British Quickly Retake Part Of Ground Lost At Fresnoy

Enemy Barely Retains Hold on Village Itself—French Win Near Craonne and Inflict Great Loss on Germans at Chemin Des Dames Plateau

Paris, May 9.—The French last night captured first line German trenches over a front of three-quarters of a mile northeast of Chevreux, near Craonne, the war office announced. The French took 160 prisoners.

CUBA IS QUIET; LIVES ARE SAFE

Consul Issues Denial of Reported Outbreaks—Rebel Leaders in Province of Oriente Have Surrendered—Government Compensation for Damages

For the benefit of those who have relatives or friends in Cuba who have been alarmed by reports of the continuation of the rebellion, Caesar Baranca, Cuban consul at this port, this morning said:

"The statements of passengers arriving in New York from the Province of Oriente, Cuba, that the rebels are pillaging and burning properties and mistreating foreign subjects, I can say positively, are false in every respect. I have before me a copy of a telegram from Colonel Varona, commanding the government troops in the Province of Oriente, stating that quiet prevails in that province, and that all rebel leaders and instigators of the rebellion have surrendered. The reports to the contrary usually emanate from nervous people of those who have relatives in Cuba."

"A few weeks ago the newspapers published a report that a passenger arriving in New York from Cuba had been killed by the government forces. The American consul at Antilla, who saw the American consul in Havana, Cuba, on the day after the report was circulated, about conditions in that province, but they failed to answer. The magistrate remarked that in cases where people were notified and did not appear the necessary steps would have to be taken."

Edward Webber was reported by Alexander Crawford for carrying on a business in King square without license, he not being a taxpayer. The magistrate imposed a fine of $40 with a certificate from the court to the assessors that the fine was paid in the police court and probably the necessary arrangements could be made for this amount to go in for the license fee.

London, May 9.—In moving a vote of credit for £500,000,000 in the House of Commons, Mr. Lloyd George said that the alarming feature of the figures was that they represented a total daily expenditure of £2,450,000.

ST. JOHN ARTILLERY HAS WON HONORS

A St. John officer with the artillery on the western front, in a recent letter, tells something of the severe fighting which they have experienced since Easter Sunday. He remarks that "these have been busy days, but glorious ones," and contrasts them with the days of two years ago when the possibility of breaking the German line seemed like a myth.

DEMANDS OF RUSSIAN SAILORS AND SOLDIERS

Petrograd, May 9, via London.—A congress of representatives of the Black Sea fleet and soldiers and workmen in that district, held at Sebastopol, has adopted a resolution demanding that Russia receive a full guarantee for freedom of traffic through the Dardanelles and also a guarantee that no enemy fleet shall be able to enter the Black Sea.

Hindenburg Returns to Braggart List

Amsterdam, May 9.—(Via London).—Field Marshal Von Hindenburg is again predicting victory, according to the Berlin Tageblatt. The paper quotes him as saying: "The soldier spirit, which is always cultivated by the highest war lord, has again proved its strength. If the home army also holds on then we are certain of victory."

Fresnoy First Real Gain By Germans In Counter Attacks

TWO MORE ST. JOHN SOLDIERS ARE KILLED

Former a Gunner, Latter in Infantry—Gilbert Climo Wounded and Is in Hospital in England

Another of St. John's brightest young men has given his life in the cause for which the empire is at war. A cablegram received this morning brought the sad news that Gunner J. Donald Paterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Paterson, King street east, had died of wounds. Gunner Paterson left St. John almost two years ago with the unit commanded by Lieut.-Col. W. H. Harrison, and afterwards was transferred to a howitzer battery, with which he was serving until the time of his death. Before enlisting he was employed with Brock & Paterson, Ltd., having entered their employ after leaving school and had been promoted to the position of cashier.

AWESOME SCENE AS GREAT BRITISH GUNS IN TORRENT OF RAIN MAKE THUNDER PEALS SEEN AS NOTHING—A Wild Fight on the Battle Front

(From a staff correspondent of the Associated Press.)

British Headquarters in France, May 8, via London, May 9.—The statement in this morning's official communication "that the enemy's artillery was active at intervals throughout the night at a number of places along the battlefront, particularly in the sector between Fresnoy and Loos," and that "our artillery replied" dismisses in coldly official language one of the most marvellous spectacles of night fighting the world has ever seen.

It was a night made for terror. Great angry clouds scudded across the sky successfully making all attempts of the full moon to break through the tumultuous haze. Eventually the heaviest opened and poured forth a torrent of rain upon hot cannon and the flames arising along the blood red line of battle.

A thunderstorm in its greatest fury could have broken above this appalling artillery duel, however, and been completely swallowed up—its electric flashes lost in the blinding coruscation of the reverberating waves of the crashing ammunition which came from hellow cannon and bursting shells with all equal vigour. Nature without the terrible bombardment until nearly dawn, when the rain falling to bring it to an end, a heavy fog shut down and put a stop to the dangerous approach suddenly as if some word of supreme command had been shouted aloud above the din of battle.

There were a few parting shots through the enveloping mist from either side and then absolute silence reigned. It was a fascinating spectacle to watch through the night, holding one in a spell of speechless awe.

HIS LIFE FOR COMRADES

Gallant Act of Lieut. Alfred Churchill, Well Known in St. John

The story of how a gallant officer, who was well known in this city, sacrificed his life for others is recounted in letters received from the front. Lieutenant Alfred Churchill of Windsor, N.S., was reported recently to have been killed in action. Letters now at hand tell that he had been wounded by a bursting shell but that others around him had been more seriously injured. When the stretcher-bearers came to take him to a place of safety to have his wounds dressed, he told them to attend to the others first, as he could wait. Before they returned, another shell ended his life.

The news was received by Mrs. R. W. Churchill, who is making her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Armstrong of this city, while her husband, Captain Churchill, is overseas.

COAL HANDLERS' UNION

The annual meeting of the Coal Handlers' Union No. 810 was held last evening in their rooms in Oddfellows' Hall, Union street. The election of officers resulted as follows: F. Freestone, president; Thomas O'Grady, first vice-president; Joseph Grant, second vice-president; H. Taylor, secretary-treasurer; Finley McDonald, marshal; J. Bent, Joseph Doherty, C. O'Leary, R. Kane, George Gogan, committee. A vote of thanks was tendered Captain Golding for the tugboat King and others who had contributed towards a collection taken up for the widow of George Nelson, who was killed as a result of injuries sustained while at work at the Dominion coal pocket. A resolution was also passed by the association supporting the plunders of his strike.

A CLOSE MATCH

An interesting feature in connection with the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. junior basketball game yesterday on the latter's floor is recounted. At the end of the second period the score stood twelve to twelve. It was agreed that a play-off was necessary to decide the winners and the first basket made by either team would tell the tale. After about four minutes of play the Y. M. C. A. scored a basket and thus won the game after a most exciting and interesting finish.

UNDER PROHIBITION

A marked change is noticeable throughout the city since the introduction of prohibition on May 1. Since that time very few men, if any, have been seen about the streets under the influence of liquor. The police court records are conspicuous owing to the absence of arrests on drunkenness charges. Since May 1 only two men have been arrested for drunkenness, one for trouble in a house in Bear's Head road, and the other in West St. John. During the same period last year thirty-nine were arrested on drunkenness charges, and many others for other offences committed while under the influence of liquor.

