POETRY.

God Only Knows.

Whither are going with hurrying feet Forms that are passing to-night on the street?
Faces all sunny and faces all sad, Hearts that are weary and hearts that are glad,
Eyes that are heavy with sorrow and grief, Eyes that are gleaming with beauty and life; Pictures of pleasure and crosses of care, Going, all going, God only knows where.

Hands that have earnestly striven for bread, Hands that are soiled with dishonor instead; Hearts that are tuned to a purpose sublime, Hearts all discordant and jangled with crime, Souls that are pure and as white as the snow, Souls that are black as the midnight of woe; Gay in their gladness or drunk in despair, Going, all going, God only knows where.

Some to the feast where the richest red wine, And the rarest of jewels will sparkle and shine, Some in their hunger will wander, and roam,
And some will sleep, nor awaken when morning shall come;
The robed and the ragged, the foe and the friend, All of them hurrying on to the end; Nearing the grave with a curse or a prayer, Going, all going, God only knows where.

SELECT STORY.

A Modern Hero.

To the Memory of Michael Rooney
This simple stone was erected by his Fellow-Workmen.

These words you may read any day Upon a plain white slab in the cemetery In one of our large cities. But you Might read them a hundred times without Guessing at the little tragedy they Indicate, without knowing the humble Romance which ended with the placing Of that stone above the dust of a poor And humble man.

In his shabby jacket and mud-laden Brogans, he was scarcely an attractive Object as he walked into Mr Camp's Great tin and hardware shop one day And presented himself at the counter with,

"I've been told ye advertised for hands, yer honor."

"Fully supplied, my man," said Mr Camp, not lifting his head from his account book.

"I'd work faithful, sir, and take low wages till I could do better, and I'd learn—I would that."

It was an Irish brogue, and Mr Camp had declared that he never would employ an incompetent hand. Yet the tone attracted him. He turned briskly and with his pen behind his ear he addressed the man who was only one of fifty who had answered his advertisement that morning for four workmen.

"What makes you expect to learn faster than other folks? Are you any smarter?"

"I'd be wishing to; and that 'ud make it easier."

"Are you used to the work?"

"I've done a bit of it."

"Much?"

"No, yer honor; I'll tell no lie: but I know a bit about it."

"You are too old for an apprentice, and you'd be in the way I calculate," said Mr Camp, looking at the braveny arms. "Besides, I know your countrymen—lazy fellows who never do their best. No; I've been taken in by Irish hands before, and I won't have another."

"The Virgin will have to be after bringing 'em over in her two arms this," said the man despairingly, "for I've tramped all day for the last fortnight, and niver a job can I get, and that's the last penny I have, yer honor, and it's but a half one."

As he spoke he spread his palm open and displayed an English half-penny.

"Bring whom ever?" asked Mr Camp, arrested by the odd speech as he turned away.

"Jist Nora and Jamey."

"Who are they?"

"The wan's me wife, the other me child," said the man. "Oh, sir, jist try me. How'll I bring them to me if no one will give me a job? I want to be aairing, and the whole big city seems against it, and me with arms like this." He bared his arms to the elbow as he spoke, and Mr Camp looked at them and then at his face.

"I'll hire you for a week," he said;

"and now as it's soon go down into the kitchen and ask the girl to give you your dinner—a hungry man can't work."

And with an Irish blessing the new hand obeyed, while Mr Camp went upstairs to his own meal.

Rooney worked hard and actually learned fast. At the end of the week he was engaged permanently, and soon was the best workman in the shop. He was a great talker but not fond of drink nor wasting money. As his wages grew he hoarded every penny, and wore the same shabby clothes in which he had made his first appearance.

"I've cent I spend," he said one day, "puts off the bringing Nora and Jamey over. Better no coat to me back than no wife and boy by me fireside, and anyhow, it's slow work saying."

It was slow work but he kept at it.
Other men, thoughtless and full of fun, tried to make him drink, coaxed him to accompany them to places of amusement in vain. Rooney liked fun, liked companionship, but he would not delay that long looked for bringing Nora over, and he was not "man enough" to accept favors of others which he would not repay. He kept on his way a martyr to his own great wish, living on little, working at night on any extra job by which he could earn a trifle, and talking to any one who would listen, of his one great desire and of Nora and little Jamey.

