEN The relations existing between pasters and workmen were strained in many countries at the beginning of the War, and little or no effort was being made to improve them Strikes, lock outs, and other forms of economic warfare, were fostering antagonism between capital and labor, were alienating one from the other, and were forcing labor, which hoped thereby to obtain justice, to play into the hands of deadly Social As human nature does not change readily and as resentment and antipathies are not easily forgotten, there is the prospect that one of the after-war problems awaiting solution will be the same old hostile attitude and discord among em ployers and employees, who, sound sense tells us, should work to r for their common wel-The peace of families and the gether fare. T tranquility of the State depend upon the mutual trust of those two powerful classes of men, and this mutual trust can be brought about and preserved only by the strict ob-servance of the laws of justice and charity. Justice and charity are not hazy conceptions that may be cast aside as merely speculative; they are, on the contrary, concrete, prac tical exemplifications of the divine will and must be studied, if one wishes to find some basis of settle ment whereby equity and peace shall prevail in the relations of man with

The great mistake too many masters of human beings, who must toil in Allied forces. The Kaiser was with his troops, waiting to make his and idiosyncrasies of capitalists, homes and families as well; it gives a meral aspect to the relations of masters and workmen. Capital may try to save its face by appealing to legal rights and privileges, and the like, but the reciprocal rights of men in regard to other men go deeper than legal enactment; and no matter what laws a State may evolve, if th laws undermine the rights of the family or the individual, they are unjust, for the simple reason that human rights spring from nature and are antecedent to any rights the State may claim.

Among the rights of man there is the paramount one of providing for his own welfare and for the welfare of fervent Catholic. He bears his his family. Seeing that he cannot forego this right, owing to the circumstances in which he lives, it becomes man has a right to demand for wise man will dispute, for the wel-fare of the State depends on the welent?" fare of the units which compose it.
said Further, seeing that workmen are about morally obliged to protect themselves, if they can obtain a just wage in no other way than by offering legitimate resistance in trades unions and similar organizations, they are per-fectly justified in combining with others to exercise moral sussion for the maintenance and even better-ment of their condition, always, howequity. They may provoke reasonable agitation in order to move public opinion in their favor and thus to redress their just grievances. come such that they consider themselves justified in adopting this extreme measure. right to a just share of profit for first to feel the effects. As long, however, as this profit is not made at the expense of labor a captain of to promote the moral and material with them, he should be solicitous for their health, and should watch over the sanitary conditions of fac. Redeemer.—Catholic News. tories, etc., where they spend so much of their time.

It will be easily seen that these mutual rights and obligations have their origin in something higher and more noble than mere political or commercial economy. It may be good policy to treat men well when there is question of making money for money's sake, but the captain of industry has to realize that he is dealing not with mere cogs of a money-making machine but with human souls, and the moral standard calls for something more than coldlooded justice. Employers, whether individual or corporate, whose ideals do not rise higher than their moneybags, may object and tell you that they are absolute owners of what they possess and may claim the right to do what they please with their own. Undoubtedly they are exclus-ive owners of their wealth as far as their neighbor is concerned. But there is a God above them who is the original owner of their wealth Their silver and gold were the work of His hands and He has not renounced His higher dominion over what He made. For this reason capitalists and captains of industry just consider themselves as the stewards of God. They have the exclusive use of the wealth that God created, until such times as His interests call for other applications and refuse to recognize their obliga tions to their weaker brethren. They cannot hold to their right of emporal ownership and see those depending on them suffering from the absence of the decent and frugal comfort to which their dignity as

In the gold old Catholic times the Christian conception of wealth was given a practical application. Those who had wealth shared it with those who had it not, knowing that by so doing they were laying up for them selves treasures in heaven. They saw in the poor and the unfortunate their brethren in Christ and they allowed the laws of justice to yield o those of charity. The history of those golden ages have little to say about strikes and antagonisms between masters and workmen. But the times have changed. This is the age, unhappily, when cold blooded justice, the offspring of sel-fishness, is the standard that guides the actions of too many soulless employers of labor. Let them learn once for all that the problem of the relations between masters and work-men must be solved not on mere philanthropic but on Christian prin ciples. Masters and workmen must ace each other in a Christian spirit; they must look on each other as brethren "in the same great brotherhood of Christ."

There is room here for a crusade social regeneration. Catholics throughout the world should work and pray so that the mellowing in-fluence of their religion may rid the hearts of both master and workmen selfishness, envy, greed and hatred, which are obstacles to a right understanding. The Holy the world to make this intention the object of their prayers during the present month. He wishes to the Prince of Peace reigning in the world and bringing peace and happiness to the social commonwealth.

E. J. DEVINE, S. J.

THE MONTH OF THE PRECIOUS BLOOD

During the month of July, in accord with the Catholic custom, the most Precious Blood of Christ which was shed for us and through the outpouring of which our souls have been redeemed, is put before us as the special object of our fervent worship and as the particular magnet to attract the warm affection of our hearts to the Great Lover of souls, who gave His life for His brethren. It is that crimson tide of living, pulsing blood, says the Los Angeles Tidings, flowing through the veins and throbbing in the heart of the Christ, Who died once for all, and being risen again, dieth now no more, but lives forever in the glory of the Father above, and behind the veils of His Sacramental Presence on All these developments are the summing up of the right of men to the fruits of their labor. But workcious Blood; the Epistles of St. Paul. record. ingmen should understand that the man who employs them also has rights. A captain of industry has a right to a just share of profit for capital invested; otherwise there would be stagnation in the commerwould be stagnation in the commercial world, and labor would be the facts. As long, the fact to feel the effects. As long, the spirit of sacrifice it pro-

And yet his right to acquire legitimate profit does not give him, for instance, the right to endanger men's self-seeking religion it conveys a lives or lower their moral status. He is not professedly called upon to instill the moral virtues, it is true, urgently needed by our comfort loving times. No fitter season could be instill the moral virtues, it is true, in times. chosen for learning such a lesson, and no more profitable exercise of welfare of his workmen. He should and no more profitable exercise of be kind and humane in his dealings our religion can be found for these vacation days of July than the devo-tion to the Precious Blood of our

THE KAISERITES OF BIGOTRY

A press circular issued by the National Committee on Public Information at Washington calls time-ly attention to the pro-German nature of the anti-Catholic propaganda now being carried on against the Catholic Church. America has often adverted to this fact, and public spirited citizens cannot fail to realize it. Governor Catts was right ly prevented from continuing a re-cent harangue against his fellow American citizens of the Catholic faith with cries of "Pro-German!" Whether these attacks are fomented by German agents, as the Committee Public Information believes, or whether they are simply the out croppings of religious bigotry and the intrigues of a petty and despicable political ambition, is immaterial. It is difficult to see how they can be re garded otherwise than treasonable since they are most effectively aiding and abetting the enemy. The same is doubtless true of all similar attacks made upon any lawabiding body of American citizens, whether Jews or Protestants.

Special mention is made in the Committee's circular of the rumor circulated at our very entrance into War, that President Wilson's Catholic secretary had been executed for treason. In the same man-ner the mails have been filled with the alleged "bloody oath of the Knights of Columbus." A pro-German agent, we are told, had been caught distributing copies of it in New Jersey and was forthwith sent to prison. The Washington circular, written by an associate chairman of prison. the Committee on Public Information and officially issued for press notice throughout the country, thus express es its further views upon the subject "In Spain and the Catholic coun tries of South America the Kaiser poses as 'the champion of Catholic avaria and Catholic Austria against Protestant England, infidel France, and Socialistic Italy, the enemy of the Vatican.' He does not preserve that pose in Catholic Belgium or Catholic Poland. And in America the Kaiserite uses this very claim of the Kaiser to arouse enmity against the Catholics, just as in Italy the German agent used it in an unsuccessful at-tempt to seduce the Italian Catholics, and now in America accuses the ItalianCatholics of having succumbed to the seduction. As a matter of fact, the Catholic chaplains in the Italian army were among the first to discover this propaganda among the soldiers, reported it to the officers, and combated it diligently.'

These last words are particularly notable and should forever silence the mouth of calumny. Whether or not we attribute th present anti Catholic propaganda to the agents of the Kaiser, it is certainly doing his work. The men who before the War had been making "a living out of sectarian animosities" are en-Father asks our members throughout | gaged, unconsciously perhaps, in his service today .

They are representing the trouble in Ireland as a purely religious trouble and the opposition to conscription in Quebsc as the same sort of thing: Even Rudyard Kipling recently fell into the trap and denounced the Pope and the Kaiser and nunciations overlooked the fact that Cardinal Mercier, the Catholic prelate of Belgium, has been the most effective popular opponent of the Kaiser that Europe has produced. This is a war of nations, not of creeds. Prussia is as Protestant a nation England is, and Belgium and Poland as Catholic as Austria."

Anyone, therefore, as the public circular concludes, who seeks to involve religious issues with the pres ent War is serving Germany as effect ively as if he were exclusively devoting his attention to disabling our transports or blowing up munition plants. -- America.

SIGN OF DECAYING FAITH

The Census Bureau has published its compilation of vital statistics for the year 1916, says The Tidings. Seventy per cent of the population of earth, that the children of the Church thus reverence and adore. reports, which contain much matter reports, which contain much matter United inseparably with the Divine of interest to the physician and sociol-Personality of the Incarnate Word the Precious Blood once shed for us, the enumeration of 60,162 suiis, indeed, the price of our redemption, worthy of all the worship of grateful hearts. All the religious teaching of the New Testsment is centered in the mystery of the President Plant of the President Plan

No surer sign of the decay of faith in the supernatural can be found. This usurpation, on man's part, of the power over life and death which belongs to his Creator marks a return out to the paganism of the olden time ion when one's existence was held lightly enough and terminated almost a

It is to be hoped that the serious however, as this profit is not made at the expense of labor a captain of industry is within his rights; he does not violate any law of humanity or justice.

The revealed the restriction in the spirit of sacrifice it production in the claims. No other devotion in the control of the way back to church is so comprehensive, and none reveals to the humble and reverse to the humble and reverse the art deeper mysteries or more

Standard Library

NEW JUVENILES

35c. Each, Postpaid

39C. EACH, POSTPAId

Jacques Coeur. By M. Cordellier Delanoue. ('n all the dramatic and stormy so-nes in French History during the 15th Century, there is no more striking figure than that of Jacques Coeur, whose wonderful career fills so large a chapter in the history of Charles Vill's reign.) 252 pages.

Jean Bart, Fhrilling Fale of the Sea. By Frederick Koenig. (A story that will be raed with-considerable interest, especially by boys, who ever delight in stories of heroism and exploits at sea.)

Knight of Bloemencale, The And Other Stories (From' The Ave Maria") (A collection of tales and the strike of the stories of heroism and exploits at sea.)

Knight of Bloemencale, The And Other Stories (From' The Ave Maria") (A collection of tales and the strike by various hands, containing every distributed by various hands, containing every distributed by the strike by various hands, containing every distributed by the season of the first of the season of the season of the first of the season o shaping states and a granda, By Henri Guinot, A Catholic cor of Granda, By Henri Guinot, A Catholic Historical Romance in which the young reader has a climose of the most romantic of cities, with Agor of Granga, By Henri Guinot, A. Caulous, Historical Romance in which the young reader has a glimpse of the most romantic of cities, with descriptions of the warring factions, which disturbed the peace of Spain, even during the reign of Ferdinand and Isabelia. 274 pages,

Bhost at Our School, The, and Other Stories, By Marion J, Brunowe, Selected from "The Ave Maria," There are in all tenh stories, just the kind to interest and delight our children,

That Scamp, Or, The Days of Decatur in Tripolit By John J, O'Shea, Containing 12 illustrations A Tale of the Sea, Very interesting for boys, Truth and Trust. By Lady Georgiana Fullerton, Containing six short stories such as our young readers always admire.

Mabel Stanhope, By Kathleen O'Meara, A Story

teaders atways admire,
Mabel Stanhope, By Kathleen O'Meara, A Story
of French Custom, Very interesting for gir's, Rosemay, By Lady Georgiana Fullerton, A Tale of the Fire of London, A good moral Catholic dith. By Lady Herbert, A Tale of the Present Day, The scene is laid in England, telling the many trials of Edith through life, her marriage and discontent, after which she became a Sister of Charity and finally a Mother Superior, oaina the Rose of the Algonquina. By Anna H. Dorsey, An Indian story dealing with thrilling narratives of the early French Missions in Canada. Father Etieme's unceasing efforts in persuading Coaina to embrace Christianity

RELIGIOUS BOOKS

60c. Each Postpaid

Blessed Margaret Mary Alacoque, by Rev. Geo Tacknell, S. J. Ta ed Margaret Mary Alacoque, by Rev. Geo

ing. artyrs, by D. P. Conyngham, LL. D. sints from St. Patrick to Lawrence O'Toole. aints from St. Patrick to Lawrence O'Toole. D. P. Conyngham, LL. D. f St. Monice by M. L'Abbe Bougaud. Vicas eral of Orleans. From the French, by Rev. hony Farley. of St. Paul Of The Cross, by the Rev. Father

, Passionist. Our Lord Jesus Christ, by St. Bonaventure:

Life of Our Lord Jesus Christ, by St. Bonaventure: With 100 empravings.
Maidens of Hallowed Names, Embracing the lives of St. Agnes, St. Gertrude, St. Rose of Lima, St. Catherine, St. Genevieve, St. Teresa, St. Cecilia, etc. By Rev. Charles Piccirillo. S. J. Martyrs The. This is the famous history of the last persecutions of the Christians at Rome, by Viscount de Chateaubriand.
Martyrs of 1 the Colseum, or Historical Records of the Great Amphitheatre of Ancient Rome. By Rew A. J. O'Reilly, D. Henry Lasserre. A complete history of the apparition, together with a number of authentic miracles performed at the Grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes, performed at the Grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes, D. Moseph.
Sin And Its Consequences, by Cardinal Manning. St. Aloysius Gonzaga of the Society of Jesus, by Edward Healey Thompson.
St. Alphonsus M. Liguori, Bishop of Agatha by Bishop Mullock.
St. Augustine, Bishop, Confessor and Doctor of the Church, by Rev. P. E. Moriarty, O. S. A.
St. Erenchet the Moor, the son of a slave. From the French of Canon M. Allibert.

Bernard, by M. L'Abbe Ratisbonne. Charles Borromeo. Edited by Edward Healey Catharine of Sienna, by Blessed Raymond of Cecilia, Virgin and Martyr, By Rev. Father

Gueranger, Elizabethof Hungary, by Montalembert, Frances of Rome, by Lady Georgianna Fullerton with an essay on the saint's life.
Francis de Sales, Bishop and Prince of Geneva,
by Robert Ormsby, M. A.
Francis Assisi, Social Reformer. By Rev. Leo

t. Francis Assisi, Social Reformer. By Rev. Leo D, Louis.
t. Ignatius of Loyola, founder of the Society of Jesus, by Bartoli. Two volumes. 50c. each.
t. Ignatius and His Companions — St. Francis Xavier, Peter Faber, Simon Rodriguer, and miracles after his death. The Society of Jesus, and miracles after his death, the Society of Jesus, and miracles after his death. The Society of Jesus, and miracles after his death. The Society of Jesus, and miracles after his death. The Society of Jesus, and miracles after his death. The Society of Jesus, and miracles after his death. The Jesus his death of Jesu

Patrick, by Right Rev. M. J. O'Farrell, Bishop of Rose of Lima. By Rev. F. W. Faber, D. D.

t. Thomas of Villanova. St. Teresa. Written by herself. Translated by Rev Canon Dalton. t. Vincent de Paul, by Rev. Henry Bedford. Temporal Mission of The Holy Ghost by Cardinal

uing.

Devotion to The Blessed Virgin, by the Blessed s-Marie, Grignon de Montfort, Translated the French by Rev. Frederick Wm. Faber, D.D. rue Religion And Its Dogmas, The; by Rev. Nicholas Russo, S. J., formerly Professor of Philos-ophy in Boston College. atican Council, and Its Definitions, by Cardinal ictims of The Mamertine. Picturing the trials and martyrdom of the saints of the early Church. By Rev. A. J. O'Reilly, D. D. Rev. A. J. O'Reilly, D. D.

'cear With The Saints, A. Short meditations for each day throughout the year on different virtues with examples taken from the lives of the saints.
'ear of Mary. Seventy-two chapters on exercises of devotion to the Mother of God.

of devotion to the Mother of God, lames that live in Catholic Hearts. Memoirs of Gardinal Ximenes, Michael Angelo, Samuel de Champlain, Archbishop Plunkett, Charles Carroll, Henri de Larochejacquelein, Simon de Mostfort By Anna T. Sadlier, No more delightful reading can be placed in the hands of the people than this volume. In devotion to duty these men far surpass the heroes of romance, and the stery of their lives, with their trials and triumphs, can not fail to excite interest in every host.

Ask for Quantity Discount

The Catholic Record LONDON CANADA

60c. Each Postpaid Bond and Free. By Jean Connor. A new story by an author who knows how to write a splendidly strong book.

improvident speculations on the part of the father.

Double Knot, A; and Other Stories, by Mary T.

Waggaman and others. The stories are excellent and contain much pathos and humor.
Fabiola. By Cardinal Wiseman. This edition of Cardinal Wiseman's tale of early Christian times is much more modern and decidedly more attractive to an the old editions.
Fabiolas Sisters. Adapted by A. C. Clarice. This
Fabiolas Sisters. Adapted by A. C. Clarice. This
Fabiolas Sisters. Adapted by A. C. Clarice. This Fabiolas The Company of the Company of the Company
Fabiolas Sisters. Adapted by A. C. Clarice. This Fabiolas Sisters. Adapted by A. C. Clarice.
Fabiolas Sisters. Adapted by A. C. Clarice. This Fabiolas Sisters. Adapted by A

details not always found in novels of the day, while its development bears witness at every page to a complementary of the subject, joined to grace and for a subject, by the subject, joined to grace and for the subject of the subject, joined to grace lish life redolent of genuine Celtic wit, love and pathos, and charming in the true Catholic spirit that newsites exempts.

pathos, and charming in the tenth of the pathos, and charming in that permeates every page.

Monit's Pardon, The. By Raoul de Navery. An Monit's Pardon, The. By Raoul de Navery. An Monit's Pardon, The. By Raoul de Navery.

Monk's Pardon, The. By Raoul de Navery. An Monk's Pardon, The. By Raoul de Navery. An Monk's Pardon, The. By Raoul de Navery. An Monk's Pardon, The. By Raoul de Navery. My Lady Beatrice. By Frances Cooke. The steey of a society guif's development through the love of a strong man. It is vivid in characterization, and intense in interest in the steep of a strong man. He is vivid in characterization, and intense in interest of the strong and full of action, and contains a great deal of masterly characterization.

Outlaw Of Camargue, The. By A. de Lamothe, This is a capital novel with plenty of "go" in it Rose of The World. By M. C. Martin. A very sweet and tender story, and will appeal to the reader through these qualities.

Round Table of French Catholic Novelists, Active Cooke, and the reader through these qualities.

Round Fable of French Catholic Novelists, Active Cooke, Trench Catholic Novelists, Common French Catholic Novelists, Common Catholic Novelists, C

I he story is one of high ideals and strong charac-ters. The "secret" is a very close one, and the reader will not solve it until near the end of the book.