British Are Nearer To Goal Than Was Indicated

BERLIN REPORT SAYS SO

Fighting Only Mile And Half From Virent—Present Struggle of Vital Importance And It May Be Days Before Decision Is Reached

With massed reserves and every available gun at his command, Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria is striving to halt the ceaseless British assaults on the Droocourt-Queant line, the last bulwark protecting the richest prize of the Germans in Northern France—the coal fields of Lens. The reckless expenditure of human life by the German commander has had at least a temporary reward in the capture of Fresnoy, at the northern end of the line. This little village and the wood which surrounds it formed a sharp salient driven by the Canadians to within two miles of Droocourt. Its capture marks the first time in the present offensive that a German counter-attack has succeeded in wresting an important position from the British.

GERMANY WANTS MORE WAR MONEY

Copenhagen, May 8, via London.—The Berlin Tageblatt says that a bill will be introduced in the Reichstag within a few weeks for a new war loan.

The conclusion of the sixth German war loan was announced in the Reichstag by the minister of finance on April 27. The minister asserted that the loan had realized 12,780,000 marks. According to statistics compiled by the United States Federal Reserve Board, Germany's war loans up to December 31 last aggregated 11,228,000,000.

NOTHING ABOUT THIS

Amsterdam, via London, May 9.—In view of the following resolutions in regard to the distinction made by President Wilson between the German nation and its rulers was passed at a meeting of the Imperial League of German towns, which claims to represent five and a half million Germans.

"In a fearful struggle for its lawful rights against a world of enemies, the German people stand in a desperate battle behind its Kaiser and government. It has greeted with joyful satisfaction the proclamation of unrestricted U-boat warfare, which aims at protecting Germany against the unlawful starvation policy of Britain's sea power. The League declares further that the German people does not desire to have pressed upon it the friendship of a government like that of North America, which has done nothing to combat and overcome Britain's inhuman and illegitimate starvation plan."

THIS IS A RICH BILL
AT THE OPERA HOUSE

Everybody seeing the excellent vaudeville programme at the Opera House this week comes away delighted with the novelty and variety of the five high-class acts that make up the bill. Unanimous opinion says that it is the best show of the season. If you have not seen it, do so tonight or some afternoon or evening before Friday night, for whether you are a regular show goer or not there is real entertainment in this week's programme for you. Adeline Love and Company, four genuine English music hall artists present an act that is seldom seen outside of the big metropolitan theatres, and there are sixty laughs in every minute that Lang and Coulter, black face singers and dancers, occupy the stage. There are also three other big acts on the programme and the 18th chapter of "The Crimson Stain Mystery." Every afternoon at 2.30, every evening at 7.30 and 9. People's little prices for all performances.

THEODORE ROBERTS AT IMPERIAL

The dean of moving picture character men is Theodore Roberts of the Lasky forces. He is also one of the oldest and most popular stars on the speaking stage. In St. John his followers are legion. Well, tonight and tomorrow at the Imperial this sterling player appears in Paul West's stirring American tale of intrigue and impending war, "The American Consul." Since the United States is an ally of our's in the great world conflagration at present raging, this dramatic yarn of intrigue and treachery will have a special appeal. Besides "The American Consul" the programme will consist of another of those hilarious two part Fox comedies.

BIG FEATURE BILL
OPENS AT THE GEM

Clara Kimball Young, who has not been seen in this city for some time, is back at the Gem tonight in "The Dark Silence," a World Brady-made picture, directed by Albert Capellani. It is in the parts, replete with thrilling situations, and an unusually fine feature throughout. It's well worth a visit. The Gem story are very timely. Gladys Morton and Hilton and Shelton offer entertaining comedy.

DROP THE MONEY
INDEMNITY FROM THE PEACE TERMS

Bavarian Premier's Paper Has Inspired Article

HE'S JUST BACK FROM AUSTRIA

Conference For Agreement as to Peace Conditions Which Germans Are Expected to Announce Soon—The Cost of the War

Copenhagen, May 9, via London.—The Bavarian newspaper, the semi-official organ of Premier Count Hertling, publishes an inspired article deprecating the necessity of Germany's demanding a cash indemnity as one of her peace conditions. Count Hertling has just returned from Vienna where he has conferences with Emperor Charles and Foreign Minister Ceraini. The German newspapers say that these conferences were intended to find a common ground between Count Ceraini's suggestions of peace without annexation and Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg's peace programme. The article in the Staats Zeitung is regarded in view of the circumstances, as important as reflecting the ideas of the Bavarian prime minister.

It suggests that an agreement to supply needed raw materials at a low price or perhaps free, might be a substitute for a cash indemnity. The writer goes on to declare that an agreement to permit German trade on its former terms in the old markets, the return of German ships and the surrender of German colonies would be the equivalent of billions of indemnity. In conclusion, the article declares that the war has cost Germany sixty billion marks, sum so small in comparison with the total estimated wealth of $25,000,000,000 and an annual increase of ten billions that the empire can afford to drop the demand for indemnification. King Ludwig's declaration at Strausburg that Germany is still willing to conclude an honorable peace if given security against the repetition of an attack by half of the world is also interesting in this connection. It shows the spirit in which Count Hertling, who is also chairman of the Bundesrat committee on foreign affairs, will enter the deliberations of that committee when it meets today.

ITCHY SALT RHEUM

Sometimes Called Eczema—Removed by Hood's Sarsaparilla

Salt rheum is one of the worst and unfortunately one of the most common of all diseases. How it reddens the skin, itches, oozes, dries, and scabs, and then does this all over again! Sometimes it covers the whole body with inflamed, burning patches and causes intense suffering, which is commonly worse at night.

Local applications may do some good, but they cannot permanently relieve. The disease will continue to annoy, pain and perhaps agonize, until the blood has been purified and the general health improved.

Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla, the good old reliable family remedy. It has given perfect satisfaction in every case. Insist on getting Hood's Sarsaparilla, for no substitute acts like it. Get it today.

NEW UPWARD
BOUND IN WHEAT;
MAY ABOVE 300

Chicago, May 9.—Sensational fresh advances in the wheat market today resulted from the government report showing the largest abandonment of winter wheat acreage ever known in the United States. Excited rushes to buy carried prices up fourteen cents, notwithstanding that values yesterday had already scored new gains of just that amount, and had broken all previous records.

Opening prices which ranged from 5 1/2 to 14 cents higher with May at 307 to 311 and July at 240 to 242 were followed by slight further gains in some cases, and then a reaction to 208 for May and 230 for July.

THE CANADIAN PRESS IN FRANCE.
(By Stewart Lyon, special correspondent of the Canadian Press in France.)

The night of Tuesday passed in comparative calm on the Canadian front, and the south around about Fresnoy, there had been heavy fighting.

Concentrating the greater part of its division of the line, the Canadian front had been held by a single British battalion, Price Ruppel's, which had been heavily engaged in the region of Lens and carried the village. Its over-matched defenders fought with tenacity and stoutly, but the enemy's advance well to the east of Arras.

The Canadian front to the north was held by the 1st Canadian division, which had been held by a single British battalion, Price Ruppel's, which had been heavily engaged in the region of Lens and carried the village. Its over-matched defenders fought with tenacity and stoutly, but the enemy's advance well to the east of Arras.

Aerial activity at present is great. The British supremacy in this department is challenged earlier in the season, is now assured.

Berlin, May 9, via London.—Freshness on the Arras battle front had been held by the Germans against Frey attacks by the British. An additional 100 prisoners have been captured.

Quality, Low Prices and Honest Values Prevail

These three points are worth remembering, for they apply especially to the Furniture we offer.

Variety is also a strong feature of this store. In but few places will you find as extensive a showing of really dependable furniture and floor-coverings at such reasonable prices as ours. Our aim is to suit every taste and every purse in the most satisfactory way.

