INTENSE SUFFERING AT KINGSTON STILL CAUSING GREAT ALARM

Section of Kingston from the Harbor

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—News from Kingston, Jamaica, is still filtering in slowly and is twenty-four hours late, but the worst is now apparently known. The town itself is a wreck, few of the houses standing, remaining habitable and the populace is living in the open. Food and medical supplies continue scarce, but relief ships are hurrying to the stricken city from many quarters. There will soon be alleviation from all suffering in this respect. The death list is probably about 700, and the seriously injured in hospitals numbering in the neighborhood of 500.

SUFFERING IS GREAT.
NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—A Kingston, Ja., despatch to the Herald, says that the battleship Missouri, lying off the penitentiary, over-awed the unruly convicts by firing two rounds of blank cartridges and landing an armed party. The help was thankfully received by the government. The correspondents reports that the inmates of the insane asylum are at large, but he says that in the present mind nearly all of Kingston is crazed. Many persons were rendered insane by the shock the most notable being Gerald Lowder, well-known in London. A despatch from Holland Bay says great suffering exists among the poor of Jamaica. A delegation of fifty sufferers appealed to the Governor for the systematic distribution of relief. The spokesman said many were dying of neglect. It is charged that those with money had been supplied with food and medicines. Port Royal has again sunk and geyseres springing up in the streets. The land has now subsided eight feet. The American consul tried yesterday to get a cable despatch to the state department asking for help. One has to travel all night in a small boat and on horseback to reach Holland Bay, from which cable messages are sent.

FOLLOWED WOMAN WHO WAS DRUNK Shameful Action of Crowd on Street Last Night.

It is a question who is to blame for Maud Lester's present predicament. The unfortunate young woman is well known in police circles but only as a drunk. Last evening she was intoxicated and was able to navigate but a large crowd of men, women and boys followed her along Union street to Charlotte street. Here a man who took pity on the unfortunate creature took her by the arm and started to help her to the house where she works as a domestic. She was quite willing to go home and to get clear of the crowd on Charlotte street she was intoxicated through King Square, but this did not stop the crowd who followed her and the man into the Square. Policeman Marshall, seeing that the harness drunken woman was being cared for, broke up the crowd, but they formed again near the corner of Princess and Charlotte, and with her mind whirling with drink the Lester woman, seeing that she was the object of attraction, refused to move a step further and this seemed to amuse the crowd of followers, some of whom seemed delighted at the spectacle. Policeman Marshall then ordered the woman to go home and stay there or she would be arrested. She was placed in the vestibule of her home and it is said women have been quiet had not the crowd gathered about the door. This seemed to anger her for she again came on the street when the police had left and was once more followed by a seemingly amused gang along Charlotte street. This was her last chance for when she reached Charlotte street Policeman Marshall and Nelson took hold of her and, there being no patrol wagon, had to drag her through the snow to the Central Station. The crowd of eight-seers did not disband until the woman was placed behind the bars in Central Station and there being no more excitement they dispersed. This morning the woman was fined $8 or two months jail, and being short of funds, went to jail.

WALLACE BROWN WAS KILLED AT SAID POINT

Met Terrible Death on Board Donaldson Liner Today --- Caught in Wench and Horribly Crushed --- Arms and Head Taken Off.

A terrible death was met by Wallace Brown, the well known stevedore, this morning. Shortly after one o'clock he was caught in the wench on the Donaldson liner Athena and was crushed to death. The accident happened just as the work on the steamer started for the afternoon. Mr. Brown was walking across the deck when he was caught by the wench wire. As soon as his perilous position was noticed, word was sent to stop the engine, but before the machine had been brought to a standstill Mr. Brown had been twisted around and killed. The body of the unfortunate man was terribly mutilated. Both arms were taken off and also the head. A ghastly sight met the eyes of those who bore Mr. Brown's body from the wench onto the deck of the steamer. News of the fatality soon spread, and a large crowd gathered at the wharf where the Athena is lying. Coroner Kenney was at once summoned, and he arrived at the Athena a few minutes later. Mr. Brown was one of the best known stevedores in St. John. He was about 33 years of age and married. The news of his untimely death was a terrible shock to Mr. Brown's wife and two children. Little they thought, as he left his home on Wright street, this morning, that he would never return alive. The sympathy of the community will go out to the sorrowing family. Coroner Kenney stated that he has not yet decided whether or not he will hold an inquest. The deceased was a well known official in the ship laborers' unions, a prominent member of the Sons of England and for years a most prominent sergeant in the 3rd Regt. Canadian Artillery. He was a jovial, good natured fellow and highly esteemed by his fellow workmen and social companions.

MOSES C. BARBOUR PASSED AWAY TODAY

Prominent in St. John's Business History --- Much Respected Citizen

Moses C. Barbour, aged 83 years, one of the best known dry goods men in the Lower Canada, passed away at his home, Wright street, shortly before 9 o'clock this forenoon, after a week's illness with pleuro-pneumonia. About ten days ago Mr. Barbour fell on a flight of stairs in a manufacturing building, resulting in a severe shaking up. A cold set in followed by pneumonia, and though every attention was rendered Mr. Barbour gradually sank. Possibly no man in local business affairs is more respected than was the late gentleman, who for some years had been representing several dry goods manufacturing houses in this section of the province. He was a man of straightforward, gentlemanly dealing, of sociable disposition, and even temperament at all times. Mr. Barbour was married twice. His first wife was Miss Eliza Estabrook, of Fredericton, and by that union the children are: Herbert Barbour, dry goods traveler of Kentville, and Mrs. H. W. Goddard, of King street, east. Mrs. Jas. W. Barnes, of this city, is a granddaughter. Mr. Barbour's second wife was Lucy, widow of Gilbert Robinson, her demise having occurred several years ago. Miss Grace Smith has been of the Barbour household nearly all her life, and is the only surviving member. George Barbour and William Barbour, of this city, are brothers of deceased, as is also Henry, of California, is a sister. Before the St. John fire the late citizen conducted a thriving business of his own on Prince William street. In this fire, Mr. Barbour found it impossible to gather up the various threads of his affairs, and retired from the proprietorship, identifying himself with Thos. R. Jones' large wholesale dry goods concern. When Ward C. Pittfield succeeded to the Jones' business on Canterbury St. Mr. Barbour still retained his position as superintendent, which office he filled until the closing down of that house, when he took up agency work. Up to a few years ago Mr. Barbour was active in Baptist circles, occupying the superintendency of Brussels street Sunday school for successive terms. He was a man of much liberality and sympathy, dispensing charity with a lavish hand, and in his removal a large number of people will feel keenly the loss of a true and trusty friend. Mrs. Edw. Farmer, of Holyoke, Mass. (nee Bonner of this city), arrived at noon, being summoned home on account of Mr. Barbour's serious illness. Mrs. Farmer lived with Mr. Barbour from childhood.

MORE WITNESSES EXAMINED IN COLLINS MURDER CASE

(Special to the Star.)
HOPEWELL CAPE, A. Co., Jan. 19.—The Collins trial was resumed at 10 o'clock this morning. Five witnesses were examined. They were: Thomas Mellin, Ruth Leaman, John Garland, Aylesford Milton, and Wm. Berrie. Mellin was first placed on the stand. He told of finding an axe in the yard of the Miller house on the morning after the murder. He put it in the barn and then went to the priest's house. The cruiser Yankton is expected to arrive here soon. Many Americans who were in Kingston at the time of the disaster have been taken aboard the warship. They intend to take passage for the United States aboard the Hamburg-American steamer Prinzess Luise, but that vessel ran ashore near the wreck of the steamer Prinzess Luise last night. The Plum Point lighthouse was smashed by the earthquake and vessels arriving at night have no lights to steer by. The steamer Prinz Waldemar is also hard ashore. The wrecker Premier has gone to the aid of the stranded vessel. Several shocks of earthquake were felt last night. Four hundred and twenty dead were buried up to last night. The remaining bodies are being cremated; the death list is now believed to be about 700. The work of clearing the streets of debris is being pushed. Dynamite is being used to blow down some of the ruins. The water supply has been improved but food is very scarce and the prices thereof are exorbitant. A remarkable incident of the earthquake has just come to light. An English clerk in a store was buried under falling walls following the earthquake on Monday and over this for many hours great fires swept. Wednesday the clerk was dug out alive. His injuries are not severe. Five hundred persons are still under treatment in the hospitals.

SPORTING MATTERS

THE RING BURNS AND FITZ TO MEET. NEW YORK, N. Y., Jan. 18.—Bob Fitzsimmons, ex-champion heavy-weight pugilist of the world, is matched to fight again. His opponent will be Tommy Burns, and the fight will come off March 16 in Philadelphia. This may upset all plans of O'Brien, Burns and the rest of the heavy-weight pugilists. Fitzsimmons still has the punch, and it is no sure thing that he won't land it on Tommy Burns before the end of the sixth round. A week ago Fitz wired that he would take on any heavy-weight in the ring barring Joe. Burns was the first to take up the challenge. Billy McCarney, manager of the Philadelphia Sporting Club, which is erecting the largest club house there, saw Burns and offered him the match. Burns accepted on the spot, and the affair has just been closed. Burns is a fighting man, a rushing, aggressive boxer. Fitzsimmons always says he can whip any man that will mix matters with him. Burns is a head shorter than Fitzsimmons, and weighs just the same, 177 pounds in fighting trim.

HOW BILL SQUIRES BROKE INTO PUGILISTIC LIMELIGHT. (By the Timekeeper.) Since Bill Squires broke into the pugilistic spotlight recently as a possible opponent of Champion Jeffries, his press agent has been keeping the ring hot with incidents and anecdotes about Squires. Like almost all pugilists, Squires became one by accident, and here is how the press agent tells it: "Squires was still pursuing the trade of a coal miner when he drifted around one night to a boxing exhibition given by a travelling fighter in connection with a fourth rate show. "This was about five years ago. The fighter had found no opponent, and he cast about the audience for a fit mark. His eye lighted on Squires. With a peremptory gesture he ordered Squires to the stage. Bill rejoined with a curt refusal. "The showman repeated his command with equally little effect. Whereupon he lost his temper and directed a choice flood of billingsgate at Squires. "You big stiff— he wound up, but he got no further. "Stop right there," yelled Squires, leaping toward the stage. "He fumbled awkwardly adjusting the first pair of gloves he had ever worn, but once the fighting implements were in position he became completely at home. Inspired by rage, Squires handled his fists so cleverly that the visiting expert was groggy in the first round, and before the second had ended he was sleeping serenely on the mat. "Squires' friends refused to let him end his fighting career then. They had a stiff task, but success finally resulted. He turned to Bill Lindsay, Dan Creedon, Mike Ryan, Tim Murphy, and Tommy Flynn and Jim Fenney and not one of them stood up to him more than six rounds."