At first the men, who prided themselves on being all Americans, and on turning out the best work in the city, made a sort of bait of Rooney and his Irish ways. But he won their hearts at last, and when one day, mounting on a work bench, he shook his little bundle wrapped in a red handkerchief, before their eyes and shouted: "Look! boys, I've got the whole at last! I'm going to bring Nora and Jamey over at last!" all felt a sympathy in his joy and each grasped his braveny hand in cordial congratulations.

They parted in a merry mood, most of the men going to comfortable homes.
But Rooney's resting place was a poor lodging house, where he shared a garret with four other men, and in the joy of his heart the good fellow exhibited his handkerchief with his hard earned savings tied up in a hard wax in the middle, before he put it under his pillow and fell asleep. When he awakened in the morning he found his treasure gone. A first Rooney would not believe it lost. He searched every corner of the room, shook his quilt and blanket, and begged those about him to "quit joking and give it back." But at last he realized the truth.

Is any man that had that's thaved from me?" He asked. Boy's is any man that had?"

And some one answered, "No doubt of it Rooney; it is stolen."

Then Rooney put his head down on his hands and wept. It seemed more than he could bear—to have Nora and the child put months away from him again.

But when he went to work that day it seemed to all that saw him that he had picked up a new determination; his hands were never idle. At noon he scratched out a letter, blotted and very strangely scrawled, telling Nora what had happened, and the men noticed that he had no meat with his dinner.

Indeed from that moment he lived on bread, potatoes and gold water, and worked as few men ever worked before.
It grew to be the talk of the shop, and every one wanted to help Rooney. Jobs were thrown in his way, kind words and friendly wishes helped him mightily, but no power could make him share the food and drink of any other workman.

That seemed a sort of charity to him.
Still he was helped along. A present from Mr Camp at pay-day set Nora as he said "a week nearer." The little hoard grew faster than the fist. At last, before he hoped it, he was able to say "I'm going to bring them over," and showed his handkerchief, in which as before, he tied up his earnings—this time, however, only to his friends.
Cautiously among strangers, he hid his treasure, and kept his vest buttoned over it night and day until the tickets were bought and sent. Then each man woman and child capable of hearing or understanding knew that Nora and the baby were coming.

The days flew by and brought at last a letter from his wife. "She would start as he desired, and she was well and so was the boy, and might the Lord bring them safe to each other's arms and bless those who had been so kind to him." That was the substance of the epistle that Rooney proudly assured the men that Nora wrote herself. She had lived at service as a girl with a certain good lady who had given her her education, the items of which Rooney told upon his fingers, "The radin', that's one; and the writin', that's two; and moreover she knows all a woman can." Then he looked at the men and asked, "Do ye wonder the time seems long between me an' her boys?"

So it was Nora at the dawn of day, Nora at noon and Nora at night, until the news came that the Kathleen had come to port. It happened on a hol-day afternoon, and half a dozen men were ready to go with Rooney to the steamer and give his wife a welcome.
Her little home was ready. Mr Camp's own servant had put it in order.

"She had't the look of that in the old country," said Rooney, when all was arranged, "but she'll know how to keep it tidy."

At last the dock was reached. A crowd of vehicles blockaded the street; a troop of emigrants were thronging up; fine cabin passengers were stepping into cabs; drivers and porters were shouting in the usual manner. Nora would wait on board for her husband —he knew that.

The little group made their way into the vessel, and Rooney searched for the two so dear to him, patiently at first, but by and by growing anxious and excited.

—God's good. He wouldn't let me bring Nora over, but he's taking me over to her—and Jamey—over the river. Don't you see it and her a-standing on the other side?"

And with these words Rooney stretched out his arms. Perhaps he did see Nora—heaven only know—and so he died.

What Cures?

EDITORIAL DIFFERENCE OF OPINION ON AN IMPORTANT SUBJECT.

What is the force that ousts disease; and which is the most convenient apparatus for applying it? How far is the regular physician useful to us because we believe in him, and how far are his pills and powders and tonics only the material representatives of his personal influence on our health?

The regular doctors cure; the homoeopathic doctors cure; the Hahnemannianes cure; and so do the faith cures and the mind cures, and the so-called Christian scientists, and the four-dollar-and-a-half advertising itinerants, and the patent medicine men. They all hit, and they all miss, and the great difference—in the result is that when the regular doctors lose a patient no one grumbles, and when the irregular doctors lose one the community stands on end and howls.—Rochester Union and Advertiser.