Enemies of Tea

If tea is left open near oranges, soap, spices, matches, etc., the tea will take on the flavor of any of these articles.

In fact, tea absorbs odors as readily as does butter. This is because it becomes so dry and brittle in passing through the firing or drying oven that it becomes very sensitive to the moisture and odors in the air.

When loose in the chest or bin or bag it quickly loses flavor and strength. Tastes flat, weak, old; dear at any price.

This is why Red Rose is never sold in bulk—but always in sealed packages. The armour that keeps our dust and odors and keeps in the flavor and strength.

The price printed on the package protects you against overcharge. It is the lowest price for which a tea of Red Rose quality can be sold—a price which allows the grocer only a fair profit.

You will enjoy the distinctive flavor and rich strength of Red Rose Tea. Try a package.

HOTEL MAN SAYS BAR NOT A NECESSITY

Montreal Manager Shows Why Bar Trade Not Essential

Common Sense of Public Reduced Consumption and High Costs Lessened the Profits—Room Rental the Real Business

(Montreal Financial Times) Mature deliberation and calculation, applied to the question of hotel profits as affected by recent temperance legislation throughout Canada, has led slowly but surely to the realization that the elimination of liquor selling in connection with the business will prove neither a detriment to the trade, nor a source of anxiety for those who have invested their money in this sort of enterprise.

Discussing the question with a representative of The Financial Times, an official of Montreal's leading hotel stated that the stockholders of the company would not in any way be affected by the changed conditions. "If I had all the rooms in this hotel rented," he declared, "I would be glad to eliminate the bar entirely. The impression seems to prevail among the public that the profit on liquor selling is enormous, and that it is an important branch of the business in so far as profits are concerned. This is an erroneous impression."

"And why? Because in these days when whiskey costs from $12 to $18 a bottle, and when the costs of operating a bar are so high, there is very little compensation, very little more profit in the trade when other than good whiskey is purchased and retailed as good whiskey to the public, but a first class hostelry never deals in this kind of stuff—they must have the best for their customers."

Bar Costs Are High "Now, in addition to buying the best liquor, there is to be taken into consideration the license cost, which is heavy; there are the overhead charges, the upkeep, glass breakage, payment of bartenders, and in the case of first class hotels the latter must be above the ordinary type of dispenser, consequently they demand a higher price—consequently from $75 to $100 per month—so that when the operating expenses of this branch of the business are taken into consideration, the margin of profit is greatly reduced, leaving as little, perhaps as ten per cent. This, of course, is small remuneration compared with the profits from the rental of the rooms. It is the latter trade, and dividends for the stockholders, for the big hotel, for instance, are a break-even proposition considering the high cost of living at the present time.

Common Sense Helps "Then again, it must not be overlooked that the very fact of this temperance legislation is the result of gradually changed conditions. Common sense in the matter of drinking is making its way to a large degree, and the tendency now-a-days is not to indulge so freely. Men will still continue to drink, but they will drink less. I believe that as a result of the new order of things soft drinks, such as lemon-soda, two per cent. beer, or beer, etc., will to a large extent take the place of whiskey. To my mind conditions will continue to mature themselves to such a degree that little effect will be felt from the abolition of the bar.

Tribute to the "Drummer." "Take for instance, the traveling man of today, he is more alert and aggressive than ever, and while a few may be out for a good time, the great majority are trade hunters who realize that they are confronted with competition of the severest kind. And what is their idea on the question? Suppose there are two hotels in a town or city, one given to the practice of late drinking and a generally good time at nights, the other being closed at the regulation hour, and operated on a quieter scale, my personal experience leads me to the conclusion that seven out of ten of these men will stop at the latter hostelry. Yes, I would venture to say that nine out of ten would stop there, and after all the "money-getter" for a hotel is the room rent, unless, as I have previously stated, a man wants to run a cheap whiskey place, and depend entirely on the bar for his profits.

"Certainly our stockholders will not be affected by the change."

"The following appeal has been sent out by the board of trade, especially to the business men and employees of St. John, but it is a matter that will bear the careful perusal of every patriotic citizen in the city: Food and more food is wanted to win the war for Britain and her Allies and to supply the urgent needs of the millions overseas. It is a call that is most insistent, and that must be answered. The farmers of New Brunswick will do their utmost to meet the tremendous demands that are being made upon them, but they are short of fertilizer. They are looking to the cities to secure this help. The board of trade of St. John has put itself on record as favoring the volunteering of men from the business houses, preferably men who have had previous experience on the farms. There are in St. John many hundreds of men who are country-bred, who can handle horses, who can plough and plant and do general farm work. Men of this class might be released by their employers for a few weeks to engage in farm work, if they would volunteer to do so. There are other men, less familiar with farm work, who would be capable of doing other classes of farm work. These, too, should be placed in a position to do the country in its dire need. It has been suggested that an appeal should be made to men who are engaged in warehouses, offices, banks, etc.—men who are in the habit of taking a vacation of one or two weeks—that they should spend their vacations working on a farm; that employers should grant each man who would volunteer for farm work an additional week's vacation, with or without pay, which, added to the customary two weeks, would give each man a total of three weeks. It is thought that both farmers and men would mutually benefit and accept the military wage of $1.10 per day and board. The co-operation of the business men and workmen of St. John is earnestly sought in the carrying out of this plan. The board of trade will co-operate with the agricultural department in having such volunteer workers as may present themselves placed on the farms. By this means it is hoped that the

PIMPLES and BOILS ALL OVER FACE AND BODY

When the blood becomes impure you will find that pimples and boils will break out all over the body, and although they are not a dangerous trouble, they make you appear unsightly both to your friends and yourself. Burdock Blood Bitters will cleanse the blood of all the impurities and poisons which cause the skin to break out in these eruptions. Miss Sylvia Swanson, Theodore, Sask., writes: "I am letting you know what great value your B.B.B. has been to me. A year ago I started to grow pale and weak, the cause being bad blood. I got so many pimples and boils all over my face and body that I would not get strangers to see me, and I used to avoid company. I tried many remedies but all seemed a failure. I read about how good your B.B.B. had been to thousands of people so I got a bottle and after I had finished the second one my pimples and boils had all disappeared. People thought it a miracle how well I looked. "Your grand old remedy sure has been as good as gold and better, to me. Burdock Blood Bitters has been manufactured for the past forty years by The F. Millham Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont. See that old name appears on the wrapper."

labor difficulty which confronts the farmer will in part be removed. Principals to Prepare Lists. A meeting of the principals of the city, Fairville and Millford schools was held yesterday for the purpose of arranging for the placing of school boys on farms in aid of the greater production movement. Dr. H. S. Bridges presided. Inspector McLean stated that it was the desire of the school authorities to co-operate with the board of trade. Dr. Bridges then asked the principals to form lists of the boys in grades 8, 9 and 10 who would be willing to work on the farms, provided that they could obtain their parents' consent. He went on to say that until this list was prepared and laid before the central committee, nothing more could be done. DENIES THAT CANADIAN SOLDIERS DRINK TOO MUCH

London, May 9.—Sir George Perley assures the Gazette representative that the allegations made in recent debates in the House of Commons, Ottawa, against the sobriety of the Canadian soldiers are without foundation. He recently conferred with the British Provost Marshal of the London area, who reported that taking one night as a sample, only seven Canadians were taken in the Metropolitan police stations for being drunk, which was considered infinitesimal in proportion to the many thousands on leave or engaged in London.

Give Us Strong Leadership Is the Cry of the Nation But Government is Dumb

Experience of Mr. Wilson During Last Few Weeks Shows How People Respond in a Crisis—Even Malcontents are Silent.