Shadow Of Eversleigh. By Jane Lansdowne. It is a weird tale, blending not a little of the super-natural with various stirring and exciting 'accidents.

75c. Each, Postpaid

Dion And The Sibyls. By Miles Keon. A classic novel, far richer in sentiment and sounder in end. Catholic Crusoe, by Rev. W. H. Anderdon, M. A. The adventures of Owen Evans, Esq., Surgeon

Island in the Carricean Sea.

Joursa Kirkbridge, by Rev. A. J. Thebaud, S. J. A dramatic tale of New York City after the Civil War, full of exciting narratives infused with a strong religious moral tone.

Soemary, by J. Vincent Huntington. This novel, though written many years ago holds its place among the best stories we have to-day.

85c. Each, Postpaid

Ambition's Contest. By Father Faber. The story of a young man we starts out in life to be a stateman could his religion, but finally, through the prayers of other his religion, but finally, through the prayers of other his religion, but finally, through the prayers of other his religion, but finally discalled to the priesthood.

Billy Glenn of the Broken Shutters. By Anthony Yorke. Illustrated, A story of boy life in the downtown section of New York, narrating adventures of Billy Glenn and his companions of The Broken Shutters, a boys' club of their neighborhood. The book is full of adventures, including a thrilling rescue of a child from a burning building by Billy and an exciting tip on a sailing vessel in Burden of Honor, The. By Christine Faber, A story of mystery and entenglements so interwoven as to create new difficulties in rapid succession. As in all Christine Faber's books, the action is drama-tic sudden and severe.

Con O'Regan. By Mrs. James Sadlier, Narrating the experiences of Con O'Regan and his sister Winnie in an interesting and wholescome manner, Ellimor Preston. By Mrs. James Sadlier, A novel, following a young girl through her sorrows and following a young girl through her sorrows and loys

Fatal Resemblance, A. By Christine Faber, This is an entertaining romance of two young girls is an entertaining romance of two young girls, and shows how uncertain are the smiles of fortunes, Gordon Lodge. By Agnes M. White. A fascinating Catholic novel relating the adventures of an orphan left in the care of a relative.

Guardian's Mystery, The. By Christine Faber, This is a capital story well told. It contains just is a capital story well told. It contains just the contains of the Roman Catholic Catholic Story reprinted from the Messenger of The Sacred Heart.

Leandro Or, the Sign of the Cross, A Catholic story reprinted from the Messenger of The Sacred Heart.

Lisbeth. The Story of a First Communion. By strong faith and earnest simplicity.

fargaret Roper. A very interesting historical novel by Agnes M. Stewart.

by Agnes at, Stewart, Mocondum [e.e. By John Boyle O'Reilly. A thrilling story of heroism, and adventure in which most of the action takes place in the Penal Prisons is Australia to which Moondyne Joe has been condemned for political activity, and from which he forces his escape through a series of dare-devil adventures.

adventures.

Mother's Sacrifice, A. By Christine Faber. A Catholic story of the trials of a widow whose only son is invocently accused of murdering an enemy of her family. When all seems lost, the real murderer falled with remore, confesses his crime. New Lights, A very interesting tale by Mrs. James Sadlier. Sadies.

O'Mahony. The Chief of the Comeraghs. A tale of the Irish Rebellion of 1788, by D. P. Comyngham, L. L. D.

Old and New. Or, Taste Versus Fashion. A novel written in a fascinating manner. By Mrs. James Condition.

Stringer Catholic Story. By Minnie Mary Lee. A novel full of interest and example.

Strayed from the Fold. By Minnie Mary Lee. A solendid Catholic story with a very strong moral, Towers of St. Nicholas, The. By Mary Agatha Gray. A story of the persecution of Catholics during the reign of Queen Rizabeth.

Trinity of Friendships, The. By Gilbert Guest. A new star has entered the galaxy of story writers in the person of Gilbert Guest, let them not forget that this gifted writer knows as much about girls as Father Finn knows about boys.

Within and Without the Fold. By Minnie Mary Lee.

Ask for Quantity Discount

The Catholic Record LONDON, CANADA

The Catholic Record

Price of Subscription-$1.50 per annu United States & Europe-$2.00 Publisher and Proprietor, Thomas Coffey, LL.D. Editors { Rev. James T. Foley, B. A. Thomas Coffey, LL. D. Associate Editors { Rev. F. J. O'Sullivan. H. F. Mackintosh.

Manager—Robert M. Burns.
Advertisements for teachers, situations wanted, ste., 50 cents each insertion. Remittance to secompany the order.
Approved and recommended by Archbishops Falconio and Sbaretti, late Apostolic Delegates to Canada, the Archbishops of Toronto, Kingston, Uttawa and St. Roniface, the Bishops of London, Hamilton, Peterborough, and Ogdensburg, N. Y., and the clergy throughout the Dominion, Obituary and marriage notices cannot be inserted except in the usual condensed form.
Each insertion 50 cents.
The following agents are authorized to receive

RESOND:
General agents: M. J. Hagarty, Vincent S.
Gox, and Miss Jessie Doyle; resident agents; Mrs.
W. E. Smith, Halifax; Miss Bride Saunders, Syd.
asy; Miss L. Heringer, Winnipeg; E. R. Costello, $256-8th ave West. Vancouver, B. C.; Silss Johnson, 111 Rochester St., Ottawa; Miss Rose McKeaney, 149 D'Aiguillon St., Quebec; Mrs. George E.
Smith, 2393 St., Urbain St. Montreal; M. J. Mervin, Montreal; B. F. O'Toole, 2341 Arsyle St.,
Regina, Sask., and E. J. Murphy, Box 125, Saskatoon. bers changing residence will please give Busscribers can be address.

In St. John, N. B., single copies may be purhased from Mrs. M. A. McGuire, 249 Main Street, ad John J. Dwyer. In Sydney, N. S., single copies may be pur-based at Murphy's Bookstore. In Montreal single copies may be purchased from J. Millov, 241 St. Catherine St., West.

LONDON, SATURDAY, JULY 6, 1918

AN AUTHORITY ON LYING "Any lie that (a Jesuit) tells in him the virtue of the highest truth."

So the Rev. Mr. Spence, President of the Guelph Ministerial Associa- of a similar refusal in the case where from the pulpit a week ago Sunday.

Before the War we were never done boasting of the progress and tary Service Act and you were able enlightenment and humanity of our to show conclusively that the Miliage as compared with preceding tary Service Act had no possible apages. Since then we have learned plication to your son no matter that all the old atrocities and bar. where he was or what he was doing barities that man ever conceived. even in a state of savagery, are matsavage and revolting is poisoning the chism? wells so that the enemy in slaking death from a fleeing foe. Whether charitably believe, must be weighing poisoning the wells or not is per. at the present time: haps open to dispute; but that, before retreating, they befouled the waters so as to make them unfit for drinking is beyond question.

Mr. Spence has done in his controment and lies. (Matt. vii. 1.) versy with the Jesuits; he has done his best and his worst to poison the or jocose lie, or to tell a lie for a good wells. He made a charge, a lying purpose? charge against his Jesuit neighbors. He may have believed it at the time. He saw it crumbling, however; and always sinful and bad in itself. fleeing to another prepared position he poisoned or befouled the wells of controversy. He told his gaping crowd of credulous dupes that to a Jesuit a lie in defence of his Order was the highest virtue of truth. And he pretended to exceptional and accurate scholarship in the matter. "When Protestant minising controversialist, "attend theological colleges they study as well Roman Catholicism and know all the vows the Catholic priests are

We wonder if the Ray, Mr. Spence | truth in all things. and the body of ministers of which he is the head have any guilty knowledge of a villainous Titus bor, or who have spoken ill of him, or injured his character in any Oates concoction which has been respect? printed and distributed amongst

Oath " or the " Oath " of the Knights | not be forgiven them. of Columbus. Whether low intelligence can be so low or high credul-about the oath of allegiance.

We challenge the Ray. Mr. Spence tergiversation. to make good his cowardly insinuation by quoting any or all of the tion-mongers as "men of low intellig vows the Catholic priests are ence and high credulity " is timely is so familiar.

For the open and lying charge that in defence of his Church or Order a Jesuit may lie and impute to himself the highest virtue of truth. Mr. Spence can hardly evade responsibility. Mr. J. P. Murray, of Toronto, in a letter-reproduced on page oneto the Globe has placed the onus probandi on the Reverend Gentleman so squarely that if he does not wish to insult the intelligence of his hearers, or unless he addresses himself 'he must accept the challenge.

for a lying charge against the Jes- pay a visit daily to the Club."

uits. The charge is now known to be utterly baseless. Not a single defaulter under the Military Service Act was found at the Jesuit institution. The Government after searchchange in the act was mooted; besides, four military doctors had examined him and placed him in Category E as unfit for military duty.

Mr. Spence and his ministerial brethren owe to the Jesuits of Guelph and to Mr. Doherty, but above all they owe it to themselves and to their cloth, a frank and full withdrawal of the charges made and an apology for making them.

Come, Mr. Spence, are you a gen tleman? Or, are you only what by an extension of perfunctory courtesy people call "a reverend gentleman?" The latter title is not yet generally regarded as a term of reproach; but- . . You claim to be an England. authority on lying. What would you think of a Jesuit, for instance, who had publicly accused you of harboring defaulters, and, when you had shown conclusively the charge was defence of his Church or Order is to lying charge or to apologize therefor

What would you think, Mr. Spence, tion, declared to his congregation you had been charged with doubledealing, hypocrisy and dishonesty in enabling your son to evade the Mili-

You studied "Roman Catholicism when in a theological college. Did ters of actual and daily occurrence. you ever read that compendium of Amongst them all perhaps the most Catholic theology - Butler's Cate-

This is what the Catechism has to his thirst may meet a treacherous say on a subject which, we may the Germans were actually guilty of somewhat on Mr. Spence's conscience

> Q. Say the Eighth Commandment Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor. (Ex. xx.) Q. What is forbidden by the Eighth Commandment?

. O. Is it lawful to tell an innoces

No lie can be lawful or inno cent; and no motive, however good can excuse a lie; because a lie is

No Motive-not even in a Jesuit the good of his Order, or in an Congregational Minister the desire to discredit his Jesuit neighbor - can excuse a lie.

Eighth Commandment?

A. Backbiting, calumny, and detraction; and all words and speeches ters," said this learned and fair deal- hurtful to our neighbor's honor or

What is commanded by the Eighth Commandment? A. To speak of others with justice and charity, as we would be glad they did speak of us; and to witness the

Q. What must they do who have

They must repair the injury some at least of the drafted soldiers done him, as far as they are able, in Military District No. 1?

It was represented as the "Jesnit line his good name as soon as possible : otherwise the sin will

The attempt to divert public dis cussion to the alleged unfairness of ity be so high that such an "Oath" the provisions of the Military Service could be thought genuine we have Act is not, according to Catholic not yet learned. But somehow it theology at any rate, adequate repar. came to our mind on reading of Mr. ation. And according to the natural Spence's familiarity with " all the sense of equity and justice, decency vows the Catholic priests are required and honor, of self-respecting men who may know little of any theology There is no more secrecy about and care less, the change of front of the vows priests take than there is Mr. Spence and the brethren will not be regarded as reparation but as

Mr. Asquith's definition of sensa required to take, and with which he it is not only a definition, but an explanation.

> THE ARMY AND NAVY CLUB HALIFAX

necessary institution has been main- ery of every profession of English tained hitherto by the Catholics of vindication of the ideals of justice Halifax, though obviously it is the and liberty. There lies Ireland's only to those devoid of intelligence, Naval Service alone," writes the British democracy and induce Ire. what an appetite the public has for President, "quartered in Halifax land's sons to take their place volun- the sensational and the extent to Mr. Spence personally and as Presthere are three hundred Toronto tarily in the ranks of those who are, which the press caters to it. One

Any financial assistance would be appreciated and contributions may be addressed to Jas. Kellaher, 56 South St., Halifax, N. S. Though Renfrew, and many other places Ontario has done the lion's share in ing investigation have so declared. supporting the Catholic Army Huts | bracketing together the Pope and the Mr. Doherty's son entered before the oversea there will be no question of Kaiser, and all that sort of stuff. the utility and necessity of the Army that we have an important naval service on this side of the ocean.

Editor to the CATHOLIC RECORD.

IRELAND

Apart from military considerations the condition of Ireland today is mockery of every profession to which we give utterance as vindicators of the ideals of justice and The Daily News, London, worth while worrying about.

Imbedded in an Associated Press despatch from London, June 21st, in one paper we found the paragraph which carried the same, identical false, who refused to retract his despatch this paragraph was omitted. from Moslem control, is recalled by Suppressio veri is evidently not a themselves to "moulding public opinion" with regard to Ireland.

> The paragraph is short; but compressed therein is a wealth of bitter dealing with it effectively.

The outlook in Ireland is at present discouraging; but that editorial comment of this great English journal on Lord Curzon's pitifully mately the pharisees will give place to men who believe in the ideals which they profess, and will put them in force even in Ireland.

We have explained at various Ireland, at the beginning of the War. England's enthusiastic ally, now Per Christum. sullen, apathetic, distrustful.

It is urged, honestly urged by the time her ardent aspiration after the political ideals for which the War is being waged.

Nationalist Ireland did just that Ireland flouted the hopes and derided sand years ago over the emancipation the faith of Irishmen who were giving their lives for the ideals they cherished; and the anti-Irish faction, high placed and insolent, proclaimed for freland the very antithesis of the solemn war professions Q. What else is forbidden by the of liberty and justice, of government by the consent of the governed, of democracy, and self-determination for small nationalities. The Government endorsed the treason of the Ascendancy faction, and trifled with, when they did not openly insult, the National aspiration to participate in the new era of liberty and justice.

There were difficulties no doubt for British statesmen no matter how able and sincere; and the statesman's difficulties were faction's opportunity. Sinn Fein was made in Ulster and Westminster, not in Germany.

Sinn Fein as an expression of discontent, disillusionment, distrust, is unfortunately an undeniable fact Sinn Fein as an expression of Irish pro-German sentiment is a chimera. that a certain type of Protestant That some Irishmen at home and minister who prides himself on his abroad would set up an Irish Republ moral rectitude, can, in the very act lic by force of arms and with the aid of defaming the Jesuit, conform to of England's enemies is not to be the foul maxim which in his blind doubted; there have always been fury he attributes to the latter. The ideals of justice and liberty replace proclaiming his own immaculate in Irish government the Prussian honesty, and his spiritual leadership. ideals of force; until the principles Strange practice for an honest man, of democracy are substituted for the or a self-vaunted spiritual guide to practice of the veto by a privileged step aside from legitimate controand arrogant minority. It is regret- versy (for, we readily concede there table that it should be so, but it is may have been room for misunderquite as natural, quite as praise- standing in his narrow mind in rejoin with Italy to fight for their own der and abuse his opponent! As an freedom.

ideals of justice and liberty.

ANTI-CATHOLIC RUBBISH

We have received from subscribers samples of Russellite literature

One correspondent calls attention and Navy Club at the great port of to the fact that it was "Passed by the embarkation on this side of the Censor." The explanation is this: water. And it must not be forgotten The Russellites are opposed to the War and have been publishing matter which is expressly forbidden by law The Rev. Dr. Foley mentioned in as tending to hinder the prosecution honorable to the Society and that as the Herald account is a contributing of the War. Some of their leaders in the Jesuit Estates affair, those approve the Russellite "theology."

Russellism is the latest of the sects; it, of course, is opposed to the Catholic Church. But the proper place for such "literature" is the was this choice morsel of Protestant rubbish heap or the fire. It is not

NOTES AND COMMENTS

CATHOLIC FEELING (which is solely above quoted; in every other paper that of gratitude and thanksgiving) over the redemption of Jerusalem the discovery in the Augustinian means unknown to those who lend Library at Rome of an ancient document, written on parchment in the twelfth century, and used in the churches of that order in the Eternal City. The manuscript consists of and undeniable truth. Suppression 213 pages, beautifully illuminated on was the only adequate means of a gold background in the best manner of the medieval scribes.

> WHAT IS OF particular interest in is the Mass dedicated to the Anniverthe Mass reads:

"Omnipotens Deus, qui in virtute tuam de manu paganorum eruisti et Christianis reddidisti, adesto quaesumus nobis propitius et concede, ut times the unhappy metamorphosis of qui hanc sollemnitatem annua recolimus devotione, ad superne Hierusalem gaudia pervenire mereamur,

Or, in English :

"Almighty God who in Thy won-Ireland's friends throughout the derful power has wrested Thy city world, that she should put aside for Jerusalem from the hands of the pagans and given it back to the Christians, etc

Although under auspices of anvery thing. But anti-Nationalist no less than their brethren of a thouof the Holy City.

> THE PROPENSITY of the great Protestant public to work itself into a frenzy of excitement over the very mention of the name Jesuit has been effectively demonstrated during the past few weeks. Even the War has had to give place in the daily papers for the time being to the ill-considered agitation over the status under the Military Service Act of the inmates of St. Stanislaus Novitiate, Guelph, and, as was to be expected, ere the public discussion of the matter had proceeded very far the customary tribute of abuse, slander, and misrepresentation had to be paid to the Society of Jesus. That is the Jesuits' birthright, and in the light of present excitement, which is a verit able tempest in a teapot in comparison.

IT IS A singular thing, however, such, there always will be until the Rev. Mr. Spence, of Guelph, has been worthy even, as that the oppressed gard to the status of the Jesuit Slav nationalities of Austria should novices under the M. S. A.,) to slaneducated man, and an avowed stu-The Daily News is radical; and dent of history, he must know that with the new franchise, radical will the maxim he attributed to the In another column we reproduce be the British Parliament and Goy. Jesuits is a demonstrated falsehood. from the Halifax Herald a glowing ernment. There is no reason to If on the other hand he should plead account of the successful working of doubt that that radical Parliament ignorance we have the pretty specthe Army and Navy Club. This will recognize that Ireland is a mock. tacle of ignorance posing as teacher and lecturing the multitude.

THE AMOUNT of space given to this affair, and the lead was followed lous and political matters. He then in Charlottetown, Edmonton, Ottawa, pretty generally throughout Ontario. Certain it is that if the Society of Certain it is that if the Society of Jesus were looking for free advertising they have had it in abundance. Says the same party by the anti-Catholics, but The great public have awakened to the fact that the Jesuit is in their dier and a scholar. He has become during the last four years successively a diplomat and a politician. smoke and dust of controversy has cleared away it will be seen that nothing has transpired that is not are now in jail. The Censor had in who have been instrumental in stirmind the bearing of the effusions on ring up trouble have simply sucthe War only; he did not mean to ceeded in making themselves ridic-

> TUCKED AWAY in an obscure corner of all this mass of ignorant philippic polemics. The "famous Jesuit Oath," (as one evening paper calls it) was, it will be remembered, made to do double duty during the Ne Temere excitement of a few years ago. It has made its appearance periodically before and since, and will no doubt continue to force itself into public view at each recurring Protestant panic of the future. For as fable is the basis of the Protestant view of everything Catholic, and ignorance its inalienable protection and support, it is not to be expected that Protestantism as such can flourish without some such tonic as the 'Jesuit Oath." It would die of sheer inanition if deprived of it.