Nature cures, but nature can be aided, hindered or defeated in the curative process, and the Commercial's contention is that it is the part of rational beings to seek and trust the advice of men of good character who have studied the human system and learned, as far as modern science lights the way, how they can best avoid obstructing her.—Buffalo Commercial.

It is not our purpose to consider the unscrupulous, the ignorant, charlatans and quacks to prescribe for the maladies that afflict the human family. We simply declare that the physician who knows something is better than the physician who knows nothing, or very little indeed about the structure and the condition of the human system. Of course "he does not know it all."— Rochester Morning Herald.

I have used Warner's Safe Cure and but for its timely use would have been I verily believe, in my grave from what the doctors termed Bright's Disease.—D. F. Shriner, senior Editor Scioto Gazette, Chillicothe, Ohio, in a letter dated June 30, 1890.

A Remarkable Offer.

For several years a Boston business house has made persons on farms, in towns and the suburbs of cities who keep poultry, few or many, remarkable offers, of premiums payable in gold, in some as high as fifty dollars to any winner of a premium. The best thing about these annual offers, is that the firm making them is strictly reliable and the premiums have always been promptly paid as agreed in gold coin. Fifty dollar premiums do not "grow on every bush" as the old saying is, and we have no doubt to many who competed for them, the amount received came in handy to help pay the necessary bills of a hard winter, or if not, by some luxury that the family absolutely needed, but otherwise could not afford.

This same firm, I. S. Johnson & Co., 22 Custom House St., Boston, Mass., authorize us to state to our readers that they have prepared an offer of similar premiums this year as heretofore, with one very important improvement and that is, so that the first winner stands a fair chance of getting premiums amounting to one hundred and fifty dollars in gold. Why! that is as good as fifty dollars per month for the three winter months. Its worth trying for any way.

Another valuable feature of the offers this year is that no one who competes need fail to get something out of the several offers; either in premiums or commissions. Johnson & Co., will send full particulars free to any person who sends their address on a postal card.

These premium offers are made in connection with the use of Sheridan's Condition Powder to make hens lay. That Powder has been manufactured and sold for over thirty years. I. S. Johnson & Co., 22 Custom House St., Boston, Mass., (the only makers of Sheridan's Condition Powder), will send for $1.00 five packs; for $1.20 a large 2-1/4 lb. can, postpaid; six cans for $8, express prepaid. Six cans will pay a good dividend. I. S. Johnson & Co., will also send to any one asking for it a copy of the best poultry magazine published, free; The paper one year and a large can of Powder for $1.50.

Patti is to receive 12,000 guineas for twelve performances in St.
Petersburg, more than $5,000 for each performance. Russia was the El Dorado of great stars before America began to double discount the Russians in generosity. Patti receives $4,000 for singing a single night in London and for an artist to travel to Russia in the dead of winter is well worth the difference between the sums paid, particularly as Russian aristocracy is very generous in the manner of paying large sums for listening to distinguished artists.

Oh, this ringing in the ears!
Oh, this humming in the head!
Hawking, blowing, snuffing, gasping, Watering eyes and throat-rasping, Health impaired and comfort fled, I'll wonder that I were dead!

What folly to suffer so with catarrhal troubles, when the worst cases of chronic catarrh in the head are relieved and cured by the mild, blending and healing properties of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It purifies the fowl breath, by removing the cause of offense, heals the sore and inflamed passages, and perfects a lasting cure.

The inhabitants of the earth number about 1,000,000,000; of these about 38,000,000 die every year, nearly one each second. There are 3,064 languages spoken, and there are more than 1,000 religions. The number of men is about equal to the number of women and the average of life is about thirty-three years.

The daughters of the Princess of

So much in excess of the supply is

Cough-Cures

Are abundant; but the one best known for its extraordinary analgesic and expectorant qualities is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. For nearly half a century this preparation has been in greater demand than any other remedy for coughs, colds, bronchitis, and pulmonary complaints in general. It has been tried for more than eight months from a severe cough accompanied with hemorrhage of the lungs and the expectoration of matter. The physicians gave me up, but my druggist prevailed on me to try

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

I did so, and soon began to improve; my lungs healed, the cough ceased, and I became stouter and healthier than I have ever been before. I would suggest that the name be changed to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral of Life, for it certainly saved my life.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., NOV. 14, 1890.