WILLIE LEWIS' FIGHT. MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 18.—Willie Lewis of New York defeated Lucas of the same city in two rounds at Riverside Park tonight. In the first round Lewis placed the left to the mouth several times, Lucas getting to the wind and face. McPhee, was united in matrimony to John K. Sutherland, marine engineer, of Charlottetown. Only the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties were present, and except for a maid of honor the couple were unattended. The officiating clergyman was Rev. M. A. MacKinnon. The bride wore a becoming tailor made travelling suit of brown, with a pretty white fur hat. The maid of honor was the bride's niece, little Miss Gladys A. Toner, and she was charmingly dressed in white, and carried a basket of flowers. After a wedding breakfast the happy couple left on the C. P. R. train for a trip to Boston and other United States cities. Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland will reside in Charlottetown. P. E. I.—Acadian Recorder (Jan. 18).

SHIP DRAY HORSES TO BE USED FOR FOOD. LONDON, Jan. 18.—London and Antwerp have a scandal which in some ways would appear to double-discredit the shipments of Belgium Government to put an end to the scandal, though just at the present time it would appear as though both countries are lacking in legislation to put an end to a traffic of this nature.

CANADIAN PARLIAMENT VOTES $100,000 FOR KINGSTON RELIEF

Both Parties Cordially Approve the Splendid Gift—Mayor of St. John Appeals for Contributions.

OTTAWA, Jan. 18.—Before the orders of the day were taken up, Hon. Mr. Fielding asked permission to make a statement with regard to the disaster in Jamaica. Owing to the breaking of the cable it had been found very difficult to get any official information and the government were dependent almost entirely on newspaper reports. There was, however, no doubt that the disaster had been a very great one, bringing with it a large loss of life and very great destruction of property. Without waiting further, therefore, for more official information, the government thought it would be the wish of parliament and of the people of Canada to express their sympathy with their West Indian brothers by making a substantial grant. As to the amount of that grant the government were not at the moment prepared to say, but they would take steps to ask parliament to assent to an immediate grant of $100,000, and if the disaster was found to have been of a greater character, then they would ask parliament to assent to the voting of another $50,000, making $150,000 in all.

The government had been informed that a steamer was about to sail for Jamaica from Halifax and the officers, Pickford & Black, had been generally offered to convey free of transportation charges any provisions that the Canadian government and people might wish to send to Jamaica. The collector of customs at Halifax, who fortunately was acquainted with West Indian requirements, having been engaged in the West Indian trade himself, had offered to purchase at once whatever provisions are available suitable for West Indian needs, and avail himself of the offer of the steamer owners. More Protection Demanded For Canadian Fishermen.

Debate in Parliament Reveals Strong Sentiment in Favor of Maintaining Canadian Rights.

OTTAWA, Jan. 18.—The debate on the modus vivendi with regard to the fisheries, opened yesterday by A. K. McLean of Lunenburg, was continued today. Speaking last night Mr. McLean gave the history of American fishing claims from 1783 to the present time. The treaty of 1783 was also reviewed by him. He expressed surprise that the United States had rejected this, but partly because of the Canadian side of the matter. Repeatedly the Americans had repudiated Canada's advances with regard to this matter and had also stated that they had no need of the modus vivendi. Such being the case the modus vivendi should be withdrawn. Canadians could live without the American fish market, and the time had gone by for the Canadian government to supplicate for reciprocity. Newfoundland had demanded the treaty of 1818 and deserved Canada's sympathy for so doing. The fishery question should be settled, but not at a sacrifice of Canadian interests.

This afternoon Mr. Sloan (Comox) took up the question. He pointed out with the matter from the point of view of the fishing industry of Canada on the Pacific coast. He pointed out the development of the fishing industry in the West in the fishing industry, but owing to the existing agreement with the United States, a considerable proportion of that trade was going to the United States instead of assisting, as it should, in building up cities in British Columbia, a question which is in the hands of American companies nearly altogether, and the United States requires serious consideration on the part of the government. Fish caught in Canadian waters in American bottoms entered the United States free of duty, whereas Canadian exporters were compelled to pay a duty which was equivalent to about $20 a ton in favor of the U. S. fishermen.

To show the importance of the industry in B. C. he reminded the house that in 1905 B. C. replaced Nova Scotia in the holding of first place in regard to value of exports. The value of the products being one-third of those of the whole Dominion, which in 1905 was valued at $24,000,000. The United States was taking steps to develop their industry in Canadian waters and he urged the government to take steps to assist Canadian traders. U. S. boats might at present use Canadian harbors as a base of operations, but if different treatment was meted out to Canadian boats if they crossed the frontier. If Canadian ports were closed to foreign fishermen, the U. S. fishermen would have to employ British vessels or go out of business. He also advocated the closing of ports to prevent poaching. The issues raised were of international importance, and he thought that in this consideration would not be sacrificed on the altar of expediency and that a policy would be adopted for conservation of the enormous wealth of Canadian deep sea fisheries for Canadian enterprise.

Mr. Roche, Halifax, mentioned that in Halifax the marine department was established about 1870, which was of great benefit to the fishermen. He thought that while they should not do anything to upset amicable relations between Great Britain and United States, they should not allow Canadian rights to be sacrificed to propitiate the feeling between the two countries.

Mr. MacPherson (Vancouver), while pointing out that companies trading through Canadian ports conferred some benefit on the community, said that the New England Fish Company spent nearly $700,000 in Canada. No government that had been in power had made any attempt to effectively patrol the Pacific coast. Up till six years ago, when the little steamer Kestrel was built, there was no patrol of the coast. The Kestrel was a good one, but the Canadian law on the coast. But the Kestrel was not fast enough to catch the fast vessels from Seattle, who were poaching on Canadian halibut grounds. Today a vessel for halibut fishing was being built at Seattle with 18 knots speed. At present it took the Kestrel three hours after being sighted to haul up the poaching U. S. vessel, during which interval all evidence of illegal fishing was removed. The only way to protect Canadian fisheries was to have a boat big and fast enough to catch poaching vessels now operating in Canadian waters, which would either have to go out of business or locate at some point on lawful ground. The Canadian market was a good one, therefore he urged that nothing be done until the poachers were cleaned out.

A. S. Copp (Dorchester, N. S.) thought something should be done with a view to protecting the herring fishery. The U. S. placed a duty on Canadian fish in Canadian bottoms, which he imported in U. S. bottoms they were free. An export duty should be placed on herring exported in American bottoms. A result of the failure to adopt this proposition had been that the U. S. sardine industry had wiped out the Canadian herring fishery in the Bay of Fundy.

Mr. Copp quoted extensively from evidence given before the commission showing that Canadian fisheries had been depleted for the benefit of fishermen of the U. S.

Continuing in the same strain, Mr. Copp said the Canadian fishing interests were injured by the immense quantities of herring taken to be exported for the sardine industry in Maine, for use as lobster bait, and purchased by American fishermen for bait. The modus vivendi privilege should be terminated.

YOUTH DESERTS THE HOLY GHOSTS

The Milk and Mush Diet Did Not Agree Him. Does Not Complain Of Cruelty

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 18.—Charlie Lent, 14 years of age, son of Edward Lent, who with his family, consisting of a wife, three sons and two daughters, have been living at the Holy Ghost and Us temple at Shiloh for the past month, deserted Shiloh early today and walked from Lisbon Falls to Brunswick, a distance of eight miles. He had just 65 cents in his pocket and spent the most of that on the electric from Lisbon Falls to Brunswick. Lent is on the way to the home of his married sister, who lives in Sanford, Conn. The boy talks of the treatment received at Shiloh but does not complain very much of cruelty, but says that the inmates are fed on mush and milk three meals a day and one day in the week they are allowed beans and peas.

The family were converted to the faith five years ago. Lent says that a few days ago the disciples prayed for him with which to buy horses, and another day they prayed for $185 for school books, and that the money was received in both instances.

A letter has recently been received from across the water from Sanford, but no special news was in it. The local Y. M. C. A. will help the Lent boy to reach Connecticut.

To cure Headache in ten minutes use Kumfrot Headache Powder, 10 cents.

Don't—Why are you treating me so kindly? I can't buy you any new hat. —Meggendorfer-Blaetter.

NEW DOMINION WILL DO WORK AT ST. JOHN

She Will Dredge the Navy Island Bar and the Ferry Approaches—Other City Hall Matters.

Wm. J. McCordoch, government superintendent of dredges and dredging here, has given permission that the dredge Dominion should be put to work in a few days at the work at Navy Island and the ferry approaches. The work necessary will probably take about ten days. This satisfactory result is the result chiefly of Mayor Sears' negotiations with Ottawa with Hon. Mr. Hyman and later with Hon. Mr. Fisher, acting minister of public works. The mayor said yesterday that he understood that the work would be done without cost to the city. Engineer Peters has drawn a plan of the work required, but as the consulting engineer was detained in the house yesterday with a slight cold the plan has not yet been submitted to the government engineers.

THE PREVALENCE OF VALUABLE PIECES

BOMBAY, Jan. 18.—Further news which has reached here with regard to Dr. Stein's exploration of Khotan shows that the excavations at the ruined temple on the Hangaya T'ul resulted in the discovery of many interesting small terra cotta reliefs which once decorated the temple walls. The style of these sculptures is plainly derived from models of the Greco-Buddhist type of art and agrees clearly with that of the Rowak Tupa reliefs dating approximately from the 5th and 6th century. A. D. A special noteworthy feature of the sculptural remains which have been recovered is the prevalence of richly gilt pieces. This strikingly confirms the hypothetical explanation given by Dr. Stein of the origin of leaf-gold, namely that it was by washing from the culture strata of the old Khotan capital at Yatkan.

GOLD HEADED CANE FOR BANDMASTER JONES

Presentation Accompanied by an Address Made at Smoker Given by 62nd Regiment Last Night.

The members of the 62nd Band were the hosts at a very enjoyable smoking concert in their rooms in the Sutherland building, last night. The officers of the regiment and a large number of other friends of the band were present. Among the guests were Stanley Lawton, formerly of Sousa's Band, and Lieut. Wallace, late of the Black Watch.

A feature of the evening was the presentation of a handsome gold-headed cane to Bandmaster Jones by the members of the band. The presentation was accompanied by an address, which was read by Band Sergt. McAllister. The address was given by "F. H. Jones, Esq., Bandmaster 62nd Band."

"Dear Mr. Jones—My fellow bandmen have delegated to me the very agreeable privilege and honor of presenting you with this walking stick as a token of the high and continued appreciation of your splendid abilities as bandmaster and your sterling qualities as a citizen and friend.

"Although you are not so young as some of your bandmen at least, a walking stick with you is not a necessity, and we trust will not be for many years to come. May you and all your household continue in health and prosperity, and may we have the pleasure of seeing you preside at many more of our annual smokers."

During the evening the following programme was carried out: March, by the band; descriptive selection, band's recitation, Mr. Molson; song, Fred McKean; clog dance, Jos. O'Brien; recitation, J. E. Lord; speech, Ald. McHoidick; quartet, Messrs. Holder, Brown and Bonnell; banjo selection, G. Davidson; selection, "A Soldier's Life," by the band; piano solo, Mr. Holmes.