(Toronto Daily Star.)

After the war had been in progress for upwards of two years many of the best citizens of the United States almost despairingly despaired of being able to do the right thing to go ahead and lead, and trust the great body of the people throughout the republic to uphold and support them.

At last, however, President Wilson decided to do something to meet the will- ingness of the people to accept leadership. He severed diplomatic relations with Germany, and the whole people approved. Some time later he declared that a state of war existed. Again the people instantly approved. He announced that the country would march with all its powers, and the whole people upheld this decision. Then the president declared that the voluntary system of raising armies for such a war as this was undemocratic, unfair, and wasteful, and he called upon congress to raise armies on the basis of selective drafts. This was conscription, and the whole country fell silent. Congress soon broke out in violent alarm. The politicians declared the thing impossible; that no real effort has been made to get their constituents would not stand for it. Men of both parties flatly declared that it would not do, that the president would have to drop it or the whole country would revolt against it.

But the president persisted. His plan, he said, was the only democratic, fair, and expeditious method, and he would not drop it. The two Houses of Congress seemed to be almost unanimously against him. But presently there began to arise from the country the voice of the people, declaring that the president was right, that his plan was the only just, efficient, and democratic basis on which the necessary armies could be raised, and that his plan ought to be adopted. The president was leading like a leader; he had cast aside all distrusts and timidities, and the people of the United States were out to follow him. They were ready to follow him, because they felt that he was a leader who knew where he was going and how to get there. The American armies are being raised by selective drafts.

Afraid to Do Anything Here.

In Canada the people are as ready to follow the leadership of the Ottawa government as are the people of the United States to follow that of the president. But in Canada the government has been afraid to trust the people to follow in any advanced measures. The public men of the country have always had a

Head of United States Naval Board Talks of New Scheme to Deal With the Submarines

New York, May 9.—A programme to stop the ravages of German submarines on maritime commerce has been submitted to the government by the naval advisory board. This was announced by W. L. Saunders, chairman of the board. He said the plan, in his opinion, was a practical solution of the U-boat problem. He said it was not purely theoretical, but that it had been proved by actual tests along the Atlantic coast.

The scheme is not merely a defensive measure against submarine warfare. Mr. Saunders said it called for "offensive operations on an extensive scale."

Thomas A. Edison, who is president of the board, did not originate the scheme, Mr. Saunders said. But Edison, he said, had been working tirelessly for many months, since a declaration of war against Germany, Mr. Edison and his associates have been trying thousands of schemes suggested to block Germany's under-sea warfare, now admittedly the greatest menace to the European allies and their new American partner, the United States.

Behind the programme submitted to the navy department is all the Edisonian practicality and all of Edison's deft skill in accomplishing the seemingly impossible. Announcement of the scheme by the chairman of the board dispelled doubts that it might be merely another academic idea devoid of practical use. And that the board made experiments before making their final public list of the details in the minds of naval officials that at last the war's greatest problem had been unraveled.

Constantine's Deposition Proclaimed

London, May 8.—Telegraphing from Saloniki Sunday Reuter's correspondent says: "Today was a great day in the history of Saloniki. A mass meeting proclaimed the deposition of the king and the dynasty."

"Over forty thousand persons assembled in the principal square and were addressed by various speakers. They cheered themselves hoarse with shouts of 'Long live Venizelos.' 'Long live the National government,' and 'down with the king.' The mayor of Saloniki presided. He proposed a resolution proclaiming the deposition of the king only, but the crowd insisted that the entire dynasty must be removed. All shops were closed and business was suspended. Processions marched through the town and carried out demonstrations before the residence of former Premier Venizelos and at other points."

MRS. SLACK'S LETTER

To Mothers of Delicate Children

Palmyra, Pa.—"My little girl had a chronic cough and was so thin you could count her ribs and she had no appetite. Nothing we gave her seemed to help her until one day Mrs. Nettleton advised me to try Vinol, and now she is hungry all the time, her cough is gone, she is stouter and has a more healthy color than I have ever seen her have. THE BAPTIST MINISTERS.

(Maritime Baptist.)

Rev. Ritchie Gilliat is meeting with success in his new pastorate with the Main street church, Marysville, N. B. On April 29, five candidates were baptized.

Rev. W. S. Rydner, formerly pastor at Havelock, who last September entered upon his theological studies at Rochester Theological Seminary, will spend the summer at Spencerport, N. Y., where he will have charge of a flourishing church.

The new pastor of Zion church, Yarmouth, Rev. A. J. Dykeman, passed to his new field of labor. Mrs. Dykeman, though not full of years, was able to accompany her husband to Yarmouth because of the reception of new members. On Easter Sunday ten were given the right hand of fellowship on the following Sunday. The pastor, Rev. H. H. Ferguson, has been with the church for four years. The finances of the church have been greatly improved and the outlook is decidedly hopeful.

Rev. G. W. Brooker has accepted a hearty and unanimous call extended to him by the churches which comprise the Soreby field.

Rev. E. C. Jenkins is entering upon the third year of his pastorate at Florenceville.

Many of our readers will deeply regret to hear that Dr. Trotter, to whom Acadia and all maritime Baptists owe so much, was recently compelled to undergo a serious operation in the Toronto General Hospital. We are pleased to report that he is making satisfactory progress toward recovery.

Rev. H. Judson Perry (Acadia '02), has completed eight years of service as professor at Benedict College, Columbia, S. C. Besides his work of teaching he has taken studies in the University of South Carolina and has completed the required course for the degree of M. A. He is a brother of Prof. G. H. Perry, of Acadia, and a cousin of Prof. Aaron Perry, of the University of Manitoba.

Our hearty congratulations are tendered to Rev. Henry E. Alaby and wife on the arrival of a boy at the parsonage at Whiteville.

We learn that Pastor Alaby has tendered his resignation and proposes to close his work on the Whiteville field at the end of June.

The First Baptist Church of Calgary is rejoicing in the blessing which has attended the ministry of their pastor.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad for the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary unsifted coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoons will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get unsifted coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

SWEDISH ROYALTYES PREPARING TO FLEE

London, May 9.—An Amsterdam despatch declares that the danger of a revolution against the present government and royal family of Sweden is so great that two marshes have been placed in the anchorage opposite the royal palace to be available if the king and queen are compelled to flee.

The situation in Sweden is very serious. Every day the attitude of the government and its sympathy with Germany are resented more vigorously by the people. Sweden is also influenced by Norway, which is moving fast toward war against Germany.

PRAYED BEFORE THEY LYNCHED MURDERER

Victim Taken From Police After Sensational Chase in Automobiles

Phoenix, Ariz., May 9.—Frustrated in their determination to remove Starr Daley, murderer of James Ray Gibson, and ravisher of Mrs. Gibson, from the county jail and hang him, vigilantes to the number of nearly one hundred gathered in the night to officers spiriting Daley to the penitentiary for safe-keeping and, after a sensational forty-mile drive over the desert, overhauled the officers, took Daley to the scene of his crime and hanged him from an electric pole early this morning. Given an opportunity to pray before being hung, Daley said, "Oh, my God, with heads bared in the clear moonlight, while Daley knelt, every man repeated the words of the Lord's Prayer. And then the perpetrator of the most sensational crime in the history of Arizona was swung into eternity."