King's County Agricultural Society.

Directors' Annual Report for 1890.

MR. PRESIDENT AND GENTLEMEN,

Our society has completed the first year of its second century. This is the 101st annual meeting. The "centennial dinner," on the evening of Dec. 10th, last, was a successful celebration in every respect. Forty members and their guests enjoyed the dinner at the American House, Wolfville, and spent a very pleasant evening. An epitomised history of the society was read, and this was followed by an address by Hon. W. S. Fielding and speeches by F. G. Curry, Warden of the County; F. W. Borden, M. P.; A. McN. Patterson, John A. Woodworth, C. R. H. Starr, A. A. Pinco and others. The dinner was so popular that the society at the last quarterly meeting voted to have another on the 10th Dec., '90, the anniversary of the founding of the society, arrangements for which you are requested to complete at this meeting. Your directors have endeavored to carry out the wishes of the society in providing animals for different sections and attending to the interests of your society in general. The thoroughbred Short-horn bull, "Earl of Warwick," purchased from Messrs Armstrong Bros. at the Exhibition in Kentville, has given the best satisfaction to his patrons and is one of the finest animals in the Province. He is in Dr Fuller's hands, who commends his docility and quiet disposition. A thoroughbred Short-horn bull was purchased from W. E. Roscoe, Kentville, for Avonport. It is in the care of Chas. Reid and is proving a useful animal. A name is required for this animal and Mr Roscoe will have it registered. A bonus of $15 was paid Robert Palmeter for keeping a bull for Long Island members. This animal was a grade Durham, and was represented as becoming unruly, and Mr Palmeter was allowed to dispose of him a few months before the time agreed upon for keeping him had expired. The $25 voted for Wolfville was paid to Jas J. Elderkin. This animal was also a grade Durham. Your directors would urge the society to impress upon its members the necessity of using only thoroughbreds, and would advise the larger bonus than $10 to any grade animal. A thoroughbred Berkshire boar was purchased from Mr. D. Thirrell, Kentville, for the sum of $25. This is a very superior animal and the conditions for its keep and services are to be arranged with Dr Fuller. Your directors have not been able to secure a pig for Avonport nor a thoroughbred ram for the society as they were authorized to do. An effort was made to obtain a Yorkshire boar instead of a Berkshire, but none suitable could be found. Your directors regret that the agreement between King's and Hants to draw their grants and unite in holding a joint exhibition in Windsor was not carried out and in consequence there was no exhibition in either of the three counties—Annapolis, King's or Hants. The Provincial Exhibition is due in '91, in aid of the prize-list which the Government grant is $4000. We would urge this society to pass a resolution in favor of holding this exhibition in Kentville, and to unite with the other societies in the county in pressing the Municipal Council to take the matter in hand and guarantee a good prize-list. This was done for the last Provincial Exhibition held in Kentville and also for the District Exhibition, both of which were a success financially. We congratulate the society on the increase in membership during the past year, and the satisfactory state of the finances and accounts as shown by the books of the secretary. The report of the agricultural year we shall give under the familiar heading,

"WEATHER, CROPS AND PRICES."

The winter of '89 and '90 may be classed the mildest of all our mild winters, with the lightest snow-fall in the history of our district,—there was only one week of sleighing and barely enough snow to call it sleighing. Farmers were unable to do any sledging and wood-piles were very small. There was an abundance of rain and mud and thaws and silver-thaws. The spring opened as early as usual. Ploughing began last of April, and grain was sown and potatoes planted as early as usual. Many remarked that the season for sowing and planting was never more favorable. Growth of vegetation was rapid up to July 1st. During July and August there was a severe drought which lasted so long that the very life of the crops was threatened. The pastures dried up, gardens wilted and withered, and the leaves on the trees turned yellow and brown and some dropped. Early potatoes were checked in growth, small fruits on dry land were a failure and apples received a check which made all kinds smaller than usual. And previous to this, in June, there was a cold wind-storm which blighted many of the apple- blossoms; but there were no frosts, early or late, in this district which were injurious. Through September and October, and to date, the "drought" became a continued "wet spell." Harvesting was slow work, the straw was very much injured and the grain also to a less extent, and the digging of potatoes was greatly interrupted; but the weather continued uniformly mild with very little frost and no snow except a light fall the night of Oct. 31st, which whitened the mountain tops, but was gone in the valley before late risers were out of bed.