IT WAS QUITE in keeping with the the document at this time, however, occasion, therefore, that it should come to the surface now, though, for disingenuous speech in the House of sary of the taking of Jerusalem, fixed reasons to be mentioned presently it Lords gives reason to hope that ulti. for July 15th, 1099. The Oratio of was smuggled into the arena surreptitiously. It is not the least notice. able feature of this choice of weaptua mirabili Hierusalem civitatem ons that their users often wield them the seems to have been lurking in the into the mind of Rev. Dr. Hincks, President of the Toronto Ministerial Association, when he said: "I notice that the old Jesuit oath has again come hundred and fifty of the enemy, in into prominence. I would not base much on that oath, as while such an oath may exist, yet we have never been able to find it."

> not here wield the weapon himself. other kind, Catholics of today rejoice on less than their brethren of a thought of the contrary, he rather discourstance other story is that German substitution of the contrary of the contra greatly mistaken, however, the reverend doctor distinguished himself during the Ne Temere flare-up as one of the most adept manipulators that a few hundred additional of this fine Damascus blade. With it prisoners have been secured he sought to cut a wide swath through the serried ranks of "clericalism." It is a fair inference from his latest captured. It is added that only after deliverance, however, that the blade much statistical work will it be posbroke in his hands and so far as the sible to give a statement as to the himself in the midst of the fray dis-armed and helpless. "Such an oath total captures by the Italian forces may exist," he says, "but we have during their counter-offensive are never been able to find it."

DR. HINCKS, it will observed, does himself forced to admit that the oath in question is the merest figment of a diseased imagination. It has no been taken prisoner. There is no cabinet circles, but the militia design of an Italian advance across the partment says that it is through with the prisoner. The concentration of Austria. The Minister of Militia is leaving what they have had to endure in the basis in fact, and as Dr. Hincks seems an troops on the Alpine front with one breath to admit, simmers doubtless caused the transfer of the down to a cruel and gratuitous slander. What then does the reverend able in the event of an initial enemy doctor do in this contingency. Ac- success in his next attack. knowledge his error like a man, and make such reparation as becomes a tinue their nightly raids all along teacher of Christian ethics? Not at the front from near Ypres to the all; he prudently, and for obvious region east of Rheims. reasons, counsels temporal disuse of in checking up the number and identhe weapon, but while making osten-tity of the enemy troops in the sible acknowledgment of its illegality trenches, but of the fact that the he makes a cunning underhand shift and releases a volume of poison gas to befog and bewilder his followers. June 27. By "it may exist, but we have not DOUBT BEGINS to creep into the been able to find it " he well knew writings of European military critics when he uttered the words that by those who are accustomed to look to those who are accustomed to look to him for guidance he would be underthe question has been, "Where will stood to mean " I have not been able Hindenburg strike next?" to lay my hands upon an authentic a few begin to ask," Will Hindenburg copy, but I have a shrewd idea that strike again? The war correspondents on the British front are not it exists none the less." That is a among the doubters. They fair inference from his words, and only believe the Germans will attack having regard to the occasion they once more, but consider that the cannot be classified otherwise than as the basest of innuendo. If Rev. to their positions. Meanwhile, there Spence wants any examples in action is unworted calm all along the battleof the foul maxim he has attributed line. Save for a small local British to the Jesuits he has them to hand attack on the German lines near old in his own proceeding and in that of his clerical brother, Dr. Hincks.

C. P. A. Service

Mr. Spence personally and as President of the Guelph Ministerial Association has made himself responsible for a lying charge against, the Jessidan to take their place volunties eshestational and the extent to which the press caters to it. One the muly proclaimed President of Portonto daily gave up no less than other Ontario towns, and these men done, fighting and dying for the two solid pages of its valuable space in the city Hall, Lisbon. After the proclamation he read a day, which resulted in the occupaaccorded a great amnesty to political Some fears were felt re-none took place.

Senor Paes is a strong man, a sol-Through all these roles he has shown himself an honest man and a sincere Catholic, and it is to him that Portugal owes the rejuvenation which is coming over her and freedom from selfish fanatics who would ruin her for their own aggrandisement.

ON THE BATTLE LINE

THE AUSTRIAN disaster on the Piave became a rout on Sunday afternoon when the enemy troops who had gathered around the one remaining pontoon bridge in the Montello region were subjected to a demoraliz ing artillery fire and to the constant bombing of the Allied aviators who showered explosives upon the masses struggling to cross the swollen stream. Up to Sunday afternoon the Italians captured forty five thou sand of the enemy, and it is certain that thousands of stragglers, hiding in the reed-covered marsh lands along the twenty miles of river bank held by the Austrians on the West side of total. The spoil of war has been great. The Italians have recovered the guns they left on the Montello, but have taken many Austrian field guns brought across the Piave by the advancing enemy. Globe, June 25.

THE EXTRAORDINARY stories about the destruction of London by Zeppelins and the isolation of the British Isles, that were current among the Germans at the front during the early part of the War, find their counterpart now in tall tales about the invasion of the United States The American troops in the sector north of the Marne have ons that their users often wield them shamefacedly. Some such feeling of Belleau and driving them down into the low-lying land north of Chateau-Thierry. The last stage of the operation took place on Tuesday night, and in the course of their advance the Americans captured two cluding seven officers. One of the officers "gave away" the ope of the cheerup branch of the German army. He informed his captors that the German Commanders have been telling the soldiers that a German army has landed in America, and having captured New York, is now ages the use of it. If we are not marines have sunk between forty and fifty ships in Long Island South

THE ITALIANS continue to clear official despatch from Rome states in the process, and that all the Italian artillery, arms and material captured by the Austrians have been re 'Jesuit Oath" is concerned, he found brought up to the neighborhood This presumably refers only to the last two days of Now this is what we call a neat bit battle. General Diaz has already of Protestant polemics. He has found officially announced that since June 40,000 of the enemy have Italian reserves to that region, so storm troops to be used in the opera-tions are already being moved up in-Berquin on Wednesday night, which resulted in the improvement of the British position and the ture of some prisoners, there men in blue and khaki from outside hope. They are Ireland's true friends places who chiefly benefit. "In the who can revive the Irish faith in instructive. It shows for one thing a SINCERE CATHOLIC during the past thirty-six hours. In been no infantry action on the front the Vosges the French carried out some exploratory raids.

BRITISH AND French troops conafford evidence not only of vigilance papers. Germans have not vet disclosed the assault is to be launched.-Globe,

which the press caters to it. One Toronto daily gave up no less than two solid pages of its valuable space in one issue, to much idle gossip and Senor Sidonio Paes has been soltently and the City Hall, Lisbon. After the proclamation he read a speech in which he promised to govern the Cater was considered by him to be the highest to record on the Plave front. The talians in the sharp action of These talians in the sharp action of a bridgehead at Capp Sile, on false," he declared. "They are action of a bridgehead at Capp Sile, on false," he declared. "They are action of a bridgehead at Capp Sile, on false," he declared. "They are action of the Plave front. The record on the Plave front. The record on the Plave front. The talians in the sharp action of These tales are the create was considered by him to be the highest to record on the Plave front. The talians in the sharp action of These tales are the create was considered by him to be the highest virtue. "I was twenty five years of day, which resulted in the occupation of the processing that the create was considered by him to be the highest virtue. "I was twenty five years of day, which resulted in the occupation of the processing that the create was considered by him to be the highest virtue. "I was twenty five years of day, which resulted in the occupation of the processing that the create was considered by him to be the highest virtue. "I was twenty five years of day, which resulted in the occupation of the processing that the create of the create was considered by him to be the highest virtue. "I was twenty five years of day, which resulted in the occupation of the create was considered by him to be the highest virtue."

little intelligent discussion of the ern with complete tolerance in relig- the east side of the old channel of officers and 501 prisoners of other ranks. The marshland which occu-pies the delta between the old and the new mouths of the river been pretty well cleared of the enemy, and the Italian positions are as good now as they were when the attack began.

IT IS OFFICIALLY announced at Washington that a regiment of American soldiers will be sent at once to the Italian front as tangible evidence of the solidarity of the Allies. The sending of this regiment is not to be taken as representing the full extent of American military participation on the Italian from which may be carried out later. This action is doubtless President Wilson's method of meeting the German lie that the United States has no sympathy with Italian aspir-ations for the redemption of the Italian population under Austrian rule. Up to the present time, while the United States and Austria for several months, there has been no fighting between the troops of the two countries. If the transportation program of the United States is carried out, there will be 1,450,000 American soldiers in Europe by the end of August.—Globe

MINISTERS TURNED DOWN

GENERAL MEWBURN DECLARES CALUMNY BASELESS AND INCIDENT CLOSED

JESUITS DEMAND APOLOGY

Special to The Free Press

Ottawa, June 24.—So far as official Ottawa is concerned, the Guelph incident arising out of the "raid" on the Jesuit Novitiate is declared to be

While a visit to the institution was both justified and ordered, the way it was carried out has caused Capt. MacAuley of London to be transferred. He had no instructions to do so, and in the opinion of the Min ister of Militia he displayed bad udgment in visiting the institution at night, surrounding it with a cor don and making a theatrical demon stration in force when there was six teen hours of daylight in which, without display, the same thing could have been accomplished quiet

NONE ELIGIBLE

Inquiry has shown that none of those in the institution was eligible for service. Hon. Mr. Doherty's son entered before the order-in council changing the act was mooted and the exemption of such religious orders in the original act was maintained in the new regulations. Besides a mili tary board had placed him in Category E as unfit for any military duty. It is true that whereas members of Roman Catholic orders are exempted Protestant divinity students are not, but the elimination from the act of the "divinity students" clause, after it had been specially put in, was un doubtedly done at the instance of group of Ontario members, and the leaders in the movement were con-nected with the Orange Order.

While it is not presumed here that such was their motive, the way it works out is to cause an inequality of treatment, the Minister of Justice speaking at the time in the House taking the stand that it would been much better all around to have left the clause as it was.

The Guelph incident has undoubt edly caused a considerable flurry in partment says that it is through with The Minister of Militia is leaving raland and France

The militia department stated this morning that information had been received by telegram from the reccor of the Novitiate to the effect that John O'Halleran, one of the young men referred to in a former state ment as being liable for service, is an American citizen and in posses sion of his United States registration

The other young man, John Holland, the rector states, was a ton-sured cleric before the proclamation under the Military Service Act was issued. Investigation showed that these two young men were the only nembers of the Novitiate apparently liable for service.

Upon the statements of facts, with regard to them, submitted to the de partment by the rector, neither of them is liable for service.

MR, PALMER IN TORONTO

Toronto, June 23.—Rev. Kennedy Palmer, of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Guelph, is a visitor in this city to day in connection with the Guelph Novitiate affair.

In addition to conferring with brother ministers of various Protestant denominations here, Mr. Palmer will, it is stated, endeavor to Premier Hearst, and members of the Ontario Government, presumably to see if Ontario as secure any status in the dispute. DENIES LYING CHARGE

Guelph, June 24 .- "It is absolute ly false," replied Father W. F. Doyle, rector of the Church of Our Lady, at Guelph, when to-day he was asked if the statement of Rev. W. D. Spence yesterday was true, that a lie told by a Jesuit in defence of the order wa doing a little gardening."

Rev. Mr. Spence states he was told Sergt. Sedgwick was a secular stunt at the Novitiate

There is no such thing as a sec ular student at the Novitiate," replied Father Doyle, "and it shows how little they understand."

Father Bourque stated that the "You do not hear any their ground. more about harboring defaulters," he said. "It is the law they want changed. To day I am sending to Ottawa copies of the birth certificates of all the members of the Novitate, who entered since the Military Service Act came into force.

Rev. Mr. Palmer states that the Act came into operation on July 6, 1917, not October 12, 1917," said the reporter to Father Power, superior-

Oh, well what can you do with a man who knows more than his own Government on the matter. Our official intimation from the adjutant general is that October 15 is the date the M. S. A. came into force," replied the superior general.

NOTHING TO HIDE

A list of all those who were in the institution at the time of the raid, together with the date of entry and books of the institution were placed at the reporters' disposal for any purposes. These are being forward ed to Ottawa.

Father Bourque, head of the Novitiate, invited the Canadian Press cor-respondent to visit the institution ives, in order to be convinced that facts forwarded the Government as dents in the Novitiate, together with their age and date of entry, were absolutely correct.

"You can have access to any document or books we have," he declared. "We have nothing to hide in this matter and only ask for fair play and courteous treatment."

A new rumor that the Jesuit Fathers have another home across the "lower road" where there are other men, who have not yet been discovered. It is true that the Jesuit Fathers have a "villa" on the banks an at the 'villa' who are not contained in the list which has been supplied us of the members of the

The rector laughed heartily before he replied as follows: gave you is a complete list of the members at the Novitiate and it covers every man who is at the villa, except Father Bradley, who is in charge. Any one who doubts it can come and see and ask the names of June, until the beginning of July the students from the Novitiate come here for a little recreation and rest from the studies. It is just a retreat. story.

Is there any one here except Father Bradley who is not named in the list you gave?"

" Not one," replied the rector. HONORABLE MR. DOHERTY'S ANSWER

Ottawa, June 24.—It having been prehend it. resented that Rev. W. D. sident of the Ministerial Alliance, of Guelph, had not received an answer to a series of questions addressed to Hon. C. J. Doherty, regarding the Guelph controversy, Mr. Doherty, this morning stated that an answer had been sent by his secretary and mailed last night. The questions were only sent on Saturday. Mr. Doherty consented to a copy being cusing us of lying, but they are lying you have been apparently laboring, to remember in precisely what sense black and blue about us."

Asked about the O'Leary case at the Novitiate, Father Doyle said: "I mot as recognizing the propriety of this was true. The fact of Martin your message, and to add that the Luther differing from the Church of minister does not see that any use. Rome in the interpretation of a text merely answered to a man who in-quired about O'Leary that he was a discussion between you body and the fact of his abandoning the prindischarged soldier. He was not a himself of this matter, insofar as it member of the community. You may personally affect him, and that which imparts rationality to religion, had better see the rector of the Noviin consequence this correspondence is a matter the importance of which tiate, as I do not know any more upon that question must be, so far as than that O'Leary was an employee, he is concerned, considered closed.

Yours respectfully, E. TREMBLAY, Private Secretary. TO END CONTROVERSY

The minister declared this morning that he had no desire to perpet-uate the controversy by means of continual rejoinders. The law, he declared, was plain and beyond o troversy. The Military Service Act had not been amended in regard to religious orders. The same exceptions were permitted under the new order-in-council as were included in the original act.

The questions asked by spence, to which the foregoing is an answer, were as follows;

Guelph, Ont., June 21, 1918. 'Minister of Justice,

Ottawa, Ont .: your statement in today's papers, is it not so that your son was nineteen in December, 1917, and, therefore, does come within the act, having entered March, 1918? Has he military papers to prove physical unfitness? Did he register in his military district?

"GUELPH MINISTERIAL ASSN."

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF RELIGIOUS DOUBT

It is a rather curious fact that the psychology of religious doubt should obtain its fullest treatment and go over all the books and arch. at the hands of writers of fiction. It is scarcely less curious that the widespread interest which the subject seems to evoke is so little confined to religious people. Those who have no theological convictions of their own seem especially con-cerned with the doubts of those who The indifferentist loses his indifference as soon as it becomes a question of some one else's faith. these truths we have abundant illustrations, two of which are of such special prominence that they may be fairly considered as types of all the rest. One of these is the marked success which attended the now somewhat historic historic Robert Elsmere," the other the latest novel of Mr. H. G. Wells. Both are alike in that each depicts the road, like a bungalo, in amidst a character who begins with orthodox the trees. A reporter said to Father Bourque, the rector of the Novitiate.

"A story is current that you have not without suggestiveness. interest, of course, lies largely in the dramatic setting, coupled with a distinct charm of literary style. The suggestiveness is generally ties which are supposed to be urged against traditional Christianity. As matter of fact, however, it lies in the mere vulgarity of a misunder-standing. It is true that these difficulties are oftentimes destructive to that which their authors conceive as orthodox religion, but they are destructive to orthodox religion only as their authors conceive it. And it is because the bare foundations of the faith are so invariably misconceived by those who seem most concerned to destroy them, that it may not beamiss to direct attention to a distinction of which they have apparently lost sight, but which is, nevertheless, of such vital importance as to render valueless any treatment of the sub ject that fails to recognize and com-

If we analyze, ever so briefly, the conceptions which these various writers of fiction quite unconsciously put forth under the label "Orthodo: Christianity," we shall find that whatever be their individual differences, they yet have one point in common. That one point is the ultimate and final basis upon which they mere only sent on Saturday. Mr. Doherty consented to a copy being made public. The letter, dated June 22nd, is as follows:

Ottowa, June 22nd, 1918.

Reverend Sirs:

I am directed by the Minister of Justice to acknowledge receipt this day your telegram of the 21st inst., and to inform you that it is so that mate and final basis upon which they mere and final basis upon which they one of his maxims that Catholics should take part in public life, be well up on public questions, and let their Protestant neighbors see that they are." Lewis lived up to his own maxims. He served his country in the world that they might appreciate the blessings of peace and maintain them intact at any secrifice consistent with honor. This holy Pontiff went down to his grave in sorrow, because whether we are considering the religion of Dr. Pusey or the religion of Br. P mate and final basis upon which they and to inform you that it is so that this son became nineteen years of age on the 1st December, 1917, and whatever form it may assume, consequently does not come within the act, having entered on the 30th bility; in fact, if experience counts

Rome in the interpretation of a text is a matter of some importance. But cannot be overestimated. It was not merely the attempt at the logically impossible; it was the poisoning of the wells in which religion finds its very source. And no matter how cleverly or how plausibly a theologi-cal system might be erected upon such a foundation it is manifestly impossible for it to escape the absurdity which, however latent, was none the less implicit in its origin.

Yet, once such a system is established, the entire aspect of the question is changed. To prefer an irresponsible impression to the authority of the Church is, both logically and theologically, absurd. But to prefer one impression to another is not only no inconsistency, but is, in a mittee was, consequently, appearational sense, wholly a matter of indifference. While, therefore, the indifference. While, therefore, the consider the reorganization of the consideration of the considerat able religion, the act of Dr. Lyman Abbott, for example, in diftimate consequence of Luther's own act. So that, while we may truthfully say that Protestantism was born of inconsistency we cannot justly charge it with inconsistency in its developit with inconsistency in its development; indeed we may not unfairly say that the more radically it changes the more consistent it is, and that the more consistent it, and that the more consistent it, and that the more consistent it is, and that it is, and that it is a not result, however the more consistent it is, and that it is a not result, however the change of the change o implied in its beginnings.

may be to those who give the matter an even moderate degree of thought, it seems wholly obscured in the eyes of those writers of fiction who have essayed to deal with the question. They are evidently deluded into the belief that there is something in the religious experiences of such a type than the mere changing of an impression, or they fall into the no less changing of an impression of sufficient importance to write a book about. They forget that they are ordinary as to make one sometimes fares .- New World. wonder that it is not more ordinary than it is. It is surely far from surprising that religious impressions are as changeable as they are, though it is often very surprising that they are as permanent as they are. Men are proverbially liable to change their minds. That they peculiar conditions which Protestantism has created, is hardly The curious part of it all is the inexplicable idea that one can and the new are identical. It is in the light of these fac's that over thirty per cent. of the men in experiences of value and those of no value becomes clear. By it we can readily understand why the experiences of such men as Martin Luther and Cardinal Newman were eminently 'worth recording. The one impressionism; the other of the converse path which led from impressionism to reason. But the path which led from impressionism to reason. But the path which led from impressionism to reason. But the path which led from impressionism to reason. But the path which led from impressionism to reason. But the path which led from reason to give patriotic lectures.