BOURBON HEIRS WIN.

MADRID, Jan. 18.—Judgment has been delivered in the testamentary case of Queen Marie Christine of Spain, who died in Havre in 1878 and left considerable estates in France. Litigation has been pending for the past twenty-eight years and a certain portion of the estate was claimed by members of the princely family Du Drago against King Alfonso XIII, and other members of the Bourbon family. The claims of the Du Drago heirs have been dismissed by the court and the Bourbon heirs win their case all along the line.

A WORTHY CAUSE.
As announced in another part of this paper The Sun and The Star have, for the convenience of all who wish to help, started a fund for the relief of those who suffered in the Jamaica earthquake. All contributions sent to this office will be acknowledged at once and will be forwarded to the sufferers without delay. There is no time to lose. Today's despatches confirm the previous reports that starvation stares the grief-stricken population of Kingston in the face. The people are already shrinking in horror from the pestilence which is being caused by the dead bodies of their relatives and friends buried beneath the ruins. Worse conditions can scarcely be imagined. San Francisco was bad enough, but the need of immediate help for terror-stricken Kingston is infinitely greater, and it is to be hoped that the citizens of St. John will not delay in adding whatever they possibly can to the fund which has been opened for a cause so worthy.

EUROPEAN TRAFFIC.
It is generally supposed in shipping circles that the chief object of the White Star Line in transferring their British terminals from Liverpool to Southampton is to capture a large portion of the Continental traffic to and from America. Such a transfer will mean more to the port of Liverpool than anything which has ever happened before in connection with her trans-Atlantic freight and passenger business. And it is not likely that the exodus will stop with the White Star Line for already rumors which would seem to be well founded, are abroad to the effect that the example of the White Star people will shortly be followed by other and equally important steamship companies. It is stated that the Cunard people have for some time had in mind the channel port, although this report is stoutly denied by prominent Liverpool shipping men. At any rate there is no denying the fact that for a long time the big English companies have been formulating plans by which they might hope to win back a fair proportion of the traffic which had been stolen from them by the palatial and richly furnished Bremen and Hamburg boats. The latter found it profitable to make prompt and well-regulated connections with the channel ports and each year has seen a decreased number of summer travelers at least, for the Continent, pass through the port of Liverpool. The idea the Cunard Line adopted was to place boats on the New York, Liverpool and Hamburg route. "Let's have it dug up for a sewer."
"But shouldn't it be paved first?"
"Of course. Then, after it is paved and a sewer put in we'll have it repaved."
"All in readiness to be dug up again for the gas-main? I see you understand the principles of municipal economy. And after we have had it repaved for the second time, then what?"
"Well, then it will be time to widen it. There's nothing I admire so much as system in the care and improvement of roadways."—Smith's Weekly.

WHERE THE DUKE WAS.
(Tit Bits.)
Dr. Stalker, the well known Scottish preacher, tells a good story of Sir John Steel, the famous sculptor. When he had the Duke of Wellington sitting for a statue he was in the city of Boston. All his efforts were in vain, however, for Wellington seemed, judging by his face, never to have heard of Waterloo or Talavera. Sir John lost patience somewhat, and this scene followed:
"As I am going to make the statue of Your Grace, can you tell me what you were doing before, say, the battle of Salamanca? Were you not galloping about the fields, cheering on your men to deeds of valor by word and action?"
"Bah!" said the Duke, in evident scorn. "If you really want to model me as I was on the morning of Salamanca, then do me crawling along a ditch with my stomach, with a telescope in my hand."

Director Lowe of the Geological Survey goes to Ottawa in His Annual Report

OTTAWA, Jan. 17.—The summary report of the Geological Survey Department for last year was presented to parliament yesterday. It gives details of the work done in every part of the Dominion.

Mr. A. P. Low, director, points out that the mineral production in Canada in twenty years has increased from $10,211,000 in 1886, to $88,574,900 in 1905, and yet in the same period the government appropriation to the geological survey and mines branch had only increased from $115,563 to $173,555.

Mr. Low speaks of his three days' visit to the Cobalt camp in the invitation of Professor Miller, the Ontario government geologist. He says: "Granting only a very moderate depth, there is ore in sight sufficient to produce millions, and only a portion of the veins has as yet been uncovered. There is no doubt that great values will be extracted from many of the properties about Cobalt; at the same time it might be wise for the investing public to consider the very large capitalization and abnormal prices of stock of many of these properties, and in consequence the large sum required from production to pay a fair profit on these small veins."

A HAPPY RE-UNION
A happy meeting was that of Max Kepler, a tailor of New York, and his ten-year-old daughter, who he had never seen before, which took place in the U. S. immigration office on Mill street, yesterday. Mr. Kepler, who is a native of Russia, left his home ten years ago and went to the United States. Shortly after he left, a daughter was born. Mr. Kepler has established a good business in New York, and some time ago sent for his wife and family. They came out by way of Newfoundland and Mr. Kepler met them here. Two other daughters were found to be suffering from trachoma and they were detained here.

VESEVIUS MAY FALL IN
NAPLES, Jan. 18.—A representative of the government who has made an examination of the crater of Mt. Vesuvius reports that he found it unsafe and that there is a possibility that parts of it will fall in, producing eruptions of greater or less severity. The villages on the mountain side are consequently in danger.
Prof. Chastoul, a well known geologist, has declared that there is great similarity between the Kingdon craters and that which occurred in Calabria, in September, 1905. The professor was sent to Calabria as president of the commission appointed by the Italian government to study the phenomena. He is of the opinion that Kingdon may be submerged and he attributes the earthquake there to magnetic disturbances caused by recent earthquakes.

JAPANESE JOURNALS ARE ANXIOUS OVER ALLIANCE

Grave Fears That Far Famed Anglo-Japanese Good Feeling Will Not Prove Permanent—The Ways of the Oriental

TTA, Jan. 19.—Indian news is expressing grave doubts as to whether the Anglo-Japanese alliance is likely to remain the best thing for the Empire. The specific proposal has called forth this discussion, and the question of the Japanese into the hands and the possibilities of the United States and the point of view of the East experts upon military subjects a diplomacy is that under no circumstances could Great Britain be stand with Japan in such and against the United States, and that the best that can be done for the Japanese would be for England to remain in case Japan should happen the flag of the yellow race the white and drag into the Far East, and other Asiatic. CROKER MAY RACE HORSES IN AMERICA THIS SEASON

Rumored That Speedy Irish Mare Blakestown Will be Sent Across During the Year—Lamented Death of Dean White.

DUBLIN, Jan. 19.—It is reported here that Richard Croker intends to race horses on the American tracks this season. The report has undoubtedly grown out of the fact that he has named his five year old mare Blakestown for the Suburban, the big $20,000 handicap which has been run for more than twenty years at the summer meeting of the Coney Island Jockey Club at Sheepshead Bay. The extent of the campaign which Croker is planning on the New York tracks cannot be estimated until later when the entry lists for some of the other big events of the running turf will be made public. At present the only thing of importance appears to be the entry of Blakestown in the Suburban. But it is certain he will not send the mare over alone and even if there are no other stake horses in the string that comes from Ireland the former Tammany chieftain is expected to leave an impression upon the tracks of America as well as England during the coming season. Blakestown is a chestnut mare, five years old by Lesterlin-Stella. Most of her racing hitherto has been done on the Irish tracks and she has never figured as the winner of any of the big classes or handicaps of the English turf. In Ireland, however, she has earned a distinguished record and as a three-year-old she carried off the Irish Oaks from a strong string of fillies. Her list of winning brackets is a strong one and even though it includes a few stake features she has shown form sufficiently reliable to Evening Post. Among other things mentioned by the Post at that time may be mentioned the following: The death of the late Right Reverend Monsignor White, Dean of Killisnoe and parish priest of Nenagh, is one to be regretted throughout the length and breadth of Ireland. He was of a singularly fervent and enthusiastic temperament. He threw himself with all the ardor of his fervent nature into the Irish national movement and helped with delight Mr. Gladstone's first Home Rule proposal in 1886. He went to London at the time of the introduction of the Home Rule Bill in April, 1888, and being unable, not having applied to his friends in time, to obtain a seat in the gallery of the House of Commons to hear Mr. Gladstone's speech, he determined that he would wish him Godspeed on his way to the House of Commons. He accordingly waited in Palace Yard till Mr. Gladstone drove to the House of Commons and as they alighted the Dean took off his hat and expressed his good wishes. Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone were much touched by the incident, shook hands with Dean White very warmly, and Mr. Gladstone in a few words conveyed his high appreciation of Dean White's devotion to the Irish cause. Dean White loved to recall old memories of Smith O'Brien and the '48 period. At Christmas of the year 1853 Smith O'Brien distributed the prizes at Carrigrohilly school and bestowed a number of Irish books as premiums for those who had been studying the native language. In his own history of

Some discussions appear to be merely a part of the old problems connected with the "Yellow Peril" in a new light in the light of the "Yellow Peril" of the school master of the day. It is interesting to note that Peking has assumed Tokyo since the conclusion of the Treaty. One would have expected some evidence of opposition to practically recognize as a benefactor, and to re that without her armed forces Manchuria must inevitably be added to the Russian Empire yet those who study world—and some of the cleverest stu-

AN INTERESTING LETTER ON SCOTTISH AFFAIRS BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

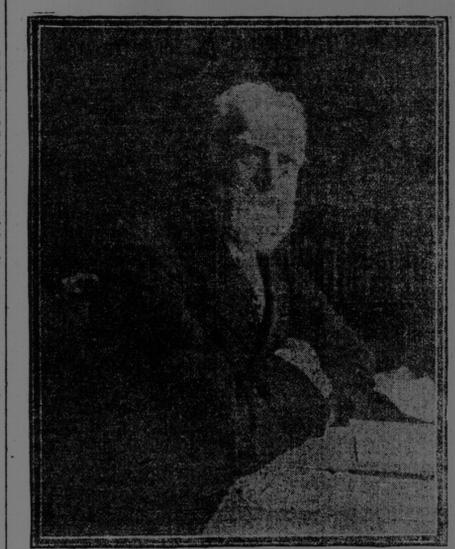

(BY ALEXANDER GILMOUR.)
GLASGOW, Jan. 19.—When the Secretary for Scotland introduced his Small Landholders Bill for the purpose of adding honor and glory to the Crofter's Acts the question was everywhere asked throughout Scotland: "Why could he not wait for the report of the departmental committee's report upon small holdings?" Appointed in April of last year the committee had Lord Onslow as chairman, and it will be noted that Lord Carrington, afterwards succeeded by Monroe-Ferguson, had a place on it. Its recommendations were forecast to be of an important nature, and Mr. Sinclair now agrees that his endorsement of ideas upon the subject of land legislation would have been considerably richer had he waited for its findings. A feature of those is the practical use made of County Councils, especially for advisory purposes. The committee recommends that definite improvements in the creation of small holdings, made in Britain, that the purchaser of land pay one-eighth of the price at the outset, and that after payment of the first instalment the purchaser shall have the power to defer payment of succeeding instalments as they deem advisable. The experiments in land purchase are to be conducted under special branches of the Board of Agriculture. In all likelihood this means the selection of a group of specialists who will act as middlemen between the central body and the popularly elected councils. In opening additional demonstrating departments in the Glasgow Agricultural College and receiving a representative deputation on behalf of the grant-aided veterinary instruction research, the Secretary for Scotland had a pleasant non-political hour. Being a Scotsman it may have occurred to Mr. Sinclair that it is frequently necessary to be made use of. At any rate Dr. Gillespie, the chairman of the governors of the Agricultural College, was completely at home in opening the proceedings and in showing the ways and means by which the young institution had attained remarkable strength. Mr. Sinclair on his part had manifest pleasure in giving his benediction to what he classed as a "going concern." The several speakers who spoke in favor of a publicly controlled Veterinary College for Glasgow and who directed the Scottish secretary's attention to the desirability of securing an annual grant from the Scotch Education Department have been congratulated upon making out an excellent case. Everywhere this subject is being discussed as to the ecclesiastical policy to be pursued by the successor of Principal Rainy, for thirty years the foremost figure if not always the actual and the practical head of the United Free Church. Principal Rainy has been pronounced "Scotland's greatest ecclesiastical politician." Certain it is that for a generation he has guided the United Free Church through all the times of storm and stress that have