Hay, the crop on which all our farming is based, and the largest in acreage and importance in the Province, was a good average in quantity and prime in quality. The grass got so good a start in May and June that the drought afterwards did not seem to injure it and the dry sunny weather in haying enabled the farmers to secure the crop with less labor than ever before and of the very best quality.

Oats—the next most important fodder crop, in yield and quality were a great improvement on the crop of last year, yet scarcely up to the average and the wet weather almost ruined the straw for fodder. Wheat.—Little is raised but that little was a good yield and quality. Barley, rye and buckwheat,—were an average crop, but the latter was largely a failure owing to the wet, and for the same reason it was very difficult to harvest beans. More barley than formerly is being raised and mixed with oats for fodder.

Potatoes—This crop notwithstanding all the drawbacks of the season was little below the average. The "Bugs" destroyed some fields entirely and injured all more or less. Owing to their depredations and the drought early potatoes were a small crop, but later planted wherever Paris Green was used, were a large yield; but they were a good deal affected by the rot—in some cases nearly one half were rotten—and in addition they didn't seem to become thoroughly ripe before being dug and are not like the little balls of flour that used to come on our table with their jackets cracked open already to peat off. If injurious measures are not taken against the "Bugs" our potatoes, or their superiority for the table, will become a thing of the past. The beetles were more numerous last season than ever before, and wherever neglected not only destroyed the field first attacked but crossed over to the neighbor's will care for patch and devoured that also. There should be a law compelling every man to destroy beetles, caterpillars, and other insects, and a fine levied for neglect. We would respectfully bring this to the notice of the Government.

Turnips—More turnips are being raised year by year as the growing of potatoes and a market for them becomes more uncertain. The crop is smaller than usual as the drought hindered the growth. Mangels, carrots, parsnips, are an average. Mangels and turnips are becoming important crops in this district for feeding stock. Cabbages, tomatoes and cucumbers are being profitably raised by some of our farmers and were a good crop.

Small Fruits of all kinds are receiving much attention and a larger place on the farm each year, and are a source of profit to all who give them proper attention. On dry land the crop was a failure last season, but wherever there was sufficient moisture the crop was large and of excellent quality. Plums were scarce, also cherries; pears and quinces a good crop.

Apples—Although so much has been said of this crop in our valley, too much cannot be said in favor of its cultivation and its profitable nature. Our apples are so superior in quality that the markets of the whole world are open to them, and our thousands of barrels may be and will be increased to millions and still find a market at good prices. There can be no mistake in planting all the trees that can be well cared for. They blossomed very full, but a cold windstorm blighted many and even blew the leaves off the trees; then the drought in July and August checked the growth of those that had set and many little apples fell to the ground, and the crop was not more than 5/8 of an average and the apples smaller than usual. Nevertheless every fortnight since the 13th Sept. some steamer has carried hundreds and more often thousands of barrels of our apples to London besides those sold at home and sent to U. S. and West Indies, amounting to other thousands of barrels. One fruit steamer was loaded at Kingsport with a cargo of 8000 or 9000 barrels and left 1000 on the wharf. With a crop below the average, the money received for apples this season will probably double in amount that received for any other crop. But expenses are too high; a dollar freight from stations on the W. & A. R. is too much to pay when 2 and 3 shillings will carry them from N. Y., Boston and Montreal. From Kingsport the freight was $2 cent. Our remedy is just here. Fast steamers in the bay at Kingsport and Horton Landing. Competition will bring down the Halifax rate.