It was an orderly but determined party of citizens, largely men of business and identified with Arizona in the making that started from Phoenix five minutes after a car from the sheriff's office dashed out of town in a fruitless effort to land Daley behind the doors of the penitentiary at Florence, forty-one miles away. Automobile after automobile joined in the chase, which ended when the officers and their prisoners were overtaken not much over a mile from their destination. Covering the duties with guns the party directed Daley to stop from the car. Still handcuffed he was placed in another car and driven fifteen miles to the wells on the Roosevelt highway, the scene of his crime of two nights before, and there strung up.

LIBERALS OF KINGS-QUEENS
NOMINATE DR. D. H. McALISTER
FOR NEXT FEDERAL ELECTION

Convention at Norton Marked By Great Enthusiasm—Government Criticised for Lack of Leadership in War Efforts—Hon. Dr. Pugsley Gives Reasons Against Extension of Parliament

Norton, May 8.—Dr. Duncan H. McAlister was tonight nominated to contest Royal, the combined counties of Kings-Queens, in the interest of the Liberal party at the next federal election. It was a momentous event. From both counties friends of the party had rallied and there was no doubt in the mind of anyone present but that the choice was an extremely popular one. Every inch of space in the Temperance Hall was occupied when the meeting was called to order by J. H. McFadden, of Sussex, chairman of the convening committee. Hon. L. P. Jarvis was called to the chair and the occasion was honored by the presence of Hon. William Pugsley. The name of Dr. McAlister was the only one placed before the meeting, and that he was the man wanted was shown by the ovation tendered him as he made his way to the platform.

The meeting was a great event. Enthusiasm was the keynote and it was evident that the voters of the two counties are prepared to elect their man as their contribution to better government. The speeches of the evening were to the point. The nomination was tendered Dr. McAlister on motion of George H. King, M. P., and Wm. George N. Pearson, of Sussex. Both mover and seconder spoke briefly. Next in order was the presentation of resolutions setting forth position of the Liberal party towards matters which are today engaging the attention of the people. They were unanimously adopted and then Dr. McAlister was called upon to speak, and he gave a rousing reception.

Dr. Pugsley, who followed, was heard to splendid advantage. He dealt with the matter of the further extension of the life of the present government, showing that there are many reasons why the Liberal party should seriously consider before again agreeing to such a request. Dr. Pugsley dealt with the high cost of living, and laid bare the dictatorial policy of the present government, which, despite the demands for ships, is doing nothing to advance the cause of the Allies in this respect. Dr. McAlister also dealt fearlessly with the record of the government, and its subservience to the Nationalist element on the one hand and the moneyed interests on the other. This was a real fighting speech and the popular candidate was cheered to the echo.

The Meeting Opens. J. H. McFadden, of Sussex, chairman of the convening committee, who had associated with him on the committee: Arthur Keith, Sussex; Hiram Adair, Sussex; Dr. J. E. Hetherington, M. P., P. C., and E. Harmer, Norton, declared the meeting open and asked that a chairman be appointed. On motion of J. H. McFadden, seconded by G. H. Flewelling, Hampton, Hon. L. P. Jarvis was unanimously appointed to act as secretary of the meeting. The first business of the meeting was the consideration of resolutions to the resolution committee, composed of F. E. Shary, chairman, and J. McIntyre, from the county of Kings, and A. Beaton and Robert Stewart, from the county of Queens. The resolution committee was then asked to retire to consider the resolutions which had been submitted and the chairman called for nominations for the candidates in the Liberal interests for the constituency of Kings, being the united counties of Kings and Queens. The chairman expressed pleasure at the large gathering and predicted success for the candidate to be nominated during the evening and for the entire Liberal party in the Dominion.

George H. King, M. P., amid great applause, arose in his place and moved that the nomination of Dr. Duncan H. McAlister be placed before the meeting. In making the motion, Mr. King referred to the great importance of the convention and to the necessity of having a strong man at the head of the ticket for the new constituency. The nomination was received with cheers and applause and it was some minutes before the tumult had subsided and the speaker resumed his seat. Dr. George N. Pearson, of Sussex, seconded the nomination and referred to the pleasure which it gave him to do so, as Dr. McAlister stands high in the community and is well known favorably. He said that he had been in business competition with Dr. McAlister for many years and he has always found him a fair and square competitor, and the man who can deal squarely in business will do the same with the people. Dr. Pearson said that when Dr. McAlister had been asked if he would accept the nomination he had agreed to do so.

money back, but the government has no intention of doing any such thing. High Prices. George W. Fowler had said at the last election that a vote for McAlister would mean that food and all other supplies would go up in price. Since the present government had assumed power, Mr. Fowler had advanced to an extent unheard of, and farmers are hard put to get the necessary feed to keep their industries going. "Flour at $16 a barrel, and yet the government dare not step in, they continue in its do nothing policy," said the speaker. "I believe we are facing a famine; if we let this government stay in power and permit its party friends to buy up food products and hand such necessities as flour at $25 per barrel, a price not altogether out of the question under the present administration." Many people, he added, will go hungry rather than see something done to bring prices down and to encourage production. "If there ever was a time when the life of man when honesty should prevail, now is the time with this terrible war and all it involves on our hands and feet, and it is killing our boys at the front, and the government of Canada is draining the pockets of the people of Kings-Queens and the sisters of the country. Dr. McAlister referred to the fact that Canadian soldiers had been sent to the front in improper equipment and that these soldiers knew of conditions as they were they would rise up and start such a government out of power. The people of Canada are today awake to the fact that they are being deceived and that there will be such a hue and cry throughout the country that the government will be forced to stop the state of affairs and to give the money of the monopolists.

DR. D. H. McALISTER. remarks were punctuated with frequent applause as he made point after point, explaining just what the country needs in the present crisis and why a change of government is necessary. The candidate, after expressing his thanks for the nomination, said that it was generally known that he had no personal inclination to again offer as the candidate of the party but, as Dr. Pearson had said, any true man should be willing to do something to help rid Canada of those who are so mismanaging the affairs of the country. He expressed his thanks that the voters had once again placed their confidence in him. "What we want today," he said, "is more business and more honesty in the conducting of the affairs of the country, and decidedly less politics." As a matter of fact, he continued, the government of the day could be surpassed in the management of the affairs of the country by a group of little school children. They had complained, when he had been extravagant but on attaining power they proceeded to cut the heads off of those who were so mismanaging the affairs of the country. He said that he was thus dismissed they appointed two or three Conservatives.

Dr. Pugsley said that he had a message from the great leader of the Liberal party, Sir Wilfrid Laurier (Great Leader), who had desired him to express his kindly feelings and his best wishes to his friends in Kings-Queens and to express the hope that they would stand behind the principles for which they stood in the past. Dr. Pugsley said that he was glad to be counted among the followers of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and that he was proud to be no more loyal subject of Canada or of the empire, and that during all his years of leadership he had stood for equal rights and fair play for all people no matter what tongue they spoke, or at what altar they worshipped a common God. He said that he was particularly proud to be a member of the Liberal party, and that he was particularly proud to be a member of the Liberal party in Kings-Queens, and that he was particularly proud to be a member of the Liberal party in Kings-Queens, and that he was particularly proud to be a member of the Liberal party in Kings-Queens.

Parliamentary Extension. The voters, he continued, are the people of Canada, while those who sit in the houses are only the servants of the people and carry out their wishes. The voters of Canada had placed the present government in power in 1911 for a period of five years. Under the British North America Act a government cannot be in office for five years, but at the end of that time they were again asked to support the government. The government had come to parliament and asked that a unanimous resolution be passed that the Imperial Parliament be petitioned to extend the life of the Canadian parliament for one year. This was done despite the fact that there were many people in Canada who felt that members of parliament should serve, but not in their own terms of service, but in the terms of the people. A few days ago Sir Thomas White, who was visiting the government in the absence of the prime minister, said that on the return of Hon. Mr. Borden, the government would again submit a resolution asking for a further extension of parliamentary life, and he added, the Liberal party are now up against the proposition of saying whether it is the wish of the people of Canada to grant a further extension of life to the government. "We will not consider it at all," he said. "We don't want it."