As Governor Philip of Wisconsin says, these high brow carpet baggers are guilty of a type of impressionism. which leads only from one impression to another is far too unimportant and far too personal to possess even the elements of theological value. It begins nowhere, and it ends nowhere. No matter with what interest the cleverness of contem-

UNDER A BUSHEL

Of a pious Irish layman, Henry Owen Lewis, who died some five years ago, it has been said, "It was one of his maxims that Catholics ity," a relic left by ages of persecution, which in the past bred disinclinauntil we have been forced to try. The War has discovered valuable forces, hithertounsuspected because conditions. The virtues which she dormant, in our very midst, and these inculcates as befitting the Christian are forces that must not be suffered man and woman, the virtues of pati-to return to their former quiescence ence, of resignation, of humility and in the day of peace. The world can never be rebuilt safely, except on the principles of Jesus Christ. We know those principles, and it will be to do all in our power, to make them. by our active interest in the common

GOING DOWN THE WRONG ROAD

The fact of its utter failure which the Anglican Church has been forced to face not only in the charges of its laity but in the confessions of its episcopacy, have stirred a considerable sentiment for reform. A com-The recommendations of this committee tend to release the Church tering from Luther, is but the legi-timate consequence of Luther's own The committee hit upon the weal points of Anglicanism, its establishment and its want of spiritual author-England. It is almost certain, too, Still, however apparent all this that this is the way in which Anglicanism will seek an extended lease on life. There may be an idea that democratized religion will be popular in this heydey of democracy. result must be more years of stumbling blindiy about; more vain at-tempts to satisfy the unreasoning whims of unbelieving, theologically as Robert Elsmere or the Bishop in ignorant dictators, an even exchange Mr. Wells's book far more profound for skeptical, dictatorial cabinet ministers Officially, that Church can yield to laity domination. absurd error of imagining a mere it cannot take along those who have the Holy Father has personally ad-Rome must know many more way.

> INSINUATIONS AND RASH JUDGMENTS UNPATRIOTIC

Rev. H. C. Hengell in Our Sunday Visitor Not by words, but by deeds, Catho lics have proven themselves to be the most patriotic class of people in They proved it in the War of the Revolution when they constituted over half of the soldiers who, wonderfully impressive in the Sistine under Washington, took Cornwallis and with the extra ceremonial of the simply changing an impression; and at Yorktown. They proved it when the failure to see that the basic they furnished the stuff that made a the failure to see that the basic they furnished the stuff that made a principles alike of the old theology splendid Union Army in the Civil War. They are proving it now when

> That American Catholics are patriotic is therefore a fact beyon pute. This fact, however, does not prevent their being insulted by cer that it discourages the hearty cooperation of all the people in suppo any class of people in this country questioned and impugned by self-constituted arbiters of patriotism much resentment and division is porary writers may invest it, it can never be transformed into a real contribution to religious thought.

mean resentment and division is aroused instead of the co-operation so sorely needed. It is not only unpatriotic but also particularly sinful and uncharitable to be rash in judging others in these trying times.

THE SPIRIT OF LOVE

a venerable Vicar of the Prince of death.
Peace raised his voice in humble But

We neverfully know what we can brotherhood of individuals and of Even if it were as unreasonable in thing else necessary for the propagation of th nations which is for her a constant theme is possible only amid peaceful of meekness are peaceful virtues, in digenous only to a world blessed with

Church has always taken her stand. The words of the poet ring true— "The best of things which it is given good, the foundation stones of a lasting and genuine democracy.— a thousand triumphs is the simple gift of peace." She has insisted upon the principles of justice and of charity the observance of which would promote and preserve harmony among men. When between individuals or nations difficulties have arisen, she has counselled the avoidance of con-flict wherever an honorable alternative was possible, and often has she successfully arbitrated such differences. Though she teaches that war is just when legitimate rights are ssailed and only by the arms can be secured, she has at all times done her utmost to mitigate war's evils and its awful horrors. Her twenty centuries of existence have revealed her ever the herald and advocate of peace and of peace ful measures before the world

A policy of honorable peace, then, Church. If to-day Benedict XV. is leaving nothing undone to bring the warring nations to an honorable settlement of their grievances, he is doing what every Pope has done since the days of Peter, if he is securing the exchange of prisoners, demanding the protection of the weak and mitigating the suffering of the vic-tims of the War, he is but carrying on the work of Christ, his Master, and giving practical expression to the fundamental lessons of Christ's religion.-Boston Pilot.

POPE CONSECRATES CARDINAL VAN ROSSUM

Rome, May 21, 1918,-Once again she may be found. ministered episcopal consecration in when appointed Archbishop of Bologna. In this case it was a cardinal who was in question. Cardinal van Rossum was "Cardinal Deacon," be-Cardinal Priest" when ap pointed Major Penitentiary, but did not receive episcopal consecration till last Sunday. It is necessary that this should be so in the case of the Prefect of Propaganda, whose authority extends over so many bishops in countries not directly subject to the Holy See through the Consistorial Congregation. The ceremony is personal Papal laying on of hands. Every one was there including the diplomatic corps and the Holy Father's sister, and after the cere-mony His Holiness invited the dignitaries present to breakfast in the "Sala del Tronetto" and honored Army and over forty per cent. of the them by being present himself.

A FOOLED DETECTIVE

This time Sherlock Holmes has been fooled badly. The stickler for matter of fact evidence has mixed up his facts with his dreams. And as a result of that mix up Sir Conan Doyle feels that he has a right to pose as a prophet, as a maker of a new religion. How the new religions come and go! It would take a Sher-

But anyway Sir Doyle has found ished his medical education he found himself together with many of his associates a convinced materialist, "advanced theist," indeed, but nota believer in an "anthropomorphic God." He did not believe then in At the beginning of the world war the survival of personality after

It was, perhaps, the "fear of publicty," a relic left by ages of persecution, which in the past bred disinclinathetic soul bids men come to their thetic soul bids men come to their they do not believe the facts as prethey do not believe the facts as prethe dates given in your message fairly reasonable guarantee of instaclearly establish, free from any obligation whatsoever under the law, including, of course, any obligation long as its basic impressions persist. clearly establish, free from any obligation whatsoever under the law, including, of course, any obligation to submit to military medical examination or to register in his military medical examination. Was FOUND UNFIT

I am further to say that though under no obligation, and not being within the act—in no position to obtain a certificate under it, the young man did, nevertheless, present himself for examination and was examined by four physicians, all members of the examining boards appointed under that act, and being more than a complete board, and was found unfit, as already stated, by more than a complete board, and was found unfit, as already stated, by the minister and by the military authorities. Of this fact, the latter are in possession of written evidence satisfactory to them.

I am instructed to point out that this information is conveyed to you in the hope that it may put an end to the misapprehension under which is intellege, the misapprehension under which is intellege, the minister and by the military and act of the case of the season to the feelings. It is evident to the misapprehension under which is important to the misapprehension under which is intelleged. The minister and by the military and act of the base of the minister and by the military and even more of it obscured. Whatever else the Reformation may or may not have been, it was essentially and above all things a surrender of the reason to the feelings. It is evident enough that a movement of this kind meant nothing less than a catualysm in the elogy, though it is important to the montgious, and the world cannot give—"Father, for-face them for they know hot what the more of time when the man like ape divided and advoices, and abroad, showshow well American Catholics understand the needs of the day, and how they are best met. All this quick response gives good reason for the hope that, in solving the many problems of construction which the country must face after the War, Catholics with the world cannot give—"Father, for-face them for they know hot what the more of the app-likes may evidence of the religion He established upon earth.

Always has the Church preached Christ's doctrine of peace. Always has the Church preached to point out that enough that a movement of this kind meant nothing less than a catually mand above all things a surrender of the reason to the feelings. It is evident enough that a movement of this kind meant nothing less than a catually mand above all things a surrender of the reason to the reason to the reason to the reason for the hope that, in solving the went the worl deannot give them for they n itself as it is actually unreasonable it would still be quite divorced from is merely the say-so of Conan Doyle. He rejects Divine Revelation absolutely because he cannot manage the strings in the way in which he ande his own fictional puppets dance, And what does be offer in ex-hange? The word of God is set aside as unreasonable, and we are asked accept in its stead the word of As a proof of his vague nev religion he offers the experiences of spiritualists! In a word we are called fools because we believe in God's word, and wise if we accept the unproved statements of the spiritualistic medium.

his spiritualistic experiments even while it is beyond our own experience, and to reject the belief in traditional dogmas, because we cannot prove them by our personal experience. He merely asks us to shift our faith to the "new revelation" of spiritualism. All of which proves what has been so often said that the nan who fools with the powers of darkness is in a sure way of having his mind darkened.—Boston Pilot.

THE CATHOLIC CHURCH EXTENSION SOCIETY OF CANADA

THE FIELD IS THE WORLD The Catholic who contents his soul by merely responding to the calls of his parish church may be satisfied with himself, especially if his nature be worldly; but he is not doing his whole duty as a Catholic Why not? Because he is not living up to the requirement of his name. Noblesse Oblige. The name Cath. olic has a noble signification. It means "universal." Therefore the sympathies and consequent works of a Catholic must be universal, must embrace the activities and needs of the Church wheresoever Good Catholic take your stand by the side of Jesus Christ as He gazes identify it with the Church of God.

And the road from Canterbury to received it from the hands of Pius X.

on the field white to the harvest and envisage His sacced thoughts! The harvest is great," says the Lord, "but the workers are ada" and let us think for a moment that the benign eye of the Master rests upon the vast and lonely prairies of our Great North West. from Winnipeg to the Rockies, scat tered Catholic pioneers. They are the ordinary Catholic you find in every parish. They have come from the of the East. At home they had every pportunity and advantage for the souls. The church and school and priests were at their doors. Out here in the West, they are without these blessings and have at present little means of supplying them. Sacred Heart of Jesus is solicitous for them. He sees them and their little children, the beloved of His tender Heart, living without the of His Holy Church. They will gradually grow careless and unless something is done quickly for them they will assuredly grow out of the practise of their Faith and lose it altogether. Like the poor ouls in purgatory they are unable to help themselves and are utterly dependent upon the aid they will receive from generous co-religionists,

These pioneers of the West are lock Holmes himself to keep track not laden down with wealth. As a But anyway Sir Doyle has found religion at last. He admits that he never had much of it. In his new yet in such vast provinces as Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta does to ba, Saskatchewan and Alberta does to be a salar to be not facilitate the practise of religion. For years and years to come the organization of the Church as we understand it in the East will be a growing thing. Yet how necessary it is, if the Catholic Faith is not to die out in these new lands—the Great "promised land" of the future to do our utmost to supply priests. Mrs C. Berberich, Guelph teachers, churches and schools: Mrs Fred Kelly, Smiths You see the harvest field and you tion of the Faith of Christ! You hear the lament of the Lord Himself over His ungarnered harvest!

In all of this there's no proof. It Will you stand idly by in the market place and refuse to do your share to gather these souls into the house-hold of the Lord? No, if you are more than a Catholic in name.

Christ has promised that anyone who will give even a cup of cold water in His name shall not go un-rewarded. How glorious and how dazzling shall be the reward He Will give to those who feed the hungry and thirsty with His Most Precious Body and Blood. Donations may be addressed to:

REV. T. O'DONNELL, President, 67 Bond St., Toronto. Contributions through this office should be addressed :

EXTENSION, CATHOLIC RECORD OFFICE, London, Ont. DONATIONS

Previously acknowledged $596 50 Mrs. Ellen O'Neil, Cobden

ORDINATION AT MARYKNOLL

The American Foreign Mission Society has added another priest to its faculty in the person of Rev. John F. Swift, who has been released by Car dinal Gibbons that he might join the Maryknoll Society.

Father Swift, since his ordination a few years ago, has been attached to St. Charles' College, Catonsville, Md.

He is the third priest from the Archdiocese of Baltimore to take up this important work.

THE CHILEAN MINISTER

What the great Leo XIII. spoke of o enthusiastically is under Benedict XV. fast becoming a devotion in Christian households throughout the world. In Rome the first notable the Sacred Heart is that of the min ister to Chile accredited to the can, His Excellency Don Errazuriz Urmenete, the ceremony in connec on with which is well worth de scribing. By invitation to his magnificent massion for the occasion were the following: Cardinal Van-nutelli, Dean of the Sacred College; Cardinal Vico, Cardinal Gasquet Cardinal Billot, Cardinal Van Rossum, Archbishop Cerretti, Titular of Corinth; the diplomatic corps accredited to the Vatican, and the great personages in Church and State. In the chief salon of his mansion hung a large picture of the Sacred Heart, surrounded with a wealth of flowers in front of which amily to read the act of consecra tion to the Heart of Jesus .- St. Paul

FATHER FRASER'S CHINESE MISSION

Taichowfu, China, Nov. 26, 1918. Dear Readers of CATHOLIC RECORDS That your charity towards my mis-sion is approved by the highest ecclesiastical authorities of Canada let me quote from a letter from His Excellency, The Most Rev. Peregrina Stagni, O. S. M., D. D., Apostolic elegate, Ottawa: "I have been watching with much interest the contributions to the Fund opened on ehalf of your missions by the CATH-OLIC RECORD. The success has been very gratifying and shows the deep interest which our Catholic people take in the work of the missio foreign lands. . . I bless you most cordially and all your labors, as general rule they "go West" to better their fortunes. Again the disorgangreatest success in all your underthe support of my struggling mis sion, assuring you a remembrance in my prayers and Masses.
Yours faithfully in Jesus and Mary

Previously acknowledged $12,960 08 Thankegiver, Paris...... A Bulger Subscriber. Mrs Fred Kelly, Smiths Falls.

READY IN AUGUST

ORDER NOW!

Codex Iuris Canonici

THE NEW CODE OF CANON

Authorized by the Vatican

Bound in Black Cloth, heavy boards. Size 10 x 7 inches Weight 41 lbs. Pages 777

PRICE $4.50 NET

THE CATHOLIC RECORD LONDON, CANADA

FIVE MINUTE SERMON

REV. F. P. HICKEY, O. S. B. SEVENTH SUNDAY AFTER PENTECOST

THE CHURCH CATHOLIC AND APOSTOLIC

"Go ye into the world and pread every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

No better known word exists, my dear brethren, than "Catholic." spelling may vary a little, but its und and took are unmistakable in many languages. Like the word itself, so the Church, that bears that name, is unmistakable. It is univer-cal, as the word Catholic signifies, it is found everywhere, it has worked its way throughout the whole world. Imitations there are and there have been, but they deceive none except those who are willing to be deceived. The genuine Catholic Church is recognised by the whole world. Its enemies even, however bitterly they may hate it, certainly cannot ignore

From the lips of its Divine Founder the Church received the commission to be Catholic. "Go ye into the whole world and preach the Gospel to every creature." And it has been faithful to that commission ever since. It is marvellous to follow the journeyings of the Apostles. Filled with the Holy Spirit, they hastened to carry the good tidings throughout the world. "Their sound hath gone forth into all the earth, and their words unto the ends of the world."
(Ps. xviii. 5) The men who cowered ther for fear of the Jews, when filled with the Holy Spirit and com missioned to preach, traversed the known world of those days, founded sees in every country and laid down their lives in various lands.

And their successors followed on and ruled the world from the Catacombs. Ten persecutions raged against the Church, and yet within fourteen years from the last persecution, when the Emperor Constantine had given liberty to the Church, in the year 325, how many Bishops could assemble at the First General Council? Three hundred and eight-een. How amazed the world must have been! This the Religion that had been stamped out? The Council was convened at Nice in Bithynia, and see what a Catholic assemblage of Prelates met thers. Pope Sylvester sent representatives from Rome Bishop Hosius of Cordova in Spain presided, Cacilian came from Carthage, in Africa, from Gaul the Bishop of Dijon, Antioch and Asia Minor and Italy sent many, and from Alexandria in Egypt came Bishop Alexan-der and with him the greatest of them all, the young Athanasius. Thus the three hundred and eighteen Bishops, from all parts of the world, gathered together to proclaim their Founder Divine, and to prove that

His Church was Catholic.

It is a long, long look back, through the vista of ages from 1900 to the First General Council, A. D. 325. But throughout those ages the Church has been ever spreading, making itself Catholic and more Catholic as time went on. True there have been storms and hurricanes that have tried it, but like some noble tree, a giant of the forest, though branches have been torn from its trunk, it is still alive, the same old tree, flourishing and throwing out new branches, and its roots spreading, claiming fresh ground each year. And in our own day there are Bishops in com-munion with Rome, and holding their upon which God's sun shines down.
And under these bishops, priests, and all these priests believing the same truth, preaching the same doctrine, raying the same Mass, administering witness of tender years is called upon the subject with which Spiritism on the subject with which Spiritism

Go ve into the whole world and preach the Gospel to every creature." They to whom these words were spoken were the Apostles, and they were told to preach the Gospel. My dear brethren, the Gospels had not been written then. What they had to preach was not the written Gospel but the good tidings of the Redemption of Christ. And how had they this knowledge? From the Holy Ghost, of whom Christ had said, "He will teach you all truth," (John xvi. 13.) and "He will teach you all things and bring all things to your mind whatsoever I shall have said to you." (John xiv. 26.) And when the Apos tles added fresh preachers to them-selves, as Barnabas and Timothy and others, these learned the word from the Apostles, and so began Tradition Tradition, the handing down the teaching of Christ by word of mouth, by teaching and preaching. Clinging this tradition makes the Church Apostolic. What other Church, save the one, can claim this privilege, this mark of authenticity? We can trace back the history and origin of every sect and church, and their antiquity is wanting, for we find their author long subsequent to the time of the stles. And we find their author is a man, and not the Divine Founder of the Catholic Church, Jesus Christ

So we children of the true Church | truth, you don't tell the truth?' see the importance of holding fast to the teaching and the traditions of the postles. What does St. Paul say? But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach a Gospel to you besides that which we have preached to you, let him be anathema. And see him, as St. Luke tells us confirming the Churches, command-ideas of their own. They did not the Pennsylvania Railroad."—The escape St. Paul's notice; he says, Newark Monitor. There are some who trouble you and would pervert the gospel of Christ." (Gal. i. 7.) But their errors havn never prevailed except locally and for a time.

In these days of indifference, when one is called a bigot, unless he admits that one Church is as good as another, when believing what one likes, and nothing hard and fast, is mistaken for charity and largemindedness, we cannot be too strict in holding fast in every point to the One, Reverence every tradition and teaching of the Church. Remember that by your life you can honor or dishonor the Divine Founder of the Catholic and Apostolic Church.

TEN-YEAR-OLD THEOLOGIAN

It is the boast of the Catholic Church that she teaches her children their religion, a boast that rests on the solidest foundation.