Your directors feel perfectly safe in saying that prices for all the products of the farm in this valley were never better. From all the stations along the line, as well as the wharves, potatoes have been taken from the field and packed in barrels for the West Indies at 35, 40 and 50 cents per bushel; fully equal to 75 cents in the spring. The most of these have gone to Havana and others with a few turnips are going to Bermuda, very few to the U. S. Apples here brought still higher figures. Speculators have eagerly bought up whole orchards, taking the poor with the good for $3 per barrel. Steamers have carried to London from 325 barrels, the first shipment of green-stones, Sept. 13th, to 11,000 barrels, and returns are from $2.75 $3, $4, $5.75 per barrel, net. Fewer apples have gone on the markets of the U. S. than for many years, yet the price is away up, and the short crop of '90 will realize more money than the immense crop of '86. We are pleased to note here that a long felt want has been supplied by the establishment of the Evaporator at Annapolis. Small apples and all others not suitable for shipment will now bring 50 and 75 cents a barrel at any of the stations along the W. & A. R. Two cars have been loaded at Grand Pre and more will follow. This will make quite a little item for many of our farmers. Orchards will pay. Fertilise them, keep the trees in a healthy state, be careful to destroy orchard pests. The black fungus spot is affecting some varieties. The fumes of burning sulphur will dry it and prevent further mischief. Small fruits have sold for 10, 12 and 15 cts a box. Benj Newcomb, Horton Landing, received $80, cash, from a small patch of raspberries. Growers in the west of the county sold strawberries to the amount of $500 to $600, most of them in Halifax, St John and smaller local towns. There is money in it if skill and care are given to it. Cabbages cost per head, carrots $1.25 per barrel. Live stock of all kinds a good price, dairy produce high; geese, 75 cents; chickens, 40 to 60 cts a pair; eggs, 15 to 20 cts per dozen—exceeding the supply. Eggs shipped to London from Halifax sold for as much as the selling price in N. Y. and Boston. The McKinley bill has not affected our district in the least. All of us are in favor of reciprocity but if it is denied us we can live without it. The old treaty was good, but the U. S. Government abrogated it, and we found other markets and changed our crops to meet the emergency, and prospered. This bill pinches us far less than the abrogating of that treaty in '68 did. We have at one found a market for potatoes in West Indies and for eggs in London; and prices are as good as ever, and we more independent. If it is the object of our neighbors to force us into annexation by a hostile tariff they are making a grand mistake. The day has gone by when Nova Scotia or any British Province could be coerced from its allegiance to the empire by any such measures. We are sturdy Britishers. Our ancestors were Englishmen from Connecticut. We may be coaxed but not driven. Our society and our community are better off than they were. The bill has given us a large measure of health and filled our barns and cellars with a bountiful supply for man and beast. Our lives have fallen to us in pleasant places, and all of us can give hearty thanks to the Lord of the Harvest on the day appointed for Thanksgiving which is so near.

For the Directors,
H. CHIPMAN.

Shipbuilding in Annapolis County.

Expected to be launched from the Mills shipyard, Granville Ferry, on Saturday, the 15th inst., the Olenagon: 127 feet keel, about 400 tons register, Captain John McQuinn, of Lower Granville, master, a careful man. Her model is beautiful—all her lines are pronounced very fine, and she is built in the best manner, being intended for South American trade, of the three masts the foremost carries yards. John Wagstaff, of Digby, is the master builder. She is owned by the Wetherpoons, Mills and others of the Ferry. Messrs Pickles & Mills, of Annapolis, have timber ready to lay the keel of another vessel in the same yard. There is a vessel, 118 feet keel, timbered out in the Croscup yard, Kinsalea, being built for Capt. Israel DeLap and others, she has the appearance of being a good carrier. The ads and broadside have earned well this season, and needs be so, for the sound was not heard on Annapolis River until last year, since the death of Lawrence DeLap. PEN.

To the Electors of Ward 7.

I understand that a paper has been handed in nominating me as candidate for councillor at the coming election, and that the same was quite largely signed by a respectable portion of the voters of this ward. I would beg to say that since County Incorporation, which took place eleven years ago, I have occupied a seat in the council for seven years, and all that time endeavored to the best of my ability to work for the interest of the Ward, the Township and the County; and during all that time I was followed by an unscrupulous and hound like opposition, that took advantage of every move to cast contumely on all my proceedings, and incite the voters to discontent, until wearied of this continual howl I resolved two years ago to quit the business never to accept a seat again. I am sorry for my friends who have taken the trouble to get up the nomination paper and am also sorry for the present councillor who has spent so much time in circulating evil reports concerning names on the paper and not in the manner in which it was got up. I hope and trust that at some future day he will leave off such kind of habits and if possible learn to read names without making such mistakes. In conclusion I much time in being so willing whenever our County is in need of help to lend a hand. But to accept a nomination for municipal honors while the polling booth is under the present staff of officers I shall forever beg to decline.