Not Representative Government. Dr. Pugsley said that he was not prepared to say what might be the decision of the Liberal members in the matter. He only wished to point out some reasons that may be urged against the request. The government, he added, which was elected six years ago is today not representative of the people of Canada. Every boy who was fifteen years of age in 1911 when the government was elected is now a full fledged voter, and is entitled to express his opinion as to what government shall rule the country and these voters are not today represented in parliament and their numbers must be in the hundreds of thousands throughout Canada. Then again, he continued, the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia are represented on the basis of the census taken prior to 1911. These provinces today are not adequately represented and for the past six years have been entitled to twenty-two additional members. He asked his hearers if they did not think these are serious considerations and if the Liberal party deems it their duty not to ignore the rights of the people and to decide that they will not consent to a further extension of life to the government.

Office Workers and Factory Workers. The beginning of all illness— is the loss of energy, vim and vigor. We feel depressed at times, "blue," "all in," "the appetite flags, and we have not the desire to eat the very food that will replace the wasted nerve tissue, loss of energy and vitality. Digestion is weakened, and we cannot even assimilate all the life-giving elements from the small amount of food we do eat. This condition is the beginning of most illness. At your need is food— foods rich in proteins and phosphorus. This is why doctors are recommending Sanguin. Sanguin consists of the life-giving proteins of pure fresh milk combined with organic phosphorus. It gives you the strength and vitality your tired body and exhausted nerves are starving for. Sanguin not only assists in extracting all the waste from the food you eat, but also supplies the necessary elements of life, thereby increasing food and restoring your health and strength in a natural way. Dr. Pugsley also dealt with the new order under which certain wheat products are allowed free entry to the United States, but in their haste the government forgot to include such things as middlings, so that while middlings, etc. go free into the United States, the Canadian farmer yet pays duty on such, as he receives from the republic. Dr. Pugsley also dealt with the Ross rifle and showed how the government had pursued a weak policy of procrastination. The meeting was brought to a close at a late hour with the singing of the National Anthem. Telegrams were read from E. S. Carter and Dr. J. E. Hetherington, M. P., P. C., regretting that, on account of illness, they could not be present. Mr. Carter is suffering from a severe cold and is confined to his room at the Queen Hotel, Fredericton. POTATO SURPLUS IN THIS PROVINCE OF 70,000 BUSHELS. Hon. Martin Burrell in parliament yesterday estimated the potato surplus on April 15 at 1,000,000 bushels. He said that the estimated surplus in P. E. Island and New Brunswick was very disappointing, the minister of agriculture of New Brunswick reporting only between 50,000 and 70,000 above local requirements. Speaking of the proposition to fix a maximum and minimum price on potatoes this year the minister said that it was impracticable.

Where Government Failed. Dr. Pugsley asked: "What would you say if you had your heart sick when you saw the products of the soil of Canada and the empire at heart? I think you would say that the government had failed to do anything for the people of Canada for the building of ships so that the products of Canadian soil could be carried to the sea where they are sorely needed. They would have made arrangements to make use of Canada's great surplus of iron so that steel could be manufactured, but not one single step in these directions has been taken. For three years the government has failed to do anything for the people of Canada. Hon. Arthur Balfour in the United States pleading for vessels, cruises, torpedo boats and submarines to assist in the prosecution of the submarine menace so that food and supplies may be carried to the front. "What is the reason?" the speaker continued. "It is not that we have not a plentiful supply of iron and steel. I think of it. The Liberals have been pleading with the government to build ships and yet they did nothing. I have charged them in the house. I now charge them before you that they allowed the Nationalists in 1911 to put a rope around their neck. The pledge they made to the Nationalists prevented them from building vessels either wooden or steel."

By reason of that unholy alliance, Dr. Pugsley continued, Canada stands without shipbuilding plants either on the Atlantic or the Pacific and is not able to step in and lend that assistance so vital to the empire. Mr. Hazen had returned the idea of shipbuilding either at St. John or anywhere else. "If I had done," he said, "Mr. Hazen did, he would have returned the deposits to the lenders in deference to the will of the Nationalists by whose support they had been returned to power. Heredity and Environment Both Influence Character

Love Is Blind But Can Be Guided to Better Things and May Avoid the Folly He Cannot See—Address Before Mothers' Club

Dr. Frederick L. Hill, of the Bangor State hospital, spoke on Studies in Heredity and Environment before the Mothers' club in Bangor High School Wednesday afternoon, in part as follows:

In plants, color, hairiness or smoothness, resistance to disease, long or short styles are among the characteristics inherited, and in man may be mentioned color of eyes, early appearance of the hair, certain peculiarities of the skeleton, certain diseases, outbreak of tetanus, etc. These are known as dominant traits.

Recessive Traits.
These are known as dominant traits. Others known as recessive traits are lack of pigmentation, deaf mutism, imbecility, some forms of insanity, some nervous diseases and some mental traits. In the practical application of this theory we have to consider several traits at the same time, some of which may blend and some of which may neutralize each other, and the results of a union depend upon what good or bad traits are dominant and what are recessive.

The theory of Weismann bears upon the make-up of the parent germ cells. He maintains that the germ plasma which the parental ovum contains is not used up in the formation of the germ cells. It is reserved for the formation of the germ cells of the following generation unchanged. Characters will appear in the offspring reminiscent of both parents, but some may be latent and not appear until later generations. The application of these theories to the human race has cleared many of the mysteries surrounding heredity and has seemed to place our knowledge of the subject upon a scientific foundation.

Prof. Adams has divided conditions truly inherited into four classes—specific, racial, familial and individual. Specific inheritance is shown by the law that features long possessed by a given stock are the ones most impressed upon that stock and the least easily lost. A large peculiarly shaped nose may be a characteristic of a certain family and reappear for generations. Individual inheritance is shown by the law that features long possessed by a given stock are the ones most impressed upon that stock and the least easily lost. A large peculiarly shaped nose may be a characteristic of a certain family and reappear for generations. Individual inheritance is shown by the law that features long possessed by a given stock are the ones most impressed upon that stock and the least easily lost.

Physical Traits.
Character of the features, color of the hair, eyes and skin, stature, weight, energy, endurance, quickness, defects of many kinds such as those of the nervous system, speech, eyes and ears, baldness and defects of various bodily organs. This does not mean that all shortcomings are inherited, but that the type of organism is heritable which lacks resistance to germs and other factors which bring about disease.

Mental Traits.
Among the mental characteristics known to arise from heredity sources may be mentioned musical, artistic and literary ability, mechanical skill, retentive memory, fluency in conversation, aptness in languages, attention, etc. Also, certain forms of insanity, epilepsy, and feeble-mindedness.

Moral Traits.
On the moral side, we find as inheritable qualities, generosity, piety, independence, industry, faithfulness, will power, self-reliance, impulsiveness, temperance, sympathy, etc. The same may be said of unusual traits; such as criminality, delinquency, vanity, cruelty, cunning, quickness to anger.

Our Personalities Fore-Ordained.
Thus, we see that our whole make-up, physical, mental and moral, is fore-ordained to a large extent by the characteristics of our ancestors. We are a complex combination in our individuality of the characters of those who have gone before and because the combination is so complex we are not likely to fall heir to all their bad traits any more than to all their good traits. Even the feeble-minded inherit in many cases, along with their defective mental make-up, good traits of kindness, gentleness, generosity, etc., or an ability for mathematics or along musical or artistic lines.