KING OF BAVARIA'S LOT IS NOT SO BAD AFTER ALL

MUNICH, Jan. 19.—Photo shows Prince Luitpold Maximilian Louis Charles of Bavaria, in national costume. To be King of Bavaria has, up to the present time, been regarded as anything but a happy fate. Sinister bad luck has dogged the steps of successive rulers of the most beautiful of German kingdoms, and this is the stranger when one remembers how remarkable and vigorous is the personality of the wonderful old Regent himself. Little Prince Luitpold Maximilian Louis Charles—to give him his full name—is the great-grandson of the Regent, and will probably become, in due course, King of Bavaria. His father is a clever, cultivated, and extremely sane young man, and his mother is one of the delightful group of princesses who are daughters to the Royal ceiling, Duke Carl Theodore. The Bavarian royal family, with the one miserable exception of the mad king, all live together at Munich.

make her dangerous if not treated too harshly by the official handicapper. The recent sale of Irish goods at Southampton was a success in more than one respect. The total realized was about $2,000, and as the articles were sold at the usual retail prices the success of the sale is said to have greatly encouraged the promoters of the enterprise. The success of the sale was due in a large measure to Miss Wentworth Shields, who came up from Southampton to assist at one of the London Aonach stalls during the three days of that festival and arranged with several of the stall holders to have their goods sold at Southampton. The success of the Aonach in London and its counterpart in Southampton is regarded as an indication of what awaits the introduction of Irish goods on strict commercial lines to numerous provincial towns in England. The Countess of Aberdeen in announcing her intention of issuing invitations for an Irish lace ball and an Irish tweed afternoon party during the coming Dublin season is following a century old example given by the Countess of Hardwicke at the time of the Vice-royalty of her husband, the Earl of Hardwicke. On this occasion, however, it was neither lace nor tweed that was the industry to be revived or pushed but straw plaiting. For some time the business of straw hat and bonnet making had been so much on the decline that the Countess of Hardwicke determined to set up a straw hall to help the impoverished workers. It was held in the Rotunda on the evening of the 26th of March, 1802, and a full report of the entertainment was afterwards given in the Dublin

LOURDES GROTTO TO BE SEQUESTERED

PARIS, Jan. 19.—The French Government, it is reported, has notified the Bishop of Tarbes that the Lourdes Grotto and the property connected with it are to be sequestered under the Separation Act. Some time ago the property in connection with the shrine was turned over to a limited liability company. It now appears the government regards this action as a subterfuge to evade the conditions of the Separation Act. The closing of the grotto would practically spell ruin to the district apart from the serious loss of contributions made to the church by the pilgrims. Seven hundred thousand people visit Lourdes every year and they have to be fed and lodged. The entire country is dependent upon the money expended by the pilgrims. If the grotto should be closed permanently Lourdes would be reduced to a poor small town.

THE FAIR NAME OF ALICIA

By K. B. Hennessey

(Copyright, 1917, by Homer Sprague.) Plainly the young Queen Alicia was bored. Not even the cleverest compliments in raptures if somewhat trite offered by the latest court poet interested her. The points of the morning had been unending. Only a couple of riders had been unseated, and one alone had been retired permanently from the lists, with a broken neck. The Lord Treasurer had reported no new outbreaks on account of his latest tax on healthy cows with progeny—a tax made necessary because of the Queen's idea of erecting a temple to herself in the Square of the Royal Family, and to which the undisciplined people had objected. Like all who are taxed, they did not mind the piper so much as paying for the music. Decidedly, life was a foregone conclusion and the Queen yawned once more.

I have soldiers instead of mice around me. What else? "Your honorable Household Council finds some difficulty in having orders filled. The tradespeople seem to be getting more rapacious every day, and want their money almost as soon as their goods are delivered." The officer tried to look the indignation he did not feel.

When it comes to a question of their sudden taking-off," said the Queen, pursuing her point. "We shall see for ourselves, Louise." She lightly tapped her hand and an officer of the household came forward. "Captain, send for the American who is to be shot tomorrow, and have him appear before me at once."

again, if the cause were the same. "You see, Your Majesty, he acknowledges his guilt," said Lady Louise. "I did not say I was guilty of anything," corrected the American. "I merely said what I repeat: I would do the same thing again were the cause the same."

Midnight was tolling from the big towers. Queen Alicia sat in her private chambers, reading. Outside she heard the tramp, tramp, of the sentry. As the clock tolled out its last note, she laid down the book.

for not to answer, Your Majesty," said the Count. Then as if making an old vow, he said vehemently: "As there is a God in heaven, Alicia—I ask you pardon—Your Majesty, I would have run the Duke through myself if the American had not interfered."

you yesterday for your women in the poor quarter, giving alms." "The Queen shrugged her shoulders, as she replied: "Even Alicia cannot be a butterfly all the time."

French Hand-Made Gowns for Diminutive Young Women

ONE day last summer, as a somewhat pious sermon was dragging to a close, a quaintly bonneted head, all lace and bows and bunches of rosebuds, kept peeping above a high pew, to the distraction of the feminine portion of the congregation. Very winsome and sweet was the brown-eyed, golden-curved lassie within that fascinating poke; but, if truth be told, it was the bonnet, and not the child, that caught the wandering eye of every woman in that blessed sanctuary.

Paris, it said as plainly as if labeled with the name of some great French milliner. Nothing quite so charming could ever be evolved anywhere but in a city where the babies romp quite unconcernedly in the most fragile, elaborate hand-made gowns, topped with bonnets and hats simply irresistible.

The best-dressed children in the world are the French little ones—the best, because the most daintily and artistically. Wear and tear, patches and darning, seem to have no terror for the French mother. Even though in quite humble circumstances, her small daughter's gowns are very apt to be hand-made.

Handkerchiefs combined in unusual and attractive ways with lace, insertion and the most exquisite hand embroidery.

Nearly all these dainty little dresses have a sash or rosette or knot of soft ribbon—white, pink or blue—put on in an indescribably French manner. Many of the very sheer ones are worn over a simple silk or lawn slip—generally some soft shade of pink or blue.

Indeed, it is not unusual to see French children of the better classes playing vigorously in the parks dressed as an English or American little one would be for a dancing class or party. Nor is this because the gowns are so much cheaper than with us. When bought in the shops they are expensive even in Paris—100 francs being the cheapest, soaring to 300 when real lace is used.

As for the hats and bonnets, they are the funniest, floppiest, quaintest headgear imaginable. Many of them are entirely of lace; others, dear little old-fashioned pokes that make the homeliest of picturesque. Tucked away on almost all of them are bunches of tiny rosebuds, primroses or other artificial flowers.

If mother fancies are not always equal to buying these French hand-made garments, mother-ingenue will easily find a way to copy them at quarter the prices charged in the shops. Fascinating little dresses and bonnets may be easily made at home. Indeed, there is no more delightful sewing to have on hand than a dainty bit of white work for adorning the cherished small daughter.

All that is wanting, usually, is the model to copy. This want is amply supplied in the charming little gowns straight from Paris shown to-day—gowns that illustrate every point which will mark the well-dressed child this coming summer. Even the babies show the Empire influence in quaint, short-waisted frocks; but this is not to the exclusion of the exaggeratedly long-waisted effects, which maintain their long-continued popularity.

Could anything be more fascinating than the poke-bonnet girle of the upper left-hand corner, in her dress of sheerest, hand-embroidered handkerchief linen, trimmed with narrow valenciennes insertion, three-quarters of an inch wide, with lace edging to match? The pin-tucks are run by hand, and a soft pink sash outlines the waist. The bonnet is of hand-embroidered linen, with pink band and ties.

Very simple, but in very good style, is her small companion dressed, with her long-waisted frock of hand-embroidered fine linen and a floppy, big-crowned, daisy-trimmed hat to match. This model could be easily and cheaply copied by using lengths of wide embroidery. The back is made exactly like the front.

A cunning Empire baby is she of the jumping rope, with her soft, sheer handkerchief linen frock, over pink silk. The tiny tucks are run by hand, while a somewhat intricate trimming is of baby Irish insertion and lace, with a fetching little knot of soft pink ribbon the shade of the roses on the broad-brimmed hat.

Valenciennes lace or embroidery would be equally good for this gown, and much cheaper. The young balloon-flyer wears a simple model of hand-embroidered linen, tucked most attractively. Blue satin ribbon is used on the shoulders, sash, and is combined with two pink rosebuds on the floppy picture hat, with tucked brim. The next frock, of deep swiss embroidery, is given the Empire touch by the way soft satin ribbon is laced through the embroidery neck ruffle. Very new and very stylish is the last gown, with its horizontal pin-tucks, strapped by valenciennes insertion, running to the bottom of the fully ruffled skirt. The insertion is loose for a few inches at the bottom of the slightly bloused waist to allow the sash ribbon to be drawn under it.

With this gown is worn a high-crowned poke bonnet, with a full, ruffled brim of lace and insertion. While these child's costumes are far too elaborate for the prudent Anglo-Saxon mother to countenance much romping in them, they are just the thing to make at once, to be in readiness for some St. Valentine or birthday children's party.

Handkerchief Notes

HANDKERCHIEFS have a fashion as well as every thing else. There are women who would never carry anything more elaborate than a hemstitched, monogrammed linen affair, even to the nuptial altar; but for those who are less conservative the dealers this year have a very attractive-looking. Colored handkerchiefs strew the counters, and though their popularity is liable to be fleeting, they are pretty for a time, and most handkerchiefs are but a transitory possession.

