The title of "King of Kings" is in no respect regarded by the Shah of Persia as merely nominal. It is a tradition of his house that its royalty is really and truly above all royalties, and that he himself is at least titular ruler of all kingdoms on earth. To this and to His Majesty's imperfect command of the French language may be attributed the otherwise curious speech which the Shah made in bidding farewell to the Russian Emperor at the termination of his visit to St. Petersburg. After thanking the Czar for his magnificent hospitality, the Shab in-Shah said: "I have noticed the way in which you govern this great on try. I am well satisfied with it you may continue to govern this great of with you." After this address the Shah gave to the Empress that strange little movement of the shoulder-which appears to constitute a Persian's salutation to a lady, and stepped into his railway shou, leaving the Czar upon the platform to transfixed with astopishment and amusement.

10 per cent. off for Cash

As Mr. STEWART is leaving for the British and Continental Markets in July, he has determined to reduce his large stock of Dry Goods and Clothing by $20,000 this month. To effect this he has resolved to allow a discount of 10 per cent. on all purchases of $1 and upwards. So rare a chance of securing cheap goods seldom occurring, the public should avail themselves of making and saving money. Quotations of prices being no real criterion of cheapness, an inspection of goods is solicited.

ANNABEL

THE TEMPTATION. CHAPTER XXVI.

AMONG THE INDIANS.

When the armed braves had departed, the village gradually sank into a quiet stillness. The waving torches which had crewhile lighted up the scene, making it at once fantastic and picturesque, were extinguished; the fires, which had been burning here and there among the luts were fading into dull red embers. Most of the Indians had retired into their rude dwellings, and of those who moved about one and another went away at intervals into the forest sud did not return.

Steive, whose unsleeping eye nothing escaped, watched keenly the direction taken by those individual savages. He knew they were sconts going forth to keep watch during the night, so that no ememy might undetected approach the village, and it mattered everything for the success of the project he had in view to know exactly the points at which they had taken up their positions, because in the event of his campanions and himself getting free from their bonds and taking to flight they might go in the direction of one of these watchers, who would at once give the alarm for pursuit.

With an eye whose accuracy of observation, long training, and expreience of forest life had made perfect, the trapper noted the precise direction which each took and great was his satisfaction to see that towards one point no one went. This point was the line of route taken by the war party, and doubtless it was considered nunecessary to keep watch there, for if any enemy had been lerking near the path on which the braves hadgone be must have been forced to retreat before them.

"Good," mutt-red Steive to himself, when he saw this and divial its mean ing. "That's an open door for us, and it leads thevery way we want to go."

The silence of night had now fairly settled on the scene, sad so little noise came from the Indian buts that the gent's sighing of the wind among the trees came mournfully to the captives' ears, who according to their lealer's recommendation, lay awake each at the base of the tree to which he was fasten ed.

Awake and thoughtful—off, very thoughtful, as never return, and never might their fate

rear and nopotess. Percharge they should never return, and never might their fate be known.

Reflections on these things and on the physical and mental mirry which they involved were fully occupying the minds of Philip and Jim, when the former, who lay magnest to Steive, thought be observed that come silent motions were being made by the latter. It took a very ken and steady observation to detect it, but Philip's songes had been rendered massally sents by rigramstances, and steatify though the factions were which he had noticed, they did not escape him. And noticed, they did not escape him the bands of the indians, who, with his blankst arous I sinn, approached "om one of the noticed hims, who, with his blankst arous I sinn, approached "om one of the nearest huts streight to where the traper by.

PROFESSIONAL GAME The second game of the championship-series between the Atlantics of Brooklyn and the Washington Chob was played on the Union Grounds on Wednesday. The game was one of the best that has oc-curred this season, each club making their runs in one innings. Atlantics, 5; Washingtons, 1.

Washingtons, 1.

A base ball tournament came off near Oakland, on Dominion Day in which nine clubs took part. The "Hard Batters" of Oakland, won first prize. An Indian club known as the "Foresters" won the second, and the "Peelers" of Upper Oakland won the third. Scores—64 to 16, 22 to 5, 76 to 10. A nine from Brantford went away growling because, through some excuse, they were not allowed to enter, they, it is said, having had too much practice.

The Athletic second nine played the

The Athletic second nine played the first nine of Salem a match on Friday. Salem was declared victor by 6 runs.

The second nine of the Elora High School and the first nine of the Public Schools had a match on Saturday, in which the latter beat by 8 runs. Both Elora clubs.

The Brantford Red Stockings defeated the Paris Stars on Tresday by 79 to 52. On the same day the Brantford Fly-Aways get ahead of the Paris Niagaras to the tune of 50. Paris stock is on the the tune of 50. Paris stock is on the work of the first bloom of the faris Ningaras to decline.

The Elora Eurekas give vent to their wrath in their local sheet this week because our Junior Atlantics beat them on Treeday. They call 'em "big boys and bearded invenies." Well, well; we never hnew 13 and 15 year olds were big or wore beards; but, never mind, Elora can't get up team of their size to beat 'em, anyhow.

We have been requested by the Indepindents to publish the score of their match with the Regulators on Dominion Day—the total score of which we gave on the day following—which we decline publishing now. We particularly request all those clubs who wish their match games published in our columns to band in the score as soon after the match as possible, as we care little about publishing news three or four days old when we can possibly avert it. We give the rous each innings:—

The Champions, at their meeting last night, decided to start on their tour in about two weeks. CRICKET.

By special telegram to The Evening Memoury from Elora we hear that the return match between the cricket club and eleven cricketers of the base ball club took place in that willage on Thursday, the 3rd inst. resulting in a victory for the cricket club by 2 runs. Score, 107 to 105.

At the cricket meeting last night Mr. Fitzgerald's resignation as Secretary was accepted, and Mr. A. H. Macdonsid appointed pro ten in his place. No other public business was done.

A large crowd turned out on Tuesday in Alma to partade in or witness the games previously announced for Dominioto Day. These comprised a base-ball match between the Elora Athletic and Alma Clubs, won by the former; horse races; foot races, me and boys; and a foot-ball match, which came to a premature termination.