The Church is making extraordinary sacrifices in our country to educate the children in the faith. Our Catholics pay their share of the taxes which keep the Public schools going: and yet they joyously contribute to the support of the parish schools. They realize that religion cannot be barred from the school without loss to the development of the child. The many hours passed in the classrooms are a mighty ele-ment in the spiritual life of the child. Church is important; home is important, but the trinity is in complete; church and home are in effective without the school. Education without religion must be lack ing in an essential. It is unfortuate that circumstances in our country make it appear to our legislators that it is impossible to devise a school system which might admit and teach religion; but such is the fact, and facts, like mules, are stubborn things. The Catholic Church calls upon her members to shoulder a do burden rather than endanger the religious training of the children. As a consequence of this anxiety and sacrifice of the Church, Catholic children are trained in the doctrines of their faith. These little ones know their religion and astound the questioner. They understand the doctrines of Christianity and appreciate the responsibility of salvatio They disclose a knowledge of moral were not the inspiration of a trained and holy childhood.

The other day a boy of ten years of age was called as a witness in an important case in the New Bruns-wick court, The judge and the lawyers doubted the ability of the boy to testify. They questioned him to their satisfaction and admiration. "Tommy" Lally, a product of the local parish school, acquitted himself with credit and received his doctorate in theology from the spectators of the scene. The New Brunswick Home News, a secular local newspaper, thus describes the incident "Thomas Lally, ten-year-old son of John F. Lally, of Richardson powers from the Pope in every laud upon which God's sun shines down.

Judge Daly and a jury in the Middle-

> "Lally proved to be bright in in-tellect and so ready with his replies that the defendant's counsel agreed with Judge Daly that there was no doubt of his ability to testify under oath, and he was accordingly sworn The questions of the Court, with Master Lally's answers, are given space herewith:

'By Judge Daly: 'How old are

"Answer: 'I'm ten years old.' "'What book was that placed in your hand when you were sworn?"

That was the Bible.' "'What is the Bible?"
"'It is the Word of God.

And who is God?' "'He is the Creator and the Lord of all things. Where is He?

He is all over. Is He here on earth? Yes, He's all over.' Can you see Him?'

on earth? you went there?'

believe.

SPIRITISM

which present world conditions have reawakened in the system, it behooves us as Catholics to be on our guard against that dangerous form of super-stition known as Spiritism. Under this name we recognize that art by which communication is established with the spirits of departed souls Holding fast in every possible Church.
Holding fast in every possible Church.
Therefore, Brethren, stand fast; and hold the traditions which you have learned." (2 Thess. ii. 14.) Let be system has nevertheless a new appeal for those who have suffered, through the War, the loss of relatives through the War, the loss of relatives of relatives. faith. Be on your guard against or friends, with whom they would vain words and insidious sneers. fain regain communication. The fain regain communication. propagators of Spiritism, known as "mediums," promise this solace, in return, usually, for a generous fee, and it is not difficult to understand why the art, or the busine flourishing in this country, as well as across the seas.

IN THE OLD TESTAMENT

Spiritism, as we have said, is not Neither, is the stand which the Catholic Church takes in its regard a new position of oppositio Among those practices condemned by God Himself, as revealed in the Book of Deuteronomy, that of "seeking the truth from the dead" is explicitly "Neither let there be found among you anyone, that consulteth sooth sayers, or ob-serveth dreams and omens: neither let there be any wizard, nor charmer, nor anyone that consulteth pythonic spirits or fortune-tellers, or that seeketh the truth from the dead. To dabble in Spiritism, therefore, is to sin against the First Command ment. For the sincere Christian this is sufficient; no further argument or condemnation is necessary.

WHERE CONFUSION REIGNS

To set down even a brief outline of Spiritism, its nature or its claims would require more than a single article. So many and so diverse are its phenomena, and so innumerable the explanations offered for its accomplishments, that men of science both within and outside the Church have written volumes in its regard. Attempts have been made to explain how, through spiritistic mediums, hidden things have been revealed; how, through the intervention of no visible human agency, writing has appeared on paper or on tablets; how spirits have been summoned who replied to questions put to them, and who, having been called by name, esponded that they were angels, saints" or certain deceased souls as yet, however, these authorities have neither been able to offer any definite explanation of the entire field, or to refute the claim of the Church that spiritistic phenomena are due either to fraud, or to the action of evil spirits, whether devils or lost souls.

NOT FOR CATHOLICS

A local advocate of Spiritism endeavored recently to bolster up an argument for its worth with the statement that "there are lots of good Catholics who attend spiritistic The determination seances.' good " Catholicity should hardly be entrusted to one altogether unfamiliar with Catholicity itself. Even the most elementary knowledge of the Church's teaching recognizes a Catholic as one of that congregation ".who profess the Faith of Jesus Christ . . and are governed saying the same Mass, administering the same Mass, administering the same Sacraments, Catholic in every way is the holy Church of Christ.

"If the same Mass, administering twitness of tender years is called upon deals, i. e., that of communicating witness of tender years is called upon to testify, Judge Daly put several every way is the holy Church of Christ.

"If the same Mass, administering twitness of tender years is called upon deals, i. e., that of communicating witness of tender years is called upon to testify, Judge Daly put several every way is the holy Church of Questions to young Lally to determine his qualifications.

"If the same Mass, administering twitness of tender years is called upon deals, i. e., that of communicating witness of tender years is called upon to testify, Judge Daly put several every way is the holy Church of Questions to young Lally to determine his qualifications.

"If the same Mass, administering twitness of tender years is called upon to testify, Judge Daly put several every way is the holy Church of Questions to young Lally to determine his qualifications."

"If the same Mass, administering twitness of tender years is called upon to testify, Judge Daly put several every way is the holy Church of Questions to young Lally to determine his qualifications."

"If the same Mass, administering twitness of tender years is called upon to testify, Judge Daly put several every way is the holy Church of Questions to young Lally to determine his qualifications."

"If the same Mass, administering twitness of tender years is called upon to testify, Judge Daly put several every way is the holy Church of Questions to young Lally to determine his qualifications."

"If the same Mass, administering twitness of tender years is called upon deals at the within the catholic transfer at the winds and the properties of the p from the conditions of our earthly probation, and as, at any rate, risk ing intercourse with evil spirits, God's enemies.

A RECENT PRONOUNCEMENT

It is now scarcely more than a year since the Holy Office made clear its stand with regard to Spiritism. In a decree dated April 27, 1917, the fol-lowing question and answer was given forth: "Whether it is allowable, through a medium, or without a medium, with or without the aid of hypnotism, to take part in spiritistic conversations or manifestations of any kind, even where they have the appearance of propriety and piety; either by making inquiries of souls or spirits, or listening to their answers, or merely looking on—even under the tacit or express protest of having nothing to do with evil spirits? The answer is in the negative, all around." No instructed Catholic can therefore dabble in Spiritism without incurring what is, objectively, grievous sin. The dealing in friendly "'Where else is He besides being "'He is in Heaven.'
"'Could you see Him up there if with the devil is clearly just as great went there?'
Yes, you can see Him there, I church as dealing in friendly intercourse with those against whom we "What happens to you if, after have declared war would be at presputting your hand on the Bible and asking God to listen to you tell the can government.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES"

The Wonderful Medicine, Made From Fruit Juices and Valuable Tonics.

29 St. Rose St., Montreal, "I am writing you to tell you that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-tives'. This medicine relieved me when I had given up hope of ever being well.

I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia-had suffered for years; and nothing I took did meany good I read about 'Fruit-a-tives'; and tried them. After taking a few boxes, I am now entirely well. You have my permission to publish this letter, as I hope it will persuade other sufferers from Dyspepsia to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and get well".

MADAME ROSINA FOISIZ, "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made from fruit. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50. trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited. Ottawa.

beck and call of every neurotic creature who poses as a medium or who seeks to make a livelihood out of traffic with ghosts. If God has permitted, or does permit, souls of the departed to communicate with the living, the advance is made from the other side of the veil; in the case of Spiritism, however, there is an intrusion from this side, a trespass, so to speak, on God's domain. And such encroaching is an insult to God, Who is trifled with in being tempted to make ful. miraculous revelation of the secrets of eternity outside the ways that it has pleased Him to choose

DANGEROUS IN ITSELF

Even though there were no ecclesiastical prohibition in the matter, it is acknowledged that Spiritism is mischievously dangerous from and causing the physical as well as spiritual ruin of its devotees. twice, and again twice, before they embark on these perilcus spiritualistic seas of speculation. . . Let them beware; for three of my friends, men of eminence who really believe in Spiritualism, have told me that they have forbidden the very name of it, or any allusion to it, to be men-tioned in their homes; have forbid-den their wives and children to touch it, as if it were a thing accursed And why? Because, not being really

If we would seek to know those things which are hidden from human perception, we have but to look to the teachings of Christ and His Church, Infallible utterances have been made, not by professional agents, worthy neither of our credence nor our support, but by Him Whose revelations have been made with all the fulness that it has pleased His Infinite Wisdom to leave us. Our holy religion is our consolation in the anxieties and difficulties we have concerning the life beyond the grave. Neither Spiritism nor any other substitute deserves our notice.-Catholic Transcript.

GUARDING YOUTH

to shirk this duty and throw it upon priest, teacher or public officials.

The manner of fulfilling this responsibility can be summed up in two words, strict chaperoning. Young girls of sixteen should by no means be permitted to promenade the streets, to visit beach resorts and other places of amusement, without proper escort. This escort means the parent or some one in whom the father and mother have good reason to place the utmost confidence. To neglect this plain and necessary measure and then wonder at unfor tunate happenings is criminal and Parents cannot afford to take any thing for granted in these matters. The fact that they have brought up their children well is no guarantee against evil. Nor is the fact that parents have never noticed any tendency towards evil in the children a reason why they should forego par ental vigilance. It is a common-place that the parent is the last one to learn of the wickedness of a child he has thought innocent.

The duty of conservation is being taught the community. This should include the conservation of the young and there is but one way to ensure this—watchful protection. Boston Pilot.

PROBLEMS FOR THE SUMMER MONTHS

More than one Catholic parent sees with something very much akin to dismay the closing down of schools in the month of June. Vacation time means a time of freedom for the youngsters who during ten months of the year are carefully

First of all, parents make a profound mistake if they try to deprive children who have tried to do their duty during the school year of a reasonable amount of amusement and recreation. There is a deep truth in the old adage that all work and no play has a deleterious effect upon the growing boy or girl. Even men out of the rut of every-day life to get new ideas and an added zest for their work. The man who never takes a vacation is probably the one | recruitment." who never needs one, for the simple reason that he never exerts his ener-barrack-life would destroy vocations, gies to their full limit.

But if no play is dangerous for the lad, too much play is equally harm-ful. The fact that vacation is lim-ited to two months does not save a religion were deceived. Some vocachild from dissipating all the lessons of thrift and application which he through the ordeal unscathed; more robust qualities of mind so unexpected. That was in the days quickly as the spirit of unlimited, of peace, when war was unthought keep them from throwing themselves But the cures and the seminarists headlong into mere play. An hour's have shown their spirit and mettle of the most prominent English critics of the system has lately declared:

"My main object in this article is application to household tasks, or as a body of matchless devotion to seriously to warn the public to think twice, and again twice, before they growing up generation realize that "Far from sealing the source" life, after all, is a serious thing and clerical recruitment, or exposing the that the only one who succeeds is the one who is willing to take pains. The fact that so many of our young men are away at War during this coming vacation makes it doubly imperative that parents insist upon the obligation of their children doing something useful and worth while.

TROUBLE AND PRAYER

that if we ask we shall receive? Your mind whirls from one thought to another and often strange thoughts, words and bits of disjointed sentences. You try to force your-self to calmly consider your great need so that you may the better petition the Almighty God to lift the sorrow from your soul and to give you peace. Though you desire that favor more than anything in the world, you cannot concentrate your thoughts upon it and again your heartaching desire is buffeted about like wisps of grass in a storm. begin to feel that God has hid His face from you and that He has found you unworthy of His care. In this thought you have descended into the despair that well nigh destroys faith. Some parents find it hard to believe that any danger threatens their own children. They are willing to admit that the most outrageous things may happen to the children of others. They read of the sad cases that are published from time to the most outrage to the control of the to time, moralize upon them and wonder how such things could be if parents exercised proper care. It never occurs to them that their own children enjoy no special immunity. asking God to listen to you tell the truth?

"It's a mortal sin."

"And where do you go if you die in mortal sin?"

"To hell."

"And if you are not guilty of mortal sin and tell the truth and die, where do you go?"

"You go to heaven, but if you have any venial sins on your soul, you go to purgatory."

"With the Court's comment,

can government.

NO OTHER EXPLANATION

NO OTHER EXPLANATION

But supposing the spirits invoked are not all evil spirits? Does the Church deny the possibility of intercourse between the living and the souls of the faithful departed? On the contrary, not only does she admit that this can be, but she records have any venial sins on your soul, you go to purgatory."

"With the Court's comment,"

Children enjoy no special immunity. There is no sense in denying the fact that these are dangerous days for our young people. With the fact that these are dangerous days for our young people. With the multiple, necessary activities occurbying the attention of the community, there is logically a weakening of the supervision exercised at ordinary times. It is also a lamentable fact that there are many unprincipled youths about who realize the situation and try to take advantage of it.

There is no sense in denying the fact that these are dangerous days for our young people. With the multiple, necessary activities occurbying the attention of the community, there is logically a weakening of the supervision exercised at ordinary times. It is also a lamentable fact that there are many unprincipled youths about who realize the situation and try to take advantage of it.

There is no sense in denying the fact that these are dangerous days for our young people. With the fact that these are dangerous days for our young people. With the fact that these are dangerous days of our young people. With the fact that these are dangerous days of our young heads the fact that these are dangerous days of our young people. With the fact that these are dangerous days of our young people. With the fact that these are danger ing them to keep the pricepts of the Apostles and the ancients." (Acts xv. 41.) From the beginning there have been proud and self-sufficient men who have started doctrines and by the Apostles and the ancients. The burden of protection devolves that the greatest first water diamond of the world rolled about in a hardoned cake of clay waiting for that the blessed spirits in heaven or burgatory are placed by God at the series of the protection devolves upon the parents. They are primarity and principally responsible for the determined hand to find its wonderful secret beauty. All these say-

This Advertisement

may induce you to try the first packet of but we rely absolutely on the inimitable flavour and quality to make you a permanent customer. We will even offer to give this first trial free if you will drop us a postal to Toronto.

ings, and they are truths, show us even though brought low in every thing necessary to life. Try! Try! The last effort may disclose the hidden diamond.-Catholic Sun.

FRENCH PRIESTS

Enemies of the French Church succeeded in having the priests drafted into the ranks like all other citizens, hoping, it is said, that the clergy would show the white feather and lose the respect of the French people. But it seems that just the opposite has happened. The priest has confounded all prophecies as to his courage and effectiveness, and defeated the very means that were designed to accomplish his downfall. Indeed, he wins a tribute from a Church of England bishop that in the words of the Tablet (London) summarize one of the resounding facts and revelations of the War. disciplined and watched over in the He is "the admiration of the world large and the confusion anti-clericals." It is only in France, we are told, that priests are called to the colors to fight, as well as to act as hospital orderlies, as stretcher bearers, and as chaplains. The legislation which has brought them into the firing line was "induced less by military necessity than by a spirit of hostility to religion and the Church." The aim in drawing them into the military body of the nation was "to attack the power of the clergy by drying up their sources of Thus :

and that the mere prospect of it would serve to reduce the number of has learned during the other ten while the priests in the ranks had months of the year. There is nothing which eats away the sterner and comrades which was altogether another point of view. Were it nothing more than mere fraud and humbug, it is certainly a most pernicious agency for racking the nerves and brain, undermining the moral sense, and causing the physical as ralls, the test of war has shown them to be heroes, both on the field and in the hospital, wherever, in fact, there was danger to be encountered or devotion needed in the cause of country and of their fellow men. They have been tried by fire and have not been found wanting. General Humbel pays the priests this tribute: "They have shown themselves, by Have you felt that curious unrest that envelopes you when in time of distress you have tried to carry your fear of death, and sublime priests because before action and during the control of the control give them the best means of remov ing fear. Stories in the papers, the mentions in despatches, the list of promotions, and of the Legion of Honor and of military medal, have shown us our priests at work, giving to those about them an example of bravery, encouraging the men by the serenity of their attitude, teaching them how to die by sweetening the sacrifice of life, dressing their sacrifice of life, dressing their wounds, blessing and absolving them before the assault, offering the Holy Sacrifice in the open air with their red trousers showing below their vestments, traversing the space between the trenches to bring in the wounded, and listening to the last wishes of the dying."

Facts from the notes of eye wit-nesses to support the General's tribute have been published by Rene Gaël in a book bearing the title, "The Priests Under Fire." From this the Tablet culls some citations :

"But their courageous devotedness the more congenial work of minis tering as priests to the needs of their comrades. It would be difficult to exaggerate the comfort and confidence that the presence of the priest-soldiers in the trenches has shed around them, or that the cease-less activity of the chaplains has brought to men so sorely tried by a hail of shells. Here is an example. It was a Sunday morning, a chill dawn after a night of horror, and the men's spirits were at their lowest. Suddenly a cassocked figure, a mark for bullets, was seen approaching with hands crossed over his breast and with a smile came the bright greeting: "Bon jour, mes enfants! Bon jour, mes petits! Je vous apporte le Bon Dieu." The pyx was laid on a corporal spread over a rough plank, and Holy Communion was given. And then, as the guns roared, the chaplain said, "The bells of war ring for Benediction," and raising the pyx, he gave them the blessing of their Lord who had visited them, the Chief Invincible, who loves France, protects soldiers, and gives victory." Ah, said a from the Midi; "they may now. As in the trenches and on the field, so in the wards of pain behind the lines, the presence and ministry of the priests have brought strength to the broken men, assisted the saving work of the surgeons.-The Sentinel of the Blessed

PROMINENT CATHOLICS "DOING THEIR BIT"

General Ferdinand Foch. Com. mander-in-Chief of the Allied Armies is a Catholic and has a brother a

Sir William Robertson, until re-cently British Chief of Staff, is a Catholic. Admiral Benson, head of the American Navy, is a Catholic. General Petain, hero of Verdun, is

Admiral Lord Walter Kerr, of the British Fleet, is a Catholic. Charles M. Schwab, Director General of American Shipbuilding, is Edward N. Hurley, Chairman of the United States Ship Construction is a Catholic Edward R. Stettinius is head of the Munition Department.

John D. Ryan is head of the Aviation Department.

Charles P. Neil is Chairman of the Railroad Board of Adjustment. — Truth.

MO CONTRACTOR OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY

Inspect These Bonds Before You Buy

And, remember, Victory Bonds are readily saleabls and Free of Federal Income Tax.

You can buy Victory Bonds at the following prices: 500 costs..... 497.50 100 costs.....

49.75

and accrued interest. Larger amounts $995 per $1.000. Interest which is payable every six months at all banks Commences from date of your investment, so write us $10^{-4}ay - or$ we will hold bonds for you to be delivered the first of 50 costs.....

Grafiam, Sanson & C

Toronto General Trusts Building, Toronto

We Make a Specialty of Catholic Church Windows

Board of Directors

CHATS WITH YOUNG MEN

HOPE, FAITH, LOVE

There are three lessons I would write-Three words as with a burning pen, In tracing of eternal light

Upon the hearts of men. Have hope. Though clouds environ And gladness hides her face in scorn.

thou the shadow from thy No night but hath its morn.

Have faith. Where'er thy bark is driven,
The calm's disport, the tempest's mirth, Know this—God rules the host of heaven.