One of the most striking colored handkerchiefs has a fine dark blue linen centre and a white linen border plentifully strewn with dark blue polka dots. For the most part, however, the centres are white and the borders of pink, blue, lavender or red. The new pink shades seem specially popular.

Little polka dots of linen set on to a plain white linen handkerchief and hemstitched all round are among the new things seen. Sometimes handkerchiefs are hemstitched in scallops. The effect is not bad, but hardly worth the trouble entailed.

Handkerchiefs upon which a design has been "picked" are very beautiful. This picking is done with a pin made for the purpose, and consists of drawing threads at certain intervals until a butterfly, bow-knot or flower is formed of the fine linen network. The work must of necessity be extremely tedious, and the prices are, consequently, high.

Valenciennes lace is as popular among handkerchiefs as upon everything else. Charming little affairs are made of the sheerest linen with several rows of valenciennes insertion set into the border and an edge of the same delicate lace.

Princess Styles in Greater Vogue Than Ever in Paris

PRINCESS gowns are prettier and more fashionable than ever in Paris. Slender women of all ages have them built of liberty satin, panne velvet and broadcloth for evening wear, and the favorite ball gown of the debutante is a princess effect in tulle or muslin.

These gowns are a bit difficult of construction, and should not be attempted by the home dressmaker unless she is very sure of her own skill, and has some one to help her. After the first fitting the draping must be done upon the figure, and cannot be managed single-handed.

Last year's gowns may be remodeled upon this year's lines with a little study and care. The new princess gown has a lining of tulle or satin, made with a separate, perfectly fitting circular skirt, and a boned bodice, fastened in the back, the two being joined at the waist line by a flat seam. If the dress is to be of a fluffy nature, this foundation has several full chiffon ruffles on the skirt; but if it is to be lined with chiffon to match the gown, terminating at the elbow in fluffy lace ruffles. Velvet bands hold the lace in place, and upon them are the graceful tasseled ends. This model might also be attempted by the home dressmaker, if she is willing to give the attention to detail in the trimming that is necessary to insure its beauty.

Novelties in Purses

GIRLS nowadays are not satisfied with the stiff, conventional purses that their mothers have always carried. The monotony of the ordinary pocketbook seems to have got on their nerves, so they have devised all sorts of ways in which to vary it.

One new purse is a little leather affair, which can be fastened to one's belt, like a watch fob, and it has become very popular because it is so hard to lose. It opens out like a man's wallet; that is, you can fold your bills up inside. Then there are little compartments for nickels, and dimes and quarters, so that, notwithstanding its tiny size, when rolled up, you can really carry quite a good deal of money in it.

Another new purse is a knitted bag of variegated hues. This, too, will hold quite a good deal of money, both bills and change, in addition to a handkerchief, several samples of dress goods, car tickets, and all the important papers that girls love to carry around with them.

But the most curious of all is the purse in the hands of her umbrella. The top of the umbrella opens by means of a spring, disclosing a tiny receptacle for nickels and dimes. You just can't imagine anything more cute.

Along the same line are the little leather folders, in which she now carries her car tickets. But these are not purses themselves, for she carries her folder inside her purse. Blessed be the man that invented the folders, for without his aid she would surely have got her car tickets most sadly mixed up with her important papers.

Coats for Little Girls

SOFT bengalines, velvets, velveteens, velours and cloth are used for little girls' coats. When chosen in a dark or neutral color they are more useful.

Velour with a pressed line stripe in gray, biscuit, brown, blue or wine color makes a charming coat for a child. Buttons enamelled to match the velour give an extremely pretty finish.

Velvet coats are often trimmed with both lace and fur, but the effect is a bit elaborate for a little tot. A coat trimmed with collar and cuffs of ermine, white fox, chinchilla or beaver is really prettier.

One lovely little cloth coat is of a delicate pastel blue, with a frogging of blue braid, a little military shoulder cape, and collar and cuffs of sealskin. This military aspect is liked almost as much for the small girl as for her big sister.

Red is always pretty for a child's coat, providing the youngster's coloring will stand it. A touch of black is liked on these red coats this year. It appears at the throat, perhaps on the sleeves, and the buttons are of black velvet.

Many of the children's coats have capes, and a little triple cape, shaped to lie smoothly, with a ripple at the shoulders, makes a charming addition to a coat of white broadcloth or cheviot. A touch of black velvet is liked for these white coats also.

Strapping, stitching and a bit of hand embroidery are used as trimming for many of the little girls' coats. Braiding is seen occasionally, but not upon the best models.

Children look very cunning in fur coats, and some very attractive models are seen in caracul and an imitation caracul in brown, white or gray. These little coats all have tiny muffs to match.

The evening coat fad has extended to the children, and the little lady who goes to dancing school or to a children's party will have a charming little cloak in one of the cape effects to wear over her fluffy frock.

One of these party cloaks is a peach pink chiffon broadcloth, lined with pink satin. It is made with a yoke, and has a satin hood to be pulled up over the wearer's head. The fastening is a cord and tassel.

built upon clinging lines, there is a single narrow ruffle on the skirt.

A pretty model in silk muslin has ruffles of the same edged with narrow velvet ribbon. A garland of velvet rosettes borders the neck, and a long panel, embroidered with beads and chenille, extends from neck to hem of the gown both in back and front.

A dress on this order could be built at home if you have an old silk muslin whose skirt is drugged, but whose body and lining are in good condition. If it is impossible to match the material, get net or tulle of the same color, and make your ruffles and panel foundation of it.

Arrange the ruffles on the skirt with the top one extending all the way round. The bertha is a shaped affair, with a series of ruffles upon it. Make the velvet rosettes of velvet cut on the bias and see that they match the velvet edging on the ruffles and the chenille used in your embroidery. Embroider in a big splashy design and seed the background with gold beads.

A classic princess gown, which is really a fitted Empire, is made of liberty satin, and trimmed abundantly with panne velvet and little tassels that match the material in color. There is a shaped band of the velvet across the bottom of the skirt and a velvet bolero.

Classic drapery is taken from the back and crossed in front, thus forming a series of Vs that are draped shoulder effect. The sleeves are transparent affairs of creamy

ENGLISH BUTTER MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Jan. 18.—Latest cable advices to Geo. A. Cochrane, of Boston, from the principal markets of Great Britain, give butter markets as steady, with more doing at the recent decline. Arrivals are heavy from Australia and New Zealand, but with reasonable weather consumption has been large. Fancy grades: Danish, 24 1/2 to 25 1/2; Argentine 23 1/2 to 24 1/2; New Zealand 23 to 24; Australian, 23 1/2 to 24 1/2; Russian 21 to 22c. State American renovated butter at 19 to 20c, without attracting buyers on any extent. Ladies dull at 18 to 19c. Cheese markets continue to improve, and there is more defensive buying on the part of retailers and jobbers. Finest American and Canadian, early and late made 19 1/2 to 19c. Fancy September are firmly held about 18c.

MONTREAL, Jan. 17.—The Minister of Agriculture for the Province of Ontario has received deputations representing different commercial societies. These deputes all requested something at the minister's hands, and Hon. Nelson Monthé consented to take into consideration each one of the requirements and to give them a reply at an early date.

A despatch from Toronto dated today says: "The Montreal pork dealers are desirous of improving the standard of pure bred swine in Eastern Ontario, and believe that one way to do so will be to hold auction sales at regular intervals, with a view to securing government aid in this direction. Mr. Laing, of Montreal, Mr. Smith, of Toronto, and Mr. Matthews, of Ottawa, waited upon the Minister of Agriculture today, who promised to take the matter into consideration. The despatch continues that the Horticultural Society, Vegetable Growers and Beekeepers have asked the Government to take over the deficit of $600 incurred at the exhibition of the Ontario Horticultural Society, and also requested that their annual grant be increased from $1,500 to $2,000. This also met with a like response from Mr. Monthé, who said that he will consider the question."

It would appear that in addition to the above representations, Mr. M. Laughlin, the vice-president of the Ontario Sugar Company of Berlin, and Mr. Symthe, the manager of the same company, called upon the Minister of Agriculture for Ontario to discuss the future of the making of sugar from beet roots. This is one of the infant industries which Ontario undertook to nurture five years ago, and an act was passed granting a bonus to the industry for three years. The bonus was at the expiration of that period renewed for another two years. With the payments of last year's crops the bonus is exhausted, and the question of the Ontario Sugar Company of Berlin wish to have settled is what is to be done for the future. Hon. Mr. Monthé replied that it would receive his careful consideration.

A DIRECTOR OF NIPISSING.

A Nipissing director says that developments at the mines are said to be very satisfactory at this time. At present the company is working from 175 to 200 men, and plans are now said to be under consideration to materially increase the force in the early spring. The company has experienced great difficulty in securing labor, but it is the intention of the management to push development work as rapidly as possible and to increase the number of men to 400 or 500 if the labor can be obtained. It is also understood that the Temiskaming and New Ontario Railroad, which is owned by the government, contemplates the building of a branch to Kerr Lake, which will cross the company's property. A spur will be built from this line into the company's mine, enabling the loading of ore on the cars instead of transporting it across the lake, as at present.

CHEESE SITUATION SOUND.

MONTREAL, Jan. 17.—The cheese market is exceedingly firm, and while the number of new orders being received is not large, holders are holding out for top prices, the situation appearing sound. Notwithstanding the paucity of orders, the shipments are quite extensive, and the apparent shortage in the stocks in the city become more pronounced every day.

Judging by the shipping now proceeding some houses of late must have received orders for goodsized lots. Some holders refuse to sell anything before the first of next month. Prices remain unaltered at 18c, this being the general price demanded.

The receipts of cheese reported on the Board of Trade today was a box. BUTTER.—The butter situation is unchanged, the colder weather stimulating its sale somewhat, and with the very light make of creamery and dairy butter in progress at present, the prospects are for steady prices for some little time. There is a quantity of medium quality butters on the market, which are offered cheaper, but finest qualities still maintain their price, and are quoted at 25 to 25 1/2c, the other grades 24 to 25c, as to quality.

The receipts of butter reported on the Board of Trade are 27 packages. POTATOES.—The demand for potatoes is very good, and the market is firm, prices remaining the same, and, as one merchant remarked, "are likely to remain unchanged for another week, when they will probably go up a little." There are quite a number of bags being handled, and prices are quoted at 80 to 85c for the best white stock, and 65 to 75c for reds, according to the quality.

EGGS.—There is practically no new report on the state of the egg market. The situation at present is a strong one, as no supplies are coming in, and as the demands are good both from outside points and locally, the supplies on hand are dwindling. Merchants do not purchase more than just their immediate requirements, not feeling sure exactly what the prices are going to be, and, as at this time last week, the situation is again a "guessing one." Prices remain unchanged at yesterday's quotation: Selects, 85 to 90c; limed and cold storage, 22c, in cast lots.