Blind Tom's Accomplishments.
A few years ago, a negro imbecile, Blind Tom, traveled extensively in the eastern states demonstrating a remarkable genius is hereditary.

The heredity of geniuses, general bodily soundness, of physical endurance, of memory, of self-reliance, of high moral ideals has not been studied so painstakingly as has the heredity of defectives, but we know that these things are just as surely hereditary and that many children in the selection of the parents of our children with these things in view, will tend vastly to the improvement of the race.

Thought and Matrimony
The wider knowledge of these things the better they are understood and their significance realized by the community at large, the more will there grow up a tendency to thoughtfulness in the assumption of the marriage relation, and through love is blind, he will come instinctively to crave the better things and subconsciously to guard against those committing those follies that he cannot see.

Heredity vs Environment
It is often difficult to say how much of the physical, mental or moral traits of an individual is due to heredity and how much to environment. The influence of environment comes at work from the moment of conception or influence the whole life history of the offspring. Pre-natal conditions may produce abnormal development and lead to infections, especially tubercular and syphilitic. The periods of infancy and childhood, during which rapid development in all three spheres is taking place are prolific of influences moulding their physique, building the character and directing the moral trends, all of which are to combine with hereditary influences to make up the individual life. In the physical sphere we see the influence of environment upon the future health. It is thought that most cases of tuberculosis are the result of infection with the germ in infancy or early life, the disease remaining latent until some condition of ill health, such as a long illness, or a shipboard life, weakens the natural body resistance as to favor the development of the disease.

World: "Gracious! What does all this mean?"

First Few Years Important
The nervous makeup of a child is greatly influenced by the environment of the first few years of life. A nervous child of nervous parents might, by a change of environment, become less nervous. It is probable, says Dr. Beverly Tucker, that a new-born babe of nervous parents taken away from its parents to live in Italy would modify many of its inherited traits in this new environment. The infant of a nervous mother, if raised in a peaceful, happy environment, the child would tend to be less nervous. It is probable, says Dr. Beverly Tucker, that a new-born babe of nervous parents taken away from its parents to live in Italy would modify many of its inherited traits in this new environment.

Environment Influences Heredity
A child comes into the world with its plans for existence drawn by heredity: in the dry dock of environment it is shaped. The child's nature is not fixed, but it is moulded by the environment. The child's nature is not fixed, but it is moulded by the environment. The child's nature is not fixed, but it is moulded by the environment.

HOSPITAL VOTE OFF FOR A YEAR

Council Defers Expenditure of $125,000

RED CROSS GRANTS DIVIDED

County Councillors Approves Idea of Children's Aid Commissioner But Take No Action

The municipal council, at the quarterly meeting yesterday, decided against the issue of bonds to the value of $125,000 for the purpose of remodelling the general public hospital and building a new wing. Action was deferred for another year.

The recommendation of the finance committee that provision be made in 1918 for the salary of a children's aid commissioner, was stricken from the resolution by the council.

The Red Cross grant of $6,000 was apportioned as follows: St. John branch, $4,000; Lancaster branch, $1,000; St. Martin's branch, $1,000.

The council convened at 2:40, with Warden McLellan in the chair, and the following councillors present: Hayes, Wigmore, Russell, Fisher, Dean, O'Brien, Gillingham, Howland, Carson, Bowland, Shillington, Stephenson and Thompson, and County Secretary W. H. Robinson.

Children's Aid Commissioner
The environment, then, of a child consists of the surroundings in which it is reared. The good or harmful effect of this environment does not depend upon the poverty or wealth of these surroundings, but upon the quality of the environment.

Children's Aid Matter
The council then went into session as a committee, and heard Hon. Dr. W. T. Roberts, who, as a spokesman for the General Public Hospital Commissioners, urged upon the council the crying need of making adequate additional accommodations for nurses and hospitals.

Dr. Ferdinand King, a New York City Physician and Medical Author, says: "There can be no strong, vigorous, iron men, no beautiful, healthy, rosy-cheeked women without iron—Nuxated Iron takes three times per day after meals will increase the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down folks 100 per cent. in two weeks' time in many instances. Avoid the old forms of metallic iron which may injure the teeth, corrode the stomach, and thereby do more harm than good. Take only organic iron—Nuxated Iron. It is dispensed in this city by Wasson's Drug Store and all good druggists."

John was spending more money than any other city for hospitals. The mayor had not considered expedient to make the conditions warranted such an expenditure, and he felt that there was no reason for carrying the work through this year.

Cincinnati Man Tells How to Shrivell up Corns so They Lift Out

Such a relief! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freezeon when applied to a tender, aching corn stops soreness at once, and soon the corn dries up and lifts right out without pain.

Rice and Potatoes
Another hint (this from the Lancet) to economize potatoes—Boil two or three tubers of ordinary rice (in a cloth preferably, in order not to make the rice too watery, allowing room in the cloth for expansion of the rice grains) about an hour before one pound of potatoes are put on to cook. When the potatoes are boiled, mash them, and add the rice which has been boiled soft, and mix well together. Three people out of four who were served with this mixture did not know until afterwards that they had not eaten solely mashed potatoes. Thereupon a pound was paid for the rice, which was of the small variety, but nice and white. Not much rice to a pound of potatoes is required, as the rice grains swell up considerably.

FREDERICTON NEWS

Fredericton, N. B., May 9—Preparations for the opening of the legislature tomorrow afternoon are nearing completion.

CAPTAIN W. H. GAYTON MEETS SUDDEN DEATH

Commander of the Meams Succumbs to Attack Aboard His Vessel

Death came suddenly a little after noon today to Captain William H. Gayton, of North End. Captain Gayton was eating his dinner aboard his schooner, the Meams, now in port, when he was stricken with paralysis and died before medical assistance could reach him. Captain Gayton was about as usual yesterday and this morning had been conversing with friends and relatives and was apparently in the best of health. News of his sudden death will prove a shock to all who knew him. He was about sixty-five years of age and was one of the most successful coasting merchants that have sailed out of St. John. He was particularly well known along the water front and was popular with a large circle of shipping men not only in St. John but wherever his voyages took him. He ranked high as a most efficient captain and sailed the waters of the bay for years, especially while in command of schooners of Peter McIntyre, North End ship owner.

Captain Gayton leaves his wife, who resides in Harrison street, two daughters, the Misses Aline and Daisy, and two sons, Captain Gooderich, also in the service of Peter McIntyre, and William.

Because of cases of illness among men of the 21th Battalion in Martello Hospital, some ladies of the Lancaster Red Cross Society (connected with a West End circle) have been sending fresh egg-jellies, blanc mange and other suitable delicacies to the sick men and this has been greatly appreciated. The demand, however, has got beyond the ability of the few ladies who have been helping. Fresh eggs are always in demand, as well as other table delicacies. Thus far contributions have been from individuals only, though the Lancaster Red Cross sent thirty-five garments to the institution yesterday.

CARLETON MOTHER HEARS FROM HER TWO SOLDIER SONS

Letters Come From Vincent and Walter Joyce

Former Wounded And in Hospital For Second Time—Both Boys in Vimy Fight—Walter Meets West Side Friends in No Man's Land

Mrs. Michael Joyce of 283 Gullford street, West Side, has received letters from both her sons at the front. One from Vincent reports his being wounded in the recent fighting and his removal to England. The other was written by her son Walter, who is still fighting in France. He was seventeen years of age when he joined a Highland regiment in Montreal two years ago. He was employed in the C. P. R. there. He writes:

April 21, 1917.