Yours truly,
JERIEL DAYTON.

The second quarterly meeting of the Grand Division, S. of T., is to be held at Wolfville, in April or May.

A quantity of matter some of which is in type has been crowded out of this issue, but will appear next week.

Dr Jones brought into our office on Tuesday a full-blown and fragrant rose which had just been picked in the garden of Dr Sawyer.

Wolfville Division, S. of T., is anticipating a visit from Lily of the Valley Division, of Port Williams, on Monday evening next when an enjoyable evening will no doubt be spent.

What is announced as the only recital before Christmas is to be held at College Hall, on Friday of next week. Preparations on a grand scale are being made and a good time will no doubt be had.

It is reported that Mr John W. Vaughan, has sold his farm at Wallbrook, to Dr Willett, of Kings College, Windsor, for $5,000. Farm property in this vicinity is in good demand and at good prices.

We learn that sneak thieves are around. On Monday evening the clothes-line of Mr J. W. Caldwell was visited and several articles stolen, which the thieves dropped on being disturbed by Mr Caldwell. It would be well for our people to be on the look-out and keep their premises secure.

We have received from the publishers a sample copy of that favorite fashion paper, the Delineator. We know of no fashion journal that so well suits all requirements and its low price, only $1.00 per year, brings it within the reach of all. The Canadian address is The Delineator Publishing Co., 33 Richmond St. West, Toronto, Ont.

Arrangements have been made by which the people of Wolfville are to be treated to a lecture by the famous lecturer, John A. Nicholls, on Tuesday evening next, in the Presbyterian church. The subject of the lecture is to be "Shadows of a Great City," and will be splendidly illustrated, by over 1000 lantern slides, of noted places in London. See posters and come and bring your friends. Don't miss it.

Mr Aubrey Brown, of this place, had a very narrow escape from being killed on Monday last. He was driving to the wharf and when crossing the railway his team was struck by the morning express. Mr Brown did not hear the train owing to the rumble of his heavy wagon, and only saw it in time to strike his horse and jump for his life. Fortunately he escaped injury though the wagon was badly wrecked and the horse received considerable injuries.

The November number of The Old Homestead, a literary and domestic monthly published by Dav's Bros., Savannah, Ga., U. S. A., is now ready. It contains forty large pages of original stories, sketches, poems, essays, etc. Its household department, handsomely illustrated fashionpages, children's corner, select music, and premium list, together with its complete and serial stories, make the publication eagerly sought by people of all nationalities and sections. There is not one line in its columns that will offend delicate tastes, and the matter throughout is carefully freed from sensational effects. The subscription price, unlike the costly magazines, is very low, being only $1 a year. Send for sample copy, free. Dav's Bros., publishers, Savannah, Ga., U. S. A.

Horse Talk.

By "TIM."

The French coach is coming to the front. Unsoundness and carelessness are twins.

We want more horses for special purposes. There is economy in this. A big horse should not be kept where a small one will do as well; nor a light horse be forced to do the work where a large one would be best. In one case we lose food, and in the other horse.

Horses do have bots which do eat through the walls of the stomach. A dose of spirits of turpentine would be a good remedy, from one to two ounces according to the size of the animal. Give on an empty stomach and dilute the turpentine with milk.

When shoes are allowed to press on the sole of the foot they will cause corns. Corns are a condition of congestion. The shoe should always rest on the rim of the hoof.

Colman's Rural World gives the following valuable remedy for colic. It is good for any form of colic and should be given as soon as possible. If one dose does not relieve, follow it in half an hour with another. This medicine should always be on hand:

Chloroform..... 1 oz.

Laudanum..... 1 oz.

Salpuric Ether..... 1 oz.

Linseed Oil..... 2 oz.

Our farm team will haul two tons as easily as the average team can one. This double work costs less for team support.

Care goes as far as feed nearly in keeping horses in a healthy and vigorous condition.

Clean the legs and feet thoroughly as well as the rest of the body after a hard day's work.

Don't feed or water a horse when warm or very tired. Keep a rack of salt in the stall always. Give a bran mash now and then. Have the stables warm, light and well ventilated.

Don't feed or scrub. Its stables.

Abolish blinders and check reins, as they are relics of barbarism.

Breed horses that will hold their heads up, and you can sell them anytime at good prices for saddlers or drivers.