Receipts of eggs reported on Board of Trade were nil.

BANKING SYSTEM WAS EXPLAINED

(Montreal Star.)

Last evening Mr. J. Gillespie Muir, accountant of the Montreal Bank of Canada, kept about two hundred McGill students of the Faculty of Applied Science intensely interested by a lecture on banking, which was given by the government, contemplates the building of a branch to Kerr Lake, which will cross the company's property. A spur will be built from this line into the company's mine, enabling the loading of ore on the cars instead of transporting it across the lake, as at present.

The power of Canadian banks, given them by the government, to issue currency notes was also discussed by Mr. Muir. He said that these notes were merely promises to pay, and were issued more for convenience than anything else, it being the temperament of the people of Canada to prefer to hand bills rather than coin. The currency note system, with the many advantages of doing business through the banks, and how one can watch one's expenditures by the cheque system were then gone into, each point being nicely illustrated by some well turned anecdotes.

THREE INJURED IN COLLISION IN CENTRAL VERMONT

SOUTH ROYALTON, Vt., Jan. 18.—Three trainmen were injured, one seriously, in a head-on collision of a passenger train and a freight on the Central Vermont railroad one-half mile west of this station today. Although the locomotives of both trains were demolished, and the baggage and mail cars and a number of freight cars wrecked, the passenger cars came through the collision comparatively uninjured and none of the passengers was hurt. The injured are: John Howland of St. Albans, engineer of the passenger, head and back hurt and seriously internal injuries feared; John Lawton of St. Albans, fireman of passenger, shoulder dislocated and injuries about head; L. P. Arnold, Nashua, N. H., mail clerk, arm broken and severe contusions.

The passenger train was westbound and left this station at 8.30. It is said to have had orders giving it a clear track and was rapidly increasing its speed when a eastbound freight suddenly appeared in its path. Although the engineers of both trains applied the brakes instantly, they were unable to prevent a collision. The passenger locomotive plowed half way through the locomotive of the freight and the boilers of both engines were broken. The baggage and mail cars of the passenger were also smashed, while a number of freight cars, including several containing cattle, were wrecked and many of the cattle either killed or injured so badly that it was necessary to put them to death. The occupants of the passenger were violently shaken up, but otherwise sustained no injuries. The wreck delayed traffic for several hours, but a train was finally made up and the passengers transferred so that they were able to resume their journey.

A wrecking train sent up from White River Junction arrived about 4 o'clock and began the removal of the wrecked cars from the track, but the operation required many hours, during which traffic was blocked.

U.S. CONGRESS' SALARY GRAB

Members and Senators Increase Salary to $7,500

Speaker and Cabinet Members Get $12,000—Like Canadian M.P.'s They Dodged a Roll Call

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—By a rising vote of 118 to 82 the house today adopted an amendment to the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill which was taken from the Speaker's table with seventy amendments increasing the salary of the vice-president, the speaker and members of the cabinet to $12,000 per year and those of senators and representatives, delegates from territories and the resident commissioner from Porto Rico to $7,500 per year; the increase to take effect March 4, 1907.

Effort was made to have a roll call, but only 44 members rose, which was not a sufficient number, so that the house was relieved of the necessity of going to the record. An urgent deficiency bill was passed, carrying a total of $29,441. The house then went into committee of the whole to consider bills on the private calendar reported from the committee on claims. Fifty such bills were passed and two were laid on the table.

The house at 6:10 p. m. adjourned.

NIGHT IN PITTSBURGH FOR THREE DAYS

Midnight Darkness Has Veiled City For 36 Hours—Street Lights Needed

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 18.—Daylight has not been seen in Pittsburgh during the past thirty-six hours and there is little prospect of anything but midnight for as many more hours, according to the weather bureau here. Known throughout the country for its "dark days," January 18 is recorded in the history of the city as the darkest day and the only day in which daylight has not been seen for a few hours at least. The phenomenon is attributed to the warm weather, fog and smoke from the mills and manufacturing plants. Because of the usual weather conditions sunlight has not been seen here for two weeks. Street offices, factories and dwellings were illuminated at night. Street lamps were lighted throughout the entire day.

To add to the unusual conditions, rain fell throughout the day in a way that increased the anxiety as to river conditions and the flood danger stage. At 10 o'clock tonight the waters in the Monongahela river reached a stage of 21 feet 9 inches. The river is now stationary. Reports from up river points are that the water is falling. The crest of the flood is expected to reach this city some time tomorrow.

In one section between Alma and Drayton, an area of 10 miles, there are at least 60 cases of a more or less serious nature. The outbreak was only reported yesterday to the medical health officer, Dr. Robinson, who at once made an investigation and communicated with the provincial authorities.

WESTERN KINGSTON SUBMERGED; THE DEATH LIST IS GROWING

Duke Street, Kingston.

Dead Will Number at Least 1,000 -- Every House Destroyed -- Graphic Description of the Devastation by Earthquake and Fire -- The World Sends Aid.

The situation in Kingston seems to be improving. Order has been re-established and the work of burying the dead and caring for the injured is proceeding on an organized basis. The report that a tidal wave had devastated the southern shore of Jamaica had not been confirmed up to a very late hour. Cable communications have been partly restored, but messages from Jamaica are coming through very slowly. The estimates of deaths remain at about 1,000. Great relief was afforded tonight to all those who have friends in Jamaica by a straggling party of Londoners of more or less prominence in the Jamaican capital already have been given out as dead.

The list of known victims is growing and the names of no less than forty persons of moving prominence in the Jamaican capital already have been given out as dead. About twenty well known people are either injured or missing. The reports received today make no mention of further earthquake and the fires have been put out.

Graphic Description of Kingston's Experience

KINGSTON, Jan. 17 (delayed in transmission).—The following is a continuation of yesterday's despatch describing the earthquake at Kingston: The awful devastation caused by the earthquake became more apparent as time passed. Without a warning, the earth began to shake and tremble at 2:30 Monday afternoon. The shocks which came from the westward, lasted exactly 36 seconds. The whole city rocked like a ship in a choppy sea and buildings reeled and fell. Eastward a dense cloud of dust rose and enveloped Kingston in semi-darkness. The shocks were most destructive along the harbor front, where entire streets were levelled and crowds of frightened shrieking people streamed northward towards the race course, hundreds with heads and bodies cut and bruised, streaming with blood. Those who escaped with slight injuries reported that large numbers of persons were buried under the fallen stores and tenements. As the dust lifted, pillars of smoke arose in Harbor street, near the parish church and soon afterwards flames shot into the sky. It was then perceived that fire would complete the work of the earthquake. In half an hour the flames were spreading; from block to block in the business section. The fire department was unable to stay the conflagration owing to the inadequate supply of water, the earth-

Prominent Men Among the Killed

Among the killed are Sir James Fergusson of Kilkerran, Scotland; Major Hardyman, of the West India regiment; Lieut. Lamont, of the same regiment; A. MacDowell Nathan, one of Jamaica's merchant princes; Solicitors Bette and Verley, R. D. Homal and J. W. Middleton, Ainsley Mardecal, Mr. Thwaites, D. I. Motta, Edgar DeCardova and Charles Sherlock, all merchants of Kingston; the Cuban consul, General Perez, and Doctors B. C. Oggs and Motta. The whole of Jamaica felt the shock, but so serious damage was done beyond a radius of 12 miles from Kingston. Some houses were cracked at Spanishtown, the fortifications at Port Royal were abandoned by the artillerymen and engineers, the western part of the town is partly submerged; Kingston; the Cuban consul, General Perez, and Doctors B. C. Oggs and Motta. The whole of Jamaica felt the shock, but so serious damage was done beyond a radius of 12 miles from Kingston. Some houses were cracked at Spanishtown, the fortifications at Port Royal were abandoned by the artillerymen and engineers, the western part of the town is partly submerged; Kingston; the Cuban consul, General Perez, and Doctors B. C. Oggs and Motta.

Spanish town also was damaged. One man was killed and ten men were injured there.

It is reported that at Anotta Bay the crater of an extinct volcano is emitting flames and smoke, and it is thought that the earthquake originated there. The records of Jamaica contain no previous mention of activity of this volcano.

Appeals have been sent to all sections of the island asking for assistance. Foodstuffs are asked above all things. The steamer Bella, from Philadelphia, arrived here yesterday with a small cargo of provisions. Business is at a standstill. Some shops have been opened by Chinamen, who have raised the prices of goods one thousand per cent. This so angered the people that the Chinamen were driven out and their shops looted.

The hope of famine relief lies in banana crops which have not been injured. Medical assistance is limited owing to the deaths of several doctors. Kingston was threatened with a rain storm this morning, but at the hour of sending out this despatch the weather is clear. The body of Sir James Fergusson was found and buried today. Committees have been formed at the governor and Lady Swetten and others are doing noble rescue work. There have been a number of other shocks since the first disastrous one and the repetitions keep the people in a state of terror.

The Hamburg-American steamer Transsylvanica, which ran ashore at the harbor entrance Dec. 16, is now a total loss.

The topography of the country has been changed and the navigation channel into this harbor materially altered. Two vessels left here yesterday for the United States. The West India and Panama line is working from Holland Bay. Wounded persons are being cared for on all the ships in the harbor.

Kingston Refugees Describe Catastrophe

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Jan. 18.—The steamer Thomas Brooks has arrived here from Kingston with 17 refugees. They paint a horrible picture of the catastrophe at the Jamaican capital and confirm the reports of the destruction of the principal buildings. The refugees do not dare to enter the harbor owing to changes in the channel.

The Machado cigar factory, in which many Cubans were at work, crumbled and 150 of them were killed. Relief supplies are greatly needed at Kingston. The refugees confirm previous reports of the Kingston disaster. According to them twenty-five square blocks of the city have been destroyed. Every building within a radius of ten miles was injured. The waterworks were destroyed. The casualties at the Myrtle Bank hotel were heavy. The Constant Spring and other hotels were damaged. The electric power house was destroyed and many persons were killed by coming into contact with charged electric wires.

The military suffered severely. The hospital camp, where there were several hundred soldiers, was burned, and a number of the men lost their lives. Major W. H. Hardyman and Lieut. Leader are dead. Col. J. R. M. Dalrymple-Hay and Major Lawrence are seriously injured. Part of the town of Port Royal sank and two men were drowned. The batteries sunk eight feet, killing a sapper. In several places the water is seeping through the debris. The Hotel "Richfield," with a hundred American guests was destroyed. A tidal wave has inundated Anotta Bay, washing out many houses. The shock was severe at Richmond and this town also was destroyed by fire.

A sturdy group of young fellows are rallying around the chairman, and not only look after the smaller lads but add to the entertainment. There were several hundred persons present last evening, and the game room was crowded. J. N. Harvey gave an impressive address in the club and his field for work to help men.

THOMAS F. COLLINS, On Trial For His Life.