Dear Mother:—

Just a few lines to let you know that I have arrived O.K. in England. I think I will be two or three months here as I expect to be confined to bed for two months at the least. I got hit in the leg with a high explosive shell. The leg was broken. This is my second offence. I was in the big drive with the Canadians when they took Vimy Ridge. The people of England seem greatly appreciative towards the boys from across the sea for their good work at this battle. Walter and Mike were both in it, but I don't know how they made out as yet. This good work of our boys will show the people in Canada that they surely are doing their bit and I think that I did mine. I am in King George Hospital. I would be able to get much better if it were not for my position in bed, but I will go better next time. For the present I will close my letter. I will write you often as I can greatly enjoy word from home now.

Your loving son,
VINCENT M. JOYCE.

The following letter was received from Walter. It was written before the big drive.

France.

Dear Mother:—

Just a few lines to let you know that I received your parcel of socks all right and also the tobacco. I was not feeling very well recently, but am O.K. at present. My birthday was April 11 and I am glad to say I spent it in the trenches. I met Mike on Good Friday. Vincent showed him where I was and that same night I went up to his battery and saw a lot of fellows I knew. I met Jimmy and Willie Keleher out in No Man's Land. We had a good hand of cards and I really did not find much more to say, so will stop.

Your son,
WALTER.

INQUIRY INTO GROUNDING OF MASKINONGE

Captain Demers Holds Court in St. John

Circumstances Detailed by Commander of Vessel And Pilot—Comment on Fact That Vessels Are Not Notified of Berth Till Reaching Inner Harbor

An official inquiry into the grounding of the Dominion Coal Company's steamer Maskinonge was held in the court house this morning by Captain L. A. Demers, Dominion wreck commissioner, assisted by Captain A. J. Mulcahey and Captain James Hayes as nautical assessors. Evidence was given by Captain Benjamin Griffiths of the steamer, Pilot Robert Doherty and D. G. McAlpine, marine superintendent of the Dominion Coal Company.

The most important point brought out seemed to be that there had been no uncertainty regarding the time when the steamer was to dock she could have remained outside the inner harbor. It was brought out that a ship not equipped with wireless rarely received orders unless she entered the inner harbor. Such was the case with regard to the Maskinonge, and at the time she began to negotiate the inner harbor the master and pilot were of the opinion that she was to dock that morning. In the channel they feared that the ship was not to dock until Monday morning and therefore took the only available berth.

The Evidence

Captain Griffiths was the first witness called. He said that the movements of his steamer from the time he arrived outside the island until she grounded on the beach were as follows: The Maskinonge had left the steamer on the morning of the accident, he said, his men remained at the posts and he noticed his ship dragging her anchors he endeavored to bring her about and check her headway. He had the engines working when she struck, but had not time to get the steamer under control. In answer to Captain Demers he said that the vessel had issued and also of the manner in which the ship had been anchored.

Pilot Doherty held of boarding the steamer on the morning in question and bringing her up to the inner harbor and mooring her. He stated that the tide was running about five or six knots. When asked if he had informed the captain that the tide was running so fast, he said that he had done so, and had advised him to drop both anchors. He answered several other questions regarding the manner in which he had moored the steamer.

Upon entering the inner harbor and learning that the steamer was not to dock until Monday morning he gave orders to drop the port anchor. Ninety fathoms of chain were run out and then the starboard anchor was dropped. When the steamer was brought to she was about midway in the channel. Soon after the anchors had been dropped the steamer began to drag and during a short distance she brought up. Considering that everything was all right she asked permission of the captain to go ashore and was told he could do so. He had been in his home only a short time when he heard the ship dragging and he hurried to the wharf. He saw that the steamer had dragged her anchor and had grounded.

When asked if it would not have been advisable to anchor the steamer off her berth, Pilot Doherty said it would not have been advisable as the currents there are exceptionally strong at freshet time and the water is very deep. When the steamer began to negotiate the inner harbor, he said, he and the captain were of the opinion that the ship was to dock, but when they arrived in the channel they learned that she was not going to do so until Monday. He then moored her in the only available berth.

In answer to Captain Demers he said he thought it would be advisable if orders were issued regarding the docking of a steamer before they began to negotiate the inner harbor. When asked if he thought it was right to leave the steamer after she had dragged her anchors, he said he considered it all right as the steamer had brought up and apparently was secure. He had personally inspected the anchors prior to departing to see that they were holding, and the right angles, etc.

When asked the nature of the bottom at that place he said it was mud. Asked if he thought it was not a poor holding bottom, he said he did not, as it was considered good.

In answer to Captain Mulcahey and Captain Hayes he told about the tides at the time the steamer grounded.

Mr. McAlpine, marine superintendent of the Dominion Coal Company, said he arrived in this city on last Wednesday. In answer to Captain Demers, he said he found everything as reported. When asked if he had received all assistance possible when the ship was grounded from port officials, government officials, etc., he said he had. He told of the government steamer, Aberdeen and Doland rendering all possible assistance. He wished to thank all port officials, government officials and others who furnished assistance in floating the steamer. He believed they had considered it a patriotic duty and had done everything in their power. He also wished to thank the court officials for holding the inquiry at such an early hour in order to facilitate matters.

When asked by Captain Demers if he considered that the steamer had been floated as soon as possible, he said he did. He said that the reason for not attempting to float her sooner was owing to freshet and the unfavorable tides.

Captain Demers said his reason for asking the question was owing to the safety of tonnage.

This brought the inquiry to a close. Captain Demers said that he would consider the evidence and give a decision within ten days.

STOLEN IN CHILDHOOD; SISTER NOW FINDS HER

Strange Story That Involves Annie Parker of McCarthy Murder Notoriety

(Moncton Transcript.)

Miss Caroline McGrath arrived in the city yesterday afternoon from the States to take her sister, Miss Edna May McGrath, back with her. It is said that her sister living here and known as Edna May Horan, was kidnapped from the cradle when only an infant and has been living in the city ever since.

In the fall of 1915 appeared the story of the discovery in this city of a young woman, Edna May McGrath, who was supposed to be stolen when an infant.

A sister in the States in some way heard of her being here, and asked the Lynn, Mass., police to investigate. They in turn wrote to the Moncton police who looked into the matter with the result that the mystery was cleared up. It was proved that the girl had been living with a Mrs. Hossman, whose maiden name was Annie Parker and who in her younger days had attained considerable notoriety as a nurse in the McCarthy murder case. Mrs. Hossman died several weeks before this investigation but she had told the girl that some day she would impart to her a secret about her life. Death came too suddenly and the truth was never learned.

Further investigation showed that in the year 1900 Annie Parker was employed as a nurse by a gentleman named McGrath, in Boston. Three or four months after the birth of a girl child, both baby and nurse disappeared, and further illness in the family distracted the minds of her relatives and prevented a close search at the time. Fifteen years later, when the older sister, Caroline, grew old enough to realize the significance of the matter, she instituted the enquiries above mentioned, which terminated in the discovery and location of her lost sister.

The girls met for the first time yesterday afternoon and will leave some time this week for the States.

Dear Mary:—

When you bought your new furniture did you overlook buying a nice bed-couch? Well, I did and when company came all four of us tried to pile into one bed. We put James and Ruth in the middle to keep them in... and what do you think? I fell out. It was so funny but I might have broken my arm.

I just must have a new couch which, when needed can be converted into a bed. Don't you, too, need one?

Hastily—HELEN.

P.S. Let's do down today and look at new COUCHES at