Don't lose sight of the Morgans, with more horse to the square inch, than any breed in the world.

Wash the tail of the horse which rubs it, with carbolic soap, and do it often.

Mr D. B. Shaw, of Wolfville, has just purchased the magnificent mahogany bay filly, "Topsy Collins," bred by "Confidential Charley." Mr Shaw first saw the filly at Kentville, and having an eye for a good horse, went to New Ross where he purchased her from her owner, Mr John Collins, for a good round sum. "Topsy Collins" is a beauty, a d a trotter; and although only three years old, Mr Shaw has refused a cash offer for her of $275. It seems that "Confidential Charley's" stock will sell. Mr Shaw just sold "Africant" a short time ago, for $200. She was out of an ordinary breed mare. "Topsy Collins" will make fun for the three-year-olds this winter as she has a nice way of going and seems to like to show it.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria. Teacher—You're a perfect dunce. Pupil—that's the first time you have marked me perfect in anything.

There are few men who live without an income, and perhaps fewer still that can live within one.

Cleanse the scalp from scurf and dandruff; keep the hair soft and of a natural color by the use of Hall's Vegetable Sulfur Hair Renewer.

It is good policy to tell the truth, because if you don't you can't expect to be believed when you tell a lie.

What saved the life of Mrs L. Marhouse, of Boston, after the doctors had given her up with pneumonia? Bandaging her chest with flannel wet with Norton's Magic Liniment.

Respect everybody's feelings, even your washerwoman's. However much you may want to know her address never ask her where she "hangs out."

Both air and water abound in microbes, or germs of disease, ready to infect the debilitated system. To impart that strength and vigor necessary to resist the effect of these pernicious atoms, no tonic blood-purifier equals Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

"You should never take anything that doesn't agree with you," the physician told him. "If I'd always followed that rule, Marie," he remarked to his wife, "where would you be?"

The combination of ingredients found in Ayer's Pills renders them tonic and curative as well as cathartic. For this reason they are the best medicine for people of active habit, as they restore the natural action of the bowels, without debilitating.

The log cabin in Washington county, Ky., where Abraham Lincoln lived when a boy and where his father was married, has been bought and will be removed to Chicago for exhibition at the world's Fair.

MOTHERS, READ THIS.—If you are suffering from weakness caused by overwork, nursing, etc., Putnam's Emulsion is what is required to build you up and give tone to your system.

The new law of the State of New York, forbidding the smoking of cigarettes by youths under 16 years of age, came into force on September 1st. The municipal council has instructed the police to enforce the law in the strictest manner.

A specific remedy for indigestion or dyspepsia in any form is found in King's Dyspepsia Cure, the only preparation of the kind in the market. Care guaranteed or money refunded. One dollar a package. Sample packages to any address on receipt of three cent stamp.

In Bulgaria there is a law to the effect that if a patent medicine, fails to do so, the vendor of the remedy is liable for damages, and may also be sent to prison for publishing an untruth to the injury of the public.

When they were sick, we gave her Castoria, when she was a child, abstained for Castoria, when she became ill, she clung to Castoria, when she was a child, she gave them Castoria.

The Thoughtful Hostess.—The guest sat down, but rose hurriedly with an expression of alarm on his face. "I am afraid, madam," he said, "I have sat down on the wrong chair." "It's only Tommy's pigeon eggs," replied the lady pleasantly. "Don't mind it, Mr Jones, he has plenty more of them."

C. C. RICHARDS & Co. Gents.—I took a severe cold, which settled in my throat and lungs and caused me to entirely lose my voice. For six weeks I suffered great pain. My wife advised me to try MINARD'S LINIMENT and the effect was magical, for after only three doses and an outward application, my voice returned and I was able to speak in the Army that night, a privilege I had been unable to enjoy for six weeks.

Yarmouth. CHARLES PLUMMER. "Is the doctor in," asked a hump at the door of an Arch street physician yesterday. A few minutes later an oldish female came to the door. "I just wanted to see if the doctor wouldn't give me a pair of his pants," said the tramp.

"The doctor," replied the lady, the tramp had several attacks of vertigo as he dropped down the steps.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—A young girl, disturbed at night and broken of her rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of "Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for Children's Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures Diphtheria and Diarrhoea, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, cures Wind Colic, softens the Gums, reduces Inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. "Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for Children's Teething, is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price, twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other.