HOPEWELL CAPE, Jan. 18.—The Collins murder trial was resumed at 10 a. m. today, and made good headway, a large number of witnesses being examined. Probably the most interesting witness today was Miss Mabel Williamson, who discovered Father McAuley's axe, and gave the details of the discovery with a clearness that showed her to be a particularly bright and intelligent witness. Her testimony was listened to very attentively.

The court house was again crowded today with interested spectators, the galleries being filled with ladies. The defense is leaving no stone unturned, the cross-examinations being conducted with the strictest care and marked ability. The prisoner will certainly have no cause to complain at the treatment of his case by either side.

JAMES W. ROBINSON. James W. Robinson said he was a liquor dealer and lived at Eigin. He saw the prisoner on the evening of August 20th, at the Jacob Steves railway crossing near Eigin. It was some five o'clock. Tweedie Barchard was with witness at the time. The prisoner was walking on the track in the direction of Petticoat and had on a blue coat and carried two valises. The Holbrook valise and that found by Detective Killen were shown the witness, and he said they answered the description of those carried by the prisoner. He did not have any conversation with Collins, and did not see him until he saw him in court. Witness was with the detective and others who found the above mentioned valises, but did not see it just at the time it was found.

TWEEDIE BARCHARD. Tweedie Barchard, sworn, said he was a section foreman at Eigin, and was the person referred to by the previous witness. When he first saw the prisoner he was only a few feet away. Witness corroborated former witness' testimony in the essential particulars. He was present at the finding of the valises. They were walking on the right side of the track, and he was searching on account of what he had heard from Detective Killen. He first found two neckties, which he believed were the ones shown in court. The ties were given to Detective Killen. About 45 feet from the ties he found the valise. There were bushes about the vicinity. Detective Killen first saw and picked up the valise. Witness stated that the spot where he had met the prisoner was nearer Eigin than the place where the valise was found. To Mr. Sherren witness said he had heard of the tragedy on Wednesday, and he was thus able to fix the date on which he had seen the prisoner. He had noticed no reins with the valises carried by the prisoner. Witness was riding on a hand car when he met the prisoner. To his honor witness said the prisoner was in his sight two or three minutes.

SARAH DALEY. Sarah Daley of Eigin, wife of Dennis Daley, told of the prisoner being at her home in the station at Eigin with two valises tied together with reins. He inquired for the train. She had no any doubt that the valises shown in court were the same. She saw the prisoner three times the same day. On the last time he was going towards Petticoat. Prisoner appeared excited and when he found there was no train he moved around as if in a hurry. Witness identified the reins shown in court as those her little boy had found. Her son had shown the reins to her on August 21st. They were afterwards given to Detective Killen. Cross-examined by Hon. Mr. McKeown witness said she saw the prisoner between 11 and 2 o'clock on the 20th of August, at the station, and he in response to his query had directed him to her home. She fixed the hour by the time the train left. The prisoner asked if he might leave the valises with her, but finally said he guessed he would take them with him, which she told him she thought was best, as she might not be in when he wanted them. Witness and her husband the murder on Wednesday morning from Mr. Tait. She was not at the preliminary examination, and first took office of her husband with Collins to Detective Killen about a month after the tragedy.

FREDERICK DALEY. Frederick Daley, aged 14 years, was sworn. He said he attended the Eigin. He was a son of the last witness, and stated that he had found a pair of reins between the station at Eigin on August 20th. He folded them up and put them back where he found them. Next day he returned to his home, still there, and brought them home. He was going for the cow at the time. Witness showed a picture of the reins that he had at the suggestion of Detective Killen, by which he might identify the reins. Witness had seen the prisoner at the time Collins was talking to his mother. The witness proved to be a bright lad, and fully satisfied the court as to his knowledge of what constituted an oath.

BRUCE HARBELL. Bruce Harbell, the next witness, knew where Fr. McAuley lives. He had first seen the prisoner Collins on Aug. 20th on the road leading towards Albert. The morning he was walking past the priest's house and saw Fr. McAuley's horse attached to a top buggy. It was about half-past eight o'clock then. Witness was driving his brother part of the way towards Albert, leaving him about a couple of miles beyond the station. He then turned around, and on coming back met Jack Long, and after passing him met the prisoner Collins at the house of Mr. McAuley's. Witness continued his evidence after dinner, relating particulars of the meeting of the prisoner with the witness, Mr. Boyle place and Williamson's. He carried two valises. Prisoner asked if he had seen anything of Fr. McAuley and witness told "No," but that the priest's horse had been seen at the dock. Prisoner asked for a ride and got in the wagon, telling witness that he was going to Duffy's on the hill. This was where Miss Kate Duffy lived. They passed the witness's house and rode a dog in front of the house, but no horse or person. After passing the priest's house going towards Eigin the witness saw Mr. Leonard Bannister. They were driving towards Albert. They also met Tilman Bannister, who was driving in the direction of Albert. The prisoner got out of witness' wagon and ran and caught up to the Bannisters, spoke with them and then returned to the witness's house and told him that he had seen the priest's horse had been seen at the dock. WILLIAM WILLIAMSON. Mabel Williamson, a now witness, at present housekeeper for Father McAuley, had been with witness about four weeks, following in that capacity Miss Katie Duffy. She stated she was the person who found the valises in the priest's room. She gave particulars of finding the axe, saying that she had found the axe behind the commode in the priest's room. She thought possibly by the wind, as she had noticed the handle of the axe protruding from the commode. She placed the cloth, her hand came at once into contact with the axe-handle. That was on the 21st of December. The splinter was to keep the water from the wall, and was of crotona, she would judge, and could not be seen through the wall. She was examined. The splinter extended about a foot and a half above the commode. The axe stood on the top of the commode, and the handle was touching neither the wall nor the splinter. Witness identified the axe in court, and said the paint marks were on it when found, also the other stains. James Long, and then put it back, it later on going into the possession of Detective Killen. His honor took occasion to remark that it seemed strange that the witness had not found the axe before, considering she had been there nearly four weeks. Witness admitted it seemed strange, but it was a fact and she believed it had been there all the time.

SHORTLAND HARBELL. Shortland Harbell, of Eigin, brother of Bruce Harbell, next gave testimony which fitted into that of his brother. When they got by Fr. McAuley's a few rods on the morning in question, witness had looked back and saw a man standing near the horse and wagon at the priest's. The man had on dark clothes and seemed of ordinary size. He would not be able to identify him. The prisoner here was taken from the dock and the witness asked by Mr. McKeown if he considered him an ordinary sized man. Witness said he did. The witness also spoke of the size of the priest's dog.

The witness also spoke of the size of the priest's dog.

TILMAN BANNISTER. Tilman Bannister, one of those mentioned as driving out from Eigin on the morning in question, was the next witness, giving particulars corresponding with that of other witnesses. Witness went past Fr. McAuley's house at ten o'clock, meeting Bruce Harbell about thirty yards west of the priest's house. The prisoner at the bar was with Harbell. Witness told of the prisoner asking him about Fr. McAuley's horse, saying that he had harnessed the horse to go to Albert and Mary Ann had come to see the horse. The witness said the horse was gone when he went out. The prisoner asked for a lift to Albert and he took first in the prisoner bringing two valises and a pair of reins from Harbell's wagon. Witness identified the valises shown in court. When passing Fr. McAuley's house witness was asked by a questioner if Fr. McAuley was away to Frederickton Road to attend a mission. When they reached the Kent Road the witness told him perhaps the horse has gone that way and that it would be in the prisoner's wagon. Witness told him perhaps the horse has gone that way and that it would be in the prisoner's wagon. Witness told him perhaps the horse has gone that way and that it would be in the prisoner's wagon.

WILLIAM BANNISTER. William Bannister, son of the preceding witness, who was with his father when they gave Collins the ride gave evidence corroborating the former testimony. He was one of the sixteen witnesses for the day, court being adjourned until ten o'clock tomorrow.

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CASE. HERE IS SOMETHING THAT WILL BE WELCOME NEWS TO MANY A DISCOURAGED ONE.

WILLIAM H. REED. Several steps during my walk. Of late my food did not digest properly. It turned sour in my stomach, causing me great distress; often, too, I had violent attacks of belching gas and heartburn. I was bothered with severe pains across the small of my back, and the most bending or turning would cause me to almost cry out. I was induced to try Dr. Leonard's Anti-Pill and from the very first found relief. For the last three months I have had no recurrence of my former complaints, so I feel bound to say Anti-Pill has indeed cured me. This is the voluntary statement of Wm. H. Reed, of 185 Queen St. Kingston, Ont. All Druggists sell Anti-Pill. The Wilson-Elye Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont. The remedy that cured such an extreme case is surely worth trying.

GREATER OAK HALL, KING STREET COR. GERRAIN. SCOVIL BROS., Ltd., St. John, N. B. Branch Store 695 Main Street, North End.

THE NEW YEARS PRODIGAL. (Continued from story page.) "That's the Miss Louise Cramer—and a sweetest girl never drew breath," replied Maggie. "Going into grand opera?" commented Grant, sarcastically. "Never a bit of it," was Maggie's quick reply. "She'll never step foot on stage again. Two years ago it was, she came here to study music, and in a cable car hit her. She'll never walk straight again. And did she sit down and cry? Not a bit of it. She just says 'no more music for me, but this is the town where mother and I can make money,' and so she sends for her mother and they make shirtwaists, for her mother and she, for the necessities living about here. It's a fine living they make, too. And she has the embroidered lavender silk she turned out for the leading lady at the Empire last week."

It was odd, but suddenly Herman Grand decided that his mother must be in need of a shirtwaist. Styles at Owego were a bit behind New York, and he had a balance to the good in the little red book. He bathed and dressed deliberately, but his thoughts seemed to fairly fly past in an endless panoramic circle—the little drug store at Owego, the studio where he wrote so faithfully, the Louis XV. parlor where he had appeared clad in blue and silver, the girl across the court who never again could be seen on stage and yet who could sing with that hopeful, joyous note in her voice. Ah, there was something real in New York after all, something that he had missed.

Shortly after noon he walked into a drug store just a few blocks away. He never had told him weeks before while he was on substitute duty, that a wide-awake young chap who could give his undivided attention to business, could not only permanent work, but a chance to buy an interest in that very store. After he had interviewed the druggist he went back to his room. Two hours were consumed in framing up a letter which must be written at once. It is his duty to accept kindness and then escape the charge of ingratitude, and Herman Grand realized this as he wrote a check for an amount that left only zeros in the little red book. With that the Owego's Women's Club said about its last Object, this narrative has nothing to do. At least the organization would not question the object's honesty. But with the next movements of Herman Grand this narrative does deal. He went straight to the nearest florist and bought, neither American beauties nor violets, but a great purple rose. Then he walked past his own door and rang a bell in the next vestibule, marked "Cramer."