The inhabitants of earth. Have love. Not love alone for one But man, as man, thy brothers all; And scarlet, like the circling sun,

Thus grave these lessons on thy Hope, Faith, and Love-and thou shalt find Strength when life's surges rudest

Light when thou else wert blind.

YOUR VACATION

It is none too early to plan your vacation. Each year thousands of young people go on vacations, probably for a week or two at the sea shore, the mountains or the farm, "tired of the same old grind day in day out," and wanting to get away and have a change. They may be physically well, but if they could diagnose their own cases they would ealize that they are mentally and spiritually starved.

This is often true of workers in industrial or office occupations. seldom have opportunity to get away from their own town. The word vacate" means to move out; and a | Son vacation should mean literally a moving out of the old rut.

THE FINANCIAL SIDE OF MATRIMONY

A group of young men were discussing matrimony.

You can get married," said one. "if you've got enough not to go

But the question is: How much is enough not to go "broke?" man buying some things in a little corner grocery, exhibited to the grocer when he had paid his bill 37 cents. "That's all I have left," he said, smilingly, "and we are just end is the man who will not marry and who works and saves while the years slip by, and the desire for mat-rimony grows dim, and bachelor habits fasten upon him, until if he does get married, he is by no means an easy proposition to live with.

The man with 37 cents is probably not thinking about going " or, perhaps, he is quite sure he will broke" and doesn't care. the other man is certainly thinking about the prospects and is taking exceeding care not to, perhaps such care that he will never get married. Where, then, shall the mean be

For the young man was quite right. You certainly want enough, if you can secure it, not to go "broke." If vas secure against the catastrophe. So, some things are to be looked to to look more carefully over the econman earning a fairly good salary. Of the two, the man of more than modest means and position, is more likely to go "broke," for he will want to live with a certain degree of style:

| A great refinital of the relation of the real part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her care kept at Blangy.

| July 5.—st. Peter of Luxemburg which so heard about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days in prayer. She died about the year 725. A great part of her days he will probably marry a society belle (and no reflection is meant by this)

EIVE YEARS FROM TODAY

Looking ahead a year from now, five years from now: what do you see for yourself?

the future take care of itself?

and you find that you are no better St. Peter, it was believed, never off than you are at present, with just stained his soul by mortal sin; yet

Have you a picture in your mind 'that something is going to turn up' to improve your position?

Almhouses are filled with men who entertained just these sort of thoughts and day dreams.—Catholic

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS

SHORT SKETCH OF LIVES OF SAINTS OF THE WEEK

JULY 2.—THE VISITATION OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN

The angel Gabriel, in the mystery of the Annunciation, informed the Mother of God that her cousin Elizabeth had miraculously conceived, and was then pregnant with a son who was to be the precursor of the Messias. The Blessed Virgin out of humility concealed the wonderful dignity to which she was raised by the incarnation of the Son of God in her womb, but, in the transport of her holy joy and gratitude, deter-mined she would go to congratulate the mother of the Baptist. "Mary therefore arose," saith St. Luke, "and with haste went into the hilly country into a city of Judea, and en-tering into the house of Zachary, saluted Elizabeth." What a blessing What a blessing did the presence of the God man bring to this house, the first which He honored in His humanity with His visit! But Mary is the instrument and means by which He imparts to it His divine benediction, to show us that she is a channel through which He delights to com-municate to us His graces, and to encourage us to ask them of Him through her intercession. At the voice of the Mother of God, but by the power and grace of her divine Son in her womb, Elizabeth was filled with the Holy Ghost, and the Infant in her womb conceived so great a joy as to leap and exult. At the same time Elizabeth was filled with the Holy Ghost, and by His infused light she understood the great mystery of the Incarnation which God had wrought in Mary, whom humility prevented from disclosing it even to a Saint, and an intimate friend. In raptures of astonishment Elizabeth pronounced her blessed above all other women, and cried Whence is this to me that the Mary, hearing her own praise, sunk the lower in the abyss of her nothingness, and in the transport of her humility, and melting in an ecstasy of love and gratitude, burst into that admirable canticle, the Magnifi almost three months, after which she returned to Nazareth. JULY 4.-ST. BERTHA, WIDOW, cat. Mary stayed with her co

Bertha was the daughter of Count Rigobert and Ursana, related to one of the kings of Kent in England. In the twentieth year of her age she was married to Sigefroi, by whom she had five daughters, two of whom, Gertrude and Deotila, are Saints. After her husband's death she put on the veil in the nunnery which she had built at Blangy in Artois, a little distance from Hesdin. Her daughters Gertrude and Deotila followed her example. She was persecute a prosperous matrimonial voyage be desired, it is only a matter of sense to asperse her with King Thierri III., desired, it is only a matter of sense to asperse her with King Thierri III., to provide the wherewithal to run to revenge his being refused Gertrude in marriage. But this prince, convinced of the innocence of Bertha, then abbess over her nunsured position with an old and honored corporation, married a girl of extravagant tastes, or one whose past method of living was beyond what his salary could afford, he might go "broke," even though he though be churches to be built, one in honor of was secure against the catastrophe;

Convinced of the innocence of talk to your pastor or priest about the practicability of ringing that bell for a few seconds at 6:00 o'clock her under his protection. On her return to Blangy, Bertha finished her nunnery and caused three churches to be built, one in honor of the innocence of talk to your pastor or priest about the practicability of ringing that bell for a few seconds at 6:00 o'clock her under his process of purification that is going on, realizing that our God-and our faith is more important than bell for a few seconds at 6:00 o'clock her under his protection. On her return to Blangy, Bertha finished her numbers about the practicability of ringing that bell for a few seconds at 6:00 o'clock and our faith is more important than material possessions. Just as they doing this for many years.—Ed.]

If you belong to a social or religion on, realizing that our God-and our faith is more important than material possessions. Just as they doing this for many years.—Ed.]

If your church has a bell, write or talk to your pastor or priest about the practicability of ringing that bell for a few seconds at 6:00 o'clock and our faith is more important than material possessions. Just as they are sacrificing land and property and life, we, too, must sacrifice the lesser things if they stand between us and god.—The Guardian. St. Omer, another she called after St. Vaast, and the third in honor of St. in spite of the present earning power or bank account. The sensible man establishing a regular observance in or bank account. The sensible man establishing a regular observance in who is earning a small salary is apt her community, she left St. Deotila abbess in her stead, and shut herself omic side of marriage than is the in a cell, to pass the remainder of

Peter of Luxemburg, descended both by his father and mother from but simply a girl accustomed to the noblest families in Europe, was fashionable dress, to gay social life, and who knows little of actual house-keeping. And the salary that seemed sufficient will melt away so amazing-tage for his brother, the Count of St. ly that it will seem as if some up. Pol. who had been taken prisoner. nny magic is at work consuming The English were so won by Peter's holy example that they released him So, the question of enough not to go "broke" really needs to be considered most carefully. It may seem exceedingly sordid to obtrude the question of money into the dream of to Paris, determined to have no massimate the preleased him at the end of the year, taking his word for the ransom. Richard II. now invited him to remain at the end of the year, taking his word for the ransom. Richard II. love: but if the dream is not to van- ter but Christ. At the early age of ish, or at least be shattered in many fifteen he was appointed, on account of its most beautiful parts, the twain must consider carefully the financial of Metz, and made his public entry into his see barefoot and riding an ass. He governed his diocese with all the zeal and prudence of matur-ity, and divided his revenues in ve years from now: what do you three parts—for the Church, the poor, and his household. His character you working and planning now ities often left him personally destito increase your earning capacity in tute, and he had but twenty the next ten years, or are you letting pence left when he died. Created Cardinal of St. George, his austeri-Where do you expect to land?

Five years seems a long way to look into the future, you say: and perhaps you feel that it would be a ways be an unprofitable servant, but

But when this five years has passed creasing as he drew near his end. so many years out from those in which you must make good, you will regret the time wasted.

as he grew in grace his holy hatred of self became more and more in tense. At length, when he had received the last sacraments, he forced his attendants each in turn to scourge him for his faults, and then lay silent till he died. But God was pleased to glorify His servant. Among other miracles is the following: On July 5, 1432, a child about twelve years old was killedby falling from a high tower, in the palace Avignon, upon a sharp rock. The father, distracted with grief, picked up the scattered pieces of the skull and brains, and carried them in a sack, with the mutilated body of his son, to St. Peter's shrine, and with many tears besought the Saint's intercession. After a while the child returned to life, and was placed upon

JULY 6 .- ST. PALLADIUS, BISHOP,

APOSTLE OF THE SCOTS The name of Palladius shows this Saint to have been a Roman, and authors agree that he was deacon of the Church of Rome. At least St. Prosper, in his chronicle, informs us that when Agricola, a noted Pelagian, had corrupted the churches of Britian by introducing that pestilential heresy, Pope Celestine, at the instance of Palladius the deacon, in 429, sent thither St. Germanus, Bishop of Auxerre, in quality of his legate, who, having ejected the heretics, brought back the Britons to the Catholic faith. In 431 Pope Celestine sent Palladius, the first bishop, to the Scots then believing in Christ. The Irish writers of the lives of St. Patrick say that St. was soon banished by the King of Leinster, and returned to North Britian, where he first opened his mission. There seems to be no doubt that he was sent to the whole nation of the Scots, several colonies of whom had passed from Ireland into North Britain, and possessed them. selves of part of the country since called Scotland. After St. Palladius had left Ireland, he arrived among the Scots in North Britain according to St. Prosper, in the consulate of Church. The Scottish historians tell us that the Faith was planted in North Britain about the year, 200, in the time of King Donald, when Victor was Pope of Rome. But they all first bishop in that country, and style him their first apostle. The Saint died at Fordum, fifteen miles from Aberdeen, about the year 450.

WAR REVEALS BEAUTY

OF CATHOLIC PRACTICE Earl Godwin in Washington, D. C., Times

A few days ago I printed in this column a suggestion that Washington should establish the custom of ringing the church bells daily at 6:00 o'clock p. m., and that every one should stop for a minute or two and offer a short prayer for the country

Since then I have learned the sug-ject and obtain an endorsement. You will have an opportunity very soon to join dozens of other organizations which are about to endorse this project.

There is nothing which so heart-

For all of us to stop from the rush of the day's work to offer a quiet of the day's work to offer a quiet the Elessed Sacrament, we would limit ourselves to consideration of the many proofs, so our ideals would hearten us as if we that we had come upon a cooling spring by a them fully and exhaustively. Here is a suggestion which costs only organization and determination the same time every day.

I quote from the Dallas, Texas, correspondence of the Kansas City

'Every afternoon at 6:00 o'clock the bell of Verbena church rings. It continues to ring for two minutes, and while its brazen song is lifted the people of Verbena stand and pray. With heads uncovered and

'God bless our President, our soldiers, and the nation and guide them on to victory.'

"When the sound begins the ob-servance is universal. Men halt in the street; wagons are pulled up on the road; women rise from their knitting or pause in their cooking —for they have early suppers in Ver-bena—the ploughman halts his work, river, it bears down all resistance and each repeats the prayer. Verbena calls it The Prayer of the Bell, great hardship to you to have to continue studying along a certain line which you know would benefit you greatly.

I can at least obey." Ten months bena calls it 'The Prayer of the Bell,' and it is said men who have never been known to pray before answer its call beautifully."

example, this prayer each day at the ringing of the church bell.

SUMMER VACATIONS

ARCHBISHOP GLENNON WARNS VACATION SEEKERS NOT TO GO BEYOND CHURCH BELLS

Warning to summer vacation seekers not to go beyond the sound of the church bell was uttered by Archbishop Glennon of St. Louis. He took his theme from the excuses of the men of the parable which was the Gospel of the day—that one had "planted a farm," another was trying out "oxen," and a third had "mar-ried a wife." In the last class the Archbishop mentioned undue stress of social obligations.

the altar for all to witness. In honor of this miracle the city of Avignon "The Catholic going on summer vacation," said the Archbishop, "must see to it that 'the farm' is chose St. Peter as its patron Saint. He died A. D. 1387, aged eighteen near enough to the church to be able There is no vacation from church going. Ours is not a fine weather religion.

"There are a great many who, as they attain material wealth, become spiritually poor. This world is enough for them; they are satisfied to eat, drink and be merry. They receive a great deal of notice; newspapers feature them as distinguished. wealthy citizens; they are progressive and generous to all worldly causes; but as for religion, or Almighty God—oh, this is not necessary any more. God is not necessary now. How pitiable this is!

"Their social aspirations and functions."

tions are so many and so trying on their nerves that they can't find time to go to church. They are out at the Palladius had preached in Ireland a little before St. Patrick, but that he night, and after the show or the dance there is dinner or supper, and Sunday morning finds them very tired. So tired in the early part of Sunday. Afternoon comes and Sunday is so tiresome again, be cause there is nothing to do

"Then they are so refined by their social development that 'really the church doesn't stand for that deli cacy of thought that they are accustomed to,' and the music, you know is not operatic, and the sermon is

Why, the sermon doesn't mention Christ 431. He preached there with anything about the recent novelists; great zeal, and formed a considerable it doesn't cover the latest and the most vulgar shows; it doesn't refer to the 'psychology of crime' or the inherent atavism of human life;' are such a great subject of social

And then there are so many nice people who are not Catholics, you know, and it is necessary to do some friendly propaganda among them, so as to bring them closer to the church and in order to show they are not very bigoted Catholics, they them selves don't go to church. These poor people are filled with ennui they are spiritually underfed. Per-haps then they go to some of these sensational speakers at revivals to relieve that tired feeling like taking a drug as a method of changing their

The farm is all right; persons property is all right; social life is all right. It is the person who makes them wrong. Do not forget they are secondary. It is our souls which are priceless and first to be considered. Since then I have learned the sage gestion fell upon fruitful soil.

Several splendid gentlemen and several splendid women have taken several splendid women have taken beligerents are looking for things belligerents are looking for things will be a real development along this humanity; so we might take a lesson from this process of purification that is going on, realizing that our God

THE BLESSED SACRAMENT

CARDINAL VAUGHAN My Flesh is meat indeed, and My Blood is drink indeed."

If we were addressing unbelievers one or two of the many proofs, so that we might be able to develop since we are speaking to you, who are of the household of the Faith, we feel that our words will be more pro to do a simple and beautiful thing at the same time every day.

The ble if we summarily gather together, into one great accumulative proof, those various arguments, or "notives of credibility" which, when considered singly, lose a considerable amount of their force. It is with such arguments as it is with the rays of the sun, though feeble individually, yet when focussed to-gether in one point, they become of bowed, each man, each woman, each Hence, there is no doubt but that a repeats these words weak faith is strengthened and a languid devotion revived, not so much by reviewing this or that particular argument, as by massing them together, and considering them as a whole. A single stream is easily resisted, but when a number of streams meet, and form a mighty > and cannot be stayed: so it is wargument is joined to argument. I begin by putting myself the plain simple question: Why is it that I believe so firmly and without the slightest hesitation or shadow of doubt, that Jesus Christ, true God and True Man, the second Person of > Washington should take up the habit of a wartime Angelus. Let us do it. I think this is a wonderful Sacrament, together with (by concomitance) the Father and the Holy Ghost? No sconer do I set myself the question, than quite a number of strong motives at once suggest them selves. Each of these is of consider able weight, even when weighed in-dividually, but when taken together as we propose to do, the result is simply overwhelming.

(1) I believe the aforesaid truth, then, in the first place because Jesus Christ who is the infinite Truth, not only promised to give His very substance as the food of the world, but also because on the solemn occasion when He drew His disciples around Him for the last time, at Supper, He actually fulfilled this promise. For, taking bread, He who is omnipotent as well as omniscient said: "This is My Body?" And then taking the wine: "This is My Blood." And wine: This is My Blood. And having distributed among them the transubstantial Bread and Wine, He commanded: "Do this"—that is to say, Do what I have done—"in re-embrance of Me."

Now observe, when He held the elements in His divine hand He did not say: "This is the figure, or the not say: "This is the figure, or the type, or the Memorial of My Body," but simply and clearly: "This is my Body." And that is what we

Catholics also say.

What is more, He was fully aware that they whom He addressed understood His words literally. In fact the few who had doubted and had exclaimed: "This saying is hard, and who shall bear it," had already departed and "walked no more with Him." Now it is surely enough for us to know with certainty that God has made an assertion, and that He meant it. We at once accept it, and demand no further proof of its truth. Yet no doctrine is more explicitly stated in Holy Scripture, so that they who affirm that we are mistaken or deceived, do but declare that God has deceived us, which it were blasphemy even to suggest.

But passing on a step further we find the visible Church which Christ founded and established here on earth for the express purpose of teaching us, and guarding us from all error, not only has treasured up His words but has solemnly declared the literal meaning to be the only true meaning. The Church is God's mouthpiece; its special function is to teach us: "Go and teach all nations." We are distinctly com-manded to listen and to obey, under pain of eternal damnation, as though Christ Himself were speaking Who heareth you, heareth St. Paul tells us she is "the pillar and ground of truth "against which, "the gates of hell shall never pre-Now, she teaches, with the utmost clearness and authority, that Christ both said what He meant and meant what He said; and that in the properly consecrated Host, the infin ite and uncreated God, in His human and divine nature, is verily present. How then can we hesitate?

RED AND WHITE ROSES TO THE PRECIOUS DEAD

Rich, and glowing, and fragrant, Drooping with odors rare, Roses—red as my throbbing heart, I place on the marble fair.
They are like to the rich, warm nature

That is hidden under the stone, And the love that glows in the heart of the rose I leave there as my own.

Pale and spotless, and lovely, White as the fleecy cloud. Roses—pure as a daughter's prayer, place o'er thy honored shroud. They are like to the chastened spirit That broke from my love away, And the stainless light of the roses

Shall rest o'er thy sleeping clay.

My tears fall on the roses Tender and sad and warm, Tears that gleam like the dropping stream That is swept by the Summer storm They are all I have, these roses— Heart flowers—white and red— Gemmed with my soul's own tribute Tears for the precious dead.

REV. RICHARD ALEXANDER

MULTIPLICATION

I take my leave, with sorrow, of Him I love so well:
I look my last upon His small and radiant prison cell;

O happy lamp! to serve Him with never ceasing light ! O happy flame! to tremble forever in His sight!

I leave the holy quiet for the loudly human train, And my heart that He has breathed upon is filled with lonely pain.
O King, O Friend, O Lover! What

sorer grief can be In all the reddest depths of hell than banishment from Thee.

But from my window as I speed across the sleeping land
I see the towns and villages wherein His houses stand. Above the roofs I see a cross outlined against the night,

And I know that there my Lover dwells in His Sacramental might. Dominions kneel before Him, and Powers kiss His feet, Yet for me He keeps His weary watch in the turmoil of the street:

OFFICES:

10 Metcalfe St. Ottawa, Ont.

PRESIDENT M. J. O'Brien, Renfrew Corporation Limited Authorized Capital

$2,000,000

Capital Trust

'A SOUND MIND IN A SOUND BODY' Is the best condition a man can be in when making his Will, but no condition of mind or body can excuse a man for delay in making a proper provision for those dependent on him. Name this Company your Executor and your wishes will be carefully fulfilled.

WRITE FOR OUR BOOKLET 'The Will That Really Provides'

VICE PRESIDENTS Hon. S. N. Parent, Ottawa J. J. Lyons, Ottawa R. P. Gough, Toronto A. E. Corrigan, Ottawa

A. E. Provost, Ottawa,
Ion. R. G. Beazley, Halifax
I. Frown, Toronto
I. Fabre Surveyor, K. C., Montreal
Iugh Doheny, Montreal
I. W. Tobin, M. P., Bromptonville
tribur Ferland, Halleybury
B. Buford, Ottawa

STANDARD LIBRARY

JUVENILES

35c. Each Postpaid

Blessed are the Merciful. A Tale of the Negres Uprising in Haitl. By Rev. Joseph Spillman. S. J. Translated by Mary Richards Gray. Blue Lady's Knight, The. By Mary F, Nixon. Shiquitan Festival of Corpus Christ Day. & Tale of the Old Missions of South America. By Rev. Joseph Spillman. S. Translated from the German by Mary Richards Gray.

Laughter and Tears, by Marion J. Brunews. Is should be added to all our libraries for the Love Your Enemies. A Tale of the Maori Insurrections in New Zealand. By Rev. Joseph Spillman, S. J. Maron. The Christian Youth of the Lebanon. By A.v B.

rince Arumugam, the Steadfest Indian Convert By A. v B. A beautiful little story describins the obstacles which a Brahman Prince was forced to surmount in order to become Christian.

The Cabin Boys. A Story for the Young. By Rev. Joseph Spillmann. S. J. Translated by Mary Richards Gray.

The Queen's Nephew, By Rev. Joseph Spillmann. S. J. "This good little work, an historical narration from the early Japanese missions, is another contribution to juvenile literature that deserves a welcome. We hope it will be read by many of our boys and girls."

many of our boys and girls."

The Shipwreck. A story for the Young. By Rev. Joseph Spillman, S. J. Translated from the German by Mary Richards Gray.

The Trip to Nicaragua. A Tale or the Days of the Conquistadores. By Rev. Joseph Spillmann, S. J. Translated by Mary Richards Gray.

Three Indian Tales. Namameha and Watomilka, by Alex. Baumgartner, S. J. Tucke, the Young Indian Missionary. By A.v.B. Father Rene's Last Journey, by Anton Hounder, S. J. Translated by Miss Helena Long.

What the Fisher Wes. Above and Other Stade.

45c. Each Postpald

As True as Gold. Mary E. Mannix.
A Summer at Woodville. Anna T. Sadliez.
An Every-Day Girl. Mary C. Crowley.
An Heir of Dreams. S. M. O'Malley.
A Hostage of War. Mary G. Bonesteel.
An Adventure With the Apacheo. Gabriel

A Book about Real Live American Boys, By L. W. Reilly.

A Pilgrim From Ireland, Rev. M. Carnell. Translated by M. E. Mannix,

Father of Lisio. Cecilia M Caddell.
For the White Rose. Katharine Tynan Hinksom Fred's Little Daughter Sara Trainer Smith.
In Quest of Adventure. Mary E. Mannix
Jack O'Lantern. Mary T. Waggaman.
Jack. Religious of the Society of the Holy Chilé.

Old Charlmont's Seed-Bed. Sara Trainer Smith One Hundred Tales for Children. Canon Chris-topher Von Schmid.

Our Dumb Pets, Tales of Birds and Animal Selected.

Rosario. Translated by Sister of Mercy. Seven Little Marshalls. Mary F. Nixon-Roulet. Seven of U.s. Marion J. Brunowe. Sophie's Troubles. Countess de Segur. Stories for Catholic Children. Rev. A. M. Grussi.

Grussi.
Tales of Adventure. Selected.
The Bell Foundry. Otto von Schacking.
The Berkleys. Emma Howard Wight.
The Blissylvania Post Office. Marion A. Targarb
The Captain of the Club. Valentine Williams.

The Feast of Flowers and Other Stories. Selected

The Countess of Glosswood. Translat

The Children of Cupa. Mary E. Mannix.
The Dollar Hunt. From the French by Translated by M. Is. Mannix.

Bob O'Link. Mary T. Waggaman.

Bunt and Bill. Clara Mulbolland.

By Branscome River. Marion A. Taggart.

Bistouri. A. Melandri.

Cupa Revisited. Mary E. Mannix.

Daddy Dan. Mary T. Waggaman

Dimyllor's Supers.

Dimpling's Success. Clara Mulholland. Drops of Honey. Rev. A. M. Grussi.

Father de Lisle. Cecilia M Caddell

Little Lady of the Hall. Nora Rye

Pauline Archer. Anna T. Sadlier.

Pancho and Panchita. Mary E. Mannix

Recruit Tommy Collins. Mary G. Bonest Rosario. Translated by Sister of Mercy.

Lattle Lady of the Hall. Nora Ryeman, Little Missy. Mary T. Waggaman Lost Genoveffa. Cecilia M. Caddell. Mary Tracy's Fortune. Anna T. Sadlier. Miralda. Mary Johnston. Nan Noboly. Mary T. Waggaman. Nanette's Marriage. Aimee Mazergue. Never Forgotten. Cecilia M. Caddell.

Managing Director; B. G. Connolly

MY BEADS

Sweet, blessed beads! I would not part With one of you for richest gem

That gleams in kingly diadem Ye know the history of my heart. For I have told you every grief

In all the days of twenty years, And I have moistened you with tears And in your decades found relief.

For many and many a time, in grief, My weary fingers wandered round Thy circled chain and always found In some Hail Mary sweet relief. -ABRAM J. RYAN.

rom the German by Mary Richards Gray.

Crosses and Crowns, by Rev. Joseph Spillman.
S. J. Translated by Mary Richards Gray.

Children of Mary. A Tale of the Caucasus. By Rev. Joseph Spillmann, S. J.
In The Turkish Camp and other Stories. By Konrad Kuemmel. From the German, by Mary
Richards Gray. Wisdom is knowing what to do next, says David Starr Jordan. Skill is knowing how to do it, and virtue is doing it.

Clean to handle. Sold by all Drug-gists, Grocers and General Stores

The Safest Matches in the World

ALSO THE CHEAPEST, ARE

Eddy's Silent 500's

SAFEST, because they are impregnated with a chemical solution which renders the stick "dead" immediately the Match is extinguished.

CHEAPEST, because there are more perfect matches to the sized box than in any other box on the market.

WAR TIME ECONOMY and your own good sense will urge the necessity of buying none but

Eddy's Matches

117 Yonge St. Toronts Phone Main 7215 Hennessey

DRUGS CUT FLOWERS PERFUMES CANDIES Order by Phone - we deliver Watch our Ads. in Local Dailies Thursday

Charred Wood

By Myles Muredach

An adventure-mystery story of unusual power. You will read it with growing suspense - you will stay with it until you reach its surprising climax . . .

Fascinating Illuminating Entertaining

AN OPEN SECRET "Myles Muredach" is the pen-name of Monsignor Francis Clement Kelley, the distinguished American prelate.

$1.25 Net Postage 10c. Extra The Catholic Record

LONDON, ONT.

The Great Captain. Katharine Tynan Hinkson The Golden Lily. Katharine Tynan Hinkson The Haldeman Children. Mary E. Mannix. The Lamp of the Sanctuary and Other Storles. Cardinal Wiseman. The Little Apostle on Crutches. Henriette E. The Little Lace - Maker and Other Stories, Miss The Little Follower of Jesus. Rev. A. M. Grussi The Little Girl From Back East: Isabel &

The Mad Knight. From the German of O. v. The Madcap Set at St. Anne's. Marion 3 Brunowe.

The Miser's Daughter. Cecilia M. Caddell.

The Miser's Daughter. Cecilia M. Caddell.
The Mysterious Doorway. Anna T. Sadiler.
The Orphan of Moscow. Mrs. Jemes Sadiler.
The Orphan of Moscow. Mrs. Jemes Sadiler.
The Pearl in Dark Waters. Cecilia M. Caddell.
The Peril of Dionysic. Mary E. Mannix.
The Prairie Boy. Rev. John Talbot Smith.
The Queen's Page. Katharine Tynan Hinkson.
The Queen's Confession. Raoul de Navery.
The Rose of Venice. S. Christopher.
The Rose of Venice. S. Christopher.
The Two Cottages. Lady Georgiana Fullerton.
The Two Stowaways. Mary G. Bonesteel.
The Ups and Downs of Marjorie, Mary T. Waggaman.

Ask for Quantity Discount

The Catholic Record

THE ARMY AND NAVY CLUB GOING STRONG

HALIFAX CATHOLICS PROVIDE SOLDIERS AND SAILORS WITH A HOME

Halifax, June 13.—Going strong is the Army and Navy Club. mail dropped in yesterday afternoon, as on many another, men in khaki and navy blue sat "at ease" about the reading tables obviously very much at home. A bluejacket was at decline the piano and doing opportunity proud. More men came in from time to time—walked in with the air of men who knew this club well and liked it well and proposed to anchor in its pleasant atmosphere for an hour—perhaps longer. As a matter of fact the Army and Navy Club is an invaluable institution from the point of view of the men who frequent it-scores of them have given their opinion to The Mail as to its attractiveness with a sincerity there was no mistaking and the place is that with all its popularity, never yet have any of its privi-leges been abused—not once. Their recognition of the fact that its existence is an expression of real interest in their welfare thus shows itself-to the army and navy they come for chats with comrades, to write latters home or to sit at one of the long tables and while away the time by reading newspaper or magavine while some comrade, as vesterday, takes to the piano and gives the crowd some music. Sometimes he comes for a game of billiards—he comes, in short to satisfy some of the most human, common needs of the man far from home, and he finds the welcome that suits him undoubtedly. "Where are you going tonight, "Down to the Army and

Which speaks for itself. There is no doubt about it—the Army and Navy has scored with the

On the tables of the reading room are to be found some fifty magazines, together with the leading Canadian papers and some American. All of them have been contributed by the congregation of St. Mary's, in generous response to cards posted in the porch giving intimation that they will be welcomed.

There are two billiard tables, games, fine lavatories, and entertainments are provided, these special programs being among the finest of all those given in the city for the enjoyment of our fighting men.

Never has the question of a man's religion come up—the club is in the fullest sense non-sectarian, and as many Protestants as Catholics daily visit it

The Reverend Rector of St. Mary's Cathedral, Dr. Foley, very generously gave the use of the hall for club uses, rent free, but nevertheless the running expenses total a little over a year and it is supported largely through the generosity of the cathedral parish, both St. Patrick's and St. Joseph's having assisted the work at times.

It is under the direction of a com-great popularity is entirely due—J. K. Kellaher and W. E. Donovan.— Halifax Herald, June 15.

great popularity is entirely due—J. of our neighbor's point of view, or from a failure to realize his intellectual limitations. To understand

A MINISTER'S JUBILEE STATISTICS

A Protestant minister in a New England town who recently observed the golden jubilee of his entrance into his church's pulpit found the occasion an appropriate one for publishing the statistics of his parish for the last fifty years. He presents fig-ures which the thoughtful will doubtless consider quite significant. For this pastor of this "very good parish" has baptized during the for this pastor of this parish" has baptized during the past half century only 123 children, or less than three a year, though he celebrated 315 marriages within that neriod. It should be said, however, neriod. It should be said, however, neriod. The proportion of his flock a proportion of his flock worth and pale at the bare imagination of a solecism; or the stern drill sergent, a department store clerk only in a going funerals that kept the jubilarian busiest, for his fifty years' incumbency were marked by a melancholy total of 629 deaths, or an average of more than one each month. Struck the long run, tends to degenerate into a sort of mortuary function. His success in the parish really seems to be measured by the number of people he has managed to bury. The gateway at which he stands is distinctly marked "Exit." In the first place, there are generally more deaths than births in his parish, and in the second, the early days of even such children as are born among his people do not in any way involve his ministrations, as they do those of his Roman Catholic brother, who is always the chief figure at the inevitable and required christening, who may be said to guard and guide the from courtesy.

earliest footsteps of the lambs of his PRISONERS OF WAR IN TURKEY earliest footsteps of the lambs of his flock, and whose later functions at the confirmation of the young Christian are an event in the life not only of the new communicant but of his entire family. It is a defect of the New England and Evangelical system which, as we have said, tends to remove the minister from the head of the control of the said that the said the said that the said that the said that the said that the remove the minister from the begining of life and associate him a marked manner with its dark Apposite and just as the foregoing reflections are, the minister's fifty years' statistics should bring home to old New Englanders another lesson which is of such vital impor-tance that they should learn it at once, unless indeed they are ready to see their race completely die out. The reason why the Catholic priest The reason why the Catholic priest is kept so busy with baptisms, First Communions, confirmations and weddings is simply because his parishioners keep the law of God, respect the purpose of marriage and rear large families. The New England Protestants of a century ago seem to have been almost as conscientious about this important material content of the content of scientious about this important matter as are the American Catholics of today, and their sturdy and numer ous offspring helped to build up the West and win the Civil War. With regard to the character of the aver-Protestant parish in New E land today, however, could anything be more significant than those 128 baptisms conferred in a space of fifty contrasted with the 629 nerals held during the same period ?-America.

CAMPAIGN OF CALUMNIES AND WAR GRIEVE PONTIFF

Rome, June 14,-The Osservatore Romano has published a Papal auto-graph letter sent in answer to an

the episcopacy of Lombardy.

The Pope complains of the sad period the world is going through and also of attacks from "the enemies of religion to the supremest authority, Jesus Christ."

He adds that he is greatly affected "not only by the indescribable hor-rors of this War, which, without par-allel in the history of the world, threatens to drag poor Europe to the bottom of the abyss, but also by an insidious and skillful campaign of calumnies and hatred against the person of the Pontiff and his work."

The Pope in a recapitulation of his action since the beginning of the War says his efforts to bring about eace have been misjudged and mis interpreted, even his silence about this or that crime being calumnious ly interpreted, his critics not admit ting that "in the present uncertainty of this blaze of passions, it is impossible to inflict condemnation for each crime while all are included in a condemnation pronounced according to the general principle."

UNDERSTANDING

Once upon a time a certain timor ous Frenchman who was visiting in the country expressed to his host some misgivings he felt regarding a barking dog that barred the way. "It's all right," said his host. mittee of which Dr. Foley is the honorary president; James K. Kellaher, the president; W. E. Donovan, secretary; and D. T. Lynagh, the yes," said the Frenchman, "I know treasurer, the other members being ze proverbe, you know ze proverby. John A. Neville, R. G. Benzley, W. R. but ze dog—does he know ze proverby. Powell, J. P. Quinn, John F. O'Connell, F. W. Smith, A. J. Finlay, W. P. Burns, Alderman Foley and H. R. was the important one, for the chief ennett.

The entire active management, daily the art of living pleasantly however, devolves on two men, to with others arise from imperfect whose untiring interest in it, its sympathies, from a defective grasp from a defective grasp from a failure to realize his intel-lectual limitations. To understand who assumes that her stolid husband understands perfectly how much every little domestic annoyance irritates her at the end of a long and trying day; or by the criti-cal and parsimonious parishioner who loudly wonders why his pastor cannot run the parochial school on cannot run the parochial school on fewer funds; or by the gifted teacher of English grammar who cannot understand why her goslings, though they seldom hear from their "unlet-tered" parents a perfect English sentence, are not filled with such admiration for the unearthly beauty of the concords that they grow faint a solecism; or the stern drill sergeant, a department store clerk only six months ago, who disconsolately vows that "the service" is going pell mell to the dogs, because those hopelessly stupid "rookies" who came to camp last week do not yet clearly understand wherein the use and construction of the British Hales rile grenade No.3 (percussion) statistics the Boston Evening Transscript remarks:

It is one of the disadvantages of the position of the New England Protestant minister that his work, in the long run, tends to degenerate into a contract of the statistics wherein the use and construction of the British Hales rifle grenade No. 3 (percussion) differs from the make and employment of the German cylindrical grenade with friction tube (regulation type.)

"But ze doz."

"But ze dog—does he know the proverbe?"—that question sternly put to oneself and pondered long and well whenever the temptation comes to speak or act hastily, with little sympathy, or from a very imperfect knowledge of a case's extenuating circumstances, will no doubt result, much to the sweetening of the ascer bities of human intercourse, in leaving unsaid many a sharp word and unkind judgment, or in leaving undone many an inconsiderate act and regrettable deed.—America.

AND BULGARIA

Post Office Department, Canada. Ottawa, June 19th, 1918.

A notification has been received from the British Authorities to the effect that the Parcel Post Service for Prisoners of War in Turkey or Bulgaria is at present suspended.
Until this Service is resumed no parcels can be forwarded to Prisoners of War in Turkey or Bulgaria and persons desiring to help Prisoners of War in these countries are advised to forward remittances to them. These can be sent by means of Post Office Money Orders which are issued free of commission. Particulars as to how to proceed may be obtained from Postmasters of Accounting Offices. Any parcels for Prisoners of War in these countries which may be intercepted in the course of transmission will be returned to the senders, providing the name of the senders is given on the parcel.

WHELAN.—At St. John's, Nfid., Feb. 5, 1917, Mrs. P. Whelan, aged fitty-one years, leaving a husband, three daughters and an aunt to mourn her loss. May her soul rest in peace.

BRENNAN.-On Thursday, June 20, 1918, at his late residence, 66 Daly Ave, Ottawa, Tobias Brennan, in his sixtieth year. May his soul rest in TAYLOR .- At St. Joseph's Hospital, TAYLOR.—At St. Joseph's Hospital, Hamilton, on Monday, June 17th, 1918, Ethel Mary Martin, wife of Richard Taylor, in her thirty-third year. Having received all the rites address received by the Pontiff from of Holy Mother Church. May her soul rest in peace.

McPhaul.—At St. Andrews West, on June 13, 1918, Mr. Laurence Mc-Phaul. May his soul rest in peace.

SOME GOOD FROM EVIL

Through the black clouds of war comes a shining ray of light. We can see the faint outlines of a rainbow of hope. We may believe that God is going to use this War, brought on by the cupidity of man, for His honor and glory.

It seems quite certain that France will resume friendly relations with the Vatican. For a century France persecuted the Church of God. An infidel government seized churches. chools and convents, drove priests and nuns from the country, and put impossible conditions upon ecclesias-tical authorities. With the outbreak of the War France saw a light. She had need of those exiled priests and religious. Today they are welcome in France. The priests have shown that the Catholic is a genuine patriot. They have gone to the front, thousands of them bearing arms for their beloved France, while others are there to administer the Sacraments of Christ to the dying defenders of their country. ministering angels of God's mercy are again in the hospitals or on the battlefields to giver succor to the wounded soldiers of their country. There is a religious awakening in The French people admire the hero and they will demand that justice be done these noble men and women, the type that France produced in the days of her Catholic

When President Wilson ordered a day of prayer it was suggested in the Chamber of Deputies that the French government follow his example. The government answered that as The doubt suggested by the Frenchman's anxious query is one that could be profitably entertained by a discontented wife, for instance, who assumes that her that their governments that their governments that their governments are the their governments. France did not recognize God such regret that their government had not followed the example of the Ameri-can President. Said Gauloi: "It lifts the hope that our Republic will one day follow the example of the United States, which we so often imitate, and not fear to show itself as religious, faithful and confident in God as the most ancient monarchies in Europe." Many other papers ex-pressed the same thought.

The appointment of a pious Catholic to the supreme command of the armies has given evidence that the French government no longer will refuse to recognize a really great man simply because he is a Catholic. The French press is openly advoca-ting peace with the Vatican. We may with reason believe that the eldest daughter of the Church will soon return to the arms of her mother.—Catholic Sun.