He climbed the stairs in response to the friendly clink of the electric button, he turned dizzy. What if they refused to receive him? He fumbled for a card. Mrs. Cramer stood in the doorway, a woman sweet-faced, slender and shrinking of figure. He smiled straight into her motherly eyes. "I am Herman Grand, I live just across the court. In our town, Owego, we still make calls on New Year's day—and I—well I felt sort of lonesome. I thought maybe you being true up-State, too, might let me pay New Year's respects to you and your daughter."

"Where are men and women who would have laughed at his use of the word 'fashionable' studios were open and not drawing-room doors swung back to receive him, fellow students were wondering at this moment whether he had forgotten to get up, yet he felt that lifelong happiness or loneliness hung on this woman's next words. For beyond, in the lamplight, he saw a figure, leaning heavily against a supporting chair. He could close his eyes and imagine those lips parting: "For you it is a rose. For me it is my heart."

"Certainly—come in. We are glad to know that there are some neighborly folks in this big city. Louise, dear, Mr. Grant from next door has come in to bid us Happy New Year." Still clasping one hand on her chair back for support, Louise extended the other in greeting. Herman laid the great white rose in her outstretched palm. "You think it is but a rose. Ah, me, it is my heart!" he quoted. "Will you sing it for me?" She raised her eyes to meet his searching glance, and in that first long look he read that she understood, and that for them both it was now the turn, not of a new leaf, but of a new life.

A PLEA FOR NEGROES. To the Editor of the Star: Hon. A. D. Lockhart in speaking of Jamaica, said he had looked for just what a despatch from that island stated, viz., that the blacks were looting the shops. Mr. Editor, I want to say looting is done in Kingston by no one except the blacks. Kingston will experience less trouble of this kind than any other place where an earthquake has occurred. Give the negro race what belongs to them and there will be no trouble. They ask only their rights and fair play. Who saved the late President McKinley from being shot dead on the spot? A negro. I am disgusted with statement such as Mr. Lockhart, Senator Tillman and others of that disposition make. Negroes are not defaulters or bank robbers.

Yours truly, R. H. MCINTYRE. E. J. QUINN, OF HALIFAX, DEAD. HALIFAX, Jan. 18.—Pelle J. Quinn, manufacturer of treated waters, died at his home in this city tonight, aged 67 years. He leaves a widow, three sons and six daughters.

FINES IMPOSED ON THREE ROAD HOUSES

Justice Masson Also Heard Case of King vs. John Hughes—Prisoner Allowed Out on Bail. Before Justice Masson in Fairbairn yesterday the liquor cases against John Eaton, Henry M. Etter (Mrs. Melvin) and Daisy Campbell (Sydney House) came up. The cases were defended and on each the fine of $20 was imposed and $15.00 for costs. The defendants paid up and looked pleasant. The case of the King v. John Hughes was also taken up. The charge against the defendant is for assaulting Abolm Downey on Christmas eve last. As Mr. Downey refused to make any charge the complaint was laid by Officer Lawson and Mr. Downey summoned as a witness. G. R. Vincent appeared for the prosecution and J. B. M. Baxter for the defense. At the conclusion of the hearing the prisoner was allowed out on $100 bail. Judgment will be given on Monday at two o'clock.

GEORGE McMASTER, OF ST. JOHN, MAKING GOOD

Now Partner in a Music Business in Vermont--A Clever Instrumentalist.

George McMaster, son of Thos. McMaster, the Main street, North End, barber, who is now home for a short visit, is another St. John boy not afraid to take a chance at making good away from home, with the result that he is now pleasantly and successfully established in the music business in Montpelier, Vermont. Mr. McMaster is remembered by Opera House patrons as the clever trap-drummer in Harrison's Orchestra. While he was quite proficient in this line of music in St. John, he has acquired a lot more knowledge of the art during his sojourn in Yankeland. In fact he is now officiating at the xylophone, tympanies, etc., in Whittier's Orchestra of Montpelier, an aggregation made up of high-class instrumentalists. Besides this Mr. McMaster is in the Montpelier Band and is instructor of a drum and fife corps, an organization of boys ranging from nine to fifteen years of age. In fact the clever St. John boy is branching out upon several lines, all of which are setting him good returns.

The Montpelier Journal of the 15th of this month has the following to say of Mr. McMaster's new business venture, which promises to be a successful one: "Co-partnership papers have been filed at the office of the city clerk whereby George McMaster and Joseph E. Clark enter into partnership for the purpose of conducting the business of the Wilder Music House recently purchased by Mr. Clark. It will be remembered that G. H. Wilder, the former owner of the store sold out to Mr. Clark several months ago. Both the new owners are well known in the city. Mr. McMaster is the trap drummer in the Whittier orchestra and the Montpelier Military Band. He has been in the city for some two years and has made himself widely popular. Since Harry G. Webber, formerly a member of the orchestra, left the city to live in New York, Mr. McMaster has carried on the large tuning business that is connected with the Wilder store. "Mr. Clark, whose business career was sketched at the time he purchased the Wilder store, has been doing an increasing amount of business during the months that he has owned the business. "The many friends of the two young men predict a successful business for the new firm."

WHY THE PARADISE ROW CARS GET "MIXED"

Conductor Says it is the Single Track System--A Sensible Argument.

The street railway conductors on the Paradise Row branch feel badly because the Star referred in a general way to them a few evenings ago in connection with an article on the poorly-maintained schedule. "Don't blame us," said one of the fare collection, "with a single track and a very cramped schedule, it is next thing to impossible to keep the cars on their proper time."

The conductor further explained that when a car is forced to make a large number of stops in the course of its circuit--especially on inclement days--it causes a "back-up" of the service, or rather a close following--after of the other cars. "What we want in order to make the service entirely satisfactory at all times, is the double-track. A single track system is the easiest thing in the world to throw out of kilter."

ALDERMEN SAY NO CAUSE FOR ALARM

Several aldermen at city hall this morning took exception to some of the reports in the daily papers, concerning the construction of the new wharf. One civic authority remarked that he was sure that one or two contractors would tender for the work. However, no answers have yet been received. There is undoubtedly no cause for alarm yet, as in the case of the Loch Lomond water extension, one of the chief tenders came in at the last moment.

ST. JOHN HAS FAST ROLLER SKATERS

Jack Olive Will Go to Montreal

Dean May Skate Merritt--Series of Races Will be Started Soon--List of Exciting Races

St. John possesses several fast roller skaters, and the fact that some of them are going to Montreal to compete with the "swift ones" there is not a surprising one. Already has Redmond Alward gone to the big upper Canadian city. He was successful in winning a race, and was given a fine reception by followers of the sport in Montreal. Mr. Alward has skated in several races held here, and for half a mile has as much speed as any of the local racers.

Alward will visit Montreal in the course of a week or two where he will meet the champion boy skater, Jack Olive. Alward has jumped into prominence very suddenly. He has made excellent time and is an equal of any amateur skater in the city. "Jack," as he is better known, is only a youngster, but he proved, in the recent five mile race, that he has the staying power. He covered the distance of five miles in the fast time of 20 minutes and 14 seconds. Several old time roller skaters who have watched the progress of Olive in the ranks of the speedsters, state that he would make a very favorable showing against Dean, who has turned professional.

Wilson has not skated a race since the Queen's Rink has been opened. He proved himself to be a swift skater in the other rink and it is quite possible that he will be in form again pretty soon. Nixon is another skater who has not been heard of much since the new rink opened. He participated in the five mile race but seemed to be in poor form. For a distance of one mile young Nixon can hold his own with most of the amateurs.

Two races which, if announced, would surprise no one, would be between Dean and Merritt and Olive and Dean. The former race is quite sure to take place, as Frank Potts, who is looking after Dean's interests has been heard to remark that he might put his man up against Merritt. Regarding the race between Olive and Dean there is only one obstacle in the way. That is, that if Olive should skate Dean he would be ruled from the amateur ranks. After the speedy boy skater meets the other amateurs he may be induced to turn professional.

Greater interest than ever is at present taken in the races, and Manager Munde would do well to start a series of amateur races, when all the skaters in the city would be given chance to compete. It is understood that Dean has been offered a position in Montreal, and several persons in that city are endeavoring to induce the local boy to go there and compete in the professional ranks.

A. D. Dalton, who is well known as an ice skater, is also going in for honors on the rollers. He has skated Dean and Merritt here, and expects to compete in several meets in Montreal soon. The Quebec rink has opened and it is quite probable that the St. John skaters will also enter in several races there, while on their Montreal trip. Ernest McCaw, who won the four hour race, is mentioned in an Upper Canadian paper as being an aspirant for honors in Montreal. McCaw was here for some time ago, but he found it impossible to get away from his work at that time. In the near future he will probably leave for Montreal.

Following is a list of some of the exciting races held here during the past few months: Oct. 2--McCaw won the four hour race. Oct. 11--Wilson vs. McCaw, won by Wilson, time 2:24. Oct. 11--Hammerston vs. Chauker, won by Hammerston, time 2:55. Nov. 1--Dean vs. Dalton, won by Dean, time 2:27. Nov. 15--Alward vs. Hammerston, won by Alward, time 3:57. Nov. 23--Wilson vs. Alward, won by Wilson, time 3:32. Nov. 7--Hamm vs. Campbell, won by Campbell, time 3:32. Nov. 18--Hamm vs. Campbell, won by Hamm, time 3:29. THE CHAMPLAIN MONUMENT.

Hamilton McCarthy, the sculptor, who designed the Champlain monument, called at the mayor's office this morning. His worship was busily engaged and Mr. McCarthy was unable to get an interview. He expects to be in the city for several days, and during that time will canvass for subscriptions. Mayor Sears has promised his aid in getting the money required and the members of the Historical Society are confident of receiving the $4,200.00 required.

LITTLE LOGAN, OF ST. JOHN, WILL MEET THE BIG ONES

Speedy Skater Will Leave Next Wednesday for International Champs--Who He Will Meet.

Next Wednesday night Fred Logan, St. John's diminutive whirlwind will leave for Montreal to enter the international championship skating races. He will be accompanied by "Tip" O'Neil, the world's champion baseballist, member of the victorious Chicago, who has been looking after Logan's physical welfare.

Logan has been putting in a lot of good hard practice in Victoria Rink of late, and yesterday afternoon showed excellent form. If anything much better than last season. He is not only going faster, but seems to have acquired that deadly long stroke, so essential to big track speed. He is generally sanguine of winning something worth while, remembering his achievements of last year, both at Saranac Lake, Verona Lake and Montreal.

On February 2nd, the day of the races, Logan will compete against such slyers as Champion Morris Wood, Kearney, Sarnoy, Mulligan and others of United States, and Belleville and others of Canada. Doubtless Billy Merritt will be on hand also. The professional events will re-introduce such famous speedsters as Harley Davidson, Champion Johnny Nilsson, Sinnrad, the erstwhile "Terrible Swede," the old war horse, McCullough of the west; Norval Baple of Dakota, and others.

The C. P. R. steamer Lake Champlain will sail for Liverpool this afternoon. Among her first class passengers will be Hon. A. D. Lockhart and family of Dominica, W. I., who has been in the city for several days.