THE NEW CODE OF CANON LAW

Codex Iuris Canonici (With revised notes by Cardinal Gaspari) and Authorized by the Vatican, will be READY IN AUGUST Orders Filled in the Order in Which They Are Received PRICE $4.50 NET

Postage or Express Extra. Bound in heavy cloth boards. 7 x 10 inches. Weight 41 lbs.

W E. BLAKE & SON, Limited CATHOLIC CHURCH SUPPLIES 123 Church St.

Canada

HOME BANK OF CANADA

"There are not good things enough in life to indemnify us for the neglect of thrift."

Branches and Connections Throughout Canada

LOCAL OFFICES: LONDON DELAWARE ILDERTON LAWRENCE STATION MELBOURNE

TEACHERS WANTED

TWO TEACHERS WANTED WITH FIRST and second class certificates for S, S, No. 6. Crysler. Must be able to teach French and Egylish, Salary $600 and $450. Duties to commencin September. Apply at once to Jerry Page, Sec. Treas. Crysler, Ont.

WANTED, A SECOND CLASS PROFESsional teacher. Salary $000 per annum.
Duties to commence after midsummer holiday for S. S. S.No. 1, McGillivray. Apply to P. J.
Buckley, Sec.-Treas., Clandeboye, Ont. 2070-3

TEACHER WANTED FOR R. C. S. S., NO. 9.
Kearney, holding 2nd class Professional certificate, Normal trained, Salary $500 to $550.
One who knows music and can sing preferred,
Apply, stating experience, etc., to J. W. Brown, Secy-Treas., Kearney, Ont. TEACHERS WANTED, HOLDING FIRST OR

EACHERS AS ONTARIO CERTIficate FOR K. C. hools, Fort William, Ont. Salary $600 per year, uties to commence September next. Apply G. Smith, Sec., 112; Simpson St., Fort William 2071-tf. WANTED, CATHOLIC TEACHERS, SECOND

QUALIFIED TEACHER WANTED FOR S. S. No. 9, township of Percy. Dutles to commence after holidays. Apply stating experience and salary expected to Thos. Collins, Sec. Treas. Hastings, Ont. 2072.2.

WANTED, A FIRST OR SECOND CLASS Normal trained professional teacher for S. S. No. 1 and 3 South Gloucester, Ont. Good locality ten miles from Ottawa city. Salary $600 per annum. Duties to begin Sept, 3rd, Apply Rev. Geo. D. Prudhomme, P. P., Secretary, Billings Bridge, Ont. R. R. No. 1.

WANTED, A PROFESSIONAL TEACHER for U. S. S. No. 1, Logan and Ellice. Duties to commence Sept. 1. Apply stating experience and salary expected to John Dwyer, R. R. 5. Mit-thell, Ont.

SUMMER TOURISTS A MERICAN HOUSE, LAKE MUSKOKA, situated on a beautiful site on Muskoka Lake, Catholic Church close by, For particulars ad-dress Mrs. M. A. Walker.

PRIEST'S HOUSEKEEPER WANTED WANTED, PRIEST'S HOUSEKEEPER IMMEdiately, diocese of Kingston, must be thoroughly competent. State reference, age, and salary, Apply Box L, CATHOLIC RECORD. London, Ont. 2008-tf.

BOYS WANTED

WE NEED A GOOD BRIGHT, CATHOLIC boy in every city and town in Canada to act as our agent during the summer holidays, For full particulars send name and address to Dominion Art Co., P. O. Box 222, London, Ont. HELP WANTED

WANTED. A PRIEST'S HOUSEKEEPER. Must be competent, reliable and good cook. References required from your pastor. Good wages. Address Fastor, 211 Church St., St. Joseph, Michigan, U. S. A. DE LA SALLE COLLEGE, AURORA. ONT.

CONDUCTED BY THE BROTHERS OF THE CHRISTIAN SCHOOLS OF ONTARIO (TRAINING COLLEGE AND NOVITIATE) (TRAINING COLLEGE AND NOVITIATE)
Pupils are prepared to become qualified teachers and members of the Institute of the Brothers of the Christian Schools. The course of studies is that of the High School of Ontario leading to the Normal School and the Faculty of Education. It includes Music, Art. and Manual Training. For particulars apply to Rev. Brother Directors. 2068-13

AGENTS WANTED

WE ARE IN NEED OF AN INTELLIGENT lady (Roman Catholie) in every parish in Canada and Newfoundland, to introduce our beautiful line of religious pictures, size of 16x20 inches. Sepia (Gelatine Prints) and Carbon Brown Tints. We have over 60 different subjects, and this class of pictures are of a quality that would be placed in the most particular homes, as they retain all the details and high lights of the original paintings. We sell in quantities from one dozen to one hundred at wholesale prices to prospective agent. No experience is required to handle this line as these pictures sell at sight,
For particulars address, Catholic Supply Co., Tublishers of Religious Pictures, 46 St. Alexander St., Montreal, Que.

2072-6

WE HAVE AN AMPLE SUPPLY OF VARIOUS ALTAR WINES

Terragona, Sherry Muscatel Sauterne, Etc.

Orders shipped same day as received

W. E. BLAKE & SON, Limited CATHOLIC CHURCH SUPPLIES 123 Church St.

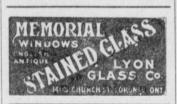

Toronto, Canada

First Communicants Catechism

By the Author of Butler's Revised Catechism pared conformably to the Decree on Firs munion, † Imprimatur Neil McNeil, Arch op of Toronto.)

THE IDEAL CATECHISM for First Communicants. Free from abstraterms and long and superfluous words. Its used for year no need for yearbularies or explain

W. E. BLAKE & SON, Limited 123 CHURCH ST. CANADA

Vestments Altar Wine Mission Goods Church Furniture

J. M. LANDY 405 YONGE ST. TORONTO

De La Salle Camp

Under the Direction of

For Catholic Boys and Young Men

Jackson's Point, Ontario July 1 to Sept. 2nd

Apply : BRO. SILVIN, De La Salle Camp.

The Thinnest Prayer Book Made

Handy Companion

Soldiers and Sailors AND TO THE HONOR AND GLORY OF THE

Cross and Flag BY A VINCENTIAN FATHER

This Prayer Book is particularly suitable for our Soldiers. Bound in Khaki Cloth, with Gold Cross and Gold Edges, Size 2 x 4 inches. Only one-eighth inch thick. 109 pages. Weight 1 oz.

Catholic Record

Price 40c. Postpaid

Protection and Profit

When money is in a Savings Account in ' The Merchants Bank, it is absolutely safe from loss, as far as you are concerned. All the time it is here, it is earning interest -so that the bank actually pays you to let it take care of your money. Don't carry unneeded sums on your person or hide them at home. Protect them against loss, theft and fire by opening a savings account.

THE MERCHANTS BANK Head Office: Montreal. OF CANADA Established 1864.

With its 102 Branches in Ontario, 32 Branches in Quebec, 19 Branches in Manitoba, 21 Branches in Saskatchewan, 53 Branches in Alberta, and 8 Branches in British Columbia serves, Rural Canada most effectively. Write or call at Nearest Branch.

Standard Library

60 Each Postpaid

Acolyte, The The story of a Catholic College Boy African Fabiola, The; translated by Right Rev Mgr. Joseph O'Connell, D. The story of the Life of St. Perpetua, D. D. The story of the Life of St. Perpetua, D. D. The story of the Life of St. Perpetua, and the year 203. One of the most moving in the annals of the Church.
Alchemist's Secret, The; by Isabel Cecilia Williams This collection of short stories is not of the sort written simply for amusement; they have their simple, direct teaching, and they lead us to think of and to pity sorrows and trials of others rather than our own.
Alias Kitty Casey, by Marie Gertrude Williams Kitty Casey is in reality Catherine Carew, a girl threatened with misfortune, who in an endeavor to seclude herself, and at the same time enjoy the advantages of the country in summer time, accept a menial position in a hotel, taking the position of waitress refused by her maid, Kitty Casey. The story is well written, and a romance cleverly told.

many Jays.

Blakes and Flanagans, by Mrs. James Sadlier. This book is the masterpiece of the illustrious author whose writings have made her name a household word among the Catholics of America.

Borrowed From The Night, by Anna C, Minogua, Miss Minogue has a way of showing her readers the delightful Southern character in all its charm and gentility. No one will read "Borrowed from the Night," without being fascinated with Miss Martinez, whose early life is surrounded with so much interest. much interest.

Regrounded with so much interest.

Regrounded by Minogue. A Romance of Kentucky Much has been written of the troublesome times from 1860 to 1865, but seldom has a Catholic author taken this historic half decade as material for a story. Miss Minogue is a resident of Kentucky, and in Cardome presents a clear picture of the confusion and uncertainty which existed in the state. The story is admirably presented and bristster. The story is admirably presented and bristster. The story is admirably presented and Third Century; attempting to imagine and express the feelings and relations between Christians and heathens of that time.

Zaptain Noesoff, by Raoul de Navery. A thrilling story of fearlessness and adventure.

Zineas, by J. M. Villefranche. A study of civiliza.

story of fearlessness and adventure, ineas, by J. M. Villefranche, A study of civilization and a comparison of Christianity, not only with Paganism and purely human philosophy but with Judaism also, towards the close of the reign of Neo. The scenes are laid in Rome and to meet and analyze the different conditions and situations, including the burning of Rome, the author has created imaginary characters such as Coness of the Roman Guard around whose conversion to Christianty the plot of the story is woven.

mscience's Tales, by Hendrick Conscience Thoroughly interesting and well written tales of Flemish life, including "The Recruit," Mina Host Gensendonck," "Blind Ross," and "The Poor Nobleman" adventure during the exciting times of the French Revolution; Ferncliffe is the name of a large, setate in Devonshire, England, the home of Agnas Falkland, who with her family and adopted sister Francis Macdonald, Turnish the interesting events and the secret influence of which Agnas Falkland is the innocent sufferer. Four Great Evils of the Day, by Cardinal Manning Happy-Go-Lucky, by Mary C. Crowley. A collection of Catholic stories for boys. including "A lappy-Go-Lucky, by Mary C. Crowley. A collection of Catholic stories for boys. including "A rand His Friends," Get Boys at Balton," and "A Christmas Stocking."

Hawthorndean, by Clara M. Thompson. A story of American life founded on fact.

Heiress of Kilorgan, by Mrs. J. Sadlier. History and fiction combined; very interesting.

arian Elwood, by Sarah M. Brownson. The story of a haughty society girl, selfish and arrogant, who awakes to the shallowness of her existence through the appreciation of the noble character and religi-ous example of a young man whom she afterwards marries.

marries.

May Brooke, by Mrs. Anna H. Dorsey. The story of two cousins who are left in the care of their very wealthy but eccentric uncle, who professes no religion and is sufficient with all the world. It follows them through their many trials and experiences, and contrasts the effect on the two distinct characters.

Merchant Of Antwerp, The; by Hendrick Conscience.

A novel of impelling interest from beginning to end concerning the romance of the daughter of a dia mond merchant, and Faphael Banks, who, through the uncertainties of fortune, earns the parental approval of their marriage, which had been withheld on account of difference in social rostitors.

withing the second of the by Mary C. Crowley, A collection of stories for Catholic children, including "Little Beginnings," "Blind Apple Woman, "Polly's Five Dollars," "Marie's Trumpet," and "A Family's Frolic."

Old House By The Boyne, by Mrs. J. Sadliet, Picturing scenes and incidents true to life in an acourage beyond his years, until he had fulfilled in sission. ers. The by Mary I. Hoffman This sister of Charity, The; by Mrs. Anna H. Dorsey. The story of a Sister of Charity Mrb., as a nurse, attends a non-Catholic family, and after a shipwace kand rescue from almost a hopeless situation, brings the family into the Church of God. It is especially interesting in its descriptions.

interesting in its descriptions.

Solitary Island, The; by Rev. John Talbot Smith.

As mysterious and fascinating in its plot as either of the sensational productions of Archibald Clavering Gunther, and it contains portraits which would not shame the brush of a Thackeray or Dickens.

So As By Fire. By Jean Comor. After living a life that was a lie, the heroine of this story renounces it all that she might atome for the great wrong she has done. A really absorbing and profitable story Strawcutter's Daughter, The; by Lady Georgianna Fullerton. An interesting Catholic story for young people.

Fullerton. An interesting Catholic story for young people.

Tangled Paths, by Mrs. Anna H. Dorsey, "As a novel Tangled Paths is admirable; as a Catholic novel it is most admirable, and if the author will compare this very satisfactory production with her earlier work. The Student of Blenheim Forest, for instance, she can almost sing the 'Nunc Vimittis,' for her improvement is so marked that she seems in her work to have almost reached its climax,"—Ave Maria

Maria
Test Of Courage, The. By H. M. Ross. A story that grips the heart. The well constructed plot, the breezy dialogue, the clear, rapid style, carry the reader away.
The Waters Of Contradiction, by Anna C. Minogue, A delighful romance of the South and Southern people, and so strong in its interest that the reader's attention increases to the very last chapter, Tears On The Diadem, by Anna H. Dorsey, A novel of the inner life of Queen Elizabeth. So interesting that the reader will be loathe to lay it down before finishing the entire story.
Thalia, by Abbe A. Bayle, An interesting and instructive tale of the Fourth Century.
Their Choice. By Henrietta Dana Skinner, Its

Their Choice. By Henrietta Dana Skinner. Its characters are cleverly drawn, and its pages are full of shrewd wit and delicate humor. rull of snrewd wit and delicate humor.

Two Victories, The; py Rev. T. J. Potter. A story of the conflict of faith in a non-Catholic family and their entrance into the Catholic Church.

Tigranes, by Rev. John Joseph Franco, S. J. An absorbing story of the persecutions of Catholics in the fourth century, and the attempt of Julian the Apostate to restore the gods of Homer and Virgil

Ask for Quantity Discount

The Catholic Record LONDON, CANADA

oul, the Englishman, by Francis Aveling Amout, the Enginsman, by reancis Aveling.
Alley Moore, A tale of the times, by Richard Baptist O Brien, D. D. Showing how eviction, murder and such pastumes are managed and justice administered in Ireland, together with many stirring incidents in other lands. The story tells of the heroic lives of our I sin grandfathers and grandmothers.
There is no lack of incident and accident. For those interested in Irish history of these later days Ailey Moore in a new dress will serve a good purpose.

an Anglican Clergyman,
By The Royal Road, by Marie Haultmont,
By The Grey Sea, by Herbert Spring, Cardinal Democrat, The; Henry Edward Manning, by J. A. Taylor, It is a true portrait of the Cardinal whose own ideal of a good bishop he surely realized.

Converts to Rome, by Gordon W. Gorman. Bio-graphical List of the Most Notable Converts to the Catholic Church in the United Kingdom dur-ing the Last Sixty Years. Cousin Wilhelmina, by Anna T. Sadlier. This story of a chivairous lover and of the fascinating Wilhelmina is one well worth the reading. Withelmina is one well worth the reading.

Damsel Who Dared, A; A novel, by Genevieve Irone.

Irone, Edgar, or From Atheism to the Full Truth, by Louis You Hammestein, S. J. Some of his books have gained a world-wide renown and spread his name far and wide as a first-class apologists, who is up to-date in every branch of Protestant controversy. In this translation he gives us a new controversy. In this translation he gives us a new proof of his apologetic genius and enterprise. Five of Diamonds, By Mrs, Guthrie, An interesting novel full of excitement and many thills. The scene is laid in England, afterward drifting to Russia and Siberia.

de Mannering, By Frances Noble, This charm-lovel has been regarded as a model love story

Guy's Fortune, by M. B. Egan. The story is very exciting and holds the reader's attention. Harp of Many Chords, A. i. by Mary F. Nixon. Heart of Jesus of Nazareth. Meditations on the Hidden Life, By the author of "Voice of the Sacied Heart." outh and Some Other Jacks, by David Bearne, Elders as well as juniors may read it with profit and pleasure.

dramatic skill.

Lost Lode. By Christian Reid and Stella's Discipline. By F, X, L, in one volume. The "Lost Lode" is a story of Mexico, strong, interesting, and, like everything from the same pen, charmingly written. The second story is another specimen of wholesome light literature, and we deem it judiciously coupled with the former beautiful story.

Lost Jewel of The Mortimers, The; by Anna T, Sadlier.

Lost Jewel of The Mortimers, The; by Anna T. Sadlier.
Maiden Up-To-Date A; by Genevieve Irone.
Maiden Up-To-Date A; by Genevieve Irone.
Majc of The Sea, The; or, Commodore John Barry in the Making, by Captain James Connelly. It is a historical novel, and well fit to take its place beside "Richard Carvel." Mantilla, The; by Richard Amerle. The Mantilla is a romantic tale of insurrectionary Cuba, with Bob Weldon, engineering student and football king, as hero; and Mary Dunleaven Mercaders, otherwise Cortia, for heroine.
We are certain it who of great interest, especially to fair readers.
Master Motive, The; by Lurea Conan. A Tale of, the Days of Champlain, Translated by Theresa
A, Gethin,
Mesalliance, A. A Novel, by Katherine Tynan.

alliance, A. A Novel, by Katherine Tynan, ror, The; by Mary Fa Nixon, Mystery of Naples, The; by Rev E. P. Graham
With six illustrations ceeds wonderfully were that arise, Orchids, A novel by Lelia Hardin Bugg.

Parting of the Ways, The; by Florence Gil Passing of the Ways, The; by Florence Gilmore, Philip, A Tale of the Coal Regions, By Rev. Patrick Justin McMalion. A thrilling and wellinds story of the days of the Mollie Maguires, Well written and conceived with an admirable unity of plan, thereis as the reader passes from Chapter to chanter.

Wayfarer's Vision, The; by Rev. Thomas J. Gerrard, Altogether a most fascinating book, and one which tends to strengthen the soul in its Godward effort. With A Pessimist in Spain, by Mary F. Nixon, With 13 illustrations.

Woodbourne, By Colonel Jos, Mayo, A Novel of the Revolutionary Times in Virginia and Mary-land

60c. Each, Postpaid

dithea, by D. Ella Nirdlinger. A delightful story giving some of the author's home experiences and the plays of her happy childhood. It is a merry company of four brothers, a sister, and their beloved parents. Brownie And I. by Richard Aumerle. Brownie is a college dog who chumns with the new boys as soon as they arrive and is with them in all their sports. He even succeeds in winning the decisive baseball game of the year. Boying the decisive baseball game of the year. Boy's life, and grownups will follow with deep interest this genuine record of two years of a college boy's life.

Dear Friends, by D. Ella Nirdlinger. A home story, of two years of a college boy's life.

Dear Friends, by D. Ella Nirdlinger. A home story, and in that lies its special charm. There are dark days and bright days pictured, just as they come to every home, and love is the source of the moral susshine glinting through the story.

Five Birds in a Nest, by Henriette Eugenie Delemare. The scene of this story is in a little village of France, of which the author knows every inch of ground. It is the story of five children, and incidentally introduces many of the local customs. Round Table of American Catholic Novelists, a delightful symposium of short stories by representative American Catholic novelists. Round Table of frish and Rnglish Catholic Novelists.

Ask for Quantity Discount

The Catholic Record LONDON, CANADA